

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

A LADY WHO IS pretty particular about her politics called me the other day. She wants to vote for Mr. Eisenhower in the November general election and she also wants to vote for several candidates in the Democratic primary. Would she violate an oath by anything? she wants to know. And we checked into the situation.

When you go to the polls next Saturday to cast your ballot in the Democratic first primary, you will take this pledge: "I am a Democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary."

The pledge says nothing about supporting all of the nominees of the Democratic Party, and there will be no presidential nominees listed on the primary ballot. Thus, there is no legal or moral barrier, as far as the party pledge is concerned, to prevent a person from voting in the Democratic primaries in July and August and voting for the Republican candidate for president in the November general election.

There is, however, a legal issue to be considered by persons planning to vote in the July 26 Democratic Primary and attend a Republican precinct convention that same afternoon. A new state law provides a penalty of from $100 to $500 for anyone convicted of participating in the primary or convention of more than one party on the same day.

COMES A REPORT that Mrs. G. P. Rainbolt of Cisco, who is raising her daughter, Mrs. R. H. Wilkin in Island Creek, Mass. She misses Texas and Cisco and is looking forward to returning home in the fall. She writes Mrs. W. M. Joyner of Cisco that the Atlantic ocean breeze is delightful and the scenery is fine, but there's no place like home and Texas. Absolutely no place.

AND THE O. W. Hamptons, residents of Cisco for many years, have gone. They departed Monday for Whitney where Mr. Hampton will operate a drive-in cafe—similar to the one he has here for years. Mrs. Hampton told us they genuinely appreciate the many friends they've made in Cisco over the years, and they'll be back to visit regularly.

THE CISCO AREA has a pretty good delegation of students in Hardin-Simmons University for the second six week term. Our scouts over there report that Cisco students include H. V. O'Brien, Jr., Mrs. R. W. McCauley, Mrs. Truly Carter, Mrs. Stanley Webb and Mrs. Zan Burroughs. Harvette Black of Putnam, daughter of the H. H. Blacks, is a sophomore in the summer school.

WENT OVER TO THE Possum Kingdom Lake the other day to check up on reports of good fishing. And we can definitely say that the reports were highly exaggerated. In fact, we fished and for some six hours with only a bite. Didn't see anybody who had caught a fish.

The lake looks about as low as Lake Cisco looks. They have, of course, lots of water left, as the lake is a huge one to begin with. And the Brazos river flows through it.

SPEAKING OF WATER, we went over to Breckenridge last evening with a local group to attend a meeting of the area water users' association. And the program consisted of some pictures on the subject of fluorine in the water. Experiments over the country have shown that children will cut tooth decay in children as much as 65 per cent.

It is desirable to have from 1 to 2 parts of fluorine per million in the drinking water. Some city water supplies already have it. Cisco's water has about four.

Members of the First Baptist Church named a pulp committee at the Sunday morning service to recommend a successor to the Rev. Ralph T. Wootton who concluded his ministry here Sunday night.

The committee is composed of Chairman J. Wesley Smith, Truman Taylor, M. F. Underwood, L. F. Keelan and C. S. Karkalits. The five men were elected by the congregation.

Rev. Wootton, who had been pastor of the church for about two years, has accepted a call of the First Baptist Church in Hamilton. Rev. and Mrs. Wootton and son moved to Hamilton Monday afternoon. Cisco friends presented them with numerous farewell gifts.

Shepperd Making Appeal For Votes As State Officer

TYLER, July 22. — John Ben Shepperd, 36-year-old Gregg County attorney seeking a promotion to Texas Attorney General, is winding up his campaign this week in his native East Texas.

Shepperd has visited all sections of the State, but has limited his campaigning to hand-shaking, making new friends and talking with old friends and supporters.

He resigned as Secretary of State to become a candidate for attorney general. He was appointed Secretary of State in 1950 by Gov. Allan Shivers. This is the first time he has sought an elective office.

Shepperd is basing his candidacy for attorney general on his record as Secretary of State, his administrative experience, his legal ability and his knowledge of Texas and the problems and needs of every section of the State.

Although he does not have a formal platform, Shepperd has repeatedly urged and personally practiced economy in government, integrity in public office and law enforcement equality.

HE'S HIGH HAT—During some championship football playoffs in Ludwigshafen, Germany, one vendor adorned himself with a fantastic headpiece that caused much amusement. It was undoubtedly a good business move on his part as the odd hat attracted much attention, and probably increased the seller's business. He wasn't saying just what it was supposed to be, but it certainly was an eye-catcher, if nothing else.

Baptist Meeting Ends With 2 New Attendance Marks

The East Cisco Baptist Church's summer revival, which ended Baptistal services Sunday night, was a success from every standpoint, the Rev. F. C. Bradley, pastor, reported today. Services were conducted by the Rev. A. Brian, well known evangelist and vice-president of Howard Payne College at Brownwood.

The 12-day meeting produced 15 conversions, seven new members by letter, and one decision for special service.

Rev. Bradley reported that two attendance records were broken on Sunday, the final day. The church had 372 persons in Sunday School to top by 40 the old record. A total of 218 attended the Training Union as compared with 163, the old record.

Negro Boy Killed When Hit By Car On Area Highway

15-year-old Breckenridge negro boy was dead today as the result of an accident at 1:10 a. m. Tuesday on Highway 6 near the road "Y" some 10 miles north of Cisco. The boy was Oliver Ingram.

Sheriff Frank Tucker reported that the young Ingram and a companion, Jack Johnson, were en route between Eastland and Breckenridge on foot. They decided to sleep for a while on the highway. One of the boys was stretched out on each side of the road.

William H. Knight of Snyder, who was en route to Gorman where his wife is a hospital patient, hit Ingram with his car. He told officers that he did not see the boy in time to stop. Knight called police in Eastland and reported the mishap.

Justice of the Peace Henry H. Curtis of Cisco was called to the scene to conduct an inquest. His official verdict had not been rendered at noon today. The boy wore no shirt and had two pennies and a comb in his pockets.

The other boy went back to Breckenridge where he was questioned by officers. He told them they had gone to sleep on the highway and he was awakened when the car hit his companion.

Judge Stout Is Seeking Supreme Court Place One

District Judge A. R. Stout of Waxahachie, one of four candidates for Associate Justice, Place No. 1, of the Supreme Court of Texas, in a formal announcement of his candidacy, lays stress upon his thirty years of preparation for this high office.

Judge Stout's announcement follows:

"In asking the citizens of Texas to vote for me for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, I feel that the judiciary of our country, if our government is to long endure, cannot be awarded on any basis other than that of merit and qualifications; and it is upon this basis and in all humility that I earnestly seek this high office.

"Since graduation from The Law School of The University of Texas in 1923, the law has been my entire career — as a practitioner, as a judge and, constantly, as a student. I have served as City Attorney of Ennis, as County Judge of Ellis County, as a member of the Legislature, as an Assistant Attorney General and am now in my 15th year as District Judge of Ellis County.

"As a lawyer, I have appeared in a large number of state District Courts; every Federal District Court in Texas, two Circuit Courts; all Texas Appellate Courts, excepting two Courts of Civil Appeals; and the Supreme Court of the United States.

"As a District Judge, I have held court by assignment in some 25 counties other than my own. In the past 3 years, only one case tried before me has been reversed.

"I am not now, nor will I ever become, obligated to any person or group seeking special favors under the law. I owe allegiance only to the Law, to the Truth and to Justice. These shall ever be my guiding principles.

"I am married and with my wife and son make my home in Waxahachie. I am 52 years of age and have spent almost 30 years preparing myself for this time when I could ask the voters of Texas for promotion to the Supreme Court of Texas solely upon the basis of my qualifications and fitness for this office."

"VANQUISHED AMERICANS"

Time was when $10,000 a year was a lot of money. Only the relative few earned or had a reasonable hope of earning as much. Even nowadays, with record taxes and a four-bit dollar, it is far more than most families ever see, the average income being in the neighborhood of $3,000.

Yet there is a $10,000-a-year class of people in this country who simply can't make both ends meet, economize as they will. That, at least, is the theme of a fascinating article in the July issue of Harper's magazine, called "Going Broke on $10,000 a Year," which is signed with the pseudonym Jay Taylor. This class consists of junior business executives who must put up a front, appear to live very well, have good addresses, entertain as a part of their jobs, and donate generously to charities and other worthy causes. Mr. Taylor writes early in his article: "I'm a symbol—and a simpleton. I'm a symbol of the group from which business leaders used to be drawn a group now being liquidated." Mr. Taylor goes into meticulous detail as to his finances, and it's quite a story. Last year, he wrote, he earned $10,400 and spent $10,456. And here, in capsule form, is what happened to his money. To get the full flavor of the account, of course, the whole article should be read.

First of all he actually got not $10,400 but $8,978, taxes having accounted for the difference. His first outgo was for rent—$1,656. This, he says, is about as little as he could pay without moving to so cheap a neighborhood that he would lose contact with his associates and endanger future promotions.

Several hundred dollars went out for unavoidable household expenses such as utilities, and his wife got $2,049, or some $40 a week, to buy the food and other supplies needed by a family of four. Furniture swallowed $274, and insurance $471. Mr. Taylor has no car and says he can't possibly afford one, but commutation tickets cost him $180 and are scheduled to go up in price.

Doctors and dentists accounted for $264, and the children's expenses, such as their clothes and school books and a summer camp, dug in to the tune of $241. He and his wife spent only $173 on clothing for themselves. Gifts and holiday expenses totaled around $500 all told, and there was a miscellaneous item of $364, which included such odds and ends as church contributions, wood, bushes and bulbs for the garden.

So it goes, in Mr. Taylor's summation—everything is accounted for down to the penny, save $133 for which he has no records. None of the items of expenditure seem at all high for a man in his position—many of them seem almost amazingly low.

Mr. Taylor's conclusion is typical of the tone of his article: "So I speak as one small symbol of a class. I look at the broken down occasional chair which should have been replaced a year ago. I postpone my trip to the dentist for another six months in hopes that the pediatrician's bill can be paid in the interval. And realize that I belong to a new class of forgotten men in whom no labor leaders, politicians, farmers, corporation presidents, or commencement speakers take any vested interest—the $10,000-a-year man, Vanquished Americans."

How to Make Efficient Grass-Legume Mixture

Experience of farmers the country over and trials at agricultural experiment stations, have all shown greater yields and continued productivity of forage and greater livestock gains for grass-legume combinations as compared with either a grass or a legume sown alone. Increases of from 40 to 60 per cent in forage and gains in live weight of animals are not uncommon.

Mixtures should vary according to the purpose intended and the prevailing soil and climatic conditions. Under most conditions simple mixtures of 2 to 4 species are preferable but sometimes more complex mixtures containing 5 or more species are desirable.

The advantages of a mixture can best be assured by giving careful study to its composition. Some considerations which are under human control, are the following:

1. If there are great variations in the moisture available in different parts of the field because of lay of the land or changing seasons, choose a grass and a legume that like wet conditions and another of each that thrives with less water. This will help maintain the desired grass-legume relationship over the whole field.

2. If high yields of roughage are desired to be fed with grains or other concentrates, the highest yielding species that are sufficiently palatable and nutritious, to be consumed and utilized by the particular livestock for which intended may be chosen. If the ratios are to be exclusively forage for use by producing or growing animals, only species with the highest nutritive value, particularly high in protein should be chosen.

3. If the weed problem or soil erosion is serious, have at least one rather aggressive species in the mixture that will help keep the weeds in check and hold the soil best on slopes. Smooth brome, intermediate wheatgrass, and tall fescue are all useful.

4. On spalls and in localities where alternate freezing and thawing

* All the species used should be those adapted to your particular locality. The proportions of each species in a mixture will vary with field conditions and use of forage.

causes heaving, a good proportion of grass should be maintained during the life of the stand.

5. Because of the tendency to blot where lush growth of legumes is available, it is less hazardous to have a substantial proportion of grasses in the mixture as well as to take other precautions.

6. Where honey production is desired, include Ladino and alsike clovers which tend to furnish a larger and longer honey flow.

These and many other things should be considered in making up your grass-legume pasture or hay mixtures. Consult your local seed dealer and your county agent who are working together in solving this problem for your locality.

Shivers Is Given Endorsement As 'Deserving Second Term In Office'

AUSTIN, July 22.—A statement expressing the belief that Allan Shivers "is deserving of a second term as Governor," has gone out to the 1,270 county judges and commissioners of Texas over the signatures of a group of their prominent associates.

The signers, who identify themselves as having long been interested in farm-to-market road construction in Texas, include Otha F. Dent, county judge of Lamb County and past president of the Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas; W. C. Grigsby, Montague County commissioner; Howard Hartzog, county judge of Calhoun County; R. A. Taylor, Jr., county judge of Zavala County, and H. Cecil Baker, county judge of Fort Bend county.

These men have expressed "full confidence in his (Shivers) integrity, and in his desire to have the farm-to-market road program that is most acceptable to a majority of Texas counties."

Governor Shivers was one of the original sponsors of the farm-to-market road program as a member of the Texas senate and as lieutenant governor. More than 7,000 miles of rural roads have been built during the past two years of Shivers' administration, a record for that period in Texas and the nation. The Governor wants the program carried forward until there is a paved road for every school bus route in Texas.

The signers point out further that the purpose of their letter is "not to put any theory or plan for building and finishing farm-to-market roads in Texas, for admittedly we do not agree 100 per cent among ourselves" . . . "we write this letter because we are agreed upon three things:

- "1. We are all interested in the same objective — more and better farm-to-market roads for Texas.
- "2. We are never going to agree entirely upon methods and means of completing this program, and it behooves all of us to work patiently and faithfully, with a give-and-take attitude and with mutual understanding of our respective positions.
- "3. Allan Shivers, as Governor, has proved himself to be a ment, we have no animosity toward Governor Shivers, and feel that he is deserving of a second term."

. . . if you are interested in land titles or the property you own no wor may hereafter acquire. Buying good land titles is just about as important as buying good food or good medicine, yet some people have spent their life-time earnings for a farm or home in town with little or no thought about the title. Better be safe than sorry — depend on an abstract for guidance when buying any kind of real estate.

Reply To An Open Letter

Dear Mr. Conner:

In your open letter published in the Sunday morning paper in Eastland County, wherein you attempted to reply to what you term a "vicious, scoundous and false" attack and an effort to mislead the voters, you state:

"I, as attorney at law, was employed to examine abstracts of title — I had no authority whatsoever over tax monies collected, or the prosecution of tax suits—"

Do you mean by this statement that you did NOT adjust, or help to adjust, any tax suit? That you had nothing to do with the prosecution of any such tax suit? That you never collected tax monies in such a suit and deposited to Horace Walker's credit in the Eastland National Bank? That you had no part in any tax sale? That you were without any authority to do any of these things in the name of Horace Walker?

If you were employed only to examine abstracts, why was it necessary for you to maintain public office in the Eastland County Courthouse, without the aid of a law library in that office, keeping it open daily to the public during Mr. Walker's prolonged absences?

The voters may wonder why your abstract work was so heavy, when ordinarily there are no abstracts of title involved in tax sales. Please name one single abstract of title that you examined in connection with Walker's tax prosecutions.

You also indicate that you were acting for a client when you took title to scores of pieces of property in Limestone County. If so, why didn't you say so and name your client? Why was your client unable to take title in his own name? Have you helped this client, or others, in the purchase of tax titles you helped to foreclose upon? Are you associated with him in the ownership of such property in Eastland County?

We believe that the voters of Eastland County are entitled to know the truth about these questions when you ask them to elect you District Judge. You are not being persecuted, Mr. Conner, as much as you may wish to appear so. The Walker matter is a serious issue. The taxpayers of this county are still holding the bag for over $100,000.00, according to the Auditor's Report.

It is difficult to see how any one could be associated with Mr. Walker as his attorney, for a period of several years, and still know nothing of his affairs.

We ask you for more facts and less Scripture, Mr. Conner.

Sincerely your,
EASTLAND COUNTY VOTERS

In an enlightened age where the bogie-man and the wicked witch of fairy tales have been eliminated from a child's literary diet, the specter of an invisible giant has risen to hover menacingly over family circles. Don't let the fear of polio be the atomic bomb mushrooming in your home.

symptoms to those of polio, many afflictions which are far less fearful. Yet fear and hysteria can work on human nerves in such devious ways that a minor affliction, triggered by hysteria, can set off chain reactions in the nervous system that can lead to near duplication of polio symptoms. Nerves which have been tensed with fear over a long period can become only tenser and more susceptible to damage when polio does actually strike.

The rules of cleanliness which have been widely publicized, the sanitation regulations and the avoidance of strangers during a polio epidemic are only sensible precautions to observe without fear and without anxiety. The constant financial support of agencies which are set up to study all phases of polio in an attempt to understand and harness it and of agencies which treat those who have been crippled in order to restore all possible muscular function are the positive outlets which will do more to overcome the disease than any amount of fear.
