German Ship Scuttled Off Mexican Coast; Others Blocked

Three More Of Nazi Fleet Are Driven Back

Master Sinks Own Freighter After Meeting Enemy

(By The Associated Press)

TAMPICO, Mexico, Nov. 16.—Captain H. Fromke, of the German cargo ship Idarwald, said tonight that one of four warships which blocked his attempted escape to sea last night and caused the scuttling of another German ship, the Phrygia, "very likely" was one of the destroyers "transferred by the United States to Great Britain."

The Phrygia exploded and sank off the coast here today and the captain reported her crew "opened her and set her aflame" rather than obey an order flashed from the accosting warships demanding her surrender. She was one of four Nazi vessels that made a dash for the open sea.

Identity Not Known

The identity of the warships still had not been fixed here late tonight.

One captain said he saw the lights of a battleship in the distance, directing the destroyers' pursuit of the Germans.

Telling his story of the night which ended in a setback for the Germans, Captain Fromke said the Idarwald sighted "what appeared to be a war vessel" as "we left the Panuco river.

Others Are Sighted

"Shortly afterward three other ships were sighted. Their reflectors were trained on the Idarwald and the ship was ordered to surrender by luminous signals.

"I zig-zagged back into port pursued by a warship.

"It was a destroyer of the obsolete type, very likely one of the 50 destroyers transferred by the United States to Great Britain.

"The destroyer cnased me up to within two miles of the coast, violating Mexican territorial waters."

The captain of another Nazi ship Rhein, E. Ullfers, told a similar story.

First Out Of Port

Apparently the abandoned Phrygia was the first ship out of port in the attempted dash, followed in turn by the Idarwald, the Rhein and the Orinoco. The Orinoco was having engine trouble and lagging closer to port when the Idarwald and Rhein turned and scampered back.

Captain J. Schurt, of the Phrygia told authorities that he gave the order to scuttle ship because its capture seemed imminent.

All day there was elaborate mystery as to just what had happened and nobody in authority was willing to say categorically that it was the action of British or Canadian warships which had balked the attempt of the four freighters to re-enter

Most Orders For War Needs Placed

More Than 71 Per Cent Of Planes, Tanks, Barracks, Supplies Ordered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The army already has placed orders for more than 71 per cent of the planes, tanks, barracks, supplies and other war material for which Congress has provided funds, an official compilation showed today.

In round figures, war department contracts awarded since July 1 for purposes other than the army's ordinary maintenance expenses have passed a total of $4,500,000,000.

The navy's latest total is $4,187,941,695. And for all defense purposes, more than ten of the sixteen billions voted by Congress to reinforce defenses have been obligated.

For the army, virtually all of a contemplated total of nearly 6,000 new tanks are in process of manufacture, or plants and machinery are being created to build them.

Aircraft manufacturers have orders for all of a scheduled 18,641 army combat and training planes. The navy has contracted for some 7,000 aircraft.

Work is under way on 26 powder mills, shell loading plants, aircraft factories and other munitions facilities to cost over $750,000,000.

Orders have been scattered among hundreds of manufacturers for the uniforms, blankets

Airline Routes In Area Are Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Witnesses for nearly a dozen cities in Texas and New Mexico told the Civil Aeronautics board today proposed airline expansion in Texas and extension into Colorado and New Mexico would benefit their communities. The hearing will continue Monday.

Braniff Airways, Inc.; Continental Air Lines, Inc.; Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc.; and Essair, Inc.—seek to show public convenience and necessity demand the proposed new routes.

Some For West Texas

Some of them would connect with Hobbs, N. M., and Pueblo, Colo. Others would span the West Texas area to provide more direct connections to West Coast points and service to Texas Oil fields, Gulf ports and the Mexican border.

Ross L. Malone, jr., president of the Roswell, N. M., Chamber of Commerce, testified there was a community of interests between Roswell and southeast New Mexico and points in South and Central Texas.

Malone said needs of the livestock and wool industries, oil interests, recreational facilities and agricultural movements were factors in his community's desire for better air transportation.

State Officer Testifies

New Mexico's lieutenant governor, James M. Murray, sr., said the state desired better air connections to the Southeast. Roy Storms, Hobbs, N. M., urged the board grant an extension from Hobbs, now a terminal point, into Texas.

Jerry Debenport, manager of the Odessa, Tex., Chamber of Commerce, said his city was an important supply center for operations in the Permian Oil basin. He explained

Cow Survives Crash; Truck Is Destroyed

(By The United Press)

BILLINGS, Mont., Nov. 16—Here's what happened last night when a nonchalant cow strolled across a highway as a heavy truck approached.

The truck, loaded with apples, struck the cow, dropped ten feet through a bridge and caught fire.

Flames from the truck set fire to the bridge and destroyed it.

Apples were scattered all over the place.

Traffic was detoured several miles around the bridge.

The truck driver and his companion were treated for minor injuries.

The cow? She was bruised slightly.

Jaycees Launch Safety Drive

With 156 deathless days in Lubbock as a start on their campaign, members of the safety committee of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce will launch their annual safety drive today and hope to carry it through January 1 and longer if possible without a traffic death in Lubbock.

Watch Your Driving and Walking
DEATHLESS DAYS IN LUBBOCK

The campaign being launched at the start of the most hazardous period of the year when driving is more difficult because of wintry weather and the holiday season.

Special emphasis is being placed on Thanksgiving driving when Lubbock will have its largest crowd of the year for the Lubbock-Amarillo football game Thursday. It is estimated that several thousand out-of-town automobiles will be here for the game.

Advertising Campaign

Signs at 40 intersections in the city showing the number of deathless days, armbands on policemen and telegraph messenger boys and stickers on taxis, buses, trucks and patrol cars will also carry the same message to the public and will warn "Watch Your Driving And Walking," throughout the campaign. The signs and armbands will be changed daily to advance the number of deathless days.

The awarding of a plaque or some similar trophy to the operator of a commercial vehicle in the city with the best traffic record; selection of the safest driver of vehicles picked at random in traffic for each week during the campaign; and the awarding of prizes in essay poster

Nazi's Invasion Ports, Big Gun Posts Bombed

British Points Also Suffer At Hands Of Raiders

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Braving a lashing channel gale, RAF bomber squadrons battered at Nazi long-range gun positions and invasion ports on the French coast tonight.

Watchers on the English cliffs could see vivid flashes light up the sky for miles along the opposite shore and hear heavy explosions above the shriek of the gale.

Last night—just 24 hours after a huge flight of Nazi bombers had hammered Coventry into a heap of smoking ruins—RAF bomber squadrons crossed the North sea to repay the visit in kind, and blasted Hamburg from dusk to dawn, the air ministry said today.

Long, Heavy Raid

The ministry news service described the bombing of Germany's second largest city as one of the longest and heaviest raids of the RAF. Instead of centering the attack on dock areas as previously, the RAF struck inland at railway terminals, an oil refinery and public utilities plants.

A dispatch from Vichy, France, stated that British recently exploded a German munitions train, destroying 500 homes in Graville, a suburb of Le Harve, German held port. A large number of casualties was reported.

As the RAF attacked Hamburg, planes of the fleet air arm and coastal command were said to have ranged from Norway to occupied France, striking at enemy airdromes, the naval base at Kiel, and the ports of Ostend and Calais.

Incendiary Bombs Dropped

Nazi warplanes showered many incendiary and explosive bombs on London last night from twilight until midnight, but in the early hours today heavily overcast skies hampered them and the "raiders passed" siren sounded about 1 a. m. (6 p. m., CST).

Millions had gone underground to wait out what they expected to be a second successive night of fierce attack.

Benefitted by shortening daylight, the Nazis appeared earlier than ever before after a day-time lull.

The city still was clearing away the wreckage from the night before when formations of bombers made a "grand scale" assault.

One of the first sticks of bombs demolished three houses.

A "Molotoff breadbasket"—a bomb container which bursts in the air and sprays small bombs—fell on a hospital.

Another bomb hit a bus and its explosion damaged two others.

Four persons were reported killed.

The attacks Friday night ranged

Showdown In French Africa Near, Observers Believe

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 16. The undercurrents of power politics in Europe, it appeared tonight, are sweeping toward a showdown in French Africa, with tight-lipped General Maxime Weygand in the key position.

Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo d'Italia declared today that the Axis is ready for military action if necessary in French African territory.

It was indicated by the newspaper's commentator, Mario Appelius, that first the Vichy government of Petain and Laval will act. Then, if its steps against the growing pro-British movement by the "Free French forces of General Charles de Gaulle fail Appelius hinted, the Axis powers will step in.

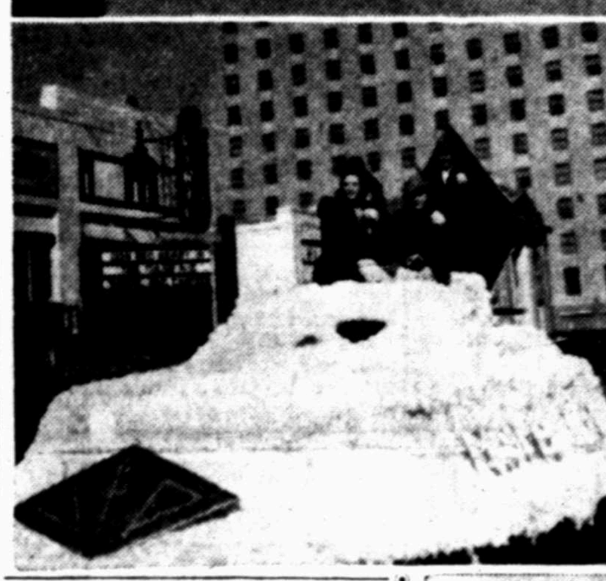

In the opinion of persons who know well the man whom Vichy sent to Africa to hold the empire fast against the De Gaullists—General Maxime Weygand—all will not be smooth for the Axis or its plans.

Weygand, known as the "attack general," is neither pro-British nor pro-German but purely pro-French, they say.

These friends say the general to whom France turned in her last days before defeat, feels that Vice Premier Pierre Laval's policy has played too much into German hands.

After the armistice Weygand's consuming desire was to reach North Africa, these sources say, and he was reported to have remarked that North Africa "may save France." He was made military and political chieftain there.

"Give-A-Brick" Drive Success

The brick campaign went "over the top" Saturday.

The goal of 230,000 bricks, estimated total needed for completion of West Texas museum, was reached, campaign officials announced.

Post residents notified officials by telephone Saturday night of 650 bricks given there. Several other towns, firms and individuals have indicated they plan to send in donations. Campaign officials asked that the donations be made as planned, in order to take up any slack caused by failure of some to turn in contributions which have been included in the total Although most of those who have been listed have actually turned in money or bricks as listed; a few have not yet given their donations to campaign officials.

Much of the credit for success of the "Give a Brick" campaign goes

Bootlegging Plans Denied By Mayor

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 16. (AP)—Mayor Wendell Mayes today challenged an assertion reportedly made before a State Baptist confernece in Houston this week alleging that fruit stands had been opened here by liquor wholesalers to bootleg to national guardsmen soon to be in camp at Brownwood.

The mayor said that no such condition existed. He added that if any evidence supporting the allegation is presented to him, he will see that the guilty persons are prosecuted.

Hundreds Of Texas Tech's Exes Here For Homecoming

By OPAL McMAHON
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

CLIMAXED by two dances Saturday night, Homecoming included a variety of entertainment for numerous returning alumni and former students of Texas Technological college.

Winner in the float contest in the parade through Lubbock Saturday morning was the Agricultural club, wheih had an entry embodying both the Thanksgiving and Homecoming theme. Raymond Lee Johns, president of the Alumni and Ex-Students association, from Lamesa, presented a loving cup to George Wilson from McKinney, president of the club.

Grid Win Feature

The parade was made up of approximately 20 floats and decorated cars and the Tech band. At the head was a car driven by a highway patrolman and occupied by James Snyder, president of the student body, Johns and Dr. James M. Gordon, dean of arts and sciences at the college.

Probably the most gratifying feature of the day for the returning exstudents was the peal of the Victory bells in the east tower of the administration building following Texas Tech's 12-7 victory over Wake Forest in the afternoon football game attended by approximately 10,000 persons.

Luncheon Is Served

A noon, 130 persons gathered for luncheon and a reunion in the agricultural grove. Upon motion by Royal Furgeson, the group adopted a resolution asking that a proper place be provided for registration on Homecoming day next year. The resolution will be sent to college authorities. The organization had scheduled a reception in the men's new dormitory, but because of a recent adopted policy banning entertainments except a few student func-

Fascists Put To Flight As Greek Army Advances

More Prisoners And Guns Taken By Defenders

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 17. (Sunday)—Italian troops fleeing in southern Albania from the advance of the Greeks have set on fire their base town of Koritza, the Greek high command reported today.

The high command's announcement was issued shortly after a government spokesman reported the recapture by the Greeks of the town of Konitza, in the Central Pindus mountain region, to which the Italians penetrated in a sweep toward Metsovon.

The Italians have set fire to other villages in their retreat, the high command said, but did not name the towns.

Battles Are Fought

A series of battles was fought, the high command said, "all over the entire front and Epirus and, particularly, in the mountainous regions east of Koritza" throughout the day.

"Many prisoners were taken by us and guns, Howitzers and material of all descriptions were captured," the communique added.

The recapture of Konitza meant the reoccupation of one of the lost salients still held by the Italians in Greek territory.

It was part of a general offensive declared to be driving the Italians back on the entire front from the Yugoslav frontier to the Ionian sea.

Along the coast, the Greek navy was reported shelling the retreating Fascists behind their lines.

The government spokesman said that in addition to the success at Konitza there were reports, not yet officially confirmed, that 750 Italian prisoners had been taken and four big guns seized.

Enemy Dislodged

The whole lofty 100-mile-long battlefront erupted violently. Every weapon in the Greek armory—bayoneted rifles, machine guns, artillery, bombing planes—was thrown into the struggle in the hope that

U. S. Officials Hunt Scalpers

Uncle Sam has his eyes on those who would scalp tickets to the Lubbock-Amarillo game here next Thursday.

This was disclosed Saturday by agents of the Federal Department of Internal Revenue.

They warned that anyone who sells tickets at advanced prices will be given until the day after the game to pay the federal amusement tax on those sales.

Otherwise, watch out! Prison, a fine, or both may be the penalty for evasion of the tax.

Of course, Uncle Sam must catch the scalpers, if any, before he can punish them. But the scalpers might be surprised if they knew just how strong the probability is that they will be called to account.

People On Alert

For example, people are scattered all over Lubbock and in a good many of the surrounding towns who are on the alert for scalpers. If they get the chance, they intend to buy at scalping prices. Then they are going to tell the federal agents all about it.

Furthermore, agents of the department of internal revenue have invited the cooperation of the general public in coping with any scalp-

Burke's Slim Lead Is Narrowed In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 16. (AP)—Gov. Payne Ratner cut deep into William H. Burke's slim lead in Kansas' photo-finish governorship race today with the count of out-state absentee ballots giving the executive a 373-vote majority in 18 counties.

Burke clung to a margin of 1,365 on the total state tally when the board of canvassers quit late today. It will resume work Monday with 87 counties left.

Ratner garnered 677 and the Democratic nominee 304 of the 981 out-state votes counted today. Ratner won a majority in each of the 18 counties except chase where Burke held an edge of six votes.

Four Fort Worth Men Fined In Mail Fraud

DALLAS, Nov. 16. (AP)—Four Fort Worth men—H. Grady Whitehead, Floyd D. Stapp, James Fletcher and T. W. Rudder—were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to 5 years in prison today on charges of using the mails to defraud H. S. Christian of Tyler of $4,800 in an oil lease transaction.

Defense attorneys argued that mail fraud statutes were not violated because a clearing house sent the check through the mails and gave notice of appeal.

State Relief Funds Sought By Cities

DALLAS, Nov. 16. (AP)—Dallas City Manager James W. Aston today sent to the mayors of all cities in the Texas League of Municipalities a letter urging support of a movement designed to obtain state appropriations for direct relief to 80,000 Texas families.

Based on a recent report by the Texas Social Welfare association the movement urges passage of a constitutional amendment in 1941 authorizing the state to spend funds for direct relief. It also recommends that such funds be appropriated as soon as the amendment is adopted, and that the Legislature vote money for aid to dependent children and needy blind.

Churchill Forecasts British Victory

Hopes For Win Said Reasonable

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Five months ago when France fell before German blitzkrieg and left Britain fighting alone, Prime Minister Churchill solemnly assured his countrymen and the world that there were "good and reasonable hopes" of ultimate British victory.

What he then dubbed "the battle of Britain" enters its sixth month next Monday, November 18. At that point and despite a grievous toll of destruction and civilian casualties in Nazi bombed England, the prime British hope has been realized. England remains uninvaded and the will of her people to fight is unbroken. She is striking back at her German-Italian foes with telling blows from the air and her domination of the seas at home and abroad is firmer, not weaker, than it was five months ago.

Churchill boiled down the war issue for Britain on June 18 to one "great question."

Partly Answered

"Can we break Hitler's air weapon?"

Five months later it has been answered in part in Britain's favor. Nazi air power has failed to shatter British morale or crack Britain's sea blockade of her foes. The Royal air force at home has lived up to Churchill's prediction that it would save England "from the deadliest of all attacks," invasion. Its far ranging bombers have hammered at German targets and dealt a smashing blow to Italy in the eastern war theater.

Britain's stand has done more than that. It has compelled complete revision of Hitler-Mussolini war plans to shape them to a long war pattern and the odds in a long war are with Britain. She has sea access to vast material resources around the world to aid her.

After five months of single-handed battle for survival, Britain, despite her mounting non-combatant casualties in the world's first great battle of the air, has more reason for cheers than for tears.

Wildest Rodeo In World Is Staged At Texas Prison; Events Are Thrilling

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Staff Writer

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 16—An idea for entertaining men sentenced to live within prison walls has blossomed into the southwest's premier sports attraction — the roughest, toughest, wildest rodeo in the world.

Down on the sandy floor of the state prison stadium here, convicts risk their lives for cigarette money and a thrill, performing in events so dangerous they have been barred from ordinary rodeos.

Ten years ago, penitentiary officials turned a few head of stock loose into the baseball diamond and permitted some of the inmates to try their hand at bronc riding, bull riding and roping.

Show Has Grown

Four Sunday shows were staged, drawing only 2,500 paid admissions.

Since that time the show—first of its kind—has grown to staggering proportions.

More than 100,000 persons saw the rodeo this fall. The stadium seats 23,000 persons, but on each of the four Sundays thousands overflowed the big square structure.

The prison system furnishes all equipment. It owns the rodeo stock, and boots, saddles, spurs, chaps and other accessories are made within the walls.

Proceeds—admission charges are 50 and 25 cents—are used to finance the convicts' educational, amusement and vocational programs.

O. J. S. Ellingson, superintendent of the prison system, considers the show one of the best means of preserving high morale among the inmates.

Every Unit Represented

"Every unit and farm in the system is represented in some way," he said. "Some inmates are actual performers, others are in the band, and so on. Convicts must have clear records to see the rodeo, and they hate to miss such a show."

Despite what might appear to be an excellent chance to escape, rarely does a convict try to slip out in the enormous crowd. Only one has been able to do so. Robert Lacy Cash, Dallas killer, walked out with the soda pop vendors one day, but was captured later.

Guards with high-powered rifles and sub-machine guns are posted in little wired rooms in strategic corners of the stadium, high above the crowd.

Other guards are at entrances, and outside are bloodhounds and highspeed ponies.

"Most of us are so derned busy watching the show we don't even think about trying to get out," said Lawrence Evans, editor of the Prison Echo, the institution's newspaper.

The 3,000-odd convicts who attend come from the main prison here and the various farms over South Texas. Those from the farms are hauled in by truck. All are placed in one big, wired section in the stands.

About 500 participate in the rodeo—150 as contestants. Most of the others are vendors of soft drinks, cushions, sandwiches, programs and souvenir books; ticket sellers and takers; ushers, stock boys, chute boys and roustabouts.

The convict in charge of the soft drink concession cautions the vendors:

"If you get any phoney nickels in change, just pass 'em along in the crowd."

Music Also Provided

Convicts also provide musical entertainment during the show. Directly above "political row" — the section reserved for politicians, state officials and friends of the prison heads—is the 50-piece band, which toots away inside its guarded cage.

The seven "Goree Girls"—women from the Goree state farm—provide string-instrument music and singing.

The "Cotton Pickers Glee Club," composed of 22 negroes, and the eight-member "Rhythmic Stringsters," a group of white men prisoners, also appear during intermissions.

Each rodeo contestant receives $3 for entering and has a shot at prizes which average $15 for first place, $10 for second and $7.50 for third.

Since prisoners are permitted to draw but $3 a week, the money they win is placed in their account.

Awards Not Much

The awards, considering the fact the men place their lives in jeopardy, aren't much, but the convicts don't seem to mind.

Some, with long sentences hanging over them, assume a "what the hell" attitude; others, reared on ranches, get a kick out of contact with old times, and others want that cigarette money.

"Fifteen dollars will buy many a sack of rollin' tobacco," said Fred Moore, lanky 20-year-old Lamesa youth serving five years for burglary and forgery.

Despite the precarious competition, only one convict has been killed. Six years ago, a man's foot caught in the stirrup of a wild horse, and the beast's hoofs crushed his head.

The show begins with the "mad scramble", an event barred from regulation rodeos. It is so dangerous that insurance companies will not insure the lives of the contestants.

Ten wild brahma bulls, with ten convicts glued to their backs, spring from chutes simultaneously.

The resultant confusion is not difficult to picture. As a rider is thrown, he faces the possibility of being gored by one of the stampeding animals.

Another Reckless Affair

Another reckless affair is the wild horse race. A three-man team is assigned to each horse. At a signal, ten wild horses are loosed.

It is the job of two team members to hold one of the horses while the third saddles it and then rides to the far end of the arena.

Sometimes the untamed mustangs trample the prisoners. In an effort to still the wild animals, the convicts grab the horse's ears and bite them.

Other events are wild mare milking, bronc and bull riding, calf and goat roping, and other regulation features.

Six Act As Clowns

Six convicts act as clowns, daring infuriated bulls to charge them and dodging artfully when they do.

One of the most interesting phases of the rodeo is its magnetic attraction for lawbreakers outside as well as in.

Frank Ellis, a 25-year-old Pecos man, has been a contestant in rodeos on both sides of the Atlantic. Convicted of manslaughter a few weeks ago, he asked to be taken to prison ahead of the scheduled time, so he could compete as a bronc rider and wild cow milker.

W. W. Barbee of Houston, charged with robbery and forgery, sent word to the district attorney he wanted to plead guilty so he could get to the penitentiary before the rodeo ended.

"I'm going to make it possible for you to see several of these rodeos," said Judge Langston G. King. "Seven years."

Lubbock Chapter Of Knife And Fork Club Is Formed

Temporary organization of a Lubbock chapter of the Knife and Fork club, international, has been perfected with 53 members already signed, according to announcement Saturday.

Dr. M. C. Overton was announced as the temporary chairman and Chas. H. Read the temporary secretary-treasurer of the club, which is the sixth of its kind to be formed in Texas and the 97th in the nation.

Purposes Are Explained

Purposes of the organization, as explained by E. M. Avery of New York City, executive director of the clubs who is in Lubbock to assist in the organization, are to bring distinguished individuals to Lubbock from time to time to lecture, to keep the public at large informed on modern business and public problems by means of such lectures, to promote social contacts among business and professional leaders of the entire territory, and to provide a means of recreation, fellowship and entertainment for members.

Probably the first program of the local club will be arranged for the latter part of this month or early in December, with six others to follow before the end of the club's fiscal year Oct. 1, Avery said.

Likely Speakers Listed

Among the speakers listed as the most likely prospects to appear on the program, Avery announced, are Drew Pearson, famous columnist and commentator; Ruth Bryan Owen, who as American minister to Denmark several years ago was the first woman to head a diplomatic post of the United States; Don Blanding, known as the "vagabond poet;" No-Yong Park, Chinese authority on far eastern problems; Major Gen. Paul B. Malone, retired; and Major W. H. Drane Lester, formerly with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Membership in the club necessarily must be limited, Avery explained, but the roll is intended to include leaders in Lubbock and surrounding towns. Wives will be privileged to accompany their husbands who are members to various dinner programs. However, members will not be permitted to invite guests unless they are from out-of-town. The minimum membership for the Lubbock club, he added, is 150.

Avery's headquarters while here are at 1402 Main street, telephone No. 170, he announced. He plans to remain here until after the first program.

Other Clubs In Texas

Other clubs in Texas, he added, are in Amarillo, Houston, El Paso, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls.

Names of those who had signed the roster of membership were announced Saturday as follows:

H. L. Allen, Sam C. Arnett, Dr. S. C. Arnett, jr., Dr. M. H. Benson, D. K. Bondurant, Durwood H. Bradley, Giles Connell of Post, Archie Copeland, Chas. C. Crenshaw, Thos. B. Duggan, jr., Dr. O. W. English, R. D. Erwin, Roy Furr, Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Chas. A. Guy, Vernon Herndon, Rayford B. Hills, R. F. Hinchey, Amos H. Howard, Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, Dr. W. B. Irvin, Dr. J. B. Jackson, Dr. Clifford B. Jones, D. L. Jones, Hub Jones, J. O. Jones, R. E. Karper.

E. L. Klett, Dr. J. T. Krueger, G. P. Kuykendall, A. H. Leidigh, Edd McLaughlin of Ralls, W. G. McMillan, R. V. Oberholtzer of Seagraves, Dr. M. C. Overton, E. J. Parsons, Tom Pendergraft, E. L. ## Pyron Off For Army Training

HOUSTON, Nov. 16. (U.P.)—Brig. Gen. Walter B. Pyron, commander of the 56th Texas cavalry and Gulf Oil corporation vice president, took leave of his business associates today before departing for San Antonio for a year's active military service.

Gen. Pyron told several hundred Gulf employes that the United States is a "nation gone soft" and that its youth needs a year's military training to "harden up" physically and to learn the use of modernized arms, guns and tanks.

Will Be Prepared

"We will not be caught unprepared this time," Gen. Pyron said. "There will be no repetition of the 1917 experience. We don't know how near war is; nobody does. And so why pretend that we are prepared when we know definitely that we are not?

"The war in Europe today is different from the last great conflict. We shot then to wound a man. In this war, it is different. It is annihilation. It's kill, kill, kill. Not pretty, this nass murder, but we must face the facts."

Gen. Pyron said his brigade would go first to Fort Bliss and later to the Mexican border where it will undergo intensive training.

Gulf Oil corporation has given a year's leave of absence to all national guardsmen and draftees, will pay each man's insurance and keep his job for his return.

Two Coats And Hat Found At C Of C

If the coat to one of your suits is missing, maybe it is at the chamber of commerce.

Two coats, one blue and the other gray, have been hanging on a tree there since the good will trips to publicize the Panhandle-South Plains fair nearly two months ago. With them is an excellent hat.

Chamber officials asked owners of the garments to call for them.

Willkie Considered For University Job

BURLINGTON, Vt., Nov. 16 (U.P.)—U. S. Sen. Warren R. Austin, jr., Vt., said today that Wendell L. Willkie, defeated Republican presidential nominee, was "one of several being considered" for the presidency of the University of Vermont.

Austin is a trustee of the university and one of a committee of three named to choose the successor of the late President Guy B. Bailey.

C. B. Bland Is Remanded To Prison

Habeas Corpus Hearing Held

Judge E. L. Pitts Saturday remanded C. B. Bland to penitentiary officials to serve a two-year conviction of swindling over $50.

Bland, represented by his attorney, T. R. Odell of Haskell, sought to obtain his liberty under a writ of habeas corpus, which Judge Pitts declined.

Bland, known as the "most persistent prisoner in Texas," had sought to prove that a certified copy of an indictment served on him after his Lubbock conviction was defective, in that it failed to contain an allegation of property he took after presenting a bad check to Hester's Office and Supply Co.

Many On Stand

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, Victory H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, Royal Furgeson, district clerk, Elmo Payne, assistant district clerk, and even Mel T. James, lawyer who represented Bland at the swindling trial here, testified for the state, saying they knew the allegation had been in the certified copy. Burks introduced an "office copy," a carbon copy of the certified copy, and the allegation was in it.

Bland sought to introduce testimony showing that Judge Pitts' order that his two-year conviction sentence should run cumulative with a five-year sentence for robbery from Floyd county was in error, but the testimony was not allowed. It was held that he had waived the right to protest inasmuch as he had not introduced that element into his appeal to higher court. Also, it was held, the matter was not pertinent to a habeas corpus proceeding.

Must Serve Terms

Bland had subpoenaed O. J. S. Ellington, general manager of the prison system of Texas, and H. W. Miller, manager of the Retrieve state farm at Angleton, but did not use them as witnesses. The state, however, did use them.

Thus, Bland is put in the position of having not only to serve the two years given him here, but he must serve out the remainder of the five-year sentence given in Floyd county. He had been paroled from that sentence, but during his parole violated it by being indicted in Lubbock county, and the parole was revoked.

Bland had appealed to eight district judges for his habeas corpus hearing before the court of criminal appeals requested that Judge Pitts hold it.

Detours Announced For South Plains

Four detours in the West Texas area were announced by George M. Garrett, district engineer for the State highway department, to be effective for the week beginning Tuesday.

Detours will be on state highway 86, 4 to 7 miles east of Tulia; highway 214, from Enochs to Bailey-Cochran county line; highway 62 and 380, 8 to 14 miles west of Plains; and highway 86, from Silverton 4 miles west.

All of the temporary routes were described as unpaved and dusty.

Relative Of Lubbock Persons Sails Friday

Dr. A. J. Mangelsdorf of Hawaii, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ellis of 1620 Avenue L, sailed Friday midnight from New York City, for the island of Barbados, where he is to gather information and material on sugar cane production on the island, according to word received here Saturday.

A research official for the Hawaiian Sugar Planters corporation, he has been in the United States since the summer making a study of sugar cane production. Dr. and Mrs. Mangelsdorf visited Mr. and Mrs. Ellis here about two months ago. They have a son in Kansas State Agricultural college at Manhattan, Kas.

From the islands, Dr. Mangelsdorf plans to visit plantations in Puerto Rico, and perhaps other points, before returning to the United States. He plans to return to Lubbock and will sail for Hawaii shortly after the first of the year. He has been with the company for the past 14 years and has an international reputation as a chemist and research authority.

Religious Pictures To Be Shown Here

"Life of Paul," a life-size motion picture with sound, will be presented at Lubbock churches Monday and Tuesday nights, Rev. J. A. Williams of Dallas said Saturday.

Central Baptist church, 1311 Eighteenth street, will present the film at 7:30 o'clock Monday night. College Avenue Baptist church 2420 Tenth street, will be the scene of the second presentation at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

The film was produced in England. It portrays main events in the life of the Apostle Paul. It is being brought to Lubbock by Rev. Williams and Rev. Woodie W. Smith of Fort Worth. No admission charge will be made, but free-will offerings will be taken, it was said.

Spudding Of Terry Wildcats And Extension Of Slaughter Pool Are Area's Highlights

BY JOHN B. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

Two Terry county wildcats were spudded and the south extension of the Slaughter pool into Terry county and the original Slaughter field in Hockley county registered a completed producer each this week to highlight developments in the north end of the West Texas Permian Basin.

Sloan and Zook No. 1 W. E. Bailey, Terry county wildcat four miles northwest of Wellman, spudded, cemented 10 3-4-inch casing at 232 feet, drilled plugs and was drilling ahead. It is 665 feet out of the northeast corner of section 103-4X-C&M. Denver Producing & Refining Co. No. 1 Ima Lewis, wildcat seven miles northwest of Seagraves, had spudded 197 feet in redrock. It is 330 feet out of the southwest corner of section 6Z-DD- John H. Gibson.

Drilling Past 4,905

Gulf No. 4 Mallett, Terry county wildcat in the southeast quarter of section 5-X-psl, 2 1-2 miles west of the nearest producer in the south extension to the Slaughter field, had drilled past 4,905 feet.

Atlantic Refining and C. S. Dean, Cochran county wildcat three miles west of the Duggan pool, in league 89, Lipscomb county school land, broke a stem on cable tools after drilling plugs from 7-inch casing at 4,975 feet and cleaning out to the bottom, 5,030 feet, and was fishing.

Showed No Oil

Cascade Petroleum Co. No. 1 J. M. Walker, Hockley county wildcat in tract 22, league 22, McCulloch county school land survey, nine miles east of the Slaughter pool, showed no oil in lime cored between 4,990 and 5,085 feet. It cored ahead.

Western States Gasoline Corp. No. 5 W. G. Frazier, Terry county well in the south extension of the Slaughter pool, flowed 154.56 barrels of 32 gravity oil on a six-hour gauge to rate 618.24 barrels daily for completion at 5,029 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 300-1. Pay topped at 4,999 feet was treated with 3,500 gallons of acid. The well is 440 feet out of the southwest corner of section 9-x-psl.

Testing Continues

Devonian Oil Co. No. 3 L. F. Hudgens in the Slaughter pool in Hockley county was finaled at 5,022 feet with a daily potential of 2,431 barrels of 34.1 gravity oil and gas-oil ratio of 917-1. It topped the pay at 4,963 feet and was treated with 11,000 gallons of acid. Location is 1,710 from the south, 440 feet from the east line of the lease in section 8-x-psl.

Forest No. 1 A. C. Whisenant, Yoakum county wildcat 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 553-D-John H. Gibson, recovered approximately three bailers of salt water hourly, with no oil, in the bailing four hours after gun perforating a 5 1-2-inch liner from 5,410-40 feet with 120 shots. Testing continued.

Drilling Campaign Launched

To the south, a drilling campaign was launched around Taubert, McKee and Siemoneit No. 1 Virginia W. Crockett, opener of Pecos county's second Ordovician pool, which last week-end was completed at 5,357 feet with a natural daily potential of 1,956.96 barrels of 43 gravity, pipe line oil and gas-oil ratio of 787-1. The rating was based on a 11-hour, 23-minutes flow through a half-inch choke on 2-inch tubing.

Opening of a lime producing area one-half mile east of the Shearer sand pool in Pecos county was promised by Davis & White No. 1-A Ed Fromme, bottomed at 1,875 feet. Phillips Petroleum Co. staked locations for two wildcats in northern Ector county on the M Bar ranch southwest and south of its discovery gasser on the same ranch in southern Andrews county.

Increase Is Noted

Forest Development Corp. acidized its No. 1 W. L. Bradley and others, Ector county wildcat seven miles southeast of the Harper pool, with 1,000 gallons, the first stage of a 10,000-gallon treatment from 4,230 to 4,362 feet, to which point the hole had been plugged back from 4,380 for a water shutoff. Natural production was five barrels a day. Location is 467 feet out of the southeast corner of section 18-43-3s-T&P.

Gulf No. 147 O'Brien, Winkler county semi-wildcat between the Halley and O'Brien pools, had an increase in oil from 2,732-40 feet and headed 35 to 40 barrels of oil daily. It drilled ahead at 2,779 feet in lime with 1,000 feet of oil in the hole. The test is in the southeast corner of section 11-F G&MMB&A.

New Test Near Taubert

Magnolia Petroleum Co. moved in rotary for the first new test near Taubert and others' northern Pecos County Ordovician strike. It will be No. 1 Markey heirs, 2,400 from the north, 1,200 feet from the west line of section 4 1-2, block 3, H&TC Ry. Co. survey, one-half mile north and slightly west of the pool opener.

Magnolia will move another rig into the area shortly and Phillips Petroleum Co. was taking bids on a contract to drill a south offset to Taubert and others' No. 1 Crockett, according to unconfirmed reports. The opener of the latest Ordovician pool, only the fifth in the West Texas Permian Basin, is 660 from the south, 1,980 feet from the west line of section 4 1-2, block 3, H&TC Ry. Co. survey, 10 miles north and slightly west of the Apco pool, Pecos county's first Ordovician producing area.

The source of water in Humble No. 1 W. T. Shearer, indicated quarter-mile northwest extension to the Apco field, had not been determined, testing continuing, with the total depth 4,731 feet. The outpost is in the south quarter of section 99-10-HGN.

Ector County Busy

Davis & White No. 1-A Ed Fromme in Pecos county, half mile east of the Shearer pool, filled 1,200 feet with oil in five hours while drilling lime pay from 1,065-75 feet. It was preparing to pump. Location is 150 from the northwest, 1,470 feet from the southwest line of section 110-10-H&GN.

In northern Ector county, Phillips staked No. 1-123 M Bar Ranch 1-980 feet from the south and west lines of section 7-44-2n-T&P, nearly two miles southwest of No. 1 M Bar, the discovery gasser on the ranch, in Andrews county. A rotary was being rigged up for the other Phillips test, No. 1-122 M Bar, 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 6-44-1n-T&P, almost three miles south and slightly west of No. 1 M Bar. Phillips is drilling two tests on the ranch in Andrews county, where one recently was abandoned dry.

Approximately 15 Cars Of Turkeys Shipped From South Plains Area To Eastern Marts

Approximately 15 cars of dressed turkeys went from the South Plains to eastern markets for the Thanksgiving holidays this week, according to reports.

Floydada sent three carloads, most of the growers reported as having received 12 cents a pound for young toms and 14 cents for young hens. One grower there received over $300 for his crop.

Plainview reported nearly six cars. Prices were up to 15 cents a pound for young hens and 12 cents for young toms. The markets opened at 12 and 10 cents, it was reported.

From this area six cars were reported shipped.

Quality was reported better than the 1939 crop, many baby beef types being sold as well as a number of cross breeds that were heavier than the old type.

It is reported in some quarters the Christmas market may be larger, due to lack of cold weather and the earlier Thanksgiving. Cars were shipped so as to arrive in Eastern markets by Monday. Best turkeys were not offered until the latter part of the Thanksgiving market.

Draft Boards Will Receive Credit For Men Already In Military Service

Numbers Not To Be Known Soon

AUSTIN, Nov. 16. (AP)—The number of men in U. S. military service before the draft registration and for whom local selective service boards will receive credit may not be available by counties until some time next year, state headquarters officials said today.

The officials explained the war department was preparing to take a county by individual questionnaires of all men in the armed forces in order to determine the exact number from each county and in what draft board area they resided prior to volunteerings.

In determining Texas' quota of 33,000 men up to June, 1941, the war department estimated the number of previous enlistments, the officials continued, basing their figures on records by states.

General Quota Assigned

By population, Texas has been assigned a general quota of 105,000 but from this figure were substracted 11,600 national guardsmen and 61,000 men in the U. S. army, navy and marines.

Texas' first call of 1,573 was based entirely upon the proportional number of registrants i neach local board area since the credits for volunteers was not available by counties.

When the war department's individual count of men in the armed forces is completed, expected possibly in the spring, the list will be forwarded by state headquarters to local boards which then will set up a "debit and credit" system.

More Calls Seen

In the system, local boards will not only credit their areas with men enlisted prior to registration but all their registrants up to that time, including current registrant-volunteers.

The November call of 1,573 registrants will be followed by one in December, three in January and one in February.

The calls will not take into consideration the number of men already enrolled by counties and board areas unless the break-down in such figures becomes available.

FDR's Message May Urge Labor Peace

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP) — President Roosevelt is expected to send a message to the American Federation of Labor convention here early next week urging peace between AFL and the rival Congress of Industrial Organiations.

Leaders assembled here in advance of the general meeting, starting Monday, expected the message from the White House to lend new impetus to the drive for conciliation between the two labor groups.

When AFL President William Green makes his annual address Monday he is expected to throw wide the door to any CIO unions which may revolt against the CIO leadership of President John L. Lewis. Green conferred with President Roosevelt a few days ago.

Although leaders would not be quoted directly, many confidently expected several important CIO groups to break away and seek affiliation with the AFL.

Mysterious Explosion Is Heard In El Paso

EL PASO, Nov. 16. (AP)—A heavy explosion awakened many El Paso residents early today and mystified Ft. Bliss, city, county, and Department of Justice investigating officials.

Most El Pasoans who heard the blast agreed it came about 3:20 a. m. It appeared to have been in the El Paso vicinity east of Mt. Franklin. El Paso firms which normally have dynamite in storage had no reports of any explosion.

WILLKIE TO REST

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP) — Wendell L. Willkie, defeated Republican presidential candidate, and Mrs. Willkie will leave tomorrow for a two-week vacation at Hobe Sound, Fla. He has spent the 11 days since the election in New York, mostly conferring with party leaders.

British Boy Living At Wolfforth Hopes For Reunion With Family In The Spring

BY MARY MARGARET TUNNELL

Do you realize what it means to be in America, safe in your home, and free from worry of constant air raids?

Ask Billy Vessey, 16-year-old high school senior student at Wolfforth. He knows.

Billy, who lived in Ireland and London 11 years of his life, moved to West Texas two years ago to be with his grandmother, Mrs. W. F. Furgeson. However, his mother, father, and two small brothers are still in the English war zone. Stewart Ray, 11, and Kenneth, 2, have been evacuated from the bombed London district to safe places in the country.

Mrs. Vessey and her two smaller children were aboard the last boat sailing for America October 3, when it was stopped by British officials and was not allowed to continue the voyage.

Hope To Be Reunited

Hopes are high in the Vessey family now that they may be reunited by early spring. The British government is sending the 1200 remaining U. S. citizens in London on a clipper to Lisbon, Portugal. From there an American steamer will pick them up and conduct them home through waters that are not infested with mines and submarines.

Mrs. R. Hamilton, one of Billy's English friends in the British warden service of the Royal Air Force wrote him September 10 telling him about the air raids and the Anderson bomb shelters.

She wrote:

"We haven't slept indoors for weeks now. We have fitted our Anderson shelter with four bunks and made it comparatively comfortable.

"Just in case you may not know what I mean by an Anderson shelter, I'll try and explain. The idea comes from Sir John Anderson; hence, its name. It is made in sections of corrugated iron as an official issue by the government, and the size depends on the number in the family. The one built for us is six feet by four feet six inches.

"It is located in the garden, covered with dirt and sand bags, fitted with a door and a porch, and also has a blast wall of sand bags in front of the entrance. The inside we did over with a coat of primrose washable distemper, and cemented the floor. By putting a wooden floor on top of this, we've almost made it like home. We camouflaged it nicely too, for flowers and shrubs grow on top."

Tell Of Air Raids

In writing of the air raids Mrs. Hamilton said in her neighborhood sirens buzz day and night and that bombing and raids generally last from dark until dawn.

"Fortunately," she said, "the bombing here has not been too bad. We hear them coming, whistling through the air most every night.

"Your old school had a pretty bad bombing one Saturday some weeks ago," continued Mrs. Hamilton. "They dropped 53 bombs in this area, but fortunately few people were injured.

"I know your are thrilled over thoughts of your mother and brothers' coming over to you in the spring."

It requires a month for a letter to reach Wolfforth from London, and even a longer period of time is required when mail is sent from here to England.

Uncle Sam Makes His Annual Plea--Please Do Your Christmas Mailing Early; It'll Assure Prompt Delivery With No Delays

BY MARGUERITE WATKINS

With only 30 shopping days remaining before Christmas, the public is becoming conscious of the advisability of shopping early. Equally as important is early mailing.

Patrons are being reminded this week of the practicality of early mailing and proper wrapping and addressing, by pamphlets placed in postoffice boxes by the postoffice department.

Many Delivered Late

Each year many packages are delivered the day after Christmas because they were not mailed in time to make the schedules crowded by the holiday rush. Many more are lost or arrive in unsatisfactory condition because of insufficient address or improper wrapping. All parcels must be securely wrapped in strong paper and tied with heavy twine. Tissue paper and cellophane bows may add much to the festive appearance of a Yule package but they may mean a headache to postal employes.

Most difficult for mail handlers are packages containing canes, umbrellas or golf clubs which have not been securely tied together and are allowed to protrude from too thin wrapping. Equally as provoking are glassware and fragile toys that rattle in tell-tale manner, indicating the worst has happened. Such disappointments in Christmas packages may be avoided by liberal use of excelsior and corrugated pasteboard. It is also to be remembered that all fragile parcels should be plainly marked as such, as should packages containing perishables.

Given Special Handling

Additional service offered by the postoffice department for the transportation of such articles as flowers and glassware is that of "special handling", or fourth-class matter. When plainly marked and bearing the necessary additional postage, packages are given the most expeditious handling.

Countless packages do not reach their destination because they are improperly or insufficiently addressed. The sender should never hesitate to include any title or route box number in the address. If a tag is used, the address also should be written on the wrapper for use if the tag is lost. Unforgivable sin of the American Christmas mailer is his neglect to place a return address on packages. Because of this carelessness the dead letter office at Washington has received almost everything from a live parrot to a pair of hand-knit socks. Postal authorities also urge that colored inks not be used or that greeting cards not be sent in very small or dark-colored envelopes.

Would Save Time

Much time would be saved if greeting cards were sent by first-class mail. Sealed envelopes are much more easily handled, and written notes may be included with the card if three cent postage is paid. Senders wishing to wait until the week before Christmas to mail cards may save time by buying postage stamps in advance.

Each year much time is lost by persons attempting to mail parcels in boxes served by city carriers. Only letters may be picked up on city routes. And parcels weighing more than eight ounces may not be mailed in street letter or package boxes. Those weighing more than that must be taken to either the main postoffice or to a classified station or branch. It is to be remembered that no package weighing more than 70 pounds or measuring more than 100 inches in length may be sent by parcel post.

More emphasis is being placed now than ever before upon the use of air mail service for speed in mailing. Domestic air mail rate is six cents for one ounce, and 96 cents a pound. Combined air mail and special delivery stamp is particularly desirable for use on mail which will arrive at its destination on holidays or Sundays. Air mail may now be registered, insured or sent C.O.D.

Merchandise may still be sent to foreign countries except to British Morocco, Manchuria and certain Japanese postoffices in the leased territory of Kwantung. It should be understood however, that certain limitations and conditions regulate the sending of merchandise to European countries now.

But in the United States the postoffice department is offering the public greater service than ever before, and Postmaster General Frank C. Walker is urging patrons to mail their Christmas packages properly and early. By so doing they will aid postal employes in handling the mails during the rush of the last few days before Christmas and will enable the employes to spend the holiday with their families.

Lord Stanmore And His Sister Injured

LONDON, Nov. 16. (U.P.)—Lord Stanmore, chief Liberal whip in the House of Lords, and his sister, the Hon. Nevill Gordon, were injured in a bomb explosion last night.

The bomb demolished the house in which they were staying. Five persons were killed when houses in the same neighborhood were hit.

Gillespie Continues Against Roosevelt

FREDERICKSBURG, Nov. 16. (AP)—Fredericksburg folk stand by their convictions.

Their county, Gillespie, was one of only a few Texas counties giving Wendell Willkie a majority in the recent general election. Gillespie voters opposed Roosevelt about 8 to 1.

Today, the Fredericksburg Credit bureau announced that while Nov. 21 is the state's official Thanksgiving date, Fredericksburg merchants voted 99 to 1 to observe the traditional date, Nov. 28.

Theatrical Producer Is Taken By Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (U.P.)—Martin Beck, a leading theatrical producer, died today at Mount Siani hospital where he had been since Nov. 7.

Beck was in his 70's, but no one knew his exact age because he always refused to give it. Who's Who in American Jewry said he was 71.

He was the dean of Variety showmen and producer of many hits which played in the theater he built and named for himself. For 27 years he was president of the Orpheum circuit and made vaudeville famous in 48 theaters across the nation.

News Briefs

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and the six service clubs of Lubbock will sell tickets for the farewell dance to National Guardsmen and draft volunteers who are leaving shortly to enter federal military training during the next two weeks. The dance is to be given at both the Lubbock and Hilton hotels on the night of Nov. 30 and tickets will admit couples to either dance. They are selling at $1 each. W. G. Love of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is chairman of a committee arranging for the dance.

Six oil paintings and one crayon drawing by Miss Henrietta Ludeman, Plainview artist, will be on display this week in the window of Sansom Paint & Paper company, 1219 Avenue K. Included are four still life paintings, one scenic oil painting, a portrait in oil and a crayon portrait.

J. W. Lawson, who lives near town and Franz Hettler, who lives east of Lubbock, are on an annual deer hunt in Mason county.

Mrs. Date Keeter and daughter of Protection, Kas., is here for a visit with her sisters, Mrs. M. C. Casstevens of 2007 Avenue M and Mrs. J. W. Lawson of near Lubbock. She also is visiting her father. E. S. Harrington of Idalou. The Kansans will be here through Thursday.

Coleman L. Hasie, former Lubbock engineer and who was a government inspector in the building of the first Texas Technological college dormitories for PWA, has been called into service with the U. S. engineers. He holds a commission as captain and has been ordered to San Antonio. After completing the dormitories, Capt. Hasie opened an engineering office here, but recently has been Gaines county engineer at Seminole.

Lee H. McElroy, new assistant county farm agent, began his work Saturday succeeding Monroe U. May. His first work was to assist in a gilt judging contest for 4-H club and vocational agriculture boys sponsored by Sears, Roebuck, & Co.

Hockley county farmers have to worry over what to do with their huge feed crop, said D. W. Sherrill, county farm agent, Saturday. The county has more than 950 trench silos, but their capacity will not handle more than 10 or 15 per cent of the feed crop he said.

Coventry, Now A "Blitz" Town, Is Only A Pile Of Ruins After Nazi Raids

Graphic Picture Given By Scribe

By DAN CAMPBELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

COVENTRY, England, Nov. 16 — Walls lean crazily, chimneys stand like charred tree stumps after a forest fire and debris lies 50 feet high in the streets where two days ago a thriving industrial city with traditions dating back almost 900 years stood.

The bottoms of my feet are cut and my clothes reek with acrid fumes from walking along what was the main thoroughfare of Coventry before German bombers singled out this city of 180,000 for an aerial blitzkrieg Thursday night.

Now It's A Blitz Town

Now it is a "blitz" town. Air raid protection wardens and firemen are about the only persons one meets. Groping along this "main street," which is damaged beyond recognition, I found one A. R. P. warden lolling in an upholstered chair in front of what had been one of the city's smartest shops. He said he was guarding against looters. I asked him how many bombs had fallen.

"Thousands," he replied, wearily.

I saw block after block of ruins that tended to confirm the warden's estimate.

Glass was ankle deep on the main street. There were hugh bomb craters in every block and undoubtedly many persons still were buried under the mounds of debris. Walls hang out over the sidewalks, threatening to collapse at any moment.

I approached St. Michael's cathedral, a 14th century architectural masterpiece, looked through gaps in the wall and through window spaces that had contained fine, stained glass, and saw the sky. Only a skeleton of the cathedral remains.

Farther along the street, beds are visible through the half-collapsed wall of one of the leading hotels. Nearby was a pile of steel girders, twisted like pretzels.

Must Be Rebuilt

Most persons to whom I talked admitted that Coventry would have to be pulled down and rebuilt.

The determination to rebuild is evident. Already, occasional signs have been hung out reading: "Business as usual; nuts to Hitler." Many shopkeepers are grubbing the ruins of their stores for undamaged stock.

Near a hospital, where there had been 1,000 patients and now was one occupant, a black cat, a nurse invited me to have a cup of tea. The hospital's collection box lay untouched.

Nazi Flying Reporter Adds His Description

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (U.P.)—One of the propaganda ministry's flying reporters who participated in the raid on Coventry gave this description:

"Under us was a gleaming red blaze of hundreds of fires. It looked as if the earth had broken open and spewed fiery masses of lava over the land.

"Surrounded by gigantic columns of flames, stood collapsed iron girders of great factory buildings . . . Every minute it broke out again. New heavy bombs fell on targets to complete their destruction.

"Punctual to the very minute, we dropped ours, too, then made off. Far away on the return flight there stood behind us like a beacon of ill omen, a half-mile high fiery cloud of shining red into a sky of brightness of the moon-drenched night."

Split For CIO Said Averted

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 16 (AP)—The threat of a factional split up in the national CIO convention next week over partisan politics, labor unity and internal policies began to fade today after CIO Leaders John L. Lewis and Sidney Hillman met in a surprise conference apparently to discuss their estrangement.

The meeting that followed a boardwalk greeting was the first in many months and sent reports spreading through convention groups that the two leaders who took opposite sides of the fence in the Roosevelt-Willkie presidential contest had reached the point of burying the hatchet to head off a factional breach on the convention floor.

Had Expected Showdown

CIO unionists, who had been expecting a showdown between the Lewis and Hillman partisans, interpreted the conference as a sign that there would be no split in CIO.

Hillman was one of CIO's leading third term supporters of President Roosevelt, and long has been an advocate of new endeavors to heal the breach with the AFL and to curb the reported influence of Communist party members in high CIO positions.

Lewis, on the other hand came out in the closing stages of the presidential campaign with a plea to labor to back Republican Wendell L. Willkie, coupling it with an attack on President Roosevelt's administration.

He has also been cool toward peace conferences with the AFL.

The CIO convention opening Monday, expects to see Lewis step down from the CIO leadership, turning the post over to Philip Murray, Pittsburgh labor leader, who also is acceptable to the anti-Lewis group lined up with Hillman.

RAIDS ARE MADE

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Royal Air Force squadrons last night made large scale raids on military objectives at Kiel and Hamburg, other dockyards in Germany, and the ports of Ostend and Calais, the air ministry announced. Many explosions and fires, it said, were caused in docks and railway areas.

BOY MEETS DOG—Young Larry Windsor, 14, of Republic, Wash., was a happy lad, and Trixie was a happy dog when they were reunited in New York after Larry flew 2500 miles from Spokane to retrieve his lost pet. The reunion is pictured above, with Stewardess Cleo Masterson smilingly watching. Trixie got locked in a freight car loaded with lumber, made an involuntary, two-week trans-continental trip without food or water. Larry wrote to all consignees whose lumber had been on the Republic siding. Trixie was found in a shipment for A. C. Crombie, who arranged for the boy to fly to New York.

Stowaway Pup And Young Master Leave By Air For Home; Trixie Travels In Style

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (U.P.)—Trixie, a stowaway pup, and her 14-year-old master, Larry Windsor, of Republic, Washington, left for home today by airplane.

Wearing a smart new dog collar, Trixie, who on Oct. 8 chased a chipmunk into a loaded lumber train and was locked in the freight car for a 14-day trip east without food or water, traveled in style as first class baggage. Both of them, according to Larry, were "glad to be going back home."

Glad To Get Home

"I liked New York," Larry said, boarding the plane with Trixie in his arms. "But we'll be glad to get home, won't we Trixie?"

Larry's round trip ticket to collect his dog was a gift of A. C. Crombie, president of the Crombie Lumber Co., who became interested in the boy's story after receiving several letters from him begging him to see if Trixie had arrived with his lumber.

Scout Pickup A Big Success

Lubbock residents responded in their typically generous manner Saturday when Boy Scouts of the city staged their annual Christmas toy pickup for the Goodfellows.

A count of the collection had not been made, but the pile of toys was bigger than in any of the previous pickups, which have been an annual event for the past six years.

Quality Is Higher

Furthermore, the average quality of the toys seems to be higher and they seem to be in better condition than ever before. Probably the best guess is that something like 2,000 attractive gifts will emerge from the heap.

However, that is fortunate because the Goodfellows are facing the biggest job in the eight years history of the organization in Lubbock. More needy children will be on the list of those who must rely on the Goodfellows for whatever Christmas joy they are to have than ever before.

The collection, according to John E. Toles, the pickup chairman, includes just about everything that can be imagined in the way of a toy. However, he said, the number of large toys is somewhat below average. It also appears, he added, that some gifts may have been held back because of the belief that they were in too bad a state of repair.

Little Paint Helps

"A toy has to be in pretty bad shape not to be possible of repair," he reminded. "A little paint and a few spare parts often will do wonders."

Toles also asked that any person who may have forgotten to leave toys where they could be found by the Boy Scouts to call scout headquarters telephone 463, this week. Someone will be sent for them—and they will ne needed to do the job that must be done Christmas morning.

The pickup Saturday morning went off exactly according to plans, the chairman reported. Nearly 200 Boy Scouts participated, and at most places they found packages awaiting. Those who assisted in providing transportation for the toys were Lubbock Transfer company, Magnolia Petroleum company, The Borden company and Hester's Office Supply company.

District chairmen in the pickup were Boone Horne, Vance Apple, Frank Kennedy and Lloyd Croslin, in the white section and Oscar Iles in the negro district.

Scouts participating were guests of Bill Dean at a showing of the motion picture, "Touching All Bases," in the American Legion hall after the pickup.

Man Is Ordered To Stop Introducing Wife As Sister

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP) — By order of the court, Irving Kiehn, 32, a prize-fighter, must cease introducing his wife as his sister.

The wife, Harriet, 25, complained to Judge Rudolph Desort that she was tired of being represented as a sister.

Kiehn explained the sister angle by saying that he goes to social functions where it is a handicap to be known as a married man.

Britain Seeking All Kinds Of Weapons

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Britain wants "weapons — all kinds of weapons," said Arthur B. Purvis, director-general of the British purchasing commission in this country, as he departed on the Dixie clipper today for bomb-battered London.

Purvis was en route to the British capital via Lisbon to report to his government on the millions of dollars of purchases made here since Nov. 7, 1939.

He said deliveries by American industry had been "very good."

Hearing To Be Opened Monday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (U.P.)—Chairman Martin Dies of the House committee investigating un-American activities returns to the capital today to open hearings Monday into activities of German and Italian diplomatic officials in the United States.

He announced in Chicago that members of the German and Italian diplomatic corps have been invited to attend.

Subversive activities in this country, he said, are better organized and financed than they were in any of the countries which fell before the dictator nations in Europe. He asserted that his committee already has uncovered evidence of such activity in foreign-language newspapers, industries and tourist agencies.

Described As Dangerous

Dies described the material as "dangerous and sensational," but has promised to "move cautiously to avoid strains on international relations."

Dies has announced that he will ask continuance of the committee beyond its Jan. 3 expiration date. He plans to ask the next Congress for $5,000,000 to carry on its investigation for another year.

The committee this year has spent $235,000—more than was ever spent by any other House committee—according to Chairman John J. Cochran of the accounts committee.

Steel Plant Strike Is Ended By Vote

MIDLAND, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP) — Crucible Steel company mills here again rolled out armament steel for the United States and British governments today after employes voted by a slim margin to end a week-long strike that had production at a standstill.

The local steel workers organizing committee union announced last night that approximately 4,300 strikers voted 52 per cent in favor of resuming work pending conferences with the company on several grievances, including a demand for a wage increase of 12 1-2 cents an hour in one department.

Crude Production About Unchanged

HOUSTON, Nov. 16 (U.P.) — Crude oil production in the United States practically was unchanged this week at 3,572,825 barrels daily, off 11,850, the oil weekly reported today.

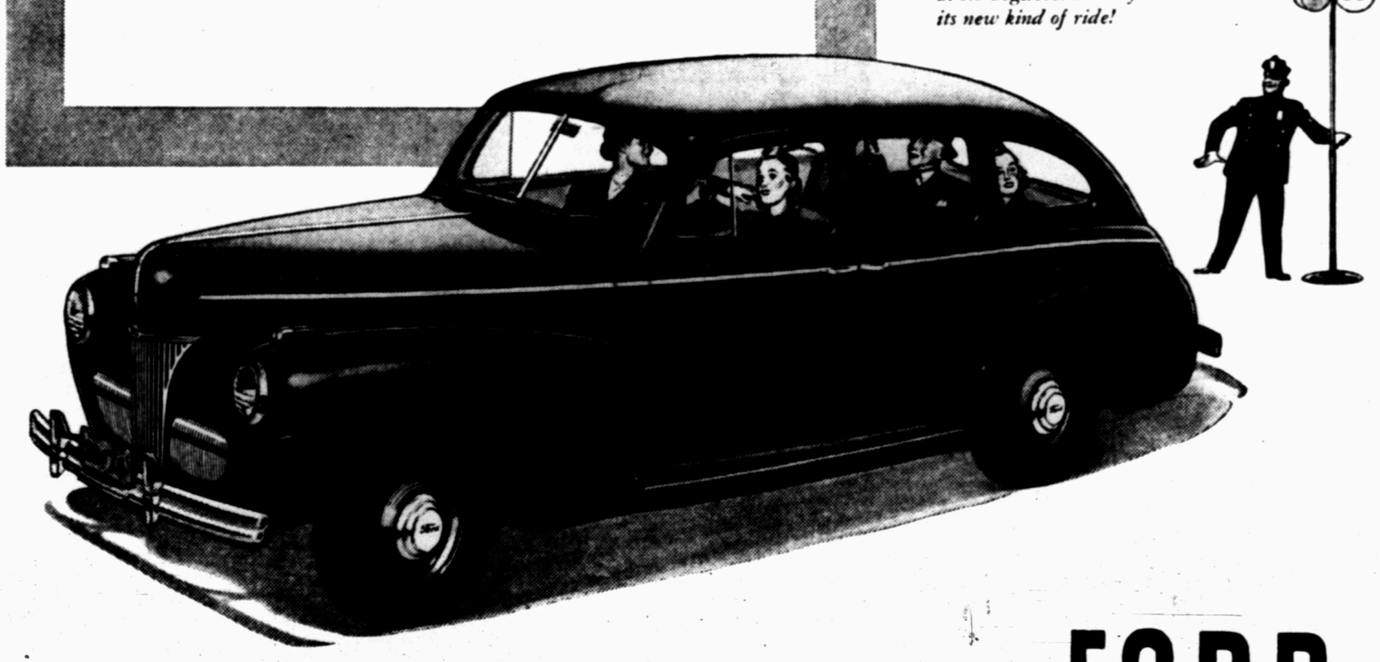

A 49,550-barrel drop in daily production in Texas largely was offset by a 23,250-barrel increase in Kansas and smaller hikes in California, Oklahoma and Louisiana, the magazine said.

Domestic production was only 2,825 barrels daily above the estimate of November market demand as set by the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Daily production trend for the week ending today: Texas, 1,295,800, off 49,550; California, 621,400, up 5,800; Oklahoma, 396,525, up 3,700; Illinois, 343,100, up 800; Louisiana, 282,300, up 4,700; Kansas, 192,200, up 23,250; New Mexico, 101,500, up 400; eastern states, 89,400, off 2,900; mountain states, 95,400, up 1,200; Michigan, 47,600, up 300; Arkansas, 69,500, up 400; Indiana, 19,800, off 400; Mississippi, 16,100, up 1,450, and Nebraska, 2,200, unchanged.

A government permit will be necessary to take eggs into Switzerland.

TOO BAD some of the Big League "experts" weren't observing the proceedings at Tech stadium yesterday.

They would have seen some Big League football playing that would have incited some classical verbiage and possibly burned up a few typewriters, because they wouldn't have known so much about Texas Tech's Red Raiders and they would have been surprised to see them go to town against a big, fast and smart ball club like the Wake Forest Deacons.

The Raiders met their test of the year yesterday, and they passed with the proverbial flying colors. They defeated a snazzy Wake Forest team, 12 to 7, in a breath-taking game that had a crowd of nearly ten thousand breaking out in a sweat as it bobbed up and down off the stadium benches.

Considering that Wake Forest has defeated North Carolina, that North Carolina yesterday defeated Duke university, that Duke has beaten a number of good teams—and that Texas Tech smeared Wake Forest, well, it should be bruited about that Coach Pete Cawthon and Line Coach Dutchy Smith have a pretty good country ball club out here in the wide-open South Plains of Texas.

It is time now to remark that a phenom end, a substitute junior wingman from Grapevine, Texas, 177-pound Clarence Tillery—shades of Matt Hitchcock Red Ramsey, Moon Martin, and all the great ends who ever played for the Red Raiders!—was a guy who did himself proud against the widely advertised Deacons of North Carolina, and was the defensive star of the game.

It is time also to remark that another junior, a substitute junior fullback from Houston, 169-pound Tom Douglass, was the offensive star of the game.

They were great; thy were All-Americans yesterday, Tillery and Douglass. Tillery blocked and tackled, threw the opposing stars for losses, almost blocked a punt—he was everywhere at once, following the ball and wherever the ball was down, there you would spot No. 41, also down, but not until he had inflicted serious damage.

41-Yard Sprint Pays Off

Douglass was the rip-snorting, hip-twisting fullback who went into the game when the North Carolina beauties finally got Jumbo Webster's number. Webster was the starting fullback, pinch-hitting for the injured Charles Dvoracek. Webster showed a lot of stuff, a lot of good football, and came in for a lot of deserved credit when Coach Cawthon discussed the game last night.

But Douglass did the business. His best news-making run was a 41-yard sprint for the touchdown that put Tech back in the ball game after Wake Forest had scored a touchdown early in the contest.

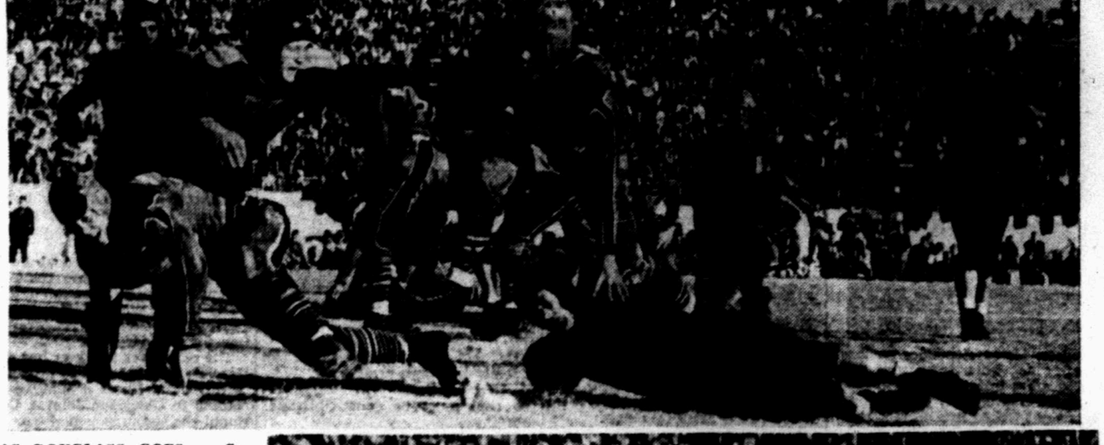

Douglass had a lot of good blocking, and credit goes to every man in the backfield, every man in the line. But when he had passed the last blocker, Douglass kept going. He shook off tacklers, slipped by tacklers, and twisted and squirmed and power-housed his way for long yardage.

Read Roster For Stars

Almost like Douglass, but lacking the weight, and going the hard way, was little Roger Smith, also a reserve, who put on one of the best hip-twisting exhibitions ever seen on Tech Field. Smith put a lot of fire into the game when he went in at a halfback position, and it was a modern marvel the way he slithered through for long gains.

Not enough in the way of praise can be said for Tillery, Douglass, Webster, Smith and the others, in

AS DOUGLASS GOES — So went the Red Raiders, and Douglass went the touchdown path, as shown in the top picture. Douglas is No. 40, nearest the camera, except for the lad at his feet, Paul Waivers, Wake Forest end who was stiff-armed into submission by the ball carrier. Ty Bain, backfield captain, No. 39, is shown as he blocked out two men at a time. No. 33 is John Pendergast, the "roving center" for Wake Forest who spilled many a potential ground gainer, and Pat Preston, the lively tackle, No. 41. Right is Glenn Lowe, sophomore back, getting loose for a 13-yard gain on the second touchdown drive. He managed to get by the would-be tacklers shown in the picture, after Bain had again tumbled No. 33 (Pendergast) and Frank Kapriva, No. 40, finally caught Lowe by the heels.

Wilson, Baylor Beat Tulsa, 20-6

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Sports Writer

WACO, Nov. 16.—Fleet Jack Wilson, on the injury shelf for six weeks, bobbed up in Baylor university's lineup today and sparked his team to a 20 to 6 victory over Tulsa University's Golden Hurricane before a crowd of 4,000.

It was not Wilson alone who hung up the points but his return to the field was credited with putting the punch into potentially strong teammates who had tasted three consecutive defeats.

Baylor In Command

Wilson drew first blood when he knifed through the Hurricane line for six yards. Taking their key from Wilson, Milton Crain and Bill Coleman, substitute backs, followed suit.

The Hurricane twisted back in the last half but its aerial bombardment paid off only once when the blue chips were down. Glenn Dobbs, stellar back, flipping one from the Baylor 33 to Malcolm Strow who was waiting in the end zone. The big squad from Oklahoma never threatened seriously after that.

Baylor was in command for most of the game with a net gain of 18 of the game with a net gain of 184 yards rushing against the visitors' 83.

But the Hurricane nabbed 160 yards from the air route against

Idalou Cagers Capture Two Tilts From Spade

Idalou cagers copped a double decision from Spade Friday night, the Idalou "b" team defeating the Spade squad, 19 to 17 and the Idalou girls winning, 17 to 13.

Ray Downey paced the scoring in the boys game with 11 points; Smith was high for the losers with six. Ruth Boyd topped the point-making in the girls game with seven, along with Johnson of Spade, who also made seven.

COMMERCE, Nov. 16. (AP) — The North Texas State Teachers from Denton scored a touchdown in the last 25 seconds of play here today to defeat East Texas State 10 to 7 and gain the Lone Star Conference championship.

Nebraska Field Goal Beats Pitt

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16.—The Pitt jinx which the Nebraska Cornhuskers buried a year ago nearly heaved its way through the cold sod of the stadium here today, but couldn't quite make it and the Huskers left the snow-framed gridiron with a 9 to 7 decision, their sixth since they were defeated by Minnesota in the season's opener.

Twenty-two thousand fans forgot the cold in the last half-minute as John Stahl, Panther end, dropped back to the Nebraska 13-yard line after a great Pitt drive had wilted on the five, and tried a placekick which would have given the Panthers a 10-9 victory. He missed.

Huskers Strike Early

Pitt played the highly favored Nebraskans to a standstill through most of the game.

The Huskers went to the front on the first play of the second period when Harry Hopp rammed over from the one to climax a 65-yard march. Francis' placekick was low.

The Panthers struck in the same period. A long pass by Jack Stetler caromed off Roy Petsch's finger tips into the hands of Jack Goodridge on the Nebraska eight. On the second play Bob Thurbon sliced off his left tackle for six yards and a touchdown. Mike Sekela's placekick was good.

Placekick Pays Off

The alarmed Huskers came back in the third quarter. They got to

Kimbrough And Co. Jar Rice, 25-0

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 16.—Methodically, almost casually, the Texas Aggies poured ruthless power and a fabulous passing game into Rice Institute today for a 25-0 triumph that took them to the very brink of a second successive unbeaten season.

Never, in their classic string of 19 victories, had the Cadets struck with such viciousness as today—tumbling through once-beaten Rice for 406 yards by ground and air.

Once again it was John Kimbrough, the massive All-America fullback, in the bellwether role. The grinning 222-pounder prosecuted, and closed, his All-America case for 1940 by shredding Rice's stout line for 108 yards on 18 carries for an average of six-yard gain.

He butted, he dived, he jolted and simply overpowered the second ranking line of the Southwest conference.

But Kimbrough shared the glory with a gangling sophomore end, Bill (Jitterbug) Henderson, who threw the 30,000 crowd into a panic with eight consecutive catches for a total of 117 yards.

Rice Threatens In Fourth

Only once was Rice in this ball game. Deep in the fourth period, second and third stringers dotting the Aggie line, Rice put on a drive featuring Bob Brumley, a maginificent back, that surged to the Aggie 14. But there it stopped. Prior to that the Aggie 42 was their best effort.

Line smashing by Brumley and Ted Weems gave Rice a stout start, but the Cadet line held everything until the start of the second period—and a murderous attack.

Gamble Pans Out

Kimbrough blew off the fuse with 17 yards on two smacks that carried to his 43. Then he made good on a gamble that led to three quick touchdowns in the next 12 minutes.

On the Aggie 45, fourth down and a yard to go, he simply dived for three yards and the first down. Marland Jeffrey bulleted a 34-yard pass to Henderson on the Rice 20. Kimbrough chipped in five and then Jeffrey pitched to Jim Sterling for a touchdown. Marion Pugh kicked the point.

Derace Moser entered the game and brought a touchdown. He fielded Weem's quick kick for a 14-yard return to the Aggie 44. Pugh found the wild-legged Henderson down on the Rice 39 and then threw to Moser, deep in the flat, who made a beautiful run to the Rice five. On the next play Moser fell in behind Jim Thomason's blocking and swept left end for the score. Pugh missed his point.

Three Threats Repulsed

Wild Bill Canatser's 20-yard punt return to the Aggie 45 started the third counter.

Butting with his head, using his

Oklahoma Halts Missouri, 7-0

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 16.—Oklahoma's Sooners erased the defending champion Missouri Tigers from the Big Six title picture with a 7 to 0 shutout today, covering Paul Christman all the way and uncovering a new star of their own in sophomore Huel Hamm.

With Jack Jacobs nursing an injury that kept him on the bench except momentarily, Hamm played all but two minutes and sparked the Sooners through their touchdown drive—a 72-yard third quarter march that ended with Fullback Johnny Martin crashing over from one yard out.

Martin's Punting Superb

After Oklahoma tallied, the blond bomber opened up with everything at his command, finding his receivers easily around midfield. But every time the Tigers sniffed their goal, the Sooners blanketed Christman's mates so well he didn't have a chance.

Martin's superb kicking kept the Tigers so far back in their own territory that Christman was working under a handicap most of the time.

Sooners Clinch Second

The Sooners started their goalward march the first time they got the ball after the second half kickoff. Missouri punted, after taking the kickoff and finding the Sooner line too tough, and Hamm returned 14 to his 28. Then he rambled 16 on the next play and alternated with Martin on power plays, tossing only one pass, a 15-yard flip to Lyle Smith. At the Tiger 15, little Orv Mathews sped around end for 11. Hamm bucked through for three and Martin finished the task, pushing his point total for the season to 48 in the conference scoring lead. Jack Haberlein kicked the point.

The victory clinched second place for the Sooners and left them with a mathematical chance to tie for the title if Nebraska should lose either of its two remaining games or win the crown if Nebraska should lose them both. It was the last conference game for Oklahoma which finished with four league wins in five attempts.

Cowboys Swat Catholic

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Using a brilliant air attack, Hardin-Simmons college of Texas kept its untied and undefeated ranking today by defeating a game Catholic university football team 27 to 19.

The Texans took an early lead, scoring their first touchdown near the end of the first quarter when Moon Mullins, Hardin-Simmons workhorse, crashed over goal from the one-yard line after a 45-yard pass from Owen Goodnight to Parker put the visitors in scoring position. Murray Evans' placement added the extra point.

The Texans scored two more touchdowns in the second quarter, one on a pass from Russell to Burrus for 50 yards and other on a forward from Russell to Parker from the Catholic 18-yard line. Evans place-kicked for the extra point after Parker's score. The Cardinals threw a scare into the Texans in the third quarter when they scored 19 points, all on ground plays.

The visitors put the game on ice in the final period when Goodnight, standing on his own 12, heaved a pass to Russell, who raced unmolested 88 yards to score. Moore converted.

Buffs Win, 25-0, From Oklahoma City

CANYON, Nov. 16. (AP)—The West Texas State Teachers Buffaloes roundly outplayed a scrappy Oklahoma City university eleven here today before a large Boy Scout day audience, winning 25 to 0.

The Buffaloes scored once in the first period, twice in the second and once in the third.

Oklahoma Ags Blast St. Louis

(By The Associated Press)

STILLWATER, Nov. 16.—The Oklahoma Aggies withstood a shattering last-minute aerial attack by the St. Louis Billikens today to win, 14 to 7, and move ahead of Tulsa to lead the Missouri Valley conference.

The hard-fought victory — the Cowboys' fourth straight—gave the Stillwater team a half-game margin over Tulsa, which meanwhile lost to Baylor, 20 to 6, in a non-conference game.

Reynolds Powers Drive

With the Cowboys leading, 14 to 7, Dick Weber and his St. Louis mates were hitting the air lanes in the final minutes. The biggest surge came when Weber let loose a high heave from midfield to the right-hand corner, where Dick Pfuhl grabbed it, tumbled down on the three, but held on to the ball. A linebuck and a pass failed and the Aggies took the ball for two plays before the final gun.

Jimmie Reynolds, Aggie backfield star, powered his mates' first touchdown drive in the first and shattered the Billikens again in the third with another march for the winning touchdown.

Jack Faubion hit the line three times at right tackle before plunging over for the first counter. Reynolds kicked the point.

The Aggies' second tally came when Reynolds banged the line four times after an 85-yard march. Tate Ott converted.

The count was knotted in the second after the Billikens recovered on the 35 their own punt, fumbled by Reynolds. Bob Osterholt and Weber passed into Aggie territory and a lateral from Osterholt to Weber brought the touchdown. Weber's placement was good.

Coffeyville Wins 8th Consecutive Contest

Coffeyville, Kas., Junior college won its eighth game of an undefeated season Friday night, smashing Iola Junior college, 65 to 0.

Coffeyville is coached by Demp Cannon, former Tech star quarterback. Several former Lubbock Westerners play on the team. The Coffeyville eleven has been scored on only twice this season.

Crack Mexico City Polo Team To Play Two Games In City This Week; Invading Squad Has World-Wide Reputation

A touring polo team from Mexico City, rated as one of the best in the world, invades the South Plains for a series of six games this week.

The Mexico team will play twice in Lubbock, three times in Lamesa and once in Roswell, N. M.

The invading team rates a 10-goal handicap, the highest handicap given in polo. Recently the Mexicans journeyed to the Argentine for a series of games, which they won.

The trip is sponsored by the Mexican government as a part of the current program to spread good will and understanding among the Americas.

First game of the week will be at Lamesa Tuesday when the Mexicans engage the Lamesa Lone Stars. On Wednesday the Plainview club will battle them on the Lubbock field. Thursday they return to Lamesa to play the Lamesa Blacks. Friday they are back in Lubbock to play the Lubbock squad. Saturday they go to Roswell where they play New Mexico Military institute.

Windup for the week will be at Lamesa next Sunday, with the Lone Stars again providing the opposition.

Personnel of the teams is as follows: Lubbock—No. 1, Chas. Smith and Claude B. Hurlbut, alternating; No. 2, Bobby Wylie; No. 3, Guy Smith; No. 4, Murphy May and J. W. Bentley, alternating.

Plainview—No. 1, Bob Crenshaw; No. 2, Jiggs Wheeler; No. 3, Marvin Shubert; No. 4, Lloyd Phillips.

Lamesa Blacks—No. 1, Bob Koger; No. 2, Lynn Parkinson; No. 3, Bryan Fulkerson; No. 4, Elmo Smith.

Lamesa Lone Stars—No. 1, A. C. Woodward; No. 2, Lee Barron; No. 3, Walter Lawrence; No. 4 to be named.

The Mexico City team:

No. 1, Pat Honey, 3-goal handicap.

No. 2, Eddye Gallardo, 4-goal handicap.

No. 3, Joaquina Redo, 1-goal handicap.

No. 4, Chris Zorrilla, 2-goal handicap.

Ponies Run Wild For 28-0 Triumph

West Texas-New Mexico League Meeting Today

Picture of the 1941 West Texas-New Mexico professional baseball league will be compounded at the regular winter meeting of the circuit and its officers today at Hilton Hotel here, and results, some of which may bring surprises, presented soon afterward.

The meeting, scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock this morning with League President Milton Price presiding, will be closed to the public but open to persons especially interested in "the good of baseball." This is detected to include all persons financially or otherwise interested in the teams of the West Texas-New Mexico league of the past, or of the future.

Maybe Some Changes

Word has leaked out that some changes may be made in the league membership, but President Price has announced that the league will operate in 1941 as an eight club circuit, that "if any 1940 members choose to drop out or withdraw membership, we have enough prospective members on the waiting list to assure a fully equipped eight-club league for next season."

First delegates to report on arrival here yesterday were Neal Rabe, business manager of the Amarillo Gold Sox last season; Sammy Hale, field and playing manager of the Midland Cowboys, and Harry Hoare, sports editor of the Pampa Daily News and official scorer for the Pampa Oilers.

It is known that the Albuquerque, N. M., club, of the Arizona-Texas or "Cactus" League, has voiced a desire to withdraw from that league and apply for membership in the West Texas-New Mexico league, which last year embraced Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Lamesa, Lubbock, Amarillo, Borger and Pampa, in Texas, and Clovis in New Mexico. Odessa finished the season in the league after taking over the Big Spring franchise.

Wichita Falls Open

It is also known that Wichita Falls is a probable location for a league franchise, provided there is a withdrawal, and it is considered that San Angelo would become a member if the need arises.

Of the eight clubs in the league last year, these have signified definite intentions of remaining intact: Borger, the 1940 pennant winner; Pampa, the 1940 "through season" leader; the Amarillo Gold Sox, the Lubbock Hubbers and the Lamesa Lobos. Definite word has not been heard from Midland, Odessa or Clovis.

Officials from each club are expected to attend the meeting today, which probably will have an afternoon session.

A delegate, or delegates, probably will be appointed to attend the annual winter meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues.

DALLAS, Nov. 16.—Tough Southern Methodist, alert as a deer in the hunting season, punched out a 28-to-0 victory over a groggy University of Arkansas team closing out one of its saddest seasons of Southwest conference football.

Southern Methodist scored in the first, second and twice in the third.

Not until the dying minutes did the Porkers come to life, when desperate passing netted the second of their four first downs. One of those was handed to them by a penalty.

Fumbles Prove Costly

The Mustangs rushed through and swept around the ends for 165 yards aground and gained 130 yards passing. Their recovery of four Porker fumbles and the subsequent runbacks tacked another 141 yards on that total.

From the first kickoff, which was fumbled, the Mustangs took charge. After another fumble apiece, Clinton McClain took an Arkansas punt and swept back to the enemy 35. Then Ray Mallouf flipped a pass to Bobby Brown who went to the 21. McClain powered to the 12 and Mallouf passed right into Kelly Simpson's arm on the goal line. Preston Johnston came in and kicked the point.

Circus For Mustangs

The second Pony score came after Johnston intercepted a pass and tore out to the eight yard stripe. Mallouf swept left end to score and Pasqua's kick was good.

In the third Johnston crossed the goal line once more for SMU. The score was setup by a series of powerful rushing plays executed by Johnny Clement, Bobby Brown and Johnston, and carried from the 24 to the six. After Johnston skipped over (not a man was near him) he turned around and kicked the point.

By now the Mustangs were making a circus of it and scored in the same third period. The Razorbacks bogged down on another chance to show their stuff. After two more fumbles, evenly divided, Clayton Wynne of Arkansas blocked Johnston's punt on the Pony 13.

Score On Freak

Then on an incredible play Hamberg's pass was knocked into the air by E. L. Keeton and Gus Tunnell, a big SMU end, tore out for the goal line 71 yards away. He got there in a breeze. Joe Pasqua kicked over another and final point.

Whatever defense the Razorbacks put up was contributed mainly by big Jim Lawhon, fullback.

Their defeat today was Arkansas's fifth in conference play against one victory.

Longhorns Rally To Vanquish TCU

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16. — Pete Layden arose to full stature as gridiron hero here today to send the University of Texas to a riotous 21-14 victory over Texas Christian university and push the Horned Frogs out of the Southwest conference race.

Jack Crain, Texas' flying cowboy, and Kyle Gillespie, TCU's toy bulldog, hobbled in and out of the game on injured knees to share the glory but it was Layden's deadly passing, terrific running and mighty punting that broke the heart of the Horned Frogs.

Win In Fourth

A Homecoming day crowd of 15,000 turned out for the game.

Layden chunked a pass to little Johnny Gill in the early minutes of the fourth period that gained 38 yards and the touchdown that won the game.

Layden hung up the first score on a 15-yard dash around left end in the second quarter. Crain had intercepted Gillespie's pass and ran it back to the Texas 42 to start the Longhorn parade.

Crain added the point.

Mighty Gophers Win 7th, 33-6

By TED PETERSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 16.—Minnesota's football powerhouse won the Western conference championship here today by unleashing a high voltage attack that shocked Purdue's Boilermakers into defeat, 33 to 6.

It was Minnesota's seventh straight victory of the season, including five conference contests, and left it in position to bring a brilliant undefeated season to a close in the final game with Wisconsin at Madison next week. Michigan helped the Gophers to the title by eliminating Northwestern, 20 to 13 at Ann Arbor.

Gophers Strike Quickly

Purdue, held to net of 23 yards by rushing, fired 33 passes of which 13 were completed for 126 yards. Meantime Minnesota relied almost entirely on power plays that produced more than 300 yards.

There was little doubt about the outcome from the opening kickoff when Bobby Paffrath took the ball on his own 15 and fumbled. George Franck, Gopher speedster, was there to pick it up on the 20 yard line and he returned 80 yards for a touchdown. Gordon Paschka placekicked the extra point.

Mix Them Up

The second Gopher touchdown came after Franck had returned a punt 31 yards to the Purdue 31. Smith finally cutting through right tackle to score. Joe Nermik placekicked the point.

County Cage Tourney Schedule Arranged

Lubbock county Interscholastic league basketball championship for 1941 will be determined by double round-robin play on a home-and-home basis. Coaches of the seven contending schools met here yesterday to draw up a schedule and complete arrangements for the play-off.

Attending the meeting were Herman English, Roosevelt; Fred Rich Cooper; Elmo Kelley, Idalou; Coach Horsely, New Deal; Jack Miller, Slaton; Bauman Roper, Frenship; T. O. McClung, Shallowater.

Play will be on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week, beginning on Dec. 13. Boys and girls teams will play the same schedule.

District One Classic To Be Unfurled At Tech Stadium Thursday Afternoon

Sandie-Lubbock Rivalry Reaches 1940 Climax

Steeped in tradition, packed with significance.

That is the background for the Amarillo Sandstorm-Lubbock Westerner high school football game to be played in Tech Stadium Thursday afternoon.

Lubbock and Amarillo football teams have been matching strength and wits for more years than the younger fans can remember, more years than the older ones like to recall. It is almost traditional that the winner will take the District One championship—as a matter of fact, only once in 10 years has any other school owned the title.

Both Boast Perfect Record

Each team is undefeated and untied, and it is the first time in many years that both teams have come to their annual Thanksgiving date without a blotch on either record. The victor will be entrenched in the favorite's post for the state title, which the Westerners won last season and the Sandies won for three years in succession a few years back.

Two injuries received in recent games lessen the chances of the Westerners slightly. Marvin McBrayer, a rough, tough tackle who was looking forward to showing the Sandies how his position should be played, broke a leg two weeks ago and Billy Wright, the dependable blocking back, fractured an arm just a week ago. Wright will probably be replaced by lefty Howard Lanford. McBrayer by either J. D. Milner or DeWitt Moore.

Fans Recall 1931 Team

The Westerners will be trying to make it three in a row over the Golden Sandstorm. In 1938, Walter Webster and company beat the Sandies, 29 to 19, and went on to the state finals. A year later the Westerners went to Amarillo and brought back a 9 to 7 decision, then went on to capture the state championship.

If you look past 1938, you have to go all the way back to 1931 to find another Lubbock victory over Amarillo. That was the year Lubbock, Amarillo and Pampa wound up the season in a three-way tie. Lubbock won the playoff by beating both in the short space of three days, then a couple of days later won the bi-district game. Weakened by excessive competition, the Westerners were no match for Abilene in the quarter-finals. But there are plenty of fans who will tell you that that 1931 gang was the best team Lubbock ever had, bar none—and they don't stutter when they say it.

It Won't Be An Upset

But this is 1940, and four days from now Lubbock and Amarillo will be flinging blocks and tackles and other football mannerisms at each other.

A sellout crowd of 17,000 persons is anticipated and indicated by advance ticket sales. If you did not get your ticket several days ago, chances are you will see the game from the end zone or standing room only sections. Largest previous gathering at a West Texas football game was the slightly more than 15,000 who saw the 1938 Amarillo-Lubbock tilt.

Only one thing is certain about this game. It will not be an upset, because neither team can be called the favorite. For every bit of evidence that one team is the better, there is a rebuttal for the other side.

And there is an old Texas proverb that says only a fool or a newcomer will predict the weather or the outcome of the Lubbock-Amarillo football game.

Three plays brought two yards, and on fourth down Francis dropped back to the 10 and made good the placekick which meant the ball game.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A wave of upsets shocked the football world today, knocked Notre Dame off the unbeaten list and missed Cornell's Big Red squad by exactly six seconds.

Still riding high when it was all over were Minnesota, Texas A. and M., Boston College, Stanford and Tennessee, all, like Cornell, unbeaten and untied. A step back were Lafayette, unbeaten and untied in a comparatively easy schedule, and Penn State, Mississippi State and Texas Tech, all unbeaten but tied

Notre Dame, whose claim to greatness had been seriously challenged by Army and Navy on successive weeks, finally came a cropper before Iowa's Hawkeyes who put up a brilliant defense before 50,000 at South Bend, and then cashed in on the one real scoring opportunity it had. This was a fourth quarter fumble by Steve Bagraus which Ken Pettit recovered for Iowa on the Notre Dame 24. The Hawkeyes drove over for a touchdown on four tries with Bill Green accounting for 23 yards and the score.

Georgetown Finally Loses

Boston College, paced by the great triple threat back, Charley O'Rourke and a great line, spotted Georgetown 10 points in the first five minutes and then handed the Hoyas their first defeat in 24 games, 19-18. A crowd of 40,000 turned out at Boston for this duel of two of the biggest teams in intercollegiate football.

Dartmouth had Cornell beaten 3-0 on a fourth-quarter field goal by Bob Kreuger until Walter Scholl passed the Big Red down the field and finally contacted Bill Murphy in the end zone for the winning

IOWA TUMBLES IRISH

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 16. (AP) Mighty Notre Dame fell from the ranks of the nation's undefeated and untied teams today, bowing to the amazing Iowa Hawkeyes, who performed brilliantly when the breaks came their way to score a 7 to 0 victory before 50,000 shivering spectators.

Minnesota Wins

Boilermaker 35 led to the third Gopher touchdown in the second quarter. On the first play Bill Daley, reserve fullback, spilled through for the score.

In the third quarter Nermik placekicked a field goal, his first of two for the day.

Passes Net Lone Tdlly

Purdue's touchdown early in the fourth quarter came after a series of passes carried to the three-yard line. From there Fullback John Petty needed four line plays to carry it over. The try for extra point failed.

Late in the period, with Purdue flooding the air with passes, Bill Baumgartner, end, knocked the ball into the air out of the hands of Frank Fijala, reserve Purdue back. Jim Lushine, tackle, grabbed it on the Purdue 15 and skirted over for the score. Bartelt placekicked the extra point, to send Minnesota into its 33 to 6 lead.

Texas Defeats TCU

from the TCU 4 to the Texas 30 on the kick-off. Then he passed to Phil Roach for 15 yards. Logan Ware picked up seven. Gillespie faked a pass, and rushed to the Texas one foot line. Frank Kring waded over. Roach kicked the point.

Both teams counted again in the fading minutes of the third period. Texas took the ball on its 14, Layden romped around right end for 22. Doss and Layden got six in two line tries, then Crain bounced through the line and, seeing he was to be downed, flipped the ball to Kutner, who ran 50 yards for the touchdown.

Waste No Time

The Frogs didn't waste time tying the count. Taking the kick-off on their 31, they stormed to a touchdown with Gillespie's 31-yard pitch to Jack Odle being the pay-off. Paul Smith kicked the extra point.

Raiders Ready For St. Louis Next Thursday

the short space allowed us here. Be it remarked that all of them had fine help from Red Amonett, Don Austin, Backfield Captain Ty Bain—a blocker, tackler and strategist who was passed far beyond the hopes of Tech fans—Milton Hill, Bill Brown and Glenn Lowe, all of the backfield, and Captain Lonnie McCurry at guard, the crippled Rafe Nabors at center and those fine undergraduate tackles, Newman Ledbetter, a sweating, swaggering, sweetheart whose only fault was over-eagerness and resultant offsides, and steady Jack Shanks, the lantern-jawed tennis player with the bass voice who didn't know what the word "stop" meant.

Jet Is Bad Medicine

It was the Tech machine, well-moulded, well-greased and mad as a nest of hornets, that whipped a favored Wake Forest team yesterday, with Tillery, Douglass and others merely the most prominent cogs.

Wake Forest, a team that has rated high in the national standings all season, had its bunch of individual standouts. In the line, Long John Jett, stellar left end and a mountain of a man, and big Carl Givler, 205-pound left guard, were standouts. Givler had all that a good guard is supposed to have, and he made life miserable for the Red Raiders.

Jett caught passes, snagged Tech ball carriers, blocked for his runners, went down fast under punts, and otherwise conducted himself as a football player de luxe.

In the Deacon backfield, the honors went to Galloping Tony Gallovich, a terrific runner and blocker. Gallovich was supposed to play second fiddle to Jolting John Polanski, but the Raiders were hep to Polanski—for the first half, at least—and while he didn't gain much, he helped block for Gallovich, who galloviched all over the field.

Wake Forest had other stars, in the line and in the backfield. In the line, Center John Pendergast, Ends Bill Vanden Dries and Paul Waivers, Tackles Tony Rubino and Pat Preston, all were outstanding, and big and tough and fast. In the backfield, Red Mayberry was a capable quarterback replacement for the passing, blocking, running J. V. Pruitt, and Captain Jim Ringgold at fullback was a power.

It goes without saying that Wake Forest fielded the best looking, hardest blocking and most potent football team Lubbock fans have seen this season. The coaches and the Tech players echoed those sentiments last night. Wake Forest's team this year compares favorably with the Texas A. & M., TCU., SMU, Baylor, Texas university, Kansas State, Duquesne, Marquette and St. Mary's (Calif.) Tech has met in the past, and it is doubtful if any of these were any better than Wake Forest was yesterday.

Early Tally Scares Raiders

The Deacons threw an early and sudden scare into the Techs and their supporters when they scored within the first three minutes of the game.

Tech had met its match at last, the crowd thought, when the Deacons recovered a punt fumbled by C. L. Storrs on the Raider 25-yard line and in two plays had a touchdown. It was a big "break" for the visitors, and they capitalized on it. The Red Raiders seemed a bit jittery, although mad as all get-out, and over-anxious. Storrs messed around with the punt and big John Jett recovered it. Gallovich galloped 9 yards, cutting and swerving to his left. Then to his right, ran J. V. Pruitt, behind perfect blocking. Not a Tech secondary man was on his feet as Pruitt loped over the goal line standing up with 20 yards to spare. Gallovich kicked the extra point that kept Wake Forest in the lead until the third quarter.

With Webster carrying, the Raiders marched back with the kickoff and two runs to mid-field. Hill made a fine dash of 25 yards, and Webster got away for a long run. Then Storrs punted high and short to Gallovich and he returned it past midfield. On passes from Pruitt and on runs by Gallovich, the Deacons moved down to the Tech 3-yard line, with first down at that point.

Then Dutchy Smith's linemen hung together and the Deacons were held, fumbling on the fourth down try. Rafe Nabors recovered it.

But Tech needed Tom Douglass' 41-yard sprint in the second period to get in the ball game. The teams had played, up to then, mostly in Tech territory.

McKnight's Kick Is Wide

Gallovich punted to Red Amonett on Tech's 12-yard line, and there started an 88-yard drive for touchdown. Amonett brought the punt back 22 yards, and almost got in the clear. Douglass and Don Austin made nearly 20 yards in two plays. Amonett and Austin ran to the Wake Forest 41, and Douglass ran from there to a touchdown, getting past the line with fine blocking by Amonett and Bain, and bullying his way through the secondary for the necessary distance. E. J. McKnight rushed in to try for the extra point, but it was a bit wide, and the North Carolina team still led, 7 to 6, at the end of the first half.

Tech threatened in the last part of the second period, marching 51 yards from its own 41, featuring the body-twisting antics of Roger Smith and the straight-ahead, bull-headed power running of Amonett. Finally, Douglass ran 23 yards for first down on the Wake 28. Smith passed to Bill Brown, then to Amonett to the 19, but Douglass was caught for no gain and the ball went over.

That Tillery Man Again

The Wakes threatened early in the third period, but Smith and Amonett did some business, and Tillery was rushing the passer so that Pruitt didn't know whether to pass the ball or swallow it, and the rally didn't last long.

Tech finally took charge, after a double exchange of punts, on the Deacon 48-yard line, after the Tech forwards, featuring Tillery, Ledbetter, McCurry, etc., had held the invaders, and Smith heaved a flat pass to Douglass on the line of scrimmage. Douglass fought his way for 12 yards, then picked up nine more, then Smith ran twice for a first down, then Douglass ran to the 4-yard line. He hit the line for a yard, then Smith flipped a slow lob over the goal line to Bing Bingham for the winning touchdown. Smith's pass to Bingham in an extra point attempt was knocked down by Gallovich, but the game was over, so far as scoring was concerned.

Both sides threatened in the remaining minutes and fourth period, but each seemed equal to the occasion. Tech stalled for time quite a lot, and the Deacons flipped a lot of passes.

Deacon Sub Talks Too Much

Clarence Tillery soon got on to the passing business, and in the last period he rushed the passer for losses amounting to nearly 50 yards.

Plugging along at 4 and 5 yards per clip, Messrs. Gallovich and Polanski threatened seriously in the fourth quarter; they would run on fourth down, and make it nearly every time. Finally they didn't make it, because a substitute talked too much, and the penalty resulting therefrom probably saved a touchdown and much embarrassment for Tech.

Late in the game, Wake Forest was trying desperately to shake a receiver loose for a "touchdown pass," but every time Tillery would shake himself loose from blockers, tackle the passer before he could let the shot go. Tillery played in the Wake Forest backfield longer than he did in the Tech line.

Central Texas Invaded By Army Of 15,000 Hunters

(By The Associated Press)

KERRVILLE, Nov. 16.—Jammed hotels and woodland camps today poured out an army of huntsmen, estimated at 15,000 in the Central Texas hill country alone, to open what the state game department termed the greatest big game season in Texas history.

Temporary game department headquarters here in the heart of the game-rich hill country estimated the first day's take at 4,000 deer, 1,000 more than last year, and 1,500 wild turkey, up 300 from a year ago. The estimates were based on reports of game wardens as far west as Sonora.

With snappy, 22-degree weather, many hunters bounced out of the blankets early, got their bucks and brought them back to town.

Wardens reported the bucks were universally fat and big, a result of timely rains which produced fine feed crops.

The first buck hauled into Kerrville was a seven-pointer shot by O. R. Bode on his ranch near here, the game department reported.

Bears Trounce Tulsa

The rejuvenated Bears first touchdown chance almost died in an fancy. Dobbs' long punt smacked down on the Bear 40 where overanxious Jimmy Witt juggled it dangerously before getting up steam. He was pulled in but the ball moved to the Tulsa 32 on a roughness penalty against the Hurricane.

Wilson, coolly eyeing the spread-pass receivers, hurled a forward to Wilson Lucas who lateralled to Tackle Budo Barnett as he passed the 20. Barnett got to the 6 from where Wilson knifed into paydirt through tackle.

In the third period Center Buddie Gatewood nabbed a Tulsa fumble on the 33 and Wilson, sweeping wide around end, made it to the 23. A neat reverse which threw the Oklahoma team off balance, Wilson to Witt, moved the ball to the 5 and Crain blasted to the 2 and then slashed through center for a score.

From his own 16 in the fourth period Travis Nelson fired a pass to Coleman on the Baylor 40 and Coleman outran three defense men for a score. Griffin and Merka converted after two of Baylor's touchdowns.

Demands For Action On Labor Laws Will Raise New Congress Difficulties

Consideration To Be Sought

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP) — Demands for action on the Logan-Walter bill and on legislation to revise the Wagner labor acts raised new difficulties today for leaders trying to bring about a final adjournment of Congress next week.

Advocates of the Logan-Walter measure, designed to facilitate court review of the work of such federal agencies as the securities commission, disclosed they would ask Monday for Senate consideration. The House passed the bill last June.

Call For Action

The call for action on labor law revision came from President William Green of the American Federation of Labor. He wrote members of the Senate labor committee that by failing to vote on House-approved amendments they were creating the impression of "deliberately attempting" to keep the legislation from the Senate.

Success of efforts to bring up either of these bills undoubtedly would prolong the session into December. There appeared to be but slender prospects of this, however, at least for the labor legislation, more especially since President Roosevelt's nomination of Dr. Harry A. Millis to a vacancy on the labor board yesterday was expected to result in a shakeup of that agency without congressional action.

Believes They're Dead

Senator Holt (D-WVa), an advocate of labor act changes, expressed the opinion that despite Green's move the amendments were "dead for this session." He wrote the AFL chief, however, that as the first practical step toward getting action Green should demand that Congress remain in session.

Senators Burke (D-Neb) and King (D-Utah) planned to seek the showdown on the Logan-Walter issue. They claimed support of various other Democratic members. Their insistence on action promised to add some Democratic backing to Republican opposition to adjournment.

The Republican position, as summarized by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, was that "if we're in an emergency that won't allow the president to go more than 12 hours away from Washington, I'd say we're in an emergency that would not allow Congress to be 60 days from Washington or beyond its own recall."

Six-Man Grid Game To Be Introduced Here

There'll be six-man football, the new streamlined pigskin sport, at Tech Stadium next Saturday, November 23.

Championship of the South Plains country will be settled when the New Home sextet takes on the McAdoo Eagles to decide the six-man champion in this region.

Both Are Champions

Both New Home, in Lynn county, and McAdoo, in Dickens county, are winners of their respective six-man conferences. McAdoo this year won its conference championship for the third consecutive year and Friday bowled over Roosevelt, 30 to 6. Coach George M. Archer's team has won seven and lost one this season, dropping th lone decision to Roosevelt, 7 to 6.

Coach J. W. Partin will bring a smooth working sextet to this football-mad city Saturday in an attempt to take the South Plains crown to Lynn county.

Many Schools Participate

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Admission will be 25 and 50 cents.

Six-man football, a faster game than the regulation gridiron sport, has proven successful for the smaller schools in Texas. More than 100 schools now participate in the six-man game.

Klondike, Sparenberg Vie For Dawson Title

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LAMESA, Nov. 16.—Six-man football, a unique and interesting sport four years old in Texas, will make its initial appearance in Lamesa next Thursday afternoon when the two top-ranking teams in District 9 meet in a playoff for the district championship.

Klondike and Sparenberg are the contestants. The playoff was necessary because the two beat each other once each in the double round-robin schedule. Sparenburg won the first, 20-12, Klondike the second, 27-14. Both games were played on muddy fields.

Coaches of the two teams are Kirk McKinnon, former Lamesa High school and Hardin-Simmons star, at Klondike and Cason Smith, formerly of Daniel Baker, at Sparenberg.

Groom, winner in District 15, has challenged the winner of the game.

Crosbyton Youth Winner Of Gilt Judging Contest Here

Luther Worley, 16-year-old Crosbyton high school sophomore, president of the Hank Smith chapter, Future Farmers of America, and one of 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Worley, was the happiest youth on the South Plains Saturday—He left Lubbock for home with a registered Jersey heifer calf and the grand championship of the third annual Sears, Roebuck & Co., gilt judging contest.

Young Worley was all smiles, and expressed to W. C. O'Mara, local manager, his deep appreciation for receiving the calf. He and a brother came here for the showing. The family lives in Crosby county but are on rural mail route No. 1 out of McAdoo, in Dickens county.

Fathers, Sons Attend

Forty boys, many of them with their fathers, were guests of the company at a dinner in Lubbock hotel, after Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry at Texas Technological college, had judged the gilts and had made his selections. County agents and vocational agriculture teachers were also guests.

The judge, who called winners for the third successive year, told the boys of the "uniformly good quality" of animals shown, which he added, "shows a considerable improvement. I don't know that the tops are any better than in other years, but the average is well above last year." He also quoted Richard Roberts, local hog buyer, who said as a result of the increase in the number of registered gilts distributed through the contest, there was a decided improvement in the quality of hogs being sold locally and throughout the territory.

Mowery also said the boys were showing their animals better and that the boys had better control over their animals and the gilts were more gentle, apparently being used to having the owner near them.

Dean A. H. Leidigh, head of the division of agriculture, said on behalf of the college that they appreciated the work done by the company in supporting agricultural instruction there. A score of scholarships are made available each year to freshmen, besides other work. He pointed out that Ray L. Chappelle, agricultural education department head, had reported three of the six F.F.A. national officials named last week in Kansas City, Mo., were Sears, Roebuck & Co., students in college.

Chappelle also spoke briefly, saying his observance of the work done by students, as well as by 4-H club boys and F.A.A. chapter members, indicated an improvement in feeding and breeding of hogs was evident in this section.

On behalf of the company, Manager O'Mara said "we are highly pleased with the results we are getting."

Certificates for 100 baby chicks will be given first place winners in each of the five counties in the contest, Crosby, Lynn, Hale, Hockley and Lubbock. These will be given now, the chicks to be received later. Second place winners will receive a certificate for 75 chicks and all other contestants will receive 50 chicks.

County winners were Hockley, J. P. Riley, Ropesville, first; Harold Riley, Ropesville, second; Odin Oliver, Anton, third and Billy Wood, Anton, fourth.

Crosby, Worley, first; Donce Marricle, Lorenzo, second; Louis Powell, Ralls, third, and Billy Dean Webb, Crosbyton, fourth.

Hale, Olin Horne, Shallowater, first; J. W. Ramby, Hale Center, second; L. V. Ballard, Plainview, third; and Harold D. Autry, Plainview, fourth.

Lynn, Zollie Lee Moore, Tahoka, first; Robert Rusk, Tahoka, second; Lloyd McCormick, Tahoka, third; Rayford Williams, Meadow, fourth.

Lubbock, Homer Jones, Slaton, first; Kenneth Lilley, Slaton, second; J. Russell Oden, Wolfforth, third; Billy Tanner, Idalou, fourth

Agents Attend

Among those present were D. W. Sherrill, Hockley farm agent; Ralph Howe, Crosby farm agent; Harry Igo, Hale assistant agent; R. C. Mitchell, Crosbyton vocational teacher and mentor for the champion; W. A. King, Lorenzo vocational teacher; L. M. Hargraves, Prenship vocational teacher; J. W. Grist, Wilson vocational teacher, and W. A. Brandon, Plainview vocational teacher.

The gilts were taken to the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds on East Broadway, where judging was started at noon. Most of the boys were accompanied by their fathers, or their teachers.

The gilts are to bred, and next spring each youth is to bring to Lubbock a six or eight weeks old gilt for distribution to a new group of 40 boys. Other gilts from his litter he may dispose of as he desires, the company only requiring a boy to return a gilt in place of the one given him, O'Mara explained.

Big Red Held To 7-3 By Dartmouth

By BILL KING
Associated Press Sports Writer

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 16—Mighty Cornell, one of the nation's outstanding football teams, was rocked and shaken by an inspired band of Dartmouth Indians for 57 minutes today before it unleashed a belated aerial drive that gave it a 7-3 victory before a startled crowd of 20,000.

Out-fought until the last three minutes, the Ithacans pulled the game out of the fire during the last six seconds when, on a disputed fourth down and six yards to go, Walt Scholl ended a 57-yard overhead thrust by tossing a touchdown pass to Halfback Bill Murphy. That more than offset the 17-yard placement field goal the Indians' Bob Krieger booted early in the final period.

Dispute Downs

Captain Lou Young and his players, insisted Cornell's scoring play came on a fifth down and just before it was made, the former demanded that referee "Red" Friesell give his team the ball on its 20-yard line, for Fullback Ray Hall had batted down a Scholl pass on the previous play.

The disputed series started after Scholl had passed to Murphy for a first down on Dartmouth's five yard line with one minute to play. Cornell then rushed to the one-yard line where, after stopping the clock by rushing Right End Al Kelley back into the game, it drew a five-yard penalty for an extra time out.

Most of the writers' charts showed Mort Landsberg had rushed twice and Scholl once before the latter uncorked the pass that Hall batted down behind his goal-line. Friesell refused to discuss the game-deciding incident and the only comment Earl Blaik, the Dartmouth coach, made was "I have every confidence in Referee Friesell." Cornell's Carl Snavely first thought both teams had been offside, thereby nullifying a play, but the officials assured him such had not been the case.

That thrilling windup was heartbreaking to the gallant and courageous Dartmouth team that gave unbeaten Cornell its stiffest argument since it was last defeated, by Syracuse early in 1938, 19 games ago.

Stanford, Sights On Bowl, Wins Again

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 16. (AP)—Stanford's invincible Indians nailed their football battle flag on the ramparts of the Rose Bowl today with a thumping 28 to 14 victory over Oregon State's Beavers.

The team that Clark Shaughnessy coached from the Coast conference cellar to undisputed leadership in one season, assured itself of nothing less than a tie for the title. One game remains to be played against California.

Upsets Are Frequent

touchdown with six seconds to go. There was considerable argument that Cornell had been given an extra down at this critical stage of the proceedings but the 7-3 final score stood and Cornell stretched its unbeaten streak through 19 games.

Only Texas To Go

John Kimbrough picked up 108 yards in 18 tries as Texas A. and M. routed Rice, 25-0, and now face only one hurdle—Texas in a drive for a second successive Southwest title and a possible bid for the Rose Bowl.

Minnesota clinched the Western conference championship by riding roughshod over Purdue, 33-6, with George Franck and Bruce Smith breaking loose for frequent gains. Stanford, heading straight for the Pacific Coast crown and the Rose Bowl, once more uncovered a brilliant offense and tripped Oregon State, 28-14.

Tennessee rolled up a 41-14 count on Virginia; Lafayette bowled over Western Maryland, 40-7; Mississippi State slugged Millsaps, 46-13; Penn State blanked New York university, 25-0; and TEXAS TECH turned back Wake Forest, 12-7.

Marquette Beats Michigan State

In the South, Duke and Auburn were victims of amazing upsets and Alabama just barely made the grade against Georgia Tech; 14-13. Duke was upset by North Carolina, 6-3, thanks to Jim Lalanne's passing, while Leo Bird led Louisiana State to a 21-13 triumph over tough Auburn. Clemson just got up to tie Southwestern of Tennessee, 12-12 in another surprise and Furman's 25-7 victory over South Carolina was still another.

Tulane got going in the fourth quarter to pull out a 21-13 decision over Georgia in one of the few games in the South that followed preliminary specifications.

A crowd of 76,749 saw Bob Westfall pace Michigan to a 20-13 victory over Northwestern while Don Scott counted twice to carry Ohio State past Illinois, 14-6. Wisconsin's in-and-outers were definitely "in" and routed Indiana, 27-10 Ray Apolskis' 70-yard run with an intercepted pass and the subsequent extra point gave Marquette a 7-6 decision over Michigan State. In the Big Six, Oklahoma stopped Missouri, 7-0, and Iowa State halted Kansas State, 12-0.

Hardin-Simmons Still Unbeaten

Southern Methodist and Texas were victors in southwest conference tests, the former routing Arkansas, 28-0, and Texas pushing past Texas Christian, 21-14. Baylor trounced tough Tulsa, 20-6.

In the east, West Virginia surprised by nipping Kentucky, 9-7, with a late rally while Nebraska was pushed to the limit before it got past Pitt, by the same score. George Washington won over Kansas, 6-0, and Hardin-Simmons, unbeaten and untied, won over Catholic, 27-19.

Penn, getting ready for Cornell next week, ran up a 48-0 score on Army, worst defeat an Army team ever suffered. Navy gained plenty of ground but was lucky to get a scoreless tie with Columbia when Len Will's try for a Columbia field goal just missed. Bob Sandback's fourth-quarter field goal gave Princeton a 10-7 victory over Yale as Harvard's fast-improving forces took Brown over the jumps, 14-0. Indian Bill Geyer's 55-yard touchdown run and the ensuing extra point enabled Colgate to trip Syracuse, 7-6, while Holy Cross surprised by getting a 6-6 draw with Temple. Villanova won over Manhattan, 13-6, and Williams, routing Amherst, 19-6, won the Little Three crown.

In the Far West, Washington kept its slim championship hopes alive by whipping Southern California, 14-0; California stopped Oregon, 14-6, and U.C.L.A. finally won a ball game after seven straight defeats, beating Washington State 34-26. Gonzaga surprised Detroit, 13-7.

In the Big Seven, Colorado whipped Brigham Young, 25-2; Denver beat Utah State, 34-6, and Utah won over Colorado State, 27-0.

TWO EXECUTED

GENOA, Italy, Nov. 16. (U.P.)—Firing squads today executed Alberto Pavesi, 43, and Clemente Grisanti, 26, less than 16 hours after they were sentenced to death by a special tribunal for defense of the state on charges of armed robbery during a blackout.

Wave Dusts Off Georgia, 21-13

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16. — Tulane's powerhouse, short-circuited for half the game by Georgia's scrapping Bulldogs, started functioning in the second half today to win, 21-13, for its first Southeastern conference victory before 30,000 fans.

The game started out contrary to expectations.

Georgia looked unbeatable on a 47-yard drive for its first score. Keuper's 20-yard smash and Frank Sinkwich's passes did the damage. Sinkwich tossed to George Poschner for the score.

In the third period, Sinkwich tried a pass in his own territory and Leonard Stern, Tulane guard, intercepted on the Bulldogs' 13. Harry Hays, substitute halfback, swept right end for eight yards and a touchdown.

Lead See-Saws

The Tulane lead didn't last long. Lamar Davis, Georgia's right half, took Roman Betz' kickoff and outran Tulane's fastest backs for a 97-yard touchdown.

Bubber Ely returned a punt to Georgia's 30 and started throwing passes to set up a touchdown on the five. Fred Golden went over in three plays. Lou Thomas place-kicked Tulane ahead, 14-13.

The Wave stopped a furious Georgia passing attack, took the ball on the Tulane 23, and drove to its last touchdown in six plays. After Thomas ran 30-yards, Fred Cassibry went five yards over left tackle for a touchdown.

MEETING IS SET

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16 (AP) — A special meeting of the executive committee of the Texas Teachers association will be held here Wednesday at 10 a. m. in advance of the association convention that will start on Thursday, B. B. Cobb, association executive secretary, announced today.

Boston Skins Hoyas, 19-18

BOSTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—A grand Boston college team equipped with fight, speed and inspiration fought its way into the front ranks of the nation's football teams today by removing Georgetown from the ranks of the undefeated, 19 to 18, in a frantic struggle before 40,000 frenzied customers at Fenway Park.

Content to win their first seven games with a minimum of plays and formations, the unbeaten Eagles let the cat out of the bag and their trick plays with it this raw afternoon as they played wide-open and smart football on offense and determined football on defense.

Research Council Is Appointed By Jones

A special research council to assist J. Doyle Settle, member of the state industrialization committee, has been appointed by Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of Texas Technological college, college officials announced Saturday.

Members of the council are Dr. R. C. Goodwin, head professor of chemistry and dean of the graduate division; Miss Jonnie McCrery, head professor of foods and nutrition; Dr. A. W. Young, head professor of plant industry; Dr. T. F. Wiesen, associate professor of economics and business administration; and O. A. St. Clair, head of the department of industrial engineering and engineering drawing.

The committee will consider technical problems and direct preparation of briefs requested by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

EX-COMMISSIONER DIES

SAN DIEGO, Calif. Nov. 16. (AP)—Frederick Opp, 85, former harbor commissioner here, died last night in a hospital after a short illness. He lived in St. Louis for many years before coming to San Diego. Surviving are his widow Mrs. Augusta Opp, and a son, Harold Opp, of San Angelo, Tex.

Green Declares Promised Resignation Of John L. Lewis Will Mean Nothing

Still To Hold The Big Stick

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16. (U.P.)—The promised resignation of John L. Lewis as head of the Congress of Industrial Organizations "means nothing," according to President William Green of the American Federation of Labor.

"Lewis would still remain as president of the United Mine Workers which pays the revenue for the CIO," Green said yesterday at the 60th annual convention of the AFL here. "Lewis would be in a position to tell the CIO that unless it did his bidding, he would withdraw his financial support."

Speaks At Convention

Green spoke at the 34th annual convention of the federation's building and construction trades department and the 33rd annual convention of the union label trades department.

"The differences between the AFL and the CIO can easily be washed out but it is a question of men," he said. "The CIO and the AFL conventions about two years ago worked an agreement that was thrown by Lewis."

The AFL leader reiterated that the federation would not share the right to speak for labor "with any rebel group in America or anywhere else."

"We represent organized labor in the United States and Canada," he said.

To Get Square Deal

Green said that in President Roosevelt's nomination of Dr. Harry A. Millis, of the University of Chicago to be chairman of the national labor relations board, "we have won appointment of a man who we believe will give us a square deal."

The federation's leaders also approved the resignation of Nathan Witt, NLRB secretary.

President John P. Coyne of Washington and all other officers of the building and construction trades department were re-elected at the close of their annual convention.

Safety Drive Planned

and slogan contests in the Lubbock Public schools and at Texas Technological college will feature the campaign.

To Award Prizes

Prizes in the essay and poster contest in the public schools will be donated by the Lubbock Insurance Exchange. A $2 prize will go to the student making the best poster in the first three grades; $3 to students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades for the best essay on safety and $5 to students in both junior and senior high school for the best essays. Hugh Dunlap and Marion Sanford have charge of the contests.

President Clifford B. Jones of Tech has offered a $5 prize to the Tech student writing the best slogan on safety during the campaign.

Films To Be Shown

Vance Apple is chairman of the truck drivers award group and has set up rules and regulations for the contest. The award is to be donated by the Johnson-Apple Insurance company.

Short films on safety and a safety matinee are scheduled at the theaters. The safety matinee will be held Saturday morning at the Midway theater with Manager Joe Bryant giving youngsters safety badges, a bar of candy and enrolling them in the Elmer Layden Safety club. Manager Arlie Crites of the Lindsey theaters and president of the junior chamber is also showing short subjects on safety during the campaign.

Capt. W. W. Legge of the Texas Highway patrol is cooperating in the campaign and he and members of his staff plan lectures on safety to schools. Announcement will be made at the two remaining football games here urging fans to drive carefully after the game, especially during the Amarillo-Lubbock game Thursday. Bruce Collier is to have this phase of campaign for direction.

All Have Jobs

Bicycle safety will be stressed and cooperation of both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies to promote safety among their messenger boys has been assured.

Glenn McDonald is to have charge of the selection of the safest driver of the week who will be picked at random from the city's traffic. An award will be made each driver by the Plains Funeral home.

Troop 10, Boy Scouts, with Bates Witt, scoutmaster, has assumed the responsibility of changing numerals on the deathless days signs daily.

Oliver Thomas heads the safety committee of the Jaycees and will direct all phases of the campaign, having worked extensively thus far on plans for the drive.

Fascists Routed

the war was approaching a decision.

The official radio, echoing military dispatches to the press, announced to the country:

"The enemy has been dislodged from all positions. The organized defense can hardly withstand the Greek attacks for more than a few hours!"

May Be Separated

Greek sources asserted that the entire Italian army in Albania was in danger of being cut into three parts and thus encircled segment by segment.

The heaviest of the day's action was in the northern sector, where there was violent artillery duelling and air fighting.

The Italians were reported to have rushed reinforcements to that region — before they could establish satisfactory communication with supply bases, the Greeks said—but to have failed nevertheless to halt the slow encirclement of Koritza, Albania, by Greek forces completing the operation from the northeast.

LOSING WEEK

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—A losing week for the stock market—the first in five—was concluded today with steels, motors, aircrafts and a wide assortment of industrials posting closing losses of fractions to 3 points.

Brokers attributed today's reaction mainly to the revival of nervousness over foreign affairs, many traders lightening accounts for the week-end recess and fears the Axis powers were planning more severe blows at the British. Business news still was on the bullish side.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .3 of a point at 45.4 and on the week was down 1.2 points.

A faintly encouraging factor in the day's proceedings was the slackening of volume on the retreat. The turnover of 488,640 shares was the first dip under the million share mark in ten consecutive sessions.

Allied Chemical and Douglas Aircraft dropped 3 points each. Lesser losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, J. I. Case, Westinghouse, Standard Oil of N. J., Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber and American Can.

Rails and utilities held declines to negligible amounts.

Cotton . .

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP) — The average price of middling 15-16ths inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was 4 points lower at 9.71 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 9.42 cents. Middling 7-8ths-inch average 9.50 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures reacted sharply today after an early advance carried the list further into new high price territory for the season.

Unwillingness of mills, recently the chief support of the market, to follow the advance appeared the main reason for the setback.

Hedge selling also increased the profit taking and liquidation, influenced in part by the downward slant to securities, developed.

Prices continued firm, however, at the best levels attained in the fall buying spurt.

Exports Friday 64 bales; season so far 418,208. Port receipts 8,746; port stocks 3,148,187.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP) — After making new highs for the season cotton futures here today ran into profit taking from the long side and closing prices were steady, 3 to 5 points net lower.

Odessa's nationwide business connections and the need for air service there.

C. J. Crampton, executive secretary of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, said improved air service to Dallas would benefit wholesalers whose markets extend through nine western and southwestern states.

Needs Are Cited

Lack of suitable air connections, he testified, handicapped community relations between Dallas and Denver. The city was interested, he added, in any improvement in air service to give it a more convenient and speedier entrance into Mexico.

Byrd Harris, director of the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce and spokesman for the Nueces County Navigation district which operates port facilities there, said that city was confronted with the problem of slow transportation facilities, and a need existed for direct passenger and air mail service between Denver and intermediate points in Texas.

E. S. Mayer, San Angelo rancher, said the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association of which he is president urged improvement in air transportation, mail or express and the myraid of other items of equipment required for an army of two million men.

All but 10 per cent of the barracks and other housing for the expanding land forces are scheduled to be ready by the year's end.

Prospective delivery dates for most items are a closely-guarded military secret. However, it is expected to be next summer before production will reach anything like full speed.

Funeral Rites Read For Thomas Anthony

Funeral services were read at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Church of God, in 400-block Avenue G, for Thomas J. Anthony.

Mr. Anthony died at 9 o'clock Friday night. He was 82 years old and lived at 302 Avenue H. He had lived here 17 years.

Rev. R. M. Nolan officiated at rites, and burial was in Lubbock cemetery.

Girl Dies, 4 Others Hurt In Accident

LONGVIEW, Nov. 16. (AP)—Alma Grimes, 20, of Longview was killed and four other young people hurt in an automobile collision here tonight.

Two of the injured, Leonard Burkehart of California, and Margaret Spears of Longview had obtained a marriage license this afternoon and were to have been married tonight.

WOMAN KILLED

BIXBY, Okla., Nov. 16 (AP)—Edith Connley, 21, Mounds, was killed tonight when an automobile in which she was riding overturned eight miles southwest of here. Three other persons suffered cuts and bruises.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP) — Reversing an early downward trend, the wheat market today recovered most of yesterday's loss as prices rallied strongly, propelled by purchasing of dealers adjusting accounts for the week-end or covering cash grain and flour sales.

Dipping almost a cent at the opening, wheat recovered quickly, rising 1⅛ to 1¼ cents from the lows to within fractions of the six-months highs established yesterday. Final prices were ⅝ to 1⅛ higher than yesterday, with December 89½@89⅝, May 88⅞@89.

Corn closed ¼ to ⅞ higher than yesterday, December 64½@64⅝, May 65¼@65½, oats ⅜ to ⅞ up; rye ⅜ to ½ higher and lard unchanged to 3 lower.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16 (AP)—Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 99@1.00; No. 1 hard 97@98.

Progress Shown By Red Cross

Although definite figures have not been tabulated, indications are that the Lubbock county Red Cross membership roll call will be able to reach its quota of 3,000 by the tentative closing date of Nov. 21, campaign officials said Saturday night.

Memberships have already exceeded the 1939 total of 1,700, Mrs. Carl E. Slaton, roll call secretary, said. A canvass of business establishments and residences will be continued this week.

J. Ray Dickey, local roll call chairman, Saturday received a telegram from Norman H. Davis, chairman of the national Red Cross committee, urging that a special effort be made to obtain increased memberships in view of "the increased responsibilities of the Red Cross due to national and war conditions. I am confident," Davis added, "that you will make an extra effort to reach every man in the community with an invitation to join."

Slaton will begin its roll call with a kick-off breakfast at 10 o'clock Monday morning. Dickey and Ed D. Allen, county chairman, plan to attend.

This afternoon the three major radio networks will broadcast a program in behalf of the national drive. Many motion picture and radio stars will speak and perform. Time of the program is 12:30 to 1:30 o'clock.

Definite figures on Lubbock memberships will probably be compiled by Tuesday, when workers will cooperate in a recheck, Mrs. Slaton said.

Possible Widening Of Highway Studied

A special board of review named by T. L. Holt, county commissioner of precinct 3, decided Saturday to go over the right-of-way Wednesday of highway 194 so as to learn the attitude of property owners relative to widening the route to 120 feet.

A public hearing will be conducted about Nov. 30.

Members of the board are A. A. Reagan of Monroe, Henry Mahoney of Shallowater and W. M. Ross of Lubbock.

Holt has another road project underway in his precinct, a farm-to-market strip that runs three miles north, one mile south and one mile west of Idalou. Hard surfacing is underway, with approximately two miles having been placed Saturday.

The road will be completed by the middle of this week, Holt said

Negro Hijacked By Two Men

Amos Knight, 43, negro "wash boy" employed at the Dalby Motor Freight lines, reported that two men in an automobile parked in a drive way in the 2600-block on Avenue H, hijacked him of $9 when he was enroute to work before dawn Saturday.

After calling him to the side of their car, he said, one of the men alighted, flourished a pistol and searched him.

"We're going this way, you go that way and don't be a damn fool," Knight quoted the hijacker as telling him.

The car, Knight said, then sped south on Avenue H.

"I w-w-went the w-w-way they t-t-told me," added Amos, who stutters.

Three Burglaries

Police Saturday night sought to pin responsibility for three burglaries reported that morning.

Aggregate loss of almost $79 was reported by City Steam laundry, at 1811 Nineteenth street, Brock's Food store, at 1501 Nineteenth street, and a place at 1822 Avenue Q belonging to S. T. Talley.

Entrance was made through a skylight at the laundry and at the Avenue Q address. At the food store a window was raised by a blunt instrument, presumably a screwdriver.

A screwdriver was found abandoned at the back of the Talley place.

All places were generally ransacked. At the laundry money in a cash register and in another hiding place was found. Four dollars in nickles and 40 Indian head pennies were found in a box, $15 in a cash register at the food store. Approximately $4 from an automatic vending machine was taken from Talley's place.

Suspected Draft Dodger

Lubbock reported its first arrest for an alleged draft dodger. A 32-year-old negro who worked on the L. H. Johnson farm near Shallowater was held by police. They said Johnson took all field hands who would accompany him to a registering place for selective service but that the negro declined to go, saying he didn't have to register. A year and a day imprisonment has been given to each of several persons recently who were tried on such an offense.

Officials removed a 24-year-old Blanchard, Okla., man to Levelland for filing of forgery charges, and the sheriff of Purcell, Okla., was reported en route here for a 23-year-old Davis, Okla., man, as aftermath of the arrest of the two men and two girl companions late Friday.

The men picked up the girls near Vernon, the girls said, drove to Levelland and cashed an $18 check to which had been signed the name of a prominent cattle buyer of this section, received $7.81 in change and drove to Lubbock. They took the girls to a show in a taxicab after leaving their machine at a garage for repairs. Later they had called for the girls at the show and, driven back to their car, they were arrested.

The man awaiting transfer to Oklahoma faces a felony indictment there, it is understood, presumably a forgery case.

Scalpers Warned

ing problem which may arise. If you should buy tickets at advanced prices or if a scalper should approach you, the federal officials ask that you learn their name, then call the internal revenue office in the federal building, telephone 771. The officials will be watching to see whether the scalper pays the federal amusement tax.

Likewise, any person approached by a scalper is reminded to call Dr. W. B. Irvin, city school superintendent, telephone 1036. Dr. Irvin will see that the tickets are voided.

Scalpers Are Quiet

Although these various precautionary warnings were given Saturday, it appeared that anyone who had expected to reap a harvest by scalping on the tickets was keeping pretty well under cover.

"It looks like the scalpers have crawled in a hole, and pulled the hole in after them," commented one official.

Dr. Irvin added that the first instance of any person paying more than the established price for a ticket remains to be discovered.

The superintendent also made several announcements relative to ticket sales. They include:

Approximately 300 tickets remaining in the temporary bleachers at the south end of Tech stadium for the Lubbock-Amarillo game will be on sale in the office of Principal R. W. Matthews in the high school at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning. The price is 75 cents.

Tickets On Sale

Approximately 150 seats in temporary boxes will go on sale in the same place at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Not more than two tickets will be sold to the same person. No advance reservations will be accepted. It will be strictly a case of first come, first served. Price will be $1.25.

Tickets to the Lubbock-Plainview game in the stadium Nov. 28 will go on sale Monday morning, Nov. 25, at 7 o'clock in the lobby of Hilton hotel in a booth established and operated by high school officials. E. J. (Pinkey) Lowrey, business manager of athletics, will be in charge.

Mail orders accompanied by remittances will be filled in the order received, Dr. Irvin said. Otherwise, no tickets will be sold and no reservations will be accepted until the announced time of starting the sale. After that time, telephone reservations will be accepted with the specific stipulation that tickets will not be held longer than 24 hours. Prices will be 75 cents for general admission, $1 for reserved seats and $1.25 for boxes.

Skeleton Found Near Here Believed That Of Folsom

There was no conclusive proof but it is highly probable that remains of a skeleton unearthed in a gravel pit several miles northwest of Whitharral in Hockley county are that of the Folsom man or his predecessor who lived possibly 20,000 years ago in this country. The excavation of the skeleton Friday afternoon brought archeologists from three schools, the University of Texas at Austin, the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque and Texas Technological college, besides two other archeologists from Santa Fe.

It seems that whenever any mention is made of a possible clue to remains of the Folsom man, no skeleton of which has been found in the new world, scientists "come a-running" as was the case Friday.

Skeleton Excavated

"It was the consensus of all those present at the excavation that it is highly probably that the burial may have been that of the Folsom man but the conclusive proof is missing, therefore no one is willing to say that it is the Folsom man," Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of West Texas Museum and director of archeological research at Texas Technological college, said following the visit to the site.

"The material immediately around the burial was disturbed but there was evidence it was an early burial," Dr. Holden added. "We needed undisturbed seriated stratum above the grave for our studies but due to the excavation made in the gravel pit this evidence was missing and the whole thing hung on that evidence."

A portion of the skeleton was excavated and brought to the museum along with the skull which was unearthed earlier. They will be studied and measured.

The amount of fossilization of the skeleton was similar to mamal bones coming from the same age, Dr. Holden pointed out.

Five Scientists Attend

Five archeologists came here to witness the excavation. They were: Dr. and Mrs. Frank C. Hibben of the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque; Eric Reed, archeologist with the National Park service; Stanley Stubbs, archeologist with the Laboratory of Archeology at Santa Fe, N. M.; A. T. Jackson, archeologist in charge; Dr. M. S. Goldstein, physical anthropologist; and T. N. Campbell, instructor in anthropology at the University of Texas.

They returned to their homes Saturday.

The skeleton was unearthed in the Johnson and Hines gravel pit near Whitharral where extensive excavation has been made the past several years for building sand and gravel.

Engineers From Tech Hold Meet

A decision to better the engineering division of Texas Technological college to a status satisfactory to the Engineering Council for Professional Development, through donations of cash or equipment or consignment of equipment, was announced Saturday night in a dinner sponsored by Engineering Alumni and Ex-Students association.

At the dinner, held in Chimayo room of Hilton hotel, the 37 men and women who attended were informed that no appropriations for new engineering equipment had been made since 1927; that the per capita expenditures for the engineering department at the college in the 1939-40 scholastic year aggregated only $96, as compared with the average of $132 for region 5, of which Tech is a member. The region includes Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri and Texas east of the Pecos river. Tech's per capita expenditure in engineering, as a matter of fact, is lower than that for any other Texas supported school, it was pointed out.

Campaign Suggested

W. E. Street of the department of engineering drawing at the college, said the purpose of the methods of bettering the division could be accomplished by "a campaign to secure donations of cash, donations of equipment or consignment of equipment to enable the engineering division to secure permanent approval by the Engineers Council for Professional Development this coming spring in civil, mechanical and electrical engineering.

"If $8,000 in cash and donations and consignments can be secured, it is felt that permanent approval perhaps can be secured in these departments."

Jimmie Kerr suggested that all engineering alumni get in touch with their state senator and representative; contact engineering companies or individuals for cash, donations or consignments, and that they talk a "Give a Piece of Equipment" drive for the division.

As a result, several alumni pledged $25 in cash and suggested that other alumni should match the amount.

Others on the program were J. C. Moore, president of the engineering society; Garland Nystel, and Dean O. V. Adams of the engineering division.

Arch L. King presided at the dinner.

Costa Rica has created a board to protect and aid its sugar industry.

News Briefs

Judge Alton B. Chapman of Floydada, was here Saturday on business. He is judge of the 110th district court and formerly lived at Spur, where he was district attorney and later named judge.

County commissioners court held a brief meeting Saturday to determine whether its recent action in changing the county court terms from six-weeks sessions to 11 four-week terms should be rescinded. The matter was presented at noon to Lubbock County Bar association at a luncheon. The court decided the change met with no opposition, and its recent action was approved.

J. T. Inmon, justice of peace, married his 82nd and 83rd pair late Saturday. Martin Lopez and Miss Eufemia Alivarez, Mexicans, and Elmer L. Gunn and Miss Ruby Norton were the contractual parties.

Union Thanksgiving services in Lubbock will be conducted at the Asbury Methodist church Thursday morning at 9 o'clock instead of the hour previously announced, Rev. H. G. Gantz, president of the Lubbock Ministers Alliance, said Saturday. Rev. W. E. Peterson, pastor of the church, is in charge of arrangements for the service which is to be attended by members of all denominations.

Mrs. C. B. Tibbets, 47, of 1109 Nineteenth street, continued to make satisfactory improvement Saturday night in Lubbock sanitarium from knife wounds suffered late Friday night when a man allegedly leaped on her slashed her throat and stabbed her three times. The man suspected is held in county jail. No charge had been filed, pending investigation developments. Mrs. Tibbets' residence is 1109 Nineteenth street.

Mrs. Leonard Cole, who was transferred Friday to Lubbock from Sweetwater, near which town she suffered severe injuries recently in an automobile mishap, was recovering normally late Saturday night in Lubbock sanitarium.

Eight-year-old Mary Frances Forkner daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Forkner of 1407 Avenue N, was admitted Saturday night to Lubbock sanitarium after she had suffered a fractured skull when struck by a messenger boy on a bicycle. Police investigated. The child at night was apparently in no danger and her recovery seemed assured. She was unconscious approximately 10 minutes it was said at the sanitarium.

G. C. Peters, about 20, of Brownfield narrowly escaped dangerous injury, possibly death, about 9 o'clock Saturday night when his pickup truck was struck by a truck four miles from Lubbock on the Brownfield highway. Treated at Lubbock sanitarium and released, the youth told Sgt J. B. Walling and Thomas C. Laws, both of the state highway patrol, he had been repairing a flat tire beside the road. J. L. Baxter, truck driver, said he was blinded by lights of an approaching vehicle and pulled over to his right, striking the pickup and driving it against Peters with such force a headlight was broken. Peters suffered a head injury.

Nazi Ship Scuttled

the German shipping service.

The Phrygia's captain, J. Schurt, had been understood originally to have said in a report to port authorities that four warships — he thought were British or Canadian—had opened fire upon the freighters some five miles off the Mexican coast.

But later, he declared the interpreter had misunderstood him and that what actually had happened was that the warships simply spelled out with flares a demand that the Phrygia give up.

"On leaving the port," he declared, "we saw the four ships. They fired signals demanding that we surrender. The Idarwald and Rhein raced for shore but due to the proximity of one warship to us and the bad condition of our vessel we opened her and set her aflame."

No Casualties

At this tense moment, according to the captain's story, the fourth vessel—the Orinoco—was still in the vicinity of the harbor bar. She headed back immediately.

The crew of the Phrygia—she carried about 40 men—came ashore in lifeboats without casualty.

Of the four ships it developed late in the day that only the Orinoco had carried a cargo—and she had great stores of pork, sugar, coffee, beans and the like. The others sailed with ballast, apparently assigned to the job of protecting the Orinoco.

Headed For Europe

Three of the vessels had given their destination as the Canary Islands; the fourth as Vigo, Spain. Even at the hour of their sailing, however, there had been speculation among shipping men that they perhaps were headed for a rendezvous with a German war vessel.

The Phrygia blew up this afternoon and slowly sank, five miles south of the Tampico jetties. She went to the same sort of grave-yard as the 32,581-ton German liner Columbus, scuttled last December far off the United States Atlantic coast in a vain effort to breach the British blockade.

Homecoming At Tech Is Held

tions, was unable to hold the reception there.

Other Floats Unusual

Only one prize was given in the float contest. Several others attracted much interest and one of the most novel was the Ko Shari float presenting Miss Muffett welcoming returning "exes." Miss Muffett was Carolyn Surratt from Pampa, who stood in a cleverly arranged crepe paper ruffled dress with skirt several yards long. Miss Surratt apparently was mounted on a platform inside the crepe paper dress.

Another voluminous skirt was that covering the entire car entered as the Las Vivarachas club float. Dorothy Lou Emmett from Tulia was the young woman who appeared to be wearing the huge skirt but who apparently was sitting atop the vehicle covered by the yards and yards of material.

Campus Groups Entertain

In addition to the general Homecoming events, numerous functions were held by campus organizations for alumni of the respective organizations.

Ned Bradley's orchestra played for the downtown dance held exclusively for former students and their guests Saturday night and Sandy Sanderson's band played for a dance in the college gymnasium for students and others.

Among those who registered for homecoming, were:

Students In Home Economics Gather

Class of 1931 was honored at a traditional breakfast for senior home economics students and exes Saturday morning in Hotel Lubbock. Mrs. Jesse C. Bateman spoke in behalf of the 1931 graduates. Mrs. Clarence Whiteside was toastmistress.

Singing was led by Miss Mary Leda McAdams, a graduate student at the college. Brief talks were made by Mrs. Noel Stalnaker, president of the group, Mrs. Frank Wilson, program chairman, and Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the home economics division.

Representatives from every class since 1928, a total of 144 persons attended.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

SLIGHTLY battered and bruised but with heads high, chins up and all that sort of thing, 200 women from seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, returned to their homes late Friday from Austin after having successfully clinched the presidency of the organization, first time in their 20 years of federation.

We know there will be many in Texas who will make the most of the struggle that resulted when certain women (all from down state we feel sure) threatened to break in the door to the art gallery so anxious were they to cast a ballot. It would be nice if we could say there was no hair pulling but we heard a woman got hers yanked and we wish we could inform you there was no face slapping but a weeping woman attested to just such an event. But this we can assure you, women from this part of Texas behaved with decorum; they carried out the poise, calmness and serenity that is part of their collect and whatever bruises they are bearing this week-end were caused by the violent jam they were unwittingly forced in to.

THEY ACTED NICE

YOU see women from the top of Texas didn't look on the electing of Mrs. J. W. Walker to the presidency as they would shopping for a bargain on Dollar day. And everything they did was open and above board and we were proud of them. Incidentally we are sure before another election year rolls around the bylaws will be amended to permit the ballots to be cast in shorter time.

Roger Busfield, Austin news commentator, said you'd think you've seen some red hot elections but "these political races were writing about mere cream puffs beside this women's clubs' campaign." But his wife, who writes and broadcasts under her maiden name, J. Mabel Clark, said he's already forgotten the Texas Democratic convention this past summer.

Enough of that. The election means Plainview and Lubbock will be furnishing state and district presidents in Mrs. Walker and Mrs. H. F. Godeke for the next two years and that is what is important.

ONE of the outstanding talks of the convention was given by Mrs. LaFell Dickinson of Keene, New Hampshire, vice-president of the General Federation of Women's clubs. She was a perfectly lovely woman and her husband would be liked by Charlie Guy because Mrs. Dickinson said he frothes at the mouth at the mere mention of the name Frances Perkins. (Mrs. Paul Wilson to CAG.) Incidentally Mrs. Dickinson was in school with the secretary and she said she'd be willing to stake her life that Frances Perkins does what she thinks is right.

At any rate not many months ago the Dickinsons were invited to a reception for Miss Perkins and just before they left the house Mrs. Dickinson thought she'd better warn her husband of the delight in store for him. "I won't meet that Frances Perkins," he stormed but he went along nevertheless.

It happens that Mr. Dickinson is quite deaf and when they had proceeded along the line to Miss Perkins Mrs. D. turned to him and screamed "This is Miss Perkins." He opened his mouth to say something (heaven knows what!) and Miss P. began to speak but before either could get a word out the largish Mrs. Dickinson began a lively chatter and propelled her husband down the line. Which was meeting a difficult situation with ease if you ask us.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

A number of challenges was flung to representatives from all parts of Texas by convincing speakers. Judge Roy Hofheinz of Houston, in a plea for a more adult understanding of juvenile problems, says 95 per cent of the causes for juvenile delinquency can be traced to the home. Through education, child guidance courts, promoting an attitude of friendliness between police and youngsters and legislation Texas will slowly but surely help these young offenders, he said.

Judge Hofheinz thinks it's a disgrace that a young person in Texas who has played truant from school or who has snatched an apple or some such "small" theft may be termed a criminal and will go through life with a criminal record if he is arrested and brought to court. He's for punishment of these offenders, certainly, but he reminded those who believe that "Johnny should be sent to the reformatory," that he will be released as grown John with an unerasable stigma.

It does not take one with superhuman ability to solve problems of a delinquent juvenile, the personable young judge said. It takes an individual interested in community service and it takes parents interested in the upbringing of their children for "the greatest institution on earth is not equal to the humblest home."

Judge John E. Hickman of Austin in presenting a farewell challenge to the convention said where one is needed to render service, there is her line and he urged the women to work for a defense that will preserve the fine things of life, which under God, must be cherished if our civilization is to remain. The serenity, poise and courage that women can give to men is as urgent in the crisis as battleships and guns, he said.

MISS POLLYANNA

THE candidates appeared on the platform in the closing session and Mrs. Carlisle looked so triumphant and Mrs. Walker appeared so pale and tired our heart sank when we looked at them. But when we did discover the result, shortly before they were announced from the

Drama Is To Be Spoken By Choir

IN a new venture of an old form of drama, the young people of the First Presbyterian church are to present a speaking choir of, "Christ's Mould of Prayer," at the evening service at 7:30 o'clock. The 40-minute dramatic chorus will be given by Presbyterian students at Texas Technological college, assisted by several other students of speech. They will be robed in Geneva gowns and will read from scripts.

Miss Mary Louise Hawkins will furnish background music at the organ.

The scrip is based on a pamphlet of the same title written in 1906 by Rev. James A. Francis.

Is An Experiment

Miss Betty Clark, student of the choir, said this production is an experiment and the group hopes to present other numbers. Indeed rehearsals have already started on "Gifts," to be presented Dec. 15.

Miss Margaret Simmons is woman leader of the choir; Rev. W. Jack Lewis, man leader; and Mrs. Lewis is soloist.

Men are Charlie Black, Jeff Coffey, Jimmy Curry, Lockert Sleeper, Clinton McPherson, Walter Studhalter, Robert Sears, Bernard Wilder, Dick Sheehan, J. E. Archer, Harry arvis, Foster Garland, King Glass, Charles Rettig, Jimmy Day and Howard Garrison.

College Students Are To Be Tea Honorees

Miss Margaret Huff, 2018 Eighteenth street, is entertaining with a seated tea this afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock to honor her new students in piano at Texas Technological college. Those to be honored are Misses Bonna Rushing, Vivienne Adamson, Roberta Ellison, Etolie McLeod and Irene Wolfe.

The following program will be given by students: "Three Part Invention," (Bach), J. T. Lamm; "The Lord's Prayer," (Malotte), Miss Carolyn Seale; "Air de Ballet," (Chammade), Miss Olive Huff; "Hear Ye Israel!" (Mendelssohn), Miss Madge Malone; "Romance," (Tschaikowsky), Miss Lanelle Hurlbut; "O Lord Be Merciful," (Bartlett), Miss Barbara Ann Read; "Mazurka," (Saint-Saens), Miss Margaret Simmons; "Morning," (Speaks), Miss Helen Edgett; "Nocturne," (Chopin), Miss Eunice Klett; "This Sacred Dwelling," (Mozart), Bob Masterson.

Mrs. J. D. Rondeaux and Mrs. David S. Martin will preside at the tea table which is to decorated with fall flowers.

Dorothy Underwood Is Hostess At Hockaday

DALLAS, Nov. 16 — Miss Dorothy Underwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch S. Underwood of Lubbock, was one of the hostesses at the luncheon which complimented mothers of girls enrolled in the Hockaday school in Dallas, Friday in the dining room on the campus. Five hundred guests were present.

Tables were decorated by members of the Garden club, who also made colonial bouquets for each guest. Original songs were composed and sung to the mothers. Many out-of-town guests attended.

A style show was presented by students modeling costumes worn in 1913, when the school was founded, as contrasted with the styles of 1940.

Turkey Dinner Served For Baptist Class

A three course turkey dinner was served Friday night at the home of Mrs. W. C. Bryan, 1904 Main street, to members of the Business and Professional Women's class of the First Baptist church.

Pastel colors were carried out in the table decorations and the corsages which were favors. Bouquets of chrysanthemums were throughout the house.

Those attending were Misses Lucille Anderson, Ruby Atwood, Florence Boler, Clara Pratt, Pearl Jackson, Dorothy Lomax, Gertrude Brent, Marie Jackson, Effie Puryear, Eldora Whitlock, Edith Whitlock, Elizabeth Barnes, Ruby Wood, Myra Perkins, Minnie Robert; Mesdames Dallas Walters and E. V. Hicks.

OES Hosts Are Named For Tuesday Meeting

Hosts and hostesses for the Order of the Eastern Star meeting at the Masonic hall Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock are as follows: Mrs. Hop Halsey, Mr. and Mrs. Early Daniel, Mrs. J. Callie Dean, Mrs. Freeman Shell, Judge Dan A. Blair, Mrs. H. J. Bingham, Owen Harvey, J. E. Mann, Mrs. J. W. Rollo and Mrs. Gradie Bownds. Mrs. Bownds' group will direct the program.

Meet Mr. Weatherman, The Real Fashion Dictator, To Whom All Of The Hollywood Stars Make Their Bows

He Is Responsible For Dearth Of Fur-Trimmed Costumes

Typical of the trend toward contrast in Hollywood's unfurred suits is Verree Teasdale's outfit. The skirt is solid gray flannel. Topcoat and jacket are of same shade, but with white pin-stripe. Both coats have matching buttoned patch pockets.

BY LUCIE NEVILLE
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16 — Stylists can talk about the Peruvian influence on clothes, military trends, and vogues started by this actress or that society leader. But basically, California's styles are dictated by the weather. No amount of ballyhoo about what "they" are wearing, for instance, is going to popularize fur-trimmed suits here. It's too doggone cold to wear them at night; instead, you will see fur wraps or topcoats over plain suits or dresses.

And there aren't any occasions where Hollywood can wear these luxurious suits during the day. Any time you catch an actress leisurely lunching in town or going to an afternoon bridge, you can figure she's a very minor actress or "at liberty."

SUITS ARE BACKBONES OF STARS' WARDROBES

NOT that they don't like this fashion. Studio designers say that invariably when they make a dressy town suit collared in mink or Persian lamb, a star will exclaim, "Oh, I'd love to have that! . . . but where would I wear it?" Same with long-tailed cocktail dresses and velvet afternoon frocks.

Yet suits of any kind except furred are the backbone of every actress' wardrobe. And you'll see some nice ones in the movies, now being made, that will release this coming spring.

Lucille Ball's screen wardrobe for "Three Girls and a Gob" includes three suits. One I like best is a brown and beige herringbone tweed, single-breasted, one-button, with a back pleated from yoke to belt. The jacket's slim and long, the skirt straight and short, both showing Miss Ball's umph to advantage.

NEW JACKET LOOKS LIKE A JERKIN

EDITH HEAD designed an interesting three-piece suit for Verree Teasdale to wear in "Love Thy Neighbor" — a combination of plain and pin-stripe flannel. Its hip-length collarless jacket looks more like a jerkin, having a slide-fastened closing instead of the usual button-and-buttonhole line.

Strong contrast appears in screen star Barbara Stanwyck's striking brown and mustard country suit. Skirt and the full-length coat are of herringbone tweed. Jacket has handknit front and sleeves, combined with yoke and pockets of the tweed. Gloves are yellow doeskin.

Another zip-up suit is one of three in Marjorie Weaver's screen wardrobe for "Michael Shayne" — a French blue woolen, shadow striped in white and deep rose. In both skirt and long jacket, the stripes are placed up-and-down, only the modified dolman sleeves using the material horizontally for contrast.

The vogue for actual men's and boys' jackets hasn't been followed much on the Coast, but manufacturers are preparing for it by designing women's coats in left-to-right buttoning, using man-tailoring and men's wear suitings. Figure they might as well humor the feminine customers but still keep 'em buying in the women's departments.

Especially popular now are the soft camel's-hair and flannel jackets with hand-picking — California calls it "basting stitch" — leather buttons and lapel initials. Lots of knit-and-tweed sports suits, too.

Barbara Stanwyck has one that uses mustard-and-brown herringbone wool for a classic topcoat and skirt; instead of a matching jacket, it's a hand-knit one of mustard yarn, with pockets, belt buttons and yoke of the tweed. Looks more "special" than either a twin jacket or a sweater.

Colors match exactly, but patterns differ, in the three-piece ensemble worn by young screen player Sheila Ryan. The topcoat is of diagonal tweed, while the suit is of Glen plaid. Both are in beige and light rust, and are fastened with gilt buttons.

Yeats' Play To Be Presented By Workshop Theater On Monday

"THE Land of Heart's Desire" (William Butler Yeats) will be presented to members of the Workshop Theater Monday night at 8 o'clock at Seaman hall. Mrs. Douglas W. Alden is directing the play. She has been assisted by Mrs. A. L. Strout.

Characters of the play are "Marie," Mrs. Martha Knight Davis; "Child," Mrs. Edna Lyles; "Shawn," Dr. Douglas W. Alden; "Maurteen," Dr. Truman Camp; "Father Hart," Dr. E. F. George and "Bridget," Mrs. Leo Waite.

On Production Staff

Those in charge of production are Mrs. Maurice Erickson, costumes; Mrs. Marshall Harvey, properties and sets, assisted by Mrs. J. Arnold Walter and Mrs. Robert Maxwell and Henry Kight. Mr. Kight has charge of lighting and Mrs. Davis and John Watson have charge of make-up.

Preceding the play presentation, Miss Lucile Gill of Texas Technological college, will talk on "William Butler Yeats, Poet, Dramatist." Yeats is perhaps the greatest poet of contemporary English drama.

At the close of the play Misses Anita Seay, Melba Reik and Jane Rogers will sing. They have been directed by Mrs. Waite.

platform, and rushed out to send a wire home we fell over Mrs. T. J. White, pioneer club woman from Coleman and mother of Mrs. C. M. Ballenger, a large potted palm and two tables in our excitement.

Many were puzzled by Mrs. Carlisle's opening words, "Ladies I've learned about women'" but her words directed to seventh district delegates and visitors were clear enough. "Seventh district which I have not seen before tonight, must be very happy. I'm going to watch their work during the next two years with a great deal of interest." Of course this district didn't do it alone but it mortally helped.

Mrs. Walker said she enters the office with a "determination to carry forward the federation's ideals built on the firm foundation of sympathy, understanding, courage and tolerance. I pledge you the best I have for the next two years."

And thus the curtain was wrung down on the largest and one of the most eventful conventions in the history of 43 years in Texas club history. And we're back home and bruised but blissful.

STYLISH—Hats and muffs get larger and larger, and winter white grows smarter and smarter, so that this hat and muff ensemble is out in front in the style parade. It is of lustrous white broadtail, very flattering to a brunette such as movie actress Brenda Marshall, who models it.

Meat Demonstration Given For H-D Club

"Cured ham baked in fruit juices gives a rich flavored meat that is not salty," Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, told the Monroe club members in a meeting recently in the home of Mrs. J. R. West.

Ham should be baked at 300 degrees, either for whole or half ham or ham slice, she said.

Mrs. West, home food supply demonstrator, told something of the work she had done this year and showed the canned foods she had. Miss Pratt cooked a ham, roast pork, raisin and peach halves and "pigs in blankets." Refreshments were served to Mesdames R. B. Kinard, Elmer Edwards, D. A. Atkins, E. W. Smith, T. C. Hudson, W. O. Fortenberry, E. J. Exum, John McGuire, A. L. Paubion, John Harrell, West and Miss Pratt. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Fortenberry.

From Lou To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: We know a woman who works downtown who is planning to marry soon. Her first name starts with a B. Mary Price, four times beauty at Tech and nominee this year, is celebrating her birthday Thursday, Thanksgiving day. Jack Durfee celebrates his birthday next Friday.

We have heard that Miss Elizabeth Brooks, former assistant county home demonstration agent, has been transferred from Dickens county to San Patricio county. She will be a long way from her friends in Lubbock.

Honeymoon In New Orleans

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hoffman are honeymooning in New Orleans, La., and are going to Florida before returning to their new home in Slaton. Mrs. Hoffman is the former Miss Mary Beth Tomlinson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Mason Moxley are building a new home in Brownfield, ranch style with antique furniture. The den which promises to be a feature attraction will be finished with redwood siding.

CALLS have been coming in for the best-dressed man nomination and indicate that we may have such a contest sponsored by the Woman's Angle. Lou is nominating McElroy Ray, principal of George M. Hunt school, for the best-dressed and incidentally the best-looking man in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Trautwein of Shiner left Saturday after spending several days with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Quicksall, 3102 Twenty-first street.

Gifts To Pastor

At the reception given by the church for Dr. and Mrs. L. N. Lipscomb last week, the church members presented them with a complete set of crystal, a linen tablecloth and napkins and a sterling silver pitcher, goblets and tray.

The hunting season opened Saturday and the race for bigger game was begun. Several parties left Lubbock very early Friday morning in order to be in the Big Bend country in time to kill a few deer. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stone and J. B. Belcher left last week for the Big Bend. They will hunt 90 miles south of Marathon. Also going to that part of the state were Earl Ince, jr., C. B. Berry, R. D. Brown and S. R. McKinnon. They left Friday.

Mrs. Stone was very excited over being allowed to go. Not many husbands will take their wives on a deer hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Peeples and Mr. and Mrs. Appleton Boyd are near Rock Springs hunting.

THOMAS E. PIRTLE and R. E. Ponce are hunting elk in Wyoming. At least that is what they went after. A member of one of the families stated that last year they brought back mountain cabbage.

Joe Telford, Nathan Payne and Dr. John Broome left Friday morning for Mason on a deer hunt. C.

Luncheon Is Held By Cooper Club Members

After a covered dish luncheon and a visit to view Mrs. J. P. Pace's food supply, the Cooper Home Demonstration club members met in a business session and learned that there is enough vitamin B in one pork chop to supply the needs for that vitamin for a day.

"Vitamin B is not destroyed by freezing," said Miss Clara Pratt, "but it may be destroyed by canning or by over cooking and although the loin of the pig is not the only source of this vitamin, lean pork is the best food source for vitamin B."

Mrs. Frank French presided for a business session. Mrs. Pace gave a council report. Mrs. O. R. Copeland discussed "Folk Before Farms," which was a written pamphlet by Miss Mildred Horton, extension service specialist.

Those present were Mesdames Boyd Coleman, W. E. Alexander, E. R. Slater, C. T. Potts, French, J. F. Kerr, L. F. Lincecum, J. F. Sullivant, A. B. Allen, L. D. Bruce, L. C. Brown, C. M. Boggus, L. E. Conway, C. L. Boyd, E. F. Campbell, Ben McGregor and Copeland.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bruce.

Shallowater Club Has Election Of Officers

The Shallowater Home Demonstration club met in the club kitchen recently with Miss Mamie Crump as hostess. A program on "Faith of Our Fathers," was given. The following officers were elected: chairman, Mrs. A. F. Reese; vice-chairman, Miss Crump; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Fay Luck; council members, Mesdames Reese, S. H. Robinson and A. A. Greer.

Yard demonstrators named were Mesdames Luck, T. A. McClure and food demonstrators, Mesdames Henry Mahoney and Bob Crump.

Others attending were Mesdames W. P. Lupton, I. C. Elliott, H. V. Newman, A. C. Wright, W. W. Stanton and John Hamlin.

H. (Brownie) Hamilton and his brother, Walter Hamilton, who met him in Fort Worth, are hunting in New Mexico. Brownie Hamilton will return to Lubbock in about a week.

It was certainly good to see all the graduates and exes back in town for a few hours. One of the first ones we saw was Bo Williams of San Angelo, former graduate manager of the Tech Red Raiders.

Love,
Lou.

Nazis Making Another Determined Attempt To Break The British Blockade

But Adventure Faces Trouble

BY FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Nazis are making another attempt to break the British blockade, the first on a sizable scale since early in the war.

The start of this adventure can scarcely be called auspicious. Two of the four German freighters which left Tampico, packed to the beamends with material to keep the German war machine going, ran into distress before they were out of sight of land. One of them is burning, the other back in port with machinery trouble. Still another ship, heading eastward from Colombia, is reported to have been sent to the bottom by the British navy's Caribbean squadron.

Significance Is Seen

Nevertheless, the fact that these ships in such number are leaving the ports where they have sheltered for more than a year—and leaving with every evidence of haste—has considerable significance.

First of all, it is evidence of the steady, silent pressure which the garrote of the British blockade is applying to the neck of Germany.

Second, it illustrates the Nazi belief that their U-boats and planes and the length of the Axis coastline have so weakened the British Atlantic patrols that it may now be possible to bring contraband cargoes from the western hemisphere.

Third, and perhaps most important, the departure of these ships may be timed to precede an offensive against Gibraltar, which is vital to Britain not only as the guardian of the western Mediterranean but as a blockade base for southern Europe and Africa.

May Be Confident

In other words, the Nazis and their Italian friends may be confident that by the time the German freighters get to Spain, where most of them appear to be headed, Gibraltar won't be British and the warship patrols either will be sewed up in the Mediterranean or engaged in urgent business elsewhere.

This is no isolated straw in the wind about Gibraltar. Right now Ramon Serrano Suner, brother-in-law of Francisco Franco and foreign minister of Spain, is traveling toward Berlin.

Senor Serrano Suner is the Azis' best friend in Spain. Even if it is not quite time for him to discuss passage of German troops through Spain toward Gibraltar, Serrano Suner is very much interested indeed in breaking the British blockade, for it is pinching Spain, too, and Spain is hungry.

So it is safe to say that Spain will do all she can to help the Axis open the sea lanes again. Spain already has performed preliminary service by moving into the once-internationalized zone of Tangier, hard across the Gibraltar straits from the frowning British rock.

EARLY CROP HARVESTED

LEVELLAND — Approximately 75 per cent of the early cotton in this part of Hockley county is gathered. Late crops is being picked. Feed harvesting is making good progress.

STITCH WITHOUT HITCH—To accommodate plane patrons with a constant urge to put by some stitches, one airline has installed crochet kits. Here, Andrea Johnson, a passenger, does a crocheted collar while Stewardess Billie Naylor looks on.

Auxiliary Plans For Christmas Bazaar

The women of St. Paul's Episcopal auxiliary are planning their annual Christmas bazaar to be held late in December and this month they are attending a sewing each week.

Monday the members will meet with Mrs. John A. Winslow, 1510 Avenue X for an all-day sewing. A luncheon will not be served. At 2 o'clock they will go to Seaman hall for a regular meeting of the auxiliary.

Unit three of the auxiliary will meet at 3 o'clock at the hall following the general meeting.

November 25 the regional meeting will be held at the hall and a luncheon will be held with unit two in charge. Delegates from Big Spring, Odessa and Lamesa will attend. Mrs. Carl Bloomshield of Big Spring, district president, will speak.

November 27 another all-day sewing will be held at the home of Mrs. Carl Longabaugh, 3004 Twenty-second street.

Fellowship Meeting Will Be Held Here

A fellowship meeting for members of more than a score of congregations of the Church of God will be held in the local church, 424 Avenue G, starting this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, R. M. Nolen, pastor, has announced.

The district is a large one and extends from east of Spur, to the New Mexico state line on the west and from Lubbock south through Dawson county. Regular church services will be held by the church Sunday.

A cordial invitation to persons interested to attend was given by the pastor.

Days Of Old Circus Are About Numbered

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 16 (AP)—Next year may be your last chance to see a real old-fashioned circus.

Norman Bel Geddes, the streamline designer who created the New York World's fair highway Futurama, joined the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus today to start a two-year modernization project calculated to produce for the season of 1942 a "big show" as different from the traditional circus as modern cars are from the model-T.

The elephants, clowns and acrobats will still be there, he guaranteed, but most of the exterior paraphernalia will be different—including, instead of the conventional "big top," a canvas auditorium without poles, suspended from huge portable steel towers 160 feet high.

PLAN UNION SERVICE

Spur churches will hold a union Thanksgiving service next Sunday in the Methodist church there. The service previously had been announced for today.

Aged Man Is Victorious In Battle With Wounded Buck

Details of a hand-to-horn struggle between an 83-year-old man and a 200-pound, 11-point buck were related here Saturday by a home again-gone again deer hunter.

The hunter was Tom Ansley, 2138 Nineteenth street, who failed to get a buck on his first hunt in New Mexico last week but has returned there to make another attempt.

Hero o the battle with the buck was Zenas A. Curtis, 83, resident of Cimarron, N. M., for 73 years, the father of Mrs. Sam T. Ansley, 2138 Nineteenth, and the grandfather of Tom Ansley.

As related by Mrs. Ansley, the party of hunters established camp about 50 miles from Cimarron. On the day of the adventure, Tom and the other hunters left the camp early while Curtis remained behind. Not long after he spotted a deer from the camp site and shot it, discovering later that the bullet creased the buck's neck.

However, it fell and he approached intending to sever its jugular vein with his hunting knife, leaving his rifle a few feet away. About that time the buck sprang to its feet. Curtis grasped it by one of its antlers and the struggle began during the course of which the aged man's knife was knocked from his hand.

According to the story related by Mrs. Ansley, her father finally succeeded in bracing the antlers of the buck against a tree trunk. Then he sprawled at full length upon the ground in position to drag his rifle by his boot toe within reach of his hand. By then, the buck was almost exhausted and Curtis succeeded in shooting it before it could escape.

Curtis received numerous bruises and minor lacerations during the battle.

Martin-Bumpass Vows Read Friday Night

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bumpass, 2402 Avenue U, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Billy Hoyt Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Martin of this city. The service was read Friday night.

The couple is to spend the weekend at Lawton, Okla. Mr. Martin, a graduate of Lubbock High school, is a sophomore student at Texas Technological college. The bride is a senior at L. H. S.

They are at home at 1519 Twenty-third street.

Cleanup Of Land To Start In 30 Days

The cleanup of approximately 30 acres of city owned-land now littered with hundreds of automobile frames will begin within less than 30 days, according to information given Saturday by George Reinhardt and Ed Hambright.

They were awarded salvage privileges on that portion of the dump at a meeting of the city commission last week on a bid of $150.

The work, as explained by Reinhardt, will involve the use of a hydraulic press capable of exerting a pressure of approximately 3,600 pounds per square inch and huge power-operated shears of sufficient strength to clip the metal bodies into lengths sufficiently small to be fed into the press. The contractors said that the equipment will be set up within about 30 days.

The metal will be pressed into bales measuring approximately 18 by 14 by 12 inches weighing from 90 to 130 pounds. Preliminary estimates are that a minimum of 400 tons of metal will be salvaged from the bodies which represent an accumulation of many years.

Under terms of the contract, Reinhardt and Hambright are required to start work clearing a strip 30 feet in width across the land within 10 days for large mains which will connect the city with the new sewage disposal plant now under construction.

Girls Auxiliary Has Social On Friday

The Intermediate Girls of the Calvary Baptist auxiliary met Friday night with Mrs. Jud Leslie. Hostesses were Yvonne and Dorothy Leslie.

Activities For Scouts Slated

Matador, Brownfield, Plainview, Seagraves, Petersburg and Lubbock will be scene of special activities in South Plains Boy Scout council during the approaching week, according to Jack O. Stone, council executive.

Matador will be scene of a cub pack organization training course Monday night and of an eastern district committee meeting Tuesday night. George Link of Spur is district chairman.

Courts To Be Held

Courts of honor will be held in Plainview and Seagraves Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. H. B. Earthman is chairman at Plainview and Gene McCullough at Seagraves.

The executive committee of southwestern district will meet in the Brownfield courthouse Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to L. C. Heath of Brownfield. A leadership training course is scheduled in Petersburg Friday night. Clyde Martin is chairman.

In Lubbock, the fifth session of a cub leadership training course is scheduled in Junior High school Monday night at 7:30 o'clock and the second and third sessions of a scout leadership course in First Methodist church Monday and Tuesday nights at 7:30 o'clock. Clarence Whiteside will be instructor, assisted Monday night by W. C. Cole and E. V. Hicks and Tuesday night by Bates Witt and Roy Hooten.

L. R. Grimes, chairman, announced that council-wide mobilization week will be observed in participation with the national emergency program Nov. 25-30.

Troops and cub packs which were not reviewed last week will be reached this week, Stone said.

American casualties in the World war were 126,000 killed, 324,000 wounded and 4,500 taken prisoner or missing.

Current estimates of the earth's age made by scientists run at least 3,000,000,000 or 4,000,000,000 years.

Bridge Club Meeting Is At McCauley Home

Recreation Bridge club met with Mrs. Tim Moore and Mrs. Howard McCauley Friday afternoon at the latter's home, near town. Mrs. Lester Burdine scored high. Mrs. Joy Wolfskill scored second high. Guests were Mesdames A. C. McDavitt, Raymond Flanagan, M. K. Dean and Eurdine.

A refreshment plate of pumpkin pie, whipped cream, coffee and turkey salad was served to Mesdames J. L. Stimpson, Clyde Ragland, H. J. Crawford, Ray Darwin, F. E. Carter, J. H. Fowler, W. B. Pool. Plate favors were individual sachets.

During the past year, a great deal has been printed and said in automobile circles about new kinds of "drives" for the 1941 model cars. As a result, many people have come to Oldsmobile with natural and pertinent questions:
"Are the 'drives' that other manufacturers offer similar to Oldsmobile's Hydra-Matic Drive?"
"If not, how does Hydra-Matic Drive differ from the others?"
In order to clear up any confusion or misunderstanding that may prevail in the public mind, Oldsmobile takes this opportunity to publish the statements of fact at the right!
ONLY ONE KIND OF DRIVE eliminates the clutch! . . . .
ONLY ONE KIND OF DRIVE eliminates gear-shifting! . .

WHY OLDS' HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE* IS SO DIFFERENT AND IN A CLASS BY ITSELF!
Ordinary "new drives" are based on the principle of fluid coupling. Oldsmobile's exclusive Hydra-Matic Drive is a combination of fluid coupling and completely automatic transmission. It eliminates clutch and clutch pedal. It does away with the gear shifter. It provides a special fourth speed for cruising. It gives you a special pick-up gear for passing other cars and climbing steep hills. The "no clutch, no shift" Hydra-Matic Drive is optional at extra cost on all Olds models for 1941. Try it . . . there's nothing else like it in the world!

Sweeping Shake-Up Among Top Officials Of Labor Relations Board Looming

New Policies Are Indicated

BY GEORGE E. REEDY, JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—President Roosevelt's nomination of Harry A. Millis to membership on the national labor relations board appeared today to presage a sweeping shake-up among the board's top officials and adoption of more conservative policies.

Within a few hours after Mr. Roosevelt sent Millis' nomination to the Senate yesterday, three key labor board officials resigned because the president did not re-appoint Madden. Other resignations were expected.

More Conservative Policy

It was felt that Millis probably would team with Board Member William M. Leiserson in a new and more conservative majority. This would make Member Edwin S. Smith, who with Madden had constituted the majority, the dissenting minority.

Madden and Smith have been accused of being pro-CIO and anti-business. Leiserson appointed more than a year ago has dissented frequently, and has sought to oust several board officials. He was outvoted by Madden and Smith.

Leiserson sought most vigorously the removal of Board Secretary Nathan Witt, who was criticized by the House labor board investigating committee. Witt, Associate General Counsel Thomas I. Emerson, and Chief Administrative Examiner Alexander B. Hawes resigned yesterday.

Disappointment Expressed

Smith wrote to Madden to express his "profound disappointment" that Mr. Roosevelt had not re-appointed him.

Madden's nomination to be a judge of the court of claims accompanied that of Millis to the Senate.

The nomination of Millis is viewed as a step toward peace between the AFL and the CIO. Madden has been condemned by the Federation and praised by the CIO. AFL President William Green praised the Millis appointment. CIO President John L. Lewis declined to comment on it but Millis now is grievance umpire for General Motors corporation and the CIO's United Automobile Workers.

They Say These Trees Are Supernatural; One Answers Wishes; Other Forms Profile

MOUNT VERNON, Ia., Nov. 16 (AP)—"Comb your hair in the shade of the Gingko tree, make a wish, and it'll come true," says a legend at Cornell college here.

That's what Jean Beauchamp, Cedar Rapids, Ia., senior is doing, but what the "wish" was, she wouldn't tell.

The Gingko tree, from Japan, sheds its leaves only at night. Twice in recent years the Cornell Gingko has been woven into novels written by graduates of the college.

MADISONVILLE, Ky., Nov. 16 (AP)—Nature and legend have built this monument to Mandy Holloman, a negro woman dead 24 years.

The white oak stands just outside Madisonville where, if you believe in ghost stories, a "ha'nt" keeps silent vigil. The foliage forms a perfect image of Mandy's head.

The woman was slain by a bullet near the tree and her death never has been solved. Legend insists she planted it and died while caring for it. When the moon is just right to cast a silhouette scores of Kentucklans drive here to see the tree.

Lubbock Man Is Owner Of A Rare Collection; Pieces Of Jade Are Almost Priceless

BY OPAL McMAHON
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Twenty years ago Bert Kahn became a collector, and five years later he eliminated prints from his collection of paintings and etchings and retained originals only.

Today he is the owner of a group of paintings, etchings, vases and other objects valuable enough and rare enough to make any collector's mouth water.

To Bring Collection Here

Kahn, who lives at 2630 Twentieth street, formerly lived in Dallas and it was there he began collecting. Most of his collection is in storage, but he anticipates bringing it, in entirety, to Lubbock.

Even a person ignorant of their true value is likely to find it difficult to remove his eyes from two vases in Kahn's possession.

The vases, of dark green jade dating from the Ch'ien Lung period, A. D. (1736-1795), convince the beholder that this talk of the fascination of jade is not all just talk. The vases are insured for $2,000, an estimated 20 per cent of their value.

Obtained From Estate

Kahn obtained the vases, which are spinach green jade with a mutton-fat streak in one, from an estate.

Eighteen inches high and seven inches wide, they are mounted on two and one-half inch teak wood bases. Tops of the vases bear figures of woo-dogs, male and female. The woo-dog, according to Chinese superstition, is a good luck omen. The vases originally were taken from a Chinese temple.

Symmetrical and yet carved by primitive methods, the vases bear an unusual design, the full significance of which is not known by Kahn. Even the dots carved on the vase have some meaning, however. They are always cool to the touch, a characteristic of jade.

Does Kahn have much jade in his collection?

"When you fool with jade, you have to have all of this West Texas oil field," was his answer.

Chinaman Borrows Pieces

Kahn pulled two small pieces of jade from his pocket one day in a Lubbock cafe when reaching for his car keys. A Chinaman employed in the cafe saw the pieces and "went wild." He asked to borrow the pieces so he might fondle them and he has not yet returned them.

When Kahn became interested in jade, he saw a great private collection. The owner, Ch'ien Lung, explained the different types of jade, such as mutton-fat, imperial, spinach green, brown jade, gray jade, black jade and different colors intermingled. Ch'ien Lung told Kahn that "to know jade, you must understand it," and he read a translation and tribute to jade.

Has Fine Qualities

Jade possesses five qualities, according to the translation. It is moist and glossy, possessing the characteristics of "jen" (kind and loving). Upon examining its exterior, its interior is revealed to those who understand the stone, for it resembles the character of "yi" (perfect understanding and good treatment). Its sound is musical and far-reaching, like the character of "tsi" (intelligent). Although it may be cut, it retains to itself completeness, thereby displaying an inherent characteristic of self-defense like the character "yung" (brave). It is without blemish when clear, similar to the character "chieh" (pure).

Jade has such fascination that collectors have been known to save pieces of jade in preference to loved ones from burning homes. A Dallas woman allegedly locked her chauffeur in a garage, determined to keep him there until a piece of jade was returned.

The vases are not the only valuable objects in Kahn's collection.

The collector has approximately 50 prints and paintings.

Included are two originals in black and white by James McNeill Whistler, "The Forge" and "Milk Bank" and two etchings by Rembrandt, one showing the head of an old man and the other a beggar clapping hands.

He owns Robert Vonnoh's painting of Daniel Chester French, who sculptored the Lincoln Memorial in Washington; three paintings by Alexander Harrison, one of the greatest marine painters America has ever produced and only American artist given a post to teach in the Paris salon; two by old masters, dating from the 17th century, one showing the Madonna and Child and the other the Christ family.

Kahn loaned two Doria armors to the Sacramento museum and the armors were recently returned on his request. One is from the Doria's family and in every detail is made like the original, which is in the private museum of the Doria family. The original of the other also is in the Doria private museum in Rome and is believed to have been owned by Andrea Doria, a Genoese admiral who died in 1560.

He has the paintings "The Bridge", by Vonnoh; "The Churner," by Millet; "The Pair", by Jules Emile Saintin, painter of historical portraits, pastellist and draughtsman, born in 1829 and died in 1894; and Rocky Mountain Peak, a typical Colorado scene, by Albert Bierstadt, famous landscape-painter, who made a sketching tour in the Rocky mountains in 1857 and from that and other visits to the west gathered materials for his most important pictures.

Heavy Turkey Loss Following Storms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (U.P.) — The agricultural marketing service estimates that approximately 1,325,000 turkeys—four per cent of the U. S. crop—were lost during last week's snowstorms in the Rocky mountain and middlewestern states.

The service said the storm and blocked roads may delay movement of the birds for the Thanksgiving market.

Wholesale turkey prices were slightly higher than those of last year. On the Chicago market young toms ranged from 21 1-2 to 22 cents compared with 22 cents last year while young hens sold at from 26 to 27 1-2 cents against 25 cents last year.

Sakhalin island, off the coast of Asia, is divided between Russia and Japan. It is valuable because of oil and fisheries.

Club Boys Given Chicago Trips

Five 4-H club boys from district 2 of the state extension service, including one Lubbock boy, were among the 19 Texas club boys awarded free trips to Chicago by the Santa Fe railroad this year, the annual congress being held in December.

Louis Countess of Idalou, 18, senior in the high school was Lubbock county winner.

Others are: Corliss H. Currie, 17, of Happy, for Swisher county; Gordon Latta, 17, of Olton, a Hale county boy, however, for that county; Dalton Mimms, 19, of Ralls, for Crosby county; Jim Bert Bobbitt, 17, Lockney, for Floyd county.

Have Best Records

Educational awards are given each year by the railroad to boys in each county the railroad operates in, with the best club records. Selection is made by the state extension service from among reports submitted by county farm agents. Selections are on individual records.

Checks covering expenses of the boys to the congress, held each year in connection with the Chicago International Livestock show, are sent by President E. J. Engel of the railroad, with suitable certificates.

Mimms is president of the Owens 4-H club and has completed four years of club work. Ralph Howe, county farm agent, reports. Bobbitt is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bobbitt of Sterley, Floyd county and won his trip on a record for three acres of cotton developed by Joe Jennings, former Lubbock county farm agent and feeding out two steers and five lambs.

FEED AT SEAGRAVES

SEAGRAVES—J. S. Bridwell of Lubbock is putting 1,200 head of cattle in the feeding pens here. He expects to feed out 3,000 head. Ten thousand tons of ensilage have been stored in trench silos.

Lake Superior is the largest of the Great Lakes.

Floyd County Youth Wins Texas Award

FLOYDADA, Nov. 16 — David Beatty, a McCoy community 4-H club boy, was awarded the Texas award for the best essay on "Efficient Use of Electricity on the Farm," in a statewide contest sponsored by the Westinghouse company of Pittsburgh, Pa., D. F. Bredthauer, county farm agent, announced here.

The award is a free trip to Chicago to the International Livestock show, Nov. 29 to Dec. 7, and to the 4-H club congress in session at that time.

Beatty has been in club work for three years. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Beatty and his projects include feeding of pigs, dairy calves and baby beef-type turkeys, as well as growing of cotton. He wrote the essay from personal knowledge of the use of electricity on the farm, his parents being members of the Floyd County Electrical Cooperative, Inc.

Fifty Per Cent Of AAA Payments Made

Approximately 50 per cent of the expected Agricultural Adjustment administration payments to the 2,700 farmers in Lubbock county with work sheets for the 1940 program, has been paid according to C. T. Wasson, administrater, who reports $684,012.49 has been received.

Cotton parity payments, on 3,968 checks, amount to $511,877.07; agricultural conservation performance payments are $112,135.42 for 456 checks.

Total expected, Wasson said, was approximately $1,350,000. Payments will be made on wheat, soil building feed and cotton, including parity. Nearly all of the parity payments have been received.

Plans For AAA Program In Area To Be Outlined In Meetings Here This Week

All Phases Will Be Discussed

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Plans for the administration of the 1941 program of Agricultural Adjustment Administration program for district 2 will be outlined by state administrative officers to a two-day meeting Tuesday and Wednesday in Lubbock hotel, C. T. Wasson, county administrator, said Saturday.

An attendance of at least six persons is expected from each of the 19 counties, including the administrator, county farm and home demonstration agents and members of the county AAA committees. Others also may be here from county offices.

Other Matters To Be Talked

Others matters to be discussed will include the coming cotton marketing quota election Dec. 7, the cotton mattress program for low income farm families and cotton and other crop acreage allotments.

Meetings will be held in the East ballroom of the hotel. A schedule has been arranged for general programs Tuesday morning and afternoon, group meetings late Tuesday and a general meeting Wednesday morning.

K. J. Edwards of College Station, district agent leader, will preside Tuesday and V. L. Cade, Carlisle, district committeeman on the state AAA group on Wednesday.

Other Speakers Scheduled

Edwards will give a statement of the program at the opening at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Other speakers and subjects will be, B. P. Vance, assistant state administrator, a statement of the 1941 program; Lester Young, also a state administrative assistant, the 1941 handbook; starting at 1:30, Fred Rennels, in charge of the range program will discuss that plan for 1941; R. T. Price, administrative assistant, the mattress program; P. C. Colgin, commodity loan director, commodity loans; Price on appeals.

From 3 to 5 o'clock groups will meet as follows: committeemen, county farm agents, administrative officers, home demonstration agents. George Slaughter, of the state committee, will speak on fiscal and associational matters as will B. E. Nowotny, accountant.

Miss Lida Cooper, district home demonstration agent leader, will meet with her group.

Wednesday morning the meeting opens at 8:30 with a statement by Chairman Cade. Glen D. Scott, statistician will speak on state and county allotments; Cliff H. Day, senior field officer, will discuss cotton programs and E. M. Holmgreen, administrator of the state will give a summary of the situation.

TO BE ORDAINED

Strauss Atkisson, of Littlefield, a student at Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene, is to be ordained into the Baptist ministry at a special service there next Sunday afternoon in First Baptist church with Rev. Ray Shahan, pastor, in charge. Born in Florence, Texas, he was reared in Littlefield, graduated from the high school there in 1935, was employed in a grocery store and in 1936 married Miss Gertrude Yohner. They later enrolled in the Abilene school. The couple have a daughter, Nancy, 17 months old. He has accepted a pastorate at Bethel church, in the Sweetwater Baptist association.

Camera Visits With Lubbockites - - Hubert L. Allen, Utilities Executive . . . .

H. L. Allen's Civic Service Record In Lubbock Is Like Minutes Of Organizations

ELECTRICIT. has always held a peculiar fascination for him. As a boy he tinkered with wireless telegraph sets and with the advent of radio he was one of the early "hams" of the Southwest.

His amateur radio station, License 5TL, was the first station of any kind licensed in this section of the country.

Back in 1921, 1922 and 1923 when radio was beginning to become practical, he spent hours day and night at his little station.

Hubert L. Allen, vice president of Texas-New Mexico Utilities company, is probably one of the best informed men on the South Plains on his industry. He worked as a boy in installation of power plants in Missouri; he supervised the electrical construction in one of the largest American hospitals built in France after the World war and he has been directly connected with the electrical industry for the past quarter-century.

Visit his office over at the utilities company and one of the first publications you'll notice on his desk is "The Electrical World," trade publication of the electrical industry. Let a lineman come into his office and he can "talk on even terms" with him regarding his problems or listen to him converse with the power engineer and there again he knows what he's talking about.

Although he was hindered from securing his degree in electrical engineering because of the World war, H. L. Allen probably has more information on the work stored up in the back of his brain than many holders of such degrees. He constantly reads new data on the industry and subscribes to many publications which give him information on what's going on in electricity.

Native Of Arkansas

Born in Searcy, White county, Arkansas, Nov. 19, 1894, Hubert Leicester Allen was the eldest of six children of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Allen. His parents are still living at Senath, Mo., his early childhood home. Three brothers of the Lubbock man all reside in Los Angeles, Calif. They are: Eugene C., James H. and Charles M. Allen.

Hubert Allen's early schooling was in the grade and high school at Senath and after finishing high school he entered the Southwest State Teachers college at Cape Girardeau where he studied two years when the war caught up with him.

Desirous of continuing his engineering work in the army, Allen was transferred to the U. S. Engineers a short time after enlistment in the summer of 1917. He went overseas in January, 1918, served during the entire U. S. participation in the war and with detached service after the Armistice in the construction of a 60,000-patient American hospital at Mesves-Bulcy, France. He was one of 47 men selected from A. E. F. ranks to aid in supervision of the hospital construction.

Allen landed back in the United States in the summer of 1919 and "nobody paid any attention to us for the war was over a long time ago." He was discharged at Camp Taylor, Kentucky and immediately made straight for St. Louis and the offices of the Missouri Utilities company for a job he had previously held.

He was informed the company, its Texas branch, had purchased properties at Lubbock, Texas, and a job was available there. Having heard praises of the South Plains from the lips of an army friend, V. E. Lawrence of Plainview, now of Midland, Allen immediately grabbed the chance to come to Lubbock, "because I had always wanted to come to Texas."

Came Here In 1919

Arriving here, July 25, 1919, Allen was local manager, general flunkey, etc. of the new property which had two other employes in the office, one lineman and three men in the plant. The company now serves 11,500 customers in 30 towns in this area and has a total of 127 employes. The Lubbock office alone has 32 employes.

Hubert Allen's rise from local manager to division manager and to a vice presidency of the company hasn't just been happenstance. He's worked at the job, not only of building his company but in the advancement of his home town and the territory surrounding it.

Active In Lubbock Organizations

Allen's record of service with various organizations of Lubbock is like reading the minutes of these various groups through the years. He is a past commander of Allen-Bros. Post of the American Legion and charter member of that organization. He is a past president and at present a director of the Rotary club, serving his third term as such. He is a past commander of the Lubbock Commandery of Yellowhouse Masonic lodge.

He is a past president of the West Texas Museum association and one of the leaders in the successful brick campaign to complete the building which closed last night. He is chairman of the National Defense Committee for the city of Lubbock. He has served at various times as chairman of the Lubbock County Red Cross chapter and a member of the Salvation Army board. He has served two terms as director of the Lubbock Country club.

Allen is a director in the Texas Manufacturers' association, is a member of the Southwest Ice Manufacturers' association. His company being a member of the Edison Electric Institute, he is vastly interested in this organization.

Allen attends the Baptist church and the Downtown Bible class.

Golf is his favorite pastime and hobby and there's nothing he enjoys more than a "hot game" with his cronies at the Lubbock Country club. Football and baseball are his "spectator sports."

Allen was married to Miss Bernice Blankenship in Amarillo, Oct. 9, 1919. The couple attended high school together and their marriage culminated a seven-year engagement which extended through the World war. Mrs. Allen's home was in Senath, Mo., also, and she and Hubert Allen were classmates in high school.

They have three children, Dorothy, 20, a sophomore in Texas Technological college; Hubert, 17, senior in Lubbock High school and Marjory, 11, Dupre student. The family resides at 2124 Seventeenth street.

You don't know this man Allen? Go over to the utilities company or attend a meeting of the Rotary, American Legion, West Texas Museum, B. C. D., or other organizations and you'll notice an alert, bright-faced, sharp-eyed man with almost a perpetual grin on his face taking part in the proceedings. That's Hubert L. Allen.

Nation's Realtors Gain Best Results By Classified Ads

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16. (AP)—Classified advertising in newspapers, the National Association of Real Estate Boards was told today, is by far the most effective medium for real estate advertising.

Kenneth S. Keyes, Miami realtor, reported to the association's brokers division that about two-thirds of real estate boards questioned throughout the country spent more than 70 per cent of their annual advertising appropriations in the classified pages of their local newspapers.

Electric-Eye Will Do Almost Everything But Change Your Oil In Big New Tunnel

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—When you drive your car through New York's new $58,000,000 tunnel, there's an "electric-eye" that will do almost everything but change your oil.

The two-tube, PWA-financed tunnel from midtown Manhattan, under the East river to Queens, was formally opened to traffic yesterday.

Should a truck more than twelve-and-a-half feet high approach either entrance, an "electric-eye" sounds a warning signal and a guard informs the truck driver he'll have to take another route because his truck is too high.

Lights Turned On

From these dials, the control man can tell how many cars are moving north or south in both tubes, what the tun nlecs'arbon-monoxide content is, whether there's a fire or a wreck and exactly where it is—all from photo electric cell action.

At one entrance, one "eye" counts the cars entering; at the exit, another beam of light subtracts the number leaving. A dial on the master panel tells the control man exactly how many cars are within the tubes.

The same count is recorded for traffic officers on 18-inch dials at the tunnel entrances and the flow of traffic is regulated accordingly.

When the carbon-monoxide content of the tunnel air becomes greater than 2½ parts in 10,000, a warning light flashes on the control panel and the ventilator fans are started or speeded up.

Police Building Is To Start This Week

Materials will be moved on the site Monday for the police department building to be erected at Ninth street and Avenue J, according to information given Saturday by R. C. Ball, contractor.

Actual work will be started Tuesday or Wednesday with 150 working days being allowed for completion of the building, he said. Ball's bid for the contract was $27,999.

The new building will include the municipal courtroom and city jail space with a designed capacity for approximately 70 prisoners in addition to offices for the operation of various departments. The jail capacity can be increased when and if needed. The present city jail is designed for a maximum of 20 prisoners, but at times, more than 80 have been confined there overnight.

The moon is approximately 240,000 miles from the earth.

Soil Election Plans To Be Made Monday

Plans for holding a Lubbock County Soil Conservation District election on Dec. 14, will be made tomorrow at a meeting of the county land use planning committee in the district court room, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

W. O. Perkins has been chosen as superintendent of the election. Final plans are to be outlined.

Other important matters will be discussed. Henry Mahoney is chairman and C. C. Jobson, county farm agent, is secretary. Communities and farm organizations as well as federal agencies, are represented on the body

Contractor Is Given Suspended Sentence

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16. (AP) — Summa L. Caldwell, New Orleans contractor, was given a suspended sentence and placed on five year probation late today by Federal Judge Wayne G. Borah on a charge of conspiring to defraud the United States through PWA-supervised contracts.

Sentence was passed in this case arising out of the Louisiana political scandals after Edmund E. Talbot, counsel for Caldwell, entered a plea of nolo contendere for Caldwell at the latter's arraignment.

Caldwell was indicted by the federal grand jury on September 30, 1939, along with the late Monte E. Hart, scandals figure who committed suicide last September.

MORE IRRIGATION WELLS

IDALOU—Farmers in eastern Lubbock county are becoming more irrigation minded as reports of cotton yields of those few who have wells are being made. There are between 12 and 15 wells, it is estimated, and all of them have made good yields. One man reported six bales picked from five acres the first time around.

COCHRAN RANGES GOOD

LEHMAN—Ranges in this part of Cochran county are good. Recent rains have helped native grass. Crops are nearly harvested.

Rains Of Great Aid To Wheat

Rains which fell before mid-November greatly aided South Plains wheat and farmers are of the opinion that a larger percentage of the planted acreage will germinate this fall than last.

Moisture received the first week in the month encouraged farmers to finish sowing. Much of the acreage had been dry planted, or dusted in.

Later rains helped the dry planted seed to germinate.

More Moisture Needed

Virtually all of the crop allotments under the Agricultural Adjustment administration regulations for 1941 have been planted.

Some sections indicate more moisture is needed within the next few weeks. Showers were not heavy enough to go very deep and the roots were not well nourished by the rain.

Crop reports from various counties give the following:

Swisher-Kress, a quarter inch rain greatly helped wheat, nearly all has been sown: Happy, more rain needed, a small acreage is yet to be planted; Tulia, not enough moisture to go down to the roots, more needed.

Crosby Sowing Finished

Crosby—Crosbyton, wheat sowing is almost finished, a good half-inch rain gave good moisture; Ralls, wheat almost all sown, the crop that is up is looking good; Lorenzo, more to be planted but what was in before the rains is up to a good stand.

Floyd—Floydada, nearly all the wheat has been planted and practically is up and growing; Lockney, dry land wheat needs more rain, irrigated wheat looks good.

Hale—Abernathy, moisture helped dry planted wheat, 90 per cent of the crop is planted; season is much better since rains; Hale Center, wheat nearly all in, between 60,000 and 70,000 acres estimated in crop in central Hale county; Plainview, recent moisture helped wheat considerably.

To Be Used For Grazing

Idalou, farmers expecting grazing soon from small patches of wheat, with many farms having some for fall pasture.

Muleshoe, underground moisture here is short of normal for the year; planting of wheat is delayed, due to dry conditions; irrigated wheat in good condition.

Castro county, November rains have been short and wheat, sown dry, has not come up; more moisture is needed to get enough wheat up for pastures; some irrigated wheat in good shape.

Briscoe county, wheat was largely dry planted and not all has come up; moisture is needed before germination can become general.

"Lady Landscapers," Joke 40 Years Ago, Now Thrive; School Turns Out Experts

By NEA Service

GROTON, Mass., Nov. 16.—Forty years ago girls wearing the 1900 version of smocks and slacks were looked at askance, or smiled at with amused tolerance, when, for the first time, they marched, trowels in hand, to design other people's gardens.

Today, "lady gardeners" are no longer called on merely to arrange flowers in a vase, to advise politely on the use of perennials in the neighbor's backyard.

Today they are "lady landscapers," and have learned how to survey, grade a road, drain a swamp, prune, plant and spray. They are employed by real estate companies, park departments, village schools and just plain home-owners.

Woman Was Pioneer

Much of the present nation-wide interest in community garden developments, garden clubs and landscape designing as a business for women is due to the foresight of Mrs. Edward Gilchrist Low.

One year after Harvard University had opened the only school of landscape architecture in America—for men only—Mrs. Low founded a similar school, for women, at Groton.

This month eighty-year-old Elizabeth Hill, first graduate, stopped her rambles with her nature study class in Groton to help celebate the fortieth anniversary of women's entrance into the profession of landscape architecture.

At Lowthorpe, the rambling old Colonial house in Groton, distinguished women landscape designers from all parts of Canada and the United States gathered to talk about a profession which is one of the few to offer girls an equal chance with men to rise to the top.

They Work Around The World

Graduates hav scattered, not only to the ends of the United States, but have taken American methods abroad. In Yokohoma, Katherine Randall Boyce designed the gardens around the American consulate; last year Elizabeth Pattee, who hangs out her shingle in Boston, flew down to Trinidad to design both a house and the landscaping around it; up in Toronto, Frances McLeod, one of the founders of the Canadian Society of Landscape Architects, was called on to design a garden for a broadcasting station in Toronto.

Nathalie Simpson, left, of Bedford Hills, N. Y., and Rebecca Ames of Boston, study a design problem worked out by one of the other students at the Lowthrope School of Landscape Architecture for Women. With blueprints, models and working designs, the girls can plan gardens, parks, housing developments, drain swamps, build roads and do surveying.

Cameras and notebooks are tools the amateur must use before she plants, Edith H. Henderson says. A recent graduate of Lowthorpe, Miss Henderson won a competition to design the landscaping for an important housing development in a subdivision outside of Atlanta, Ga.

In common with other professional landscape architects, whose knowledge is based on a three-year graduate course, Miss Henderson believes the amateur profits most by a first-hand study of gardens and estates designed by top-notchers in the field.

Importations of foreign trees, shrubs, plants and flowers, new arrangement of ordinary material by these designers, some of whom command a price of $100 a day, help the home-gardener to visualize beauty spots she might never think out for herself.

Refugee Families Reach California

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16. (AP) — Families of two Methodist missionaries arrived here today from Japan enroute to their Texas homes.

They included Mrs. S. M. Hilburn and her four children, the youngest eight months old, on their way to Corsicana, and Mrs. J. J. Mickle, enroute with her two daughters to Amarillo.

Their husband's remained on duty as teachers in a Methodist boys' school at Kobe.

Plans Made For Turkey Exhibit

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 16.—Tentative program for the seventh annual Southwestern Dressed Turkey show, to be held in the municipal auditorium Dec. 3-5 has been announced by Charles B. Martin, county farm agent and show superintendent.

Turkey breeders from Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico are expected here for the opening day, Tuesday, Dec. 3, when an educational program will be held in the afternoon in the Hale county agricultural building auditorium. George P. McCarthy, extension service poultry husbandman, will be chairman.

Speakers Are Scheduled

Speakers will be, D. H. Reid, College Station, head of the poultry department, Texas A. & M. college, who speaks on "Fertility and Hatchability of Turkey Eggs;" R. M. Sherwood, College Station, chief, poultry division, Texas Agricultural Experiment service, who speaks on "Nutritional Requirements for Turkey Poults and Growing Stock"; S. J. Marsden, Beltsville, Md., turkey specialist, U. S. department of agriculture, Beltsville breeding station, who speaks on "Turkey Breeding and Market Demands."

Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock the show will officially open, with judging starting at 10:30 o'clock. At 2 o'clock a special program will be conducted by Miss Lucille Shultz, home demonstration agent for Hale county; the annual banquet will be at 7 o'clock.

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock a special program for breeders is to be held, with the annual auction sale at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Bidders from Amarillo, Lubbock and other towns, as well as Plainview, are expected.

Farm Briefs

TERRY RANGES GOOD

BROWNFIELD — Terry county ranchers report good rains of the first week in November have insured a good underground season for grass roots. Ranges are good and moisture will carry the grass through the winter.

MEADOW PROSPECTS GOOD

MEADOW — Northeastern Terry county farmers report a good underground season, with moisture enough to carry through until early spring. Ground breaking is expected to start after the first of the year.

CROPS WELL GATHERED

AMHERST—Central Lamb county crops are three-fourths gathered, farmers estimate. Ranges are in good shape and cattle are doing well. Sorghum and cotton yields have been good.

STILL GATHERING COTTON

O'DONNELL—Cotton is still being gathered in this part of Lynn and Dawson counties. Ginnings are expected to exceed estimates. Grain sorghum harvest is practically over with, the crop being short.

LYNN GINNINGS GOOD

TAHOKA—Lynn county gins have turned out 25,000 bales of cotton this season. Another 10,000 bales is expected to be gathered. Yields are better than expected. General conditions are good.

WILL SHIP CATTLE

MULESHOE — Last shipment of cattle from the VVN ranch of the W. E. Halsell estate near here, is expected to be made the last of the month. Twenty-five cars are to be shipped, it is said.

MANY SHEEP ON FEED

PLAINVIEW — Twenty thousand sheep are estimated to be on feed in this section, at this time. Farmers hope that wheat will be ready to graze within a short time.

All Right—why DO we buy Automobiles?

THIS is just between you and us and this newspaper, so we can be both frank and honest.

Don't you really buy a car for what it can do?

Doesn't the big kick come from being first off the mark and winging up hills as though they weren't there?

There's only one place in the world you can get such things—from a power plant that's up to its job.

But here's the interesting thing the new Buick proves: With enough power, you can have that flashing action—and economy too!

Our FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion let us use a standard high gear that has the same economical result as so-called gas-saving devices.

They step up mileage as much as 10% or 15%, wing you down the road at 50 on a 30-mile fuel diet.

They even make driving easier, since they give so much reserve power that you'll have less need for shifting gears, whether it's to top a hill or pick up quickly in slow-moving traffic.

We're not saying style and comfort and size don't count. We wouldn't have worked out "mass-stream" styling, BuiCoil Springing and Buick's new roominess if they didn't.

But when you can get these and pace-setter performance too—hadn't you better at least drive a Buick to find out about it?

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $935 for the Business Coupe

Hollywood On The Loose..

Joan Leslie Looks Like Bright Bet In 1941 Pictures

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16.— Behind the screen: Joan Leslie attracted attention and got a Warner contract because she could dance. So in her first picture, "High Sierra," she was cast as a girl with a club foot....But in justice to her and the talent scout it must be admitted that she looks like one of the brightest new dramatic bets for 1941.

FREDDIE BARTHOLOMEW is collecting dimes to buy a fighter plane in the name of his home town of Warminster. . . . March of Time is planning another feature-length film to use a lot of smuggled film on the invasions of Poland and Finland....In rehearsal is a stage play, "World Premiere," which satirizes Hollywood's craze for making long trips to open pictures. But the movies aren't likely to buy the play because nobody could decide where in the world to have the premiere of "World Premiere."

This Tops Fable

IT turns out now that the first actor nabbed by the draft wasn't Sterling Holloway, as first reported, but Richard Fiske, whose number was 158. But Hollywood didn't know about Fiske because he had registered under his real name of Thomas Ralph Potts.

THERE'S a fable about the agent who was held up one night and talked the bandit into paying back 10 per cent of the loot, as commission. But here's a true one to top it:

An agent lost a lot of money in a local gambling spot and went on the cuff for most of the amount. When weeks passed and telephoned hints hadn't done any good, the burly boss of the "club" visited the talent peddler and began describing in detail just what would happen to him if the debt wasn't paid, and quickly.

In the middle of the terrifying recital, the agent made a little rectangle of his thumbs and hands and began peering through it at the gambler in the way directors sometimes frame a scene to see how it will look on the screen. Presently he thumped his desk and exclaimed, "You're marvelous!"

"Me?" asked the startled tough guy.

"You!" said the agent. "You just forget that other little matter while I put your name in lights. You're the best bet for a screen heavy I've seen in 10 years. You'll be terrific!"

So the gambler thinks he's going to be an actor. And the agent will have a couple of months, anyway, to raise the money he owes.

Tech Student Heads Southern District

James Gunter, freshman agricultural student in Texas Technological college who was elected a vice president of Future Farmers of America Friday in Kansas City, Mo., will represent the Southern region of this country, embracing 12 states.

Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agricultural education at Tech, said honors were not new to young Gunter

For instance, Gunter was president of his local FFA chapter two years, vice president of the state organization one year, was the second highest ranking scholastic student in his class of 35 members last year, was awarded a $100 Sears scholarship in Tech this fall, received his American Farmer degree at the convention in Kansas City this week, was a member of the Claude livestock judging team that won second place at the state meet year before last and, last year, was a member of the Claude dairy cattle judging team that won second at the state.

His newest honor gives him an outstanding position in an organization that has a total paid membership of 260,000 young farmers.

Border Thrills Are At Palace

A crackling good comedy-romance, bristling with good, solid laughs, spiced with moments of song and drama, is awaiting theatergoers at the New Lindsey today in "Moon Over Burma," starring Dorothy Lamour, Robert Preston and Preston Foster.

Supported by a couple of fine players in Doris Nolan and Albert Basserman, the three leading performers start the merry ball rolling by getting together in Rangoon,

Both Fall In Love

It seems that Preston and Foster operate a teak logging business along with Basserman, who is blind; and they've snuck down to Rangoon without telling Basserman to borrow money to keep the business going.

After listening to Dorothy sing one of the two new songs she sings in the picture, both of the boys fall in love with her and they whisk her up into the hills.

There's a merry mixup in the romance angle as Miss Nolan, daughter of the gent from whom the boys borrowed the money, tells Preston that Foster is in love with Dotty. Dotty gets in bad with the natives along the line. But the main narrative hinges on the fact that the man who lent the money wants their business, and he sets "fifth columnists" to work to cook up a nice log jam, bringing the picture to a climax before anybody figures out who wins Miss Lamour.

Texas Frontier Drama

A drama of Texas frontier days, "Rangers Of Fortune," tops the program at the Palace this week.

Fred MacMurray, Patricia Morison, Albert Dekker, Gilbert Roland, Joseph Schildkraut and Dick Foran are featured.

The picture is action-studded from the first episode when MacMurray and his two comrades, Roland and Dekker, escape from a Mexican firing squad.

Find Desperate Exploits

Story of "Rangers of Fortune" derives its interest from the fact that MacMurray and his pals come to the aid of a beleaguered publisher and his granddaughter, when a land-grabbing gang threatens them with extinction. In the roles of champions of law they still find plenty of opportunity for desperate exploits, furious fist and gun fights, and even for romance.

Patricia Morison, in the romantic lead, shares the feminine interest of the picture with thirteen-year-old Betty Brewer, widely hailed new film find. And, consistent with his character as an adventurer, MacMurray is portrayed as losing Miss Morison to Dick Foran in the final sequences, and returning to his first love, the Goddess of Fortune.

The Tower theater today brings back an action production in the showing of "The Return Of Frank James."

"Maryland" Is At Texan

Walter Brennan heads the impressive cast. As a horse trainer he offers one of his best screen characterizations.

Fay Bainter gives another splendid performance and lovely Brenda Joyce is the main romantic interest with John Payne. They are excellent as two young people in love, torn by a fierce family pride.

Charlie Ruggles is back again, humorous and capable as ever. Hattie McDaniel wins new laurels and pert Marjorie Weaver rounds out the featured cast.

A Technicolored romantic drama of the north woods, "Untamed," is today's feature at the Cactus, starring Ray Milland, Akim Tamiroff and Patricia Morison.

The screen play is based on the Sinclair Lewis novel, "Mantrap", and is a visualization of the desperate struggle of two honorable men for a woman's love. Tamiroff, as a French-Canadian guide, realizes that he should never have deludes himself into believing that his wife, Miss Morison, accustomed to the comforts of city life, could ever be happy in the wilds of the north and senses the fact that she is almost yielding to the powerful attraction of a young society doctor, Milland.

"All This And Heaven Too" Plays Return At Broadway

"Flowing Gold" Lyric Feature

THE popular screen version of Rachel Field's widely-read novel, "All This And Heaven Too," has its second showing in the city today at the Broadway.

Bette Davis and Charles Boyer are co-starred in the picture for the first time in their long careers.

Threatened By Scandal

It is the story of a demure little French governess, seemingly destined for spinsterhood, whose very existence was threatened by a Paris murder scandal, involving one of France's greatest novelmen. But she survives the ordeal to find peace, security and happiness in America.

In support of the two stars are Jeffrey Lynn, romantic young leading man of the "Four Daughters" series, as Henry Field, the young American minister who befriends the unfortunate governess; Barbara O'Neil, most recently seen as Scarlett O'Hara's mother in "Gone With the Wind," in the role of the jealous Duchess; Virginia Weidler, Henry Daniell, Walter Hampden, George Coulouris, Montagu Love, Helen Westley, Harry Davenport, Janet Beecher, June Lockhart, Ann Todd, Richard Nicholas, Fritz Leiber, Ian Keith, Sibyl Harris and many more.

Oil Story At Lyric

"Flowing Gold," current attraction at the Lyric theater, treats of oil and the people who bring in wells, in terms of action and a psychological reform.

The reform takes place in the person of the embittered young oil worker portrayer by John Garfield; and is effected by a foreman played by Pat O'Brien and a girl, Frances Farmer. Love for the latter finally persuades the young man to return and face trial for a murder committed in self defense.

After struggles including a fight for their lease, a fire and a landslide, the three main characters finally bring in a well on which all had staked everything they possessed, as had the girl's father, played by Raymond Walburn. Principally in support are Cliff Edwards, Tom Kennedy and Granville Bates.

ROPES CROP WELL OUT

ROPESVILLE—Three-fourths of the expected cotton crop of this part of Hockley county has been gathered. An estimated 7,000 bales of cotton has been ginned.

Charles Boyer and Bette Davis, now appearing at the Broadway, in "All This And Heaven Too."

Exciting Villains Add To Fun In Tech's "Pinocchio"

Prison Theme Is At Arcadia

FIVE villains add to the excitement—and fun—of Walt Disney's full-length production, "Pinocchio," which is the feature attraction at the Tech theater today.

The evil quintet includes a whale, a fox, a cat, a coachman and a puppet master, and all of them concentrate on making life hectic for little Pinocchio, an engaging marionette brought to life by a kindly fairy.

First To Make Appearance

The first of the five to make a screen appearance in "Pinocchio" are the fox, whose name is J. Worthington "Honest John" Foulfellow, and his wordless, bird-brained accomplice, "Giddy," a cat. This pair of small-time villains accost Pinocchio as he skips off for his first day at school, and sell him to Stromboli, an unscrupulous traveling puppeteer.

Pinnocchio and his "Conscience," little Jiminy Cricket, manage to escape from Stromboli, but Pinocchio meets slick "Honest John" again and winds up sold to a coachman who colleets wayward little boys, sends them to an outwardly wonderful place called Pleasure Island, and then turns them into donkeys.

Guarding the straits to Pleasure Island is Montsro, a vicious whale, who swallows Geppetto, the old woodcarver, creator of Pinocchio, as the former is on his way to rescue the marionette.Pinocchio and Jiminy manage to escape from Pleasure Island, but not before Pinocchio has donkey ears and a tail. Learning of his "father's" whereabouts, he goes to the bottom of the sea and gets himself too swallowed by Monstro, whose cast-iron digestion permits him to bolt everything from ships to schools of tuna without the flicker of a fin. A mass escape from Monstro's spacious interior accounts for the climate of the picture.

Two At The Arcadia

Starring George Raft, Jane Bryan and William Holden, "Invisible Stripes" is one of the features of a double bill at the Arcadia today.

The story is of a man just released from Sing Sing who is determined to lead an honest life, but the obstacles he encounters as a parolee make it next to impossible.

The relentlessness with which circumstances can seize upon and smash the life of an individual is vividly portrayed in "Let Us Live," also showing at the Arcadia.

Maureen O'Sullivan, Henry Fonda and Ralph Bellamy have featured roles in the picture.

The story has to do with a taxi driver and his girl friend. Fate plucks them from their obscurity to change their pitiful dreams of a modest happiness-to-be into a terror-stricken reality.

The boy and his friend are accused and convicted of murder by the mistaken testimony of eye-witnesses and by circumstantial evidence appalling in its incrimination. The girl refuses to quit her desperate struggle to convince a hostile world that her sweetheart is innocent.

Here is the young fellow himself, Pinocchio, as he appears in the picture of the same name at the Tech today.

Lovely Jane Bryan will be seen with George Raft in "Invisible Stripes," current at the Arcadia.

John Garfield, Frances Farmer and Pat OBrien as they will be seen in "Flowing Gold," now showing at the Lyric.

1. The girl in the picture, Dorothy Comingore, was discovered by one famous producer-director-actor, and now has her first leading role opposite another. Know the pair? And what's the picture?

2. Alphabet soup in the movie colony: What is meant by (a) S A G, (b) I A T S E, (c) A S C A P, (d) S P G, (e) P D Q?

3. Who played these leading characters and in what pictures: (a) Matt Howard, (b) Julius Reuter, (c) Gerald O'Hara, (d) Ma Joad, (e) Judge Roy Bean?

4. The Scandinavians are getting a play in Hollywood. Can you name (a) a girl from Denmark, (b) a girl from Norway, and (c) three girls from Sweden, including Garbo?

5. Back where we started, name the up-and-coming writer-director whose latest picture is "Christmas in July" and the writer-producer-director-sometime actor who recently finished "Angels Over Broadway."

Count 20 points for each question correctly answered. A score of 60 is good, 80 is excellent, and 90 or above is colossal.

"The Eagle And The Hawk" Grim Air Film At Midway

AN unusual aviation theme, "The Eagle And The Hawk," brings Fredric March, Jack Oakie and Cary Grant to the screen of the Midway theater today.

Instead of the usual building up and glorification of war, the picture sticks to the grim reality of fighting and finds March as a seasoned veteran of the air who, as commander, is forced to send untrained boys into battle when he knows all odds are against them.

Grant also is a veteran with the knowledge of the great odds which the fledgling pilots face. Oakie, as usual, has the part of the comic who apparently can not understand the deeper feelings of his companions.

Carole Lombard portrays the typical women who waits for her soldier man on leave.

The story, taken from one written by Mitchell Leiser and Stuart Walker, is unusual also in that it has a surprising climax that is emotionally effective.

Cary Grant, Jack Oakie and Fredric March as they appear in "The Eagle And The Hawk," now showing at the Midway.

Man Says Funeral Must Be Deferred

HYANNIS, Neb., Nov. 16. (AP)—Gordon Houpt, sandhills mail carrier, says his funeral will have to be deferred. He walked in yesterday on sorrowing relatives who had thought him dead in this week's storm and had planned his last rites.

Cattlemen found his abandoned car in a snowdrift, but couldn't locate Houpt and reported him dead. Instead, he had walked to a nearby ranch, where he holed up for four days.

SUDAN CROPS GOOD

SUDAN—Farmers here expect the cotton yield of this territory to average a half bale per acre. It is believed that 75 per cent of the crop has been gathered. Good sorghum yields are reported. Cattle feeding is starting.

LATE COTTON OPENING

WILSON—Late planted cotton in this section began opening early in November. There was a considerable acreage planted late, due to heavy losses from storms. Over 2,500 bales have been ginned.

Myrna Loy And Her Husband Estranged

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16. (AP)—Movie Actress Myrna Loy announced today through her attorney, George Cohen, that she and her producer husband, Arthur Hornblow, are estranged.

"It is with great reluctance that we admit that we are ending our marriage," her statement said.

LaGuardia's Enthusiasm Isn't Sound; Has Hitler "Spread Himself Too Thin?"

This Is A Peaceful Nation

We Want Defense, Not Offense

LET it be hoped that very few Americans will be obsessed with such enthusiasm as that indicated by Mayor LaGuardia of New York City in voicing the belief the other day that America could "lick the whole world if it had to."

That kind of enthusiasm may suggest that his patriotism is in the right place, but it doesn't speak any too strongly for his judgment. The "whole world" is a whale of a lot of territory. Let it be hoped devoutly that no nation ever will be strong enough to "lick the world," because the ability to do it might become a temptation too strong to resist.

Happily the United States isn't interested in trying to lick the world, or for that matter, any part of the world. Our ambition—an ambition which must be achieved—is the strength and ability to keep the rest of the world, or any part of it, from licking us.

The achievement of that aim should satisfy the ambition of any nation. Certainly it would be all that people of the United States could want.

Spain And A U. S. Loan

REPORTS that Spain is attempting to negotiate a loan of $100,000,000 in the United States undoubtedly will be regarded with fishy eyes by many people in this country.

The chief reason for suspicion naturally is that Uncle Sam has had a lot of experience with European debtors. Their credit rating is about as poor as it possibly could be.

Another cause for suspicion is that the reported loan smacks too much of an indicated willingness to accept a bribe not to join the Axis powers in the European war. If Spain is attempting to say to us, by word or implication: "Lend me $100,000,000, and I'll stay out of the war," then the loan should, by all means, be flatly refused. Such a borrower could not be believed.

Still, there may be reasons why an application for a loan should be considered favorably. But the burden of convincing this nation that such is the case most definitely falls upon Spain.

Toward A Safer Lubbock

THIS editorial was written to an accompaniment of resounding knocks on wood.

When it was written, Lubbock had completed a traffic safety record of 154 consecutive "deathless days"—more than five months. If the record still holds when this sees print, 156 such days will have passed.

But regardless whether the record still stands, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is going ahead with a traffic safety campaign starting today which, according to the announcement, will be continued through the remainder of the year.

Even if tragedy has marred the record, it still will stand as an achievement to justify pride that more than five months elapsed without a fatal traffic accident in a city the size of our own. Other cities, of course, have made better records. But Lubbock's still has been very good, indeed.

However, no matter what the record may be, it is in the past and nothing can change it. But there is a lot that can be done about the future if the citizens and the community will cooperate as they should in the campaign being undertaken by the Junior Chamber during the portion of the year when tragic accidents are most likely to occur.

If the cooperation is given that should be given, then the result inevitably must be that most drivers will become at least a little more careful because of the constant reminder of traffic hazards. If many drivers are inspired to exercise more than ordinary care, then the probability of accidents must be reduced.

So let's all cooperate. Let's remember that Thanksgiving and then the Christmas holidays along with the inclement weather and slippery roads that the season is sure to bring add greatly to traffic dangers. Let's offset the danger with increased carefulness. It might be the means of saving lives.

Economic Experts Of U. S. Run Into A Problem Of World Trade

Surveying "Invisible Aid To Britain"

BY MORGAN BEATTY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The economic experts who measure the impact of war on our trade, industry and labor have run headlong into the problem of our invisible aid to Britain.

Our invisible aid is by far greater than the visible, even though this unseen help seldom squeezes into the headlines with more spectacular planes, tanks and destroyers.

Invisible aid takes three forms:

1. Sacrifice of trade to war zones.
2. Abnormal expansion of exports of war goods at the expense of normal exports.
3. A deluge of gold we neither need nor want.

Even before the war the American merchant marine was handicapped by competition from nations that could build and run their ships cheaper than we could on American wage standards. Now our neutrality law and the British blockade bar us to the world's richest trade routes between America and Europe.

William L. Montgomery of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce recently estimated that the war is costing us $750,000,000 worth of foreign trade.

We Sell War Goods

MORE important than shipping services is the stuff that ships carry. Our biggest sacrifice to Britain is our willingness to let them buy more war goods and less peace goods, knowing all the while they won't need war goods after the fighting is over.

The British almost doubled their purchases of military planes in the first year of the war, boosting them up to $144,326,000 worth. But food shipments increased only slightly from $80,000,000 to $114,000,000 in the first war year.

Our cotton shipments to the British Isles went up abnormally from $23,000,000 to $104,000,000, because Uncle Sam subsidized cotton exports. But tobacco purchases over here spiralled from $92,000,000 to $20,000,000. Wood and paper shipments almost doubled from $22,000,000 to nearly $40,000,000. Miscellaneous items jumped up nearly one-third.

Reasons were many. Primarily, the British were buying here only such "normal" export items as they had to because the Germans had taken their previous sources away from them, or they were buying sparingly here of everything except war materials because they could buy here only on a cash and carry basis. This meant they had to use their gold.

Abnormal Trade

BUT whatever their reasons for shooting up purchases of one item, and damping off another, the net effect is to upset the normal trade between the two nations. We are expanding war industries at a dizzy speed, while trying desperately to find markets for our raw foods.

Some years ago we began buying gold at $35 an ounce. A great influx of gold to America started in 1932, when we held only 35 per cent of the world's visible supply. The war has accented the flow. In the first four months of this year, we ladled another billion dollars worth into our treasure chests.

Says a department of commerce survey:

"If the rate of inflow continues . . . the gold holdings of the United States at the end of 1940 will approximate $21,000,000,000, or 72 per cent of the world stocks of $29,200,000,000."

To the economist who can read between the lines, that means two things. The British are using largely newly mined gold to pay for their American wartime purchases.

We are taking gold we don't want. One expert suggested to me that the British are now mining enough new gold to continue to pay for all they need from the United States for months, perhaps years to come.

Our Exports Soar

IT would be a different story if the British were cashing in their securities and investments in this country to pay for the war. That way Americans would get securities, Britishers would get goods. Orthodox economists hold that to be a fair trade, but straight gold for goods on a long term basis is NOT favorably regarded by most economists.

Americans have made their decision however. They favor aid to Britain, as clearly shown by the votes of their representatives from Congress, and they can take some

Napoleon Made Same Error

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

AN American General Staff officer recently concluded his perusal of battle and diplomatic communiques from Europe with the somewhat cryptic remark: "I wonder if Hitler has read the story of Napoleon. And if he has read it, I wonder if he understands it." This unofficial comment reflects the growing conviction here that Der Fuehrer's greatest successes lie behind him.

According to this theory, Hitler has spread himself too thin; he has taken in too much territory. As the Chinese, Egyptian and Grecian campaigns suggest, he cannot depend too heavily on his Rome-Tokyo allies. Napoleon met that same misfortune when he placed his relatives on neighboring thrones, and they were part of his undoing. Like Napoleon, too, the dictator's legions have run afoul of treacherous weather over England, in the mountains of Greece, in the Balkans and on the plains of Egypt. In every conquered country there are powerful groups conspiring against him and his armies of occupation. Hitler, in short, is sitting on a volcano of natural and human forces he may not be able to control.

President Roosevelt sensed this threat to permanent Nazi domination—or was tipped off to it by several returned diplomats—when he wrote his Armistice Day address. In virtually inviting the peoples of the Scandinavian countries, Holland, Belgium and France to rebel against the invader and to rally around the battle flags of democracy, FDR gave more aid to the cause than if he had declared war.

EXPECTANT: Pro-British officials at Washington—and the woods are full of them—deplore the ineptitude of London's diplomacy since the start of the present war, or even since before the first gun was fired. Hitler outwitted both the late Chamberlain and Churchill at every turn, especially with respect to the attitude of the French.

But the inside story of the Weygand voyage to French possessions in Africa discloses that Britain has an excellent opportunity to outsmart Hitler there. Pierre Laval, who favors complete submission to the Nazis, grew jealous of Weygand's power and prestige as a member of the Vichy government. So the great general was shipped to Africa as a rebuke and a demotion. But Weygand began to make pro-French and anti-Nazi moves, and to hold out hope of eventual victory over the Germans. He has always been extremely pro-British. Berlin has demanded that Weygand be recalled from Africa and kept in check. The Nazis would like to arrest him and place him on trial along with other French ministers.

De Gaulle's attack on the port of Libreville in French Africa is regarded in some circles as a well-timed attempt to wean Weygand away from the Laval-Hitler clique. Some experts think de Gaulle isn't smart enough to have planned it that way. What they hope is that Churchill will ship a powerful fleet to French African waters—and perhaps a cabinet minister along with it—in an attempt to establish a center for a French counter-attack on a big scale. They also hope that President Roosevelt, by some sensational gesture or statement, will encourage Weygand to declare for England as against Vichy.

BOILING: President Roosevelt is as great a mystery to his own cabinet members and key New Dealers as he is to the Republican opposition. He kept aloof from them during the recent campaign, and he has not given them the comfort of his counsel or presence since his reelection.

Several cabinet members—at least three—privately figure that he would appreciate the receipt of their resignations without waiting until a few days before his re-inauguration on January 20th—the normal procedure. Quiet rumors have reached them that they don't stand so well with the White House as they did a few months ago. But it so happens that none of these well-placed people wants to quit public life. So they have withheld the presentation of their resignations for fear the President might reply with one of those "Dear Harold" or "Dear Frances" or "Dear Henry" letters of friendly dismissal.

The President will, of course, make no blunt demand upon the weak sisters in the cabinet. He does not operate that way; he hates to stage a scene. But he will find means of letting the unwanted know how he feels about them. Meanwhile, the suspected are in an official stew over their present and future status.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

In the Manhattan financial center the question of war loans to Britain is no longer an "if" but a "how." When and as the President gives the word the repeal of the Johnson act, which forbids government credit to debtor countries, will be a formality. And since, as in the World war version, the "loans" will not involve money so much as goods, the banks are trying to anticipate the type of transaction involved—whether the credit shall be extended directly by U. S. producers, by Uncle Sam or, depending on the commodity, by both.

World war precedents may be repeated, and in the same chronological order. Prior to our entry in 1917 American banks were free to subscribe to British war bonds, a procedure banned by our present Neutrality law until repealed. Contrary to general impression these British bonds were not defaulted, were honored at maturity and were not included in the unpaid war debt. It is proposed now to permit as many British flotations as private American capital will absorb, in order to lessen by that much the cost of aid to Britain which must be carried by the Treasury.

Since British revenues from a private bond issue would be limited to the amount American citizens believe post-war Britain can repay, the bulk of the credit would have to be made up by the government, or at least with the government as guarantor. There are several formulas on the fire, including the pat blueprint long prepared by Washington-London collaborators in anticipation of repeal of credit restricting laws. But while repeal is conceded, our financiers would like to shape such legislation to distribute the ensuing business to the greatest number.

AGENTS: For example, there will be an attempt to block any plan to have a single American banking house market a British war issue as handled by Morgans in the last war. If British—or Canadian issues—are to precede the main credit there will be a movement to permit any eligible investment house to participate in a marketing syndicate. Commissions, if any, shall be divided in proportion.

But above and beyond the relatively small sums that can be raised by direct monetary loans from U. S. citizens to the empire, the decisive load must be borne by federal credit. The call on materials will fall on aircraft, munitions, food, building materials and tools, in the order named. In view of the excess profits and other taxes and assessments, no industry is in a position to supply a foreign power with goods on credit for any length of time. The obvious course is payment by the U. S. Treasury, the only remaining question being whether directly or indirectly.

Two possibilities are considered: First, the government would issue a separate bond series, revenues specifically marked for diversion into the British Federal Reserve account. This step would provide rare bookkeeping candor as it would earmark the cost of our domestic armament and distinguish it from the bill for British aid.

Second, considered in New York the more probable, would not discriminate between British and American needs in future bond issues. Tax levies and federal debentures would contribute to the joint drawing account of both countries, the British being debited on the ledger for all checks paid the American producer by Secretary Morgenthau's department.

Case Continues Merry Way In New Book

"Do Not Disturb" Is Fascinating Bit Of Writing

"DO NOT DISTURB," by Frank Case; (Frederick A. Stokes, New York).

FRANK CASE, brilliant host of New York's Algonquin Hotel, started something when he wrote "Tales of a Wayward Inn." He carries on in "Do Not Disturb," which is neither a continuation of his first book nor a dissertation along new lines.

It is simply more of the same dish—just as charmingly incoherent, just as flamboyantly indifferent to the rules that conventionally govern the writing of memoirs. "Do Not Disturb" isn't diary and it isn't autobiography. It is nothing more than a collection of tremendously fascinating notes on life in general and Case and his illustrious friends in particular.

Doesn't Like Artichokes

For example, Case mentions artichokes more or less parenthetically and then proceeds gaily to get completely off the track, telling why he doesn't like artichokes and what he thinks of people who do. In the middle of this harangue he remembers a delectable sauce for artichokes and stops to give the recipe.

"It is very good made so," he says, "but you can dip it up just as well with pieces of blotting paper and it will taste just the same."

So He Rambles On

Dozens of people you know pretty well through the newspapers pop up again and again.

And so Frank Case rambles on, telling you how a guest should behave in a hotel, letting you in on some of the secrets of successful inn-keeping, confiding a good deal about himself and folksy bits about the great of yesterday and today who were and are his friends.

This is the perfect rainy-evening book people are always talking about. Only you needn't wait for rain. "Do Not Disturb" is just as pleasant on a moonlight night.

Humor Omnibus

THESE are good days to pick up a funny book. There is such a book on the current fall list, a whale of a funny book in more ways than one. It is "All in Fun," a 600-page omnibus of humor edited by Allen Churchill (McBride).

Mr. Churchill has been at the business of collecting his humor for a long time and he has gone back a long ways, to Mark Twain and "Mr. Dooley," to be exact. Remember Finley Peter Dunne? The result is a rich variety for any mood and any time. Here is Thurber and Lardner, Morley and Marquis, Cobb and Chesterton, Riley and the inimitable Bill Nye, O. Henry and Ellis Parker Butler.

You may disagree, of course, with the particular selections of Churchill, but certainly he gives you plenty of selection. There are 40 authors in all in the omnibus. You might very well, without exaggeration, apply Bill Nye's own words to describe it:

Everywhere this book has went
They'll be glad that it has came.

Digest's Reader

THE same might be said of another omnibus, "The Readers Digest Reader" (Doubleday Doran), a collection of the best pieces appearing in the Digest in the last 18 years. The emphasis, of course, is on serious subjects.

Here again you may disagree with the selection of pieces, if you happen to have been saving the Digests in your own attic. There is ample choice, however, 140 articles,

Stab Wounds Often Treated Successfully

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP) — Stab wounds in the human heart, almost always fatal a few years ago, are now being stitched up with increasing success, two of the country's outstanding vascular surgeons reported here.

One was a rising specialist in the field, Dr. Daniel Collier Elkin of Atlanta, Ga., and the other the internationally known Dr. Rudolph Matas of New Orleans, now 80 years old but still active in the surgical world.

Dr. Elkin predicted that surgery would some day supplant medicine in the treatment of heart disease.

Dr. Matas last night presented Dr. Elkin the Matas award for distinguished work in vascular surgery, or treatment of arterial diseases or wounds by the knife. The award is made only for exceptional work.

Dr. Elkin was honored for performing 38 operations on stab wounds of the heart. Twenty-two patients recovered.

Hoover Makes Appeal For Aid For Refugees

POUKHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover appealed last night for a reporting of negotiations with warring European nations for guarantees of safe shipment and distribution of food supplies to "five little democracies."

In a speech prepared for the faculty and students of Vassar college and broadcast nationally, Hoover declared the people of the United States "should be given an opportunity to try to save" the people of Finland, Norway, Holland, Belgium and Central Poland.

Asserting that millions of men, women and children in those countries faced "the stark fact of oncoming famine," the former president said "I will suggest that their lives and infinite suffering can be saved. And I will suggest that we have a moral responsibility."

GOOSE TAKES OFF

ALEXANDER, La., Nov. 16 (AP)—Hunting geese on nearby Catahoula lake, Lt.-Col. E. J. Schmidt of Oconomowoc, Wis., here for national guard training, carefully aimed and fired. A startled goose took one look at the tiny parachute that daintily floated out alongside, and put on speed. Lt.-Col. J. Tracy Hale, jr., of Milwaukee, Schmidt's hunting companion, had slipped a parachute-packed flare shell into the colonel's gun.
