EAST STRETCH OF HIGHWAY 15 GETS FINAL OK

District Engineer Treadaway Says
12.6-Mile Project Just Finished
Is Bang-Up Job of Work

Acting for the State Highway Department, S. J. Treadaway of Abilene, district highway engineer, accepted Friday the 12.6-mile stretch of Highway 15 from the overpass southeast of Snyder eastward to the Fisher County line as a high-light of the month's county highway activities.

Contractor on the $140,000 job, which completes dirt and drainage structure work in the east half of Scurry County, was Oran Speer of Alvord.

"We feel," highway officials state, "that Speer did a bang-up good job on east-end highway work in the county, and we join with county commissioners and our Scurry County judge in saying the east-end part of Highway 15 is now ready for select coat of caliche and hot topping."

Since the 7.2-mile strip of Highway 15 from the square west, on which Cape Brothers were contractors, has also been accepted by the State Highway Department, the only remaining gap in the East-West highway across the county that is to be completed is the 7.6-mile strip of Highway 15 from the Borden County line eastward toward Snyder.

Contractors on the west-end job from the Borden County line eastward toward Snyder are W. S. Crawford and T. M. Brown & Son of Dallas.

Reports received late Wednesday afternoon from contractor representatives indicate west-end dirt work is being speeded up this week. Recent rains have given workmen ample surface water supplies for present needs.

Over 200 Farms Checked for AAA Compliance Plan

Checking of 205 county farms for compliance work under the 1940 farm program through Tuesday indicates Scurry County farm compliance work under the Triple A program is getting underway in earnest. W. W. Hill, county performance supervisor, states:

Delayed by muddy fields and June replanting operations, performance supervisors are just now getting in full swing so far as measuring county farm lands are concerned.

"We certainly do appreciate," Claude D. Cotten, administrative assistant at the county agent's office says, "the cooperation shown by our performance supervisors by crop producers. With the aid and cooperation of farm operators, we can complete county farm compliance work a lot quicker and have all applications in line soon for 1940 parity payments."

Dillard Assumes Job At C. of C. Officially

R. G. Dillard assumed his official duties Monday morning as manager of the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce for the organization's new fiscal year.

People of this trade territory are already acquainted with the new Chamber of Commerce manager, since he began work in the civic organization's headquarters office just after Snyder Schools were out. He was junior high school principal of the local school for the 1939-40 school year.

Dillard succeeds Ray E. Dickson, resigned, as Chamber of Commerce manager. Chamber of Commerce board of director members state Dillard's work already indicates he will be a manager of which Snyder and the county will be proud.

Lions Plan to Attend Zone Meet Tuesday

Plans were formulated Wednesday by members of the local Lions Club to send a large delegation of local club members to the Lions' zone meeting which will be held Tuesday night at Big Spring.

The zone meeting, to be held in the Settles Hotel, will start promptly at 8:00 p. m. B. J. McDaniel of Big Spring, zone chairman, will preside.

BUILDING CONTINUES IN SNYDER AT STEADY CLIP

Figures obtained at the close of June from J. S. Bradbury, city secretary, indicates that 15 new homes, with an approximate cost of $50,000, have been constructed in various parts of the city during the first six months of 1940.

Of the new homes constructed in Scurry County seat during the first half of the current year, the majority were erected under the FHA plans.

The Federal Housing Administration has not only brought an entirely new building factor to light in the city, but with its low cost home loans has made it possible for a number of former residential renters to become independent home owners.

Further reflecting the building trend evident all around the square, 11 business firms have completed front end remodeling jobs during the past 12 months, with the white brick Harpole building on Avenue

McLAUGHLIN'S SHOW SUNDAY ATTRACTS 2,000

Dallas Mare Takes Top Place in Feature Event of Diamond M
Ranch Horse Exposition

C. T. McLaughlin's second annual gaited horse show that was staged Sunday afternoon at his Diamond M Ranch, 12 miles southwest of Snyder, attracted 2,000 people from a wide area of Texas and horses from the state's leading stables.

Easter St. Clair, a beautiful chestnut mare shown by Pickens Burton of Dallas, won the five-gaited stake, which was the feature event of the entire show.

London Melody, a red sorrel stallion, finished second in the free-for-all event that concluded a 12-event card.

Owner C. T. McLaughlin of the Diamond M Ranch acted as master of ceremonies for the highly successful show. Judges were Mrs. E. C. Walter of Mayfield, Kentucky, and R. Ellison Harding of Fort Worth.

Visitors, including a large delegation of Snyder people, were guests of the Diamond M Ranch for the second annual gaited show. Visitors from out-of-county points were guests of the ranch and the Wichita Falls chuck wagon gang for a barbecue dinner.

Horses were entered in the shows various classes from the state's leading stables, including those of Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Amarillo, Midland, Colorado City and Plainview.

Public address system for the show was furnished by the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce, with a class-by-class broadcast of events given by R. G. Dillard, Chamber of Commerce manager.

Oil Pool Growth Being Recounted

The Sharon Ridge oil field one year ago had three producing wells and today has 76, with two new tests drilling.

Today's first anniversary celebration being staged in the Riss Bishop pasture brings to mind the fact the field is described as completely unique in the use of "free air," found from 1,120 to 1,240 feet, for power.

The field's "free air," when struck, has a pressure of from 250 to 300 pounds per square inch. Operators use this free source of power not only to pump completed wells with, but for drilling operations where necessary.

Once an air head is installed over a completed well and hooked on to the rods, the operator has all the equipment he needs for pumping his producing wells year after year.

Not only is "free air" utilized in the Sharon Ridge field, but it has been used for pumping power since the old Northwest Ira pool, four miles southeast of the Sharon field, was discovered. The old Ira pool is being gradually extended south into Northern Mitchell County.

We can have only one Sharon field, operators say, and both the oil and gas journals say we have the only oil field in the United States where "free air" is available for drilling and pumping operations.

Since this one field is the Sharon field, with the old Ira pool said to be an extension to the new pool, today's anniversary celebration pays just tribute to a field that has brought and will bring thousands of dollars into the pockets of Scurry County people.

L. M. Irion Elected President of Fifth Sunday Song Group

Excellent attendance of singers from all parts of the county featured Sunday afternoon's Fifth Sunday Singing Convention which was staged at Pleasant Hill.

The program of gospel class songs, presided over by Earl Shepherd, convention president, started at 2:00 p. m.

During the convention's business session, L. M. Irion of Turner was named president to succeed Shepherd, and Bill Halston of China Grove was named vice president to succeed Roy O. Irvin.

Officials of the convention who were named Sunday afternoon wish to express, through The Times, the "whole-hearted appreciation of county singers to Shepherd, retiring president, for the work done the past convention year in keeping the fifth Sunday organization forging ahead."

Site of the next Fifth Sunday Singing Convention, to be held in September, will be named in the near future, L. M. Irion, newly named president, states.

Most of Town Closed For Holiday Today

Snyder has closed shop today (Thursday) in observance of our American independence anniversary.

With very few exceptions, local business firms have closed in order that their employees may have a full day off to attend the various July 4 celebrations on tap in this area.

A great many local people are in Stamford to attend the final day festivities of the Texas Cowboy Reunion, while others are visiting relatives and friends at various cities in this territory.

Here in Scurry County, people of the Sharon Ridge community, working with the local Air-Field Association and the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce, are staging an all-day anniversary celebration in the Sharon field in commemoration of the striking in the southwest part of the county a major oil reserve.

OIL FOLKS OF VAST AREA AT JULY 4 PARTY

Birthday of Sharon Ridge Field
Celebrated with Barbecue and Entertainment Features

Royal entertainment for members of the oil fraternity in an area composed of Lubbock, Big Spring and San Angelo on the west to Fort Worth and Dallas on the east highlights the Sharon Ridge oil field's first anniversary celebration being staged today (Thursday).

Site of the all-day celebration, being held to commemorate the striking of a major oil pool in southwestern Scurry County, is the Riss Bishop pasture one mile north and two miles west of Sharon store. A United States flag, erected atop two joints of casing, makes the site of festivities visible for several miles.

Opening event on today's program was goat roping at 9:00 a. m. This event, for amateurs only, preceded by a regulation nine-inning baseball game.

The celebration, initial plans of which were mapped only two weeks ago, is being sponsored by Sharon community residents, Sharon Ridge field operators, Snyder's Air-Field Oil Association, the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce and Snyder business men.

Following lunch, this afternoon's rodeo performance, with amateurs competing, will begin promptly at 1:00 o'clock. Preceding calf roping events will be a wild mule race.

Event of the afternoon will be a wild mule belling contest, a thing that adds a unique color of other days to present-time rodeos.

Other events that follow calf belling will be climaxed with a concluding baseball game.

The Sharon field's first anniversary celebration has attracted a considerable amount of interest with oil fraternity members, especially in view of the fact the field had only three producing wells a year ago and this week has 76, with two new tests drilling.

People of Snyder and those interested in development of the Sharon pool are invited to take part in the all-day program of festivities.

Several Vacancies on Faculty Yet Unfilled

George Thomas, who was elected high school coach at Snyder Schools recently for the 1940-41 school term, declined this week to accept the proffered coaching position.

Since Thomas declined to accept the position of coach, school board members report the head coach's place remains unfilled. W. W. (Red) Hill, former high school coach, was named sometime back as high school principal.

Several vacancies remained late Wednesday to be filled before the 1940-41 teaching staff is completed. Miss Vera Ferning, home economics teacher, offered her resignation this week, and Mrs. Omaha Ryan, teacher in the primary department here the past school term, will teach at Perryton during the 1940-41 term.

Dunn Gridman Signs As Pro with Chicago

Clyde (Bulldog) Turner of Dunn, who has played center for the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys the past three years, signed his professional football contract with the Chicago Bears recently.

The rollicking 230-pounder put his signature to a three-year contract which will net him something in the neighborhood of $8,000 for the period.

Turner plans to report to the Bears for training August 5 at St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wisconsin.

LET'S QUIT TALKING TROUBLES!

When the clouds look their very darkest, there are always those optimistic leaders of men who can pierce the temporary gloom and look behind the rainbow for the silver lining beyond.

With events abroad taking the course they are today, isn't it about time we quit fighting the other races' war in countries across the sea, and for once discuss the brighter side of the picture on our street corners, in our business firms and homes right here in Scurry County?

Here in this county, situated as a shining light upon the economic hill of events, we have a cotton and feed crop to raise this year, hundreds of bushels of fruit grown right here at our doorsteps to can and preserve for the days ahead when the trees put on a winter brown, business to get by the going after and a city and county to make more permanently beautiful and inviting by our united efforts to make it so.

People have never been in the habit of crossing bridges until they get to them, and in the same trend of illustration have never successfully prosecuted a war until they had one to fight.

So—let's quit fighting the other fellow's war and see if we can, as a county and community, make this one of the most important years in farming, ranching and business we have had in the past decade. We can do just that if we look for the silver lining just over the clouds.

It has been the policy of this paper to keep war news out of the picture as far as Scurry County is concerned and refrain, editorially, from the highly distrustful tactics of spreading rumors of wars and harping forever on a philosophy of "defeatism."

Conditions, we realize, are probably not what many of us would like for them to be, but with each passing day it becomes our privilege and patriotic duty to make the best of things as they are. Only by this means has progress of any kind been achieved. Even gold, valuable as it is, is not waiting for the happy-go-lucky prospector at the fork of every creek, but is always where one finds it.

And when the final chapter to this turbulent period of transition is written, whichever way the tide turns, those who have kept faith in man and a sensible, happy outlook on life will be the ones to reap the first fruits of a newer and greater nation that will arise from the foundations of yesterday's America.

There's a lot of silver in the lining just beyond, but we'll never find it until we start looking for it!

News Hounds!

Scurry County was visited Sunday by three people often referred to as members of royalty in the fourth estate.

First member of the press to arrive was Frank Reeves, Chuck Wagon Gossip columnist of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, who took pictures of county oil operators for use in the Star-Telegram in connection with the Sharon Ridge oil field anniversary celebration today (Thursday).

Second representative of the press to breeze into town Sunday morning was Louise Cox of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, who covered the Diamond M Ranch gaited horse show Sunday afternoon.

And from Abilene came Harry Holt, Chousin' Around columnist of The Abilene Reporter-News, who covered the Diamond M Ranch show for the Abilene paper.

June Rainfall In County Totals 2.81 Inches by Gauge

Concluding June rain for Scurry County started Friday night, about 8:30 o'clock, and continued at intervals until 4:00 o'clock Saturday morning, giving Snyder 40 of an inch precipitation and parts of the county from a half to two inches of needed moisture.

Rainfall in the east part of the county amounted to nearly two inches in the Camp Springs and Midway communities, an inch at Inadale and about an inch in the western portion of the county.

Mrs. B. G. Johnson, government weather gauger, reports June rainfall totaled 2.81 inches, giving Scurry County one of the best outlooks for good crops in the past three years.

County farmers completed late cotton replanting operations last week, and in sectors where early season rainfall was spotted are winding up planting late feed crops this week.

SPONSORS FOR RODEO WILL BE ENTERTAINED

Junior and Senior Ambassadors to August Event in Snyder Again
Slated as Feature

Girls chosen by their communities as senior and junior sponsors will be guests of the rodeo association at a banquet and theatre party given Thursday night preceding the opening of the Scurry County Rodeo Friday and Saturday, August 9-10. Announcement of the social affairs to complement the sponsors was made yesterday by the association through Henry Rosenberg, who is in charge of the sponsors' contest and entertainment.

A committee of local women will make plans for the banquet and theatre party and welcome the visiting girls officially. Communities are urged to select their sponsors at once and to report their selections to Rosenberg or O. D. McGlaun, rodeo association secretary.

Special rules will be designated for selection and contesting of community girls. Prizes in the senior division will include three Navajo blankets and the cash prizes of $15, $10 and $7.50 to the three top-rankers. Special prizes will be awarded to winning junior sponsors also, the association announces.

Civil Cases Hold Chief Attention In District Court

With the exception of two divorce cases disposed of, interest in district court proceedings this week lagged far behind the cases on docket.

Judge A. S. Mauney of Sweetwater states five cases will be brought up Monday, when third week sessions of district court get underway. Among the cases on criminal docket is one filed against C. A. Crockett on a swindling charge. Crockett, it will be recalled, was given a two-year penitentiary sentence in 1937 for theft of H. L. Wren's automobile, and later had a brush with the law when he allegedly gave a Hermaligh community resident a cold check.

Case attracting the most unusual amount of interest, and a case also set for Monday, is that of the Strayhorn Common School District No. 18, acting by and through the district trustees of No. 18 of Scurry County, vs. the county trustees of Scurry County.

Plaintiff in this case will be represented by Anderson & Dickson of Sweetwater, with H. J. Brice to act as attorney for the defendants.

Mrs. T. B. Armstrong Gets Cash This Week

Winner of Wednesday afternoon's Appreciation Day event was Mrs. T. B. Armstrong of Snyder, who received $21.71 on a five per cent ticket.

Continuance of the regular weekly Appreciation Day events is attracting crowds without parallel for a prize awarding of its kind. Appreciation Day Association officials point out. Approximately 3,000 people were on hand to witness Wednesday afternoon's event.

Record Oil Run

Setting a new all-time record, pipeline runs of crude from the Sharon Ridge and old Ira pools totaled 25,232 barrels for the month of June, W. S. Guthrie of Coffield & Guthrie, Inc., announced Wednesday.

Crude run through Coffield & Guthrie's four-inch pipeline and gathering system from the Sharon pool to the Col-Tex tank farm in Mitchell County totaled 22,470 barrels for June.

Crude pipelined from the old Ira pool amounted to 960 barrels and from the County Line pool just south of Ira, 1,822 barrels were handled by the Corsicana firm.

No oil for June from Garza County was handled by Coffield & Guthrie, who formerly took delivery of several hundred barrels per month from Garza County Wells.

Hardballers Will Meet Post Nine In Sunday Tilt Here

Snyder hardballers will seek their fifth win of the season here Sunday when they tangle with Post at Winston field. The game is called for 3:30 o'clock.

Arice Jones, new team manager, says that two games have been matched with Bronte, one to be played at Bronte July 14 and the other to be played here July 21.

Until last Saturday, Snyder's crack independent team has been managed by Must Herod and Delbert Johnston. Because of business conflicts, both Herod and Johnston resigned the post, turning over the place to Arice Jones, Bryant-Link employee. Both Herod and Johnston will continue at their regular positions on the team.

Starting lineup for Snyder in the Sunday game will be Herod, short stop; Joyce, centerfield; Johnson, third base; Jones, centerfield; Hill, first base; Milton Winter, second base; Mardell Winter, rightfield; Krop, leftfield; T. Winter, pitcher; and Greenfield, pitcher.

Absentee Voting to Begin Here Monday

County voters interested in taking extended summer vacations, or others who will be away from the county for several weeks are reminded by A. C. Preult, county Democratic chairman, that absentee voting begins in Scurry County Monday.

Date when absentee voting begins really falls on Sunday of this year, which means that the first absentee votes may be cast Monday. Those desiring to obtain absentee ballots are requested to contact Chas. J. Lewis, county clerk.

Old Cemetery Given Clean Up Job Friday

Workmen from all sections of town turned out Friday for the working of Snyder's first cemetery in the east part of town. Claude Ingram and Otis Temple, members of the Scurry Lodge 706, A. F. & A. M., report nearly all graves in the early-day burial lots were remarked and cleaned up.

The local Masonic lodge, through Ingram and Temple, extends to the public the lodge's "sincere appreciation for helping in this work, which has been planned at various times during the past two or three years by various groups."

Special thanks are extended by Masonic officials to the City of Snyder for the free donation of trucks Friday, and to the town's four lumber yards, who donated free gratis wire and posts to fence the cemetery.

R. O. von Roeders on Visit to Former Home

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. von Roeder of Mason, former local grocery store operators, are here this week visiting Snyder and Scurry County friends. They visited the Clemens and Nolan von Roeder families in the Knapp community Monday and the Edid Murphy family Tuesday.

In Snyder Tuesday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. von Roeder stated that "Scurry County looks mighty good to us at this time of the year. Crop prospects, it seems to us, are the best in Scurry County that they have been in the past three years." Mr. and Mrs. von Roeder will return Sunday to Mason, where they own a store.

RECREATIONAL AND SANITARY PLANS HELPED

City Council Votes Monday Night
To Reinstale One Project and Assist With New Plan

Snyder's WPA projects, sponsored jointly by the city and county, will continue in full operation this summer without interruption.

This was assured Monday night when 450 citizens from every walk of life met with city council members at the city hall to discuss projects jointly sponsored by the City of Snyder and Scurry County with the WPA.

As a result of the meeting, which was stormy in spots, city council members voted unanimously to reinstate their sponsorship of the WPA recreation project, and also to co-sponsor the State Sanitation project in operation here.

Council members' action means that the city will continue to make available $10 monthly for keeping the WPA recreation project in operation, and will match the county's $20 per month to keep the State Sanitation project underway.

Meeting with council members on behalf of the citizens was the Chamber of Commerce, officials of whom presented facts and figures on WPA projects going on in Snyder to councilmen.

Councilman Claude Ingram entered the motion that was voted on unanimously to keep the recreation and sanitation programs operating 100 per cent.

Figures obtained for the month of June indicate the eight emergency agencies in operation here brought $3,872 in salaries to Snyder at a cost to the city and county of $260.08. Total of 345 people depend on these projects continuing for a livelihood.

Project work for June, with number of workers, payroll, and cost to the city and county, follow:

WPA sewing room, 13 workers, $900 payroll; cost to city, $7.11; to county, $36.15; NYA work shop, 30 workers, $492.68 payroll; cost to city, $10; to county, $10;

WPA recreation project, 11 workers, $748 payroll; cost to city, $10; to county, $10; to others, $10;

Housekeeping aide, 14 workers, $617 payroll; cost to city, $9.25; to county, $17.50. Figures on the WPA road work and on the State Sanitation Project were not available Wednesday.

The Surplus Commodities office, employing one worker, brought $328.07 worth of food to the county and $767 worth of clothing at a cost of $29 to the city and $110.10 to Scurry County.

Building permits for the year, to date, totaled $46,055, council members learned, and building permits for June amounted to $5,900.

Council members reported tax collections for the month just closed were $138.48; water collections $2,290 and bills allowed totaled $1,380.57.

C. F. Sentell was appointed attorney to fill out an unexpired term left in the councilship, and John DeShazo was named city recorder for remainder of the present term.

The WOMAN'S Page

LaFrances Hamilton, Bride-Elect, Is Honored at Wednesday Coffee

Mrs. A. W. Waddill was hostess at a coffee Wednesday morning to announce the approaching marriage of her niece, LaFrances Hamilton, to John Earl Sunderman of Putnam. The marriage will take place July 14 in Snyder.

Mrs. Waddill was assisted in entertaining by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. W. W. Hamilton.

Cut flowers were attractively arranged throughout the house. The dining table, laid with a lace cloth and silver appointments, was centered with a gorgeous arrangement of box elder and pink and yellow gladioli. Plate favors were hand-made folders in pastel shades entitled "The Old Refrain," which held pen and ink sketches and lettering announcing the marriage date.

Mmes. Sam Joyce and J. D. Scott presided at the coffee service. Others in the houseparty were Mrs. John F. Blum, Frances Stinson and Virginia Pruitt. Sixty guests called.

Miss Hamilton is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hamilton, longtime residents of Snyder. During her high school years in Snyder, she was prominent in school and social activities, holding membership in the local chapter of the National Honor Society, the Lucky 13 Sports Club, social group, and dramatic and choral clubs.

After her graduation from the local high school, Miss Hamilton attended the College of Mines in El Paso two years. She transferred from there to McMurry College, Abilene, where she graduated in 1939 with a bachelor of science degree. At McMurry she was a member of the Thespians, a dramatic organization. Clever Cottons

Just a bit dotty is this new cotton frock which Maureen O'Hara, popular EKO-Radio star, chooses for casual vacation wear. The dress is gingham, the skirt is bi-ge with ivory dots. The bi-ge bodice is piped with the dotted fabric which is also used to cover the buttons. The belt is bright red patent leather. Frock is part of the wardrobe which Maureen took with her on a brief holiday in Palm Springs. Cotton casuals are destined to play an important role in vacation wardrobes all over the country this year, the National Cotton Council reports.

Demonstration Club Notes

Estella Kabel, County Agent

"Pleasant thoughts, cheerfulness and thoughtfulness of those about you will do much to make a person beautiful in the eyes of others," Miss Kabel home demonstration agent, told members of the Tri-Community Club which met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Byron Pitner.

"Another essential to good grooming," Miss Kabel continued, "is correct posture. Regardless of how well-made or attractive our clothing is, the individual will appear slovenly if she insists on poor posture."

Recipes were given for hand-made lotions, body deodorant, and mouth wash. A good dentifrice, the home demonstration agent said, may be made by using a mixture of one teaspoon of soda and salt, used dry, or dissolved in a glass of warm water.

Those who attended the meeting follow: Mmes. Willie Gibson, Guy Glenn, J. T. Johnston, S. T. Joiner, M. K. Lemons, Bruce Kelley, Raymond Lunsford, John Parker, Hubert Robinson, Guy Stoker, Clarence Brush, F. H. Patterson, Charles Lyons, Day and Miss Rabel. The hostess, Mrs. Pitner, served refreshments to the group.—Reporter.

Products canned by the Brown girls include preserves, jam, fruit, carrots, squash, peaches, berries, yellow beans, green beans, grapes and plums.

JELLY MAKING DESCRIBED

"Jelly makers used to cross their fingers and hope for good luck this time of the year," Miss Rabel, home agent, stated Saturday afternoon, "but modern science has taken much of the guesswork out of jelly-making."

In order for county homemakers to be successful in jelly making every time, Miss Rabel lists the following rules that assure the best results:

Select good quality fruit that is fresh and firm. A mixture of ripe and slightly underripe fruit is usually best, since overripe fruits are low in acid. But they will make jelly if one tablespoon of strained lemon juice is added to each cup of fruit juice.

To know when the syrup forms jelly is important in cooking it the right length of time. The jelly test most commonly used is called "sheeting off." To make the test, dip a large spoon into the boiling syrup and lift the spoon so that the syrup runs off the side.

Stop cooking when the syrup no longer runs off the spoon in a steady stream, but separates into two distinct lines of drops which "sheet" together. If the jelly is not cooked long enough, it will be soft and runny. And if it is cooked beyond the point of jelly formation, it will become a gummy mass.

In preparing plum jelly one-half cup of water to each pound of prepared fruit is the best proportion for extraction of juices. Time of boiling for the extraction should be from 15 to 20 minutes.

In extracting juice from grapes the boiling time is from five to ten minutes, Miss Rabel says. Concord grapes will require from one-fourth cup of water to none for each pound of prepared fruit, and wild grapes will require about one cup per pound.

A Gentle Laxative Good For Children

Most any child who takes this tasty laxative once will welcome it the next time he's constipated and it has him headachy, cross, listless, with bad breath, coated tongue or little appetite.

Syrup of Black-Draught is a tasty, liquid companion to the famous BLACK-DRAUGHT. The principal ingredient is the same in both products; helps impart tone to lazy bowel muscles.

The Syrup's flavor appeals to most children, and, given by the simple directions, its action is usually gentle, but thorough. Remember Syrup of Black-Draught next time. Two sizes: 50c and 25c.

"Like a Russian princess. In that fur cap and coat. There should be a drosky waiting outside for you instead of a limousine."

"There are no more Russian princesses."

"There are in illustrations for Tolstoy's novels."

"But they don't have blue eyes."

"They should." His voice faltered. "Oh, Gay."

"Don't go, John. It seems such a little while since I came here to meet you and we've wasted so much of it being unhappy."

"I can barely remember."

"That's called whistling to keep your spirits up. What should we talk about, darling?"

"I don't know. I should be able to think of something beautiful, something that you would remember. I can't. All I can say is I love you."

"That's beautiful and I will remember it."

"Darling."

"You sweetie!"

"They neared the train gate. John tightened his grasp on her arm."

"Will they let you go down with me, Gay?"

"I'd like to see anybody stop me. My grandfather owned most of the New York, New Haven and Hartford once."

"Look as much like a princess as you can."

The official at the gate asked no questions. They started down the stairs.

"It was the chin up that did it," John said.

"Oh, I don't think they care, especially late like this."

"They descended into the chill air and murky light of the lower level. The train with curtains drawn over section windows and lights burning dimly in vestibules waited on the track. The red-cap led the way toward the sleeper in which John's berth was reserved. They lagged behind, walking slowly, very close together."

"You're going, aren't you? I believe it now that I see the train. John, when will I see you again?"

"I don't know. I'll be tied down pretty closely after Dr. Sargeant's calls, except on Wednesday afternoons and evenings."

"May I come to see you some Wednesday afternoon?"

"Would you, Gay?" His face brightened. "I want my mother and sisters to meet you. And my grandmother. You'll love my grandmother."

She glanced at him and away. "What?" he asked.

"More family? Can we risk it?"

"They'll love you."

"I hope so." She hesitated, then continued. "I'm sorry," she said. "I wanted—"

"I love you."

"I love you."

A brake-man's call echoed past them. They made for the vestibule of the train.

"Better not go aboard, Miss," the porter said pleasantly. "We leave in one minute."

"One more minute, John."

He caught her into his arms. Their lips met and clung. A second call echoed. He broke away from her arms. The porter leaned out of the vestibule. John raced into the train, colliding with the Negro.

"Good-bye," he called as the train began to move.

"Good—!" She ran a few steps beside the car.

John caught her hand, dropped it. "Remember. Some Wednesday afternoon."

The train picked up speed. She fell back, breathless, stood straining for a last glimpse of John's waving arm, his face, the hat that she hadn't admired. The train moved forward into darkness. The red light at the rear diminished into a dot, a pin-point, was gone.

Gay turned toward the stairs leading up to the station level. Some Wednesday afternoon—It sounded like the title of a song. Call me up some—but that was a rainy afternoon. She and Todd and Elsa and Dirk had found it among a collection of records in one of the store-rooms at "Dunedin."

CHAPTER XI

John stopped his car before a square frame house set flush with the pavement along a street of square frame houses separated by stretches of snow-covered lawns.

The late afternoon light was gray and a sharp wind blew in across Casco Bay. John, stepping out of the car, glanced up through bare branches of elms, serene and gracious in summer, etched now in bleak austerity against a cold gray sky. There was snow in the wind, he thought. A March blizzard would probably leave in its wake an epidemic of influenza. Nothing to do about it, though. He sunk his chin into the collar of his bearskin coat and started across the icy pavement to the steps of the house.

A child's voice, shouting, drew him to the fence, parallel to the street. He looked through brown skeletons of lilac bushes into the side yard.

"Hi, Commodore!" he called.

The shouting stopped. Nathaniel Adams, Dr. Sargeant's eight-year-old grandson, standing on the seat of a garden swing strung with an intricate network of ropes and string, waved a mittened hand toward him.

"I'm Admiral Byrd," he called.

"Oh, are you? How's it going? Land in sight?"

"We're in despit' straits," Admiral Byrd in a blue and red snow-suit and high buckled galoshes shouted cheerfully across the lawns of the Antarctic. "Radio's gone dead. Can't get a squeak out of her anyhow."

"That's serious," John sympathized. "Have you tested the tubes?"

"Aya. Dender'n a door-nail."

John smiled, marveling at the rapidity with which a child adapted himself to an environment. Young Nat had been born in the Philippines and cut his teeth in San Francisco, but his "Aya" was as authentic as though, instead of six months, he had spent the six years of his life in Maine.

"Well, keep your courage up. You ought to sight land by morning."

"Maybe you can find out what's wrong with it?" Nat suggested.

"Sorry, old man. Excuse me Admiral. I'm a doctor, not a radio technician."

"You could try anyway, couldn't you?" the child persisted.

"Got to keep moving, Nat. You'd better come in pretty soon. This wind is cold."

NEW OFFSET TO NORTHWEST IS IN SPOTLIGHT

Sharon Field Operators Looking to 'New Ordovician Test as It Spuds Late Wednesday

Sharon Ridge field operators focused their attention Wednesday on the field's west extension test, Ordovician Oil Company's No. 1 R. O. Bishop, which spudded Wednesday afternoon.

Ordovician's No. 1 Bishop, located in the southeast corner of the north-west one-fourth, Section 145, Block 97, is a diagonal offset to Ordovician's No. 1 Jack Burney, and carries field drilling activities to the northwest.

Second in interest this week was D. & R. Oil Company's No. 1 W. F. Burney test, 330 feet from the north and west lines of the northeast quarter, Section 143, which was drilling at 690 feet early Wednesday night.

Mudge Oil Company's No. 3 Alva Johnson (Grace Hocom), Section 142, was drilling at 110 feet after spudding.

F. W. Merriek's No. 4 First National Bank of Snyder test, northwest quarter of Section 136, was drilling at 1,485 feet.

Coffield & Guthrie's No. 2 Judge Sterling Williams et al Northeast corner of the southwest quarter, Section 130, was drilling at 1,735 feet.

To the northwest of Snyder, Coffield & Guthrie's No. 1 J. Wright Moor test, center of the northwest quarter, Section 334, was drilling at 4,197 feet after completion of a tedious fishing job.

Four of six tests in northwestern Mitchell County, two indicating south extensions of the Ira pool in southern Scurry County, were active Wednesday.

N. V. Hilburn No. 1 E. T. Strain, one mile south of Ira production and 330 feet out of the southeast corner of section 82-97-H&TC, swabbed through tubing after cleaning out following a 200-quart nitro-glycerine shot from 1,701 to 1,801 feet, with heavily saturated showings at 1,650 and 1,691 feet.

B. R. S. Oil Company's No. 1 M. A. Berry, one mile southwest of the Hilburn test and 467 feet out of the southeast corner of section 83-97-H&GC, had cleaned out to 1,785 feet following a 250-quart shot from 1,730-73 feet, with the total depth also 1,801 feet, in line.

C. W. Hanes No. 1 G. L. Grable, about three miles due east of the B. R. S. Oil Co. test and 2,310 feet from the north and east lines of section 195-3-H&GC, had drilled to 1,694 feet in line. It had slight oil shows at 1,650 and 1,691 feet.

J. B. Ewing No. 1 L. A. Strain, 3 1/2 miles south and slightly east of Hilburn No. 1 E. T. Strain, had drilled to 1,210 feet. It is 330 feet from the north, 2,970 feet from the east line of section 63-97-H&TC.

SIDELIGHTS OF HORSE SHOW

Sidelights of the second annual gaited horse show held at the Diamond M Ranch Sunday afternoon were so ably covered by Harry Holt of The Abilene Reporter-News in his column, Chousin' Around, they are given herewith for Times readers:

Wade Winston, Snyder Hereford breeder, drove out to the Diamond M Ranch show Sunday and while there looked over the registered herd of Herefords owned by C. T. McLaughlin. There were several bulls in the barn, alongside the fine gaited horses.

Joe Johnson, Fort Worth attorney, entered a few horses in the Diamond M show and left immediately after the show for Stamford for the Texas Cowboy reunion. In addition to gaited horses, Johnson runs registered Herefords and keeps a herd of about 75 near Fort Worth. He owns a ranch near Palo Pinto, but has it leased out.

Pickens Burton, the southwest's largest dealer of gaited horses, carried three animals from his Dallas stables to the Diamond M show. He is especially high on the show mare, Easter St. Clair, that he bought in Missouri. She won the sweepstakes Sunday, beating out an old war horse, London Melody.

Ernest Allen of Fort Worth, who won the cowboy class at the Diamond M, is an automobile dealer. He is going to compete at Stamford. Allen was a cowboy before he became an automobile dealer, thus knows a thing or two about riding.

The Colorado City Cowhands—a string band—were playing under direction of Harry Ratliff at the Diamond M Sunday in the absence of Dr. Harry Logsdon, regular director. A maternity case kept the doctor away from the horse show.

Mrs. E. C. Walter of Mayfield, Kentucky, who judged horses at the Diamond M show, is the wife of a prominent Kentucky surgeon. By chance, they became breeders of gaited horses. It started when they bought a couple of pleasure horses and became so attached to them that they went into the business. Today, they have about 40 head of mares, foals, yearlings and stallions on their farm. However, they do not go in for the show business, but stay on the sidelines and watch the other fellow perform.

"It was worth the trip to Texas just to see Anacacho Rebel perform," said Mrs. Walter after the big chestnut three-gaited horse had won the walk-trot, combination. Anacacho Rebel was ridden by Leslie Howard in the picture, Gone With the Wind, and is quite a show horse. He behaves wonderfully.

Jane Austin, graceful rider and one of the best too, put on a good act with the little Welsh pony, Sir Echo. The little stallion, recently added to the Austin stable at Amarillo, is hardly 12 hands tall, but really steps with the sulky.

It was lucky for C. R. Austin of Amarillo that he carried as many horses as he did to the Diamond M show, because all of those left at home were destroyed by a fire that demolished two stables Saturday night. He had been gone only a few hours when the stable burned. Fifteen horses were destroyed in the E. E. Scott stable.

Among the animals lost in the Austin stable was Moon's Choice, grand champion colt at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show in 1939. Seven other colts also were lost.

Joe D. Hughes of Houston was unable to exhibit his horses in the Sunday show due to a minor accident in which the van carrying the animals was involved.

Officials of the Promising Oil Company with headquarters in Colorado City, walked away with most of the ribbons in the three-year-old gaited class. Frank Kelley's Melanie Wilkes was first; P. K. Mackey's Edna M., third; and Bob May's Scooty M., fourth.

None of the horses from the Diamond M stables competed for prizes in the Sunday show. However, several of them were entered for the schooling.

There were 12 horses entered in the Lubbock Plantation class, which shows the amount of interest in fine horses in the South Plains town.

Boy Scouts Advance At Court of Honor

Highlight of Boy Scout Troop No. 36 activities for the month was built around court of honor ceremonies conducted Tuesday night at the local Boy Scout Hall.

Two scouts were advanced to the rank of first class and one to a second class rating in proceedings presided over by W. P. King, Roy O. Irvin, H. L. Wren, Jesse Clements and John Blum.

Scouts awarded badges follow: Tommie Major, given first class badge—passed merit badge tests in swimming, personal health and reading; Douglas McGlaun, given first class badge—passed merit badge tests in reading, civics and personal health; June Jones, awarded second class badge and passed test in personal health.

COLORED TEAM WINS
Lamesa's hard-hitters (colored) were really taken to a trimming Sunday afternoon, when they encountered the Snyder Black Tigers on the Winston Field diamond. The local boys, in an excitement-tinged baseball game that attracted a good number of fans, whipped the visiting nine to the tune of 15 to 4.

Mrs. Mary E. Banks of Plainview, former Snyder resident, is visiting with her son, Noel Banks, and family and with other local relatives and friends. Mrs. Banks has been visiting in Baird the past six weeks with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Banks brought the visitor here Sunday and spent the day.

F. E. Smith is spending several days with his wife, the former Dell Kincaid, and son, Tommy, in Snyder. He came here from Hot Springs, en route to California.

REV. C. H. WARD TALKS TO LIONS ON LIBERTIES

Presbyterian Pastor Addresses Group As Part of Patriotic Program At Tuesday Luncheon

In keeping with the patriotic theme of Tuesday's meeting, two Boy Scouts in uniform, Tommie Major and June Jones, led the Lions in giving the pledge of allegiance to the United States flag.

Addressing club members on the "Unity of the American People," Rev. C. H. Ward, local Presbyterian pastor, stated: "People in every community of the nation need to recreate their thinking in regard to the word 'liberty'."

"Freedom does not mean the liberty to do as people please," Rev. Ward continued. "This belief of liberty has been taken advantage of by anarchists to undermine the real principles of freedom from totalitarianism."

"We need to look on freedom in the new light of freedom from taxation that exists in other countries; we need to tighten our belts and protect, with every means at our command, our blood-bought freedom. This will cause us to see the need for a return to those great spiritual principles that set our nation apart as the land of the free," Rev. Ward concluded.

Club guests were A. A. Eberle of Sweetwater, Rev. C. H. Ward, R. G. Dillard, Tommie Major and June Jones.

Joan Crews of Dallas left Sunday after a two-week visit with her aunt, Mrs. John R. Williams. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Crews of Dallas, spent the week-end here. Guss of Mr. and Mrs. Williams this week is another niece of the local woman, Virginia Countiss of Midland.

Superintendent Elmer L. Taylor of Ira is in the local hospital for surgery this week. Mrs. O. H. Morton is another surgery patient, and the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Wills, Fluvanna, is receiving medical attention.

G. B. CLARK SR., NOW UP

G. B. Clark Sr., pioneer lumberyard operator, who has been in ill health the past several weeks, was able Wednesday morning to be brought down to Wilkerson Lumber Yard and view the remodeling work underway there. Mr. Clark's many friends are happy to see him improving.

Small Gail Grissom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Grissom of Abilene, is spending this week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Brown. Mrs. Grissom will come for her daughter Sunday.

Evan Hamilton, Mrs. Rachel Crawley and Mark Hamilton of Strayhorn left Sunday for Grass Valley, California. Mr. Crawley and Evan Hamilton had been visiting relatives the past week at Snyder and in the Strayhorn community.

More Extensions on Lyntegar REA Line

Highlight of REA activities in Borden County this week was woven around the turning on of highline "juice" in the rural electrification line serving Gail and our neighboring county to the west.

"Rural electric service for Gail and Borden County people was made possible by the construction of a high line to the county seat by Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, with headquarters at Tahoka."

In addition to the REA service now available for Borden County people, John Heck, president of the Lyntegar cooperative, announces new extensions on the line's C section are being made.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Williams and children returned Sunday night from an extensive trip that began last Thursday and took them to Amarillo, Tulsa, Palo Duro Canyon and Poteville, Oklahoma.

120-Mile Extension Would Serve Several New Communities in Scurry County Section

Olen W. Vandell, superintendent of Midwest Electric Cooperative's headquarters office at Rotan, reported Saturday that application for 120 miles of new REA lines in Scurry County to serve five additional county communities have been forwarded to Washington REA offices for approval.

County communities scheduled to be served by the new rural electric lines are Ennis Creek, Lloyd Mountain, Plainview, Sharon Ridge—home of the Sharon Ridge oil field—and Ira communities.

Vandell stated an REA collection agency to serve Scurry County patrons has been established at the J. P. Dowdy drug store in Fluvanna. County patrons serviced by Midwest electric lines can obtain quicker service, Vandell points out, by remitting electric bill payments to the Fluvanna collection office.

Midwest Electric Cooperative is sponsoring rural electrification in Scurry, Borden, Jones, Fisher, Mitchell and Nolan Counties.

Singing Group Plans Pie Supper July 18

Good attendance featured last Thursday night's session of Snyder's community singing that was held at the First Christian Church, an event that attracted singers from nearly all parts of Scurry County.

Dean Cochran, president of the community singer's organization, states a pie sale festival, with plenty of free coffee, will be staged Thursday night, July 18, at the city tabernacle.

Proceeds of the pie sale will be used to care for costs of staging the regular Thursday night song programs. Joining with community singers in sponsoring the pie sale is the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce.

Tentative program for the July 18 occasion calls for about an hour and a half of good singing, starting promptly at 8:00 o'clock, to be featured by appearance on program of outstanding quartets of this area, with the pie supper to follow.

JOHN LEE SMITH for State Senator

JOHN LEE SMITH of Throckmorton County

Six years County Judge of Throckmorton County (1920-1926). Member Democratic National Convention (1932). Campaigned for F. D. Roosevelt in 1936. Served in France in World War as private soldier.

Urges: 1—Full payment of pensions by performance, not promises. 2—Reduction of salaries of State employees at least 10 per cent. 3—Raise truck load limit to 12,000 pounds. 4—Tax levies on property groups best able to pay.

Collie Speaks to Voters of District

Ladies and gentlemen: Patrick Henry said in his immortal speech: "I have but one light by which my feet are guided, and that is the lamp of experience; I know of no way of judging the future except by the past."

And so, my friends, when I come before you as a candidate for reelection, the best way to tell what kind of Senator I will make during the next four years, if re-elected, is to look at the record already made.

Since I became your Senator in 1933, more paved roads have been built than ever before; the deficit in the school fund has been wiped out and the per capita apportionment increased from $16 to $22.50; rural aid has been more than doubled from five million in 1933 to 11 million now; we have a state employment service which has greatly reduced unemployment; our insane asylums and other eleemosynary institutions have had more buildings and additions than during any other like period in history; a state securities law has driven from our state hundreds of swindlers; our natural resources have been conserved; major crime has been intelligently and vigorously dealt with through a rejuvenated and modernized state police force; pardons and paroles now are granted upon recommendation of a non-political board; the people have been given tax relief through the exemption of homesteads up to a valuation of $3,000 from all state taxes. I have sponsored and given my support to all these measures and policies.

Where others may tell you what they will do "if" and "when," it is my happy privilege to be able to point not simply to promises, but to performance.

The record will show that I am now and have always been the friend of old age assistance, the blind, the poor, unfortunate children; and all constitutional amendments on these matters have been submitted to you, the people, and by you have been placed in the Constitution during my tenure of office.

I was born in West Texas, the son of a minister and was left fatherless at the age of four, and, being one of 14 children, I was compelled as an underprivileged boy to make my way. These facts are mentioned that you may see that my sympathies naturally are with the rank and file of our people. During my school days, I worked after hours as a printer and in other newspaper work. Later, working as an abstractor, I studied law at night and was licensed to practice in 1928 and served as assistant county and district attorney before my election to the Senate.

It would of course be impossible to discuss all the thousands of roll calls and all the hundreds of bills that have been before the Senate during that time, but I can state without fear of contradiction that no member of the Senate has missed fewer roll calls or been any more "on the job" than has Wilbourne Collie—and that is the kind of faithful service that I promise you, if you again elect me.

Economy in our state government is a big need of the hour. With our tax bill from Washington increasing because of the necessity of building up our army, our navy and our air forces to protect us from possible invasion, it is more important than ever that all non-essentials in State government be dispensed

Pyron Farmers Plan Leaf Worm Poisoning

Thirty-eight farmers of the Pyron community were attracted to Pyron School Tuesday night for the regular monthly meeting of community farmers with the southeast county school's vocational agriculture teacher, Dale McWhirter.

Effective methods of poisoning cotton for leaf and boll worms featured round table discussions. A motion picture was shown on house flies, with methods of successfully combating them portrayed.

Pyron community farmers, who met twice each month during the school year, are meeting each first Tuesday night during the summer months. McWhirter reports Subject for the community meeting Tuesday night, August 6, will be "Trench Silos."

The Mexican Tipica Orchestra, Mexico's finest musical organization, with 100 entertainers will be a feature at the 52nd Annual State Fair of Texas, October 5 to 20. Two free concerts daily will be given by this internationally famous orchestra.

with. Millions of dollars have been served on some appropriation bills and further savings can and must be made so as to leave adequate revenue for the services which are necessary.

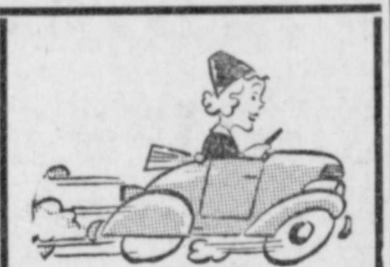

"Cooperation" is the key word to the achievement of results. I was one of the Senators working with the Governor to make his administration a success. I pledge continued cooperation with other officials and branches of government.

I voted for the old-age pension tax measure, House Bill 908, but in the closing days of the session when the only proposal that had a chance to pass was SJR 12, I voted to submit that to a vote of the people.

If you wish to know my individual preference as to financing social security, it is by taxes based on the Jeffersonian fundamental that those shall pay who are best able—in other words those who have the most and receive the greatest benefits from government. That would mean a tax upon the corporate interests and reasonable increases on natural resources.

I have always favored good roads and believe that they should be used to the best public advantage, particularly for the benefit of farmers and stock-raisers by lifting the truck-load limit for these producers and legitimate operators. I favor continued support for our public schools; I stand for further enlargement of our state institutions to care for the insane. Our epileptic colony at Abilene and our institutions for the treatment of tuberculosis are in need of increased space, which I pledge my best efforts to obtain.

If you believe in these things and if you feel that my record has been to advance the public welfare; if you believe that the tasks of tomorrow should be entrusted to hands that were trained in yesterday's accomplishments; if you feel that there is no substitute for experience, especially in such troubled times as these; then I will appreciate your vote for Wilbourne Collie for re-election as State Senator. For Congress—

George Mahon

A Personal Word to the People of the 19th District:

During this grave emergency I have remained on the job in Washington, seeking to serve you and our Nation at this time of great crisis. As you know, it has been necessary for Congress to remain in session and the adjournment date is still uncertain. I am not unmindful that this is election year. Under normal conditions, I would now be visiting among you, thanking you for past favors and seeking your continued good will and support. Not being able to be in our district I take this means of thanking you for the wonderful cooperation you are now giving me and have always given me during my service as your Representative in Congress. May I earnestly solicit your continued confidence and support in the July Primary?

John L. Smith Speaks On Race Wednesday

John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, candidate for state senator from the 24th District, stated in an address here Wednesday afternoon that we "directly need state officials in office who recognize the war danger we face."

"Texas is a border state," Smith continued. "We have the longest border line of any state in the union that needs ample protection. We are aware of Fifth Columnists in Mexico, who are undermining the Mexican government."

"I advocate a tax program that will pay all old age pensions in full, by taxing those best able to pay, and further advocate reducing all state salaries not less than 10 per cent," Smith stated.

The Sharon Pool Grows Up!

"Running high and looking good" might rightfully be put up on all signs leading to the Sharon Ridge oil field, especially in view of the fact the field's first anniversary celebration is being staged today (Thursday) in the rapidly expanding southwest county field.

The Sharon Ridge oil field is looking good. In fact, it is attracting the attention of the entire oil fraternity in this section of the state—so much so several operators predict it will only be a matter of time until Scurry County has an oil refinery of its very own.

Nowhere in the annals of the petroleum industry do we find a field that has had the colorful background attached to it as the Sharon Ridge oil field has. This field, with 76 producers today in comparison to three a year ago, is the only field in the United States where "free air" is utilized in pumping and production operations.

The old Ira pool has, of course, utilized "free air" in field operations since its discovery, but it eventually will be proven as an extension to the newer Sharon pool.

And in review, before we touch on the present stage of oil development in the county, we would like to mention such men as M. Z. Dibble, A. A. Hassan, Dr. J. M. Kerens, H. H. Tucker, Col. "Mexico" Humphreys, G. M. Heinemann and others—oilmen who years ago foresaw the day when Scurry County would develop its untouched natural resources.

Yes, the present state of oil development in the county, with over $150,000 in new money exchanged for leases, royalty and mineral interests in the past 90 days, calls for a celebration. This demand is being met by today's first anniversary festivities in the Sharon field.

And those who think the oil business and oilmen come and go with the seasons will indeed be surprised a year from now to see the sensational progress that will be made in developing Scurry County's proven oil reserves. The black gold that our early day settlers did not know existed under the county's surface will prove to be the mainspring from which a new economic order in the county will be created.

Editorial of the Week

A LOT OF BUNCOMBE

Most of our youths and young men are all right, and we are for them "tooth and toenail."

But in every generation there are a lot of young squirts who erroneously think they are much wiser than their daddies were before them. Others have plenty of good common sense.

There are plenty of young fellows just now who are undertaking to tell the world that both houses of Congress and the masses of the people of the United States were hoodwinked into entering the World War in 1917. There was no real occasion for the United States to enter the war, they blatantly assert. It was all the result of a lot of well planned propaganda. Yeah! Maybe they were just little kids then but they know more about it now than the statesmen and the mature grown folks of that day knew about it then, if we are to listen to them.

The United States would have been downright yellow if it hadn't called Germany's hand in 1917, in our humble opinion. We are tired of hearing these upstarts of 1940 bringing indictments against their country of 1917. Most of them, we suspect, are really sympathizers of Germany's course today, if the truth were known. At any rate, they seem to be putting in more time cussing England and France, who are defending democratic principles and democratic forms of government, than they use in combating the doctrines and the policies of the dictators, who are trying to stamp out democracy on the European continent.

It was the same fight against unprovoked aggression in 1917 as it is today, but in 1917 the German war lords were much more contemptuous of the rights of Americans and other neutrals than Hitler and his henchmen are today. They deliberately undertook a policy of wantonly and wickedly sinking our merchant ships on the high seas without warning and "without a trace."

That President Wilson and other authorities in Washington purposely and secretly mapped out and pursued a course designed eventually and inevitably to lead us into war, as is now being insinuated by some, is absurd and preposterous. Some official, some member of the cabinet, might have foreseen or believed that Germany's wanton course would lead us into war, and might have even hoped so, but that there was any course mapped out by the President or the cabinet as a whole that would lead to that end is a charge that belies the history of the times. That Congress and the people were the mere dupes of scheming propagandists is a reflection upon intelligence that no one but an ignoramus or an assinine egotist could seriously make such a charge, it seems to us.

It is all pure buncome; and it serves nobody's purpose better today than that of the enemies of our country, the dictators of Europe.—Lynn County News.

When Dallas city officials got in the midst of their dog licensing campaign along in May, routine notices were sent to the various and sundry dog owners with this wording: "Just to advise you that the dog license purchased by you expires May 31." To this, G. W. Barrington, who owned a fairly good "pooch," answered: "And so does the dog."

Spiritual force is stronger than material; thoughts rule the world.—Emerson.

Secret study, silent thought, is, after all, the mightiest agent in human affairs.—Channing.

Current Comment

By LEON GUINN

Key men of the world's aviation industry have unanimously agreed that the United States turns out the finest air-cooled airplane engines in the world, but in concentrating on this one type of motor we have woefully fallen behind European countries in the manufacture of liquid-cooled power planes. . . . At a practical means of offsetting this handicap, Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, has been working overtime to obtain rights for manufacture of the best European liquid-cooled motors in the United States.

Fruition of Morgenthau's efforts was reflected last week when Great Britain granted the United States full permission to make her famous Rolls Royce "Merlin" engines, followed immediately by France, whose aviation leaders granted United States manufacturers the right, without restriction, to turn out their finest plane motor, the Hispano Suiza. . . . Since this was one of the very last acts of the French government before the humiliating French armistice was signed with Nazi Germany, Americans feel that for once our government took up a mighty good bargain while the time was ripe for such action.

Several years ago engineers discovered that rubber resists hard knocks better than steel when used for lining coal chutes and the like. . . . This highly flexible quality of rubber has allowed the United States Rubber Company to perfect a new type of armor plate for airplanes which is about 20 per cent lighter than steel, but with similar bullet resistance. . . . The new armor, military experts state, involves a combination of rubber and steel that can be easily produced in large quantities.

Both army and navy officials are becoming increasingly annoyed at the utter failure of congressional committees to keep secrets. . . . On the committee's demands, the officers of both branches of our national defense system very often reveal national defense secrets in executive sessions with the candid understanding that any and all facts disclosed will be kept strictly confidential; but too often find that the information leaks out in dribbles until a fairly accurate picture of what has been said is obtained. . . . Defense chiefs have wisely decided now that even in America congressmen will learn there are some things they can't go harping back to their home district voters about.

A final compilation of soil building practices completed under the 1939 AAA program in Texas indicates that on 18,297 farms 20,231 miles of standard terraces were constructed. . . . Further information released by the state Triple A office reveals that on 61,619 Texas farms 4,909,232 acres of intertilled crops were farmed on the contour, and on 206,696 farms a total of 2,397,253 acres of green manure and cover crops were planted.

In 1939, for instance, the acreage of the United States farm land planted to soil depleting crops was about 23,000,000 acres less than the average for the preceding 10 years. . . . This trend, considered one of the most encouraging that has occurred in agriculture in the past half century, at last serves as a reminder to those who say American enterprise is sadly wanting that constructive steps are being taken to preserve the fertility of American acres for future generations. . . . Of the 23,000,000 acres mentioned, a considerable part was devoted to soil building crops.

Studies recently made by the Bureau of Home Economics indicate that from $85 to $100 per person per year is required for a good diet, the type that keeps the average citizen in fine health, barring other factors. . . . While the bureau does not in any way advocate the type of food served 40 years ago that made every meal a heavyweight champion, the fact is pointed out that Americans are gradually eating less as the years go by, a sure sign that "nerves" and business competition is getting most Americans in a proverbial rut. . . . Naturally, there will be those who disagree with the above-named findings, but after all, able physicians say, people should wisely eat their way to health; an diet the food fadists go their erratic way alone.

The most important details of the proposed Pan American economic union program are still in the making, impartial Washington observers agreed last week. . . . Although with every good intention, the present plan was drafted by key Roosevelt aides at break-neck speed because Washington had excellent grounds to believe that axis barter traders may be prepared to do business in Latin America in a comparatively short period of time. . . . This could very easily happen, State Department attaches point out, either because the European war might be quickly terminated, or because some Nazi seized French ships may slip across the Atlantic while the British fleet is occupied with home defense.

Few people believe W. E. Fry, assistant forest supervisor in the Helena, Montana, national forest when he stated last week there were so many ground squirrels in the Blossburg grazing area that they consumed more grass than cows. . . . But the very people who hurled their caustic remarks at the forest service official changed their minds in a hurry when Fry sent out a crew of 22 CCC boys to do something about the matter. . . . With 22 CCC youths after an estimated 50,000 ground squirrels in the grazing area, the most casual observer would look for at least one-fifth of the squirrels to bite the dust.

Many Locals Go To Stamford For Holidays Rodeo

Scurry County people by the dozens left Tuesday and Wednesday morning for the Tuesday through today (Thursday) Texas Cowboy Reunion being held at Stamford.

Heading Snyder's delegation that left early Tuesday morning for the reunion grounds was 18-year-old Opal Etheredge of Hermaligh, named Snyder's cowgirl sponsor to the eleventh annual Cowboy Reunion last Thursday afternoon.

Miss Etheredge was Hermaligh's cowgirl sponsor at the recently held Lamesa Rodeo, and prior to that was Snyder's sponsor at the Spur Rodeo.

In connection with this year's reunion, the first official show of the American Quarter Horse Association is attracting a considerable amount of interest. Entries in the quarter horse show include one animal entered by W. B. Willingham, Hobbs, community stock farmer.

J. O. Stinson, local Chamber of Commerce president, and R. G. Dillard, Chamber of Commerce president, left Wednesday morning for Stamford. As guests of Texas Cowboy Reunion officials, Stinson and Dillard were given an all-expense paid trip to the reunion grounds, round-up hall and various rodeo performances.
