age. Judge Riggs lived in Wellington most of the time from 1915, when he came to Wellington from Arkansas, until he retired as a tax specialist and auditor in 1972. He and Mrs. Riggs then lived in Dallas until they returned here in January of this year.

Besides this career in public service, followed by 20 years in his own business, Judge Riggs' contributions to the community were significant. He was a long-time member of the Kiwanis Club and served in all its elective offices, including president. He was then chosen lieutenant governor of District 6 (Texas-Oklahoma) of Kiwanis International.

He came to Wellington from Springdale, Ark., after hearing from his father that there were employment opportunities here. The latter bought apples in Collingsworth County for several years.

His first job was as bookkeeper for Famous Dry Goods. He was then on the staff of First National Bank as cashier for a 10-year period.

In the late 1920s, he and his wife lived in Lubbock, and then in Slaton, where he owned a drug store until the depression of 1929-30 came, when they returned to Wellington.

Later the family lived for less than a year in Arkansas. After working for several years in the office of county tax assessor-collector, he was elected to that office then re-elected twice.

His terms as county judge brought him a state-wide recognition for the sound business principles he applied to the office. His tenure also saw the beginning of this county's fine rural road system. These were but two of his accomplishments. At the end of his third term in office, he chose to return to private life.

Howard Smith Riggs was born in Vandalia, Audrain County, Missouri on November 18, 1895, the son of James Marvin and Etta Smith Riggs. He grew up in Springdale, Ark., attended a business college in that state.

He was married to Miss Dell Myers on April 18, 1920, at the home of her parents, the late Judge and Mrs. P.W. Myers.

He was a Methodist. Memorial services were conducted at First United Methodist Church Sunday, March 29, with the Rev. Tom Thomson, pastor, officiating. Piano and organ music were presented by Juliana Baumgardner and Connie Emmert.

Burial was in North Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Billy Hatch, Judge R.L. Templeton, Henry Wells and these great nephews, Lonnie Roark and Don Roark of Lubbock and John Roark of Arlington.

Honorary pall bearers were Sam White, Fleet Pruden, Cicero Gulley, Roy Horn, Coy Vaughan, Earl Hunter, Eddie Smith and Barney Glenn.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Dell Riggs, 1200 Childress Street; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Jane Vinson of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Peggy Wildman of Dallas; 7 grandchildren, Beverly Jane Holman of Eugene, Oregon, Patricia Louis Crosthwaite of San Diego, Ca., Rebecca Anne Hoffman of Cambridge, Mass., David Riggs Wildman, Phillip S. Wildman, Kelly Dell Wildman and Suzy Wildman, all of Dallas. There are two great-grandsons, Jesse Gardner Kocher of Eugene, and Michael Crosthwaite of San Diego.

Gloria Bryan Weds Phillip Scott In Church Ceremony at Texline

Gloria LaNell Bryan was married to Phillip Bradley Scott in a candlelight ceremony performed in First Baptist Church in Texline on Saturday, February 21, at four in the afternoon. The Reverend Gene Lancaster, pastor of Lefors Baptist Church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Bryan of Texline, formerly of the Samnorwood area. She is also the granddaughter of Mrs. R.C. Bryan, 1101 Dalhart Street, Wellington, and the late Mr. Bryan. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. M.P. Scott of Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. J.D. Hester, organist and Miss Betty Williams, soloist.

An arrangement of multi-colored flowers centered the altar, with 7-branched candelabras holding ivory tapers at each side. Pew ends were accented with ivory bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of organza, with a high neckline and sheer yoke encircled with a wide border of scalloped Alencon lace. Tiny pearls highlighted the front of the bodice and the scalloped lace was repeated at the waist and wide cuffs of the bishop sleeves. Fullness of the skirt was emphasized by two flounces of organza topped with a lace ruffle and fell to a chapel train. The lace ruffle swept upward at the center back of the train in a cascade of organza ruffles. The bride's veil, edged in lace, was of finger-tip silk illusion attached to a headpiece of Alencon lace, accented with tiny pearls. She carried a cascade of ivory silk roses, and baby's breath.

Mrs. John Howell of Lawton, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. David Purdy of San Antonio, Mrs. Brian Potter of Texline and Mrs. Michael Ekstedt of Colorado Springs. They wore long gowns of coral quiana with ivory lace yokes and cuffs trimmed with ivory satin ribbon. Their bouquets of ivory silk roses were tied with coral ribbon.

Other Editors Say . . .

Gerrymander?

Final census figures are supposed to be available in early April and when they are, you can expect a big scramble among Texas legislators to draw the lines for required re-districting for Legislative and Congressional districts before the June deadline.

Texas will gain three Congressional seats.

The Texas Panhandle isn't likely to be directly affected, by either Congressional or State Senatorial re-districting, since geography dictates that districts
at this end of the state, bounded as they are by Oklahoma and New Mexico, have limited maneuverability.

A few counties along the southern borders of present districts might be shifted one way or the other to achieve a balance of population...but barring real gerrymandering which could extend political peninsulas into the Panhandle to pad some areas far to the south and east, not too much change is feasible.

Congressman Jack Hightower's 13th Congressional district might be reduced in its geographical spread a bit to compensate for growth
in population, and reducing the rural sprawl which extends the 13th far into north Texas would make sense.

Bill Sarpalus' 31st Senatorial, which encompasses all of the Panhandle and spreads to the South Plains, might be similarly reduced somewhat by shifts along its southern border...something which has happened before...but the bulk of the cohesive Panhandle district isn't likely to be changed.

The Canadian Record, Ben Ezzell

a thought

FROM HIS WORD . . .

By far, one of the greatest areas of conflict in both youth and adults is that of having wrong attitudes about ourselves. These attitudes affect every other relationship in our life.

We most often measure ourselves with the outward standards of those around us in order to gain their approval. The bible says; "For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves; but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise." (II Cor. 10:12)

Our correct attitude about ourselves is to compare ourselves with the inward character of Jesus Christ in order to receive God's approval. The bible tells us; "How can ye believe, which receive honor
one of another, and seek not the honor that cometh
from God only?" (John 5:44) "But he that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord. For not he that commeth himself is approved, but whom the Lord com-mendeth." (II Cor. 10:17,18)

After all, is it not God who designed us for His purpose to glorify Him.
