AJRA action starts tonight

The AJRA National Finals Rodeo officially gets underway tonight at Scurry County Coliseum, but a youngster from Olney is already starting to leave his mark.

Ten-year-old Jeff Hilton turned a time of 15.11 in the barrels and 21.09 in the poles to lead both age 12-and-under events during Monday evening's slack.

Hilton is the AJRA world champion boys 12-and-under optional roper. His sister, Gretchen, was the 1984 all-around champion in girls 12-and-under. Gretchen timed a 15.10 in the age 13-15 girls barrels and is in second place after Monday's slack behind Kimbra Pierce's 15.09.

In other highlight action from the slack, Robin Wardlaw flashed a 14.90 in the barrels and a 19.95 in the pole bending to lead both events in girls 16-19 competition.

The rodeo begins its first complete show at 8 tonight. Performances continue nightly at 8 through Saturday. Shows tonight, Wednesday and Thursday will be preceded by a 10-minute Sesquicentenial opening and rodeo fans should be in their seats by 7:45 p.m.

Box seats are $6 each and general admission is $4 for adults and $2 for children.

Marty Yates and Wesley Gouge earned world champion status in the AJRA team roping, an event which concluded Monday. Yates won the age 13-15 division while Gouge won the 16-19 division.

Miss AJRA will be crowned Friday night and all-around champions of the rodeo will also be named.

Saturday's evening performance, featuring the top four cowboys and cowgirls in each event and age division, will highlight a day of rodeo activities, beginning with a parade at 1 p.m.

It will be followed by a barbecue at 4 p.m. and an auction at 5 p.m.

The finale will be presented in a

Spending down, tax rate up...

WTC budget okayed

A budget reflecting a 13 percent reduction in spending was unanimously approved Monday night in the regular August meeting of the Western Texas College board of trustees.

To finance the $4.7 million budget for the 1986-87 school year, trustees also set the tax rate at .1136 cents--an increase of 2.86 cents per $100 valuation.

Prior to budget and tax rate adoption, trustees conducted a public hearing attended by two oil company tax representatives who complimented the board for its efforts to carve 13 percent from the budget to offset anticipated losses of state revenues.

Carlton Meredith noted, however, that the maintenance tax rate is actually an increase of 52 percent since $175,000 in bonded indebtedness will be paid from surplus money rather than be included in part of the tax rate.

"The basic message is clear," Meredith stated. "Colleges and universities have a lower priority (in state funding) than does public school education. This will require a major reordering of priorities within the community."

In view of budget shortfalls caused by substantial drops in petroleum prices, Meredith suggested the local problem is compounded by a 15 percent depletion rate.

"We are fast approaching the time when tax revenue will not cover the services and there will need to be a careful examination of priorities to decide where available resouces will go."

Meredith asked if consideration had been given to contingencies for the future. WTC President Dr. Harry Krenek responded that the board and staff will continue to monitor marginal programs, will look at increased user fees and non-educational services now provided by the college, as well as athletics.

Meredith also questioned the amount of surplus which college officials said totaled about $500,000 which has accumulated over the past 17 years from interest earned from surplus funds in non-operating accounts.

College officials assured tax representatives that these funds are dedicated for capital improvements and repairs and are not used for day-to-day operations of the college.

In a related fiscal item, trustees certified the 1986 appraisal roll for the college as submitted by the Scurry County Appraisal District. The college's total tax base is $1.5 billion.

In other business, the college board accepted, with regrets, the resignation of long-time trustee William A. (Bill) Jones. (See related story)

In personnel action, the board accepted the resignation of Cathy Chavez as office careers instructor. Mrs. Chavez' husband has been transferred to Midland.

The board then approved the

Bill Jones resigns as WTC trustee

William A. (Bill) Jones, an original member of the Western Texas College board of trustees, Monday night submitted his resignation.

Jones, the Republican nominee for county commissioner in precinct two, said he had resigned so that he could devote his time and energy meeting voters prior to the November general election.

Jones said he had been advised by state election officials that there was no need to resign in order to run for the office, but that if he were elected a resignation from the college panel would be required.

Jones is seeking the commissioner's post held by Hassie Sneed. Jones will face Tommy Pate, a Democrat, in the November general election.

Jones has been a member of the WTC board since November of 1969. He has served nine years as president of the board. Prior to that he served as a member of the board of trustees of the Fluvanna school district and held various offices on that board.

Jones is a member of the Snyder Presbyterian Church where he is an ordained elder and deacon.

He has been a member of the Masonic Lodge for 25 years and currently serves as a junior warden. He is a member of the Eastern Star also and is currently serving his third term as a worthy patron.

He and his wife, Shirley, have four grown children.

In his letter to the board, Jones said, "I must say that few things have given as much satisifaction as watching Western Texas College grow...I will always be very proud of and very interested in Western Texas College."

Trimmed county budget approved

A county budget--with spending projections reduced by 13.8 percent--was approved Monday following a public hearing attended by two oil company tax representatives.

Bill Vick--representing Scurry County's largest taxpayer, Chevron USA--commended the commissioners court for its effort "to reduce spending under adverse conditions."

Despite the spending cuts, taxpayers will likely see an increase of about five cents in the tax rate due to a reduced tax base caused by declining production and lower petroleum prices.

In budget workshop sessions last month, commissioners combed through the spending document line by line in order to keep the tax rate below the "effective tax rate" figure announced in April of just under 27 cents.

The tax rate, which will be set at 11 a.m. next Monday, is expected to be 22 cents, five cents above the present rate of 17 cents.

During the current fiscal year, Scurry County will receive an estimated $3.8 million in ad valorem taxes. Although the tax rate will increase, net dollars from local taxes will drop to $3.3 million--a decrease of about $500,000.

Commissioners noted that efforts to reduce spending actually began in the current year when it became apparent that the county would experience a 40 percent drop in tax values.

Although the 1986 budget will not be amended, the savings come from a freeze on hiring and major capital expenditures.

Commented Precinct 2 Commissioner Hassie Sneed, "We've poured over this budget line by line, page by page and we cut it about as close as we can."

All agreed that next year would be even tougher unless there is a dramatic turn-around in the economy.

The total county budget now proposed is approximately $9.3 million compared to the total for 1986 of some $10.3 million.

The county budget is divided into three major areas: the General Fund, which entails most of the operations associated with the courthouse; the Road and Bridge fund, entailing work done on county roads by the four commissioners; and the operations of Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Each funding area now shows a reduced operating estimate this

City ballot spots drawn

Ballot positions for the Aug. 30 special city election were finalized Monday afternoon when candidates drew for spots.

Nine candidates are seeking four positions on the city council following an out-of-court settlement of a suit which challenged the city's at-large method of electing councilmen.

The agreement calls for four single-member districts and all four will be chosen in a special election now set for Aug. 30.

Listed are candidates in the order in which they will appear on the ballot:

District 1

Albert Lewis, high school baseball coach; and incumbent councilman Fred Castillo, owner-manager of Bennett Office Supply.

District 2

Incumbent Councilman Tommy Davis who owns SJS, Inc.; Ralph Williamson, supervisor for Southwestern Bell Telephone in Snyder; and John Johnson, pharmacist at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

District 3

Mike Post, operations foreman for Sun Gas; and Evelyn Malone, a teacher with the Colorado City Independent School District.

District 4

Incumbent Joe Fowler, owner of Fowler and Associates Insurance; and Ygnacio Benitez Jr., a lease operator with Mobil.

There remains two councilmen and the mayor elected at large. At-large councilmen are H. D. Hines and Troy Williamson as well as Mayor Rod Waller. All three at-large positions will be up for election in April.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "It's better to let things go in one ear and out the other than to go in one ear, get all mixed up, and come out of the mouth."

At Monday's commissioners court meeting, Frances Billingsley, was taking minutes for county clerk Beverly Ainsworth.

At 4 feet tall, Frances is one of the little people, although those that know her will attest she's a person with a big smile and a big heart and who does a big job in the courthouse as deputy clerk.

Frances was the subject of last Sunday's SDN feature written by Vicki Brown which is entitled Scurry County Folks. Frances was pictured with Herve Villechaize who played Ta Too on Fantasy Island.

Commissioner Hassie Sneed asked for Frances' autograph. Frances let it be known there was just one thing wrong with the article. "They put my age in it," she said.

"You mean we got your age wrong?" we asked.

"No, that's the thing that's wrong...they got my age right."

House Speaker Gib Lewis was guest speaker last weekend at a meeting of the West Texas Press Association.

Lewis told journalists present that the job of making laws and balancing the budget seems to get more difficult every year.

Despite all that, Lewis still maintains a good sense of humor and such is likely required to keep sanity in the Austin mad house.

Lewis says he has served in the Texas House for 17 years. On a recent trip he was thinking about his career as a lawmaker and what legislation had been the most controversial, which had gained him the most praise, etc.

HB 72, the educational reform act, created the biggest stir, he said. He stands behind that vote, but he wishes he could recall the vote he cast to create the Central Appraisal Districts.

Lewis said he then tried to think of a piece of legislation of which he remained proud of for the longest period of time. After considerable thought, the law popped into his mind, "Permitting right turn on red."

152 rescued

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland (AP) — A patrol vessel carrying 152 men, women and children found mysteriously adrift in lifeboats headed today for this port, where officials were waiting to quiz those rescued on how they ended up off Newfoundland.

Canadian officials were still trying to determine the name of the vessel in whose lifeboats the 152 people were found on Monday, as well as where they had started their journey and where they were headed.

Felix Dobbin, captain of the Beckford, said the people aboard were from Sri Lanka.

One sentenced

A 25-year-old Lubbock woman was sentenced to concurrent 7-year terms in the Texas Department of Corrections Monday after entering guilty pleas to two felony charges in the 132nd District Court.

Leslie Fink Jones had been indicted by the Scurry County grand jury in August for two counts of delivery of a controlled substance.

She was alleged to have delivered anphetamine to undercover narcotics investigator Joseph Veilleux in Scurry County twice on Jan. 4.

In other court action Monday, John Lopez Palacios of Snyder was sentenced to 5 years in prison after having his probation revoked.

Palacios had been given a 5-year sentence for burglary in 1984 and had been released from TDC on "shock" probation in May of that year.

Revocation was sought after his failure to pay required fines, restitution, and fees as well a failure to report to his probation officer.

Report: rear seat lap belts can cause severe injuries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should rear-seat automobile passengers buckle up or unbuckle?

Government safety experts say they can't agree in the wake of a new federal study indicating that in many crashes the lap-only safety belts, which are found on the rear seats of most cars, often cause more severe injuries than they prevent.

The National Transportation Safety Board revealed Monday that a study of 26 frontal auto accidents involving rear-seat passengers who wore the lap belts showed that in many cases the belts themselves caused the most serious injuries.

The NTSB study acknowledged that its sample of accidents was statistically small, but concluded that the samples clearly show that lap belts often restrain the wearer in a way that causes serious head, spinal and abdominal injuries because of the concentration of impact forces and the "jackknife" effect of the torso across the belt.

"In many cases, the lap belts induced severe to fatal injuries that probably would not have occurred if the lap belts had not been worn," the NTSB report said, although it stopped short of urging such belts not be used.

But Patricia Goldman, the NTSB's vice chairman, told reporters the safety board "is unable to state with confidence whether passenger vehicle occupants should be advised to use lap-only belts or not" in light of the findings.

Ms. Goldman emphasized that the answer was to require automakers to install shoulder-lap belts, such as those required on front seats, in the rear seats as well. Some foreign automakers already provide such belts, and several U.S. manufacturers have plans to soon phase them into their cars.

Science group seeks smoking ban on jets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Academy of Sciences is calling for a ban on smoking aboard at least some commercial jetliners, concluding cigarette smoke poses health and safety problems, according to government and industry sources.

The recommendation, contained in a report to be made public this week on overall air quality in aircraft cabins, is expected to revive a long-standing debate over whether the government should further restrict smoking aboard large jetliners.

The issue has been largely dormant since the Civil Aeronautics Board voted two years ago to ban smoking on all flights of less than two hours. The board almost immediately reversed itself and the order was never put into effect.

The CAB opted, instead, to prohibit smoking only on small commuter flights of 30 or fewer seats. Airlines are required in the larger jets to provide special smoking and non-smoking sections.

According to the sources, who asked not to be identified by name, the report by the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences will call for a smoking ban on at least some of the large jetliners where there now is no prohibition.

The Academy of Sciences study on cabin air quality was ordered by Congress.

Tobacco industry is gearing up to counter the National Research Council findings. The Tobacco Institute says it is preparing to make public its own "scientific study of 65 in-flight air tests showing that the current smoking rule on commercial airliners effectively minimizes the exposure of passengers seated in no-smoking sections to environment tobacco smoke."

Dear Abby

Pile of Socks Is Smallest Hill Army Bride Will Climb

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Not Sure in Louisiana," whose fiance — a U.S. serviceman stationed in England — shipped her 203 pairs of dirty socks to launder:

Don't complain, Honey. At least you know what he spent his money on. Also, he'll never have to buy another pair of socks as long as he lives.

I've been married to a Navy man for a long time, so let me give you a little advice. Any woman who is married to a career military man will be expected to do her share of dirty work, from a ton of laundry a week to patching a leaky sewer on a trailer home. (Tar is best, but it's murder to get off your hands and clothes.)

So, you must learn how to: fix a flat tire with a broken jack; cook hamburger 1,000 different ways; move your kids, your home and your life halfway around the world without his help; travel cross-country with three kids, a St. Bernard and a cat in a broken-down station wagon because you want to be there when he comes off a seven-month cruise; be Mommy, Daddy, chauffeur, cook, nurse, tutor and referee; get a part-time job to make ends meet; accept the fact that there's a right way, a wrong way and the military way; be diplomatic, tactful, loving and cheerful if it kills you; and adjust to so many different moves you sometimes forget where you're living — without becoming an alcoholic, a drug abuser or a mental case. You'll be too busy loving him to complain about his stupid socks.

NAVY WIFE
(NEARLY RETIRED)

DEAR ABBY: Are you ready for something trivial? A co-worker took me to task for failing to say, "God bless you," every time she sneezed.

I told her I thought it was silly. Why should sneezes be "blessed"? No other bodily noises evoke a blessing: not coughing, belching, hiccuping, etc.

This friend makes a regular conversation out of a sneeze:

"Ah, choo!"
"Bless you."
"Thank you!"
"You're welcome."

As far as I'm concerned, the sneezer should say, "Excuse me for spreading germs." Why did sneezes come to be blessed in the first place?

NO BLESSER IN NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR NO BLESSER: In the Middle Ages, legend had it that when a person sneezed, the soul temporarily left the body. However, saying, "God bless you!" prevented its being snatched away by the devil. (It may not help, but, like chicken soup, it can't hurt.)

DEAR ABBY: I just read about the woman who was glad she had married a handicapped man in a wheelchair. I would like to tell my story:

Sixteen years ago, over strong protests from family and friends, I married a man whose doctors told him he had about two years to live. He was an overseas missionary who had been sent home to die. We met in a nursing home where I was a volunteer.

Abby, I loved and respected this man, and would have been content with just two years together. However, I suspected that poor nutrition played a major role in his illness, so I eliminated sugar, salt, junk food, white flour and food additives from his diet. (Fortunately he didn't drink or smoke.)

The combination of our strong faith in God, his determination to get well and a proper diet restored his health. He returned to full-time ministry, earning two doctorates along the way!

The man I married could barely move his 140-pound, 6-foot 2-inch frame from wheelchair to crutches. Today he stands tall and straight, with no gray hair, leading a normal, active life at age 59. I couldn't ask for a better husband.

My advice to anyone considering marriage to a physically handicapped person is this: If the handicap is your only concern — go for it! Strong faith and good health habits can work miracles.

LUCKY IN NEW YORK

DEAR LUCKY: He's lucky, too.

Jury selection begins in trial of videotape slaying

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — About 125 prospective jurors have been interviewed in the capital murder trial of a former high school basketball star charged with killing a teen-ager in a convenience store robbery that was taped by security cameras.

Officials say they expect the jury selection process, which started Monday, to last up to six weeks. Marvin Maurice Wells, 22, is accused in the shooting death of Matt McKay, 17, of Oklahoma.

McKay was shot in the back during a robbery by three men at the PDQ Texaco convenience store in the Dallas suburb of Carrollton on Nov. 21, 1985. He died in a Dallas hospital about two weeks later.

The slaying was captured on videotape by the store's security camera, and the trial was moved to Longview after the tape was aired repeatedly on Dallas-area and national television newscasts.

During a pre-trial hearing Monday after the jury panel had been sent home, defense attorneys told State District Judge John Ovard that prosecutors had turned a copy of the video over to Texas Instruments, which had agreed to try to enhance the tape's quality.

Wells, a member of two state championship basketball teams at Flint Central High School in Michigan, was arrested by Flint police Jan. 17 after a Dallas County grand jury indicted him in connection with a robbery at a Mesquite convenience store Dec. 1, 1985.

Wells was linked to the Mesquite robbery after two witnesses saw a videotape of the Carrollton robbery, authorities said. Two other men believed to be involved in the robbery and slaying are being sought, officials say.

Seesaw battle

This simple deal became complicated when West defended well. Against four spades, clubs were led and continued, declarer trumping the third round. South played the spade ace. When the jack appeared from East, he took the safety play of leading up to the 10. West now took his best shot by grabbing the queen and playing still another club. Since declarer could never win by trumping with dummy's 10, he discarded a diamond and trumped low in his hand. There was now a single high trump in his hand and one in dummy, but West had two trumps remaining.

It was apparent that declarer must cash out his side-suit tricks and hope to make his high trumps separately, but he had to do it carefully. If South simply assumed that West might follow three times in hearts, and he tried that suit first, the contract would fail. Instead, his right course was to play A-K-Q of diamonds. If West followed, declarer could then play two high hearts and crossruff with high trumps. If West trumped the third diamond, declarer could overruff in dummy and return to his hand with the heart queen to draw the last trump.

It's worth remembering the safety play with this particular suit combination. Play your ace. If an honor drops from either hand or if West plays the nine, next lead low up to dummy's 10. You can guard against Q-9-x-x in either hand or Q-J-x-x in the East hand.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

Self-help works for some people

DEAR DR. GOTT — At age 54, I was stricken with severe osteoarthritis. Indocin helped. Then I tried a diet that eliminates red meat, dairy products, eggs and citrus fruits, and encourages the consumption of white-meat poultry, vegetables, cereals and grains. On my own, I've eliminated caffeine, alcohol, soft drinks and smoking. After six weeks, I was able to drop the Indocin. Maybe the arthritis would have gone into remission without the diet, and this program obviously isn't for everyone, but it worked for me. Is there any scientific reason for its success?

DEAR READER — Some people with arthritis find that they feel better after eliminating certain foods from their diets. I do not know any scientific basis for this finding. Osteoarthritis is caused by the gradual wearing down of joint surfaces; it usually is helped by the use of selected anti-inflammatory, anti-pain medications.

Nonetheless, I respect the experiences of patients who discover ways to help themselves. Your diet seems to be nutritionally sound; I certainly endorse your choice to give up alcohol, smoking and caffeine. Don't forget to check with your doctor periodically to make sure that your newfound diet is permitting you to stay healthy in areas other than joints.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my new Health Report, UNDERSTANDING OSTEOARTHRITIS. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Our son is 30 and suffers from torticollis, or wry neck. It started in 1982 after he spent an entire day carrying shingles to the roof of a two-story house. Then, in 1983, he was thrown from a truck and received a gash in his right lumbar region. He's been to several doctors and a chiropractor, and has taken muscle relaxants and tranquilizers. Recently he had five or six seizures, but an EEG determined that he's not epileptic. He's not able to work, shows no improvement and, naturally, is quite depressed. Where do we go from here?

DEAR READER — I have trouble connecting your son's torticollis to his 1983 back injury and to his seizures.

The back injury should have healed by now. Seizures always indicate a problem; epilepsy is not always the cause. I believe that your son should have a complete neurological examination to determine the cause of his seizures.

Torticollis is a common condition that is caused by spasm of the neck muscles. It usually can be treated with physiotherapy — hot packs, ultrasound and so forth.

In my opinion, the seizures are the problem on which to focus. A neurological specialist would be a good place to start.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Our daughter, a diabetic, is 5 feet 4, weighs 100 pounds, and recently placed herself in the hands of a "nutritionist." Her diet, to the best of my knowledge, consists of salads and dozens of different kinds of herbs. She has constant nausea, diarrhea and stomach cramps, and she vomits daily. Her nutritionist says she's eliminating the poisons from her system.

I don't understand how these people can be allowed to test their theories with no risk to themselves. What is happening physically to our daughter? How can we convince her to see a diabetes specialist? We feel that her therapist has given her the false sense that this regimen is controlling her diabetes.

DEAR READER — Diabetic control can only be assessed by periodic determination of blood sugar. Diet is Jerry Lewis Telethon...

Chamber selected local pledge center

The Snyder telethon pledge center for the "Jerry Lewis Telethon" will be at the chamber of commerce. Pledge center coordinator is Nancy LaRoux, Gay 20 Social Club. Everyone in the community will be urged to show their support for their town by calling the center during the telethon to make a pledge. The center's phone number will be announced periodically on the telethon which will be broadcast live at 8 p.m., Sunday, Aug. 31 through Sept. 1, 5:30 p.m. Last year's Snyder pledge center raised $2089 telethon pledges.

Marcher kits will be available at the pledge center during the telethon for anyone wishing to collect donations door-to-door. MDA recommends that everyone who collects in the area should carry some type of legitimate identification. People are also encouraged to take donations to the pledge center site.

Everyone who makes a pledge during the telethon will receive a pledge envelope in the mail within one or two days after the telethon. Pledge envelopes contain a return envelope that will go directly to New York. All contributions will be tallied, banked, and will benefit the respective local areas for use in research and patient services.

KLBK-TV, Channel 13 will broadcast The Jerry Lewis Telethon on Labor Day weekend to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). Bob Benson and Vicki Hutson, KLBK's news anchor team, will host the local portion of the telethon with special guest Misty, MDA's local "lady of telethon."

The local telethon will focus on area fund-raising events. MDA district director Paul Moore said that this will be "the year of the area pledge centers." The goal is to get more people in the pledge center communities involved. Over 12 area towns will join the telethon telephone network.

The 20th annual telethon, which will be broadcast by some 200 "Love Network" affiliates nationwide, will originate live from Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas. Ed McMahon will once again serve as anchorman, and Casey Kasem, Sammy Davis Jr. and Tony Orlando will encore as Lewis's co-hosts, with Davis in Atlantic City and Tony Orlando in New York City. Among Jerry Lewis's guests is show business legend Frank Sinatra, making one of his infrequent live television appearances.

In most of the hours during which the telethon is on the air, KLBK will cut in for 15 minutes with local programming. Lewis noted that local affiliates use this time to inform viewers about what MDA does with the money it receives. MDA supports some 240 hospital-affiliated clinics nationwide where patients with any of the 40 neuromuscular diseases covered by the association's programs can receive medical care, counseling, and selected orthopedic aids. The association also funds a massive worldwide research effort seeking treatments and cures for these disorders, which affect hundreds of thousands of Americans.

In the Lubbock area, an MDA clinic is located at Methodist Hospital. MDA also sponsors some 70 summer camps throughout the country for youngsters with neuromuscular diseases, including one in the South Plains.

Last year's Jerry Lewis Telethon raised the highest pledge total in the show's 19 year history—more than $32 million in pledges. According to data provided by A. C. Neilson Co., a projected audience of some 96-million people watched the show, making it one of last season's top-rated programs.

UT says cuts would force 3,000 layoffs

AUSTIN (AP) — Budget cuts proposed by the House Appropriations Committee would force more than 3,000 layoffs and reflect "a full scale and debilitating retreat" from the state's dedication to higher learning, University of Texas Systems officials say.

The warnings came a day after the House panel voted to slice colleges and universities 13 percent across the board in fiscal 1987 as it completed work on a package of spending cuts to help remedy state financial troubles.

Hans Mark, chancellor of the UT system, said the system would experience a spending reduction of $120 million if the House plan becomes law. In addition to job losses, Mark said the system may have to cancel summer school — a move that would save about $20 million.

But he refused to speculate on how the proposed cuts would individually affect the 11 schools and two hospitals in the system, including the flagship campus in Austin.

Jess Hay, chairman of the UT system board of regents, said the proposed cuts would damage the quality of education for the 118,000 students in the system, and medical care provided to "hundreds of thousands" of Texans at the system's hospitals.

Hay also said the reductions, if enacted, would threaten the system's ability to secure research funds from the federal government and private sector and would make it "virtually impossible" to attract talented educators to the system's institutions.

According to Hay, the system would suffer a 19.5 percent cut and a $153 million reduction in funds during the entire 1986-87 budget period under the committee plan.

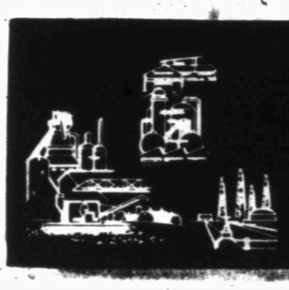

The 13 percent cut in fiscal 1987 would be coupled with average savings of 6.5 percent offered as a result of Gov. Mark White's request in February for voluntary cuts.

"In short, a $153 million reduction in state appropriations would be extremely debilitating and would set in motion, perhaps irrevocably, a trend toward mediocrity throughout our entire educational enterprise," Hay said.

"At issue ... is whether the Texas of tomorrow will remain in league with the very best, or whether on the other hand we will recede into the backwaters of also-rans among the 50 states, content to reside there with recollections of a glorious past clouded by the certainty of a limited future."

The spending cuts may be debated by the full House as early as Friday.

Montague sheriff is judged guilty

DALLAS (AP) — Attorneys for suspended Montague County Sheriff Harry Walker say they plan to appeal their client's conviction on four counts of sexually exploiting minors.

Walker was convicted Monday on charges of mailing child pornography and faces up to 40 years in prison and a $1 million fine. Sentencing is scheduled for Sept. 12.

"Of course, he's disappointed in the ruling," attorney William Bratton said Monday night. "We believe the law was not designed to cover the situation relating to Walker — namely, the statue should be designed to cover those who do business through the mail for profit."

Bratton said he expects the conviction to be reversed because of "outrageous conduct" by the government and alleged constitutional violations in the amended 1984 federal statue used to convict his client.

"The approach will be to attack not only the statue, but also the application of the statue to him," Bratton said.

The trial was held before U.S. District Judge Jerry Buchmeyer after both sides agreed to a written stipulation of testimony. Walker waived a jury and asked the judge to decide the case, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Denver McCarty.

Crashes mar safety record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's military is chalking up a good aviation safety record this year, but the statistics mask a high accident rate for Navy and Marine helicopters and increasing mishaps involving the F-14 jet fighter.

Safety records provided by the services also show that accidents involving two Air Force planes, the aging F-4 and the front-line F-15, are running ahead of last year.

And the Army, though reporting fewer accidents than a year ago, is acknowledging for the first time two serious helicopter accidents.

In addition, the Army is investigating a series of engine failures in two of its older helicopter models, the OH-6 and OH-58A. The service is trying to determine whether the entire fleets of the choppers should be grounded or whether repairs should be performed on the most heavily used of the aircraft.

The investigation of the helicopters should be completed sometime this week, Lt. Col. Craig MacNab, an Army spokesman, said Monday.

The accident rates reported by the services in 1985 were among the lowest ever. The year was the best ever for the Air Force.

During 1985, the Navy and Marine Corps reported 73 so-called Class-A accidents that left 82 people dead. By contrast, with less than five months left this year, the two services have experienced 44 accidents and 32 fatalities.

The military defines a Class-A accident as one in which crewmen are killed or aircraft destroyed or suffer $500,000 in damage.

The Army, which keeps its statistics by fiscal year, suffered 45 Class-A accidents between Oct. 1, 1984, and Sept. 30, 1985, producing 31 fatalities. By contrast, with less than two months left in the current fiscal year, the service has experienced 29 major accidents and 24 fatalities.

The Air Force has had 38 accidents and 39 fatalities so far this year. At this point last year, the Air Force was reporting 35 accidents en route to a year's total of 53 accidents and 78 fatalities.

Because of a two-year jump in accidents, the Navy's aviation safety center has launched an investigation to try to explain the increase in helicopter crash reports.

The Navy and Marines since 1977 have averaged about 20 helicopter accidents a year. The two services reversed that trend in 1983 and 1984, however, holding chopper crashes to 13 and 14, respectively.

That favorable trend has come to an abrupt end. In 1985, the Navy and Marines suffered 22 helicopter accidents. Almost 60 percent of the men killed that year — 45 — died in helicopters.

Dallas proposes gloomy budget

DALLAS (AP) — Unveiling a new city budget for this shining example of Sun Belt prosperity used to be a glossy show of swelling revenues projections and healthy budget surpluses.

Not this year.

City Manager Charles Anderson — faced with Dallas' worst financial crisis in history — proposed a $1 billion budget Monday that eliminates 600 city jobs, drastically reduces or dooms some basic city services and increases most fees by 20 percent.

"This is the hardest thing I've ever had to do," Anderson said. "I've never had a more difficult year."

The council sat quietly when Anderson and Deputy City Manager Camille Barnett outlined the proposed budget.

"We simply have to acknowledge the fact that we aren't a boom town any more," said City Council member Lori Palmer. "This is reality."

The proposed budget maintains the current tax rate of 49.18 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, but most homeowners still would see a tax increase because reappraisals this year have raised property values by an average of 35 percent.

The proposed budget recommends nearly $20 million in cuts in city services such as park programs, library operations, health and human services and city building security operations to help make up an expected $60.3 million shortfall in revenue caused by a downturn in the Texas economy.

Tax ban criticized by various parties

AUSTIN (AP) — For different reasons, two groups say they aren't pleased with the House Ways and Means Committee's approval of a proposed constitutional amendment prohibiting a personal income tax in Texas.

Texans Against State Income Taxes said Monday that the committee's failure to include corporations under the proposed ban makes companies "sitting ducks" for future taxation.

The Texas League of Women Voters, however, said the personal income tax ban is going too far because the state should keep all its financial options open.

"Texas needs the flexibility to restructure its financial system to provide a long-term solution to our fiscal problems," the league said in a statement.

Last week, the Ways and Means Committee endorsed a proposed constitutional amendment that would ban personal income taxes in Texas. Action by the full House is pending.

Committee chairman Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, said many corporations have indicated that as a last resort, they would prefer a corporate profits tax rather than taxes keyed to individual industries. So a corporate ban wasn't included in the proposed ban.

Richard Ford, chairman of Texans Against State Income Taxes, said that leaving corporations open to a possible income tax would cost Texas jobs.

"The citizens of Texas will be the real losers on this because they are the ones who will be unemployed," Ford said.

No 'bombshells' yet in talks with Walker

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Dallas Cowboys President Tex Schramm says he has talked with running back Herschel Walker's agent, but that there aren't any "big bombshells" yet to report.

Walker has been released from his USFL contract by the New Jersey Generals to negotiate with the Cowboys, and Schramm said at the Cowboys training camp that he had talked to agent Peter Johnson "two or three times."

But, Schramm said, "there are no big bombshells" to be expected any time soon.

"I hope they can come to Southern California soon so we can discuss matters further," said Schramm, who was expected to leave for NFL meetings in New York Tuesday night.

Johnson said Monday night he planned to arrange a trip to Thousand Oaks soon, perhaps as early as today.

"We'll be there this week, or maybe as early as Tueday," he said. "Herschel is very eager to get things worked out and to wear a Cowboys uniform."

"Herschel wants to get back onto the football field," Johnson said. "And we now have the rights to negotiate with the Cowboys."

The Cowboys drafted Walker in the fifth round in 1985. The 1982 Heisman Trophy winner from Georgia, he owns the professional football rushing record with 2,411 yards in one season.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) - Edwin Moses of the United States won his 115th straight 400-meter hurdle race at the Budapest Grand Prix track and field meet.

Moses beat a strong international field in 47.76 seconds, his second-best time in 1986. Earlier this year he was clocked in 47.66.

TENNIS

TORONTO (AP) - American upstarts Marcel Freeman and Jonathan Canter knocked out seeded countrymen Matt Anger and David Pate in first-round play in the $375,000 Player's International tennis tournament.

Freeman, ranked 71st in the world, beat the 11th-seeded Anger 6-7 (7-2), 6-4, 6-2 while Canter, ranked 58th, beat 14th-seeded David Pate 6-2, 7-5.

In another match, Todd Nelson of San Diego defeated Patrick McEnroe of New York 6-4, 7-5 to set up a match with fifth-seeded John McEnroe.

STRATTON MOUNTAIN, Vt. (AP) - John McEnroe and Peter Fleming, playing together for the first time in a year, won the doubles title at the $315,000 Volvo International tennis tournament.

Volleyball players working toward unity, strong defense

After graduating two all-state players from its 1985 state championship team, many people are counting Snyder High School out of the volleyball race this year, but they shouldn't, according to Coach Vicki Nelms.

"People are counting us out and saying we won't win very many games but we don't believe that," she said this morning. "We feel we can be very competitive this year."

Snyder graduated all-state picks Karlene Thompson and Donna Anderson - who both earned scholarships - but returns a group that is not without talent and experience.

Nelms reported 26 players out for varsity and junior varsity volleyball and another 32 for the freshmen team.

Among the players out for varsity are seven returning lettermen, including Allison Adams and Shondra Adams, who both started for the state title squad. Also back are Leslie Ward and Sharnette Thompson, who both saw a lot of action. Others are Donna Clay, Stacy Dunk and Tammy Williamson. All seven are seniors.

"I think we'll be more team oriented than we have been," said Coach Nelms of the 1986 squad. "We don't really have any stars. We're going to have 26 kids that will be able to play."

Nelms believes the lack of a standout player could make it harder for other teams to defense this year's Tiger squad.

"I think it will be hard for a team to block us because they aren't going to know who we are going to set the ball to. We're going to set it to everybody. I feel like that will be a strong point for us. We're going to use all our hitters," she said.

But the lack of a dominant player or players up front may also mean Snyder won't be able to block its opponents as easily - at least early in the season.

"I think we'll be more of a defensive team than last year. We're not sure about our blocking at first so we're concentrating especially on defense. We spend a lot of time passing the ball," the coach added.

Nelms was planning to select the varsity team today because "It's very important that they begin working out with each other, getting to know who they'll be with out there," she said.

The teams - varsity and junior varsity - have to gear for their first scrimmage, which will be held next Monday, Aug. 18, in Lamesa. The Tigers open the 1986 season soon - Aug. 19 - by hosting Brownfield.

Ragin' Tiger football report...

Inside linebackers aiming to give Tigers tougher 'D'

Snyder football candidates went through their first day of two-a-day workouts Monday and reported back in tired, but good shape this morning.

Freshman coach Larry Scott announced that ninth grade gridders should pick up their equipment at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the old field house. Any player who cannot make the Thursday pick-up time should come to the field house on Friday.

Freshman workouts begin at 8:30 Monday morning, Aug. 18.

Defense is a special concern with the Ragin' Tiger squad this season and a key area will be at the inside linebacker position. Coach Rod Cottrell works with the group, which includes veteran Mark Helms, a 5-11, 180-pound senior.

"Mark is the only one we have at this position you might call a returning starter," said Cottrell. "We're also looking at Brad Gambrel, Troy Menix, Doug Smith and Toby Ubando. We've got some young guys, too, Nelson Carthel and Israel Hinojos."

Gambrel was moved up from the junior varsity to the varsity during the 1985 season but suffered a broken collarbone and saw limited playing time. Smith played the position in a backup role while Menix was a starter with the junior varsity.

Ubando was used primarly as a fullback on offense, and saw little playing time.

"We're basically looking at five guys for two positions, although it's really four positions because each of them also has an offensive position and we plan to do a lot of switching in and out," said the coach. "I'm real encouraged right now. I felt like our pluggers did a good job against the run last year but we needed to be much stronger against the pass. We'll be farther ahead this year because these guys have been with us now and they know what to expect."

Snyder's inside linebackers won't be big. At 6-0, 185, Menix is the biggest, but Coach Cottrell hopes the group can make up for the lack of size.

"I'd say we have adequate size. We're looking at between 180 and 185 pounds and you'd like them to be 190 or 200, but they are all strong kids and they have good quickness. They all run 5.0 or better in the 40 yard dash," said the coach.

"They're mean, too. They like to hit. They've got that defensive personality you have to have to play this position. They've got to be willing to take on a 260-pound tackle, slide off the block and make the stop."

Eatman gets big bucks to ink with Kansas City

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) - Irv Eatman, who hasn't played a down in the NFL, is about to become one of its highest paid offensive linemen, says the agent who negotiated the three-time All-USFL player's contract with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Eatman, who helped lead the Stars of Philadelphia and Baltimore to the last two USFL championships, will be paid "somewhere in the upper bracket as offensive linemen in the NFL go," Leigh Steinberg told the Kansas City Times after he and the Chiefs announced Monday that they had reached an agreement.

Because Eatman is one of about 30 players with guaranteed USFL contracts, his release must first be obtained from Baltimore.

Astros stay ahead of field; come from behind in game

by The Associated Press

The Houston Astros continue to stay ahead by coming from behind.

For the 18th time this season, the Astros won in their final at bat, as Alan Ashby's two-run double in the ninth inning Monday night produced a 7-6 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Ashby's bases-loaded, one-out drive into the right-field corner kept the National League West-leading Astros four games ahead of second-place San Francisco. Los Angeles is third, eight games back.

"I've never been on a club that can come back like this one can," Houston Manager Hal Lanier said. "This is a game we didn't deserve to win. We lost this game four different times on the basepaths."

In other NL games, San Francisco ripped Cincinnati 13-4, Atlanta beat San Diego 11-6, New York defeated Philadelphia 8-4, St. Louis downed Montreal 5-4, and Pittsburgh beat Chicago 10-7. Prior to Pittsburgh's victory, the Pirates beat the Cubs 10-8 in 17 innings in the completion of a suspended game.

Giants 13, Reds 4

Pete Rose went 5-for-5 for Cincinnati, but home runs by Bob Brenly, Bob Melvin and Candy Maldonado powered San Francisco over the Reds.

Brenly's three-run homer gave the visiting Giants a 6-4 lead in the sixth inning and Melvin, who hit a solo homer earlier, had a three-run triple that sparked a seven-run seventh. Maldonado added a two-run homer.

Rose set an NL record with his 10th five-hit game, his first since April 28, 1982. Rose drove in three runs with four singles and a double, and raised his average to a season-high .222.

Mets 8, Phillies 4

Keith Hernandez continued his RBI streak and helped Dwight Gooden and New York win in Philadelphia.

Hernandez and Gary Carter hit run-scoring doubles in the fourth inning. Hernandez has driven in at least one run in eight straight games, a team record.

Gooden, 12-4, gave up nine hits, struck out 10 and walked none. One of the hits was Rick Schu's two-run homer in the ninth.

Braves 11, Padres 6

Dale Murphy homered twice and doubled, driving in four runs and powering Atlanta over

Pete Rose raps the ball well

CINCINNATI (AP) - Exactly eleven months after he set baseball's all-time hit record, Cincinnati Reds player-manager Pete Rose established another National League mark with his tenth five-hit game.

His double and four singles in a 13-4 loss to the San Francisco Giants Monday night also provided some evidence that, at age 45, he can still hit - an assumption that could keep him playing in a limited role for one more season.

"I'd love to get hot and be able to knock in some runs and score some runs and get the team hot," Rose said, after his first five-hit game in more than four years.

The performance raised his average from .204 to a season-high .222 and started to fulfill a pre-game prophecy that he's got a hot streak ahead that could ward off retirement for another year.

Before the game, Rose reiterated that he'll wait until the end of the season to decide whether to fulfill the remaining year of his player contract. He said he'd retire as a player if he had to make the decision based on his performance so far, but he might return as a pinch-hitter and part-time player if he does well the last two months.

He then went out and drove in three runs with his five hits, moving him ahead of Max Carey for sole possession of the National League record. The magnitude of the loss took the joy out of the moment.

"When you get hits and knock in runs, you like to win," he said. "Usually when I have a good day, we win. When you have a game like this, you want to forget about it."

Rose had benched himself in the last week and a half to give Nick Esasky a chance to start hitting. Rose's last start resulted in an 0-for-3 performance against Los Angeles Aug. 2, and he walked during a pinch-hit appearance Aug. 6.

His last hit was in a 1-for-5 effort against San Diego July 30.

He said he was surprised only at the magnitude of his success Monday night.

"No one knows how I'm swinging the bat because I haven't played in 10 days," Rose said. "But I've felt good in batting practice, and I see the ball well when I pinch-hit. I'm surely not tired, because I only have 200 at-bats."

Rose wouldn't be surprised if he continues to hit well the rest of the season.

"I've always been a pretty good August and September hitter," he said. "I might not get another hit in August; I don't know. But I'm going to go up there feeling good."

Wins PGA title in dramatic fashion...

Tway outguns Norman for championship

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) - Gene Sarazen's double eagle in the 1935 Masters. Tom Watson's chip-in to win the 1982 U.S. Open.

And now, Bob Tway's bunker shot on the final hole of the 1986 PGA National Championship.

Tway, 27, playing in his first PGA, struck one of the most dramatic shots ever in a major championship, holing out a sand shot for a birdie 3 Monday on the 72nd hole at the Inverness Club to capture his first major.

With one sand shot, Tway snatched the PGA title away from Greg Norman, who had led throughout the tournament and appeared to be on his way to winning his second straight major.

Tway, who shot a 70 Monday - play was suspended by heavy rain Sunday after the leaders played one hole - finished at 8-under-par 276, two strokes better than Norman, who shot a final-round 76.

"The way (Norman) won the British Open was a lot like the way that Bob Tway won this one," Peter Jacobsen, who finished third and played in the final threesome, said.

"It was destiny."

How better to describe the 15th hole, where Tway sliced a 4-iron into the gallery to the right of the hole, but recovered to chip the ball to within five feet and made the par putt to remain tied at seven under with Norman?

Or the 17th, where Tway again hit the ball right nestling it into the deep rough surrounding the green?

"I walked up to the green and I couldn't see my ball," Tway said. But he wedged the ball to within three feet and dropped the putt for another par to match Norman.

The two went to the 18th tee with a major championship on the line and no one else in the running.

Both hit their drives into deep rough to the right, but Norman's kicked out into the fairway, 123 yards from the pin on the 354-yard, par-4.

Hitting first, Tway was only able to advance the ball to a gaping bunker which fronts the green. Norman dropped a pitching wedge onto the green, but the ball spun backward and ended up in light rough 20 feet from the hole.

Then destiny ruled.

"I opened up the face of my sand wedge real wide. I knew I had to hit it soft," Tway, who said he had an ideal lie in the trap, said.

"I wasn't trying to make it. I was just trying to get close."

He got it close. As close as you can get. He had blasted out, the ball hitting 10 feet short of the hole and then slowly rolling to the pin. It disappeared for a birdie that may have been measured on a Richter scale in his native Oklahoma.

"All I remember is starting to jump up and down," Tway said. "If I would have jumped like that in high school, I would have played basketball."

The victory was the fourth of what has become a magical year for Tway. He has earned more than $600,000 in 1986, but still is second on the money list to the man he beat down the stretch.

Norman, who took leads into the final rounds of all four major championships in 1986 but won just the British Open, had thought he might win the PGA with a par.

Now he needed to hole out the pitch just to force a playoff. His attempt sailed six feet past the hole and Tway's name was already being printed on the first-place check of $140,000.

"(Tway) hit a great bunker shot with the pressure on," said Norman, who finished second in the Masters and 12th in the U.S. Open. "He had a shot where if it didn't go in, it would have gone 20 feet past."

It didn't go 20 feet past.

visiting San Diego.

Murphy hit a three-run homer off reliever Gene Walter that capped a six-run second inning. Murphy led off the fifth with his 20th home run of the season.

Rick Mahler, 11-11, won his first game since June 30, a span of nine starts. He gave up nine hits, including Graig Nettles' three-run homer and a solo shot by Marvell Wynne.

Cardinals 5, Expos 4

Mike LaValliere hit a two-run homer off Floyd Youmans with two outs in the eighth inning, carrying St. Louis over Montreal.

The visiting Cardinals trailed 4-3 when Terry Pendleton led off the eighth with a double and Clint Hurdle walked with one out. After Pendleton was caught stealing, LaValliere connected off Youmans, 11-8, for his second home run of the season.

Pirates 10, Cubs 8
Pirates 10, Cubs 7

Mike Diaz hit a three-run homer and Barry Bonds had a solo shot during a seven-run seventh inning that led Pittsburgh past Chicago.

The visiting Pirates also won the completion of a suspended game, 10-8, on a pinch-single by Bonds in the 17th inning. The game had been stopped because of darkness April 20 with the score tied 8-8 after 13 innings.

Pittsburgh has won nine of 10 games against the Cubs this season. Rick Rhoden, 12-7, won the regularly scheduled game and raised his record against Chicago to 4-0 for the season and 17-6 in his career.

In the suspended game, Johnny Ray led off the 17th with a double and Bobby Bonilla was intentionally walked with one out. With two outs, Bonds singled home the tie-breaking run, and another run scored when center fielder Bob Dernier bobbled the ball for an error.

Detroit finally clips Boston as Morris hurls three-hitter

by The Associated Press

Jack Morris showed once again what being a stopper is all about.

After three straight losses to the Boston Red Sox, the Detroit Tigers won the last game of the series 5-0, as Morris threw a three-hitter for his fourth shutout, best in the American League and tied for the major league lead.

It was his 10th complete game.

"Our pitching really wasn't all that hot the first three games," Morris said. "I'm not pointing fingers or naming names. We just didn't get the job done. We got our five runs tonight, played good defense and won."

Morris, 14-7, struck out three and walked four. He was backed by homers from John Grubb and Lou Whitaker.

"The Jack Morrises of this world, there are very few of them," Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson said. "He's taken pretty good care of me for the last seven years."

Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, 11-8, lost his second straight start since his suspension ended. "I thought Oil Can pitched very well," Boston Manager John McNamara said. "We just didn't get him any runs."

The Tigers, who had entered the series 4½ games behind Boston and lost three straight to the AL East leaders, clawed to within 6½ games of the Red Sox.

Boston's two closest rivals won on Monday night. New York moved to within five games of first with a 6-5 victory over Cleveland. Mike Flanagan stopped Baltimore's five-game losing streak and the Orioles moved to within six by beating Toronto 3-1.

In other AL games, Chicago beat Milwaukee 6-1, Minnesota shut out California 2-0 and Seattle topped Oakland 6-4.

Orioles 3, Blue Jays 1

Flanagan held Toronto to two hits in 8 1-3 innings, and Don Aase preserved the victory that ended Baltimore's five-game losing streak.

Flanagan changed his recent strategy. "I was trying to throw off-speed stuff to make my fastball look better," he said. "Tonight, I just decided to do it the other way around. I just changed the game plan."

Yankees 6, Indians 5

New York's Don Mattingly ended Cleveland's three-game winning streak with a tie-breaking single in the bottom of the ninth inning, with the bases loaded and two out.

Brian Fisher, 7-5, was the victor in relief of Ron Guidry, who gave up home runs to Brook Jacoby, Tony Bernazard and Julio Franco in his 6 1-3 innings.

Twins 2, Angels 0

Minnesota's Bert Blyleven, 12-10, pitched a three-hitter for his fifth straight complete game, taking the AL lead with 11 this year. He raised his career record to 27-12 against California with his 53rd career shutout.

Gary Gaetti hit a sixth-inning homer, his 24th of the year.

Don Sutton, 10-9, allowed only six hits in seven innings.

White Sox 6, Brewers 1

Chicago scored six runs on five hits — two of them a two-run homer and an RBI single by rookie Russ Morman.

Morman's hits were the only two for the White Sox until Daryl Boston added a two-run single in the three-run eighth. Carlton Fisk led off the ninth with his 11th homer.

Floyd Bannister, 7-9, scattered eight hits and two walks in his third complete game this year.

Mariners 6, A's 4

Reliever Fernando Arroyo, making his first major-league appearance since 1982, walked Bob Kearney, Spike Owen and Domingo Ramos, forcing in the two game-winning runs with two outs in the top of the ninth inning.

Danny Tartabull gave Seattle its first four runs with a seventh-inning grand slam.

Ryan to test elbow against LA tonight

HOUSTON (AP) - After using a patchwork pitching rotation all season, the Houston Astros may finally get pitcher Nolan Ryan back for good.

Ryan, the major league's all-time strike-out leader, will test his ailing elbow tonight against the Los Angeles Dodgers after having been on the disabled list for the second time this season.

The Astros put him on the 15-day disabled list effective July 28 because of recurring problems with a sprained medial collateral ligament in his elbow. Ryan was sidelined 21 days in June with the same injury.

All season the Astros have had to rotate the only two healthy pitchers - Mike Scott, the National League's earned-run and strike-out leader, and Bob Knepper - because of Ryan's injury.

Los Angeles Dodgers team physician Dr. Frank Jobe examined Ryan last week in Los Angeles and told the pitcher that if surgery were required, he would need about a year to recover. Ryan, however, does not think surgery is necessary.

Ryan will take a 7-7 record and 3.90 earned-run average into the important four-game home stand against the Dodgers, who are trying to unseat the first-place Astros in the tight National League Western Division race.

The 39-year-old pitcher struggled early in the season, but despite the elbow pain, pitched his best games after coming off the disabled list June 24.

Since then he has compiled a 4-1 record and struck out 14 Montreal Expos on July 22 over 9 1-3 innings.

In his next start July 27, Ryan struck out 10 batters over five innings against Philadelphia before leaving the game with elbow pain.

The Astros then placed Ryan on the disabled list against his wishes. Ryan wanted to pitch against the Los Angeles Dodgers in Los Angeles on Aug. 1.

But Manager Hal Lanier said he wanted to rest his pitching ace and have him prepared for the final two months of the season.

NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST AND STATEMENT OF INTENT

Notice is hereby given that Midwest Electric Cooperative, Inc. (the "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service effective September 12, 1986. Based upon a test year ending December 31, 1985, the increase requested over actual test year revenues is $544,028.00 or 5.49%. If the test year is adjusted, however, to reflect declines in the cost of electricity purchased by the utility from wholesale power suppliers the increase is $842,072.00 or 8.77j.

The changes are applicable to all areas and all customers served by the Utility. The classes and numbers of Utility customers affected are as follows

Farm and Home	3507
Single-Phase Irrigation	38
Small Single-Phase Commercial	483
Small Three-Phase Commercial	1654
Three-Phase Irrigation	98
Commercial 50-150 kVA	240
Commercial 150-350 kVA	35
Large Commercial	13
Cotton Gin	5
Outdoor Lighting	1146
Municipal Street Lighting	2

The Utility intends to change its service rules and regulations including rules relating to obtaining service, line extension and line extension charges, the provision of electric service, service fees, and discontinuance of service.

Implementation of the proposed changes is subject to approval by the appropriate regulatory authority. A statement of intent including the proposed revisions of tariff and schedules and a statement specifying in detail each proposed change is available at the general office of the Utility located at Highway 180 West, Roby, Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate; or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypwriter for the deaf.

Committee dips into school funds

AUSTIN (AP) — A House panel's vote to take $1.1 billion from education funds long viewed as untouchable is a move that would hurt Texas school children, Gov. Mark White says.

But Speaker Gib Lewis said his plan, approved Monday by the appropriations committee, hurts no one and could be the key to solving the state's cash flow problem without a tax hike.

"I don't know why we haven't done it years ago," he said. "It's been such a sacred cow that it's never been touched."

White said a tax hike would be a better solution than dipping into the Permanent School Fund and Permanent University Fund. He said those funds have been sacred for good reason.

"Taking monies from the permanent trust funds set aside for our children and their education would set a terrible precedent," he said. "The plan represents a major departure from the far-sighted policies established more than 100 years ago for the financing of public schools and universities in this state."

Hans Mark, chancellor of the University of Texas System, said taking money from the Permanent University Fund will hurt.

"If we want to maintain the construction program now on the books, it will cost us more money. Alternatively, we can cut back the construction program. That's probably what we'll have to do. But to say it has no effect is wrong," Mark said.

The appropriations committee voted Monday to take $1.1 billion — the amount of capital gains earned by the PUF and PSF in the past five years — and use it to replace general revenue that could be used elsewhere in state government.

Lewis said Attorney General Jim Mattox has indicated he would probably issue an opinion saying the move is legal. The speaker also predicted the full House would back the plan.

The funds are the backbone of the state's higher education and public education systems. The principal cannot be spent, but interest income is put into funds that are spent.

Profit from security sales has been put back into the unspendable principal. The Lewis plan would take that capital gain for the past five years and put it into the spendable portion.

The PUF, now about $2.4 billion, is divided among the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems. The PSF, now greater than $5 billion, is divided among all local school districts.

Lewis said his plan, plus $600 million in spending cuts approved by the appropriations panel, adds up to no tax hike this year, despite the projected $3.5 billion state deficit.

"If we pass this bill intact, this will carry us way into next year without even having to think about a tax bill," said Lewis, who opposes the tax hikes called for by White and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Lewis said it's ludicrous to talk about tax hikes when the two funds have more than enough money.

"You let that money sit there because maybe 15 or 20 people are zealously guarding it," he said, adding that it reminded him of the fable about "the old king counting his coins and everyone was starving."

The funds transfer drew some opposition in the 29-member appropriations committee, but got 16 "aye" votes. Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, was among the dissenters.

You suggest that your daughter might be in the hands of a quack. I agree that she would be better served by seeing a doctor who is familiar with diabetes and uses a more traditional and appropriate approach. Complain to your state's consumer protection bureau. Maybe your daughter's "nutritionist" isn't one at all and should be put out of business.
