Winter storm watch issued

A winter storm system moving in from the west has prompted the posting of a winter storm watch for the northern and western sections of the Texas Panhandle tonight.

The National Weather Service says that up to four inches of snow may fall tonight in the Hereford area and much of the rest of the Texas Panhandle.

The storm began early this morning with sleet and freezing rain that put an icy coating on cars, streets, sidewalks and highways in the area. Over 20 accidents were reported this morning in the Amarillo area on Interstates 27 and 40.

Near-blizzard conditions could hit the region tonight as the intense low pressure center moves into the Panhandle from New Mexico. North-northeast winds of 15-25 mph with higher gusts could whip snow into a blizzard tonight.

Forecasters are calling for an 80 percent chance of snow tonight with accumulations up to four inches possible.

The low pressure center was in the Four Corners area at sunrise today and was slowly moving to the east. In front of the system, winter storm warning were posted for the north-central mountains and northeast highlands of New Mexico. Light snow was falling across northern New Mexico this morning, with reports of snow at Raton, Chama, Mora and Los Alamos.

UWDSC over 50% of campaign goal

The United Way of Deaf Smith County is over 50 percent of the way toward its goal, with over $87,000 received to date in pledges.

The UWDSC has a goal of $150,000 to benefit 12 member agencies.

"We have a lot more pledge cards to be turned in," said Kyla McDowell, executive director of UWDSC. "I think we have all the cards out, but we need to get them back in."

McDowell said there are many "big accounts" still to be collected, and only two Hereford schools have turned in pledge cards so far.

"Any volunteers that need help collecting cards should contact their division chairman or the United Way office," said McDowell. "If the cards are out we need to pick them up or get some kind of commitment and get the cards later."

The UWDSC will benefit 12 agencies, including Camp Fire, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Senior Citizens, Hereford YMCA, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, High Plains Epilepsy Center, Childrens Rehabilitation Center, Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Outreach Office and Family Services.

My calendar doesn't have the first day of winter marker, but there's no doubt that it arrived in the area Tuesday. The region felt the hard freeze Tuesday morning, and the white stuff was beginning to accumulate this morning.

The chilly forecast extends through Friday, which means that Halloween night is sure to be a cold one for trick or treating!

There seems to be no limit on how far the liberal do-gooders will go to protect us all. If "anti-roma" activists have their way, all the "No Smoking" signs will soon be joined by those proclaiming "No Perfume."

This is no joke, folks. There is a movement afoot across the country that would add fragrances to the list of restricted or banned substances. In New York, for example, State Sen. Martin Connor has sponsored a bill that would require publications to either discontinue scented pages or wrap their journals in odor-proof sealant.

This bill was introduced in response to some postmen complaining of headaches and librarians who said they were sick after receiving certain magazines, the Chicago Tribune reported.

Fragrance bans are also cropping up in public places. Chicago restaurant Jimmy Rohr has declared that his eatery is smoke-free and scent-free. He has banned perfume from the premises.

In Marin County, Calif., the county board of supervisors has been asked to provide fragrance-free areas at public meetings. According to Business Week, the request came from the Environmental Health Network—a group of 500 "environmentally sensitive" people.

The chairman of the supervisory board said that enforcement could be difficult. "I will not provide sniffers at the door."

What worries me is that the "no perfume" movement could grow to include all kinds of scents—such as a ban against anti-perspirants and deodorants.

Wow! Then it's no "Secret" that we'd be caught with our "Right Guard" down and "Sure" unhappy that the "Ban" kept everyone from using "Dial."

A "letter to the editor" in another paper caught my eye. The writer had a good idea: "Before it is too late, tell the Russians not to shut down their prisons. They have a resource that we can use; we don't need new or bigger prisons in our country, because we could contract with the Russians to house our convicts there. We have food and they have prisons, so we can barter. Once the word gets out, we might have fewer potential lawbreakers. Think of the motto: Be a convict and get a free trip to Russia."

It will never work, however. The courts would rule that such a sentence would be cruel and inhuman punishment.

Hospital plans fun for Halloween

While boys and girls everywhere are dressing up like nurses and doctors for Halloween, the real doctors and nurses at Deaf Smith General Hospital are planning a little different look for themselves.

Visitors and patients will have a real treat Thursday when they're greeted by ghosts and goblins and who knows what else. The staff decided to make the holiday a real event, and the activities have already started.

The departments are competing to see who can have the best decorated doors. The cobwebs hanging from the doors, and witches, bats and pumpkins all add a festive air

Walk down the halls at DSGH and you'll see "that most of us are still kids at hearts," says Administrator Ron Rives. "A hospital staff is always under pressure and we try to find ways to lighten up a little when we can. We encouraged the departments to compete, and they've had a lot of fun with it. So have the patients and visitors of all ages." The management and staff certainly invite everyone to stop in for a look, according to Rives. And when you see strangely-dressed people going into the hospital on Halloween Day, don't worry—it's just the hospital's way of saying, "Have a great Halloween day!"

DSGH decorations

Carrie Shipley and Claudia Smith, X-ray technicians at Deaf Smith General Hospital, stand outside the door to their department to show off their decorations. Many departments have decorated doors at the hospital to add a little festivity to the holiday.

DSGH gives ideas for safe Thursday

It doesn't take much to have a lot of fun on Halloween: a little make-up, a goofy costume and plenty of candy.

Deaf Smith General Hospital reminds trick-or-treaters that it doesn't take much to mess the day up, either.

Kids and traffic don't mix very well, and there are always plenty of children on the streets Halloween night (although a winter storm could curb Halloween fun in the area).

Supervise your children's activities. Different ages need different types of supervision. What's your teenager's plans for Halloween and the upcoming weekend?

- Check all treats. Poorly-wrapped candy should be tossed out. Remind your children not to eat anything you haven't examined (the stomach ache that goes with Halloween ought to be from too much candy, not the wrong kind).
- To help avoid the stumbles and falls of anxious children, residents should leave the porch lights on if receiving trick-or-treaters.
- If you're driving on Halloween night, watch out for the kids. Remember how excited you used to get roaming around with the other kids, seeing how full you could get your bag.
- Remember these few tips and help our kids have a fun night with no problems," said Steve Jolly, marketing director for DSGH.

Special events planned

Two Halloween carnivals are planned in the area Thursday night. The annual Deaf Smith County Crimestopper carnival will be held Thursday from 5-8 p.m. at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. Several organizations will be sponsoring food and game booths at the carnival. There will be no charge for admission. Proceeds will be shared by the sponsoring organizations and Crimestoppers.

The Easter Lions Club will be sponsoring their annual carnival and spook house on Thursday, and the spook house will be open again on Saturday.

The carnival will open Thursday at 6 p.m. at the Easter Community Center, and no admission will be charged for the carnival.

The spook house will be open at 7 p.m. Thursday and Saturday. Admission is $3 per person. Persons wishing to go through the spook house should go first to the Community Center, where they will get "special transportation" to the house.

School board takes 3 local bids

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The Hereford school board decided Tuesday to go with a local company for a bid for portable buildings, although the local company's bid was slightly higher than an out-of-town bid.

The board, on a 5-1 vote, accepted a bid for $19,267 from LTD Portable Buildings for each of six portable classroom buildings to be used at elementary schools. The buildings were paid for, in large part, by a grant.

The low bid was submitted by Space Masters of Fort Worth for $19,000 per building.

The board heard from Leon Birchfield, a sales representative of Space Masters, and Tex Rhodes, owner of LTD Portable Buildings. Birchfield claimed that the individually-listed specifications did not match state building codes for portable buildings for classroom use, although the bid offer said the buildings must meet state codes. Rhodes said the buildings, to be built by Morgan Buildings, would meet all state codes.

Hereford Superintendent Charles Greenawalt recommended that the board take the local bid, citing the school board's policy of doing business locally when at all possible provided the local cost was not excessive.

"We believe that if we take the local bid most of the subcontracting work will be done locally, and if there's a problem we have someone right here to handle it," said Greenawalt.

Board members John Fuston, Mike Veazey, Raymond Schlabs, Ron Weishaar and Sylvia Flores voted to take the bid from LTD. Steve Wright voted against the offer.

The board also accepted local bids for an industrial technology computer lab from Foster Electronics and two auto lifts for automobile mechanics classes from C&L Auto Parts. Those items, and a computerized lathe for woodworking, will be purchased with federal funds.

The board also accepted a bid for $19,274 from Hereford Buick-Pontiac-GMC for a new 1992 15-passenger van. The board had earlier accepted a bid from Whiteface Ford for a 1991 model, but Whiteface was unable to procure a 1991 model. The Hereford Buick bid was the lowest bid submitted for a 1992 model.

In other business, the board

- Honored Vickie Barnes, a fourth grade teacher at Shirley School, and Nancy Mitchell, the cafeteria manager at Hereford Junior High, as the employees of the month.
- Heard a report on the summer school program, which was completed well under budget.

- Held a hearing for a Hereford Junior High School student, and approved the actions of administrators.
- Accepted the policies of the Amarillo Regional Day School for the Deaf, where a Hereford student will be attending classes. The district, which must pick up the cost for the local student, will pay the parents $625 per semester plus $15 a day for transporting their child to the center.
- Heard a report on the November reading month activities from school media specialists.
- Removed $201,000 in personal property taxes that have passed the statute of limitations for collection.
- In executive session, the board accepted the retirement resignation of Bobby Boyd, effective at the end of the semester, and approved the hiring of Alisa LeGrand, a teacher at Northwest, and Bobby Moudy, the new school business manager.

Madrid peace talks underway

MADRID, Spain (AP) - Israelis, Arabs and Palestinians warily opened talks today aimed at overcoming four decades of icy hostility and bloody wars. "Peace in the Middle East need not be a dream," said President Bush.

He called for territorial compromise and "real peace" in remarks seconded forcefully by Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

The two men spoke to a conference room filled with diplomats from Israel, Egypt, Syria, Lebanon and a joint Jordanian-Palestinian delegation. By their presence, the two leaders lent their influence and prestige to the first attempt at a comprehensive peace in the Middle East in a generation.

Ahead lay months or years of delicate talks designed to move ancient foes away from the brink of war. "Peace will only come as a result of direct negotiations. Compromise. Give and take," said Bush. He said discussions would proceed on two tracks: direct talks between Israel and the Arab states, and between Israel and the Palestinians.

Gorbachev, too, urged the parties toward compromise. "It would be unforgivable to miss this opportunity," he said.

He said success was only possible if no one side sought victory over another. All must seek a "shared victory," he said.

Arabs entered the talks demanding the return of lands won by Israel

Balanced free trade pact demanded by Bentsen

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Lloyd Bentsen says U.S. negotiators must deliver a balanced free trade agreement or he will use his clout to derail the pact designed to create one vast North American market.

The powerful chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which has jurisdiction on trade matters, noted that he had played an instrumental role in getting the free trade talks underway earlier this year.

"If we get an agreement that shortchanges American jobs, I'll fight just as hard and just as effectively to kill that agreement," Bentsen, D-Texas, told business and civic leaders at a conference of the Border Trade Alliance on Tuesday.

Bentsen told the alliance, a grassroots umbrella of border business and government organizations, that he does not expect a free trade pact will be signed before the end of 1992.

Rep. Kika de la Garza also addressed the conference, saying the United States must act as a "good neighbor" to Mexico if free trade talks between the United States, Mexico and Canada are to succeed.

As a sign of goodwill, the United States should forgive a portion of Mexico's estimated $400 million debt to the Commodity Credit Corp., the government corporation that buys and distributes farm commodities, the Mission Democrat said.

De la Garza, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said he plans to introduce legislation to that effect. In exchange, he said, Mexico will be obliged to use the money excused from the debt for projects to improve the environment along its 2,000-mile border with the United States.

"I'm proposing the good neighbor environment fund for the border," he said.

Rep. Jim Kolbe, R-Ariz., agreed that a free trade agreement would help Mexico improve its efforts to clean up the heavily-polluted border area by funneling more money into the country.

"The North American free trade agreement will fail or succeed on the basis of how it is perceived we deal with environmental issues," he added. "The bottom line, in my view, is poverty is no friend of the environment."

But a Canadian economist told the conference it may be premature to discuss a North American free trade pact.

"There are several reasons that may make it impossible for Canada to stay the course," said Michael Walker, a member of Canada's International Trade Advisory Committee and executive director of the Fraser Institute, a Vancouver think tank.

Stressing that he was speaking only for himself, not his government, Walker said the political and economic climate may prevent Canada from reaching a deal.

Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney's opinion rating has slumped to a record low of about 12 percent amid a recession and a constitutional crisis over Quebec's threat to secede, Walker said.

In addition, he said, many Canadians are blaming the recession and rising unemployment rates on the free trade pact Canada negotiated with the United States in 1988. And organized labor groups are lobbying against a trilateral pact, he said.

"I'm not all that confident we will have the political chemistry in place to achieve (a North American free trade agreement)," Walker said. "For that reason, we may at some stage have to withdraw."

Meriel Bradford, a Canadian trade negotiator, said that as a government official she could not comment on Walker's views.

But, she added, Canada already took the plunge by signing a free trade pact with the United States. Extending the agreement to Mexico would have lesser ramifications because Canada's trade with Mexico is 80 times smaller than with the United States, Ms. Bradford noted. Canada's trade with Mexico amounts to $2.4 billion, she said.

"We made the big jump," she said, referring to the 1988 free trade pact.

Senator criticizes Medicaid new rule

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is calling on the Bush administration to withdraw a regulation that could cost Texas and other states hundreds of millions of dollars in Medicaid funding.

Bentsen and other Texas officials on Tuesday decried the clarified federal regulations that restrict the ways in which states can get federal matching aid for their Medicaid programs.

"The administration's new version of its regulation on donations and taxes from hospitals and nursing homes that treat Medicaid recipients is too little, too late and leaves too many questions unanswered," Bentsen said.

"The administration should withdraw its regulation. This would enable Congress, the administration and the governors to sit down and work out a realistic policy."

Texas officials said prior to the clarification that the regulation could cost the state about $800 million in federal funding. They said Tuesday they could not immediately estimate how severely the clarified ruling would affect Texas.

The new regulations could save the federal government more than $1 billion this fiscal year, said Gail Wilensky, head of the Health Care Financing Administration, which handles Medicaid.

Wilensky on Tuesday released a "clarified" version of a regulation issued Sept. 12 that had been opposed vigorously by the states and has prompted legislation to block it.

"There are no reasons to think this new rule will clear things up for the states," Bentsen said. "Meanwhile, they are facing a loss of federal matching funds - a loss they could not have anticipated when they figured their budgets."

The ruling would prevent states from getting extra Medicaid funds under a practice by which states collect special taxes or "voluntary donations" from Medicaid providers such as hospitals and nursing homes and qualify for a cash match from Washington.

The federal government claims that many states are undermining Medicaid by getting the matching funds then returning to hospitals and nursing homes the tax and donation revenue they originally paid.

In Texas, 109 hospitals and teaching hospitals benefit from the program.

"It doesn't sound good for Texas," said Rafe Greenlee, a spokesman for Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock.

Scientists must wait to see picture

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - NASA's Galileo spacecraft raced past a potato-shaped asteroid in the first such close encounter, but the agency may have to wait a year to see pictures of the tumbling chunk of rock and metal.

"We just scored almost a perfect bull's-eye. The spacecraft did exactly what it was supposed to," mission director Neal Ausman said Tuesday after Galileo raced within 1,000 miles of Gaspra, a leftover from the solar system's birth 4.6 billion years ago.

Scientists must wait from two months to 13 months to see Galileo's pictures of Gaspra because the craft's umbrella-shaped main antenna failed to open completely in April, limiting how much information it can send to Earth.

The problem - which threatens to cripple Galileo's 1995-97 exploration of Jupiter - meant that the spacecraft had to store its pictures in the meantime.

Gaspra is relatively small - about 11 miles by 7 miles by 6 miles - and may be part of a larger asteroid that broke up in a collision. The largest asteroid, Ceres, is 570 miles wide.

"This is our first-ever spacecraft encounter with an asteroid," said Torrence Johnson, Galileo's chief scientist.

Asteroids "are a view back in time to the origin of the solar system," Johnson said. "They represent our best shot at looking at the type of things that went into putting planets together."

Scientists believe the planets were formed by the clumping of gas, dust and larger debris that orbited the sun. The material between Jupiter and Mars never coalesced, leaving more than 1 million asteroids larger than one-half mile.

Gaspra is believed to be made of rocky and metallic minerals, including iron and nickel. It is an average of 205 million miles from the sun, near the inner edge of the main asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter. It orbits the sun once every 3.3 Earth years.

"It basically is a tumbling potato-shaped object," Johnson said. It tumbles end-over-end every seven hours.

Fear of policemen in Peru based on many incidents

LIMA, Peru (AP) - Maria Castro's 12-year-old daughter Roxana was shot to death last month when police stopped their car in a wealthy Lima neighborhood and tried to rob Mrs. Castro.

Nine days earlier, police drowned a cattle merchant in the northern coastal city of Trujillo. They were reported to have been trying to extort $50,000 from the man in the belief he was a drug trafficker.

In June, police detained and killed three students mistakenly suspected of terrorism. One was just 14 years old.

Peru's 85,000-member police force, openly corrupt for many years, increasingly is turning to violent crime, experts say.

"The only emotion a policeman here inspires is terror," said Mrs. Castro.

Most Peruvians agree. A recent Galileo encountered Gaspra within 1.5 seconds and 3 miles of when and where it was programmed to.

"We were dead-on," said navigation chief William Kirhofer.

Because Gaspra is so small and Galileo moves so fast, the spacecraft was programmed to take 150 images of space surrounding and including the asteroid. That way, Galileo was guaranteed to get at least one detailed black-and-white picture and one slightly less detailed color picture of Gaspra from about 3,500 miles away.

Galileo couldn't take pictures of Gaspra during its closest approach because it whizzed past too quickly - at 17,895 mph.

Engineers plan to try to open the main antenna in December. If that doesn't work, the pictures will be transmitted in November 1992, when Galileo will be close enough to Earth to use a small, secondary antenna.

The spacecraft was launched from space shuttle Atlantis in 1989.

Crime is a result of that decomposition. Mrs. Castro's case is unusual in that most police assaults are not caught. A month after the Sept. 24 killing, investigators arrested three policemen implicated in her daughter's death.

In contrast to many victims of police crime, Roxana came from a wealthy family. News media publicity and senators' demands that the interior minister resign are believed to be the main reasons police finally acted.

Police said an investigation of the girl's killing was delayed because Mrs. Castro was the only witness and didn't see the patrol car's license plates or recognize the policemen's branch from their uniforms.

Mrs. Castro says other witnesses provided information about the police car after the case was publicized.

Police have killed 37 innocent civilians so far this year, compared to 47 during all 1990, according to a study by the Pro-Human Rights Association. Since 1985, they have been blamed for 250 killings.

"You don't have to be psychic to see the state of decomposition the security forces have reached," the news magazine Oiga said. "And

Child care conference scheduled

A conference for child care providers and parents, "Connections-For Home and Child Care," will be conducted Nov. 16 at Frank Phillips College in Borger.

The conference is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Frank Phillips College. Workshop sessions will be provided for administrators and staff of child facilities as well as parents.

The conference will begin with registration and coffee at 9 a.m. followed by the keynote address by Dorothy Taylor, extension family life specialist from College Station.

Conference participants may attend five difference concurrent sessions throughout the day.

Foster parent association met recently

The Golden Spread Foster Parent Association met recently at the Hereford Community Center and elected officers for 1992.

Dee Hernandez, a foster parent since 1984, was elected president. Cindy Hall, vice president, is from Adrain. She became a foster parent in 1988. Terry Connelly, a teacher in the Hereford Independent School District, was elected secretary. She has been an active member since 1983. Alfredo Olivarez, retired farmer, named treasurer. Adela Hernandez was elected reporter. She is one of the newest foster parents.

New officers will resume their positions Nov. 19. At that time they will discuss the second annual "Adopt an Angle" program and the soliciting of funds for Christmas.

Church Women United host services

Church Women United will host World Community Day services at 10 a.m. Nov. 1 at Ward Parlor at First United Methodist Church.

The services are open to all interested persons.

Church Women United is a national ecumenical movement that brings Protestant, Catholic, Orthodox and other Christian women together into one community of prayer, advocacy and service.

The them for this year's special service is "Jubilee is Justice," celebrating the 50th anniversary of CWU in crossing boundaries of race, age, class and culture in search of peace with justice.

The 1991 World Community Day worship experience, designed and written by a diverse group of women theologians, link's CWU's Jubilee with the Biblical concept of Jubilee as a time for reordering of society and restoration of God's justice to the earth. The service will challenge today's women of faith to begin living "Jubilee justice" in their own lives through the reordering of their personal priorities.

Later in November, the CWU's National Jubilee Assembly will be held in St. Louis. Eloise McDougal of Hereford, state president of Church Women United, will be attending the national meeting. There will be over 2,500 people attending the St. Louis conference.

Tulia offers Christmas food, bread

The public is invited to attend "A Christmas In November" in Tulia on November 7th from 11:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the Redmon Room of the Swisher Memorial Building.

Fajita salad along with a variety of breads will be served.

A variety of yeast breads, cinnamon rolls, cookies and many other kinds of breads will be available for purchase.

There will be a variety of Christmas merchandise on display by Tulia merchants.

4-H organization growing each year

Membership in 4-H, Texas' largest youth organization, has surged to nearly half a million this year.

Enrollment in the 4-H Youth and Development program increased from more than 402,400 to over 446,000—a 10 percent gain since September 1990. This follows a 30 percent jump from the previous year.

"The 1990 census figures indicate that Texas has a little more than 4 million young people, ages 5 to 19, who are eligible for 4-H," said Dr. Nelson Jacob, 4-H and youth development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The recent increase means that 4-H is reaching 11 percent—one out of every 10 youth in the state."

"When you add the 60,000 plus 4-H adult volunteers to the total 446,000 youth enrollment, we are impacting half a million people a year," said Dr. Lynne Thibodeaux, assistant director of the Extension 4-H and Youth Development program.

"I think several factors have contributed to this increase," she said. "People are recognizing that youth in general are in a crisis situation, and they're making more efforts to get their children involved in the local programs."

Grants from various donors also have made it possible to initiate new programs. Counties are piloting youth-at-risk and literacy programs while others are being replicated to reach new audiences in the state.

"Also, we have started the Texas 4-H Clover Kids program designed for children in kindergarten through second grade," she said. "So much of our entire body of knowledge as adults actually gained from infancy to about 8 years of age. That's why this audience is so important."

Already, 13 percent of 4-H youth are Clover Kids, Jacob said, although the program has only been started in about 50 counties.

Young people enroll in 4-H by joining a community or school-based 4-H club, by participating in a short-term, special-interest group or by enrolling in a 4-H school curriculum enrichment project.

"Many people perceive 4-H as being just agriculture or just home economics, but 4-H goes far beyond that," Thibodeaux said. "It focuses on blending current information in science and technology to help children develop life skills so that they can become productive, contributing members of this society."

Whether individuals participate in agriculture, aerospace or entomology projects, they learn to make decisions, set goals, cope with setbacks and improve communication and leadership, she said.

Statistics show that 4-H membership appeals to a wide range of youth—5-year-olds to teens, rural and urban and all ethnic groups, Jacob said. In Texas, minority enrollment has increased to almost 40 percent. More than half of the members live in cities and suburbs, a third live in towns, and 13 percent live in rural areas and on farms.

The Extension 4-H and Youth Development program is reaching a significant number of children in the state, and is doing that with partners from all walks of life, Thibodeaux said.

"We have donors and others who want to invest in youth," she said. "We work with many local people who are involved in all types of coalitions. They partner with 4-H to reach these young people with positive programs."

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I try a lot of new recipes on my family. Some meet with more success than others, so I've devised a way to record how well a recipe was received.

For every family member who enjoyed the meal, I assign a star above the recipe. Thus, if all four of us liked the dish, it gets a four-star rating.

When I look back through my cookbook, I can tell at a glance how well my family likes each recipe. — Roberta Chromey, Charles Town, W.Va.

You may have to publish your own four-star cookbook! — Heloise

ZUCCHINI YEAR-ROUND

Dear Heloise: I shred zucchini and store it in the freezer to make zucchini bread year-round.

After processing the zucchini, I'm ready to freeze it in resealable plastic freezer bags. To make this task easier and at the same time freeze the zucchini in convenient premeasured amounts, I first place the plastic bag into a two-cup measuring cup. Using my spaghetti scooper, I just fill the bag to the two-cup mark (which my recipe calls for). — Lynda Lattanzio, Woodbridge, N.J.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to respond to the 47-year-old handicapped woman in Fort Worth who was angry with people for telling her how lucky she was to have such wonderful family support. They also told her she was lucky her stroke wasn't worse.

This woman seems to have forgotten there are others in far worse shape. Ann, I was 24 years old and happily married to my "dream man". We had a beautiful new home and promising careers. In a matter of seconds my life fell apart.

On the day of our second anniversary, I was in my pickup truck when a speeding car broadsided me. The car hit my truck so hard that the tailgate came through the back window and struck me from the rear, breaking my neck in three places. It took rescue workers over an hour to remove me from the wreckage.

Within one week's time, I had been in three hospitals in two states because my injuries were so complicated. The tailgate nearly severed my spinal cord.

Immediately after the accident, a nurse in the emergency room telephoned my husband at work and asked him to come right away. The doctors told him I would need several reconstructive surgeries and the outcome was something no one could predict. When I regained consciousness, the first words my husband said to me were, "No man in his right mind would want to be tied down with a wife in your condition." That was the last I saw of him.

After a week of searching, a team of specialists were located in another state and I was transferred. The chief surgeon told me that I had approximately an 8 percent chance of surviving the operation and I would almost certainly be paralyzed from the neck down if I did live. I told my doctors I had no intention of dying and that God would take care of me.

Because the operation was so extraordinarily complicated and, I suspect, somewhat experimental, I was asked to sign a consent form giving the doctors permission to videotape the procedure for teaching purposes. I did so gladly.

Much to the amazement of the doctors, I survived the surgery with no paralysis, but I do have extensive nerve and muscle damage. It took me two years to recover sufficiently to function on my own and there are still days when I stagger around as if I'd had one too many.

Your Fort Worth correspondent should be thankful that her family loved her enough to stand by her when she needed them, and that she had 47 wonderful years before she became partially disabled. I wasn't that "lucky." But I am not complaining. The things I lost because of my accident have been replaced tenfold. I now have a wonderful new husband who loves me no matter how clumsy I am, and the best gift of all, a beautiful, happy, healthy, 5-month-old baby girl.

The message I want to get across to your readers is that things always get better if you believe.—Teresa Snider, Dayton, Ohio

DEAR TERESA: What a wonderfully upbeat testimony to one woman's courage, determination and faith. Talk about "can-do" spirit! And let's not forget those fabulous doctors. Thank you so much for writing.

Gem of the Day: Life is what happens to you when you are busy making other plans.

Organization helps needy gain education

In August of 1990, Panhandle Community Services (PCS) was awarded Operation Bootstrap (OBS), an innovative HUD housing program providing rental assistance to unemployed and/or underemployed Texas Panhandle families.

The ultimate goal is to assist persons complete their post secondary education and acquire the necessary skills to obtain and retain employment at a wage rate allowing the family to become self-sufficient.

Qualified applicant must be certified eligible for HUD housing assistance, will receive a needs assessment, and will be tested both vocationally and motivationally.

Applicants must be able to complete their education within a two year period. Final selection of successful candidates is made by a local community council.

Currently, 64 clients are actively participating in the OBS program. Of these 64, 2 participants are from the Deaf Smith County area; they are enrolled in school and are pursuing certificate/degrees in computer science/accounting and court reporting.

Coordination of financial aid, Job Training Partnership Act assistance, various PCS services, and community resources are helping these people help themselves.

OBS is available, on a limited basis, in all 26 Texas Panhandle counties.

For further information please contact Celia Serrano (806) 364-5631, Center Coordinator for your area PCS office; or write Phyllis Cook, Director Operation Bootstrap, Panhandle Community Services, P.O. Box 32150, 1605 West 7th, Amarillo, TX 79120-2140.

Spikers thrash Randall to end regular season

The Lady Whitefaces wrapped up the regular volleyball season with a 15-3, 15-1 thrashing of Randall, giving coach Brenda Reeh her 100th win as a head coach.

Hereford, 23-4 and 8-2 in District 1-4A, now heads into the state playoffs and will meet District 2-4A champ Lamesa in the first round. Reeh said the game likely will be played in Lubbock Coronado High School's gym--where the two met in the playoffs last year--at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Hereford had very little trouble with the Lady Raiders, who finished third in the district at 4-6 and 17-10 overall. The Lady Whitefaces jumped out to leads of 8-1 in the first game and 7-1 in the second, forcing Randall timeouts which ultimately did no good.

"All our kids served well," Reeh said. "Randall couldn't pass to the setter. That helped us a bunch."

Teresa Baker led the Herd at the serving line with 15 good serves, 12 service points and three aces. She served the last seven points of the second game.

Hereford had only two bad serves in 47 tries, and didn't have any service-receive errors.

Shantel Cornelius and Jennifer Hicks each had five kills for Hereford, while Brek Binder had three and Lori Sanders added two.

Tuesday's match was the last home match for seven seniors: Baker, Binder, Cornelius, Hicks, Sanders, Kyanne Lindley and Cassie Brooks, who has been unable to play most of the season of knee surgery.

"It was extra special because it was Coach Reeh's 100th win," Hicks said. "It's kind of sad because it's the last game we'll ever play at home, but we're ready to start playing toward the state championship."

"It would have been (emotional) if it would have been my last game ever," Baker said, "but we've got a long way to go."

Though the varsity will go on, the season is over for the junior varsity. They closed the year with a 15-10, 15-4 victory over Randall's JV.

Hereford's JV finished with a 16-8 overall record and a 9-1 record in district. The one loss came against Dumas, but they also beat Dumas once, so the two share the district title.

Randall had trouble handling Hereford's serves, especially those of Robyn Watts and Jeannie Barrientez. They had few true aces, but their serves were good enough that Randall rarely got a good pass off of service reception. Of Hereford's 30 points, Watts served for 13 and Barrientez for 12.

Hereford had a little trouble in the Herd tennis coach to resign

Hereford High School tennis coach Kim King has announced that she will resign her position here and join International Tennis, a group which supplies personnel for tennis resorts around the world--Europe, Japan and Australia.

"I'll be going overseas for two years," King said. "It's like Club Med for tennis. It's just a job opportunity I can't turn down."

"I've enjoyed working for (Hereford athletic director) Danny first game. Coach Jill Harrison blamed it on "a little bit of miscommunication and lack of control."

They were, however, in control of the second game. "We just gained momentum after the first game," Harrison said.

Dumas' varsity finished the season undefeated in district (10-0) with an overall record of 29-2. Hereford was second at 8-2 and Randall was third at 4-6.

Borger and Pampa finished tied for fourth with 3-7 district records. Borger was 16-13 overall, and Pampa was 13-13. Caprock brought up the district rear at 2-8 and 11-16.

Haney," King said. "The toughest decision I had was about the kids, because I enjoyed working with the tennis kids so much."

The fall tennis season ended last week with Hereford finishing second in District 1-4A and losing to 4A power Wichita Falls in the regional quarterfinals. It was King's only season as coach after being hired during the summer.

Haney said the search for a new coach will begin "right away."

8th Maroon gridgers roll

Hereford Junior High's eighth grade Maroon "A" football team trounced Valleyview 38-14 Tuesday in Canyon, but that was it for HJH. All eight teams played, but six lost. The seventh grade Maroon "B" team pulled out a 6-6 tie.

The eighth-graders went with the offensive talents of Joe Rickenbaw and Marquise Brown.

Wants To Act

NEW YORK (AP) - Kickers in pro football are frequently accused of being actors because they fake nose dives when brushed by an opposing player in the hope of drawing a penalty.

Dean Biasucci, the place-kicker of the Indianapolis Colts, hopes to be a professional actor. He spent the summer taking acting lessons in New York. Biasucci already has some experience. He played Marc Antony in the Indiana Repertory Theater's production of Julius Caesar.

He's Like Casey

PONTE VEDRA, Fla. (AP) - Pro golfer Ralph Terry, a member of the PGA Senior Tour, talked about receiving tips on the game from 75-year-old Jerry Barber.

"He reminds me of Casey Stengel," Terry said. "He only helps the people he likes."

In the second half, Rickenbaw had a 40-yard scoring run and Brown had TD runs of 50 and 48 yards. Brown added another two-point conversion, and Martin Martinez got into the act with a two-pointer after the last touchdown.

Hereford lost the eighth Maroon "B" game 6-0.

Rickenbaw ran for a 57-yard touchdown and Brown caught a 55-yard TD pass from Tanner Murphy (Brown ran for two after both scores) to stake Hereford to a 16-14 lead at the half, said coach James Salinas.

Hereford's tie was accomplished in the dark. Mike Guerra ran 20 yards for the seventh grade Maroon's score. That run was set up by a 45-yarder by Manuel Reyna on a fake that the Valleyview players couldn't see.

"That's how we scored," Hereford coach Henry Perez said. "Those kids couldn't see the ball."

The preceding "A" game was a 6-0 loss for Hereford.

The eighth grade White teams both lost to Borger here. The "A" team fell 22-6, getting a 6-yard touchdown run from Armando Zambrano. Then the "B" team lost 22-12, scoring on a 1-yard QB sneak from J.J. Ellis and a 15-yard run by Duane Thomas.

The seventh grade White teams played in Borger. The "A" team was pounded 42-6, getting only a 5-yard run from Raul Nava which was set up by a 75-yard pass from Cory Schumacher to Sal Orosco. The "B" team fell 24-0.

Herd meets 'Horns for Halloween game

After four straight games against teams with winning records, Hereford meets winless Caprock at 7:30 Thursday at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo.

The Longhorns are 0-8. They've allowed 258 points, and they've scored only 58. With numbers like that, they wouldn't put much of a scare into any team—even on Halloween—but Caprock does have its qualities.

"They don't have the physical ability of our previous opponents," Herd coach Danny Haney said, "but they're scrappy, they execute fairly well and they're capable in a lot of the things they do."

The Longhorns big star on both sides of the ball is David Davis, a fullback and defensive tackle.

Davis, an all-district selection last season, will get the ball a lot, Haney said, but Caprock will also throw some.

"They throw bootleg and sprint-out passes. That's probably what they do better than anything else," Haney said.

On defense, Davis and David Graham will anchor a smallish defensive line which averages 200 pounds.

Injury report: PK Ben Perry is still out, recovering from arthroscopic knee surgery, but everyone else is available.

Two players shared defensive player of the week honors: Mark Kriegshauser and Joel Gayton. Haney said Kriegshauser had 13 tackles against Dumas, including one sack and three tackles for losses. Gayton had 12 tackles, two of which were for losses.

On offense, the honor went to tackle Aaron Albracht. "Aaron was the high-grader this week. He played a real good game," Haney said.

For the junior varsity, the players of the week were defensive tackle Andy Montana and all-purpose offensive threat Ronnie Gomez.

For the ninth grade Maroon team, it was RB-DB Jeremy Richardson, and for the ninth White team, it was DB Mark Flores.

Kriegshauser gets player of the week

Hereford defensive tackle Mark Kriegshauser sets his sights on Dumas quarterback Paul Legg. Kriegshauser was honored as one of three players of the week along with Joel Gayton on defense and Aaron Albracht on offense.

Hereford favored by 30

Hereford is listed as a 30-point favorite when the Whitefaces travel to Amarillo Thursday night for a Halloween encounter with the Caprock Longhorns.

The Harris Rating System also picks Pampa and Randall to win by wide margins Friday night. Pampa is favored by 17 over Dumas, while Randall is a 26-point pick over Borger in District 1-4A clashes.

In other Class 4A games to the south, Estacado is favored by 8 over Levelland; Dunbar is a 6-point choice over Lamesa; Andrews over Monahans by 12; Snyder over Frenship by 27; Big Spring over Pecos by 21; and Sweetwater by 49 over San Angelo Lake View.

Sweetwater is ranked 10th in the state, Andrews 19th, while Estacado and Pampa are 22nd and 23rd.

In area Class 5A action, Odessa is picked over Amarillo by 3; Palo Duro over Coronado by 1; Monterey over Tascosa by 10; Plainview over Lubbock by 24; and Permian over San Angelo Central by 17. Harris ranks Permian as No. 1 in the state.

In 3A area games, it's Dimmitt over Friona by 18; Littlefield over Muleshoe by 29; Floydada over Tulia by 10; Childress over Dalhart by 8; Canyon over Perryton by 12; Sanford-Fritch to beat River Road by 12; Brownfield to edge Slaton by 1; Denver City to whip Roosevelt by 34.

Class 2A picks include Stratford over Boys Ranch by 24; Sunray and West Texas are even; Panhandle to edge Canadian by 1; Abertamy over Shallowater by 18; Olton to edge Springlake-Earth by 3; Hart over Hale Center by 1. Wellington is listed at 5th while Panhandle and Canadian are ranked 18th and 19th in the state.

Wheeler is such a strong favorite over Shamrock that a point spread is not listed in Class 1A. Memphis is favored over Booker by 14; Bovina over Kress by 21; Happy over Farwell by 17; Nazareth over Vega by 24; Claude over Gruver by 14. Wheeler is ranked second in the state and Memphis rated seventh.

Cowboys take aim at wildcard spot

IRVING, Texas (AP) - With the Washington Redskins the only undefeated team in the NFL, the Dallas Cowboys are chasing a wild card into the playoffs.

And they'll have to whip the Phoenix Cardinals for the second time this season on Sunday to stay in good position.

"This game is important," said Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson. "Not only is it a game we feel we should win in Texas Stadium but we feel it's a game we have to win."

After Phoenix, the Cowboys have three straight road games at Houston, the New York Giants, and Washington before returning home on Thanksgiving against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The combined record of Dallas' eight remaining opponents is 40-25.

The Cowboys are in the thick of the NFC wild card chase, trailing the unbeaten Redskins in the East by three games.

Dallas is in sole possession of second place and there are only four NFC teams with records better than 5-3. The Cowboys are one of only five NFC teams with a record of better than .500.

But the Cowboys aren't happy with their 5-3 start in the first half of the season.

"A year ago we were 3-5 and everybody was disappointed," Johnson said. "This year we're 5-3 and 99 percent of the people are still disappointed. We're 5-3 and have to accept what we have, but we're not happy with it. We let one slip away."

The one the Cowboys let "slip away" was Sunday's 34-10 loss to Detroit. The Cowboys, who had four costly turnovers, felt they should have won the game despite the lopsided score.

"We're disappointed but fortunately it only counts as one loss," Johnson said. "I told the team we'll win one we're not supposed to win down the road to make up for it."

Johnson said Dallas could easily have been 6-2 or perhaps 7-1, and although he's not happy with the record, he's happy with the product.

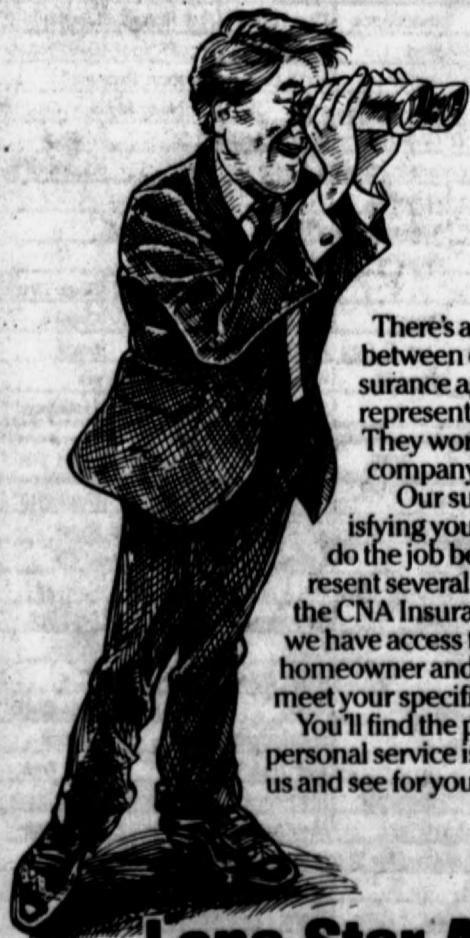

"The thing we do have now is a team with the ability to go out and win games," Johnson said. "We have a team that can line up with the other 27 teams in the league and it makes me feel good."

"I like where we are and I see us getting better. We should see a significant improvement next year and the next year."

Johnson said one improvement from a year ago is the offense.

"We've proved we can move the ball and score regardless of the other team," Johnson said. "Of course, we're still so young we are going to have days when we have mishaps like the Philadelphia game." The Cowboys lost that one, 24-0.

Herd meets 'Horns for Halloween game

After four straight games against teams with winning records, Hereford meets winless Caprock at 7:30 Thursday at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo.

The Longhorns are 0-8. They've allowed 258 points, and they've scored only 58. With numbers like that, they wouldn't put much of a scare into any team—even on Halloween—but Caprock does have its qualities.

"They don't have the physical ability of our previous opponents," Herd coach Danny Haney said, "but they're scrappy, they execute fairly well and they're capable in a lot of the things they do."

The Longhorns big star on both sides of the ball is David Davis, a

fullback and defensive tackle.

Davis, an all-district selection last season, will get the ball a lot, Haney said, but Caprock will also throw some.

"They throw bootleg and sprint-out passes. That's probably what they do better than anything else," Haney said.

On defense, Davis and David Graham will anchor a smallish defensive line which averages 200 pounds.

Injury report: PK Ben Perry is still out, recovering from arthroscopic knee surgery, but everyone else is available.

Two players shared defensive player of the week honors: Mark Kriegshauser and Joel Gayton. Haney said Kriegshauser had 13 tackles against Dumas, including one sack and three tackles for losses. Gayton had 12 tackles, two of which were for losses.

On offense, the honor went to tackle Aaron Albracht. "Aaron was the high-grader this week. He played a real good game," Haney said.

For the junior varsity, the players of the week were defensive tackle Andy Montana and all-purpose offensive threat Ronnie Gomez.

For the ninth grade Maroon team, it was RB-DB Jeremy Richardson, and for the ninth White team, it was DB Mark Flores.

Kriegshauser gets player of the week

Hereford defensive tackle Mark Kriegshauser sets his sights on Dumas quarterback Paul Legg. Kriegshauser was honored as one of three players of the week along with Joel Gayton on defense and Aaron Albracht on offense.

Hereford favored by 30

Hereford is listed as a 30-point favorite when the Whitefaces travel to Amarillo Thursday night for a Halloween encounter with the Caprock Longhorns.

The Harris Rating System also picks Pampa and Randall to win by wide margins Friday night. Pampa is favored by 17 over Dumas, while Randall is a 26-point pick over Borger in District 1-4A clashes.

In other Class 4A games to the south, Estacado is favored by 8 over Levelland; Dunbar is a 6-point choice over Lamesa; Andrews over Monahans by 12; Snyder over Frenship by 27; Big Spring over Pecos by 21; and Sweetwater by 49 over San Angelo Lake View.

Sweetwater is ranked 10th in the state, Andrews 19th, while Estacado and Pampa are 22nd and 23rd.

In area Class 5A action, Odessa is picked over Amarillo by 3; Palo Duro over Coronado by 1; Monterey over Tascosa by 10; Plainview over Lubbock by 24; and Permian over San Angelo Central by 17. Harris ranks Permian as No. 1 in the state.

In 3A area games, it's Dimmitt over Friona by 18; Littlefield over Muleshoe by 29; Floydada over Tulia by 10; Childress over Dalhart by 8; Canyon over Perryton by 12; Sanford-Fritch to beat River Road by 12; Brownfield to edge Slaton by 1; Denver City to whip Roosevelt by 34.

Class 2A picks include Stratford over Boys Ranch by 24; Sunray and West Texas are even; Panhandle to edge Canadian by 1; Abernathy over Shallowater by 18; Olton to edge Springlake-Earth by 3; Hart over Hale Center by 1. Wellington is listed at 5th while Panhandle and Canadian are ranked 18th and 19th in the state.

Wheeler is such a strong favorite over Shamrock that a point spread is not listed in Class 1A. Memphis is favored over Booker by 14; Bovina over Kress by 21; Happy over Farwell by 17; Nazareth over Vega by 24; Claude over Gruver by 14. Wheeler is ranked second in the state and Memphis rated seventh.

Cowboys take aim at wildcard spot

IRVING, Texas (AP) - With the Washington Redskins the only undefeated team in the NFL, the Dallas Cowboys are chasing a wildcard into the playoffs.

And they'll have to whip the Phoenix Cardinals for the second time this season on Sunday to stay in good position.

"This game is important," said Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson. "Not only is it a game we feel we should win in Texas Stadium but we feel it's a game we have to win."

After Phoenix, the Cowboys have three straight road games at Houston, the New York Giants, and Washington before returning home on Thanksgiving against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The combined record of Dallas' eight remaining opponents is 40-25.

The Cowboys are in the thick of the NFC wildcard chase, trailing the unbeaten Redskins in the East by three games.

Dallas is in sole possession of second place and there are only four NFC teams with records better than 5-3. The Cowboys are one of only five NFC teams with a record of better than .500.

But the Cowboys aren't happy with their 5-3 start in the first half of the season.

"A year ago we were 3-5 and everybody was disappointed," Johnson said. "This year we're 5-3 and 99 percent of the people are still disappointed. We're 5-3 and have to accept what we have, but we're not happy with it. We let one slip away."

The one the Cowboys let "slip away" was Sunday's 34-10 loss to Detroit. The Cowboys, who had four costly turnovers, felt they should have won the game despite the lopsided score.

"We're disappointed but fortunately it only counts as one loss," Johnson said. "I told the team we'll win one we're not supposed to win down the road to make up for it."

Johnson said Dallas could easily have been 6-2 or perhaps 7-1, and although he's not happy with the record, he's happy with the product.

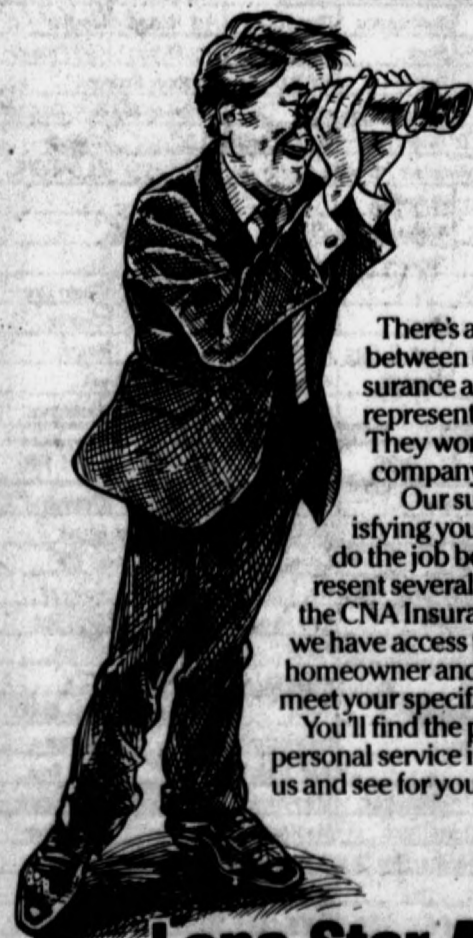

"The thing we do have now is a team with the ability to go out and win games," Johnson said. "We have a team that can line up with the other 27 teams in the league and it makes me feel good."

"I like where we are and I see us getting better. We should see a significant improvement next year and the next year."

Johnson said one improvement from a year ago is the offense.

"We've proved we can move the ball and score regardless of the other team," Johnson said. "Of course, we're still so young we are going to have days when we have mishaps like the Philadelphia game." The Cowboys lost that one, 24-0.

McKinney QB goes wild; Herd's Brown honored

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer
Denison helped inspire McKinney's new pass-oriented offense. Now the Yellowjackets have felt the sting of their creation.

McKinney's Max Knake completed 24 of 40 passes for 490 yards and six touchdowns last week, leading the Lions in a 62-17 whipping of Denison. Phillip Evans caught 11 of Knake's passes, including three for touchdowns, for 232 yards. The effort earned them mention in The Associated Press Schoolboy-Honor Roll.

McKinney coach Ron Poe said he decided to change to a one-back offense after losing all-state running back James Thornton. He also was spurred by a late-season loss to Denison, which kept the Lions out of the playoffs despite their 8-2 record.

"I'll tell you what influenced it - and this is a compliment to (Denison coach) Marty Criswell - and that's that we took the best running back in the state up there and we couldn't beat them," Poe said. "So we decided we had to throw the ball."

Poe said the new scheme - similar to a Run-and-Shoot - was built around Knake, a 6-2, 192-pound quarterback who passed for 451 yards last year. Last week's blowout, which included touchdowns of 24, 21, 29, 20, 8 and 6 yards, boosted his season total to 1,756 yards and 20 touchdowns.

"They covered us well and it was a lot of man coverage," Poe said. "Our receivers just got a step on them and Max threw it right to that spot."

Also receiving honor roll mention was Tom Bean quarterback Adam Ball, who completed 24 of 42 passes for 368 yards and three touchdowns in a 34-7 victory over Whitewright. Ball also ran for a 10-yard touchdown.

Tom Bean coach David Horner said Ball is the heart of the Cats' no-huddle Run-and-Shoot. "He's the hub of it because we do a lot of reading," Horner said. "He's an excellent sprint-out quarterback. He's real accurate on the run when some quarterbacks aren't."

The 6-0, 140-pounder has completed 171 of 339 passes for 2,130 yards and 19 touchdowns. He also has scored 10 of the Cats' 13 rushing touchdowns.

Sweetwater's James Moore did it all in a 35-7 victory over Big Spring. Moore, a reserve tailback starting as a receiver, caught a 21-yard touchdown pass, threw a 39-yard score and returned a punt 61 yards for a touchdown.

In other outstanding performances: -Leo Brown of Hereford carried 33 times for 217 yards and a 2-yard score in a 20-9 victory over Dumas.

-Jason Dimore of Gorman rushed for 247 yards on 32 carries in a 27-19 victory over Rising Star.

-San Angelo Central's Shea Morenz completed 17 of 30 passes for 344 yards and three touchdowns in a 34-0 victory over Abilene Cooper. He was intercepted twice.

-Erik Hartman of Odessa completed 22 of 27 passes for 301 yards and a 61-yard touchdown, but the Bronchos lost 39-14 to Midland Lee.

-Mount Pleasant defensive back Robby Hampton intercepted two passes and recovered two fumbles, helping his team to a 30-20 victory over Liberty-Eylau.

-Arturo Aviles carried 28 times for 220 yards and five touchdowns in a 49-0 victory over Hart. Aviles scored on runs of 1, 8, 20, 1 and 32 yards.

-Bernasko Reddic carried 25 times for 201 yards and two scores, but White Oak lost to Rusk, 32-29. Reddic has rushed for 1,557 yards.

-Victor Gray of Palestine completed 16 of 34 passes for 322 yards and a touchdown in a 30-3 victory over Whitehouse. Carlos Wilson caught four of Gray's passes for 169 yards.

-Cikai Champion of Tyler John Tyler carried 15 times for 201 yards in a 21-21 tie with Lufkin.

-Aric Sardinea of Tidehaven ran for scores of 5, 60 and 27 yards and intercepted two passes in a 42-0 whipping of Brazos. Sardinea also threw a two-point conversion pass.

-Bridge City's Frank Carpenter carried 25 times for 218 yards and three touchdowns in a 27-19 victory over Port Arthur Lincoln.

-Toma Barlow of Chester carried nine times for 224 yards and three touchdowns in a 40-8 victory over Beaumont Christian.

-Rotan defensive lineman Jesse Garcia made 12 tackles, blocked two passes and caused a fumble as the Yellowhammers knocked off No. 1 Garden City, 27-13.

-J.J. Galvan of San Diego carried 16 times for 266 yards in a 34-6 victory over Falfurrias.

-Flour Bluff's Chris Waskom carried 31 times for 225 yards in a 42-26 victory over Beeville.

-Mike Kume of Gregory-Portland ran for 212 yards, including touchdown runs of 81 and 86 yards, and intercepted a pass in a 35-14 victory over Tuloso-Midway.

-Bishop receiver Mark Parris caught six passes for 181 yards and a score in a 37-22 loss to George West.

-Andre Brown of Lewisville carried 22 times for 295 yards and four touchdowns in a 45-26 victory over Flower Mound Marcus.

-Arlington Lamar's Shawn Walters carried 33 times for 256 yards and two touchdowns in a 29-7 victory over Mansfield.

-Duncanville's LaTaurus Lewis carried 26 times for 248 yards and a touchdown in a 50-14 loss to North Garland.

-Brandon Tarver of North Mesquite carried 33 times for 233 yards in a 20-10 victory over Garland.

-Leon Clark of South Garland carried 35 times for 205 yards and two scores in a 36-12 victory over DeSoto.

-Michael Martin of Dallas W.T. White carried 25 times for 224 yards and three touchdowns in a 25-7 victory over Dallas Wilson.

-Italy's Michael Walker carried 15 times for 203 yards and two touchdowns in a 48-7 victory over Dawson.

-Troy Redwine of Farmersville carried 11 times for 251 yards and two scores in a 57-7 victory over Anna.

-Caddo Mills' Alan Henderson carried 27 times for 253 yards and three touchdowns in a 27-12 victory over Community.

-Rick Finister of Houston North Shore passed for 408 yards and five touchdowns in a 53-21 victory over Sharpstown.

No. 1 Bastrop may forfeit two games

AUSTIN (AP) - Bastrop, the No. 1 team in Class 4A, may have to forfeit two games because of an ineligible player, the Texas Education Agency says.

If the TEA eligibility ruling stands, Bastrop (8-0) would forfeit District 26-4A wins over Hays and Lockhart.

Paul Fleming, Bastrop superintendent, said Tuesday he has asked the TEA to rule quickly on an appeal. No date has been set for a hearing on his request.

Fleming said a teacher, in conjunction with the department head, changed a grade from failing to passing for the grading period ending Oct. 14. The student has not been identified.

"The teacher did not violate local policy," Fleming said. "The decision was made by the teacher and the department head. This had nothing to do with the coaches. The teachers did what they thought to be in the interest of the child."

Fleming said Bastrop used the ineligible player in its past two games. According to the state's no-pass, no-play law, any student who fails a class is ineligible for all extracurricular activities for a minimum of six weeks.

The player in question is not a starter, Fleming said.

Three Titles Each
OVERLAND PARK, Kan. (AP) - Louisiana State and UCLA each won three team titles in the 1990-91 NCAA athletic competition for both men and women. They tied for top honors.

LSU won championships in women's indoor and outdoor track. It also captured the baseball championship, the first time the Tigers had won the diamond crown.

Houston hospital offers fine, but healthy, dining

HOUSTON (AP) - The restaurant is at Methodist Hospital, but typical hospital fare - bland chicken, overcooked vegetables, small cardboard containers of low-fat milk - is nowhere in sight.

Instead, Chez Eddy offers wild boar with plum sauce. Crab royal with champagne dressing. Broiled lamb medallions. Lemon crepes and cheesecake.

Yes, cheesecake. "We feel like we're a leader in teaching people how to eat healthy, but we do it gourmet style," says restaurant manager Helen Roe. "It's fine dining. ... You don't have to have bland and boring food when eating right."

Located in a medical tower in the heart of the renowned Texas Medical Center, the restaurant for 10 years has been catering to those who want or need to eat healthy, but have no desire to gnaw on dry carrot sticks or eat exotic meat substitutes.

And, after years of giving out recipes to inquiring customers, the restaurant has written "The Chez Eddy Living Heart Cookbook" ($25, Prentice Hall Press). It includes recipes, cooking techniques, caloric and fat content information for each dish and pointers on adapting recipes to today's heart-healthy standards.

Chez Eddy's menu doesn't list calories or fat content, but patrons can be assured that salt isn't added and sugar and fat use are kept to a minimum. Each dish meets American Heart Association guidelines for fat, cholesterol and sodium.

"People who come here feel safe," Ms. Roe says.

The restaurant serves a variety of American, ethnic and Southwestern dishes. The glassed-in eatery sports soft peach tablecloths adorned with small arrangements of fresh flowers. A lonely pepper grinder sits atop each table. Salt is available, but only on request.

"It (salt) is a controlled substance here, but we don't embarrass people when they ask for it," Ms. Roe says, smiling.

Butter also is missing. Bread is made at the restaurant without fat or salt. Nothing is fried, many of the fruits and vegetables are grown organically and there is only a small refrigerator in the busy kitchen to accommodate such things as yogurt, but not ice cream.

"There are lots of hidden fats at restaurants," she explains. "We don't do that here."

Lean pork, beef and veal are served, along with chicken and fresh fish and seafood. The menu is a mix of American, ethnic and Southwestern dishes.

A slimmed down version of chicken fried steak that weighs in at 12.9 fat grams per serving is available, created at the urging of the hospital's health-conscious president.

Instead of salt, herbs, peppers and spices are used to flavor the dishes, along with infused vinegars, wine, honey and fruit juices. Fat-laden cream has been replaced with low-fat dairy products such as yogurt and buttermilk.

Like the rest of the hospital, smoking is prohibited. But the restaurant does serve beer, wine and caffeine beverages.

The clientele includes hospital employees, visitors to patients and other Houstonians who simply like the food. Patients also can have food from the restaurant delivered to their room. The restaurant serves lunch and dinner and seats 120.

"I love the restaurant. Normally, you have to apologize for going out to eat, but there you don't have to," says Dr. Eric Haufrect, who has been a frequent visitor to the restaurant since it opened.

"It's good food, and the presentation is really quite attractive. I've never felt as if I'm going to a health food store."

Some visiting friends or family in the hospital are surprised to find the restaurant. "They're shocked and very pleased to find this tucked away here," Ms. Roe says.

Chef Thomas Palmer had to stop using salt and creams when he came to the restaurant in March. The most difficult food to prepare has been soup, he says.

The kitchen, he says, is smaller than most similar restaurants.

"Everything is done a la carte. We don't cook anything until the order comes in," he says.

Many foods are grilled or sauteed quickly and then finished in the oven. Vegetables often are cooked in chicken stock and fresh herbs are a daily must.

"It's a challenge, especially if we can continue to grow with the style we have and take it a step further," he says. "We're right in line with some of the better restaurants in the country but without the fat."

Golden K adds women to club

Lottery issue topic of debate

DALLAS (AP) - Legislative sponsors of a state lottery are defending their decision to let voters decide Nov. 5 whether to legalize a money-making game.

"The state can run a lottery and it can run it effectively," declared state Sen. John Montford, a backer of Proposition 11 on the constitutional referendum ballot.

Lawmakers were criticized Tuesday night by lottery opponents taking part in a forum televised from Austin.

Sue Cox of Dallas-based Texans Who Care said the state would be setting a bad example by promoting the games and could find a more cost-efficient method of raising revenue.

California spent $2 million dollars on balloons and confetti to tout its Lotto games, she said.

"A lottery won't work if the state won't promote it," said Weston Ware of the Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission.

A church's promotion of a lottery is a bad thing, Ware said, but it would be a terrible thing for the state to teach children that it is all right to "play a hunch and win a bunch."

Ware said some people could not handle the lure of possible riches. He called a lottery, "an activity that is shown to be destructive, to some people who become compulsive gamblers."

Former Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton, now a lobbyist for a company that sells lottery equipment, asked for proof of that claim.

"Rest assured there is a close relation between the lottery and compulsive gambling," said Ms. Cox, who cited the Journal of Gambling Behavior.

She said the lottery would be a regressive tax on poor people, who could be targeted for lottery ticket sales.

Montford, D-Lubbock, rejected her argument as "pure bunk."

"I truly resent the continued inference that the poor are too stupid to vote," said Montford, D-Lubbock.

State Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, added that the poor working class should have the opportunity to make the decision whether to buy tickets.

"They ought to be able to determine for themselves in a free society whether they want to opt into a lottery or not," Wilson said. "For someone to say they shouldn't have that right I think flies in the face of our whole system."

The state comptroller estimates that a Texas lottery would generate about $1 billion profit every two years once in full operation. It would bring in a projected $462 million for the 1992-93 budget cycle if games begin by July 1992.

Texas is the largest state in the nation without a lottery, while more than 30 states and the District of Columbia operate lotteries.

First-term Gov. Ann Richards, who wound up signing a $2.7 billion tax increase to balance the 1992-93 state budget, pushed lawmakers hard to give voters a chance to decide on a lottery.
