Couple Is Mysteriously Slain In Fierce Struggle

Young Woman's Lips Are Sealed; Both Bodies Battered

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 20. — An estranged father and husband was found slain at Garden City, Long Island today beside his fatally wounded young woman companion, whose lips were sealed with adhesive tape. The man was Edward B. Brinker, jr., 35, a sign painter. On an envelope attached to a stick a few inches from his head were written his name and address.

Miss Rose J. Welk, 24, a stenographer, was found beside him, unconscious from a blow which had torn her skull open. Miss Welk died soon after being taken to a Nassau hospital.

Beaten And Stabbed

Brinker had been beaten and stabbed.

The assailants had struck the pair down in an open field, only a few feet from a lane used by automobiles. The ground was torn up, indicating a fierce struggle. The envelope containing Brinker's name and address was the only apparent clue.

Brinker's convertible coupe was found abandoned in Bayside. There were bloodstains on the seat.

Brief Case Found

Brinker's brief case and a strip of steel resembling a leaf from an automobile spring, were found by a milkman two miles from the scene of the killings.

Police found Brinker's wife, Ruth, and their seven-year-old daughter, Dorothy, in their Brooklyn home. Mrs. Brinker disclosed she had been separated from Brinker since 1926. She had called him into family court, she related, and forced him to pay $10 a week for support of their child. She had not seen him for three months, she said, but at that time he told her, "a certain girl fired two shots at me."

Disclaims Knowledge

Further than that, Brooklyn police said, Mrs. Brinker could give little information. She disclaimed

"This Country Is Dry And We'll Lick A Wet Candidate," Declare Pro Leaders Of Feminine World

Mystery Flight Remains Secret

(By The Associated Press)

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 20.— Her identity still a secret, the woman who came here from Kansas City supposedly to see Col. Charles A. Lindbergh left today. Her mission likewise remained a mystery as she took off from Camden, N. J., in the large red monoplane in which she landed at Princeton yesterday.

"I cannot tell why I came," she said. "I am not a wealthy woman but I hired this plane because I had a very important errand here. That is all I can say."

Andrew Mellon Gets Criticism For Use Of London Wine

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 20.— Feminine prohibitionists representing the women's national committee for law enforcement today told President Hoover they would not accept "a dry candidate on a wet platform." They said they "could not trust the sincerity" of such a man.

The statement was included in resolutions which Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, president of the organization, said she read to the chief executive during her audience.

Mellon Is Rapped

Another, Mrs. Peabody said, was aimed at Ambassador Mellon and asked that ambassadors be instructed that their positions involved "respect for our constitutional law and their observance and defense of that law while they are in office." It was based upon a press dispatch that the ambassador had permitted the use of wine in the London embassy.

Meantime, a senate judiciary subcommittee was informed by one of nearly a score of women drys who vigorously opposed any changes in the liquor laws that if a wet presidential candidate is named by either party he will receive a decisive "licking."

Country Is Dry

"This country is dry," said Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, president of the national woman's Democratic law enforcement league.

"Make no mistake about that. And if there is any doubt about it, let one of the political parties again name a wet candidate for president in 1932; and the constitutional men and women of this country will give them such a licking as they never dreamed of and 1928 won't be a circumstance."

One of the speakers, Miss Vida Milholland, of New York, member

Total Of 139 Local Farmers Seeking Loans

About $20,000 Being Applied To Crops In This Section; April 30 Is Final Date For Farmers To Qualify

A total of 139 Lubbock county farmers have made applications for about $20,000 of federal crop production loans, P. F. Murray, district representative, said Wednesday night.

Ninety-one of the borrowers have received the first check, and other checks will be coming in daily, he said. The Dallas office is making payments in two equal installments.

Murray urged that farmers wishing to take advantage of the loan offer make their applications quickly.

"April 30 is final day for a farmer to qualify for a loan," he explained. "The applications will be considered and all checks will be paid, it is planned, before June 1.

First Payment Made

"I have just completed my territory and I find that about 75 per cent of all completed loans have had the first payment made. Merchants of the different counties report to me that farmers are buying necessary supplies on which to make the 1932 crop. Total loans in Texas to last Friday exceeded $2,231,000.

"Nothing definite has been received regarding an extension of time to qualify for a loan; and no new ruling has been passed to date on a waiver in connection with 1931 loans. Owen W. Sherrill, regional director, of Dallas, has announced that the cotton acreage reduction clause has been carried out in accordance with the regulations on the 30,000 applications received to date. In some instances, he said, the clause has worked a hardship on borrowers, but we have on hand more than 15 months supply of cotton, and a new crop begins moving in about four months."

Former Cochran Sheriff Facing Indictments For Misapplication Of Funds

J. C. Montgomery Is Charged On Three Counts By Jury

J. C. MONTGOMERY, former Cochran county sheriff and tax collector, who this week was named in three indictments charging misapplication of public funds, left Lubbock late Wednesday for Morton where his attorneys, of Lubbock, said he intended to report to members of Sheriff Tom Standefer's staff.

Montgomery had three completed bonds, each for $1,000, in his pocket when he left Lubbock. The former sheriff and collector was indicted by a 72nd district court jury at Morton Monday in connection with the handling of moneys collected for the Morton, Lehman and Bledsoe school districts. Total amount involved exceeds $3,450.

Civil Suit Filed

A civil suit was filed in 72nd court here Saturday against Montgomery and his bonding company, the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty company, by the Bledsoe Independent school district of Cochran county. The suit asked $1,500 damages and judgment for amount alleged due.

J. E. Vickers of Vickers and Campbell, Montgomery's counsel, charged the indictments were a result of "taking civil action into a grand jury."

Served Four Years

"Mr. Montgomery claims he was to have received two per cent for collecting current taxes and five per cent for delinquent taxes," said Vickers. "The districts claim he was to have received only one per cent."

The defendant, about 50, served Cochran county four years as sheriff and tax collector, said Dis-

Blaze Of Fury Grips Witness At Accusation

Mrs. Massie Grabs Document From Hand Of Prosecutor During Slaying Trial And Tears It Into Tiny Pieces

Tells Of Attack

"They Are Trying To Say That I Don't Love You; Everybody Knows I Love You!" Is Cry Of Stricken Witness

BY WILLIAM H. EWING,
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

HONOLULU, April 20. — A document presumably containing evidence of a rift between her and her husband was destroyed by Mrs. Thalia Massie in a dramatic flash of anger on the witness stand today while she was testifying in behalf of the young naval officer and three others accused of lynching Joseph Kahahawai.

Between showers of tears that brought wet eyes to many in the court-room, Mrs. Massie just had told of the attack upon her by five men, one of whom allegedly was Kahahawai, and how it had left its mark upon Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie.

Obtains Admission

As Clarence Darrow, veteran defense attorney, motioned Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley to take up the cross questioning, Kelley swiftly obtained an admission that Mrs. Massie had taken a phychopathic examination at the University of Hawaii last summer.

Then he handed Mrs. Massie a paper purporting to be her answers to the examination questions, in which the alleged rift was mentioned.

Mrs. Massie stiffened and her eyes blazed.

Refuses To Answer

"This is confidential paper between a physician and his patient. Where did you get it?" she demanded.

"I am asking questions, not answering them," Kelley retorted.

"I refuse to say whether I wrote it!" Mrs. Massie stormed. She ripped the paper to pieces as a wave of applause swept the audience.

Judge Charles S. Davis' voice likewise shook with anger and he lectured the audience for the demonstration. The attractive blonde witness swept down off the stand and her husband met her and put his arms around her.

Prosecutor Angry

Anger seized the prosecutor. As Mrs. Massie left the chair Kelley arose and said:

"Thank you Mrs. Massie. At last you've shown yourself in your true colors."

The young woman sat down beside her mother, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, co-defendant with Massie, Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord in the lynching case. Again she burst into tears such as frequently interrupted the story she had told in support of the defense contention—that Massie held the gun that killed Kahahawai after the latter admitted taking part in the attack.

Sobs To Husband

With the protecting arm of her husband around her Mrs. Massie sobbed out:

"They are trying to say I don't

Pair Believed To Have Taken Part In Hobbs Gun Battle Are Believed In Hiding In Curry County Area

(By The Associated Press)

CLOVIS, N. M., April 20. — The search for two of the four men who engaged in a gun duel with officers at Hobbs Monday centered about Curry county today with a report they had been seen here Tuesday afternoon.

The two, believed to be Jack Harris and a man known only as "Blackie," Sheriff R. M. Witherspoon said, are known to have stopped here Tuesday after they had been brought from Hobbs by an unknown man. The sheriff said the men were given shelter by a Clovis man at his home here, but although the man admits he sheltered the pair he does not know where they went.

A report the driver of the car that brought them here from Hobbs had been arrested was denied by Sheriff John C. Peck at Roswell today with the statement he had made no arrests in connection with the case.

Muskogee Woman Abducted, Robbed Of $1,813 By Bandits

Three Robbers Seize Victim After She Had Drawn Funds From Postoffice; Is Left Bound And Gagged

(By The Associated Press)

MUSKOGEE, Okla., April 20. — Three unidentified robbers abducted Mrs. C. B. Taggart, of Muskogee, today after she had withdrawn $1,813 in postal savings from the postoffice here, took her into the country and escaped with the cash. The woman was left bound and gagged in her automobile and was found two hours and a half later uninjured by four farmers passing along the Coweta road.

The robbers, one of them about 25 years old and the others older, were not known to Mrs. Taggart, although one of them said he knew her. One of the men was masked.

Yesterday, Mrs. Taggart informed the postal savings department she would withdraw the money, which she needed for use in settling the estate of a brother in Missouri.

As she stepped into her automobile with the money, a stranger was in the back seat. He ordered her to drive out of town.

Close behind her car, two other men followed in another automobile. When the cars reached an isolated spot on the Coweta highway, Mrs. Taggart was bound, hands and feet and gagged. The robbers escaped with the cash, in a small brown coupe.

"Missing Baronet" Bobs Up After 18 Years To Arrange Plans Of Wedding

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 20.—Sir Francis Laurence John Barrow, Britain's "missing baronet" who hadn't been heard from by friends or relatives for eighteen years, bobbed up today and averred he never had been missing.

He reappeared at the registry office to arrange the necessary papers for his impending marriage to Edith Townsend, 52, of London. The baronet is 69.

Although he denied he ever had been missing, the British radio system broadcast an appeal that he come home in January last year, when his eldest son and heir to his title was critically ill.

"I have been living in England all the time," said the baronet, "I renounced my title twenty years ago."

He is the fourth of the Barrow line, a descendant of Sir John Barrow, for many years secretary of the admiralty, who founded the Royal Geographical society.

Ninety-Six Years Ago Today A Band Of Texas Heroes Fought For Liberty

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Apr. 20.—Ninety-six years ago tomorrow a boy army fell furiously upon a surprised Mexican force, secured Texas as a republic and changed the map of the western world.

It was the battle of San Jacinto, where the Texans, maddened by the slaughter of their comrades at Goliad and at the Alamo, swooped down upon the command of General Santa Anna, killing 600 and capturing 700, while their own casualties were 21, dead and wounded.

The Texans, as they charged over the hill 200 yards to the Mexicans combined with their shouts of "Remember the Alamo; Remember Goliad!" the gentle lyric of a then popular song, which they sang as they fought:

"Will You Come To My Bower?"

Tomorrow Texans go again to the scene of the battle, 20 miles from here, to hear recounted again the proud traditions of a people.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

GALVESTON—The thing that is near at hand and common rarely ever has the charms that distance lends. This Gulf down here and the sandy beach are illustrations. With the arrival of warm weather, many people are visiting the beach in search of a tan and to swim. The majority of these people are from out of town, however. Galvestonians go out less frequently, I am told.

One young woman who has lived in Galveston for many years tells me she has only one friend who cares anything about the beach and will go out there with her. They go together and alone in the summer because no one else will agree to accompany them. Her husband, even, who has lived here for many years, does not care for swimming or sunning.

Fishing probably remains more popular with the men, although there are numbers who will not go fishing if they can avoid it. One man told me that the first year he was in Galveston he fished every opportunity that he had and since then he hasn't cared for it at all.

People here often lose their taste for these things through playing the role of host, I find, also. During the summer many Galvestonians have company every day. As soon as one group of relatives or friends departs another comes in and the home town people are kept busy for months taking their guests fishing, bathing and on sight seeing trips.

Many people come in for weekends because of the beach here and visit with those they know in Galveston. Several women have told me that their houses are full of company all summer every year and that often these people are mere acquaintances. One woman was frankly renting her spare bedroom in order that she would have no place for this company.

She was not lacking in hospitality, either. She had grown up in a place not far from the coast. Her family had always had plenty and entertained lavishly. After her marriage this entertaining had continued on the same scale and even after she came to Galveston she had lots of company and entertained well. Last year, however, her husband lost his job and now they feel that they cannot afford so much company. Many of her friends and acquaintances continue to come here for week-ends and summer vacations and stay at her house. Since she is embarrassed over not being able to entertain so well and take care of so much company she is simply renting her spare room for the summer months.

This is a thing that happens in any resort. It is one of the things that make people sigh when a visitor gushes about how nice it must be to live in a place like this all the year. I have an idea that a lot of hosts have uttered a few mental "yeahs" over these comments.

SHORT COURSES

AMONG the things for which I always have time are these books entitled "things worth knowing" a supplement to a dictionary that I am using here has such a section. In starting this column I chanced to turn to this section in looking for a word— I can't remember what the word was now—and spent some thirty minutes reading tables about national parks, the language of the flowers; weather computations; the value of foreign coins; facts about fertility, population and contents of the world, as well as depths of the oceans and heights of mountains; the metric system of weights and measures; the language of gems; wedding anniversaries and birthdays. This last information confirms my belief in the rest for I read there that "Thursday's child must work hard for a living" and I am a Thursday's child.

THE WILD FLOWERS

WHERE is a general exodus of Galveston people every Sunday during this time of year. People go to Brenham, San Antonio and other points in the state to see the bluebonnet fields. Many of these trips are for the week-end and others simply for Sunday.

These treks have given rise to editorials and spirited campaigning by many societies for the preservation of Texas' wild flowers. So many visitors pull the flowers by the roots, devastating the fields and leaving no flowers to seed the acres for another year. Their plea is for those who are enjoying the blossoms today to leave flowers for those who will follow in other years—a thing for all of us to remember.

Spur Experiment Station Now Planning For A Feeders Day

Feeding Test Conducted During 182-Day Period Closes Wednesday; Brief Program Being Planned

SPUR, April 20. (Special.)—The 182 day feeding test which R. E. Dickson, superintendent of the state experiment station here has been conducting, closed today and two days later Mr. Dickson will hold an all-West Texas feeders day at the station.

Mr. Dickson has invited farmers and cattle feeders from all parts of West Texas to attend the field day when reports on the work accomplished will be made public. Figures on costs and results obtained will be prepared, as the records of the ten tests under way have been kept up to date.

1,000 Visit Station

On April 9 Mr. Dickson was host to Dickens county feeders and over 1,000 persons that week visited the station. On the regular day, when a barbecue was held, 696 persons from 21 communities visited the station. The Spur Chamber of Commerce assisted in the entertainment of the visitors.

In speaking of the visits Mr. Dickson said the farmers and feeders are coming here to get first hand information on how ten pens of yearling steers were converting the nine different kinds of West Texas feeds into beef and the results obtained where cattle were grinding their own bundle feed."

Largest In Section

"The tests conducted at Spur during the past winter, and which comes to a close on April 22, are the largest and probably the most comprehensive as to utilization of home grown feeds that have ever been conducted in West Texas," Dickson addd.

"First hand information as to the handling of these cattle, together with the swapping of feeding experiences should make the day a most valuable one to those interested in farm feeding."

The 100 yearlings were divided into ten pens to ten each, when the experiment started last October. Comparisons of the feeds in the tests are: chopped and unchopped milo, kafir, and feterita bundles; chopped milo, kafir, fereita, hegari and red top cane bundles; cotton seed and cottonseed meal as a protein and wheat hay vs. sorghums as roughage.

Program Planned

A short, speaking program is to be held. Livestock specialists of Texas A. and M., and the extension service as well as county agents are to be here, with probably one or two federal department of agriculture speakers.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock experiment station and one or two other experiment station men are expected to attend. Among the county agents who have indicated they will be here are: D. F. Eaton, Lubbock; D. A. Adam, Lamb; W. T. Magee, Hockley; R. F. McFatridge, Bailey; W. W. Evans, Hale; C. B. Martin, Swisher and P. C. Bennett, Potter.

J. D. Tinsley, Santa Fe agricultural agent and M. B. Oates, Fort Worth and Denvre agent are also expected to attend. It is thought also that Fred Hales and A. L. Smith, of the extension service will be present.

Evasion Of Tax Law Increasing

AUSTIN, April 20. (AP)—Increased evasion of the cigaret tax stamp law is causing the state comptroller's department serious concern, J. W. McReynolds, chief tax supervisor, said today.

McReynolds reported a decrease in the sale of cigaret tax stamps by the state treasurer, attributing a large portion of the decline to the practice of reattaching the stamps to new packages after they had once been used. The practice rapidly is becoming a racket, McReynolds said, reporting that in one instance a tax inspector had found several hundred stamps in a cigar case that had been used once.

An opinion had been rendered by Attorney General James V. Allred that use of the cigaret tax stamp more than one time was a violation of the law and carried a penalty of from two to twenty years for conviction.

McReynolds reported a reluctance of prosecuting officials to act because they were not certain of the terms of the cigaret tax act.

Some cigaret dealers were said by McReynolds to be buying the stamps from boys for one cent each, tire boys picking them up on the streets or removing them from discarded packages. The stamps are easily removed from cigarets wrapped in cellophane.

Instances where counterfeit stamps have been used also have been brought to the attention of tax inspectors, McReynolds said.

It takes eight gallons of special oil to give each of the elephants at the London Zoo its annual "beauty bath."

How To Dress For Ping Pong

Clothes make the man, say the advertisements, and they certainly seem to have a lot to do with making ping pong players, for here are the costumes worn by the girls who battled their way to the semi-finals in the Women's Western Ping Pong Championship Tourney at Chicago. Three wore pajamas, the fourth dressed in shorts. Left to right are Clara McAllister, state champion of Wisconsin; Helen Ovenden, champion of Great Britain; Isabelle McKenny, Pacific coast champion, and Helen Filkey, track star and Chicago contender.

FORT WORTH, April 20. (AP)—Funeral services for R. H. Buck, 62, associate justice of the second court of civil appeals will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at the Broadway Baptist church here. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery. Judge Buck died yesterday after an illness of 10 days.

Employe Is Charged With Disturbing Peace But He Halts Street Gabbing

Joe Murphy, cafe employe who was charged with disturbing the peace after, a two-inch firecracker Tuesday afternoon suddenly halted the usual gabbing of soothsayers and sages of the patches-on-the-pants school of thought at the southwest corner of Broadway and Avenue H, is to face trial in Justice H. K. Porter's court Tuesday, April 26.

The curbstone wiseacres and their disciples had been asked before Tuesday afternoon not to block the sidewalks, making it difficult for pedestrians to find their way into cafes and shops. Besides, some goer-by might be attracted by the glitter of strange prophecies and forget all about the tie or cup of coffee he wanted. But those gathered in the shade of an old frame hotel and beyond, paid no need to such requests.

Somebody decided to disperse the motley assembly. A firecracker, about two inches long Assistant County Attorney Williams H. Evans guessed, was lighted and tossed into the bunch. It was dispersed. Old legs became young again. When the offended ones had regained their composure, they sent a sizeable delegation to see the assistant county prosecutor. Murphy an employ in a cafe, was accused of exploding the firecracker. He denied it. Arrested, he posted $50 bond Tuesday afternoon.

Firing a cracker in the business district is a law violation, Assistant County Attorney Evans said this morning, but opening of traffic on a public sidewalk is a city problem.

Lubbock Men Are Named Directors

Urging his fellow dealers to plot their course, do the best with what they have and keep business courage, Dan H. Wilmot of Roswell, N. M., past president of the association, made one of the outstanding addresses of the convention.

Attendance at this year's convention exceeded all others.

"You Might Call it a Peculiar Reason"

"The thing I like most about Chesterfields . . . is the neat way they're made. It may sound fussy . . . probably does . . . but I just can't bear to get little crumbs of tobacco in my mouth.

"I never really enjoyed smoking until I discovered Chesterfields. Perhaps you have noticed how nicely they're filled. Every one of them is rolled just right.

"And do you know . . . the more I smoke Chesterfields, the better I like the taste. It's not raw . . . and it's not over-sweet. It's just sweet enough so that you never tire of it. I find Chesterfields are really milder, too!"

Ruth Stars As Yanks Hit Grove, Earnshaw For 8-3 Win

Texas Goes To Semi-Finals In Mason-Dixon Tourney

Yanks Go Home To Open Stand With Big Show

Fifty-Five Thousand Welcome Babe, Who Homers Fourth Time; Senators Beat Boston And Browns Down Chisox

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 20. — Back at the old home stand for the first time this spring, Babe Ruth this afternoon clouted the great Grove for his fourth home run of the campaign and otherwise contributed to the Yankees' defeat of the Athletics. The score was 8-3.

The number of cash customers, 55,452, was the biggest ever registered at the Yankee stadium on an opening day. Mayor Walker was on hand for the Yankee home-coming.

The Yankees combed Lefty Grove for six hits and four runs in six innings, then doubled their tally off George Earnshaw in two frames. Grove was charged with his first defeat of the season.

Lyn Lary set the pace for the Yankees by hitting one of Grove's fireballs into the rightfield bleachers. He came home again in the third on Ruth's towering homer.

Ruth's booming single against the rightfield bleachers featured a seventh inning rally that netted the Yankees three runs and clinched the game. The Babe was playing for the first time since a recent attack of grippe.

Meanwhile Lefty Gomez registered his second conquest of the league champions with a flashy exhibition. The Spanish southpaw yielded nine hits but struck out nine Mackmen, including all the big hitters. He was tapped for a homer by Cochrane in the fourth but pulled himself out of a big hole in the seventh, after filling the bases, and in the ninth fanned Cochrane for the final out, with two on.

What's A Fungo, Anyway? Pulling Jokes In Southern Loop

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 20 (AP) The old jokes are cropping up here again as the Memphis Chicks prepare for the Southern league season.

A new recruit was asked by Manager "Doc" Prothro to "hit a few fungoes."

After looking everywhere the recruit said with an air of resignation:

"I don't know whether I would know one if I saw it."

Prothro recalled that one rookie a few years ago spent more than two hours in search of a key to the pitcher's box.

Golf STARS as the play it

by ART KRENZ

What is meant by taking the club back inside the line of play? The accompanying illustration of Willie MacFarlane will explain it.

The club can be taken back in this manner only when the left arm and side dominate the beginning of the backward stroke. MacFarlane has come to this position with the aid of the body only. There has been no action on the part of his hands.

The club should be taken back with the left arm without the help of the right. To accomplish this let the left side turn as the initial move.

Meadowbrook Club Members Asked To Qualify In Ladder Tournament Today Or Friday; League Play Sunday

Meadowbrook Golf club members are asked to report to the course today, Friday or Saturday and play 18 holes of medal play, Bill McMillan, manager of the club, has announced.

Members are urged to play in threesomes and to keep accurate scores for the full 18 holes. The eight men scoring the lowest medal scores will represent the club Sunday in match play against the Tahoka team in the first game of the South Plains League season.

The members will also be playing qualifying scores in the ladder tournament, which will run throughout the summer between club members. The system is similar to that introduced at the Meadowbrook and Country club last year and which is being used by the Country club this season. Individual rating may be determined by a glance at the ladder, which has the names of all players and their medal scores. Players may challenge the men directly above them and succeed the losers, thereby climbing up a rung higher on the ladder. Always the top eight will represent the club in league matches.

The Country club will be host to the Post team here Sunday. Littlefield and Slaton, the other members of the league, will play at Slaton. The matches will start at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Meadowbrook and Country club.

A complete schedule for the season will be announced Sunday.

Total value of all the gold in the world is estimated at more than ten and a half billion dollars.

Davis Cup Netter From Texas May Meet Shields After Today's Games; John Van Ryn Loses To McCauliff

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, April 20. (AP) — Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., a member of the United States Davis Cup team, today advanced to the semi-final round of the Mason and Dixon tennis tournament with a 6-2, 6-1, 6-3, victory over Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., Canadian indoor titleholder.

Allison, who has won three consecutive tournaments—at Houston, New Orleans and Pinehurst — played an almost errorless game against Hall. His ground strokes were severe, low and beautifully controlled and he was deadly overhead.

The Texan will meet the winner of tomorrow's match between Frank X. Shields, his Davis Cup partner, and Marcel Rainville, Canadian Davis Cupper.

Eugene McCauliff, Yonkers, N. Y., advanced to the semi-final round with a sensational upset victory over John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, the country's fourth ranking star, 6-2, 6-4, 9-7. In the semi-finals Friday McCawliff will meet the winner of tomorrow's match between Ellsworth Vines, jr., and Gregory Mangin.

Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, went to the finals of women's singles by beating Virginia Race of Boston, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

THE camouflaged bat that Goose Goslin tried to get away with recalls the curved club the Germany Schaefer wanted to use many years ago. Pro Officers Face Hearing

Two Federal Agents Accused In Slaying Of Merchant At Irving; Hearing Scheduled Today At Angelo

DALLAS, April 20. (AP)— Federal prohibition agents L. C. Smith and N. D. Heaton, charged with killing a country storekeeper and wounding his wife, were removed from the county jail today by government officers who said they would transfer them to San Angelo for a bond hearing tomorrow in the federal court of Judge W. H. Atwell.

The agents have been accused of murder for the fatal shooting of Marion McGlothlin and assault with intent to murder for the wounding of Mrs. McGlothlin at the McGlothlin store near Irving the night of April 8, in a disturbance which resulted from the agents' efforts to establish a liquor case against a man.

Transfer Jurisdiction

Jurisdiction of the cases has been transferred to federal court in consequence of a habeas corpus writ granted by Judge Atwell. The agents had been in custody of state officers since last Saturday when indictments were returned against them in state court. District Attorney William McCraw and Judge Charles A. Pippen have refused to agree to bond for them.

McCraw was preparing to appear before Judge Atwell and contest the granting of bond. He revealed he would be unable to make the kind of showing for which he had hoped in the contest because of Mrs. McGlothlin's condition.

Only Eye-Witness

"She is the only state eye-witness to the killing of her husband," McCraw said. "Her physician tells me it will not be best for her to make the long trip. She is still suffering from a wound in the head, which she said was inflicted by one of the agents who slugged her with his pistol after she had been shot in the hand.

"I will ask the court to postpone the habeas corpus hearing until such time as it can be held in Dallas. If this is impossible I will contest the granting of bond."

Tried To Buy Liquor

The shooting occurred after the agents and a man from whom they were trying to buy liquor had met at the store. The man was accompanied by his wife. The man told them he had no liquor. They allegedly tried to force him into an automobile, with the intent of taking him to his home and searching it. In the ensuing disturbance the McGlothlins gained the impression that the agents were robbers. They armed themselves. Mrs. McGlothlin seized a pistol, which was shot from her hand. McGlothlin was killed, allegedly by a bullet fired by the other agents, as he raised a shotgun from behind the counter.

J. A. BURGESS, for 25 years a resident of Lubbock county, had the unusual experience recently of receiving for the first time a letter from his only surviving brother, J. H. Burgess, of Rosebud, Mont., although the two men, now both past the three score year and ten mark, have heard indirectly from each other since they left home as young men.

At the same time the Montana man wrote to his Texas brother, not knowing that the latter had written him. It was the first time that the men had written each other directly, according to H. L. Burgess, of the First National bank, son of J. A. Burgess.

"My father, or rather my mother wrote for my father, to his brother on April 12, I think it was," H. L. said. "It was mailed out on a rural route and I don't suppose it got out of here before the next day.

"My uncle wrote his letter and mailed it on April 14, so that the two letters passed each other on the way. The last time father heard about his brother he was living at Rosebud, so he wrote to that place. My uncle also had last heard of father as living here, so he wrote to Lubbock."

J. H. Burgess is 76 years old. He has lived in Montana for 45 or 50 years, his nephew said and is one of the well known men of that section.

The Lubbock man is two years younger. He came to this country 25 years ago from Coleman county and before that had lived in Seattle for about 11 years.

J. H. left home when he was about 16 years old. He returned from time to time, but it has been about a half century since the two men have seem each other.

There were seven boys in the Burgess family and four girls. Five of the boys are dead, J. A. and J. H being the only ones left. The two men have kept in touch with each other through sisters, but as the years have passed, letters have become fewer.

"The last time my father heard indirectly from his brother he was at Rosebud, Mont." H. L. Burgess said. "When he decided to write he addressed the letter there. My uncle must have been thinking about father at the same time. The last time he had heard indirectly from father he was here, so naturally he wrote to Lubbock."

Mr. Woll's "Revolution"

FOR some reason or another we fail to shake in our boots as the result of the wild "warning" of Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, that "unless beer is brought back there may be a revolution." The "warning" sounds serious enough on the surface but, on further inspection, won't hold up.

Mr. Woll is eminently correct when he says that there is a wide demand for beer in this country today. He is as right as he can be when he indicates that many laboring men—members of his organization—seek a return of beer; he could go ahead, if he chose, and say that many doctors, lawyers, merchants, bankers and clerks likewise desire a return of the five cent "schooner" and feel that in such a return economic conditions in this country would be better.

We can't argue with Mr. Woll along the lines mentioned in the above paragraph but in "warning" of a "revolution" he carried the question a little too far. Regardless of the strength of those seeking return of beer, regardless of their power and the intensity of their desires, beer doesn't form the "great and noble cause" angle upon which any revolution must be based. It just isn't important enough and everybody knows it.

Look back through your histories.

Back of every revolution, successful of otherwise there was a great wrong—real or fancied. People had mulled over the great wrong for so long a time that it became a fetish, a religion—a principle, if you please—to them and then they struck in revolt.

The Morning Avalanche doesn't doubt that there are more people favoring the return of beer today than favored it this time last year. We do not doubt that those favoring return of beer are more numerous today than they have ever been since prohibition went into effect.

But size of the "beer army" makes no difference as far as a revolution is concerned. Nobody who'll stop to think will argue that whether we have legalized beer or whether we don't is important enough to cause revolt. Mr. Woll merely became excited.

SUSPICION THE MOTHER OF WAR

There are in the United States at least 150 organizations with the avowed purpose of promoting international peace. A vast crop of these came into existence just at the colse of the great war and represent the determination so frequently expressed at the time to make sure that such a catastrophe should not occur again.

It is quite probable that most of these organizations have, if not their affiliated societies, at least their counterparts in most of the countries of Europe. They represent a tremendous sentiment, which grows at least as fast as the increase in population. And that sentiment is being fostered and kept keen by a huge volume of propaganda printing and speech-making.

With even more promise is the movement which is affecting the instruction in the public schools. Whether organized or not, there is a tendency in all education to emphasize international friendship and the ideals of peace. To this end there has been a scrutiny of the textbooks studies to determine their influence upon youth in matters of patriotism and international outlook. And a consistent program of essay writing and oratorial contests furnishes opportunity for expressing the sentiments prompted by the trend of instruction in international good-will.

Nevertheless, the total weight of this great body of peace sentiment is largely offset by lack of faith in its own efficiency. So long as the desire for peace qualifies its every expression with the fear that our neighbors need watching, it must serve as a poor guaranty against future wars.

SLOGANS

A Texan has been muckraking the advertising slogan. He argues that even the most widely advertised slogan means nothing to the general public, and believes advertising dollars spent on making a slogan famous are wasted.

Back of this attack on the slogan is an experience. The Texan, doubtlessly, has discovered some time in his life that he does not always associate slogans with the products or concerns they advertise. Therefore he concludes, all advertising slogans are failures.

This is a common error. There are good and bad slogans, some that stick and others that fail to make that lasting impression upon the mind for which they are designed. There is hardly a literate man or woman who cannot repeat from memory several commercial slogans and designate the products they advertise.

But what led the anti-sloganist into the absurd fallacy of supposing that money is spent making slogans famous? The slogan is a part of the advertisement, not the purpose of it. The fame gathered by the slogan is a by-product of the advertising of which it is a part and which is designed to sell the product rather than the name and slogan. A good slogan is not indispensable to an effective ad and a successful product.

No slogan has ever won fame without the aid of advertising, and the crudest slogan will succeed to a considerable degree provided it is advertised enough.

Huge Savings Possible

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

Capitol

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The house of representatives' economy committee under Congressman John McDuffie's chairmanship arrived at one sensible conclusion anyway, in the course of its recent conference with President Hoover relative to reduction in the cost of government.

An agreement was reached upon the desirability of getting all expense-cuts together, in what legislators call an "omnibus bill," and acting on them collectively, instead of trying to deal with each one separately.

No governmental subdivision is without its own particular group of friends, some of them very strong and fanatical. When that subdivision's appropriation is attacked, the group especially interested in it invariably puts up a fight in its defense, and as the group has solidarity, generally opposed to a scattered and not overly resolute opposition, it holds its ground in a majority of cases.

As a whole, however, indications are that the country urgently demands retrenchment. With this sentiment mobilized behind a single measure, and the multiplicity of groups resisting independently of one another, the prospect is not bad that most of them can be steam-rollered simultaneously.

THAT IT WILL PROVE possible to effect a consolidation of executive departments seems almost too much to hope for, although the saving would be enormous.

The White House objects strenuously, of course, since the cabinet portfolios within its gift are the richest prizes an administration has to offer.

Nevertheless, the government started with only half its present number.

For example, unofficial estimates put the economy which might reasonably be expected from a merging of the war and navy departments at $100,000,000 annually, out of such a sum as the $820,180,243, which was the appropriation in the 1931-'32 fiscal year for the pair of them.

As everyone at all familiar with their working is aware, the operations of the two services to an appreciable extent are overlapping. There are even military and naval men who believe that a merger would add to the sum total of their efficiency—as, indeed, was held at the outset, the navy not having been divorced from the war department until nearly a decade after the national defense system's establishment.

SENATOR MARVEL M. LOGAN of Kentucky appears to have given initial impetus to the suggestion favoring complete abolition of the departments of agriculture, commerce and labor.

To be sure, each includes certain activities which no one would want abolished. Illustratively, the weather bureau of the department of agriculture, the census bureau of the department of commerce and the statistical bureau of the department of labor are recognized on all sides as practically indispensible.

The fact remains that America did without any department of agriculture whatever until President Cleveland's day, without a department of commerce and labor until President Roosevelt's and without separate commerce and labor departments until President Wilson's. The further fact remains that their total appropriated cost for the 1931-'32 fiscal year is $316,612,560—a smallish sum in comparison with army and navy expenses, but representative, some say, of a much higher percentage of waste.

IN CONNECTION with complaints of a commerce department under which commerce is at its fattest in history an agriculture department under which farms are being sold wholesale for taxes and a labor department under which 8,000,000 workers are unemployed, Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur's own admission that his department has nearly passed its usefulness naturally attracts attention.

The question is beginning to be asked—

Why can the really valuable bureaus not be salvaged from all four departments for amalgamation under one cabinet head? The cost would be, say, equal to the interior department's 1931-'32 allowance of $45,295,106.73. Thus there would be a saving of $316,612,560 (or most of it) now appropriated for the agriculture, commerce and labor departments.

Practical Health Problems

STUDY OF ALBUMIN OFTEN PREVENTS SERIOUS DISEASE

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, And of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

WHENEVER a physician finds albumin in the urinary excretion, he considers it a finding demanding the most careful investigation.

There are, of course, cases in which small amounts of albumin may appear without the presence of any serious disease. It has occurred in normal people after violent exercise or exposure to cold.

It may occur when an individual stands for a long time in one position, but the vast majority of cases are due to some disease of the kidney which, unless promptly cared for, may lead to death.

The Student Health Service of the University of Minnesota has made records of examination of 20,000 men who have entered the school in recent years. Five per cent of these men, or approximately 1000 of them, showed albumin in the first specimen examined and 606 of them were examined for the second time. It was found that 66 per cent of these men had shown albumin on only one examination.

Thirteen per cent showed the albumin occasionally; about 12 per cent had albumin regularly in the excretions, and about 7 per cent had kidney disease.

From these figures it is clear that diseases of the kidney with albumin in the urine is a rare condition among young men. In an endeavor to trace the source of the complaint, the heads of the Health Service, Drs. H. S. Diehl and C. A. McKinlay, noted marked relationship between albumin, frequent attacks of colds and a family history of kidney disease. They also noted a relationship between the presence of albumin and the record of previous attacks of rheumatism or scarlet fever.

This should indicate the importance of making an examination of the excertion at least once each year, and of special study of every case in which albumin is found. The finding of the albumin does not indicate necessarily the presence of kidney disease, but it does certainly indicate the need for investigation.

Such investigation may lead to the determination of factors of importance in relationship to health and to life and may mean a great deal in giving extra years of healthful life to the person concerned.

ELLEN ROSSITER, beautiful 20-year-old, loves LARRY HARROWGATE, young artist. When he becomes engaged to another girl Ellen agrees to marry STEVEN BARCLAY, 57 years old and wealthy. Her impoverished family is indebted to Barclay, who has been married before. Scandal accompanied his Mexican divorce from LEDA GRAYSON, dancer. To avoid talk Ellen and Barclay are secretly married.

They drive to his Long Island home, deserted except for FERGUS, the butler. There Barclay suffers a heart attack. LOUIS SYMES, Barclay's lawyer, arrives with doctors and nurses. Barclay dies at dawn.

Symes tells Ellen her marriage is not legal because papers proving Barclay's divorce have been stolen. Ellen yields all claim to Barclay's fortune to avoid scandal. She believes she must keep her marriage secret to protect Barclay's honor and her own.

She learns Larry Harrowgate is Barclay's nephew. Heartbroken, she returns home. Larry seeks her out, tells her that his engagement is broken and asks her to marry him. Ellen lacks courage to tell him of her marriage to his uncle. She goes with Larry to meet his mother. A butler appears. It is Fergus.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVI

For an instant Ellen thought she must faint. A feeling of nausea swept over her and her arms dropped to her sides. She fell back weakly, helplessly.

"Water! Bring water," he called frantically.

Fergus brought a number and the distracted Larry bathed the girl's pale face. He held the water to her lips. Still bewildered, still in a world of half-consciousness, horribly frightened and sick, Ellen drank it. Larry half-catered her to an adjoining bedroom, settled her on a frilled chaise longue.

She knew that he was beside her, that his hand held her hand, that he was fanning her. But Ellen could only lie still, her eyes closed, her breath rising and falling unevenly for a long time.

"He didn't tell you," she whispered after a while, without opening her eyes.

"Who told me? What?"

Ellen looked up then and saw that Larry was kneeling on the floor beside her. Mrs. Harrowgate was there, too.

"What came over you?" the older woman inquired curiously.

"It must have been the heat," Ellen managed to say.

"That room is a roaring furnace," Larry said sharply. "It was all I could do to keep from passing out myself."

"I'm all right now," Ellen announced shakily, sitting up and smoothing her disordered hair. "I'm sorry to have been such a lot of trouble."

"No trouble at all," Mrs. Harrowgate assured her politely. "I can't tell you how sorry I am though that it had to happen."

But Ellen felt confident that her concern was affected. She looked from Mrs. Harrowgate to Larry.

There was nothing artificial in his anxiety. How she loved him! How impossibly cruel that something which had happened long ago might make him cease to love her. If she had only told him everything that day in the studio—

For a moment she clung to the wild hope that Fergus had not recognized her. But she knew there had been recognition in those cold eyes. What did he mean to do? Even as she was wondering the butler entered the room. He carried a pair of gloves.

"I believe these are yours, miss," he said, advancing toward her.

Ellen's heart beat violently. She tried to brace herself for anything the man might say or do. She stared at him with growing panic and tried to read his face. There was nothing there to read except servile impersonality. Larry reached to take the gloves but Fergus, quicker, dropped them in Ellen's lap, turned and let the room, his back stiff and inscrutable as his eyes had been.

Ellen drew a long trembling breath.

"You don't care much for Fergus, do you?" Larry observed. "I don't myself. He's so quiet he gives me the jimmies."

"He's a capable servant," Mrs. Harrowgate commented. "Steven liked him. Are you sure you feel all right now?" she continued, addressing Ellen.

The girl nodded. "I think I'd better go home now," she said.

She and Larry departed, Ellen clinging to his arm and assuring Mrs. Harrowgate that her faintness had disappeared as suddenly as it had come. They were waiting for the elevator before Larry had his chance to speak.

"I asked you before," he said hesitantly. "What did you mean when you said 'So he didn't tell you?' "

Ellen was resting a little against Larry's arm. Her eyes were raised to his. She was exquisitely conscious of everything about her, of the green walls, of the shining brass door of the elevator and the soft, luxurious carpet.

"I didn't mean—anything," she whispered.

Silently they went through the entrance way to the street that was a crystal canyon of ice and snow. Ellen's gloves were crumpled in her hands. Nervously she began to draw them on and felt in the left glove the crackle of paper. She remembered with a throb of fear now Fergus had avoided Larry's grasp to drop the gloves in her lap. Several times as they rode toward the apartment she stole glances at him, thinking he looked pale and tired and wondering what was in that left glove held so tightly in her palm.

There was no opportunity to find out until after Larry had left her. The instant the door closed behind him she turned the glove inside out. A bit of paper fell into her hand. Written upon it were the following words.

"I'll see you at your home at eight o'clock. Be there."

The girl dropped the message to the floor, stooped, picked it up and crumpled it into a savage ball which she hurled into the waste-

Late Educator Paid Tribute

Memorial Services Are Held At Lubbock Rotary Club On Wednesday For Late President Paul W. Horn

With Roscoe Wilson, a member of the Texas Technological college board, presiding, memorial services to the late president of Tech, Dr. Paul W. Horn, were given in the luncheon program of the Lubbock Rotary club Wednesday at Hotel Lubbock.

Pointing out the late president's attributes and praising his brilliance of mind, sympathy and tolerance, Dr. A. B. Cunningham of the college faculty made the principal talk. Other speakers were: Senator S. B. Cowell of Whitesboro, Col. Thomas Boles of Carlsbad, N. M., and Dean James M. Gordon.

"The first time I saw Dr. Horn was in a faculty meeting," Dr. Cunningham said as he extolled the character of the college's first and only president, "and there I got a glimpse of two of his most outstanding traits, his unusual brilliance and the extent of his reading."

"His mind was disturbing to most of us. He had phenominal information. He was informed on national and world affairs and how did he do it—that remains to me yet somewhat of a mystery. His toleration for people who differed with him was one of his marked traits. He was big enough to be both tolerant and tenacious. And I believe anced traits that he was able to hold such a faculty together in such contentment.

Dr. Cunningham delved at length into the admirable characteristics of the former president and told how he "literally burned his energies up for the college.

Outstanding Trait Sympathy

"His most outstanding trait was his sympathy," Dr. Cunningham continued. "Malice was absolutely that it was through these two balforeign to him. I think it's difficult to combine a brilliant mind and a rare sympathy such as he had without violence to either. I don't wonder that those in charge will experience distress in selecting his successor."

Senator Cowell spoke briefly, paying tribute to Dr. Horn and to Lubbock for its support of the school. He was one of the members of the college locating committee. "I'm sure," he said, "that the board will select a man who will darry on."

Dean Gordon read a short article written by Dr. Horn only a short while before his death.

Col. Boles also paid a tribute to Dr. Horn and declared that the "folks over in New Mexico appreciated his work more than you know".

Besides Col. Boles and Senator Cowell, other out-of-town visitors at the luncheon were: H. H. Thomas, Snyder; F. L. Stevenson, Whitesboro; E. F. Howard, Big Spring and Bill Beene, Amarillo.

All over the world Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free from fat figure that cannot fail to win admiration.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses and does it SAFELY and HARMLESSLY.

In the morning take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar.

"It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat" and "brings that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

But be sure for your health's sake that you get Kruschen. A bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but little. You can always get Kruschen at Mark Halsey Drug or City Drug and money back if not satisfied with results after first. bottle.—Adv.

He CALLS it "ACIDITY" ... but it's really SELF POISONING

If you have pain in your stomach, or gas, acid taste, etc., call it "acidity" if you wish. But too often "acidity" is a warning symptom of a more serious condition.

Thousands of people who complain of "acidity" are really suffering from self-poisoning. Poisons from putrid waste in the intestines have been absorbed into the blood. The polluted blood in turn affects the stomach, causing acidity, indigestion, etc.

If the trouble you call "acidity" keeps returning in spite of everything you do, it's time to suspect self-poisoning, and use the right remedy. Here is a little experiment that will help you learn the truth.

AN AMAZING TEST

For the next three nights take B-L Tonic. If your case is like thousands of other so-called "acidity" sufferers, this remedy is exactly what you need. The distress in your stomach will disappear rapidly. Your system will eliminate a startling amount of foul-smelling poisons. You will feel healthier and happier. But that is only a promise of the reward to follow. Continue taking B-L Tonic every night for three weeks. You will thereby keep the poisons from regaining a foothold in your blood. Meanwhile the stimulating properties of B-L Tonic will sharpen your appetite, improve digestion, and thus help build up a more robust resistance to disease. Nine chances out of ten that's all you need to get rid of your "acidity." B-L Tonic is sold at Something's come up so I've got to clear out. You stake me to a railroad ticket and you're through with me. You'll never see me again, never hear from me again. Neither will Larry."

"You'll get no money from me now or ever," Ellen declared.

"Maybe if I went to Mr. Harrowgate he wouldn't feel that way!"

Ellen turned away. She clenched her two hands and felt the hardness of the engagement ring. This was the end, she thought, the end of everything. She knew that if Fergus carried out his threat and went to Larry she could not lie. To evade the truth was difficult enough. To look into Larry's gray eyes and tell him an untruth was impossible.

Proud to show visitors our spotless factories

YOU like to know that the foods you eat are made under sanitary conditions. That's why we are always delighted to have people see "where Kellogg's Corn Flakes are made."

We have thousands of visitors, every year, who take home with them a picture of sunlit kitchens, gleaming machinery, employees in fresh white uniforms . . . of cleanliness and care for quality. If you ever come to Battle Creek we hope you'll stop and see us.

You'll know then why W. K. Kellogg makes this unconditional guarantee: "If you don't think Kellogg's the best and freshest corn flakes you ever tasted, return the empty red-and-green package and we will cheerfully refund your money."

NEW ORLEANS, April 20. (AP)—Cotton here today was dull in narrow trading all morning but became firmer on shorts covering and closed steady at the top with net gains of 10 to 12 points for the day.
The weekly weather and crop summary showed beneficial rains where needed in the western belt and generally favorable weather conditions except cool nights in the eastern belt. Planting is making some progress, but the crop generally is making a late start.
New highs for the day were made right at the end with May at 6.13, July at 6.32 and Oct. at 6.54, up 12 to 13 points from the lows of the morning. May closed 10 points net up, July 13 net up and Oct. 11 net up.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, April 20. (AP) — Cotton held generally steady today with some early irregularity followed by advances on trade buying and covering prompted by reports of continued small offerings and a firm spot situation in the south.
After selling off from 6.03 at the opening to 5.99, May contracts closed at 6.11, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 9 to 13 points.

Use Local Talent

Douglas Doan, director of broadcasting, said that the programs would consist of 65 per cent local talent and 35 per cent records and electrical transcriptions. He said about 300 persons from Lubbock and surrounding communities had tried out for radio entertainment. Lubbock's educational talent compares favorably with a city of 100,000, he said.

Mr. Doan said that varied and unique programs would be included in the broadcasts.

Murray Likely To Accept Invitation

Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma Wednesday told C. A. Sheffield, hotel manager, that he probably would be able to attend the opening of KFYO here Saturday morning. The redoutable Oklahoman promised Sheffield in a telephone conversation that he would wire his answer to the invitation early Thursday. If Murray attends, he probably will speak at a public meeting Monday afternoon and at the mayor's banquet Monday night. Mr. Sheffield also has a telephone call in for Governor Ross S. Rails Chug Along On Upgrade Though Industrials And Utilities Hold Back

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP) — Rails chugged along on the upgrade in the stock market today, again bucking the trend of industrials and utilities.

Weakness still was selective, affecting principally half a dozen prominent issues, but the persistent presence of liquidation in such stocks as American Telephone, American Can and U. S. Steel doubtless acted as a brake on whatever encouragement was to be derived from gains in the carriers. Nevertheless, late short coverings reduced losses in most instances, so that on the whole the session bore a marked resemblance to yesterday's.

Resistance of rails, while industrials used in the Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite were easing under last week's bear market low, provided the chief talking point of those who felt another rally was in the making.

John E. Owens, vice-president of the Republic National bank and Trust company, Dallas, is to give a talk on current banking problems. His particular subject has not been announced.

Election of officers and selection of the 1933 meeting place will close the morning session.

At 12:30 in the banquet room of the Hilton Hotel a banquet will be served, with President Reagan as toastmaster. A round table discussion with Mr. Reagan, O. P. Thrane of Snyder and J. H. Doyle of Levelland, as leaders, will close the program.

Starting at 3 o'clock and lasting until 6, a matinee dance is to be given at the hotel.

Local bankers have sent personal invitations to all banks in the area and also to a number of other banks. A party is expected from Fort Worth and Dallas, including a representative of the Federal Reserve district organization. It is also expected that several officials of the Texas Bankers association will be present.

two Kentucky mountain schools.

At the afternoon session of Presbytery reports of the several committees were heard. In particular the report of the home mission committees was made by Rev. W. M. Elliott and adopted. It was announced that the work would be continued the same as the past year with no work to be dropped.

Work To Continue

"This Presbytery is largely a home mission Presbytery and only eight out of the 30 churches comprising it are self supporting," Rev. S. J. McMurry, moderator, said in discussing the report. "I am glad to state that no work is to be dropped."

The two gatherings went to the state experiment farm at 6 o'clock where a supper was served out of doors, with Mr. and Mrs. Don L. Jones of the state farm as hosts.

About 125 people, mostly out of town visitors, attended.

Final reports of committees and a check of the church records and reports are to be made at the morning session.

Accumulated arrivals for the three day period at eleven markets totaled 113,100 as compared with 132,250 last week.
Hogs showed a touch of strength. A top of 4.20 was established in Chicago.

Russian Chorus To Appear Here In Two Concerts

Appearance of the world-famous Royal Russian chorus at the high school auditorium Friday afternoon and night, April 22, under auspices of Texas Technological college authorities is creating interest in local musical circles. The chorus is being brought here as an added attraction to the college artist course, but regular season tickets to the course are void for the concert.

The chorus is now making its second American tour under the direction of Walter Lowe, the well-known Pacific coast impressario. The singers are conducted by Princess Agreneva Slaviansky, one of the few internationally recognized women conductors, and in addition to singing a remarkable program of choral selections, ranging from the severely classical, to the light, and humorous folk songs, and presenting half a dozen clever Russian, Hungarian, and Gypsy dancers, they will display several brilliant soloists, each acclaimed as a gifted artist.

Delightful vocal combinations will also be presented, in duets, trios, quartets, and in both male and female choral numbers, making up a program of remarkable versatility, and most delightful entertainment, all given in gorgeous costumes.

Princess Mara—Soprano

Chief among the accomplished soloists, will be Mademoiselle Mara Slaviansky, (daughter of the regal conductor of the chorus,) who in addition to being a geniune Russian princess, with a historic background, is a remarkably beautiful young woman, with a rich, and brilliant dramatic soprano voice. Several critics have said they like her voice, and vivacious stage presence better than Mary Garden's, while others have called her a "bewitching personality, with a florious voice, and a fascinating pair of eyes." Altogether she is one of the most attractive and gifted singers, now before the American public, and musical circles here can be assured of a very enjoyable experience, listening to her rarely beautiful voice, when the Royal Russian chorus appears here on Friday night, at the High school.

Tickets for the concert programs are on sale at the college under the direction of Prof. W. R. Waghorne. Popular prices prevail for both the afternoon and night performances.

Stevens Resignation Sought By Legionnaires At Pampa

PAMPA, Apr. 20. (AP)—A resolution asking the national executive committee of the American Legion to demand the resignation of Henry L. Stevens, national commander, was adopted by Kerley-Crossman post here last night. It was alleged in the resolution that Stevens had made false and misleading statements to the press regarding the bonus issue.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN
FORT WORTH, April 20. (AP)—Continued good demand was reported on the cash grain market here today.
Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 60 1-2@61 1-2; No. 1 hard 13 per cent protein 61 1-2@62 1-2; 14 per cent 63 1-2@64 1-2; 15 per cent 65 1-2@66 1-2; 16 per cent 66 1-2@67 1-2. Barley, No. 2 nominally 42@43. Sorghums, No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. 70 1-2@71 1-2; No. 2 white kaffir 71 1-6@72 1-2.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats, No. 2 red 28 1-2@29 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, April 20. (AP)—Grain prices lurched heavily today, influenced by liquidating sales of May holdings both in wheat and corn.
Wheat fell almost 2 cents a bushel, and corn outdid low price records as far back as 1899. A leading crop authority said it probably would take a fortnight to determine whether the market freeze and the recent drouth resulted in severe damage.
Wheat closed unstable at about the day's bottom, 1 1-8 to 1 3-4 lower than yesterday's finish, corn 5-8 to 1 1-8 down. Oats 3-4 to 7-8 off, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents up.

knowledge of "certain girl's" identity or her motive in firing at her husband. Mrs. Brinker was taken to Mineola for further questioning by Nassau county authorities.

A woman who called herself Mrs. Josephina Brinker was questioned by District Attorney Edwards who said she had been living with Brinker but had a husband named Tillotson somewhere in California. Her maiden name, Edwards said, was Neudel, and she came from Ashokan, N. Y.

Miss Welk's parents, her two brothers and two sisters, said they had not seen the girl since she left for work yesterday. The sisters, Vera and Julia, told District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards, they understood Brinker had not been married. Their sister had been "keeping company" with Brinker for two years, Edwards said they told him.

The district attorney declined to advance a motive for the killings. He discounted a robbery theory since money was found in Brinker's pockets. Jealousy was suggested and Edwards confided an interest in the removal of a ring.

The addressed envelope found at Brinker's head recalled to police that a similar token was left by the slayer of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, in New Brunswick in 1922. In that crime police found one of the minister's personal cards at his feet.

War Vets

treasury and postoffice supply bills begin tomorrow.

The committee agreed to strike out provisions affecting veterans after a tie vote. The American Legion and the disabled American veterans opposed the proposals.

One would have prevented persons having incomes of $1,500 if single, and $3,500 if married, and $400 additional for each dependent, from being entitled to any allowance, pension or free hospitalization unless suffering from combat disability.

The other would have provided that no person receiving free treatment or subsistence in a government hospital or home should receive more than $20 per month, if without dependents, or $75 a month if with dependents, the difference to be applied to the support of such home or hospital.

The committee approved the following proposals of President Hoover:

To require emergency officers to have had six months service prior to November 11, 1918, and war connected disability to have the benefit of the emergency officers act.

To eliminate payments in lieu of wages while under examination for claims against the government.

To abolish retroactive allowances for more than six months prior to date of determination or review of allowances or pensions.

To place all men receiving allowances who enlisted after November 11, 1918, but before the treaty of Versailles, upon the non-war-connected disability basis.

To modify procedures in suits against the government by veterans to require review upon the basis of evidence before the administration instead of de novo hearings.

KILGORE, April 20. (AP)—Theft charges were filed at Longview today against R. B. Charges were filed also against three employees of the Whittle and Kavanaugh firm, whose names were not learned.

Tragic Story Of Violated Love Told By Wife In Effort To Free Husband

love you. Everybody knows I love you!"

In her direct testimony Mrs. Massie had acknowledged hearings the rumors that were circulated after a jury had disagreed as to the guilt of the five men accused of attacking her. She mentioned reports the attacks had been by a navy officer; that her husband was getting a divorce, and that it was Massie and not Kahahawai who had broken her jaw.

Called As Last Witness

Mrs. Massie had been called to the stand presumably as the last witness for the defense. This was after the prosecution had finished a scorching cross examination of Dr. Edward Huntington Williams, one of two Los Angeles physicians who testified Massie was insane the moment Kahahawai was killed.

Mrs. Massie testified she was 21 years old, born in Washington, D. C., and had married Massie when she was 16. Under Darrow's gentle questioning she began the story of the attack the night of September 12, 1931.

"Do you remember especially," asked Darrow, the part at Ala Wai Inn?"

Massie's Face Pale

She answered affirmatively and told how she had left the party alone about 11:35 p. m., intending to take a walk because she was tired and bored. Massie paled as she went on. Mrs. Fortescue's eyes filled with tears.

An objection by Kelly forced Darrow to switch the questioning to facts about herself and husband after the attack. Darrow asked when she first met Massie after the attack.

The witness burst into tears at the mention of her husband's name. She sobbed as Massie looked at the floor.

"It Was So Terrible"

"I saw him," Mrs. Massie finally said between gasps, "at home. I didn't want to tell him because it was so terrible, then I told him they beat me and raped me.

"I told police I was walking down the road that night when a car drove up and stopped beside me. Chang (one of the attack case defendants) and Kahahawai hit me on the jaw and Chang said' come on, baby, you're going for a ride.'

"I prayed to get them to let me go and they dragged me into the car, drove off up the road and they dragged me into the bushes."

Violent crying prevented her from continuing. Mrs. Fortescue, alarmed, walked across the room and asked Darrow to stop the questioning until Mrs. Massie had recovered her composure. The jury of varied racial origin listened soberly.

"They carried me into the bushes," the witness finally resumed, "and assaulted me. I offered them money and tried to pray but they wouldn't even let me pray." Another spasm of crying stopped the story there.

"What were the others doing while this was going on?" Darrow asked.

"They were standing around, talking and laughing."

Headache Crop Of Heavyweight Bout Harvested By Herr Max And Sharkey

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP)—The Crop of "headaches" that annually beset a heavyweight championship fight have set in early for Madison Square Garden, Herr Max Schmeling, and Jack Sharkey, and all three are throbbing already at the temples.

The Garden is digging a great hole in the ground out in Long Island City, where a stadium seating 75,000 is to be erected by June 16, when the Boston sailor is scheduled to make his second attempt to beat Schmeling for the title. But possibility loomed today this date will be set back to at least two weeks, because of construciton problems, conflict in public interest with the political convention in Chicago, and general lassitude on the part of perspective customers.

At the garden's insistence, Sharkey was asked to appear here from his suburban retreat in Boston to ruffle the ballyhoo drums if only in picking a training site. But even Jimmy Johnston's insistence that the sailorman do something for boxing in general, and this match in particular, failed to stir the squire from his country estate. He is expected tomorrow, however.

It was estimated that 23,500 feet of water line and 15,000 feet of sewer line would be necessary to serve the city. A 50,000 gallon overhead tank with a 300,000 gallon subsurface tank will be part of the system. Plans were made for drilling a deep well.

Former Senator Praises Lubbock As School Site

The past nine years have justified the selection of Lubbock by the locating committee as site for Texas Technological college, declared former Senator S. S. Cowell of Whitesboro, one of the two surviving members of the committee, Wednesday. Senator Cowell is on a business trip here, the first time in Lubbock since August 28, 1923, when the eventful Tech jubilee was held.

"Lubbock has done her part and she has enjoyed the cooperation of the entire section in the development of the school," he said. "I believe if the 36 towns which applied for the school would express themselves today, they would say that Lubbock should be the site for the Tech."

Is Now Retired

The former senator whose eyes are "dimmed through years of service for the state of Texas is now retired and has been inactive since 1926. He served in the senate from 1913 until 1917 and then in 1920 he was appointed chairman of the Board of Control, a position which he held until 1926. He was also chairman of the board which built the American Legion hospital at Kerrville and was instrumental in its sale to the United States government.

Only one other member of the college locating committee, Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of Oklahoma university, besides the senator is living now since the death of S. M. N. Marrs Monday. Other members of the committee who have died were: Dr. F. M. Brawley and Dr. W. S. Sutton.

Pays Tribute To Dr. Horn

Senator Cowell expressed regret at the death of Dr. Paul W. Horn, and declared that he was "the most important educator in the southwest." He said the board of directors would have a difficult task in selecting his successor.

"I imagine that the size of the school makes the board seek the man rather than the man seek the place," he said.

The senator declared he "never was much in politics. I was just a business man" when questioned regarding the present political situation and the election year. He said he was definitely out of all activities.

He paid a tribute to the work done by the faculty of Texas Tech and declared it was headed by as capable a group of men as any school in the southwest.
