Storm Warning In Panhandle; Coast Is Hit

By The Associated Press

The northeastern tip of the Texas Panhandle went under a severe thunderstorm alert Saturday night with threats of large hail and thunderstorms from 8:30 p.m. until 2 a.m. also took in parts of Kansas and Oklahoma.

Included in the Texas sector were Perryton, Canadian and Spearman.

109 AT PRESIDO

At least one twister was reported in Southwest Harris County.

W. L. Tweed who lives near Farm Road 529 told the Sheriff's Department at Houston a twister churned through his property, uprooting trees and destroying small farm buildings.

Wind gusts up to 60 miles an hour were reported by an airport employe on Houston's southwest side.

While an official 1.07 inches of rain was recorded in downtown Houston, several surrounding points had estimated rainfall of up to four inches.

SOME HAIL

Pea-size hail peppered down with the rain. Minor flooding of some streets was reported.

Highs ranged downward from Presidio's 109 to 87 at Galveston. Morning lows ranged from 63 at Dalhart to 80 at Corpus Christi.

With skies cloudy, the afternoon temperature at Texarkana on the first day of summer was 78 degrees.

A tornado Friday night knocked down a barn on the farm of Clyde Smith, a farmer living south of Livingston, Tex. The twister also blew over a large construction sign and toppled a pickup truck into a ditch.

Barry Backers Raising Funds

AMARILLO (AP)—A group of Amarillo businessmen have started a unique political movement to promote Sen. Barry Goldwater, D-Ariz., for the presidency.

Money donated to the movement, known as "Millions of Americans for Goldwater," will be diverted to the party treasury only if Goldwater is given the GOP nomination in 1964, a spokesman said.

J. Ernest Stroud, Amarillo businessman heading the group, said Saturday if Goldwater is not nominated or does not accept the nomination the money will remain in the hands of the donors.

Stroud explained that participation is expected to be nationwide, with donors banking money with the stipulation that it be held in the "Millions of Americans for Goldwater" account until July 31, 1964.

The plan originated at a dinner session of local businessmen. Amarillo will be the headquarters for the group.

Stroud said his group had not contacted Goldwater directly.

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Weather made news last week, both lashing and soaking our area. Like the man who watched his mother-in-law go over the cliff in his new car, farmers looked on the turbulent thundershowers with mixed emotions. This region so often needs moisture that they couldn't really complain, but they didn't really need the rain. The northwest part of Howard County suffered some harm from blowing sand, from washing and from hail, but there was no widespread major damage.

* * *

Perhaps the city (and Colorado River Municipal Water District) had mixed emotions, too. While showers were adding over 8,000 acre feet to reserves in Lake J. B. Thomas, Big Spring and Odessa, the major consumers, were getting two to three inches of rain and thus dulling their water demands. Cosden Lake, south of town, went over the spillway.

JFK Cautions Negroes Against Violent Acts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy cautioned a divided Negro leadership Saturday against violent demonstrations—or those that breed violence — in their antisegregation drive.

He reportedly questioned the wisdom of a mass demonstration in Washington—which might converge 100,000 marchers on Capitol Hill —but the Negro leaders indicated it will be carried out if the administration's civil rights legislation is blocked by a Senate filibuster.

The President did not ask for a complete halt to demonstrations which have been staged recently in the streets of scores of Southern and Northern cities. And, after the White House session, Negro spokesmen who differ on some points agreed there is no prospect of an end to demonstrations until their causes are resolved.

But all pledged every effort to keep them peaceful.

Both Negro and white desegregation leaders assured the President of their all-out support for his pending civil rights legislation. Some Negroes told newsmen that demonstrations will be used to dramatize this support and these manifestations may be climaxed in August by a mass march on Washington.

SERIES CONCLUDED

Saturday's White House conference concluded, at least temporarily, Kennedy's unprecedented series of personal appeals to small groups of leaders from many fields for a voluntary and peaceful end to segregation in public places, private business, housing, labor unions, churches and schools.

Before leaving Washington for a 10-day trip to Europe, Kennedy took another step to help Negroes get jobs when he signed an order setting forth procedures under which funds can be denied to employers on federal projects who deny employment to Negroes on a racial basis or allow unions to do so.

MORE UNITY

It seemed obvious that one aim of Saturday's White House meeting of 30 desegregation advocates was to achieve some greater degree of unity and cooperation among Negro leaders whose division over methods — and financing—has come forcefully into the open in the past week.

Underscoring this objective was the fact that the President before the general meeting had one private, 30-minute session with Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and another with the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

It was Wilkins who in a speech last Sunday charged that other groups "furnish the noise" while the NAACP does the hard, continuing work "and pays the bills" in desegregation campaign.

For years, the NAACP confined its activities largely to court attacks on segregation. In recent months it has been becoming more militant but not so much so as some other groups, notably the Congress of Racial Equality. Wilkins castigated CORE severely in his Sunday talk.

CHARGED BY FBI

Man Arrested In Ambush Slaying

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI announced Saturday night the arrest in Greenwood, Miss., of a white man in connection with the slaying of Negro leader Medgar W. Evers.

An FBI spokesman said the white man is 42-year-old Byron De La Beckwith, of 306 George Street, Greenwood, Miss.

Beckwith was charged in a complaint by the FBI Saturday with violating the 1957 Civil Rights Act.

The complaint charged Beckwith "and others unknown" with conspiring to injure, oppress and intimidate Medgar Evers in the free exercise and enjoyment of rights and privileges secured to him by the Constitution of the United States, the FBI said.

Evers was ambushed by a hidden sniper as he returned to his residence in Jackson in the early morning of June 12. He died shortly after being struck by a bullet from a high-powered rifle.

The FBI noted that Evers was "a major figure in Negro voting registrationg drives and in making complaints to the federal government concerning deprivation of voting and other rights to Negroes."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in a statement that FBI agents traced to Beckwith a "Golden Hawk" telescopic sight similar to the sight found on a rifle recovered at the murder scene.

The FBI said its fingerprint experts identified latent fingerprints developed on the sight by Jackson police as Beckwith's.

The FBI statement said Beckwith, a member of a Mississippi Citizens Council, who is employed by a tobacco company, will be arraigned as soon as possible.

Nuclear Subs Are Launched

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Three new nuclear submarines slid down the ways and a fourth was poised to follow Saturday in a burst of shipyard activity unusual for peacetime.

The Tecumseh and the Flasher were launched simultaneously at Groton shortly after the old Flasher was towed past on her last voyage, to a scrap yard.

At Newport News, Va., the John C. Calhoun was sent down the ways about an hour and 40 minutes later.

The fourth, the Daniel Boone, was to be launched later at Mare Island, Calif.

TO SCRAP HEAP

For the old Flasher, which sank more enemy tonnage during World War II than any other U.S. submarine, there was just a quiet trip down Long Island Sound en route to a scrap heap at Roebling, N.J. She was towed past the ways before the launchings.

The new Flasher is an attack sub, a sister ship of the lost Thresher, which went down in the Atlantic April 10 with a loss of 129 lives.

The Tecumseh, Calhoun and Boone all are Polaris missile-firing vessels.

The Flasher and the Tecumseh were sent down the ways simultaneously, but about half a mile apart in the yard of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

Outside the gate of the shipyard, where 17 nuclear subs have been launched, including the pioneer Nautilus, opposing pickets faced each other on opposite sides of the street.

Three Killed In Highway Crash

The drivers of both cars, Mrs. Lettie Mae Magura Warren, 43, of Bonne Terre, Mo., and Emmitt C. Haskin, 64, of Texas City were killed, as was Mrs. Warren's husband, Lester Furman Warren, 51.

A passenger in Haskin's car, Mrs. Adele Mary Shields, 42, also of Texas City, was taken to Polk County Hospital, then transferred to the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston in critical condition.

Man-To-Moon Tests Will Start Soon In N. Mexico

FORT WORTH (AP) — Test flights for America's first man on the moon will begin within the next few months at White Sands, N.M., a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said Saturday.

The test flights were disclosed in a talk by John J. Peterson, public affairs office of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

He was speaker this morning at the 84th annual summer convention of the Texas Press Association.

Peterson said the unmanned test flights will begin with "off-the-pad abort tests" at the White Sands Missile Range.

The flights are the first phase of Project Apollo, the lunar landing effort of NASA.

Peterson said the lunar phase of Project Apollo, "consisting of flights into orbit around the moon and to the surface for the first explorations, will be between 1967 and 1970."

Beginning in 1964 Peterson said, "prototypes of the Apollo spacecraft will be launched into earth orbit."

Kennedy Wings To Europe In Cause Of Western Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy headed toward Europe Saturday night on a 10-day mission to promote good will and unity in the Atlantic community.

A jet transport carrying the President took off from Andrews Air Force Base, just outside Washington in Maryland, at 9:37 p.m. Its destination is Wahn Airport in West Germany and the start of a four-day round of receptions and speech-making from Bonn to Berlin.

The flight to Germany was expected to take a little under seven hours.

Sunday morning Kennedy will motor from Wahn Airport to Cologne, where he will attend Mass with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer at the famous Cologne Cathedral.

On Wednesday he will go to West Berlin, the first American president to visit the Communist-encircled city since Harry S. Truman attended the Potsdam conference at the end of World War II.

In advance of Kennedy's arrival, the East Germans proclaimed a 110-yard forbidden zone on the Communist side of the Berlin wall. That means few East Berliners will be able to see the President when he pays a call at the Western side of the Checkpoint Charlie gateway.

The President will carry a personal message of friendship from the United States. Much of Western Europe will see a seven-hour step-by-step telecast of his motor tour through the city as it is beamed within range of more than 25 million television receivers in 12 countries. Washington diplomats heard that the Reds might try to stage a counterattraction the same day, perhaps an East Berlin visit by Russia's two newest astronauts, Valentina Tereshkova and Valery Bykovsky.

From Berlin Kennedy will fly to Dublin for a 2½-day sentimental visit to the land of his Irish ancestors. Then he goes on to England for a day at the country home of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan near London.

Arrangements for the final portion of Kennedy's trip, a three-day visit to Italy, are still being worked out. The President expects to see the new Pope, Paul VI, as well as various Italian political leaders.

He is due back in Washington July 3.

Aides said Kennedy does not intend to undertake any particular negotiations with the Western leaders he will meet during his four-country journey.

Rather, they stressed what they termed the symbolic importance of the presence of the President of the United States in Europe.

Dismissals By Judge In First Cases

TYLER, Tex. (AP)— Federal Judge Joe Sheehy acquitted E. B. Hearn Sr. of all hot oil-slant well charges Saturday and acquitted Hearn's co-defendants of most of the 29 counts against them.

The dramatic action came in an extraordinary Saturday court session as a highlight of the 3-week-old trial of Hearn Sr., E. B. Hearn Jr., Daryl L. Gaumer and Associates Drilling Co.

JURY NOT PRESENT

The jury was not present during the arguments or when Judge Sheehy dismissed the counts.

The case is the first criminal action tried by the federal government since Texas' slant oil well scandals broke out several months ago, and was watched closely by lawyers and oil operators.

The defendants were charged, in effect, with drilling a well at a slant so that it produced oil from a neighboring lease. The government formally claimed that moving this oil in interstate commerce was a violation of federal law.

Further, the government charged the defendants made false reports to the Federal Petroleum Board. The counts included two which charged conspiracy.

TRIAL FOR OTHERS

The trial will continue Monday for the remaining defendants, all of Longview. The elder Hearn is from Houston.

E. B. Hearn Sr., acquitted of all counts.

E. B. Hearn Jr., acquitted of counts 1 through 13 charging violation of the act banning transportation of contraband oil in interstate commerce. Acquitted of counts 14 through 27 charging filing of false reports to the petroleum board. Acquitted of count 29, a felony charge alleging conspiracy to commit acts against the United States. Remaining is count 28, charging conspiracy to violate the Connally Hot Oil Act.

OTHERS FREED

Daryl L. Gaumer, acquitted on counts 1 through 13, and count 29. Remaining are counts 14 through 28.

Associates Drilling Co., acquitted on counts 1 through 13 and counts 28 and 29. Remaining are counts 14 through 27.

Attorneys John Glass Sr. and John Glass Jr. presented arguments for the defense.

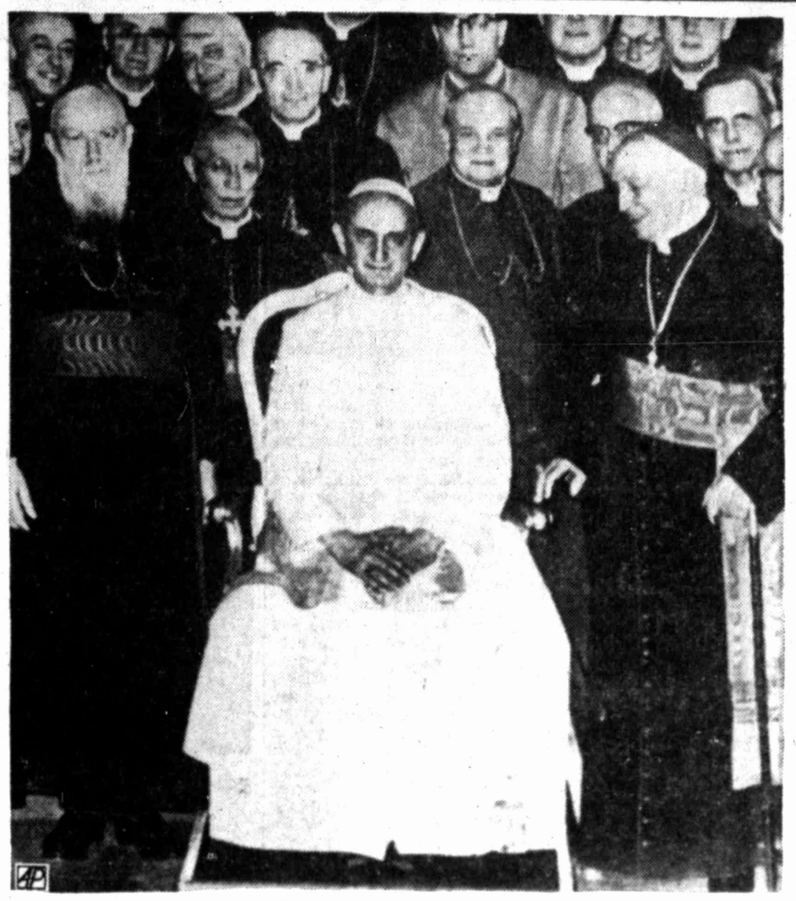

Glass Sr. said there was not sufficient evidence to prove a crime and that the government had failed to prove criminal intent.

He said the government failed to establish any conspiracy with regard to Hearn Sr.

In the arguments, the elder Glass contended there was no knowledge on the part of the defendants concerning the transportation of oil in interstate commerce.

He said there was no evidence the younger Hearn, who was in charge of the drilling, knew where the well was bottomed.

FIRST MESSAGE TO WORLD

New Pope Appeals For A World Of Social Justice

VATICAN CITY (AP) — In his first message to the world, Pope Paul VI set out in the footsteps of Pope John XXIII Saturday calling on mankind to avoid nuclear war and to build instead a world with social justice, brotherly love and "saintly fear of God."

He promised as "the pre-eminent part of our pontificate" to continue the Vatican Ecumenical Council, called by Pope John in in his effort to heal the rifts of Christendom and to adjust the Roman Catholic Church to the future needs of the human race.

Pope Paul told the Roman Catholic faithful behind the Iron Curtain and wherever the church is suppressed to "feel themselves near to us" and to look with hope to "the radiant dawn of resurrection."

PRAYER

Then, the 65-year-old new pontiff went into the grotto below St. Peter's Basilica and knelt in prayer beside the tomb of his predecessor and friend who died June 3 after a pontificate of four years and seven months.

Pope Paul, in his first full day as leader of the world's half billion Roman Catholics, spoke in Latin over Vatican Radio from the Sistine Chapel where he was selected by the College of Cardinals Friday.

His message was filled with remembrances and praise of Pope John.

"We love to remember," he said, "with mindful and moving piety, the figure of the late John XXIII, who in the brief but very intense period of his ministry was able to bring near to him the hearts of men, even those distant."

SPACE RACE

In what appeared to be a reference to the United States and the Soviet Union, Pope Paul touched on the space race.

"The new epoch which the conquests of space have opened to mankind," he said, "will be singularly blessed by the Lord if men know truly how to recognize each other as brothers rather than competitors, and build a world order in saintly fear of God, in respect of His laws, in the light of sweet charity and mutual collaboration."

He followed in the spirit of Pope John in suggesting more help for poor peoples of the world.

"The certain order of love for others, a test of love for God, demands of all men a more equal solution of social problems, demands aid and care for underdeveloped countries in which the level of life is not often worthy of human dignity; requires a voluntary study of a universal scale for the improvement of the conditions of life," he said.

WORLD PEACE

And, as had Pope John before him, he promised to work for world peace.

"Our work, with the aid of God, also will be to undertake every effort for the conservation of the great good of peace among peoples—a peace which is not only an absence of warlike rivalries and armed factions, but a reflection of the order wished by the Lord, creator and redeemer, a constructive and strong will for understanding and brotherhood, a clear cut expression of good will, a never ceasing desire of active concord, inspired by the true well-being of mankind, in unaffected love."

San Francisco Chosen For Republicans' Convention

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Republicans chose San Francisco Saturday for their 1964 national convention, decided to open the meeting July 13 and placed National Chairman William E. Miller in charge of arrangements.

The GOP National Committee made the selections quickly and without dissent as it wound up a two-day meeting in Denver, during which backers of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York vied for the presidential nomination support of members.

George L. Hinman, New York national committeeman and a leader of the Rockefeller forces, conceded at a final news conference that "there was a lot of enthusiasm for Barry" and added that it would be unrealistic to say there hasn't been a swing of sentiment toward the Arizona man during the past few weeks.

"Our conclusion is that this thing is wide open," Hinman said.

RESPECTS TO DEMOS

The committee approved a resolution calling the Democratic administration of President Kennedy weak and indecisive in handling foreign affairs and confused ad ineffective on domestic policy.

The 1964 convention will be held at the Cow Palace, scene of the 1956 convention, where Dwight D. Eisenhower was renominated.

In voting to hold the convention in San Francisco, the national committee accepted a recommedation made by a special site selection committee, headed Miller and Jean K. Tool, Colorado vice chairman.

Tool said San Francisco offered $650,000 cash, free hotel rooms for some committees and free programs as well as fringe benefits. He said the city guaranteed at least 11,244 hotel and motel rooms in the area.

Kasch Awarded Big A&M Job

A. P. Kasch and Sons, general contractors with headquarters in Big Spring, have been awarded a contract to build additions to a power plant at Texas A&M College, College Station, on a bid of $1,619,900.

Kasch and Sons made the second low bid of the six firms seeking the job but their bid was accepted because they met all specifications of the contract.

A spokesman for the local firm said construction, which will call for the addition of steam boilers, air conditioning equipment and electrical improvements to the power plant, will begin in about two or three weeks and will require about a year to complete.

Appeal Made For Screwworm Funds

VICTORIA (AP)—Directors of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association urged Gov. John Connally Saturday to restore a cut of $300,000 from the screwworm eradication program.

The directors adopted a resolution condemning Connally's veto of the screwworm funds from the appropriations bill. Connally said when he vetoed the money that it had been lifted from a fund reserved for use by the Game and Fish Commission.

East German 'Wall Crisis' Is Renewed

BONN, Germany (AP) — East Germany's Communist regime purposely picked the eve of President Kennedy's visit to Germany to challenge the rights of the West at the Berlin Wall, a Western official said Saturday. The last such challenge brought a confrontation of U.S. and Soviet tanks.

With Kennedy due here Sunday for the start of his 10-day European tour, the East German Communists created a dead zone 330 yards wide on their side of the wall. They forbade anyone from entering the zone, including Western military men who are allowed to circulate freely in the divided city.

The decree also means that few East Germans, except for border guards, will be able to see Kennedy when he visits Berlin on Wednesday.

The military commanders of the United States, Britain and France said in Berlin they would not respect the dead zone. They called it the "most brutal action" by the Communists since they built the red wall on Aug. 13, 1961.

The West German government press office said the timing of the measure showed that it was one of the disturbances planned by the East German regime for Kennedy's visit.

Aside from challenging the West in Berlin, the East German dead zone appears aimed at reducing the number of escape routes into the West Zone.

In addition to the dead zone at the 25-mile Berlin Wall, the East Germans imposed another forbidden zone—545 yards wide—along the 76 miles of border that makes West Berlin an island inside East Germany.

CHALLENGE

The United States, Britain and France have 12,500 men in their Berlin garrisons. The three Western powers maintain that their soldiers have a right to circulate freely in the divided city. The Allies viewed the dead zones as a challenge to this right.

Last time the Red authorities made a big challenge to free movement through the wall, the result was a confrontation of Soviet and American tanks at Checkpoint Charlie. That was in October 1961. Since then, Western civilians have been allowed to go into East Berlin only if they show their passports to police of the East German regime.

Men in uniform, however, have been able to move freely.

WELCOME FOR JFK

West Germany, meanwhile, has made elaborate preparations to receive Kennedy. Banners of welcome were stretched across the streets he will pass in the Bonn area. Special posters went up, with pictures of the President, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his expected successor, Ludwig Erhard.

Adenauer said in a television speech that when Kennedy leaves Germany he will take with him the conviction that there are close ties of friendship between Germany and America which will defy every threat to freedom.

Industrial Fund Committee Named

Another step in the industrial development planning of Big Spring was taken last week with appointment of a steering committee to administer funds raised to finance the program.

The enterprising scheme to attract new industry to Big Spring got off the ground more than two weeks ago at a meeting to raise $100,000 over the next three years to support the plan. Since then, pledges total $40,505. The money will be under the direct supervision of the board of directors for the Chamber of Commerce, but its use will be determined by the steering committee.

Funds will be for research, surveys, travel expense, brochures, engineering, photography, secretarial help, advertising, professional and other services deemed necessary to have a successful industrial development program.

Subscribers, in addition to those who made pledges at the fund-raising meeting, are: Good Housekeeping Shop, Cunningham and Philips, Fisher's, Prager's, Medical Arts Clinic - Hospital, Big Spring Savings Association, Big Spring Hardware, Roger D. Brown, Bettle-Womack Construction, Worthy Construction, J. Gordon Bristow.

Also, Gound Pharmacy, Estah's Flowers, Gehe Nabors, Cook and Talbot, J & K Shoe Store, Cowper Clinic-Hospital, K. H. McGibbon, State National Bank, R. H. Weaver, M. R. Koger and E. C. Smith Construction Co.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank the friends and relatives for the floral offerings, and kindnesses expressed during our sadness. We want to thank Dr. Keelyn and the nurses of Big Spring Hospital. We thank Bro. Bill for his comforting words and the choir for their part. We want to express our appreciation to the pallbearers. May God bless you every one.

Arkansas Is Integrating Peacefully

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas, once a world symbol of resistance to integration, has so far been spared from the latest and most electrifying rash of racial troubles.

There has been no major racial violence in the state since Little Rock high schools opened on a desegregated basis in September 1959. City police put down with billy clubs and fire hoses a last-ditch march by segregationists then.

There have been minor scuffles, some demonstrations, and a few freedom riders. But integration is advancing in Arkansas on a comparatively peaceful basis.

The Little Rock School Board last week extended integration to its elementary schools, the last phase of school desegregation in the capital city. The first and fourth grades will be integrated in September and more than 11 Negroes will attend once all-white elementary schools, junior highs and high schools.

About 12 other school districts in the state have begun the desegregation process. The University of Arkansas and state colleges all admit Negroes, although few have applied.

Texarkana College, in the Arkansas-Texas border city, lowered its racial barriers to two Negro women two weeks ago. Twenty white college students staged an impromptu protest march.

Lunch counter and movie theater desegregation was accomplished in Little Rock by a biracial committee.

When the Pine Bluff City Park was integrated two weeks ago, a Negro boy was beaten by a group of white youths. Five were arrested. The Negro was not seriously hurt.

A Negro church at Gillett, 40 miles east of Pine Bluff in southeast Arkansas, was damaged by a dynamite blast last Wednesday, but Sheriff Herold Woodson said it probably was the work of a "transient fanatic." There has been no racial unrest in the small town, he said.

Says Church Is On Trial

DALLAS (AP) — The Southern Presbyterian Men's Convention was told Friday that the Christian church is not only on trial but that "the whole world is laughing at us."

Dr. William A. Benfield Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Charleston, W.Va., said, "Here in the United States is the choicest mission field for the other religions of the world."

"Christians don't know what our religion is about. We can't live as churchmen without adequate preparation and the right equipment.

The average fourth grade child knows more about mathematics than the average Presbyterian knows about the holy Bible. Adult church classes have largely disappeared and become social functions," he said.

Discussing race relations, Dr. Benfield said he was told by a fellow Presbyterian that he favored racial equality except where it would interfere with the Southern way of life.

Cubs Have A Full Day On Train Trip To Sweetwater

Approximately 150 full-of-energy Cub Scouts towed their brave den mothers and a few perplexed cubmasters along Saturday as they took their annual train ride and picnic to Sweetwater.

Leaving at 9:20 a.m. from the Texas & Pacific terminal, they arrived in Sweetwater at 10:30. A hike to the city park and a picnic climaxed the day before they again boarded the train and arrived back in Big Spring at 4:05 p.m.

As the morning departure time neared, kids were running everywhere, at least 150 mouths were jabbering at the same time, and worried adults were combing the sea of blue and gold for their Johnny. For many this was their first train ride.

One cubmaster was waving in six directions at the same time and shouting over the mob: "Den 14 over here. Den 14 over here. Hey Mike, George, Billy, Don't Den 14 over here!"

A freckled-faced boy struck the keynote of many of the conversations when he looked wistfully down the tracks and then back to the nearby rails. After a moment he turned to one of his buddies and triumphantly announced a great truth: "If some kid gets stuck in the tracks it'll be too bad."

Then there was the little Negro boy who obviously was overcome by the occasion.

"Looking forward to this ride?" some parent inquired.

"Oh, Yessss, sirrr," came the eager reply.

"Ever been on a train?"

His friend studied it for a moment and then asked incredulously: "How are you going to get it? You'll be on the train after it leaves."

He had it all figured out. "I'll get it when I come back," he said confidently.

Red China Slaps JFK Peace Move

TOKYO (AP) — Red China sharply criticized President Kennedy's peace overtures to the Soviet Union, calling them "this most cunning and most sinister plot" to divide Moscow and Peking.

Radio Peking said the official People's Daily printed the full text of the President's June 10 speech at the American University of which a Kremlin commentator wrote approvingly last week.

The President in his speech called for "mutual tolerance" as a prelude to nuclear disarmament and world peace.

HUG, KISS FROM K

Red Square Crowd Cheers Valentina

MOSCOW (AP)—Valentina Tereshkova got a big bear hug and a kiss from Premier Khrushchev Saturday as thousands of Russians turned out to honor their first woman of space and her male partner, Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky.

Khrushchev also used the occasion to challenge the United States to match Soviet feats in space—and to point out to the world the military potential packed by such feats.

Valentina, 26, a blue-eyed, dimpled blonde, smiled happily as Khrushchev heaped praise upon her and Bykovsky in an appearance on top of Lenin's Tomb in Red Square.

WANTED TO LOOK

The crowd applauded only briefly the several speeches, even that of Valentina.

They just wanted to look at this pretty girl who finished 71 hours in space last Wednesday, making more than 48 orbits of the earth, a total Khrushchev pointed out, as greater than the combined flying of all the United States astronauts.

He announced that both she and Valery had been made heroes of the Soviet Union, the highest award in the land which had been given also to the four earlier cosmonauts and a recent visitor from Cuba, Fidel Castro.

She also was given, along with Bykovsky, the title of pilot cosmonaut. On earth, she has never piloted a plane.

RECEPTION

Saturday night the two new cosmonauts were guests at a big Kremlin reception where they received the Order of Lenin and other honors.

In his speech Khrushchev appealed to the world to let the flight of the cosmonauts "bring friendship and peace and happiness to all.

"Outer space must be a zone of peace, a zone of international cooperation. We welcomed the space flights of the American cosmonauts. This is a noble and worthy partnership in the competition for a peaceful conquest of outer space."

But he had this to say also about the Soviet Union's rocket might.

"All people, of course, realize full well that if the Soviet Union has rockets which make with amazing accuracy such flights around the earth, it also has rockets for other purposes."

Even an air of romance was injected into the joyous proceedings when Andrian Nikolayev, the cosmonaut whose record last August of 64 orbits was broken by Bykovsky's total of 81, made a point of standing close to Valentina. There are rumors that Nikolayev and Valentina plan to marry.

Juniors Work To Pay For Their Play

Members of the Big Spring High School junior class will begin fund-raising activities Monday to help finance the Junior-Senior Prom during the coming school semester.

"It will be Junior Week," according to Beverly Womack, chairman of the week's fund-raising drive. Peggy Spier is co-chairman.

Monday and Thursday have been designated "odd job days." Residents with some extra work around their homes are urged to call for members of the class to get the job done. The telephone number is AM 3-2936.

Tuesday will be collection day. Juniors will search the city for redeemable soft drink bottles, scrap metal, or anything they can convert into money.

A cake sale will be held Wednesday, at the Furr's and Piggly-Wiggly stores a car wash is scheduled Friday at the Austin Aulds service station, across from the central fire station.

The fund-raising week will wind up with a donation day Saturday, when the class will solicit contributions from interested businessmen.

The junior class includes an estimated 450 students and the class officers hope to have a large number of the membership helping out with the fund-raising activities.

Big Program Under Way For Border City Beautification

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government is promoting a new city-to-city improvement program to join Mexico in trying to make the 1,600-mile U.S.-Mexican border a showcase of beautification.

It will be up to the U.S. cities along the border to initiate action with their sister cities in Mexico, a spokesman for the Urban Renewal Administration said today. Then the cities can work through their state planning agencies for urban renewal funds.

So far, two border cities in California—San Diego and Calexico—have received grants for planning studies for improvements tied in with the work of the Mexican government across the border.

Mexico has announced she will spend about $100 million by 1965 to improve her border communities.

JFK's SUPPORT

President Kennedy gave impetus to U.S. efforts when he announced the California grants last week. In a speech at San Diego, he said they would be used "to do our share in stimulating sound community improvement planning and action in the cities on our side, so that the end result will be a rejuvenation and beautification of the entire border, from the Pacific Ocean to the Gulf of Mexico."

Following this, William L. Slayton, commissioner of the Urban Renewal Administration, called for creation of a municipal alliance for planning and development of all of the border areas between the United States and Mexico.

It could integrate development, he said, and also provide a means for state and federal agencies to work with the border communities.

TWO-THIRDS COST

Under the urban planning assistance program, the federal government may approve grants for towns and cities and states to cover two-thirds of the cost of the planning.

San Diego received $100,406 in grants, to be supplemented by $50,203 in local funds. The planning includes studies on channelling the Tijuana River and development of a second entrance to San Diego harbor.

Calexico received $11,900, with $6,064 to come from local funds, for studies of airport facilities, increased border crossings and sewage problems.

So far, no other border city has joined in the program.

In Texas, for example, an urban planning program spokesman said, individual border cities could develop their plans for coordinating growth and development with that of Mexican cities. However, he said, no planning project in Texas cities now being assisted under the program specifically calls for such coordinating efforts.

NO CONCRETE STEPS

Antonio J. Bermudez, director of the Mexican national border program, says he heartily approves of the proposal, but that no concrete steps for actual formation of the proposed body have been taken.

Bermudez says he has always made it a point to coordinate his border program projects as much as possible with cities on the U.S. side anyway. For example, the placing of new border crossing facilities was coordinated with officials on the U.S. side.

Since it was begun two years ago, plans have been drawn up for work in 10 border cities—Matamoros, Piedras Negras, Juarez, Nogales, Tijuana, Mexicali, San Felipe, Ensenada, Ojinaga and Nuevo Laredo.

Work has begun in the first five.

IN JUAREZ

In Juarez, the program bought one million square meters of land, spent $1.2 million for paving, lights, drainage, other urbanization work. A museum has been completed, a convention hall is under construction and should be completed in August, and preliminary construction is in process on a $3.5 million hotel and motel. A new customs house and border-crossing facilities for tourists is to be ready by February 1964.

In Tijuana, a "Great Gateway to Mexico" is under construction which will provide 19 lanes for traffic going to U.S. and five for traffic entering Mexico, said Mexican sources. It is to be completed by February 1964 at a cost of $1.5 million.

In Matamoros, the gateway has been completed and is in operation. Work on a shopping center is expected to be completed by the end of 1964.

PIEDRAS NEGRAS

In Piedras Negras, the program bought five blocks of downtown area, tore down almost all of the buildings and will put up a shopping center, museum, etc. A gateway is to be completed by the end of next month.

In Nogales, the old custom house will be torn down next month. Construction was to begin this month on new tourist facilities, a shopping center and a super market. The main street is being paved and lighted.

Up to now, the Mexican program has spent $20 million. It is expected to cost at least $100 million by 1965.

As to total amount that will be spent under the program, or how long it will last, Bermudez said, "That is impossible to say because no one can think of putting a limit to the progress of such an important part of the nation as the northern part represents."

The aim of the Mexican border program is two-fold: spur the border's economic progress and put up a better face to incoming tourists.

REGARDLESS OF PROGRESS BEING MADE—

Racial Tension In Both North, South

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration feels considerable progress is being made in erasing "White Only" signs in the South and border states, but still regards the racial situation as explosive in both North and South.

This can be reported on the authority of officials in the know. One said:

"I have just conferred with federal judges in Philadelphia and there couldn't be a more scared or frightened group."

Philadelphia was the scene of violence last month, amid Negro charges of discrimination by some labor unions. Negroes there, as in many other places, have been demanding better job opportunities, housing and education.

Even if the last "White Only" sign in the nation came down today, the administration official said, the country would only be in transition toward tackling a graver problem—the terrifically high unemployment among Negroes, many of whom are unequipped by education or training to hold good jobs.

For example, the official mentioned Cambridge, Md., where demonstrations against restaurant segregation and other racial barriers, erupted into violence last week. Unemployment among Negroes in that city on Maryland's eastern shore is 29.5 per cent.

As for the nation as a whole, the official added, joblessness among Negro families is 9.5 per cent, while for white families it is 3 per cent.

The long-term answer lies, he said, in education and vocational training, and full mployment for both whites and Negroes.

An inside story of how the Kennedy administration has been enlisting the aid of businessmen in the dual role of "missionaries" and intelligence sources was told Saturday. The idea, a high source said, was to relieve pressure by desegregating hotels, motels, restaurants, lunch counters, theatres and other privately-owned public accommodations in the old South and four border states — Oklahoma, Kentucky, Maryland and West Virginia.

On May 22 the attorney general held the first of his meetings with businessmen — a series of conferences that has now amounted to 10. The businessmen were asked to report back just what the situation was in their communities, and what they thought could be done.

Information has been gathered on 276 out of 500 Southern and border cities with a population of more than 10,000. Officials gave this rundown:

In 196 of the 276 there is now either some form of integration in theaters, hotels, restaurants and other such public places, or at least some machinery, such as bi-racial council, to study the issue.

But the officials added that in 179 out of the 196 cities, some increase in desegregation has been noted since May 22, the day of the attorney general's first conference.

From 38 other cities came reports that the situation is "very tough", officials said—in some cases because of aggressive white citizens councils, in others because of an adamant mayor or newspaper.

"We will be chipping away all summer at these 38, which are located in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Texas," one government source said.

Texas School Integration Now Going At Faster Pace

(Editor's Note: Is integration of city schools in Texas taking place at a rapid pace? Both yes and no appear the proper answers after a statewide check by school officials plan for the fall term. Desegregation unquestionably has speeded up.)

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Integration of city schools in Texas is continuing at a faster pace in 1963 than at any time since the legislature almost stopped desegregation six years ago.

That becomes apparent from a statewide Associated Press survey disclosing 22 and possibly 23 school districts will be integrated this fall which were not integrated when school began last year.

This in nine years since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled school segregation because of race unconstitutional. 209 districts or more in Texas will have integrated to some degree.

The state has 1,440 active school districts. Best estimate of the number of districts which contain both Negro and white students is about 850, and this number changes from time to time for many reasons.

MANY REASONS

Still more school districts are quietly planning for integration but have made no announcements.

Integration does not mean full integration in Texas districts in most cases any more than in states which claim no segregation. Residential patterns causing segregation exist in many places. Some of the larger school systems have only token integration.

The survey also shows that opposition to integration generally is in a ratio to the number of Negroes in the population. Districts with large Negro populations resist integration more than those with a small Negro-white ratio in most instances.

RULING

The big impetus toward voluntary integration came Dec. 10, when Will Wilson, then Texas' attorney general, ruled that the integration control laws the legislature passed in 1957 were unconstitutional.

The 1957 laws called for heavy financial penalties—in the form of withheld state funds—against a school district integrated without a favorable vote from the citizens.

Wilson modified the 1957 laws once before, ruling that a district could not be penalized by the state if it integrated under federal court orders.

This in effect took off the hook some districts impaled by the question of whether to obey conflicting state or federal laws.

About 50 districts went through the formalities of the 1957 state laws and voted to integrate. Other districts found voters turning down integration proposals.

DOORS OPEN

Wilson's 1962 ruling opened the doors to those school boards which wished to integrate. Thus some will integrate this fall without outside influence.

Some of the larger school systems which have announced voluntary integration this year without any pressures or special persuasion are Waco and Denton. Some other large systems are integrating with some pressure.

However, the huge Fort Worth school system will end segregation this fall only under federal court directive.

Two other reasons, somewhat related, bore on the issue.

One was a threat by the federal government to withhold school aid from segregated districts where the government provided some funds because military families swelled school enrollment. These are called "impacted" districts.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Barefoot Sanders of Dallas recently persuaded at least five districts in North and West Texas to integrate. All are impacted districts.

These are Arlington, Abilene, Burkburnett, Mineral Wells and Potter County Common Consolidated No. 3 near Amarillo.

school district representatives were informal and he made no threats concerning withholding of federal funds.

The federal attorney talked to officials of other districts which may announce later that they will integrate.

Fears of first one district and another that integration would cause disturbances have not been borne out since the mob scenes at Mansfield, near Fort Worth, in the fall of 1956.

The Mansfield schools were under court order to integrate. But this was in a period when the federal government did not consider it a duty to physically enforce the courts' integration orders.

Angry crowds gathered at Mansfield High School when citizens heard that Negroes would try to register. They remained several days.

Texas Rangers arrived under orders from Allan Shivers, then the governor, to prevent enrollment of any student whose presence might lead to violence. There were some minor scuffles between white persons. The 12 Negroes involved took buses to a Negro high school in Fort Worth as they had for years.

Airman Becomes Citizen Monday

Hungarian-born John Iski, airman second class of the Officer Personnel Section at Webb AFB, realized a long-time ambition Monday when he took the oath of allegiance, and became a citizen of the United States.

Airman Iski was given the oath in ceremonies at Abilene and received his naturalization papers from the federal court there. It was the end of a long trail for Iski. He came to this country in 1956 with his mother, following the abortive revolution in Hungary. They joined his father in Chicago and Iski completed his education there. In 1961, he graduated from Loyola Academy at Wilmette, Ill., and signed with the Air Force in February, 1962.

Iski has suffered many setbacks in his quest for citizenship. Each time he established the required residency and made application, he was transferred to a new station and had to begin all over again.

French Approve German Treaty

PARIS (AP)—The French Senate completed parliamentary action on the French-West German treaty of cooperation Friday, approving it by a vote of 163-69.

The National Assembly and the West German Parliament had approved the treaty earlier. Parliamentary action was not required in France, but President Charles de Gaulle wanted to commit his lawmakers to endorsement of the accord he hopes will end French-German enmity forever.

Dallas Apartment Living Is 'High'

EDITOR'S NOTE: In an area-wide push and pull of space the ultimate for Texas "rich" is a way. Texas Simpson finds that a lot of Texans are finding what they want in a home in a high rise apartment—the latest trend in living in Dallas.

By PEGGY SIMPSON

DALLAS (AP)—If you keep tab on such things, you suddenly discover that all Texans don't cry for the wide open spaces.

Many are happy when crowded against each other, hemmed in by apartment walls and humanity.

Provided:

The apartments have things like wall murals, piped-in champagne, deep carpets, mail service three times a day, Oriental houseboys, swimming pools and whisky at 25 cents a drink.

And, perhaps most important, Snob appeal.

It took rich Texans a while to decide they can live without their four acres and seven servants.

So they adopted a new way of life called "high rise."

Dallas' rate of building apartments rose so rapidly the city (pop. 679,684) ranks third in the nation.

One builder put it this way: "The high rises have made apartment living respectable. People used to think you were living in sin if you didn't have a house and lawn."

The key to success is pampering people.

"I've never seen anybody object to being too comfortable," said millionaire C. Curtis Sanford, whose hobby is studying the moods of Dallas.

Builders completed 4,089 apartment units in Dallas since January. And 4,625 more units in 140 buildings are building.

High-pitched competition arose for customers. Free utilities, kennel clubs, travel discounts, and free interior decorating help became common.

A girl fresh from school gets a heady thrill when she sees a pool, carpeted rooms, piped-in music, and a garage for $95 to $130 a month.

When a Gaston Avenue youth reaches his mid-20s, he may itch for the next higher level of apartment life.

He's looking for a private drinking club, since Texas prohibits hard whisky at public bars, and he's looking for contacts with rising young executives or professional folk.

A sharply different apartment complex, The Four Seasons, boasts about piped-in champagne and a rooftop heliport. All its rooms are differently designed and furnished and have private entrances.

The manager reminds you of this potent fact: 11 couples met and married there since The Four Seasons opened last August.

The builders, R. W. Thompson Jr. and Thomas H. McCarville, say residents can't possibly be wallflowers when they're offered dance, bridge, travel and sports clubs, colored television while they wash, two types of pools, and jamborees around barbecue pits and pizza ovens.

If they're broke from paying $150 to $300 rent per month, they can feel rich again by ordering a drink for a quarter from the private club.

The really big leap comes to the executive who is 40 and often fat.

Should he take the jump to the ultimate—the high rise apartment—where he will meet wealthier contacts?

On fashionable Turtle Creek Boulevard, where 10 or so super-elite apartments are completed, building, or planned, the hottest property in Dallas is the grand-daddy of super-duper fashion apartments, the "3525."

Some refer to it as Greer Garson's home, although hundreds have lived in its moneyed glow since its 1958 opening. The actress lives there with her oilman husband, Buddy Fogelson.

A stone's throw away the elegant "Gardens on Turtle Creek" (that's what the owners named it) has defied the trend and built five levels of apartments around trees and gardens—at high rise prices, of course.

The builders say living habits have changed. The rush to the suburbs has been checked by choking traffic.

Sanford and his wife took stock after a trying day of repairs.

"We counted 54 motors in our house," he said. "If they all last a year, that's still a breakdown a week."

Charles Meeker, manager of the 15-story Terrace House scheduled to open about July 10, says:

"There is no one in the South who will offer the services we will. We will have something of elegance and gentility. The prices will be in relation to the services offered."

Prices start at $500 a month, unfurnished.

"We resent the piped-in champagne idea. It is very non-descriptive of what Texas is today," Meeker said.

School System Study Begins

A team of 29 prospective school administrators from all parts of Texas will arrive in Big Spring today to conduct a comprehensive educational survey of the Big Spring Independent School District.

Under the direction of Dr. Bill Barron, Dr. Kenneth McIntyre and Dr. Michael Thomas, all of the University of Texas, they will examine several phases of local school organization and operation. Included in their work Monday through Wednesday will be interviews with a sampling of the local citizenry to explore public attitudes and opinions on aspects of the local schools.

The group will begin local interviews and research Monday. A preliminary report of findings will be presented to Sam M. Anderson, superintendent, and other administrators Wednesday. A complete report, in bound form, will be compiled later.

The work will be done at no expense to the district except for food while the team is here. The team members are taking part in an intensive nine-week program at the University designed to augment the preparation of promising prospective Texas school administrators. Under the Foundation of Educational Administration program, such studies have been conducted in various Texas school systems since 1952.

Farm Outlook Still Bright, Pastures In Top Condition

Farmers in parts of Howard County took a mild to heavy beating from thundershowers last week, but generally the agricultural outlook continued excellent.

None was complaining about the rains—you just don't do that in West Texas — but the northwest corner of the county could have done with a little less vigor in the way it came.

The greatest blessing came in the form of runoff which filled ranch and farm ponds. Until this happened, some areas were facing the paradox of green pastures and a water shortage. Pastures were left in the best condition in years.

SOME DAMAGE

County Agent Herb Helbig surveyed the situation Friday and found the most critically affected area in a triangle from Fairview west to the county line, north to Ackerly. This embraces the rich, sandy Knott area. Tuesday night showers produced some washing, but rains Wednesday night were much heavier in that area than initial reports indicated. Consequently, there was considerable damage from washing, some from the blowing dust and sand which blasted ahead of the showers, and still some more from a peppering of hail.

In this triangle, explained Helbig, there will be some spotted replanting, some in entire fields, and lots of sand fighting. Still, the outlook is a long way from gloomy.

FLOURISHING

In the Elbow-Lomax sectors of the southwest part of Howard County, rains did little damage. Crops are flourishing. Farmers have been busy with sand fighting.

Luther and Vealmoor fortunately missed out on excessive rain Thursday night, else they might have experienced washing damage. Vincent, in the northeast corner, is in good condition.

Around Center Point, R-Bar and Coahoma, a few fields had some sad blister from the big blow, but mostly farmers worried about getting in to fight the weeds.

Within a couple of weeks there could get to be a critical shortage of farm labor, Helbig warned. Friday he saw two or three sizable chopping crews already at work.

TOO WET

The ground has been too wet to get in with rotary hoes, and while weeds can be knifed out of the middles, this means that much of the work will have to be done the hard and more costly way—by hoe hands. Younger cotton is a bit cleaner, but weeds are threatening to outstrip some of that which came on just ahead of the rains.

Helbig estimated 99 per cent of the cotton crop is in the ground, most up to reasonably good or excellent stands. The necessity of running sand fighters (a revolving pronged affair which chips soil to reduce blowing) has inadvertently thinned some of the stands to marginal points.

FEED LOOKS GOOD

Early feed is assured of making excellent yields, barring a disastrous hail. Helbig reported visiting one patch waist high—and which the farmer had never been able to work. Late feed is up to uniformly good stands, though some of it is mighty weedy.

Because of having to run equipment repeatedly after successive showers and having to replant one or more times, the farmers are beginning to have a substantial investment in the crop. They will need good yields to overcome this coast factor and reap the margin they need.

Stanton Church To Hold Picnic

STANTON (SC) — Rev. W. H. Uhlman, pastor of the First Baptist Church, announced the church will hold its annual picnic at the District Eight encampment grounds July 4. The group will assemble in the afternoon for swimming and games. A baseball team will be organized and a group will play horseshoes. The evening meal will be a picnic supper served in the lunch rooms.

Lake Thomas Rises More Than A Foot

Rains of the past week have added about 2.7 billion gallons of water to the reserves of Lake J. B. Thomas.

Friday the lake level became static at elevation 2256.20, or 1.8 feet below service spillway level. The gain for the week was 1.14 feet, or about 8,000 acre feet of water.

This left the lake with approximately 189,200 acre feet of water, or about 92 per cent of capacity. At this level, the lake covers about 7,500 surface acres.

JFK To Push For Tax Bill This Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration is reasonably happy with the tax-reduction bill as it is shaping up and will fight any move to postpone it until next year, administration sources said Saturday.

They refused to concede that President Kennedy's tax program is imperiled by the looming battle in Congress over his civil rights proposals although House backers of the tax bill fear a serious slowdown.

Southern segregationists may counter-attack against Kennedy by stalling on the tax bill, House sources said. And if the House nevertheless passes a tax cut, they noted, an even greater hazard remains that the bill may be stalled by a Senate filibuster on civil rights.

The threat was discounted privately by a high official who keeps close watch on tax developments. Tax-cutting sentiment has grown stronger in Congress and the country in recent weeks, he said, adding:

WANTS BOTH

"It is absurd to suggest that the President would weaken his insistence on the tax program because of the civil rights bill. He wants them both—this session."

Kennedy has indicated as much, though this could mean keeping Congress in Washington until far on into the fall.

But administration sources indicated they are satisfied with progress of the tax bill to date, though many of Kennedy's original requests have been tossed into the wastebasket by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The outlook now, they said, is for the committee to deliver to the House a bill shorn of many of the "reforms" Kennedy requested and providing smaller rate reductions. It may look, they conjectured, something like this:

$10 BILLION CUT

—A total net tax reduction fairly close to the $10 billion Kennedy proposed, effective in two stages starting next Jan. 1.

—Tax law changes providing about $1 billion of new revenue, far short of the $3.3 billion Kennedy asked.

—A scale of personal income tax rates ranging possibly from 15 per cent to 75 per cent. The present range is 20 per cent to 91 per cent. Kennedy proposed a spread of 14 to 65.

—A cut in the corporation tax rate from 52 per cent to 48 per cent. Kennedy proposed a reduction to 47 per cent.

The President could be expected to put up a fight for an effective date of October 1—if the bill could be enacted in time—and for restoration of the "reforms" scrapped by the committee, including the five-per-cent floor on personal income tax deductions.

Most administration officials, however, now privately admit that this unpopular provision is a lost cause and many concede that there is very little chance for an effective date before Jan. 1.

'Plain Words' On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex.) said Saturday it is time for some very plain words on the subject of civil rights.

In a letter to constituents he added: "May they be both sober and clear."

Wright said: "We have come a long way, and we have a way to go yet before all Americans will be treated with respect and decency. Part of it has to be earned, part of it has to be learned. It cannot always be commanded by law. We make no permanent gain in rights by violating rights of others. Our rights rest in the Constitution, but the Constitution rests upon the voluntary willingness of the citizenry to protect the rights of other people, and on our mutual ability to solve our problems by reason and not by riot."

Lads' Pillow Fight Ends In Tragedy

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—A rollicking pillow fight among three brothers ended in tragedy Friday when the oldest struck his neck on a bedstead and died.

Joseph Brian Johnson, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton R. Johnson Jr. of suburban Minnetonka, apparently suffered a ruptured windpipe, according to the Hennepin County Coroner's Office.

San Antonio Moves Toward Integration

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — This city's Committee for Voluntary Desegregation of Businesses said Saturday there is a good chance all businesses serving the public in San Antonio will voluntarily integrate by July 4. It reported "accelerated progress on all fronts."

The committee, appointed by the city council after Negro leaders asked for an ordinance forcing the integration of all publicly used facilities in the city, said in a report:

That 42 major restaurants have signed pledges of desegregation and 12 others have indicated approval but first must obtain approval of their home offices.

That the San Antonio Motor Court Association representing 32 motels has voted to integrate and the San Antonio Hotel and Motel Association voted to follow voluntary desegregation.

And that all publicly-used bowling alleys in the city are in the process of carrying out voluntary integration.

City-owned facilities in San Antonio have been integrated for several years. Some hotels, restaurants and all theaters are now integrated.

The committee sent letters to businessmen saying that racial strife in some U. S. cities has roots in the practices and practices of segregation. It added:

"Continued discrimination between customers because of race, color or ethnic origin can only bring similar disastrous events to San Antonio. In certainty this community must take every step to avoid."

Minor Injuries In Car Mishaps

Five persons were taken to local hospitals for treatment Friday afternoon and Saturday morning following automobile accidents, but none was injured. Nature of the injuries was considered serious.

Mrs. L. E. Rogers, 501 Princeton, and her son, James Dale Rogers, were treated at Howard County Hospital Foundation for injuries after a vehicle driven by Mrs. Rogers collided with a car at 500 and Presidio. They were taken to the hospital in a private vehicle. The accident occurred about 5:45 p.m. Friday.

Three persons were taken to the hospital shortly before noon Saturday following a two-car collision at 101 E. 21st. Drivers of the vehicles were Carolyn Touchstone and James Richard Horton, 422 Hillside Drive.

Miss Touchstone was taken to Cowper Clinic-Hospital by River ambulance for treatment of minor injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Horton went to Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital for a checkup.

Two other minor accidents were noted. At Fourth and Birdwell about 1 p.m. Friday an unknown vehicle which left the scene was in collision with a parked truck belonging to Kenneth Jackson, Mt. Pleasant. A three-car accident occurred at Fourth and Benton shortly after noon Saturday. Drivers were Lou Wanda Pierce, Tarzan; Loy Loudamy, 1302 Baylor, and Eugene Burrow, Odessa.

Sammy Davis' Home Robbed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three men posing as policemen forced their way into the home of entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. Friday night, tied up a nurse and took a $15,000 diamond necklace and at least seven jeweled watches, police said.

Officers said Mrs. Leslie Jackson, the nurse, related that three men tied her up and ransacked the house.

Davis was working in Las Vegas, Nev., and his wife, actress May Britt, was attending a movie premiere.

Demos Pick Sites For Conventions

DALLAS (AP)—A state Democratic convention site selection committee has decided on locations for two conventions next year but will not reveal them until September.

State Committeeman Glenn Batson of Littlefield said the announcement will be made to the Democratic State Executive Committee. The site committee met in Dallas Friday.

The Dallas Times Herald said the best guess is that the Sept. 15 convention will be in Dallas with the June 18 convention in Austin.

Car Lights Stolen

Thieves made off with taillights from two cars parked on Baylor Street Thursday night. The losses were reported Friday afternoon by Frank D. Johnson, 910 Baylor, and Robert S. Galbraith Jr., 906 Baylor.

Black Muslims Recruit Followers In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The Black Muslims, who reportedly have been recruiting in Houston for two years, broke a veil of silence Saturday.

Their local leader, a small dapper man who calls himself Raymond X, told the Houston Chronicle in an exclusive interview:

"I can't divulge how many members we have in Houston, but I would hope that it is the largest in the state. We'd like to get every so-called Negro in Houston."

Raymond X operates from a small office building near downtown Houston. He calls it a mosque. Its windows are covered with red curtains, and the sign on the door reads: "Muhammad's Mosque, Islam."

Raymond X, who identified himself as a minister of the mosque, said he "lectures" three times a week.

What does he teach?

For one thing, he teaches that "the whites are devils and will be exterminated from the earth."

Raymond X denied, however, that his cult advocates black supremacy. He said the Black Muslims themselves do not plan to exterminate the white race.

"We are peaceful, non-violent people," he said. "God says you are the devil," he told a Chronicle reporter, "and that's between you and God."

Police have been tuned to Black Muslim activities since they began here in 1961. They have caused no trouble, police say.

Desegregation Local Affair, Says Connally

ABILENE (AP) — Gov. John Connally said Saturday he wants to see Texas continue its efforts to desegregate in "a voluntary manner."

"It is basically a problem of the communities and that's why I have not openly tried to inject myself into it," he said in an interview.

"As long as we continue to make this type of progress I think that is the manner in which we should continue to pursue it."

The governor disputed recent statements by Roy Evans, executive secretary of the Texas AFL-CIO, who had criticized the legislature for not opening state jobs to Negroes.

Connally said many Negroes had been hired for state jobs for which they were qualified. He said, however, the State Welfare Department recently tried to hire Negro case workers but had trouble finding persons.

Connally spoke to a meeting of military and civil leaders Friday night at Dyess Air Force Base and to a group of about 200 Democratic Party workers in Taylor County Saturday.

In a pep talk to party workers he reminded them that the Republicans who carried Taylor County in 1962 have an existing organization and "are out-working us 10 to 1."

Arrest Three On Riot Counts

DANVILLE, Va. (AP) — Police forced their way into the office of a Negro church Saturday and arrested three integration leaders accused of inciting racial riots.

The three men, indicted by a special grand jury Friday, are officials of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Officers forced the lock of the door near the church pulpit after the men ignored demands that they come out.

Mayor Julian R. Stinson, in a statement issued after the arrests, said one of the three men was aiming a revolver at the door moments before police broke it open. He said the man had been observed by police through a window.

A Danville integration leader, the Rev. A. J. Dunlap, accused police of breaking a padlock on the front door of the High Street Baptist Church. Police said they found the front door open.

A reporter for the Danville Bee, who accompanied police, said a lock was on the floor inside the door. He said the door was ajar when police arrived.

The three men, who are being held in $5,000 bond, are Yvon W. Rollins of Knoxville, Tenn.; John Robert Zellner of Atlanta, Ga., and Daniel A. Foss of New York City. Rollins is a Negro; the other two are white.

They are among 10 persons indicted Friday by the grand jury on a criminal charge of inciting to riot. The jury was called to investigate racial unrest in Danville in the past three weeks.

Revolutionary Leader Resigns

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Antonio Maceo resigned Saturday as president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council.

Maceo — grandson of a 19th-century Cuban liberation leader of the same name — reportedly was dissatisfied with the council's disclosure of commando landings it said it made on Cuban soil a few days ago.

The Cuban refugee physician was not reached at once for elaboration on his resignation from the post to which he was elected only two months ago. Confirmation of his action came from a son.

Steel Industry Enters New Era Of Peace With Labor

NEW YORK (AP) — Labor peace settled on the vast steel industry this week.

A historic agreement between the United Steelworkers Union and the producers held many ramifications for the economy as a whole.

The pact covering 400,000 basic steelworkers came after months of talks by the human relations committee set up by the union and management to ease the path toward agreement.

Action of the committee made it unnecessary for the union to reopen the 1962 contract with the possibility of a strike 90 days later.

First reaction was expected to be a drop in steel orders from users who had been buying at an accelerated rate as a hedge against a strike. With rumors of an agreement having been heard for more than a week, a more than seasonal downturn in orders had been noted.

However, industry sources indicated they felt that the falloff of orders wouldn't be severe as last year's because the economy is moving at a rapid rate and the day-to-day need for steel is strong.

VACATIONS

The settlement called for an intended vacation plan for veteran employes and some improvements in fringe benefits. The union agreed to extend the contract from the present termination date of June 30, 1964, to May 1, 1965.

While a successful conclusion of the steel talks was being reached, renewed negotiations proceeded between railroads and their unions without any report of progress in the work rules dispute.

The deadline of midnight June 17—after which the railroads could have changed work rules and the unions would have been free to strike—was extended to July 10 under urging of President Kennedy.

The main issue is the railroads' desire to eliminate the jobs of 40,000 firemen on diesel-powered yard and freight train locomotives.

Kennedy said that if there is no agreement by July 10 he would seek legislation to "protect the public against loss of its rail transport."

SMALL SNAKE SURPRISE CALLER IN VETERANS HOSPITAL LOBBY

The information desk in the lobby of the VA Hospital had a strange, silent caller at 6 a.m. Saturday — a snake.

A. W. Froelich, a resident of Kermit who is getting treatment for arthritis and gastric ulcers, stepped off of the elevator on the way to get a newspaper and saw a mysterious wiggle along a shadowy part of the gray marble floor.

Upon closer examination it turned out to be a 14-inch snake wriggling toward the front door. Froelich summoned a nearby guard, Tom Carr, by shouting, "Tom, I saw a snake and I'm not drunk!"

The serpent was promptly shunted into a waiting dustpan and then into a nearby mayonnaise jar.

The snake was later identified by Bruce Frazier as a ring-necked snake of the kind native to Howard County.

Speculation as to how the snake arrived in the hospital was either that he came into the hospital in a potted plant, or that he came up through the expansion joints of the building.

DISMISSALS

He claimed that the others had no knowledge, either.

ALL INFORMATION

On counts 14 through 27, alleging the defendants filed false reports with the Federal Petroleum Board, the senior Glass contended that the reports contained all information the government requested.

He said at no place on the report was the owner required to say whether the well was bottomed under his lease or not.

He said at no place in the report was anyone asked to certify whether the allowable was produced by one well or all the wells of the lease. He said it was economically not feasible to measure oil from each well—that all oil goes into the same storage.

Regarding the conspiracy, Glass contended that there was no evidence of conspiracy.

John Glass Jr., arguing on counts 1 through 13 relating to transportation of hot oil, said there was only circumstantial evidence and that there was no connection with the control of production from the lease.

NO CONTROL OF OIL

He said no defendant had any control of the oil after it left the lease and entered a pipeline.

On counts 14-27, the younger Glass said the only person who could file the reports was the operator, who was listed as Gaumer, and there was not sufficient evidence to show that either of the Hearns had any interest other than as stockholders.

He said the evidence had shown no one was involved in production except Gaumer.

He said oil was not produced until it passed the wellhead.

Regarding the conspiracy counts, he said there was only circumstantial evidence.

He cited several Texas cases which he contended say that a person is required to know the interstate commerce destination of oil he produces.

He said it was a matter for the jury to decide whether the defendants knowingly caused the oil to go into interstate commerce.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE

He said that facts can be inferred in that, as oil producers, the defendants could not shut their eyes to the fact that Texas oil does move in interstate commerce.

Cornett said the defendants had no permit to produce oil from another lease or from non-producers. He said the defendants had a permit to produce oil from the L. Givens lease and not from outside that lease or from what was alleged to be a dummy oil well.

The government has claimed that the defendants slanted a well drilled on their lease so that it bottomed under a nearby Shell Oil Co. lease and that oil was produced from under the Shell lease and pumped into a dry well from where it was marketed.

DISREGARD OF RULE

If the oil was from the Shell lease, Cornett said, then the oil was produced in disregard to Rule 54 of the Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates Texas oil production. The rule requires a permit to produce oil from outside a lease.

Regarding the charge of false reports to the Federal Petroleum Board, the government attorney said the Hearns were involved with filing a false report because of their connection with drilling the well. He said the Associates Drilling Co. was the operator regardless of what the report said.

The government attorney said that on counts 14-27 that the report itself is for information about lease date and that the oil reported was not produced from the L. Givens lease. The report, he said, was therefore not truthful.

The government lawyer said that oil from a producing formation is the important thing. This was a different argument from the defense, which said oil is not produced until it passes the wellhead.

On the conspiracy count, the government said facts and circumstances indicate that the defendants formed a corporation, bought a lease, drilled a well which they knew was outside the lease boundary, put a plastic line in to hide the source of oil supply and made reports to the petroleum board with the idea of deceiving the United States and the board.

The next day camps will begin July 9. Registration at the YMCA is already under way and about half the number required for each camp has already signed up, Francis Flint, general secretary, said.

Bobby Grant is handling both boys' camps and Katherine Hepner is in charge of the girls.

Wants More Effort Put Into Communism Fight

To the Editor:

I was born in America in 1917, educated in the public schools, reared by Christian parents and taught the American way of life. I was taught that to be a Christian was the most important thing in life and that freedom was the next best thing. Then I was taught that freedom consisted of freedom from fear, freedom from want, freedom from tyranny, freedom of speech, freedom of thought, freedom of religion. Then I was taught that you could only have this freedom in a democracy and that you could only have this democracy when the government was run by people who were Christians and people who believed the word of God. I refer to the King James version of the Holy Bible as being the word of God.

Now after 46 years of living and enjoying this God - given heritage and blessings of this wonderful America, I suddenly wake up to realize that this is swiftly disappearing.

Consequently I wonder if there are living today many people who have the same kind of the grace of God, the backbone, the loyalty, ambition, determination, willingness to sacrifice. I am convinced they are here but I also am convinced they are asleep.

They are paying high taxes to support and maintain an army, a navy, marine corps, space projects, etc. Yet our officials, who are called the government, have refused and even ordered that this vast amount of machinery and army of men and women not be used to fight the greatest enemy the American people have ever been contronted with—the anti-Christ which is communism or any other "ism" that is against the Lord Jesus Christ, our democracy or against freedom of religion. Read Isaiah 51 and Rom. 13:8-14. We don't need any new organizations to fight the enemy. All you need is to just get in one of them and be counted for Christ.

The next step toward curbing the tide and turning the trend in Washington would be for all churches to band themselves together as one unit and send a message to Washington that we are under oath and covenanted together to never pay another dollar of income taxes until our dollars that have already been sent in start fighting communism right here in America. When we get the Communist out of America then we can get them out of Cuba.

Sincerely,
A. C. Pettus

Military Man Put In Charge Of A&M Corps

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—The Texas A&M College Board approved today appointment of a regular military officer as commandant of the cadet corps.

It also reaffirmed its policy that qualified first and second year male students be required to take basic Reserve Officer Training Corps training and belong to the cadet corps.

The change in structure from that of a civilian commandant to an active military man is not expected to bring any outward change to the corps.

The structural change had been long expected and was published a few weeks ago by the Daily Eagle of Bryan, only a few miles from the A&M campus.

Publication of the story resulted in the refusal of formal news statements normally issued to the Eagle by the college's information office.

The board said the new command structure will save the college about $60,000 a year.

An active military officer commanded the corps until 1951 when a civilian was named commandant.

Since 1951, the heads of the Army and Air Force detachments have only supervised classes and drills.

The board did not announce selection of a commandant.

'LEVELS OF ACHIEVEMENT'

Lamesa Completely Changing Elementary Grade System

By JOE BEYER

Learning is a continuous process, with each particle of new knowledge an addition to what has been learned before. This, in turn, forms a new foundation upon which learning can continue to more complex areas.

Recognition of this fundamental has led to a complete re-organization in structure for the first three elementary grades in Lamesa Public Schools. Beginning with the September term, there will no longer be grades one, two and three. In their place will be 13 levels of achievement to prepare a student for entry into intermediate grades four, five and six.

"We were not satisfied with what we were accomplishing and thought it was time to make a change," V. C. Bearden, elementary supervisor and curriculum director, said. Bearden has had ample opportunity to observe the results of the old method, having served as an elementary principal for nine years.

V. C. BEARDEN

FIRST IN AREA

"This is not a crash program, either," he emphasized. "The program has been used in various forms at other schools, although I believe it is the first time it has been used in this area."

He pointed out that it was used at San Angelo and Corpus Christi last year, although it differed slightly to meet the needs of the areas in which it was used.

The plan for continuous growth of the child is not a departure from current methods of presentation of the curriculum. Rather, it is a change in administrative handling so that each youngster moves from one grade of learning at his own pace, to a progressively harder grade until he has mastered all the skills he needs to continue at the fourth grade.

SEVEN LEVELS

The first grade has been divided into seven levels. The fast learner, the student who can master the first six basic levels before the year is completed, is allowed to further enrich himself through what is termed "horizontal enrichment." This gives him an opportunity to broaden his learning, yet remain with students of about the same age level.

When the student has mastered the first six basic levels, he is ready to progress to the second grade, even though it is no longer labeled that. There the curriculum is divided into three learning levels, with the third an enrichment level. The third grade has the same breakdown.

By using the plan, each student is virtually assured of getting all the basic instruction he needs to enter the fourth grade. A student who begins slowly, for any of thousands of reasons, may take 1½ years to complete the curriculum he should have finished in one year and then suddenly blossom out and finish the basic instruction of all three grades by the end of his third year in school. This is not uncommon, yet under the old system he would either have been failed and made to repeat something he has already learned or passed upward in social promotion, leaving him unprepared to meet the tougher demands of the higher grade.

NO FAILURES

Failure just does not occur under the new system. Instead, a student remains at a level of learning until he has mastered its subject matter so that he is ready to continue up the ladder.

"Experience has shown that only about one out of five students profit from failure," Bearden said.

In no case will the 13 stages take more than four years and seldom less than three.

"I am opposed to rapid movement through the grades. Emotional development must accompany learning and this goes along with growth," Bearden said. "Instead the student can remain with students of his own age, yet be enriching his learning through more comprehensive instruction. Rapid vertical movement should come later, after the student is more mature."

MORE AIDS

To aid the enrichment plan, the school is obtaining many additional books and visual aids to broaden the cultural education of the children. It will also mean more work, since closer tabs will have to be kept on the progress of each student.

"We will have to do more evaluating and keep better records of achievement. A complete report will be made on each child every 4½ weeks and conferences will be held with parents whenever necessary," Bearden said.

A four-week workshop will be held this summer to set up the curriculum and acquaint teachers with the new program. One key teacher from each of the five elementary schools will attend. To date there has been little sentiment against the change.

"There has been comment from both sides, but most is favorable. The school board is very progressive and stands behind it wholeheartedly," Bearden said.

NO MAJOR UPSET

The change will not upset schedules or teaching arrangement. New first graders will begin as in the past. At the end of the first semester they will be evaluated and re - grouped if it is considered beneficial. However, students will be left with the same teacher whenever possible.

The 13 steps have been geared to reading achievement, and with good reason. Most education requires that the student be able to read and comprehend what he is reading. This lack is probably the most frequent cause of failure in higher grades and the reason why many students drop out of school before graduation. A similar division is made for mathematics and other study areas of grades 1-3.

It is the result of intensive study and planning since January by Bearden and school principals. At the same time, steps are already being taken to implement a similar program in the higher grades.

"We won't see any results immediately," Bearden said. "I expect that the change will be most noticeable when next year's second graders reach the fourth grade."

You Can Deduct Some Expenses For Education

Expenses for education, Ellis Campbell Jr. of Internal Revenue said, are deductible if the course or courses improve the skills required by the person in his job or meet requirements set by his employer.

Expenses are not deductible if the education or training is undertaken to obtain a new position, or to attain general educational improvement.

Deductible school expenses are claimed on page 2 of form 1040 if you itemize your deductions. They cannot be claimed if the standard deduction is used. On the other hand, the cost of travel, meals and lodging while away from home overnight for education are allowable as a deduction, and may be claimed on page 1 of the return 1040, whether or not the standard deduction is used.

Santa Fe Merger Draws Opposition

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Opponents of a plan to absorb two subsidiaries of the Atcheson, Topeka and Santa Fe into the parent company begin their fight here Monday.

One of the subsidiaries is the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe, based here. The other is the Panhandle and Santa Fe based in Amarillo.

The city of Galveston will take a prominent part in the fight since the Galveston subsidiary has a $2.5 million payroll, equal to 1.5 per cent of the city's total payroll. A change in status might affect 390 families.

The city alleges a move from Galveston would be contrary to public interest and would violate Texas laws.

Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner Eldon Miller will hear the arguments.

Santa Fe petitioned the ICC Feb. 14 to allow the proposed move. The city filed a protest following a strong reaction by city officials and civic leaders.

A Texas law requires general offices of a corporation to be kept at the place it was chartered, the protest said.

At issue in the hearing will be whether this statute applies to a company whose offices are not being transferred but rather dissolved and absorbed.

The hearing is scheduled to run for two days. Miller will report to the finance division of the Interstate Commerce Commission 45 to 60 days after the hearing.

Either side may protest the findings, with later recourse to the main body of the ICC. Further protest action would have to be instituted in federal district court.

New Entomologist Named For Area

Donald R. Rummel has been named area entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service with headquarters at Lubbock. He replaces John G. Thomas who has been transferred to the state staff as associate extension entomologist.

Extension director John E. Hutchison said Rummel would serve 82 counties, including Howard County, in west and northwest Texas from the Lubbock headquarters including all counties in Extension Districts 1 and 2 and parts of Districts 3, 6 and 7. His responsibilities the director added, will cover the broad field of entomology but for the immediate future cotton and grain sorghum insects will get major attention.

Rummel is a native of Collingsworth County where his parents still reside. He is a graduate of Wellington High School and received a B.S. degree in entomology from Texas A&M College in 1960. He holds the Lone Star Farmer degree for his outstanding achievements in FFA work.

SCORE OF 293 HIGHEST IN 28 YEARS

Cupit, Palmer, Boros In Open Playoff

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Favorite Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros and young Jacky Cupit fought their way through gale winds and a weird maze of bungled opportunities Saturday and tied for the 63rd National Open Golf Championship with 293, the highest winning score in 28 years.

The three will play off over 18 holes Sunday for the title.

In one of the most dramatic finishes in the long history of this blue ribbon event, Cupit sent a 15-foot birdie putt on the final hole spinning past the cup.

It cut the corner and stopped six inches away. If it had fallen, the little Texan would have been the champion.

Instead, he, Palmer and Boros, the latter a 43-year-old former champion who could be the oldest ever to hold the title, meet in the 18-hole playoff Sunday, beginning at 1 p.m. EST.

It is the second straight open playoff for Palmer, beaten by Jack Nicklaus at Oakmont, Pa., a year ago. Nicklaus, his game gone sour, failed to make the 36-hole cutoff this year.

This is the first 3-man playoff for the championship since Ben Hogan, George Fazio and Lloyd Mangrum came head-to-head at Merion, Pa., in 1950 and Hogan, his legs shattered by an automobile accident the year before, won the second of his four crowns.

JACKY CUPIT

The final two rounds Saturday—played in gusty 40 mile-per-hour winds over the knobby old course at The Country Club where Francis Ouimet won the title 50 years ago—turned out to be a weird succession of blown chances.

Palmer blew an easy, 20-inch putt on the next-to-last hole and even his faithful Arnie's army despaired of his chances at this point.

But the strong boy from Latrobe, Pa., stormed back to get a par on the 18th hole for a final round 74 after skying to a 77 in the morning, without a single birdie.

Cupit, with the championship almost in his pocket, took a double bogey six at the 71st hole, opening the door for the three-way tie.

On this 365-yard hole, a scene of high drama, the gritty Texan drove onto the side of a bunker, hit his second short and pitched into the wire-like rough at the back of the green. He putted from the fringe, ran six feet past and missed coming back.

He wound up with final rounds of 76-75, after taking the lead at the 54-hole mark, and then played the final hole like a champion—never once wavering.

Boros lost three strokes to par early on the back nine but rallied with birdies at the 70th and 71st and a par at the 72nd. He had final rounds of 76-72.

The 293 score is the highest to win a U.S. Open since dark horse Sam Parks won at Oakmont with 299 in 1935. Since then four Opens have been won with scores of 287.

Even Ouimet would have finished in the money. Playing with wood clubs a half century ago, he scored 304, when he tied Briton's Harry Varden and Ted Ray in 1913, and then beat them in a similar three-way playoff.

The weather was so atrocious—with the gusty winds adding to the hazards of the tough 6,870-yard, par 35-36—71 course—that scores skyrocketed and the tournament evolved into not who would win it but who would lose it.

PALMER

BOROS

"The worst conditions I ever played in," commented Cupit, after gulping down a sandwich and two pints of milk during the midday break. "It was worse than the snow at Pebble Beach in 1962."

"It's not tough out there. I got blown down only twice," said Tony Lema, the Champagne Kid who was in the thick of the fight until almost the very end.

Lema bogied the last two holes for a final round 76 and tied Australian Bruce Crampton and Billy Maxwell for fifth place at 295.

Ahead of them at 294 came 33-year-old, graying Paul Harney, who lost to Palmer in a playoff for the $25,000 purse in the Thunderbird a week ago, and finished with 73-73.

Sam Snead, struggling with bogies and double bogies, saw his 23rd attempt to win an Open go up in smoke with a score of 311. He had final rounds of 79-83.

Palmer, betrayed by his irons and his usually dependable putter, went 28 holes on the final day before he got his first birdie.

He ran in a 10-foot putt at the 10th hole of the second round for his first score under par, then he clawed his way back into the picture by knocking in a 30-footer on the 70th hole.

As Cupit, the last of the title contenders, strode to the final green, Palmer was sitting in the scorer's tent, puffing nervously on a cigarette, and Boros was in the club house, drinking beer.

"I didn't figure I had a chance," Boros said. "I didn't believe it when I heard I was in the playoff."

Palmer was elated at pulling out a tie. He had to sink a five-foot putt for his par on the final hole.

When the ball hit the cup, Arnie leaped in the air and threw his club over his head.

"It was a fairly difficult putt to begin with," he said. "But when I looked up and saw that Jack had that six at the 17th, it became a helluva difficult putt."

Dow Finsterwald, who had begun the day tied for the lead with Cupit and Palmer with a 152 total, fell apart in the late stages of the morning round and never threatened. He shot a pair of 8-over-par 79s and finished in a 12th place tie with Dave Ragan at 300.

Carr-Drayton Duel Highlights Meet

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — America's premier track and field men, pointing for the showdown meet next month with Russia, staged another record-shattering show in Saturday's windup of the 75th National AAU Outdoor Championships.

But despite three meet records and an American mark, the day was highlighted by a race that has no official winner as yet and which may have been run in world record time.

The dispute is over the 220-yard dash. Arizona State's Henry Carr and former Villanova star Paul Drayton hit the tape in a photo finish, both clocked in 20.4 seconds, one-tenth under the world standard.

Carr was at first declared the winner and his time declared ineligible for record recognition because of an 8-mile-an-hour aiding wind. But later, J. B. (Cap) Haralson, meet referee and chairman of the AAU Track and Field Committee, announced the finish judges and photo were too uncertain to determine Carr the winner. Haralson said the matter would be further discussed and perhaps a tie would be ruled.

The 220 shared the closing day spotlight with a blazing mile run, won by Dyrol Burleson. The former University of Oregon star smashed the meet record with a 3:56.7 as a quartet of milers broke the 4-minute barrier.

In all, the two-day competition over Public Schools Stadium's new rubberized track produced a world record of 9.1 for the 100 yards by amazing Bob Hayes of Florida A&M and six meet marks.

The first two American finishers in each event are candidates for the U.S. team which will take on the Russians in Moscow July 20-21 in the fifth dual meet between the two powers.

Burleson and Tom O'Hara of Chicago Loyola put on a dramatic finish in the scintillating mile run. Defending champion Jim Beatty set the pace most of the way and held the lead charging into the final turn. But then Burleson and O'Hara forged ahead for their stretch duel, and Lt. Gary Weisiger of the Marines took third ahead of Beatty.

O'Hara, trailing Burleson by only 2 feet at the wire, had the best time of his meteoric career — 3:56.9. Weisiger finished in 3:58.5 and Beatty in 3:59.2.

Burleson clipped the AAU record of 3:57.9, set by Beatty last year.

No fewer than nine defending champions were dethroned but there were five repeaters—Hayes in the 100, Ulis Williams in the 440, Ralph Boston in the broad jump, Al Hall in the hammer throw and Lt. Ron Zinn of the Army in the 2-mile walk.

Williams matched his own meet record of 45.8 in edging arch-rival Adolph Plummer of New Mexico in the spectacular 440. Zinn won the 2-mile walk for the third straight time, breaking the AAU mark with a 14:03.6.

The sun-soaked crowd of 10,000 witnessed a surprise victory in the 880-yard run by Canadian Bill Crothers, whose 1:46.8 broke the meet mark and tied the American record.

Legion Nine Plays Coahoma At 2:00

Big Spring evened its record in District 19 American Legion baseball play by defeating Brownfield, 7-2, in Steer Park here Saturday afternoon. The provincials had previously lost to Lamesa.

Chubby Moser's resident nine will entertain Coahoma at 2 p.m. here today in the Teen-Age park in the north part of town. Coahoma has lost twice to Brownfield and once to Lamesa.

Richard White, given a final inning assist by Roy New, hurled the win for Big Spring. He was touched for four hits. A three-run outburst by Big Spring in the third inning gave White all the working margin he needed but the locals added three more in the sixth.

Erratic play afield hurt both clubs. The visitors earned only one run, the home club but two.

Big Spring collected a total of seven safeties in the seven inning engagement, all of them singles. Billy Andrews hit safely twice for the locals, the only player in the game to collect more than one safety.

New, who had been playing third, came in to pitch to the final batter in the seventh inning and caused him to roll out to the first baseman unassisted.

Andrews, George Ryan and Rick Wisener crossed the plate for Big Spring in the third after New had broken the ice for the home team in the second with a tally. New scored his run after two batters had been retired.

In the sixth, Andrews, Eddie Thomas and White sewed it up for the Big Springers by counting runs with the help of only one hit.

Lamb Chop Is Home First

NEW YORK (AP)—Spicy Living's bid for a grand slam sweep of the fillies' triple crown was smashed at Aqueduct Saturday as Lamb Chop pulled away with authority in the final one-eighth of a mile and won the $120,375 Coaching Club American Oaks.

Lamb Chop, who had finished third behind Spicy Living in both the Acorn and the Mother Goose Stakes—first two legs of the rich triple for 3-year-old fillies — outfought Spicy Living in a brief head and head skirmish as they straightened away in the home stretch. The chestnut daughter of Bold Ruler-Sheepsfoot, by Count Fleet, beat the favored Spicy Living by 3½ lengths.

McKinley Set To Open Bid

LONDON (AP)—Chuck McKinley, all-action American tennis star, steps on to the Wimbledon courts Monday in a new bid to win back the men's title for the United States.

The tireless jack-in-the-box from St. Louis is seeded fourth in what looks like the most open men's singles at Wimbledon for years.

Rod (The Rocket) Laver, the Australian redhead who has run through all opposition to the title for the last two years, has turned professional.

"It's a psychological boost to know that Rod is out of the way," McKinley said. "He had that title wrapped up almost before he started. I feel now I'm in with a really good chance."

It is eight years since a native-born American, Tony Trabert, won the Wimbledon crown. Since then Australia's domination of the title has been broken only once—by Alex Olmedo, a Peruvian who qualified for the United States Davis Cup team—in 1959.

McKinley first hit Wimbledon in a big way in 1960, when he reached the finals. Laver then outclassed him in three straight sets.

Last year the American, handicapped by a leg injury, was sensationally toppled by Mike Hann of Britain in an early round.

Cards Maintain Lead By Downing Dodgers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis maintained its slim National League lead on Charlie James' sixth-inning home run as the Cardinals defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 Saturday.

The San Francisco Giants, in second place, beat Milwaukee 3-0 to remain a half-game out.

Bob Gibson, credited with his fifth straight victory, needed help from Bobby Shantz in the seventh and Ron Taylor in the ninth. Gibson, now 6-3, allowed seven hits and struck out five.

Tommy Davis lined his eighth homer to left in the second, putting Los Angeles ahead, 1-0. But Dodger starter Nick Willhite's second balk forced in the tying run in the fifth, after the Cards got men on second and third with Julian Javier's single, an error and a sacrifice.

Tigers, Alpine Vie Today In 2 Games At Steer Park

The Big Spring Tigers and the Alpine Internationals will play a doubleheader today at 1:30 p.m. at Steer Park. Admission price will be 50 cents.

The two teams split a doubleheader last Sunday in Alpine with the Bengals taking the first game, 13-8, and then dropping the night cap, 9-2.

Henry Salazar, with a 1-0 record, is the probable starter in the first game. Robert Lopez, with a clean 0-0 slate, will probably be the hurler in the second contest.

Bengals Decision Athletics, 3-2

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gates Brown, a rookie recently promoted from the minors, cracked a run-scoring pinch single in the ninth inning that gave the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 victory over Kansas City Saturday night.

Brown's hit off loser Jack Fischer sent across Bubba Phillips with the tie-breaking run. Phillips had opened the ninth with a single and reached second on a sacrifice.

The victory went to Phil Regan, his first since May 10th and his third of the year against six defeats.

Regan was pitted against Orlando Pena for seven innings but the latter was replaced by a pinch hitter and Bill Fischer was on the mound to absorb the loss, his third against seven victories.

Yankees Sweep Double Bill At Expense Of Boston Sox

BOSTON (AP)—New York took a day-night doubleheader from Boston Saturday, Elston Howard's 13th home run deciding the night game 3-2 after Whitey Ford won his 10th of the season in the afternoon, 6-5.

Relief pitchers Bill Kunkel, Marshall Bridges and Hal Reniff were instrumental in the sweep, which moved the first-place Yankees 1½ games in front of Chicago in the American League race.

Kunkel, who took over for starter Bill Stafford in the fourth inning of the second game after Stafford injured his groin in a slide into third base, stopped Boston effectively, though Bridges came on for the final out.

Reniff allowed only two singles in the three innings he pitched in the day game.

New York helped its own cause considerably by executing six double plays in the two games. Joe Pepitone and Johnny Blanchard homered for the Yanks in the opener.

New York had a 3-0 lead before the Red Sox got two runs in the sixth inning of the nightcap on a double, two singles and a fielder's choice.

Farmington Digs In For Ruth Tourney

FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP)—Less than two years ago, Farmington's baseball population, which promotes and avidly supports the 13-15 year-old Babe Ruth program, hurriedly completed a new ball park with accommodations for 2,000 persons.

San Juan County fans were getting ready for a district tournament that drew more than 7,000 for five games.

Not long ago those chain link fences and other facilities were yanked down to make way for a completely new stadium designed to seat 7,000 persons.

The reason?

Farmington will be the host for the 1963 Babe Ruth International World Series, Aug. 18-24.

Accommodations which were adequate for state and regional tournaments in 1961 and 1962 no longer were suitable for the huge crowds expected during the 19-game diamond festival late this summer.

Oil and construction companies furnished materials and equipment, in addition to welders, carpenters, laborers, engineers and other craftsmen. The city put up $3,200 for lumber for seats.

The volunteer construction superintendent was J. W. (Doc) Jones. A 30-man general committe has been planning the new park for eight months.

Golf pro Tex McCharen and electrical appliance repairman Jack Barber are co-chairmen of tickets and their goal is a $30,000 advance sale.

Why is Farmington so nutty about baseball?

A good summer recreation program features baseball and many volunteers provide for a firm organization at all levels — Little League, Babe Ruth League and Connie Mack League.

Nearly 2,000 boys will be playing baseball in this city of about 25,000 this summer.

JORDAN

Buddy Ray Cosby, perhaps the greatest football linebacker in the history of the local high school, has been accepted for duty in the U.S. Secret Service and reports for service in Salt Lake City June 22 . . . He has been with the State Police in Albuquerque . . . Buddy could eventually wind up as a guard for the President — that duty is rotated, I understand . . . The Cosbys (he married a local girl) have two children, Cindy, age 7, and Steve, who is 3 . . . The Chicago White Sox probably would have purchased Pete Runnels from the Houston Colts the other day, had they been able to get him waived out of the National League . . . Probably the highest salaried player on the Colt 45 roster this year, Runnels has been a flop at bat . . . Jack Nicklaus says that by skimping a little a golfer on the tour can live for $200 to $250 a week . . . If, however, he takes his family along, the cost runs closer to $1,000 a week, says Nicklaus . . . I find that hard to believe . . . Tom Carter, the Hobbs athlete who recently signed to attend HCJC, had earlier inked a letter with Lubbock Christian College but asked to be released from that agreement . . . Carter first decided to cast his lot with LCC because he didn't think an offer from HCJC was forthcoming . . . Even had Lubbock Christian not released him, Carter would have been eligible to compete for the local school, since the Western Conference has no agreement binding an athlete to one school after signing an agreement, contrary to reports issued in a neighborhood news organ . . . Carter, now a resident of McCamey, went to high school in Hobbs, N.M. . . . South Plains JC of Levelland, also a member of the Western Conference, has announced the signing of four basketball players, Mike Patterson, Seminole; Leon Pope and Wendell Hilton, both of Amarillo High; and Charles Tiemann, Roswell, N.M. . . . Randy Matson, Pampa's great athlete, says he won't play basketball at Texas A&M at least until after the 1964 Olympics, if by then . . . Chances are coach Charley Thomas of the Aggies will discourage him from ever reporting for basketball . . . Buddy Travis, the HCJC mentor, who originally had planned to vacation in Yellowstone National Park, may instead take his family into Illinois and Indiana . . . He wants to look for a tall cager up that way, reasoning the Jayhawks need at least one more rangy boy.

Lamesa Legion Team Off To Good Start

Marshall Edwards, the Dallas Hillcrest quarter-miler who staged those terrific duels with HCJC-bound Steve Langham last spring, is headed for SMU . . . Langham beat Edwards in the Regional 400 but lost to him in the District and State meets . . . The Lamesa American Legion baseball team, winner over Big Spring in its opening test, flattened Brownfield in its second start, 4-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Jimmy Wyatt . . . HCJC track mentor L. L. Red Lewis has hopes of signing San Angelo's A. J. Williams, a promising sprinter, for his school . . . Williams visited here during the National JC meet and expressed a liking for the college . . . The HCJC basketball team will make two trips into Oklahoma and Kansas next season but neither expedition will take them away from their school work . . . One is timed for the Thanksgiving holidays, the other during Christmas . . . Lon Morris, which annually fields a nationally-rated basketball team, Jacksonville Baptist and Amarillo will visit here for that pair of Christmas doubleheaders planned by coach Buddy Travis . . . The Hawks will probably play Jacksonville Baptist, coached by ex-Big Springer Vernon Harton, one night and Lon Morris the next . . . The Gaines County Country Club had to shell out in excess of $6,000 to lure Gary Player and Sam Snead out their way for their 18-hole exhibition Monday, July 22 . . . Player's asking price these days for such a match is $2,500 . . . The Seagraves people wanted Arnold Palmer rather than Snead but Arnie couldn't come . . . Player and Snead will wind up play in the National PGA at Dallas the day previous to the Seagraves exhibition . . . Club officials reason it will take a gallery of about 1,500 to pay the expenses of the match . . . That means tickets will be priced at about $4 each . . . Golfer Jackie Burke conducts a links clinic in Lubbock next month . . . Ticket sales of the Los Angeles - San Francisco National league series alone this year will probably exceed $2 million.

Jeff Brown Hitting Close To .300

Latest batting averages out of the Mexican League show Big Spring's Jeff Brown hitting .293 for Quincy . . . Jeff has been playing both right and left field for Quincy . . . He collected two hits and drove in two runs in his first game after joining there . . . One of his hits in his first game went for two bases . . . Odessa has no Little League baseball program, although lots of kids' baseball takes place over there . . . Although Wisconsin finished last in the 1960 Big Ten football standings, the Badgers drew a total of 284,780 spectators in their five home games for a school record . . . Lee Roy Jordan, the Alabama All-American who will perform for the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL this fall, hopes to return to his first love—farming—after playing pro ball a few years . . . Lee Roy, who hails from the small town of Excel (population 350), played fullback on his high school team . . . Jordan was fourth in voting for the Heisman trophy last year . . . Seventy per cent of the golfers on the pro tour have been exposed to college, more than double the number of ten years ago . . . The percentage will, no doubt, go even higher in the next decade because college men dominate the amateur ranks and 259 golf courses are now being used by college squads . . . Charles Coody and Jack Montgomery, who played in the Big Spring Open earlier this month, will team up for the July 4-7 Odessa Pro-Am . . . Cecil Salazar, a standout on the San Angelo High School golf team the past two years, is bound for Odessa College . . . The Los Angeles Dodgers will probably pay $50,000 more in property taxes this year than they did last, when their tab was $250,000 . . . Carl Schreiner, the former Midland athletic great who is on scholarship at the University of Oklahoma, is playing summer baseball in Liberal, Kansas.

Bob Hayes Shatters World Record In 100

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Powerful Bob Hayes of Florida twice smashed the world record in the 100-yard dash Friday in the 75th National AAU track and field meet.

Three meet records were set in the seven events.

The field of about 380 athletes, including 200 collegians, is battling for places on the United States team which will face Russia in Moscow July 20-21. The first two American citizens in each event qualify for the team.

Hayes set a world record in the semifinal heat in 9.1 seconds, compared to the world mark set by Frank Budd of Villanova in the 1961 AAU meet and equalled by Canada's Harry Jerome last year.

Brian Sternberg, 19-year-old Washington sophomore who has a pending world mark of 16 feet 8 inches in the pole vault, missed 16-9 but set a meet record of 16-4.4.

Hayes Jones of Detroit tied the meet record of 13.4 in the 120-yard high hurdles despite knocking down two hurdles. He became the first four-time winner of the event in this century.

The other meet mark was a 28:29.2 six-mile by Irish-born Pete McArdle of New York, breaking the U. S. citizen's record.

Other first-day winners were Ralph Boston, 26-10 in the broad jump; Larry Stewart, Southern California, 266-3, javelin, and Dave Davis of Camp Pendleton, Calif., 62-5¾ in the shot put, beating eight-time champ Parry O'Brien by 4½ inches.

PROSPECTS BETTER

Cowboys Await Opening Drills

DALLAS — In less than three weeks the Dallas Cowboys begin training for their fourth season in the National Football League, one that many believe will find the Cowboys taking a big step towards becoming a true contender.

The acquisition of some outstanding rookies through the draft and a trade that brought All-Pro guard Jim Ray Smith to the Dallas roster should aid the Cowboys' development.

Defensive improvement will be the big goal in camp this year. The 1962 Cowboys offense was a spectacular attack that finished second in total offense, touchdowns and points scored. Coach Tom Landry hopes to maintain that offensive excellence and bring the defense up to equal stature.

The Cowboys will spend most of the training season on the campus of California Lutheran College, Thousand Oaks, California. The coaches and staff will set up headquarters there July 11, and the rookies and veteran centers and quarterbacks report the following day. The remaining vets are due to check in July 18.

After the first two pre-season games, against the Rams at Los Angeles, (Aug. 8), and the Packers at Dallas, (Aug. 17), the Cowboys will re-visit their 1960 training site at Forest Grove, Ore. A two-week stay at Pacific University is scheduled as the Cowboys meet the Rams again in Portland on Aug. 24, and 49ers at Bakersfield, Aug. 30.

Following the Bakersfield clash, the Cowboys will return to Dallas, working out at home in preperation for the final pre-season encounter, Sept. 7, against the Lions in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, and the league opener Sept. 14, against the Cardinals. The Cowboys-Lions tilt will be the first game in a doubleheader that sends the Bears against the Colts in the second contest.

Twins Nudge O's, 3 To 1

ST. PAUL-Minneapolis (AP)—Zoilo Versalles' two home runs and one by Vic Power propelled Minnesota to a 3-1 victory over Baltimore Saturday as reliable Bill Dailey came out of the bullpen again to bail the twins out of trouble.

Dailey continued his fantastic record of performances gaining credit for his third save in Minnesota's last four games and his seventh of the year.

Red Elitsky scored Webb's lone tally in the third with a home run, giving Webb a temporary 1-0 advantage.

Smith's crowded all of its runs across the plate in the fifth. Dorny Valdes, accounting for two of the tallies with a double, Charles Hale brought in the other one with a one-baser.

Miller was just a menace at bat for Smith's, collecting a double and two singles in as many trips to bat.

In all, the Contractors got eight hits off Bob Pekar, the losing flinger, who fanned four and did not walk a batter. Pekar had two of his team's safeties, both of them singles.

Miller also whiffed four and did not give up a base on balls in the seven inning contest.

Only one game was played in the league since the Big Spring Merchants were busy in a tournament in Wichita Falls.

Walls yielded only one earned run to the pace setters and fanned seven while walking four.

His mates got behind him with an eight hit offensive, two of which came off the bat of Donnie Gooch.

James Fluey kept the Forsan power in check until the fifth, when the Oilers broke loose for three runs.

James Blake drove in two tallies for Forsan, which was in the process of winning its fourth decision in seven league starts. Franz collected two safeties for the 331st, one of them a double.

The defeat enabled Hester's Office Supply, which was not scheduled to play Friday night, to move into a tie for first place with the 331st. Each team now has a 6-1 record for the year.

Frank Long, the losing flinger, also gave up four hits. Weaver scored the lone run of the game in the sixth.

Jesse Hooper was tagged with the loss when the Tigers had a big four run third inning.

Tim Frazier spoiled the bid for a no hitter.

In the Kiwanians win, Hank Pope tossed the second one hitter of the night to get credit for the win. Over the six innings he fanned 14. Bob Baker got relief help from David Mitchell but was charged with the loss as the Kiwanians battered out a nine run, six hit attack.

Cornelison Will Stay In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—It's moving day for the team which changes from the Dallas Texans to the Kansas City Chiefs this weekend.

The American Football League champions packed together 100,000 pounds of equipment of all the players but one—tackle Jerry Cornelison—for the trip.

Cornelison, a former Southern Methodist player, feels he cannot leave his insurance work in Dallas for as long as a football season.

Bill O'Dell Wins Tenth Decision

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Billy O'Dell won his 10th game with a two-hitter Saturday, holding Milwaukee to two singles while San Francisco eased out a 3-0 victory.

Successive singles by Chuck Hiller, Willie Mays and Willie McCovey in the sixth gave the Giants their only run off Bob Shaw. They added two more off relief man Hank Fischer in the ninth on Ed Bailey's single with the bases loaded.

Denis Menke singled with one out in the second for the Braves and Frank Bolling singled with two gone in the third. Willie Mays made a sensational catch on Joe Torre's drive to deep center, ending the third.

JIM NAPIER

BOBBY SORENSON

Napier, Sorenson To Attend HCJC

Howard County Junior College's track and field prospects have brightened with the addition of Fort Worth's Jim Napier and Bobby Sorenson, Taylor, to the 1963-64 roster.

Napier, a 5-feet-6 weight thrower, attended high school at Arlington Heights in Fort Worth. He was beaten only twice the past season in the discus throws, both times by the great Randy Matson of Pampa.

Jim hurled the saucer 169 feet 8 inches in the State meet at Austin and 168-1 in the Dallas Federation Meet.

Other meets in which he competed and his best distances with the discus included:

Fort Worth Recreation, 159-1; Kimball Relays, 159-8; North Texas Relays 162-3; Tarleton Relays, 160-4; Irving Relays, 167-11½; Cowtown Relays, 156-4; District meet, 164-4; Regional meet, 159-2; and Little State meet, 162-4.

Napier has also thrown the shot put 52 feet even and consistently goes over 50 feet. He also broad jumps and won the District meet in that event with a leap of 22 feet 9¾ inches.

He's thrown the college discus 145-5½ and the 16-pound college shot 44-6.

Napier has won the discus throw in his District meet two years running. In 1963, his best effort in discus was 146-1.

Sorenson was offered scholarships at several other schools, among them Victoria JC, but expressed a desire to attend here after visiting the school and talking with coach L. L. (Red) Lewis.

Sorenson has run the 880 in 1:58 (at the State meet), the 440 in 51 flat, the 220 in 22.9 and the 100 in 10.4. He was clocked in 3:15 in a three-quarters mile jaunt in practice the past spring.

He was high point man of a meet at Taylor last season, at which time he ran on the sprint relay, mile medley relay and mile relay. The meet had 49 teams entered. The medley mile relay squad on which he ran set a record and later shattered a mark in the Cameron Relays. The foursome was undefeated during the year.

Coach Lewis said he would probably make a distance runner out of Sorenson, who has shown an aptitude for the longer events.

Cardinals Easily Outslug Dodgers

The Cardinals, riding the strength of Mike Hull's one-hit pitching, coasted to an easy 21-4 win over the Dodgers Saturday night in National Little League action under the lights.

Hull, in getting credit for the win, retired the first nine men to face him before Rusty Banks got on first base in the fourth inning with a walk. Robert Smith was charged with the loss although he had relief help from Rowan Settles.

Ford Farris and Tom Wood each had home runs for the winners and Farris was the big scorer as he crossed the plate five times.

Friend Tames Bruins, 3-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Friend and the Pittsburgh Pirates aided by Dick Schofield's two-run homer, stopped the Chicago Cubs 3-0 Saturday.

The loss snapped Chicago's four-game winning streak. It was only the second Pittsburgh victory over the Cubs in seven games this season.

The only run the Pirates needed came in the first inning on a single by Bob Bailey, a stolen base and a single by Roberto Clemente. Two more runs came in the third when Bailey walked and Schofield clubbed his first home run of the year.

Nationals Shade Americans, 8-0

NEW YORK (AP)—The National League defeated the American League 8-0 Saturday in an Old-timers' Day game at the Polo Grounds between teams of former major leaguers from the New York area. The contest preceded the regularly scheduled New York-Philadelphia game.

Frank McCormick, former Cincinnati first baseman, and Gene Hermanski, former Brooklyn Dodger outfielder, hit home runs in the two-inning game.

Newman Leads Jets To Win

James Newman was a one-man gang for the Jets Friday night when he pitched the front-running Jets to an 11-0 victory over the Pirates in American Little League play.

Newman set the Bucs down with a solitary hit and smashed two home runs, one in the third and the other in the fourth. James faced 20 batters and fanned 14 of them.

The only hit he surrendered was a single to Olin Chapman in the fourth.

Richard Walling also had a big night for the Jets, smashing a double and three singles in four official trips.

The victory was the Jets' 14th in 15 league starts for the season.

Ralston Triumphs In NCAA Finals

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Dennis Ralston, 20-year-old junior at Southern California, won the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 1963 singles tennis championship Saturday.

Ralston, seeded first in this year's tournament, defeated third-seeded Marty Riessen of Northwestern 9-7, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1 at Princeton University's Brokaw courts.

Slide, Baby, Slide

Larry Greenfield rockets around a U-turn, tires squealing and slipping, at the Big Spring Karting Association's track on the Midland highway, as young Steve Bingham roars up in hot pursuit. Incidentally, Steve never got ahead — he spun out of control on this curve just one lap later.

For A Thrill-A-Minute, Try Riding A Go-Kart

By PAT WASHBURN

This is experience speaking, buddy, for this comes from a guy whose facd is mud - splattered, whose mouth is full of bugs, who is wind-numbed, and whose shirt is still ringing wet with perspiration from a jarring, roaring ride on a go-kart.

That ride was a wild, screeching thing — sliding, scrambling, hurtling, hell-bent-for-leather. It was like this:

Seven in the evening, hot enough to make a shirt stick to your back, and so noisy that you had to yell at two feet as go-karters throttled past with their eight and 10 horsepower engines wound up to a maximum. Each one of them 100 pounds of live, jumping, tire-squealing frames of steel that stuck to the ground like a glued piece of magnet.

This was the Big Spring Karting Association's track across from the Sahara Drive-In, a quarter of a mile of black asphalt that flashed away in a whirling straight-away only to twist into five jostling, bone-rattling hairpin and 90 degree turns that caused one veteran driver to flip his car as he lost control on a curve Friday. And yet the racing goes on.

After an ear-splitting half an hour of watching highly concentrated drivers skidding through sharp bends, I suddenly found myself in the bucket seat of a low-slung, fire-engine-red go-kart that was as frisky as a new-born colt.

I gained speed through the first curve and leaped out into the middle of a 100-yard straight-away. The wind whipped through my hair and screamed past my ears, the tires hummed louder and louder, and a pulsating greasy metal body under me slowly upped its vibrations.

A desperate lean far to the right, nose only inches from the ground . . . steering wheel straining . . . half way around . . . pumping the brake softly . . . a jolting four wheel drift towards the outside . . . rubber tearing madly at the track . . . hoping, praying, cursing that little car . . . it couldn't slide any more and yet it did . . .

Weight to the inside, careening wickedly to the left, engine roaring wickedly and threatening to shake apart, tires slipping, pressed back in the seat by the sudden jolt forward doing 50.

Seconds later I was climbing out of the black leather seat—face red as a beet, sweat standing out in beads all over my face and neck, hands black and blistered from holding down a savage dancing wheel, wiping mud and dust from my moist eyes, knees unsteady and bloodless from being shaken into a thousand pieces.

As I stumbled off half dazed I began to chuckle over what one man had said: "My wife thinks I'm crazy for running go-karts. In fact, most people think I'm an idiot for doing it."

Thompson Low In Local Meet

Only two players chose to shoot qualifying rounds Saturday for the Big Spring Country Club Fourth of July Golf Tournament, but registration soared to 47.

"A lot played but it was real windy and they wouldn't declare," Jerry Green, golf pro, said Saturday night.

The low qualifier so far is 17-year-old Jody Thompson, who fired a 75 earlier in the week. Because he played the round before Saturday he is not eligible for the medalist class.

Qualifying will continue through today. Match play will get under way next Saturday. Second round of play is booked for Sunday while the meet will be concluded Thursday, July 4.

Bobby Wright In 2nd Place

MIDLAND — Jack Williams, Plainview veteran, easily maintained his lead in the 1963 Men's West Texas Golf Tournament being played at Ranchland Hills Country Club by shooting a 72 Saturday for a 54-hole total of 209.

Williams leads Big Spring's Bobby Wright and Dickie Canon, San Angelo, who are tied for second place, by shooting a 72 Saturday for a 216. Canon has had rounds of 71-71-74.

Jimmy Patterson, Big Spring, is tied for fifth with five other linksters, at 218. Patterson had rounds of 70-76-72.

Tommy Wilkerson, Big Spring, leads the President's flight by one stroke with a 225 total. Buddy Jones, Midland; Bill (Red) Roden, Odessa; and Dan Strong, Midland, are tied for second.

The tournament winds up today with 18 holes of play.

Chicago Sox Tip Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Chicago southpaw Gary Peters teamed with Jim Brosnan to hold Cleveland to four hits as the White Sox beat the Indians 2-1 on Tom McCraw's double Saturday.

Peters limited the tribe to one hit until Willie Tasby slammed his first homer of the season over the right field fence with none on in the eighth inning. Al Luplow followed with a single and reliever Jim Brosnan replaced Peters on the mound. He choked off the rally.

Chicago jumped on Grant for another run in the seventh. Pete Ward led off with a single, the 15th straight game in which he has hit safely, and took second on a wild pitch. McCraw doubled Ward home.

Colts Blanked By Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Tsitouris, elevated from bullpen status to starter on only June 9, racked up his third starting victory as against one defeat Saturday as he hurled the Cincinnati Reds to their fifth straight triumph, a 3-0 decision over the Houston Colts. Tsitouris' over-all record now is 3-2.

It was the second straight 3-0 shutout for the Reds against the Colts.

Bob Bruce, who pitched a one-hitter against the Reds on April 26, was nicked for all of the Cincinnati runs.

Pete Rose, who got three hits for the Reds, scored the first two runs. Gordon Coleman scored him with a single in the first after Rose had beat out a bunt and gone to second on a passed ball. Rose tallied again in the third on a walk, a stolen base and Bada Pinson's double.

Tsitouris drove in the third run with a sacrifice fly.

Lions, Cabot Split Pair

The Lions and the Cabots split an American Little League double header here Saturday evening, the Cabots coming back to win the afterpiece, 14-4, after the Lions had prevailed in the opener, 6-4.

One of the contests was a make-up game originally scheduled for last month.

Mantle's Hurts Costs Him One Year's Service In 11

By FRANK ECK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle, the $100,000 a year superstar of the world champion Yankees, is heading for another record.

When the switch - hitting center fielder returns to action in Los Angeles on July 11 he will have missed 42 of the Yankees' first 78 games.

Since 162 American League games make up a full season Mantle will have missed more than one-fourth of his team's games — barring further accidents and ailments. Never before has the powerhouse of the Yankees missed so many games in one season.

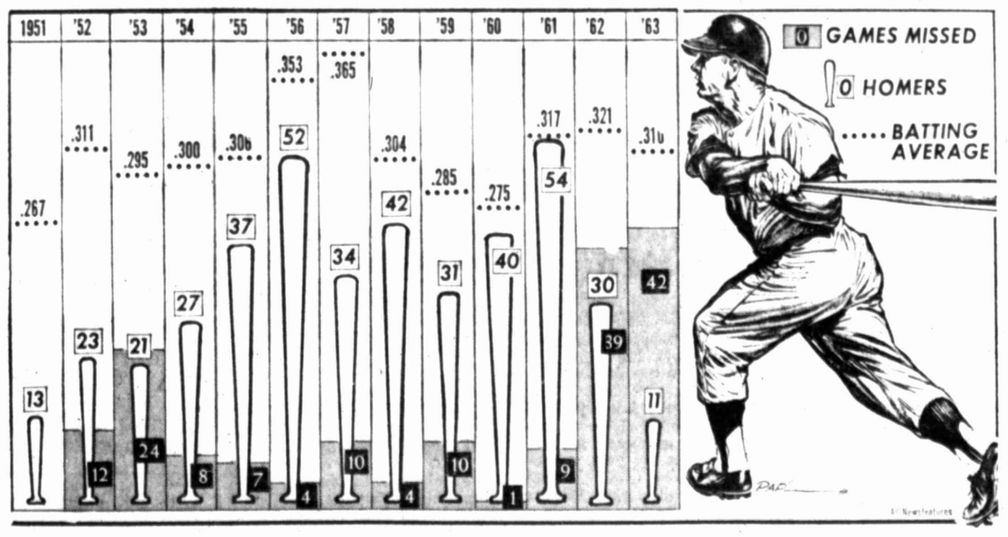

Mantle's previous high for inactivity came last year when he sat out 39 games because of a pulled right thigh muscle and a bruised left knee, both hurts coming when he collapsed near first base while trying to beat out a roller to shortstop.

Mantle now has missed more than one full season during his 11 campaigns as a regular. Assured that he will miss 42 contests this season — he missed nine before he broke the third metatarsal bone in his left foot in Baltimore on June 5 — Mickey's games - missing - due - to - injury total will have reached 169 games by mid-July.

Mantle's latest injury was as bizarre as his first. As a 1951 rookie he stepped in a drainage depression in the second World Series game he ever played. He was playing right field, Babe Ruth's old position, and collapsed under a routine fly ball hit by Willie Mays. Joe DiMaggio was close enough to make the catch.

This time, playing center field in Baltimore, Babe Ruth's home town, Mantle gave it the old college try on a home run ball hit by Brooks Robinson. He leaped for the drive and as he came down, Mantle's left foot became entangled in the wire fence. He cracked his third metatarsal, one of the five small instep bones between the ankle and the toes.

The similarity goes even further. Seven Yankees who saw Mantle suffer his first injury in the 1951 World Series against the Giants were on the premises in Baltimore 12 years later when Mantle again was put out of commission. They were Hank Bauer, Yogi Berra, Frank Crosetti, Ralph Houk, Johnny Sain, Jerry Coleman and Phil Rizzuto.

Bauer, now Baltimore's third base coach, replaced Mantle in the '51 World Series. Berra, now first base coach, caught Eddie Lopat in the 3-1 victory in 1951. Crosetti was coaching even then. Manager Houk was the bullpen catcher, pitcher coach Sain was pitching for the Yankees and TV sportscasters Jerry Coleman and Phil Rizzuto formed the Yankee double play combination in '51.

Since baseball writers began voting for most valuable players in 1931 only six players have won MVP awards three times — four in the American League and two in the National. Mantle is one of them.

The 31-year-old center fielder, baseball's most often injured star, still may have a chance to lead the Yankees to another pennant. In his first 36 games this spring he had 11 homers and 26 runs batted in.

However, until he returns the Yankees will have to scrounge around to make up for runs lost by Mantle's inactivity. Will he return with his old power? Will he be able to run as fast as ever? These are two questions which worry the world champions.

Dual Finaled As Strike Near Ozona

From perforations in a detrital section at 5,900-004 feet, it potentialed for a calculated daily production of 574.08 barrels of 39.9-gravity oil, with a gas-oil ratio of 993-1, flowing through an 18-64-inch choke.

The operation is an east offset to the two-well Ozona Northwest (Canyon sand) pool, and 2,154 feet from the south and 467 feet from the west lines of section 27, block OP, GC&SF survey.

It will be dually completed from the Canyon sand through perforations at 6,697-81 feet. That interval flowed 218 barrels of fluid, 95 per cent oil and five per cent water, in 10 hours through a one-half-inch choke.

FOURTH WELL

Union Texas Petroleum Corporation completed No. 2-G-45 Fasken as the fourth Fusselman producer and a one location northeast extension for that pay zone in the multipay Circle Bar area of northeast Ector County.

The well already is a producer from the Ellenburger and the operator will attempt to triply complete in the Devonian. It is 14 miles north of Odessa and 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of section 45, block 41, T-1-n, G&MMB&A survey.

From the Fusselman it produced 369 barrels of 50.2-gravity oil, plus 25 per cent water, in 24 hours, flowing through a 22-64 inch choke at perforations between 12,230-258 feet. It was treated with 50,000 gallons of acid. The gas-oil ratio was 1,372-1.

Earlier this month it was completed from the Ellenburger for a daily potential of 583 barrels of oil flowing through a 24-64-inch choke from perforations at 12,919-932 feet. The Devonian completion is being attempted through perforations at 11,369-478 feet.

STRAWN STRIKE

Hissom Drilling Co. of Midland No. 1-A State, Strawn lime discovery in Lea County, N. M., flowed 117.3 barrels of new oil in eight hours through a 24-64-inch choke. It also made a trace of acid water from the perforations at 11,235-240 feet.

Flow pressure was 40 pounds initially and 280 pounds at the end of the eight-hour test. The perforations had been treated with 500 gallons of acid.

The strike is now shut in while preparations are being made to take potential test and complete.

It is a re-entry of a former 10,745-foot Wolfcamp failure drilled by H. S. Moss of Dallas and plugged in June of 1953. Hissom cleaned out to the old bottom and then deepened to 11,390 feet and set 4½-inch casing at 11,387 feet for the Strawn completion try.

It is 2½ miles southwest of Lovington and the same distance west of the Lovington, East (Strawn) pool. The strike is 660 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the west lines of section 23-16S-36E and adjacent to producers from the Queen and Wolfcamp in the multipay Lovington area.

Oil Flow Develops On Bough Lime Test

DOB Oil Properties, Inc. of Midland No. 1 Northeast Anderson Ranch Unit, West Lea County, New Mexico, wildcat, surfaced gas and flowed oil in a drillstem test of the Bough lime of the Pennsylvanian.

The zone at 9,775-9,855 feet was drillstem tested for one hour. Gas surfaced in five minutes and oil in 17 minutes.

The oil flow was estimated at the rate of 17 barrels per hour for the remainder of the period. Other details of the investigation have not been reported. The prospect was pulling the tool at last report.

It is 10 miles northeast of Maljamar and two miles northeast of the Anderson Ranch Pennsylvanian area. The location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 16-15s-32e.

• • •

Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Co. No. 2-B Rosa Barnett, has indicated possible discovery production from the middle Devonian in the multipay King Mountain area of Upton County.

A two-hour drillstem test was taken on that horizon at 9,718-97 feet. Gas at the daily rate of 406,000 cubic feet, surfaced in eight minutes.

Recovery was 1,165 feet of heavily distillate and gas cut-drilling mud, and 35 feet of 48-gravity distillate.

The operation is drilling ahead below 9,818 feet. It presently is projected to 12,000 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Location is nine miles north of McCamey and 660 feet from north and 2,173 feet from west lines of section 20, block 2, MK&T survey and 4,500 feet southwest of a producer from the lower Devonian in the original King Mountain area.

Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Co. No. 2-A Rosa Barnett, stepout to the multipay King Mountain field in Upton County, nine miles north of McCamey, flowed 22 barrels of oil and 18 barrels of load and acid water in five hours, on a one-half inch choke from the upper Atoka-Pennsylvanian.

The production was from perforations at 8,814, 15, 16 and 22 feet, after a 1,500-gallon acid treatment. The section flowed gas during the five hours at the daily rate of 2,494,000 cubic feet. Testing continues.

No. 2-A Barnett is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 20, block 2, MK&T survey and one location northeast of the same concern's No. 1-A Barnett, discovery of the dual King Mountain, South (8,200-foot and 8,400-foot Pennsylvanian detrital) field.

COMPLETIONS

GARZA

R. S. Anderson has finaled No. 3 Stanolind-Sloker at a new well in the Rucker (A. J. Sandifer) field. It is an old well worked over for new production. It pumped 48 barrels of 37-gravity oil with 28 per cent water from perforations between 2,447-672 feet. The zone was fraced with 30,000 gallons. Elevation is 3,221 feet, total depth is 3,305 feet, pay was picked at 2,440 feet, and 5½-inch casing is at 3,300 feet. Location is C NW NW NW section 938 97, H&TC survey.

Bartlett To Retire From Sun Company

Charles L. Bartlett, division paleontologist for Sun Oil Company's Gulf Coast Production Division, will retire July 1.

Bartlett has been a member of the firm's Beaumont Geological Department during his entire 36-year Sun Oil career. He was employed August 26, 1927, as a paleontologist and was named head of the paleontology section in 1948. He was promoted to division paleontologist in 1954.

CRMWD Ready To Serve Sun Flood Project

The Colorado River Municipal Water District will be ready to tender water to Sun Oil Company for its northern Coke County waterflood project on July 1.

The last of the 52-mile pipeline from Lake J. B. Thomas to Sun's Silver terminal was in the ground at mid-week. Meantime, half of the 24-inch section of the line has been tested satisfactorily under pressure. The 18-inch section is being filled and water should be at Silver by Monday. This will leave all of next week to complete the pressure tests.

Target date for the project has been July 1, and E. V. Spence, general manager for CRMWD, said the district will be in a position to deliver the contract 3,000,000 gallons per day by then. Construction contracts were not signed until early February, and since that time, the right of way has been secured, pipe manufactured and installed and a pump station constructed.

Healthy Climb Seen In Basin Rotary Count

Rotary rig activity in the Permian Basin Empire registered a healthy increase on the Friday survey of Reed Roller Bit Company.

The tally listed 230 working units, 11 more than the 219 counted both on the previous Friday and on the comparable date in 1962.

Despite a drop of five, down from 59 to 54, Lea County, N.M., again ranked first.

Dawson County, with six working rigs, paced the eight-county area. The total was 16, down one from the previous week.

Andrews 16 (12), BORDEN 1 (1), Cochran 0 (1), Crane 9 (11), Crockett 4 (4), DAWSON 6 (6), Ector 24 (18), Eddy 10 (9), Fisher 3 (2), Gaines 1 (4), GARZA 1 (1), GLASSCOCK 0 (1), Hockley 2 (1), HOWARD 1 (4), Irion 1 (1), Kent 3 (0), Lea 54 (59), Loving 2 (1), Lubbock 0 (1), MARTIN 4 (1), Menard 1 (0), Midland 2 (0), MITCHELL 2 (2), Nolan 3 (1), Otero 1 (1), Pecos 21 (20), Reagan 7 (1), Reeves 3 (3), Roosevelt 3 (1), Runnels 1 (3), Schleicher 3 (3), Scurry 3 (2), STERLING 1 (1), Stonewall 3 (3), Terrell 3 (3), Terry 0 (1), Tom Green 4 (3), Upton 6 (10), Ward 11 (9), Winkler 8 (6) and Yoakum 5 (8).

Industry Making Use Of Modern Advances

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Automation continues its rapid gains within the oil and gas industry.

Refiners and pipeliners did much of the industry's pioneering with automation. The use of automatic and remote control facilities now is spreading rapidly through the producing and marketing segments of the industry.

Two major marketers have opened in recent modern terminals to serve the metropolitan Houston area.

Gulf Oil Corp. opened what it calls the most advanced, automated product terminal in the industry.

The Humble Oil & Refining Co., the domestic operator for Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), opened an unattended automatic, electronically controlled light products terminal. Truck drivers use a whistle and a card similar to a credit card to gain admittance to the terminal and its loading racks.

EQUIPMENT

Gulf's terminal includes automatic, electronic data acquisition and computing equipment for monitoring and controlling delivery of products to transport trucks. Products handled by this modern equipment includes three grades of motor gasoline, two grades of diesel fuel, two grades of aviation gasoline, marine white gasoline, kerosene and a solvent.

The Humble facility dispenses motor gasoline. The blowing of a special whistle opens the gate for the truck driver. Insertion of the card in a card reader starts the loading of the desired grade and quantity of gasoline. Electronic equipment then transmits all details of the loading operation to a central terminal 15 miles away.

LARGEST

The Continental Oil Co. is developing what it says will be the largest automation project in the industry's producing segment.

The Gebo Field in northwestern Wyoming was fully automated last year. Four other fields will be tied into the system by late 1963. A digital computer at Cody, Wyo., will maintain constant surveillance and control over lease production and the operation of 270 wells separated by distances ranging as much as 100 miles. Future discoveries will become part of the system.

Continental officials say the Wyoming system that spreads across five counties has brought about substantial operating savings through more efficient use of manpower.

The company's annual report released this spring said other producing areas are being evaluated with a view to monitoring and controlling them in a similar way.

This equipment permits remote supervision from Ponca City of automatic stations along crude and products pipeline systems in Oklahoma and Texas and for a products line which a partly-owned subsidiary, Cherokee Pipe Line Co., operates in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, and Illinois.

Humble officials describe their new Houston facilities as an experiment to determine maximum use of electronic controls at gasoline terminals. The new terminal has a storage capacity of 95,000 barrels and serves the southern half of Houston.

Gulf's terminal can load a truck in about 15 minutes, about half the time required before the automated equipment was installed. The terminal serves customers within a 100-mile radius.

Abilene Operator Slates Test In Stonewall County

Thomas and Saxon Drilling Company of Abilene have scheduled No. 1 J. D. Patterson as a 6,800-foot Ellenburger wildcat in northwest Stonewall County, about five miles northwest of Peacock.

The drillsite is 704 feet from the south and 2,036 feet from the west lines of section 331, block D, H&TC survey. It is a south offset to the same operator's No. 1 Patterson, completed earlier this week as a Strawn sand discovery.

• • •

Lario Oil and Gas Company, Midland, No. 1 Morrison will be drilled as a 6,700-foot Pennsylvanian wildcat in Northwest Kent County, 16 miles west of Girard. The location is 660 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the east lines of section 67, block 1, H&GN survey.

• • •

Two prospectors have been slated to the Pennsylvanian in West Eddy County, N. M.

Tom Brown Drilling Company, Inc. of Midland will drill No. 1 Siegrest Draw Unit as an 8,600-foot explorer, 23 miles southwest of Artesia. It spots 1,980 feet from the north and west lines of section 28-19s-23e.

It is 6¼ miles southeast of Sunray DX Oil Company No. 1-AH State, recently completed Strawn gas strike and 12 miles northwest of Williamson Petroleum Company No. 1 Standard, a Canyon gas strike.

Carper Drilling Company No. 1 Monsanto-State, 20 miles southwest of Artesia, is slated as a re-entry for deepening to 9,800 feet. It will test the Pennsylvanian of the former Monsanto Chemical Company No. 1-AMA Standard, which was abandoned in June, 1960 at a total depth of 5,883 feet in barren Wolfcamp. The location is 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 21-20s-24e.

It is 6¾ miles northwest of the Indian Basin area and 7½ miles northeast of the Williamson discovery.

NGPA Starts Program

The Natural Gas Processors Association has begun an experimental and theoretical project at Rice University, Houston, to determine vapor-liquid phase behavior of light hydrocarbon systems at low temperatures.

The two-year program will be under the direction of Dr. Riki Kobayashi and Dr. Thomas W. Leland, both associate professors of chemical engineering at Rice. They have done much work on extremely low temperature systems.

Experimental determinations of phase equilibria will be coupled with theoretical studies to develop a corresponding states theory for the prediction of vapor-liquid equilibria over a wide range of temperatures and pressures. Existing data is inadequate and the need for knowledge becomes greater as the industry moves toward higher light end recovery through extreme low temperature absorption processes.

In addition, the entry of the gas processing industry into helium recovery will require even lower temperatures and the need for more design data.

LEGAL NOTICE

This is the 4th in a series of special Cosden presentations regarding the men and women who have made up the Company. It tells of longer tenured men in the ranks of workers who have contributed their efforts through their many years toward the success of the Company.

COSDEN
meet the 'SENIORS' of the Cosden family...

A. L. TAMPLIN

As repairman-leadman in the salvage department at Cosden, Arthur Lee Tamplin maintains records on quantities of materials and their distribution throughout the refining-petrochemical complex. He has been in the department for six years, having previously been a welder.

When Tamplin was employed by Cosden on Jan. 27, 1948, he was not a stranger to the company. He had been an employee in the welding department for some ten years before leaving in 1942 to work for a refinery engineering firm. His work took him to Oklahoma, West Virginia and Kentucky before he came home again to his native Big Spring.

The Tamplin home is at 1106 Eleventh Place. Mrs. Tamplin, the former Ellen Scott, is also a native of Big Spring and is a registered nurse. Their daughter Jane, 18, graduated last month from Big Spring High School. She attained the honor roll, was for two years named to Who's Who among high school students, and was senior beauty.

For leisuretime pursuits, Tamplin names occasional fishing and bird hunting in addition to spectator sports. He is a member of Woodmen of the World and is a director of the Cosden Employees Federal Credit Union. The entire family are active members of the First Baptist Church.

NEW SOURCE OF OIL

Tar Sands Boost Reserves By 100 Billion Barrels

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —A petroleum engineer said Saturday Canada's Athabasca tar sands hold a tremendous oil potential and may prompt an industrial boom.

Paul D. Torrey of the University of Texas told the sixth World Petroleum Congress the potential oil reserves there have been estimated at from 100 to 300 billion barrels.

"It is believed 100 billion barrels is a fairly realistic figure for provable reserves and it is believed they will have significant importance in the future," he said.

He said the world has 431 billion barrels of recoverable oil reserves and improved production techniques may boost the figure considerably higher.

One of the world's top oil executives told the congress Thursday that petroleum supply is sufficient now so there is no immediate need for Athabasca oil. But he said that mining and production techniques should be perfected now.

M. J. Rathbone of New York City, president of the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), agreed with Torrey that the sands offer a source for tremendous future supply.

Torrey said the sands are known to have a variable degree of oil impregnation over an area of 20,000 square miles with an average thickness of 100 feet.

"They outcrop along the Athabasca River in the northern part of Alberta," he said. "To the south and west they are buried to depths exceeding 1,000 feet."

He said there is a 4.5 per cent sulphur content, the recovery of which might serve as incentive for chemical companies.

"The heavy oil sands, in addition to being a tremendous potential source of hydrocarbon fuels might also serve to promote other large industrial expansion in Canada," he said.

Nolan County Gets Two Tests

Two wildcat operations have been reported for Nolan County.

LS&R Petroleum Co., Midland, and associates will drill No. 1 R. H. Jordan as a 4,100-foot Swastika sand test five miles northwest of Blackwell. The drillsite is C NW NW, section 23-1-A, H&TC survey, and one mile south of the Group (4,000-foot Cisco sand) pol.

A deeper test is Jack C. Staley, Wichita Falls, No. 1 T. D. Young, a re-entry of a former 7,004-foot failure five miles southwest of Sweetwater and three-fourths mile northwest of the Estaban multipay area.

Staley proposes to clean out to 5,850 feet to test the Canyon sand. It was formerly drilled as Intex Oil Company No. 1 D. S. Riggs, which was abandoned in April, 1951.

New Wells Reported

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Railroad Commission said Saturday that a total of 164 oil and 28 gas wells were completed in Texas last week.

The new wells bring to 3,985 the total of oil well completions and 1,248 the number of gas well completions for the year. A total of 4,891 oil and 1,578 gas wells were completed during the like 1962 period.

A total of three oil and four gas wildcat wells were completed, to bring wildcat totals for the year to 168 oil and 323 gas. Last year, 227 oil and 583 gas wildcat wells were completed during the like period.

Oil wildcats were drilled in Dist. 7-C, 8 and 9. Gas wildcats were in Dists. 2, 3, 7-B and 7-C.

Operator To Test Permo-Penn Strata

Jocelyn-Varn Oil Company of Abilene will set casing at 12,000 feet, the total depth, to test the Permo - Pennsylvanian through perforations at No. 1 J. C. Trees Estate, north Pecos County wildcat. The test is one mile east of Coyanosa.

The section at 10,150-277 feet developed gas and slightly oil and gas-cut drilling mud during a drillstem test. It is 4½ miles north of the Coyanosa (Wolfcamp) pool and five miles southwest of the discovery of the Trees Ranch (Pennsylvanian) pool.

It spots 660 feet from the south and westlines of section 33-8, H&GN survey.

Passed $1,000,000 Mark

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moren hold a plaque they received Friday for having purchased more than $1 million worth of merchandise from the Western Auto Supply department during their tenure as Western Auto dealers in Big Spring. They opened here June 20, 1949. At left is E. R. Moren, their son, who has operated the store here the past two years. Another son, Bill, owns a Western Auto store in Andrews.

Postal 'ZIP Code' In Effect July 1

In another week the "ZIP Code" of the United States Post Office will be operational. "ZIP Code" is a shortened version of zone improvement plan, a numerical code for every city in the United States which has a post office. Effective date is July 1.

The plan proposes to bring about what its name implies—a speed-up in the delivery of mail. To facilitate implementation, all citizens are being urged to commit the number of their city or mailing zone to memory and begin using it immediately.

When the plan is in operation, it is expected to cut time between mail deposits and delivery as much as 24 hours and to greatly reduce the chance for missent letters.

The West Texas area has been divided into several sections, with a three-digit number for that section. Two more numbers are added for the specific department within that section.

For instance: Big Spring is in the Midland section, whose number is 797. To this is added 20 for Big Spring carriers and 21 for Post Office boxes. The complete numbers are 79720 and 79721.

Knott 79748, Lamesa 79331, Lenorah 79749, Loraine 79532, Luther 79751, Merkel 79536, Otis Chalk 79771, Snyder 79549, Stanton 79782, Sterling City 76951, Tarzan 79783, Vealmoor 79787, Water Valley 76958 and Westbrook 79565.

Water District Revenues Stay On Even Keel

Revenues through May continued on an even keel for the Colorado River Municipal Water District. However, the effect of May and June rains will not show up until later because water revenues for any given month are based on sales for the previous month.

Through the first five months the CRMWD took in $85,203 as compared with $830,234 for the like period in 1962. During May revenues were $191,054 as against $172,000 for May of last year. Sales to cities were up by $6,000 in amounting to $127,246, to oil companies up $10,000 in reaching $56,899.

May expenses amounted to $64,065 for operations, leaving $126,988 available for debt service, improvement and extension, etc. For the five-months period, operating expenses amounted to $286,849, an increase of $21,000. General maintenance and maintenance labor were up by about $8,500, pumping costs were up by around $18,000, virtually all of it in electric power. General and administrative costs were up $2,000 and recreational expenses down by a like amount.

Records on which water sales are based showed 815,225,000 gallons delivered for May, a gain of 59,000,000 gallons. For the five months the total was 3,332,391,000 gallons, an increase of 106 million gallons. With the exception of 51 million gallons from city wells, production came from Lake J. B. Thomas in May. Of the five-months output, only slightly more than 100 million gallons has come from wells.

Coahomans Urge Pet Vaccination

COAHOMA — City councilmen have reminded residents of the ordinance requiring dogs and cats not on leash or penned to be vaccinated.

In connection with the appeal for compliance, they said that Dr. Akin Simpson had agreed to be at the city hall from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Tuesday to vaccinate dogs and cats against rabies.

Swiss Issues To Honor Red Cross

By HAROLD C. PERDUE

Switzerland honors the 100th anniversary of the Red Cross with four of this year's five Pro Patria series. Pro Patria stamps are the National Day issues and are highly popular with collectors. The four Red Cross stamps depict activities of that organization: a bandaging roll, a gift parcel, providing blood plasma, and a Red Cross arm band. The fifth stamp of the series, a 5 plus 5 franc semi-postal, shows a portrait of Anna Heer, a Zurich doctor who was a co-founder of the Swiss Nurse Training School.

West Germany has issued another stamp in the Old Berlin series. A 35 pf denomination, it shows a scene of the old city. Other recent German issues include one for the 400th anniversary of the Heidelberg Catechism. The 20 pf. stamp is in red and black with a superimposed inscription "Heidelberger Catechismus." To celebrate the 100th anniversary of the Paris Postal Conference, a 45 pf stamp shows the coat-of-arms of the 18 participating postal administrations.

The African nations are well represented in recent issues. Nigeria has issued a six d stamp showing the U.S. Mercury capsule and a 1/3 d stamp depicting a ship for tracking the Syncom satellite. Ghana has postponed its Red Cross stamp from May to later in June. Four stamps are in the series in 1/2 d, 1 d, 1-1/2 d. Kuwait has issued four multicolors for Mother's Day, 1963. The Congo Republic is represented by seven stamps of tropical birds. Liberia has issued a "space set" with two postal and one airmail included. The postals are in 10 and 25 cent values. The airmail is a 50 cent one. The set is completed by a miniature sheet of the 50 cent airmail stamp.

France has released five multicolors honoring Beethoven and other European composers. Spain has added another multicolored coat-of-arms for the city of Cuenca. Indonesia has issued four multicolors showing tropical fish. Ireland has announced a 6 d and a 1-3 d Europe stamp for release this fall.

The U.S. Post Office Department announces that six plates were sent to press during the month of April. Four numbers, 27453, 27455, 27456, and 27458, were for printing the Emancipation Proclamation commemorative to be issued Aug. 16 in Chicago. Numbers 27463 and 27466 were used to print the 15 cent Montgomery Blair airmail commemorative placed on sale in May.

Electronic Data Course Planned

LUBBOCK—High school seniors will have the opportunity to study electronic data processing at Texas Tech this summer, when the accounting department of Tech's School of Business Administration sponsors an unusual short course on that subject July 22-Aug. 2.

Dr. Reginald Rushing, head of Tech's accounting department, has announced that the short course is now open for pre-enrollment. The course, an introduction to electronic data processing for high school seniors, will meet 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. daily for two weeks, Monday through Friday.

Dr. Rushing said teachers are also encouraged to enroll in the course, which is voluntary, extracurricular and carries no credits toward graduation.

The objective of the "Future Data Processors" program is to stimulate interest in electronic and punched card data processing, to emphasize the need for qualified individuals in this new career field and to point up the growing importance of electronic equipment in the development of more efficient business systems.

An enrollment fee of $21.50 includes the cost of tuition, supplies and the student study kit. An additional charge of $41.83 will be made for participants staying in the college dormitories.

Information may be obtained by telephoning Texas Tech, Mrs. Luta Eaves, PO 2-8811, Ex. 2163, or SW 9-1753. Enrollment may be completed by mailing a check payable to the college in the amount of $21.50, or a total of $63.13 for those staying in the college dorms. Applications should include name, address and telephone number, mailed to Box 4064, Texas Tech, Lubbock 9, Texas.

Brothers Have Birthday Party

The families of Walter Robinson and Charlie Robinson gathered Friday evening at the City Park to honor them on their 84th birthday.

The elder Mr. Robinsons have been in Howard County for approximately three score years, having settled at what is now Midway. Staunch Baptists, they established Robinson Chapel there before there was actually a community. The two are twins and on their 84th birthday they still bore an almost identical resemblance.

Returns Home

STANTON (SC) — Returned from the 24th annual state convention of Beta Sigma Phi, held at the Granada Hotel in San Antonio, are Mrs. Darrell Payne, Mrs. Alan Taylor, Mrs. Kenneth Gilmore, and Mrs. Benny Welch.

Teen-Age Drivers

Studies show that last year, drivers under 25 were involved in almost 30 per cent of all fatal accidents and 27 per cent of all non-fatal accidents while they represented only 15 per cent of the driving public.

Insurance companies are beginning to realize that the student who passes an accredited driver training course is more likely to be a safe driver than the student who hasn't had the opportunity. Many provide discounts on policies to boys who have taken these courses.

Miracles In Bath Decor

A pretty bathroom is a daily delight and an important focus for your decorating talents. Since you can't change bathroom fixtures without major expense, clever use of color in bathroom accessories is the easiest way to perk up a drab bathroom.

The first way to use color effectively in a bathroom is with colored light bulbs. Since a bathroom is "furnished" with many areas of hard, cold ceramic, use lighting that is warm and soft. Yellow light bulbs impart warmth. Pink is a wonderfully flattering light which creates a rosy glow and gives you a psychological boost as you apply make-up. Fluorescent lights, too, are available in both warm and cool tubes.

DECOR TO SIZE

If your bathroom is less than perfect in size and shape, careful selection of wall and ceiling paint will help correct architectural faults. Light colors appear to be farther away than they really are. A bathroom that is too small seems larger if painted or wallpapered in the palest of pastels. Bold, bright colors seem closer. An old-fashioned, oversize bathroom will "come together" with ceiling and walls painted red or bright blue. If the room is high but narrow, paint the ceiling an intense color and the walls a tint of it in the same color family.

To achieve a unified decorative theme, select bathroom accessories in carefully coordinated colors and patterns. The new matching sets of towels, shower curtains and rugs in striking floral patterns create a custom-decorated effect.

ACCESSORIES

Remember that toiletries are important accessories too, and should be used to carry out your color scheme. For example, if towels and shower curtain are patterned with yellow and orange flowers, select yellow soap, a yellow space-saver tissue box, and yellow bathroom tissue.

If you have a tub shower, try using two shower curtains instead of just one. Tie shower curtains back at either side to frame the tub like a window. For tie-backs you might use a loop of white upholstery braid, fastened to a hook on the wall. Or make unique chain or bead tie-backs out of inexpensive costume jewelry necklaces from the dime store.

Separate Right

Basic rules for laundering are wash white cottons and linens together in very hot water (140-160 degrees); fast colors in medium warm water (100 - 110 degrees); synthetics in luke warm water with the light and dark colors kept separate.

Miss Banks Bride Of John Ennis Puckett

Miss Linda Jay Banks and Lt. John Ennis Puckett exchanged wedding vows at 4 p.m., Saturday, in a double ring ceremony performed in the parlor of the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Robert F. Polk officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Banks, 2002 Merrily Drive. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John O. Puckett, Gail Route.

Baskets of white gladioli and blue chrysanthemums decorated the parlor and a bouquet of the same flowers graced the piano.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length sheath of white silk featuring a rounded neckline and bolero styled bodice. The self belt was caught at the side with a large double bow.

The best man was Kenneth Ray Puckett, brother of the bridegroom.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Her mother and the bridegroom's mother were with the couple in the receiving line.

The refreshment table, covered with a white lace cloth over blue linen, was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and blue chrysanthemums. The three-tiered white wedding cake was trimmed with blue roses; a silver wedding bell and lovebirds adorned the base. Crystal appointments were used.

Guests were registered by Mrs. W. C. Brown of Midland, a cousin of the bride. Others in the house party were Mrs. Jack Boyd, Miss Linda Lewis, Miss Nelva Briden and Miss Pearl Gage.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple will reside in Mt. Clemens, Mich., which is located on Lake St. Clair.

The bride attended Woodrow Wilson High School in Dallas, attended summer sessions at Howard County Junior College and completed two years at Texas Tech, where she worked on a BA degree in psychology.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School, attended HCJC and earned a BA degree in sociology at Texas A&M, where he was a member of the Cadet Corps. He is now a second lieutenant in the Air Force, stationed at Selfridge Air Force Base.

MRS. W. D. McDONALD

Return Threefold The Help That Was Given

By JOHNNIE LU RABORN

"It's better than money in the bank," said Mrs. W. D. McDonald in speaking about the helping hand she has given some 10 children and young people in her 52 years in Big Spring.

These 10—and a score more for shorter visits—have shared her home while they continued their education. "They knew I had an open door," she continued. "It was a joy to share with them while they were under my guidance."

Mrs. McDonald came to Big Spring as a bride in 1911. Both she and the late W. D. McDonald were from Jasper, Ala., where as next-door neighbors they played and grew up together.

When McDonald moved to this city, his young lady went to Memphis, Texas, to visit a sister. They were married there and he brought her back here where his family had a furniture store. She helped out in the store until their son, Cecil D. McDonald, was born in 1912.

PIONEER TOWN

"It was a pioneer town when I came," she said. "I've watched great progress in Big Spring; it's still a boom town."

"There have been so many helping hands," Mrs. McDonald explained. "When our son was born, we moved next to Mrs. Fannie Stripling. She took me under her wing, and did so much to mold my life," she said.

In 1924, the first of her "children" came to live with the family. The 18-year-old niece, now Mrs. Hub Fields, came to finish her high school education after her mother died. That same year Wilson Pinkston moved in with her family.

Prior to his death, W. D. McDonald opened a Studebaker agency and the family occupied a larger home. When, in 1926, he accidently drowned, Mrs. McDonald converted her home into rent rooms as a means of livelihood and stayed there for 10 years.

TO WEST COAST

In 1936, she moved to California taking with her two young people, one from Lubbock and the other from Gallop, N.M. In 1938, on one of her annual trips to Big Spring she invited one, Leonard Hilton of Lubbock, to come to her home. He did and has since finished college and gone into business. Her youngest ward was J. D. Pinkston, then eight years old.

In 1941, she moved back to Big Spring and worked at getting her property in order. During this time a third Pinkston, Harold, came to live with her at the age of 16.

IN BUSINESS

Mrs. McDonald entered into the real estate business in 1948 and formed the company of McDonald, Robinson and McCleskey. The firm has since moved into a new building at 611 Main.

Bobby McDonald was the last of Mrs. McDonald's wards. McDonald finished high school, two years of junior college and graduated from Texas Technological College in Lubbock.

Mrs. McDonald sites mission work as a highlight of her life. "My main desire was to be a missionary, and that is as close as I ever came," she said. Her mission work was started in 1945 with what is now the Park Methodist Church. For six years she taught Sunday school and was engaged in church activities.

A METHODIST

Presently she is a member of First Methodist Church, a steward in the church and an officer of the Wesleyan Service Guild. She is on the advisory board of the Salvation Army.

Mrs. McDonald contributes her "full" life to the friends she has made in Big Spring and close members of her family. Her two brothers, the late Dr. B. F. Tingle of Birmingham, Ala., and the Rev. D. B. Tingle of Plains, were ministers and a help to Mrs. McDonald in her years of service to the community.

A sister, Miss Alice Tingle, Atlanta Ga., has followed her sister's example and put several young people through nursing school and college.

Of the people she has helped, they all stay in touch, especially on Mother's Day.

Miss Farquhar Bride Of Ronald Clanton

Miss Kay Eileen Farquhar became the bride of Ronald Louis Clanton in a double ring ceremony performed at 8:15 p.m., Saturday, in the College Baptist Church. The Rev. Elvis Bishop of Wichita, Kan., an uncle of the bridegroom, officiated in the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. T. Jackson of Westbrook and the late C. H. Farquhar. The Rev. C. T. Jackson is her stepfather. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Clanton, 407 E. 11th St., are parents of the bridegroom.

Accompanied at the organ by Jack Hendrix, Paul Petterson sang "The Wedding Prayer." Hendrix also played various nuptial selections and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, John Charles Farquhar, wore a formal princess-styled gown of delustered satin with a lace yoke and short sleeves. Over-the-elbow lace mitts ended in petal points at the hands. Scallops of lace formed a V-shape at the back of the gown, with the full skirt extending into a chapel train. A waist-length veil of illusion fell from her pillbox hat, covered with lace and pearl-encrusted.

Maid of honor was Miss Carolyn Hoover. Miss Sara Homan and Miss Sue Lee were the bridesmaids. They wore pastel silk dresses, identically styled with fitted bodices and belled skirts. Each carried an ivory fan which held a peach glamelia showered in matching satin picot ribbon.

Flower girls, Debbie and Christi McAdams, nieces of the bride, wore identical dresses of white polished cotton with pink daisy trim. Barry Martin, the bride's nephew, was ringbearer.

Serving as best man was Johnny Freeman. Groomsmen were Donnie Clanton, brother of the bridegroom, and Pete Bishop, a cousin. Lighting the altar tapers were Lonnie Clanton, another brother of the bridegroom and Miss Nella Clanton, his cousin.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the parlor of the church. Joining the couple in the receiving line were their parents and the bride's attendants.

The refreshment table was covered with a floor-length cloth of white organdy, caught at the corners with white satin bows and wedding bells. A silver epergne held an arrangement of white palms and majestic daisies. The three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with white roses and topped with a nosegay of stephanotis and leaves.

WEDDING TRIP

For the wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the bride's traveling costume was a sheath of yellow linen with matching sweater and white accessories. She wore the orchid from her bouquet.

After the trip, the couple will reside at 610 Circle Drive.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Big Spring High School. The bridegroom, now employed at Clanton Transport Co., graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College.

The shower was given by Mrs. W. U. Holder, Miss Beverly Casey, Mrs. R. L. Holder, Mrs. Bill Scarbro and Mrs. Gayle Bell. The wedding is scheduled for July 6.

Dear Mother,

I had no idea that planning a wedding could be so involved! Thanks to a friend of mine, however, my worries are over. She told me what a bride-to-be in Big Spring should know when it comes to wedding plans! That the new bridal service at BLUM'S here in Big Spring is absolutely magnificent!

They have a bridal register in which they wrote my name and my choice of patterns for silver, china, crystal, pottery and stainless steel. Now, when my friends shop at BLUM's, they can mention my name, and BLUM'S will show them the gift register for guidance. They even recorded my gift preference! This way there will be no duplication of gifts and it makes shopping so much easier for my friends.

By the way, BLUM'S is the best yet at gift wrapping. You should see how expert they are, and they will deliver, too.

BLUM'S bridal consultant, Mrs. PAULINE BLUM, is a charming person and one of the FRIENDLIEST people I've ever met. I already feel as if I had known her for years, she makes you feel so at ease. She told me so many things about planning a wedding, that I had never dreamed of! I'm so eager for you to meet her. It was all so exciting. Now I can understand why BLUM'S is so popular and why BLUM'S is noted for their friendly and courteous personalized service.

Mother, there are so many wonderful things I'd like to tell you about BLUM'S and all the lovely new patterns they have to choose from, but it would take pages, so I'll just wait until you and Daddy can go to BLUM'S and see for yourself how wonderful and complete it is.

With BLUM'S helping me, I know I will have the prettiest wedding in Big Spring.

Love,
Pat

P.S.: Oh, yes, I almost forgot the most important thing to tell you. BLUM'S have over 75 new and active patterns in china and pottery, and their wide selection of all the new, advertised brands of STERLING, and BLUM'S assured me that when the time arrived for my shower, they would have the stock to deliver, as they are most anxious NOT to disappoint anyone, and, too, the service is SUPERB. They will deliver my selection for my shower, and have it all so neatly arranged, that the hostesses will be free of worry. BLUM'S have the most wonderful selection of wedding announcements I have ever seen.

As you know, Mother, I have been shopping in practically all the large stores, in the city where I attend college, and believe me, BLUM'S have as good a selection of china, etc., as you will find in larger cities, and BLUM'S selection of Attendants Gifts is just marvelous.

Miss Joann Phillips, the bride's twin sister, was attired in blue delustered satin, styled with jacket of embroidered silk organza. Her hat was of matching blue shade, and her flowers were white glamelias. The bridesmaid, Miss Pat Saunders, was attired in identical fashion.

Traditional Leader In '63 Styles

For the first time since surveys have been made by furniture experts of Grand Rapids and Grand Rapids Market, American Traditional styles have replaced Modern as the most popular offerings by manufacturers.

Of the 2,830 suites checked by survey teams, 30.2 per cent were in the Colonial Early American-Federal category. This was an increase of 1.8 per cent over 1962. Modern groupings accounted for 32.5 per cent of the collections, a decrease of 3.4 per cent from last year.

The emergence of American Traditional styles, especially Colonial, to style leadership appears out of production last year by producers who were slow to switch from the walnut groups to the lighter oak finishes of the early American groups.

The Mediterranean influence in styling also is on the rise, according to the surveys. It was found in 16.7 per cent of the suites, a rather impressive gain of 4.3 per cent over the 1962 figure. French styling, including Court and Provincial, accounted for 15.3 per cent of the winter groupings, a 2.3 per cent decline from last year.

Rook Club Has Friday Meeting

Mrs. Harwood Keith was hostess for the Rook Club meeting Friday in the Community Room of First Federal Savings and Loan Bldg.

Nine members were at the meeting along with Mrs. W. D. McDonald as guest. Refreshments were served on individual tables with a side table decorated with various colored zinnias as a centerpiece.

Shipshape Middy Set

Aboy and full speed ahead to a fun-filled summer in Don Felt's shipshape middy sailing smoothly over a wave of pleats. With arms bared to the sun (or shaded by ¾ sleeves if you prefer), the easy breezy top charts a narrow course straight down to its side-split hem. Stripes of another color trace the deep-dive neckline, pointing to a salty little bow, then run on the double round the hips.

Originally designed for Lee Remick and worn in the "Oscar"-nominated Warner Brothers production, "Days of Wine and Roses," this very "yar" middy was made in white silk jersey with cocoa trim, its pleat-whirled skirt in white silk linen.

Mated to perfection but able to go their separate ways, they make a fashion splash on land or sea in sharkskin, cotton cords, silk or flax linen, dacron and cotton blends or fine wool flannel. From these corresponding body measurements select the size best for you. Our sizing is comparable to that used for better ready-to-wear.

The Men Capture Kitchens

When married men go to cooking school (and they do), they want to learn how to make good salads, buffet meals, meat dishes, says Ruth Norman, she conducts cooking classes with long-time gourment, cook-book author and lecturer, Jim Beard.

"Men are not interested in learning to bake, nor in making desserts," she says. Good advice for the bride-to-be is to learn these things well. "But they all want to learn how to make good main dishes, and hurry-up meals that are tasty."

INTEREST KEEN

Interest is so keen men often outnumber women in the cooking classes, she says. Lawyers, doctors, architects along with advertising women, secretaries, writers are likely to comprise a typical class of 12.

"If there is just enough money for one course, it's the man of the family who goes," says Miss Norman, "and then he can't wait to get in his own kitchen and show off."

One man, the merchandise manager of a large store, rubbed his hands gleefully together and said, "I can't wait to throw my wife out of the kitchen when I get home," which may have been why his wife budgeted those cooking school funds in the first place.

BARRIER REMOVED

"Fear of failure is what keeps people from oven and stove. People who can't cook are afraid to cook," Miss Norman says.

"We start them right out making Crepes (French pancakes) with all the fillings and sauces. It's just about the last thing an inexperienced cook attempts. When they're over that hurdle, the rest is easy."

Even people who collect cook books and read them like novels can fall into that category. But one success will erase frustration.

EAT WHAT'S COOKED

Seafood Mediterranean, a first or main course takes 10 minutes. Here's the recipe: Put oil in a heavy pot that has a cover. Saute minced garlic in it. Stir in chunks of lobster tails. Add some thyme, bay leaf, and stir in shrimp. Pour a can of Italian tomatoes over all. Cover. When boiling add clams in the shell, minced parsley and a cup of white wine. Serve when clam shells have opened.

MAN GIMMICK

The Sicilian veal roll has a man-gimmick also. It may be served hot or cold, made in advance. It is stuffed with minced meats and hard boiled eggs, topped with cheese, served with green noodles and an orange, onion and chicory salad. The dessert is cognac.

"Men like to make desserts that aren't really desserts, such as a cognac ignited—concoction that has a flare to it," she says.

Wasp-Waisted Wearables Shown In Fall Style Presentation

NEW YORK (AP)—Tiny waistlines, broadbeamed hips of almost antebellum proportions, and long-pegged skirts made romantic old-fashioned girls out of some of Pauline Trigere's modern models.

Yet at the preview of her collection, the French-American designer turned out to be as reversible in design mood as some of her tweed wool coats. Interspersed with those antique girls was the sterotype of the modern femme fatale—sleek, bare-shouldered and twinkling with crystals.

Smiling as smugly as cats, the models emerged on the stage clutching shut their full-cut coats. Then they flung them back to reveal a commodious bag of Trigere-designed tricks.

Beyond a wide-necked jacket, for example, was a sable drawstring blouse. Inside a voluminous satin cape was a generous puddle of black mink. When the lapels of another wide demure black dinner coat flopped back, a border of boulder-sized rhinestones blinked in the lining edges.

TWINKLE TWEED

Indeed, jewels like something Faberge might have whipped up were stitched onto nearly everything. Even lame was considered opulent enough without a few sparkling rocks sprinkled here and there.

Ceil Chapman, in her press preview Thursday, at times showed signs of favoring the good old days. Along with subtly tucked and draped silk satin gowns, her models came forth in long-sleeved white shirt blouses and slim black, floor-length skirts not unlike the Gibson girl.

BUSTS, BRISTLES

Of course, the Gibson girl never wore anything like that V-necked gown with the golden bristles on it; nor the shiny, blistery-looking black jacket pants and jet-beaded boots that looked something like a motorcyclist getup.

Certainly more modern signs were slashes to the knee in otherwise hobbled skirts, bare shoulders and plunging V necks.

These flashes of flesh from otherwise unadorned dresses were skillfully included in the John Moore collection for Talmack previewed Thursday also. From his collection, Moore's ideal woman is flat-chested, broad-shouldered and long-torsoed, and has a gay round of social activities.

It Pays In Paris, Too

CHICAGO (AP)—A Dutch girl proved to 40 Michigan girls that it pays to speak French in Chicago.

The Michigan girls are teenagers from Goodrich, a town of 450 persons, who arrived Monday for five days of sightseeing.

Thursday Hermine and the others went to visit the Bouvet, a French warship winding up a goodwill stay in Chicago. But the gangplank was barred as the crew went through a flurry of leavetaking preparations.

As Chicagoans were turned away, Hermine stepped forward to plead her classmates' cause in fluent French. When she finished, the gangplank was opened.

A candlelit sanctuary was the scene for an exchange of nuptial vows uniting Miss Marilyn Sale and Thomas Risher Newman. The service was read Friday evening by the Rev. W. H. Wearing a gown of Chantilly lace over peau de soie, the bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. Her dress was fashioned with etched portrait neckline enhanced with seed pearls and pearl teardrops. The fitted bodice extended into a deep merry-widow peak in front and featured long tapered sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt with chapel train, was styled with a bustle adorned with a lace cluster and seed pearls. She wore a Swedish coronet of scrolled seed pearls and a veil of imported silk illusion. Her flowers of white Frenched carnations with net and lily-of-the-valley formed a cascade bouquet which she carried with a white Bible.

Only A Reminder

Son Substituting For Capt. Timothy Thomas

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

There are times, particularly the recent Father's Day celebration, when Kevin Thomas feels inadequate in his role as man-of-the-house. Presently he is the only male member of the Timothy Thomas family at home.

Capt. Thomas is at Williams Air Force Base in Arizona for a pilot instructor's training course. He reported there soon after the family's arrival in Big Spring a little more than two weeks ago.

BASIC AT WEBB

When the captain completed his work through the Air Force Institute of Technology at A&M, he and Mrs. Thomas hoped that he would be assigned to Webb AFB.

It was in 1956 when Capt. Thomas received his basic training at Webb. In fact, with the exception of six months in Florida, all of his eight-year Air Force career has been spent in Texas.

The Thomases have purchased a newly built home in the Kentwood Addition at 2704 Carol. Included in the home's furnishings are pertinent pieces attesting to the couple's music appreciation. There is a lovely cabinet containing a hi-fi unit and another with a prized collection of records, mostly classic and semi-classic. Many stereo selections are filed in tape recordings. Another artistic pleasure is noted in tables of ceramic tile laid in mosaic patterns. Also there are coral plaques made by the couple.

The couple has found little time for recreation because of the children and his continuous study and work. However, when Capt. Thomas returns from Arizona, the children are enrolled in Immaculate Heart of Mary School and the new baby is a month or so old, Mrs. Thomas hopes to enter into the wives' activities at Webb.

The family, of Catholic faith, will attend services either at the chapel or Immaculate Heart of Mary Church.

Allison, unit president, has called a business meeting of the board of directors, immediately preceding the game, to vote on a director and alternate to serve on the board of governors of the American Contract Bridge League.

Smart Seating In A Nutshell

Within the year you may be sitting in a walnut shell.

The new shell chairs, made of molded framework, are the talk of home fashions markets. These fill the need for occasional chairs at reasonably low prices.

The chair itself is made of molded walnut plywood. Most often, the plywood shell is mounted in a slender swivel base of steel. Upholstery is firmly attached to the shell and may be of fabric, leather or synthetics in a variety of colors.

The same principle is being applied to couches, which are now being molded in shell form and upholstered to order.

MR. AND MRS. W. H. AWTRY

W. H. Awtrys Are Honored

Marion Awtry and his son, Will, were putting up a fence on their farm in East Texas, when a covered wagon being driven by George Nelson passed by the draw. With Nelson were his wife and his daughter, Florence, whose glistening red hair caught Will's eye.

He watched the wagon and the pretty girl until they disappeared from view. Then he informed his father that he had just decided who his future bride would be.

Despite the elder Awtry's voiced objection to having a red-headed daughter-in-law, Will successfully contrived to meet the young lady. The courtship that followed was typical of the day. They not only went to church and square dances, they attended "taffy pulls, corn shuckings, pie suppers, cake-box sales and candy breakings."

At 4 p.m., June 26, 1913, William Henry Awtry and Florence Gertrude Nelson were married in the shade of a tree by the Rev. J. D. Moore of Winfield Tex. The first of their eight children was born in that town. In 1917, they moved to Colorado City in West Texas where they encountered adversities due to a prolonged drought and depression. During that year, the growing family moved 12 times as Awtry searched for work.

IN COVERED WAGON

Their final move back to West Texas was made in 1923, when it took 16 days in a covered wagon to trave from the eastern part of the state.

Awtry, a retired farmer, also is well known in the community for his cabinet and carpentry work. All their children, except the two oldest, attended school at Knott.

Children of the couple and their wives and husbands are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Awtry, Monument, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Awtry, Hobbs, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rogers, Mt. Vernon, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Velah Kemper, Knott; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Steadman, San Pablo, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Blackwell, Birmingham, Ala.

Two of the children, Joe and Leona, the former Mrs. W. T. Stocks, are deceased. There are 21 grandchildren.

The 50th wedding anniversary of the couple will be celebrated this afternoon at a reception held in their home at 703 N. Scurry. Friends, neighbors and relatives are invited to call between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m. in observance of the occasion.

A lace cloth will cover the refreshment table where the centerpiece will be white carnations edged in gold surrounding a golden wedding emblem. The tiered wedding cake will be decorated with golden roses and topped with a golden bell. The coupie will be presented a corsage and boutonniere of gold-tipped carnations.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Howard Awtry, Mrs. Cecil Awtry, Mrs. W. H. Rogers, Mrs. T. J. Steadman, Mrs. Velah Kemper, Mrs. B. M. Blackwell and Mrs. Joe Awtry.

Job Finding Can Be On The Funny Side

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am full of French distinction and I am sure I can be also a very good manservant if necessary."

The letter, from a man in Brussels, was on top of the pile Evelyn Lane was opening the other day.

Miss Lane does what she can for her foreign friends, but she always points out to them the advisability of having a job lined up before they come.

EVEN SUPPLIES HATS

A registered nurse, Miss Lane is a youngish brunette who mothers the people who come through her office doors in the heart of Times Square.

She and her staff process between 30,000 and 35,000 jobseekers a year. But countless are the times she's removed green eye makeup or combed a particularly spectacular coiffure into something more businesslike before sending a young girl off to be interviewed for a job.

She even keeps on hand a supply of chic but capable-looking hats to lend sweet young things for their first meetings with personnel directors.

Miss Curry Chosen Camp Lifeguard

Miss Jan Curry, along with 19 other Big Spring girls, traveled to Girl's Auxiliary of District 8 encampment this week where she served as pianist and lifeguard for the group.

Miss Curry, who is pianist for the East Fourth Baptist Church, was named lifeguard for the other camps scheduled for June 24-27 and July 8-11. She is a junior in high school and pianist for the intermediate department in her Sunday school. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Lloyd Curry.

Over 300 girls attended the camp that featured Mrs. Frank Lewis of Indonesia as missionary speaker and Miss Sarah Lou Henly of Nigeria as missionary guest. The Rev. Kenneth Andress, pastor of West Side Baptist Church, served as camp pastor.

Sponsoring the girls were Mrs. Walter Trim and Mrs. Elmer Dickens. Mrs. G. C. Ragsdale, youth director for the church, also attended.

Promise Made Good

Pilot Keeps Promise Made During Mission Over China

By JOHNNIE LU RABORN

The shooting started and the mission changed.

Art Pylant was flying near the coast of China, just inside Communist territory. His original mission was to save a Chinese Nationalist pilot, but then it became one to save his own life.

"I told God if he would let me out of there, I'd live the rest of my life for him," Pylant, a member of Baptist Temple Church, said. Now, 11 years later, he is keeping his promise and entering the ministry.

This 29-year-old father of four was born in Tredell, Tex., but moved to Dallas in his teens. At 17 he went into the Navy to become a pilot. During his duty, he was based in San Diego and met his wife there.

After sea duty, the couple lived in Los Angeles until he was discharged. They moved back to Dallas and both became active in the Plymouth Park Church at Irving. They lived there five years before moving to Lamesa.

Coming from a family of seven children, Pylant is not new to a large family. His four children range from Bruce 8, Connie 6, Johnny 3, to Linda, 18 months.

Pylant is now employed at Williams Typewriter Service and had many decisions to make before his public announcement of his call.

"There was so much to consider," he said. After much discussion with his wife and counseling with James A. Puckett, his pastor at Baptist Temple, he made his decision and began making plans for seminary school Sunday.

Since then, Pylant said "We have received a lot of help from people in the church and business associates. Everything I've tried to do has worked."

His wife is as enthusiastic as Pylant.

"I guess she has more enthusiasm than most people and this made me stronger," he said. She and the two older children had much to do with the decision and are eager for him to start school, he said.

Pylant will enter the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in September. While working, he will attend classes half days during the two years. Upon graduation, he will be an ordained Baptist minister and wait for a call to some pastoral position. Later, Pylant hopes to finish his schooling through correspondence. Since he only finished high school, he feels a degree important to his new life.

Until September, the family will continue its church activities, which include Sunday School, fellowship "just about everything in the church" and wait for his promises to be fulfilled.

Versatile Crew Keeps School Plant Polished

By JOE BEYER

Maintenance at Big Spring public schools requires a versatile crew, according to Bill Gray, maintenance supervisor.

The task of cleaning up and fixing up after more than 1,000 school children have romped through the facilities is too much to stay up with during the school term. Summer is a time to catch up.

Major work which will be undertaken at the schools during the summer include replacement of a sewer line at the high school and installing a water line at Washington Place School.

"We have had difficulty with the sewer line leading from the kitchen to the street at the high school for the past three years," Gray said. Settling has caused it to be pulled apart in several places.

As soon as summer sessions are completed, the 440-foot line will be replaced. Cost of the job will be $2.10 per foot.

At Washington the task is one of installing a one-inch water line for watering the lawn and 60 trees which will be planted around the east, south and west edges of the campus. Sixty holes must be dug by the maintenance personnel for the trees.

Yard work is a constant task with the many acres of campus, Gray said, and summer is used to make improvements. About half the school yards will be re-seeded and kept watered to encourage growth. The old football field across from the YMCA and the practice field behind the high school have already been treated and grass planted.

"We have already put two tons of fertilizer on the grounds and will spread out three more tons. From now on, however, most of the work will be just hoeing and mowing to keep the grounds neat," Gray said.

Currently 13 maintenance men are doing scrub work. This is a plain way of saying that they clean, polish, reseal all floors, clean the walls and blackboards and replace tile where needed. The men spend the early part of each day keeping weeds down and when it becomes hot they move inside for the scrubbing work.

This includes annual inspection and repair of stoves and testing gas lines, which has already been accomplished. At some schools, such as the high school, this is quite a problem. Lines buried in the highly alkaline soil become eroded rapidly and, despite special precautions, they must be replaced frequently, Gray said.

Painting, another year - round project, will be carried on as much as possible indoors during the summer. One man is kept busy going from school to school replacing damaged windows and putting fresh putty around others.

Another special project will be installation of food disposal units at Washington and Goliad schools.

Desks make handy places for initials or other artful works of daydreaming students. But, they also present a problem for maintenance personnel. During the summer, crews will go to every school in the system to sand and refinish all tops which need it.

"This is the first year that we are trying to get this work done in every school. Before now we have just spotted the work around where it was most needed," Gray said.

He pointed out that the high school usually needs most of its veneer-topped desks refinished every year. At the same time, chairs will be repaired and new gliders will be placed on them.

Later in the summer mechanics will be turned loose on school buses to prepare them for the new school year.

Heart Failure Study To Begin

LUBBOCK—A study of the relationship between diet and psychological stress in heart failure will begin at Texas Tech this fall.

It will be a two-year study of atherosclerosis, a condition in which a fatty deposit collects in the arteries of the heart. As the deposit builds up, the blood supply to the heart is reduced and may be cut off entirely.

Subject of the study will be pigeons, 100 of them, according to Dr. Paschal Strong, associate professor of psychology at Tech. One of two varieties of pigeons used is known to spontaneously develop atherosclerosis the same as humans.

"It is an assumption that the blood contains cholesterol, which doctors believe causes atherosclerosis," Dr. Strong said. "The amount of cholesterol is increased by high-fat diets. There is evidence that people under psychological stress also have an increase in cholesterol, but this is all speculation," he added.

It is hoped the study will indicate whether treatment of atherosclerosis should emphasize a person's diet or some psychological problem.

The project will be financed by a two-year grant of about $28,000 from the National Institutes of Health, Heart Division. Used in the experiment will be 50 white carneaux pigeons, which develop atherosclerosis, and 50 show racers, which do not.

Webb Is First With Radar Landing Units

Webb AFB is the first Pilot Training School in the Air Training Command to be equipped with the new Mobile Radar Approach Control unit.

Installation began this week with the arrival of three vans which make up the unit. Two of the vans contain the radio and radar reception equipment, and the third houses the console, radar screens and the controller.

The unit RAPCON (Radar Approach Control) will be operational within six weeks, according to Capt. John A. Nichols, maintenance officer of the Webb-based AFCS Detachment.

Besides the safety which the unit provides for landing aircraft during bad weather, there will be considerable savings in the use of these mobile units. They can be moved quickly from base to base, and require no costly buildings in which to house them.

Young Horsemen Hold Show Today

The Howard County Youth Horsemen, organized two months ago, will hold their first show today at 2 p.m. at the Rodeo Bowl.

Of 70 members in the club, approximately 50 entries have been received so far, according to C. H. Harrison, president, and Grace Todd, secretary-treasurer. Besides judging horses, there will be western pleasure riding, barrel racing and pole bending.

Entry is restricted to members, but any person may take part if he pays the $2.50 annual family membership fee, plus 25 cents for each class entered. The entry list will be open until the time events start this afternoon.

The purpose of the show is to give the members a chance to show their horses regardless of pedigree, although there will be one class for registered animals only.

The general classes will be for fillies with classes for 1963, 1962, 1961 and aged mares; the same for stallions and geldings. The divisions in the registered class will be the same, as it will in the Shetland class.

The western pleasure riding, barrel racing and pole bending will be open to youngsters in three age groups: 10 and younger, 11 to 15, and 16 to 19. Different colored ribbons for the first six places will be given if there are that many entries in any one event.

Chevy II Nova 400 6-Passenger Station Wagon

Load up,

Chevy II Wagons—The heft of a suitcase. The rustle of a road map. There's something about one of these spruce, surprisingly spacious wagons that can turn even the routine preparations into a happy part of your trip.

Take that old bugaboo of packing, for instance. No bother. With the kind of room you get in that easy-loading cargo compartment, you can just about toss things in any old whichway and come out with space to spare. The load won't dampen the spirits of the spunky 6-cylinder engine either. It just hums along passing up gas pumps (there's also a choice of an even thriftier 4 in most models) like it didn't have a care in the world. Fact is, it has far fewer cares than most engines—being built with the special knack Chevrolet engineers have for dependability and ease of maintenance.

Like a car with ginger—without a lot of needless gingerbread? Your dealer's got a full line of Chevy II's to pick from. Why not drop down and check now while both the trading and the traveling are especially good?

And maybe it'd be a good idea to leave a note for the milkman on the way out, just in case you find yourself tempted to get lost some place before you get back.

Inviting Rooms For Gatherings

The photo shows one of the small rooms available for family parties, club meetings, or business meetings, at the Downtown Tea Room, Sixth and Main. The new cafeteria has two of these rooms tastefully furnished and carpeted.

Formal Opening Set Monday For Downtown Tea Room

The Downtown Tea Room, Sixth and Main, will hold open house and formal opening Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Dee Bennett, who have operated the Tea Room at Thirteenth and Scurry for 10 years, will operate the new tea room, as well as continue the present one.

"Our serving hours at the new Tea Room will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 5 to 7:30 p.m.," Bennett said. "We have not served evening meals at the old location for some time, and will not serve them in the future."

Two small rooms are also available at the new location for family, club, and business meetings. They may be closed off from the main dining room. The small rooms will comfortably seat 20 and 32 people. The main dining room will seat 230. There are 45 tables for four and 25 for two.

"We invite everyone to come by the new tea room for free coffee and doughnuts Monday," Bennett said. "The open house hours will be from 8 to 11 a.m. and from 2 to 5 p.m. We will be serving regular-hours meals from 11 to 2 and from 5 to 7:30."

"We charge $1 per plate, which includes coffee, tea or punch, and salad," he said. "We charge extra for milk, and extra salads, and other side items. Customers will find the same plate service used by the Team Room for several years."

The building has been remodeled, and arranged for fast service. A concrete tile block screening wall, along the north and west ends, separates the customer entrance from the dining room. Front doors provide a separate entrance and exit.

"We will enlarge our catering service which has steadily grown since we began," the owners said. "We have catered for churches and several other groups, and can now enlarge that service to take care of meetings. We are already booked through Aug. 5 for our catering service. We would also appreciate notice as far in advance as possible for special club, family, and business gatherings."

DEAR ABBY

Better Liar Than Lover

DEAR ABBY: A certain handsome, gray-haired man in this town has never been married and claims he never will be. He would be a real catch for any woman. He boasts that he has had a fling with every attractive woman in town, before she was married. (And a few after.) He claims that they all have told him that he makes their husbands look like schoolboys. My theory is that anybody who brags like this is trying to cover up an inferiority complex. What do you make of him?

LOCAL GIRL

DEAR LOCAL: He's probably a "real catch for any woman"—I'd be inclined to throw him back in.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: What can I say to a woman who calls me on the phone and talks for over an hour? This happens four and five times a week. I try to end the conversation, but it does no good. I've used up all the excuses, like someone is at my door, or company just came in, but she keeps right on talking. My husband threatens to have the phone taken out. I shudder every time my phone rings. Sometimes I don't answer it. I've missed some important calls this way. I don't want to hurt her feelings. What can I do?

SORE EAR

DEAR SORE: The moment you pick up the telephone and hear her voice, say, "I'm sorry, I can't talk to you now"—then hang up. If you do this often enough, she'll get the message. Don't worry about hurting her feelings. If she's as brassy as you say she is, she'll call the next person on her list and talk HER ear off.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: We recently gave our lovely daughter a beautiful church wedding. It almost broke our hearts to learn that she is going to have a baby soon. She managed to keep it from us until after the wedding. She must feel terrible to have to face friends and relatives in this condition so soon after her wedding. We have looked forward to the day when we would become grandparents—but not this way. We are a respectable family, Abby. It is so embarrassing. What can we say to people when the gossip starts? Tell me, for the children's sake as well as our own.

A LOVING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your daughter's lucky to have a husband. Count your blessings and tell 'em nothing!

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I smiled to myself when I read that letter from the teen-ager asking, "How much allowance am I entitled to?" You see, Abby, my husband left me, but my kids are with me 100 per cent. My daughter earns ALL her clothes money babysitting evenings and weekends. She is 16. My son gets up at 4:30 in the morning to deliver newspapers. He is 13. Another of my sons already has $600 put away in the bank for his college education and he is 15. (He runs errands for a druggist.)

Please print this for some teenagers who ask, "How much allowance am I enttled to?"

Vacation Bible School Includes Night Classes

A new idea in Vacation Bible School will begin Monday at the First Baptist Church for young people's groups. Night classes will begin Monday at 7 p.m. and run through the following Monday with a trip to Six Flags Over Texas, July 1-3.

The idea of night Bible school is in its second year at First Baptist with a more expanded program for the 13-16 and 17-24 age groups, according to Derrell Murphree, church youth director.

The four phases of study will include new special interest classes. Judo instruction for boys will be taught by 2nd Lt. Edwin Saiki of Hawaii, stationed at Webb AFB. The lieutenant holds a first degree Black Belt.

For girls, there will be charm classes instructed by Mrs. Jack Hendrix, a former model and instructor in modeling. During the week, Merle Norman Studio will give tips on how to apply makeup. For both boys and girls will be drama classes. Mrs. Harold Davis, drama teacher, Mrs. Bill Pool, who was a drama student in college and Martin Landers, drama instructor at Howard County Junior College, will be teaching.

Also on the program is a Bible study taught by Rev. R. F. Polk, pastor, exploration of local mission possibilities by assignments to various parts of the city, and speakers from different vocations.

The speakers will include Dr. Charles Warren, dentist; Mrs. J. A. Coffee, housewife and schoolteacher; military personnel from Webb AFB; and a special talk by Murphree, Rev. Polk and Glenn Faison, educational director.

At the end of each session, a panel of workers will answer questions of the youths.

The trip to Six Flags will begin July 2 and include a night at Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth, a visit to Forest Park and the zoo, plus the tour of Six Flags.

Abilene Rodeo Rider Making Bid For Crown

Although the slender Texan has been one of pro rodeo's most consistent winners for almost a decade—his annual income since 1954 has averaged over $22,000—he has not yet won a world championship title. Even in his specialty, saddle bronc riding, he has often been a bridesmaid but never the bride.

However, this year he has a substantial $1,000 lead in this field, and to this he has added enough from bareback bronc riding and calf roping to boost his overall earnings to $12,529, second only to the $14,380 earned so far by Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, calf roping virtuoso.

Leaders in various events on the Rodeo Cowboys of America circuit are:

Calf roping—Dean Oliver, $13,460, and Sonny Davis, Kenna, N. M., $9,782 (Jim Bob Altizer, Del Rio, is fifth with $6,087); saddle broncs—Guy Weeks $9,314, and Marty Wood, Bowness, Alta., Can., $8,540; bareback broncs — Don Mayo, Denver, Colo., $9,043, and Paul Mayo, Grinnell, Iowa, $7,183; bull riding—Dickie Cox, McKinney, Texas, $8,600, and Howard Carroll, Draper, Utah, $5,695; steer wrestling — C. B. Boucher, Burkburnett, Texas, $9,201, and Jim Bynum, Waxahachie, Texas, $9,645.

RESPONSIBLE HOMEMAKERS KNOW WHAT'S BEST FOR THEIR FAMILIES

many depend on TSO for professional eye care

Over the years, many responsible homemakers have learned through experience, or from friends, about the dependable, professional eye care available at TSO. ■ At TSO members of your family receive a three-phase examination. First, a complete visual history is recorded. Next, the eyes are examined internally for evidence of disease or defect; then, for abnormalities of vision. Should glasses not be needed, there is only a $3.00 charge for the eye examination.

And the cost of fine eyewear is most reasonable. Single vision glasses are as low as $14.85. Invisible bifocals are as low as $17.85, including eye examination, lenses and frame. Single vision Micro-Sight Contact Lenses, if preferred, are $65 complete. Bifocal contact lenses are also available at reasonable cost. ■ Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision — with an annual, professional eye examination at TSO. ■ Convenient credit at no extra cost.

Where Your Business Is Appreciated

A Devotional For The Day

May you be strong to grasp, with all God's people, what is the breadth and length and height and depth of the love of Christ, and to know it, though it is beyond knowledge. (Ephesians 3:18-19, NEB.)

PRAYER: O Father, we thank Thee for Thine immeasurable love — for its height and depth, its length and breadth. We thank Thee for encompassing us within Thy love and so destroying our hopelessness and saving us; through Christ our Savior. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

With The Rose—A Thorn

The recent succession of showers have their import upon urban dwellers as well as upon farmers and ranchers.

For one thing, these rains have — as nothing else could do — freshened and greened our city lawns and shrubs have taken on a deep verdance. With this start, we hope that most of our residents will want to maintain this attractiveness. Even though it should turn off dry, the expense of keeping yards green and attractive through two remaining months of summer will not be anything like what it would be in a normal summer.

But the showers also have contributed a record growth of weeds. Aside from civic pride in wanting to see these cut or controlled, there are other considerations. Rank growth of weeds frequently furnish excellent harborage for mosquitoes and other insects which are either nuisances or might threaten the public health. Weeds need to be controlled, the plethora of little pools need to be oiled, and efforts to remove refuse and cover garbage cans need to be redoubled. Otherwise, we may wake up within a week to find we are being taken by flies and mosquitoes.

Needs Interpretation

Last week the Big Spring school board, in a split decision, committed the district to an alteration of the grading system as between secondary and elementary levels. Instead of the current plan of six elementary grades, three in junior high and three in senior high, the new plan is to have six in the elementary, two in the junior high and four in the senior high level.

A generation ago schools generally followed a seven-four plan. Then came the idea of a 12th grade, and the plan briefly was six-two-four. Educators then favored a break into six-three-three. Now we are back again to the six-two-four pattern.

A corollary move now calls for approximately doubling the size of the present senior high school. Considering that some 600-700 pupils would at once come up from the junior high level, this is not as bold a step as might be imagined at first blush. This together with present enrollment, would mean that the enlarged high school would then be able to accommodate a 20-30 per cent growth factor. This same factor would apply to the breathing room thus made possible in the junior high level.

Discussion indicates that the commitment to a four-grade high school will be the most economical route to follow. That is an important consideration, although it is not all important. The over-riding consideration should be what is the course best calculated to serve the educational needs of boys and girls in the junior high and senior high school levels.

Anyone conversant with the deliberative processes of the school board would not contend that the new step is hastily devised or represents any caprice of administration. Yet what is clear in a majority of the board members' minds may not be so clear in the public's mind. Hence, more detailed interpretation of the impelling reasons for the decision and some of the long range implications of it are in order.

A clear understanding of objectives will be helpful when it comes to a time of decision by the public to pick up the tab for the expansion program.

Letting The Dust Settle

LONDON — If the painful debate in the House of Commons on the Profumo case seized and focused it was the unhappy effect of projecting the whole affair into the present election campaign. It is an immense and vicious distraction that promises to dominate the scene for a long time to come.

THE STRATEGY of the leaders of the Labor opposition is to press for an election early in the fall. They argue that if the present Parliament runs its full term Britain will for more than a year be preoccupied with politicking. A Tory government made over without the embarrassment of Harold Macmillan and reminders of the Profumo case will be unable to make vital decisions since it will be bent solely on getting re-elected.

BUT, UNDERSTANDABLY, the Conservatives will not choose, if they can help it, to go to the country when they are at their lowest point. With rapidly rising prosperity, Reginald Maudling, Chancellor of the Exchequer, expects higher levels both within the domestic economy and for exports with some reduction in what he says is largely structural unemployment, like that in hard-core areas in the United States. Impossible as it seems today, a new look might in the fall of 1964 give the Conservatives a chance.

IN ONE FORM and another domestic distraction and disarray weigh heavily on the time and energies of the men who must try to chart the course of policy in the West. As the President prepares to come to Europe the issue of racial equality absorbs much of his time and attention with a program certain to raise the specter of disorder and stalemate for all the other legislation he seeks.

In Italy, which is the last stop on the President's tour, first efforts to form a coalition left center government has ended in dismal failure. Moreover, the Nenni Socialists who were to be the supporting wing on the left appear to be disintegrating with the aging Pietro Nenni himself stepping out.

GERMANY IS at least comparatively stable. The transition from the postwar era of Konrad Adenauer to the new Germany of Ludwig Erhard seems to be going smoothly. In the councils of Europe Germany has stood staunchly for bringing Britain into the European partnership.

President de Gaulle goes his solitary way, with more and more discipline applied to those of his own people who protest against following the leader.

ALL THIS can be marshalled in favor of a pause—letting the dust settle. That is the principal argument of those who have urged the President to cancel his trip and stay home. But there are those who know precisely what they want and if they have their way the world will move into a new and far more dangerous phase of the nuclear arms race.

Premier Khrushchev, who has his own plaguing distractions within the Communist family, is reported faced with the demand of his military to catch up with America's nuclear superiority. If he yields this will mean new atmospheric tests in the late summer or early fall. The American military are equally determined to stay ahead and Russian tests would very soon be followed by American tests.

AS PRESIDENT Kennedy suggested in his American University speech, which was so enthusiastically received in Britain, nothing can be more important than to try to prevent a new and perilously enlarged phase of the arms race. It may be that his trip will contribute nothing to this end. The argument can, in fact, be made that the push for the multilateral mixed manned nuclear force giving Germany a share in control and operation of the ultimate weapon may be a serious impediment to a testing agreement with the Soviets.

LETTING THE DUST settle has in the past been a polite way of saying we don't know what to do so let's do nothing. China is at the top of the list in this category. The tragic next page of history could read: "Eighteen years after the end of the second World War each nation was so distracted by its own internal difficulties that no real attention could be brought to bear on the nuclear arms race and so the world moved toward the doom that could be previsioned but not prevented."

QUESTION: I know that a Christian should never have evil thoughts but I have them running through my mind. Although I do try to rid myself of them, I can't seem to do so. Can you help me?

—P.N.

ANSWER: You are entirely right when you say a Christian should not have such thoughts, but there is a big difference between what we should be and what actually every Christian may be.

I do not find anything in the Bible that says that a man is not a Christian because such thoughts do go through his mind. But certainly a man would not be a Christian who cultivates and nurtures such thinking.

The Bible has given the answer to this very problem: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think of these things." (Philippians 4:8). There is much more to being a Christian than just thinking positively. On the other hand there is much truth in what is said here. If you fail to set your mind on the things described in this verse, you leave a void in your mind that is going to find itself sooner or later filled with evil thoughts and vicious ideas. The human mind is such that it must be active in one direction or another. Your Christian responsibility, then, having confessed your sins and trusted Christ is to set your mind on the things that are honorable, and just, and pure, and lovely, and of good report.

Economists Foresee Long Expansion

"A society which blooms and blossoms and is an ornament to the free world."

That is President Kennedy's hope for America—a hope we all can share.

And a majority of top-ranking economists think we're on our way toward that, even though high unemployment will blemish the bloom.

TWO OUT of three economists who responded to my semi-annual questionnaire foresee no noticeable slowdown, no business recession this year or next. If they're right, the long-delayed golden sixties will finally glister.

The respondents are strategically situated to make sound judgments, employed as they are by industrial corporations, banks, investment firms, labor unions, government, universities, or engaged in economic or business research.

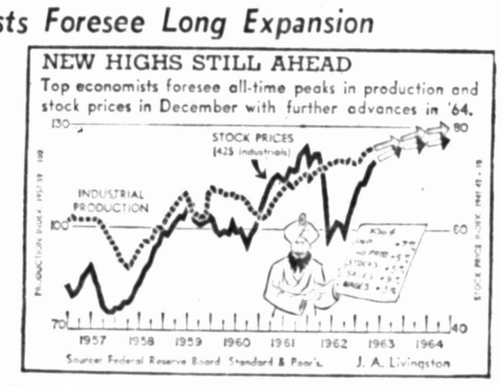

THIRTY-EIGHT out of 57 foresee a steady rise in production the rest of this year and all of next.

An even higher proportion—46 out of 57, or 80 per cent—expect that the gross national product (total output of goods and services) will advance consistently.

If this substantial majority is right, then this recovery will go down in economic annals as the third longest in history. 47 months, exceeded only by the advances after the Great Depression and during World War II. The upphase of the average business cycle, based on data of the National Bureau of Economic Research going back to 1854, is 30 months.

BUT THERE are doubts—apprehensions. Economists who take forecasting seriously are like blindfolded men in a strange room. They feel for obstacles. They anticipate difficulty.

Conscious of the rhythm of the business cycle, 15 — one out of four—foresee a recession in the next year and a half. Seven expect it to start in the last half of '64. Four figure it will start early in '64 and continue through the year. And four are betting on a short recession, so that the economy will be rising again by December, 1964.

Four of the economists hesitate to look beyond mid-1964. But these were optimists—as far as they went.

BY AND LARGE, the bulls outnumber the bears both in number and weight. The consensus—the average of all 57—projects a gain of 3 per cent in gross national output for the second half of this year and another 3½ per cent during all of 1964. Inference: A slow-up in the rate of advance.

Industrial production is not expected to rise quite so much—2.4 per cent from now to December and about the same amount during all of 1964.

Expenditures for new plant and equipment will move up modestly—from current estimates of $40,000,000,000 annually to about $44,000,000,000, or about 10 per cent over a year and a half. However, prosperity generates surprises. If corporate profits rise, capital outlays may shoot up sharply.

A HIGH LEVEL of housing—an annual rate of 1,500,000 new starts—is expected to continue throughout the period. This reflects the baby boom in the early years of the war—today's marriageables.

Defense expenditures will rise slowly. Outlays on national security will hit $60,000,000,000 by the end of 1964, as compared with recent levels of about $57,000,000,000.

Inflation is still on the wane. Wholesale prices will rise about one per cent, farm prices will edge downward, and the cost of living will advance 2 per cent, reflecting the continued escalation in the cost of services.

UNEMPLOYMENT will remain discouragingly high, just under 6 per cent, and far short of President Kennedy's "interim objective" of 4 per cent.

As an offset, workers will be better paid. The weekly wage in manufacturing, now just under $99, will climb to $100 by December, 1963, and will exceed $102 by the end of '64.

The higher wages mean higher purchasing power. Therefore, the economists expect retail trade to expand—about 9 per cent in all—over the 18-month interval.

THE OVERALL optimism will be reflected in Wall Street. The economists figure that the Standard & Poor's 425 industrial stocks will climb to an all-time high by the end of the year and move slightly higher during 1964. In all, the gain works out to a bit more than 5 per cent.

This is typical conservatism. Economists know that Blue Mondays or wild bull advances are possible, but seldom project them. Yet, if production reaches 130 by December, 1964 (as they foresee), and the gross national product $618,000,000,000, then it's likely that stock prices will advance far more than 5 per cent.

Why? Because profits and dividends will increase. And Wall Street will react accordingly and, perhaps, exuberantly.

Even Teen-Agers Should Watch Their Weight

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 16 and used to weigh 135 pounds. I am on a diet because for my height I should weigh 115, but my parents disapprove of it. It isn't as if I went on a crash diet. I eat balanced meals. But every time I eat only one potato instead of two, or a smaller portion of spaghetti, I get a lecture on how sick and pale I'll be.

Everyone else tells me how much better I look. Please explain to my parents that this diet is for my own good.—NORMA S.

I'm sure your parents mean well, and I'm sure you agree.

They are mistaken, however. Piling on weight does NOT prevent anyone from becoming "sick and pale."

People who keep their weight average, or even manage to stay slightly on the lean side, live the longest and have the least illness.

In one study of people with heart disease, it was shown that men who were 20 per cent above average weight had 43 per cent more heart trouble, and women who were only 15 per cent over average had 51 per cent more heart disease.

Four out of five people with diabetes are or had been overweight. And you can go right down the list of diseases.

I wonder if your parents have ever noticed that people who live to what we call "a ripe old age," the 70's and 80's and more, are usually slim. That's because, especially from middle-age on, the death rate increases rapidly for overweight folks, and the more overweight, the faster the death rate rises.

As an example, here's a case described in one book on the subject. A man of 47, a six-footer, weighed 199 pounds and complained of heart pains (angina pectoris). He was put on a diet for seven weeks, lost 17 pounds—and the heart pains stopped!

All of this is backed up by facts. Too much weight is the reason for some people not being able to get life insurance, or being required to pay a high rate for it. Why? Because the insurance companies know such people don't live as long.

Maybe your best bet is to persuade your parents to let your doctor decide things. Let him check the charts for ideal weight for you, and you agree not to go below that figure.

Your method of reducing, by the way, is exactly the one that works best—going easy on starches, such as potatoes and spaghetti, as well as avoiding sweets. But get good helpings of meat, vegetables, fruits, milk. Those are the foods that keep you from becoming "pale and sick." The starches only pile on extra fat, the same as excess visible fats and rich desserts.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 86 and for 15 years have worn a truss with indifferent benefit. I have been told I could now leave it off without ill effect. Would there be enlargement of the hernia? It is about the size of a small apple. —C. E.

I would be suspicious of leaving it off because at your age the tissues tend to relax more and I would be afraid—even with your indifferent benefit in the past—that the hernia might enlarge and be even more uncomfortable. You could try going without it briefly, I suppose, but if the hernia enlarges, resume use of the truss. Perhaps you need one of a different type for better results.

• • •

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — the Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim

The Women Are Winning

This week let's talk about women, and if I am out of town for the next few days, it will be no coincidence.

A couple of things have happened lately to turn the spotlight on the fairer, smarter, more efficient, more practical and infinitely more desirable sex.

MY PESSIMISTIC philosophy generally has been that, sooner or later, the world will come under conquest of (a) insects, (b) Johnson grass and-or (c) the Texas Aggies, and any of these developments would be catastrophic. But things are looking brighter. It may be women who end up in complete triumph, if you think they haven't already.

HERE'S THIS Russian girl who has gone into orbit, the first of her sex to be a cosmonaut. From what I can read she is a sturdy, sound-thinking girl not without some physical attraction—a typical Russian chick, for all I know. With a catchy name, Valentina. Very likely will have songs written about her.

While Valentina has been a hard working girl, she has not qualified as a space expert, and it seems her major qualification is that she has been a parachute jumper, with more than 100 leaps to her credit.

WHICH LEADS US to the thought, fellows, that if your good wife voices the wish that she could just take off and circle the globe, you can suggest, "Why don't you go jump out of an airplane first?"

Well, you can't sell Valya short, and Russian or not, she has demonstrated that space is not a man's club, just as the world has never been.

And maybe you didn't digest the news dispatches out of Washington reporting a new law requiring that women be paid the same wages and salaries as men in comparable jobs, and in businesses affected by interstate commerce laws.

MIND YOU, I do not object les girls getting their fair shake out of the payroll. But this thing may have some implications that even the prophetic Kennedys didn't envision.

The new money in circulation could touch off a round of inflation in the beauty shops and the specialty stores. The economists have dreamed up many things to get the country moving again, but I bet they didn't think up the simple procedure of giving women more money to spend.

ANOTHER FACET is that some of these career girls will have climbed so high on the economic ladder that it will be practical for the man of the family to give up his job, do all the housecleaning, cooking, washing, ironing, chauffeuring and baby-changing. If it's the little woman who's going to bring home the bacon, perhaps it's her spouse who should be cooking it.

Families may get overturned, you see?

BUT WE AMERICANS will find a way. Many American girls are disappointed that they weren't the first to make the space trip, but I think I know something.

It's supposed to be classified as top secret, but I hear the U.S. is waiting on its project Gemini (the two-person space trip) to put a gal in the cabin with a fellow, for that first trip to the moon. Rumble-seat riding. This could mean, after all, that the U.S. will have the first LITTLE man on the moon.

What Drives The Nuts Nutty?

WASHINGTON—It was asked here last month: "What drives the nuts nutty?" But, first, who are the nuts? Not the general membership of the John Birch Society, who are, as a whole, saner than me and thee. Not the Committee for Constitutional Action (CCA) which is a deep-going research group. Not Republican rightists or Southern Confederates. No, the Fruitcake Fringe of Nuts can best be defined as those credulous extremists against whom Sen. Barry Goldwater's presidential campaign managers have mounted Operation Disengagement.

CALL IT Goldwater's grand strategy. It must succeed if he is to be next year's GOP nominee. He must detach himself from the dramatis personae of Sen. Tom Kuchel's May 2nd address called "The Fear Peddlers." These are off-the-rocker alarmists who, in the framework of Kuchel's speech believe (among other hallucinations) that (a) a Red Chinese Army is operating in the American Southwest and (b) that any support of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency is not mere folly but is treasonable.

GOLDWATER DID not answer Kuchel's speech for the reason given here. Kuchel's points were unanswerable. They defy a direct reply, but they also demand, I think, an extended discussion of why deeply-concerned Americans go temporarily batty over what's going on around them. There follows a partial list of persons and ideas that I hold responsible for spreading the infectious disease of patriotic dementia:

1. THE NATIONAL Education Association's pamphlet called "The Root of Opposition" by John McCormally. This document accepts the Communist definition of American capitalism. It describes the politicial aid-to-education fight in rabble-rousing terms: "It falls into the classic pattern of historical battles between the haves and the have-nots . . . a fight between the people with the wealth and the people with the kids."

2. THE AUTHORS of the Liberal Papers, who have preached that "peace" is preferable "to an egocentric national honor" (Professor David Riesman of Harvard); it is "myopic" of Americans "to focus . . . upon Moscow as the fountainhead of all evil." (David Warburg); "Atomic testing is not vital to American military security" (Arthur Waskow); "Bertrand Russell . . . maintained that a Communist victory would certainly not be so great a disaster as the extinction of human life . . . I, for one, would have to side with Lord Russell" (Professor Charles Osgood, University of Illinois), who also demands abandonment of Quemoy and Matsu to Red China.

3. AMERICANS FOR Democratic Action (ADA): This group has advocated food for Red China, aid to Communist Yugoslavia, Poland, Indonesia and British Guiana, withdrawal of American military support of the "repressive authoritarian regime" of President Diem of South Vietnam and peace-in-South Vietnam by accepting the international supervisory commission of the 1954 Geneva Treaty—that is, accepting Communist rule for Southeast Asia.

These ideas add up to a disorderly American retreat on every military and diplomatic front. These ideologists, all of them painfully over-intellectualized, seem not to fear and hate communism nearly so much as they fear and hate American nationalism, pro-American foreign allies like Diem and Chiang Kai-shek and the risk of war.

THESE MEN and these ideas are enough to drive good Americans nutty. And that, I say, is what has lamentably happened.

Explaining The Court Ban On Prayer

WASHINGTON — The controversy over prayers in public schools is just beginning. The problem is how to explain the latest decision of the Supreme Court of the United States to the American people—and, for that matter, to peoples abroad.

The highest court of the state of Maryland, for instance, said it was all right to say prayers in public schools. Two professed atheists disputed this, and the Supreme Court of the United States sided with them and reversed Maryland's highest court.

IN MOSCOW, it has been repeatedly contended that atheism is preferable to any religion, and it has been insisted that there is no God. What shall be said to the students in American schools on this point? How can it be explained to countries whose governments do not forbid unrestricted religious worship?

A prominent senator from a northern state was telling his friends this week that, when his children came home from school the other day, they said the teacher had "forgotten to say the Lord's Prayer." The prayer, which had been a regular part of the morning exercises in the school, really had been discontinued without explanation.

BUT WHAT CAN a teacher say to the children? Suppose the student asks whether there is a God. May the teacher answer the question? To do so might offend the believers in atheism and this, according to the Supreme Court, could violate the Constitution. How might a teacher explain the latest ruling to the students? It might be done this way:

"The Supreme Court has said that we must not pray at our morning exercises or any other time in the school room. It says this violates the Constitution, which forbids Congress to pass any law 'respecting an establishment of religion.'"

"BUT, THEN ASKS the student, "did Congress pass such a law?"

"No," replies the teacher. "Some of the states did, however, and the Supreme Court says no state can pass such a law either."

"It isn't there," replies the teacher, "but the Supreme Court says the Fourteenth Amendment covers it just the same, even though laws about religion aren't mentioned."

"But doesn't this mean," asks the student, "that now we do what the atheists say we must do — not mention God? Isn't that a kind of religion, too?"

"ALL I CAN do," answers the teacher, "is to quote to you what the Supreme Court says in its opinion. It is as follows:

"'It is insisted that unless these religious exercises are permitted a "religion of secularism" is established in the schools. We agree of course that the state may not establish a "religion of secularism" in the sense of affirmatively opposing or showing hostility to religion, thus "preferring those who believe in no religion over those who do believe." We do not agree, however, that this decision in any sense has that effect.'"

BUT WHO CAN be sure what effect there will be on the mind of the school child who has been told day after day that there is a God, and then suddenly is told that the Supreme Court has ordered the teacher not to say so any longer in the school room or to permit any prayers whatsoever in a public school?

A nationwide campaign of education is going to be necessary to explain not only what the court forbade, but why it is convinced that a prayer in school might be offensive to those who don't believe in God or in any prayers at all.

Can't Speak That One

LOUISVILLE, Ky (AP) — Jimmy Wong knows how to campaign for office: appeal to the voters in as many languages as possible.

The Seneca High School sophomore, running for vice president of the Student College, decorated the school halls with posters in English, Spanish, German, French and Latin. No Chinese, though.

If you've ever taken a child to the seashore, you know what that first glimpse of the ocean can mean to a youngster . . . the lure of fascination . . . the foreboding of fear. Which will win the struggle?

But what a delight when hesitation ends and Jeannie finds her happy beachhead down where the waves wane, and the tide seeks its rest.

But, even if there are misgivings that first Sunday, Jeannie soon finds her happy beachhead. And one day she'll plunge bravely and confidently into deeper reaches of the vast spiritual ocean that surrounds life.

Anything as vital as religious education deserves an early and earnest beginning.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

She's A Rebel

Richard Egan has eyes for Jane Russell in this scene from the film, "The Revolt of Mamie Stover," returning today to the Jet Drive-In Theatre. Those who expect to see all of William Bradford Huie's book on the screen, however, will be disappointed. Even Hollywood has to draw the line somewhere.

He's An Outsider

Huston Murder Mystery Keeps Audience Guessing

It is an event in the theatre when John Huston directs a murder-mystery. Not since his brilliant "The Maltese Falcon" has the Academy Award Winning Huston come up with such a crime shocker on a grand scale.

It has the Huston touch. It has an easily recognizable cast consisting of George C. Scott, two-time Academy Award Nominee, the ever-lovely Dana Wynter, the suave Herbert Marshall and it brings out of retirement the 61-year-old former glamour star, Clive Brook. And it also has, in various forms of disguise, Tony Curtis, Kirk Douglas, Burt Lancaster, Robert Mitchum and Frank Sinatra . . . all in surprise roles that will keep audiences guessing who's who until the final footage is flashed on the screen.

In this unusual chiller, the recognizable cast wears the normal makeup required by the camera. But the makeup of five of the biggest stars in the Hollywood firmament is guaranteed to fool the audience. The studio's makeup chief, Bud Westmore, makes the boast that no one can penetrate the five disguises before having seen the picture.

The story deals with an inscrutable plan for the assassination of eleven people. The action is played against the sumptuous background of the select fox-hunting clique. Director Huston, a member of the fox-and-hounds set himself, took his cast abroad to get the atmosphere he wanted. With Hustonian precision he takes the viewer step by step on a thrilling kind of hunt. More than the fox are to die. Kill by kill, the unseen assassin strikes off the names of his victims on "The List of Adrian Messenger."

DANA WYNTER & KIRK DOUGLAS
Who's next on the list?

In prowling, sinister mood, the story opens with an unaccountable murder and the discovery of "The List" of doom. With frightening and relentless purpose the Unknown strikes again and again. Each is the perfect crime. Murder never looks like murder. With a rare twist, Scotland Yard itself must bow to the omniscience of the mystery killer. It is a retired intelligence officer who discovers The List and its dreadful meaning. It is here that the qualities of Huston's direction are evident . . . in the waterfront shadows . . . the rowdy taverns and slum streets where the cameras pursue various suspected characters. Tautly, tortuously, the audience is made to follow clue by clue in a master plan for mass murder . . . wondering . . . guessing . . . but never knowing, until the fantastic pieces of the puzzle are put together at the end. All of which is sufficient unto the day of review at this point. To disclose the story, and above all to reveal the disguises, would constitute a felony against entertainment.

Audiences at the Ritz are not being admitted during the final 10 minutes of the picture. Those who see "The List of Adrian Messenger" will know the reason why. A plea is made by management of the theatre to refrain from giving away the ending.

Winds Destroy New Radio Tower

VILLAHERMOSA, Mex. (AP)—A new radio tower due to be inaugurated shortly was destroyed by winds of near-hurricane force last week.

Heavy rains and strong winds swept this state of Tabasco port on the Gulf of Mexico, causing heavy damage. The radio tower crashed into a building housing workers and watchmen, and losses were estimated at over $8,000.

Medical evidence is mounting that the greatest plague of our times may well be inactivity.

It's one reason why millions of Americans are overweight. And inactivity is also a factor in the onset of diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

Our children are not as active as they should be. They sit more than they move; they watch more than they participate.

As a result, their physical fitness has declined. Almost one-third of them can't pass minimum physical achievement tests.

What to do about it? Get them into action again! Preferably in physical education programs that include vigorous activity—for at least 15 minutes of every school day.

Jerry's Not Hyde-Bound For His Jekyll-Type Film

The new movie comedy team, Lewis & Lewis, debut together as a team in "The Nutty Professor," a Technicolor comedy directed by Jerry Lewis and opening today at the Ritz Theatre. Jerry plays both male leads with Stella Stevens as the movie's female star. This new teaming of Lewis & Lewis is the comedian's 28th movie, his 12th since he stopped working with Dean Martin.

In "The Nutty Professor" he plays two distinct and dissimilar roles—that of Professor Julius Kelp, a meek and eccentric educator, and Buddy Love, the campus Lothario. Both of them are beloved by Stella Stevens, who plays a pert and pretty co-ed. It is a nip-and-tuck contest right down to the end as to which will win her affections on a permanent basis.

The Jekyll and Hyde transformation is accomplished by means of a chemical potion which the professor has concocted in his laboratory. When he drinks it—he changes from the screwball professor to the dynamic and swashbuckling Buddy Love. After a few hours, when the effects of this weird potion wears off, Buddy Love reverts back to his true self, Professor Julius Kelp. As can be imagined, the potion usually wears off at the most critical and embarrassing moments.

The transformation is more than just a switch of personalities. It is a change in appearances too. The professor is a tweedy type with slightly bucked teeth, outdated clothes, and thick, horn-rimmed spectacles. Buddy Love is an Ivy League Beau Brummel with curly hair and a roving eye for girls.

STELLA STEVENS DANCES
With some unidentified nut

But for all the slapstick and screwy goings-on in this unusual movie, Jerry Lewis is evidently trying to say something of philosophical value. In the film's denouement, when Professor Julius Kelp and Buddy Love are exposed as separate manifestations of the same person, he must choose which identity he shall retain. His choice is indicated by romantic interest Stella Stevens. She prefers the mild and loveable pedagogue to the more aggressive, and in some ways more personable, Casanova. Naturally, the nutty professor is most responsive to this proposition, since basically he is more of a Julius Kelp than a Buddy Love.

The moral is clear. It states rather simply that a man is better off to stay the way he is, rather than try to become something that he definitely isn't.

It can be imagined that this teaming of Lewis & Lewis is a one-film affair and is unlikely to continue on a permanent basis. This is probably just as well, because the seething mind of Jerry Lewis will doubtless come up with something wholly different for ensuing comedies. As a matter of fact, it is said that Jerry Lewis had a story conference with Jerry Lewis on the subject just the other day.

President Sends Benefit Check

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—President Kennedy has sent a $1,000 personal check to a committee planning a benefit premiere for the movie "PT 109", a film about the President's World War II exploits.

The benefit at the Beverly Hilton Hotel July 2, will raise funds for a child mental health center named in honor of the President's brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., who was killed in World War II. The center is in nearby Santa Monica.

Mrs. Peter Lawford, the President's sister, is chairman of the benefit. Their mother, Rose Kennedy, will be guest of honor at the premiere.

Tuesday's Car Must Be Listed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A judge says that 19-year-old actress Tuesday Weld may be too young to have an automobile in her name, but if she owns one she has to claim it as an asset.

Superior Judge Clyde C. Triplett ruled last week that the $5,000 vehicle must be included in a list of the actress' assets by her guardian, her mother, Yosene Weld.

Mrs. Weld—in a routine accounting—said her daughter had assets of $42,661, mostly in stocks and bonds and excluding the automobile. Most of the young actress' assets were inherited from her paternal grandmother, Sarah Weld of Boston, the document said.

Racing Film Due At State

In an American version of death in the afternoon, in all parts of the country today roaring strings of sports cars may be seen defying destruction at 150 m.p.h. Pitting their highly specialized skills against each other in contests that draw millions of dollars in admissions and pay good rewards to the winners, daredevil drivers of sleek juggernauts furnish a modern-day drama to rival the jousting tournaments of the Middle Ages in color, pageantry and danger.

Now, a major American studio has brought this deadliest sport to the screen in "The Devil's Harpin," presented by Paramount and opening Thursday at the State Theatre.

Filmed in VistaVision and Technicolor to capture the panorama of savagely driven races and thrill hungry crowds, and dramatizing the story of a king of the track whose ruthlessness brought the hate of the racing world upon him, the Theodora production stars Cornel Wilde and Jean Wallace, co-stars Arthur Franz and Mary Astor and was produced and directed by Wilde himself.

Wilde portrays a retired champion whose aggressive tactics on the track caused many of his opponents to crash and were responsible for the crippling of his own brother. Jean Wallace, Mrs. Wilde in real life, plays the girl he stole from his best friend and keeps dangling on a string while he lives a gaudy life and feeds his ego on the adulation of fans who don't know the true story behind his success. The film's climax comes when Wilde is goaded into racing again and has to face his conscience and a field of drivers bent on wrecking him.
