News that action on applications to eliminate passenger train service here had been delayed was welcomed.

The Chamber of Commerce had planned to participate in hearings set for Jan. 25 at Lubbock. These, along with other hearing involving Santa Fe applications to discontinue passenger service in Texas, have been postponed indefinitely.

People at the Santa Fe station in Snyder said it was an opportunity to remind Snyder area residents that passenger train service still exists here and will continue until an application to discontinue the service is approved. Meanwhile, the passenger trains here are the only ones in this part of Texas still in operation. They have been bobbed off considerably in length, now that no mail cars are required, but the passenger facilities are available to Houston, Dallas - Fort Worth and to California.

The passenger trains have been gone from the Texas and Pacific and other lines for some time now, and if the efforts now underway are successful, the large metropolitan areas will be the only ones with passenger trains and those will be few and far between.

Several weeks ago (before Christmas) there was a piece in the papers, or maybe it was a magazine, about the decline in popularity of model railroads and trains. It was attributed to the fact that few youngsters and teenagers today had any experience with real trains and consequently the toy variety did not stir their imaginations.

Our white buffalo has proved to be an attention-getter. It is not uncommon to see a person or group of persons reading the historical marker beside the fiber glass replica of the prairie beast. William J. Schiebel, whose office window affords view of the buffalo, noticed the traffic at the marker and observed that a lot of the curious people looking over the white buffalo were traveling in automobiles with out-of-state licenses.

JAMES J. ROWLEY

Secret Service Head To Speak At Banquet

James J. Rowley, Director of the U. S. Secret Service, will be the speaker at the annual banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, it was announced Saturday.

The banquet will be held on the night of Jan. 26 in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Head of the Secret Service since Sept. 1, 1961, Rowley's career in that field dates back to 1938, which was the beginning of a distinguished tenure.

In 1939, he was assigned to the White House detail and became Chief in 1946. It was during his service in the White House detail during the years of World War II that Rowley was "on the spot" when many historic events took place. He traveled over much of the world, accompanying President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Yalta Conference and was with President Harry S. Truman at Casa Blanca and Potsdam. Subsequently he has served under Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Rowley has been the recipient of many honors, the latest and one of the most coveted of which was conferred Saturday, Jan. 13, when he received the "Mr. Sam Award." This award, in honor of the late Sam Rayburn of Texas, Speaker of the House of Representatives longer than any other individual, is presented annually to the outstanding man in the Federal government. Last year's winner was Tom Clark.

In 1963, Rowley was selected by the National Civil Service League for a career service award as an outstanding government career employe.

Born in New York City in 1908, Rowley completed public school there and then attended St. John's University in Brooklyn, where he received the master of laws degree. He joined the New York Department of Banking, where he served until 1937 when he enlisted in the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He went to the Secret Service in 1938.

Prior to going to the White House detail, he was assigned to the New York District, where he was engaged in the investigation of counterfeiting and government check forgery violations.

Rowley has a family of three daughters, and they live in Washington, D. C.

Tickets to the banquet, priced at $4 each, will go on sale within the next few days.

Ernest Sears will serve as the Chamber of Commerce banquet ticket sales chairman. The ticket committee will include members of the organization's board of directors and the Producers (gold coaters).

Keith Pitner is chairman in charge of arcangements for the banquet. Producers will serve as ushers.

A. E. CROWLEY

Crowley Is Candidate

A. E. Crowley, a peace officer for 37 years, has announced as a candidate for the office constable in Precinct No. 1.

Crowley, 65, is a native of Fisher County. He served in state and county law enforcement for 20 years and was in city law enforcement work for 17 years, 15 of which were in Snyder. He served in the U. S. Coast Guard in World War II.

"After 37 years as a peace officer and having been with the Snyder Police Department 15 years, retiring with the rank of captain, I feel qualified, willing, able and I need the job," said Crowley.

Cold Numbs Wide Area

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy snow and thick sleet crippled highway travel and knocked down power lines Saturday in wide areas of the Southeast and Midwest.

Subzero cold numbed the northern Plains and north Atlantic states while gale winds and heavy rain lashed the north Pacific coast. Winter weather warnings of one type or another were in effect for 16 states from Missouri to Pennsylvania and as far south as Georgia.

Red Cross Civil Defense agencies and local volunteer groups set up "warmth centers" Thursday and Friday nights in several communities in the Carolinas that were without electricity and heat due to the ice storms.

Fresh snowfalls ranged up to 8 inches in Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee and total accumulations of 10 inches were expected in central and eastern Kentucky.

Albany, N.Y., recorded its fifth consecutive day of record low temperatures for the date when the mercury dropped to -17 degrees. Temperatures ranged down to 20 below zero in the northern Plains and the cold weather spread south and east.

GOVERNOR'S RACE

Ralph Not Running

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said today he will remain in the Senate and not run in the 1968 race for Texas governor.

Yarborough told a news conference in a packed room in a downtown hotel that this had been the most crucial decision of his political life.

He said after two months of conferring with persons in Washington and throughout Texas, he had decided his efforts will be more important in Washington.

"My decision involves a shift of power in the Senate, not just the outcome of a Texas governor's race," Yarborough said, reading from a brief statement.

Yarborough said he had received hundreds of letters since mid-November from his supporters who thought that his Senate position was more important.

The senator said his final decision, which some of his closest aides said they did not know before he read the statement today, was made in the past eight or nine days after conferences in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and other parts of the state.

Yarborough did not express a preference among possible liberal candidates and said "Events will largely determine my role in the campaign."

He said he had not discussed his decision with President Johnson.

The senator asserted that from his travels over the state, he has concluded that "not since 1938 have I seen such a desire for change . . . The machine that has controlled Texas for so long is on the way out."

Among names that came up as possible candidates during Yarborough's news conference were Don Yarborough of Houston, who was defeated twice in gubernatorial contests against Connally; and Ed Clark, Austin banker and lawyer who is stepping down as U.S. ambassador to Australia.

Clark played a prominent role in Yarborough's 1964 campaign for re-election to the Senate. Sen. Yarborough said he has talked with Clark by telephone, and "I think Ambassador Clark has an interest in the race—a pretty sharp interest."

In his formal statement, Yarborough said the second session of the 90th Congress provides an opportunity to "add a fourth and final year of dramatic progress in Congress. This opportunity may not arise again for a generation. Under the very special conditions present this year, I consider it a high duty to remain in the Senate this year pushing the progressive legislation in which I believe."

The senator said he had considered "the urgent pleas from Washington" for crucial committee action over the next four months.

"If I were in a gubernatorial contest, action on very vital bills would drag," he stated.

Copter Crash Site Located

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A big U.S. Marine helicopter crashed into a mountain south of the demilitarized zone five days ago and all 41 Americans aboard are feared killed, the U.S. Command reported today.

Rescue parties were waiting for the weather to improve before setting out for the rugged crash site. If they found all the men on the craft dead, it would be the worst helicopter disaster of the war.

Pending further reports, the U.S. Command listed as missing the five-man Marine crew and 36 passengers—31 Marines, three Navy men, one Army man and a civilian employe of the Army's post exchange system.

Viet Cong guerrillas are known to operate in the area and the command declined to give a detailed report on the crash because, it said, "additional information might endanger the lives of the survivors, if there are any."

The command said the humpbacked CH53 helicopter, the largest troop-carrying type operating in South Vietnam, crashed Monday night on a trip from Dong Ha, 11 miles south of the DMZ, to Phu Bai, 49 miles farther south. One spokesman said poor weather was a factor in the crash.

The wreckage was spotted Friday morning by an observation plane. An Air Force rescue helicopter hovered over the site for a few minutes but had to leave because of worsening wather. The rescue crew reported no sign of life on the ground.

A Marine spokesman in Da Nang said fighter-bombers have blasted a small landing zone in the overhanging forest. But efforts to get rescuers in by ground or air were thwarted by rain and fog.

One officer said the CH53 helicopter had slammed into the side of a peak so steep that rescuers might have to lower themselves to the wreckage on rope.

In ground fighting Friday, a Communist mortar barrage killed six U.S. Marines and wounded 16 at a command post 16 miles southeast of Phu Bai, a U.S. spokesman said. The position is held by Marines of the 5th Regiment, recently shifted from south of Da Nang to bolster allied defenses in South Vietnam's northernmost two provinces.

Atomic Warhead Program Junked

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, confronted with rising war costs, has junked a $175 million program to develop a new and bigger atomic warhead for land-based missiles.

At least some of the funds will be used to modernize existing single warheads for older rockets while billions are spent to equip latest weapons with highly advanced multiple warheads that allow a missile to split in midflight and hit several targets instead of just one.

The Defense Department announced Friday night cancellation of the new warhead's development after informing members of Congress.

Involved was the Mark 17 reentry vehicle being developed by Avco Corp. of Wilmington, Mass. The Pentagon said $45 million had been spent on the 7-foot-long Mark 17 device since April 1966, with spending of another $130 million envisioned by July 1970.

Avco also produces the older Mark 11 series of single warheads used on earlier Air Force Minuteman missiles, many of which are trained on targets in the Soviet Union and Red China.

The Pentagon said it decided after a recent re-evaluation of requirements to improve the capability of the present Mark 11 series rather than continue into additional research or heavy production of a new re-entry vehicle.

The Pentagon would not discuss why a new single warhead had been planned and also declined to discuss the capability it wants in the reworked Mark 11.

Sources said, however, the cancellation could be viewed as a re-emphasis of the trend toward multiple warheads.

Pentagon scientists, after long study of the growing antimissile defense, have decided the best way to penetrate it would be to send over more missile-carried nuclear bombs than the Soviets have missile interceptors—a sort of shotgun approach.

The newly authorized Air Force Minuteman II will carry aloft three warheads, each of which can be directed from space to widely separated targets in enemy territory.

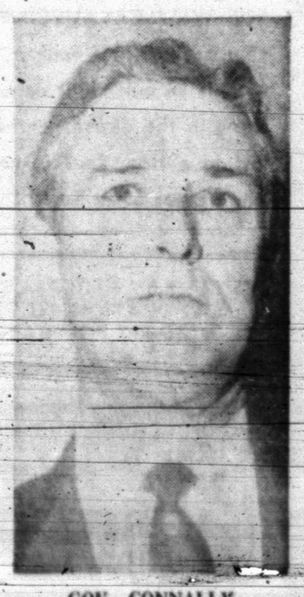
The Navy also has been authorized Poseidon missiles for its Polaris nuclear submarines. These missiles, which can be launched underwater, will carry as many as 10 nuclear bombs.

Governor Coming To Jaycee Event

Gov. John Connally is coming to Snyder on Feb. 17 to attend Texas Jaycee festivities honoring the state's outstanding young farmer.

Announcement that the governor would attend and make the principal address at the banquet was made by Max von Roeder, Snyder Jaycee chairman of arrangements. The local Jaycees will be hosts to the state event, which will include activities over a two - day period. It will come to a climax on the night of Saturday, Feb. 17, at the awards banquet in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Nominees for outstanding young farmer of Texas will be in the limelight, and many other dignitaries are expected to be on hand.



GOV. CONNALLY

Cleghorn Service Set

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Bell - Seale Chapel for A M. Cleghorn, 76.

Mr. Cleghorn, who lived at Fourteenth Street and Avenue E, died at 11:05 a.m. Friday in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock. He had been a resident here for 31 years, moving here from Roscoe. He was a native of Georgia.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Cleghorn; a son, James Cleghorn, a teacher in Odessa Public Schools; a sister, Mrs. Marguerite Cox of Dublin; three brothers, Ruhe of Lingleville, Leonard of Brownwood and John of Madison, Ala.; and two grandchildren.

Don Browning will officiate at the funeral service. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell - Seale. Pallbearers will be John Floyd, Alton Davis, Marion Dabbs, Leroy Hammitt, Raymond Stansell, Alvis Minton, Bred Russell and Oscar Hooper.

STERLING WILLIAMS

Williams Is Candidate For Re-Election

Sterling Williams announced Saturday that he is a candidate for re-election to the office of District Judge of the 132nd Judicial District.

The district is composed of Scurry and Borden Counties.

"I am deeply grateful for all of the favors shown to me in the past, and if the people of these counties see fit to re-elect me as your District Judge, I will continue to be as fair and impartial to everyone who comes before the court as it is possible to be," Judge Williams said in announcing for re-election, subject to action of the Democratic Primary election.

Starving Chinese Peasants Are Killed

TOKYO (AP) — Moscow Radio said today more than 200 starving peasants were killed by Red soldiers when they rebelled against the Chairman Mao Tse-tung leadership in Kwangtun Province last month.

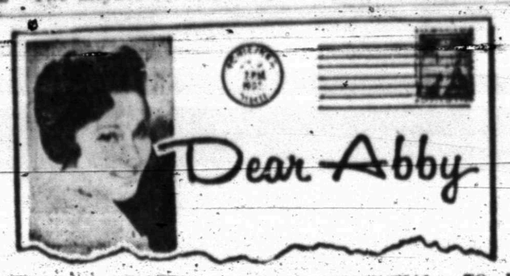
In a Japanese-language broadcast, Moscow Radio said because of a food shortage, peasants revolted in a village 70 miles from Canton, capital of the province.

Pro-Mao troops quickly quelled the revolt, the broadcast added.

Madrid Police Stifle University Protest

MADRID (AP) — Police stifled a planned downtown demonstration by University of Madrid students before it got started today.

University students have shown more widespread anger over the closing of the political and economic sciences school than in past months of demonstrations aimed at getting a free student union and other concessions from the university administration.



By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I have had for nearly 21 years. My daughter, Lulu, has been terrified of doctors ever since she was a tiny baby, and she seems to be getting worse every year. The few times she has had to have medical care she has passed out at the sight of a doctor.

Please help me to get her over this, Abby. A person has to see a doctor and dentist every once in a while, and I have to find some way of getting Lulu there without going thru all kinds of hell. (Excuse the expression.) Thank you.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: It's a pretty good guess that your daughter was frightened by a doctor (probably in a white coat; when she was a baby, and consequently the mere sight of a man in a white coat triggers this deeply-rooted fear. If Lulu is to overcome this obsession, she will have to cooperate with still another doctor. (One who deals with emotional problems, but happily he won't wear a white coat.) YOU can move heaven and earth, Mother, but you can't help her until she wants to help herself.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have wanted to be an air line hostess for as far back as I can remember, and I know I would be a good one. But I have a problem: My mother and father don't like the idea. They say it is too dangerous.

Abby, there are risks in every profession, and I have spoken to girls who have flown with the different air lines for years and they don't seem to think it's dangerous. What do you think? I have talked my heart out. What can I tell my parents to make them change their minds?

AMY

DEAR AMY: According to the most recent statistics, air travel is one of the safest methods of transportation. Last year the fatality rate on scheduled United States air lines was 0.07 per 100 million passenger miles, as compared with 0.16 for railroads, and 2.4 for autos. One air line has never had an injury or fatality to passengers or crew members in its entire 20-year history. In this time it carried 15 million passengers over two billion miles. If 15 million people were to take showers, you could expect a few to slip on the soap.

DEAR ABBY: Where is a girl supposed to get married? In her own home town? Or her fiance's? My fiance and I have been having some disagreements on this. He's from Illinois and I am from Kentucky. His people live mostly on farms and could not get away for very long, whereas my people live in the city and most of them work in offices and could take a couple of days off work to attend the wedding.

It really doesn't matter much to me, except that most of my friends are in Louisville. What does the book of etiquette say?

LOUISVILLE GIRL

DEAR GIRL: The book of etiquette says the wedding should take place in the girl's home town. But again, let me say that common sense, convenience, and circumstances transcend etiquette.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BARBARA IN CLAYTON, MO.: You are not alone, my dear. When a man makes a woman his wife, it's the highest compliment he can pay her. And it's usually the last.

Green Pays Off For Philadelphia

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jumping Johnny Green has started paying early premiums on the Philadelphia 76ers' new insurance policy.

Green, a nine-year National Basketball Association veteran purchased from San Diego Thursday to bolster Philadelphia's already potent bench, popped in nine fourth-quarter points Friday night as the 76ers drew away to a 133-116 victory over Baltimore.

The victory kept the Eastern Division leaders 2½ games in front of the second place Boston Celtics, who mauled Detroit 18-126. San Francisco snapped New York's six-game winning streak 127-117 and St. Louis' Western Division front-runners trimmed San Diego 111-89 in other NBA action.

In the American Basketball Association, Minnesota topped Pittsburgh 120-103; Dallas drubbed Houston 107-99 and Kentucky beat Anaheim 117-108.

Green, sent into the 76ers' lineup when regular forwards Luke Jackson and Billy Cunningham each got into foul trouble, reeled off six straight points in the final period to stretch a seven-point lead to 107-94.

The Bullets closed the gap to eight points, but Hal Greer's driving layup and a tap-in by Green, who had 12 points in all, sent Philadelphia beyond reach.

Wilt Chamberlain paced the 76ers with 36 points and 35 rebounds. Ray Scott scored 27 points and rookie Earl Monroe 26 for Baltimore.

Four Celtics combined for 101 points in Boston's biggest scoring spree of the season. Bailey Howell netted 28 points, Sam Jones 26, Tom Sanders 25 and John Havlicek 22 for the Celts, who struck for 77 first-half points and overran the Pistons.

Dave Bing, the NBA's top scorer, hit for 33 Detroit points and rookie Jim Walker added 23.

Rudy LaRusso scored 26 points and Nate Thurmond and Jeff Mullins 24 each as San Francisco utilized a fast break to snap New York's winning streak. Willis Reed and Dick Barnett poured in 30 each for New York.

Zelmo Beaty banged in nine of his 26 points in an early fourth quarter burst that shot St. Louis past the Rockets in a game marked by a fist fight between San Diego's Dave Gambee and the Hawks' Bill Bridges. Len Wilkens led the Hawks with 29 points while John Block had 19 and Gambee 15 for the expansion club.

Load Dumped To Save Big Truck

EATON, Ohio (AP) — A garbage truck driver may have saved his Preble County town $12,000 by dumping a load of garbage in the middle of U.S. 127. Raymond "Peck" Sarver was driving toward the dump when another trucker motioned to him that the truck was on fire.

Sarver promptly stopped his $12,000 truck and dumped the smoking refuse onto the highway. Volunteer firemen put out the fire and the garbage was loaded aboard a substitute truck.

Inmates End Strike

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — After a six-day food strike, 26 men on San Quentin prison's death row ended their protest and sat down to lunch. The meal, which prison administrators said was routine, consisted of beef broth and rice, lettuce salad, beef fricassee, chicken, fried steak, mixed vegetables, pork and beans, peach cream pudding, hot corn bread, oleo, milk coffee. The men first struck claiming the food was inedible. They subsisted on commissary candy bars.

The piano accordion was used for the first time in a symphony orchestra in the United States in 1937.

AVOIDS PLASTIC PEOPLE

Cell Go-Go Dancer's Pad

By GEORGE A. ALLEN
Daytona Beach News-Journal

BUNNELL, Fla. (AP) — Until a week ago, Melodie Rae Tuegel lived in the turned-on hippie world of LSD, crash pads, and cross-country hitchhiking. She avoided "plastic people."

The 19-year-old Portland, Ore., native now lives in the Flagler County jail. She describes herself as a "time wanderer and a full-time hippie."

Miss Tuegel, or "Cricket" as she prefers to be called, is being held as a material witness in the murders of Daniel Schoultz, 18, of Bloomfield, Ind., and James Moore, 18, of San Anselmo, Calif.

The two youths were found shot to death in a weedy ditch alongside busy U.S. 1 near Daytona Beach Nov. 29, 1967.

Norman Garrett, 27, of Berns, Ore., and Kit Hayden, 21, of Baton Rouge, La., have been charged with first degree murder in the two deaths.

Miss Tuegel was seen hitchhiking her way through Florida with Garrett, Hayden, and a relish-and-sauerkraut loving German Shepherd puppy named Gypsy a week before the killings.

She surrendered in New Orleans and was returned here to testify to a grand jury. She's eager to return to New Orleans in time for Mardi Gras.

"That's the time to coin-hop," or panhandle from tourists, she says.

She calls her jail cell a "bad trip," but it's not her first. She passes the time with crayons and a child's coloring book—but the high school dropout also quotes from Shakespeare and Abraham Lincoln.

Miss Tuegel says she has collected an assortment of jail terms since she left Seattle, Wash., three years ago because she says her family rejected her.

"I hardly ever spent more than a couple of days in jail," she says. "I just batted my big blue eyes and told them I was innocent."

Despite her 175 pounds distributed over a 5-foot-9 frame, she makes money by working as a go-go dancer.

Her clothes are the hippie fashion—tight pants, boots, a shirt, plastic beads and rings.

"I own a dress I've worn three times. I bought it when a boy friend wanted me to be a lady," she says. She dislikes clothes worn by nonhippies who she calls "straight" or "plastic people."

Miss Tuegel wears a cat's collar around her wrist. Two bells on it signify her "true loves," Hayden and her current boy friend who is in a New Orleans jail on an assortment of charges. She doesn't know the New Orleans boy's last name.

Six metal knobs on the collar signify the times she thought she was in love.

Asked whether she feared for her safety during her hitchhiking adventures and visits with hippies tribes, she replied: "Hell, no. If you act like a lady, you'll be treated like one."

Burglars Take Shotgun From House

Burglars stole a 12 gauge shotgun from a back bedroom closet at the Henry Whitehurst residence, 1812 Avenue E, sometime between 2 a.m. and 8:15 a.m. Friday, according to a City Police report.

They said thieves also removed a purse from Paula Sumruld's car while it was parked at 132 Milburn about 10:30 a.m. Friday. Paula resides at 904 Twenty-fifth Street.

Face Lifting Due For Film Capital

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A $1-billion face-lifting may be in the works for the motion picture capital. A preliminary plan approved by the Los Angeles City Planning Commission calls for establishment of a Hollywood motion picture, television and communications industry center.

The proposed movie center would be built on 85 acres on which the city has placed a six-month building freeze. Eventually the project would embrace 556 acres.

Firemen answered a call to the Aubrey Wilson farm one mile west and one mile south of Union at 3 p.m. Friday when a cotton trailer caught fire.

The blaze destroyed a load of cotton and burned both ends and one side of the trailer.

Private Charged In Marijuana Smuggling

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An Army private home on leave from Vietnam received some smoking material in the mail.

Postal inspectors said the 128 packages disguised as filter-tip metholated cigarettes contained 2,560 marijuana cigarettes. Each package had been opened from the bottom and the regular tobacco substituted with high grade marijuana, postal inspectors said. The private was charged with causing marijuana to be smuggled into the country.

Muskies Try Climb To Top Again

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota Muskies, who lasted only a short time as top dog in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Divison, are climbing for the top again—and Friday's victory over Pittsburgh left them only a short way to go.

The Muskies, who spent most of the early season chasing Indiana before overtaking the Pacers, are hot on the heels of Pittsburgh now after belting the Pipers 120-103 in St. Paul-Minneapolis.

By cooling off the streaking Pipers, the Muskies pulled within one game of Pittsburgh at the top.

In other games, Dallas held off Houston 107-99 in Dallas and Kentucky stopped Anaheim on the West Coast.

In the National Basketball Association, Boston clobbered Detroit 148-126, St. Louis halted San Diego 111-89, Philadelphia beat Baltimore 133-116 and San Francisco defeated New York 127-117.

Minnesota, after catching Indiana, relinquished its lead as Pittsburgh went on a 15-game winning streak and won 18 of 19 games before Friday night's clash.

The Muskies, who led by 15 points at the half, scored eight straight points in the third quarter to take the team out of a Pittsburgh rally that had closed the gap to 71-70. The score never was close again.

Mel Daniels topped the Muskies with 26 points and Don Freeman added 25. Connie Hawkins had 34 for Pittsburgh.

Dallas surged into a 56-32 halftime lead, but Willie Somerset, who scored 25 points, pulled the Mavericks within five as Dallas held on. John Beasley paced the Chaparrels with 23 points and 18 rebounds.

Casper Trails Pott At Pebble Beach

By ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — John Pott survived Spyglass Hill's brutal greens—as bumpy as any sand on Treasure Island—but another tough challenge bore down on him today in the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament—Billy Casper.

"I think I aged a couple of years out there," a smiling Pott said after turning in a 71 Friday for the midway lead of 141. "I'm happy about my score on this course."

He should be. It tied the competitive record for the 2-year-old layout.

Spyglass Hill, named for the peak in Robert Louis Stevenson's novel, has played the toughest of the three courses used in the four-day Crosby clambake. And three of Pott's closest rivals for the top spot—Bruce Devlin, Mike Fetchick and Frank Wharton—got their chance to do a little aging today.

To make it worse, the Monterey Peninsula, where the weather was ideal the first two days, got word rain as in the offing.

Casper, who has won this tournament twice, had the easiest assignment today, Cypress Point, which has produced the best scores. Pott drew Pebble Beach.

The whole show, televised nationally today and Sunday, winds up at Pebble with the 60 top professionals and the 40 leading pro-amateur teams. The 168 pros and their amateur partners must have played all three courses—each playing to 72 par—before the cut tonight.

Pott and his amateur partner, Virgil Sherrill of New York, held their team advantage in the Pro-Am Division with a two-day total of 124. They were two strokes better than Pro- Ron Cerrudo and E. Harvie Ward, two-time national amateur champion who popped back into contending role for the first time in several years.

Should Pott's lead hold up, he would walk off with the $16,000 top pro money, plus the $2,700 that goes to the winning professional in the Pro-Am.

Casper came on strong Friday after an opening Spyglass Hill round of 74 and pounded out a 69 at Pebble Beach to stand one stroke back of Pott at 142. Billy won the Southern California Open last weekend after a five-week rest and said he was playing well "better than I have been. . . ."

That could mean more trouble for Pott than the greens at Spyglass.

Those greens claimed many victims the first two days. Even Pott wasn't happy. "You can't repeat what I think," he said.

If Pott felt that way, how about Jack Nicklaus, who went to a 75 and 146 Friday on Spyglass, including two three-putt holes? Or first-day leader Lou Graham, who limped home with a 78, also for 146? Or Dave Hill, on Graham's neck Thursday, who collapsed to a 77 and 146?

An "American angel look" has just taken European hairdressers by storm. And not by design, says Larry Moore of Cincinnati, the first American hair stylist to win the coveted golden rose award of the Paris festival of hairdressing.

The look that "floored European hairdressers" was the happy combination of American beauty and hair artistry, says Moore, a boyish 36-year-old.

"Everyone who saw the world competition in Switzerland and the finals later in France was dazzled: It was the Italians who dubbed the girls 'the little angels,' and they looked it, says Moore, "with their honey blond hair, white, beaded dresses and perfect makeup."

In gaining points to cap the award, Moore was emphasizing his pet look, naturalness. He has long believed in convertible hairdos that can go from daytime styles to evening styles with the addition of a small hairpiece.

"If women learned how to use hair pieces, it would offset contrived hairdos, heavily lacquered balloon heads and other formal hairdos worn to the grocery store — as out of place there as wearing cocktail dresses to shop in."

Many hairdressers in Europe showed these styles, and they looked offbeat next to the neat, casual American styles, he says.

The winning hairdos included a daytime coif — casual from a short side part with a gentle a ball and recombed from the rise at the crown. "Early American," says Moore.

The second hairdo, styled for a ball and recombed from the daytime style, was in a Directoire mood, sort of Madame Recamier, he says.

He converted it from side to center, creating a triangular look of the head with a lift at the crown and bangs — "a neat, stylish, small head with soft bangs that looked like those women wore after the French Revolution when they cut their hair with sheep shears," he explains. It was the only head in the competition that took on a completely new silhouette, he says, and the applause was a tribute to the triumph.

The third hairdo was a young style with eyebrow bangs and a slight lift to the drown. He describes it as a free - flowing movement of hair.

Moore can't top his trophy now, but he can always learn more about hairdressing, he says. Hairdressers in his three shops have won more than 50 awards, so he's glad to be bringing home the biggest of them all.

This feat was gained against such cities as Denver, Colo., Fort Worth, and Dallas, etc. Mrs. King received the honor of top salesman of the month of March, 1967; was named to the Success Club in May 1967; No. 1 in the entire company in the "Yes" contest in June, 1967; received the Baxter award for the Big Spring District in Sept. 1967, and has received numerous gifts for her outstanding salesmanship during the year as well as during her years with the company.

Snyder Senior 4-H Club Meets

The Snyder Senior 4-H Club met Thursday in the county extension office. Kathy Rhodes, vice president, presided.

Plans were discussed for Share-the-Fun.

Refreshments were served to Kathy Rhodes, Debra Fikes, Elaine McArthur and Mrs. McArthur.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 25 at the extension office.

Skillet Spaghetti

1 lb. ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons oil
1 can (15 oz.) tomato sauce
3 cups hot water
7 oz. enriched durum spaghetti, uncooked
1 package spaghetti seasoning mix

Brown beef and onion in oil. Add tomato sauce, water, spaghetti and seasoning mix. Cover and simmer 30 minutes, or until spaghetti is tender, yet firm. Stir occasionally.

Tuna-Noodle Florentine

8 oz. enriched durum noodles
2 cups cooked, chopped spinach, drained
1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
½ cup milk
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cheese soup
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 cup enriched bread crumbs
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook noodles in boiling, salted water until tender, yet firm, 8 minutes. Drain. Combine with spinach, tuna, milk, soup, salt and pepper. Pour into shallow 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and cheese. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 20-25 minutes.

Except for soft - unripened cheeses such as cottage cheese or cream cheese, all cheeses taste their best if served at room temperature. This usually requires standing at room temperature for 20 minutes to 1 hour.

Team Ham Loaf With Bartlett Pears

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

WHEN YOU come upon a recipe that suits you, hang onto it and vary it as you please. That's how interesting variations of basic recipes are born.

Some years ago, after trying innumerable recipes for ham loaf, we found one formula that had more attributes than the others. It had good flavor when it was served hot, and any leftover loaf could be sliced beautifully and tasted good cold. In addition, this loaf had a fruit garnish, part of the syrup from the fruit going into the loaf where it blended well without offering too much sweetening. So we tried our favored recipe with various fruits.

Our latest experiment with this loaf is to allow canned Bartlett pears to be its partner. According to our tasters, this turned out to be a happy notion.

This is a fine loaf to prepare when you have enough leftover baked ham to give two cups ground. The pound of ground uncooked veal that is needed can be ordered when you are ready to make the loaf.

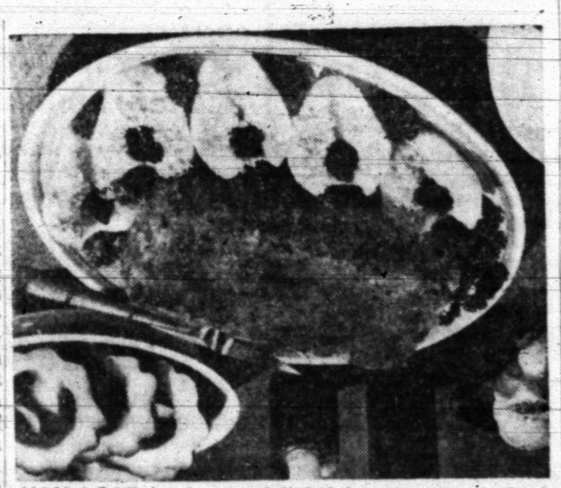
Corn flake crumbs also go into the recipe. You may use the kind that come packaged, if they are on hand. Or just crush a cup of corn flakes to make the quartercup of crumbs needed. Take the corn flakes from a big package or use a breakfast - serving size (1 ounce) package holding about a cup.

HAM LOAF WITH PEARS

2 cups finely ground cooked ham, packed down
1 pound ground uncooked veal
¼ cup fine corn flake crumbs
2 eggs
1 small onion, peeled and finely grated (pulp and juice)
2 tablespoons minced celery leaves
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 can (1 pound and 13 ounces) Bartlett pear halves
Currant jelly and parsley sprigs

Mix together thoroughly the ham, veal, corn flake crumbs, eggs, onion, celery leaves, salt, pepper, poultry seasoning and ½ cup of the pear syrup. Pack mixture into a greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches). Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 1 hour. About 10 minutes before loaf is done, arrange drained pears in a pie plate or on turned-up heavy foil and place in the oven to heat. Remove ham loaf from oven; allow to stand 5 minutes; turn out on serving platter. Arrange pear halves around loaf; fill cavities with currant jelly; tuck parsley sprigs around pears. Makes 8 servings.

Children aren't the only ones who like sweet afternoon snacks. Moms will enjoy this treat too. It's Creamy Orange Drink made by beating together 1 cup softened orange sherbet and 1 cup softened vanilla ice cream, then gradually adding 2 cups milk. When it's all blended it's ready to sip.



HAM LOAF is given a delightful partner — canned Bartlett pears garnished with currant jelly and sprigs of parsley.

Beet And Horseradish Relish

1 can (1 pound) julienne beets
1 carton (8 ounces) sour cream
1 to 3 tablespoons bottled horseradish
¼ to ½ teaspoon salt

In a strainer, thoroughly drain beets. Mix beets with sour cream; mix in horseradish and salt using lowest amount given and adding more to suit taste. Cover tightly and chill; stir before serving. Makes 6 servings. (Stir the horseradish before measuring, and use undrained just as it comes from the bottle.)

Cassini Puts Tiny Price On Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Up to now the only daddies who could afford to keep the swinging young things in style have been the sugar daddies.

One of the paradoxes today is that the only women who can really do justice to the thinny minifashions are the young who tend to be slim of purse, as well as slim figuratively.

And high styles—hemlines and otherwise—tend to be highly expensive.

While not many American designers seem to be defending the woman with wide girth and small purse, Oleg Cassini did frug to the microphone Thursday to defend the beautiful but impoverished young.

His program of low priced high style was a part of the American Designer series, a weeklong preview of spring collections.

Nothing was as elegant or understated as the gowns made for Mrs. John F. Kennedy when Cassini was her official White House couturier. But nothing carried the Kennedy kind of a price in the new young collection.

Cassini was so happy about the matter that every now and then he raced to the runway to writhe to the rock music with a pretty young model.

By contrast in price the earlier program featured Christian Dior of New York with quietly pretty clothes that cost a pretty penny.

Milk is outstanding in protein. Just two 8-ounce glasses of milk supply 30 per cent of the daily recommendation for protein for a woman 18 to 35 years of age and about 25 percent of the daily recommendation for an adult man.

THIS FLAVORFUL MEAL is "just like mother used to make" and with easy recipes like these you can make it too. Your family will love Country-Style Pot Roast, Waldorf Salad, Fruit-Topped Bread Pudding and milk.

Modern Families Love Old Fashioned Dishes

How long has it been since you've served a real old-fashioned meal? You know, one with hearty old - fashioned flavor, like real Country - Style Pot Roast served with fluffy Fruit-Topped Bread Pudding and a pitcher of refreshing milk. It's been too long hasn't it? Well, what's stopping you? It can't be the cost because this wonderful menu is made with foods that go easy on the pocketbook. Perhaps you haven't thought about it for a long time, or maybe you can't even remember the recipes. Well, just to refresh your memory here are the recipes for those delicious old-fashioned dishes that can be cooked together in the oven.

The pot roast is browned in butter to enhance its flavor and then cooked in bouillon which is easily made from a bouillon cube. Then, for the best pot roast you ever served, comes a smooth gravy that's dressed up with the delightful taste of sour cream. (To insure smoothness, be sure you add the gravy to the sour cream.)

The fruit topping adds a festive touch to the bread pudding making it a sweet companion for the pot roast or just about any other main dish. And you'll want to serve it often because this is such an easy and economical recipe.

For refreshing flavor and nutrition, remember the milk. It'll bring out the best in your old-fashioned meal.

Country - Style Pot Roast

3-4 pound beef pot roast, round or blade bone
Flour
¼ cup (½ stick) butter
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 beef bouillon cube
½ cup hot water
6-8 medium onions, peeled
3-4 large potatoes, peeled and quartered
1 pound carrots, peeled and quartered
Salt

Sour Cream Gravy:

1 1-3 cups drippings
3 tablespoons regular all-purpose flour
¼ cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream at room temperature

Coat both sides of meat with flour. In Dutch oven melt butter; brown meat slowly on both sides. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Dissolve bouillon cube in hot water; pour over meat. Cover and place in a preheated 350 degree oven; cook 1¼ - 1½ hours. Add onions and carrots; cook 15 minutes. Add potatoes; sprinkle with salt. Cook 30-40 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Remove meat and vegetables to a warmed platter; keep warm. To prepare Sour Cream Gravy: Pour drippings into saucepan. Blend together flour and water. Heat drippings to boiling; gradually stir in flour mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes. In a bowl gradually add thickened gravy to sour cream. Return to saucepan; heat over low heat to serving temperature.

If Dutch oven is not available, brown meat in large skillet. Place in covered casserole and proceed as above.

Fruit - Topped Bread Pudding

4 cups bread cubes, ½-inch
3 cups milk
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
½ cup seedless raisins
¼ cup (½ stick) butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
3 eggs
Strawberry preserves

Place bread in buttered baking dish, 2-quart. In saucepan scald milk; stir in sugar, raisins, butter, vanilla, salt and nutmeg. In a medium bowl beat eggs; gradually blend in milk mixture. Pour over bread. Set dish in shallow pan on oven rack. Pour hot water in pan 1 inch deep. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven 50-60 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Serve warm topped with preserves. Serves 8.

Franks And Kraut

1½ tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, chopped
1 can (1 pound) sauerkraut, drained
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tart medium apple, pared and thinly sliced
8 frankfurters

In a 10-inch skillet over low heat, melt the butter; add onion and cook, stirring occasionally, until lightly browned — about 10 minutes. Mix in the kraut and sugar. Place franks on top of kraut mixture; cover tightly and simmer about 10 minutes; turn franks and continue simmering until franks are very hot — about 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings. (If low heat is used along with a dome-type cover on the skillet, there should be enough liquid in the kraut and apple mixture to prevent scorching and to provide steam for heating the franks.)

Do your children ever ask "Why does this cheese have holes in it?" Next time they ask tell them that the holes in Swiss cheese are formed naturally by the chemical changes that take place as the cheese ages.

For the quickest baking, best tasting, Baked Apples bake them with butter. Core 5 or 6 large cooking apples and peel them if desired or leave on skins for color. Then cut into rings and drop in cold salted water to keep white. Next, drain and arrange apple rings in a dish. Sprinkle with 1-3 cup sugar. Pour on 3 tablespoons lemon juice and ½ cup melted butter. Bake in a preheated 325 degree oven 20-25 minutes or until apples are tender. To glaze: Sprinkle with sugar, dot with butter and broil about 4 inches from heat source for 4 to 5 minutes and serve.

You say you wonder what your phone will be like in the year 2000?

By the turn of the century, chances are you won't recognize the familiar telephone. Based on services already in use or on the drawing boards, you can expect some pretty far-out developments.

For example, Picturephone* see-while-you-talk service, already in limited use, might well be offered in full color and three dimensions. With it, you could do the family grocery shopping, look at the new cars, or buy a new hat without leaving the house.

Electronic switching equipment, now in trial use, will call you back when a busy line you have called is free, or transfer your calls to another phone while you're away from home.

Telephones will be free to go where you go. A cordless portable extension phone, complete with dial, is currently undergoing tests.

Money handling will be revolutionized. You won't need to write checks or pay cash for most purchases. A telephone call to your bank's computer will take care of the payment. The same system will automatically pay monthly bills which you authorize and keep track of your bank balance. It might even figure your income tax.

By the year 2000, your telephone will probably be doing many other jobs that now seem unthinkable. But then, television, satellites, computers—even the telephone—were "impossible" 100 years ago.

Looking ahead to keep ahead in communications is one way we try to make your every "hello" a real good buy.

He came to later and began waking again recuperated and returned to duty, according to information received here.

SP.4 DOUGLAS FOSTER

The Hermleigh High School graduate was the subject of a feature story in the Snyder Daily News last year when his infantry patrol fought off the Viet Cong during a night attack near a graveyard. He was a machine gunner at the time.

Since then, Doug was promoted to Spec. 4 and was named an acting sergeant. He was given command of a weapons squad, and it was while he was serving with the squad in "Operation Shenandoah II" that h was wounded.

Doug's unit was participating in "hunt and kill" patrols 11 miles northwest of Laikhe (29 miles north of Saigon) on Oct. 9. For eight continuous days, they engaged enemy forces.

On the eighth day, they were defending Laikhe which came under attack by 3,000 Viet Cong troops. An enemy soldier hidden in a tree threw a grenade which landed near Doug. He was hit in the back, arm and

Then a land mine went off near him and he was struck by shrapnel again — this time in the neck. Shortly thereafter, medical personnel reached him and gave him emergency first aid.

He was evacuated to a hospital at Long Binh where he remained from Oct. 16 until Nov. 5. Then, he was transferred to the 36th evacuation hospital at Vung Tau to recuperate from his wounds. Doug received the Purple Heart while in the hospital.

After his release, Doug was given a "rest and recuperation in Hawaii. His wife joined him in Honolulu where they spent the week of Dec. 6-14.

Mrs. Foster said her husband has been transferred to the Headquarters of the 2nd Battalion, 28th Infantry, 1st Infantry Division, where he has a new job as a legal clerk.

His year's tour of duty in Vietnam will end next June. If he comes home then, he will remain in the Army until his regular discharge date next October. If he remains in Vietnam until July, then he will be discharged as soon as he returns to the states.

Mrs. Foster said that her husband told her he was lucky. Most of the men in his outfit were either killed or wounded. She described the operation in which he participated as being similar to the one taking place now near Lac Ninh.

Mrs. Foster is the former Belinda Bel, and is a graduate of Snyder High School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gaither Bell. Doug's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Foster of Hermleigh.

Texas Man Survives Air Crash

HONOLULU (AP) — Navy Lt. (j.g.) W. J. Ables from Kilgore, Tex., was among three crewmen parachuting safely after a collision of two planes in flight Thursday.

The pilot of the other craft, Lt. Cmdr Donald J. Stebbins of New Berlin, N.Y., was killed and his three companions suffered injuries as the two S2E tracker planes rammed together during maneuvers near Kauai Island 15 miles northwest of here.

Ables is the son of Mrs. W. J. Ables of Kilgore. He was copilot in a crew including Lt. (j.g.) R. L. Clapp of Randolph, Mass., the pilot, and Technician 3.C. T. O. Engsberg of Ramona, Calif.

The trio parachuted into the Pacific Ocean close to the carrier Yorktown. Helicopters from the carrier plucked them from the water.

In the other plane, Stebbins was killed in a crash-landing at the Barking Sands air station on Kauai.

Yeoman 3.C. Joseph L. Buckley of the Bronx, N.Y., flying with Stebbins, lost an arm in the crackup and was reported in serious condition at a Honolulu hospital.

Minor injuries were suffered by Lt. (j.g.) T. J. Crider of Coronado, Calif., copilot with Stebbins, and by Technician 1.C. T. H. Fehseke of Burlington, Iowa.

High School Plans Mock GOP Meet

FORT WORTH (AP) — Arlington Heights High School plans a mock Republican convention May 3 as a preview of the upcoming political convention this summer.

About 250 students will participate in the production, including members of six government classes, 25 to 30 band members, a color guard from the school's ROTC unit and a press corps of student journalists.

The convention is the idea of Mrs. Betty Quimby, a government teacher.

"Our purpose is not to give the participating students a political philosophy, but to acquaint them with the mechanics of nominating a candidate for the office of president of the United States," Mrs. Quimby said.

The mock parley will simulate as nearly as possible the Republican national convention planned for August in Miami, Fla.

Students decided to imitate the Republican meeting because it probably will offer more excitement than the Democrat convention, Mrs. Quimby said.

"No political overtones should be read into this," Chairman Coy Clement, a senior, said. "It just that there will, presumably, be little contest for the nomination in the Democratic conclave since that party has an incumbent president. Besides, the assortment of candidates proposed for the Republican nomination offers a colorful variety of types and political creeds."

Students began work several weeks ago to prepare for the convention. Letters have been sent to leading Republican presidential candidates, inviting them to Fort Worth for the meeting.

Four Perish In Louisiana Mishap

MONROE, La. (AP) — Four persons were killed and four more seriously injured Friday when two cars smashed together on Louisiana 15.

State police identified the dead as Noble Eddie Hill, 44, Carthage, Tex.; Catherine O. Adams, 21, Marshall, Tex.; and Mr. and Mrs. Noah Coffey of Sibley, La.

Hospitalized in serious condition were Francis M. Hill, 43, of Carthage; Albert Adams Jr., 27, Marshall; Patrick M. Coffey, 60 Bossier City, La., and Mrs. Nellie P. Coffey, 64, of Bossier City.

The accident happened in the rain. Police said Hill drove a station wagon involved in the crash while Patrick Coffey drove the other vehicle.

Allowable Reported

AUSTIN (AP) — The average calendar day oil allowable as of Jan. 15 is 3,611,882 barrels a day, the Texas Railroad Commission reported Friday.

GATE LOWERS — The new traffic gate at the Santa Fe Railway Co. crossing on the Clairemont Highway prevents motorists from crashing into oncoming trains. The recently installed device automatically raises when the track is clear. On hand to witness completion of the project are B. H. Crandall, signal supervisor of the Santa Fe at Slaton, and Homer Ray, resident engineer of the State Highway Department.

New Gate Guards Rail Crossing

Just like the big cities, Snyder now has a railroad gate.

The gate or barricade was installed last Wednesday and pronounced in smooth operating condition by Santa Fe Railway Co. employes. It was installed at the Clairemont Highway crossing near the Santa Fe station.

Actually, there are two gates — one to halt north bound traffic and the other to stop south bound vehicles. It operates automatically, according to B. H. Crandall, signal supervisor from Slaton, who was in charge of the installation.

"It depends on the speed and distance of the approaching train, said Crandall. "Incoming trains cause the warning signals to begin flashing. As the train nears the crossing, a bell begins sounding and the arm or gate slowly lowers over the highway. The bell stops after the arm has been lowered.

When the train has crossed the intersection and is sufficiently clear of highway traffic, the automatic signal devices cause the gate to raise again, letting traffic through.

Conventional flashing signals without gates warn motorists of approaching trains at the Roscoe Snyder & Pacific Railway Co. tracks a few feet to the south of the Santa Fe crossing. The RS&P tracks parallel the Santa Fe tracks.

"Next to an overpass or a grade separation, the gate is the safest car-train device I know of," said Homer Ray, engineer for the Highway Department.

When the Highway Department widened the highway several months ago they left holes in the concrete divider strip near the station for the gate signals.

Installation was made by Santa Fe employes, but the Railway Company will be reimbursed by the Highway Department.

Crandall said Snyder was one of the few cities of its size in the state to have one of the gates. They usually are located in larger cities.

Chinese To Celebrate Without Fireworks

HONG KONG (AP) — The Chinese new year, coming up in three weeks, will be celebrated in Hong Kong without fireworks, the British colonial government has ruled.

For many of the colony's older and more superstitious Chinese the absence of fireworks portends bad omens.

The restriction, first imposed last summer, is calculated to deprive local Communists of ingredients for their homemade terrorist bombs.

Authorities have offered a two-week amnesty to start Sunday during which persons may turn in to police any firecrackers or other explosives they are holding illegally, without fear of prosecution.

The new year will be called the Year of the Monkey. This has been the Year of the Ram.

Island Fears Return Of Japanese Rule

By SAM JONES
Associated Press Writer

CHICHI JIMA (AP) — The name means "Father Island." It is about as close as you get to a tropical paradise but many of its 200 civilian residents fear that the things which make it so livable will slip away with its prospective return to Japanese rule.

This is one of the Bonin Islands in the Central Pacific that the Japanese are scheduled to reclaim this year under an agreement with Washington.

Chichi once was claimed by Britain, but the Japanese controlled it from 1875 until 1945, when it was occupied by U.S. Marines. The people living here are Japanese citizens but do not think of themselves as belonging to the populous nation 500 miles away.

Most are descendants of settlers who originated in such places as Massachusetts, England, Hawaii and Italy. Many also have Japanese blood through their ancestors' marriages with Japanese colonists who arrived later.

Other Chichi Jimans have lived in or around Tokyo since the Japanese government evacuated all Chichi residents after the Americans started to bomb the Bonins. A Japanese survey indicates that more than 5,000 of them are eager to return to the island's tranquility.

The present islanders remember what happened to them and their ancestors the last time their island was under Japanese rule. They were eased out of choice landsites that had become theirs through right of work if not of formal title.

The Japanese claim to have discovered the Bonin Islands in the 12th century. The name Bonin is believed to be a corruption of the Japanese word "bunin"—without men.

An American whaleship commanded by James Coffin was here in 1824. Three years later a British ship captain claimed the island for George IV. The British consul at Hawaii sent in a mixed colony of Americans, Britons and Hawaiians. When the Briton who governed the island died in 1848, an American named Nat Savory began running up the Stars and Stripes.

Commodore Matthew Perry visited Chichi in 1853 and tried to set up a U.S. Navy coaling station. This did little more than embarrass Washington officials.

The Japanese moved in the year the U.S. Civil War began, and formally annexed the island group 92 years ago. By World War II some 7,000 civilians and 25,000 troops occupied Chichi and neighboring Haha Island.

Islanders express hope that the small U.S. Navy base will be retained after the Japanese reoccupation. It is one of their main sources of revenue and along with a fishing industry yields working islanders about $1,000 a year, substantially higher than Japan's average.

The 30 U.S. sailors commanded by Lt. Cmdr. Dale Johnson have the stated mission of manning a port facility with administrative responsibility for Bonin Islands affairs.

There is little wonder that Japanese who remember Chichi are anxious to return. The climate is almost perfect, temperatures ranging from the 90s in the hottest of summer to the mid-40s in January and February. Everything grows easily, and there is ample water.

Some of the old Japanese military installations could be turned into such things as hotels, bars and restaurants. There have been reports that Japanese entrepeneurs hope to turn Chichi into a sort of Honolulu of Japan, employing the beautiful beaches and the sport fishing, surfing, skin diving potential for a vacation playground.

Import Rules Big Farm Issue

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest issue which may face American agriculture this year are the rules under which this country exports and imports farm products.

At present, U.S. farmers are the world's largest suppliers of food and fiber in world markets. The production of one acre out of four moves abroad. Exports are running at an annual rate of nearly $6.8 billion.

Agricultural imports are near the annual level of about $4.5 billion. The bulk of the imports is in the non-competitive category, including coffee, tea, cocoa and the like.

But all of American agriculture has not been sharing equally, in the big overseas markets. The bulk of the benefits have been going to growers of wheat, livestock, feed grains, oil seeds such as soybeans and cottonseed, cotton, rice and tobacco.

But producers of some U.S. farm commodities have been encountering sharp competition from imports. In this category are meats, particularly beef, dairy products, and cotton tex tiles. These commodities do not enjoy export markets of any appreciable size.

As a consequence, some farm leaders in Congress and commodity organizations pressed for legislation last year which would have tightened restrictions on foreign supplies.

There is a distinct possibility that this year, these farm commodity groups may join with industrial producers being hit by imports, such as steel, some chemicals and the like. By working together, these groups might well be able to get through restrictive trade legislation.

In this matter, agriculture is sharply divided. Major farm organizations, such as the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange, oppose such legislation. They say it would bring retalitation against American farm exports and deprive farmers of vital markets.

The Johnson administration has made clear it opposes new legislation that would restrict trade.

Charles Shuman, president of the Farm Bureau, recently told his organization's national convention that "farmers are very concerned with the present wave of protectionism that threatens to destroy the gains that have been made under trade agreements legislation."

Shuman argues that existing law provide mechanism for limiting hurtful imports.

He said these laws were properly used last summer when the administration, after a public hearing before the U.S. tariff commission, cut down on imports of dairy products.

But the livestock industry contends its future—and consumer supplies and prices of meats—are at stake.

Rail Hazards Cited

AUSTIN (AP)—Living close to a railroad crossing can make you blind to the dangers, the Texas Safety Association indicates. It reports that most accidents at such crossings involve motorists who live within 25 miles of the accident.

A 1965 agreement transferred to Jordan 2,300 square miles of virtually uninhabited territory in exchange for 2,700 square miles of equally desolate land which went to Saudi Arabia. But Jordan acquired 11 new miles of shoreline along the Gulf of Aqaba, crucial for future development of the nation's only port, Aqaba.

Junior Editors Quiz on POLECATS

QUESTION: What is the difference between a skunk and a polecat?

* * *

ANSWER: Skunks are often called polecats but this is not really correct. Skunks and polecats belong to the same large weasel family, but each is classified in a different group or genus. The skunk, which can squirt a nauseous liquid causing other animals to leave it alone, has a rather short body, a short neck and fairly long legs. By contrast, the polecat has a very long body and neck with very short legs. This shape is ideally suited to allow this bloodthirsty little creature to crawl into burrows after rabbits and other small animals. The true polecat is found in the central and northern parts of the European continent as well as in Africa and Asia. One kind of African polecat has been domesticated and is called the ferret; it is used to go into burrows and drive out small animals so hunters can shoot them. In the western area of the U.S. is found a kind of weasel called the blackfooted ferret. This animal is closely related to the Old Word polecat. Its picture will give you a very good idea of what a real polecat looks like—certainly a very different shaped animal from the skunk.

DEFENSIVE BARRICADE — The offense may have drawn most of the attention in Snyder's 100-51 waxing of Brownfield here Friday night, but a superb defensive effort helped the Tigers in their fourth straight District 3-AAA basketball victory. Brownfield's Barry Morris (45) is hemmed in by Snyder defenders Mickey Almond (22), Drake Snyder (40), Jerry January (32) and Tommy Bullard (12).

FOURTH STRAIGHT TRIUMPH

Bengals Crater Cubs With Awesome Offense

Give Brownfield A for effort and C or D for performance. But be sure and put down an F because they flunked the test with Snyder's Tigers here in the Coliseum Friday night.

Coach Ned Underwood's Bengals ought to have an A plus for overall performance for they vanquished the Cubs 100-51 for their fourth straight favorable verdict in the District 3-AAA basketball race.

Everyone shared in the Bengal triumph as Underwood swept the bench with reserves handling the action in the fourth quarter.

Six different Tigers got in the scoring act in the first quarter as Snyder shot into a 24-12 lead. Penalties hurt Snyder in the first half, and Brownfield put on a rally early in the second quarter to pull within five points.

Then quick Mickey Almond stole the ball and fed it to Tommy Bullard for a layup. Mickey made another steal and passed to Mitch Rambin for another close in shot and the Tigers were out front by nine and the Cubs had lost the momentum. They never recovered.

Little Joe Masso kept Brownfield in the game until halftime. Snyder led then, 44-31.

That third quarter was something else. The Bengals literally ran the Cubs off their feet. Operating with a full court man-to-man press, Snyder did a great job of hawking the ball. They also looked better on the boards, grabbing the lion's share of rebounds in this stanza.

All of the boys looked good under the boards, and Rambin made a couple of steals. In fact, the entire team looked sharp. Bullard did a superb job of passing off under the basket. Jerry January, who has shown marked improvement of late, connected on five field shots and one free throw during the third quarter. Bullard and Frankie Grimmett each chipped in six points during this frame, and Craig Bell and Al-mond added two each.

The outstanding third period effort propelled Snyder into a 75-41 lead. The handwriting on the wall couldn't have been more legible. It spelled defeat for the Cubs.

Jim Patrick spearheaded the fourth quarter attack and he popped the nets for 11 points in this stanza for Snyder. Rambin hit one field shot and 6 of 7 from the free throw line.

Drake Snyder tallied six points for the Tigers in the opening stanza, and he led in rebounds with 7, but he collected three fouls early and was used sparingly after that.

Jodi Williamson, Gus Tovar, Rambin, Patrick and Craig Bell operated together smoothly as a unit in the last quarter, outscoring Brownfield 25-10.

For Brownfield, Barry Morris and Gary Baccus did a creditable job under the boards in the first half, but they were outmanned in the second half.

The Tigers shot with deadly accuracy, their percentages varying from 42 to 56 per cent in the different periods. Brownfield hit 45 per cent in the second quarter but couldn't do better than 29 per cent in any of the other three frames.

Five Bengals were in double figures: Bullard 19, January 16, Rambin 16, Patrick 15, and Almond 11. The Cubs had three in twin numerals: Masso 14, Rodgers 11, and Morris 10.

The Kittens used the same pressing tactics to knock the junior Cubs into submission early in their contest. Coach Jerry McLeod's hosts posted a 26-15 first quarter lead, extended it to 48-24 at halftime, boosted it to 69-45 in the third quarter and ended with an impressive 82-59 triumph.

A few subs began slipping into the Kitten alignment in the second quarter, and the whole action was turned over to them about 1½ minutes deep in the fourth quarter.

Nine different Kittens got on the scoreboard, led by Wesley Bishop, who tripped the cords for 30 points, and Lee McNair, who found the range for 17 points. Three Brownfield boys were in double figures: Brad Moore, 14, Tony Nicholas 16, and Van Taulton 10.

The Kittens posted 50 per cent of their floor shots in the first quarter and 53 per cent in the second quarter, then cooled to 44 per cent and 33 per cent in the last two frames respectively.

Dennis Carlton was leading rebounder with 10.

Snyder has three road dates to close out the first round, meeting Sweetwater Jan. 16, Dunbar Jan. 19 and Lamesa Jan. 23.

Bruins Take 45th Straight

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mr. A is getting warmed up for his heralded meeting with the Big E in the Astrodome at Houston a week from today.

Lew Alcindor, Mr. A, threw in 44 points to lead UCLA's top-ranked college basketball team in a 94-64 romp over California Friday night for the Bruins' 45th consecutive victory.

The Big E is Elvin Hayes, who has paced the unbeaten Houston Cougars to 15 in a row this season and to second place in The Associated Press poll.

The largest crowd in college basketball history, more than 50,000, is expected to watch next Saturday's duel between the 7-foot-1½ Alcindor and the 6-8 Hayes.

The towering, agile Alcindor got his 44 points on 19 field goals and six of eight free throws as the Bruins made it 11 straight this season before a 7,200 turnout at Berkeley.

Russ Critchfield's layup gave California a 5-3 edge, but UCLA pulled away to lead 52-37 at halftime. Critchfield's 24 points paced the Bears.

The sixth-ranked Utah Redskins, the only other team in the Top Ten to see action, crushed Arizona State 109-77 for their 12th victory against one defeat. Merv "The Magician" Jackson led the Utes to their home court victory with 30 points.

Princeton routed Dartmouth 59-39, Penn downed Harvard 69-56, Providence defeated Brown 65-58 and Vermont nicked Maine 63-61 in other games on a comparatively light night because of mid-year exams.

Dave Lapointe's field goal as the final buzzer sounded accounted for Vermont's victory over Maine at Burlington, Vt. Princeton, Penn and Providence scored on the road.

Keith Lindsey sank a free throw with three seconds left to give Hardin Simmons a 66-65 squeaker over Idaho State at Pocatello.

Brigham Young toppled Arizona 72-62 and Florida State took Miami, Fla., 122-93, and Los Angeles Loyola topped the University of San Francisco 85-65 in three home-court triumphs. On the road Southern California humbled Stanford 90-64 and Santa Clara took Pepperdine 102-80.

Rozelle Prefers Association To Union

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Antitrust—that nasty old phrase that professional football people like to avoid—came up Friday when Commissioner Pete Rozelle discussed the player association move towards unionization.

"There are some ramifications of a formal union which might work to the detriment of the players and owners," Rozelle began.

"I've been told by counsel that the union arrangement would remove certain areas of owners."

That is a touchy subject for pro football people. Rozelle went through a long tussle in Congress before winning exemption for the game from certain antitrust legislation.

Rozelle said he would prefer to see a strong player's association rather than a formal union. He said John Gordy, the Detroit guard who is the association's newly elected president, called him after being elected and asked to meet with him.

"We will get together as soon as we can get a convenient date," the commissioner said.

Hermleigh, Ira Split Two Tilts

HERMLEIGH — The host Cardinals split a pair of basketball tilts with Ira here Friday night. The visiting girls won 39-36 with a successful rally in the second quarter, but Hermleigh's boys copped an easy 82-45 decision.

Connie Sterling sank 20 points to pace the Ira girls attack, and Jane Wall was high point girl for Hermleigh with 19.

The Cardinal boys jumped into a 21-4 advantage in the first period and outscored the Bulldogs in each succeeding period. Ted Winter again had a fabulous night, sinking 33 points. Three other Cardinals finished in double figures: Tom Chorn 17, Danny Peterson 12, Jim Averitt 13.

For Ira, Johnny Snell pitched in 17 points and Doug White posted 14.

Thirteen of Jane Wall's 19 points came at the free throw line.

Next Tuesday, Hermleigh meets Fluvanna in the Scurry County Coliseum. The program begins at 7 p.m. with a girls game, followed by the varsity boys clash. Admission is 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

The same two teams also will meet in the Coliseum Feb. 1.

Tennis Team In Meet At Lubbock

The Snyder High School tennis team entered a 5-way match in Lubbock Saturday.

Other teams in the match included Lubbock High, Coronado, Monterey, and Crane.

Coach Ken McAllister took six athletes with him: John Phillips, Terry Book, Max Falls, Patsy Miller, Linda Miller and Joann Braziel.

Cardinals, Buffs Play In Coliseum

There's going to be more basketball in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Doug McGlaun, coliseum manager, announced Saturday that Hermleigh and Fluvanna had made arrangements to play their two District 70-B engagements in the coliseum.

The first encounter will be Tuesday night, Jan. 16, when Fluvanna will be the host team. Hermleigh will be the host team in their second meeting in district play scheduled for Feb. 1.

On each playing date there will be a girls game beginning at 7 p.m., followed by the boys game.

McGlaun said that Ira had tried to work out a series for the coliseum, but had been unable to do so. Most of the teams are reluctant to give up their home gym advantage in district games. In the case of Hermleigh and Fluvanna, each gave it up, giving neither team an advantage.

Plans Made By Jaycees

Snyder Jaycees discussed plans for observing National Jaycee Week and for the Outstanding Young Farmer banquet at their luncheon meeting Friday.

The Young Farmer Banquet will be held at the Scurry County Coliseum on Feb. 17. National Jaycee week is scheduled Jan. 21-27.

The local club decided not to participate in a donkey basketball game proposed by the Colorado City Jaycees, due to demands of the Young Farmer Banquet preparations. George Lee of the Colorado City club brought the proposal to the local club.

Dave Harlin, president of the club, presided, while Bob Watlington gave the invocation, Gary Stevens led the pledge of allegiance to the flag and Mickey Nunley led the Jaycee creed.

Harlin announced that the Toastmasters would meet Monday night.

Completions Reported

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission reported Saturday that 137 oil wells andn 42 gas wells were completed during the past week in Texas.

That raised the total oil well Saturday that 137 oil wells and 42 gas wells were completed during the past week in Texas.

That raised the total oil well completions for the year to 224, compared to 240 a year ago, and gas well completions to 88, compared to 119 at this time in 1967.

The commission said 175 wells were plugged, including 85 dry holes.

Two wildcat oil wells were drilled—one in the Corpus Christi district and one in the Midland district. Eight wildcat gas wells were drilled—3 in the San Antonio district, 3 in the Corpus Christi district, and one each in the Kilgore and Midland districts.

The East India Company, an English concern, was incorporated in 1600.

Conservation Activities Increasing

Conservation activities are on the increase in the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District.

Fourteen thousand feet of diversion terraces were completed on the J. S. Criswell ranch in the northeast part of Scurry county. They also constructed one pond. The diversions were constructed at locations to divert water into ponds. Most of the conservation work on the Criswell ranch is being cost shared through the Great Plains Conservation Program. Pete Wishert is manager of the Criswell ranch and is very much sold or conservation.

Audrey Head, Seabourn Eicke, Morris Head and E. L. Floyd have completed parallel terraces. Jimmy Joe Key, Sam Chorn, Doyle Wemken, Hoyle Cary, Joe Burk, Robert Langford plar to construct parallel terraces in the near future.

Rich Anderson has completed about 8,800 feet of underground pipeline to furnish water at four locations on his ranch southwest of Gail.

Division terraces were staked for Don Vineyard, Gilbert Merrit, Sam Houston and R. C. Lunsford.

R. J. Rossen, Ray Fulford, and C. W. Addison have completed farm ponds for livestock water.

New terrace lines were run for R. E. Minor and Glen Thompson. About 20 applications have been received for rebuilding and repairing terraces that were damaged by the flood.

Two Texans Among Vietnam Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP) — The pentagon released a Vietnam casualty list Friday bearing the names of two Texans killed in action.

The were Army Pfc. James A. Crosby, son of Mrs. Eva J. Walker, 1234 Woodthorpe Lane, Houston; and Marine Corps Pvt. Victoriano Espinoza, husband of Mpyguk Victoriano Espinoza, 812 South 16th Street, Edinburg.

Voters Are Reminded That Registration Is Required

Texas voters are again warned that they must apply for a voter registration certificate by the end of this month if they want to participate in this year's elections.

Application may be made either by mail or by personal appearance at the county tax assessor - collector's office. A form for applying by mail is published above.

Texas Secretary of State John L. Hill, who is sponsoring a statewide voter registration drive, has predicted that this year's registrations will show a very substantial increase over former years. The previous high was in 1964, the last presidential election year, when a total of 2,984,766 registrants were reported by county tax assessor - collectors under the poll tax system then in force.

The total registration in 1966 was slightly under 2,970,000, including registrations under the poll tax system and free registrations during a supplemental registration period in March 1966 after a federal court decision invalidated poll tax payment as a condition for voting. Registrations for 1967, an "off year" for elections, normally could have been expected to drop from the previous year's total, but exceeded the 1966 figure by about thirteen thousand. Political observers have explained the increase by the fact that the full four months of the registration period were available for registering voters without cost, while only a 15 - day period had been provided for free registrations in 1966.

Hill attributes the expected increase in registrations to several factors. In addition to population growth, he has pointed out that this is the first presidential election year under the new system of free registration, and registrations for a presidential election year normally exceed those for any other year in each four - year period. This is also the first year in which all voters will be required to register. Another important factor, Hill said, is that this registration period marks a high in the activities of groups conducting organized registration drives.

Voters who have not already applied for registration are urged to do so immediately. Cut out the application form which appears on this page, fill in all the blanks, and mail it to the county tax assessor - collector without delay. A registration certificate will be mailed to you before the beginning of the 1968 voting year on March 1.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

OCEANOGRAPHER

Q — "I've heard the oceans described as the 'last frontier' on this planet. What kind of education would I have to have to be an oceanographer?"

— D. H., New Orleans, La.

A — Heavy on science. Oceanography is the scientific study of the sea, and limnology is the related study of fresh waters.

Oceanographers are strongly research - oriented and meet such challenges as removing salt from water to solve critical shortages; growing food underwater to feed future generations; forcasting weather conditions; mining the oceans' resources; providing defense against enemy attack.

They are working to improve fisheries and navigational charts; control wave damage from storms and earthquakes; classify marine life; and conquer other problems such as pollution — particularly from nuclear and general waste disposal.

Still other oceanographers are concerned with the origins of oceans and atmosphere, the "drifting" of continents and the beginnings of life itself in water.

Aquatic scientists work in teams headed by one or more senior members aided by laboratory assistants, technicians, secretaries, a ship's crew and other supporting personnel.

SPECIALIZATION: Oceanographers are usually specialists but there's much overlapping of disciplines. The main divisions of oceanography are: Biological — the study of marine plant and animal life; physical — the investigation of physical properties of the ocean such as density and tides; Geological — exploration of beaches and the ocean floor, such as MOHOLE which was a project to drill a three - mile hole under the ocean floor to learn what the crust and mantle of the earth are made of; Chemical — analysis of the chemical composition of ocean waters.

PLACE OF WORK: Ships, shore labs, the ocean waters in bathyspheres, diving gear or SCUBA, colleges and universities, government agencies and private industry manufacturing marine equipment.

EDUCATION: The beginning professional needs a bachelor's degree with a major in physics, chemistry, biology or one of the geo-sciences, possibly oceanography. An advanced degree is usually necessary to teach or become a project head.

EARNINGS: Varies with education and experience, but an M.S. or Ph.D can start as high as $12,000.

WOMEN: Opportunities for women to go to sea have been few but they are rapidly increasing, and women can teach or work on a professional level in shore labs.

HEADSTART: Study rocks, minerals or aquatic life. If you live near an oceanography research center, such as Scripps in California, or Woods Hole on Cape Cod, visit and learn. You could try for summer work aboard ship, or in marine or conservation fisheries.

OUTLOOK: It's a small field, perhaps only 600 to 1,000 research workers in the U. S., the demand for oceanographers is high and the outlook is promising as land availability shrinks and we turn to the oceans for new resources.

Highway System Discussion Slated

AUSTIN (AP) — A Highway system to serve the planned Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport will be discussed at a public hearing before the state Highway Commission Tuesday.

Dallas Mayor Erik Jonsson, chairman of the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport Board, will lead the delegation.

Other hearings scheduled before the commission Tuesday include a requested highway from Eagle Lake to Sealy in Colorado and Austin counties; extension of Farm 60 in College Station; an acess road for Interstate 20 in Weatherford, and development of Pullman Switch Road from Interstate 20 to the proposed new Amarillo Air Terminal.

Nobody Is Paying Voluntary Poll Tax

AUSTIN (AP) — How many people will pay a tax if not forced to? Zero

No one has paid the poll tax—still on the books—since its payment can no longer be used as a prerequisite for voting, according to the comptroller's records.

Even though the tax is still legal, an attorney general's opinion in the 1940s held that tax assessor-collectors were not required to assess it.

Before the federal courts knocked it out as a voting requirement, lots of people paid it anyway.

Now that it's voluntary, in effect, nobody has forced his money on the government.

Hardy Texans Saved After Week Adrift

By B. F. KELLUM

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP) — Three hardy bricklayers who rode out the stormy Gulf of Mexico for seven days with canned sausages, a six-pack of beer and an undying belief they would be rescued, came home Friday night to the cheers of friends and relatives.

The three were seen in their 19-foot boat late Friday by crewmen of the Coast Guard cutter Legare. The Legare at the time was steaming back to port, having given up the search for W. J. Morvant, 45, Richard Morvant, 23, and Paul Bailey, 22, all from Groves, Tx.

Twenty-five friends and relatives showed up at this Gulf Coastal city Friday night when the Legare and the fishermen came in.

"We never gave up," said W. J. Morvant. He said a few airplanes swooped over their 19-foot radioless boat without seeing them.

Morvant, his son and Bailey left early Saturday for a fishing trip far out near some offshore drilling rigs in the Gulf of Mexico. They carried a six-pack of beer, three cans of soft drinks, bread and Vienna sausages.

The bread and sausages lasted three days. They drank the beer and soft drinks the first day.

"It was so cold for the first four days we didn't even want a drink of water," Bailey said.

The three were tossed about in their boat as a bitter norther kicked up 10-foot sweels in the Gulf.

The cold was the worst thing," Bailey said. "I have never in my life been so cold for so long."

The three came ashore cleanshaven and wearing borrowed Coast Guard clothing. It was almost impossible to distinguish the rescued from the rescuers, save for the shouting relatives and friends who rushed to greet them.

Eight of Bailey's nine brothers were on hand. The eight had taken off from their bricklaying jobs all week to search the coves and inlets around Sabine Pass, 100 miles up the coast.

The fishermen's 19-foot boat was disabled when salt water got into the engine coil. It was finally spotted 60 miles south of Freeport at 3:50 p.m. Friday.

The boat was towed in by the Legare.

The three complained of sore legs but said they managed to fight off frostbite by vigorous rubbing of their limbs during the seven days adrift.

"We really didn't have much else to do," Bailey said.

They caught four fish during the expedition, then threw them away after several days.

The 23-year-old wife of the younger Morvant talked to her husband over a Coast Guard marine radio while the rescue ship still was en route.

"I'm so happy," she sobbed over the radio. Then she fainted.

"We never gave up," the older Mrs. Morvant told her husband. "Hurry home, we all miss you."

Morvant replied, "We're all just fine. Are you all right?"

LCB Agent Accused In Racket

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas club owner has charged that a former executive of the Texas Liquor Control Board and a private detective operated a "protection racket."

James Coltharp, owner of Debonair Danceland in Dallas, made the charge in an interview with radio-television station WFAA. Coltharp said a Liquor Board official who formerly worked in Austin, a Dallas private investigator and two former agents of the board's Dallas office figured in the scheme.

Coltharp said the unnamed group would induce holders of liquor licenses to pay large sums in return for dismissals of charges involving liquor law violations and curtailment of sentences or license suspensions.

Coltharp testified at a November hearing involving several board employes in Austin that he was approached and told that payment of $10,000 would remove any problems Coltharp had with the board.

Six inspectors in the board's Dallas district office have been fired since November and Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade and the Smith County Grand Jury in Tyler are working on separate investigations involving the agency.

A public hearing is scheduled Jan. 29 in Austin into the operations of the Liquor Control Board.

Longer Skirts Cover Up Shortcomings

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's neglected women, the wide of girth and short of purse, now has a champion—a man who believes in covering up her shortcomings with longer skirts.

A new length called "kneesy" and sometimes "peekaboo" by its designer Stanley Herman was shown for the first time Friday at the closing sessions of the American Designer series of spring previews.

The length hits just slightly above the knees.

Ironically, this impact on controversial skirt lengths came not from a high couture house, or even a garment maker who caters to older women. Herman designs for Mr. Mort, an inexpensive house with largely a junior clientele.

"The length is much better for the woman with heavier thighs," he said as three ladies who had nothing to be ashamed of came forward in bias-cut kneesies.

The manikins received tremendous applause.

The peekaboo knee is not really new, Herman admitted. After all, hemlines have been from up to here and down to there in fashion history. This time the replay goes back to 1949.

"It's the next logical length," he said. "It is a newer look than we have had for a while but it remains contemporary.

DAMAGE PERMANENT

LSD Blinding Spurs Search

By JACK MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The case of six Pennsylvania college students who were permanently blinded by staring at the sun during an LSD "trip" is spurring a nationwide federal search for other such incidents.

Shortly after The Associated Press learned Friday of the Pennsylvania case federal health officials announced a state-by-state survey to see if other persons have lost their sight while under the influence of the powerful hallucinogen.

Federal officials had known of the case since last November but a spokesman said no study was undertaken earlier because of policy questions involving federal and state jurisdictions.

The six college students, identified only as juniors at an unnamed western Pennsylvania college, suffered total and permanent blindness last spring while staring at the sun in an LSD-induced trance.

Health officials said it was the first instance they knew of in which total blindness resulted. But they noted another case last May in which four students at the University of California at Santa Barbara permanently lost their reading vision under nearly identical circumstances.

Norman M. Yoder, commissioner of Pennsylvania's Office of the Blind, said the Pennsylvania youths had lain on their backs because they thought it was a good position for experiencing the effects of the drug "and were not consciously looking at the sun." He said doctors surmise the drug caused the students' eyelids to remain open.

Yoder, interviewed by telephone from his office in Harrisburg, said the Pennsylvania students had gone in the morning to a wooded area within walking distance of the college campus. They were found that afternoon, about six hours later, by fellow students who knew of the drug-taking plans. The victims were helpless when they were found, Yoder said.

"I think it's a terrible price to pay for kicks," said Yoder. All six of the students had used LSD previously, he said.

The young men are receiving rehabilitation services from the Pennsylvania Department of Welfare, said Yoder.

Dr. Leon Jacobs, deputy assistant secretary for scientific affairs for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, expressed hope "the demonstration of what a terrible thing happened to them may keep other kids away from it (LSD)."

But an official of the Federal Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, N. B. Coon, said "scare tactics don't work in trying to keep these kids from taking LSD. They know through their own contacts that there are good trips' and bad 'trips' and if the chances of something serious are maybe 1 in 500, their reaction is: 'It's not going to happen to me.'"

Johns has been in his present position for nine years. His topic will be "Delta Temperature Logging in Secondary Recovery Work."

Texas Fine Arts Endowment Told

AUSTIN (AP) — The National Endowment for the Arts of Washington has awarded 11 grants totaling $23,109 in matching funds for Texas cultural activities, the Texas Fine Arts Commission disclosed Saturday.

The endowment is an agency of the National Foundation on the Arts.

Theodore Strauss of Dallas, Fine Arts Commission chairman said grants had been approved, including these:

$1,500 to the Midland Community Theatre, to aid in conducting a statewide community theatre festival in April.
