STOCK DEALS Osorio Says He Did Not Benefit

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — John Osorio testified today that despite "pressure" from Frank Sharp he would not have agreed to two questionable stock purchases unless he thought they were good investments.

Osorio told a U.S. district court jury of five men and seven women he would have resigned had he not felt the investments were sound.

He testified also that he did not benefit personally from either of the transactions and that indeed he did resign as president of National Bankers Life Co. when "I thought the way things were going were bad."

U.S. RESTS

Osorio's testimony came after the government rested its conspiracy-embezzlement case against the former Texas insurance commissioner and close associate of Sharp who owned controlling interest in NBL. The jury has heard more than 20 government witnesses in the weeklong trial.

Two co-defendants, Donald Akins and Sam Stock, pleaded guilty to separate counts in the indictment and were thus removed from this trial. Both appeared as witnesses.

Osorio was president of the Dallas insurance firm in 1970 when NBL pension funds were used as collateral for loans of $641,250 and $105,000 to purchase NBL stock and a sister security Master Control, Inc.

Two counts in the indictment specifically involved a loss to the fund of nearly $28,000 on the first transaction and $56,000 on the second.

PENSION FUND

As it turned out, pension fund assets once valued at $300,000 evaporated in a stock manipulation maze linked to the Sharpstown Bank scandals.

No New Leads In Slayings

GRANDIN, Mo. (AP) — Authorities said they had no new leads today in the slayings of Grandin bank president Robert Kitterman, his wife and daughter in connection with an extortion plot.

Two young men who were arrested on drug charges were questioned in the case but "were not believed to be involved," said Sgt. Robert Koontz of the Highway Patrol.

Two .32-caliber shells thought to be from an automatic pistol were recovered Thursday in the wooded area where the bodies were found, about five miles west of Grandin.

The bodies of Kitterman, 43, Mrs. Bertha Kitterman, 38, and their daughter Roberta, 17, were found tied to trees. Each had been shot once in the head.

$800,000 Ransom Paid

PAMPLONA, Spain (AP) — Felipe Huarte's family has paid nearly $800,000 ransom to the Basque nationalists who kidnaped him, and the millionaire's release is expected by Saturday, reliable sources said today.

The sources said the money, in West German marks and dollars, was delivered Thursday across the border in France.

The kidnapers also demanded the rehiring of 95 workers dismissed by the Huarte family's construction company after they demanded a raise. The men went back to work Thursday.

Explosion Fear Eased

PRYOR, Okla. (AP) — Plants damaged by Wednesday night's explosion and fire made plans today to get back in business while one fear — contaminated water for the city of Wagoner — was eased.

State Health Department officials permitted Wagoner to resume pumping water from Fort Gibson Lake. On Thursday night the city had been ordered to discontinue pumping temporarily as a safety measure.

MASS HYSTERIA AMONG WORKERS

SINGAPORE (AP) — Production in the General Electric Television and appliances factory here came to a halt today for the second time in three days because of unexplained recurrences of mass hysteria among workers.

Eleven girls were carried out of the American factory. Moslem medicine men — bomohs — and Buddhist monks attempted to drive away spirits some believed to be lurking there.

A brief government statement said: "Hysteria cases are largely a psychological phenomenon where the affected persons contract seizures of muscular spasms which are transient. They completely recover without any residual effects."

The statement added that rumors and exaggerations "can aggravate the situation and hence should be stopped."

The Health Ministry's industrial health unit, it said, is expected to bring the problem under control in due course.

Mass Slayings Motive Search

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police are searching for a motive for the execution-type slayings of seven persons, including five children, in an expensive home that is headquarters for a Muslim religious sect.

Milwaukee Bucks basketball star Kareem Abdul Jabbar, who bought the house and donated it to the Hanafi Muslims, said of the crime: "I can think of only crazy people, lunatics, who would do it." Jabbar was known as Lew Alcindor when he starred at UCLA.

ALL BLACK

Jabbar, a member of the sect, was in Milwaukee when the slayings occurred about 4 p.m. Thursday in an area where many of Washington's wealthiest black families live. All the victims were black and ranged in age from infancy to 30 years, police said.

Police said they were looking for four black men seen by witnesses running from the rear door of the home, and police intelligence sources indicated as many as eight men may have participated in the killings.

SHOT IN HEAD

A police spokesman said it was "definitely an execution."

Police said they were having trouble identifying the victims. Two women who were found shot in the head, but alive, inside the house were identified as Bibi Khaalis and Almira Khaalis, both about 20.

Bibi Khaalis was reported in critical condition and Almira Khaalis in fair condition. North Carolina civil-rights leader Dr. Reginald Hawkins, who was a Democratic candidate for governor in 1964 and 1968, was quoted as saying Bibi Khaalis was his daughter and that the three children original reported found in a bath were hers.

Police said they could not confirm the identifications.

Police said some of the victims had been shot and others drowned. Officers added that although three children had been found in a bathtub, an autopsy would be needed to determine whether they had been drowned there.

TRIED TO RUN

Police said it appeared that some of the victims had tried to flee their attackers and were gunned down as they fled.

Officers used dogs in an attempt to trace the escape route of the attackers. Weapons found near the house included a .38-caliber revolver and a sawed-off shotgun, and police said that, while they believe the arms are related to the slaying, only ballistic tests could say for sure.

Police Lt. Joseph O'Brien said the killings were discovered about 4:30 p.m. when an occupant of the home arrived from a shopping tour. When he got no answer at the front of the house he went around to the back and saw four black men running through the back yard, he told police.

Upon entering the house, the man, who was not identified, discovered the bodies.

LIFE GOES ON

Asked in Milwaukee if he thought the killings might have been related to an attempt on his life, Jabbar said: "Of course it's possible." But he added, "Life goes on, you know."

Three Critically Burned In Gasoline Plant Fire

By MARJ CARPENTER

Three men were critically burned and two others less severely burned in a flash fire near the Skelly Oil Company's East Vealmoor Natural Gasoline plant around 3 p.m. Thursday.

Byron E. Conway, Big Spring and James Lee, Snyder, were flown by hospital plane to the Galveston burn center around 10 a.m. today.

They have second and third degree burns over about 54 per cent of their bodies with most of the burns to their backs and flash burns to the face. Conway's eyes were probably saved by safety glasses.

TO GO LATER

Billy Sanders, Snyder, was to be flown to Galveston as soon as the plane can return here. He has second and third degree burns over 38 per cent of his body.

Hospital spokesmen at Medical Center Memorial Hospital said that the men were seriously injured, but that physicians considered their chances for recovery to be good. The hospital assigned a nurse and paramedic with each flight to Galveston.

Gerald Haughton, Coahoma, is in the Cogdell Hospital in Snyder suffering from minor burns on his back. Billy Elliott was treated at a Snyder doctor's office for an injured knee and released. These two were taken to the Snyder Hospital by pickup.

They told the Snyder hospital authorities that the more severely burned were coming by car. The three severely burned were delivered to Malone-Hogan Clinic and admitted to Medical Center Memorial Hospital in the intensive care unit. Alert Ambulance declined to comment on the accident so it was not known whether or not the ambulance reached the scene.

AT STORAGE WELL

The men were reported by the Skelly information office in Tulsa to be working on a storage well used to store FM Propane Mix. They were working on the well head cutting off bolts when the flash fire occurred, according to the Tulsa office.

One of the victims told persons here that they thought a pressure valve blew off at the accident.

The men who went to the Snyder hospital said that the clothes were burned off the backs of the other three men.

Conway is employed by Skelly Oil Company. The remainder of the injured work for Snyder Well Service.

Skelly investigators are investigating the incidents that led to the blaze.

MURDERED 25

She Still Doubts Corona Is Guilty

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — The holdout juror who cast the final guilty vote says she still has doubts and thinks Juan Corona — convicted of murdering 25 men — deserves another trial. The jury foreman says the first ballot taken was 7 to 5 for acquittal.

Corona, a 38-year-old farm labor contractor, was found guilty Thursday of 25 counts of first-degree murder. The jury of 10 men and two women reached the verdict after 46 hours of deliberation stretched over eight days.

14 WEEKS TRIAL

Corona was accused of killing 25 transient farm workers whose hacked and stabbed bodies were discovered in 1971 in makeshift orchard graves 100 miles northeast of San Francisco along the banks of the Feather River.

It was the biggest mass mur-

JUAN CORONA

der charge in the nation's history. The trial lasted 14 weeks.

Corona's attorney, Richard a new trial, and a hearing on his motion was scheduled Jan. 29.

Judge Richard E. Patton delayed sentencing until after the hearing. Under California law, Corona could receive a maximum sentence of 25 consecutive life terms.

The 12 jurors each individually affirmed the guilty verdicts in a dramatic conclusion to the four-month trial. The separate reading, affirmation and recording of the 25 individual "guilty of murder of the first degree" verdicts stretched 28 minutes in the crowded, hushed courtroom.

PRESSURE

But juror Naomi Underwood said in an interview at her home later that "I do feel Juan Corona deserves another trial."

"I have doubts yet," said Mrs. Underwood, a 61-year-old widow. "I don't think they had enough evidence. I still doubt I made the right decision."

2,000 GIs Inauguration Security Increased

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 2,000 military reinforcements have been called in as a precautionary measure, but the administration says it doesn't expect violence from antiwar demonstrators during President Nixon's inauguration Saturday.

A spokesman for the Justice Department, which has been coordinating security activities for the agencies involved as well as the D.C. Police, said Thursday: "The threat of disorder and violence in 1969 was much greater than this one."

Nevertheless, riot-trained Marines from Camp Lejeune, N.C., and Army paratroopers and military police from Ft. Bragg, N.C., and Ft. Meade, Md., are moving into the Washington area to buttress some 8,000 police and National Guardsmen already assigned to street security.

VIOLENCE POTENTIAL

"The only thing we're concerned about is the potential for violence," said the Justice Department spokesman. "We don't see any. We're taking people at their word that there will be only peaceful demonstrations."

Organizers of the largest antiwar demonstration, the "March Against Death," predict a crowd of up to 50,000 will assemble at the Lincoln Memorial and march to the Washington Monument grounds for a rally about noon Saturday, at the same time as Nixon's inauguration at Capitol Hill and parade to the White House. The routes do not cross.

Police say a maximum of 20,000 demonstrators will show up. The Justice Department spokesman said the number has been estimated at between 10,000 and 30,000 at security-planning meetings chaired by Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst during the past three weeks.

Agnew Will Go To Saigon?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today declined to confirm or deny a broadcast report that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will go to Saigon Jan. 28 — presumably to conduct post-peace agreement talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The Columbia Broadcasting Co. said from Saigon that a visit by Agnew apparently was intended "to coincide closely with the signing or at least the initialing of a Vietnam case-fire agreement."

Asked about the report White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said:

"I will not have any comment on that. I am not going to comment one way or another on any speculation — whether it is right or wrong."

Indians Sue For Braids

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State Penitentiary officials have been named in a suit by six Indian inmates charging discrimination.

The inmates asked that they be allowed to wear their hair in braids, but prison officials say it would violate prison rules.

The Indians contended that whites and blacks are allowed to wear their hair according to their customs.

City Has Yet To Locate All Of Street Damage

After finishing repair work on major thoroughfares, a major necessary by recent rain and icy weather, the city street department is now winding up preliminary planning for the spring paving program.

James Campbell, public works director, said street crews finished repairs to the heavily traveled streets sooner than expected and have begun repairs on residential street damage.

He said the city has not even located all the damage due to the recent bad weather and added that his department must depend partially on citizens calling in to report damage to residential streets.

Campbell said the city will enter into contract with consulting engineer Roy Crim Tuesday to complete the final plans and specifications for the first phase of the spring paving program.

This program, which Campbell said will probably get under way in late March, will set repaving for some 17,500 feet in 27 street sections throughout the city.

After final specifications are drawn up, the city will advertise for bids, one of which will probably be accepted in late March.

"We probably won't get started on the work until April," Campbell said, adding, "but by then the cold weather should be over."

Dr. Thomas Salter, president of Howard County Junior College, pointed out to the graduates that "the importance of education in our lives has shifted from one generation to another."

He recalled that education was for literacy in the beginning, that man should receive the heritage of those before him. Education was also for citizenship, then later for the individual advantages of being able to earn a living.

"We all know the world is rapidly changing," he said, and gave as examples the space program. "Our wildest dreams of today may be inadequate to predict man's successes of tomorrow."

He then pointed out that with progress has come the problems of men and women who have sick minds who, would do us evil. He reminded the graduates that "greed, vanity, dishonesty and corruption are still among us."

He said that the world must turn to the truly educated person who is also a good person to help solve the problems.

Dr. Salter pointed out the responsibilities of being educated. These include responsibility for making decisions and choices; the responsibility of being his brother's keeper; the responsibility for more attention to beauty; and the responsibility of relating as individuals to the world.

S. M. Anderson, superintendent, John Smith, principal, John Talmadge, assistant principal, and Roy Watkins, president of the school board, assisted with the ceremonies.

The Meistersingers, directed by Jack Bowers, presented two vocal selections and the graduates sang the traditional Alma Mater at the end of the ceremonies.

Gravestone services will be held in Trinity Memorial Park at 11 a.m. Saturday with Nalley-Pickel Funeral Home in charge. Born June 19, 1905 in Big Spring, he worked for several plumbing contractors here. He was a member of the Lakeside Baptist Church in Martin County.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Joe Simmons, Big Spring, a sister, Mrs. Ford Pierce, Midland and a foster brother, Kyle Jacks, Big Spring.

'I LOVE HER BUT I'M AT THE END OF MY ROPE' Suing For Divorce To Regain Welfare

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Ruth Thomas is 45 and dying, unaware that the man she married at the age of 13 is suing her for divorce in an attempt to regain the welfare benefits which she lost.

"If I were real poor or real rich I could take care of my wife," said Howard Thomas, a 49-year-old steelworker. "I work hard for a living and this is what happens. There is no other answer."

"I'm going to get a divorce in order to help my wife. I love her but I'm at the end of my rope."

The divorce, which becomes final in about 10 days, will allow his wife to qualify for benefits because she will then be without any means of support, Thomas said.

Last November the state Division of Family Services, which administers the federal Medicaid program in Florida, cut off the $117 monthly payment Thomas had been receiving for his wife.

Mrs. Thomas is confined to a nursing home suffering from advanced stages of multiple sclerosis, an incurable debilitating disease. The nursing home cost is $500 a month.

State officials said they had made a mistake 17 months earlier in ruling Thomas eligible for the program. Thomas said he was told his monthly income of $550 was $123 above the maximum amount a person can earn and still qualify for Medicaid benefits.

CAN'T PAY

Yet without that assistance he can't afford to keep his wife in the nursing home, where she has amassed a $2,000 bill he can't pay, Thomas said. The couple has six children, including one aged 5 and another 11 who are staying with married sisters.

"I can't help but feel guilty about it, but there was nothing else I could do," Thomas said Thursday of the divorce. "I just thank God she won't have to know about it. She can't talk and she can't understand. She's just dwindling away."

Charles Johnson, regional director of the Family Services

Division, said his office was concerned about Thomas' predicament "but we have to stay within the regulations governing our program, and there is nothing in them to exempt him."

WHY IS IT?

Johnson said if Mrs. Thomas' case is approved after a divorce she would receive $350 each month in Medicaid payments provided that she had no means of support.

"I love my wife and it won't make any difference to me that we are divorced," Thomas said, "but I just don't understand it. Why is it that the average man, the man who works for a living, is always the one to get hurt?"

Rescue Squadron Quits Operations

Detachment 18, 43 Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron at Webb AFB has ceased its flying operations and will be inactivated in the near future.

Routine reassignment of the remaining squadron personnel is pending.

The inactivation of local base rescue follows a year long, in-depth analysis of Air Force aircraft reliability and reduced aircraft accident rates.

Local base rescue units are being reassigned from selected bases to those where activity is higher, with attendant savings in manpower and dollars.

Buffalo Trail Council Record Is Applauded

ODESSA — The Buffalo Trail Council was recognized here Thursday evening as one of the outstanding councils of Boy Scouts of America when it received the Spencer Award.

John Dupree, Dallas, South Central Regional director in charge of scouting in five states, made the presentation to Bernard M. (Bruno) Hanson, council president. Volunteer workers and the staff achieved a record of 4.5 per cent gain in youth membership and increased the percentage of eligible boys reached from 30 to 32.1 during the year.

Scouting, said Dupree in an address to the recognition banquet crowd of more than 250 persons at Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church, is a proven means of helping boys bridge the gap during their formative years. It confronts them with challenges in the form of achievement ranks, and in the end helps them commit the things they first learned by memory to principles of life.

REACHING OUT

Best of all, he said, it enables boys to associate with good adults, thus absorbing character and high ideals. From the program, he said the figures definitely showed a disproportionately large share of the leaders of tomorrow. The big challenge, he notes, is in reaching more boys, but only as they are reached with a meaningful program.

Seven men and one woman were presented with the highest awards that can be presented by a Boy Scout Council. Men receiving the Silver Beaver Award were Billy G. Mims of Big Spring; George Stewart of Snyder; Clyde E. Chynoweth of James Dublin, Malcolm Abel and Bernold M. "Bruno" Hanson of Midland; and Dr. Marvin E. Grice of Odessa.

Sterile-Fly Center Open

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), with the cooperation of the government of Mexico, has established a new sterile-fly dispersal center at Tampico, Mexico. This will extend screwworm eradication efforts to record distances south of the United States border.

Officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) said the new facility at the Tampico airport — 280 miles south of the screwworm sterile fly production plant at Mission, Tex. — will immediately begin receiving bulk shipments of 20-million sterile pupae each week. The pupae will be repackaged at the airport into cardboard boxes containing 2,000 each.

The boxes will be released from planes flown over screwworm-infested areas of north-central Mexico after the pupae have developed into adult flies.

Expanded operations in Mexico became possible with the sharp drop in screwworm incidence in the southwestern United States within recent weeks. APHIS veterinarians noted that the advent of cold weather has been a major factor in this reduced incidence.

Only 36 cases were reported during the first week of January, and only six in the week ending Jan. 13 — all from Texas — compared with nearly a thousand per day in September at the height of the massive screwworm invasion from Mexico during 1972. USDA officials said Jan. 8 was the first day since March 15 when no screwworm cases were reported within the United States.

Dr. Bill Shaw of Odessa installed the Council Officers and Executive Board Members. Thirty scouts from Big Spring attended.

'No-Fault' Car Insurance Bill Backed By Bar Filed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A "no-fault" car insurance bill backed by the State Bar of Texas was filed for introduction in the House Thursday.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Jon Newton of Beeville, would not deny an injured motorist the right to file suit against the other driver as would most no-fault proposals. Newton's bill probably will be formally introduced and referred to committee Monday.

"This is the bar's response to no-fault," said Davis Grant, the bar's general counsel.

Court Facing Varied Agenda

County Commissioners Court at 9 a.m. Monday will discuss whether to accept ownership of the Center Point School building and open debate on the subject of providing a security guard for Texas International flights.

County Judge A. G. Mitchell said area residents want to use the Center Point property as a domino parlor. Also, considered will be use of the building as a voting box. The Big Spring school system board voted to offer Howard County the property for $1.

Sheriff A. N. Standard is expected to argue for hiring another man to be security guard at the Howard County Airport.

Bill McClendon, airport manager, is to meet with the court about this and other security measures to be required by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Standard will present estimates on a washer and dryer for the jail, also.

Larry Justiss, librarian at the Howard County Public Library, will confer with the court about a pay raise.

L. P. Gilvin of Gilvin-Terrill Inc., Amarillo, sent the court a letter requesting a resolution supporting a continuing Federal Highway Bill. Gilvin is working with the Association of General Contractors of America.

Obtaining a file cabinet for the county welfare office, conferring with Marvin Hanson, road administrator, and approving bills appear on the agenda.

No One Injured

An ambulance was dispatched from Howard County Airport to a car-truck accident near the Fairview Gm about 9:10 a.m. this morning. But no persons were found injured. The ambulance was taking a burn victim for transfer by air to Galveston.

Whole Cottonseed Said Livestock Feeding Sub

Livestock feeding is in full swing in Mitchell County, and producers are faced with paying a high price for a major protein supplement, cottonseed meal.

County Extension Agent Bobby Lemons suggests that cattlemen consider whole cottonseed as a substitute along with guar meal, castor meal, alfalfa hay, dehydrated alfalfa pellets and commercial dry supplements.

However, the price of whole cottonseed may increase due to pressure from the high-priced cottonseed meal which is now more than $150 a ton, cautions Bobby Lemons.

In determining whether to feed whole cottonseed or the 41 percent cottonseed meal, consider the cost of each as well as handling and hauling costs. Feed the whole cottonseed if 100 pounds of it can be fed cheaper than a mixture of 35 pounds of cottonseed meal and 65 pounds of milo.

In feeding whole cottonseed or any of the other alternative protein supplements, the main concern is to provide the

The bill would add to each auto liability policy—unless rejected by the policyholder in writing—"personal injury protection coverage" for the motorist, his family and passengers, as well as pedestrians struck by his car. The coverage would provide $2,000 for medical bills, $100 per week for lost wages and $10,000 in the event of death. Most insurance policies now carry $2,000 in first party coverage for medical expenses.

Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur filed a bill requiring uninsured drivers to pay $60 into a state uninsured motorists fund before they can obtain license plates for their cars. His bill also would add $5,000 in property damage coverage to the standard uninsured motorist policy, which now pays only medical and death expenses.

Other bills introduced or filed Thursday included these measures:

—HB108 by Rep. Joe Hubnak of Rosenberg, requiring hunters—at the risk of a $10 to $200 fine for violation—to wear fluorescent orange hats and jackets.

—HB112 by Rep. Bob Hendricks of McKinney, providing life imprisonment without possibility of parole as an alternative to the death penalty.

—HB118 by Rep. Senfronia Thompson of Houston, making Jan. 15, birthday of the late Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. a state holiday.

—HB119 by Rep. Neil Caldwell of Angleton, providing a $900,000 appropriation for the special commission that will make recommendations to the legislature when it meets next year as a constitutional convention.

—HB120 by Rep. Ben Z. Grant of Marshall, allowing all qualified voters to serve on juries. Present law limits jury service to persons 21 and over.

—HB121 by Rep. James D. Cole of Greenville, allowing judges to expunge minors' marijuana convictions from the record after successful completion of probation.

—HB133 by Rep. Woody Denson of Houston, eliminating the requirement that families making their own wine must file a statement with the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and pay a $10 fee.

—HB109 by Rep. Lindon Williams of Houston, requiring policemen and others to determine whether an unconscious or incoherent person is suffering from a disabling condition and to seek medical help.

—HB146 by Rep. Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi, requiring bi-lingual education programs for "linguistically different" children in their inability to speak and understand English excludes them from getting an education.

Beil Heads Heart Group

The heart battle is still claiming victims here, members of the Howard County Heart Association were reminded Thursday evening.

Victor Rhoden, regional director for the heart association, told the group that last year 138 Howard County residents died of cardiovascular troubles.

The chapter named Charles Beil to lead the chapter's efforts in combating cardiovascular diseases. Other officers named at the meeting at the VA Hospital were M. A. Snell, vice president; Lucille Norris, secretary; and Virginia Ross, treasurer.

Mrs. Billy Mac Shepherd will head up the community services division, and Bob Knight will be in charge of public education.

Memorials may still be made to the association by mailing them to PO Box 1223, said J. C. Pickle, chairman.

Feb. 25 was selected by the chapter as the date for the traditional Heart Sunday observance.

Not Guilty, Says Casey, Nixon's Pick

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — William J. Casey, President Nixon's nominee to be an under-secretary of State, says he is not guilty of mismanagement and flagrant violation of duties as charged in a suit naming him and 13 other directors of a corporation.

Casey, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, was quoted as saying in a statement issued here Thursday that, "In none of the causes of action in the suit... have I been named nor did I have any personal interest."

Casey was listed in the suit's "cause for action" but is not one of the two defendants identified as key figures in five specific instances of alleged mismanagement.

William W. Herpel, the court-appointed trustee for the now bankrupt Multiponics Inc., has filed a $2.1-million suit in U. S. District Court the corporation's 14 directors, two companies and another individual.

Multiponics owns 43,000 acres of farm land in Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana and Mississippi, operating cotton, rice and soybean farms.

The alleged mismanagement took place before President Nixon nominated Casey to be SEC chairman. Multiponics filed a bankruptcy petition Feb. 8, 1971, and the Senate confirmed Casey's nomination to the SEC in April 1971.

The suit did not mention his position in the SEC, but did say that Multiponics directors, with Casey as general counsel, mapped a course of action "for the purpose of attempting to obtain the approval of the appropriate regulatory authorities for the debtor corporation to sell its stock to the general public, so that their own stock, and/or options to purchase stock, in the debtor corporation would be greatly enhanced in value." The SEC would have been involved in any approval of the firm's stock for public sale.

Williams, Bledsoe Lead HC To Win

Taylor Williams and Tom Bledsoe turned in their most impressive performances of the season here Thursday night in leading Howard County JC to a decisive 92-78 Western Conference victory over Frank Phillips College here.

Williams counted 26 points, mostly on tap-ins, while Bledsoe chipped in with 25. It was the fine court demeanor on the part of the locals' smaller men, completely dominated the boards, clawing down rebound after rebound.

Fine shooting by the Plainsmen's Alvin Meadors kept the visitors in contention. Meadors wound up with 40 points, hitting 17 buckets. Most came from a decisive 92-78 Western Conference victory over Frank Phillips College here.

Pensacola, Fla., Takes Lead In National Poll

Pensacola, Fla., which won its first ten starts this season, has overtaken Vincennes, Ind., as the top team in the National Junior College Athletic Association basketball poll.

Vincennes lost its second game in 15 starts and dropped to second place in the balloting. Vincennes won over Chipola, 75-66, Lake City, 72-68, and Manatee, 92-80, but lost to Edison, 68-67, on a swing through Florida.

Wright College of Chicago, Ill., beaten only once in 19 games, rallied two first place votes and ranks third.

Highest ranking Texas team is Lon Morris of Jacksonville, listed eighth with a 15-2 record.

D. Kelly of Bay College of Maryland, Baltimore, is the scoring leader with a 42.4 average. He has appeared in 11 games.

The team with the best offense is Bay College, averaging 107.3 points per start.

No. One defensive unit is SUNY of Farmingdale, N.Y., which has allowed only 54.6 points a game, on the average.

Coryell Hired By Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Don Coryell, of quiet but intense demeanor, was hired Thursday from the college ranks to put offense back into the game for the National Football League's beleaguered St. Louis Cardinals as the club's 22nd head coach.

"I believe in winning the games by going out and scoring touchdowns," said Coryell, 48, whose teams during 12 seasons at San Diego State set 18 National Collegiate Athletic Association records.

"I wanted someone who could put the offense back into the Cardinals," said owner William V. "Bill" Bidwill, who introduced Coryell at a news conference.

"He (Coryell) has always had this. He comes to us very highly recommended from many sources. He has a consistent record of winning seasons."

Dons Seeking To Halt UCLA Win Skein

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA's steamrolling Bruins, roaring toward college basketball's all-time winning streak, run into motivated San Francisco tonight at Pauley Pavilion. The visiting Dons hope to avoid becoming UCLA's 58th straight victim and at the same time, preserve their original record of 60 set in the mid 1950s.

Coach Bob Gaillard's Dons, 12-1, will play their normal game rather than the out-and-out stall which many teams have tried against the top-ranked Bruins.

"We're going down there to play our game. We're not going to play any games like holding the ball," said Gaillard, whose team prefers a fast-breaking offense.

Meanwhile, UCLA's starting sparkplug guard, 6-foot-1 Tommy Curtis, is ailing with the flu and is doubtful for the game. He'll be replaced by sure-handed Greg Lee, a regular a year ago but a less volatile type on the fast break.

However, both teams are excellent defensively. In fact, both coaches feel that defense is the key to victory.

San Francisco may use a rugged 1-3-1 zone in which three tall players—6-9 Byron "Snake" Jones, 6-9 Eric Farnsten and 6-10 Kevin Restani—play across the floor line. Guard Phil Smith, at 6-4, plays under the bucket with Mike Quick on the side.

Garden City JH Sweeps 2 Games

GRADY — Garden City Junior High won both ends of a basketball doubleheader from Grady here Thursday.

Margin in the boys' game was 43-26. Larry Batla had eight points and Mike Black and Wayne Hirt seven each for Garden City, which now is 4-1 in district and 6-2 over-all.

The Garden City girls' margin of victory was 25-21. Linda Schwartz counted nine points and Denise Jansa eight for Garden City. The girls are 5-2 on the year and 4-1 against league teams.

The Garden City teams play Sterling City here Saturday in makeup contests.

"If the Union team played all the time like they played here tonight," Ross stated, following the game, "they'll beat any team in the district."

Dickie Faught scored 30 points and Collie Booth 28 for Union-Terry. Jimmy Ross had 20 for Flower Grove.

Can Foreman Stand Up To Punching?

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—George Foreman's hopes of wrestling the world heavyweight boxing crown from Joe Frazier depends on his courage, predicts Joe Louis.

"If Foreman gets tagged, will he get up and keep fighting—that's what I want to know," the Brown Bomber said after flying in from London Thursday night for Monday's title fight at Kingston's National Stadium.

"I gotta give the kid a shot. If he's got a left hand, he's got an awfully good chance."

A wave of excitement swept this sub-tropical island when the heavyweight great of the 1930s and 1940s disembarked at the Kingston Airport and checked into the fight headquarters.

"There's Joe Louis—Hey, Joe!" fans yelled. "You were the greatest, Joe!"

Taxi drivers and doormen treated him like a prince and people on the streets and in lobbies swarmed around him for small talk and autographs.

Joe, wearing a red shirt and red-checked sports coat, appeared embarrassed.

"It was the same way in London," he told a friend. "You would have thought I just became champion."

Louis was in London for the Joe Bugner-Rudy Lubbers fight, won by Bugner who will meet Muhammad Ali at Las Vegas on Feb. 14.

The Brown Bomber, 58, showing little effects of the illness that beset him a few years ago, acknowledged that he had never seen Foreman fight in the flesh, only on television.

"But I know he is five years younger than Frazier, that he's four inches taller and has a five-inch longer reach," Joe said. "He's proved he can hit and he's never lost a fight as a pro."

"You don't need experience to beat Frazier. He's always there in front of you. He's coming straight at you all the time. All Frazier has is strength, no finesse."

"You don't have to worry about out-thinking him, the way you would Cassius Clay, how to work him in the corner or get him on the ropes. He's out there to be hit."

"But you've got to be in condition. You've got to be ready to go three minutes every round. Frazier never ever stop throwing punches."

Louis said that if Foreman shows him an effective left hand in workouts, he may be inclined to lay a bet on him to take the title.

"I'd want odds," he added. "Maybe 4-to-1. But in this fight, no telling what will happen. Foreman is young and strong. Frazier hasn't fought anybody in two years."

Five Big Spring residents will compete in the second annual Executive Athletic Club Handball Tournament, which starts today in Lubbock and continues through Sunday.

Ray Thomas, Big Spring, will oppose Lile Lewter, Lubbock, in a first round match. John Preston, Big Spring, tries Bill Hassman, Dallas.

A. J. Pirkle, Big Spring, squares off with Milton Pierce, Lubbock. Tito Arenchiba, Big Spring, has it out with Tom Cronin, Oklahoma City.

Lt. Ron Riffenberg of Webb AFB is also entered but the identity of his first round opponent was not made available to the newspaper.

In all, 32 players will compete for the Lubbock championship. Some are nationally-ranked players, including Bob Lindsey, El Paso, and Gene Craft, Austin.

Texan Leads At Tucson; Barber Near

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Jack Montgomery, slump-ridden for two seasons and a struggler for most of his eight years on the pro tour, had a surprise one-stroke lead and some high hopes going into today's second round in the $150,000 Dean Martin-Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

"I had a pretty good season in 1968," the 31-year-old Fort Worth, Tex., native said after firing a leading 67 Thursday. "It was the best year I've had. I was 38th on the money list."

"I just hope I'm ready to have another one."

It's been pretty grim for the rangy blond for the last two seasons. He won a total of $14,000 in 1970-71—considerably less than expenses—and was playing so badly last year that he left the tour for a while to go home and work on his game.

"When I came back out on the tour I had a better idea what I wanted to do."

He did it well enough to establish a one-stroke margin over defending champion Miller Barber and Bobby Greenwood, tied at 68.

Play was delayed by some 40 minutes because of frost on the greens so that the field stacked up and Greenwood, one of the last off the tee, finished in darkness.

The group at 69 included Bobby Nichols, Bob Murphy, Frank Beard, George Hixon, Forrest Fezler and Rod Funseth, winner of the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open two weeks ago.

Lee Trevino, the British Open champ and pre-tourney favorite here, was in a big group at 70, three strokes off the pace.

AFC Out To Achieve Sweep In Dallas Go

DALLAS (AP) — It will be Billy Kilmer's dying duck passes against Daryl Lamonica's rifle shots in Sunday's Pro Bowl between the American and National Football Conference with many National Football League stars missing with various excuses.

The AFC can claim a season sweep over the NFC if it wins the game set for 3 p.m. CST kickoff on national television from the Texas Stadium.

The younger AFC won a majority of the exhibition season, and regular season games from the NFC and Miami of the AFC knocked off Washington 14-7 in Super Bowl VII.

Kilmer, who was intercepted thrice as Washington fell to the Dolphins, admits he doesn't throw the prettiest pass in the world.

"When I was at New Orleans, we used to keep extra footballs around during duck season . . . most of my passes got shot down by hunters," Kilmer jokes.

Lamonica, the Oakland ace, has been the sharpest of the quarterbacks in practice and says "We are going to put the ball up a bunch."

John Hadl of San Diego is Lamonica's backup while Norm Sneed of the New York Giants is Kilmer's replacement.

Lamonica has 1,000-yard gainers O. J. Simpson of Buffalo, Marv Hubbard of Oakland, Franco Harris of Pittsburgh, and Mercury Morris of Miami for a running threat.

Kilmer can call on 1,000-yard club members Calvin Hill of Dallas, John Brockington of Green Bay and Ron Johnson of the Giants.

Flu has wreaked havoc with the schedules of coaches Chuck Noll of Pittsburgh for the AFC and Tom Landry of Dallas for the NFC. However, no player was expected to miss the game which was expected to draw some 35,000 to 40,000 fans for its first appearance outside of Los Angeles.

Four players off the Miami Super Bowl champion team, linebacker Nick Buoniconti, defensive end Bill Stanfill, offensive guard Larry Little and back Mercury Morris were bothered by the flu the most. However, all four were expected to play Sunday.

The third meeting between the AFC and NFC has been termed the "drop-out bowl" because of such stars as Washington's Larry Brown, Dallas' Bob Lilly, the New York Jets' Joe Namath, Miami's Paul Warfield and Larry Csonka missing for various reasons.

The series between the NFC and AFC is tied 1-1.

If the score is tied at the end of regulation play, the team scoring first by any manner during the overtime will be the winner.

The winners get $2,000 and the losers $1,500.

Finest Stakes Schedule To Be Offered By Track

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — The finest stakes schedule in this part of the country — including the world's only $1 million race — will be offered during the 1973 season at Ruidoso Downs.

Al Rosa, Ruidoso president and general manager, called the stakes list "a brilliant program of racing events offering purses of truly remarkable stature."

Rosa added that all indications pointed toward a continuation of the "tremendous growth recorded last year when the wagering reached a record $16,442,700 for a stunning daily average of $260,995."

The '73 meeting, covering 64 race days (one more than last year), will kick off on May 19 and extend through Labor Day.

The world's richest race — the All-American Quarter Horse Futurity — is the showpiece of the quarter horse world. The spectacular, which is to be lengthened this year to 440 yards, is a cinch to again surpass the $1 million mark.

The All-American is a traditional Labor Day fixture at the mountain track located in the cool pines of Southern New Mexico.

Ruidoso Downs also boasts the second- and third-richest races in the world. The runner-up slot in cash value is the Kansas Quarter Horse Futurity, which is expected to top out this year at about $300,000. The honor for the world's third-richest race will go either to the Rainbow Quarter Horse Derby or the Rainbow Quarter Horse Futurity. Each currently carries a projected purse of about $225,000.

Another significant event is the Twin Sisters Quarter Horse Futurity, a 350-yard run which figures to offer a gross pot of about $75,000 during the inaugural running on July 1.

The second part of the two-part stakes will be staged later in the year at Sunland Park.

Other to events include the $70,000 (estimated) Ruidoso Quarter Horse Derby, the $70,000 (est.) World Championship Quarter Horse Classic, the $50,000 (est.) INFLATION COULD BECOME MUCH WORSE

Nation's Economy Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy closed out 1972 on a strong note, growing at a sharp 8.5 per cent rate during the final three months of the year while the rate of inflation accelerated slightly, the government said today.

The Commerce Department reported that prices, as measured by the broad yardstick of the Gross National Product, rose by 2.7 per cent during the October-December quarter, up from 2.4 per cent in the previous quarter.

GNP, the market value of the nation's output of goods and services, climbed by $31.8 billion during the quarter. With the effect of inflation removed, the department figure the economy increased at an annual rate of 8.5 per cent compared with 6.3 per cent in the third quarter.

NOW WORRIED

For the year as a whole, the economy grew by 8.5 per cent, higher than the 6 per cent forecast by the Nixon administration a year ago, while the rate of inflation increased by 3.25 per cent, lower than the 3.25 per cent forecast by President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisors.

For all of 1972, GNP averaged $115.2 trillion, an increase of about $102 billion over 1971. This figure was about $4 billion over the administration's target, and indicated the economy is expanding stronger than had been expected.

The administration is now worried that the current economic expansion, which started in late 1971, may be growing too quickly and getting to the point where inflation could become much worse.

FEDERAL SLICES

To counter this possibility, Nixon has ordered big cutbacks in federal spending and a tight budget for fiscal 1974, beginning July 1, which will go to Congress in about a week. In addition, Nixon has decided to keep wage-price controls.

The GNP measure for the rate of inflation is regarded as a broader one than the Consumer Price Index. The CPI, figured on a different basis and affecting only goods sold at retail, advanced at a 3.5 per cent rate in 1972.

Many economists regard the CPI as a more reliable rate of inflation and say that the GNP yardstick tends to understate the rate.

The administration had hoped to cut the rate of inflation to under 3 per cent in 1972, but it never said which yardstick it would use. It has conceded, however, that inflation is slightly over its 1972 target.

For its Phase 3 economic system of largely voluntary wage-price restraint, the administration has set a goal of cutting inflation to a 2.5 per cent rate of increase by the end of 1973.

Mission Speaker At Flower Grove

The Rev. Edward Smith, an Assemblies of God missionary to Japan, will be guest speaker Sunday at the Bethel Assembly of God in the Flower Grove Community, the Reverend Carl Poldrack, pastor, announced.

The Smith family went to the Okayama district, which is one of the most neglected areas of Japan, and took the gospel message to every home in the city of Soja. Each home was visited six times and then evangelistic campaigns were held. Rev. Smith is a graduate of Southwestern Assemblies of God College, Waxahachie.

Oil Agreement

BEAUMONT (AP) — Striking employees at the Mobil Oil Co. refinery in Beaumont were scheduled to go back to work today after agreeing on a tentative two-year contract with management.

The settlement ends a walk-out which began at midnight Jan. 10, idling about 1,500 workers.

Record Entries For Dog Show

The Big Spring Kennel Club sponsors its biggest dog show every Saturday with 949 dogs entered.

Bruce Wright, president, said the increase in participants parallels similar increases at other American Kennel Club licensed shows. The local club has sponsored several AKC shows in the last few years, and participation has grown each year.

Spectators will be admitted when the show opens at 9 a.m. at T-1 Hangar at Webb Air Force Base.

AKC regulations prohibit admitting dogs that are not entered in the show, Mrs. Sue Landon said.

Refreshments will be available during the show.

'Nixon Network Neurosis' Ripped

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Nixon on network neurosis" is behind White House efforts to intimidate broadcast newsmen, says Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., chairman of the House communications subcommittee.

SHORT, SIMPLE

Saying there will be long and thorough congressional hearings on television and radio license renewal issues, Macdonald told broadcasters:

"Stick to your guns. Those guns should be in place to protect you from anyone who would try to interfere with your right to present television and radio news in the way qualified newsmen—your employees and the networks—see it."

In an attack on Nixon administration positions, Macdonald said his message to the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy "is short and simple:

"Stick to your congressional-granted authority, and stop trying to force-feed the American people. We don't need news standards that bear a stamp, 'Government Approved—Fit for Public Consumption.'"

BAD HABIT

Macdonald, whose subcommittee handles broadcast legislation, said Clay T. Whitehead, director of OTP, "has a bad habit of meddling" in broadcast affairs and is playing on a "theme of 'stop the criticism or we'll stop you.'"

In a speech in Indianapolis last month, Whitehead spoke of bias and "ideological plugola" in network news reporting, and said the administration has drafted legislation to hold local TV stations accountable at license-renewal time for balance and taste of all network news and entertainment programs they broadcast.

In an interview, Macdonald said Thursday: "I can practically guarantee that there's nothing in (Whitehead's) speech that will survive in the committee. I don't think the Congress is going to stand by and see some veiled figure saying he represents the President browbeat the networks and their affiliates."

People Can Earn More And Not Be Penalized

Starting in 1973, people who are working while getting social security benefits can earn more but never lose more than $1 in benefits for each $2 earned, according to Erven Fisher, social security district manager in Big Spring.

"The more you earn, the higher your total income will be," Fisher said. "Under the new social security law, social security payments will be reduced by $1 for every $2 earned over $2,100 in a year."

Previously, monthly payments were reduced by $1 in benefits for every $2 earned between $1,680 and $2,880 in a year — and by $1 for every $1 earned over $2,880.

"People 72 and over will continue to get their full social security benefits regardless of earnings," Fisher said. Under the new law, people under 72 can earn as much as $2,100 in a year and get their full social security benefits. Different rules apply to people getting social security disability benefits if they work.

In addition, starting in 1973, full benefits can be paid for any month in which an employee's wages are not more than $175 — or he didn't perform substantial services in self-employment. Previously, the monthly limit was $140. "Also, starting in 1973, only your earnings in the months before you reach 72 will be used to figure what benefits are due you for those months," Fisher said. "Before, earnings in the entire year you reached 72 were counted in figuring benefits due you for months before you were 72."

Another feature of the new law assures that the earnings exemption for people getting social security payments will go up automatically in future years.

License plates for 1973 arrived at the courthouse Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Zirah L. Bednar, county tax assessor-collector, said. They will go on sale Feb. 1.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣ Failure by East to communicate with his partner on defense resulted in West's failing to obtain the ruff required to send South's five heart contract down to defeat.

The auction was highly competitive and West's jump to five diamonds over three hearts was well calculated. He was unwilling to defend against the opponents game and by taking a premature sacrifice, he hoped to put the other side to a guess. North was unwilling to settle for a small profit on the deal and he persisted to five hearts.

West opened the deuce of clubs and the queen was played from dummy. East followed with the three and South with the five. A heart was led to the ten and West was in with the ace. It was his desire to get East in at this point so that he might obtain a club ruff.

With no clue other than the bidding to guide him, West chose to lead the jack of diamonds in the hope that East's raise was based on the ace of that suit and the latter would be induced to grab the lead to return a club. South, however, won the return and after drawing the remaining trump, he established dummy's club suit with a single ruff and conceded one more trick to the opposition—in spades.

The contract could have been defeated if West had shifted to a spade instead of a diamond when he was in. "There was no way I could tell you, partner," was East's comment at the conclusion of the deal. "I had no chance to signal."

This statement was not actually true. The lead directing convention provides that when a defender follows with an unnecessarily high card (which is clearly not a normal come-on signal) he is calling for the lead of the higher ranking of the two remaining suits—not counting trumps. [The play of an unnecessarily low card in these circumstances, requests the lower ranking suit.]

Since East can clearly read his partner's club lead as a singleton, he should drop the jack of clubs under North's queen. This is obviously not a request to continue clubs. It must, therefore, constitute a message to partner that East can be reached in spades, the higher ranking side suit. When West gains the lead with the ace of hearts, he does not have to guess how to put his partner in.

Luna 21 Reaction

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Manned Spacecraft Center scientists say they will be grateful for whatever new information they can obtain from Luna 21, the unmanned Russian moon land craft.

"It's nice because we are basing a lot of our interpretation on a few landing sites, so the more points we can get the better," said Dr. Grant H. Heiken.

The Soviet spacecraft landed in an area just north of the site where Apollo 17 landed. The area is in the northeast region of the moon.

"You can say one thing for sure," said Dr. Robin Brett, "no matter where they landed, as long as it is a new site, we are going to learn more about the moon and that's good."

Dr. W. R. Muehlberger, a geologist, who is on loan to the center from the University of Texas, said the Russian landing "will extend our detailed analysis of rocks to where they are."

"Everything we learn is another bit of information to stick into the puzzle about the moon," Muehlberger said. "It's a complicated puzzle and we didn't get to go there many times."

Backgammon Enjoying Resurgence

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — From the European ski retreats of the social register set to Hollywood backlots, the ancient game of backgammon is enjoying a resurgence.

It has spread from conservative Eastern men's clubs into the school yard and the middle-class living room, according to Aelxis Obolensky, founder of the International Backgammon Association.

Packing portable boards, the mark of the veteran player, most of the world's great backgammon competitors are coming here for a world championship tournament opening today.

Some 300 figures from the social world, the sports world, Hollywood and Europe will compete in the four-day tournament sponsored by a distillery.

Prizes to be divided among the top 18 winners in the tournament are estimated to total about $100,000. And a part of the proceeds, derived from entry fees, will be contributed to the United Cerebral Palsy Fund, Obolensky said.

Playboy Magazine publisher Hugh Hefner has entered as has actress Polly Bergen, former baseball great Hank Greenberg and Oswald Jacoby, the contract bridge columnist.

Obolensky said, "A great majority of our players you might term 'goers.' They like to go to places with action. The casino always benefits."

The game, played by the Chaldeans in 3000 B.C., the Egyptian pharaohs and the ancient Romans, caught on at first in resort areas like St. Moritz, Switzerland, Obolensky said.

One of the game's enticements is that a player who thinks he is leading can double the stakes. If the lead changes hands, as it often does, his opponent can redouble. The stakes can be increased until they reach 64 times the original amount.

"You can lose a quarter of a million dollars in one evening in some clubs in Europe," Obolensky said, adding, "This used to be strictly a man's game."

The backgammon player moves 15 playing pieces called counters along a board with 12 narrow triangles, or points, on each side. The winner is the first one off the board. The counters are advanced by a roll of the dice.

Fire Chief Asks Probe

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Fire Chief C. R. Cook says he has asked the attorney general's office to investigate a grand jury probe of the Houston Fire Department.

Cook accused the Harris County District Attorney's office of harassing and threatening witnesses.

"I resent it so strongly that I have contacted the attorney general and asked him to investigate," Cook told newsmen as he waited to testify.

Atty. Gen. John Hill said he was not aware of Cook's complaint and he added that his office would not "inject itself into a grand jury investigation."

The district attorney's office has said the grand jury is looking into the practice of accumulated time given to certain employees and the handling of equipment in the fire department.

GAIN CUSTODY Negro Parents Win Court Fight

HOUSTON (AP) — A black man said today he never lost 55, claimed that the only reason confidence in his fight to gain the welfare unit opposed the permanent custody of a 6-year-old adoption was because they are old Mexican-American foster black and Victor is Mexican child.

A juvenile court judge the Adams home since he was awarded James E. Adams and about a year old. He had been his wife permanent custody of placed with the Adams couple Victor Wilkerson Thursday as a neglected child.

The boy was not in court when Judge Robert Lowry announced his ruling.

WELFARE UNIT
"This court has considered all the evidence submitted by the child welfare unit and that submitted by attorneys for the aunt and uncle and the foster parents," Lowry said. "The court rules that permanent custody should be given to the Adamses."

Lowry had given the black couple temporary custody of the child in December pending the outcome of the permanent custody hearing.

TEARS FLOW
The adoption was opposed by the Harris County Welfare Unit which contended the Adamses, who are 55 and 53, are too old to raise a child. The couple's age might be harmful to the boy's rearing, and by an aunt and uncle, Linda and Elias Lopez, who also sought and one other adopted son, Hal, 14, who lives with them.

Wrist Slap For Killer Of Child

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Fred Young Jr., 22, has been assessed a second probated sentence for killings last January during the robbery of a Kountze antique store.

A jury here found Young guilty Thursday of the murder of 3-year-old Leslie Bowman and assessed him a 10-year sentence. Young previously was given a five-year probated sentence for the killing of the Bowman child's grandmother, Mrs. Mabel McCormick during the robbery of her shop.

Young testified during the trial that he only loaded furniture into a rented truck and knew nothing of the killings, which he said were done by his companion, Dennis Ray Anderson.

Anderson previously pleaded guilty to the murder of Mrs. McCormick and was assessed a life sentence. He is charged also with the death of the child and will be tried.

The Young trial was held in Tyler on a change of venue. The jury here reached a verdict Thursday morning, after receiving the case shortly after mid-afternoon Wednesday.

In his charge to the jury state District Court Judge Galloway Calhoun said Young's mere presence at the scene of the crimes was insufficient evidence for conviction.

Young now will be returned to Hardin County in Southeast Texas to await trial on theft charges.

Ingram said there will be no personnel changes at the paper, but there may be some mechanical changes. Russell will continue to write his popular column for the newspaper.

Hectic Time Here As CR-73 Polishes For Its Opening

Campus Revue — '73, the big musical variety staged by the Big Spring High School band — heads into the final weekend before curtain time with prospects of a sellout.

Friday the total tickets remaining stood at 455 out of all four performances.

The Friday performance was down to five $4 tickets and the Saturday one to three of the same type. Thursday's production had only a pair of $2 tickets left and 179 of the $4 variety. Tuesday's opening had five $2 ducats, all singles, and 264 of the $4 category. Thus, an attendance of around 5,000 for the four nights seems assured.

Todd Lane, who has helped polish the campus extravaganza and give it a professional shine since the inception, arrived on the scene Friday.

This was the signal for forced-draft rehearsals, something also prompted by the loss of a week practice time during the recent crippling ice storm.

Rehearsals are slated from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. today; three Saturday (9 a.m. to 12 noon, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.) Sunday afternoon the cast tries on makeup and costumes in preparation for press night Monday, when the final smoothing-out touches will be applied.

Bill Bradley, band director, also is head director of the show, but he has help from Gene Currie, assistant band director, who will handle the stage band, and Jean Hubbard, Mrs. Hubbard, who naturally is called "Mother," is technically in charge of art and developing THEY'RE CLEANING UP — Gary Witte and Dicky Hubbard, with mops, are cleaning up on things in general, with Randy Taylor, soloist, from the boys chorus in CR-73. The BSHS Band extravaganza is heading for its opening performance Tuesday with only 455 tickets remaining out of four shows.

The scenery, but she's all over the set helping with any sort of problem. The cast, which numbers upwards of 100 on stage at one time, is bearing down on lines, songs, gags, and dances, but behind the scene sound, light, stage, art, and costume committees are swarming like bees.

Postal Rates Hike Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those petite party invitations and oversized envelopes are feeling the pinch of automation and—if the Postal Service gets its way—may cost more to mail.

Postmaster General E. T. Klassen announced a series of recommendations on Thursday to put a surcharge on extra large or small envelopes.

The recommendations, which must be approved by the independent Postal Rate Commission, would apply to airmail and first-class mail weighing one ounce or less and single-piece third-class mail weighing two ounces or less.

The odd-sized envelopes can't be sorted automatically and, therefore, are much more expensive to process, says the Postal Service.

The recommendations were presented in an attempt to revise the mail system's complicated system of rate classification. More recommendations are expected in the future.

The proposals made by Klassen stop short of any fundamental change in the current system. Most of the recommendations are designed to raise rates on costly mail processing or encourage big-business mailers to make changes that will simplify sorting and delivery.

HC Signup Sets Record

Enrollment at Howard County Junior College reached the 1,200 mark this morning setting a new all-time record for the school.

The previous enrollment high was 1,140 set in the 1969-70 semester. President Dr. Thomas Salter attributed the new record to faculty recruitment efforts and off-campus classes.

Included in the 1,200 students registered are 117 from the San Angelo branch taking banking and law enforcement courses, and 126 from the Lamesa center enrolled in occupational and academic courses.

Late registration, which carries a $5 fee, has been extended through Jan. 24 for the Big Spring campus.

Classes will get under way Monday at the Lamesa center as they go into the second week on the local campus.

Bachelor With 120 Children Honored

SAIGON (AP) — Guess who's on that list of the year's 10 outstanding young men? A bachelor with 120 children.

In four years, 29-year-old Richard M. Hughes has been mother, father and Santa Claus to several hundred street urchins.

Hughes came to Vietnam in 1968 as a free-lance journalist after a stint at professional acting. The first person he met in Saigon was a little boy who asked: "Who you are? Where you go? You GI?" Everywhere he went, Hughes was confronted by bedraggled, homeless youngsters speaking pidgin English. Before he knew it, he was living in a home with 11 street urchins.

TRAGIC WOES

"It took a while to get beneath their first very independent veneer and probe beneath to find out how deep their problems were," he says. "Their problems were the tragic problems that usually wait until adult life — but they were only children."

"I came over for six months, but by then, I knew I couldn't leave them. If I left, then the house would be closed and the boys would be back on the streets. So I decided to stay for three months and then three months more. Now it's been four years."

One house has mushroomed to five — four in Saigon and one in Da Nang. A sixth is being built in a farm-type setting.

Hughes' venture also led to creation of the Shoeshine Boys Foundation Inc., set up in New York to raise money for the homes, and to a Vietnamese organization headed by the Rev. Luong Tan Hoang to operate them.

One of the foundation's contributors nominated Hughes for the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce list of outstanding young men. He is going to the award ceremony this weekend in Salt Lake City, Utah.

sign a draft agreement making the foundation a bonafide voluntary agency approved by the Vietnamese government.

He explained that this will give the foundation legal status and tax exemptions and will enable it to write letters to get youngsters into school — or help them get identification cards "so they can have an identity of sorts."

The youngsters are 9 to 16 years old. Some go to primary school, some to secondary school and some are technical apprentices learning to repair

Sister Spats

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SISTER SPATS: (Q.) My sister and I can't get along to save our souls, and it is driving our mother crazy. I am 13, my sister is 11. I am trying to teach her right from wrong.

For example, when she cleans the bath tub she leaves the cleaning powder spread all over everything. It's a mess. I offer to show her how to do it right and she starts a big argument.

When something like this happens, my mother accuses me of picking on my little sister. —On the Spot in Ohio.

(A.) It is not your duty to teach your sister right from wrong except by example. The actual teaching, including giving advice and administering any discipline necessary, should be done by your father and mother.

Conduct yourself as you have been taught to. Do chores assigned to you as you have been taught. If your sister asks your advice on any matter, give it to her. But do not volunteer it. You need her and she needs you. As you grow older you will in all likelihood grow closer.

BLOWS: (Q.) My sister and I had a big argument. She hit me but I didn't hit her back. Mom told us both not to hit anyone. She said no one in the family hits anyone. Dad heard the fuss and came in and hit me and then my sister.

He said if we don't stop fighting, he and Mom will get a divorce. He's been saying that for two years. —Beat Up Brother, Age 15, in Texas.

(A.) Suggest to your parents that you have a family conference — one hour long. Each member gets to talk 10 minutes about what bothers him. No one butts in. In the last 20 minutes you all try to get together on some answers to your problems.

In your 10 minutes, suggest to your parents that some definite rules are needed and that both of them should go by the same rules. Explain to them, too, that blows with a hand or fist are very dangerous, especially to girls or women.

Tell them it upsets you to hear constant talk of divorce. Try to get an agreement to hold a family meeting once a month and discuss your differences.

USC Co-Ed Murder Rap

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dist. Atty. Joseph P. Busch says Los Angeles County will seek to extradite a Dallas, Tex., man in the slaying of a University of Southern California co-ed whose partly clad body was found in the desert near El Centro last Dec. 4.

After the arrest of Johnnie Lee Habert III, 23, in Dallas Wednesday on federal charges and a murder warrant issued in Imperial County, Dist. Atty. James E. Hamilton of that county asked Busch to step into the case. Hamilton said he asked Busch to intervene because the case originated in Los Angeles.

Busch said his office would begin extradition proceedings.

The body of Susan Elizabeth Schuler, 21, was found in the desert wrapped in a green sweater and towel after she vanished from her suburban Ladera Heights home Dec. 3. Authorities said Miss Schuler, a senior studying at USC to be a teacher, was shot in the heart by a .22 caliber weapon.

FBI agents said they arrested Harbert on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in Imperial County.

Daylight Time Chances Improve

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional boosters of a plan to extend Daylight Saving Time to a year-round basis say their chances are better than ever because of increasing crime and the nation's fuel shortage.

The extra hour of daylight on winter afternoons would hamper purse snatchers and hanger who prey on late-afternoon pedestrians and it would reduce the use of electric lights in office buildings, they say.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., planned to introduce in the House today a bill to extend DST from its present six-months-a-year status to a full-time basis. DST is in operation in virtually all the states from the last Sunday of April to the last Sunday of October.

Hosmer's office said 31 other House members had agreed to sponsor the legislation as of Wednesday night. The bill that died in the last Congress had 14 sponsors.

One of the most important names on the bill is that of Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the subcommittee that must first consider the bill. "I've been sponsoring this bill for several years in the hope that sooner or later its time would come," Hosmer said in a statement Wednesday. "This year may be it."

Moss, who was cool toward similar legislation in the past, said the fuel shortage is the primary reason he has decided to back the measure this year. "I think at a time when we are admittedly faced with an energy crisis it makes very good sense to have year-round Daylight Saving Time," Moss said.

Moss explained that under Daylight Saving Time big office buildings, for example, could take advantage of sunlight until later in the day and thus save on electricity.

Hosmer stressed what he thinks extension of DST would do to the crime rate. "We want to get the people home from work before the twilight hours, which are the worst crime hours," Hosmer said.

And Now For The Specifics

Gov. Dolph Briscoe gave the outlines of his proposed program to the Texas legislature Wednesday, and while we don't ordinarily agree with crusty Rep. W. S. Heatly, who once was part of the iron-handed core which ran the house, we feel he was more accurate than most when he described the address as "pretty general."

Naturally, an initial statement of hopes and plans might be expected to be couched in broad terms, but it will take more than platitudes to hammer out an effective, constructive program for the people of Texas in this time.

The governor stressed a tougher law enforcement policy, replying heavily upon stiffer penalties. This is not altogether a demonstrable cure. What may be a prior need is more and better trained officers, which is translated to a considerable degree to more money. It's easier to talk tough about crack-down than it is to crank up.

Another thing which could contribute immeasurably to dealing with the crime problem, whether drugs, violence or property — is the certainty of a prompt trial. This will call for extensive judicial reform, perhaps more personnel in the judiciary and assuredly machinery which can move expeditiously with fewer roadblocks to see that both society and the individual are done justice.

Gov. Briscoe sounded a hopeful note in calling for legislative ethics legislation, hinting for some external policing of the code.

His wire-tapping request is cause for caution, but he was careful to condition this to a court order, which could provide a safeguard in conditions carefully spelled out conditions.

Combining of certain state agencies might make for more efficient and economical operation, but whether water and air pollution and conservation can all be wrapped up in one package requires careful study.

New emphasis upon vocational-technical education is encouraging. So is the call for more extensive budgetary controls by the governor's office.

The governor clearly wants to move in the direction of some of the old virtues, and in this he should be encouraged and supported, but not if this means the mere resurfacing of outmoded conceptions and practices. The governor is a man of high principles, and he expressed a few of his points of concern for the state. Now is the time to spell these out and tackle the job. Texas has a new team, and while this may mean less autocratic decisiveness than before, we think it is a good thing for the state.

Air Of Optimism

There is a new air of enthusiasm in Stanton and Martin County these days. There is a million dollars worth of construction underway or due to be started there. The community has one new industry in operation, another ready to start, and a third in prospect for the year.

On top of that, the Spraberry Trend oil drilling boom, which some eyed with great reservations a year or more ago, shows no sign of immediate letting up. And finally, the county's agriculture is in as good a shape as any of the past 20 years. It's wonderful to see this new wave of optimism and accomplishment for our neighbors.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Now, that one can claim Social Security at 62, many firms are retiring employees who normally would have at least three more years. To me, it seems tragic to throw these people, who are so skilled in their jobs, out to live on a fraction of what they were making. What do you think about this?

Early retirement is good for some people, and bad for others. One good aspect is that retired people, if they are financially able, can do many of the things they have wished they had time for before. Retirement allows time for travel, for reading, for hobbies, and even the launching of a new career.

Few people are actually capable of total retirement, nor is it advisable. The human mind and body requires activity, and to bring the mental and physical system to a grinding halt can be psychologically damaging.

If your letter implies sudden enforced retirement, with no advance notice, this is indeed poor personnel policy, and subjects the employee to unnecessary hardship. The other factor is that as the need for certain skills change, management gets caught in an economic squeeze, and payroll reduction may be the only solution. Negotiation, it seems to me, between both parties, is imperative.

I challenge my business friends to live up to Paul's guidelines in Colossians 3 and 4. He tells employees to "work hard and cheerfully as though you were working for the Lord," and then warns employers, "Be just and fair." Always remember that you too have a Master in Heaven.

Wouldn't punching a clock be ecstasy if labor and management behaved that way?

Tax Credits

Garth Jones

By KENNETH J. RABEN

Copy News Service

Americans, rich and poor, suffering increased residential property taxes to finance public schools, may get speedier relief from state and local governments than from Uncle Sam.

HELP FROM the national government may be on the way, however, in the form of federal income tax credits. A combination of stiffening resistance to property taxes and state and federal court decisions about 18 months ago is responsible. This initiated a major evaluation of local, state and federal policies of paying for the nation's schools, and means to determine whether taxpayers are getting their money's worth.

Several "private" national panels financed with federal funds, the U.S. Office of Education and organizations representing groups with a vested pecuniary interest in public and private education undertook "in-depth" studies of school finance and evaluation.

MOST WERE controlled by the education establishment that has brought the public more of the same for decades. Predictably, these "scholars" recommend even more money for schools. They urge the federal government to assume at least a third of school operating costs.

More than $60 billion will be spent on schools this fiscal year from local, state and federal sources, with more than $5 billion coming from the nation's Capitol.

ABOUT 10 months ago, President Nixon asked the 12-year-old, bipartisan Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, to investigate how the federal government could help states assume local public school operating costs and eliminate residential school property taxes. As an alternative, the commission was to consider the value-added tax, a type of sales tax levied against the producers of goods that could mean consumers would pay the tax two or more times without knowing it.

MEANWHILE, interest in the value-added tax waned as business, labor and consumer groups began to realize what it would cost. In mid-December, the commission made its long-awaited report. It urged the federal government not to provide additional, direct federal funds for so specific a purpose, said there was no need for additional federal tax sources for such a reason, certainly not a value-added tax; and reiterated its belief in retaining education financing and the control that follows the purse within the states where the commission said it belongs.

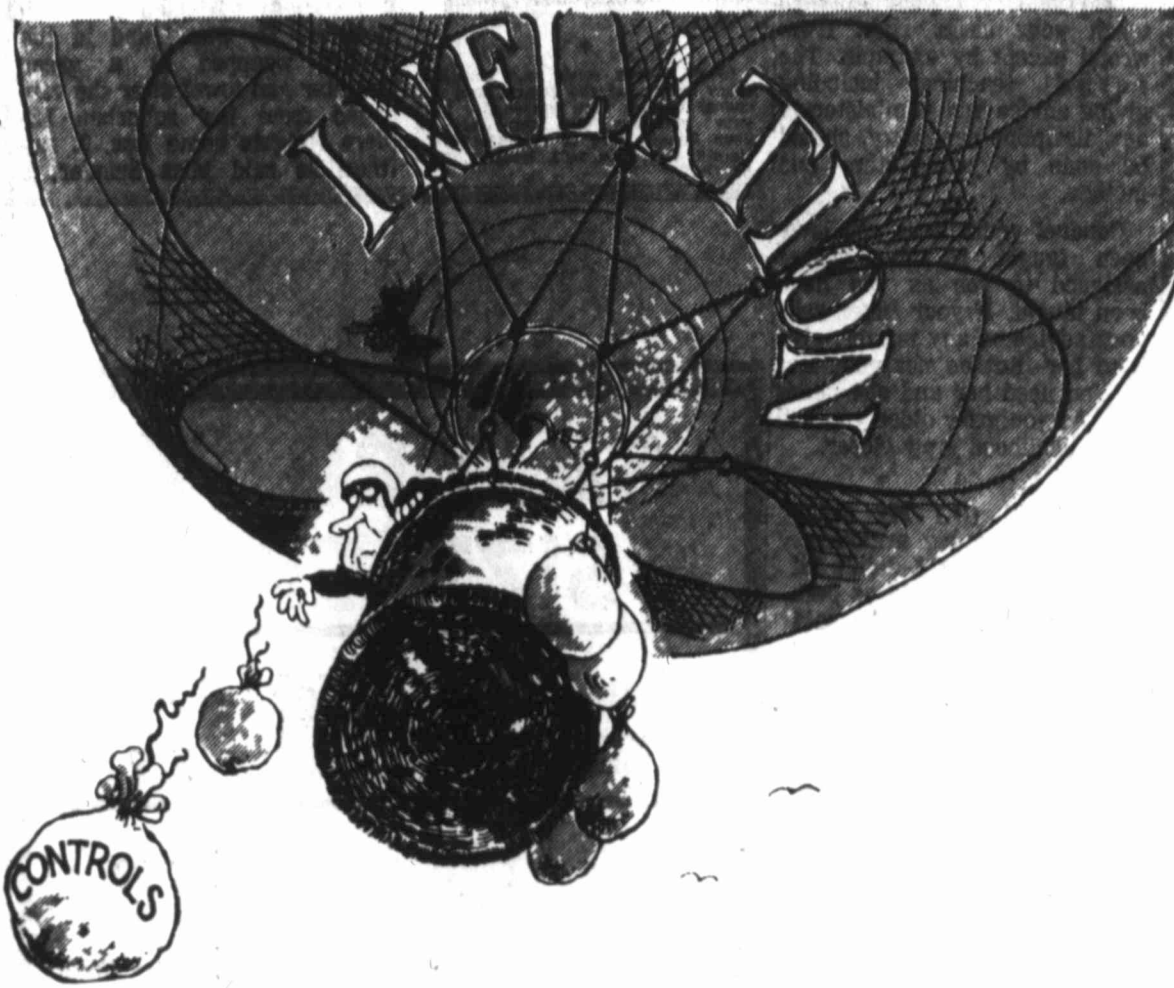

IT RECOMMENDED a federal income tax credit for local and state residential property taxes rather than the current deductions for property tax. This may be the commission's most important suggestion.

Strong efforts can be expected in the 93rd Congress to provide income tax credit relief for parents sending their children to private schools. Several bills already under consideration have strong bipartisan support.

THE RECOMMENDATION for tax credits thus sets the stage for revision of the existing bills into a massive administration public and private school tax measure.

At the same time, the tax credit device could be used to give direct aid to the poor, similar to the once-favored negative income tax and proposals for a guaranteed annual income so unpopular with conservatives.

Those Vericose Veins

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After cysts are removed from an ovary, do cysts usually form again? I had one of my ovaries removed two years ago. Now I'm having trouble with the other one.

If the remaining ovary is removed soon, will I need to take hormones? I understand I would go through surgical menopause which I think would ruin my marriage. — Mrs. R.S.

I wouldn't say that cysts "usually form again," but it is true that they can, the ovary being a secreting organ and hence made of the type of tissue that can produce more cysts.

When your remaining ovary is removed (or if it is) you will have "surgical menopause." Your body no longer will be producing as much female hormone as before. This may or may not cause any symptoms, although frankly it probably will — hot flashes, jitters, that sort of thing.

To prevent these symptoms, you will be given estrogen (female hormone) to compensate for that which your ovaries no longer are producing for you.

Discard at once the idea that surgical menopause will "ruin your marriage." This simply is not true, no matter how often you hear it said. It is true that you no longer can have children, but you should expect no change at all in your sex life. The same thing is true of hysterectomy (removal of the uterus). A great deal of folklore has grown up to the effect that a woman's sex life ends. It does not.

For your own peace of mind I think you should read my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." Send 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy. It discusses surgical menopause as well as natural menopause, answers a large number of questions that are asked about menopause, and explains why the lugubrious old wives' tales are not true.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl, 15, and have about 10 or 15 hairs growing around the nipples on my breasts. They keep getting longer. Is there anything I can do about them, or will they just stop growing? Is this unusual for girls my age? — C.J.B.

Not particularly unusual in girls. You can't expect such hairs to disappear spontaneously. But whether you do anything to get rid of them depends on whether it bothers you.

Simplest answer is to snip them off from time to time with scissors. Or you can pull them out — although I don't recommend that. It's painful, and the hairs will grow again anyway. But if you do pluck, applying an ice cube to the area beforehand will lessen the pain. Reason I don't recommend plucking is that occasionally infection can get started.

Finally such hairs can be removed permanently by electrolysis. Registered electrologists do this, but some of them, I am told, prefer that you bring a note of permission from your doctor. (Same thing — the permission — applies to removing hairs from moles.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 17 and already have stretch marks on my thighs and top of my legs, so bad I hate to wear a bathing suit. I also have a stomach that sticks out. Please suggest some ways I can get rid of these stretch marks and my "pot belly." — Miss K.

There's no way to get rid of the stretch marks, but I suggest a conference with your bathroom scale to see if some dieting isn't indicated to get rid of the pot belly. That and exercise.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

A full moon caught in the lacy boughs of an ice-coated tree on a clear winter night. . . a thrill in silver.

Getting over a cold or the flu. Finding one more cigar in your pocket when you thought they were all gone.

Seeing a toposless waitress with the hives.

Reading poetry that gives you goose pimples.

Listening to ghost stories around a campfire on an owl-haunted evening.

The dreams of glory in the head of a young boy back in 1920 when a favorite uncle gave him a whole dollar to spend.

Opening the first letter of your life sealed with the lipstick of a girl's kiss.

Tacking in the wind on a gong a full mile in your 1973 summer day glorious for sailing.

Discovering after years of struggle that you can now eat a raw oyster without a struggle and with some pleasure.

Chasing a country tomboy through a summer meadow knee-high with whispering grass and loud with bees.

Signing a huge bill with your employer's name as his guest at his country club.

Pumping up a new basketball for a bunch of waiting kids.

The joy of coming back from a war, still pretty much in one piece.

Lolling in bed until noon on the first day of a long-awaited vacation.

Meeting a lovely smile in a sea of vacuous faces — like a flower in a garden gone to weeds.

Panting in victory after jogging a full mile in your 1973 physical rehabilitation program.

Checking up on yourself a month after you made your 12 New Year resolutions — and finding you've kept at least three of them.

The salty surprise of tasting your own blood after a buddy bops you on the nose during a friendly boxing bout.

Nudging your small child toward key piece that will help her complete her jigsaw puzzle.

Taking an immediate liking to someone new you hope will be a friend your lifetime through.

The mystic summons, the throbbing feeling of being part and parcel of everything on earth, the kinship to all you get when standing alone on a hill on a starlit night.

For these and other benisons of being, we thank Thee, Amen.

Not Always Dull

Around The Rim

John Edwards

While sweating out an idea for my weekly column recently, I concluded my life had been outstandingly dull. Since then, it occurred to me that not everybody had participated — or in my case interfered — in a cattle drive.

I was a city boy from Lubbock who visited my aunt and uncle in a panhandle town of about 700 during the summer. They all knew me as Luther's boy. My father attended high school there in the 1930s. And my grandfather once ran a second bank there when small towns were a way of life to most in Texas.

How did I keep from getting lost in such a big city, everybody jokingly wanted to know.

AT 10-YEARS-OLD, the cattle drive assumed heroic proportions.

True, there were only about 100 head of cattle, and we were bound for a corral about 10 miles off — not Kansas City.

It began before daylight at a noisy, dirty little cafe where some of the participants gathered. Several lean, craggy-faced local farmers helped round-up the cattle they jointly owned.

I caught a ride with Mark, a huge friend of my uncle, in his over-sized GMC pickup. Mark always brought a big sack of candy bars he insisted I help him eat. He ended every remark with an impatient "huh, huh" that demanded agreement.

RATHER THAN the traditional carbine, I carried a lever-action Daisy BB Gun, hanging it out the pickup window for unwary rabbits. The rabbits were unfortunately safe, and the gun had a nasty habit of kicking as it caught on brush.

Men rode hot lathering horses searching for the cattle hidden in the heavy brush and ragged, red Caprock canyons and gullies. My uncle told me some were not found.

I remember watching from a hilltop. Another time, riding horseback, my frantic efforts to retrieve an errant cow stampeded the herd. My usually even-tempered uncle was hot, and I was on foot a few minutes later. The incident came back to me when a rancher in another part of the state, South Texas, commented that an untrained cowhand was worse than no help at all.

Out of the pasture that looked more like wasteland, the herd was pushed down a dirt road bounded by barbed wire fences. We followed several miles of highway right-of-way enroute to a corral and smaller tract of land.

From the corral, cattle sometimes were singled out and given shots in a V-shaped clamp. Mark would be cussing, jabbing with the needle, straightening it out when it bent and the cow moaning in pain.

He used his bulk to push one cow into the chute, and the scared animal covered his overalls with diarrhea. It wasn't all glory.

By sundown, the job was complete. Another cattle drive wouldn't be held until next year.

Mexican Ferment

Marquis Childs

MEXICO CITY — Living next door to the Colossus of the North has great advantages and great disadvantages, as Mexicans have good reason to know. With the power of the United States so overwhelming as to color every relationship around the globe it is not surprising that Mexico feels the impact of that power in all aspects of life.

SHORTLY AFTER the renewed bombing of North Vietnam there was a demonstration outside the American Embassy on the Paseo de la Reforma. Vietnam and the American tragedy are separated by a wide gulf from the problems of poverty and unemployment that plague this nation of 80,000,000. The Yankee dollar — and above all, the tourist dollar adding up when all accounts are considered to $1.5 billion — is all important in the balance of payments. Yet for President Luis Echeverria Alvarez, maintaining the balance of independence as between the giant on the north and the brothers in Latin America to the south is equally important.

WHEN THE MARXIST President of Chile, Salvador Allende Gossens, came here on a state visit he was given a huge and enthusiastic reception. Every school child in Mexico City had been turned out to wave Mexican and Chilean flags along Allende's route into the city. Echeverria greeted the Chilean rebel with the warmest of Latin embraces.

This threw a chill into the American memory still green of the expropriation of the foreign-owned oil industry in 1938. Did Echeverria mean to go the way of Allende? Was the American investment of $2.5 billion, most of it in manufacturing, in danger?

Their fears were underscored by a complex set of laws, just passed, that govern the status of foreign businesses. The net effect of those laws is still uncertain.

BUT THE ESTIMATE of those with reason to know is that while President Echeverria is working at ways to narrow the gap between the very rich and the great mass of the very poor he is far from being a radical. Echeverria is out to reform the erratic tax system so that the very rich who now escape with the extraordinary low level of taxation would pay a larger share of the burden.

WITH AN ESTIMATED half the population under 12 years of age and 800,000 new job seekers coming into the glutted job market each year, and 430,000 turned back from the United States for illegal entry, each year, the staggering dimensions of Echeverria's task are plain. There are signs of an awakening of national consciousness which Echeverria and his successor in the presidency may be able to channel into constructive change.

To Keep The Peace

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The maintenance of peace in the world was the original objective assigned to the United Nations more than a quarter of a century ago. But the wars that have broken out since unfortunately were not quickly terminated through that international body or by any other group of governments.

THE ATTENTION of the American people now is being focused on the effort to get a settlement of the war in Vietnam. The United States sent ground forces and air and naval units to help South Vietnam repel the invasion by North Vietnam, which could not have occurred without the help and encouragement of Red China and the Soviet Union.

NEW DISPATCHES currently tell that the Soviet Union is promoting the European security conference to be comprised of the nations of the eastern and western sections of the continent, as well as the United States and Canada. There has been since the 1950s a Southeast Asia Treaty, which presumably safeguarded the small countries of Asia, and at the same time the North Atlantic treaty has been participated in by the United States and others in order to protect Western Europe.

THE SIMPLE fact emerges that Red China and the Soviet Union have been involved in North Vietnam's effort to acquire South Vietnam. There cannot be peace in either Asia or Europe unless the Soviet Union, Red China and the United States are willing to make an agreement to refrain from any military activity on either continent provided there is an international pledge by all governments not to instigate or assist in aggression that can lead to wars.

THE VIETNAM War ought to teach the world a lesson. South Vietnam was invaded from the north. The Soviets and Red Chinese kept on furnishing weapons and munitions to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong. It was only the willingness of the United States to help a small nation thousands of miles away that made it possible for South Vietnam to preserve its independence. Even as a settlement is believed to be near, the real need is for an international tribunal that can uphold the guarantees which nations have been given that they may determine their own form of government.

A Devotion For Today

If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. (II Corinthians 5:17)

PRAYER: O Lord, as Augustine, Thy servant of long ago, prayed, so we pray: "Enlarge Thou the mansions of my heart that Thou mayest enter in." In the spirit of Christ. Amen.

African Missionaries Slated At Evangel Temple Sunday

By MARJ CARPENTER

The Reverend Warren Newberry, an Assemblies of God missionary to Malawi, Central Africa, will be the guest speaker Sunday, Jan. 21, both services at 9:45 a.m. and 6 p.m. at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, 2205 Goliad Big Spring, the Reverend Donald A. Calvin, pastor, has announced.

In 1966, Malawi, which was formerly called Nyasaland, gained its independence and became the Republic of Malawi. Four and one half million people live in this landlocked country where the Assemblies of God now has a Bible school, printing press, an International Correspondence Institute, and 61 national workers ministering in 51 organized churches and 35 preaching points.

Mr. Newberry and his wife, Annette, helped construct church buildings and mission houses, taught in the Bible school, conducted tent crusades during their past term of missionary service. Mr. Newberry held portfolios of general treasurer of the national church, district superintendent, youth director, and chairman of the field fellowship.

He graduated from Southern California College, Costa Mesa, Calif., and pastored churches in California and Texas prior to missionary appointment. The services will feature African songs, curios, and a slide presentation. The public is invited to attend.

Pastors and laymen from every corner of Texas and as far away as Wyoming and Florida, descended on Fort Worth for the annual Texas Baptist Evangelism Conference, Jan. 15-17, at the Tarrant County Convention Center.

Evangelist Billy Graham, who was expected to speak at the conference's opening session Monday at 6:30 p.m., was in a hospital for treatment. Graham's associate evangelist, Grady Wilson, and singer, Bev Shea, took his place on the program.

Other key speakers were W. A. Criswell, pastor of First Baptist Church, Dallas; Kenneth Chafin, pastor of South Main Baptist Church, Houston; Adrian Rogers, pastor of Bellevue Baptist Church, Memphis, Tenn.; A. B. Rutledge, executive-secretary of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, Atlanta, Ga.; and P. S. Wilkinson, president of the American Baptist Convention of Texas, San Antonio. The theme for the conference was "The Greatest Commission — Make Disciples." C. Wade Freeman, Texas Baptist Evangelism division director, explained the use of the theme, "What we usually refer to as the 'Great Commission' is often misunderstood. The imperative of the greatest commission is to make disciples."

Besides the general conference sessions, special seminars were held Tuesday afternoon. These specialized conferences were designed to assist churches in the Share the Word Now efforts, the program emphasis for Texas Baptists for 1973-74.

On Monday afternoon, before the opening session, four simultaneous special meetings included the General Evangelists Conference, a Latin-American Evangelism Conference, a Collegiate Dialogue, and a Conference on Revival Evangelism.

Also preceding the opening session was a meeting of Christian professors from Texas college campuses, scheduled for Sunday and Monday afternoons.

David Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Newton put his Christmas vacation to constructive use this year by attending the Solution Bowl January 3-7 in Dallas. David who is a Senior at Stephen F. Austin, attended the Christian training conference with 1500 other students from the southwestern states.

The Solution Bowl in Dallas was one of twelve major conferences of its type held across the country and sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ. Its purpose was to teach students how to experience the abundant Christian life and how to share it effectively with others.

A panel of Christian speakers presented students with positive solutions to the problems confronting mankind. Speakers included Paul Eshleman former director of Expro 72 and now the National Campus Director for Campus Crusade for Christ.

Campus Crusade for Christ is an interdenominational Christian student movement which was founded by Dr. Bill Bright in 1961 at UCLA. It has since spread to hundreds of campuses in the United States and to 61 countries of the world. Its staff now numbers approximately 4000.

Bible Group Publishes In Dialects

"The Book of a Thousand Tongues," edited by Eugene A. Nida, has been published by the United Bible Societies.

A 536-page compendium of the 1,399 languages and dialects spoken by more than 97 percent of the world's people, this book shows an actual sample of each language from Abbe to Zuni reproduced from Scriptures printed in these languages.

This is a new updated edition of a book by the same name, "The Book of a Thousand Tongues," edited by Eric M. North and published for the American Bible Society by Harper & Brothers in 1938.

The updated volume can be ordered through the American Bible Society, 1865 Broadway, New York, N. Y. 10023, postpaid for $15.95.

The United Bible Societies' volume of "The Book of a Thousand Tongues" is a unique catalog of the languages of the world in which at least one complete book of the Bible had been published by the end of 1968.

An example of each language is shown, together with a brief note on the people who speak it and a history of Bible translation in the language.

Some examples are given of how languages, which had been spoken but never written, were reduced to written form, and some of the people who participated in this highly skilled form of translation.

The history of the Bible Society movement, which started about 170 years ago when the Bible existed in only 67 languages, can be traced from its pages.

HOROSCOPE

CAROL RICHTER

SATURDAY, JANUARY 20, 1973
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to pick up ideas and ideas you had in the past but may have forgotten.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You like to entertain people and this is just the right day for that. You get splendid results. Libra, show your ideas to others. You get clear and responsive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Stop procrastinating about doing that civic work and get good results just at this time. Take care of that credit affair efficiently and feel better. Get rid of that habit of spending too much money on the wrong people.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Good day for research work at the library, taking a short trip for a good purpose, shopping, etc. Get the facts you need. Being more open-minded is best now if you want to make headway.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get debtors and creditors satisfied and come to an understanding with associates in a.m. Then off to the fun places with more. Have more rapport. You have been rather thoughtless of late lately.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Listen carefully to what associate has to say. You need a good reason for better understanding for the days ahead. You can win over that opponent by demonstrating him or her. Avoid the use of temper. Reason is the keynote.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Plan how to get your routine career work done better and faster and use more imagination for best results. Get in touch with a co-worker and show you are more willing to cooperate in the future.
Out to the social in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)
Make these improvements to all property you may have that will add to its value. Get busy! Get busy! Get better budget set up, also. Evening exercise for the social side of life.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Fine day for taking the health treatments you need. Plan to meet that important person. Then go to the excellent social affairs that will be most invigorating. Plan to meet that important person.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) Sit down in the privacy of your study and figure

Cool It!

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 70-year-old man and recently lost my wife after 49 years of a happy marriage. My loss was almost unbearable at first, but I faced reality and tried to live again. My problem is this: I have proposed marriage to four widows, all near my age. They are receptive to a point, but all say there is no need for sex at our ages.

I am a healthy man and had a good sex life with my wife until she died, so why should I be expected to forget about sex now? What should I tell these ladies when they turn me down on this important part of life? I say sex is healthy and normal and adds to a happy marriage. Please advise me.

NAMELESS, PLEASE
DEAR NAMELESS: Perhaps these ladies have turned you down because you appear to be preoccupied with sex. You say you "recently" lost your wife. Yet you have already proposed to four widows. Cool it. Surely there must be an eligible widow who will see things your way. But don't rush her.

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-aged girl who has hairy legs. I don't see anything wrong with it because it is natural. My mother and older sisters say it looks ugly and if I don't shave my legs I will be the butt of guys' jokes, and besides it is not considered good grooming for a girl to go around with hair on her legs.

I don't see why society should dictate whether I should have hair on my legs. I think this is strictly a matter of my own choice. What do you think?

NATURALLY HAIRY
DEAR HAIRY: It's your hair, your legs and your choice. If you choose to keep the hair on your legs, you will soon find out to whom it matters, and to whom it matters not. Since you like the natural look, I suggest you keep it.

Feminine Stereotype Said Cause Of Ills

EDITORS NOTE: The following is the second part of a program presented this week for the American Association of University Women.

Ms. Cheryl Davis, staff psychologist at Big Spring State Hospital, was the second panelist to speak on the "Status of Women" at Monday evening's AAUW meeting.

In describing experiences she has had with patients at BSSH, she said most of the patients' problems had to do with the stereotype that society has set for both men and women. According to the speaker, women can show their feelings more easily than men, which makes it easier to help them with their problems.

"Many of the women have no skills, and they feel trapped," she said, "especially, if their husband is cruel to them. They have been taught all their lives that they are only to be housewives and mothers, without any interest of their own other than the home, so they often become depressed and turn on themselves or others."

"Some women become very depressed when their children grow up and leave home. These women have lived their lives for their family, and now, they no longer feel needed and useful. At this time, they must think of some things that they would like to do for themselves."

The last panelist to speak was Ms. Wanda Reese, reading and English instructor at Howard County Junior College.

"Women don't want to change places with or become men," emphasized Mrs. Reese. "The idea is fantasy, based on ruling-class ego and guilt. Out of the liberation movement will come benefits for men, women and children."

In detailing some of the benefits for women, Ms. Reese said:

"The economic system would be based on merit, free access to good jobs, decent pay for bad ones, shorter workday for men and women, higher wages, further mechanization of repetitive jobs now kept alive by cheap labor."

"For the women who prefer to be housewives, there would be a percentage of the husbands' pay given to them by domestic relations courts. This would help the husband in case of a divorce, and it might make her eligible for a pension fund or job training allowance so she could support herself, or, it could be treated as a dissolving of a partnership."

"Women would no longer attach whole sense of self to youth and appearance. This would take care of a lot of these middle-age breakdowns, when wrinkles begin to appear, children leave home, and when women feel they are no longer needed and wanted."

"Some of the benefits for men are:

"Women would bear half the financial responsibility, which would take some of the pressure off men. Men would then have a longer life span, less ulcers, fewer heart attacks and not as many suicides. They would have more choice about what they really would like to do with their lives."

"Men no longer would be the only one to support the family, be drafted or bear the strain of power and responsibility. Men and women would be free to choose according to individual talents or preferences. Chivalry would be for those who need it, like old people with packages, or simply admired people. Helping on with the coat, lighting cigarettes, etc., could be gestures of mutual affection, to be performed by men or women."

"Children would benefit from having both parents take equal parental responsibility, and there would be more time for the whole family to be together."

At this point, Ms. Reese stressed that children should have more opportunity to be around older people, that they need to learn respect for older or elderly persons.

"It would be nice if half the teachers in all grades were men so they could set examples for little boys,"

"Then they would learn that learning many things is as important for boys as it is for girls. All children should be allowed to take any subject, regardless of sex, if they so choose. They should be trained, according to talent and not be just passive, ambitious, powerless individuals."

According to Ms. Reese, when Anthropologist Geoffrey Gorer studied peaceful tribes, he discovered one common characteristic—sex roles were not polarized. Differences of dress and occupation were at a minimum.

"Their society was not using sexual blackmail as a way of getting women to do cheap labor or men to be aggressive," noted Ms. Reese.

Concluding the program, Ms. Warford said, "we should work harder to get out of this stereotype so that women will have less depressions and emotional problems; so that all women will someday have a chance to better themselves without feeling guilty, as well as show their talents and individuality."

During a general discussion, AAUW members agreed that they should try to help other women who would like to improve themselves; that they would like to see others have the same educational opportunities they had; that society will see the need for this.

District President Will Address Church Group

"We need to put new emphasis on evangelism," said the Rev. Elra Phillips as he outlined the ecumenical "Key '73" program Tuesday morning for United Circle, First United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Phillips said members should first get information to all members of the church, then "spread to the community and city with their evangelistic aims." He suggested a personal Bible study for everyone, and said an examination of the scriptures is necessary for sincere evangelistic work.

Mrs. Edward Cruz presided, announcing a general meeting and buffet luncheon will be held at 12 o'clock noon, Tuesday at the church. Mrs. Joyce Krusekoph of Midland, district president, will be guest speaker.

Mrs. Krusekoph will also speak during installation of new circle officers scheduled at 3 p.m., Jan. 28 in the church sanctuary.

A tea will follow the ceremony.
