Union Groups Plan Walkout On Line Today

Embargo Is Placed On Operations By Missouri Pacific

(By The Associated Press)

President Truman made last minute attempts today to avert a strike set for 2 p. m. (CST) on the 7,200 mile Missouri Pacific railroad.

However, all indications pointed to the scheduled walkout of 5,000 operating employes. The strike is expected to force the laying off of some 20,000 other workers and affect industries in more than 1,000 communities in 11 states served by the Missouri Pacific.

Mr. Truman, who also said he may ask for another 10-day truce to delay a steel strike scheduled next Wednesday, said he was making every effort to avert the Mopac strike. He said the government had exhausted nearly all its authority in the dispute.

To Halt Operations

The Missouri Pacific was ready to halt all operations. The four brotherhoods involved in the dispute went ahead with their strike plans.

Freight service stopped yesterday. Early today an embargo was placed on passenger, mail and baggage service. However trains in operation at the strike deadline will finish their runs.

The chief issue in the dispute is the manner in which various operating rules should be interpreted. Wages and hours were not involved in the dispute.

Unions involved are the locomotive engineers, railway trainmen, locomotive firemen and enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. The carrier, the nation's ninth largest, operates in Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana, Colorado, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Mississippi, Tennessee and Texas.

MST Awaits Report

President Truman also was concerned with the CIO steel dispute which threatens a strike of some 1,000,000 members of the CIO United Steel-workers. But he told a news conference yesterday he was awaiting a report on the presidential fact-finding board's report tomorrow before deciding his future action. Neither side in the dispute is required to accept the board's recommendations.

In anticipation of the board's findings, the USW top strategy makers arranged to meet in Pittsburgh Monday. The union called the strike for July 16 after steel companies rejected their demands for a 30 cent hourly wage increase package, covering a 12½ cent pay

Resort Burns In California; None Injured

Rangers Speeding To Scene In Effort To Control Flames

(By The Associated Press)

KING CITY, Calif., Sept. 9 — Forty vacationers, turned fire fighters when trapped at beautiful Tassa Jara hot springs resort, were safe today but still surrounded by uncontrolled flames.

The wind-blown fire last night imperiled inhabitants of the scenic mountain valley 20 miles west of here and destroyed a two-story stone hotel building and about 15 of the 35 cabins.

Several hours after a caretaker reported the flames yesterday, the fate of the hotel occupants had been in doubt.

Bridge Burned Out

Late last night Forest Ranger Henry Branagh and Jack Curran, a U. S. fire control officer, reached the resort. They drove through half a mile of still burning woodland. Stopped at a burned-out bridge, they walked the rest of the way through smouldering brush and reported by radio all were safe.

Curran said actor Phil Terry, owner of the resort, had organized vacationists into a volunteer brigade to fight the flames. He said none was hurt and all were calm.

Curran found Terry's car abandoned on the road leading into the resort. The actor, away when the fire started, apparently walked to the scene from the car.

Evacuation Possible

The vacationers may have to remain at the hot springs until late today. Curran said the kitchen had not burned and could be used to feed them and hundreds of others being brought to battle the flames.

Evacuation of some of the guests may be attempted by helicopter today. A helicopter was being trucked from Palo Alto, Calif., to the resort area last night.

With Terry — former husband of Joan Crawford, movie actress — were his wife, the former Helen Myers, and her three children, two sons and a daughter.

The flames had blackened some 1,200 acres in the Los Padres national forest. The scene is between King City and the Pacific, about 100 miles south of San Francisco.

Terrain Rough

Fire gleamed on the ridges around the resort, reached nearly to Arroyo Seco, six miles away, but was blocked there by the Arroyo Seco river.

Helicopters were sent to fly prisoners from Soledad prison camp to fire lines. Fifty rangers were being rushed to the scene.

Warren Barnes, fire control officer from Santa Barbara, said the

Rainfall Up To 2.50 Inches In Area Reported

Twister Is Sighted West Of Sundown; No Damage Traced

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

A slow gentle drizzle continued over much of the South Plains at noon today, immeasurably brightening prospects for a bumper cotton crop.

Farmers were becoming more concerned about the bollworm threat which might result from rains.

Today's moisture was gentle, as contrasted with a brief flurry of violence in a rural area four miles west of Sundown where a tornado was reported late Thursday afternoon.

Twister At Sundown

No damage and no injuries were reported as a result of the small twister which dipped down west of Sundown at 4:30 p. m. Thursday. Sundown is 45 miles southwest of Lubbock. It was the scene of a tornado May 6 which killed two persons, injured four and caused heavy property damage.

Apparently the closest populated area brushed by the funnel was the Magnolia Oil company production camp. It was described as "average" size by James A. Alexander, theater manager at Sundown. The funnel seemed to "rise from the ground to make contact with a very black cloud," said Mrs. Hugh Elledge of the Magnolia camp.

Heavy Rains Follow

The twister was followed by heavy rains in Hockley county. Edgar Brasch of Levelland said this morning a rain guage measured 2.50 inches, and other estimates ranged as high as three inches.

Cochran county to the west, also received heavy rains during the night.

The Weather bureau station at Municipal airport measured 1.21 inches from midnight to mid-morning today, when patches of blue were beginning to appear in the northwest, said Melton Connell, weather observer.

The moisture this morning brought the official rainfall total for the month to 2.85, just .05 short of the normal fall for the entire month of September.

The forecast was for scattered

ODESSA STREETS FLOODED

ODESSA, Sept. 9 (AP) — A heavy rain storm struck here this morning, flooding streets three feet deep in spots.

Radio station KECK was off the air for 30 minutes because of flooded electrical conduits. The rain began at 6:15 a. m. and it was still raining at mid-morning. There was no immediate estimate of total rain damage.

Fire Encircles Vacationers

More Improvement In Jobless Picture Expected This Month

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 — Further improvements in the unemployment picture is expected this month. This would reinforce August's 400,000 decline in the number of jobless men and women.

Officials predicted also that the July setback in industrial production will be wiped out completely when the Federal Reserve board issues its August index.

Government economists were cautiously optimistic in appraising yesterday's report of the Census bureau. It showed that civilian employment rose to 59,947,000 last month.

Leveling Off Indicated

That was tops for 1949, although almost 1,300,000 below the record total of a year ago.

The tally of jobless meantime dropped to 3,689,000 as mills, mines, stores and business houses absorbed workers. In July unemployment was 4,095,000, highest since 1942.

One highly placed economist said the significance of this showing "should not be exaggerated, but we have certainly pulled away from the downward spiral" which has prevailed since last fall.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer agreed, in guarded language; he saw evidence of a "leveling-off" and declared: "We are in a fundamentally sound condition for continuing our economic advance."

Congressmen Disagree

Democratic and Republican spokesmen in the Senate disagreed with each other. Senator Lucas (D-Ill) the majority leader, proclaimed there is "now no reason to fear a further recession." The GOP floor leader, Senator Wherry (Neb), felt that the 400,000 drop in unemployment was "too small to be regarded as a reliable index."

"I think the general situation remains about the same," Wherry told a reporter.

"There probably has been some slight improvement as a result of government expenditures. But I don't think anyone can tell yet whether it will last."

Lucas had no reservations. "The great consumer buying power of the country again is making its way forward," he said, adding:

"Industries which hesitated to go ahead on a declining market now realize that the leveling-off process has taken place, and they are beginning to produce more to replenish their inventories."

Report To Truman

It was learned, meanwhile, that Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's council of economic advisers, told President Truman yesterday that the business outlook will be clearer a month from now.

While Nourse found the August pick-up reassuring, he is understood to have reported that the pending negotiation of fourth-round wage demands may have high importance in the economic Leaving Home For Week Not So Bad, Is It?

Nine-Year-Old Businessman Can't Savvy Mother's Tears

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9.—Flushed with the success of his week-long "business venture," nine-year-old Mike Pearce today was getting set to go to work in earnest—with a newly-painted shoesine box.

Mike disappeared from home a week ago. When he showed up yesterday, he had a pocketful of silver and a present for his mother—a $2.75 camera.

It seems Mike's mother had been talking all summer about wanting a "really good" camera. So he decided to do something about it.

He went out to the municipal airport and, with the backing of some airlines clients, set himself up in business shining shoes. The money came rolling in. Mike blew himself to some comic books and ice cream.

He made a dollar the first day and decided to sleep in a truck at the airport, which was two miles from home, until he accumulated enough money to surprise his mother with the camera.

What with outlays for such necessary items as more comic books and more ice cream, it was a week before he could

WHEAT ESTIMATE IS DROPPED

Near-Record Corn Crop Is Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The Agriculture department today estimated this year's corn crop at 3,525,741,000 bushels—the second largest on record.

Wheat production was put at 1,129,081,000 bushels, the fourth largest ever grown.

The corn estimate is 12,516,000 bushels less than the 3,538,257,000-bushel forecast a month ago. It compares with last year's record of 3,650,548,000 bushels and with the ten-year (1938-47) average of 2,787,628,000 bushels.

Wheat Estimate Lower

The new corn figure did not change the possibility of government controls of some sort next year aimed at preventing accumulation of a livestock feed-grain surplus. However, no decision on controls is expected for another month or so.

The wheat estimate is 2,749,000 bushels less than the 1,131,830,000-bushel forecast a month ago. It compares with 1,288,409,000 produced last year and 991,950,000 for the ten-year average.

The estimate of winter wheat was unchanged from 894,874,000 bushels forecast a month ago. It compares with 890,098,000 last year and 726,553,000 for the ten-year average.

Total Broken Down

All spring wheat was put at 234,207,000 bushels, or 2,749,000 bushels less than 236,956,000 bushels forecast a month ago. It compares with 298,308,000 produced last year and 265,397,000 for the ten-year average.

Durum wheat was estimated at 40,472,000 bushels, compared with 42,278,000 a month ago, 44,742,000 last year and 36,256,000 for the ten-year average.

Other spring wheat was reported at 193,785,000 bushels, compared with 194,678,000 a month ago, 253,566,000 last year and 229,141,000 for the ten-year average, respectively, included:

Hurricane Is Still Churning

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 9 (AP) — A mighty tropical hurricane churned harmlessly through the Atlantic today after brushing past the honeymoon isles of Bermuda.

The king-sized storm, with winds still up to 130 miles near the center, moved northeast toward the Atlantic shipping lanes without posing a threat to any land.

Early today it was about 200 miles beyond the British-owned Bermuda islands. All shipping in the Atlantic was advised to give the big twister a wide berth.

No Damage Yet

Bermuda experienced sustained winds up to 55 miles an hour and gusts of near hurricane force. A few tree limbs blew down as the weakest side of the storm buffeted the islands, but there was no property damage and no injuries.

The island has been boarded up and waiting for the storm for two days.

Unless the storm takes a sudden —and unexpected—swerve toward the mainland, it can be written off as just a lot of useless energy blowing at nothing.

British Ship Hits Rocks In Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9 (U.P.) The 11,200 ton British motorship Pacific Enterprise with 54 persons aboard ran onto the rocks at Point Arena early today. Coast Guardsmen said the vessel was in danger of breaking up in pounding seas.

Coast Guard headquarters here said the ship ran fast aground on the treacherous rocks and was "taking water badly in holds one, two and three." A heavy fog bapketed the area about 100 miles north of San Francisco.

The spokesman said personnel from the Pt. Arena Coast Guard station were at the scene, but it was not immediately known whether any of the persons aboard had been taken off.

FARMERS FACE LABOR SHORTAGE

Drive For Cotton Pickers Is Pushed

(By The Associated Press)

Texas cotton farmers are trying to solve one of the worst cotton picker shortages in history.

The Texas Employment commission reported Thursday that 90,000 cotton pickers have failed to make their customary annual migration out of the lower Rio Grande and coastal bend area.

As a result, TEC offices throughout the state are making an intensive campaign to recruit local labor to harvest the fifth largest crop of record—an estimated 5,000,000 bales.

Students Urged To Work

In Austin the state headquarters of the TEC said that high school and college students are being urged to work in the cotton fields. Women who normally remain at home are being called into the job.

In Corpus Christi it was reported that the coastal bend's bumper crop was about three-fourths harvested. The stalk destruction deadline has been advanced to Oct. 10 and farmers believe the entire crop will be gathered, barring bad weather.

The area's production is expected to reach 250,000 bales.

Corpus Christi reported that the labor situation is much improved over early season conditions. One reason is that coastal bend farmers were among the first to obtain contract laborers from Mexico.

Wichita Area Short

A shortage of cotton pickers was reported over the entire Wichita Falls area—particularly in Baylor, Haskell and Knox counties.

More than 4,500 pickers are needed as soon as possible in the Temple area, the local TEC reported.

Crockett reported an immediate need for 500 more pickers in Houston county. Ginners estimate the

Salesmen's Fete Will Be Indoors

The third annual Salesmen's barbecue will be held in the Livestock Judging arena at the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds at 6:30 o'clock tonight instead of Mackenzie State park, as originally planned.

Arrangements Chairman Irving L. Jones made this announcement after a special meeting of his committee this morning. The uncertainty as to the weather caused the change. (For details of the barbecue program, see story on page 1, section 4).

One Dead, Ten Hurt In Cars

While rains today continued to make highways of Lubbock and the South Plains hazardous, the area's traffic toll included one dead and 10 injured from four auto mishaps Thursday.

A Lamesa woman, Mrs. Gene McAllister, 36, was killed Thursday morning in a two-car collision 12 miles north of there. Services were to be conducted at 4 p.m. today at the First Baptist church of Lamesa. Burial was to take place in the Lamesa cemetery.

Truck, Car Collide

Four persons were injured, one seriously, at 5:45 p.m. Thursday when a panel truck and car collided at Ave. Q and Twenty-seventh street.

Seriously injured was Jim Erby McDonald, 42, of 1513 Twenty-Eighth, driver of the Clothes Doctor Dry cleaners panel truck. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where attendants said his condition was "fair" this morning. He suffered a neck injury.

Tom Anderson, 18, of 2405 Twentieeth, former Lamesa resident who was driving the 1949 Ford sedan which collided with

21 Believed Killed In Airliner Crash

MONTREAL, Sept. 9 (AP)—Canadian Pacific Airlines said today one of its DC-3 planes crashed 40 miles from Quebec with 17 passengers and four crew members aboard. So far as is known none survived.

The plane was on a regular flight. It left Montreal at 8 a. m., made its regular stop at Quebec and continued on for Baie Comeau.

"The wreckage has been found and rescue operations are in full swing," an official said. "All the occupants of the plane are dead, as far as we know."

Officials said so far as they knew there were no United States citizens aboard the plane.

Priests Fight State Religion

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 9 (U.P.) — Authoritative church sources said today Catholic parents have been advised to withdraw children from religious classes in state-controlled schools if the government did not acknowledge the church's right to direct religious instructions.

These sources said catechism teachers and Catholic parents have been told that the church insists on the right to direct religious training in state schools.

New Duties Outlined

If the Communist regime refuses to acknowledge this right, authoritative church sources said, "it is better for Catholic parents to exercise their rights and withdraw their children from religious classes and arrange for their religious instruction and education in another suitable manner."

Ministry of education officials have been calling meetings of the catechists all summer and outlining their "new duties," these sources said.

Reports of the meetings indicated the catechists objected strongly to the "new duties."

Pledge Quoted

Authoritative sources also revealed that Roman Catholic priests in Czechoslovakia will refuse to take any government oath which would violate their priestly obligations.

These sources said the priests had prepared their own pledge of loyalty to the Czech "republic" and "will not sign any other loyalty pledge differing in form and content" from that pledge.

The Catholic version read:

"I hereby promise as a faithful citizen to remain loyal to the republic of Czechoslovakia, to undertake nothing that would be

Cross Is Burned In Maryland Community

TOWSON, Md., Sept. 9 (AP) — Baltimore county police said a 12-foot cross was burned early today in a negro community near here.

Police said they extinguished the flaming cross, which was visible for miles. It was made of gasoline-soaked fiber rugs and burlap tied with baling wire.

Officers said there were a number of footprints and tire tracks around the cross.

Americans Alarmed By National Hatreds

Displaced Persons Of World Major Problem, Group Finds

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—A band of Americans who flew around the world found it a "somewhat depressing" place, one of the travelers said today.

Almost everywhere they went they were shocked and saddened by the plight of displaced persons, said Dr. Guy Snavely, director of the association of American colleges.

And they were alarmed, particularly in the Middle East and India, by smouldering national hatreds and the threat of further conflict.

"If we hadn't realized it before, this trip convinced us the world is in a turmoil," Snavely told a reporter.

"The trouble between the Hindus and the Moslems, continuing in the wake of the massacres at the time of partition, has filled the cities of India and Pakistan with starving refugees.

"On a much smaller scale there is the conflict between the Arabs and the Jews.

"And many nations are

Swindling Suspects Remanded To Jail

Bonds totaling $2,500 were set this morning by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, for two men delivered here Thursday night to face charges of felony swindling.

Louis Elmer Clay, 39, of Fort Worth, was remanded to jail in lieu of $1,500 bond Lynn set in absence of D. W. Robertson, justice of peace in whose court the complaint had been filed. Bond of $1,000 was set for Arthur L. Archer, 22, of Cisco, on a charge that had been filed in Lynn's court. He too was remanded to custody.

Clay had been arrested at Anson, Archer at Cisco, officials said.

Bold Bandits Invade Home

HOUSTON, Sept. 9 (U.P.) — Two educated young bandits invaded a home in the swanky River Oaks sector here last night, held a surprised couple at bay with a revolver and a tommy gun, bound the victims with adhesive tape and escaped with $140.

The masked pair boldly rang the front doorbell at the James E. Anderson residence, and when Anderson investigated, shoved him back into the living room at gun-point.

Youths Are Polite

"Who is in the house with you, and how much money have you?" one inquired.

Anderson told police the youths seemed to be well-educated. Both were polite throughout the 30-minute hold-up," he said.

They forced Anderson to lead the way to an upstairs bedroom, where Mrs. Anderson was informed of the turn of events. They rifled his wallet of $140, turned down an expensive wrist watch, and then drew a roll of adhesive tape from a pocket.

Man Taped Up

Anderson sat in a chair while the men bound his wrists behind him, taped his ankles to the chair, and finally taped up his mouth. Mrs. Anderson was taped at the wrists and ankles.

During the robbery, the Anderson telephone rang. Unperturbed, one of the gunmen jerked the wires from the wall without saying a word. Then, they left hurriedly. No attempt was made to ransack

How To Play Canasta: 7

Extra Bonus Of 100 Points Given For Concealed Hand

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
Written for NEA Service

AFTER completing the draw in four-handed Canasta, a player may meld, if he is able and willing to do so. (He must meld if he draws the up-card of the pack).

Sequences are not melded in Canasta, only cards of the same rank); for example, three or more queens or three or more six-spots. Suits and sequences play no part in Canasta.

The initial legal meld of a side must conform to the minimum requirements outlined in the scoring table.

After an initial legal meld has been made, a player in his proper turn may make any additional melds or add cards to melds previously made by his side.

A MELD of three or more cards always must have at least two natural cards, and not more than three wild cards.

WILD CARDS: "The four jokers and the eight deuces are wild. A joker or a deuce may be used to help you to lay down a meld. The value of a joker or a deuce does not change to the value of the card for which it is used. For example, if you put down two sevens and a joker, the joker counts 50 points, and not 5 points as each of the other seven does.

Once a wild card is melded, it cannot be taken back into the hand by the substitution of a natural card. In other words, there is no trading for a wild card.

WILD cards may be used to make a meld or to add to a meld previously made. Any number of wild cards may be added to a completed Canasta, but no other meld may contain more than three wild cards. Deuces and jokers cannot be melded by themselves.

MELDING OUT: A payer melds out when he can legally get rid of the last card in his hand, either by discarding it, or making a meld, or playing it to a meld for his side.

CONCEALED HAND: An extra bonus of 100 points is given to a player who melds out with a concealed hand. To earn this bonus, he must meld all of his cards in one turn, not having previously melded any of his cards, nor can he play any of his cards on a meld previously made by his partner. (A concealed hand of course must not contain any red treys; they must be placed face up on the table at the player's first opportunity to play, and a card drawn from the stock pile to replace each red trey placed on the table.)

To go out with a concealed hand, either the player's partner must have previously melded a Canasta, or the concealed hand must contain a Canasta.

Tomorrow: Four-handed play concluded.

Devoted Husband Is Concerned Over Weight Of Wife; She Refuses Major Surgery

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife, in her late forties, is becoming tremendously overweight. This has come on gradually for the last 10 years. And although I have heard a good deal lately about compulsions or frustrations being a cause of overeating, I cannot think of any reason why she should feel a constant need for eating.

Marjorie is an extremely busy person, never stopping to rest during the day, and when bedtime comes she drops to sleep immediately in sheer exhaustion. She isn't content to just take care of her family, but must needs be helping the entire community, and for that reason she is exploited by some, but that does not deter her.

Because of her ample kindliness, Marjorie is loved by everyone; and at home she is a dear loving mother and devoted wife. And although she hasn't been feeling well this past year, it hasn't stopped her "good works," but merely slowed her down.

WIFE FEARS SURGERY WOULD END HER LIFE

Recently I took her in hand and marched her to our family doctor, who tells us she should have a major operation for female trouble, which she definitely refuses to undergo, saying she has a premonition that she would die if subjected to it. The doctor tells me she must lose weight before he would wish to operate.

We have no financial difficulties, so she has no need to worry on that score, although speaking of worries, her childhood was a hard one after her father died, leaving her mother to bring up several children as best she could. Can you give me any clues as to why my wife feels compelled to eat so abnormally? Signed E.B.

WHICH COMES FIRST, GLUTTONY OR OBESITY?

DEAR E. B.: It is a question in my mind as to which started first, your wife's mounting avoirdupois or her addiction to overeating. As the average woman nears middle age her glandular activity slows down, routing more food into fat and less into energy, so that she tends to put on superfluous weight as naturally as water running downhill, unless she consciously concerns herself to "diet" intelligently.

Further, once her weight has risen 10 pounds, just 10 pounds, no more than that, over and above what would be optimum weight for good health in a person her height, with her bony structure—after that, a stubborn trend towards obesity is already on.

Any woman who has ever taken a stand against getting fat, after seeing the scales veer 10 pounds higher, knows it is a pitched battle of mind over appetite to slim down again even that little, because she is fighting temptation to eat unnecessarily, not only at every meal but every waking hour—unless and until she wins back to optimum weight and holds it long enough for her metabolism, palate and stomach to readjust to economy-fueling. If that reconditioning triumph is achieved, she is relieved of enslavement to false appetite, and her interest wings blithely to other things.

However, if a firm stand isn't taken in the first round—and every added unit of 10 pounds may be reckoned a losing round against obesity—if an early comeback isn't successfully staged, each successive layer of fat weighs heavily on the eater's spirit as well as body, engendering a defeatist psychology and, worse yet, an increasingly voracious hunger.

OBSCURE DISORDERS ACTIVATE GLUTTONY

IT IS axiomatic that the appetite grows for what it feeds on—usually said of sensual indulgence, but equally true of gourmet practises. However, perhaps I should not imply a distinction between the two in this case, for according to moral doctrine, overeating is a spiritually debilitating habit, namely the sin of gluttony.

From the medical view, gluttony is a symptom of either gnawing anxiety or of "hidden" malnutrition, say of serious vitamin deficiency—supposing it isn't simply surrender to wrong eating habits. It may be that Marjories' need of a major operation has been subjectively felt by her for some years, and thus is a source of gnawing anxiety that she tries to (1) assuage by compulsive eating, and (2) run away from by pursuing good works to the point of exhaustion.

In any event, Marjorie's gross overweight is directly due to unnecessary gorging, and whatever her other virtues, she is capable in that, especially if she won't make positive efforts to regain normalcy or insure longevity. A sensible woman in her plight would take her problem to the finest medical minds available, say at Johns Hopkins hospital or the Mayo Clinic, if she had the funds to do so. M.H.

Dickey Bids High For Football Ducats

J. Ray Dickey today became the proud owner of two ducats to the SMU-Notre Dame grid clash at Dallas Dec. 3.

He was handed the hard-to-get tickets by E. O. (Doc) Stewart at an American Business club luncheon in the Hilton Hotel after he had signaled the highest bid of $76. The $76 is slated for the Boy's club fund.

Stewart, an automobile salesman, sounded more like a tobacco auctioneer as he pleaded for higher bids.

Jack Boren, ticket chairman for the sale of tickets to the South Plains Kennel club Dog Show Tuesday Sept. 20 at Lubbock Municipal Air Field, issued 10 tickets to each member present.

George Dale presided.

Burglary And Theft Reports Are Made

Meat valued at $7.50 was reported taken in a burglary of J. B. Smith's barbecue place, on top of the hill on East Broadway, the sheriff's office said this morning it had been informed. Entrance was through a screen at rear of the place.

Curtis C. Ike of east of Lubbock told the sheriff's investigators that a .38 caliber pistol on a .45 caliber frame had been stolen from him. He estimated value at $25.

RITES SET FOR BOY

BORGER, Sept. 9 (Special) — Services will be conducted at 9:30 a. m. Sunday at the Blackburn-Shaw-Brown chapel for Larry E. Geary, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Geary of Borger, who died Wednesday at the North Plains hospital here after an illness of several months. Rev. Charles McDowell, pastor of the Fellowship Baptist church, will officiate. Burial will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday in Lubbock cemetery.

News Briefs

In 72nd District court action Thursday, Judge Dan Blair approved a compromise settlement on a suit brought by Ray Drew Lea against the Texas Employers Insurance association. Under the judgment, Lea was to receive $1,500, and $750 was to be paid to the law firm of Dillard, Cooke and Dillard, representing Lea.

Title and possession to all of lots 12 and 13, block 12, in Morning Side addition was awarded to J. K. Burke Thursday in a judgment issued in 99th District court by Judge G. V. Pardue. Burke had filed the civil suit against R. W. Sheppard, his unknown heirs and legal representatives.

Cap Moore, former Lubbock county deputy sheriff and resident of Abilene, is recovering rapidly after entering the Veterans Administration hospital in Amarillo about two weeks ago, his wife informed Lubbock friends in a letter Thursday. Moore is a patient in Ward 2 of the hospital.

Attendants at Lubbock Memorial hospital reported today that a young woman patient who has been asleep or unconscious since Tuesday afternoon is beginning to show signs of awakening. The girl occasionally asked for water, but could not be aroused further. She had been brought to the hospital from the police station, where she had been lodged on a charge of drunkenness early Tuesday morning after her stomach had been pumped out by hospital attendants when she told police she had taken a quantity of barbiturates.

Robert A. Schuler, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schuler, of 2619 Thirty-third, will leave Saturday morning for San Diego. Upon his return to the West Coast, Schuler will be reassigned for duty with the Navy. He received his basic training at the United States Naval Training center at San Diego.

Curly Harmmon, former Lubbock used car dealer, died of a heart attack in Fort Worth Thursday morning, friends here learned. He was about 60. His only survivor, Mrs. E. E. Mosley, 2317 Thirtyp-second, his daughter, left for Fort Worth where funeral services will be conducted Saturday.

County court officials said P. G. George, about 50, and C. O. Randolph, 27, had pleaded guilty of liquor law charges this morning and that George had been fined $150 and costs, Randolph $400 and costs. A county court jury that found B. F. (Lefty) Fowler, 34, guilty of a liquor law violation in a Thursday verdict recommended a $500 fine and court costs.

Housing For Many Families In Lubbock Area Needed By LAFB

Living quarters for hundreds of families are urgently needed and Col. Hugh D. Wallace, deputy commander of Lubbock Air Force base, today requested assistance of Lubbock landlords, realtors and civic organizations in finding accommodations.

Col. Wallace announced that 2,184 military personnel will arrive at the base between Sept. 16 and Oct. 1.

In addition, many civilian employes will be placed on duty. Many of these men have wives and families for whom living quarters must be found.

"It is inevitable that a military move as large as the one underway here will work a hardship on some of the personnel involved, and in this case it falls on the men with families who are faced with finding living accommodations," the officer said.

It was announced that a special organization has been formed at the base to help these persons find homes for their families.

First Lt. Reed T. Peter will be in charge of the office, assisted by Master Sgt. Leo L. Greggs. This office will be operated in conjunction with the public information section, and will list and tabulate all available housing.

The housing section is located in building No. 146 with telephone numbers 3-1951, extension 144.

The office personnel will check all its listings daily and will release listings only to those families for whom the quarters are suitable, thus sparing landlords unnecessary calls, the colonel explained.

"The Air Force pays a fixed rental allowance which must cover the cost of utilities also," it was explained. "This is a comparatively small amount in relation to the present level of rentals in this community. The principal demand here will be for low and medium cost rental houses, apartments and bedrooms with kitchen privileges, but listings of all available rentals are wanted."

Col. Wallace said today he will request the full cooperation of every civic organization, realtor and landlord in Lubbock and surrounding towns in an effort to compile all available listings.

It appears that the major shift in personnel to LAFB will result in an overflow to surrounding towns within weekend driving distance of Lubbock. Many families who have been living at Barksdale Air Force base must vacate their quarters there and consequently must move to Lubbock at once rather than wait until several large housing projects now under construction can be completed.

Former Lamb Farm Agent Gets Leave

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 9. (Special)—Robert V. Thurmond, associate county agent-irrigation, has been granted a leave of absence to do graduate study at Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, Utah. The announcement was made by Director G. G. Gibson, Texas Extension service.

Thurmond was named assistant county agent for Lamb county on September 15, 1947 and on May 1, 1948 was transferred to his present position. His headquarters have been at Lubbock and he has worked in extension districts 1 and 2.

The leave becomes effective on September 13 and ends on August 31, 1950.

Thurmond will receive training in irrigation and drainage methods and according to Gibson, this training will give him a much broader knowledge of the subject and enable him to do a better job with the county agents in furthering the county irrigation programs in the counties. He will be studying for his MS degree. He holds a BS degree in agricultural engineering from Texas A. and M. college.

Truman As Determined As They Come On His Job Appointments

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—President Truman's refusal to withdraw an Iowa federal judgeship nomination was tabbed in the Senate today as a new demonstration that the President can be as politically stubborn as they come.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday he isn't going to call back from the Senate his appointment of Carroll O. Switzer to be federal district judge in southern Iowa.

His announcement was unexpected in view of (1) Switzer's recent agreement to drop out because of the vigorous opposition to the nomination by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) and (2) reports that the President had written Gillette saying he presumed Switzer's action had made the Iowa senator very happy.

Feeling Unchanged

Gillette wouldn't talk about the reported letter from the President. He did tell a reporter he thinks the President's decision to stick by the nomination is unfortunate.

"I have not changed my feeling that I have expressed before, that Mr. Switzer is a fine, clean chap but is distinctly lacking on the experience and temperament we should have in our judiciary," Gillette added.

It has been the general understanding among interested senators that the Switzer nomination—which Gillette had said was "intended to be a direct affront to me"—would be washed up with the withdrawal of the nomination and the submission to the White House of names of two men favored by Gillette.

Solution Rumored

The Iowa senator had recommended William F. Riley of Des Moines, former Iowa Bar association president, and Ed Halbach of Clinton.

J. Howard McGrath, the new attorney general, was reported to have arranged for this solution of the political impasse before he left the Senate to enter the cabinet.

If Mr. Truman ever agreed—and some senators said his letter to Gillette indicated he had—he changed his mind. On that point, they recalled Mr. Truman's visit to Des Moines last week. He may have discussed the nomination then with Jake More, Iowa Democratic chairman who has been sponsoring Switzer for the job.

Mr. Truman's chances of getting Senate approval for Switzer look dim. Gillette's opposition has tied the nomination up in the Senate judiciary committee and Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) evidently is in no mood to move it out.

Despite this outlook, the President told reporters he thinks Switzer would make an excellent judge and intends to stand by him.

Mr. Truman noted that Switzer had written him saying the President could withdraw the nomination if he chose. The President added that he doesn't play the game that way.

He wasn't so communicative about reports that he might find a federal job for his old friend former Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington. Wallgren has said he is coming here soon to talk over the prospects.

The President wouldn't say whether he plans to give Wallgren a recess appointment (one made while Congress is in recess) as chairman of the National Security Resources board.

Wallgren's appointment to this post was bottled up in the Senate armed services committee when Senator Byrd (D-Va) joined six Republicans in voting to put it in cold storage. Wallgren finally asked that it be withdrawn and Mr. Truman took that action May 17.

A recess appointment, however, still would be subject to Senate action next January.

In the diplomatic field, Mr. Truman said he plans to nominate Stanton Griffis of New York to be ambassador to Argentina. He would succeed James Bruce, who tried to resign earlier this year to return to private business in New York.

Griffis, an investment banker, formerly served as ambassador to Poland and to Egypt.

Fishing Boat Gets British Submarine

CAMPBELTOWN, Scotland, Sept. 9. (AP)—The fishing boat Nil Desperandum dropped its net yesterday in the firth of Clyde and caught His Majesty's submarine Alcide.

The submarine was exercising submerged at 90 feet. It surfaced and the crew disentangled the net from the conning tower and periscope.

The skipper of the Nil Desperandum donated the fish in the net to the submarine crew.

Minds Of Youths Declared Warped Under Nazi Rule

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A 26-year-old German, a wartime member of the Wehrmacht artillery, tells in the following article how years under the mastery of the Nazis warped the minds and souls of German youth—the basis of the Germany of the future. Arno Kretschmer, now enrolled as a journalism student at the University of Georgia, describes graphically the progress being made in educating German youth in the ways of democracy.)

By ARNO KRETSCHMER
Written especially for International News Service

ATLANTA, Sept. 9 — The fall of Hitler and Nazism left Germany a mass of rubble.

Not the least of the rubble was the German youth — warped in body as well as mind — and calculatingly indoctrinated with the philosophy of hatred.

That rubble cannot be removed in one day.

Big Job Started

When American occupation force entered Germany they found a young generation with little morale, almost no faith in anything and cynicism about the world. This generation had been trained to accept only military discipline.

It was a big job, but an important one—for the future of Germany was—and is—in its youth.

The occupation forces cooperated with the YMCA, which sent capable personnel from England to work with German youth. Young special service officers began to entertain German youth.

Aid Still Needed

Athletic fields were opened for the younger children. Discussion groups were begun for the older boys and girls.

In these groups, the young German was given his first introduction to democratic principles. He learned to appreciate and be tolerant of other views—even if they clashed with those he held.

It's a long road—and a hard one.

But with the help of liberal-minded politicians and the assistance of the American occupation forces—and I think we still need their assistance—some progress has been made.

Democracy Makes Gain

There are the beginnings of light where before there was only darkness and bigotry.

Indoctrination of youth was not uniquely Hitler's idea. In Germany it dates back some 30 years to the period right after the first world war when all political parties made a big play for the support of young Germans with "slanted" appeals to their ideologies.

In spite of this background, German youth are learning to live with and like Democracy.

I am convinced that despite all the obstacles still in our way, we are already moving toward a better understanding between the young peoples of all nations of good will.

The German youngster, I am certain, will soon learn to appreciate the ideas which make this world worth living in.

Public Accountants Hold Regular Meet

The Lubbock chapter of the Texas Association of Public Accountants held their regular monthly meeting Thursday night in Hotel Lubbock.

A highlight of the meeting was a talk by H. Klaus, president of the Klaus Exploration Co., of Lubbock, on "Geophysical Exploration for Oil, Oil and Gas Resources and Economics of Oil Production."

A question and answer period followed Klaus' talk.

Several guests attended the meeting, among them L. H. Anderson, of Midland, president of the Texas Association of Public Accountants.

Obsolete Royal Navy Ship Will Be Sunk

LONDON, Sept. 9. (AP)—One of the two surviving ships that fought in the battle of Trafalgar—the old wooden wall "Implacable"—is to be sunk. This will leave only the "Victory," Lord Nelson's flagship during this great battle with Napoleon's navy. The Victory is preserved in a drydock at the Portsmouth Navy yard.

The Admiralty said no definite date for the sinking of the "Implacable" has been set up but the old ship is to be taken down the English Channel and sunk in Hurd Deep, off Alderney in the Channel Islands. Much was done to try to preserve this link with a glorious episode in British naval history, the Admiralty said, but it was found impracticable to save her. The cost of making her shipshape was estimated at $800,000.

Chinese Reds Dealt Blows

CANTON, Sept. 9 (AP) — The Nationalists today dealt the Chinese Communists stiff blows on both the military and political fronts, official accounts said.

The official Central Daily News said rebellious Yunnan province in southwest China had decided to fight the Reds.

Gov. Lu Han last week proclaimed his independence of the Nationalists and sought to stay out of the civil war. His move seriously threatened government plans to make a redoubt of Chungking, the old wartime capital in Szechwan province just north of Yunnan.

Lu met at Chungking with Chiang Kai-Shek, who is trying to rally what remains of Nationalist China for a last stand. Lu then returned to Kunming, his Yennan capital. Chiang may return to Canton tomorrow.

The Daily News said Lu had pledged to fight the Reds to the end. The newspaper accused Gen. Lung Yun, ousted governor of Yunnan, of plotting the revolt. It styled him a shameless tool of the Reds.

Attacks Spread

On the military front, the Nationalists broadened their attacks on the front north of Canton, the ministry of national defense said.

Chinese press reports asserted the Nationalists had recaptured Jucheng, strong point 170 miles north of Canton. From here the Reds had been aiming attacks toward the railway from Canton to Hengyang, Nationalist base 265 miles north of Canton.

The ministry said only that 6,000 irregulars and a regiment of the Reds 14th army had retreated from Jucheng, which is 40 miles east of the railroad.

The ministry said Nationalist counteratacks were rolling east from Leiyang and Chenhsien, 230 and 180 miles north of Canton. These are aimed at lifting the threat to the railway.

The ministry also declared that a Red attack near Kiennan, 140 miles northeast of Canton, was repulsed. This Communist thrust was an apparent attempt to invade Canton's Kwangtung province.

The ministry finally admitted the situation was obscure around Sining, capital of Tsinghai province in northwest China. (The Communists say they already have captured Sining.)

REASON FOR WILTING

Noticing a five-year-old pupil wilting in a temperature of 82, a teacher in Glamorgan, Wales, found he was wearing a vest, flannel shirt, elder brother's waistcoat, pullover and thick tweed jacket.

Suits Filed In Smog Deaths

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9 (AP) — The families of 10 persons who died during a smog at Donora, Pa., last October have filed suit for $556,000 against the American Steel and Wire Co.

The suits, filed in federal court yesterday by Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, charged the U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiary with "willful neglect" in permitting dangerous fumes to hang over the nearby milltown for the five-day period in which a total of 22 persons died.

More Suits Due

Margiotti said additional suits for $1,487,950 will be filed on behalf of 121 persons who claimed injury to their health. The suits filed yesterday seek treble damages.

Hundreds were made ill and more than a score of elderly asthmatic and heart sufferers died from Oct. 25 to Oct. 30, 1948, as a choking combination of smoke and fog blanketed the Monongahela river town.

A report on a survey made by the U. S. Public Health service has not yet been released. The survey was made by a team of investigators who went to Donora after the disaster and attempted to duplicate industrial conditions prevalent during the smog period.

Reading Disability Factor Is Explained

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 9. (U.P.)—Poor reading ability in a child may be attributed to unhappy family life and emotional disturbances, a Northwestern University professor says.

Prof. Paul A. Witty, director of the school's psycho-educational clinic, told a meeting here that the school made a study of 100 elementary and 100 high school students who were "disabled" readers.

Forty-two per cent of the secondary school students and 46 per cent of the elementary pupils displayed emotional problems considered sufficiently serious to warrant special attention, he said.

The percentages were much lower in groups of average or successful readers.

ACC Slated To Field Inexperienced Team Against Tech

Crippled Red Raider Squad To Close Drills For First Clash

(Special To The Journal)

ABILENE, Sept. 9—Lack of lettermen will cause Coach Tonto Coleman to reach far down into the grab bag Saturday night in Lubbock when the Abilene Christian college Wildcats invade the lair of the Red Raiders of Texas Tech in the opening grid game of the 1949 season for both teams.

Coach Coleman lost 14 lettermen by graduation after his successful 1948 season and a complete rebuilding task confronted him when the Wildcat hopefuls answered his call Sept. 1. As a result, there are only 13 lettermen and one transfer available with any experience at all onwhom to call.

Last year's eleven, which won five, lost three and tied one, had one of the best defensive and offensive records of any Texas Conference team.

The Wildcats last year dropped games to West Texas (41-19), McMurry (13-9) and Arkansas (40-6). In turn, they licked Austin, Southwestern, Colorado Western, Pensacola Naval Air Station and Howard Payne. Their lone tie was with Hardin, which kept them from finishing first in their conference.

Team Better Balanced

Coach Coleman has predicted that his 1949 outfit will be better-balanced, have better passing and a slightly better line—but there'll be no V. T. Smith. The Little All-American halfback of the past three seasons is starring now as a rookie for the Los Angeles Rams.

The transfer will be Bob Davidson, at guard. He was all-state tackle at Port Arthur high in 1947, and co-captain of the Texas Aggie freshmen last year.

Bob Bailey, at the other guard, is an Abilene high product, a sophomore who is working for his first letter.

Starting Backs Listed

The starting halfbacks will be Jerry Mullins, from Valley Mills, and Sam Davidson, from Huntsville, a pair of sophomores. Mullins, a fine kicker, showed much promise as a freshman but suffered a severe knee injury before the first 1948 game that kept him out all season. Davidson, who was developing rapidly at season's end suffered a foot injury yesterday that may keep him on the bench Saturday night.

Coleman will have three-letter man L. G. Wilson of Anson, at one end, Pete Ragus, a Campbell, Calif., boy, who has one letter, will be at the other wing.

Tackles due to start saw heavy service last season. They are Harry House of Fort Smith, Ark., and Tex Williams of Waco.

Bill Ayres, senior from Madill, Okla., and the Murray Aggie eleven, will be at quarterback. His understudy is Ted Sitton, a freshman from Stamford.

Due to see some action will be Bailey Woods, from Ranger Junior college, a 180-pound speed boy.

Wallace Bullington, 1948 all-Southern and all-Alabama center from Athens, Ala., may see action in the line, at center or tackle.

Abe Lincoln, junior from Sweetwater, and Dub Orr, a senior from Vernon, will share the work at center. Lincoln was 1947 all-state high school center and played freshman football at T. C. U.

Injuries Hit Raider Squad

Fullback J. W. Thompson of Odessa this morning was scheduled to undergo a minor operation for removal of a bone splinter from the heel of his right foot, as the injury bugaboo took its first toll of Texas Tech football men.

Thompson injured his foot last week during scrimmage, but the condition was not known for certain until further x-rays were taken yesterday. Dr. J. H. Stiles, team physician, said that the operation would keep the hefty fullback out of action for 10 days.

Worrell Counted Out

Fullback George Worrell also is counted on for being lost this Saturday night, when the Red Raiders open their season against Abilene Christian college here. Worrell received a bruised kidney and has orders to remain out of the first game.

Also missing the initial tilt will be Tackle John Andrews, who has a badly bruised right shoulder. Dr. Stiles told him that he was not to play Saturday night under any conditions. His place probably will be taken by Jerrell Price, hard smashing sophomore tackle from Brownfield.

Raider depth is strong enough and deep enough to absorb these injuries and the return of Guard Bill Stallings to action, after he was out with a pinched side muscle, sends the squad into the ACC game in relatively good condition.

Yesterday's drill was kept light, even though intensive work was done. Emphasis was on passing, with teams changing from offensive and defensive sides to give teams work in the two phases. Doing most of the passing were Quarterbacks John Moughon, Milton Rathbone, Ernest Hawkins and Albert Salem, with Junior Artebrun also getting into action.

Tickets for all Tech games that have been reserved by letter or telephone must be picked up at the Tech athletic office tonight not later than 6 p. m. If not picked up, the tickets will be placed on general sale.

Dukes Batter Lamesa, 20-8

(By The Associated Press)

A new record for hits in a single West Texas-New Mexico League playoff game was established Thursday.

Albuquerque batters pounded 23 safeties in winning over Lamesa 20 to 8 to even the count between the two clubs in the Shaughnessy playoff.

In the other game, Amarillo came from behind to edge Abilene 3 to 2.

Albuquerque goes to Lamesa tonight for a three game series. Abilene remains in Amarillo for one more game.

Shone Gets Win

In New Mexico, it was Frank Shone's show. The pitching ace did the mound work and virtually led the batting parade to take the Dukes to a victory to even the series with Lamesa. Lamesa won Wednesday 12 to 4.

Shone slammed out a pair of doubles and two singles and batted in five runs. He retired in the seventh with abdominal and head pains.

At Amarillo, Abilene outhit the Panhandle club 10 to 4 but was unable to make the win column.

Rudy Lorona issued the Gold Sox only four safeties while Abilene collected 10 from Jim Reynolds.

Amarillo came from behind a 2 to 1 count in the fifth to tally one run in each the sixth and seventh for the victory.

JACK GUITERREZ SLATED TO HURL TONIGHT'S GAME

LAMESA, Sept. 9. (Special)—The ace of the Lamesa Lobo mound staff, Jack Guieterrez with a record of 18 wins and only four losses, is scheduled to pitch for Lamesa tonight.

Guiterrez failed in his last two starts this year, but has not worked since Monday night. He will attempt to give the Loboes an edge in the playoff series with Albuquerque, which stands at one game apiece now.

An overflow crowd is expected for each game of the three that will be played here and accommodations have been made. Additional bleachers that will seat 600 more persons have been installed and ropes will be stretched down the foul lines to keep the crowds off the field.

Tickets are being sold at the Green Hut cafe and Clark Drug store here.

Midland Beats Big Spring Club, 11-3

(By The Associated Press)

Midland bounced into second place in the Longhorn league standings last night, dropping pace-setter Big Spring, 11-3.

The Indians hold a half-game advantage over Vernon, which lost to Odessa, 3-4, with the season due to end Sunday.

Ballinger and Sweetwater split a doubleheader. Ballinger won the first game, 5-3, lost the second, 6-3.

San Angelo and Roswell were rained out.

Lew Dawson homered for Midland and Carlos Pascual hit one out of the park for Big Spring.

Three hits and four walks produced Odessa's four runs in the sixth inning.

BOUT SET TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP) — The Madison Square Garden boxing season opens tonight, after a three-month lapse, with a ten-round bout between Kid Gavilan of Havana, a welterweight contender, and Rocky Castellani, Luzerne, Pa., middleweight.

Blue-Beamers Face Meet Tilt Tonight

GREELEY, Colo., Sept. 9. (Special) — Lubbock's Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers softball team will make its fourth appearance in the National Softball Congress tournament tonight when the Texans oppose the winner of the Greeley-Gainesville, Fla., game.

Gainesville lost its first game tonight, dropping a 2 to 1 decision to Hansford, Calif. Lubbock had a rest tonight after trimming Stamford, Tex., 3-1 Wednesday night.

Ten teams remain in the tournament, including Lubbock and El Paso. Four of the teams remaining are unbeaten, with Phoenix, Ariz., and Taft, Calif., among the favorites to win.

Finals in the tournament will be played Sunday.

The Blue-Beamers play their game tonight at 9:30 MST.

SEMINOLE—One of the South Plain's most enthusastic and hardest working clubs, the Booster club of Seminole, Wednesday night presented a new, modern $2,400 electric scoreboard to Seminole High school bringing the football plant up to date in every respect. The presentation was made during a variety show that more than repaid the Booster club members for their own contributations and left something in the kitty for the next project. But that didn't stop the members from hustling consessions and helping stage the effects used with the clever and attractive variety show.

After the field lights had been cut off and the variety show had concluded its portion of the entertainment, the scoreboard was presented to the school by W. E. Cox and accepted by Ted Edwards. and then, while Ox Jameson, the master of ceremonies was adding his well chosen words, the lights on the scoreboard were turned on. It's impressive. It leaves nothing to the imagination and the football fan who can't keep up with what's going on with that scoreboard ought to go back to school. It's without question one of the finest scoreboards to be erected in a Class A school in Texas, let alone Double A or college. The only lament from this city is that it doesn't appear to have a football team to go along with the equipment.

Coach Gordon Wood, whose been coaching football for well over 10 years, says that he's really snake-bitten this year. And he doesn't know why. The other day he wrote us a letter listing his injuries. The roster of hospital cases was impressive. It began on page one and extended onto page two. In fact, there are almost more boys in the infirmary than there are out for practice. We don't know what the good burghers here have been feeding their offspring this summer, but bones are brittle. Broken legs have been the biggest plague and most of the injuries are from breaks. And even before we could get any of Gordon's letter in the paper, via Choc's column Sunday, two more boys end up with casts on their legs.

That's right. Two more back-field men suffered broken legs Saturday night, leaving Gordon and Morris Southall, his assistant, with only one sound, ablebodied letter-winning back remaining. For Gordon's sake, we're glad that he has a quarterback. But the rest of the squad is hard put to it. There are only 29 boys on the entire squad schedule. He would like to ing seriously of curtailing the B spuad schedule. He would likt to give them the experience they'd get, but the truth of the matter is that he's going to have to use a lot of these boys on the varsity eleven. He knows that there are other boys in school who could make his team, but their mothers or fathers won't let them play. He's powerless to do anything about it, even though he needs those additional boys badly.

Gordon looks to Kermit, Wink and Andrews as having the best teams in the district (District 5-A), with Denver City, Crane, Monahans and Fort Stockton capable of giving trouble. All he'll say about his wounded Seminole eleven is that that's the number he will have on the field at one time. He sees all the districts as being extra tought this year, with few easy dates on any schedule. And to prove it, he's playing Crane tonight at Seminole. It may well be

CARDINALS, DODGERS TRIUMPH

Detroit Gets Two Wins Over Indians

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

Red Rolfe's Detroit Tigers, hottest club in baseball with a steaming 16-out-of-18 fever, today seemed to have delivered the kayo wallop to the world champion Cleveland Indians.

The Tribe still has a mathematical chance at the American league pennant. So do the Tigers, but it's only a fleeting hope—one that would require a minor miracle to come true.

Detroit vaulted into a near tie with Cleveland for third place by sweeping a day-night doubleheader yesterday on the pitching of Hal Newhouser and Ted Gray. Bot ahre six games behind the idle New York Yankees, but the Indians hold third by an .002 margin.

Despite the Tiger's sizzling drive and their eight-game win streak, the schedule is all against them. They are running out of games too fast to be a real threat. With only 16 games to play, 13 on the road, they trail the Yanks by 10 games on the all-important losing side of the ledger.

Game Washed Out

Cleveland's situation is almost as desperate. They play only three of 20 at home and trail New York by eight games on that losing side.

Rain washed out the New York-Boston game, turning the big series into a two-game set. The worst the Yanks can get is a split. Every day their 2½ game lead looks more comfortable.

If the Yanks can take a deep breath, there is no such chance in the National. The St. Louis Cards and Brooklyn Dodgers are separated by a single game.

Harry Brecheen gave the Cardinal cause a boost last night with a three-hit, 8-0, shutout of the Chicago Cubs.

Brooklyn staggered home ahead of New York, 12-7, in a 3-hour-20 minute marathon that was delayed 35 minutes by rain in the first inning. Twenty-two walks, only one short of the league record, were handed out in the wild affair.

Erskine Gets Win

Reliefer Carl Erskine, following Rex Barney to the hill, earned his sixth straight win since returning from Fort Worth, but needed help from Erv Palica to get home.

Russ Meyer turned back Boston with one hit as the Phillies dumped the Braves for their ninth straight loss, 3-1. The only hit was a double by Connie Ryan in the first inning, scoring Sibby Sisti who walked.

Cincinnati pushed over three runs in the ninth to give Herm Wehmeier a 9-7 decision over Pittsburgh's Vic Lombardi. A homer by Danny Litwhiler started the winning rally.

Newhouser gave Cleveland only one hit and faced but 28 batters in Detroit's afternoon 10-0 romp over Cleveland. Gray followed up Newhouser's fine job with a four-hitter at night to trim the Tribe's Bobby Feller, 4-1. Feller hit a homer, but it wasn't enough to save him from his eleventh loss.

The Philadelphia Athletics pulled out of a six-game losing tailspin to lefthand the Washington Senators into a double loss, 9-1 and 8-4, in a twilight-night doubdeheader. Alex Kellner grabbed win No. 17 in the twilight half at the expense of Rookie Jim Pearce, up from Charlotte. Lou Brissie breezed home in the second.

Bob Kuzava stopped the St. Louis Browns with five hits in pitching Chicago to a 3-1 victory. Ned Garver was the loser.

Austin Drubs CC Grid Team

(By The Associated Press)

Austin's Maroons served notice they'll be a power in District 14 this season, whipping Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio, 27-6 last night as Class AA and City conference teams opened the 1949 schoolboy grid season.

Cathedral of El Paso blanked District 4-AA contender Austin of El Paso, 21-0, in the only other game involving teams from the top two divisions of the Interscholastic League's big football program.

Most Games Tonight

Most of the 44 games on the first week's schedule will be unreeled tonight. Thirteen of the City conference's 26 schools see action this week and 56 of the 84 Class AA teams play.

Breckenridge and Abilene tangle in West Texas' top game tonight. Other feature tilts match Sunset (Dallas) and Tyler; Plainview and Big Spring; San Angelo and Denison; Lufkin and Longview; Kingsville and San Benito.

Odessa Broncs Play

Tomorrow, highly rated Port Arthur meets a strong Odessa eleven at Odessa.

One international tilt is on tonight's schedule. Woodrow Wilson of Dallas plays Mexico City Polytechnic at Mexico City.

Most South Plains Grid Teams To Open 1949 Season Tonight

There's firing on all fronts tonight as the 1949 South Plains high school football season swings into full stride.

A total of at least 23 games involving South Plains teams are on tonight's slate, which features action in all divisions—AA, A and B.

Most of the tilts are of the non-conference variety. Only three — Kermit at Denver City and Crane at Seminole in District 55-A, and Spade at Friona in 3-8 — of tonight's games are conference tussles.

Despite the fact that most of the games have no bearing on the official standings, interest in tonight's schedule is running high because many of the encounters are expected to afford reliable "measuring sticks" as to the respective strength of the various districts this fall.

Three AA Teams Play

Three area Class AA teams will see action tonight. Plainview, in District 1-AA, is host to Big Spring in what appears to be a tossup game.

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes, rated a "dark horse threat" behind Odessa and Lubbock in 3-AA, journey to Levelland for a tussle with the Lobos of District 4-A North. Lamesa, a 7-0 victor over Levelland in 1948, will be favored to repeat the triumph, although the Lobos are rated as one of the better Class A clubs on the Plains.

Brownfield, another 3-AA team, will entertain the Pecos Eagles, considered one of the top elevens in District 3-A.

All 3-A teams except Lockney and Crosbyton have games tonight. Talent-laden Spur plays at home against Haskell, while Floydada journeys to Slaton. Abernathy plays host to New Deal, and will be a strong choice over the Class B invaders. Matador's Matadors take on the Turkey Turks at Matador, and Paducah travels to Chillicothe. Tulia, a newcomer in the 3-A circuit, will entertain Canyon, while Ralls' Jackrabbits travel to Post for a tussle with the defending District 4-A champion Antelopes.

In the north half 4-A schedule, Littlefield's Wildcats will be out to avenge last week's 14-0 loss to Dalhart when they go against the Roscoe Plowboys at Littlefield. Levelland, as mentioned earlier, is host to Lamesa, and Sudan entertains Dimmitt in a game arranged as a feature of the Sudan Fall festival. Muleshoe opens at home against Class B Springlake in a game which finds the rugged Mules a decided favorite. Sundown goes to Tahoka, and Morton, victor by 27-6 last week over Whitharral, is at home against O'Donnell.

The District 4-A South slate finds Seagraves idle, and the other teams playing as listed earlier—Floydada at Slaton, Sundown at Tahoka, Ralls at Post and O'Donnell at Morton.

In 5-A, teams will be playing "for keeps" as Kermit invades Denver City and Crane comes to Seminole for two conference battles. Andrews engages a non-conference foe, Class B Olton.

Snyder's Tigers, of District 6-A, open at Winters.

3-B Tilt Slated

The Spade-at-Friona conference tilt highlights action in District 3-B. Farwell is host to Melrose, N.M., in an inter-sectional game, while Whiteface goes to Anton, Too, there are the Olton-Andrews, Dimmitt-Sudan and Springlake-Muleshoe games listed above. Hale Center, Amherst and Whitharral have open dates.

In 4-B Ropesville entertains Kress in a game which will feature dedication of Ropesville's new playing field. State Senator Kilmer Corbin, of Lamesa, will be featured speaker during the dedication ceremony at halftime. Other games involving 4-B elevens are Whiteface at Anton and New Deal at Abernathy. Idalou, Meadow, Frenship, Cooper, Petersburg and Plains are idle this week.

Sports Pound Houston, 4-1

(By The Associated Press)

Texas league teams open final series of the regular season tonight and there's two spots in the Shaughnessy playoff open.

Shreveport climbed into a tie with Oklahoma City for third place last night, thumping Houston, 4-1, as Tulsa dropped the Indians, 6-5.

Cats Beat Dallas

Dallas slipped almost out of mathematical consideration for one of the playoff places, losing for the third straight night to Fort Worth. The score was 8-5.

In the circuit's other tilt, San Antonio slugged Beaumont, 9-3.

Tonight, Fort Worth invades Dallas; Shreveport is at Houston for a doubleheader, Tulsa at Oklahoma City and San Antonio at Beaumont. The teams will close out the season at these sites Sunday.

Jerry Witte hit his 49th home run of the season for Dallas, but his mates could not solve Eddie Chandler's pitching as well. Chandler won his 13th game of the year.

Sports Bunch Hits

Vern Petty homered for Shreveport and the Sports bunched four hits in the eighth inning for three more runs.

Les Stone, 18, held Beaumont to six hits in winning his first victory and Pat Seerey hammered out a single and home run for the Missions.

Three singles gave Oklahoma City three runs in the top of the ninth, but Tulsa erased the advantage its half of the frame on a single, Russ Burns' lone fly, a walk and an error.

BANKER SEEKS WIN

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP) — New York banker William Woodward goes after his second straight St. Leger racing victory tomorrow at Doncaster with his American-bred Lone Eagle.

Green Hikes Muleshoe Gridiron Hopes

"Mules" Boast Veteran Squad

BY CHOC HUTCHESON
Journal Sports Writer

MULESHOE, Sept. 9—The folks who follow District 4-A (North) football are waiting to see if Durwood Green can do it again.

Last year, as head coach at Sundown High school, "Woody" stepped in to take charge of a team which had never been particularly outstanding in athletics. The results were slightly more than sensational, with Sundown winning co-championships in football, basketball and baseball in the tough 4-A North circuit.

Moves To Muleshoe

Now Green has moved to Muleshoe to see what he can do toward restoring the football fortunes of a school which hasn't won a district title since 1938. His team swings into action tonight against Class B Springlake, with Muleshoe rated a solid favorite to win.

Apparently Green has on hand the material with which to produce a winning ball club. Whether it will prove of championship caliber is another question.

"The biggest obstacle we must overcome here at Muleshoe is a losing complex," says Green, a rugged-looking gent who played his collegiate ball at Rice institute. "The town hasn't had a really good club since 1938, and as a result the players and fans alike have become accustomed to losing. If we can get rid of this complex, we might go somewhere."

Team Compares Favorably

Green, who doesn't appear to be as much of a pessimist as most mentors, readily admits that his 1949 Muleshoe Mules stack up favorably in comparison with the 1948 Sundown team which tied for the North 4-A bunting.

"This Muleshoe team is more powerful, better balanced, and has more experience than last year's Sundown team. It has a better running attack, better blocking and tackling, better punting and a beter defense. The two spots in which it is weaker are in speed and in passing," he says.

Last year Muleshoe won five and lost five for a 50-50 record, but finished next-to-last in District 4-A North, beating out only Morton.

The Mules certainly expect to improve upon that record this year, and there are those—including Littlefield Coach J. S. Fikes—who rate Muleshoe as 'the team to beat."

Green has a squad which includes 13 lettermen and seven reserve lettermen. As Class A teams go, the Mules are fairly heavy, with a starting line averaging 169 pounds and a backfield that averaging 167. Green himself states that reserve power is "good in the backfield but scarce in the line."

Use "T" Formation

The Mules will run from both straight and modified T formations.

Muleshoe's passing, with Ed Nickels, Joe Cummings and Ted Lawler doing most of the throwing, currently isn't all that Green would like it to be. But he hopes for improvement as the season progresses.

The punting, by three-year-lettermen Bobby Goss, is described as "above average," and Green says that he expects Goss to average "close to 40 yards" per kick through the season.

The Mules boast several top running prospects. Goss, a 190-pounder, is fast and powerful, though not very shifty. Cummings, 175-pound fullback, is a deceptive runner, while speedster Ray Kersey and shifty Ted Lawler loom as the team's outstanding breakaway threats.

The line is a hard-charging outfit, according to Green, with well-balanced weight from end to end and lettermen at every position.

Green fears that it's too much to expect a team to climb from fifth place to the top within a one-year span.

"On paper, it looks as though we'll wind up fourth, behind Sudan, Littlefield and Levelland. So I'm just setting fourth place as a standard, and then trying to see if we can't improve on that," the Muleshoe mentor says.

Whatever the outcome, Muleshoe undoubtedly will make its weight felt around the 4-A North loop. Green proved at Sundown that he's capable of turning out champions. If his luck has moved to Muleshoe with him, he may be collecting a few pennants up Bailey county way in the none-too-distant future.

Schedule Is Given

The complete Muleshoe schedule: Sept. 9, Springlake at Muleshoe; Sept. 16, Muleshoe at Portales, N. M.; Sept. 23, Slaton at Muleshoe; Sept. 30, Sudan at Muleshoe (Conf.); Oct. 7, Muleshoe at Seagraves; Oct. 14, Littlefield at Muleshoe (Conf.); Oct. 21, Muleshoe at Sundown (Conf.); Oct. 28, open; Nov. 4, Muleshoe at Levelland (Conf.); Nov. 11, Morton at Muleshoe (Conf.).

The Mules' roster, with respective weights, classifications and years—if any—as lettermen:

TACKLES—Bill Collins, (175, Sr., IL); Charles Taylor (170, Sr., IL); Charles King (175, Jr.); Charles Hornbrook (185, Jr.); Dwayne Burkhead (185, Fresh.); Keith Bray (165, Fresh.)

CENTERS—Phillip Garrett (190, Sr., 2L); Roald Johnson (150, Fresh.)

QUARTERBACKS—Ed Nickels (150, Jr., IL); Ted Lawler (160, Sr., 2L, now sidelined with shoulder injury, but expected to return for all conference games).

FULLBACKS — Joe Cummings (175, Sr., IL); Bob Seid (185, Fresh.)

Squad Bulges With Talented Veterans

Baylor's Golden Bears Will Feature Dangerous Air Game

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

WACO, Sept. 9.—You can expect a rain of footballs every time Baylor plays this season.

One of the most dangerous aerial games in the country is brewing as the Golden Bears get ready to plunge into the 1949 Southwest conference campaign.

Baylor bulges with veterans who will have trouble keeping their jobs before the onslaught of a talented sophomore class.

The Bears have the guns to swirl to a championship after 25 years, most of them quite lean indeed. Coach Bob Woodruff can't hide his optimism. He expects a good season but, of course, wouldn't dream of predicting a championship.

"The Southwest conference race is so close one of the best teams in the country could lose four or five games," he warns. "Look at last season. There were three tie games the last week."

Offensively Baylor should be much stronger. Last year the Bears had a great defense but while on the attack were a sputtering machine. "But you can't figure the thing out," Woodruff mused. "Year before last we couldn't come close to that yet we won six, tied two and lost three."

The brightest prospects are the quarterbacks — three sophomores to augment the regular two of Adrian Burk and Hayden Fry. Larry Isbell of Houston is due to play a lot of football this season despite the presence of Burk and Fry. Isbell is the kind of passer and all-around football player the coaches dream about. The other sophomore brights are Marshall Alford of Brownsville and Robert Reid of Houston.

Baylor has 25 lettermen and 13 squadmen. There are 22 seniors in that group of 38.

Baylor has great punting—Burke and Alford; a top goal-kicker—Henry Dickerson, and an excellent running game built around Dudley Parker, who already has three varsity letters. Parker played in the first two games of the season last year, then was out the rest of the season with a broken jaw.

They think at Baylor that Parker, if he remains sound, will be one of the best running backs in college football.

Spudders Drop Pirates, 11-4

(By The Associated Press)

Wichita Falls slugged Waco, 11-4, last night to even this Big State league playoff series and Texarkana trimmed Austin, 5-1, to take the first game of this one.

The Big State league regular season winner banged out 11 hits off three Waco pitchers for the easy victory.

Pirates Score Runs

Carl Powis, Al McCarty, Cecil McClung and Roger Isringhaus each collected two hits for Waco.

The Pirates counted their four runs in the sixth inning on three hits, three walks and an error.

Wichita Falls had a four-run uprising in the fifth.

Texarkansa and Austin each collected only three hits. Jodie Phipps went the distance for the victors and Dinny Moore and Alex Burkhart twirled for the Pioneers.

Carswell Gets Homer

Moore gave up five walks and hit a batter as Texarkana counted four runs in the second inning.

Frank Carswell homered for the Bears and Eddie Rzendzian hit one over the fence for Austin.

Wichita Fall sand Waco move to Waco tonight for the next three games of the series, all square at one apiece.

Austin continues at Texarkana.

The National League race remains tight right down the stretch with the Cardinals having the edge over Brooklyn in the number of home games. The two-game series Sept. 21 and 22 might go a long way to decide the pennant scramble, if the race is as tight then as it is now. Over in the junior circuit, the odds are all with the crippled Yankees. They play the majority of their games at home and they're toughest in Yankee Stadium. Moreover, the Yanks have 24 games left to play, while Boston only has 19, Cleveland has 20 and Detroit has 16. We wouldn't say that it was all over except the shouting, for that's ridiculous, but the Yanks seem to have what it takes to stagger down the stretch in front—and so do the Cards.

Tonight the football season really gets started on the South Plains, with a host of games being played. Not as usual, but with increased coverage, The Avalanche-Journal will be in the field to give the readers the best possible coverage. A staff photographer will be in Levelland, along with a staff writer. Another will be at Plainview. Still another will be at the Slaton-Floydada game. Others will be at other games. It all adds up to the finest possible coverage. For those of you who will not have coverage this week, we urge you again to telephone 4346 or 4347 collect as soon as possible after the game. We'll be getting around to your city as soon as possible.

Westerners Stress Offense In Drills

Bruised and aching muscles at Lubbock High school were to be given a chance to recuperate somewhat this afternoon or tonight, following an intensive scrimmage yesterday afternoon by the Westerners football squad.

Coach C. R. Pattison sent his charges through a scrimmage that lasted over an hour and a half. It was by far the toughest scrimmage held since the squad returned from its camp at Kerrville. After it was over, Coach Pattison expressed pleasure over the way the squad was improving.

The Lubbock mentor remarked that if the boys continued to develop the way they had so far, they'd be tough on any given game night. In fact, he said that it was the type of squad that could give the best in the state a trimming, while it also was the type of squad that could get kicked.

Most pleasing to the coach was the high spirit and determination being shown. This year's squad is trying harder every day and it's showing up in their play. But he'd also worried by some of the potential first team boys who are slow rounding into physical condition. Much of their future utility to the squad depends on their getting in shape to play hard ball for 48 minutes.

One of these lads, Sammy Modrall, a guard, showed in yesterday's scrimmage that he would be tough on the opposition. He was showing up well on defense, but was a little slow getting started on offense. As a result, he missed blocks that the Westerners need to go all the way.

Brock Looks Good

Joe Brock, a tackle, also looked especially good on defense and also was showing to good advantage on defense. The opposing linemen were having trouble taking him out and he cut a big swath on defense.

The offensive-minded Westerners mixed running and passing plays yesterday, using them at the ratio of three to one. And they clicked equally as well on passing as they did on running plays. Bobby Brown was doing most of the successful passing, hitting his receivers in good shape. Favorite targets were Billy Wright and Garnet Reeves, both of whom were gathering in the aerials for good gains.

Williams Does Good Job

Among the running backs, Malcolm Young, Wayne Stroud and Charley Williams were doing the best work. Stroud particularly was good on short thrusts, while Williams was breaking loose for several long gains. Mac Taylor, a fullback, also was doing outstanding work.

Williams also was turning in the best work behind the line on defense, backing up the linemen with good, hard tackles.

Coach Pattison's injured list, which isn't serious, is growing. Doug Wienke, first string center, has a lightly sprained ankle; and Billy Wright, an end, has a light infection of the right arm. The rest of the squad is in good shape, mentally and physically.

Club Father-And-Son Meet Set Saturday

Date of the annual Lubbock Country club father-and-son golf tournament has been advanced from Sunday to Saturday of this week, Co-chairman Cecil Horne has announced.

Horne said the tourney has been moved up so that many boys who planned to leave Sunday for college may compete in the event.

The tournament will be 18 holes, medal play. Golf handicaps will be used, and play will be on a Scotch foursome basis. The father will drive from the tee on all even-numbered holes, and the son will hit the tee shot on all odd-numbered holes. After the drive on each hole, the two players will hit alternate shots. These rules are the same as those used annually in the national father-and-son meets.

Cecil and Joe Horne are co-chairmen of this year's local tourney.

Tatum Faces Trout In Tourney Finals

It will be Bill Tatum vs. Johnny Trout today in the finals of the annual young men's golf tournament at Lubbock Country club.

Tatum and Trout each won two matches Thursday to gain the finals of the tourney, which is for all club golfers 26 years of age or younger.

Tatum edged out Ed Bean, 1 up, in the quarterfinals, then defeated John Raley, 2 and 1.

Trout won by default over Jack Whitehead, then spilled Ross Mitchell, 3 and 2.

In other quarter-final matches, Mitchell had beaten Bob Smith, 3 and 2, and Raley had bested Chick Trout, jr., 2 and 1.

Kansas Wants Ex-Lubbockite

ULYSSES, Kas., Sept. 9 (Spl.)—A 24-year-bld man who came here after posting bond in three felony indictments voted by a Lubbock, Texas, grand jury in February is sought in 19 states in connection with a forgery charge filed here, Sheriff Jack Ford announced today.

He is Richard A. Woodring.

Won Mistrial Here

Woodring was tried in Lubbock on a charge that he embezzled a $173.78 check Dec. 13 from Hub Lee Tire company, his employer. A mistrial was declared after a jury could not agree on a verdict. No announcement had been made in Lubbock of a new trial date.

Bonds totaling $7,500 set Feb. 15 were reduced to a total of $3,000 on May 24, after the trial.

Sheriff Ford said a charge had been filed here accusing Woodring of forgery of a $95 check that was paid out of the account of Woodring's employer, the construction firm of Stradley and Pierson.

Has Two Cars

He said he believed there were approximately eight other forged checks on the account.

"The Stradley and Pierson account, which totaled approximately $1,700, was exhausted during August, and the bank informed the company of an overdraft," Ford said.

Woodring left Ulysses at noon Sept. 2, Ford said, in a 1949 Ford sedan financed through his employer by a Burkburnett, Texas, bank. He also has possession of a 1949 Ford pickup truck, it was announced.

FBI Help Asked

Sheriff Ford said he had conferred with the FBI in efforts to determine whether the government will take action in the case by filing a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, in case it is learned that the suspect crossed a state line after leaving Kansas.

The other indictments in Lubbock county charge embezzlement Dec. 6 of $419.55, and embezzlement Nov. 27 of $435.13, each time from the tire company.

Lee told Sheriff Ford, the Ulysses officer said, that perhaps not less than $6,000 in money and checks was unaccounted for during a period of approximately two months in which Woodring worked for the tire company in Lubbock.

Final Plans For Dog Show Discussed Here

Final plans for the dog show to be sponsored by Heart of the Plains Kennel club were discussed at a meeting of the organization in Hotel Lubbock junior ballroom Thursday night with W. C. Boyd presiding.

The show will be staged in a building at the inactivated South Plains Army Air field Sept. 20. Tickets are being sold by members of the ABC.

Employment

outlook.

A wage pattern for industry — perhaps influenced by the forthcoming recommendations of the federal fact-finding board for steel —may be fairly well established by October, and the country may know whether it faces a serious round of strikes.

Nourse is represented as feeling that excessive wage increases would be damaging, since they might force prices up immoderately. An outbreak of strikes affecting thousands of workers in key industries also would be hurtful, he believes.

Output May Rally

The most favorable outcome, in the view of the economic chairman, would be a moderate wage increase, attained by peaceful bargaining and largely absorbed by industry without increasing prices and thus discouraging consumer buying.

Nourse told reporters yesterday, after calling at the White House, that the Federal Reserve's index of industrial output will rally in August. The index skidded from 169 in June to 162 in July, taking the 1935-39 average as 100.

Nourse did not state whether the full 7-point loss has been regained. Other officials gave this information privately: Industrial output has recovered its June stride.

As for jobs and job-seekers, September should show a further decline in unemployment and also a seasonal drop in employment if the normal August-to-September pattern holds good.

This trend is usual as seasonal farm work ends and young workers quit their summer jobs to return to school. Since they are no longer seeking work, they are no longer regarded as part of the nation's labor force. The movement began to show up in August; despite the 400,000 drop in unemployment total employment gained only 227,000.

Cotton Pickers

county's crop less than a fourth harvested.

The El Paso area has not reported any great need for labor. Thursdas night the El Paso Times estimated there were more than 15,000 Mexican nationals now illegally in West Texas and New Mexico, which is taking care of early cotton picking.

Later in the season, growers in the El Paso area expected to ask for more help. Last year El Paso county alone used 17,500 pickers.

A Mexican labor contracting office opens in Fort Bliss at El Paso Saturday morning to process contracts with Mexican labor. To date, farmers in the West Texas-New Mexico area have filed applications for a total of 27,259 pickers.

Stock Market

FAINT DOWNWARD TREND

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP) — Stock traders had pretty close ideas on prices today.

Only a few shares changed more than minor fractions and many remained at Thursday's finals levels. Faint downward tendencies appeared off and on but neither buying nor selling had enough push to force a clearcut trend.

Turnover was at the rate of around 750,0000 shares for the full session.

International Telephone stepped ahead smartly, in response to news that Argentina had guaranteed payment in dollars to IT&T in a $20,000,000 deal, but had trouble holding the advance.

Lower most of the day were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, Westinghouse Electric, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Gulf Oil.

Tending higher were Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, Dupont, American Can, General Electric, and U. S. Gypsum.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP) — Cotton futures trading was dull today. Most dealers were content to adopt sideline positions, pending increased movement of the new cotton crop.

Late afternoon prices were unchanged to 10 cents a bale higher than the previous close. Oct. 29.78, Dec. 29.78 and March 29.78.

Futures closed 10 cents a bale higher to 25 cents lower than the previous close.

hike, 6.27 cents for insurance and 11.23 for pensions. The strike was automatically delayed for 60 days after Mr. Truman named the fact-finding board.

Four Lines Threatened

There were strike threats against four other railroads. A walkout set for today against the Wheeling and Lake Erie line was postponed pending attempts by a government mediator to settle 34 grievances between the carrier and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The union railroad and the Monongahela connecting railroads which serve scores of steel plants in the Pittsburgh district are threatened by early strikes.

A walkout is set for 3 p. m. tomorrow against the Monongahela and for 6:30 a. m. Tuesday against the union railroad. Some 30,000 steel-workers are expected to be made idle if the strikes become effective.

The BRT has threatened a strike against the Southern Pacific over working rules but a presidential fact-finding board has urged further negotiations.

Other developments along the labor front:

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York told CIO union leaders in the Bell Aircraft strike at Buffalo, N. Y., he wanted to meet with them in Albany today. His planned meeting followed the second straight day of violence in the 13 week old work stoppage by the CIO United Auto workers.

NAVY MOTHERS TO SPONSOR TEA—The intricate workings of the Naval communications system were inspected by Mrs. W. E. Klein, seated with earphones on, commander of the Navy Mothers club, and Mrs. E. G. Wylie of the club, when they visited the Naval Reserve Training Center at Eighth and College Ave. to make arrangements for a silver tea they are sponsoring from 3 until 6 p. m. Sunday there. Lt. Wayne W. Kitts, executive officer of the unit, left, Lt. Comdr. John E. Vickers, commanding officer and W. L. Jackson, radioman second class stationed at the center, help explain the workings of a Navy radio set to the ladies. The Navy Mothers club obtained use of the training center and will present a program during the afternoon which will include a talk by Vickers and showing of motion pictures as well as guided tours through the building. Reserve officers will be on hand to conduct visitors through the building. (Staff Photo).

Heavy Rain Benefits Crops In Area; 2.5 Inches At Levelland

cloudiness this afternoon, scattered showers tonight and warmer, cloudy conditions Saturday.

Floyd county received only light showers. Bob Gibson, county agent at Floydada, said none was received during the night there, and Edgar Hays at Lockney, editor of the Lockney Beacon, said only a trace had fallen during the night. However, Lockney has received more than an inch and a half during the past two days and nights.

At Matador, approximately .25 inch fell during the past 24 hours, it was estimated by D. D. Cameron of the Matador Tribune. Light mist was falling from cloudy skies this morning. Wednesday night or early Thursday morning precipitation measured .80 inch there.

None At Spur

Mrs. M. O. Hood at Abernathy said it was nearly daylight this morning when rain began, measured at .05 inch. At midmorning skies were still threatening.

At Seagraves farmers in the vicinity estimated the rainfall at one inch to 1.25 in a slow, gentle rain that lasted most of the night, said Neil C. Vanzant, editor of the Gaines County News.

Paul Marion, animal husbandman at the Spur experiment station, said it failed to rain at Spur last night although it was threatening at mid-morning. Spur received a total of .66 inch early Thursday monring.

It was raining at 10 o'clock this morning at Post, and .05 inch was recorded in a rain gauge during the night, said Miss Ruth Noles of the Double-U ranch company, which maintains the gauge.

Other Points Reported

Lorenzo received .91 in rains last night and this morning, according to measurement of a gauge maintained by Alvin F. Hamm. It was sprinkling at 10 o'clock this morning.

O'Donnell also was receiving more rain late this morning. Mrs. Ben Moore, sr., estimated the fall during the night and this morning at .50.

At Morton, rain was continuing late this morning and was estimated to total an inch in Morton, although to the south, the Slaughter farm property had received an estimated inch and a half.

Seminole had received from 1.25 to 1.50 inch, local observers estimated. It was raining late this morning.

Levelland recorded 2.50 inches in two separate rainstorms. The first, about 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, resulted in .44 inch of rain and beginning at 2 a. m. today another 2.06 inches fell, said Edgar Brasch of Brasch-Mitchell hardware company.

Cotton Benefitted

Approximately .50 inch fell last night in the Littlefield area, said L. T. Green, who owns farms in Lamb and Bailey counties. He said the cotton would benefit tremendously from the rain in that area.

Farmers will have to dust to they would have needed to do anyway, Mr. Green believes. The harvest will be delayed but the yield will be higher.

Western Cotton Oil company at Littlefield measuerd .75 inch during the night, bringing the month's total rainfall to 1.65 inches and for the year to 19.98 inches, said E. B. Wilson, cashier of the firm.

At Muleshoe, R. J. Klump, city secretary, measured .40 inch in his rain gauge last night over and above .61 inch which fell Wednesday night, bringing the week's total for Muleshoe to 1.01 inch.

Austin received its drenching in a series of thundershowers from 11:40 p. m. last night until 4 a. m. today. Collision of warm Gulf air with the cooler air from the north caused the disturbance, the Associated Press reported.

The U. S. Weather bureau said the "father" of the cool front was a high pressure system centered over Kansas and Missouri.

Skies were cloudy throughout the state today except for partly cloudy skies in far South Texas—at Brownsville and Laredo. However, the overcast was expected to start breaking up in extreme North Texas during the afternoon.

Yesterday's maximum ranged from 101 degrees at Presidio and 100 at Laredo and Alice down to a cool 75 at Fort Worth and Dalhart. The overnight minimum included 58 degrees at Guadalupe Pass and 61 at Dalhart and Amarillo, on up to 79 at Presidio.

Other rainfall reports were Beaumont 1.34 inches; Junction 1.20; Galveston .90; Wichita Falls .89; Dallas .81; Lufkin .78; Wink .68; Palestine .66; Fort Worth .58; Corsicana .52; and smaller amounts at dozens of other state points.

Native Of Canada On Tech Faculty

Robert K. Gould, native of New Brunswick, Can., arrived at Texas Technological college Thursday afternoon to begin duties as instructor in civil engineering.

Mr. and Mrs. Gould came here from Victoria, British Columbia, where Gould has been a civil engineer with the Dominion government, Department of National Defense, the last three months.

Becoming interested in teaching at Texas Technological college after correspondence relating to graduate work, Gould placed his application for a faculty appointment.

He was graduated from the University of New Brunswick at New Brunswick, Can., last spring. He holds a commission as captain in the Royal Canadian Engineers, on reserve status.

He and Mrs. Gould probably will live at Drane hall.

Man Shoots Self At Childress Home

CHILDRESS, Sept. 9. (U.P.)—Walter Loter, 46, shot and critically wounded himself at his home early today, less than 12 hours before he was to appear in court to face charges that his domino parlor was a gambling place.

County Attorney Leonard King had filed for an injunction to close the domino parlor, which Loter operated jointly with another man.

Loter was shot in the left side, by a single-barrel 12-gauge shotgun, police said. He was in a critical condition, under an oxygen tent, at a hospital.

Resort Fire

terrain was the roughest in Monterey county, among the most rugged in the Los Padres forest and that mechanized equipment could not be used.

Flames of undetermined origin spread swiftly yesterday from one of the 35 redwood guest cabins at the fashionable resort. They swept through a few of the adjoining cabins and the historic sandstone main building contructed in the 1890's.

A strong wind which first spread the flames came to the rescue of the resort occupants, driving the fire around and away from the springs.

The resort, on which Terry had just spent $40,000 in improvements, opened its season May 15.

Meeting For Tech Dormitory Counselors Will Open Today

A two-day conference for dormitory counselors was to get underway in the Aggie memorial auditorium at Texas Tech today as preparations to aid freshman students "get settled" on the campus reach a climax.

An address by H. E. Mizell, supervisor of men's dormitory number four, started the meetings at 9 a. m. today. He will be followed by afternoon addresses from L. N. Jones, assistant dean of men, and T. W. Charlwood, Sneed hall supervisor.

Panel Discussions Slated

Panel discussions by leading campus directors of student affairs will be held Saturday.

The dormitory counselors program was started at Tech in 1947 in an effort to aid students with personal problems settle their difficulties. Tech is the only school in the Southwest to have started such a program as yet, but other colleges are becoming interested, Jones said Thursday.

Speaking on the objectives of the counseling program, Mizell's address will be the only order of business this morning. Jones will explain the forms and methods to be used in the counseling project to new members of the staff at 1:30 p. m., followed by Charlwood's address explaining dormitory procedures and their purposes.

The dormitory counselors' staff is made up of students carefully picked from applicants for the positions. Its objective is to aid incoming students in getting acquainted with the campus and in getting registered.

Throughout the year, however, is is the counselors duties to aid all students in settling any study, personal, or financial problems which might arise. A counselor lives on each floor of each wing of all the dormitories, plus a couple of "campus-wide" persons who help out all over the campus. Free room and board is the only compensation.

Saturday morning's panel discussion is entitled "Student service agencies on the Tech campus" and will be composed of Dr. Albert Barnett of the guidance center; Miss Zoe Harris, head dietitian; Prof. H. A. Anderson, veterans co-ordinator; and Elo Urbanovsky, landscape architect.

The afternoon session Saturday will be a continuation of the same topic and will include R. C. Janeway, librarian; Dr. E. R. Rose, college physician; Mrs. Margarette W. Walker, dean of women; W. P. Clement, registrar; and Troy Enis, director of the recreation hall.

The conference will be climaxed by a dinner in the Hilton hotel Yaqui room and an address by Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the college, at 6 p. m. Saturday.

Car Mishaps

the truck, suffered minor cuts and bruises and shock. He was taken to Lubbock Memorial hospital, where he remained overnight for observation.

Others In Car

Riding with Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harvel, both 18, or 1919 Fourteenth. They were treated for minor injuries at St. Mary's and then went to Porter clinic-hospital to spend the night. They were married last week.

Mrs. Paul Jones of Lamesa and her 16-year-old son, Wendell, suffered minor hurts at 4:40 p. m. when her husband swerved their 1949 Oldsmobile to avoid a collision, causing the vehicle to strike a shoulder and overturn on the Brownfiled highway, west of Lubbock. Mrs. Jones stayed overnight at St. Mary's hospital for oservation.

Escape Serious Injury

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Harrison of 1817 Dixie Drive escaped serious injury and their six-month-old daughter escaped any injury at 6 a.m. Thursday when their 1940 convertible hit a soft shoulder and overturned 12 miles east of Dickens. Mrs. Harrison was treated for back injuries and her husband for a hurt jaw at the Crosbyton hospital and released.

Harrison said a complete set of dishes was in the car but only three of them were broken when the car made a complete flip, landing on its wheels with the motor still running.

They were returning to Lubbock from a visit to Mrs. Harrison's grandmother, Mrs. E. B. Weaver of Munday, when the accident occurred.

Attendants at Lamesa General hospital today reported the conditions of George Carey Brown, 53, of Ean Antonio, and Mrs. Glen Cope, 30, of Lamesa, were greatly improved of injuries they suffered in the accident which resulted in Mrs. McAllister's death.

Brown was driving a 1948 Buick and Mrs. Cope was driving a 1949 Cadillac, occupied by Mrs. McAllister, when the cars collided on the Lubbock highway.

New Zealand hotels, until recently restricted to 1939 rates, have been allowed increases, along with surcharges for serving morning or afternoon tea in rooms.

Congratulations to:

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shipman of Abernathy on birth of a son weighing 8 pounds 2 ounces at 4:10 p. m. Thursday in West Texas hospital. The father is a plumbing contractor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Davis of Slaton on birth of a daughter weighing 7 pounds 8 ounces at 8:34 a. m. Thursday in West Texas hospital. The father is a locomotive fireman for the Santa Fe Railway company.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Armstrong of the Idalou highway on birth of a son weighing 4 pounds 9 ounces at 6:05 a. m. today at West Texas hospital. The father is a farmer.

afraid of the way Communism may grow if they cannot feed and clothe the people."

Snavely is one of the first of the 33 members of the globe-girdling "Town Meeting of the Air" to return home.

Others are still on their way back from Japan and Hawaii.

In 65 days they broadcast debates from 12 capitals — London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, Vienna, Ankara, Tel Aviv, Cairo, Karachi, New Delhi, Manila and Tokyo. Other cities visited included Beirut, Damascus, Bangkok and Hongkong.

Snavely said the major accomplishments of the tour were:

1. It gave the American participants a much better understanding of world problems.

2. It stimulated interest abroad in American practices and opinions. The foreign press gave the debates wide publicity.

Other observations by Dr. Snavely on world travel:

Europe — Economic improvement under the Marshall plan evident everywhere except England. Turkey doing especially well. The British, he said, have dissipated Marshall plan funds in carrying out nationalization and socialization programs.

The Russian sector of Berlin — Still the worst-looking place in the world. Other Berlin sectors are cleaning up the rubble.

Manila and Tokyo—Impressive job of clearing away war damage and putting up new buildings.

Asiatics generally — Want to know why they haven't been given a Marshall plan of their own, but are suspicious of American capital.

Mother Is In Need Of Good Hairbrush

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 9. (U.P.)—A 35-year-old mother appealed today to District Attorney William Hensley to take action against her son. She said he used profane language, continually cursed her and even threatened her life.

"How old is your son?" asked the district attorney.

"Four years and eight months," answered the mother.

Hensley explained he couldn't take legal action. He suggested a hairbrush.

Churchill To Head Conservative Party

LONDON, Sept. 9 (U.P.)—Winston Churchill will become prime minister again if the Conservative party wins the general election next year, party sources said today.

They contradicted speculation that because of his age and his increasing work in the united Europe movement, Churchill might step aside for a younger man.

Fish-packing industries in the Vigo district of Spain are reported hard hit because normal sardine runs have failed to materialize for the second year in a row.

Farmer Given Prison Term

Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley was again hearing motions in civil suits in U. S. District court here today after trial of criminal cases Thursday.

Further criminal hearings will be conducted on Sept. 26, two defendants having failed to appear Thursday and bond forfeitures were ordered.

A two-year penitentiary sentence for James Henry Best, Haskell county farmer, charged with sending a letter of extortion through the mails, was the heaviest penalty meted out by Judge Dooley in the half-dozen cases heard during the day.

Threatening Letter Sent

Testimony brought out in the case revealed that Best had sent a letter to a Haskell county woman threatening her with the words "we'll take a long journey together" if she did not meet him at a certain place.

Three of the defendants were charged with unlawfully operating a liquor business. They and their penalties were: Willie L. Davis, three months in jail and $500 fine, defendant to remain in jail until the fine is paid; Sadie C. Davis, imposition of sentence suspended; Vernon B. McCaskle, three months in jail and $500 fine, defendant to remain in jail until fine is paid; and J. D. Green, Levelland Negro, nine months in jail.

Other sentences assessed were: Jesse J. Oliver, charged with mail theft, imposition of sentence suspended and defendant placed on probation 18 months; and James Bolin, 20, Ada, Okla., charged with violation of the national motor vehicle theft act, a year and a day in a federal reformatory.

Bond Ordered Forfeited

Bond of $500 for Russell C. Roberts, charged with motor theft was ordered forfeited and a capias issued for his arrest after he failed to appear for trial. Judge Dooley reset his bond at $2,500.

Bond of Olin Ogle, charged with unlawfully operating a liquor business, was also ordered forfeited and a capias issued for his rearrest. Ogle, said to be in jail at Crosbyton, will be tried Sept. 26.

Trial of Jack Estes Mourfeld, charged in violation of the selective training and service act, was also continued until Sept. 26.

Judge Dooley granted a continuance in the case of Henry Clanton, also charged with violation of the selective training and service act, who is a fugitive.

The criminal cases resulted from 20 indictements returned to Judge Dooley by a 23-member federal grand jury, which was impaneled Wednesday. The grand jury was dismissed, following its report.

U. S. District Attorney Frank B. Potter and two assistants, Cavitt Binion and Daniel Settle represented the government in the criminal cases.

RAIDING OF UNION IS CHARGED

Actors Drawn Into Feud With James Petrillo's Musicians

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—James C. Petrillo's feud with a vaudeville artists' union today had mushroomed into a battle with the big 90,000-member AFL Associated Actors and Artists of America.

A showdown fight between Petrillo's AFL federation of musicians, and the AAAA parent body of all performer groups, could have wide repercussions in the nation's entertainment industry.

Paul Dulzell, AAAA president, said yesterday his group was in "unanimous defiance' of Petrillo's threatened action against the American Child of Variety artists, an AAAA branch composed mostly of vaudeville actors.

Union Raiding Charged

"Traditionally actors have always gotten along well with musicians," Dulzell said, "but if Mr. Petrillo wants to start a fight which will involve the entire entertainment field, he can have it by taking action against any of the branches of the four A's."

The statement was in reply to Petrillo's threat last week to pull orchestras out of the nation's night spots and theaters where AGVA members perform. He accused the vaudeville artists union of raiding his musicians' union.

Petrillo claimed some musicians had been forced to join AGVA because their work required them to deliver a few spoken lines. He said he has ordered any musicians in the AGVA to get out of that union.

Movie Actors Included

AGVA claims jurisdiction over any one who speaks on a stage.

Dulzell said the AAAA was ready to discuss the dispute with Petrillo, but that if he held to his threat, the "full power" of the AAAA would be used in support of the vaudeville artists.

In the event of a showdown, it was reported the AAAA plans to enlist stars of all its branches to rally public opinion to its cause. Through it's affiliates, the AAAA covers actors in Hollywood films Broadway plays, radio, television, grand opera, night clubs, vaudeville, burlesque and circuses.

Petrillo, however, said he wasn't worried about big names in Hollywood being used against his stand.

"I can call on the top band leaders and conductors,' he said. "They can make a splash, too."

Ringling Brothers Circus Is Coming

The circus is coming to Lubbock again!

Officials of the Ringling Bros. And Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus late Thursday announced in a long distance telephone conversation that the "world's greatest show" would play twice in Lubbock Friday, Oct. 14.

An afternoon and night performance will be presented.

Waldo T. Tupper, general booking agent for the world famous circus, announced from Los Angeles that Ringling Bros. And Barnum & Bailey would cancel an engagement previously set for San Angelo Oct. 14 in order to show in Lubbock. The circus will come to Lubbock from Sweetwater, where an engagement is slated the day before.

Lubbock and South Plains always have turned out full houses for performances of the "world's greatest show" and officials have indicated in the past their pleasure at an opportunity to perform in this area because of the warm welcome.

Tupper said that Al Butler, advance contact man for the circus, would be in Lubbock next Wednesday to make preliminary arrangements for the circus' showing here and would pick out a site at that time.

Negroes Sway Result Of Atlanta Primary

ATLANTA, Sept. 9. (AP)—The first time negroes voted in this city's Democratic primary they proved to be the balance of power in the mayor's race.

The primary, held Wednesday, renominated Mayor William B. Hartsfield for four years by a 102-vote majority over three opponents. The nomination means election.

The results, made official yesterday by the city executive committee, showed the mayor picked up thousands of votes in precincts heavily populated by negroes.

His lead over his nearest rival, former county commissioner Charlie Brown, ranged from two to one to six to one in three predominately negro precincts.

Of 94,744 persons qualified to vote, 22,092 were negroes. The primary was opened to them by federal court rulings. Heretofore, it has been an all-white affair in the city.

The total vote was Hartsfield 20,092, Brown 17,258, Bill Todd 1,623, Joe Salem 1,109.

Hartsfield is serving his 12th year in the office—longer than any other mayor. During his administration, the city hired its first negro policemen.

The racial issue was not emphasized in the campaign.

India recently received a shipment of "three dimensional" cameras, being the first country in the East to have them.

Victim Of Wild Gunman's Shooting Spree Believes Fair Trial Should Be Provided

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 9 (AP) — A 16-year-old boy who was wounded in Camden's River Road massacre thinks Howard B. Unruh, Bible-reading artilleryman, should be given a "fair trial."

His left arm in a sling as a result of his brush with the 28-year-old accused slayer of 13 persons, Armond Harrie was released from Cooper hospital yesterday following treatment for a flesh wound.

Armond's mother and one other person also were wounded in the flurry of gunfire which brought death to five men, five women and three young boys last Tuesday.

Had No Quarrel

"The guy is entitled to a fair trial, even in this case with so many dead," said Armond, who will be 17 years old tomorrow.

Although a neighbor of Unruh, Armond said "I didn't know him to speak to, really."

"Once in a while we'd say hello but never had a conversation,' he added. "He never had a quarrel with us—never had a reason to."

Unruh's mother, Mrs. Freda Unruh, was told fully for the first time yesterday of the 20-minute shooting orgy last Tuesday.

She fainted when she learned of the killings. Her first words when revived were:

"Howard, my poor Howard. He didn't know what he was doing."

Mrs. Unruh said she was concerned about her son being taken to an asylum at Trenton. She said he had hay fever and that he wouldn't get enough handkerchiefs in the hospital.

Under Heavy Guard

Authorities are keeping Unruh under heavy guard in a bare, tiny isolation cell at Trenton state hospital for the insane.

He is awaiting the start of extensive medical and psychiatric tests, which may require as long as eight weeks.

Dr. Robert S. Garber, assistant director of the hospital, emphatically denied reports that he or any other psychiatrist had described Unruh as sane. Reports on the prisoner's mental condition will be submitted only "to the proper authorities at the proper time," Dr. Garber added.

Meanwhile, the grief-stricken families of ten victims prepared to bury their dead today.

However, relatives of Maurice Cohen, River Road druggist who was slain together with his wife and mother, postponed their funerals until Monday in the hope that the dead couple's elder son, Leonard, would arrive here from Tokyo in time. The Army private is being flown here in a B-17.

DULLES FLATTERED BY PROSPECT

Truman May Speak In Senate Campaign Set For New York

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—President Truman may find Senator Dulles (R-NY) busily waging a cross-roads, hand shaking, stump speaking campaign if he goes into New York to ask for the election of a Democratic senator this fall.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday that if things come around to the point where he thinks he can be of some help in regaining a Democratic seat now held by a Republican appointee he probably will make some speeches in New York.

Former Gov. Herbert Lehman is expected to be the Democratic nominee to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democrat who resigned. There is little doubt that Dulles, appointed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, will carry the Republican standard.

Feels Flattered

Dulles told a reporter that the prospect a President might be campaigning against him didn't disturb him.

"I feel flattered that the President feels Mr. Lahman needs his help," the New York senator said.

Presidents haven't been too successful in the past in trying to elect senators of their choosing. President Roosevelt tried it in 1938 under somewhat different circumstances, since he was turning his fire on members of his own party. Roosevelt failed to bag a single senator, although he was credited with knocking off one Democratic House member in New York.

Politicians generally think that outside help is more likely to be a liability than an asset.

For that reason Dulles is expected to depend largely on Senator Ives, his Republican colleague, and the New York team developed by Gov. Dewey for aid in his campaign.

Vandenberg A Friend

A possible exception may be Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), Dulles' good friend and long associate in tackling international problems.

Vandenberg may make a single speech for Dulles, limiting himself to reporting on the record of his old friend and not trying to dictate to New Yorkers how they should vote.

Ives said he expects to spend most of October campaigning for his colleague. Dewey will be in there pitching, too, in a battle that may shed some light on the outcome of the 1950 struggle between the parties for control of Congress.

But Dulles, a novice at political campaigning, made it clear he expects to carry a major share of the load himself, going up the forks of the creeks in northern New York, where the Republican strength lies.

Dulles and his friends concede they have an uphill battle. Lehman is a proved vote getter, although Ives beat him in 1946 when Dewey was re-elected governor by a huge margin.

Lehman Margin Estimated

The Republicans figure that Lehman will come out of New York City with a margin of around 800,000 votes. To overcome that, they will have to get out a heavy vote in the rural Republican areas up state.

Dulles said he is going to work the upstate area with a fine tooth comb in an effort to stir up the Republicans. He said he will speak informally three or four times a day and shake every hand that is shoved in his direction.

In his formal speeches, Dulles is expected to bear down on what he has called the "trend to statism" on the part of the Truman administration.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday that statism is only a scare word. He said he couldn't define it because the dictionaries don't agree on the term.

Dulles gave this definition to a reporter:

"Statism occurs when those who have government power lose faith in their fellow men and feel that they alone can be trusted to promote the general welfare and to manage the national economy."

Ives had about the same slant, saying:

"I consider statism the absolute power of the state over the lives and activities of the people."

President Truman has dismissed the statism charges against his administration as only words cooked up by what he called the "special interests" to frighten the voters in next year's congressional campaign.

In response to news conference questions about these interests, he said he will name some names during the campaign.

Florida Coast Town Is Without Cemetery

PORT ST. JOE, Fla., Sept. 9. (AP) —If you're figuring on dying and being buried right there, better stay away from Port St. Joe. This Gulf of Mexico town of 4,500 inhabitants doesn't have a cemetery, nor is ther one close by.

T. H. Stone, 80, probably the oldest resident here, says he guesses people have just been content to carry their dead to cemeteries at Appalachicola 30 miles away, of Wewahitchka some 25 miles away. Only burial places nearer are small, privately-owned plots.

Mayor Joe Sharit says low elevation here is probably the reason for the lack of cemeteries here.

Problems Of Cancer Detection Studied At National Meeting

BY ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 9 —It would take all the nation's doctors, doing nothing else, just to check everyone each year for cancer.

Such checkups would find almost all cancers, and find them early enough when most could be cured. But our doctors wouldn't have time to treat anyone for cancer or anything else.

This is the dilemma of cancer detection as presented to 60 national experts today by the American Cancer society.

The experts are attending a three-day conference to determine the most effective methods of finding cancer early and surely.

It is estimated that 22,000,000 Americans now alive will die of cancer unless present detection methods are improved or new treatments for cancer discovered.

Simple Test Needed

The biggest need now is for some simple test to spot cancer early, even in hidden, hard-to-find sites. This conference opening today will discuss the value of many proposed or possible methods of doing this.

Right now detection centers can't be anything more than part of the answer of finding cancer early, society officials said. A thorough examination of one person takes about an hour's time.

Cancer authorities say that to play safe every person should have a checkup once a year. Men and women over 45 should have two a year.

But twice-a-year checkups for everyone would take the full working day of 195,000 doctors. The nation has about 160,000 practicing physicians.

Centers Booked Up

There are about 240 cancer detection centers now, the society reported. Most are booked up weeks or months in advance.

Of all the people who come, about one percent are found to have cancers. Ten per cent have conditions that might turn into cancer. Fifty-seven per cent are found to have other diseases or troubles and are referred to their own physicians for treatment of these disorders.

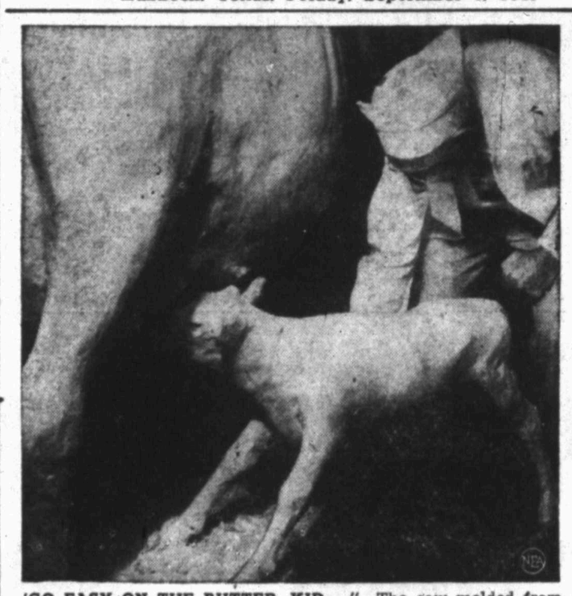

This finding, the report said, points up the value of having regular health checkups.

Cancer detection centers have helped educate people to the worth of health checkups, and have made them more alert to suspicious signs of cancer.

They also serve as a proving ground for new methods of finding various kinds of cancer, are particularly helpful to people who have no money, and can supplement the cancer detection work of family physicians.

Family doctors, using the proper tests, could find most of the cancers turned up in the detection centers, the report adds. The main problem is checkups of people over 45, who are hit hardest by cancer. Women are more susceptible than men.

"Every woman in the United States over 45 could be examined once a year if 100,000 physicians would devote just one hour per week to this work," the report declares.

'GO EASY ON THE BUTTER, KID..."—The cow molded from butter is a yearly feature of the Ohio State Fair in Columbus. But, this year bossie had a calf who stole the stow. The 600-pound work of butter art has been an annual creation for 26 years of J. E. Wallace of De Land, Fla. If all the butter patties that went into the making of the exhibit were placed end ot end, where would that leave bossie and her calf?

Paul Robeson Not To Attend New Meet In Peekskill Area

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—Paul Robeson, target of two anti-Communist demonstrations that flared into mass violence, near Peekskill, N. Y., has decided not to attend another scheduled gathering in that area.

Word of the decision came from the left-wing negro singer's associates yesterday as more public figures, including President Truman and Henry Wallace, denounced the widespread disorders.

In Washington, President Truman said he agreed fully with remarks of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who in her syndicated column had called the outbreaks "disgraceful."

Rewards Are Offered

The American Civil Liberties union, meanwhile, offered rewards of $500 each for information leading to arrests of persons who took part in the stonings and other attacks on Robeson concert-goers last Sunday.

Wallace, Progressive party leader, wrote to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declaring that the "violent outbreak of racial and religious bigotry and political intolerance was deliberate and premeditated."

He urged the governor to go over the heads of officials of Westchester county, where the outbreaks occurred, in ordering a "disinterested, thorough and relentless" investigation.

Dewey, who still is awaiting further reports from law enforcement officers, thus far has remained silent on the episode, in which more than 100 were injured.

New Meeting Set

The new meeting, to which Robeson has been invited, is planned Saturday at Shanks village, largest student veterans housing project in the nation, as a protest against the Peekskill violence.

Te village, federally operated and including thousands of Columbia university students, is about 20 miles south of Peekskill.

Heads of American Legion and Jewish war veterans groups in the area issued orders against demonstrations, and of the Catholic War Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars, had participated in demonstrations preceding the violence at two Robeson affairs near Peekskill.

Three-Day Reunion Of Division Opens

WACO, Sept. 9 (AP)—A three-day reunion of the 36th Division association opens here tonight.

Lt. Col. Charles M. Beacham of Corpus Christi will open the program with a meeting of officers and directors.

Saturday morning troops of the second armored division from Camp Hood, Connally Air Force base and the third battalion, 143rd infantry, Texas National Guard, will stage a downtown parade.

The division will hold a general meeting Saturday followed by an afternoon barbecue and a dance at night.

Southland Pioneer Claimed By Death

SOUTHLAND, Sept. 9 (Special) —Mrs. E. H. Ussery, 63, resident of this area for 33 years, died at her home near here this morning.

Funeral services were to be held at 3 p. m. Friday at the Southland Church of Christ. Burial was to be in Southland cemetery under the direction of the Hudman Funeral home, Post.

Survivors include her husband; two sons, Horace, and Robert, both of Fresno, Calif.; seven daughters, Mrs. Jessie Thomas of Shallowater, Mrs Ellen Keith of Farwell, Mrs. Helen Cody of Sweetwater, Mrs. Ed Ussery of Bakersfield, Calif.; Mrs. Ethel Bond of Richmond, Calif., Mrs. Vera Kenney of Merced, Calif., and Mrs. Ina Penninger of Calwa City, Calif.; six brothers; and three sisters.

All the sons and daughters are making plans to attend the services.

Houston May Get Pro Grid Team In 1950

CLEVELAND, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Cleveland Plain Dealer said last night that the All-America football conference is expected to be expanded to eight teams next year with Houston, Tex. as the new member.

The circuit was reduced to seven last January when the Brooklyn and New York franchises were merged.

Pointing to a charity game which Glenn McCarthy, wealthy Houston oilman, yesterday said conference players would stage in Houston, Dec. 17, the paper added:

"The game, which will be sort of a public opinion poll, will be the forerunner of a franchise for McCarthy in Houston, it was said. It has been arranged to acquaint Texas fans with the type of game the pros play."

New Zealand has built 17,522 new houses in a year.

Accidental Death Verdict Returned In Mishap On Ship

BOSTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—An investigation in the death of a Texxas debutante was at an end today with a medical examiner's verdict that she was killed accidentally in a stairway fall aboard the liner Excalibur at sea.

Shortly after Dr. William J. Brickley announced his findings, the body of Adrienne Atwell, 20, of Dallas, was placed aboard a plane and accompanied home by her parents, Atty. and Mrs. Webster Atwell.

Fall From Stairs

Robert M. Willard, 21, also of Dallas, who was injured in the stairway fall early last Saturday, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Peter Bent Brigham hospital.

Miss Atwell died from a fractured skull and intracranial hemorrage three days later. Willard suffered head injuries.

A crew member of the American Export liner said Miss Atwell and Willard were injured when they fell backward halfway up a nine-foot stairway between the promenade and boat decks.

Seas Are Rough

The crewman said the couple had their arms around each other while ascending the two-and-a-half foot wide stairway.

The seas were reported as moderately rough at the time.

Miss Atwell, granddaughter of Federal Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas, was returning with her parents and a group of college friends from a summer visit to Mediterranean ports and Italy. Atty. Atwell and Willard boarded the Excalibur for the trip home at Marseille.

At a flower show in Thetford, England, a photograph of a geranium eight feet high was shown.

Hurricane Clark Wants To Quit After Stormy Career On Ocean

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9 (U.P.) — Capt. Frank E. (Hurricane) Clark, who established himself as a nautical wonder man a decade ago by crossing the Atlantic three times alone in a 30-foot sailboat, is trying to retire in New Orleans.

Having lived on half rations, watched a death battle between tiger sharks and an octopus, been charged with piracy and fought hurricanes, he finds retirement a little difficult. He was at sea 51 years.

He picked up the nickname "Hurricane" when he weathered the storm that smashed the eastern seaboard in 1938 during his first Atlantic crossing.

Clark ran away from his London home at 14, and signed as cabin boy aboard a two-masted brig. He became an American citizen after World War I.

Adventure Begins

In 1937, after sailing "every kind of ship that floats," he returned to England to claim an inheritance and begin the adventure that brought him fame and nearly scared him to death.

In Penzance, England, he found a 30-foot fishing boat that was 60 years old.

"I fell in love with her lines," said Clark, "and bought her for £100. I took her to Portsmouth, converted her to a yacht and called her The Girl Kathleen."

He removed the engines and rigged the vessel with mast and sails. On Aug. 19, 1938, he cleared Southampton for Charles, S. C.

An English Channel storm ruined half Clark's provisions. He continued on half rations. He sailed to the Canary Islands to pick up the northeast trade winds.

"From there, I steered due west for the Bahamas," he said.

Hurricane Comes Up

"Then, 500 miles east of the Bahamas, I lay becalmed for three days while a large squall slowly built up between me and land. I knew it was a hurricane."

It was then that a giant octopus came near the tiny boat, and was attacked by tiger sharks.

"I took cover in the cabin because that was one time I was afraid. You never saw such a thrashing and a churning in all your life. The sharks finally took him under."

Clark tossed good seamanship to the winds, sailed directly into the hurricane, and won the safety of its calm center. The giant storm lashed the eastern United States coast, but brought Clark to the Bahamas, unscatched.

He put in at Savannah, for his first real meal in almost three months. Authorities promptly charged him with piracy for not getting port clearance at Southampton. A buccaneering charge was tacked on because he didn't fly a flag.

Escapes Prison

Clark faced a 10-year prison sentence but finally cleared himself. He sailed on to State Island and appeared on the radio show "We the People" as "the first American pirate of the 20th century."

In July, 1939, Clark decided to sail back to England. A broken main boom off Newfoundland, caused by a heavy sea, was his only mishap. He landed at Cornwall in July, the first man ever to make a round-trip Atlantic crossing in a small sailboat.

The outbreak of war in September, 1939, made Clark decide to return to America. He cleared Portsmouth, Oct. 15, and headed for the Canaries, and then Puerto Rico.

In April, 1940, Clark landed at Miami, Fla. He sailed up the coast to Savannah, where a storm smashed The Girl Kathleen, "which had become known all over the world."

"Altogether, I must have covered about 15,000 miles on the three trips," said the wiry old captain. "I got a lot of publicity, but that was all. I never received a dime."

Abilene Makes Bid For National Races

ABILENE, Sept. 9 (AP) — Abilene today bid for future speed contests of the National Air Races association.

The city of Abilene and the chamber of commerce joined in inviting the association to hold the air races here—if they are moved from Cleveland.

Mayor Hudson Smart and W. P. Wright, chairman of the chamber of commerce aviation committee, were to telegram the invitation to the association's general manager, Ben Franklin.

Franklin indicated earlier in the week that the association may have to move from the Ohio city.

The invitation points out that Texas has "ideal" flying weather and that the city has "excellent and adequate large airport facilities." These facilities are "located in an area without obstructions or hazards."

2,4-D Destroys Weed During Budding Stage

DES MOINES, Sept. 9. (AP)—Although Canadian thistle is resistant to 2,4-D, the weed can be eradicated with repeated applications, an Iowa state extension professor says.

A. L. Bakke, research professor in the botany and plant pathology sections of the Iowa Agriculture Experiment station, says an application of 2,4-D when the thistles are in the bud stage and most susceptible, will destroy the tops and many of the roots.

He says mowing at the bud stage, followed by two applications of 2,4-D the next year, has reduced old stands of thisle by more than 90 per cent. If the farmer desires to complete the job in one year, says Bakke, and soil sterilization isn't important, sodium chlorate can be used. Bakke recommends its application at the rate of four pounds per square rod.

Forgotten War Is Still A Bitter Memory

Italy Surprised By "Tourist" Influx Six Years Ago Today

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—Six years ago today Italy was surprised by the greatest tourist influx in history.

A number of German visitors were already there. And they weren't surprised. They were on the beaches—waiting.

The reaction that followed is known as the Battle of Salerno. It is one of the real milestones of the second world war, marking the first joint British-American landing on the continent of Europe.

Fire Withheld

It opened a disheartening campaign that became a long bleeding wound for the troops who fought in this "Forgotten War."

And the keynote was set at the moment of landing. American Navy vessels had withheld their softening fire against land targets, hoping thereby the assault troops would catch the Germans unaware.

But an enemy reconnaissance plane had sighted allied convoys the day before. When the infantry waded ashore through mine belts the Nazi 16th Panzer division was in position, all guns firing.

The Germans quickly massed four other divisions around the beachhead. And for five stubborn days of around-the-clock fighting the Allies fought to keep from being thrown back into the sea. And there were many—high officers among them — who thought that would happen. Wise men slept with their clothes on.

Orchard Bombed

I landed with a group of Air Force engineers whose job was to follow quickly after the first infantry groups and build an airstrip for American fighter bombers.

We camped behind a British battery on the beach. That night German counter battery fire landed in our position and killed some men. The next night we bunked in an apple orchard. A German plane found us with flares and put a bomb in the middle of our orchard.

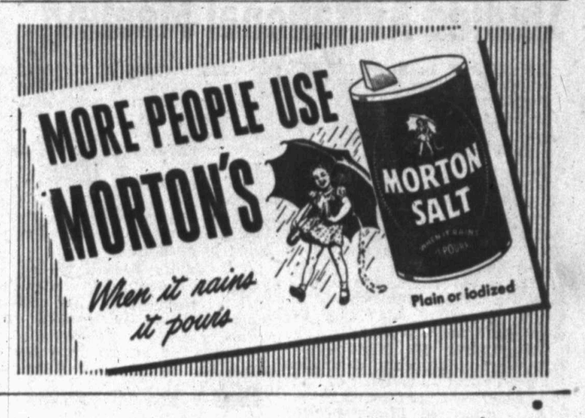

But by the next day the airstrip was built.

Then the long march up the mountainous peninsula began. It was like a war between quarreling ants on the backbone of a dinosaur.

For the rest of the war the trops in Italy wore their hearts out against the endless mountains on that forgotten front. And today they remember the campaign with little pleasure.

For when peace came the Germans still hadn't run out of mountains.

Nicaragua will slash its 1949 budget.

New, Homogenized Swift's Jewel Shortening Challenges The Costliest...Costs Much Less!

JEWEL CAMERA INTERVIEWS

TODAY'S QUESTION:
In your opinion, how does the new Jewel compare with costliest shortenings in performance?

Mrs. J. A. Perry, 2681 Pershing Ave., Memphis, Tenn. "There's nothing better than new Jewel for all fine frying and fancy cooking. For example, on a recent Saturday night I made a Jam Cake with the new Jewel that would just melt in your mouth. It's also especially good for frying chicken. It can't be beat . . . and it costs less too!"

Mrs. T. H. Goodwin, 1905 Hickory St., Dallas, Texas. "I find the new Jewel goes lots further and fries and bakes as good or better than expensive shortenings I've used. Makes cakes light and fluffy and real tender piecrusts. I find that it's good too, for french fried potatoes. Doesn't leave 'em soggy."

Mrs. R. T. Farrar, 1315 E. Belknap, Fort Worth, Texas. "I like it better for making cakes and piecrusts than any other shortenings costing more. I deep-fat-fry with it for good crisp fish. It's real good for french fries, too. And I can make the lightest biscuits of all with new Jewel. In fact I use it for everything. Every pound I buy, I save pennies that add up."

Mrs. A. Chisesi, 1635 Clio, New Orleans, La. "New Jewel is lighter than any other shortening I've used and best of all it's not greasy when cold. I use it for deep fat frying of fish, potatoes, codfish cakes. I find it goes farther because I can fry with it again and again. It costs less to begin with, too."

Simple Test Proves Jewel Tops

"Smoke-Point" 40° higher than costliest shortenings!

WON'T SMOKE UP OR SMELL UP KITCHENS

Dramatic proof that Jewel is smokeless is offered by a recent test conducted under scientifically controlled conditions. In this test, Jewel was compared with the three costliest shortenings on the market. And in every single instance, Jewel demonstrated a marked superiority.

The test itself is so simple that it can be done in any home kitchen. As the photograph above illustrates, equal amounts of Jewel and any costliest shortening are placed in two pans. A cooking thermometer, (two, if you have them) will help to verify the exact temperatures reached.

The heat goes on

As identical heat is applied to both of the pans the expensive brand will begin to smoke and give off odors.

Jewel, however, remains smoke-free long after the other shortening has been removed from the heat. It can, in fact, be left over the heat until its temperature is 40° higher than its competitors. Only then is there any evidence of smoke or smell.

Home Economists agree that the perfect deep-fat frying temperature is 365° to 375°. Expensive shortenings will begin to smoke at 360°. Jewel, however, could be heated to 400° before even a noticeable trace of smoke or odor would appear.

NO OTHER SHORTENING IS MORE DIGESTIBLE OR MORE NUTRITIOUS!

Don't be fooled—say scientists.

Just because a shortening costs more doesn't make it any more nutritious or digestible.

As proof they cite new homogenized Jewel. Costing 5¢ to 7¢ less per pound than costliest shortenings—it rates every bit as high nutritionally. And it's just as digestible, too.

Actually, any fats—including the fine vegetable and meat-food fats found in Jewel—are among the most completely digested foods. For table and cooking fats, regardless of source, are 93% to 97% digestible.

Furthermore, all fats play an important role in good nutrition. For example, they are a concentrated energy food yielding 2¼ times as many energy units per pound as either carbohydrates or protein.

In other words, money can't buy a more nutritious or more digestible shortening than new Jewel. Not even if you pay $10 a pound!

GIVES "MAGIC" RESULTS IN COOKING, BAKING, FRYING. YET SELLS FOR 5¢ TO 7¢ LESS PER POUND THAN COSTLIEST SHORTENINGS!

Thanks to the skills and ingenuity of the famous Swift Research Laboratories a new, homogenized Jewel Shortening has just been introduced. It challenges the entire field of costlier shortenings. Yet it costs 5¢ to 7¢ less per pound.

Created to a new formula, the new Jewel employs a controlled homogenization process in the blending of its fine vegetable oils and meat-food fats. The result is a remarkably smooth and even-textured product of highest quality. No other shortening—regardless of price—is more nutritious or more digestible.

Exhaustive tests by Martha Logan, Swift's nationally-known Home Economist, show that the new Jewel is truly ideal for all cooking, baking and frying. Jewel-made cakes, pies, biscuits, doughnuts and fried foods rival those of shortenings costing much, much more.

"Even a bride," says Martha Logan, "can make tender, light cakes and flaky piecrusts with new homogenized Jewel. And as for frying—well, Jewel's in a class by itself!"

Rigid Swift Quality Control and U. S. Government Inspection Insure Uniformity of Jewel Quality

Take it from Swift food scientists, you'll always find the same high quality in new Jewel—no matter where you buy it. In Houston, in Memphis, New Orleans, Montgomery or Charleston—and all points in between—Jewel is unvarying in its quality.

For today, all Jewel Shortening is tested for quality at the refineries. A thorough, continuing system of Quality Control is constantly on the alert for any deviation, however slight, in the Jewel formula.

It must be the best, or it never gets to market.

In addition the new homogenized Jewel Shortening must pass a rigid U. S. Government inspection. Thus, each Jewel carton bears a U. S. inspected stamp of approval.

All this extra care taken in the manufacture of Jewel makes it certain that Jewel will be uniform wherever you buy it. The same high quality—the same purity and rich, smooth texture.

Homemakers who have used new Jewel for frying are most enthusiastic. For this new shortening remains smoke-free and odor-free at extreme cooking temperatures. Actually, its "smoke-point" is 40° higher than that of costliest shortenings. Thus, even at temperatures above those required for perfect deep-fat frying, it won't smoke up or smell up your kitchen.

Yet, for all its many advances, the new Jewel is sensationally low in price. In fact, Jewel is so economical that homemakers will be able to purchase 4 pounds for the same price they usually pay for 3 pounds of costlier shortening brands.

Jewel a long-time favorite of the South

To hundreds of thousands of Southern homemakers, there's "magic" in the name of Jewel. Over the years, this famous shortening has become one of the best-known and respected of all branded food products.

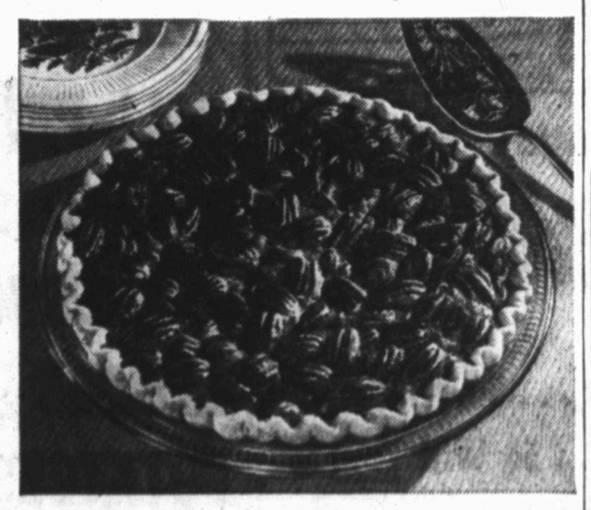

First introduced in 1898, Jewel's fame spread quickly. Today, over the entire southland, the famous Jewel red carton is a familiar sight to homemakers. It can be purchased in big cities, small towns and even in crossroad country stores.

Here, as everywhere in the South, cooking has always been considered a fine art. And Jewel's popularity is indeed a high tribute to the product itself.

Generation after generation have come to know and to depend on its high quality—its uniform creamy-smoothness—the truly amazing results it brings.

For tender light cakes, flaky piecrusts, golden brown fried foods—Jewel has been acclaimed by some of the finest cooks.

With the introduction of new, homogenized Jewel Shortening the fame of this fine and dependable product is destined to reach new heights.

SPECIAL PECAN PIE RECIPE FROM SWIFT'S FAMOUS MARTHA LOGAN

Families who go for pecan pie (and what family doesn't!) will give a cheer for this special recipe featuring the new Jewel Shortening.

You'll find it's easy to make, too! Just follow the 3 magic steps which Martha Logan has indicated for your convenience. 1. Line an 8-inch pie pan with pastry made with Jewel Shortening. 2. For the filling, beat 4 eggs slightly. Add 1 cup sugar, ½ tsp. salt, 1 cup white corn syrup, 3 tbsp. melted Jewel Shortening, ½ cup whole pecan nut meats and 1½ tsp. vanilla. 3. Fill prepared pie shell and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 1 hour, until an inserted knife comes out clean.

Challenges the costliest—costs much less!

NEW! HOMOGENIZED!

Based on a new and different formula—blended by homogenization. A superior shortening for use in cakes, pies, biscuits and fried foods.

IT'S DIGESTIBLE... AND NUTRITIOUS TOO!

Organized Labor Takes Credit For Many Of Britain's Policies

(EDITOR'S NOTE: L. R. Blanchard is general executive editor of the 21 metropolitan papers—mostly in the East—in the Gannett chain. As one of the nation's most widely known and respected editors, Mr. Blanchard has often traveled the world for his papers, informing himself, first-hand, on what is going on. Recently he went to England to look at Socialism and the series of articles he wrote while on the trip are highly revealing. Because some politicians urge that the U. S. follow England in experimenting with Socialism, The Journal asked—and received—permission of the Gannett papers and Mr. Blanchard to present the series in Texas. We consider Mr. Blanchard's articles to be most significant, especially since Britain, largely supported by American tax dollars will seek from us next month more aid to be used in carrying on socialistic aims.)

By L. R. BLANCHARD
Executive Editor, Gannett Newspapers

STRATFORD-ON-AVON—"American labor is 20 years behind us. It still thinks capitalism will work."

The statement was made in the course of a long conversation with Labor leaders in Manchester. It was made with the offhand assurance of one saying, "It's raining."

Organized labor over here is the backbone of the Labor government. It takes credit for many of the government's policies. It says that most of these were first proposed by unions. Proposals are moved up from individual unions to the district level, then to the parent body, the Trade Union Congress. Or they may even go to Labor Party officials directly.

Organized labor is determined that the government shall be returned to office in the elections next year. It by some unlikely chance the Conservative Party should take over, union labor says there will be trouble. One man even used the word "revolution."

"Maybe It's Just As Well"

This is a continuation of the feeling, especially in industry, that it is just as well Labor took over when it did. Such men feel there would have been turmoil had Conservatives retained their power.

One learns a great deal about Labor in sitting around a plainly furnished office in what was once a fine mansion, just talking with labor leaders who are in daily touch with thousands of union members. In Manchester we had just such a session with Tom Eccles, district secretary of general and municipal workers. Under his wing are 125,000 men.

Eccles has held his post for 18 years, which means that he is a thorough union man and that he knows his way around in Labor politics. With him were a half-dozen of his staff, organizers in various fields—gas, rubber, electrical and municipal service.

HERE are some of the views brought out in this long session of give and take:

Labor is behaving itself under the present government. It would not strike, for instance, to protest an unpopular appointment as American miners did recently. But it could and would demand an investigation and insist on an answer.

"We fully approve this government," said Eccles. "We want it to succeed. Therefore Labor realizes its responsibility in production.

"One time production was the management's pigeon. Our concern was keeping our people employed. These days we don't talk about the boss. We talk about the job to be done."

"Introduction of the five-day week has not cut the production," said the organizers. "In fact, production is helped in many instances because absenteeism is reduced. Those who skipped a Saturday to do the shopping or take care of the garden are working their full time and doing the job better."

Feather-Bedding Halted

Many "restrictive clauses"—feather bedding—were dropped during the war by mutual consent and have not been revived. Labor-saving machines are being introduced, but the union demands to be informed in advance. There also is a strong feeling the organizers said, that if a machine can improve profits, then the operator should share in the gain.

"The wealth of a nation is determined by its health and by health alone," asserted Eccles. He was backing up his previous endorsement of the government's vast health service scheme.

"These high costs will taper off. Actually it is just like a big insurance operation, only we will have to feel our way for a while.

"This nation is committed to social insurance. It will have to plan its economy to carry out the policy.

"The truth, is, "said Eccles, "that nationalization is a way of preserving our social gains. Suppose the Tories were to regain office. Their first move undoubtedly would be to cut down on business to punish our people. Many of them openly say unemployment would be a good thing because it would whip us into line. We are nationalizing to keep such men from carrying out that threat."

THE men and women of Manchester represent Labor's thinking in all the country. The same ideas, the same determination are found everywhere. They believe in the government now in power, in widespread social benefits, in a leveling off of income, although they insist that all they actually seek is a lifting of the lower incomes.

They are convinced that capitalism cannot survive. In that they agree with Russian chieftains. Yet they admit that management is an art, and a necessary art.

They are not the least concerned that the labor program is changing many aspects of English life which have been among its attractive featrues. Among that latter is the breaking up of the manor homes which have dotted the landscape.

Laborites Good Talkers

Labor leaders in England, to a great extent, are public men. It is part of their ability that they are vocal. They are persuasive. Anyone who ventures into debate with them must be certain of his facts. And he must be hardened against shafts of wit and sarcasm in which they are masters.

These men are determined. To a certain extent they are ruthless. They have the will to survive, and if survival meant throwing England into turmoil, they would do it.

What Labor has done is to buttress social advances initiated by others. Whether it has figured correctly the final cost is a matter for future years to reveal.

While Labor is quiet now, there are signs of restiveness. Men who have fought all their lives probably cannot lose the habit entirely. The Trade Union Congress has been requested to investigate some aspects of nationalization. Government operation calls for an elaborate setup of various sorts of boards. It means many white collar jobs and many expensive offices.

Yorkshire miners resented their white collar visitors, especially those shiny cars in which they dashed about the area. There was a brief strike in Yorkshire, enough to cost the nation several thousands of tons of coal. Then the men went back grumbling. It doubtless is a sign that, though Labor is in the saddle, it still is not content.

(Monday: Labor reaches out.)

BODY IS FOUND

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 9 (AP)—The body of a 28-year-old negro woman cotton picker, Mrs. Ernestine Thompson of Austin, was found in a field about five miles west of here late yesterday. Sheriff John Harney said he is holding a suspect in the county jail.

Chavez Gives Stand On Canadian Project

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 9 (U.P.)—Sen. Dennis Chavez today pledged to see that New Mexico water rights are protected before he will support a proposal for a Canadian river reclamation project in Texas.

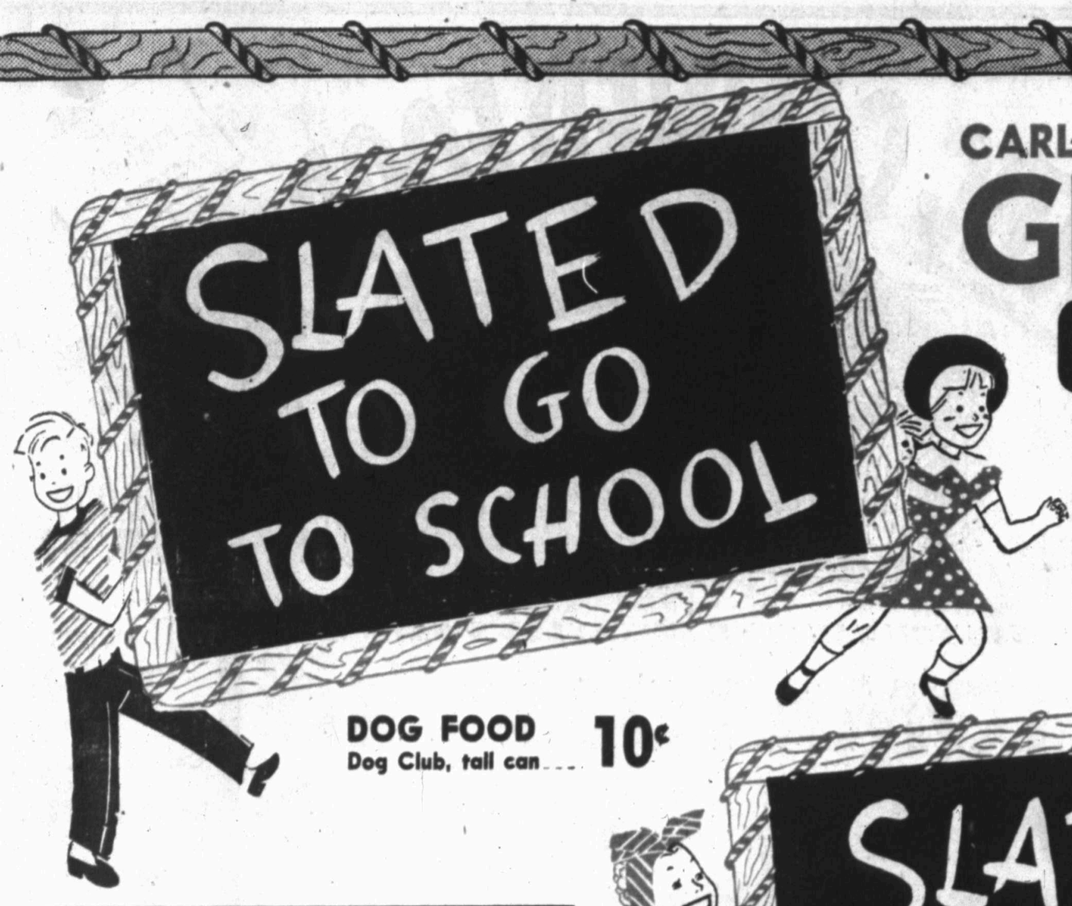

"I am favorable toward any sound project for development of water resources," he said. "But I will not support this project unless New Mexico rights are protected."

Sen. Clinton Anderson recently took a similar stand. Both senators took part in a meeting here Tuesday with delegations from West Texas. All parties agreed that a Canadian river compact is necessary, covering water-users in New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, and possibly Arkansas.

Anderson said the compact could be achieved by putting an amendment on the bill calling for a dam on the river in the Texas Panhandle. The amendment would require that a compact be signed before the dam could be constructed.

City Commission Okays Plan For Wider Pavement On 34th

First steps looking to the provision of paving 64 feet wide on Thirty-fourth street were approved at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

The commission also advanced several extensions of the city limits, approved a $59,000 budget for the operation of Municipal airport during the fiscal year starting Oct. 9, ordered plans prepared for about 90 blocks of new street paving to be included in next year's program and received the estimate of $114,000 as the approximate cost of opening Nineteenth street between Avenue G and Texas avenue.

County Commissioner R. O. Short was credited by City Manager Steve Matthews with having suggested the plan expected to lead to the provision of 64-foot paving on Thirty-fourth, which is becoming one of the most heavily traveled of Lubbock thoroughfares. Most of the paving on the street is 36 feet wide.

To be widened first, under the plan approved, will be the portion of the street between Avenue Q and Monroe avenue, more than a mile.

Under the agreement, the assessment upon property owners bordering the street to be improved will be reduced from $5.30 to $3.95 a front foot as their share of the cost of the widened paving. The city and the county will pay the remainder of the cost, amounting to $9,546 each. The county's part will come from the road and bridge fund allotted to the commissioner's precinct represented by Short.

The plan calls further for paving of the same width the entire length of Thirty-fourth westward to the intersection with the Brownfield highway at Five Points as soon as practical.

The airport budget was submitted by Ed Colby, manager, after its approval by the Municipal Airport board and considerable slicing by Matthews and the city commission.

Airport receipts during the coming year were estimated at $64,000, a surplus of approximately $5,000 over operating expenses. Budget items include about $15,000 for permanent improvements, of which $10,000 will be for sealcoating runways and the remainder for equipment.

It is the first time the airport has operated under its own budget. Heretofore its receipts and expenditures have been included in general city budgets. Exact comparisons with last year's financial operations were not submitted, but the officials were informed that increased operating costs have been more than offset by increased revenues.

The new street paving for which specifications were ordered prepared includes all that has been requested by petitions during recent weeks. R. L. Oldham, city director of public works, said that a list of streets for which surfacing has been asked has not been prepared. The 90 blocks, however, include from one-third to one-fourth of the new paving now being programmed for next year.

The various actions looking to extensions of the city limits included these:

Passed on second and final reading the ordinance annexing the J. C. Davis subdivision bounded by Avenues L and P and Thirty-fourth and Forty-second streets.

Completed action on an ordinance taking in a West Lubbock area between the present city limits and Taylor avenue and extending from Nineteenth south to Twenty-sixth street.

Passed an ordinance on first reading annexing an irregular area in Northwest Lubbock after D. F. Cogburn and E. W. Hester, property owners there, had appeared to protest. Several hundred residents of the area have requested the extension.

Gave Leland Payne and J. F. Jenkins assurance of intent to annex the area between Thirty-fourth and Thirty-ninth streets between the Miller-Stevens and the College Heights additions in Southwest Lubbock. A letter of intent is needed, the commission was told, to enable Payne and Jenkins to proceed with the financing of a 123-duplex housing project in that area, for which plans already have been announced.

Also pertaining to annexation were petitions submitted to the commission which oppose inclusion of three areas in the city limits. These areas are Southeast Lubbock between Avenues A and H, a portion of East Lubbock along East Broadway and West Haven addition in Northwest Lubbock.

West Haven already is in process of annexation. The opposition petitions as to the southeastern and eastern areas will be considered, members of the commission said, if and when requests for the annexation of those territories are submitted. No such formal requests have been made as yet, but the commission was advised they probably will be at an early meeting.

The opening of Nineteenth between Texas and G was explained as an important part of the city's highway dispersal system on which much progress toward completion has been made. Nineteenth now deadends at Texas on the west and Avenue G on the east. The opening of that gap was explained as the biggest present obstacle to an east-west thoroughfare which would extend entirely across the city.

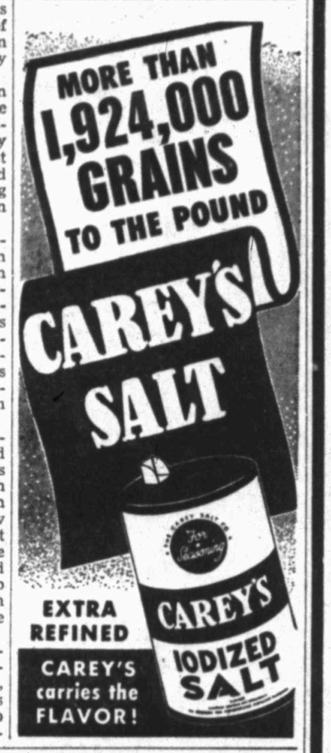

Also pertaining to traffic movement was a request for cooperation, which the commission gave, for the opening of Avenue K across the Santa Fe tracks northward to the Plainview cutoff. E. P. McAdams, T. A. Rogers, M. O. Owens and Alton Abbott appeared as a committee in behalf of this project.

They were advised that the county's cooperation and the provision of rights-of-way for the northward extension of K will be necessary to the realization of such a project.

Action was deferred for further study on two applications for franchises to establish taxicab services exclusively for negroes. To be studied at the same time will be a proposed ordinance regulating all taxicab operators more closely, including their charges, and requiring them to pay a 2 per cent gross receipts tax.

George P. Kuykendall was appointed to Lubbock Cemetery board, succeeding the late P. F. Brown.

Members of the commission present at the meeting were Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioners W. B. Price, E. K. Hufstedler and Clarence Whiteside.

Rich, dark, and delicious...this cake and coffee team

A steaming, fragrant cup of Hills Bros. Coffee is inviting and delightful. Its matchless flavor is the result of skillful blending of the world's finest coffees . . . and "Controlled Roasting," an exclusive Hills Bros. process, that roasts the blend a little at a time—continuously—to insure an even roast of every coffee bean. Vacuum-packed for flavor-freshness.

EASY DEVIL'S FOOD

4 squares chocolate	1¾ cups milk
4 tablespoons shortening	2 cups cake flour
2 cups sugar	¾ teaspoon salt
2 eggs	1 teaspoon vanilla
	1 teaspoon soda

Melt chocolate and shortening in top of double boiler. Cool to lukewarm. Add sugar, stir well. Mix egg yolks with 1 cup milk, stir into chocolate mixture. When smooth, add sifted cake flour, salt, beat until well blended. Add vanilla and ½ cup milk, stir until smooth. Dissolve soda in ¼ cup milk, stir into batter. Pour into 2 greased and floured 9-inch layer pans. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. Use the 2 egg whites for a double boiler frosting and place between and on top of layers after cake has cooled.

POLITICAL DISASTER CONSIDERED

Council Of Europe Approves Resolution On Human Rights

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Council of Europe's consultative assembly wound up its historic first session today shortly after okaying a bill of human rights.

During its one-month sitting the 12-nation body approved a number of recommendations which may help weld the political and economic unity of Europe.

The entire session was dominated by oft-repeated assertions that Europe—despite Marshall plan aids—stands on the brink of economic and political disaster from which it only can be rescued by unity.

Since the assembly only has advisory powers, the human rights measure must be approved by the 12 nations of the European Council to become effective.

Opposition Explained

The resolution guaranteeing 10 specific fundamental human freedoms passed 65 to one with 17 abstentions. Most of the British Laborite group, who opposed the measure, abstained from voting.

British Laborite opposition to the proposal for an international court to enforce observance of human rights was based on fears that such a body might become a sounding board for Communist propaganda.

Under its present set up the 101-member assembly has no real authority, it can debate and pass resolutions which in turn must be approved or rejected by the Council of Europe's guiding body, the 12-member committee of ministers representing the various governments.

Freedoms Listed

It is up to each member government as to whether the Council of Europe recommendations will be observed.

The human rights resolution calls upon the member governments to sign a convention agreeing to observe the bill of 10 human rights endorsed by the assembly and to set up a European court of human rights.

The 10 rights and freedoms were listed as:

1. Security of the person.
2. Exemption from all slavery and servitude.
3. Freedom from all arbitrary arrest, detention and exile.
4. Freedom from all arbitrary interference in private and family life, home and correspondence.
5. Freedom of thought, conscience and religion.
6. Freedom of opinion and expression.
7. Freedom of assembly.
8. Freedom of association.
9. Freedom to be united in trade unions.
10. The right to marry and found a family.

Reports Approved

Besides the human rights resolution, the assembly in its month-long session approved two major reports recommending:

1. Eventual creation of a "European authority" with real power to guide the European nations toward federation or union.
2. Organization of member countries and their overseas territories or associated dominions into a single preferential tariff system with eventual free exchange of currencies. It also recommended that an assembly delegation negotiate with the United States for lower tariffs.

The 12 nations comprising the body are Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Italy, Ireland, Turkey and Greece.

Britain's Army strength in May was 785,000 men, 23,000 fewer than in January.

Removal Of Hobbs Mayor Is Upheld

SANTA FE, Sept. 9 (INS) — The action of New Mexico's state comptroller in removing from office Hobbs Mayor J. Paul Heard was upheld in district court in Santa Fe today.

District Judge David W. Carmody dismissed a writ of prohibition obtained by Heard's counsel in an attempt to prevent state Comptroller J. D. Hannah from removing the Hobbs mayor from office.

Arguments were presented by Hobbs Attorney Melvin Neal to show that the state comptroller is not subject to writs of prohibition.

According to Neal's arguments, Hannah's action was a ministerial or administrative duty, and as such, was not subject under law to a writ of prohibition.

Two Assessed Death In Rape

TAVARES, Fla., Sept. 9 (AP) — Charging the defense with trying to inject the racial question into the trial, circuit Judge T. G. Futch yesterday sentenced two negroes to die in the electric chair for raping a young farm wife last July.

He condemned Sampel Shepherd and Walter Irvin, both 22, to death for the rape that stirred white night riders to terrorist activity against negro communities in Lake county.

An all-night jury convicted the pair and Charles Greenlee, 16, last Saturday; but it recommended mercy for Greenlee. Judge Futch sentenced Greenlee to life imprisonment.

Fair Trial Claimed

A fourth suspect, Ernest Thomas, was killed by a posse 10 days after the rape.

Judge Futch said the negroes were given a fair trial. The record will show the state atorney was "particularly careful to be fair and honest with the defendants," he said.

Defense attorneys, however, seemed "far more intent upon injecting the racial question into the record than in maintaining the presumption of innocence," the judge contended.

Defense Attorney Alex Akerman, jr., of Orlando said he will appeal the conviction of Irvin and Shepherd to the Florida supreme court.

FINAL PRELIMINARY IS TONIGHT

Western Beauties Have Edge In Miss America Competition

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 9 (AP)—Are girls from west of the Mississippi prettier than eastern or southern belles?

Preliminary results in the 1949 Miss America pageant seem to point that way. All of the preliminary winners announced in the talent and bathing suit divisions are from the wide open spaces with one exception—Miss Canada.

Tonight's third and final preliminary contest may give the westerners the upper hand in the finals tomorrow night, but no one will know until the 15 finalists are announced then.

Sylvia Canaday, an 18-year-old eyeful from Denver, "Miss Colorado," took first honors in the bathing suit preliminary last night. The night before "Miss Arizona," Jacque Mercer of Litchfield, and Jone Ann Pederson of Santa Rosa, "Miss California," tied for the classy chassis award.

Canadian Girl Wins

A demure Canadian miss, Margaret Lynne Munn of Toronto, pulled down the top spot in the talent division last night with a rendition of "Sempre Libera" from the opera "La Traviata." And another west-of-the-Mississippi beauty won in talent the night before —Miss Minnesota," Gloria Yvonne Burkhart of Minneapolis.

But eastern and southern gals may make up for their losses in the personality and evening gown divisions, in which nightly preliminary winners are not announced.

Frequently, some of the girls selected among the 15 finalists come as a complete surprise to the audience. There have even been instances when an announced preliminary winner failed to make the grade in the finals.

Horsemanship Displayed

But generally a preliminary winner is a cinch for a crack at the finals for the $25,000 Miss America scholarship jackpot.

One of the three-minute talent acts in last night's show may well be the first time (and the last time) in 29 years that an animal has appeared on the huge convention hall stage in the Miss America contest.

"Miss Montana" in her bid for a talent trophy, appeared aboard her nine-year-old mare to display her horsemanship. The contestant —Carol Rosebell Fraser of Billings —walked, trotted and cantered the nag. Then she showed the audience of 7,000 a short color film of herself riding, and paraded her numerous trophys and ribbons.

She did not place in the talent contest.

But unless Miss Montana reaches the finals, no horse or animal will appear again on the stage in the Miss America pageant. Contest officials, on learning of Miss Fraser's plans, became so uneasy about it they banned animals in future shows.

Man Horse Ditched

Miss Fraser switched horses in midstream earlier in the week. When she found that contest rules forbade association with males during the contest, she ditched her man horse and got herself a lady horse.

When Miss America of 1949 is crowned late Saturday night, she'll cash in on a $5,000 scholarship, as well as a new car and numerous personal appearance contracts.

The fourteen runners-up will share in another $20,000 in scholarships.

The scholarships may be used in any way by the winner to further their careers. But if she marries before she spends all the money, she forfeits what is left. This leftover money then goes into a special account upon which other winners may draw if the Miss America pageant officials approve.

The initial $25,000 in prizes is put up by commercial groups for the privilege of using Miss America in their advertising.

SOME OF HIS DOGS NEED A REST—William Baker, a 60-year-old sign painter, arrives in Omaha, Neb., after walking 600 miles from Lusk, Wyo. The walk took four weeks, and Baker's tired dogs needed a rest, but his passenger, Skipper, was in the pink of condition. Baker inherited his love for travel from his father, a British sea captain.

Arab Women Attend School First Time

FEZ, French Morocco, Sept. 9. (AP)—For the first time in its history, 40 girls are now studying in the ancient Moslem university of Karaouyine here. The break with past tradition which enables Arab women to achieve higher education in Morocco is just one of the changes introduced by the university's energetic young rector, Si Mohammed el Fassi. Today ther are 1,800 students as compared with only 600 when the war ended. The professional staff has been raised from 30 to 90.

Karaouyine University, which claims to be even older than the Paris Corbonne, was built on the initiative of the rich Fathma bent Mohammed el Fehri, who came frome Kairouan in Tunisia, in the year 859 A. D. It has one of the most valuable libraries in the Arab world, estimated to contain 20,000 volumes.

There are plans for construction of a University City in the new Arab section of Fez. Garaouyine turns out mostly clerks and public officials, theologians and lawyers.

Illinois Man Forced To Make Repayment

JOILET, Ill., Sept. 9 (U.P.)—Three years ago, when Chris Holl did some haling for the highway department, it was discovered he was overpaid.

State auditors ordered county officials to get a refund. The county officers were willing to forget the matter but state officials said it had to be collected.

Yesterday, Holl paid the county clerk the one-cent he owed.

San Antonio Goes Wild When "Ship" Whistle Is Heard

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 9 (U.P.) — Sleepy San Antonians swamped police, the FBI, the fire department, radio stations and newspapers with telephone calls today after being rudely awakened at 5:55 a. m. by a long series of piercing steam whistle blasts.

Rumors flew thick and fast that "war is here again," "the city has been attacked," "there's been a monstrous jail break," "that some buildings and factories have been blown up," and that "the police station has been attacked."

The high-pitched, stacatto whistle could be heard for miles and the ensuing flood of calls finally forced most of the public agencies and the newspapers and radio stations to leave their telephones off the hook and cease answering calls.

It took a while to find the "culprits."

Innocent cause of all the commotion: a steam, parade whistle aboard a special train of Shriners leaving for the state convention at Houston.

Womble Olds To Conduct Formal Opening In Its New Home

Saturday Send-Off Planned For Streamlined Structure

Womble Olds will hold its formal opening beginning at 10 a. m. Saturday in its streamlined new building at Nineteenth and Ave. L.

Bob Womble, owner, has arranged for an appropriate send-off for the handsome new building which is designed to offer the finest type of automobile sales and service.

Colorful Opening Set

Many events will add color to the opening. One of the greatest interest will be the giving away of Lubbock county's first bale of cotton to some lucky person attending the opening. Womble paid $3.30 a pound for the bale when it was auctioned off two weeks ago.

Airplanes will drop 1,000 balloons from the skies over Lubbock Saturday as the opening gets underway.

And some of the most beautiful girls in Lubbock, including Miss Lubbock of 1949, Joyce Wendborn, will serve as hostesses for the opening. They will wear dresses furnished by Skibell's of Lubbock.

Two Parties Given

The formal opening is being preceded by two pre-opening parties at the handsome new building. The first, for representatives of the radio and press, was conducted Thursday night. The second, for the architects, contractors and the men who helped build the building, is being held tonight.

An elaborate program is planned for the opening. The Odis Echols quartet will sing at the opening as well as the pre-opening parties. They will be accompanied on a Hammond organ furnished by C. A. Rodgers.

Women attending the opening will be given as souvenirs silk handkerchiefs decorated with an exaggerated map of Texas and an exaggerated drawing of Womble Olds.

Free Tickets Planned

The new Oldsmobile agency building, in addition to being one of the most modern designs in Lubbock, will contain a number of "firsts" for this section of West Texas.

Sign Is Featured

Most prominent, of course, is a $10,000 sign that can be seen from one end of Nineteenth to the other.

Mounted on a tower nine feet wide, three feet thick and 50 feet high, the sign is of the three-flasher neon variety, supposedly the second of its type in Texas, the other being in Houston.

The tower is constructed of masonry on steel framework and was designed to withstand a 100-mile gale with extra safety to spare. Twenty cubic yards of concrete were poured into its foundation.

The tower was finished in an attractive cast stone pattern.

Used-Car Canopy

Another "first" is a used-car canopy designed as an integral part of the building. Here late model used cars will be sheltered and protected from hot sun, rain, snow and ice. A glass used car office in the center will provide easy access to prospective customers and at the same time conserve space in the used car department.

The building contains 12,000 square feet and is adjoined by parking space for 75 cars east of the building.

"No expense was spared," Womble comments, "in an effort to offer the best service for all makes of automobiles."

Lifts In Service Department

The service department contains five hydraulic lifts for the use of mechanics in serving automobiles better and more quickly. The health element was considered too, as use of lifts makes it unnecessary for a mechanic to lie down on the floor or crawl around under a car, exposing himself to chills and colds.

Among te $12,000 worth of new equipment being installed in the building in addition to what the agency already had is a new type front end machine and wheel balancer.

Beam Visualizer Included

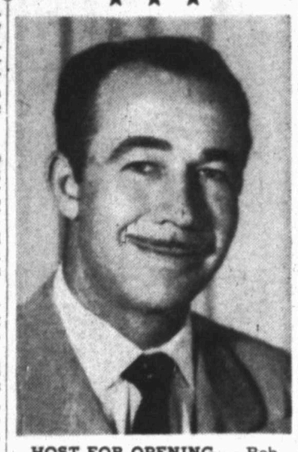

This machine features a "beam visualizer" which allows the customer to see for himself when his wheels are in line. A scope lines the wheels up "on the dot" and that's all there is to it.

A new radio laboratory will contain the equipment to service all kinds of radios, for car or home use.

Offices for the service manager and four sales offices are located near the service department.

The showroom will accommodate two automobiles at a time.

Womble's office, a parts storage room and the penthouse are on the second floor.

HOST FOR OPENING — Bob Womble, at top, will be on hand to welcome the public to his new building at Nineteenth and Ave. L Saturday.

First Bale Of '49 To Be Given Away

Some lucky person who attends the Womble Olds formal opening will be given the most expensive bale of cotton ever ginned in Lubbock county.

The first bale of 1949 Lubbock county cotton, which Bob Womble purchased for a record-smashing price of $3.30 per pound, will be given away without obligation at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon as one of the culminating features of the formal opening of the Oldsmobile agency building at Nineteenth and Ave. L, it was announced today.

The cotton was grown by Weldon Boyd, Idalou farmer, on the farm owned by his brother, County Supt. Roy Boyd, near Heckville in northeast Lubbock county.

Those persons who attend the formal opening today and Saturday may claim tickets which will give them a chance at the bale.

Since the auction on the courthouse square Aug. 27, the 408-pound bale has been on display at the Womble Olds used car lot across the street from the new building.

Rangoon Is Fighting Adulteration Racket

RANGOON, Sept. 9 (AP) — The Burmese government has hit hard at racketeers marketing imitation drugs and adulterated foodstuffs through an ordinance threatening fines, imprisonment and whipping for the guilty.

It was preceded by an official investigation into a newspaper charge that parrafin was being mixed with vegetable oil. Import of edible oil into Burma is controlled by the government. But paraffin can be brought into the country under open general license.

Complaints to the city's health department were made that adulterated oil was given refugees congesting camps in the city. They also charged that in Rangoon's sprawling Chinatown unlicensed druggists were foisting upon an unknowing public imitations of well-known patent medicines. Several deaths are known to have taken place after these mixtures were drunk.

HOSTESS AT OPENING—Miss Joyce Wendborn, above, who holds the title "Miss Lubbock of 1949," will be on hand to greet visitors to the formal opening of Womble Olds beginning at 10 a. m. Saturday.

THEATER MEN PROTEST

Movie theater men in Singapore, Malaya, are protesting against a rule that they show a larger percentage of British pictures, claiming that British films "generally appeal only to the more sophisticated elements of the Colony."

IMPRESSIVE NEW HOME OF WOMBLE OLDS—Even as contractors were rushing it to completion, this handsome new home of Womble Olds at Nineteenth and Ave. L was undergoing preparations for the big formal opening planned to begin at 10 a. m. Saturday. This is the view of the building from northwest. (Staff Photo).

Five Young Models To Assist In Womble Olds Open House

Four beautiful young ladies of Lubbock, all of them modeling new fall afternoon and evening clothes, will act as hostesses at the formal opening of Womble Olds, Bob Womble, owner, has announced.

The girls will wear formal gowns furnished by Skibell's, newly-opened women's fashion store in Lubbock.

Scheduled to be on hand to assist Miss Lubbock of 1949, Miss Joyce Wendborn, welcome visitors to the opening are: Fanette Deaton, Olivia Lawler, Joyce Anders and Betty Beal.

'Penthouse' To Be Busy Spot In New Womble Olds Building

One of the most popular spots in the new $60,000 Womble Olds building at Nineteenth and Ave. L will be the penthouse, its owner, Bob Womble, believes.

The penthouse perches, as the name implies, atop the modernistic structure, and from present indications it will be busy day and night in carrying out its intended function of making service work more pleasant and performing public service.

In the daytime the penthouse will offer a comfortable and attractive place for customers, particularly of the fair sex, to wait while their cars undergo Womble's expert servicing.

At night the room will serve as a meeting place for South Plains clubs and organizations who are fortunate enough to get a reservation for it. It looks as if it will be in heavy demand.

Finished in silver-gray Korina wood, the room will contain a seven-by-eight foot mirror, a telephone and writing tables. Comfortable lounge chairs will make waiting pleasant. Specially designed "Rocket 88" draperies will highlight the room's decorations.

For those who prefer the great outdoors, the penthouse opens onto a terrace to be furnished with outdoor furniture.

Beautiful green terrazzo floors provide an all-weather surface, and a louvred fence affords privacy for those who want to step out and relax in the sun.

Redwood has been used generously under the overhang for a warm, rich effect.

While the penthouse will be busy during the day, it promises to be even more so at night.

Bob Womble, owner of the automobile dealership, has announced that the penthouse will be made available without charge to South Plains clubs and organizations desiring to use it as a meeting place.

"We have already had requests for the use of it as much as a year in advance," Womble said. "However, we will not be able to take reservations until about Oct. 1."

A soft-drink counter is available when needed.

New Building Is Efficient

Planned for maximum efficiency, the beautiful new building of Womble Olds at Nineteenth and Ave. L features many architectural advances to utilize every inch of space to the maximum degree.

The structure was designed by Atmar Atkinson and James Atcheson, Lubbock architects. The general contractor was Max Tidmore or Tidmore Construction company.

Complete Services Offered

"The building is complete with the most modern equipment for complete service, including paint, body, washing and lubrication," Atcheson said.

The long-lasting nature of the building is exemplified by a reinforced concrete foundation. Concrete floors were laid throughout the building, with integral coloring used in the sales room floor.

The building contain a total of 12,000 square feet.

Architecturally, one of the most unusual features is a 50-foot pylon of brick and stone on a steel frame which pierces a permanent canopy. The canopy, in turn, extends the full width of the property over the used car sales area and serves as a roof over the sales room. The canopy also serves as a roof garden for the penhouse.

Trim Is Colorful

The roof and canopy are of steel and wood framing, being one story over the sales room and two stories over the general office, closing offices and parts department. The upper floor houses Mr. Womble's office, parts storage and the penthouse.

Exterior walls of the building are of pumice tile, wood frame walls with stucco, glass and redwood siding combined with eye-catching blendin , of colors.

Museum Will House New German Officials

BONN, Germany, Sept. 9 (AP)—Some officials of the new German Federal republic will have stuffed lions, pre-historic mammoths and rare butterflies as neighbors. They'll all be together in the Alexander Koenig museum in this first capital city of Western Germany.

Bomb-battered Bonn is woefully short of office space. New buildings are blossoming amid the war ruins. But it will be years before enough space is available to house all the ministries of the infant republic, if they stay here permanently. So one ministry probably will settle in the museum. It will have one wing—and the relics of the past will have what's left.

Way To Make Dried Apples Better Given

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 9 (U.P.)—A University of California professor believes a new style of dried apple strips he developed will be munched all over the country like potato chips.

Dr. W. V. Cruess, a food technologist, recommends cutting the dried fruit into shoestrings strips and selling them for the family trade in cellophane bags or cartons.

Up to now apples were dried in the form of rings and did not find many uses in the American kitchen, Cruess said.

YOUR HOSTESSES FOR THE OPENING OF WOMBLE OLDS

Congratulations Mr. Womble—

of Womble-Olds

your marvelous new building is a credit to the South Plains!

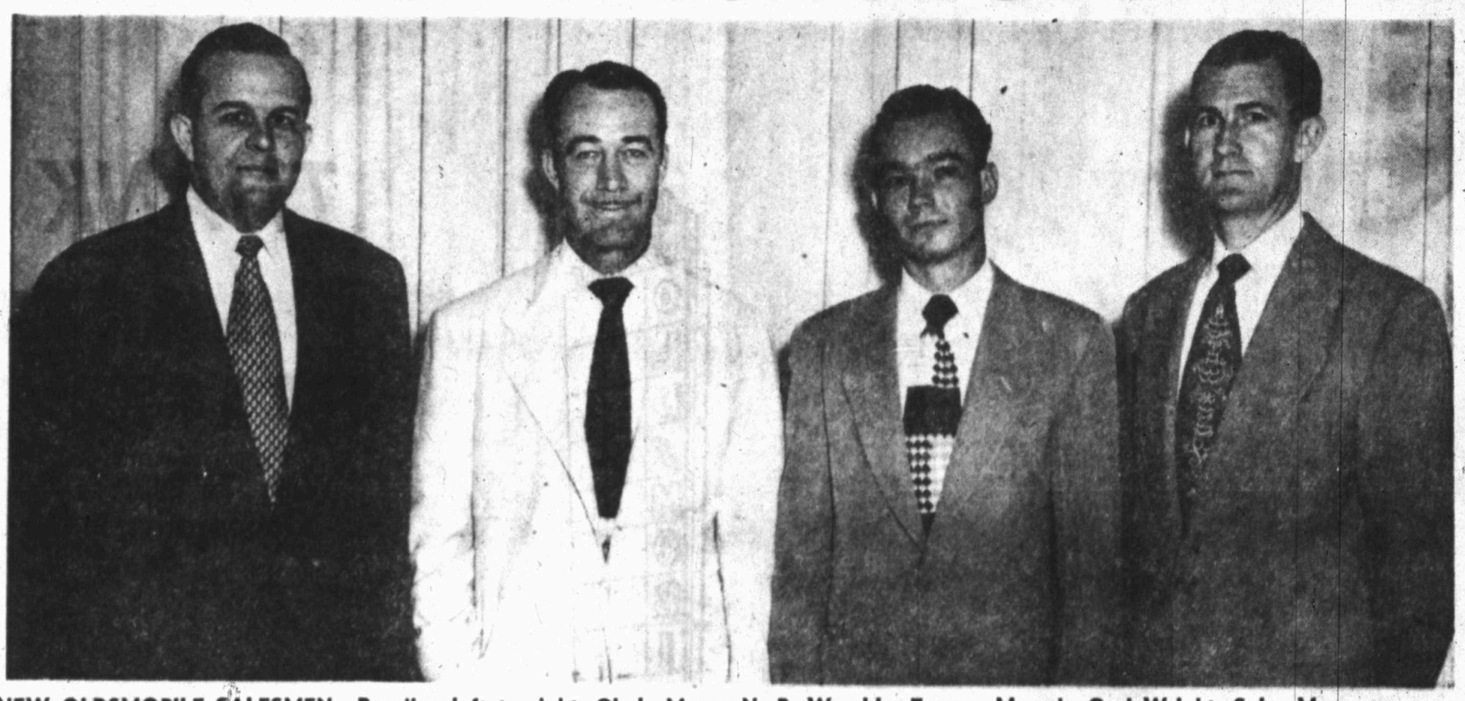

. . . we hope you'll have as wonderful a reception as we did . . . of course, the lovely ladies who will serve as your receptionists will all be dressed in beautiful apparel from—

The NEW TREND IN SOUTH PLAINS CONSTRUCTION

MASONRY BUILDING

More and more builders are turning to Pyramid Pumice as a medium of construction . . . ideal for our great South Plains area. Pictured below is the recently completed Womble Olds building which was constructed with Pyramid Pumice building blocks . . . manufactured by Texas Concrete Block Co.

Hundreds of homes have been built during the past few years of Pyramid Pumice.

Many churches and schools have been built with Pyramid Pumice as the basic wall construction material.

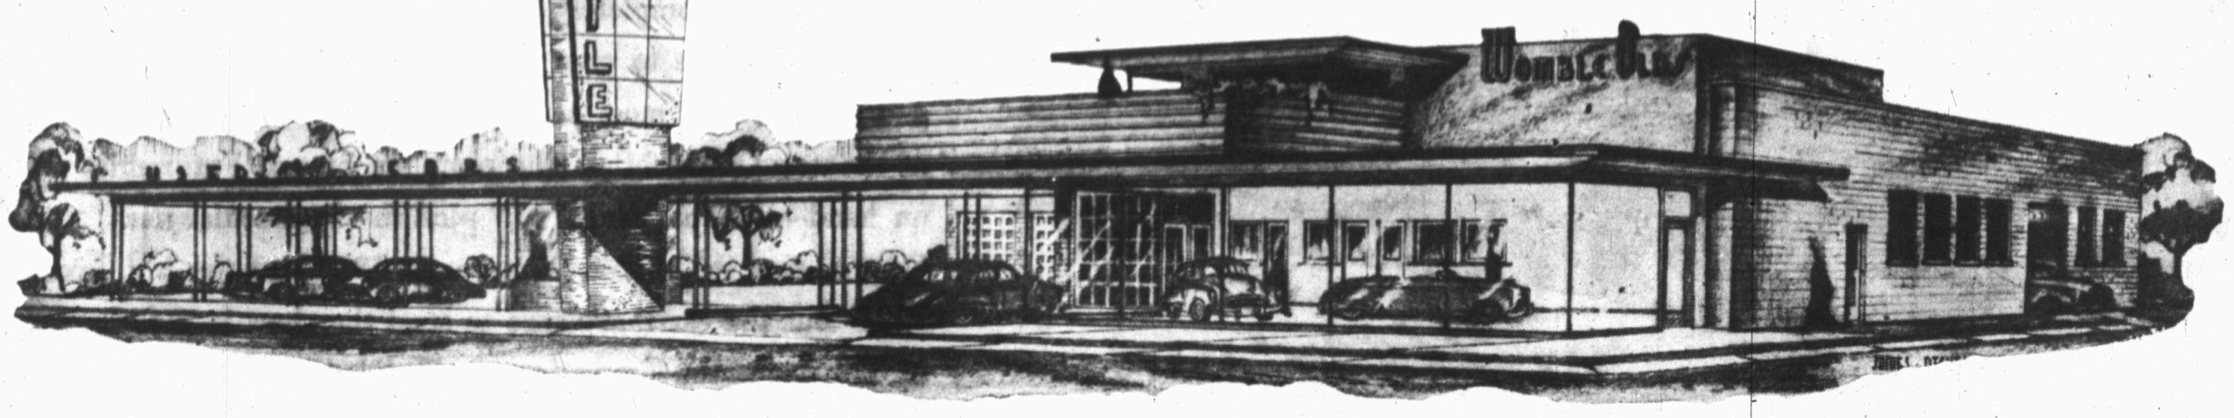

Factories, office buildings, warehouses, farm buildings and garages—all types of commercial structures are going up with Pyramid Pumice.

And the reason for this is that Pyramid Pumice is lightweight, and has more insulating properties than any other type of masonry material.

The trend in the South Plains area is definitely toward building with Pyramid Pumice building blocks . . . "The most Versatile and Economical Building Material."

From Cache, Okla., comes forth to Lubbock one O. D. Conner, who can trace his ancestry back to an Irish gentleman named Feredach the Just who lived on the Isle of Blarney about 75 A. D. The House of O'Connor did very well for itself inasmuch as Roderic O'Connor was named King of Ireland in 1156. But after that, the English had ideas of their own concerning who should boss the land of Shamrocks.

So, according to family legend, and Mr. Conner of Lubbock, some of the clan migrated to North America (ahead of Columbus) and became part of the Delaware Indian tribe, which greeted the early settlers of this country with everything except a Chamber of Commerce handshake.

How the O'Connors became a part of the tribe or how they migrated is not clear to Mr. Conner but a close look at his countenance reveals no features of the Apaches, Comanche or other Indian tribes or even the Cherokees, which is the Indian title now carried by the 68 survivors of the Conner-Delaware clan.

"However" says Mr. Conner, "we are not Cherokees in the real sense and don't even look like them." Actually, Mr. Conner looks just like a gent who has stepped off a boat direct from Erin.

Another item of interest concerning the family is that all the Conner boys have blue eyes and are black haired. The first born males (until O. D. came along) were named Thomas and the second born, Jerry. However, Mr. Conner has reverted back to the old family custom by naming his first son, Thomas.

Conner, who plans to make his home here, is manager for the recently opened branch here of Roshon 16 Milimeter Exchange, 812 Tenth. "We supply films for churches, civic groups, etc.," he explained.

Charges Dismissed In District Court

Felony charges against nine men were dismissed Thursday by G. V. Pardue, presiding judge of the 99th District court, upon motions filed by the district atorney's office which stated lack of sufficient evidence for convictions.

The men, with charges dismissed, were Horton B. Sessums, maiming; Sam Callaway, receiving and concealing stolen property; Anestio Allegrio, disposing of mortgaged property; Jess George, theft over $50; Orvil Ryan, removing mortgaged property out of the state; Jess Jackson, theft over $50; G. L. Cunningham, jr., child desertion; Billy Camp, forgery; and Drew Story, arson by explosion.

Barbecue Scheduled In City Salesmen Are To Be Guests

Plans were announced complete today for the third annual barbecue at 6:30 p. m. today honoring traveling salesmen who reside in Lubbock or who travel the South Plains territory.

It will be held whether the weather is wet or dry, arrangements Chairman Irving L. Jones said.

If the weather is clear, the scene will be the barbecue area in Mackenzie State park.

If it is wet, it will be transferred to the judging arena in the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds.

Jim Cook, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce and secretary of the arrangements committee, predicts an attendance exceeding the nearly 600 who turned out last year.

Tickets still can be secured, he added, until noon today.

They will be free to the salesmen and their guests. Any who have failed to obtain tickets were asked to call the chamber, telephone 4666.

A charge of $1 will be made for tickets to the representatives of Lubbock business establishments who will join in expressing appreciation to the salesmen for their loyal boosting of Lubbock.

Sponsors of the barbecue are anxious for their reprehsentation to be large. More than 50 local firms already have made reservations, and others wishing to be represented were urged to get tickets this morning.

The food and the entertainment give assurance that the barbecue will be well worth attending.

Members of the Lions club will prepare the food. They will barbecue the several hundred chickens to be served and prepare the remainder of the appetizing menu.

Entertainment Scheduled

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological college, will be the master of ceremonies.

Featuring the entertainment will be Lewis Zafran, of Fort Worth, one of the most widely known amateur magicians in the nation. He is an official of Pioneer Air Lines which has arranged for his appearance at the dinner.

Also on the program will be the Notables Quartet, the Kiwanis Hotshots and some impromptu numbers.

Sponsors of the barbecue will be the chamber of commerce and The Avalanche-Journal.

RICHARDSON IS RIDING AGAIN

Houston Machine Operators Jittery

HOUSTON, Sept. 9. (U.P.)—Pinball machine operators had the jitters today as cowboy Constable Dale Richardson warned he would make life miserable for them until Houston was rid of the contraptions.

The tall, husky, 28-year-old former football player rode into the downtown district at the noon hour yesterday and carted off 12 one-shot marble boards in a cattle truck.

His appearance created a monumental two-hour traffic jam.

Machines Undamaged

Richardson, wearing a new white cowboy hat, a cream-colored shirt and yellow boots, said he was confiscating the machines "so the kids can't play 'em."

He announced that his raid inaugurated "Richardson Back-To-School Week."

Richardson did not damage the machines. When he had loaded his truck, he shouted to the throng:

"I'll be back. I'm just gettin' sarted good. I'm goin' to keep after these rascals until I've got every one-ball in town."

There was some question as to whether Richardson had a right to confiscate the marble boards, since city officials regard them as legal.

Fee To Be Boosted

Operators pay the city $7.50 for taxes on each machine every six months, but city revenue officer Fred Ankenman said the fee would be increased to $15 in January.

Richardson's raid lasted two hours. He had warned pinball operators Wednesday that he was coming into town from his bailiwick in suburban Laporte, and some of them removed their machines.

The Beefy constable said he would file charges against persons permitting the machines to operate in their establishments.

Hitherto, Richardson has confined his one-man raiding parties to gambling houses. Recently he used axes and baseball bats to smash racing equipment and slot machines in several Houston gambling parlors.

He took the pinball machines yesterday to a warehouse where he has rented storage space, reportedly at $200 per month, and said he would keep them there "until the trial."

City To "Remind" Many Delinquent Utility Patrons

More than 500 Lubbock residents are scheduled to receive telephone reminders today that they had better pay their city water and/or electric bills.

City Manager Steve Matthews has directed H. F. Yant, water and light superintendent, to attend to this chore.

The instructions followed Yant's compilation Thursday of a list of more than 500 patrons who are from one to six months delinquent in the payment of their utility bills.

List Is Surprising

The list includes an astonishing array of names: important business firms, several churches, a good many city employes, at least one dairy and various others.

The amounts in most instances are small, but the total of the delinquencies aggregates nearly $10,000. In a few instances, individual bills run close to $100.

Most of the delinquencies, officials said, undoubtedly are due to oversight.

But those who don't pay up at once were warned that service will be shut off, regardless of whether attempts to remind them of their delinquencies are successful. Those who can't be reached with reminders must take care of their bills if they want the utility services to continue, the officials said.

Borden County Well Planned

Seaboard Oil Company of Deleware is to start drilling immediately on its No. 8 H. N. Zant which is to be an outside location in the Borden county side of the Vealmoor field in central- south Borden county.

It is scheduled to drill to 8,000 feet, using rotary tools.

This venture will be 660 feet from north and west lines of section 28, block 32, T-3-N, TP survey and two and one-half miles east of Vealmoor.

Drilling Resumed

Standolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 J. G. Whatley, deep wildcat two and one-half miles northeast of the Dermott pool and three and one-quarter miles north of the west side of the North Snyder pool in central-north Scurry county, took a drillstem test in the Wolfcamp zone of the lower Permain.

That zone was topped at 5,628 feet.

The tool was open one hour and there was a slight blow for six minutes. The recovery was 35 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil or gas. Operator is now drilling ahead.

It is slated to go to around 8,000 feet to test the Ellenburger.

The drillsite is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 548, block 97, H&TC survey.

Hope-Crosby Venture

W. A. Moncrief of Ft. Worth, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby of Hollywood, Calif., and Paul Teas of Dallas, are to start drilling soon on their No. 1 Luther Vaughn, a 6,900-foot rotary exploration in the Kelly field of central Scurry county.

It will be one-half mile west and one-quarter of a mile north of the nearest completed producer on the northwest side of the Kelly field, and 467 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 249, block 17, H&TC survey.

Projected depth is to test the Canyon lime reef, the pay section of the Kelly field. The drillsite is three miles west of Snyder.

THE QUESTION

Do you think Britain's economic troubles are due to its socialistic form of government?

THE ANSWERS

JAMES D. BROWN, 803 Tulane, tinner for W. G. Doss Sheet and Metal Co.: "No, I wouldn't think so. If somebody tried to help me all the time, I wouldn't try to to help myself. We help them too much."

C. H. McCLELLAN, 1403 Ave. D, janitor at Montgomery Ward Co.: "I believe they would be. I believe the same thing would apply over here if we were socialistic."

F. W. GROCE, 1210 Ave. R, owner of Groce Furniture Co.: "Definitely. I think any socialistic form of government will lead to economic troubles. We could be heading that way ourselves. I still believe we have to work for what we have and that one man will outdo another, and if we kill the initiative, he will not produce."

THOMAS M. (NUBBIN) BRITTAIN, 318 Vernon, salesman for Thomas Bros. Co.: "Regardless of the kind of government they have, if they worked a little harder, they wouldn't have economic troubles as they now do. The opinion I drew when I was in the Army in India is that they let the coolies in their empire countries do too much of the work. They've always been in the habit of letting someone else take care of them."

New Zealand is trying to develop new sources of citrus fruit supplies in the South Pacific islands.

FERMAN PERRY, No. 32 Westwood village, shoe clerk at Montgomery Ward & Co.: "No, I don't think so. I think their money problems are due to other things. Socialism might bring about economic troubles in some cases, but I don't believe it has in England."

N. B. McCULLOUGH, 2829 Twenty - third, water and street su per in ten dent for the city: "I imagine it's more the result of the war than of a socialistic government. I don't believe that the socialistic government has been in force long enough to cause the kind of troubles they have."

Tech Staff Members Arrive In Lubbock

Two additions to the Texas Technological college teaching staff arrived in Lubbock to assume their duties.

The two were Dr. Lehman C. Hutchins and Dr. Gene Hemmle, associate professor in psychology and director of the department of music, respectively.

Both the men received their doctors of philosophy degrees from Columbia university this year. Hutchins will teach a new course in abnormal psychology, which is the first in a series of an expanded psychological program at the college, according to President D. M. Wiggins.

Chorus To Be Organized

Hemmle takes over the reins of the music department from Dr. Julian Bliss, who will remain as a music professor. The new director will organize a new 40-voice mixed chorus designed to make tours and be a show group for the college. He will also direct a girls' chorus and a large general chorus.

Richard Richards will continue to lead the mens' glee club, Dr. Wiggins said.

Hutchins was a lieutenant colonel in the coast artillery during World War II and has previously taught at Texas Western, University of New Hampshire, Rutgers university and Johns Hopkins.

Hemmle is a World War II veteran and previously served as chairman of the music department at Texas Western.

Add Abilene to the list of West Texas cities giving "courtesy reminders," instead of regular traffic tickets, to visitors inadvertently violating driving regulations.

Frank Campbell, Lubbock insurance man, made a left turn into an alley in Abilene the other day and got one of the courtesy tickets, which he brought to us. The ticket lists "verboten" driving practices, and adds: "We again welcome you to Abilene. We hope you'll enjoy your stay. If you want information, or if we can serve you in any way, do not hesitate to call the Abilene Police department."

Pretty nice. Lubbock might keep that in mind against the day when we again may wish to encourage out-of-town visitors.

WITHIN two months—or three at the most—Lubbock's new street markers will be blossoming out over town. Just what type they'll be is as yet undecided. But it's a cinch that whatever type they are, there will be small boys—and some not so small—who immediately will attempt to test their strength.

The markers we now have in the older parts of the city (there are none at all in the newer parts) are of the type that crumble pretty badly when shot at with .22 rifles, banged on with hammers, or "busted" with rocks. Most of them are badly chipped and have been ever since their installation. It is logical to suspect that when the new signs go up, every sort of an attack imaginable will be made on them—unless steps are made in advance to discourage the practice.

One way to discourage vandalism is to make parents of the guilty kids responsible for the cost of replacing damaged signs—and then pay a nuisance fine on top of that. If Paw and Maw know in advance that Little Willie's cuteness is apt to come pretty high, they'll prevail on Little Willie to behave himself.

So if Lubbock doesn't have an ordinance making parents responsible—but good—for their young 'uns' actions, now would be a good time to get it in the mill.

If we do have such an ordinance, it's a good time for the City of Lubbock to warn parents, and then prepare to make it stick.

RIGHT on the heels of Gov. Allan Shivers' visit to Lubbock, word came out that Tom Mabry, the governor of New Mexico, will be here in a couple of weeks to speak to an area-wide gathering of Rotarians.

It looks like Lubbock is doing all right in the governor business. Maybe we should drop our slogan of "Lubbock the Hub of the Plains and the Home of Texas Tech" and substitute "Lubbock — Stomping Grounds of Governors."

Incidentally, it is interesting to contemplate the outcome of a race between Governor Shivers of Texas and Governor Mabry of New Mexico here in Northwest Texas. Governor Mabry is a former Texan. He used to live in Crosby county and probably knows, personally, more people in this section than the governor of Texas does.

Of course, no such contest is possible, but in some respects there is more community of interest between Northwest Texans and Governor Mabry than there is between Northwest Texas and Governor Shivers, who was born in deep East Texas and has lived most of his adult life in the far-away Rio Grande Valley.

Lubbock should be—and doubtless is—proud as punch to have the governors of Texas and New Mexico showing such friendly interest. It's good to have the governor of Texas here and it's good to have the governor of New Mexico here. By making long trips to get to our town, both chief executives are proving their interest in this country and its people.

Incidentally, the two governors are alike in some instances, very dissimilar in others.

Both men are Democrats. Both long have been successful in politics. Each is personally very amiable.

Governor Mabry, however, is 65 years old—although he looks like he might be in his early fifties—against Governor Shivers' 41. Physically, the New Mexican is a much bigger man than the Texan. On the other hand, Governor Shivers, who is quite handsome, has more "glammer."

Of the two, Governor Mabry appears to have more iron, although that is pure speculation, since Governor Shivers' constancy has not yet been tested to any great degree.

Governor Shivers went into the Texas mansion by way of the state senate and the lieutenant governor's office while Governor Mabry, twice elected to his post, went up by way of the courts. He still retains a judicial mein.

THE two jobs are like the two men: similar in some respects, very dissimilar in others.

Being governor of Texas is a tougher job economically, than being governor of New Mexico in that our state is so much the larger, requires much more money and organization to operate and also because of the varied and clashing interests of the various geographical areas. But from the pure political standpoint, being governor of New Mexico is much the tougher job.

New Mexico has a two-party system, the Republicans there being much more of a factor than they are in Texas. There sometimes is a sharp cleavage over there, too, between Anglo and Latin interests.

Politics is a game in Texas. In New Mexico, it's a fight for life. Our neighbors "play for keeps" when it comes to elections and campaigns. Here in Texas, politics is a Sunday school picnic as compared to that of New Mexico.

Any contemplation of Governors Shivers and Mabry likely will result in the opinion that while either might do very well in the other's state, each is better fitted for the job where he has it.

BY DREW PEARSON: YUGOSLAVIA PRESENTS GREATEST HOPE AGAINST RUSSIAN THREAT

Sarajevo May Come Again To The Balkan Nations

WASHINGTON — Shortly after the end of World War I this writer stood beside a cracked piece of pavement on the main street of Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. The crack marked the place where a bomb, thrown at the Archduke Franz Ferdinand on June 28, 1914, had touched off the bloodiest war so far seen by man.

PEARSON

The bomb had been thrown seven years before I, then a young reconstruction worker in the Balkans, visited Sarajevo; yet in those seven years the cracked pavement had not been repaired. Reconstruction moves slow in the Balkans, thought I—at that time being a very young idealist—but it moves sure. Never again would war come to sick and weary Europe.

Well, another war did come; and today events are shaping up in these same tired but turbulent Balkans which could bring still another Sarajevo almost over night.

Should Tito be assassinated, should the Red army divisions on the Hungarian-Yugoslav border start south, should revolt flare in Bulgaria, Hungary, Roumania, Czechoslovakia, then war might come all over again. And war in Europe has a habit of being contagious.

Danger Vs. Hope

Yet with all its dynamite-laden danger, the Balkan situation also presents one of the most optimistic developments in the cold war against Russia. For, to date, Russia has suffered serious defeats.

There are three phases to the Balkan battle, one laid in Washington, one in Yugoslavia, one in the other satellite countries. Here is how they stack up:

Situation 1—Without benefit of fanfare, the State department has been doing an efficient job of boycotting trade to the little iron curtain countries. Several million dollars worth of goods ordered by Poland and Czechoslovakia are on New York docks ready to move. But they can't get clearance.

The Polish ambassador has been beating a path to State department doors, then to the Commerce department, then back again. All he gets is the polite run-around. The State department says export licenses are issued by the Commerce department and the Commerce department says policy is fixed by the State department.

The run-around is no accident. It's deliberate and carefully planned. And it's having real repercussions behind the little iron curtain.

Situation 2—Behind the little iron curtain: near economic chaos now reigns in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Hungary, Roumania. This is partly a result of the U. S. trade boycott. People have money but they can't buy. There are no consumers goods on store shelves. And housewives are weary of Russian strangulation.

In addition, farmers are revolting at collectivization, national pride is coming to the front, and people generally don't like their Russian masters.

Also, Tito, formerly an NKVD operator trained by the Soviet, is now using NKVD methods against the Soviet, not merely in Yugoslavia, but in all the satellite countries. He has about as many underground agents in Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Roumania as Moscow has working against him.

Should this network of undercover revolt start popping, it may start a chain reaction throughout all eastern Europe.

Situation 3—Yugoslavia: Tito has had $30,000,000 in gold salted away in Portugal. He has now withdrawn $5,000,000 to finance revolts in other satellite countries. Once disliked by the Serbs, Tito is now their hero, thanks to opposing Moscow's farm collectivization. In fact, Tito, still a staunch Communist, is stronger at home than ever, could not be kicked out of office, can only be removed by assassination.

So far, Moscow has tried the latter course—and much more frequently than has leaked to the press. Apparently Stalin, worried over what goes on in the other satellite countries, doesn't want to risk open war with their friend Yugoslavia. However, if Stalin is slapped back too hard, he may have to invade Yugoslavia to save face.

Througs U. S. eyes—If the Red army should cross the Yugoslav border, U. S. military experts believe Tito's troops can hold out about three months, which is longer than the French and Belgians could probably hold out in case the Russians tried to move to the English channel.

In the first place, Tito's troops, prior to the break with Moscow, had been favored above all the satellite countries. They had been built up to be the spearhead of an attack on Trieste and Italy, had received tanks, artillery, most of it lend-lease from the U. S.

To bolster Yugoslavia's defense, the United States has enough arms to supply four divisions stored on the British island of Malta. They could be rushed to the Dalmatian coast in a hurry.

U. S. worry—Should Yugoslavia fall completely to Moscow, then Greece, according to U. S. experts, would soon go Communist. They point out that it was not until Tito cut off supplies to the Greek guerrillas that the Greek army made any real progress in cleaning up the Communists—despite the best brains and supplies the U. S. Army could send.

And if Greece goes Communist, then Turkey, the Suez Canal, plus Near Eastern oil areas and North Africa would follow. That is why a steel mill is being shipped to Tito today; also why he is getting an American loan, plus any supplies which can bolster the man who still remains a ruthless, unrelenting dictator, but who is the only European who has stood up against the power of the politburo and got away with it.

Helping Tito is, of course, a calculated risk which can have the same result as our 1940 aid to France and England — namely, embroiling us in war. Which is why the Balkans of 1949 could so easily be another Sarajevo.

Restaurant-Show Business In New York In Rapid Decline

DECADENCE OF drink-and-dance—The Glass Hat, in the Belmont Plaza, on Lexington Avenue, will close after next week as a night spot and entertainment-and-dance rendezvous. William Lowenstein, who owns restaurants and a cafeteria, will take the room over for a straight eating-place. This ends a gallant attempt over several years to operate shows, with about every possible floor entertainment policy tried. Frank Law drew preferential publicity. The food, service and atmosphere were excellent, the prices not prohibitive. This is one of some 20 high-class cabaret-spots to give up the struggle within a few months. It points up again the trend, which has steadily veered from the high popularity of restaurant theatricals. Some 20 years ago saw Broadway lit up with them and such stars as Texas Guinan, Jimmy Durante, Harry Richman, N. T. G., Paul Whiteman, the Williams Sisters, Helen Morgan, Sophie Tucker and others were starring as regular cafe attractions. Of course, there were occasionals, too, from vaudeville and musical comedy.

Today there are few "names" left that can spell the difference between high prosperity and disastrous desuetude for purveyors of drinks, dinners and dances. Sophie, Richman, Joe E. Lewis, Xavier Cugat are among the handful, and a few rising youngsters show promise. . . Every item in such business has risen in cost. Few of the enterprises can continue to exist, and they are ones which charge the highest prices or can skin down to minima. Here was a big New York industry, and only a scant dribble of survivors remains in this amusement metropolis of the nation.

EVEN at their height, the restaurant-show resorts thrived largely on out-of-towners. New Yorkers, as a rule, prefer East Side eateries, with no orchestral accompaniment or quiet, soft music. Most residents don't even care to dance, and when they do they limit their stepping to rumbas and sambas, all other styles having gone passe. Pianissimo tunes, kept in one tempo so they do not violently break up conversation, are the smart thing. Blaring shows distract from sweethearting, selling a bill or dishing the new dirt, the three principal motifs for table-talk. To get New Yorkers concentrating on entertainment with their meals, something extraordinary must pull them away from their pet habits. Of these there aren't enough to go around. That is why many elegant and famous bistros have closed or reverted to starring their chefs and wine-stewards.

Paul Robeson and the most vociferously vocal pleader for his brand of politics, Rep. Vito Marcantonio, have wired Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, with frantic demands for enforcement of certain Constitutional rights, including free speech and peaceful assembly. The government elected to preserve such rights is the one for which Robeson has repeatedly proclaimed he would not fight, even if it were attacked by Soviet Russia, where no such rights exist. The Communist press is raging with inflammatory emphasis on "oppression of minorities."

THERE IS no portion of the United States in which minorities are more fairly treated than they are in New York City and its environs. That includes professional Reds, who have two dailies on the newsstands, dozens of periodicals, their own legal party (ALP), many slanted weeklies speaking for special groups, members of Congress elected on blunt appeals to racial, religious and foreign ancestry for solidarity at the polls. Robeson and Marcantonio know why some residents of Westchester County lost their tempers.

There is no peacetime law in the United States against shouting aloud that which, if whispered in Russia against its government, would stand enemies of the nation up against the firing-wall. They can get away with it as to legality here. But they cannot make every American like it. They expose themselves to resentment of their own making and then scream for protection against indignant individuals, reveling in the opportunity to pose as martyrs. They cry "KKK" and "fascist" when they know these are false epithets, their orthodox mendacities echoed forth whenever anyone demonstrates against their deliberately fomented demonstrations.

IT HAS been regular practice in the bailiwick of Marcantonio for his hoodlums to break up, with violence and threats of violence, official campaign rallies for candidates who oppose him. He is the nation's foremost exponent and expert on such techniques. In his district Democrats and Republicans are minorities. Marcantonio has never telegraphed for help to have them protected, nor has Robeson spoken up in his rich baritone voice for their "civil rights."

It's The Least We Can Do

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

MY 13-year-old daughter has such poor manners I'm beginning to worry about it. But nothing I can say seems to sink in. Is there anything I can do to make her see that good manners are important?" writes one of my readers.

MILLETT

If you're just starting to worry about her manners at age 13, it's going to be hard going.

For at her age good manners should already be an established habit.

It's a lot easier to teach an eager-to-learn, admiring 6 or 7-year-old the fundamentals of good manners than to wait and try to teach them to a teenager who probably isn't nearly so easily influenced by a mother and who may resent any kind of criticism or correction.

However, there are books of etiquet written especially for teenagers, and you might find one of these to be a help to you, since they deal expressly with the social problems that are especially impoftant to teen-agers.

Also, it would be wise to see that your daughter gets as much social experience as possible.

KEEP HER AROUND

HAVE her around when you entertain, instead of letting her go off to the movies when you are having your friends in. Give her a job to do, so that she can forget her self-consciousness in helping you take care of guests.

But most important of all, demand that she treat the members of her own family with courtesy. No girl whose manners are disagreeable at home is going to know how to act when she is away from home.

And whenever you suspect that she is rude ebcause she feels ill-at-ease or awkward in a particular situation, make a note to tell her how to meet that same situation next time.

Above all, don't dismiss her lack of manners as just a phase she is going through. Good manners are important at every age—and the rude teen-ager suffers just as much from a lack of social grace as does an adult. Furthermore, the teen-ager's family has to suffer with her.

Today's Thought

Endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace. —Ephesians 4:3.

'Try And Stop Me"

AN AVIATOR, relates Roy Huggins, was sent on a mission to a distant part of the globe. When he returned to his base, he noticed it was strangely quiet. Everything was in perfect order, but there wasn't a sign of life in the place. He wandered through town in growing astonishment. Human beings and animals simply had vanished from the scene.

He tore back to the airport, filled his plane with high octane gas, and flew, terrified, to New York, London, Moscow, Shanghai. While he had been on his mission, every living creature apparently had disappeared. He was the only man alive in the world! He weighed the situation carefully and found it intolerable. Suicide seemed the only solution. He swallowed a vial of deadly poison and calmly waited for it to take effect. Just as the drug reached his brain, and the room started swimming before his eyes, he heard a familiar sound.

It was the telephone ringing.

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Quiet Holiday Is Enjoyed By Tense Residents Of New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—Your correspondent is feeling pretty smug today, as he contemplates a body unblemished by insect bite, ivy rash, sunburn, or athletically acquired contusion. His digestion is unruffled by the hot-dog, the picnic lunch or the alcoholically prepared barbecue. His disposition is sunny, since he wrestled with no long lanes of country - bound traffic.

RUARK

This miracle occurred simply. For the first time in his life he had sense enough to stay home over a Labor day weekend. It was cool, and it was quiet. The lazy bum got some work done—some letters answered, some mail read. That accounts for the smugness, because nobody feels as noble as a guy who hates work when he has actually performed some labor.

The double-featured movies were cool and uncrowded. Mr. W. C. Fields is funnier, posthumously, than he was when he was alive. Mr. Groucho Marx, in "A Night At The Opera," is still convulsing to fans. Master Noel Coward is as suavely evil in "The Scoundrel" as I remembered from 10 years back. Errol Flynn swashes as many buckles as ever, in the ancient "Robin Hood."

Enjoys Penny Arcade

It seems to me that I had forgotten the fun a fellow can find in a penny arcade, and you are looking at the uncrowned champion of the tommy-gun range. The zoo is inviting, as always, and Central park looked mighty pretty from a speeding taxicab. A big fat moon did some magic things to the skyscrapers, and the radio played some real nice music. Even the television set had a change of heart and decided to behave.

An expense account had been troubling me vaguely, for months — and ulcerating the auditors considerably more — and even that got tended to. In the midst of my struggle with the swindle, it suddenly occurred that grappling an expense account is about as much fun as catching no fish at all when fish-catching is the point of the weekend. At worst, is considerably more intriguing than a spirited battle with a stagnant line of traffic or a dreary session of adult parlor games with people who have become bored with each other over a weekend that runs a day too long.

NEW York, on a holiday, is the nicest town in the world. Only about two million people leave it, but that seems sufficient skimming to invest the old hamlet with a fine knickerbocker serenity. Prowling around Broadway on a Saturday night, I saw more smiles than I'd seen in three years.

The city has seemed especially edgy and irritable, this year. There appear to have been more traffic jams, more rude bus drivers, more cursing cabmen. Everywhere you turned you were met with a glare. Even at the places of relaxation, such as the ball-parks, people snarled and snapped and barked at each other. This surliness disappeared over the weekend. It is nice to see smiles again.

Down in Greenwich village, the people strolled easily and leisurely, unpressed by things they had to do. The kids played stickball, and the churlish neighbors who call the cops were not around to scourge them from the streets.

Watch Shop Windows

Uptown, along the swanky avenues, the people did not butt blindly through the crowds, flourishing elbows and ill-tempers. They strolled and scanned the shop windows with a pride of ownership in the goods they were not attempting to buy. Rockefeller plaza, with its fountain, was cool and uncluttered. Even on the bright light side of town, there was an absence of the fevered surging that breeds a fine outdoor claustrophobia.

It was, suddenly, as if the city had been released from a gag, and had begun to breathe again. The five-per cent hearing seemed far away; Marshal Tito's troubles with the Soviet seemed foggy; all the din and denunciation which has daily assailed us since the war seemed hazy and unimportant.

The air was crisp and tangy and zestful with the old-wondrous promise of autumn in New York. I feel a little sorry for the filks who left the city. I don't think you could have topped New York as a place to spend a long weekend.

Moscow Preparing New School Books

MOSCOW, Sept. 9 (AP)—Ninety-four million copies of 97 different textbooks are to be printed here for the coming scholastic year. Evening Moscow said about 80,000,000 are now ready.

The school children, the announcement said, will find much that is new in the books on geography. Inserted in them are facts about celebrated Russian travelers. The announcement said the geographies will contain material about the countries of people's democracy and the economic stagnation and the decline of the capitalist states.

Today's Journal Editorial

BLAME PUBLIC INDIFFERENCE

Agreement is close to unanimous that the more than 500 death toll in Labor Day weekend accidents—more than 400 in traffic mishaps—was a national disgrace. It was an aggravated form of disgrace which becomes a bloody blot upon the nation during nearly every holiday period.

Yet it is one which almost certainly will be of indefinitely continuing occurrence until an aroused public indignation demands that something be done about it. And "doing something about it" involves nothing more nor less than the vigorous enforcement of the laws which, in most states and communities are entirely adequate. Law enforcement would reduce the horrifying toll to negligible proportions.

It is a condition for which public indifference must be charged with a major share of the blame. As long as the indifference continues, regular repetition of the shameful holiday records must be expected to occur.

Russians Say United States In Throes Of Anti-Red Hysteria

MOSCOW, Sept. 9. (AP)—Two of Russia's top commentators protested in print today that the Soviet Union is taking no part in any cold war.

The articles, appearing in the Communist party newspaper, Pravda, were by authors Ilya G. Ehrenburg and David Zaslavsky.

Ehrenburg declared:

"Talk about a 'cold war' is boring everybody. . . . "They (Americans) would do better to meditate on the beneficial effects of good cold shower."

Suicides Said Rising

Zaslavsky asserted:

"The cold war of nerves—this is not our terminology. Our nerves are in complete order and we are conducting no deliberate war."

Ehrenburg's article pictured the United States in the throes of anti-Communist hysteria, at the mercy of war mongers' propaganda.

"No one is fighting with them (war mongers) or intends to fight with them," he declared.

His article claimed suicides in the states are on the rise and a spy mania is everywhere. He cited several examples:

"It is awful to be untrue to one's wife for maybe a typist or manicurist will send information to Moscow.

"It is awful to go to the movies for there might be a film with 'Red' actors.

President Attacked

"It is awful to open the paper for maybe it will say your neighbor is a spy.

"It is awful not to open the paper for it might say the Russians have invaded Guatemala."

Zaslavsky's essay, entitled "Truman jabbers," was devoted mainly to an attack on the President and his policies.

"A large number of Americans, a significant part of the American people," he said, "are dissatisfied with the foreign policy of the United States and don't understand this policy.

"They see that Truman incessantly talks of peace," he declared, "and just as incessantly conducts a policy of war."

Sweetwater Man To Head Orphans Home

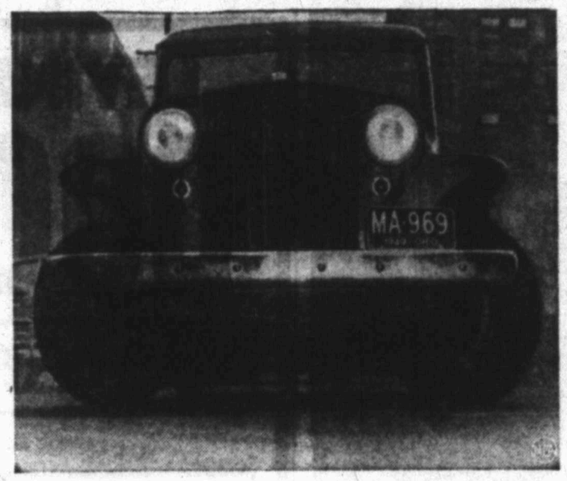

CORSICANA, Sept. 9 (AP) — M. M. Madison of Sweetwater has been named superintendent of the Odd Fellows orphans home here. His wife will be matron of the home. The couple was elected yesterday at a meeting of the board of the trustees.

Madison succeeds Conley Lovelace, who resigned to take charge of a boys ranch near Fort Worth.

Large Sake Shipment Leaves For America

TOKYO, Sept. 9 (AP)—The first shipment of sake, potent Japanese fermented rice drink, for the United States since Pearl harbor left tonight.

The freighter Andrew Jackson loaded 3,330 quarts at Kobe and Yokohama. Some of the sake will go to the Hawaiian islands.

Mrs. O'Brien Says Don Sylvio Hurt Her Arm For Cash

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9 (AP) — Mrs. Gladys O'Brien Sylvio, mother of film juvenile Margaret O'Brien, complains that her new husband once twisted her arm when she wouldn't give him money.

Mrs. Sylvio, in an amended divorce suit against bandleader Don Sylvio, asserted the twisting was done "in a forceful and belligerent manner."

The film actress' mother and Sylvio were married last Feb. 26 at Palm Beach, Fla. Margaret cried after the ceremony and refused to kiss her stepfather. The Sylvios separated May 23.

Charges Denied

In the complaint filed yesterday, Mrs. Sylvio said that last May Sylvio informed her he would not continue married life unless she agreed to make him an allowance of $200 a week, buy him a new car and a house for his mother.

Her complaint also asserted that Sylvio said that if she did not comply "he would go to the press and give out information that would have a dire effect on the guardianship of Margaret O'Brien."

Sylvio, called by reporters, denied the charges. He said he would file an answer to the amended complaint in a few days.

Two World Wars Speeded Drop Of British Economic System

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The cure for England's economic illness is a matter of guesswork, but there need be no doubt as to the basic cause of the malady, for it is deep-seated and had its inception long ago.

The fact is that Britain is suffering from an inherent weakness which was bound to result in an economic upheaval in due course.

What has happened is that two world wars have so speeded up events that this crisis has developed before its time. This knowledge won't be of much assistance to the doctors who now are holding the economic clinic in Washington, but it will have to be taken into consideration.

Economic Status Solid

Suffice it to hark to the beginning of this century. Britain was at the peak of her imperial greatness, boasting an empire upon which the sun never set.

Her economic status was as solid as the rock of Gibraltar. The smoke from her factory chimneys wrote across the skies the proud claim that her manufactures encircled the world. Her banks extended their operations into far lands. Lloyds insurance covered the globe like a blanket. British capital invested heavily abroad, creating more "invisible revenues" for England.

However, there was a weakness in this mighty structure. England in herself wasn't self-sufficient. Apart from coal she had little mineral wealth. She couldn't begin to feed herself, because she didn't have the acres, and so had to import a major portion of her foodstuffs. She lacked most of the raw materials for her manufactures.

How then did Britain achieve her industrial greatness? The answer: By the very simple expedient of importing raw materials from undeveloped countries, fabricating the materials, and then selling the manufactured products back to those countries.

Sold Steel To U. S.

She sold steel to America and many other nations. British woolen goods were world famous. India's millions clothed themselves in cotton goods woven in Manchester from raw cotton bought in the United States and other cotton producing countries.

The length of time this phenomenon could last depended, of course, on how long it took foreign countries to develop their own resources. There was no end in sight when World war I broke and changed the picture.

Overnight Britain found herself so occupied with making war that she no longer could act as merchant to foreign countries. Backward nations which had been dependent on England for woollen and cotton products, among others, suddenly found themselves cut off. They looked about to see what was happening to them and found that they were short on industries of their own. So they started in to remedy the defect and make themselves self-sufficient.

Lost Vast Wealth

Thus Britain lost not only untold wealth as the result of war expenditures but her world markets started to slip away from her. The tendency continued until even India, greatest jewel in the imperial crown, was manufacturing the bulk of the cotton goods to clothe her millions.

Then along came the Hitlerian catastrophe which reduced much of the world to a state of economic chaos. The nations involved have expended wealth they may never be able to replace—certainly not in our time. Britain has been hard hit.

This columnist isn't one of those who think England's greatness has run its course. With help from her friends she will weather the present economic hurricane.

Much of her empire has been transformed into a commonwealth of sovereign states. Mighty India has achieved its independence, and the more than 600 native princes, with their fabulous wealth, are disappearing into the pages of history for future generations to marvel over.

However, Britain still has great colonial possessions, many of which are potentially rich. She still has an empire on which the sun never sets and, with development, it will represent a mighty force.

Mexico expects to greatly increase its shipments of cantaloupes and honeydew melons to the United States in forthcoming seasons.

CUTE CUTTER—A car seat suspended from a homemade support gives little Christine Paul of Ann Arbor, Mich., a chance to make daddy's mowing task lighter. Walter Paul finds the babe's company pleasant, and Christine, age one year, thinks cutting the grass is more fun than a merry-go-round.

Contracted depth of the project is 7,000 feet to test for Canyon lime production.

It is located 660 feet from west and 467 feet from north lines of lot 16, Dallas Trust & Savings Bank Sub-Division of the Grimes Ranch lands, and three miles north of Snyder.

COMPLAINT LODGED

"We were refused lunch in a restaurant on Sunday because one of my friends, a visitor from America, was wearing a short sleeved shirt without a jacket," complains R. E. Rice, at Romford, England.
