Dawes Attacks 'Red Flag' in Opening Western Tour

OPENS PLEA FOR FARM VOTE IN MID-WEST AREA

DEMOCRATS STRADDLE THE IMPORTANT QUESTION HE CHARGES

By United News.

NEBRASKA MEMORIAL STADIUM, LINCOLN Neb., Aug. 29.—Charles G. Dawes launched a strong attack on Senator Robert M. La Follette and his "red flag" here tonight in opening his western campaign as Republican candidate for vice president.

"On the one hand is President Coolidge under the American flag, standing on the constitution, on the other is Robert M. La Follette, under the "red flag," Dawes said.

"As for the Democratc party, it's choice of candidates shows it is trying to straddle on the most important question in this campaign—government according to constitution."

At this point the general was interrupted by loud calls of "We can't hear" and caused an outburst of laughter by refusing to continue until the loul speakers were tuned up. After this difficulty had been removed, he continued his speech starting in his prepared address.

Dawes opened the drive through the heart of the wheat belt in the town where he started his search for fame and forutne as a young attorney nearly 4 years ago.

In the crowds that came out to hear him were many old timers who knew him in the old days before his "Hell an' Maria" and his upside down pipe had become matters of national interests.

Speaking to these friends and to throngs of farmers that had come in to town, the general made this promise for his administration:

"We make but one promise—that the republican party utilizing the best minds and those tranied by training best fitted for the task, will bend its energy to the study of our agricultural problem to the end that through legislation or other means its solution may be accomplished. Whoever promises more than this is entering into a contract which cannot be filled."

Dawes entire speech was an analysis of the agricultural problem. There is no question he said but that it is most serious economic question confronting our nation today. Upon its solution depends our national prosperity. It is a non-partisan economic question. It must not be, and cannot be, either discussed or settled as a party question.

"It is a most complex issue. In its solution we have not precedent to follow, for never in the history of the world, so far as I can find, has there been a country producing and exporting in large volume, at the same time, both the products of the farm and of industry.

"The problem in the most simple terms is how can equality in earning capacity be secured between agriculture and industry. Disparity in earning capacity of agricultural and industrial population is evidenced in undebatable manner by the marked increase in savings deposits in industrial centers as compared with those in agricultural sections of the country.

"After two years of discussion upon this subject as extensive as was ever devoted in the United States in the same space of time to an economic problem, it is at present clear that there is no consensus of agricultural or economic opinion upon any of the legislative remedies now under consideration. Under such circumstances the same common sense methods of procedure which led to the settlement of the difficulties of Europe should be followed in the search for the settlement of the agricultural problem.

"What is demanded at the present time is the consideration of this problem by an impartial, non-partisan, competent commission under economic guidance, with a view to

GERMANY PUTS RATIFICATION ON LONDON PACT

ARRANGEMENTS MADE WHEREBY TWO-THIRD MAJORITY IS SECURED

By United News.

BERLIN, Aug., 29.—Europe is ready now to proceed with the enforcement of the Dawes reparations settlement secure in the knowledge that Germany has given its official approval of the reichstag.

After a peace arrangement has been made at the last moment between the goverment of chancellor Marx and the nationalist party, the riechstag ratified the pact of London Friday. Considerably to the surprise of many political observers, the ratification received the necessary two-thirds majority. This majority was granted on the railroad bill, which the nationalists supported. The vote was 314 to 127. The industrial obligations bill and the bill creating the new bank of issue passed only by a bare majority but they did not require a two-third vote.

The position of chancellor Marx and prospects for fulfillment of the Dawes plan were further strengthened when the reichstag rejected, by a vote of 251 to 94, a lack of confidence motion which has been introduced by the people's party. With the Dawes settlement have won victory in the two centers where opposition is most pronounced—Berlin and Paris—the machinery will be started soon for application of the new plan whereby Germany is to pay reparations.

Two hundred and ninety-five votes were required to make a two-thirds majority. As soon as this number was reached the reichstag burst into a tumult. Goverment supporters both in the chamber and the galleries jumped to their feet shouting and screaming exultantly.

The communists and folkists raged angrily shaking their fists at the diplomatic gallery, where the American, French and other diplomats sat watching the proceedings. The nationalists remained glumly silent.

The two-third majority was obtained by fifty nationalists voting for acceptance of the vital railroad bill, although previously they had voted against other measures which did not require a two-thirds support. The price of the nationalists adherence, it is understood was a promise by the Marx goverment to reorganize.

BROTHER FILM STAR IN COUNTY WARD AT LOS ANGELES

By United News.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 29.—County physicians admitted Friday that Solon Henkel, brother of Agnes Ayers film actress, has been consigned to the psychopathic ward for a report on his metal condition.

While Henkel claims that he is not now and never was mentally afflicted, he suffers religious delusions and imagines fabulous wealth in buried treasure, according to the authorities. He has been a government patient for two years but returned to Hollywood last Saturday. His peculiar actions attracted police attention and his transfer to the county hospital followed.

Henkel believes he is resposible for Miss Ayres' motion picture success and has stated that he is being persecuted because he "knows too much about his sister's affairs."

Miss Ayres, who has twice been divorced,, is now reputed to have been secretly married to Manuel Reachi, attache to the consulte general of Mexico at San Francisco several days ago.

Mrs. Mariam A. Ferguson, of Temple, Texas, has been nominated for the Democratic candidacy for Governor of Texas, practically equivalent to election, the first woman ever so honored in America. Mrs. Ferguson made the race to vindicate her husband, James E. Ferguson, who was impeached as Governor seven years ago on the charge of improper use of the State's money. He conducted her campaign and will virtually be Governor. She made her campaign a bitter fight against the Ku Klux Klan.

FIVE KILLED IN GAS EXPLOSION

MORE THAN SCORE ARE BURNED WHEN TANK TRUCK EXPLODES

By United News.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 29.—Five persons were killed and more than a score badly burned here late Friday when natural gas being carried on a motor truck exploded in the yards of the Peoples Natural Gas company.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by a lighted cigarette.

Its shock was terrific and the impact was felt for blocks away, knocking out windows, and frightening persons a mile from the scene of the accident.

The persons killed included Patrick Kane, John Deverasi and William Montgomery, workmen in the company plant, and two small boys who were playing in the street nearby. Fifteen or twenty girls who were working on the first floor of the gas plant suffered severe burns from flames caused by the gas igniting.

One of the workmen who was in the machine shop on the second floor was hurled out of the window into the street, his clothing ablaze. His skull was fractured and he died on the way to the hospital. The other victims died son after they arrived at the hospital.

BOOSTER TRIP DATES ARE SET

COMMITTEES NAMED TO COMPLETE PLANS FOR ANNUAL TRADE TRIPS

A spirited meeting of the membership of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was held at the Justice Court room at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at which time important business concerning the trade trips that are to be made in interest of the Panahandle and South Plains Fair to be held here October 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th, was discussed.

Byron C. Dickinson, president of the Junior organization, emphatically declared that the trade trips will either be put over big or not put over at all, and was backed in this conclusion by the other members of the organization.

"We can't afford to do the job in a half-hearted, half-shot manner," the Junior chamber of commerce president declared and evidently hit a key note an unanimous approval was given his statement.

Curtis Keen made a report on the plans that have been drawn up by the trade trip committee, and it was agreed that providing the Kiwanis club luncheon can be held each Friday instead of Thursday during the three weeks the trade trips will be staged, Thursday will be the day set aside for the trips.

Trade trips will be made Thursday, September 11th, Thursday September 18th and Thursday September 25th if present plans do not miscarry, and providing this schedule is not conflicted with by the Kiwanis luncheons.

A pep meeting will be held at the court house lawn Thursday evening September 4th at which time good music, lively talks and clever stunts will be presented by members of the various committees that have been appointed.

The following committees have been appointed and according to officers of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are showing some real

BODY GUARD IS GIVEN CAVERLY AFTER THREAT

MANY DEATH THREATS ARE MADE ON JUDGE OVER SLAYERS' HEARING

By United News.

CHICAGO. August 29.—Justice John R. Caverly has received so many death threats through the mails the last three days that he had a bodyguard assigned him Friday by the police department as he started to read the evidence in the Franks case. This guard will remain with Justice Caverly day and night until he makes his decision, Sept. 10, whether Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb shall go to the gallows.

Justice Caverly began the reading of more than 2,000 typewritten pages of testimony in his suite at the Drake Hotel. He intends remaining there until he has finished going over the evidence. Then he will leave Chicago for an undisclosed destination accompanied only by Mrs. Caverly and a secretary. He will not write his decision until he leaves the city.

From the Justice's apartment there came a warning Friday that he would not consider any attempt to discuss the Frank case with him, an attempt to influence him. He said that should such an attempt be made, he immediately would have the person or persons responsible arrested.

Discussing arrangements for the da yof sentence, Judge Caverly said he had ordered the sheriff and police department to patrol the criminal courts building halls and stairways and to maintain an adequate force of guards in the vicinity of the building. No one except newspapermen, relatives of the defendants, lawyers and court attaches and the prisoners will be permitted in the court room when the sentence is pronounced. Even clerks employed in the building will not be allowed on the fifth or sixth floors. The court is on the sixth floor.

Some of the threats received by Justice Caverly are a source of much concern to the police. The threats include some to blow up the criminal court building.

The hearing to determine whether mitigating circumstances attended the murder of Robert Franks has cost the state between $50,000 and $60,000, according to the state's attorney's office. Clarence S. Darrow, chief defense counsel, admitted that the expense to the Loeb and Leopold families probably would be around $300,000.

MRS. MORS' JEWELS FOUND IN M'COY'S SAFETY BOX

By United News.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 29.—Jewels which had been the property of Mrs. Teresa Mors, whose death brought a murder charge against Kid McCoy were found Friday in McCoy's safety deposit box when detectives and attorney visited the former fighters banks in search of evidence.

The jewelry, valued at several thousand dollars, consisted of several rings, a gold mesh bag, and a gold vanity case, owned by Mrs. Mors, also was found. A gold cigarette case, the property of the woman's former husband, Albert Mors, also was in the box.

Federal officers who have been searching for jewels which they claim had been smuggled into this country, received a valuable clue in a paper listing other valuables which had belonged to the slain woman.

District attorneys' and detectives said that the contents of McCoy's safety deposit box will prove damaging evidence against him. The fact that he had succeeded in getting Mrs. Mors jewels showed his intention of securing control of all her belongings, they declared.

Ford Profit Increases

By United News.

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—The Ford Motor company for the 12 months ended December 31, 1923, showed a gain in profit and loss surplus of $100,000,000, according to figures filed with the state authorities. It had been erroneously reported that the gain for the year ended June 30, 1924, was only $27,911,923, the smallest in recent years.

PLEDGES SELF TO TENURE OF OFFICE WITHOUT RANCOR AND PREJUDICE. ASKS CO-OPERATION

By United News.

TEMPLE, Texas, Aug. 29.—In a brief, simple statement, in which she laid stress on her desire for harmony, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for Governor of Texas, thanked her friends for their support and pledged herself to a tenure of office "without rancor and without prejudice" at the "Forget It" celebration here tonight.

The entire speech, which lasted less than five minutes, was devoted to a plea for help in the task of governing Texas.

"I know the women of the state will rally to my support in the election" Mrs. Ferguson declared "and with their help, I am not afraid to face the great task before me."

It was her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson who voiced the keynote speech of the evening.

"The Ferguson family has no enemies tonight," he declared.

"If I have spoken with bitterness during the campaign, I come to offer apologies for it. If those who opposed me have reviled my name, let us forget it, and work together."

All day long the crowds streamed into Temple.

As the train from Fort Worth and Dallas rolled in at 5 p. m. carrying streamers the length of the coach, "Off to Ma's party." A special car was attached to the "Texas Special" when it arrived this evening.

Motor caravans wound their way into the town from the first break of dawn to find the whole city a blaze of flags and bunting. Many of the delegations from larger cities brought bands and paraded the streets.

Anti klan forces will have at least 100 members in the state convention Tuesday Ferguson predicted tonight in his first reference to the convention.

Ferguson made the prediction only after a careful check of delegations from each county.

Two hundred votes at the gathering are placed in the doubtful column. Ferguson is confident however of snaring the larger part of these Forces favoring the hooded order are conceded only 340 sure votes.

Nothing will be done by either "Ma" or "Pa" regarding choosing of candidates for officers of the convention until after their leaders hold a caucus Monday.

The resignation of national committeeman Thomas B. Love, because he could not "stomach" the selection of Mrs. Ferguson as Democratic nominee created scarcely a ripple in the Ferguson camp.

Ferguson issued a statement saying "this was not the first time Tom has welched after a licking."

"This is the second wail of Tom when I have met him in conflict. In 1918 I had it out with him in San Antonio, and put him out of the national committeeman's place. Then he cried like a baby and showed that he was not a good sport.

"Now in 1924, since he could not nominate McAdoo, since he had been repudiated by national democracy as I said he would be, and since he has become convinced that the reign of him and his and all other K. K. K. politicians has been ended by the voice of the people, he simply runs out of the burning house to escape the wrath of the people.

"I think the people have cause for additional rejoicing for not having to look at him or hear from him any more."

JACHIES SAVE GAS FOR FLIGHT

PLUNGE INTO ICY WATER TO SAVE 18 DRUMS GAS FOR FLIGHT

By United News.

ON BOARD U. S. S. Richmond, Ice Tickle Inlet, Aug., 29.—Three modest heroes of the United States navy who plunged into the icy waters which laps this rugged coast and wrestled for five hours to save 18 drums of gasoline destined for the use of the American globe flyers have just reported their adventure to the Richmond. But for them, the world flight of Lt. Lowell Smith and Eric Nelson, who hope now to hop for Indian Harbor Saturday, would have been postponed indefinitely.

The three heroes are Lt. George Noville, in charge of fuel supplies for the American fliers, seamen Joseph Bowl, and William Cahill, from the destroyer Lawrence. Noville came aboard the Richmond Friday with a tale of simple heroism that deserves to go into the annals of the navy and to be remembered wherever the world flight is discussed.

The three sailors were marooned on a shore camp guarding the precious fuel. Wednesday night a sixty mile an hour gale lashed the coast. It was during this bad gale that the convoy ships were forced to put out to sea.

The fuel camp was swept by giant waves. As the storm rose belowed the drums of fuel were swept into the tossing combers and gradually were being carried toward rocks against which 450 pound drums would have been crushed like eggs.

Noville, Bowl and Cahill put off in the Lawrence shore boat and it promptly capsized dumping the three salors into the nearly freezing water. From seven o'clock until midnight Wednesday the three men floundered about in neck-deep water lashing the drums together and straining against ropes to keep them from floating further toward the rocks. It was labor of the hardest kind under conditions which could not have been more dangerous. Neville came aboard the Richmond Friday after he had been relieved from continuous seventy two hour watch over the fuel tanks which he and his two companions had neither fire nor dry food. He told how the drums finally were lashed together and pulled ashore where the three miserable, shivering men remained awake all Wednesday night beside their rescued fuel. At dawn they stripped their dripping garments and rubbed each other with alcohol. None of the trio, Noville said, is any the worse for the experience.

The plight of the marooned sailors was discovered Friday by the Richmond. Food and dry clothing was sent immediately along with a new tent, so that after 72 hours of misery there is comfort once more on the gasoline watch.

If those three men had given up before their arduous task, and gone back to shore rather than risked death for hours in the icy water, Smith and Nelson would have arrived at this place to find it barren of gasoline and the nearest fuel would have been Haws Bay New Foundland. The delay would have been indefinite and might have caused the flight to fail.

MEMBERS OF MUSICLESS CHORAL CLUB STRUTTED THEIR STUFF AT KIWANIS MEETING THURSDAY NOON

With Ross Edwards in charge of the program, Thursday's Kiwanis luncheon was one of the most enjoyable meetings of the club membership to be held here, and while the program was of a comical nature, its serious aspects were well balanced and tended to add much to the entertainment of all members of the club.

Dr. W. E. Cravens, one of the leading members of the club and who has exhibited his willingness to do his bit to make the club meetings interesting on several occasions delivered a well received address on "Preventative Medicine." He told of how America is leading in this feature of scientific preservation of human life and energy, and while his subject was purely technical, he handled it in a way that it was thoroughly understood by his hearers.

"The Eyes of Texas are Upon You" was sung by all the Kiwanians under the leadership of L. C. Ellis, a member of Group No. 3, that arranged and presented the program.

M. M. Dupre made a redhot talk in which he plead for the cooperation of all the Kiwanians in an effort to secure a county nurse for Lubbock county, pointing out the advantages of employing a nurse. He refered to the remarks that had been made by Dr. Cravens, and assured his hearers that the public schools of the city, and those institutions are given more thought and attention of Mr. Dupre than any other feature of community development, could be carried on to the better advantage of the students if a county nurse was employed to make regular examinations of the students and to recommend such medical or surgical treatment as they might need.

Group No. 3 which is composed of H. A. Davidson, M. M. Dupre, Ross Edwards, L. C. Ellis, W. E. Cravens, J. T. Collie and Neal Douglas is the first group to render a musical program without calling upon outside talent. "The Metropolitan Orchestra and Choral Clubb which was advertised to furnish music for this occasion was composed of the members of this group with Ross Edwards, violinist, and H. A. Davidson, pianist, the outstanding musicians or the group Dupree strutted his stuff with a bass violin, but some complaint of the kind of music he made was voiced by members of the club who observed that he didn't use his left hand in pressing the strings. He kept the bow arm sufficiently busy they said, but let the cat out of the box and spilled the beans by failing to observe the inactivity of his left hand. J. T. Collie beat the drum (It wasn't the drum's fault though that his number eleven made the most noise for it had a concrete floor to work on) while L. C. Ellis typified the artists of all times in his expert use of the Mandolin. Dr. Cravens threw a wide loop in rattling the tamborine while Douglass proved that there's no music about a snare drum. The Kiwanians proved themselves to be good fellows and equal to most any kind of punishment as they called upon the music killers for a second spasm, which was given them.

H. A. Davidson, who appeared on the program as Mr. Bullbooker, proved his ability as a collector of bad I O U's when he collected a five cent debt from a member of the club whom he declared had repeatedly refused to shell down the necessary coin to clear the books.

President Wilson complimented Group No. 3 upon the success of the program and declared that a pace had been set for future program committees.

ATTORNEY DENIES CHARGE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT

By United News.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Aug. 29.—Arraignment and trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, independent candidate for vice president can be put over until after general election so far as the department of justice is concerned U. S. District Attorney John L. Slattery declared today.

He vigorously denied charges of representative John M. Nelson that the department of justice had been used as an adjunct of the republican national committee in pressing the Wheeler charges at this time in the campaign.

"I want to deny that any action of mine in connection with this case has been for political purpose" he said.

Arraignment of Senator Wheeler charged with accepting fees for appearing before a government department after he was elected Senator is now scheduled for September 1st.

SOME PROGRESS BEING MADE IN CITY PAVING

Despite the bad weather and muddy streets, some progress has been made by the contractors in charge of laying the storm sewer lines through sections of the city that is to be paved.

The heavy machine used in diging the ditches has been kept busy on the avenues between Broadway and Eleventh streets for the past two days, where paving work will be started within a few days.

It is necessary that the sewer line be put down and all connections made before the paving work is started, and progress in this work prepares for progress in other features of the work, which will be duly appreciated by the people of Lubbock.

The paving project has caused many of the street crossings to be put in bad shape for travel, but this is necessary to the futherance of the paving program and the people of Lubbock are just as patient as they can be under existing conditions.

Sand is being moved to the north end of Main street where the concrete foundation has been laid and brickwork will probably be started there in the near future when that section of the street will be completed.

G. O. P. HEAD DENIES ANY CONNECTION WITH KLAN

By United News.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—So far as William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee is concerned the Ku Klux Klan does not exist as an issue in the presidential campaign. He does not know whether Coolidge intends to take cognizance of the question during the campaign and he will not attempt to advise the republican candidates one way or the other.

This was made plain by Butler when he came here Thursday to take stock of the republican campaign in the east. Tht republican campaign manager is confining his activities to organization and leaving the issues to the candidates.

"I am giving all my attention to running the works" said Butler, in opening a glowing report on republican prospects in the middle west, northwest and far west, which he pieced together from advices given him by republican leaders during a ten day stay in Chicago.

Butler said that he had no special worries over the western invasion of John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, which begins next week. Although the democratic standard bearer has been getting publicity on his speeches, Butler said Coolidge sntiment continues to grow in the west.

A curious situation exists as regards the democratic ticket," he said.

"Davis is weak in the west and Bryan is weak in the east. The Uniting of these phases into a successful campaign is quite an undertaking."

Senator LaFollette's strength even in his home state of Wisconsin, is waning, according to Butler. He said that many voters in Wisconsin who have supported La Follette as senator are inclined to take a different attitude toward his candidacy for president. With a vigorous campaign, Butler said he had been assured that Coolidge would carry Wisconsin.

SANITARIAN ASS'N. MEETS NOV. 4-7 IN HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Aug., 29.—The Texas Association of Sanitarians will hold their second Short School of Instruction for Health workers in Houston November 4 to 7, 1924.

The first School of Instruction for Health workers was held in Austin last year, and was sponsored by the State Board of Health, with the University of Texas and the City of Austin co-operating, and was in response to the many demands from Sanitary officers and Inspectors for information of practical value Unusual interest was manifested by the large attendance at this first meeting, health officials readily realizing, especially for towns and rural communities where a combination of this work with other activities is necessary.

An interesting and instructive program has been arranged for the meeting in Houston. Dr. A. H. Flickwir, City Health Officer of Houston will be Director of the school, and the services of some of the most able and prominent authorities on health and sanitation in the Nation and State have been secured. No charges will be made for the course, and the many inquiries coming to the State Board of Health as to the time and place of meeting indicate that a record attendance may be expected. Not only the larger cities are interested, but the small town officials who have not sufficient funds to employ trained sanitary workers, recognize the benefits to be derived fro mthe training offered to health workers at this Short School of Instruction.

Some of the subjects to be discussed will be Preventive Medicine and Sanitation, Oil field Sanitation, Scoring of Dairies, Inspection of Food Establishments, Adulterated and Contaminated Foods, Stream Pollution Control, Health and Sanitary Legislation, Drainage and Mosquito Borne Diseases.

A few of the prominent men on the program are: D. A. H. Flickwir, City Health Officer, Houston; Joseph F. Meyer, Labor Commissioner, Austin; Dr. W. B. Bizzell, Pres. A. & M.; J. E. Boog-Scott, Chairman Live Stock Sanitary Commission; Dr. Malone Duggan, State Health Officer; W. W. Battle, Food & Drug Division; Dr. W. A. King, City Health Officer, San Antonio; E. W. Steel, Sanitary Engineer, Waco; and R. E. Tarbett, U. S. P. H. S.

BRITISH INTERNATIONAL POLO TEAM IN UNITED STATES.

BRITISH INTERNATIONAL POLO TEAM. INTL

The players and substitutes of the British International Polo Team, which the Prince of Wales will watch in its matches against the American defenders on Long Island, have reached New York for practice. Left to right they are Major E. G. Atkinson, Major T. W. Kirkwood, Major G. P. Hornby, Major F. Harndall, captain of the team; Major Vivian Lockett and Louis Lacey, the latter a British subject living in the Argentine. Lacey is ranked by some experts second only to Devereaux Milburn, of the American team, greatest player in the world.

PRIZED HUMAN POSSESSION OF GREAT BRITAIN GIVEN GREAT OVATION AT N. Y. BY THOUSANDS WHO SWARM SHIP DOCKS

By United News.

NEW YORK, Aug., 29.—Blushing and some times stammering in his efforts to answer or to parry a barrage of questions, H. R. H., the Prince of Wales scarmbed through the first function fo his unofficial visit to the United States when he stepped out of his imperial suite on board the R. M. S. Berengaria, and walked into a nest of snipers male up of newspaper reporters and photographers. About one hundred and fifty reporters swarmed over the prince while a large gentleman in a red uniform with bold tassles and a sabre hung on his, shoved the crowd back including a young woman reporter who had a question she wanted to ask and who finally put it over in spite of the gorgeous bodyguard It was a toss up as to who was the most embarrassed the prince or the reporters.

As interviews go, that the royal arrival probably will go down into history as one of the most inadequate on record. The prince was willing and even eager to answer a few shots and get it over with, but when it came time for the assembled writers to propound their peppery inquiries, they stumbled over the hurdle of royalty and with but few exceptions, none could think of anything more interesting to inquire about than if the trip had been a good one. It had been, and Edward P. admitted as much not less than three times during the three minutes that he submitted to questions. By some freak of coincidence, the very moment when the Berengaria pulled up at quarantine to receive health officers and to put off her discharged pasengers in what was to have been inconspicious landing, about half of the unengaged boats in New York harbor congregated at the very spot.

There may not have been more than a dozen but they swarmed around the big ship while the moodiest gang of flappers that ever sailed the seas hung over the ship rail and poutily wished that they had been born piquant and Irish like Miss Leonore Cahill who next to the Prince himself, was the greatest attraction on the ship because he had chosen her to dance with him on the three long occasions when he sought partners outside his own party.

While tugs and smaller craft, jockeyed for position around the liner, the prince appeared on the bridge, and a little yelow haired girl, still in her "teens" but far enough advanced in them to realize the tremendous importance of young Mr. Windsor shouted "There he is, that's him."

It was and when an ambitious reporters organized a hat swinging group on one side of the tugs to tempt a return salute from the royal passenger, Wales turned on his heel and left the bridge.

Five minutes later the swarm of reporters scrambled up a rope ladder and bolted for a cleared space on deck "C" where it had been arranged for the prince to grant one of the few interviews he has ever given. But for the insistence of a young woman who came loaded with one question and would not be denied, the exchange of thought between the prince and reporters would have been about as interesting as a last year's crop report.

Hatless, sunburned, and swaggering, Wales walked quickly from his suite into the crowd which closed over him like a flood. The gentleman with the sabre shoved a couple of men back and two more surged up to take their places. Around the prince half a dozen questions bleached forth at once and Wales blushed for the first of a series of blushes. No one caught the question or his mumbled answers.

Then for the first time some one asked if he had a good trip.

"Yes, it was a nice trip. I'm here on pleasure, you know, and I hope you pressmen won't bother me any more than you must" Wales said.

"It was a good trip was it?" another queried.

"Yes, is was a very nice trip" the prince admitted again.

"Nice trip, eh?"

This time the prince said merely "yes" and that sufficed it clear that the trip had been a success

"Hey you are shovin' and I can't see" complained a girl who could not be seen at the moment but who wriggled past the upraised arm of Captain Lascelles, who was the gentleman with the sabre, and leaning to within a couple of feet of the prince's ear she shouted the question that she had brought all the way down the bay with her and which really was the most important of the lot

"I want to know" she screamed "whether you would marry an American girl if you fell in love with one?"

That was what everyone wanted to know and any way and for a moment there was quiet while Wales blushed some more, fidgeted with his chin, and looked altogether as embarrassed as any other young man would have looked under the circumstances

"Let's not ask that question" broke in Captain Lascelles.

"I really can't answer that" the prince blurted, and then the humor of it got him and her turned aside to laugh and perhaps for the space of the two seconds he enjoyed the interview.

"But, your royal highness," protested the young woman, "There are ten million girls in the United States who want to know about that."

It was too late. The prince already was telling another questioner that he had a very nice trip over and had come for pleasure and not business. After he had made that quite clear again, he ducked for his cabin.

Wales easily was the best dressed man on the boat unless Pierre Wertheimer, the owner of Epinard shaded him for honor by the slightest of margins.

His gray suit and hat covered a slightly better developed figure than was apparent on his previous visit. He is nearly 30 years old now and he does not seem to have lost the half frightened, naive manner that marked him five years ago.

Wales does not like crowds. He showed that when he was jammed in among the reporters who were trying to think up suitable questions that would be interesting and at the same time proper. He would not stop for even a moment to let photographers snap pictures though nearly fifty of them had spent hours getting on board for that very purpose. As soon as he reached the deck on the "Black Watch" which was free of the hoi polloi, his nervous manner changed to one of cool assurance and he deliberately posed in the open bow of the yacht for a groupe of photographers who were on an adjoining tug thereby won the undying gratitude of men who but a few moments before had been cursing their luck for keeping them off the Berengaria and away from the prince. Wales not only stopped the prince. Wales not only posed, he acted a little. He took off his hat, whipped it above his head a couple of times and then went through the motions of waving a "hello" to New York, the stunt that every arriving celebrity is supposed to perform.

With five airplanes buzzing over head, as many puffing tugs in the water and a fleet of power boats dodge in and out around the Berengaria brought Wales in New York harbor in the most riotous arrival that ever occured here, considering the fact that the plans called for an inconspicious welcome Every girl in the five boroughs of Manhattan who for any reason whatsoever could work her way onto one of the vessels that was privileged to come along side of the Berengaria did so. There were not many of them for the rules in such instances are strict.

On the New Jersey shores field glasses picked out the prince easily as he stood for a few minnutes on the bridge before his ordeal with the reporters.

Louis A. Coolidge, candidate for the Republican nomination for Senator from Massachusetts, is not only a "wet" but seems disposed to make prohibition an issue. He recently concluded a stinging attack on the Anti-Saloon League with the demand that the league keep its dirty hands out of the Republican primary.

There are nine wishing to be President of the United States. The candidates in the field are: Calvin Coolidge, Republican; Jown W. Davis, Democratic; Robert M. LaFollette, Progressive; Robert R. Pointer, People's Progressive; G. O. Nations, American; Frank Johns, Socialist-Labor; Herman P. Faris, National Prohibition; William J. Wallace, Commonwealth; William Z. Foster, Workers' Party of America.

Even dogs are having their day. A year or more ago the Governor of Maine half-masted the State flag in honor of his dead dog, and now—if the reporters have not touched up the tale—the Governor of Pennsylvania has condemned a dog to the penitentiary for life as a murderer.

COOLIDGE AVOIDS REFERENCE TO KLAN IN COMMENDATION OF FRATERNAL ORDERS BEFORE NATIONAL FRATERNAL CONGRESS

By RAYMOND CLAPPER.

WASHINGTON, Aug., 29.—President Coolidge avoided nay reference to the ticklish Ku Klux Klan issue in his speech to the National Fraternal Congress. He dealt exclusively with the theme of fraternalism, his audience being composed of represenatives of most lodges and fraternal orders in the United States.

Not even by inference was there any recognization of the challenge recently thrown out by Davis at Seagirt.

He commended without exception the spirit of fraternal organization After elaborating at length upon the virtues of their thrift, common sense and bortherhood, adding:

"It is because of the fraternal spirit is an attempt to translate these ideals into daily life and action that it is entitled to so much commendation and approval. It deserves rank among the soundest and most practical efforts of the present day to better the life of mankind. It emphasizes brotherhood. It promotes fellowship. It aims to provide benefits which are not charity but result from mutual service and helpfulness. It teaches its members to consider the future as well as the present in order to provide against adversity It promotes self reliance, self-respect, self-control, and independence The rituals of nearly all the fraternal organizations are based on religion.

No true fraternity can rest on other conception. It is for those reasons that they are supporters of the true aims of society, strong reliances of ordered government, according to public law, able advocates of the cause of the righteousness and religion and effection and promoters of peace and good will among the nations of the earth."

It is yet uncertain whether Coolidge will answer the klan challenge of the democratic candidate. He addresses the Holy Society here September 21, and may take occasion to deal with the religious question then. But neither in his speech to the fraternal congress delegates nor in his semi-weekly conference with newspaper correspondents did the president touch upon the subject.

Coolidge dropped easily into his regular white house routine upon his return early Friday from Vermont. After breakfast at the white house the president worked on accumulated mail until time for the morning cabinet meeting. There Secretary of Agriculture Wallace reported on the foot and mouth disease but otherwise little of importance came up.

The president is considering the personnel of his agricultural advisory commission, but no appointments are ready for announcement.

The question of appointing a diplomatic represenative to the Irish Free State has been raised, but must be postponed because congress has not granted either authority or funds for that purpose.

Lifting of the embargo on arms to Cuba, now that revolutionary troubles have subsided, is being considered and is likely to be announced soon.

The sugar report of the United States tariff commission which the president took to Vermont with him was brought back for further consideration. The president discovered, when he started to examine the report at Plymouth, that he could not reach a decision without talking certain points over with various members of the commission.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this method of expressing our appreciation for the kindness shown during the illness and death of our beloved father, N. B. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blackburn.

In a signed article in his magazine La Follette brands the recent advance in farm prices as "gold bricks highly polished by the special interest government for the farmer in exchange for his votes," and declares that the farmers are not the sole or even the principal beneficiaries of the advance. Doubtless the farmers themselves are much more interested in the advance than in any theory as to its origin.

General Dawes is sure that the average man, with his sense of fair man out to catch votes under false pretenses. However, the average man is inclined toward the rather cynical opinion that the practice is widespread and knows not party lines.

IS MURDER A NORMAL FEATURE OF NATIONAL LIFE?

Between criminal jurisprudence in this country and in Great Britain there seems to be a distinct difference. When a subject of George V is murdered, the invariable procedure is to send for a policeman. When one of Mr. Coolidge's taxpayers is violently cut off, the first thought is to call in an alienist.

Mental pathology is a comparatively new science. It is emphatically in the American temperament that when some one has stumbled on a new idea, such idea becomes the key to everything and the remedy for everything. Single-tax or Freud, radio or bobbed hair, co-operative marketing or spinal manipulation can be made to explain the World War, the decline in church attendance, the drug habit, the Ku Klux Klan habit, the motor speeding habit, the Fundamentalist-Modernist habit, and so the murder habit. Soul pathology is one of these new hatchets that must be tried out on every available stick of furniture in the house, and since human life is among the cheapest commodities we boast of in this country, it is quite in the order of things that the alienist hatchet should be running wild in he courtrooms. Where pretty nearly everybody shoots, stabs or strangles pretty nearly everybody else it would really seem that psychiatric effort ought to concentrate on that section of the population which has never been charged with homicide. Let us have a law that the peaceful, law-abiding citizen must be examined every six or seven years by a mental specialist to find out what is the matter with him.

Then appoint a special commission to examine the specialist.

THE APPROACHING SCHOOL DAYS

School has begun in some places. Approximately two-thirds of the young people between the ages of 5 and 20 who live in the open country or the small towns and villages have enrolled in school. Of this host of over 11,000,000 boys and girls, over 3,000 are in one-teacher schools.

The teachers of these 175,000 one-teacher rural schools have received the fewest number of weeks of professional training of any group of teachers. Nearly half of them, no doubt, are teaching with the smallest amount of preparation permitted by the law. Over one-fourth of them are teaching their first term of school. The majority of them are young; three or four years younger than town and village teachers. Moreover, their school terms are one or two months shorter than those of the latter group.

In view of these facts has the State complied with its obligation in public education? Have the rural boys and girls an equality of opportunity in education? Ate they provided facilities for obtaining an education which are in any resepct equal to those generally provided in larger centers of population?

The above inadequate conditions make imperative the attention and assistance of every local community to its rural schools. Parents, as well as school boards and superintendents, should help the teacher by seeing that the necessary books, supplies and equipment are provided as needed by the children. The teacher's full time should be devoted to the important task of directing the children in their development. Her energy should be concentrated on methods of securing the best possible development of each individual child entrusted to her care.

During the next few weeks more fathers and mothers, living in rural communities, are going to see the insides of school houses than have seen them for many months. This is beiause 1924 is presidential election year and many political meetings will be held in school houses.

While you are there; mothers and fathers, look around and see if these school rooms are fit places for your children to spend the best part of five days out of seven. Windows should be one side of the room and they should be from one-fourth to one-fifth of the floor area; they should be capable of being lowered from the top and raised from the bottom and should have adjustable shades. If there is an unjacketed stove in the center of the room an equal distribution of heat for all parts of the room is impossible. This difficulty can be overcome by placing in a corner a jacketed stove with fresh air intake and a foul air outltet. Is there an open water pail and a common dipper? This is condemned by intelligent public opinion and prohibited by law in many States. Are the seats of one size or non-adjustable? If so your little five year old girls sit all day with their feet dangling and your big over-grown fourteen year old boys are stuffed into seats several sizes too small. Inspect the toilets and see whether they are an insult to decency and a menace to health.

It is most fitting that the people should gather in their own buildings—the public school houses—to hear reasons why they should or should not vote for this or that party, candidate or referendum measure. It is a real community civics. Out of it comes a more intelligent electorate. One of its important by-products may be a revived interest in school rooms and their equipment.

The funny column of a daily newspaper tells of a teacher who asked Willie to locate several cities and he answered, "I can't locate 'em but I know how to tune in on every blamed one of 'em."

That story carries a first rate idea for teachers. The school will open soon and millions will come from the free, playful, natural social child life to the different atmosphere and life of the school.

Teachers will try mistakenly to change most of the child's physical and mental habits in a day. The shift from hours of activity to hours of sitting still will cause much illness among them if the teacher is not careful. From learning what is interesting and what appeals to them they will be forced to change to set lessons about things that they do not use daily and that they probably feel will never be any help. Fortunately more and more schools are fitting themselves to make child life in them more free, easy, and natural. The rows of stiff seats and desks are being replaced with study tables and chairs; the textbook is giving way to the library; the deadly silence to the hum of busyness; and restraint and repression to encouragement and expression. The schools are "tuning in" on life.

FREAKISH POLITICS

There are things even more unaccountable in election years than the "strange bedfellows" produced by politics. There is the seeming assumption for example, that a man of the type of John W. Davis ought to be too polite to attack his opponents, yet the same people who appear to be shocked when he does so are frankly pleased when General Dawes makes the fur fly, joyfully applauding his thrusts at the "straddlers, hypocrites and demagogues" in one or the other of the political camps which do not meet his approval. It seems to be forgotten that parties and stump speakers without exception never hesitate to make the best of their opportunities, that nothing less is ever to be expected, and that strict consistency is a jewel apt to be none too popular after a political campaign is in full swing.

One of the most curious exhibitions of the present campaign so far is to be found in the columns of the Lowell, Mass., Courier Citizen, which, although listed as an independent newspaper, actually recommends a boycot of Wisconsin dairy products as a rebuke to Mr. La Follette and incidentally as a boost for New England products. The Courier Citizen mingles politics and business as follows:

"Boycott of Wisconsin dairy products may be commended as an easy and effective way of showing a native of New England's dislike of La Follette and his followers Back to the butter of our parents' day—that made in the solidy conservative old Yankee State of Vermont, which also gave us Calvin Coolidge. Wisconsin, with its socialistic schemes of contesting and State grading and stamping, has somewhat put Velmont off the map as a dairying State these latter years. If every loyal Republican in this section would ask for Vermont butter and New England eggs, and accept no other even on pain of going without, then quite possibly something drastic and convincing might be done to show the Wisconsiners what we think of them. That, at the same time, would be one step toward the much-discussed revival of New England agriculture."

A proposition of this sort will hardly have a wide appeal among political partisans of the more pronounced type, let alone the public generally, for even in the midst of a political campaign there is still left somewhat of the good-natured feeling that the other fellow ought to have his chance. And it is asking rather too much of even the most extreme partisan. Think of the privation involved in a boycott of the products of all the sections whose politics is not quite to our taste! Who will deny himself the maple syrup of Maine, the early peaches of Georgia, the grapefruit of Florida, the raisins of California, in such a cause? One is reminded of the reply of Bismarch when he was urged not to drink French champagne in the commercial interests of the inferior home-made article. The stern "iron chancellor" frankly confessed that his patriotism "stopped at his stomach."

A DEMOCRATIC VICTORY IN SIGHT

The Republicans are scared stiff about the danger of the La Follette vote. They are trying to minimize it, but reports are slipping out from the "inner circle" or holy of holies of the Republican "big chiefs" which reveals very clearly that they are badly scared. In 1912 when Roosevelt split the Republican party in two, Wilson won in a walk, carrying 40 of the 48 states of the union. There was another split back in 1892 when James B. Weaver of Iowa, led a third party, which resulted in electing Grover Cleveland nearly as overwhelmingly as the split of 1912 elected Wilson. There is no reason for a Democrat to bolt his ticket this year. We have not been in power for nearly four years and so we are not responsible for the acts of the Republican party. In addition to their incompetence (Coolidge leading one way and his party in Congress going another way, Coolidge himself being compelled to follow instead of leading) the rotten oil scandal showing the whole party is reeking with corruption and graft, are overwhelming reasons why every Democrat should vote for his party nominees. In addition to our Democratic claim on the voters for our economic and patriotic principles, we have another irresistible claim, the claim resulting from the presenting to the voters of the country, a candidate who is one of the highest in character, intellect and ability ever presented by a convention. John W. Davis is one of the highest type of patriotism and intellect produced in any age. Mr. Coolidge is a nice gentleman as the saying goes but he was selected because he is not a "masterful character" and because the big grafters in the Republican party know they can control him. What did he do when Senator Walsh was exposing corruption and graft in the Republican party? Did Coolidge try to help to purify his party? No, he tried to stop the investigators and to cover up their evil and corrupt doings. There is no such a thing as purifying them; the only thing to do is to sweep the whole Republican party out and send them up the famous "Salt River." Which we will do on November 4.

You can tell when one of those Washington fellows is saying what he thinks. He refuses to let his name be used in connection with it.

JESUS TALKS WITH A SAMARITAN WOMAN

LESSON TEXT—John 4:4-42.

GOLDEN TEXT—"God is a Spirit: and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."—John 4:24.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Talks With a Woman.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus and a Woman of Samaria.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Jesus Won the Samaritans.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Teaching of Jesus Concerning Himself.

I. The Occasion (vv. 4-6).

The growing popularity of Jesus aroused the envious opposition of the Pharisees, which obliged Him to leave Judea and go into Galilee. There was another way to reach Galilee, one used by many Jews to avoid contact with the despised Samaritans the eastern side of the Jordan. He must needs go through Samaria in order to find this poor sinful woman and the needy citizens of Sychar. The great necessity which was upon Him was to seek and to save that which was lost (Luke 19:10). The wearied Jesus waiting at Jacob's well to speak to this poor, lost woman gives us a picture of the divine human Savior in His work of seeking lost humanity.

II. The Testimony of Christ to the Samaritans (vv. 7-41).

1. Discloses His Identity to the Woman of Samaria (vv. 7-26). This is a fine example of personal evangelism.

(1) A Favor Asked (vv. 7-9). He tactfully made a request which appealed to the woman's sympathy. Not only did the thirst of the weary traveler appeal to her but the fact that He being a Jew asked a favor of her showed His sympathy for her. In introducing the conversation He referred to that which was uppermost in her mind, namely water. This was the Teacher's point of contact. He soon passed from earthly water to the water of everlasting life which was in Himself. His aim was to bridge the chasm which separated them.

(2) Jesus Tender Dealing With the Woman (vv. 10-15). He first appealed to her curiosity by declaring, "If thou knewest the gift of God" (v. 10). He knew the deep unrest of the soul of that sinful woman as she went on her way. He knew that if she really knew Him she would believe on Him and be saved from her sins. Therefore, the first thing was to get her attention. He followed this appeal to her curiosity by a promise which directed her attention to her deepest need. The deepest need of the soul Jesus only can satisfy. There is real and lasting satisfaction in Him and His gifts. The woman's reply, "Sir, give me this water, that I thirst not," is the inarticulate cry of every heart.

(3) The Woman Convicted of Her Sins (vv. 15-18). Jesus succeeded in arousing her interest but she did not really understand Him. Before she can understand what the water of life is she must be convicted of her sins. He skillfully gave the command which brought her face to face with the facts of her life which she was unwilling to confess.

(4) The Problem of Worship Submitted to Christ (vv. 2-24). This she did as soon as she perceived Him to be a prophet. This indicates that He was succeeding bringing her mind to spiritual things. Jesus, knowing the inner life of this woman, tells her of the glad time, even then present, when true worshipers could hold intercourse with God anywhere. He showed her that the place of worship is unimportant, but the all-important thing is to have the true conception of God as brought through the Jews. He exposed the folly of a religion of form only and showed that acceptable worship depends upon the condition of her heart.

(5) Discloses His Identity to the Citizens of Sychar (vv. 40, 41). When they heard the testimony of the woman they invited Jesus to come among them. Though they heard her testimony, their belief was due to Christ's own words.

III. The Testimony of the Samaritans (vv. 27-42).

1. The woman of Samaria Witnesses for Chirst (vv. 27-39). As soon as she was converted she became an enthusiastic missionary. This is as it ought to be and always will be. The soul that realizes Jesus cannot be still (John 1:41-45). The result of her testimony was that many believed on Him.

2. The Samaritans Witness for Christ (v. 42). They declared, "We know that this indeed the Christ, the Savior of the World."

SENATORS WIN IN CRUCIAL SERIES

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Stanley Haris, boy manager of the Washington Senators is sitting on top of the world today, with his team in first place having dislodged the Yankees yesterday afternoon in the first of four games in the crucial series that may decide the penant.

Two homers by Babe Ruth failed to win for the Yankees, the Senators pounding in eight tallies in the eight inning rally.

CLASH WITH LAMESA PROMISES REAL ENTERTAINMENT

Contemplating two of the hardest games of the season here Sunday and Monday when the local amatuers under the leadership of skipper Allen, meet Lamesa, the skipper is making an effort to enlist the aid of one or two local products who have been in organized ball during the past season. However, these include only the ones engaged with clubs whose official season has closed, and whose services are no longer required with their "home" clubs.

Among the prospects whom local fans will want to see after a try at higher company are Wayne Gaither, Herb Mueller, but to the present it is not known whether these lads will be back in this part of the country at this time. Mueller, it is known, is at home, but it is not known yet whether he will participate in one or both days

Vernon Brown, former Hubber, for whom efforts were made the first of the week, has not yet been heard from, but it is believed that he will be in the city by Sunday, as some of his personal belongings have reached here by express. It is probable that he is en route here overland from Temple, where he has been for the past season.

The skipper's main troubles at this time for the two games is in the pitching end of the battle, as Terry could not, in justice to himself, go the full route on both days. Just what will be the outcome of this discrepency, the skipper does not know, but in case of emergency he could pull Sanders from the initial corner, or Jackson from leftfield, either of whom, it is figured, could carry his part of the load on the mound. In this connection it might be interesting to know that more than one plea has been made to the skipper here for employment on these days, all of which have been tabooed with the understanding that these games will be fought out strictly among local talent from the opposing cities.

Anyway, Southplains fans are assured two afternoons of entertainment here Sunday and Monday, and doubly so on Monday, for this is the day that the Labor Day celebration will be staged. It was originally planned by the labor crafts of the city that they would stage a game between opposing crafts, but when advised that the other games had already been matched and advertised, the labor crafts willingly withdrew this part of their program, and directed their energies toward a betterment of their already replete stunt program.

suggesting means of protecting agriculture from inequality with other countries."

Dawes derided the "absurd and demagogic claim that recent advances in grain had been engendered by the so-called interests for political purposes.

It should be emphasized" he said "that all the factors contributing to the present level of grain are temporary of their nature and cannot be counted upon in the future. The recent improvement in the agriculture situation must not be taken as evidence that the farmers problem has worked out its own solution."

The rise in prices has given an opportunity, however the vice presidential candidate said for cool consideration of the subject, where the farmers are not harassed by having to face an extreme crisis but are still near enough to the depths to be worried concerning the future.

Given Great Welcome

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 29.—General Charles G. Dawes received an enthusiastic welcome when he returned today to face his "home folks" for the first time since he was nominated by the Republican party for the vice presidency.

Members of the older generation who knew him 35 years ago when he was nothing more than a struggling young lawyer together with the younger generation in an automobile parade from the station where he arrived on the Burlington from Chicago at 10:15 a. m. to the Lindell hotel.

Thousands of others lined the streets and joined in cheers as the general's car, leading the procession, passed through the streets. Forty girls in white flanked the Dawes car which was preceded by the Elks band and followed by a parade of Nebraskans carrying stalks of corn. At the Lindell hotel, where state headquarters have been established, Dawes was called on for a short talk. He expressed his gratification over returning to Lincoln, where, he said, he spent the happiest years of his life, told those listening that he had worked harder on his speeches to be delivered tonight than on his others combined and promised to continue his battle against "demagoguery."

After a short rest at the hotel Dawes was taken to the home of S. H. Burnham, an old friend and president of the First National bank of Lincoln, where he ate lunch and spent the afternoon resting.

General John J. Pershing, who expects to make his home in Lincoln, after retiring from the army next month, was also a guest at the Burnham home.

No formal program of activity has been mapped out for Dawes stay here other than the speech scheduled for tonight. He will spend tomorrow resting and plans to leave for Chicago late in the afternoon.

LOVE AND A FRIEND

"What did you gather of worth and pride?"
Said the angel of the Lord.
"Little by skill," the soul replied
"And nothing by the sword;
I lived the span of my years and died,
And I gave when I could afford."

"You bring no more than you took away"
Said the angel, soft and low,
"Neither fame nor fortune marks your stay
Or toil on the earth below;
And I fancy now you are going to say
It wasn't worth while to go."

"I saw the light in my baby's eye
And I felt her hand in mine;
I treasured her love as the days went by
Though I builded no lasting sign;
Of my time on earth, I should say that I
Had blessings nine times nine.

"And a friend I had who was tried and true
Who shared in my bit of woe;
He wept when, er a grief I knew
And smiled when the hurt would go,
And all that I suffered I'd brave anew
Another such friend to know.

"Oh, it's little I gathered of earthly pride
And it's little I did of worth;
But to sit again at my own fireside
I'd pass through another birth."
"Love and a friend," the saint replied
"Are the two great joys of earth."

The general was obviously tired today and showed little inclination to exert himself more than was absolutely necessary.

YOUTHS LOOT DRINK PARLOR DURING BUSY TIME

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 29.—Just the plain every day routine surrounding an ordinary hold up is becoming pretty much of a bore to Kansas City bandits.

Three youths entered the James Balling's soft drink parlor where twenty employes of the Union Pacific were waiting to cash their checks Friday.

Directly in front of the establishment a traffic officer was doing his stuff. Each time he faced the parlor the bandits ordered "hands down." When he turned his back it was "hands up."

The three youths took $1,200 Balling had in his cash register, expressed hope that the victim enjoyed the calesthenics of his customers and escaped.

ELDER WINS TENNIS SINGLES SECOND SUCCESSIVE YEAR; WACO LADS INVADE PLAINS FOR WIN OF DOUBLES TROPHY

Adding new laurels to his already well filled crown, "Kid" Elder, of Amarillo, came back strong after he had all but dropped the first two sets in the five-set final match against Gensberg, local man here Friday, and took the championship of West Texas in tennis singles. Ehman and Cox, the doubles team from Waco, wrested a hard-fought victory from Floyd and Oswald, of Plainview, for the doubles crown in the final match which closed the second annual open tournament sponsored here by the Lubbock Tennis Association.

This is the second successful year that Elder has swept to victory in singles, but inasmuch as a new cup was offered this year for singles competition, it will be necessary for Elder to come back next year for a win before he can claim the cup as his permanent property. The trophy is a beautiful silver cup, properly engraved which was delivered to Elder late Friday evening before his departure for home.

In this match, the only one in singles brought over from Thursday's play, Elder's score was 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, and as the count indicates he grew stronger as play proceeded. The first set he all but lost, Gensberg taking a 4 to 0 count before he started his comeback thus he won six straight games for the first set. The second Gensberg took 3-6, but beyond this he apparently lost heart. However, he was in no condition for tournament play, as he had not been on a court for some time, and had not yet recuperated from his four rounds of hard play the day before which sent him to the finals.

In the doubles play, all three teams sent in by the local club lost in the opening round. Felty and Williams went down before Bush and Elder, of Amarillo; Terrell and Scott succumbed to the attack of Pembler and McKirahan, of Slaton, and McCrummen and Gensberg lost to Floyd and Oswald, of Plainview.

In the second round Bush and Elder lost to Cox and Ehman in two straight sets 6-2, 6-1. Pembler and McKirahan of Slaton lost to Floyd and Oswald, Plainview also two straight sets, but a match that was somewhat harder contested. The score was 6-3, 6-4.

In the finals, Cox and Ehman, after taking the first set 6-3, went into what appeared to be a hopeless slump, and dropped the next two sets 5-7, 6-8, but rallied on the third set, and took the next two, which were necessary for a victory, in a count of 6-4, 6-3.

LOCAL GRIDSTERS ARE CALLED TO MEET MONDAY

"Mule" Davis, the new Westerner Coach, has called a meeting of all men who are interested in making the Westerner squad for the coming season. This meeting is very important and a full attendance will be greatly appreciated by the coaching staff.

Actual training will begin and the uniform and other paraphernalia will be issued to all there. If there is not enough to go around there will be arrangements made for the others So please don't stay away on account of the lack of uniforms. There is enough for four teams on hand and if more come in for the game there will be provisions made.

Besides the issuance of uniforms there will be a "get acquainted meeting." Those that have not met the coaches will be given a chance to meet them. The first day counts a whole lot towards your chances of becoming a member of the regular squad.

This meeting will be held at the high school at four o'clock Monday afternoon. Be there ready for action. Every boy that has the least idea of football will have a chance to show up. Some that don't have the least idea of the game will have a chance so please be there.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FACE SLATON ON GRIDIRON

SLATON, Aug. 29.—The football team at Slaton is, as yet, an unknown quantity. Several of the best men were graduated and while quite a number of good looking youngsters are starting in their value cannot be ascertained until real training starts.

Slaton will have her mettle tried out as she is barring no teams from her schedule. Already Plainview, Tulia and Snyder are scheduled for early October. These will all be met on the local field.

Among other games that we hope to have is one with Lubbock on Thanksgiving. Then the Slaton lads are determined to invade the "Hub City" and make one game pay up for the defeats suffered the last two turkey days at the hands of Westerners.

Coach Miller is on the ground and says things look good to him. His motto is, "Play to win, but play fair and be a good sport." Watch the Tigers!

JOHNSON HURT BY HOT ONE FROM STICK OF SCHANG

By United News

NEW YORK, Aug., 29.—After holding the Yanks scoreless for seven innings and starting well on the way to his 108th shut-out, Walter Johnson, veteran Washington pitcher was forced to retire in the eighth inning Friday when a drive from Schang's bat painfully injured his pitching hand near the base of the thumb.

Johnston caught Schang's hot one and threw the Yank catcher out at first Trainers worked on the injured hand and Johnston started to pitch again but was removed a moment later.

The veteran had fanned seven batters when he was forced to retire. This brings his strike-out record to 3,196.

LACOSTA WINS OVER ENGLISHMAN IN PRETTY MATCH

By United News

NEW YORK, Aug., 29.—Rene Lacosta, the French school boy, played brilliant and steady tennis in the national singles championship at Forest Hills Friday and surprised the spectators by beating "Babe" Norton, the English star in a lively fashion.

Norton put on a spurt at the end and was able to keep Lacosta from winning his 15th consecutive game but Lacosta only put on more speed and blocked the "Babe" out. Their score was 1-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-1.

Both of the American leaders, Wm. T. Tilden II, and Wm. M. Johnston succeeded in downing their opponents Tilden's score over Jack Wright, Canadian, was 6-4, 8-6, 6-4. Wright's service gave "Big Bill" difficulty at times.

Wm. Johston experienced little trouble in winning from Elmer J. Griffin.

Wallace F. Johnson smashed into the serves of John T. Hennessy and held the lead for the rest of each set, piling up a score of 6-4, 6-5, 6-1.

Vincent Richards defeated Dean Mathey in a similar fashion, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

WALTER JOHNSON AGAIN WINS FROM YANKS ADVANCING SENATORS INTO GOOD LEAD FOR PENNANT; NAT. RACE TIGHTENS

By United News.

Washington's chance for a pennant gained an added sparkle Friday as the Senators again handed the Yanks a beating in the second game of the series which will have an important bearing on the outcome of the American league race.

The score was 5 to 1 and the victory gave Washington a one game and a half lead.

It was old Walter Johnson, the Senators chief mainstay who did the trick.

The veteran was well on his way to achieve his 108th shut-out of his envious career when he was removed from the game in the eighth inning due to a bruised thumb, resulting from a hot liner from Wally Schang's bat. Johnson had held the Yanks scoreless up to that time and after his removel the Yanks scored their lone run on pitcher Marberry.

The Yanks collected eight hits during the game but they were mostly inopportune. Joe Bush yielded six slaps and most of them counted in the scoring column.

While the Yanks and Senators were fighting to determine a pennant winner, the Tigers and Browns carried on another war for third money honors. The Detroit club and the Sislermen fought a double battle which ended in two triumphs for St. Louis. The scores were 3 to 0 and 7 to 6. Dixie Davils scored the shut out for the Browns. The two victories for St. Louis hauled them to within two games from third place Boston and Cleveland ,both in the upper half of the second division emerged victors from their respective games with their less advanced opponents. The Bostonians smote the helpless Athletics 5 to 1, while Cleveland struggled 10 innings with the taili-end White Sox before winning to 4.

The National league race became tighter near the top when the Giants lost the first game of a series with the ambitious Dodgers in Brooklyn by a score of 3 to 1. The Pirates, who are in second place, halted their three game losing streak and edged in closer toward the top. They got a 5 to 4 decision over the Cincinnati Reds by scoring a run in the ninth inning.

This reduced the Giants lead to four games and before the week is over the race in the National League may come closer as in the American.

The Braves handed the Phils a 6 to 4 trouncing in Philadelphia, while the Cards walloped a group of Pitchers for a 12 to 5 win over the withering Cubs in Chicago.

Cultivating the "INITIATIVE"

Shall He Who Serves Best Profit Most?

What is it that develops men? What is it that makes it possible for some to succeed while others fail?

These questions are pertinent—they are important to every individual for upon their solution many will succeed.

The responsibility—the recognition or realization of responsibility is one of nature's great works. Boys never become men until they realize a responsibility. Having realized this they become more thoughtful, plan more carefully, work more enthusiastically, save more systematically. A boy who never has reason to realize a responsibility or know a care, seldom gets anywhere or does anything worth while; while the young man who learns that he must "paddle his own boat"—shape his own destiny or arrive at the height of success thru his own efforts develops initiative. He learns to think and act for himself. His ambition rightly directed leads on to success.

"Boiling" down what we want to drive home: all of us strive for certain rewards, most of which we hope to realize thru the accumulation of material wealth. It is this reward that sobers our judgment, develops our initiative and encourages the proper direction of our energies. Private, individual initiative should be developed. Everything worth while in this world has come about because someone, looking for their reward, expended their money, time, thought and actions to the successful accomplishment of that thing.

It is time right now for the American people to stop and think about these things. We should encourage INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY and INITIATIVE rather than discourage it. The man who offers the best service in any business should have his reward. If it is not forthcoming for what will he have worked?

They refer to the statement that Ferguson made when he stated that if he was denied the right to have his name on the ticket his wife would run and he would be governor regardless of any opposition.

MA MAY ENTER NATIONAL ROW

LEADERS PLAN MAKE HER ONE OF CHIEF SPEAKERS IN CAMPAIGN

By United News.

NEW YORK, Aug., 29.—"Ma" Ferguson is about to enter big-time politics.

The motherly woman who will be the first of her sex to rule a sovereign state of the union—her election is certain for the democrats are as supreme in Texas as the Dutch are in Holland—will be one of the chief speakers in the campaign for John W. Davis, unless present plans of democratic managers miscarry.

A year ago, Mrs. Ferguson, democratic nominee for governor of Texas, was just the wife of 'Farmer Jim' Ferguson, who was impeached, driven from the governors chair and denied of his rights as a cities of Texas. Now she is a picturesque national figure as a result of the walloping she administered to the Ku Klux Klan in the race which she entered after all legal means to have her husbands name placed on the ticket had been exhausted.

The democratic senators intend to capitalize her fame, it was learned Friday.

Mrs. Ferguson, it is understood, has concented to do her part for the national ticket.

"When 'Ma' Ferguson swings into action" as a spell-binder, it is the plan to use her in the anti-klan states of the east. The democrats also wish to present her to the women voters as an example of the women with political aspirations by the democratic party.

"Ma" Ferguson, according to democratic leaders who know her, is not a feminine Demosthenese. In fact she did most of her talking in the campaign through her husband, contrary to all feminine characteristics.

But that makes no difference to the democratic managers. They know that she is a college graduate and if occasion demands, she can make a platform speech and tell the people what Texas did for her and to the klan.

WAR IS DECLARED ON "HARMLESS NUTS" IN LOS ANGELES

By United News.

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Aug., 29.—A war on "harmless nuts" of Los Angeles was declared Friday.

Chief of Police Heath states that there are 1,000 men and women who will be arrested and subjected to insanity tests.

The receipt of Police of thousands of "nut letters" has led to an investigation and a listing of those officials believe should undergo mental scrutiny.

"Every man or woman with a distorted brain is, in some degree dangerous, either to himself or to society" Chief Heath said in issuing orders for the wholesale arrests.

"This is the first step in a scientific drive on the criminal class in Los Angeles."

"The harmless dodo of today can become the ghastly maniac of tomorrow.

Contents of some of the letters received by the police were given out Friday. Here are listed excerpts from some of them:

"White Slavers are pursuing my 82 year old mother, trying to drag her into a life of shame."

"Can you send some one to assistance? She is trying to be a good girl."

"I want to come home to eat tamales and chocolate creams and pork chops. After I've told you what a fine felow I am, can you doubt me?"

"I am being constantly annoyed by a Long Beach Saint. He looks pure and holy, but he is trying to hypnotize me."

"Yes, it is me that caused the hoof and mouth disease. Me, Moses, come to lead the Mexican children out of bondage. Now I will send a drouth. Next I send a frost".

ILLEGAL USE TRUTH SERUM CONTESTED AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 29.—George James Purcell, be it known, is hot on the trial of the "truth serum" and those who force it on people to cause them to disclose secrets.

George James is here from Hammond, to put a stop to a practice advocated he declares, by the state's attorneys, countenanced by the judges of Cook county, and sanctioned by the police. He spent Friday distributing copies of a booklet he wrote which charged that the "truth serum" was being administered to criminals at the county hospital and that as a result they were being corrected on their own statements.

"One reason some doctors are getting into the best lodges without paying initiation fees, is because they have been using this serum on their patients," Purcell declared. "This serum is injected into people and they can't keep any secrets. If the use of this thing becomes general a lot of homes are going to be broken up and I have decided to devote my life to fighting this menace."

Purcell mailed copies of his booklet to State's Attorney Crowe and to the judges of the criminal court. Inquiry at the State's Attorney's office about the "truth serum" and its supposed elicted only smiles.

"It might be a good idea, though," State's Attorney Milton D. Smith commented.

"Tell Mr. Purcell to get us some of that 'stuff.'"

At the county hospital physicians professed to be astonished when asked whether "truth serum" was being administered to criminals there.

MARKETS

RATIFICATION DAWES PLAN BOOSTS TURNOVER

By United News.

BY EDWARD J. CONDONLY

NEW WYORK, Aug. 29.—Domestiic news was relegated to a secondary position as far as the stock market was concerned Friiday. The announcement that the Reichstag had adopted the bills putting into effect the provisions of the London agreement quite eclipsed the usual week end reviews and statistics. The gain of nearly a point and one half in the industrial stock averages and about one-third of a point for the railroad shares testify to the decided opinion registered despite the turn-over of a scant three-quarters of a million shares.

Prior to the news of the Reichstag's vote which arrived here at mid-day trading was very dull and quiite without feature. Fluctuations in the active issues were never very wide and the market for long stretches at a time assumed a characterisite pre-holiday aspect. The timeliness of the Reichstag's action cannot be denied. Prior to this change in the complexion of the European cables the sentiment in financial circles seemed to be that a reaction might be expected which would continue immediately after the holiday. This fear was quickly dispelled and the market closed with a flourish.

The weekly reviews of business were even more optimistic than last week in describing the further gains made in business expansion in a period which is normally inactive in most commercial lines. Cautious buying is the order of the day in many branches but it is pointed out that stocks held are by no means burdensome. Perhaps the most characteristic slam of present conditions is that the increase in confidence, thus far, has been more evident that the gain in actual transactions.

Dun's review this week records the week's failures as 366, a total of 50 more than last week and 57 above the corresponding week last year. This week 57.4 per cent of the failures involved liabilities of $5,000 or more in each case as against 57.9 percent a year ago.

Bradstreets Journal figures the weekly bank clearings for the principal cities of the United States as $7,600,230,000 against $7,992,052,000 last week and $6,977,305,000 in this week last year.

The commodity markets were uninteresting. Cotton rallied on the Berlin dispatches as did wheat, but holders of corn appeared anxious to liquidate their long holdings and quickly stifled the demand which was prompted by the advance in wheat.

Kansas City Livestock.

KANSAS CITY, Aug., 29.—Hogs soared Friday in the face of light receipts. The stock yards were all cleared early at 10 to 15c higher. The cattle market was inactive with prices steady to lower.

Cattle 1,000; calves 200; fairly active; most killing prices strong to 15c higher; hardly enough offered to test value; bulls and calves steady; few fed steers at $8.00 to 9.40; grass cows $3.25 to 4.00; bulk canners $2.25; stockers and feeders scarce, nominally steady.

Hogs 4,000; early trading market mostly 10 to 20c higher; shipper top $9.65; packer top to $9.55; bulk good to choice 180 to 260 lb averages at $9.50 to 9.60; stock pigs slow.

Sheep receipts 1,500; odd lots native lambs steady at $11.75 to 12.50.

MURDERERS ARE GLAD TRIAL IS OVER

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Loeb and Leopold are glad that the trial is over so they can settle down to real jail life. They smilingly welcomed a new bit of news paper reporters today while Judge Caverly studies the fifteen hundred pages of transcript, deliberating their fate, his decision to be made known on September 10th.

The old reporters are on a vacation and the slayers stated to the new men on the job that they would hereafter write their own stories and hand them in for publication. They said they wanted to send a post card to all of the reporters stating that they were having a good time, and wished they were here.

TWIN BROTHERS DIE ALMOST SIMULTANEOUSLY

By United News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug., 29—While the funeral of Prof. Alexis Lange, dean of the school of education at the University of California, was being held here today word was received of the death of his twin brother in Columbia.

Both of the brothers died about the same time yesterday. Theodore Lange principle of a high school in Columbus. Alexis Lange had been dirctor of the school of education here since 1912.

CITY-COUNTY HOSPITAL FOR THIS COUNTY IS AN OUTSTANDING NEED OF CITIZENS SAYS CASTLEBERRY

Dr. G. G. Castleberry, city health officer, has expressed himself favorable toward the construction and equipping of a city-county hospital in Lubbock to be supported jointly by the city and county.

Dr. Castleberry pointed out that the number of cases which need the help of such institution here are growing rapidly as the population of the city and county increases.

Dr. Castleberry declared that such institution in Lubbock would by no means conflict with the institution already located here for treatment of medical and surgical cases, but that on the other hand would relieve them of a vast number of charity cases that are being taken care of here daily. He declared that the managers of the institutions here under no circumstances would refuse to wait upon patients suffering from acute attacks of the many forms of diseases for which operations are made every day, and that these cases would continue to be given the best attention of the surgeon, but that it is the minor cases that would be given attention if a city county hospital should be established here.

Dr. Castleberry pointed out that there are any numbers of people in this city and county who need minor and in some cases major operations to remove causes of bad health, but that the fifty to two hundred and fifty dollars necessary to have this work done stands between them and chances for good health. These cases should not be expected to be cared for by a few men, but the whole county should share in contributing to giving them such medical and surgical attention as could be possible in a hospital supported by the tax payers, he said A city-county hospital could be built at a cost of from twenty to twenty-five thousand dollars and the good to result from its use would be inestimable.

No institution would mean more to the health and happiness of our people than a city-county hospital to meet the requirements of those unable to buy treatment in a private institution.

M'COY GIVEN SECOND POSTPONEMENT OF PLEA

By United News.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—Postponed a second time, Kid McCoy's pleas to indictments charging murder and robbery will not be entered until next Tuesday. The defense motion for the delay was upheld Thursday by Superior Judge Chas. Crail, after an earlier ruling of the court had blocked McCoy's attempts to have the indictments against him waived because of asserted irregularities.

The name of Mrs. Jennie Thomas McCoy's sister who told the county grand jury that her brother had come to her with a confession of killing Mrs. Teresa Mors, his last sweetheart was added to the list of state's witnesses. After this inclusion had been allowed by Judge Crail, the defense indicated that it would make no further efforts to quash the indictments. They will plead "not guilty to all charges next Tuesday, they announced.

At the jail McCoy reiterated his previous declarations of innocence, saying he would clear his name of all suspicion of guilt and soon leave his cell a free man.

Dr. B. E. Fullmer, physician of Mrs. Mary Selby, McCoy's mother, said Thursday after examination that her heart was gradually failing and that he feared she would not live throughout the week.
