American Republics Draft Drive Against Fifth Column

Firm Plans To Curb Foreign Agents Drawn

Diplomatic Probe Is Proposed At Havana Meeting

By J. C. STARK
Associated Press Staff Writer

HAVANA, July 24.—Firm measures to stamp out "fifth column" activities by foreign diplomatic agents or other persons and knit hemisphere defenses were urgently advanced tonight by foreign ministers of the American republics.

Proposals before the peace preservation committee headed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull included an investigation of diplomatic and consular agents and possible limitation of their immunity privileges.

Simultaneously Cuba went a step ahead of the United States proposal to establish a "collective trusteeship" over western colonies of European nations in the event they are threatened with acquisition by another non-American state.

Warning Suggested

Cuba suggested that the Pan-American nations issue a declaration warning that "any western hemisphere territory offering peril" to any American nation may be occupied by armed American forces.

The United States already has begun investigating foreign consular agents at home and warned the German embassy in Washington in one case that its officials must refrain from public discussion of activity in domestic affairs or leave the country.

Tighter immigration control and close surveillance of aliens within American nations along the lines taken recently in the United States also were believed under consideration.

Example Is Cited

Means of establishing unified action among the 21 American republics to resist any foreign efforts to influence American policies were studied.

An example cited was a recent German note to Central American republics described as seeking to influence them against Havana conference action which might be con-

Twenty-Four Of "I Am" Charged

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 24. — The federal grand jury here today indicted twenty-four leaders of the "I Am" foundation, a nationwide movement reported to have attracted a million converts on charges of fraudulent use of the mails.

Testimony by postal inspectors resulted in 16 counts of misuse of the mails and one count of conspiracy that promoters of the movement fraudulently obtained large donations on promise that members would be immortal. The indictment mentioned sums "in excess of $80,000."

Homes Are Broken

Temples of instruction centers were listed in the indictment as at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Cleveland, Denver, Salt Lake, Fort Worth, Dallas, and West Palm Beach.

The indictments charged the defendants falsely taught their followers to practice "absolute sex continence" on the ground that all their energies should be devoted to advancement of themselves and the movement. These teachings, oral and written, the truebill contended, caused "the breaking up of homes

Forty-Six Civilians Killed In Holy Land

JERUSALEM, July 24. (AP)—Forty-six civilians were officially reported killed and 88 wounded today as ten enemy planes dropped 80 to 100 bombs into the harbor and on the streets of Haifa, port city of the British-mandated Holy Lands.

The planes roaring over the eastern section of the city from the southeast were driven off finally by anti-aircraft fire.

One of the bombs struck a fishing boat and killed two Arabs.

The first air raid on Haifa was July 15.

No Relief From Heat Seen; 286 Victims Listed

(By The Associated Press)

The longest and broadest heat wave of 1940 reached a new crest yesterday.

Previous high temperature records for the season were shattered at many points in the Midwest and no general relief was in prospect.

The total of deaths attributed directly and indirectly to the sul-

IT'S HOT HERE

Heat continued to prove itself the best topic of conversation Wednesday.

In fact, it added a degree here and there to Lubbock thermometers to make it all the more conspicuous as a talking point. The 99 degrees recorded at Municipal airport was the highest reading there in three weeks.

West Texas Gas company's main line station had 105 degrees, the same as Tuesday.

try spell—now eight days old in some prairie states—was increased to 282. These include 100 heat fatalities and 186 drownings.

New Highs Posted

Among the new marks for the summer were: Chicago, 101; Milwaukee 100; Detroit, Denver, and Springfield, Ill., 98; Indianapolis, 95; Cincinnati, 97.2; Youngstown, 96; Dayton, 95; Columbus, 94.8; Toledo, 94.

Readings of 104 or more were registered across Nebraska.

The mercury column also moved toward the top of thermometers in these placs: Bloit, Kas., 116; Hays, Kas., 110; Overton, Neb., 109; Lincoln, Neb., 108; Topeka, Kas., 106; Wichita, Kas., 105; Logan and Clarion, Iowa, 104.

Umpire Overcome

At Kansas City Umpire Bill Guthrie was overcome by the heat while officiating at the Kansas City-Columbus baseball game with the thermometer at 101.

A half dozen deaths were reported in Chicago on the sixth consecutive day of temperatures of more than 90 degrees. Citizens there were using nine carloads of lemons and limes a day. The Daily attendance at beaches averaged 1,000,000. The water works pumped 1,366,950,000 gallons in a 24-hour period—an all-time peak.

W. W. Nunley Dies At Corpus Christi

W. W. Nunley, 87, former resident of Lubbock county, died Wednesday morning in Corpus Christi, relatives here were notified.

The body will be brought to Lubbock Friday following a service at 10 o'clock this morning in Robstown, where Mr. Nunley has made his home with a son, L. O. Nunley.

Another service will be conducted in Lubbock Friday afternoon or Saturday morning and interment will be in Lubbock cemetery, under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Mr. Nunley formerly farmed six miles southeast of Lubbock, and still owns a farm there. He moved to Lubbock in 1910 from Dalhart and moved away from the county in 1924.

He is survived by five sons, L. O. of Robstown, W. T. of Corpus Christi, J. F. C. of Tulsa, and J. A. and H. C. of Lubbock, and two daughters, Mrs. Essie Johnson of Bernardino, Calif., and Miss Girthie Nunley of Corpus Christi. Mrs. Lloyd Rickets of Lubbock is a grand daughter and J. A. Nunley, jr., of Lubbock, a grandson.

Mr. Nunley had been in failing health. He underwent minor surgery recently. He died in a hospital.

Third Term Is Injected Into Texas Politics

Fergusons Favor FDR; O'Daniel In West Texas

(By The Associated Press)

THE THIRD-TERM issue was injected sharply into the involved Texas gubernatorial race Wednesday night as James E. Ferguson closed his campaign in behalf of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, while Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel stepped from under his miniature, star-studded Capitol Dome into the shade of an umbrella for two daylight speeches in West Texas.

In an address prepared for delivery at a wind-up rally—the first of the campaign—at Fort Worth, Ferguson joined his wife's desire for a third term with that of President Roosevelt.

Nothing For FDR

"O'Daniel says nothing for the president," Ferguson declared. He wanted Texans to be careful "that no deep laid plot to carry Texas for the Republican party gets any headway."

Other gubernatorial candidates still had a heavy schedule of stump and radio speeches ahead of them. Jerry Sadler planned to close his stumping campaign at Kilgore Thursday night.

O'Daniel, whose multi-lighted trailer has attracted the attention of thousands of listeners during the past two weeks, spoke from a humbler vehicle at Vernon and Childress while the big white sound truck that has attracted the barbs of his opponents lumbered toward Amarillo for a one-night stand. He spoke from the new truck at Memphis.

For Night Stops

His headquarters at Austin explained that the new truck is used chiefly at night stops because it is too slow to keep up with the road-devouring speed of his intensive campaign schedule.

Another factor, O'Daniel headquarters said, was the mechanical difficulty of raising the dome, which has to be wound up slowly upward by a winch, further delaying the entourage.

At Vernon, O'Daniel said the independent bureaus have "absorbed the legislative, executive and judicial functions of the government, and they are in the hands of a small bunch of professional politicians."

Opponents Rave

His opponents are "raving about the little things," the governor said, asking:

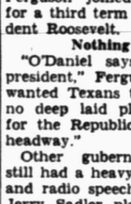

"Who cares how I part my hair, or on which side?"

Teachers of Texas have written the word "failure" on the report card of O'Daniel in meeting state obligations to them, Ernest O. Thompson said at San Angelo.

They, the old folks and business men are "marching to victory" with him because of disillusionments of O'Daniel Vs. Thompson Or Harry Hines?

Run-Off Seen In Governor's Race

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Important newspapers in every section of Texas for the past few days have been sounding out public sentiment regarding the race for governor. Information gathered by the various papers was sent to Austin where it was correlated by Raymond Brooks veteran capitol correspondent for the Austin American-Statesman. The accompanying article was written by Mr. Brooks after correlation of the information and is appearing simultaneously today in each of the co-operating newspapers)

By RAYMOND BROOKS
Special Correspondent

AUSTIN, July 25.—Majority judgment of voters queried during the past several days in 30 scattered Texas cities and towns was that Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel would fall short of renomination in Saturday's primary election and thus face a run-off campaign.

Most likely opponent, if there is a run-off, will be Ernest O. Thompson, although Harry Hines, who recently has been picking up considerable strength, may nose out the Amarillo an for the right to fight it out with the governor.

Jerry Sadler, who came out of nowhere and plumped into the railroad commissionership two years ago, is still the "mystery man" of the governor's contest. If he has the "silent support" his friends claim for him, he may get somewhere. Otherwise, he won't.

Nowhere along the line is he listed as second high man But it was with much amazement that his opponents found him scooting ahead two years ago in that race

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, whose race almost died aborning after a good preliminary start, is also pictured as making rather sharp gains. She is reported to have shaken loose much support in Houston but has failed to gather in the West Texas followers that once were "Me for Ma."

45 Per Cent To "Pappy"

If a cross section of surmises is taken and averaged, it gives O'Daniel 45 per cent of the total vote. This is six per cent less than he polled that July day two years ago when he swept the entire field into the discard in the first primary.

This survey gathered dispassionate judgment of as nearly complete cross-sections as possible. None of the information came from headquarters or campaign workers for any candidate. The check was made throughout Texas, all the way from Paris to El Paso, and from Amarillo to Brownsville.

It presented many intangibles, such as the uncertainties in Jerry Sadler's race for governor and rather sharp recent gains by Col. Thompson, who was runner-up to O'Daniel two years ago.

In contrast with a detailed and exhaustive poll two years ago, made through the cooperation of more than a dozen newspapers, and which accurately forecast O'Daniel's first-primary nomination, this year's survey is a spot, one-time cross-section check of voter opinion. It ranges from checking more than 1,000 voters in Waco, to a cross-section of as few as 30 persons in some of the small towns. Generally, it covers both the cities and the adjoining communities about Waco, Port Arthur and Beaumont, Austin, Paris, Corpus Christi, Amarillo, El Paso, Abilene, Lubbock, Vernon, Brownsville, Sweetwater, Harlingen and Kingsville.

El Paso For Thompson

Numbers of commentators predicted O'Daniel will poll his full strength in the first primary, and that all the opposition will concentrate on his run-off opponent, whichever of the candidates it may be. The general trend of opinion was that the upward swing of Thompson in the final two weeks of the campaign will have carried him past the other contenders for the place in the run-off, but this is confused by evidence that each of the other candidates will in some sections be in second place. All sections except El Paso reported O'Daniel will be in the lead and Amarillo, where reports were sharply conflicting. El Paso reports said Thompson again will carry the county, probably by a clear majority.

The opinions generally indicate that O'Daniel will hold virtually all his strength in rural areas and predictions that there will be a run-off are made on acceptance of that fact. O'Daniel losses in the towns and cities are reported with general uniformity.

This survey data does not include any of the four big cities—Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth From other sources, and based on reports of reliable nature, it is known that O'Daniel has sustained extensive losses in his home city of Fort Worth, and in Dallas. Also, that the Fergusons have made considerable inroads at Houston. San Antonio's vote will go to O'Daniel with the machine running neither hot nor cold for him, having declared a handsoff policy.

"Ma" Hurts O'Daniel

Universally, it was pointed out that the Ferguson candidacy, cutting directly into the 1938 support of O'Daniel, is a factor in his loss of support in the towns; and a few of the reports indicate that the Ferguson appeal will reflect losses by O'Daniel in rural areas, traditionally supporting the Fergusons. Again, the bitter fight of Sadler on O'Daniel, in points where Sadler's strength is uncertain or known to be strong, reflect losses by O'Daniel as well as gains by his opponent. In broad outline, the votes alligned for Thompson and Hines, are the half-million losing votes two years ago, when O'Daniel got 573,000 for a 51 per cent majority.

In some of the communities about Abilene—with detailed checking in Winters, Anson, Hamlin, Sweetwater, Albany and Merkel—the reports said that O'Daniel would get more than a majority—over half the votes cast in July. Other communities tapered this down to the 45 per cent estimate. One report forecast O'Daniel's getting as high as 75 per cent of the rural vote but the veteran political observers of the area were quoted as almost unanimously predicting that O'Daniel has lost enough support to assure a run-off

Reports from the Abilene sector said that Thompson, generally regarded as the strongest candidate to dislodge O'Daniel because of his 1938 showing, had lost ground late in the campaign, and that Harry Hines had recorded substantial gains.

In one rural community of Tay-

O'Daniel Introduces New Campaign Song

AMARILLO, July 24 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, whose "Beautiful Texas" and "Pappy-Pass-the Biscuits" two years ago swept Texas, gave the voters a new song tonight.

The title is "There Ain't Goin' to Be No Run-Off."

Here are the words:

Verse 1

Oh, there ain't goin' to be no run-off.
We don't have them anymore,
We did away with runoffs
When O'Daniel ran before.

Verse 2

Oh, there ain't goin' to be no runoff,
So says the mighty throng.
Three quarter million Texans
Are singing this glad song

Verse 3

Oh, there ain't goin' to be no runoff.
That's what the people say.
The common folks of Texas
Are in the chair to stay.

Objectors, Men With Families To Be Exempted

Officer Says Men With Dependents To Be Excluded

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 24. — Men with dependents were assured today that they would not be drafted for military training in time of peace under the army's conscription program, while the Senate military committee virtually decided to exempt "conscientious objectors" from combat training.

The assurance to men with dependents was given by Brig. Gen. William E. Shedd, assistant chief of staff, while he was testifying before the House military committee in support of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory training bill. This measure was approved with revisions by the Senate committee yesterday.

"Deferred" Class

General Shedd also said that provision had been made to place in a "deferred" classification all men "essential to industry."

Chairman Sheppard (D-Texas) of the Senate committee, in talking to reporters, defined a "conscientious objector" as one who could prove that he was opposed to war on religious grounds. Such exemptions during the World war, he said, were based upon memberships in churches whose creeds forbade military service rather than upon individual religious views.

Sheppard explained, however, that while "conscientious objectors" would not be required to take combat training, they would be subject to other forms of defense service.

"Well-To-Do" Unemployed

Selection of drafters, Sheppard said, would be made on the basis of those who could "best afford to do." When a reporter asked if this might not result in obtaining most of the trainees from the ranks of the poor and jobless, Sheppard replied that some of the "well-to-do" also were unemployed.

General Shedd's observation of men with dependents was in reply to a question on how the war department proposed to protect a married man, subject to a year of TEXARKANA, Ark., July 24.—Arkansas police painstakingly searched through Texarkana tonight for the marauder who knifed and bludgeoned socially-prominent Mrs. R. J. O'Dwyer, 42, to death early today.

Mrs. O'Dwyer was found on her bed, her throat slit from ear to ear and her head battered from blows

TWO ARE HELD

SHREVEPORT, La., July 24 (AP)—Acting on information from Texarkana authorities, Shreveport police tonight arrested two men found riding "the blinds" on a passenger train, and held the pair for questioning in connection with the slaying of Mrs. R. J. O'Dwyer at Texarkana last night.

Police said a butcher knife and the axle from an automobile were used to take her life.

Chief R. Marlin Giles of the Texarkana state police said it appeared a robber, who ransacked the house and took a diamond, a ring and a watch, had committed the crime.

Stopped To Eat

In an alley behind the house police found evidence that the slayer who had ransacked the O'Dwyer ice box, had stopped to eat.

In the fashionable Glendale residential section, where Mrs. O'Dwyer lived, prowlers visited two homes during the night. In consequence Chief Giles ordered the arrest of all known housebreakers in an effort to break the case.

R. J. O'Dwyer, husband of the slain woman, first found her. Giles

British Claim Air Victory; German Ships Are Lost

As The British Tell It

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 25 (Thursday)—An American-made dive bomber seized by the Germans from the French was shot down yesterday and another was damaged by British Spitfires in fierce bomb raid battles which cost the Nazis 12 planes.

At least two raiders were brought down by coastal anti-aircraft guns and the rest by fighting planes as the raiders struck hard at England ports and sea lanes all day long.

Counter-punching British air and sea forces smashed back at boats and take-off points the Germans are spreading hastily along the eastern North sea in "pre-invasion" readiness.

The British air ministry, claiming success often against heavy odds for Britain's fast little Spitfires, said that American-made planes, identified as "Chance Vought 156's," were encountered at least twice in the German raiding formations.

The American planes were the first of the wartime deliveries to France reported seen in action against England.

The British claimed that at least three of the fighter escort were downed in the attacks to get at the bombing planes. The first American plane was described as swirling into a spin and plunging into the sea. The second's wing was damaged badly by gunfire.

Successful All Day

Again and again throughout the day the "barrier line" of high-flying British defense planes dived into dogfights to drive waves of German Heinkel, Dornier and Junkers bombers and Messerschmitt fighters from attacks on ship convoys.

"It was a Spitfire day," the air ministry declared, in contrast to recent days in which the British Hurricanes have carried the brunt of the defense load.

"Since the small hours of the morning (Wednesday)," the air ministry said, "Spitfires and anti-aircraft guns have been beating off the attacks of German bombers, fighters and mine laying aircraft on ships and shipping. Up to the early evening they were still successfully destroying and beating off the enemy."

Conditions Hazardous

Flying and fighting conditions were poor. Planes dodged in and out of heavy clouds and struck through heavy wind and thunderstorms.

One Messerschmitt attacked over the sea contained a rubber dinghy.

The Messrschmitt burst into flames in the fighting, and the pilot parachuted into the water. The

Germans Start Pre-Invasion Propaganda

As The Germans Tell It

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, July 24.—The voice of German propaganda rose tonight above the roar of bombers over England in intense, psychological preparation for what the Reich expects to be the total onslaught.

The air force, deadly striking arm of this prelude to the real battle for Britain, struck with new fury at Britain and her sea borne commerce.

British Also Active

Even as new German bombs fell, however, dispatches from German-occupied Holland said 5 persons were killed and many injured last night in a British air raid on Amersfort, heart of the invaded Dutch defense system, with two others killed at a town north of Amsterdam.

Of Germany's own air exploits, the high command reported 31,000 tons of British commercial shipping destroyed in the last 48 hours and a British submarine, mine sweeper and two patrol boats sunk.

Vitriolic denunciation of the British ruling class poured into the ears of radio listeners. The official broadcaster excoriated England's leaders as "vermin equipped with umbrellas and tophats," a "pack of criminals."

"Gloat Over War"

These "plutocrats," he said, were a voracious rabble who sent their children to Canada while millions of others suffered from malnutrition.

The official broadcaster likened Foreign Minister Lord Halifax' firm rejection of any peace talk to similar defiant statements by Foreign Minister Beck of Poland before the fall of that nation.

"Reynaud (former Premier Paul Reynaud of France) also used these big words," he said.

The German press supplemented this drive to enrage the populace against England. A London Times editorial approving British bombing of German cities was widely cited as "evidence that England gloats over war on helpless women and children."

ROME, July 24 (AP) — A man and woman were killed and four other persons were injured today by fragments of their own defenders' anti-aircraft shells in a false alarm air raid scare in ancient Rome.

Officials announcing the casualties said anti-aircraft batteries thundered into action twice in the hours before dawn on the basis of a warning from a naval base 75 miles away that enemy planes had been seen headed for the capital.

It was not disclosed whether raiders actually appeared over or near Rome. No bombs were dropped on the city.

The alarm came from the base at Gaeta, near Naples.

It'll Start At 8 P.M. And Run 'Til The Crowd Has Got Its Fill

Avalanche-Journal And KFYO To Stage Big, Free Election Party Saturday!

FOLLOWING the time-honored custom, Avalanche-Journal papers will be "at home" Saturday night with a mammoth, free "election party," at which will be announced results of the first primary voting.

Texas avenue will be roped off between Broadway and Thirteenth street to accommodate the crowds and the "party" will get under way promptly at 8 p. m.

Announcements will be made as continuously as results pour in and will continue until the crowd has its fill.

Boards will be erected in front of Avalanche-Journal offices, 1211-13 Texas avenue, where figures on all precinct, county, district and state races will be kept up-to-the-minute. In addition, results will be announced over a loudspeaker system as rapidly as they are received.

A special leased wire by the Texas Election Bureau, only organization canvassing the state vote, has been run into The Avalanche-Journal's news-room and a telegraph operator will take the returns as they clatter in over the wire which will connect The Avalanche-Journal with Election Bureau tabulators in every one of Texas' 254 counties.

Radio Station KFYO, The Avalanche-Journal station, also is running a wire into The Avalanche-Journal news-room and results of precinct, county and district races will be announced as they are received. In addition, periodical reports on the state races, from governor and United States senator on down, will be made into KFYO microphones in The Avalanche-Journal news-room.

All state results available to newspapers and radio stations have been arranged for by The Avalanche-Journal. No radio station will broadcast more bonafide results than KFYO.

Plan now to attend The Avalanche-Journal-KFYO Election party on Saturday night.

Be among the first to get ALL the election news!

Fortunes And Property Of Frenchmen Who Fled France Will Be Confiscated

Decree Issued By Government

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

VICHY, July 24.—A sweeping decree confiscating fortunes and property of Frenchmen who fled France at the time of the army's collapse, including former cabinet members and deputies and senators, was published today by Marshall Philippe Petain's government in the official Journal.

The decree, which also withdraws French nationality from those who left France between May 10 and June 30 without orders or valid permission, names 23 ex-ministers and parliamentarians.

Trials To Be Held

Members of the last war cabinet named in what may be the prelude to a purge included Georges Mandel, former minister of interior, Caesar Campinchi, ex-minister of the navy, Edouard Daladier, premier when war broke out, and Yvonne Delbos, former education minister.

In some cases provision is made for trial by courts martial, specially of members of the government or parliament who left the country at a time when they had been mobilized into the armed services.

Included on this list are former Minister of National Education Jean Zay, former Foreign Undersecretary Paul Viennot, Mendez France, once and undersecretary in the popular front government of Leon Blum, and former Deputy Alexis Wiltzer.

Many of those listed for loss of their property and nationality, including Daladier, Mandel, Delbos and Campinchi, as well as 15 other parliamentarians, some of them ex-ministers, embarked from Bordeaux on June 20 aboard the steamer Massilia for Casablanca.

The Massilia was reported to have reached Casablanca during the Franco-German armistice negotiations and those abroad were reported detained by French authorities there under orders of the Petain government.

Plains Forms New Lions Club

PLAINS, July 24 — (Special) — Newest Lions club on the South Plains was formed here recently when 19 business men signed the charter and elected officers.

H. B. Horn, county farm agent, was selected president. Other officers were named and President Horn announced committee chairmen. Alva G. Bearden of Lamesa district 2-T governor, was present and assisted Atwood Lawrence, an International Lions organizer, who worked the district.

Date of the charter night was not decided. The new governor, F. V. Wallace of Dumas, is to present the charter. The club will select its time and place of meeting.

Officers selected besides Horn were: A. E. McGinty, first vice-president; W. B. McAlister, second vice president; Frank Ferrell, third vice president; Carvl Light secretary-treasurer; Clyde Hartwick, Lion tamer; Raymond Bookout, tail twister.

Chairmen named were: McGinty, attendance; Hartwick, extension; Ferrell, constitution and by-laws; McAlister, finance; W. S. Hayes, Lions education; McGinty, membership; Bob Helms, program and entertainment; C. D. Dial, publicity; W. R. McInturff, citizenship and patriotism; Kit Morris, civic improvement; T. G. Harben, education; J. C. Perry, health and welfare; Bill Harris Powell, safety.

Wallace Does Not Intend To Resign

CHICAGO, July 24 (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said today he has "no intention" of resigning from the cabinet to campaign as the Democratic nominee for vice president.

Wallace, en route from Des Moines to Washington, declined at a press conference to discuss politics before he talks with the president tomorrow. He stopped at Chicago to address a meeting of agricultural leaders from 13 farm states.

Questioned about rumors that President Roosevelt, if elected to an unprecedented third term, plans to resign as soon as international affairs become quieter, Wallace said:

"It is incredible that Mr. Roosevelt should step out when he is needed so much for both internal and world affairs."

Wallace said all campaign plans hinge upon his talks with the president.

Texas Straw Voters See O'Daniel And Thompson Or Hines In Run-Off Race

lor county, O'Daniel had 41 out of 49 indicated votes, Hines six and Thompson two. The same box gave O'Daniel 228 out of its 244 votes last time.

Tabulation in Winters showed O'Daniel short of a majority, but opinion said the rural vote of Runnels county would lift him to a majority for the entire county.

Jones estimates gave O'Daniel 60 per cent of the vote, with Hines running strong in the towns of Hamlin and Anson. Some of the Ferguson supporters said that Ferguson is taking votes away from O'Daniel.

In Nolan county, reports said that not all the traditional Ferguson people were supporting "Ma" this time, and that boxes which always before have had the Fergusons high will put O'Daniel in that spot this time. The same reports said O'Daniel has lost votes among the old folks; that Jerry Sadler will run about even with Hines and Thompson in Sweetwater.

Would Stop "Wrangling"

Supporters of O'Daniel in Callahan county were reported divided 50-50 whether he will get by without a run-off this year. Some of the former O'Daniel supporters were "quitting him" on the ground that "they're not going to let W. Lee get anything done down there at Austin. We haven't anything against him, but want to rid the state of so much wrangling."

Merkel reflected O'Daniel at 50 per cent, with Thompson 30 per cent, Hines and Sadler, 10 each, and the Fergusons no strength.

From Paris, reports said the aged persons, disappointed in the O'Daniel performance, have turned against him. Paris gave a 62 to 44 ratio of those believing there will be a run-off this year; an a two-to-one opinion that he has lost support in that section from what he had in his first race.

Opinion as to the run-off contender, as reflected in the Paris area cross-section, got these results: 33 believed it will be Thompson; 18 that it will be Sadler; 13 that it will be Mrs. Ferguson, and three that Hines will make it.

Paris made this report: "A surprisingly large number of those contacted advanced the theory the governor will not be re-elected if he does not win without a run-off, apparently believing the remaining candidates will 'gang' him. . . . General opinion is that O'Daniel has slipped in the towns and cities but held his own in the rural districts."

Waco, in a detailed check 1,030 voters, made throughout the city and including substantial numbers of rural visitors checked in a thorough combing of the city square, reflected O'Daniel's having 42 per cent of the vote, and Ernest Thompson 40 per cent.

Tabulation At Waco

Actual tabulation at Waco was:

462 O'Daniel
400 Thompson
45 Sadler
30 Ferguson
27 Hines
66 No preference.

Out of 78 voters tagged in the city square, 42 were for Thompson, 28 for O'Daniel, 4 for Sadler, 2 each for Ferguson and Hines.

From Bell county, the Fregusons former home, came the report that O'Daniel had sustained sharp losses in support since 1938 and that the Fergusons have pulled up to near their traditionally-strong showing there. This was more marked, reports said, at Belton, the county seat, than at Temple.

El Paso returns were different from any other section. There, Thompson led O'Daniel 4½ to 1 in 1938, and reports say O'Daniel has gained some strength, but that Thompson will lead him three to one this year. The report said that Thompson will get more than a majority of all votes cast in El Paso county. It added that Jerry Sadler will closely crowd O'Daniel for second place in the county. El Paso reported that "O'Daniel has undoubtedly increased his popularity in West Texas by the high character of his judicial appointments in this area, which have lacked any political aspect, and have been widely approved.

One of the cross-section polls in El Paso was: Thompson, 60; O'Daniel, 21; Sadler, 16; Hines, 10; Ferguson, 8.

Lubbock reported that in the Plains area, where O'Daniel got 50 per cent of the votes last time, his strength is not as great now as then.

Lubbock estimated O'Daniel this time will get 45 per cent of the vote in the big 30th senatorial district, and put Thompson and Hines next with 15 per cent each; Ferguson next with 10 per cent, and Sadler about 10 per cent. Thompson is definitely not as strong in the area as in 1938, the report said, some criticism existing of his gesture toward running for Congress.

Strong In Southeast

The Port Arthur and Beaumont area, with a potential 35,000 votes, reflected a cross-section check of 1,614 voters. These reflected 709 for O'Daniel to 905 for his opposition. The summary also covered 11 other Southeast Texas counties, with its poll predominantly in the two large cities.

It recorded Thompson in second place by a considerable margin with Ferguson and Sadler running close together for third place.

Hines was reported doing "much better" in Beaumont and Port Arthur than in the rural sections. O'Daniel's rallies in the two cities drew about 14,000 persons.

The actual poll for this area was:

O'Daniel	709
Thompson	501
Ferguson	172
Sadler	120
Hines	112

This comment was reported as frequent: "I'd vote for Hines if I thought he had a chance."

The four counties of the Lower Rio Grande valley, Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr and Willacy, expect to cast 24,000 votes Saturday. Reports give O'Daniel 45 per cent of these, with Hines second, getting 23 per cent; Thompson next at 20 per cent; Sadler, 7; Ferguson, 5.

The Corpus Christi area reports O'Daniel has suffered losses since 1938. Out of approximately 120 persons checked in the city of Corpus Christi, two out of three believes there will be a run-off, and that either Thompson or Sadler will be in it with O'Daniel. Corpus Christi report said that a greater number of laboring men than any other classification were checked.

O'Daniel Favored In August

While two-thirds predict a run-off, nearly half believed O'Daniel would win in August.

In the same section, of 25 voters interviewed at Robstown, 10 predicted a run-off and 15 did not anticipate a run-off. Ranking here, all predicted O'Daniel high; 10, Thompson second man, four that Sadler would be second, three that Hines would be second, and 2, Ferguson.

Ten out of 15 at Rockport said there will be a run-off. Six put Thompson in the run-off; three favored Sadler; five didn't have an opinion; one said Ferguson.

Kingsville: 25 showed 18 confident of a run-off, six predicting there wouldn't be any, and one uncertain. Ten of the 25 didn't have an opinion as to the run-off opponent, while Thompson led with 8.

Eleven out of 17 at Refugio predicted O'Daniel's nomination in the first primary. If there is a primary, 13 of the 17 foresaw Thompson as the opponent.

Seven out of 11 at Ingleside said there will be a run-off, and six of these saw Thompson in it.

Clear across the state, at Vernon, a survey reported that O'Daniel now has 90 to 95 per cent of his former strength, which would level out at the 45 to 46 per cent average for all the votes. This summary said Thompson will be in second place in the Vernon sector, and Harry Hines in third.

Confusion In Amarillo

Amarillo, where Thompson held a Panhandle rally Tuesday, offered the most confusing picture. This is Thompson's home city, and in 1938 he got 4,456 votes out of a total of 7,284 in Potter county. O'Daniel got 1,768, or less than half as many as Thompson.

A recent newspaper poll in Amarillo recorded O'Daniel as having the support of 63.7 per cent of those who answered it, and Thompson 27.5 per cent. Political observers, questioned as to their view of the Potter county result this time, expressed belief that O'Daniel has gained relatively since 1938, but foresaw former Mayor Thompson's lead about two to one over O'Daniel, and close to, if not a majority of all votes in the county. Numbers of well-known Panhandle leaders were quoted Tuesday in opinions that Amarillo's own candidate in this race would show a majority in Amarillo, and lead the ticket in the entire 28 counties of the Panhandle.

And then, the Austin area.

About two-thirds those checked in Austin and six or seven other communities considered a run-off certain, the rest feeling that O'Daniel could repeat a first-primary victory.

Thompson In Run-Off?

At a local political rally in Manor, opinion prevailed that Thompson will go into run-off. One voter, just returned from a tour of the state, reported that O'Daniel has gained in the East Texas oil field area, but that he has lost some in Waco, and lost 50 per cent of his support in Bell county. This report said Thompson had picked up some of the Bell county vote. A report from Brownwood, Goldthwaite, Lampasas and other areas, said O'Daniel had lost heavily in those sections, with Thompson gaining.

Opinions in an Austin non-political gathering were about evenly divided that O'Daniel may ease across the line for a majority Saturday, and that he will face a run-off. Some of the opinion put Sadler in the run-off, if any; but most of it figured Thompson in.

One county official saw a run-off between O'Daniel and Mrs. Ferguson. An attorney reported O'Daniel has lost some in Austin, predicting he will drop 1,500 of his 9,000 votes of two years ago. But the same source figured O'Daniel two to one over his combined opposition in rural areas of the county.

In conflict with reports from other sources, a salesman reported that O'Daniel is holding his full strength in the Hill country west, with the old folks particularly strong for him. Estimates said Thompson had lost ground, due to his attacks on O'Daniel.

An attorney in this meeting, who had just returned to the Plains country, said O'Daniel will lead in the area around Plainview and Lubbock. His view was Thompson's speeches for higher taxes on oil struck an unfortunate note for the farmers and wheat growers wanting low gasoline prices.

A Blanco county citizen reported for his section of the Hill country there will be a run-off between O'Daniel and Thompson.

"Ma" Strong In Austin

Reports in Travis county estimated the Fergusons will crowd Thompson for second place in the county as a whole, including Austin.

Thompson's rally in Austin, only political speech in the capital city this year, had a crowd estimated from 10,000 to 15,000, enthusiastically anti-O'Daniel. It was made up in part of state departmental employes, most of whom are bitterly hostile to the governor, and a considerable portion of whom vote back in their former homes, rather than at Austin.

In a number of towns about Austin, a cross-section survey showed two out of three voters convinced of a run-off, all conceding O'Daniel to be high man. Slightly over half those expressing opinion said Thompson will be in the run-off.

Making up this summary, out of 34 interviewed at Round Rock, 24 foresaw a run-off, 23 saw Thompson in it.

At Georgetown, 19 out of 26 were confident that O'Daniel will fail of nomination in July, and all 19 said Thompson will run it off with the present governor.

Opinion Divided

At the little city of Hutto, opinion was evenly divided when O'Daniel can push across to a nomination this week.

But in Taylor, 17 out of 26 looked forward to a run-off, and 15 of them guessed Thompson as the O'Daniel rival.

Interviewers were impressed with the number who commented, "This is the way I think it will be, but not the way I'm going to vote."

Several predicted that, in case of a run-off, O'Daniel will be defeated in Austin. Reports commented on the failure of any individual out of those polled in the towns about Austin to predict that, in case of a run-off, O'Daniel would win it. The O'Daniel people insisted there wouldn't be any run-off.

Some of the present O'Daniel boosters predicted Harry Hines will win two years from now, giving as a reason they liked his radio talks, his failure to "sling mud." At Round Rock one family reported its voting members converted from O'Daniel to Hines by Hines' radio talks.

Several commentators stressed the point that "the Fergusons will get enough O'Daniel votes to cause a run-off."

Child Is Injured In Fall As Car Starts

Pat Yeager, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Yeager of 1906 Avenue P, was treated for minor bruises in Lubbock sanitarium late Wednesday afternoon. She was injured when a car against which she was leaning was started moving.

C. N. McGee of 1405 Arnett street, driver of the machine, carried the child to the sanitarium then detailed the accident to police.

He said he was unaware the child was near the car when he started off. She fell to the pavement.

British-Rumanian Relations Strained

LONDON, July 24. (U.P.) — Great Britain's relations with Rumania were reported deteriorating today and the possibility of a complete break between them is not excluded in diplomatic sources.

The Rumanian legation, however, denied reports the Rumanian minister had been recalled to Bucharest. The German-controlled Copenhagen radio said Rumania had decided on a rupture of relations and recall of its minister to London, V. V. Tilea.

Oil Group Seeks New Members

Final reports are scheduled at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the chamber of commerce on results of a membership campaign in Lubbock for the Permian Basin association, according to Wilburn Page of Midland, executive secretary.

The drive, launched at a meeting in Hilton hotel Wednesday, seeks 300 contributing members here.

Presiding at the kick-off meeting was S. E. Cone, Tom Duggan, Jr., a member of the executive committee, State Sen. G. H. Nelson and George P. Kuykendall.

Kuykendall became the first to sign in the membership campaign, Page announced.

Contact Limited List

Page explained that a relatively limited list of prospective members will be contacted during the present campaign. Later, he said, effort will be made to enlist a much larger number of associate members in the association in the endeavor to give it the greatest possible strength in developing and protecting the oil resources of the Permian Basin area.

Others at the meeting were A. V. Weaver, jr., Wyatt Hester, H. H. Van Ake, A. B. Brown, Cecil Kelsey, A. P. Gamble, J. H. Milam, Jack Wheeler, Vernon Herndon, L. C. Harrison, L. D. Payne, Kenneth D. Moore, E. H. Sieber, C. H. Grollman, Hugh Dunlap, Glenn McDonald, C. A. Bestwick, N. S. Walton, Dr. H. H. Bidwell, W. P. Soash, R. L. Durham and W. O. Daniels.

Water Carnival Plans Talked By Boat Club

Plans for a water carnival to be conducted soon at Buffalo lakes were discussed at a meeting of officers of Lubbock Boat club Wednesday night in Hilton hotel.

Date of the carnival will be set at a meeting at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the lakes. A bathing beauty revue and stock boat racing definitely have been placed on the program, according to Harold Humphries, club commodore.

Other officers are W. G. Love, vice commodore; W. H. Rodgers, secretary, and G. L. Ausburn, treasurer.

Members Of B&PW Club Attend Picnic

Twenty-six women attended a picnic of the Business and Professional Women's club Wednesday night in Carlisle park.

Rumania Expected To Take Oil Company

BUCHAREST, July 24 (U.P.)—A decree authorizing the Rumanian government to take over control of Astra Romano, oil company subsidiary of the Royal Dutch Shell and largest oil producer in the country, was expected today to appear in the official Gazette tomorrow.

The government will take control of the concern, it was understood, because it failed to comply with oil control board regulations.

It was believed that the action would result in large supplies of oil for Germany. Astra Romano was said to have a daily production of 3,500 tons.

The company normally was under control of Dutch capital and not French or British, informed circles said.

Drinkers of Rumania must pay a higher tax on alcoholic beverages.

George Mahon for Congress

To the People of the 19th Congressional District:

I am deeply grateful for the loyalty and support which the people of our District have given me throughout my service in Congress. I have worked hard in Washington and tried to grow in influence in order that I might be of greater service to our District and Nation and in the hope that I might justify to the best of my ability the faith you have shown in me.

I will deeply appreciate your again remembering me on election day. The Sessions of Congress and my work on the Appropriations Committee in connection with national defense have made it impossible for me to be in our District for the primary campaign but I know you have understood the situation.

My thanks and best wishes to all.

Dies Says Charges Do Not Reflect Upon Officials Of State Institutions

Texan Answers Board Member

ORANGE, July 24 —"The investigation of these charges does not in any respect reflect upon the officials of any state institution," Rep. Martin Dies said today in reply to a demand that the Dies committee prove, or apologize for, the charge that a Texas school head was connected with the Communist party.

R. A. Stuart, member of the board which directs seven state teachers colleges, yesterday demanded proof of charges developed at the Dies hearing into un-American activities this week. The committee announced it had received testimony that a college president and a basketball coach were active in Communist party work in Texas.

Dies, chairman of the committee and in charge of the hearing at Beaumont, issued a statement in reply. In full it said:

"Our investigators are now developing the information and leads with reference to the school situation in Texas preparatory to a full hearing. A number of people will be subpoenaed who were present at the meeting and named in the report.

"Every one involved will be given full opportunity to be heard including Mr. Stuart, if he has any information for the committee, before any findings are made and published.

"We have taken every precaution to protect innocent people and for this reason no name mentioned in the report has been made public and will not be made public until such time as we feel that the facts warrant such action. We are interested only in the truth.

"The investigation of these charges does not in any respect reflect upon the officials of any state institution.

"As a matter of fact, the Texas educational system is freer from subversive activities than the school systems of many other states. We have investigated most of the universities and colleges throughout the United States and with only a few exceptions, have we encountered any opposition or feeling that the investigation reflected upon such institutions. With these few exceptions all of them are glad for the committee to investigate any charges which involve any of their teachers or students.

"A spokesman for the board of directors last night called by telephone and assured me of their sympathetic cooperation.

Without Apologies

"If the school president mentioned in the report is guilty, he will be named and exposed. If he is innocent this fact will be officially announced. However, it is our duty to investigate charges and we do so without apologizing to any one

"When the investigation and hearings are completed, a full transcript of the proceedings and all the facts will be furnished the board of directors, together with our findings for such action as they may see fit to take. Until this time, however, I suggest that statements or conclusions be withheld to give us full opportunity to get the facts.

"The people of Texas are vitally interested in knowing the truth about this matter and I am sure that Mr. Stuart is interested in a thorough and fearless probe which will reveal the facts."

Texas Tech Professor Accepts New Position

Dr. Loyal F. Ollman, instructor in mathematics in Texas Technological college last session, has resigned, it was announced Wednesday.

Dr. Ollmann will join the mathematics staff of Wooster college at Wooster, Ohio, as assistant professor. He became a member of the Tech faculty in the fall of 1939.

May Elected By Lubbock C. Of C.

At an election Wednesday, A. W. May was elected president of the chamber of commerce.

The manager of Cicero Smith Lumber company was named in a special meeting of the board of directors.

He succeeds Mark Halsey, head of Mark Halsey drug stores.

Elected vice presidents were Arno Dalby, president of the Dalby Motor Freight lines, and Parker F. Prouty, general manager of Avalanche-Journal publications. Dalby was re-elected while Prouty succeeds to the vice-presidency from which May was promoted.

Bacon Is Treasurer

Charles R. Bacon, business man, was elected treasurer, succeeding J. D. Hassell, jr.

May has been a resident of Lubbock 23 years, having moved here in 1917 from Tipton, Okla. He is a member of the Rotary club and long has been identified with civic activities of many kinds. He was a member of the city planning committee named by the city commission under which the Lubbock city plan, now nearing completion got under way more than a year ago.

Request Is Approved

Directors of the chamber approved a request to the Brazos River authority that it make a survey of the Yellowhouse canyon watershed to determine whether a lake in the vicinity of Lubbock and Slaton is feasible. Members of the authority announced last week that the survey would be made if requested.

The new president of the chamber also was authorized to appoint a committee to ascertain just what is needed to enable Lubbock to meet requirements for the establishment of an army air training center here. The committee will be named within the next few days, May announced.

Religious Services At Jail To Continue

Continuation of religious services each Sunday afternoon in Lubbock county jail was announced Wednesday by Capt. Hermann Lambrecht, local army commandant.

Services last from 2:30 o'clock to 3. Under jail regulations only five persons are admitted at a time. Services are on the third floor and consist usually of singing and a short talk. Capt. Lambrecht said in Pampa, where he formerly was stationed, services were held once a month in the county jail.

Belgians Who Fled Will Be Punished

BERLIN, July 24 (U.P.) — Former members of the Belgian government and officials who fled the country at the time of the German invasion will be "severely punished," the official German news agency D.N.B. said in a dispatch from Brussels today.

Severity of punishment will vary according to rank and will include temporary or permanent dismissal from official posts, the dispatch said.

Achievement Day For Club Boys And Girls Scheduled

Annual achievement day for Lubbock county 4-H club members, both boys and girls, will be held Friday afternoon in Mackenzie State park and an estimated attendance of more than 300 out of the over 800 members of the 30 clubs are expected.

Given over to recreation for most of the program, some time will be taken, however, to present awards to boys and girls who won signal state honors for their club work. Five boys are to receive gold star pins for their records made in 1939.

To Serve Supper

Registration will begin at 3:30 o'clock, said Monroe U. May, county club leader and assistant county farm agent. The groups are to meet near the swimming pool. Games will be enjoyed from 3:30 until 5:30 o'clock for those who do not care to take in swimming in the pool.

Supper will be from 6 until 7 o'clock. "We urge those coming to bring well-filled baskets," said May.

After supper games will be played from 7 until 8 o'clock, with special numbers by clubs; the Dogie quartet will sing from 8 until 8:30 reports from the seven delegates to the annual junior short course at College Station, 8:30 until 8:45 o'clock, presentation of gold star pins to club members.

Five boys are to receive pins, Douthitt Grinstead, Melvin Johnson, Cleo Paden, George Kveton and Lewis Countess. One girl also is to be given a pin by Miss Mona Keeter, assistant home demonstration agent.

Grinstead and James Potts probably will make reports on the short course.

Lubbock county has 437 boys in 15 clubs and 385 girls in as many clubs.

WITH THE FREE MILE-DIAL

CAREFUL SHOPPER type tells you:

"I'm driving the car all day while my husband's at work, so I really buy most of the family gasoline out of my own budget. If I can get even 2 or 3 miles more to a gallon I want to know it. That's why I went to a Conoco station for my Mile-Dial—not just because it's free, but because it really lets you know your true mileage, exactly as a woman wants to really know about anything she pays for. I like buying tested things—the same as any up-to-date consumer—and this certified Mile-Dial is like giving us consumers our own easy way of testing Conoco Bronz-z-z for mileage.

"Anyway, it's almost like a game, dialing your correct mileage on the Mile-Dial—awfully clever. My husband says so, too. By the way, my driving is just as economical as his, the way it proves out on our Mile-Dial. Isn't that interesting? And we're keeping on dialing to make sure of our average in all different driving. Right now, after 61 gallons of Bronz-z-z in all, we're a good 200 miles ahead of what we used to expect from that much gasoline."

"DIDN'T CARE" type of driver says:

"I didn't much care what gasoline I bought as I went along. But this Mile-Dial being free, and really daring you to keep your own close tabs on Conoco Bronz-z-z gasoline, I went for it. And now I know why they've got the gimp to let the Mile-Dial tell all. For you can see by my Mile-Dial right on the dash that I've gone 633 miles on 37 gallons of Conoco Bronz-z-z.

"Now if you'll watch this smart Mile-Dial work—next to automatic—you'll see it giving the answer: . . . above 17 miles to the gallon of Bronz-z-z in this big eight, around town here. But I'm leaving for about a 700-mile trip—mostly open country. So don't be surprised if I even get better mileage. And don't say that's a brag, because you can't help believing the Mile-Dial. Besides settling the economy of Conoco Bronz-z-z it's sort of swell fun dialing your honest mileage. The Conoco boys must know what their gasoline's got, to give you a Mile-Dial free. I'll bet you would like one yourself and they're free as air, around a Conoco station. You ought to go quick and get yours."

A THOUGHTFUL COOK

BECAUSE often we hear women discuss the extravagances, carelessness or other grievances as regards their household help, we think it interesting and worthwhile to present another side which came to our attention this week.

A young negro cook, who had ascertained the birthday of her employer several weeks ago, Tuesday night gave a dinner party in the young matron's honor which was a complete surprise and moreover a complete success. To do this she planned and prepared the birthday meal, invited several couples whom she knew were among the "best" friends of the honoree and her husband and that evening had the table set, the guests hiding in the home and the dishes ready, all without the knowledge of the young matron.

Of course the husband was "in the know" and so were the wife's sister and brother-in-law, who contrived to get her away early in the evening. Thinking of an excuse to go by home, they were greeted by the dinner guests with "surprise, surprise" and were served the excellent meal. Later, the colored girl restored the kitchen to spic and span, assisted by one of her friends whose help she had secured for the evening.

Personally, we think this is one of the nicest things we have heard of this summer and we imagine more than one woman on reading this will envy the woman her household jewel.

(P. S.: We hope the Editor doesn't see this, but for your personal and private information, the young matron honored was Mrs. Chas. A. Guy and the thoughtful cook was Willie Walcott.)

FACTS ON HEAT

MORTALITY due directly or indirectly to the effects of heat is higher among men than women, evidently because of the greater exposure to heat in men's occupations, according to the experience of a large life insurance company. Highest death rate from heat or its effects is among old people or infants under 1 year.

Temperate living helps ward off ill effects in hot weather.

Other precautions include avoidance to prolonged exposure to sun or excessive heat, keeping the head covered from direct sunlight, (we don't like to wear hats and believe others share that dislike), light porous clothing, frequent baths and a moderate diet with more fruits and vegetables.

Wolfforth Club Plans Picnic At State Park

Miss Clara Pratt told members of the Wolfforth Home Demonstration club Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. L. Morrison that the hour spent about the dining table should be one of the happiest times for the family.

"To be attractive, a table need not be set with expensive china silver and linen," she said. "If these are carefully chosen and spotlessly clean their simplicity will add much to the dignity of the table."

A picnic at Mackenzie State park was planned for August 9. The next regular meeting will be with Mrs. C. B. Roberts August 26.

One guest, Mrs. S. J. Tharp attended. Members present were Mesdames J. D. Brown, R. S. Hobgood, S. R. Jerden, Otv Hitt, Fred Worsham, E. R. Haskins, W. P. Finney, C. B. Gillit, R. S. Denton and Miss Pratt.

"I got the best mama in all the world. She knows just what to do for me when I suffer some of those little ills which come along when babies like me start teething. Mama gives me Teethina when I'm temporarily constipated and when gas or a sour stomach give me colic pains, or when I eat the wrong kind of food and run off my bowels. Teethina makes a big hit with me because it tastes good, and mama likes it 'cause twelve powders cost but 40c. The drug store man keeps plenty of Teethina for us babies." Give Teethina according to the directions in each package. TEETHINA.

The curriculum committee is composed of Carl Wiesemann of Dallas, organ; Philip A. Williams of Dallas, strings; Mozart B. Hammond of Houston, piano; Dr. W. C. Bain of Denton, voice; Dr. Lota M. Spell of Austin, musicianship and Russell Shrader of Sweetwater, wind instruments.

Two Telephone Line Extensions Complete

Extensions of two rural telephone lines out of Lubbock have been completed, Luther R. Grimes, manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company announced Wednesday.

One of the extensions which has been completed and put into service, he said, has involved the placing of a cable on Thirty-fourth street a mile west from College avenue, and the stringing of an open wire one mile west an dtwo miles south from the end of the cable so as to serve the Hall community and intermediate points. Telephone service has not been available in those areas in the past, Grimes said.

Posts have been placed for the other extension which will provide telephone connection with the bathhouse, boathouse and business office of Buffalo lakes. Telephone service on that line will begin in about a week, Grimes announced.

Regular air service between Tokyo and Bangkok has just been inaugurated.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Williams and son, Thomas, of Rising Star came here Wednesday to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Posey of 2005 Twenty-first street. Another son, John Earl, has been visiting with the grandparents several days.

LEO PODOLSKY

Concert To Be Given Tonight

Growth and appreciation of music in America is due partially to the influx of artists into this country upon outbreak of the first World war, said Leo Podolsky, pianist, who with Maria Hussa, soprano, will present a concert here tonight.

Artists were accustomed to going from one European country to another, but, "Suddenly, Europe was closed to them," said Podolsky.

As for the effect of the present war upon the culture of Europe, Maria Hussa had this to say: "I think this war will only destroy. It won't produce anything."

Native Question

The two artists, who will present a concert at 8 o'clock tonight on the lawn south of the administration building at Texas Technological college, discussed various subjects, first one and then the other expressing opinions. They were reluctant to discuss political aspects of the present European situation.

Podolsky is a native Russian. Hussa is a native Austrian.

"Austria isn't Austria any more. Let's not discuss politics," said the singer. She has been in this country two years and is making her fourth concert tour. She has applied for American citizenship. Podolsky is an American citizen.

The present European situation has made persons in this country more serious-minded and more appreciative of serious music, Podolsky thinks. "Persons naturally turn to the more valuable things—art, religion, music and serious books."

Appeal To All

Tonight's program was planned to appeal both to persons who want serious music and those who do not, the artists said.

Hussa, auburn-haired and blue-eyed, was a member of the state opera in Berlin two years and the state opera in Hamburg six years, a guest artist at the Gran Theatro Lyceo in Barcelona five seasons, sang before Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, and has appeared in Paris, Milan, Budapest, Prague, Lisbon, Salzburg and other European cities. She was decorated by the Austrian and Czechoslovak governments. She has appeared in concerts with Richard Strauss, noted composer, at the piano.

Program Is Listed

Podolsky, who has been in this country 15 years, has appeared with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Detroit Symphony orchestra, Los Angeles Philharmonic, and in numerous concerts in Europe and the Orient.

MARIA HUSSA

The program will include: Aria from "Iphigenie of Tauris" (Gluck); The Trout (Schubert), Gretchen at the Spinning Wheel (Schubert), scene and aria from "Aida", last one (Verdi), by Mme. Hussa; Polonaise, Nocturne and Waltz (Chopin), by Podolsky; Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes (Roger Quilter), Do Not Go, My Love (Richard Hageman), The Fairy Pipers (Herbert Brewer), and At the Well (Hagerman), by Hussa; Isolde's Love-Death from "Tristan and Isolde" (Wagner-Liszt), Pierce en Rorme de Habanera (Ravel), Fairy Tale (Medtner), Prelude (Rachmaninoff) and Fairy Tale (Kortchmareff); by Podolsky; La Danzea (Rossini), O, si les fleurs avaient des yeux (Massenet), Hope (Voclav Stephan), Czardas, from "The Bat" (Strauss), by Haussa.

The concert will be a feature of the college's summer recreational program. Admission will be by student or non-student recreational card or 50-cent ticket.

Lubbock Man To Be Transferred

Transfer of J. Edward Barker from Lubbock to Albuquerque, N. M., where he will be junior district agent for the Fish and Wild Life service of the U.S. department of the interior, was announced Wednesday by John Mayes Hill, jr., of San Antonio, assistant state district agent. Succeeding him here as junior district agent will be E. G. Pope, also of Lubbock, who since March has been an assistant in the office here.

Barker, now on his vacation, will move probably over the week-end. He has been connected with the service, formerly the U. S. biological survey, since 1935 and has been stationed in Lubbock since 1936. He was transferred to New Mexico to fill a vacancy caused by a retirement. The New Mexico service has a chief and two assistants.

Lindsey Succeeds Pope

Pope, who succeeds Barker, has been with the service since 1933. He came here March 14 from Mineral Wells. His residence is at 1507 Avenue X.

Max Lindsey, who has been in Lubbock for several years as assistant in charge of rodent control work, will succeed Pope.

Lubbock is headquarters for the work in 49 counties in Northwest Texas, from Texas & Pacific railroad north to the Oklahoma Panhandle. There are approximately 20 trappers working in the area on predatory control work.

Dallas Man Is Found Dead In Cell In Jail

MANASSA, Colo., July 24. (AP) — Coroner Earl Haynie said a man giving the name of Everett Fields, of Dallas, Texas, was found dead this morning in a Manassa jail cell.

The jail was filled with smoke from a smouldering mattress.

Haynie, who opened an investigation, said that the man was placed in jail at 3 a. m. by the marshal of this south central Colorado town. He was here participating in the Manassa pioneer day celebration.

The coroner said he understood the man had relatives at Dallas, Sherman, and Amarillo, Texas.

J. R. Bertrand Given Fellowship At Tech

J. R. Bertrand will receive the $600 Sears, Roebuck & Co. fellowship in the agricultural education department of Texas Technological college for next college year, it was announced Wednesday at the college.

Bertrand, who finished requirements for a degree from Tech at mid-year, taught the last half of last school term at Claude. The teams of which he was coach won high honors in the spring vocational agriculture judging contests at Tech. The Claude contestants placed second in several divisions of the contest and second in sweepstakes honors.

Was Club President

Bertrand was president of the agricultural club at Tech during the fall semester of last session. He was graduated with a high scholastic average. He has been attending Texas A. & M. college this summer.

He will study toward a master's degree and do research work in the department.

Winners of undergraduate scholarships given by the company have not been announced.

O. T. Ryan, area supervisor of vocational agriculture, with headquarters at Tech, made announcement of the fellowship winner.

Vatican Abandons All Hopes For Peace Soon

VATICAN CITY, July 24. (U.P.) — Authoritative Vatican quarters said tonight that Pope Pius XII had abandoned hope for any peace settlement between Britain and the Axis powers as a result of British rejection of Adolf Hitler's warning to talk peace on his terms or face destruction.

According to ecclesiastical circles, feelers made through Vatican channels following Hitler's speech before the Reichstag Friday brought negative results.

The pope, it was expected, soon will deliver a homily of sorrow, exhorting the faithful throughout the world to pray for peace as the only hope of ending the war.

Nearly 450 war service badges issued to the Lancashire and Yorkshire railwaymen in England during World war I have been collected as scrap metal.

Hines Cites Need For Cooperation In Governor's Office In Address Here

West Texan Is Heard By Many

"I'm in the gubernatorial runoff—have been two weeks," Harry Hines told a mid-day crowd Wednesday in Lubbock.

His audience was the largest daylight crowd addressed here this year by any candidate.

Hines, sounding the need for more cooperation and accomplishment in the governor's office, and a governor that can provide them without any more delay, hammered his message out in a brief speech. He had arrived late but the crowd patiently awaited him.

"There never was a time in the history of our state when there was such an urgent need to restore real leadership that can and will get things done," Hines declared.

In Whirlwind Windup

The commissioner of the state highway commission Tuesday and Wednesday brought his intensive campaign into West Texas as a whirlwind windup before Saturday's first primary election.

He spoke at Bowie, Henrietta, Vernon, Childress, Memphis and visited with supporters in Clarendon Tuesday, speaking again Tuesday night at the Panhandle-wide political rally in Amarillo.

Wednesday's schedule was Plainview, where he had the largest "daylight crowd" that had heard a candidate this summer, Lubbock and several speeches en route to Wichita Falls, his residential city for a principal speech at a Hines-for-governor rally that night.

Tax Plan Music Enough

Hines spoke here from the body of a small, low-priced pick-up truck, equipped with loud speakers and microphone, which is his stump speaking equipment. Calling attention to his small delivery truck, Hines said to a reporter, "I don't have anything like an expensive and elaborate circus wagon, truck, or float, nor a band, or vaudeville show.

"But I believe," he added, "that the Harry Hines practical and economical tax plan and platform is music enough to the ears of the people.

"Harry Hines is the candidate of the taxpayer, the poor man, the consumer, the farmer, laborer and little business man. My practical plan calling for only 15 million dollars new revenue from moderate increases in natural resource and corporation franchise taxes, is a third less than what other candidates, including the present governor, are advocating. And I emphasize that Texas doesn't need, nor want, a sales tax.

Can't Stand Big Increase

"Because of our changed conditions," Hines continued, "we can't stand an enormous tax increase in Texas at all, nor could we before. The people don't want and can't carry a big added tax load, such as 40, 50, 60 or 70 millions of dollars as the present governor and others are urging. Remember the increased billions of dollars of new federal taxes necessary for our new national preparedness program, to be carried even by those in the lowest income brackets, makes it all the more imperative that no big state tax burden is placed on our taxpayers.

"My practical plan for only 15 million new revenue will, however, do the job honorably and well, and the people want the unsolved problems, and obligations, such as old age pensions, other social security needs, and state needs, taken care of without more delay. They want these things arranged for and the state government ably prepared to take its part meeting anything the future might bring."

Hines, now completing his administration as state highway commissioner, told the crowd here that his candidacy "is sweeping ahead, there will be a run-off and I'll be in it. Everywhere I go over the state," he said," people by the thousands tell me that Harry Hines will make the kind of governor Texas needs during the critical times facing us."

Introduced By Young Woman

He was introduced informally by Miss Mary Katherine Underwood of Lubbock, who simply took the commissioner by the hand and led him to his place on the lawn and said, "Folks, this is Harry Hines, who is as much interested in the youth of Texas as in the old people".

Hines was late in reaching Lubbock and his sound truck was even later, necessitating his having to speak several minutes without it. The commissioner promised to speak "informally and let you go in a brief few minutes to your lunch."

And he did—but not until he had pounced on what he described as the inefficiencies of the present Texas government setup and its evident inclination to do nothing.

Platform Is Sketched

Hines, swiftly sketched a "logical doctrine of old age pension plan, the Harry Hines economic tax plan," his plans for better farm-to-market roads, teacher retirement obligation fulfilment, "better care of the feeble-minded who languish virtually uncared for in county jails."

Without mentioning names of the other gubernatorial candidates, yet solidly identifying O'Daniel as "the fellow who's following me around with a vaudeville show," Hines emphasized his land-tenant stand as offering social security for 250,000 hungry farmers shoved off the land. He promised a state land bank from which tenant farmers could borrow up to $3,000 payable at a low rate of interest over 40 years, to purchase farms that would sustain them. The plan, he said, would be self-sustaining.

Too Much To Spend

"It won't take $150,000,000 to run Texas when Harry Hines is governor," he said. "That's too much to spend. I'll bring practical business management into the state's affairs."

He said he had been getting along five and a half years with 6,500,000 Texans, "and I know I can get along two years with the small group called the legislature."

Hines told the gathering he had in his period as highway commissioner been an agent in the paving of more than 300 miles in the Lubbock area, which is more than ever had been accomplished by any other highway commissioner in history.

He said he was "getting a kick" out of the campaign. "I am the only one who is gaining, rather than losing, weight."

Quotes Political Polls

He quoted political polls at Fort Worth, Austin, Hillsboro and San Angelo, among others, to show "I am going into the runoff—in fact, I am in the runoff."

He called for more stability and honesty, more efficiency and energy in government.

"I can say yes and I can say no," he said. "I'm not a mushroom that appeared out of nowhere to here. I have a chance to do Texas a vast amount of good and I believe I will be afforded the chance to do it."

He invited Lubbock and the South Plains to listen Friday night over Texas State network from Dallas.

Hubbers Open Three-Game Series With Win Over Odessa

Ralsh Captures 10-4 Decision From Oilers

(Special To The Avalanche)

ODESSA, July 24—Lubbock opened a three-night stand here tonight with a 10 to 4 conquest of Willard Ramsdell and his Odessa Oiler mates.

The Hubbers jumped off to a three-run lead in the first inning but saw it fade when the Odessa crew came back with one in the third and a pair in the sixth.

Six runs in the eighth salted the game away for the visitors. Boyd Watkins got a triple, Ed Schweda and Gene Schlereth doubles and Ben Drake, Elvie Mahan and Pat Ralsh singled during the uprising.

All Hubbers Connect

Stanley Bolton cut short the big Hubber rally by making a spectacular snare of a fly ball in left field.

Ralsh scattered a dozen bingles over the route, while the Hubbers found Ramsdell for 14. Both teams found it hard to move around the bases, with 10 stranded for Lubbock and 14 left abbard for Odessa.

Every member of the Lubbock club hit successfully at least once. The teams continued the series Thursday night with the second game of the series.

Quick Entries Urged For TAAF Mitt Meet; Training Available

The welterweight division in Lubbock's District TAAF leather slinging party rapidly is shaping up as the best bet to steal the show—that is, unless the somewhat lagging number of entries picks up throughout the other sever classes before deadline.

Strangely enough, three former champions have decided—rather the scales did the deciding—to seek the welterweight crown and a chance to represent the section in the state contests in San Angelo the latter part of August. The District event is scheduled for the nights of Aug. 5-6.

Lovin To Enter

Jack Lovin, publicized Lubbock High Westerner football ace of the past two seasons who forsook boxing during the last Golden Gloves tournament, has been working out regularly at the Downtown gym located just north of the Hilton hotel and will be ready for the welterweight wars.

Howell Steen, GG champion of this year, also will be a contender. And the latest to toss his gloves into the ring was Slaton's popular simon pure pugilist, James Stotts, also a former titlist.

Stotts Is Confident

"I've been working out all summer and am in good shape," Stotts said when filling out his entry blank. When reminded that he would be facing Lovin and Steen, he remarked with confidence, "I am going to take him this time."

Entries in other divisions have been received and many more are expected. However, to facilitate preparations for the event, officials urge that entries or replys to form letters be sent immediately. Scene of the promising affair will be the Sportarena on North College avenue. Meanwhile, any and all amateurs planning to participate in the tourney are urged to take advantage of the free training and workouts at the Downtown gym after 6 o'clock each night.

Entry blanks will be found periodically on the sports pages of the Avalanche-Journal.

Pampa Measures Sox, 7 To 6, In Opener

PAMPA, July 24. (Special) — Pampa's Oilers tonight pulled another full game ahead of the second place Gold Sox with a three-run splurge in the seventh inning that netted them a 7 to 6 decision.

The Seitzmen opened the three-game series with a 14-hit barrage off the offerings of Wester and Trantham, McPartland and Milbert Vannoy being touched for 8 bingles by the Hose.

The defeat brought the Lubbock Hubbers within two games of the Sox.

Reds Stretch Lead With 6 To 3 Win

(By The Associated Press)

BROOKLYN, July 24. — Bucky Walters mastered the Brooklyn Dodgers with seven-hit pitching tonight for his 15th victory of the season as the Cincinnati Reds rapped out a 6 to 3 decision and increased their National league lead to eight games.

The Reds routed Tex Carleton with a four-run flurry in the second inning and never were in danger, although Dolph Camilli took some of the edge off their triumph by hitting his eighth home run of the season with Joe Medwick on base and two out in the ninth inning.

Works Effortless

It was the 17th victory in 19 games for the Reds, whose sweep of this three-game series gave them a record of seven wins in their last eight games with the Dodgers.

Walters worked effortlessly toward his goal, giving no walks and keeping out of trouble except in the second and ninth stanzas. The first run off him came on successvie doubles by Dixie Walker and Jim Wasdell.

The crowd of 30,102 lost most of its enthusiasm when the Reds scored a run in the first frame on Lonny Frey's double and Frank McCormick's single and was left completely limp by the four-run frame that followed.

Four Texans On All Star Eleven

By TOM SILER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, July 24. — The nation's football fans paid eloquent tribute today to Southern California's great 1939 eleven by placing three Trojans in the starting lineup for the college All-Stars' game with the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Aug. 29.

A total of 6,575,957 votes were cast in 47 states, determining the personnel of the team composed of college seniors of last fall.

The players who received the largest total of votes at their respective positions compose the starting lineup.

Kinnick Paces Field

Nile Kinnick of Iowa, who sparkplugged the Hawkeye machine to dazzling heights, was the only player to poll more than a million votes, leading the halfbacks with 1,189,076 votes.

The three Trojans accorded spots in the kickoff group were Bill Fisk, end; Harry Smith, guard and Quarterback Ambrose Schindler.

The complete starting lineup with votes totals follows:

Ends—Esco Sarkkinen, Ohio State, 782,842; Fisk, 802,563.

Tackles—Nick Cutlich, Northwestern, 792,827; Joe Boyd, Texas A. and M., 773,356.

Turner At Center

Guards—Smith, 846,318; Jim Logan, Indiana, 781,947.

Center — Clyde Turner, Hardin-Simmons, 784,993.

Quarterback — Schindler, 759,312.

Halfbacks—Kinnick, 1,189,076 and Lou Brock, Purdue 963,482.

Fullback——Joe Thesing, Notre Dame, 981,276.

Thus Southern California is the only school to rate more than one starter. From a sectional standpoint the Midwest leads with six starters, compared to three for the Pacific Coast, and two from the Southwest.

Cordill, Heineman Named

The collegians will gather at Evanston, Ill., Aug. 11 to begin 18 days of practice, the same period allotted to the Packers to prepare for the game. In six past games, the pros have won two, the college boys two and two ended in tie games.

In addition to the starters, others of 61 gridders on the squad included:

Ends—Frank Ivy, Oklahoma; Ken Kavanaugh, LSU.

Quarterbacks — Ken Heineman, Texas Mines.

Halfbacks—Olie Cordill, Rice.

Two Melees On Card Tonight

Chief Bushyhead spurred his Levelland Refiners to a five-inning 11-1 victory over Barq's Seven-Up at Fox park last night. This marked Barq's initial defeat in play for the championship of the South Plains Invitation Semi-Pro tournament being reeled off this week.

The Refiners have won two straight, the first game from Fred Rich's hard fighting nine.

Play continues with one of the better games of the tournament booked for tonight's opener. Seagraves will tangle with the Amarillo Furniture team with both nines boasting an undefeated record so far.

Lefty Woods, formerly with Galveston of the Texas league and Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league, will probably be on the mound for oil town nine.

Lubbock Team Plays

Manager Smoky Harris has not announced his starting hurler and there is a possibility he will elect to do the chore himself. Otherwise he will select either Waner, who defeated Dr. Pepper Sunday afternoon, or Bowdlen.

Second game of tonight's card will pit the Richmen against the fast stepping Sandies nine.

Fred Rich probably will send Beans Pair out to quell the bats of the hot Sandies with either Willis James or Paul Reeves opposing him.

Friday's schedule finds the win-

Pioneers Nip Borger For Eighth Straight

BORGER, July 24. (Special)—A two-run rally in the ninth stanza wasn't enough to erase similar Clovis one-run outbursts in the eighth and ninth innings here tonight and the Pioneers registered their eighth triumph, 8 to 7.

Manager Gordon Nell protested the game for Borger in the seventh, however, and a later ruling will decide the issue.

Fixico and Earnest Terry handled hurling duties for the winners, giving up 10 base blows to the carbon city nine. The Pioneers found Tinsley and Hausman for 13 safeties.

SOOSE BEATS OVERLIN

SCRANTON, Pa., July 24. (AP) — Billy Soose, former Intercollegiate boxing champion, pounded out a close decision over Ken Overlin, of Washington, recognized in some states as middleweight champion, in a ten-round non-title bout tonight. Overlin weighed 163 and Soose 162¼.

Little Men Steal Boxing Show As Gray Gets Nod

By JAY HARRIS
Avalanche Sports Writer

Clout for cash boxing "came back" to Lubbock with bells ringing at the Sportarena last night as two "midgets of might" reeled off eight thrill saturated rounds of the best mitt tossing presented here in many months.

Prisco Linda, the veteran little Philippine champion who has donned the gloves for 331 professional engagements in his career, finally met his match—one Haskell Conley, 121 pounds of dynamite straight from Fort Bliss.

Conley's Plenty Tough

They tangled in the semi-final go of a pleasing five-bout card that surpassed all previous efforts of Promoter L. D. 'Pup' Thomas by such a margin that there's very little comparison. From the first bell to the final decision there wasn't a moment's lapse in action, fast action——the kind that has the fans sitting on the edges of their seats and biting finger nails en masse.

Throughout the entire match, the army mule—who has a kick that just won't quit—fought the brown boy, weighing only 116½ pounds, to a standstill, jabbing him constantly with a left that needed only a more potent right as a follow through. After the first two stanzas, it was apparent that Prisco had a Tartar on his hands.

And Then The Mix-Up

The only thing that kept Linda so close in the tabulations was his occasional two-fisted attack coming back in the face of Conley's repeated left thrusts. Anyway, when all the fine fighting was over and Referee Henly Hilburn walked over to get the judges' decisions to add to his own, he discovered he was minus a judge. So, there matters stood—setting the stage for another promising meeting between the two. Conley's home is Ralls.

Confident Glenn Gray's more or less easy 10-round decision over Kid Leva in the main attraction was another of the better bouts of the season. Only the fact that the stocky 140-pound Dallas Latin's constant clinching slowed the match more than was necessary marred proceedings.

It was another flashing, flicking

Startling Upsets Mark Pub-Links Tourney As Champs Go Down Fast

By DALE STAFFORD

DETROIT, July 24.—The championship dreams of 48 golfers for supremacy in the National public links championship turned into nightmares today in two rounds of match competition that produced a series of startling upsets.

Gone from the field of 16 survivors who will struggle through two more rounds over the Rackham Municipal course tomorrow were three former champions, two of last years semi-finalists and a number of their well regarded club swingers.

Still in the contention, though, were those par-wrecking youngsters —Worth Stimits, jr., of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Edward J. Furgol, of Utica, N. Y.—who set a qualifying record of 138 yesterday, but only one can survive tomorrow be-

Bomb Plotter Held By Nazis

BERLIN, July 24. (AP)—Otto Strasser, exiled foe of Nazism who is charged by the Gestapo with organizing the Munich bomb plot on the life of Adolf Hitler, and Herschel Grynszpan, a young Polish Jew who killed a German diplomat in Paris, were reported today to have fallen into German hands.

They were said to have been taken in the Germany conquest of France.

A well-informed German source said Grynszpan was found in La Sante prison in Paris, where he had been held pending trial for the 1938 slaying of Ernst Vom Rath, secretary of the German embassy there.

Held For Trial

Grynszpan now is held for trial by German authorities on a charge of murdering vom Rath, this source said.

Vom Rath was shot Nov. 7, 1938, by Grynszpan, then 17 years old and died two days later.

Widespread anti-Semitic disorders, marked by looting and the burning of synagogues, broke out in Germany as a result of vom Rath's death and Nazis assessed German Jewry $400,000,000 in fines.

Hitler escaped possible death or injury by a few minutes in the blast last Nov. 8 in the Burgerbrau beer cellar where he had just completed a fighting speech.

Eight Nazis were killed and more than 60 injured in the explosion which damaged the place where Hitler organized his abortive beer cellar putsch.

A.B.C. Stops Faculty; Four Games On Today

In a make-up contest postponed from last week, A.B.C. Wednesday afternoon took an easy 11 to 7 decision from Public School Faculty in Business-Profession twilight softball league play.

Cecil Barrow and Wilmot Eaton homered for the winners, the former with two mates aboard. Joe Bass pitched and Ed Bergman caught for the A.B.C., Gordon Deering being the losing hurler.

This afternoon, four games are scheduled: American league play finding the Baptists and Horn Bible Class tangling on Field No. 1, the Tech Faculty and Lawyers meeting on Field No. 2. In the senior division, on Field No. 3, Lions play A.B.C. and on Field No. 4, the Jaycees meet Union Carpenters.

Gray Wins Decision

left that told the tale in this tussle, too. Gray, hailing from Fort Worth and scaling the beams at 141 pounds, carried his National Golden Glove experience and that lashing left of his in against what usually would be considered a superior fighter, and after the two initial rounds piled up an easy margin for the nod.

Babe Hunt was the third man for this tussle.

Drawing the biggest laugh of the night was the negro "battle royal" concluding the card—featuring J. B. Spencer, Richard Knox, Otis McKnight and "Chocolate Soda." The free-for-all saw the Soda fold for the 10-count first, McKnight going into the arms of morpheus next, the victim of a "black blitzkrieg." Spencer and Knox then paired off, the former heavy winning the decision seconds later.

Curtain Raiser Good

Raising the curtain raiser on the night's bill was a fast four-rounder between Lubbock's Johnny Carmona and Tahoka's game Lewis Sessums, each tipping the scales at 120 pounds. Sessums scored early, tied in the middle rounds, then came back strong at the last with several well planted rights for the nod.

Farce of the evening was the four-round prelim which saw Onis Graham, 137-pound hopeful of Trent and Texas Tech, waltz the route with Babe Leroy of Lubbock, the latter weighing 142 pounds. Neither hardly worked up a sweat, and the judges having a hard time deciding which did the least called the affair a draw.

cause the fate of the draw has paired them in a third round contest.

Andrew Szwedko, of Pittsburgh, the defending champion, furnished one of the few genuine blowups of the tournament as he faded before William Bublis, a comparatively unknown Chicagoan, 3 and 2.

A Laugh Does It

"He laughed when he laid me a stymie on the fifth hole that put him three up," Dublis said. "I made up my mind then that I'd try as I never tried before."

David A. Mitchell, of Atlanta, the 1934 victor, also faded in the first round, losing to William Doll, of Louisville on the final green.

Carl F. Kauffmann, of Pittsburgh, the 1927, 1928 and 1929 champion, got by the first round handily with a 4 and 2 victory over Edward Garfield, of Cleveland, but couldn't withstand the assault of youth in the second where he bowed to Jack Parose of Detroit, 2 and 1. Larose, who is 19, was only six years old when Kauffmann won his first championship.

Honolulu Ace Loses

Arthur Armstrong, of Honolulu, runner up in 1934 and a semi-finalist last year fell in a 19 hole duel to William Fritzqkj of San Francisco, in the morning.

Stimits, jr., took a 20 hole duel from F. E. Ames, of Beaumont, Tex., after being one down at the turn and two down going to the twelfth.

Levelland Advances

ner of the Seagraves and Amarillo tussle meeting Levelland in the opener.

Errors Help Oilmen

E. Morgan opened the last half of the first inning for Levelland with a sharp single over second and circled the bases of errors by the second baseman and catcher. Allen and Rush were retired on a strikeout and weak grounder to the pitcher. Clean-up hitter Woods lashed a single over second that rolled through Al Hardy's legs for a triple. He later scored on Steve Novak's error of Jones' grounder.

The Bottlers managed their only score on a double by Cox, to open the second, and an error by Morgan on a fast hopper between first and second.

Tate Cook had the locals on his hip all the way and whiffed twelve men out of the fifteen put-outs. He also collected a single and triple in three times at the plate.

Scott Leads Batters

The visitors shoved across five clean bingles and one error.

Prince Scott, former Lubbock ball player, slammed a double and single in three times at bat.

Mrs. Tubbs And Mrs. Finnell Cop Honors

Mrs. Fenner Tubbs, hostess at regular ladies day activities, also was winner on the low net in the low handicap class Wednesday at Lubbock Country club.

Mrs. A.G. Finnell won top honors in the new handicap division.

Others participating were Mesdames Bob Crawford, Cliff Widener, J. W. Heilhecker, Charles Akey, J. H. Stiles, Olan Key, Wright Kerr, W. F. Helwig and M. M. Brown and Miss Ruth Ford.

Sammy Angott Wins Non-Title 10-Rounder

CHICAGO, July 24. (AP)—Sammy Angott of Louisville, Ky., the National Boxing association's lightweight champion, outpointed young Nick Castiglione of Chicago in ten rounds at Mills stadium tonight.

Angott, who weighed 135¼ against 135½ for Castiglione, received the unanimous verdict of the referee and two judges. It was an overweight bout and Angott's title was not at stake.

After saying that "never in peacetime" would such persons be required to serve, Shedd proposed that the legislation contain a declaration that employes drafted for the service be given their jobs back at the expiration of training. This prompted Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY) to offer an amendment providing that drafters be issued certificates upon completion of service and declaring that men with such certificates "ought to be re-employed" unless the "employers' circumstances" had changed so that re-employment was impossible.

Candidates Are Heard At Slaton

With the approximately 560 votes marked for or against them, Lubbock county candidates took a tip from the weather Wednesday night in their semi-windup rally at Slaton.

Nearly 3,000 persons gave the office seekers their out-of-town send-off. Final campaign speeches will be given on City hall park at 8 o'clock Friday night.

John Pundt of Dallas, one of 18 candidates for Texas railroad commissioner, canceled a Lubbock engagement to appear with county aspirants at Slaton.

Experience Cited

He cited his 26 years experience in the oil business, advocated immediate payment of old age pensions, expressed opposition to the operation of travel bureaus and gave approval to raising the truck load limit.

He will go to Odessa, Midland, Big Spring and Sweetwater today and put finishing touches on his campaign Friday night in Dallas.

State, district, county and precinct candidates added more fire to their talks, giving evidence of a warmer ending to campaigns than had at first been expected.

Deadline Passes

Ed D. Allen, county clerk, said 436 persons had voted in his office to Wednesday night with the mail bringing in 121 other absentee votes. More than that number of persons who had requested ballots, for mailing purposes, will lose their votes, it was revealed.

Deadline for those ballots was midnight Wednesday and no vote received after that time will be counted. L. C. Ellis, county Democratic chairman, will accept the ballots today for election judges.

Havana Conference

sidered unfriendly toward Germany.

Secretary Hull and other members of a subcommittee were busy drafting proposals dealing with European possessions in this hemisphere into one document. Those proposals were said to conform generally with Secretary Hull's idea of a collective trusteeship over any imperilled colony, but there were minor divergencies.

Should Be Given Choice

Cuba proposed that any occupied colony should be given the ultimate choice of independence or annexation to an American nation.

Independence or restoration of a colony to its original sovereignty was declared a firm intention of the projected trusteeship but the proposal did not provide for a colony to become annexed by an American republic.

This apparently conflicted with Secretary Hull's declaration Monday that there was no thought of absorbing any of these territories or of permitting any nation to acquire a "special interest" in them.

Economic proposals to implement Secretary Hull's outlined methods of bolstering economy were studied closely by experts of various delegations.

Method Devised

Suggestions already before the committee, although their contents were guarded closely, were believed to leave much detail to be filled in after expert consultations. It was expected that any plans adopted here would be merely a framework with detained negotiations to follow among the various governments.

Increased lending power and freedom of action on loans, recommended for the import-export bank by President Roosevelt, was understood to figure largely in the United States plans for dealing with the export surpluses problem.

Whether the cartel project announced by the president some time ago entered directly into the economic plans was uncertain. But if the cartel plan itself had been laid aside because of some objections that it was impractical, it was clear that United States experts were devising some method of relieving burdened countries of excess products.

among many" of the faithful.

Those indicted include Mrs. Edna Ballard and young Donald Ballard, widow and son of the movement's founder, Guy Ballard, who called himself St. Germain and contended he was a reincarnation of George Washington.

Although the elder Ballard died last Dec. 29, he was referred to in the indictment as a defendant, "merely for the purpose of convenience."

The truebill called Mrs. Ballard "alias Joan of Arc, Jesus and Lotus Ray King." And her son was identified as Edona Fros Ballard, his true name, and also "LaFayette."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Norman Neukom, who presented the case to the grand jury, said the "I am" cultists had collected close to $3,000,000 since the movement's inception in 1930.

The Ballards' lawyer appeared at the courthouse to arrange for their surrender tomorrow on bonds of $10,000 each

Brief Bits Of Local News

Wheat loan applications are being accepted at the county Agricultural Adjustment administration office, said C. T. Wasson, administrator. Up to Wednesday, 48 loans had been made on the 1940 crop just harvested. Last year but 12 loans were made. Wasson said he expected 100 loans would be made.

K. J. Edwards, district agent of the state extension service, is expected in the district in August to check entrants in the Master Farmer contest sponsored by the Progressive, Farmer, C. C. Jobson, county farm agent, said Wednesday. Miss Lida Cooper, district home demonstration agent, leader, will probably assist in checking the entries from the 19 counties in the district.

Approximately half of the 2,750 farms in the county with 1940 work sheets have been checked for compliance with the AAA program, according to C. T. Wasson, administrator.

J. P. Morgan, Lovington, N. M., druggist, was here Wednesday with Mrs. Morgan for a visit to a local hospital. Morgan said the Lea county capital city was enjoying a steady improvement in business, with oil companies increasing their development program. A new wildcat test west of town is expected within 30 days, he added.

Several Ralls Rotarians Wednes-day noon attended a luncheon of the Lubbock club. Among them were, Harrison Watkins, Rev. W. R. Derr, and Percy Ralls.

S. L. Forrest of Lamesa, head of Forrest Lumber Co., and formerly a resident here, was in Lubbock Wednesday. He was accompanied by Russell Ramey.

Albert Lee, an infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Farmer of 1904 Twenty-eighth street, was buried in Lubbock cemetery Wednesday afternoon after funeral services in the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fortenberry, at 1909 Twenty-fourth street. Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church, read rites. The infant lived only three hours after premature birth at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning in Lubbock sanitarium. The Farmers have a son 18 months old. Farmer is manager of City Bus company.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davis of Ab-ernathy route 2 are parents of a daughter weighing 7 1-2 pounds born Wednesday morning in the residence. The father is a farmer.

Mrs. Clay Henry of Crosbyton and an infant daughter, born July 16, were dismissed Wednesday from St. Mary's hospital.

Edward Harris, 19, a negro, was charged Wednesday with having assaulted Emma Murphy in an attempt to kill her. Bill Mabray, assistant chief of police and Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, took a knife away from the man and saved the woman, who was cut several times. The charge was filed in the court of J. T. Inmon, justice of peace.

John Mays Hill of San Antonio, assistant district agent of the fish and wild life service of the department of the interior visited Wednesday in Lubbock. He is vacationing with Mrs. Hill at her father's residence at Brownfield.

Slight damage was done when an overheated flue in a potato chip factory at 2415 Main street caused an alarm to be telephoned to city firemen.

Lubbock and other state banks will close Saturday for the statewide Democratic primary, L. C. Ellis, county chairman, pointed out Wednesday. Closing is under the state laws for election days.

Yoakum had five out of 32 tests for oil in proven territory in West Texas announced last week. Gaines had four, Terry and Scurry one each. So far this year, 912 field tests and 69 wildcats have been approved by the railroad commission. Yoakum completed five wells last week.

Five Future Farmers of America boys of the Lubbock chapter, accompanied by Henry Elder, vocational agriculture teacher of Lubbock high schools, plan to leave early today for Ruidosa, N. M., on a brief outing. Bobby Lowrey, Shafter Bailey, Robert Weems, Leroy Weems and Billy Rodgers will make the trip. They will return Saturday.

J. A. Warren of Munday is in serious condition in a Knox City hospital, a son, Fred W. Warren of 2433 Nineteenth street, reported Wednesday after returning from the bedside. He is suffering from a heart ailment.

C. H. Hollingsworth, named on a 72nd district grand jury indictment for wife desertion, was held in county jail Wednesday night after his arrest by Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff. He had not posted bond of $1,000.

Dr. Frank A. Cummings, lecturer and Bible teacher of Kansas City, preached to a capacity crowd Wednesday night in the Foursquare church, Eighth street and Avenue Q. He will speak at 8 o'clock tonight on "Hitler's Armies March! Whither Next?"

the last two years, the candidate said. At Big Spring Thompson did not refer to O'Daniel at all, but called for creation of a separate oil and gas conservation commission to be appointed by the governor. He also suggested new oil laws as "guideposts" for the commission in regulating the industry.

Hines At Lubbock

Harry Hines spoke to big crowds at Lubbock and Plainview — the largest daylight political meetings of the year at both places.

His "economic tax plan" is sweeping the state "like wildfire," Hines said, putting him in the run-off.

"My tax plan calls for 15 million dollars in new revenue from fair and moderate increases on natural resources and in franchise taxes on large corporations rather than by sales taxes upon the poor, and as compared with the 40, 60 or 70 millions of dollars asked by the other candidates," Hines said. "That amount is all Texas needs to do the job of meeting its social security obligations, plus the federal matching money that is available for such needs. My plan also provides for matching teacher retirement, building up essential state government services and retiring the state deficit."

He Had Chance

Hines went to Wichita Falls for a night rally.

Sadler, en route to Port Arthur for a night speaking, told a Liberty audience that O'Daniel had two opportunities to help pass tax bills on natural resources, but "refused to give his assistance."

"The governor has been talking to you on the radio and asking you to send legislators down there who are pledged to support his plan," Sadler shouted.

"Wouldn't it be easier to change one man, the governor, than it would be to change 181? Doesn't it seem logical that one man could be in error rather than the whole Legislature? The governor says now he will support any old kind of a tax plan, but the record shows that he had an opportunity to help pass bill 340 and bill 908, both of them a tax on natural resources, and refused to give his assistance. Either of these plans would have placed a tax on the ability to pay and would have done much to alleviate the desperate situation of the old folks."

Nazi-British Clash

British last saw him swimming toward his rubber boat.

In the day's biggest air battle a patroling squadron of Spitfires, 7,000 feet up, saw a flight of raiders heading toward the Thames estuary, water-gate to London.

Eighteen bombers in "V" formations of three with a large escort of fighters came into view through a heavy rain.

The Spitfires dived on them from the rear and tangled in an engagement of at least 60 planes.

Claims Are Reported

While night bombers of bomber and coastal commands roared home from more blanket night raids on the Hitler-held continent, British planes and ships struck these blows at the sea-borne forces which Nazi Germany is massing in the waters around England:

1. A Lone British motor torpedo boat picked a fight with six German torpedo boats in the channel, put them to flight and, in the darkness before dawn, put out of action, "it is thought," said the admiralty, "that casualties were inflicted on another."

Escort Vessel Hit

2. Swordfish "spotter planes of the fleet air arm, flying far into the eastern North sea, located a German naval concentration guarding an auxiliary vessel. In the dawn, the planes sent torpedoes screaming at the group. The admiralty said an escort vessel of the 600-ton Konigin Luise type, of which Germany has ten, was hit by one torpedo.

There were no British casualties in either engagement.

Sixty or more planes, German and British, tangled in a flaming battle high over the Thames estuary when Nazi raiders attempted to repeat an earlier attack in which they had dropped 100 or more bombs at a merchant convoy.

Watching for just this chance, British fighters, buzzing like mammoth hornets dropped out of the sky and fell upon the bombers' tails.

Planes Thick

An observer said the planes were so thick he could not distinguish friend from foe, as German bombers began falling out of the air, and the rest streaked for home across the English channel.

The British said twelve Germans were shot down over England today, six in the Thames fight, and that the convoy apparently escaped damage. Two British fighters were lost.

The German high command, in a communique relayed here, said, however, that five merchant ships in the convoy were sunk and another set afire

Two Physicians Are Sentenced

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 24. (UP)—Two physicians today were sentenced to federal prison for conspiracy to violate federal narcotic laws.

Dr. Edwar Hipsh was sentenced to two years and Dr. Philip Saper to a year and a day by Federal Judge Merriall E. Otis. Two druggists Alvin W. Darling and Abraham J. Schnaer, convicted on the same charge, were fined $1,000 each.

The government charged the doctors with writing prescriptions for addicts without proper medical examination or treatment and with leaving blank signed morphine prescriptions at the Darling-Schnaer drug shop.

Erbar Conley and his wife, Irene, who testified they were addicts, turned government witnesses and said they had secured morphine prescriptions from the drug store. They spent 11 months in jail awaiting trial and were sentenced today to one more day of imprisonment.

Dr. D. M. Nigro was convicted of narcotic charges several weeks ago and sentenced to four years in prison. He has appealed.

Dr. C. M. Rice of Butler, Mo., pleaded guilty today to six sales of narcotics and was sentenced to two years in prison.

Mann To Tour Texas Later

AUSTIN, July 24. (UP)—Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann, unopposed for re-election this year, today announced a post-primary tour for the eastern half of the state to report on his stewardship of the attorney general's office.

Silent on state politics so far this year, Mann two days ago offered his congratulations and support to President Roosevelt and Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace for their nominations by the Democratic party.

Mann begins his tour Aug. 29 at Commerce, swinging each day to night engagements at Corsicana, Huntsville, Taylor, Seguin, Cuero, Corpus Christi, Temple, Waco and Waxahachie.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel in his campaign has singled Mann out for praise in the work he has been doing.

Diplomats To Three Nations Withdrawn

WASHINGTON, July 24. (UP)—The United States today withdrew its chief diplomatic and military representatives from Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, the three Baltic nations which recently petitioned Soviet Russia to be incorporated in the U.S.S.R.

The state department ordered Owen J. C. Norem, minister to Lithuania and John C. Wiley, minister to Latvia and Estonia, to return to this country. Members of the diplomatic staffs, however, will remain at their posts. The army ordered its military attaches to come home.

Tech Student's Thesis Is Taken By Thief

It was a scholarly thief who ransacked the automobile of R. W. Rees of 1720 Avenue Q Wednesday.

Rees, a graduate student in Texas Technological college, reported theft of his brief case from his car parked at the administration building. It contained a thesis for his master's degree.

A car he had not been driving lately was stolen from J. R. Evans at his 2019 Sixteenth street residence and later recovered on the Texas Tech campus.

C. A. Ross reported theft of a bundle of clothing from his residence at 1924 Ninth street.

New Trial Is Ordered For Martin Snyder

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24. (AP)—California supreme court ordered a new trial today for Martin (the Gimp) Snyder, convicted of attempting to murder Myrl Alderman, his successor as husband of Ruth Etting, radio singer.

The supreme court ruled that the Los Angeles trial court committed prejudicial error in charging the jury in Snyder's trial, and that an intent to commit murder should have been proved by the evidence. Snyder now is in San Quentin prison.

Snyder was accused of shooting Alderman, accompanist to Miss Etting, and who married her during Snyder's trial, on Oct. 15, 1938.

GIRLS HONORED

VICHY, France, July 24. (AP)—Two American girls, Helen Ahrenfeldt of Chicago and June Sheffield of Houston, Tex., who showed their mettle while driving ambulances during the fighting around Soissons, received citations for bravery from the French government today.

Stevenson Makes No Political Speeches

AUSTIN, July 24. (AP)—One candidate for re-election, Lieut.-Gov. Coke Stevenson of Junction, does not believe in political speeches.

Stevenson who left here today for an appearance at an old settlers reunion in McKinney announced he had made 50 speeches in his campaign "none of them political."

He has avoided political rallies, delivering his speeches at forest festivals, fat stock shows, soil conservation meets, rodeos and other gatherings.

"I never know what I'm going to say until I see my audience and then I don't talk politics," he said.

Feeding Course Will End Today

Speeches this morning, a summarizing roundtable discussion this afternoon and an ice cream feed will conclude the four-day livestock feeders short course at Texas Technological college.

The 31 men registered and speakers made a tour over the farm Wednesday afternoon. Mark Allen from Lamesa, who is attending the course, was host at a watermelon feast in front of the dairy barn. W. H. Glimp, head of a wool storage warehouse, spoke on sheep feeding.

W. L. Stangel, head professor of animal husbandry and director of the course, will speak on "Beef Cattle Management" at 8 o'clock this morning. J. H. Baumgardner, graduate student, will speak at 10 o'clock on "Calculating Rations for Beef Cattle". Casey Fine, assistant professor of animal husbandry, will speak at 11 on "Feeding Work Horses."

Those speakers and A. L. Ward, Dallas, educational director of the Texas Cottonseed Products association, and D. S. Buchanan of Buda will lead the discussion this afternoon.

Slayer Is Sought

said. The husband sobbingly told of discovering the crime after she failed to call him to breakfast as usual.

O'Dwyer said he and his wife retired about 9 p. m. last night.

"She and I lay on the bed and smoked a cigaret and I dropped off to sleep." That was the last time he saw her alive, Giles quoted him.

Few Clues Found

Officers studied an auto axle and a butcher knife for clues.

Lieut. Earl Scroggin, head of the Arkansas state police fingerprint bureau and two other state patrolmen joined Giles, Sheriff W. E. Davis and Texarkana police in the search for the slayer.

The O'Dwyer home was ransacked and a strongbox was left open on the floor. Apparently only the jewelry was taken in addition to the food from the ice box.

Mrs. O'Dwyer had been active in social, club and church work.

Officers Installed By Odd Fellows Lodge

M. E. Stone was installed as chief patriarch of South Plains encampment 26, Odd Fellows of Texas, Wednesday night in the Odd Fellows lodge hall in the basement of the Myrick building.

Other officers taking the oath were A. L. Bettes, senior warden; Vernon Gilmore, junior warden; J. F. Richardson, high priest; T. C. Porter, guide; Homer Wright, inside sentinel; A. C. Davis, outside sentinel; E. T. Burdett, treasurer; N. M. Gusdon, scribe, and D. C. Sellers and J. B. Belcher, watches. Four other officers will be appointed.

Refreshments were served by a committee, composed of A. C. Blackstone, Burdett and Bettes.

Degrees will be conferred on Dr. R. E. Adkins, J. F. Strickland and J. L. Timms at the next meeting of the encampment Aug. 14.

WAKE UP YOUR OWN LAXATIVE FLUID

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

A Way To Cut Red Tape

DECLARED intent of Federal District Judge Michael J. Roche of San Francisco to cancel the citizenship of William Schneiderman, secretary of the Communist party in California, may provide a short-cut to the solution of a problem which is peculiarly irritating at this time.

Under accepted interpretations of law, the Communist or the affiliate of any other un-American organization becomes our problem once he is admitted to citizenship. There is no practical method of getting rid of him.

Judge Roche, however, offers a new view of the proposition. His contention is, in short, that a Communist cannot take the required oath of allegiance to this country without swearing to a lie.

The view is logical. How is it conceivable that a person can take an oath to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States and at the same time belong to a party or any organization which is dedicated to the overthrow of all governments such as ours?

If Judge Roche's theory should be upheld—and we may be sure that it will run the gamut of all the courts to which it can be appealed—then it would mean in the case of Schneiderman that his admission to citizenship would be set aside automatically because of having sworn falsely to gain it.

If Judge Roche is upheld, then the method will be provided for the speedy concellation of the citizenship and the deportation of every alien who can be proved a member of the Communist party or of similar organizations. It will be a means of cutting through some of the red-tape responsible for a great portion of all "Fifth Column" dangers which may exist in this country.

Something To Think About

MAJOR THOMAS R. PHILLIPS, army anti-aircraft expert, is sure to be accused of being an alarmist because of his warning that the United States faces danger of air raids if it becomes involved in war.

Major Phillips' statement is in sharp contradiction to some of those which have come from various quarters. It is to be expected, of course, that some of the soft cushion generals who still regard the airplane as being an experiment would belittle the danger from that source. However, even such supposed authorities as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh insist that the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans are virtually complete protections from air perils.

Without question, the oceans are perhaps the finest protection possessed by any of the important nations against air attacks. There aren't many airplanes in the world which could fly from Europe with sufficient loads of explosives to cause great damage.

However, there are airplanes which will do that. Five or six years ago there weren't any. Today there are relatively few. Tomorrow they may number in hundreds or even thousands. They likely will be bigger and better than the finest known today. This isn't something that may happen. It is something that is sure to happen if aviation development continues at any thing like the pace of the last few years. The logical supposition is that development will gain momentum—that development during the next one, two or five years will be greater than during the past one, two or five years.

Today, an attempt to span the relatively narrow Atlantic with a large fleet of heavily laden planes would be hazardous in the extreme. Five years from now—perhaps two years from now—such an excursion might be commonplace. If so this nation will be faced with a most acute danger from the air. It may become the gravest of all dangers confronting Uncle Sam.

Certainly, in view of developments of the very recent past, any defense program which fails to take such a danger into account and which fails to take precautions against it will be deficient to such degree as to imperil the existence of this nation.

YESTERDAY: Denny leaves the train, gets a plane, flies back to hunt Peace and Carole. He finds them hiding near the track. Peace keeps accusing Ogden of stealing Joany. "And that's not all the stole," Carole adds.

CHAPTER XI

But that could come later. Just now the one idea was to catch the train. It waited 20 minutes at Winslow. Missing it, they would keep on to Flagstaff, the pilot said.

"Rhoda and Mrs. King must be having kittens," Carole said, as they sailed away into the glory of the sky.

Denny heaved a great sigh. "Nothing matters now. Peace's grandmother won't have to be told anything to worry her. I'm thankful the Warrens won't know, at any rate, until it's past history. What I don't see is why you—What did you mean about Ogden's stealing?" He gripped Carole's hand. "Did he take something from you?"

The pilot was pointing downward to the little station where Denny had telegraphed. Ant-like creatures were waving at them.

"Carole, you brave girl! Nothing I can ever say will tell you how grateful I am to you—leaping off the train like that to help my little girl. You might have been killed!" His voice grew husky, and for a moment their eyes clung. "Peace, what made you do it? Run away from Mrs. King?"

"Don't scold her," Carole begged. "She's been through a lot."

"Me didn't run away," Peace declared. "Mr. Hogden packed away my porncopper. Then the train bumped."

"But what's that you're holding?"

"I got it back again. And Joany's not hurt a bit. See?" Peace opened the wire lid. There lay the torpid turtle on a paper napkin. "Look, Uncle Denny." Peace lifted a corner of the napkin. "Joany's mattwess! Carole says—"

Mrs. King's option — the whole $500. And her gold cigaret case. She's hunted everywhere for it."

Denny whistled. "The old crook! using a child's toy to hide his loot. I knew he was a faker. Doubt if he ever saw an oil well. Did he see you two were left by the train? You can see an awful distance in this country. And from that road, I don't think he could help it."

"If he did he must have thought we were a clump of desert growth. At any rate, the car was a mere speck by the time the train vanished. I hadn't examined the cornpopper," Carole related, "and I yelled and waved like anything. After I discovered the money I was terrified for fear he would come back. That's why we hid."

"Substitution?"

"Yes. This smart little trick saw him packing her cornpopper."

"With Joany in it," Peace interrupted. "Mr. Hogden had been giving her a swim, and she got losted. I didn't know she was in the porncopper till—"

"He put Joany on top of the money so that any one discovering the cornpopper would think it just a cage for his pet turtle," Carole went on. "Only Peace decided she'd rather have her 'porncopper' than the box he'd given her when he planned his getaway. So, when Ogden wasn't looking, she switched 'em. When he opens his bag and finds that empty box—"

"Won't he be mad!" Peace said seriously. "Not to find little Joany!"

Denny chuckled. "Well, youngster, you've redeemed yourself. But I still don't see why, if you had your pesky pet, you had to let go Mrs. King's hand when I'd told you to stay right there."

"Hunting for Joan. Peace didn't know she was in the cornpopper."

"Mr. Hogen said she felled out the window. I went to look. I told the conductor Joany's losted, but he said 'Johnny who?'" Peace reminded him. "I told Mrs. King too, but she just kept crying, 'Caleb! Caleb!'"

The child's mimicry was perfect. Denny held her closer. How careless he'd been! If he'd been on the job, she would not have had time to be alone in Mr. Ogden's drawing room long enough to swim the turtles and change the cornpopper. How fortunate the man hadn't seen the cage tucked under Peace's arm, when he ran from the train.

"That car didn't meet him by coincidence. He must have prearranged for it with some confederate! If Mrs. King only knew her gangsters better—"

"See how dark it's getting. Like a blanket," Carole stared at the sky. "Oh, Denny, it'll haunt me to my dying day—this little blue figure suddenly popping up from behind the sagebrush while I leaned over the rail of the observation car. When she wasn't with Mrs. King, I had a hunch."

"Odd that the brakeman didn't see her. Nor I. I'd have sworn there wasn't a sign of life on that other side of the train. I was sure she'd gone aboard with Mrs. King. Rhoda said—"

The name silenced him. Rhoda—to whom he was flying. His fiancee. For a moment he wanted to tell the pilot to turn around and fly the other way. But there was Peace's grandmother, soon to meet the train in Los Angeles. And there was Hollywood, waiting for its star. The stars in the sky began to twinkle, and below an occasional cluster of dotted lights proclaimed a town.

Denny sighed. "Anyway, Carole,"—how naturally it came to him to call her by her first name—"you'll get a lot of good out of this."

She looked up at him. "What more could I want? With her safe, and—and this unforgettable ride with you?"

Bless her! "But the publicity. Movie stars thrive on it, don't they?"

"I hate it," Carole replied quietly. "You do? I don't wonder—the usual sore: 'MOVIE ACTRESS ROBBED OF $50,000 NECKLACE.' But this is different. This is heroism. 'CAROLE LOVE LEAPS FROM TRAIN TO RESCUE CHILD LEFT ALONE IN THE DESERT!' Why, the public will eat it up. Witnesses will prove it wasn't faked. You'll make every front page in the country."

"Oh, dear," Carole sighed, "I suppose I will. But I'll bet you a trip to Catalina I won't get the credit."

"What do you mean? Peace saved the money for Mrs. King, but she's just a child. That was nothing to risking your life the way you did."

"I don't mean Peace."

"Who else then? You surely don't think I'd claim to be a hero! If ever I felt like a helpless nincompoop it was when I let that train carry me farther and farther away from you two. I'd have jumped, too, believe me, if they hadn't held me."

Carole laughed. "That would have been a help—you with a broken leg or neck, or both!"

• • •

The pilot broke in upon them: "Here we are! We've made it. This is Winslow. A car will be waiting. They won't even have to hold the train." He set them down safely. "You folks were lucky."

"Lucky in having you for a pilot, old man."

"That was nothing," the pilot said. "Any of our men would have done the same. I meant—it's all getting settled before night. The desert's a mighty mean place at night. Only safe place is the sky."

A car sped them to the waiting train, now due to start in a matter of seconds.

"All abo-o-o-o-oard!" echoed the familiar cry of the conductor, standing, as usual, with his eye glued to his watch. Looking up, he saw Denny's party hurrying forward, and fluttered like a mother hen, gathering in her chicks.

Waiting passengers, cramming steps and platforms, set up a cheer. Cameras clicked. Lights flashed. Carole was besieged.

"I'm still betting," she whispered to Denny. "Are you?"

Business Survey In Lubbock Being Made

Completion of a survey of Lubbock wholesale and manufacturing establishments for the 1940 directory published by the bureau of business research, University of Texas, is nearing, it was said Wednesday at the chamber of commerce.

Although every effort will be made to compile a complete list, chamber officials said, heads of concerns which may have been omitted were urged to get in touch with the chamber to make certain that they are included. The directory, according to information here, will be circulated throughout the United States and in numerous other nations.

Indications are, officials said, that the list will include between 230 and 250 firms and will show an increase in the number since last year.

Rites Are Read For South Plains Woman

PLAINVIEW, July 24. (Special)—Funeral services were read this afternoon in Plainview for Mrs. David Hamilton, 74, resident of the South Plains 35 years.

Rev. J. F. Nix of Plainview and Rev. C. J. McCarty of Lubbock officiated, and burial was in Plainview.

Mrs. Hamilton died Tuesday night at Littlefield after a lengthy illness.

During their residence on the South Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton had made their home in Hale Center, Floydada, Lockney, Plainview and Littlefield.

Surviving her, additional to her husband, are a daughter, Mrs. Billie White of Dallas, and five sons, D. C. Hamilton, educational director of Lubbock Calvary Baptist church; Rev. F. B. Hamilton, pastor of Muleshoe Baptist church, Will and Travis Hamilton of Littlefield, and Jim Hamilton of Fort Worth.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE new Navy recently authorized must remain only a paper fleet for some years. The four billion dollars' worth of warships cannot be built in time to affect the present or world situation except psychologically—and that does not seem to work with Hitler. Every shipbuilder—naval and private—knows and deplores this dilemma.

Fact is that every shipyard is now straining under the burden of constructing vessels already appropriated for. They total about 200 at an estimated cost of three billion dollars. There is already a shortage of plant capacity, building ways, tools, materials, skilled workers for the fleet now in the making. Another problem slowing up expansion is that of changing designs of all types of ships on the basis of lessons learned in the European conflict. Naval designers and engineers—also the Knudsen commission—are working night and day to break these bottlenecks.

Assuming that Hitler should attack any portion of the Western Hemisphere soon or late—or make nasty demands for French and Dutch possessions in this area—the President feels that the only salvation is cotninued British resistance and survival of the British fleet. That explains why, in his acceptance address, he went so much farther than the platform in promising aid to our former ally.

GRIM: Our naval, military and diplomatic experts are none too hopeful about Britain's capacity or ability to resist a grand assault. The Anglo-Saxon spirit may be willing, but the ramparts are weak.

England has certain definite assets, according to this cold analysis, but they are spiritual rather than physical. She has achieved national and political unity. The corruption that paralyzed the French does not exist. She is fighting a last-ditch battle on her own territory. She is at last aroused to the realization that it is, literally, do or die. Her navy, enlarged by seizure of French vessels, has demonstrated its power and seamanship. The RAF, though outnumbered, appears to be superior to German fliers.

Even so, her liabilities are grave in the face of the threatened blitzkrieg. She lost much of her most modern equipment and some of her finest soldiers in the Battle of Flanders, and replacements have been slow. In possession and production of modern planes she lags fearfully behind Germany. In the narrow Channel waters her great navy may be peculiarly vulnerable to air attack. Already her industrial and shipping centers have been damaged. Her long coast line offers landing places difficult to defend. In the last analysis, it will resolve into a battle between German air and British sea power. Privately, even our pro-British experts give Merrie England only a 40 per cent chance.

REFLECTIONS: Republicans were inclined to hoot John Hamilton for his impulsive action in reading Frank Knox and Henry L. Stimson out of the party. They felt he was making no friends for the party by casting reflections on these elder statesmen for accepting service under President Roosevelt.

Now they think John had the right and the bright idea. It was the President's acceptance address that changed their viewpoint. In leading GOP-ers' opinion, Mr. Roosevelt used the two Republican cabinet members as "stooges"—as alibis. He pleaded their submission to a "draft" as partial justification for his decision to run again. He also cited their abandonment of partisanship as a reason why the voters should go and do likewise at the November polls.

Washington still speculates on the identity of the "one exception" who declined to serve. It is generally agreed that it is Alf Landon, who offered Republican cooperation only on condition the President promise not to seek a third term. Some identify the unknown holdout as Henry Ford for his refusal to make airplane engines. But the indictment could hardly hold against him, for he agreed to manufacture them for the United States. And there was no compulsion—patriotic or political—for him to turn them out for Great Britain.

THREAT: The radio people are deeply concerned over the "non-political" campaign which the President has announced that he will conduct. It may cost them several millions of dollars, and present novel legal problems.

If Mr. Roosevelt sticks to his "fireside chats", the Democratic National Committee may contend that such "non-political" addresses do not have to be paid for. Yet it is generally recognized that FDR's acceptance speech was packed with political dynamite. Moreover if the chains don't bill the Democrats for Presidential orations, the GOP may demand similar treatment of Wendell Willkie's replies. Worst of it is that the radio corporations lost perhaps $600,000 in reporting the two conventions, and their only chance to recoup is from carrying bought-and-paid-for campaign speeches.

Failure of Congress to adjourn may also nick the radio wallet. On the stump at home they must shell out for time on the air—hot or cold. But so long as they remain in session, they may demand free air on the theory that they speak as statesmen, not politicians. How the FCC will rule on these problems is still a question.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

THERE is neither bitterness nor politics in the general New York forecast that the venerable Secretary Hull will come home from Havana with little to show for the trip. The administration is negotiating with 21 Latin-American Republics for an all-American trade front, but the infighting is a historic scrap between Messrs. Funk and Schacht on one side and Cordell Hull and Adolph Berle on the other.

It's only a slight exaggeration to say the German Ministry of Economics is present in Havana—by proxy—to a man. Neither the Germans nor our own delegation will do anything but split the decision at the end of the first round, after which the southern sisters will issue a rain check until returns are in from the battle of Britain. Briefly, the Havana conference, to most influential exporters, is a ceremony permitting Germany and the U.S. to drop their bids into the box—and then go home. The successful bidder will be notified by mail, some moths hence, which is why export circles will discount German claims that South America is in the bag, and by the same token, all similar talk by the State department.

COSTS: The stakes in the Hull-Schacht poker game are so big that neither man intends to shoot the roll on the first ante. Here's Germany's bid as offered and re-offered since the conference was announced.

(1) Continental (that is, Germanized) Europe will come into the Latin-American market on such a scale that the southern republics will inherit the same export that the U.S. had in the 10 years after the last war. (2) Payment will be in barter and gold, in either case on terms so favorable there can be no sane alternative to trading with Europe. (3) All this to begin before 1940 ends. The Hull assignment is to cast a little water on the German promises, and to whatever extent they're good, to offer a more attractive substitute. Here the cartel plan gets a bit hazy, but not for that reason necessarily weak. Mr. Hull has to see the effect of the German offer to the Latinos before adding up his own chit. The cartel includes the idea of U.S. purchases of all southern surpluses for resale to anyone except Germany. The republics would consider this a good substitute for the German market if, (a) the U.S. Treasury will stand the gaff of such a program year after year—which they doubt; (b) the U.S. concentrates on buying from Latin-America those available goods now obtained from the rest of the world, which would raise southern exports to us by only 30%; (c) the U.S. subsidizes the Americas on so many fronts that lost German trade will be compensated.

In the meantime, and until the U.S. makes a concrete show of substituting dollar for dollar on every piece of business available from Hitler's collection of countries, Latin-America will go light on promises. Unless the U.S. offer adds up to a genuine "substitute" (the word is getting a big diplomatic play) an inter-American cartel becomes an anti-German boycott. U.S. foreign policy can afford to boycott a prospective customer. The southern republics are not so minded.

Here And There In Texas

By JOHN WAGNER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, July 24. (U.P.)—The sword of national defense promises a two-edged slash in Texas unemployment, a survey of the various state and federal bureaus here reveals.

New and expanded plants to manufacture national defense materials will whittle the unemployment figure in Texas, the State Employment service believes.

Renewed activity in eastern mills will provide workers there with money to buy more cotton products, Rio Grande Valley fruits and vegetables, and Texas beef, Dr. F. A. Buecchel of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research predicts.

The exact figure for Texas unemployment is unknown, but Jim Bond, director of the State Employment service, estimates it to be about 300,000. The employment service deals with about 77,000 employers, 2,100,000 workers.

Naval Base Work On

The newest project along naval defense lines to take up slack in unemployment is the construction of a $25,000,000 Naval air base at Corpus Christi. And although it brings joy to the employment service it also causes headaches. Employment offices there have been swamped with applicants for work. Before the project was announced, Corpus Christi, a city of more than 60,000 persons, had 3,000 on the active file of the service. Now 7,814 workers are on the file.

This flood of workers coming to Corpus from all parts of the state has made it necessary for the employment service to announce opening of offices and giving of medical examinations in the different sections of Texas. They advise workers to stay put and be examined at home. Many become stranded and destitute and become charity cases when they leave home. Fifty per cent of those registered are not able to give local addresses to show they have been in Corpus Christi as long as 30 days.

THE air base is only one of several projects along national defense lines. Six Texas contractors have received orders from the war department for construction work at Fort Bliss, Biggs Field, Duncan Field, and Camp Stanley. Two others have contracts on army posts out of the state.

A cotton mattress company at Taylor has a $107,734 contract for army mattresses. The company requisitioned 400 workers from the employment service for that job, Bond reported.

The service also expected the Crawford - Austin Manufacturing company at Waco to absorb workers in that area when it gets under way on a $73,806 war order for folding canvas cots. The same company holds a contract under 1941 appropriations for $99,030 of cots.

Humble Oil and Refining Co., and Maritime Oil Co., both of Houston have contracts for $814,231 and $19,504, respectively, under 1941 appropriations.

Under the 1941 supply bill Brooks Field will get $708,000 worth of construction work; Kelly Field $990,000 worth of hangars, buildings, and photographic laboratories; while 30 underground magazines will be constructed at Camp Stanley, San Antonio, at a cost of $405,000. Another $405,000 temporary warehouse has been ordered for the San Antonio air depot.

The employment picture brightens considerably, too, at the mention of a new $3,500,000 to $8,000,000 aircraft plant at Dallas.

Training Under Way

The employment service is faced with a problem at all these points where New York is about to begin. Director Bond points out that an influx of workers would be expected at Rockport where numerous torpedo boats are slated for construction. A significant point is that many of these new industries in aircraft, chemicals, and marine work are foreign to the greater part of the Texas unemployed. All these require a certain amount of technical skill.

Training in the defense industries is getting underway in five Texas cities for workers who want to brush up on that type work. Only those who have had two years industrial training are enrolled in these schools, however, at this time. The schools are located at the state's industrial centers at Houston, Fort Worth, Arlington, San Antonio, and El Paso.

Director Bond reported that Houston had already requisitioned about 300 from the service's files for technical training. Many of these men are taken from CCC camps. WPA and NYA rolls after they have shown, by test, an aptitude for technical work.

ANOTHER phase of the employment service's work is to act as a traffic officer for the thousands of Texas families who are constantly on the go, hunting work in the state's varied harvest. The service has a map tracing the movement of the state's migratory labor from the Rio Grande Valley citrus harvests up through Central Texas for cotton work, across into West Texas wheat fields, and back down through the Southwest spinach and truck harvest—an annual 1400-mile pilgrimage for work.

An attempt is made to advise the workers when the labor market is flooded in one spot and when it is open in another.

Lubbock Demo Group To Meet

Final meeting of the Lubbock county Democratic executive committee before Saturday's primary election, will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the courthouse, said L. C. Ellis, chairman.

Last minute instructions will be given for the primary and all precinct chairmen will be given ballot boxes and election supplies for each voting precinct.

Vote Estimate Made

Ellis said he expected there would be approximately 8,200 votes cast Saturday. He recalled the voting two years ago was approximately 8,300. In spite of an increase in voting strength, Ellis does not expect a much larger vote, because of apparent lack of interest in the primary by voters.

Box No. 5, the largest in the county, will have seven counters, said Ellis. Boxes 1 and 6 will have four each and box 4, two. Every effort will be made to get the ballots counted as early as possible.

The ballots contain the names of 18 precinct chairmen out of a possible 20. Two men, W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, for precinct 14 and E. R. Shipp of precinct 15, both now serving, declined to be candidates again for the honor.

May Write In Names

Ellis said voters in these precincts should write in the name of a candidate. Also voters in other precincts who prefer another to the candidate, may write in his name.

Hours of voting are from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. In the larger counties voting hours are from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., Ellis explained, but owing to population of Lubbock county being under 150,000, the shorter hours are in effect.

Wall Street . .

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—A hot weather run-up in corn and wheat took the speculative spotlight today while the stock market straggled lazily.

A downdrift lowered most shares fractions to around a point but transactions shrank to the smallest for a full session since 1918. The turnover was only 198,200 shares against 251,460 the previous session.

At the close, United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown were off fractions. Also fractions to a point or so down were American Can, du Pont, Union Carbide, Montgomery Ward, Pennsylvania, United Aircraft, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Kennecott.

Numerous issues ordinarily on the tape were missing from the day's lists.

The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks at the finish was down .02 at 41.2.

In the curb, small declines fixed in American Cyanamid "B", American Gas and Electric, Electric Bond and Share and United Gas. Humble Oil and Glen Alden Coal were up a shade. Trancations were 64,000 against 88,000 shares yesterday.

The main drift in corporate bonds likewise was down.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Cotton futures were given a forward push today by a rising Liverpool market and closed 10 to 13 points higher.
Demand broadened all around, particularly from trade sources, professional operators and New Orleans. Support was encouraged by the market's firmness in the face of a generally favorable weekly weather report.
The weather summary said the crop took too the warmer weather of the past week but pointed out that excessive rains in some central areas.
Exports yesterday totaled 8,713 bales; season so far 6,424,554. Port receipts 1,352. Port stocks 2,464,366.

AVERAGE PRICE
NEW ORLEANS, July 24 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16th-inch cotton at ten southern spot markets today was 2 points higher at 10.28 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, July 24 (AP) — Heat and drought, relieved only by scattered local showers, touched off a wave of buying that lifted grain prices sharply today.
Corn showed gains of almost 4 cents at one time, with December contracts, which represent the new crop, leading the advance. Wheat and rye were up about two cents, oats and soy beans a cent.
In some pits prices reacted before the final bell due to profit taking and hedging, but corn closed 1¼ to 2⅜ cents higher than yesterday. Sept. 62@62¼. Dec. 58⅝@58¾; wheat 1½ to 1½ up. Sept. 74⅝@74⅞. Dec. 76¼@76; oats ¾ to ⅞ higher; soy beans ¾ to 1 up; rye 1½ to 1⅝ higher and lard 5 to 8 higher.
The weather forecast gave no signs of relief from heat but indicated a continuation of showery weather could be expected in most sections of the corn and spring wheat belts. Hedging pressure in wheat also was diminished, with the 19 principal terminals receiving only 2,943,000 bushels compared with 4,392,000 a week ago and 1,541,000 a year ago. Substantial mill buying was reported at Minneapolis.

Ladies and Gentlemen: I am asking the voters of precinct 3 to give me due consideration before you go to the polls to elect your next road commissioner for precinct 3.
To give you some idea of how I stand in my home community I was put up and voted on as school trustee, there were 63 votes cast and there were 63 votes cast for W. H. Nelson.
If elected to this office I have no desire to serve any individual or any group of people other than precinct 3. I am qualified and capable of handling the duties of this office and if you will elect W. H. Nelson for your next road commissioner I will render to you the same courtesy and service that I have rendered to my community in the past. So on July 27 vote for W. H. Nelson and you will always be proud of your vote.

Called Meeting Of Lions Is Announced

A called meeting of Lubbock Lions club will be held at 8 o'clock this morning in Hilton hotel, W. H. Evans, a committee chairman, announced last night.

Dr. M. H. Benson, vice president, called the meeting after discussing the question with directors. Matters relating to the club's part in the Boys' club building will be discussed, Evans said.

I will speak over station KFYO Friday morning, July 26th from 9:55 to 10:00 a.m. so that each and every person in Lubbock county will know the principals for which I stand. Being unable to see each one in person I take this method in soliciting your vote, and assure you if I am elected that I will at all times be on the job doing my best. Thanks each and every one for what you do in my behalf.

Wants the People of Com. Prec. 1 to Know

I have tried to see each Voter personally, but I am taking this means of soliciting your vote on July 27th.
I want you to investigate my life, both privately and publicly, so you will know what kind of man I represent. I believe in dealing fair and square with one and all. I have never used intoxicating drinks of any kind in my life. I am 46 years old — young enough to be active and, progressive. I moved to Lubbock Co. in 1925. I helped organize the first churches and school district at Hurlwood, putting in operation the first efficient school bus service in Lubbock Co. I have served in the AAA program and other activities in the county. My business experience dealing with the people publicly in community and county affairs, will enable me to take advantage of every opportunity that presents itself—working at all times for the best interest of the people of Com. Mexican Oil Administration Faces Economic Problems

President And Unions Fight

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, July 24. — Serious economic problems confronting the government in handling the $400,000,000 oil industry expropriated in 1938 from British, Dutch and United States interests were heightened today by demands of labor.

President Lazaro Cardenas, insisting for months on a reorganization of the industry, wrangled with unions and government oil agency executives over the issue.

Executives of the government petroleum agencies have also demanded a reorganization. One was quoted recently as charging the union added unnecessary workers to the payrolls, and tolerated inefficiency, waste, and, in some cases, theft of oil and gas products.

Letter To Cardenas

The union's executive committee, today's newspapers said, will demand participation in the drafting of any reorganization plan.

It was reported that the union would direct an open letter to Cardenas asserting that conditions in the industry are not the fault of the workers.

Mexico's chief markets for oil—Italy and Germany—have been cut off by the war, and informed quarters say both countries owe the Mexican government about $4,000,000 for petroleum products shipped before the hostilities started.

The newspaper Excelsior, speaking of the union's open letter, said it would present the points that:

1. Salary scales are below the pre-expropriation period.

2. Government revenue recepits from oil (taxes) are greater than before.

3. Production is greater.

4. Some oil sales, notably those made in New York several months ago, were at 70 cents a barrel, or 13 cents below production cost.

Mexico, so far, has made no financial settlement with any of the companies expropriated except the Sinclair interests.

Recruits Are Sent To Cavalry Post

Seven recruits were sent to Fort Bliss Wednesday after being accepted for enlistment in the cavalry of the United States army.

They were: Jerald J. Dunn of Plainview, Fay H. Beardon of Mobeetie, Willie E. Gorley of Acme, Wesley C. Scott of Pringle, Arthur J. Madding of Amarillo, William C. Whitmire of McQueen, Okla., and Aubrey J. Pippen of Robb, Okla.

Other eligibiles are being sought for enlistment, Lieut. J. T. Carroll, assistant recruiting officer said. The recruiting office is in room 207, the postoffice building.

Jolson Says Keeler Can Quit Any Time

CHICAGO, July 24. (U.P.) — Actor-Singer Al Jolson said today his estranged wife, Ruby Keeler, "can quit any time" the musical show he opened six months ago in a reported attempt to effect a reconciliation.

It had been reported that Miss Keeler was planning to quit the production "Hold on to Your Hats" in which Jolson also appears, because her part was small and she found they couldn't work together as "just friends."

Miss Keeler refused to talk to reporters.

Chilean Paper Has Praise For Sec. Hull

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 24. (U.P.)—The newspaper Mercurio said today that Secretary of State Cordell Hull was a "faithful interpreter" of President Roosevelt's good neighbor policy in his speech to the inter-American conference at Havana.

"Mr. Hull's speech places his name with that of President Monroe and points to the great destiny of America and to the means of defending it from Alaska to Cape Horn," the newspaper said.

Slaton Rotarians Are Hosts At Barbecue

SLATON, July 24. (Special) — About 80 Rotarians and their guests attended a chicken barbecue at Buffalo Lakes last night.

This is one of two meetings during the year when the Slaton club entertains members of their families and guests.

The committee in charge of arrangements was J. A. Elliott, C. F. Enderson and J. H. Brewer.

Amateur Contest To Be Held August 2

On Friday of next week, Aug. 2 the annual city-wide amateur contest program sponsored by the city summer parks recreational project will be held at Pioneer park, Mrs. John W. Wilson, superintendent, said Wednesday.

Original plans were to give the program next Friday night, she said. The postponement was decided upon to avoid conflict with election eve political rallies.

Eligible to participate, she announced, will be all the entertainers who have participated in various of the community programs in the city parks where the recreational project is operating under the joint sponsorship of the Work Projects administration and the city. Numerous prizes will be awarded, Mrs. Wilson said.

Events Talked By Rotarians

"Important events that are current," came in for a discussion before a Rotary club luncheon Wednesday noon in Lubbock hotel by H. C. Pender, acting head of the department of government of Texas Technological college. The luncheon was attended by 14 Rotarians from other clubs, an unusually large number of visitors.

President O. W. Ribble announced three prospective members would be received next week. A short meeting of the board of directors followed the luncheon.

John B. Crisler and D. K. Bondurant were co-chairmen. Mrs. Natalie Grigsby sang two solos, with Miss Winnie Overholt as accompanist.

The great question of the "future relationship of the United States to the states now at war or coming within its orbit and that of the belligerent powers," can be interpreted in the light of the attitude of the federal government, Pender pointed out.

Pender quoted a statement by Sumner Welles, under-secretary of state, following his return from his recent European trip on which he attempted to bring about peace. Welles declared, "neutrals are positively interested in the war and particularly in the post-war settlements."

Views Are Changing

Change in the American attitude towards neutrality" has long since passed in the present conflict," the speaker said. Referring to the so-called "quarantine speech," of President Roosevelt in Chicago in 1937, he added, "apparently they are his convictions yet."

Two fundamentals for world peace were cited, a disarmament program and a revival of economic status and relationships. Germany, he pointed out, would not be a party to a disarmament program.

Pointing out that the two party platforms are such that there is not much difference in them, owing to the conflict between internationalists and isolationists, the platforms were made a political compromise.

Congress "is slowly but steadily abandoning its isolationist point of view," said Pender in pointing out that in official quarters the isolationist point of view does not prevail.

Several possibilities of the outcome of the war were given, 1, there might be a British victory; 2, an early settlement would be inconclusive and a stalmate; 3, an ultimate German victory, but not a hasty one; 4, a speedy German victory and destruction of the British fleet.

The world has not had real peace for a number of years, because of the unsettled general situation. The recent change in the Japanese government was given as a type of the sort that causes worry for the American government.

Lumber Workers To Receive Back Pay

WASHINGTON, July 24 (U.P.)—The wage-hour division of the labor department reported today that as a result of the first month of a nation-wide inspection of the lumber industry almost 10,000 workers will receive over $315,000 in back pay from firms which have operated in violation of the wage-hour law.

Inspectors in every region of the country have examined the status of 1,885 lumber companies in the first month. Among these, 828 apparent violations of the law were discovered, 352 of which involved back pay for employes. Of the remainder, 531 firms were found to be complying with the law and 348 were operating in intrastate commerce and therefore not covered by the statute.

Most of the violations were discovered in southern states, the agency reported.

Orson Welles Finally Gets Before Movie Camera To Begin His Career In Pictures

HOLLYWOOD, July 24. (U.P.)—With bloodshot eyeballs of glass glued to his own orbs and a rounded stomach of rubber strapped across his middle, Orson Welles, the man from Mars, stepped before the cameras today to confound the wiseacres who said he's never find the time to make a movie.

The 25-year-old Welles was playing the part of a 70-year-old man in a drama of the Silver Sheet written, produced, and directed by him for a fee of $150,000 cash, in advance.

Cameras began to grind almost exactly one year after he arrived in Hollywood with appropriate fanfare as the youngest triple-threat man in movie history. Film being shot for testing purposes. Formal start of his picture is schedule for August 1.

With tears of pain dripping from beneath his imitation eyes, which are glazed and streaked with red to make him look old, Welles said his picture was entitled "Citizen Kane." He said he intended it to be the portrait of an egoist, a man who made a fortune—and the devil take the hindmost.

He said also that he still was broke and that his $150,000 fee from R.-K.-O. wouldn't be of much help because he already had spent most of it.

ANOTHER DIES

WASHINGTON, July 24 (A.P.)—Brigadier General Frederic May Wise, retired marine corps officer and widely-known author, died today after an extended illness.

Sleeps Fine, Dizzy Spells Relieved

Gly-Cas Proved to Be the Very Medicine He Had Been Needing for Years; Cannot Say Too Much in Its Praise

"I had never known what it was to enjoy good health until after I had begun Gly-Cas," said Mr. James Kent, 408 Travis St., Wichita Falls, Texas. "For years I had been habitually constipated and was compelled to take the strongest of laxatives. I had that miserable sluggish feeling all the time and was bothered with awful dizzy spells when I could hardly stand without assistance. My appetite failed and I had to force what little I ate for I suffered so miserably after my meals I would rather not eat than endure such distress. I became nervous and a good night's sleep was impossible. In spite of all the medicines I tried it seemed I was meant to suffer . . . but when I began Gly-Cas it helped me just as they said it would.

MR. JAMES KENT

"From the first few capsules I began to show improvement," continued Mr. Kent. "Now my bowels are regular and with relief from those clogged intestinal poisons I am able to enjoy my meals without ill effects following. Those awful dizzy spells and that tired-out feeling have also been relieved and I am enjoying real pep and energy again. My nerves are calm. I get full nights of strength-giving rest and sleep and I wish I could find words to fully praise Gly-Cas as I would like."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.
