FINAL SESSION NAMES CITY OFFICERS

TRAIN TO BE RUN TO CAVERNS; STOREY SOLE CANDIDATE

Kiwanians of the Texas-Oklahoma district were making preparations this afternoon to close their thirteenth annual convention and start homeward again. Those not going homeward were to board the special train for the famous Carlsbad Caverns which they will visit tomorrow. The final session of the convention was to be over about 3 o'clock.

The closing session was being held this afternoon following a morning session when the Dallas candidate, R. G. Storey, lieutenant governor of the fourth division. Apparently the convention will select Oklahoma City as its 1931 meeting place.

More persons were reported signing up for the Carlsbad Caverns trip. Between 80 and 100 reservations have been made. E. A. Tush, D. F. and P. A. of the Santa Fe announced.

Mr. Blake's address was an unexpected revelation of the savings to be affected by control of flood waters.

For 213 years efforts have been made, he declared, by cities along the Mississippi to control the river. "More than $750,000,000 has been spent in building levees," he stated.

The loss by erosion to the farmers of Texas each year is more than the gain from crops, the speaker pointed out.

BURGLARS ACTIVE HERE

HUIE SAFE CARRIED OFF AND RIFLED; HILBURN HOME IS RANSACKED; HILTON DRESSING ROOM VISITED; CAR STOLEN

Cash totalling more than $50 was stolen while a safe weighing about 1,000 pounds was hauled away and destroyed when robbers looted the establishment of Hui, The Tailor, 1412 Broadway, Monday night, according to reports at police headquarters early today.

Following an investigation and search by officers this morning the safe was found in a field about three miles northwest of the city. When found the door was open, lock and bolt having been chiselled away.

Approximately $200 in checks were discarded by the robbers at a point a mile north of where the safe was discovered.

First examination today failed to reveal where the robbers had gained entrance into the building. Officers and Riley F. Hui, owner of the establishment, expressed opinion today that one of the thieves evidently had concealed himself in the place at closing time Monday evening and remained to open the rear door for confederates. All doors and windows were locked and barred.

Trucks Are Found Tracks of an automobile were found at the rear door and marks could be found on the floor of the building showing how the robbers had entered the safe from the front to the rear. A bar which had been placed over the door from the inside at closing, this morning was found up and the door locked from the outside, establishing the theory of inside opening.

Officers were examining the safe today for possible finger prints which might lead to arrest of the robbers.

A small amount of cash and some personal articles were stolen from two employees of the Hilton Hotel Monday night when thieves entered the basement of the building and broke lockers in the dressing room.

A tapestry purse, with a small amount of cash, belonging to Eva Mae Darnadore, was taken from one locker while some personal effects were taken from the locker of Delilah Odum.

The robbery is thought by officers to have been committed during the Kiwanis convention dance held in the ballroom. Locks to both compartments were kept loose.

While occupants of the house were away on vacation, robbers entered the building and carried off a safe.

TRIO CHARGED AFTER BATTLE NEAR AUSTIN

AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—Murder charges were filed today against two men and a woman in connection with a roadside shotgun battle yesterday which resulted in the death of Bryan Keahy and the wounding of Charley Louis Beland.

Beland, his brother Joe and Mrs. Helen Keahy were charged with murder and Earl Adams, Keahy's companion, was charged with assault to murder.

The accused themselves informed police of the slaying. Adams, bringing Keahy's body to Austin after having started to Fort Worth and then changing his mind, first told police the story. Then Mrs. Keahy and Joe Beland, arrested at the hospital where they had taken the wounded man, amplified it.

Charley Beland and Keahy fought with shotguns on the road near here, according to the tales told police, and Mrs. Keahy fired one shot at her husband with a revolver, she said. The shooting occurred when Keahy and Adams, in one car, were overtaken by another car in which the Belands and Mrs. Keahy were riding. Keahy stopped them and started the battle, they told police.

Searching For Wife Adams said he and Keahy had driven here from Fort Worth in search of Mrs. Keahy.

Chief of Police Thorpe identified Keahy, both Belands and Joe Beland.

French Fliers Successful In Flight

PLANE IS MAKING WAY DOWN COAST TO NEW YORK

Along the cloudpath of Canada's maritime provinces and toward the coast line of New England a famous French flier and his comrade of the air winged today over the last thousand miles of a flight from Paris to New York.

At half past nine (P. M.) this morning Deudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte made history when their "T" soared over Casco, Nova Scotia, on the Canadian mainland, achieving the first flight from the continent of Europe to the continent of North America.

Headed For Goal An hour later they were passing the entrance to Halifax harbor, more than a hundred miles nearer New York and were headed true and swiftly for their goal.

In reversing the trail which Charles A. Lindbergh followed from New York to Le Bourget field outside of Paris Coste and his comrade made one patriotic detour, they edged around the southern tip of New Foundland and came first over North American territory, showing an insular possession of their native France—the Isle of St. Pierre.

Land Before Sunset That was at six o'clock (P. M.) this morning. Their subsequent progress along the coast indicated that they would come to earth at Curtis Wright field, on long island New York's eastern purgus, before sunset this evening.

With a spontaneity of enthusiasm for the feat of the successors to the lamented Nungesser and Goll, New York prepared to give Coste and Bellonte a welcome such as it would have heaped on the first French fliers to try the North Atlantic if they had come through.

The good word on the city streets was "where are the fliers now?" and before midday a throng was gathering at the airport to wait for them, with a city welcoming committee in the van.

If the fliers reach New York by six o'clock (P. M.) they will have made the Paris-to-New York journey in about 37 hours.

World Awaiting Andree's Diary

The world awaits the arrival of the sealer Bratvaag, vessel bringing the diary and supposedly bodies of Salomon August Andree, below, top, and his two companions, Knut Franke, left, and Nils Strindberg to Tromso, Norway, from White Island, in the northern wastes, where the balloonists perished 23 years ago. Map shows route. Photo is of balloon house on Danes Island, from which start was made toward north pole on July 11, 1897.

Relics Of Andree Party Brought Back To Norway

TROMSO, Norway, Sept. 2.—Dr. Gunnar Horn, discoverer of the Andree expedition on White Island, dove into port today on the little motor ship Bratvaag and turned over to representatives of the government of Norway the evidence he had collected of the fate of the first polar aviation expedition of a third of a century ago.

After Norwegian and Swedish experts had gone aboard and examined the evidences of the Andree tragedy, the cases containing the relics were put ashore on the quay of the Swedish consulate by the crew of the Bratvaag, and the first leg of Salomon August Andree's homeward journey had been completed.

Placed On Hearse The human remains were placed on a hearse on the pier. A straggling and solemn procession made its way to an infirmary where professors, acting under the direction of the Norwegian government, prepared to make the examination which would establish the truest authenticity of the remarkable polar story.

The crew of the Norwegian government steamer, Michael Sars, formed the guard of honor. Behind the hearse walked Dr. Gunnar Horn, Dr. Hvidten, head of the examining staff and others of the Norwegian scientific commission and physicians.

No Reception Given There was no great public reception to greet Andree at Tromso but a large crowd had assembled on the waterfront when it became known early today that the Bratvaag would make port.

The crowds watched the preliminary examination made by the government agents on the deck of the Bratvaag and manifested intense interest in the exhibit as they were brought ashore.

VICTIMS ARE LISTED AS MARTYRS TO INDUSTRY

CURTIS REYNOLDS AIRPORT, CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—The 180 editors of the National air races became history today with the names of four dead engraved on the records as martyrs to man's fight to master gravity.

Study Self For Jewels And Coiffure

Coiffure and jewelry suited to individual types of women.

BY LUCIEN LEBONG
Special Cable to Central Press PARIS

The somewhat contradictory tendencies of our new mode at its inception gave rise to a certain confusion in the mind of the large feminine public. The return to lady-like fashions seemed to imply such very radical changes. Women faced the future with some consternation. Did femininity mean long hair as well as long skirts? On the other hand, one did not wear long skirts all the time, and a return to hairpins and complications appeared impossible to the athletic modern woman, who rode, golfed, drove her own car and often her own airplane.

But now the mode has become unified, and the wearing of it has become second nature to our elegant. Likewise, the question of the coiffure has been solved. That delicate point of balance, the rest of the pendulum between two extremes, has been struck. To speak more concretely, one sees in smart circles neither brutally shaved necks, nor grotesque chignons. The hair is arranged to reveal the line of the neck, and to suggest the line of the frock.

Subtly Needed

The ampler and more studied draperies of evening frocks, for example, call for more subtly complicated coiffures, while the simple daytime silhouette and the small, low crowned hats, imply more restrained arrangements. The woman of taste will avoid both horns of this dilemma by adopting a version of a chignon for daytime, to be curled in whatever way, best suits her head and figure for evening. Her best counsellor in this, as in all matters pertaining to dress, is the mirror—full length, remember, for the figure should influence the coiffure as much (if not more) than the head and face. A tall, statuesque woman would do well to avoid the artless curls of the ingenue, while the flapper will not adopt the cascade headdress so becoming to the former.

The ideal coiffure looks as though it "just grew" as naturally on a woman as leaves on a tree. Needless to say, this naturalness is, in reality, the apotheosis of art.

Jewels Indicate Character

The jewels a woman chooses are apt to be a sure indication of her character. They, too, should appear natural to her personality. They may be, to continue my arboral simile, likened to the tree's flowers. It is my fancy that there is a subtle affinity between perfumes and jewels. Jewels seem to me perfumes crystallized into concrete form. Thus a woman will love rubies and pure amber, pearls and white flower coral—jasmine, lotus, hibiscus, saffron go well with the cool scent of iris—but it is hard to find any odor as softly brilliant as the diamond.

One sees many and beautiful jewels worn about Paris during the season. Rubies, are beginning to out-mode emeralds and sapphires. Usually they are set off with diamonds and platinum. Rubies combined with sapphires strike a very new jewelry note. They are especially pretty with the pure white frocks so good this season, or with firmament blue frocks that have the vivid darkness of the Paris night sky. At the Ambassadeurs the other evening a costume of negre faulle set off by a parure of emeralds attracted universal attention to its somber richness.

Long gloves have not succeeded in ousting bracelets. Two or three bracelets in diamonds or flower motifs of colored stones are worn outside the left glove. I have remarked that some very smart women wear a jeweled clip at the top of one of their long ruffled gloves.

The jeweled clips, by the way, are quite in the spirit of the new mode, which is the reason they have been so universally adopted by women of distinction. They cling, with apparent casualness, to any point of the costume. They finish drapery or cause it by slightly modifying the line of contour or decollete.

Long Earrings Returned

Long earrings, which had shown a tendency to disappear from the mode, have returned. Often they form a parure with the necklace, while the clip and the bracelet and hand jewelry need I say that long earrings should only be worn by the woman with the long, long neck? Rightly worn, long earrings lend variation and accent to the face.

Small jeweled combs match the necklace or the bracelet are being designed by the master jewelers to complete the fashionable evening coiffure. Sets of tiny combs ornamented with rubies, are a feature of Massachusetts' exhibition of those rare stones.

Wives Of Visiting Kiwanians Guests At Luncheon Served Today At Hilton

Guests were laid for 175 today noon at a luncheon served in the Hilton Hotel ball room complimentary to women delegates to the Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis district convention.

Wives of local registering Kiwanians were hostesses at the luncheon, which concluded social affairs for women during the convention.

A musical tea, which was given yesterday afternoon in the ball room and Mrs. E. L. Mitchell, of Clinton, Okla., wife of the district governor, was guest of honor. Dances were given in the ballrooms of the Hilton and Lubbock hotels last evening for all visitors and local Kiwanians and a dance is to be given this evening in the Up Town dance palace.

Club Colors Card

Francis Moore, New York pianist, and Mrs. Moore appeared in a program yesterday afternoon at the tea. A clever decorative motif for the tea table was a "hub of the plinks" emblem fashioned of flowers in the Kiwanis colors of blue and gold. Wives of local club officers poured tea and wives of local directors assisted in serving. Wives of prominent officials in the district appeared in the receiving line, which was headed by Mrs. Clark M. Mullican, wife of the Lubbock Kiwanis president.

Kiwanis colors were emphasized again today in the table decorations for the luncheon. A musical program was given consisting of vocal solos by Mrs. Carl Scoggin, of Lubbock, and Mrs. Louis Kier, sweetheart of the Houston Kiwanis club; a violin solo by Miss Beulah Dunn, and a reading by Miss Mary Gene Owen. # LITTLEFIELD'S TAX RATE SET

SCHOOL DISTRICT WILL PAY $1.50; GAINS ARE NOTED

(By Staff Correspondent)
LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 2.—Tax rate for the Littlefield Independent school district for the current year will be $1.50 per $100 valuation, J. S. Hillier, secretary of the school board and business manager of the school stated today.

Valuation totals for the year have not been completed, the manager said. However, it is estimated that the valuation this year will be about $6,700,000. Last year's valuation was $7,700,000.

To Increase
"This is not a decrease in valuation but an increase," Secretary Hillier explained. "Last year we had 248 sections of land in the district. In the spring we cut off 14 sections, leaving us 182 sections."

"As a matter of fact our valuations show a substantial increase. We lost about 300 pupils in the taking off of the 64 sections. A new district, the Spade district, was formed by this territory taken from our district.

"It should be noted also that our scholastics this year are 1,826 compared with 1,644 in 1929. This represents a gain of 182 over the previous year in addition to the transfer of 300 to Spade district. If we had the Spade area our scholastics would be over 2,100 for this year.

Gains 16 Per Cent
Under the new valuation figures the increased valuations represents a gain of over 16 per cent more than last year's figures.

Mr. Hillier also announced that contracts had been made with a number of men here to haul children to and from school. The school board of the district owns a large number of truck bodies and the contractors furnish the chassis.

We pay 30 cents a mile per day for the first 14 miles on each route," Mr. Hillier explained. "Then we pay five cents a mile per day for each additional mile. This year we will start with 26 trucks. Last year we had 26. But our trucks this year will have larger bodies and we will handle as many, if not more children."

BUTLER RESIGNS
CROSBYTON, Sept. 2.—(Special)—R. C. Butler, director of the high school and teacher of science in the school, has presented his resignation to the school board. No reason was assigned but it was believed he plans to enter school to finish his educational training. Mr. Butler also was to have taught typing here.

Flawing in the Napoleonic invasion of his country, King Joao's wife, Queen Joaquina Carolina and the court moved to Brazil, taking the bird on their enforced exile. Dr. Silveira Cardoso, author of a new history, describes the murder of an Italian prima donna of rare beauty. He says she occupied a warm corner in the Portuguese monarch's heart and was stabbed to death by a British officer of the king's household, at the queen's instigation.

The only word uttered by the dying beauty was "Morro," meaning "I am dying," which the parrot ceaselessly repeats.

The parrot remained in royal possession until 1916, when the Republican troops dispersed the retainers of King Manuel. It has since been cared for by an old footman who lives in a small town with the pet which has survived seven kings.

"No Medicine Ever Helped As Did Konjola"

Stubborn And Painful Stomach Ailment Readily Yields To Power of Famed Compound

MRS. EDNA BARNETT

"Each day for a year I was in misery," said Mrs. Edna Barnett, 713 North Pearl street, Dallas. "My system had become weak and run down from indigestion. Food failed of digestion and I had a constant burning sensation in my throat and stomach. Gas formed and I often belched violently. My nerves were upset and little things upset me terribly. I did not sleep well at night.

"The number of local people getting results attracted my attention to Konjola. I noticed a change for the better in my condition after I had taken the first bottle. I have taken four bottles to date and my health is again normal. I eat what I wish without a trace of indigestion or bloating. My nervous condition is much relieved and I sleep well at night. No medicine ever helped as did Konjola."

The files of Konjola contain thousands of such statements. It is recommended, however, that this medicine be given a thorough trial, in the average case over a six to eight week period.

Konjola is sold in Lubbock, Texas, at Bowen's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

ALL THE WORLD'S A TALKIE STUDIO NOW; DON'T GET FRIGHTENED IF FILM SOUND TRUCK STOPS AT YOUR DOOR, THEY'RE JUST LOOKING FOR LOCATION

BY HUBBARD KEAVY (Associated Press Staff Writer)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—If a motor truck almost as big as a house stops in your neighborhood, don't assume it's moving day for someone.

The truck may be a sound unit from a talkie studio looking for a location. Movies are made in increasing numbers these days far from the home grounds because it has been discovered that sound records virtually as well outdoors as in.

Consequently, film companies are venturing to distant places to obtain new and authentic backgrounds. In some of the first talkies there were outdoor shots, but they were taken silently, with the sound "doubled" in later.

Realism is so necessary that portable sound recording equipment had to be perfected. A "beam" microphone is used now for outdoor recording by some companies. Its advantages over the regular "mike" is that it picks up only those sounds made directly in front of it. Noises to the sides and rear are not recorded.

The first long talkie trek was to British East Africa to film "Trader Horn." A company of 35 was away from the studio almost a year. Another company is in Borneo making "Outrigger."

Scenes for "Song O' My Heart" were taken in Ireland. All of "Hell Harbor," including indoor sequences, was made near Tampa, Florida.

Towns in Utah, Idaho, Montana, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa saw a talkie in the making when scenes for "The Record Man," a railroad story, were taken.

Ketchikan, Alaska, was headquarters for "The Silver Horde" company. Nearly all of "The Big Trail" was filmed on location. Players passed through 16 states. Scenes were taken in Arizona, California, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Montana and Utah.

"The Sea Bat" was taken in Mazatlan, Mexico, hundreds of miles from a studio. Much of "Billy, the Kid" was taken in New Mexico and Utah. Harold Lloyd took a great deal of "Feet First" on a liner to Honolulu and back.

This talkie business is becoming an outdoor sport.

Just how the British feel about this popular pair is brought out in an article in Radio Times by Hubert Foss, who has just returned from the United States. While Foss acknowledges that the team of Correll and Gorden are unbeatable in the United States, he doubts if they would register so well in jolly old England. Here is what he says of them.

"The United States, which seems to feel a spiritual need to go crazy over something whether it be Mother's Day or Lindbergh, has now gone properly crazy over Amos 'n' Andy.

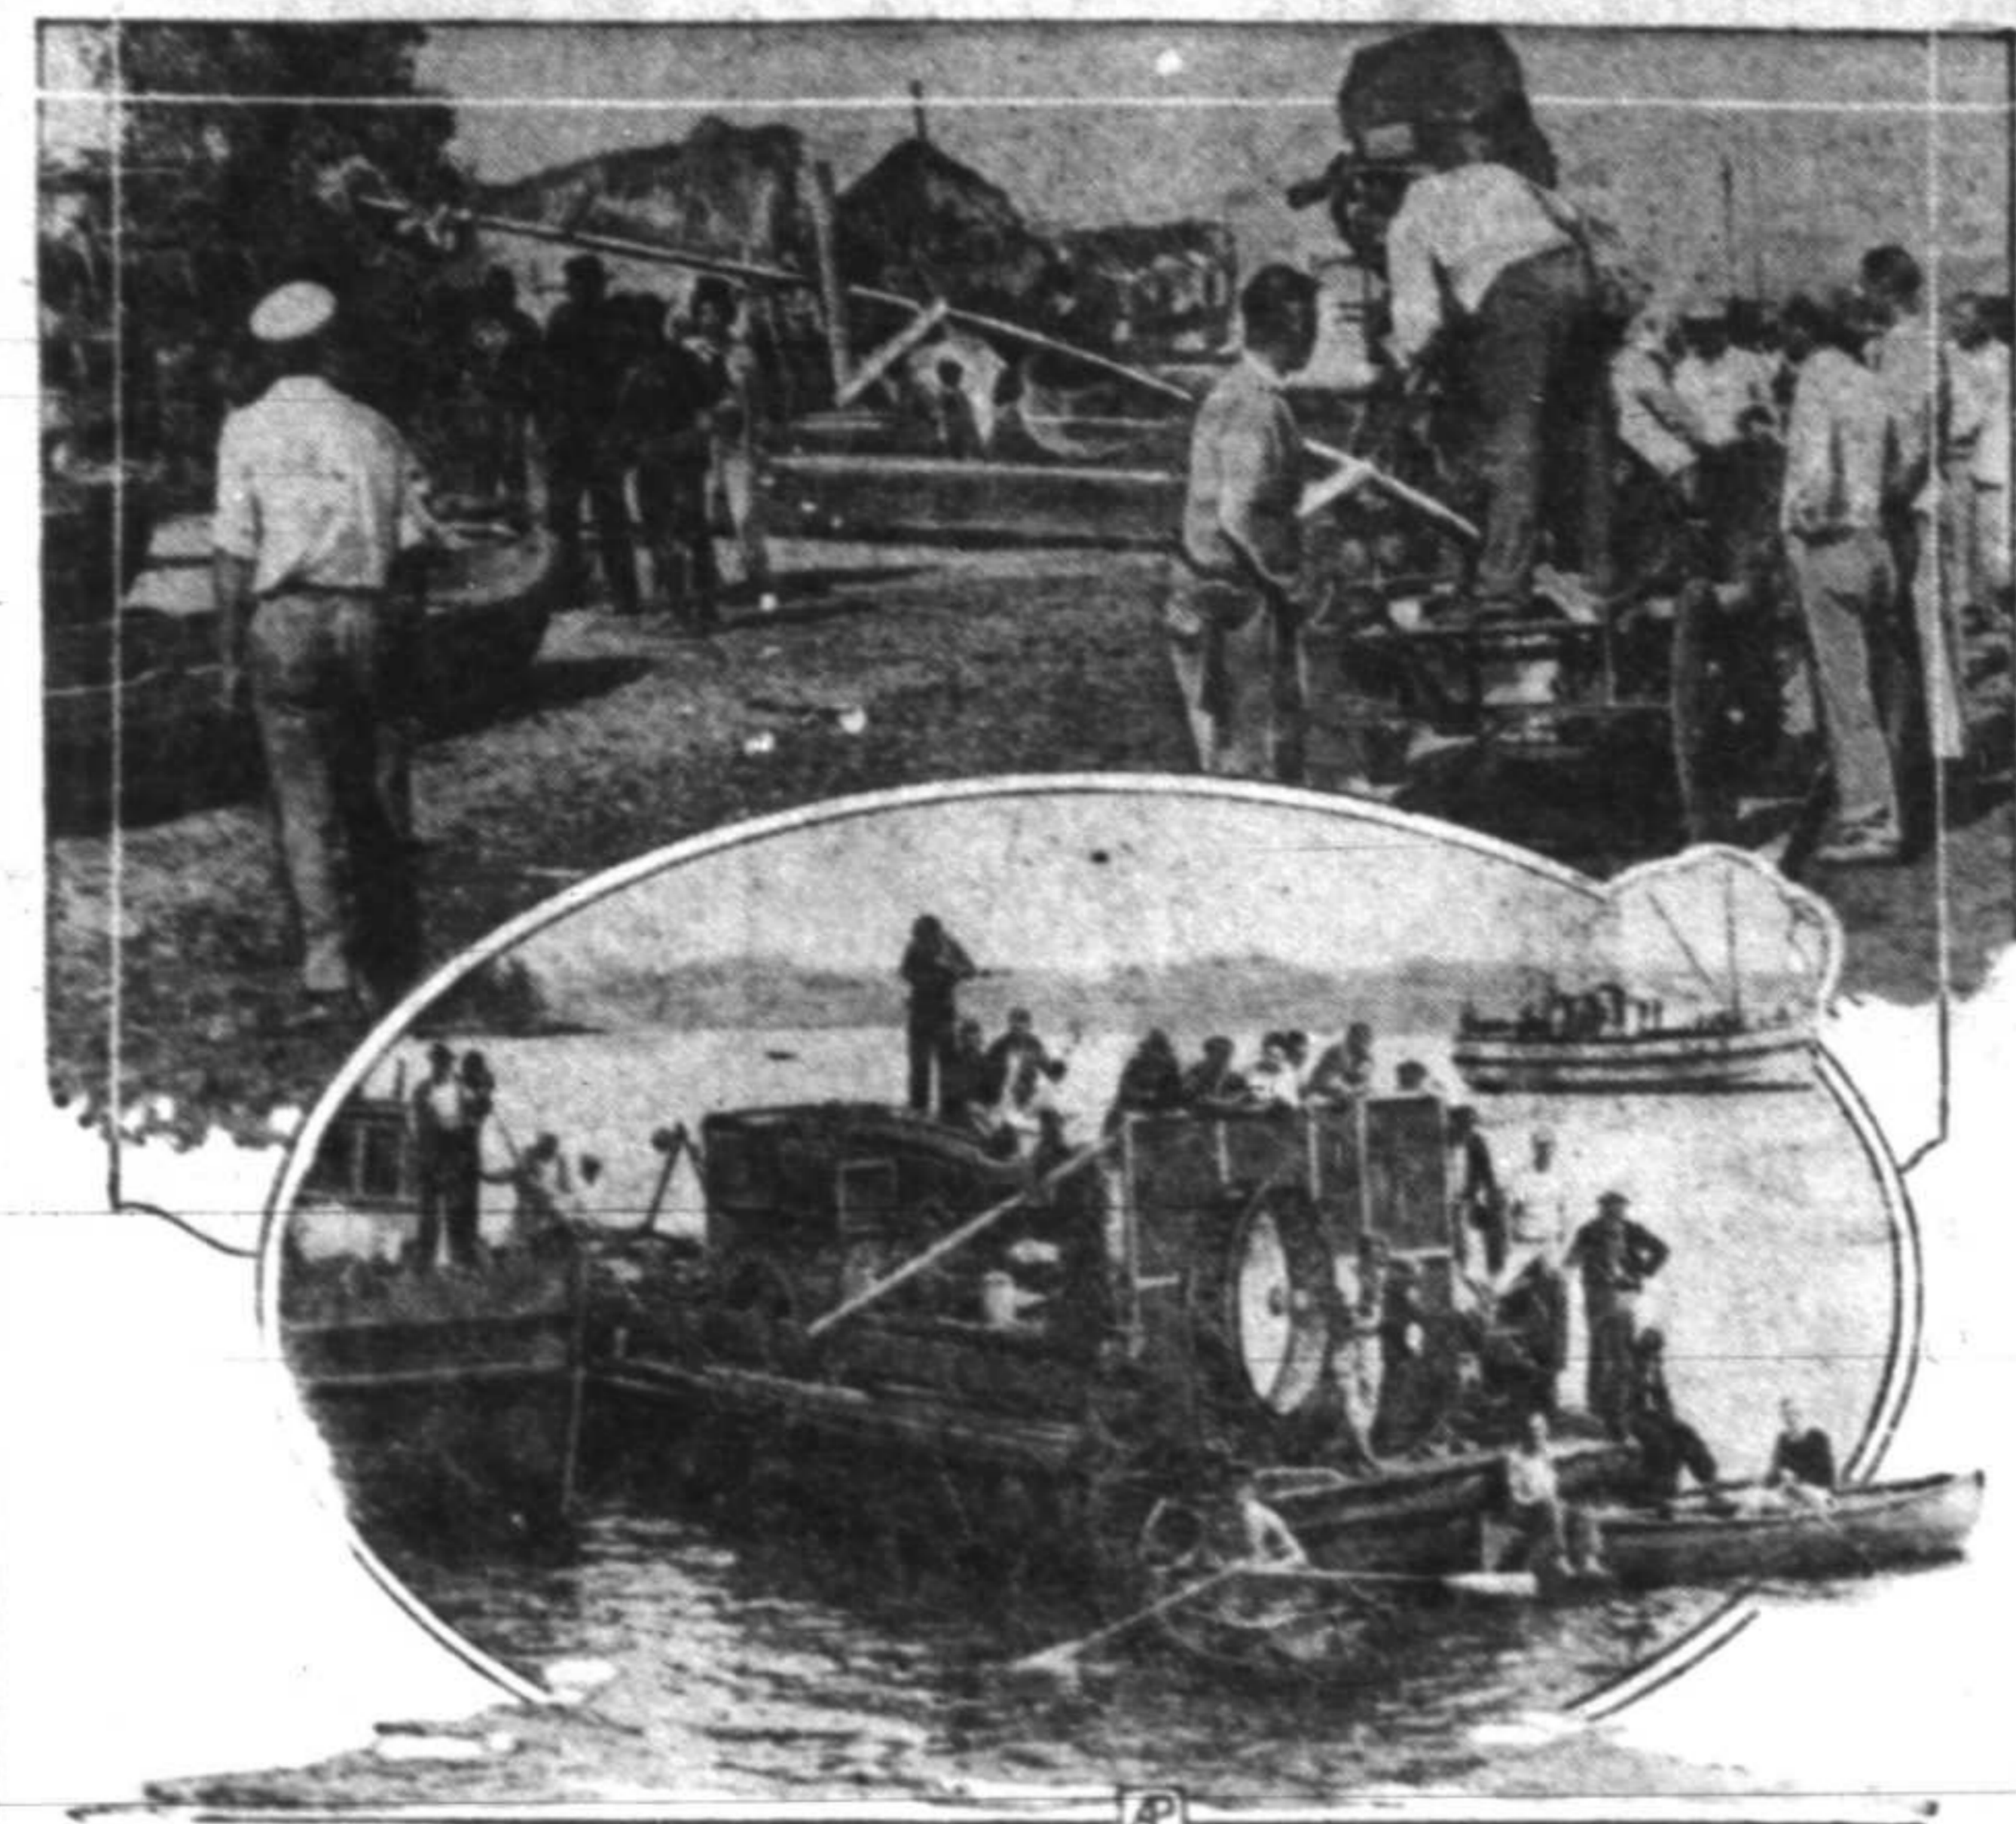

"The first names I heard on setting foot on American soil were those of Amos and Andy. An especial charm lies in the fact that the world of U. S. A. knows Amos better than it knows Rocketeer, and yet can never know him, because there is no Amos to know.

So Right—Yet So Little
"Their rightly 15 minutes is almost imperceptible to an English reader, hardly to be understood by an English listener. There is so little in it to describe. It is not a joke, nor a mere jumble of wisecrack jokes. The listener laughs, he laughs with a fellow feeling, not as at a smart saying. Here, in fact, is a serial story, a continued drama in two simple lives.

"The regular continuity of it seems unbreakable. Nightly at the same hour comes this new engagement of intriguing one life with this extra friendly element. This is the ritual cup of tea of a tired and thirsty nation."

In forecasting the future popularity of the team, Foss says: Ranked With Immortals "Amos and Andy may follow the Two Black Crows to another sphere. Though I care nothing for their creators, who can look after themselves, I should be sad at the death of Amos and Andy.

"At present they can proudly stand in the row of immortals who, without substance or flesh, have won the affections of mankind. Their success could be analyzed, many reasons having already been assigned to it. Let us not inquire, it would lead us too far into the complex question of the American mind."

Talkies may be made on land or sea—outdoors—with equal ease. The bamboo pole (above) is the "boom" that holds the "mike." The drum-like affair at the front end of the lead boat (below) is the new beam microphone.

LONDON.—Amos 'n' Andy those popular American entertainers are like other American humorists a puzzle to the English. They just can't make out their bally jokes, dumberknock.

DALLAS MAN RE-NAMED TO POST; CHANGES IN COURTS VOTED

(By Associated Press)
FORT WORTH, Sept. 2.—William McCraw was re-elected president of the county and district attorneys' association of Texas in convention here Saturday. Houston was named next year's meeting place.

Six changes in court procedure were recommended by the legislative and courts committees. One, permitting a verdict by nine members of a jury instead of twelve, was defeated by the convention. The others were approved.

Changes approved included: amendment of the wife and child description law to furnish more immediate relief to injured persons; extension to commissioners' courts of the right to employ extra deputy sheriffs when needed; requirement that affidavit of belief of insanity be made by two reputable physicians when a plea of insanity is entered after conviction to prevent execution.

Fred L. Blundell of Lockhart, chairman of the court reform committee, spoke in favor of the re-

BEENE TO DIRECT PANHANDLE BAND

ABERNATHY, Sept. 2.—(Special)—C. W. Beene, director of the Abernathy Band for several years and one of the best known music instructors on the South Plains, has moved to Panhandle, Carson county, where he will be music director of the schools.

Mr. Beene organized the band here several years ago. This town is said to have more musically inclined residents for its size than any other town in West Texas. A large share of this credit is due Mr. Beene according to his friends.

For a year or more Mr. Beene was secretary of the chamber of commerce.

He devoted a large part of his time to the training of boys for membership in the band and his organization is said to have numbered as high as 60, with an average membership of 35 to 40. Professor Beene could get 60 or more people to play in the band when the occasion demanded an organization of that size," Mayor F. S. Struve declared.

FELT SHE WAS GETTING WEAKER

Health Seemed To Be Going Downhill—Says Cardui Helped Her Get Well.

Dothan, Ala.—"About nine years ago, I was in very bad health," says Mrs. G. S. Cardui, 713 East Adams Street, this city.

"I had been going downhill for some time, until I found myself so weak I could not keep going. I had to give up and go to bed where I stayed six weeks, flat on my back. I could hardly lift my hands for weakness. I worried a lot about myself for I could see that I was not doing any good. I tried one thing and then another, but nothing helped me. I could feel myself getting weaker all the time, and I suffered constantly with a severe pain in my side.

"A friend asked me why I did not try Cardui. I was impressed with the suggestion, and at once began to take it. It was not long until I began to improve. My strength returned and the dreadful pain in my side left entirely. I was delighted with this, so I kept on with the medicine for some time—long enough to be sure that my gain was permanent," says MRS. G. S. CARDUI.

A Miracle
 It is customary to say that modern inventions have robbed the sea of its old romance. The steamship has replaced the windjammer, and sailing love and customs dating back to the early Phoenicians have gone by the board. The age of steam on the deep, is not considered an age of glamour.

Still, there are times when this present period can do rather well by us. If only we look at it rightly.
 It has a new romance to replace the old, a new aura of mystery and a new way of feeling death and danger.

A few days ago the steamer Tahiti sailed into difficulty several hundred miles off the Cook Islands, far down in the southwestern part of the Pacific—as lonely a corner of the seven seas as could be found.
 Passengers and crew are carried 317 people. All of them took to boats.

Now that sort of thing—navigation being the uncertain affair that it is—has happened times without number, on the Pacific and other oceans. Lifeboats filled with survivors and sailors have floated helplessly on the sea, watching a crippled ship prepare for its last slow settling into the waves, and then struck out for land, sometimes to make it and sometimes to disappear forever. But this time it was different.

Outwardly it was the same. The lifeboats stuck by the stricken liner.
 The night, presumably, was like the innumerable other nights that have seen ships go down at sea—still, empty, sparsely lit, with lights and searchlights, and the faint glow of a distant land.

By the air was full of invisible apparitions. The Tahiti carried a wireless. And while the lifeboats drifted, and their occupants watched the horizon, other ships far beyond the line where sky and water met heard those appeals and changed their course.

So it was that three 317 refugees from the danger of the sea did not have to attempt the long, almost hopeless pull for distant land.
 Help came to them, quickly and efficiently. An American ship and a Norwegian ship drew alongside and took everyone aboard. When the Tahiti finally went under the water all of her people were safe on other vessels.

That, in its own way, is quite as thrilling and glamorous as anything that the old days of wooden ships and square sails can offer.
 To fight wind, wave and rain in an open boat over hundreds of miles of hostile sea is adventure, to be sure, but isn't it also adventure to send a call for help through the empty air, and to hang 317 lives on the sputter of an electric spark in the cabin of a sinking ship?
 The wireless, as you know, is a miracle. As you know, it can reach hundreds of people from death in mid-ocean by means of a miracle in an age in which romance is far from being dead.

Skeptical
 It is highly amusing to watch Chicago's political and official big game some scurrying forward to explain how it was that they had received money from Jack Zita, murdered gangster.

The gibes of their explanations is really pitiable. Whatever else you can say about them, these Chicagoans with itching palms certainly have presence of mind.

Unfortunately, none of these explanations is as convincing as a man in a high position or in some position of public trust can hardly be surprised if people are ready to believe the worst when they find he has taken money—no matter for what reason—from an underworld character.

Only there was a newspaper particular who read about Zita's money and saw and heard the things about making a crack about the thing, getting

THE PLAINSMAN
 Says:

That Girl on Broadway says there may be art for art's sake but there is more of it for Jack's sake.

WELL, folks, the Kivansians will be leaving tonight and tomorrow morning and from everything The Plainsman has been able to learn they had a very pleasant and satisfactory meeting. They all seem happy, anyhow.

One of the high lights of the convention was the impromptu program held at the Downtown Dance Palace last night. The Plainsman never saw so much talent in all his born days. Every time you turned around there was somebody ready to do something to entertain the audience.

There is more talent and originality in the square inch in this country than there is anywhere else. If you had heard that Elk City Trio, watched the Amarillo magician and seen some of our Lubbock folks performing you would agree. The expense and trouble of having the Kivans convention was equalized right then and there.

BOB MURRAY went over to the Cap Rock Bankers association of the plans of the Cotton Co-op and when they learned of what was being done the financiers immediately placed their stamp of approval on the idea.

The Plainsman wonders just how many people have stopped to consider the value of the work being done by R. J. Murray on the cotton co-op organization.
 That man has traveled the length and breadth of the Plains, preaching the gospel of co-operative marketing and his enthusiasm and intelligence have done more than any other two things to put the proposition over. When the co-op machinery is all set up and functioning the lion's share of the credit will have to go to Bob Murray.

That Man on Avenue Q says the best way to say farewell to a business depression is with a good buy.

ALTON PHILLIPS Lubbock tree squatter, is due to come down from his leafy perch tonight after spending 48 days in the boughs.
 The Plainsman is impressed with Alton's spunk because the younger staid up as long as he could he would. However, the city is that he has accomplished a great deal.

There's one thing about Alton Alton decided he was going to be a tree-sitter and while he was at it he decided to be a good one. He is mighty close to a record, perhaps he holds it, who knows—which may mean more or less. But somehow or another The Plainsman feels that Alton could have put in those 48 days at something more constructive than being fitting himself and humanity in general, more.

Lubbock is mighty fortunate to have as its guests about 1,500 school teachers of the South Plains. There are no finer folks anywhere than school teachers, and the city is glad to have them visit here once a year in a body and hold a teachers institute.

There hasn't been quite so much fuss and feathers made over the school teachers this year as there usually is because the Kivans version has stolen a major portion of the show. However, the school folks needn't feel slighted because we have them every year and will be able to make up to them as time slips along.

What'll be next, what'll be next?
 They're trying to promote night football for Texas high schools this year and the officials very wisely have ruled against the scheme. High school kids never even get to play football at night—even if more money can be made that way. The Plainsman thinks to attempt to promote night football for Texas high schools is nothing more or less than a further commercialization of our youngsters.

The primary reason for high school football is to promote sportsmanship and physically develop the young men of the country. It is most certainly not to make money, although many educators seem to feel that money-making is as necessary to a high school football team as it is to a bank.

THE PLAINSMAN believes high school athletes should pay their own way, all right, and that it's O. K. for football, as the most popular of sports, to pay the freight for the other activities. But he doesn't believe in rolling up a big surplus and guarding it like it was a straight out-and-out business proposition.

It's not natural for high school kids to play football at night. The Great Director didn't mean for us to, else he wouldn't have made the night-lark dark. This column is a complete accord with the

If You Feel Like Doing Some Earnest Worrying, Bother Yourself About Uncle Sam's Mail, Rodney Dutcher Says

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer
 WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Any one who likes to sit up and worry about things can have a beautiful time for the rest of his life by worrying about the letters and packages that go through Uncle Sam's mails.

If you opened up all the hundreds of millions of letters and packages which the government transports for its citizens each year you would find nearly everything that a horse and buggy

Murder plots, dope, poisons, unprintable language, stolen money, brass knuckles, elopement plans, recipes for gin and tonics, back rubbers, death threats—and, good almost every evil thing you can think of. Even chain letters. It's certain they all go through the mails because every so often such things are discovered to have been mailed and they are, very obviously, only a small fraction of what gets through.

There isn't any solution Nothing much can be done about it except to abolish the postal system or open everybody's mail every day. If the Postoffice Department thinks something pretty bad is going on it can investigate and prosecute, but it hasn't and the recipient authority now to read all the letters and search all the packages.

Of course if you take books and magazines which don't satisfy the postoffice, that's rather different.
 These have more or less general circulation and everybody knows about them—at least such classics and reputable magazines as the publisher of the department has occasionally barred. Literature circulated more surreptitiously presumably has less trouble getting through. The point seems to be that if the sender and the recipient of anything keep their business to themselves it doesn't get called to official attention.

Marked playing cards, obviously designed for dishonest gamblers, are advertised through the mails. It is pointed out by Mr. Paul Telo in a recent article in the National called "Here's Pure Art the Mail." But Mr. Walter E. Kelly, the assistant solicitor, says there is nothing in the law to bar marked cards and loaded dice, although there has sometimes been agitation for their prohibition. These are sold for magical purposes only, and the solicitor's office doesn't see how the vendors can be prosecuted for operating a fraudulent scheme, because the goods are as advertised.
 Fake medicines come under the head of prosecutable fraudulent schemes, however. The National article decried the business done in strange items.

Several hundred firms are doing mail order business in contraceptives, despite the postal restrictions against dissemination of birth control information and devices, according to Telo. It is pointed out that scientific work on the subject are barred, but that mail order business in harmful or poisonous compounds is thereby stimulated.
 The law seems to be met when the officials who have ruled against night football in Texas high schools—and how it will never be necessary to schedule moonlight grid lifts.

Supply dressed airplane pilots don't necessarily buy their tops two flights up.

Sportsmen may now go to Maine for fishing and to Chicago for shooting.

SYMPTOMS OF EYE TROUBLE IN YOUNG PEOPLE

If, as was explained yesterday, your child may not complain of defective vision, which actually exists, how are you to suspect that it has some sort of visual defect?

First, you may notice the child looking at a distant object clearly. They can also make accommodation for nearby objects for some time. But before long the strain becomes too great, and the accommodation apparatus relaxes. Therefore, a reliable symptom of long sight in a child is that it will read along for a while without any trouble, and then suddenly will begin to make mistakes when questioned. It may complain that the "letters are jiggling around." After a little rest it can read on again perfectly for a while.

Long sight is always a congenital deformity of the eye ball. Short sight is always acquired, and is usually progressive unless treated with glasses.

Asigmatism is another defect the child is born with. The cornea is not evenly rounded and objects will be distorted in one direction or another. Such children looking at a clock will read numerals that are slanted. The figures XII and VI vertical are clear and black, while III and IX horizontal are dim and gray. Or the opposite effect may occur.

Asigmatic children may get into the habit of cocking the head to one side when asked to read a book, or tell the time or do a run on the blackboard.

Squint is easily detected. One eye turns inward or outward. The treatment is very important, because an eye which squints tends to become useless and lose its vision.

In New York
 With Swan

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—This town, being the congested area that it is, has had to scratch around for space in which to install plenty of golf courses.

Almost any good-sized town in America has a greater assortment.
 The chief invention may be noted in the upper reaches of Riverside Drive, where tennis courts have been converted into Tom Thumb.
 The most elaborate and ornate can be found in what was once a parking space just back of the Rocky Theater.

And here you will find the stage-door Johnnies of the Broadway packed, for the proximity to Broadway brings out quite an assortment of choruses and pretty young actresses.
 In these days, when scores are going about the theater job in a rather futile search for jobs, the minutiae of the stage has provided a medium of kismet time between appointments with managers and agents.

Furthermore, the after-theater rush for the baby links has kept many a stage critic and her bus friend away from the late-night dance rendezvous. Choruses, who don't mind having a meal bought for them once in a while, have found it a particularly good "date spot."

With the result that, well after midnight, a very colorful slice of Broadway may be observed by the passer-by.

Which reminds me that a troupe of vaudeville migrants has begun to look for Lubbock. Bobby Burns, findin these corners just their size.

Broadway's most entertaining ballet in many a month is provided by a truck elephant stationed in front of a moving picture theater to advertise a circus film.

The elephant is marched down the street just about the hour that the theater crowds are competing the sidewalks. It is stationed in front of the truck and when a crowd begins to gather, as it invariably does, the elephant reaches out its trunk and plays some sort of trick on passers in the nearby machines.

With the dexterity of a light-fingered Harry it can reach its trunk into the coat pocket of some unsuspecting onlooker and bring forth the contents, or it can scratch the hat from the head of some swanky looking gent seated in a nearby car. It can and does. Which, of course, delights the crowd and attracts a larger one.

Those 10-cent photograph records which now are piled high up on the New York market were, it appears, quite an accidental discovery of a professor of Columbia University who was looking for a process for making newspaper material when he came upon the particular preparation now used in turning them into pictures.

Who will happen to the higher-priced and makes as a result it is of course a matter of considerable speculation in the heart of the amusement industry in the theater belt. However, it is said that the new concern is paying a higher price for the records than most of the record-making concerns and is holding high for important performers.

The fact that they are unbreakable and easily handled naturally resulted in their appearing for sale in news stands, cigar stores and such—a considerable handling whose distribution is concerted.

Which is perhaps the first chapter in how someone else made his first million.

Spending of about 12-cent about must seem to have made its appearance about the same time as the low-priced records. And with dollar bills continuing to come out and radio free for the turning of a knob, it begins to look as if some entertainment this winter might be within reach of the many punes but by the slump.

A Miami judge has ruled that liquor may be manufactured within the home. Probably in the hope it would make some families keep still.

Then there was the shipping room clerk who thought he would be a success in the ring because he was so efficient at boxing.

LAUGH EACH DAY WITH THE JOURNAL COMICS

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Inside the coffee shop a lass came forth and started out to pass a little money tray. Said she, "I'm going to entertain. You'll like it when you hear me sing. At dancing I will take a fling. Then Beauty cried, 'We'll gladly pay. Your piece is not in vain.'" Each Tiny dropped a coin inside the tray and shortly Beauty sighed "My goodness, but she's beautiful. I'll bet she sings real well. Where were we all can hear and see. I'm as excited as an bee. Now, if we like her first song let's all clap our hands and yell."

And then the girl began to sing. The piece was quite a pretty thing. Her voice was good and she went way down low and way up high. "Gee whiz, she hit the highest C, and did it very easily," said Carpy. "Why at one time I was sure she'd reach the sky."

The girl next danced. 'Twas never too. And in what five steps she could do. Soon Beauty shouted, "Say you're tired. You'd better stop a while." The music stopped. So did the girl and no more did she sing or what. You're very kind, she answered, and we Beauty drew a smile.

That night they all slept good and sound. At dawn, of course, they were aroused upon the opening of the eyes. Some there were eight. "Ah, ha," cried Carpy. "There's a plan to take a swim tomorrow on the lake. And in a pretty rock spot ran the happy Tinymites."

They tested bathing suits real quick and all agreed 'twas quite a trick to pick their way out on the rocks and all jump right in. But they all did it. Sure enough! 'Twas well the water wasn't rough. The Travel Man watched from the shore. Their antics made him grin.

(The Tinymites ride in a queer wagon in the next story.)

Diver May Seek To Recover Money

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—Possibility of sending a diver to recover $50,000 in cash lost when the gambling ship Montecarlo sank off Santa Monica Saturday night was being investigated today.

Tommy Jacobs, owner of the vessel, said he was negotiating with a diver who would attempt to recover the money if the depth of the ocean was not too great.

The Montecarlo sank after the outbreak of a fire which sent 350 persons aboard scurrying to water. Two members of the crew were slightly burned. The vessel had been anchored for some time outside the limit of state or federal jurisdiction.

BANKERS GET SUPPORT TO CO-OP

J. MURRAY IS TOLD OF SUPPORT MONDAY AT CROSBRYTON

Assurances that bankers of the South Plains would give their support to the Federal Farm Board's cotton cooperative marketing system was given R. J. Murray, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the district organization committee of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, following Mr. Murray's address before the meeting of the Cap Rock Bankers' association at Crosbyton yesterday in the auditorium of the First Methodist church.

The putting into effect of the Agricultural Marketing Act, which means that Uncle Sam is promoting the business of farming the same as the Federal government has been protecting other industries of the nation, declared Mr. Murray. "The farmer has had no more chance of getting what his product is worth than the flycatcher."

Mr. Murray said, "By advising cotton growers to place their cotton in the seasonal pool of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, it can be marketed systematically and orderly as commodities of other successful industries are marketed. Farmers placing their cotton in the seasonal pool of the Farm Board Marketing system likely will profit from 15c and 20c advance by April 1."
