Local Business Men Will Take Field At 9 A. M.

LUBBOCK citizens today will be asked to aid in defraying the expenses of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, to be held this week through individual registrations.

With 1,000 registrations as a goal, 100 men, representing the four civic clubs of the city will make an intensive drive to secure Lubbock's quota. Members of the local registration committee will assemble at 9 a. m. today at the American Legion hall to receive instructions and the designation of districts.

One Day Drive

Effort will be made to complete the drive in one day's time, J. A. Rix, chairman of the committee said last night.

Registration fee is $1 and entitles those so listed to free admission to four dances, a pageant, college science and engineering show and other events. Admission to the affairs otherwise would cost a total of $7.50, according to Mr. Rix.

Quota One Third

At least 3,000 reservations will be necessary to defray the expense of the convention, he said, and Lubbock's quota is a third of the minimum total.

All of the funds derived from registrations will go toward the defraying of local expenses of the convention, Mr. Rix said. State statutes prohibit the using of Board of City Development funds, derived from taxes, for entertainment purposes, it was pointed out.

Expect Little Trouble

Members of the registration committee predicted little trouble would be encountered in obtaining 1,000 reservations here. The fee of $1 is less than that collected by other host cities in the past, it was said.

More than 800 registrations were secured among Abilene people last year when the fee was $2.50 per person, Mr. Rix said.

Members Listed

Members of the committee to make the drive today are as follows:

Rotary club: George Meiser, S. E. Cone, J. A. McCelvey, O. W. Ribble, Sam Lightfoot, M. B. Hilburn, J. A. Raley, Altus Sansom, J. B. Crisler, E. J. Parsons, R. C. Smith.

MADRID, May 12. (Tuesday) — Anti-religious rioting spread today to half a dozen other important cities throughout Spain, according to dispatches received here early this morning.

A mob of 300 persons burned a Jesuit convent at Malaga shortly after midnight.

Damage Runs High'

Other cities in which riots occurred were Saragossa, Coroya Cadiz, Bilbao and Seville.

The damage to Catholic property was fixed by late estimates at $5,000,000.

No disturbances were reported during the night at Barcelona.

Firemen Repulsed

Rioters at Cadiz destroyed the Santo Domingo convent. Firemen who tried to extinguish the fire were repulsed at the point of pistols and it was believed several persons were injured.

The Cadiz mob also attempted to set fire to the Carmelite convent, but firemen saved the building.

At Saragossa, a mob attempted to burn the new Catholic seminary, put police repulsed the rioters without injured. The building was actually set on fire, but the flames were quenched without serious damage. Windows were stoned and statues broken at Cordova, but no buildings were burned.

Call To Arms

Meanwhile, in Madrid, where a dozen Catholic churches, schools and religious houses were burned by defiant mobs, the government had

Eleven Jurymen Selected Monday In Spikes Trial

Someone Always Takes Joy Away

(By The Associated Press)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. May 11.—Those who were always trying to find out whether whiskey is good for snake bite, before both the snake and the legal liquor became scarce, can find the answer now in science.

Whiskey is no good whatever. This is the consensus of experts on venom, gathered by Dr. Albert Moore Reese of the University of West Virginia, and reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"The use of alcohol," he states, "is generally conceded to be useless if not actually harmful in cases of snake bite, especially if given in excessive quantities."

No Challenges Made By Counsel For Either Side

ELEVEN men had been tentatively accepted for possible service on the jury of the 99th district court which is to hear the $200,000 libel action brought by Fred Spikes against J. Evetts Haley and the Capital Reservation lands, when Judge Clark Mullican dismissed court for the night Monday. No challenges were made by counsel for either side, but that work is expected to start as soon as the twelfth man is secured this morning.

Fifty-four men comprised the list of veniremen when court started at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Five men had been excused and six men who had been notified had failed to appear at the appointed time, Judge Mullican, after calling the names of the men who failed to appear ordered Sheriff Wade Hardy to serve summons on each one. Later two of the men appeared and one man was excused.

Selection Announced

Tentative selections are: O. W. Benson, O. G. Braden, L. E. Bradford, S. G. Bowers, E. C. Bush, Earl Bullock, Thomas Bush, Lee J. Sanders, J. M. Hallor, J. T. Burdette and Rufus Bundy.

All of the venire, after they were sworn in, were sent to the court room of the 72nd court and there held until called to the court room on the third floor. Immediately following the dismissal of the court for the day, Judge Mullican instructed those not yet examined to report to the same room at 9 o'clock this morning. The eleven men will report to the jury room at the same hour.

Jury To Be Free

Judge Mullican also announced that it was not the intention of the court to have the jury spend the night at the court house but to permit them to go to their homes during trial of the case.

Following the opening of the session, attorneys made their final statements and several legal questions were settled.

Tom Garrard for the plaintiff's counsel propounded questions to the prospective jurors while E. L. Klett did the same for the Capital Reservations lands and Charles C.

Further Cuts Are Voted By House Monday

Efforts Of Economy Bloc To Make Sweeping Reduction In Adjutant General's Department Meet Failure

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 11.—Efforts of the economy bloc to make sweeping reductions in the appropriation for the adjutant general's department for the next two years met defeat today.

A blanket amendment to the departmental appropriation bill, reducing salaries five and ten per cent was adopted however. All departments were affected. Cuts of five per cent were levied on persons receiving salaries from $1,500 to $2,750 and ten per cent above $2,750.

Heavy Decrease

It was estimated the salary reduction would decrease the total appropriation between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

An amendment to reduce traveling expenses of all departments by ten per cent was ruled out of order. It will be offered later and will be admitted. It was ruled out as the result of the house voting to consider the bill by departments.

The house rose to the defense of the Texas national guard, when an amendment was offered to reduce its appropriation $140,000. It was defeated 83 to 22.

An amendment cutting out $2,400 for a chaplain at veterans' bureau hospital number 93 was adopted.

Efforts to eliminate the ten additional men allowed the state ranger force were defeated, the house voting to raise the force from 36 to 46. Pleas that the rangers were the most effective law enforcing officers in the state and would curb "racketeering" were made in behalf of the increase in personnel.

Ranking Democrat States That Sudden Concern Of President And Others Not Surprising As Election Nears

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Seeking economies without impairing efficiency, the war department general staff is considering abandoning or consolidating some of its military posts.

Secretary Hurley, while declining to discuss in detail the conference which President Hoover had with him and his war department subordinates at the Rapidan camp over the week-end, said today the general staff was planning the elimination of posts which appeared to serve no military purpose.

To Continue Work

He said, however, he could "see no prospect of a cut in rivers and harbors appropriations."

Continuance of the rivers and harbors work to make water-borne transportation reach into the great grain growing districts he said, was a national program.

Representative Byrns of Tennessee, ranking Democrat on the house appropriations committee, said today in a statement that "the sudden concern of the president and Republican leaders relative to the federal expenditures for the fiscal year 1932 is not at all surprising when it is remembered that this fiscal year closes shortly before the November election of 1932."

51 Are Abandoned

Discussing the question of isolated army posts Secretary Hurley said 51 such stations already had been abandoned or discontinued since the World war. He indicated the army hoped to abandon still more and sell the land. The secretary declined to cite the posts un-

Oil Proration Attack Starts Through Court

Oil Corporation And Individual Seek Relief From Order Of Commission; Injunction Will Be Asked

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 11.—Oil proration was attacked in federal court here today by the MacMillian Petroleum corporation, a concern chartered under the Delaware statutes and operating leases in East Texas and by Alfred MacMillan individually as trustee.

The MacMillan corporation said proration "has such a wide-spread effect on market condition in the East Texas field that in order for plantiffs to obtain adequate relief it is necessary that enforcement of said order be enjoined as to all persons and companies subject there to and affected thereby." The petitioners added, however, that in case that request should be refused, they believed the commission should be enjoined from enforcing its order against them.

Trial Date Set

Meanwhile J. D. Moore, district judge, set the injunction petition of the Central Pipe Line company, operating in the East Texas field, for trial on its merits May 22. He

Mayor Thompson Declares That Efforts To Arrive At Purchase Price With Officials Of Company Fail

(By Associated Press)

AMARILLO, May 11.—Public ownership of the Amarillo Gas company's distributing system by condemnation was ordered by the city commission tonight at a special meeting.

Instead of awarding contract for building of a new plant, as had been planned, the commission rejected all bids and voted to acquire the gas company's property through court proceedings. In corporation counsel was instructed by the commission to prepare condemnation papers immediately.

Turn Is Dramatic

The sudden turn in the gas controversy was as dramatic as previous decisions by the commission. The session lasted hardly more than five minutes.

Mayor Ernest Thompson stated the purpose of the meeting was to consider bids. He then read the three bids on installation of a new system. The bids ranged from $1,161,531 to $1,352,323.

All Are Rejected

As soon as the bids were read the commission voted to reject them all. It was then moved that the city acquire the system by condemnation. A favorable vote was polled immediately.

"We seriously considered putting in our own system until today when we decided on this procedure," said Mayor Thompson.

Humiliation Causes Man To Hang Self In Garage

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, May 11.—Humiliation over the fact that he was questioned in connection with the shooting of Mrs. Margie Lillian Tampke Saturday was believed to have been responsible for the death of Hugo Eickmann, 46, whose body was found hanging in his garage today.

Eickmann had been questioned in regard to the shooting of the woman and released Sunday. It was declared that he had been completely exonerated of any connection with the crime but had appeared to be much humiliated and had left the detective headquarters considerably depressed.

Visitors In Lubbock Are Honored At Two Bridge Parties On Monday

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. SEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THE one thing in which Lubbock county women are most interested now is what they may raise this summer to meet their diet needs during the remainder of the year, Miss Ruth Stockton, says, and she brought some pamphlets over for me to use in propagnting some of this information.

Droughts have heightened the interest among farm people in raising the proper foods and in raising a variety of things for canning in order that the family needs may be met, she says, explaining that families of demonstration club women of the county have not suffered for proper foods as some other families have. This strengthened my belief in the efficacy of homes demonstration work.

Few Lubbock county farmers who have worked with the demonstration agents have applied for loans this winter, and of these the one purpose has been to provide seed because continued drouths have sapped the resources of these farmers, she says. However, a good year will see these men through, she believes. And families of these men have not suffered for a variety in diet because they have been able to raise and preserve enough food to have the necessities.

This does not mean, of course, that one may join a demonstration club and have all problems of the farm solved. Far from it. But the work of the county agents is helping these people. In the state, less than 3 per cent of the farmers who have applied for loans this winter have been those in county clubs.

A chart Miss Stockton brought over showing the food production necessary for a family of five for an adequate and satisfactory diet gives some idea of the space and variety necessary. A one-fourth acre garden well cared for should yield 18 varieties of vegetables and should meet the needs of the family, according to this chart. Remember the days when we raised beans, potatoes, radishes, cucumbers, onions, tomatoes, cabbage, corn, okra, squash, beets, peas, pepper, turnips and lettuce and supplied the needs of families?

It probably isn't necessary to remind people that I grew up on a farm in Lubbock county and that there was always a garden, even though the stock were watered and in those days there were more cattle than there are now. Every farm and every ranch had a garden because there was little other opportunity to get fresh vegetables. The farmer doesn't get an even break in a lot of things, I am sure, but somehow I have never had much sympathy for the one who couldn't supply his meat, eggs, milk and during the summer at least, vegetables. There are too many people living in Lubbock now who lived in the country for years and years and prospered because they managed to live at home.

A flock of 60 pullets should furnish the egg and meat supply for the family and to maintain such a flock 500 chicks should be hatched each spring as this will yield about 200 birds, this chart shows. From the 100 pullets which this will average, 64 can be kept for producers and the others classed with the cockrels to furnish meat supply. One-half acre fruit plot is suggested with 20 peach, 10 plum and 5 pear trees, 12 grapevines, 25 blackberry and 25 dewberry plants.

Of course, it sounds easy enough for me to take my typewriter in hand down here in town and suggest ways of running a farm. I can hear plenty of people just suggesting that I try it for a week or so. And that is fair enough. However, the climate doesn't change out here except to vary in given cycles and I know that the average person can make a living on a farm.

Dewberries, blackberries, strawberries and grapes will yield most years because I've been eating these all my life and the men who raised the fruits were just common, ordinary cow punchers and dirt farmers who knew that one way to get food was to raise some. Peaches and plums may not always yield, but cherries are pretty sure and cherry pie isn't such a bad dessert.

Maybe I'm wrong, but it doesn't seem necessary for farm people to be without home-raised products, because I can remember too well when everyone had plenty. Away back when, I spent a lot of time visiting out on the Johnny Bacon and the H. V. Edsall places near where Idalou is now situated; the Barrett Penny and Douglas Pounds places and we used to get around to the W. D. Crump and Jim Boles ranches, where Shallowater is now situated, occasionally. As well as I remember, nobody starved to death then and everyone lived almost exclusively on home-grown products.

I'm quite well aware, too, that times have changed and that people must have a car now instead of a horse and buggy; that farmers probably have problems today that they didn't face then, but still this soil isn't exactly worn out and I'm willing to wager that Mrs. Pounds and the Roland Russes still have gardens out at Acuff that yield considerable food for the families.

WHEN A CHILD TAKES COLD
watch his Bowels

A child's cold can often be checked in a few hours by giving his bowels the proper care. Dr. Caldwell proved this, time after time, in his 47 years' practice.

Dr. Caldwell's fame was acquired as a specialist in the ills of women and children. His record of having attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history.

The laxative used in his practice—a compound of pure herbs, pepsin and other mild ingredients—is ideal for the bowels of any child. You have this famous doctor's word that it is safe even for a tiny infant. Every child likes its syrupy taste. It acts quickly; but cannot gripe.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will remove all the sickening mucus waste when a child has caught cold. It relieves the headaches, biliousness, belching, bloating, etc., due to constipation. It keeps the bowels open in children's diseases.

Keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin handy to use when any member of your family needs a safe, certain laxative. It is good for all ages! All drug stores have the big bottles.

LADIES FROM MISSOURI

FOUND in the back of any old cook-book, in the "Useful Compendium of Household Hints."

"To test muslin for 'filling' — rub a small section vigorously between the forefingers, and note any starchy substance that breaks out of the fibers.

"To test for color-fastness — before buying wash goods of any kind it is safest to obtain small samples of all patterns and soak in clear water.

"To detect cotton in an 'all-wool' fabric — pull the threads apart and apply a lighted match," etc., etc.

How funny they were — these old suspicious-of-everything shopping tests! Grandmother knew them all by heart, and descended on Mr. Biggs, the linen draper, with defiance in her eye. Her little, moistened forefinger shot suspiciously under every proffered length of sheeting or dish-toweling. She took nobody's word for anything!

But how differently you approach a yard-goods purchase in any store today. A name on the selvage . . . a label on the end of the bolt . . . a guarantee-tag that also suggests a method of washing. These are your safety-signals in buying. To the questions "Will it wash?", "Is this pure wool?" or "pure silk?", the saleswoman has only to remind you of the trade name of the fabric. When she mentions a name familiar to you through advertising, your doubts are dispelled.

A Second Glance At Reno

THERE are some people, perhaps, who look with envy at news reports telling of Reno's prosperity under its adopted "campaign of tolerance". Right here in Lubbock and on the South Plains there are doubtless those who, visualizing the busy cash registers in the Nevada City, might think at first glance that they would welcome a similar condition.

But would they, when they make up their minds after careful study, want to live and rear their children in surroundings such as those which must portend at Reno? The Morning Avalanche doubts that they would.

A city that welcomes open gambling, a city administered to by a mayor who openly favors placing "a barrel of free whiskey and a tin cup on every corner" to combat bootlegging, a city in which people make a show of divorce and toss off matrimonial vows with a wise-crack can't, as we see it be much of a "home town."

Regardless of how much money is being loosened there, Reno hardly attracts the conservative citizen who seeks to spend his days in a high grade, cultured community—and to furnish the right kind of an example to his children. There is something more to living than the tinkle of the cash register's bell.

A MAJESTIC CAPITAL

A recent newspaper supplement article on the national capital began with the statement, "The city of Washington has never been able to live up to the majestic plan of its founder, nor yet to live it down. For 150 years the federal city has struggled with and against the magnificence of its specifications in the same way that the nation has struggled with that other spacious contemporary formula, the federal constitution."

But the day is coming when Washington will be able to live up to the majestic plan of L'Enfant. For the first time in history congress is willing to appropriate uncounted millions for a building program on the grand scale. A start has been made to make Washington the most beautiful and sublime capital in the world. It will take years—perhaps generations—to finish, but the finished picture will dazzle by the long defile of plaster palaces marching beside a Mall miraculously cleared of all that now encumbers it.

The real pressure behind the new Washington is the new Washington. Much has been said since the World war of the United States as a great world power, perhaps the greatest. But that conception of our place in the international scheme is new to Americans, and in the country at large has been discounted as political hyperbole. Very slowly the legend has acquired the vitality of a fact, predicated not upon a vague political pre-eminence but upon the clear evidence of our mechanistic supremacy.

The nose is one of the most difficult organs of the human countenance, particularly as concerns its relationship to beauty. It is the most conspicuous feature and any exaggeration in its size or any loss of its contour not only makes it a target for unnecessary attention, but makes its possessor the subject of a psychologic complex which leads to unhappiness.

In molding the human body, nature plays strange tricks with the nose, not infrequently placing an aquiline organ of classical proportion on a piquant face or putting a tiny, uptilted proboscis on a countenance of tremendous proportions. A nose of any shape or size may function perfectly for smelling and breathing, but still fail to give satisfaction to its possessor.

HENCE, surgeons who specialize in art work on the human face devote their attention largely to the possibilities of reconstruction of the nose.

In a recent address before the Institute of Medicine of Chicago, an expert in cosmetic surgery emphasized the fact that much depends on the particular point of view in the determination as to whether of not an operation is to be done.

If the patient has a psychologic fixation on his nose, he is not likely to be satisfied with any result that may be achieved. For this reason, experts are cautious about attempting to correct slight defects, preferring to exercise their abilities on serious losses due to either accident or disease, or to serious deformities of such certainly inartistic contours as to make the relief clearly apparent.

The mere fact, therefore, that the person is dissatisfied with his nose is not considered to be a sufficient indication for an operation. The presence of a noticeable hump or depression is, however, a condition which may be relieved with some satisfaction.

It should be understood that any operation is a fairly serious performance. The nose is composed of skin, tissue elements, and cartilage. It is possible to transplant pieces of bone or cartilage to take care of serious depressions, but the procedure is technical and must be done under the best operative conditions. Humped noses may be too long or too short and have a drooping tip. The removal of a hump requires the use of a saw, chisel or file. Like the carpenter who cut out too much door, the remover of bones has to be exceedingly careful not to cut too much at any single operation. It is much easier to cut out more than to put back too much that has been cut away.

IN restoring tissue, it sometimes becomes necessary to transplant pieces of tissue from the forehead or the cheeks to make up defects in the nose.

Enough has been said to indicate the complicated character of such operative procedures, but it must be emphasized that they require not only the best of surgery but a special type of surgery. This fact has drawn into the field innumerable quacks who promise far more than they can perform or indeed than anyone can perform—this indicates primarily the mark of the surgical quack.

Had Exciting Meeting

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 11.—In comparison with his elder brother and predecessor on the Siamese throne I hardly feel that I know King Prajadhipok at all.

An introduction to royalty along with a crowd of 20 or 30 fellow reporters, which is the most I can claim as to the present visitor from Bangkok, is not much of an acquaintance, but I honestly believe I could have recalled myself to the late King Rama VI's recollection as long as he lived.

As nearly as I can place the year, it was in 1902 that I met Rama, who was only a crown prince then, his father, Chulalongkorn I, being on the job.

THE ORIENTAL potentate-to-be was not called at that time by his later name of Rama, but by the more complicated cognomen of Chowfa Maha Vajiravundh.

After an Oxford education he was on his way across this country and it happened that I was detailed to "cover" his stay of two or three days in Chicago for the Inter-Ocean, now unhappily defunct; it stood for whatever was worst in everything imaginable, but was the best paper in town to work on.

There were five major morning dailies in Chicago in the very early 1900's and our little journalistic delegation established mighty pleasant relations with Prince Chowfa while trailing him around.

ARRIVING in the city toward dark of a winter afternoon, his highness and party contrived to get to their suite in what was known in that era as the Auditorium Annex without giving us even a good look at the prince—and I, in particular, had orders to get a picture.

However, it was before we had had an opportunity to develop chumminesss, and Chowfa balked.

One thing was certain—he would have to emerge about 8 p. m. to go to the Chicago club, where he was to dine. I decided to lurk for him in the lobby with the Inter-Ocean's cameraman, Steve Wright, and "shoot" him at sight, whether he liked it or not.

THE REST of the press gang scattered, leaving Steve and me alone.

Such indifference seems almost incredible in the present generation, but it must be remembered that all this occurred nearly three decades ago; news photography was in its infancy. Few papers had cameramen of their own; pictures ordinarily were swiped from albums instead. Steve's assignment to accompany me was quite an event.

Presently, too, Steve himself mutinied. He said he would have to take a flashlight and was afraid he would be arrested if he did.

To pacify Steve I undertook to obtain the Annex management's permission, but was unable to find Manager Southgate after hunting high and low. Chief Clerk Paul Gores was willing not to interfere, but could grant no positive authority. House Detective Frank Repetto agreed to occupy himself somewhere else.

Upon these terms I returned to Steve and assured him that Manager Southgate cordially indorsed the program.

THIS WAS satisfactory. Steve set up his tripod and poured an extra charge of flash powder into the pan.

A few moments later the elevator containing the royal party descended to the lobby floor; out stepped a couple of secret service men and then a group of Siamese attendants in the background.

Steve fired—wham!

A yell of horror arose. Back dashed the prince (convinced, as he afterward told me, that he had been bombed) into the car, which shot instantly to the top of the hotel. One of the secret service men pulled a gun. Smoke filled the lobby; the Annex put in a bill for several thousand dollars for the smudging of its marbles, but the Inter-Ocean never paid it.

Under cover of the confusion Steve disappeared.

CHOWFA proved to be a firstclass sport. I met him later in the evening in the McVicker theater foyer and he treated the flashlight incident as a joke.

Nevertheless, I am confident that he would have remembered it, on being reminded, even after he became king.

Chowfa then was 22 or 23 years old. He looked, of course, the Oriental, in a monocle and Occidental clothes, but, blindfolded, no one living could have told him from an Englishman, to hear him speak.

Prajadhipok, a dozen or 15 years older than Chowfa, was then, and without the monocle, is as like the latter as one pea is like another, except that Prajadhipok is smaller—and Chowfa was a midget. He would have weighed, I judge, 110 and Prajadhipok's poundage, I understand, is 98.

My acquaintance with King Prajadhipok certainly is very, very slight, and yet I feel quite intimate with the family; I knew Prajadhipok's brother, King Rama VI, so well.

MAN LIVES FASTER AND LONGER

Medical men enumerate five simple rules for longevity which, according to experts, would increase the life expectancy from 60 years to 100 years. The trouble with rules, however, is that they are easy to promulgate and difficult to follow.

It is wise to endeavor to educate the general public up to standards of living conducive to longevity, but such an education process is necessarily slow in its effects. The man in the street cannot watch the process of prolonging life so adopts an eat-and-be-merry attitude which embraces the philosophy of permitting tomorrow to take care of itself.

Medical and surgical science is in the golden era of life prolongation. The average child born in England this year will live twelve years longer than its grandparents. The average life span in the United States has increased nearly a score of years in that many years.

There are many contributing factors in the increasing span of life, among which are the advances made in medical and surgical knowledge, improved public sanitation, disease control, protection of the infant and a higher standard of living.

So when one smiles at how-to-live-to-be-a- hundred rules, the smile is for the rules and not for the idea of lengthening man's stay in this life. The silver lining for the future of the race lies in science, rather than in the observance of rules complied by those who have lived to be a hundred in spite of themselves.

As fatal accidents tend to cut down the life expectancy, the rapidly lengthening average span of life is the more remarkable for being contemporary with an age of industrial and traffic accidents numbering into the thousands annually.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Surely men of low degree are vanity, and men of high degree are a lie: to be laid in the balance, they are altogether lighter than vanity.

Trust not in oppression, and become not vain in robbery: if riches increase, set not your heart upon them.Psalm lxii, 9, 10.

Marrakech—April, 1931.

I offer you Marrakech the Red! This city of the Sherifs, moulded from the red earth of North Africa, is worth your while all the while.

And if you think Africa is a barren waste of sand, listen when I tell you that I rode all day long down here from Casablanca on a road that stretched straight as a ribbon through green fields and beautiful wild flowers. This part of Africa most resembles California—except that the roads are better here.

But picture Marrakech the Red—lying in a verdant valley and backed by the mighty snow-covered Atlas Mountains. Snow? Yessir, snow. As I once stated in a Believe It or Not cartoon, "A caravan of 20 people froze to death near the equator in Africa beneath the blazing tropical sun." One look at the white heads of these gigantic mountains would convince all those who doubted me.

But Marrakech the Red! The Koutoubia over all. It is the minaret of a ruined mosque standing sentinel-like over the city. The ground on which this fragrant tower stands is the oldest "entailed estate" in the world. It has remained in the same hands for 1300 years.

The flag at the top indicates that it is the hour for prayer. As the sun goes down you will hear the muezzin cry from the four corners:

"ALLAH AKBAR. ALLAH AKBAR. LA ALLAH IL ALLAH LA ALLAH IL ALLAH, U MOHAMMED RASSUL ALLAH" which means: "God is Great. There is no God but God, and Mohammed is the Prophet of God."

This call, which is heard by more people than any cry on earth, sounds weirdly fascinating as the setting sun bathes the hoary heads of the Atlas in gold. Then it sinks from sight, and Marrakech is no longer red—but black.

PAT CARAWAY—In the second game Caraway played in organized baseball, (he was with Terre Haute in the Three Eye League) he relieved Tex Nugent on the mound in the fifth inning of a game with Bloomington, Illinois. The bases were full and on the first ball Caraway pitched the batsman hit a hard grounder to Usatt, third baseman, who touched third and then threw to second, and second threw to first, completing a triple play forcing runners on all bases. Caraway is now with the Chicago White Sox.

A HORNED TOAD NEVER DRINKS.—The Horned Lizard (Phrynosomna cornutum,) or Horned Toad as it is commonly called, is, in many respects, a very remarkable specimen of the lizard family. They are always small feeders, and are capable of undergoing long fasts with impunity. As they are habituated to a dry atmosphere they never drink, and may be sent long distances by parcel post, packed in dry waddings. A THRILLING MYSTERY STORY + by MILES BURTON

CHAPTER 39

Could Ibbotson and the Funny Toff be one and the same man? Now that Dick came to think of it, there was no reason against this supposition. He had not recognized the voice which had spoken to him in the house in Creek Street but he had guessed at the time that the voice was probably assumed. There had been something unnatural about it, as though the speaker had adopted different tones from those he normally used. And as to the laugh, he never remembered having heard Ibbotson laugh. Perhaps he reserved that expression of amusement for his dealings with his agents. That they knew it was pretty obvious from the name by which they referred to him. Funny because he laughed, Toff because his speech was that of an educated man. The laugh itself was enough to inspire anybody with dread of the name. How did this theory fit in with the robbery at 321 Park Lane? Almost exactly, Dick decided. It would be a very natural move on the part of the Funny Toff to stage such a drama, in order to divert any possible suspicion from himself. He could have dropped his keys at the Eros Club purposely. The story of the telephonic message he could have invented himself. The mock robbery itself would be simple enough. It merely required two agents. One, the man dressed as a chauffeur, to steal Dick's car, and drive it to the door. The other, perhaps one of his own sons, to enter the house, provided with Ibbotson's own keys, and remove the rubbies. There was only the smallest degree of risk attached to the whole operation. The man dressed as a chauffeur, who was probably the lorry-driver, had probably been ignorant of the identity of the man he drove, or of the fact that he was assisting to burgle his own employer's house.

By the time the train arrived at Wells, Dick had convinced himself of the correctness of his theory. He had no intention of staying more than one night at the Anchor and Hope, and he determined to confide his suspicions to Sir Edric immediately on his return to London. Whether Scotland Yard would ever succeed in collecting enough evidence to prosecute on any of the many charges lying to the score of the Funny Toff seemed doubtful. Dick realized that his inspiration had come to him rather too late. By now the members of the gang were dispersed, beyond a doubt, and the Funny Toff was not a man to leave incriminating evidence lying about. But suppose, by some extraordinary stroke of luck, Dick were able to find some clue connecting Ibbotson with the murder of Inspector Brooks!

Dick found the landlord of the Anchor and Hope waiting for him at the station. "Glad to see you again, sir," he said warmly. "I've got the trap outside, with the young horse in it. Perhaps you'd like to drive, sir? He's a bit skittish."

Dick took the reins, and the young horse started off at a spanking pace out of the town. The long climb up the slope of the Mendips curbed his ardour slightly, and they reached the inn without mishap.

"We've put you in the same room as you had before, sir," remarked the landlord, "I'm sure you'll find it comfortable."

"I'm sure I shall," replied Dick. "Unfortunately I can't stay very long this time. I'll get you to drive me in to Wells to catch the 4:10 tomorrow evening. But I hope to come down again later on, and make rather a longer stay."

As soon as the bar opened, Dick took up his position by the fire, hoping that the old man whom he had seen on his previous visit might come in. He was not disappointed, and the two were soon engaged in a desultory conversation.

"Last time I was here, I rode over and had a look at those workings out Nordrach way, that you told me about," Dick remarked after a while. "There doesn't seem to be much doing there, from what I can see."

"No, sir, them London chaps have given up, by the looks of it," replied the old man. "Young Andrew Pierce, him that works for the council on the roads, was telling me a night or two back that he thought they'd taken their gear away."

"What made him think that?" Dick asked. "Have any of them been down to the place lately?"

"I couldn't say that for sure," the old man replied cautiously. "But Andrew saw a lorry coming from there, one morning a few weeks back. Andrew says it had a cover over it, like as if it was loaded up. As soon as I hears it, I reckons they've given the place up as a bad job, and were taking away everything that would fetch a bit of money. Anybody could have told them that they were only chucking away good money on a place like that. 'Twasn't likely that the workings would be shut down while there was any ore left."

But the latter part of the old man's speech was lost on Dick. Surely this bore out what he had suspected when he identified the fragments of mud in the packing-case! The lorry observed by Andrew had doubtless been carrying the body of Inspector Brooks, Andrew Pierce. He made a mental note of the name.

Iowa Objectors To Appeal Testing Law To High Court

TIPTON, Ia., May 11.(AP)—A notice that Cedar county objectors to the state bovine tuberculin testing law will appeal their case to the Iowa supreme court has been filed in district court.

The farmers had asked a temporary injunction restraining the state department from making the tests.

The appeal is being taken from the action of the district court of May 1, denying the plaintiffs a temporary injunction.

The hearing will be in the September term.

"I've got what I want . . . now"

● "Tell me—what can I do to improve my lot? Sure, I'm a farmer. I like farming. I was raised on the soil. So were my folks.

"I ought to be able to sell my stuff as soon as it's ready. Well—I'm doing that now. I take my butterfat, eggs and poultry to the nearest Swift & Company produce plant.

"And I ought to have ready cash just as soon as I make delivery. I get that too. Swift & Company pays me for all they take, as they take it, at the full market price.

"I ought to patronize my own community, and deal with other people who do. Yes—that's true. Well, Swift & Company has 55,000 employes in over 500 towns and they all work for the company in their own home towns and spend their money there too. They pack and distribute the Swift brands right where they live. Many of them are our own townsfolk, helping this town to grow, helping to support our schools, stores and banks.

"It seems to me that I'm getting a good, square deal now. And it gives me a real feeling of security to know that I'm part of an organization of 55,000 employes and 48,000 shareholders; that it is able to make a reasonable return on their investment and operate successfully on an average profit from all sources of only a small fraction of a cent per pound."

AC COLLEGE COLUMN

By MARSHALL FORMBY, TECH CORRESPONDENT

CONCERT IS TONIGHT

Following postponement of the event from last Friday night because of a conflicting engagement there, the Tech Matador band will render a concert at Plainview tonight, it was announced yesterday. The event will be held in the municipal auditorium under the auspices of the Welfare association and a percentage of the proceeds will go to the band fund. The affair will start at 8 o'clock.

Special selections on the program will include a baritone solo by Culver Hill, president of the organization, and a duet by Stancil Bagwell and Ronnie Shepard. The latter selection will be with cornets. A complete special program has been arranged for tonight's performance.

Last month the organization played for a Rotary convention in that city and as a result was asked back, this time for the concert. Harry LeMaire is director. The band also will play several times during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention this week.

WORKS IN SPUR

Jackie Twaddell, former student of Texas Technological college, is now employed as a bookkeeper in the Hokus Pokus grocery store at Spur. His father, S. H. Twaddell owns the store.

Twaddell enrolled in Tech in the fall of 1929 and was a student up until the beginning of this term, when he withdrew to work in the place.

PLAN SMOKER

Officers for the club for next year will be taken up at a Pre-law club smoker on May 20, according to James Whiteside. About 20 or 25 students are expected for the affair which is an annual spring attraction. Whiteside was chosen vice-president last fall and was elected president this term following the withdrawal of the regular president from college.

Students wishing to attend the event should see Whiteside at once, he has stated.

PICTURE IN LIBRARY

In the library of the main Tech engineering building hangs the picture of Jack Griggs Sams who is the first child ever born to a graduate of the engineering school here. Jack Griggs is the son of Ted Sams who received his degree in civil engineering from Tech in 1928.

Sams was a popular student while on the campus, it is said.

TO HOLD ELECTION TONIGHT

Formal election for officers of the Tech Chemical society for next year will take place tonight at a meeting in the auditorium of the chemistry building. A report of the nominating committee has been heard and voting will be done tonight.

The Chemical society was organized this year by students interested in the promotion of that science. Regular meetings have been held and a banquet was given this term.

O'Brien Thompson of Abernathy is president and Dr. R. C. Goodwin, head of the chemistry department, is sponsor.

TO LEAVE FOR MICHIGAN

Professor C. H. Mahoney, former head of the Tech horticulaure department but who recently resigned to accept another position, will leave for Michigan State college in time for the regular commencement exercises, he has stated. At that time he will receive his Ph. D. degree.

Professor Mahoney resigned his Tech position to accept a position with the Michigan State college faculty.

He has his B. S. degree from Arizona university and his M. S. degree from the Texas A and M. college. It is probable that Professor C. E. Russell, another member of the horticulture department will be made head.

PLAN FOR "FISH" DAY

With arrangements almost completed and tickets on sale, it is expected that a large percentage of the freshman class will attend the annual freshman day outing Saturday which this year is being held at Wildwood, near Quitaque. According to Matt Seymour, class president, tickets for the entire frolic are selling for $2.50 which includes train fares, a chicken dinner and free use of the place for that day.

This is the first time the event has been held at this place, having been held at Silver Falls lake near Crosbyton during the past.

MUST FILE TODAY

Today is the last day students may file for a place on the official ballot for the student publications election next Monday and Tuesday, Wayne Castleberry, student council president said yesterday. It is probable that the official ballot will be decided tonight.

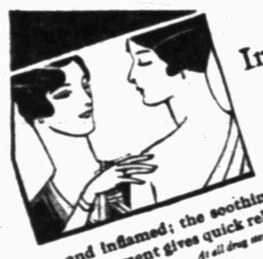

Students may file for candidate for editor of either the annual, La Ventana, or the school weekly, The Toreador, or for business manager of either paper. Statement of grades in all subjects and as to how many hours the student has passed must be obtained from the registrar's office.

BAKER HEADS SOCIETY

Mrs. J. F. Baker was elected to head Pi Gamma Pu, honorary social science organization, at a recent election. Frank Ward was chosen vice president and Dorothy Rylander secretary-treasurer. Dr. W. C. Holden of the history department was named sponsor.

Meetings will be continued this summer and the officers already have taken their office. Arnold Carsey is the retiring president.

Telephone calls received at the White House last year totaled 308,230 as compared with 77,055 made There are 102 working lines.

Man And Girl Burn To Death

Half A Hundred Persons Look On Helplessly As Pilot And Girl Fall With Plane In A Wheat Field

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., May 11. (AP)—While a crowd of a half hundred persons looked on, helpless, a man and a girl burned to edath after their airplane crashed in a wheat field at Mason City, near here yesterday.

The dead were Harold Morrow, 35, Youngstown, O., pilot, and Miss Francs Miner, 21, Ahanover, O. The plane was forced down near Mason City Saturday night, and Morrow and Miss Miner stayed at a boarding house until yesterday afternoon. Morrow is said to have told residents of Mason City that they were en route from Dayton to Columbus, O., but lost their way.

The pilot made two trial flights over the wheat field yesterday afternoon before landing to takeMiss Miner aboard. The plane, a monocoupe, was soaring at about 100 feet, when the crowd in the field saw it suddenly plunge to earth and burst into flames.

One and seven-tenths miles of asphalt top is being spread on some recently completed highway dump near Estelline, to fill in a gap in the concrete paving, Joe H. Caldwell, division maintenance engineer, reports.

The gap will not be paved for some time, to permit it to settle, so the asphalt top is being used at this time, Mr. Caldwell explained. The work is near the Red River, near Estelline.

WHO MAKES YOUR FIRE INSURANCE RATE?

TRAINED experts compute it, but property owners—individually and collectively — create the conditions which determine the cost of their fire insurance.

Several major factors enter into the determination of fire insurance rates, such as structure, occupancy, the quality of private and public fire protection, exposure from other property and general loss experience.

Surveys Available

The agent who writes your insurance can obtain an itemized explanation of how your insurance rate is computed. There is nothing secret about it.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE companies solicit your interest, and offer free of charge the advice of rate-making bureaus to assist in eliminating hazards or correcting defects which may affect your rate.

Seek Counsel

Do not attempt unsound fire prevention measures, but seek the counsel of the accredited experts of rating bureaus who desire to tell you the proper way to make improvements.

Insurance companies generally prefer risks eligible to a low rate to those which carry higher ones. A low rate indicates better conditions, better maintenance and less chance of fire.

Lone Star Conference Formed As Eastern Division Of State Teachers Colleges Organize

L. I. Smith Of East Texas State Teachers College Is Named President Of New Circuit; Use S. W. Loop Rules

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, May 11.—Five state teachers' college have withdrawn from the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association and have formed a body of their own to be known as the Lone Star Conference. Announcement of the new organization was made here this afternoon by L. I. Smith, business manager of the East Texas State Teachers college of Commerce who has been elected president.

The other members of the new athletic body along with the East Texas Teachers are North Texas State Teachers college of Denton, Stephen F. Austin of Nacogdoches, Sam Houston State Teachers of Huntsville and Southwest State Teachers of San Marcos.

The withdrawal of the five schools leaves the T. I. A. A. with a membership of six. West Texas State Teachers college of Canyon, Arts and Industries of Kingsville, Daniel Baker of Brownwood, Abilene Christian college and McMurry college of Abilene and Sul Ross of Alpine.

The Lone Star Conference will not be confined to athletics but will include every phase of college work. The rules will be based on the Southwest Conference requirements. The body, also will uphold the regulations and standards of both the Texas Association of colleges and southern association of colleges.

All of the schools are members of both bodies.

In addition to the five schools already enrolled others are expected to join. However it is planned to keep the membership small enough to allow the playing of a round-robin schedule in all athletics. There is a possibility that the schools remaining in the T. I. A. A. will form another organization.

The Lone Star Conference schools will retain membership in the T. I. A. A. until the meeting in December.

In addition to President Smith other officers of the Lone Star Conference are Dean Speck, Southwest Texas Teachers, vice president and J. H. Wisely, Stephen F. Austin, secretary-treasurer.

The name Lone Star Conference has not been definitely adopted.

Engineers Defeat Aggies In Campus Dual Track Meet

The Engineer intramural track team defeated the Aggies, 7 21- 2to 28 1-2, yesterday afternoon in the third dual track meet of the season at Texas Tech. Herschel Tadlock, veteran trackman for the Matadors, coach of the Engineers, was for the second time this season high point man with a total of 20 points. He took four first places, winning the high and low hurdles, pole vault and high jump. Fisher of the Aggies was second with 12 1-2 points. The Aggie star took first place in the broad jump, second place in the discus and javelin and tied for second place in the high jump.

No college records were attacked and the meet, while brisk and well handled, was too one-sided to induce thrills. The Aggies have lost both meets so far, first dropping to the Army team more than a week ago. The Engineers and Aggies rest for a few days while the Army and Liberal Arts track teams tangle in a dual meet tomorrow afternoon.

Four American Golfers Safe Leaders In Southport Tourney; 300 In Joust

BY FRANK KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

SOUTHPORT, Eng., May 1.—The longest trail of golfers that ever wound over British fairways today played the first qualifying round in the big Southport tournament. The four Americans among the 300 seemed safe.

Joe Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y., led the American contingent, and for a time led the field, with his 73, until 46-year-old Harry Ball, of Lancester, turned in his record score of 70 at Southport and Ainsdale. Horton Smith and Joe Kirkwood, of New York, carded 78s today and Tony Manero, also of Elmsford, a 79. The performances of the last three were not particularly sparkling but seemed good enough to get them under 160 which probably will be the limit for the 36 holes qualifying play.

Smith and Turnesa are members of the American Ryder Cup team which will meet the British at Columbus, O., in June and their play was watched closely.

A. J. Lacey turned in a nice 71 at Hesketh and Abe Mitchell and Aubrey Boomer had 74s, George Gadd carded a 75.

The outstanding play of today's round was provided by the Argentine team. Marco Churio and Hector Preccero had rounds of 76, while Tomasco Centa, Argentina open champion, had a 77. Jose Jurado, captain, made the poorest showing of the three, getting a 79.

The funeral will be at 2 o'clock tomorrow at his old ranch at Fort McKavett.

Two Marks Set In TIAA Meet

Daniel Baker Sprints To New 220-Yard Mark; Gray Of A. C. C. Breaks 440-Yard With New Time Of 50.5

DENTON, May 11. (AP)—Sprinting on a fast, dry track but hampered by a cold wind, track and field athletes in the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association's 20th annual meet, staged their preliminaries here today. Two new records were established.

In the 220-yard dash, Snodgrass, running with a powerful wind to his back, raced over the cinders for a new time of 21.5. The new speed king of the 220-yard event is a Daniel Baker product and weighs 200 pounds. He erased the old record of 21.8 made in 1916 by Mitchell of Texas A. and M., which is no longer a member of the T. I. A. A.

The second record to take a fall was the 440-yard dash. Gray, Abilene Christian college, running in the second heat, circled the oval in 50.5. Gray started slow, but taking the turn and breasting the wind, he swept in front and stayed there to beat the old record of 50.8 made in 1916 by A. Moses of Texas A. and M.

Slow time of 10.4 was recorded in the 100-yard dash which was scheduled to be the feature event of the preliminaries with Snodgrass, Daniel Baker, and Coe, Sam Houston, furnishing the pace. These two boys won their respective heats, but the wind held them back.

Mother Is Saved By Son's Efforts

LAKEMONT, Ga., May 11. (AP)—Twelve-year-old Hilton Wall's mother and a playmate were alive today because of his skill with a rowboat and quickness to act in an emergency. His heroic effort however failed to save his father, J. P. Wall, and Mr. and Mrs. Sharon Griffin from drowning yesterday in Lake Rabun here.

The Walls and their seven-year-old son Erwin, the Griffins and their 10-year-old daughter Edna and John Simeton were riding in a small outboard motor boat when it swamped. Hilton was rowing his boat 100 feet behind. He speeded to the scene and pulled his mother, Mrs. Griffin and Edna abroad and took them to shore. Mrs. Griffin could not be revived.

Ervin was saver by Simeton, who swam ashore towing the lad after him.

RECOMMENDS ANGELO

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Examiner Hyde today recommended to the radio commissioner the granting of an application by station KGKL, San Angelo, Tex., for an increase in daylight power to 250 watts, saying the Texas city probably was the world's largest primary wool market, and a large area was practically dependent upon the station.

Fish Teams Play For Campus Cage Title Wednesday

The Texas Tech intramural basketball championship will be decided Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock when the Freshmen Liberal Arts team clashes with the Freshmen Engineers on the Tech floor. A three-way tie for the leadership was broken Friday when the Fish Artists defeated the Soph Aggies, 24 to 20, in an exciting contest.

Last week the championship could have been decided by an Engineer victory over the Artists, but after gaining a lead in the first half the Engineers saw their opponents close in and win with three points to spare. They meet again with the championship at stake, the Aggie League champions having been eliminated from the running.

Friday night's game saw the Artists again overcome a big lead, scoring fourteen points in five minutes to take the 24-20 victory. The playing of the Bryant boys, Stoops and Lefty, Hale and Holmes provided the winning punch for the Artists.

Federal Court Judge Delays Action Heavyweight Muddle

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—Decision as to whether Primo Carnera is to be allowed to fight Jack Sharkey at Ebberts Field, Brooklyn, June 10, or be enjoined from so doing by the federals courts, has been delayed at least 24 hours by the illness of Carnera's lawyer, George Sylvester.

Judge John Knox, before whom the injunction suit was brought by the Madison Square Garden of Illinois seeking to prevent Carnera from fighting Sharkey until he has fulfilled a contract with it, allowed Sylvester until 2 p. m. tomorrow to submit briefs. Briefs were to be filed by both sides today.

Negro Is Charged In Threats On Lives Of Dallas Residents

DALLAS, May 11, (AP) — Arthur Williams, negro, was in jail today charged in four cases with writing threatening letters for the purpose of extorting money. The complaints alleged two letters were addressed to E. Gordon Perry, automobile dealer, and one letter to J. H. Shelton, another automobile dealer, and one letter to Nathan Adams, president of a Dallas bank.

Each man was ordered to leave a package containing $2,000 at a designated place. Death was threatened unless they complied. The negro was arrested as he picked up a decoy package left by officers at the designated spot.

Kentucky Derby Favorites Arrive On Scene Of Famous Blue Grass Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 11. (AP)—With the arrival today of Mate, Twenty Grand, Equipoise, Ladder, Anchors Aweigh and Surf Board, all the likely starters in the 57th running of the Kentucky Derby now are on the ground save for Morstone.

The half dozen that came in today represent the cream of the eastern candidates. They are due to be given workouts Wednesday or Thursday that will enable local turf followers to compare them with the western eligibles which have been in training here several weeks or longer.

About fifteen or twenty colts and geldings with possibly a filly or two are expected to face the starter Saturday in the Derby. Of these A. C. Bostwick's chestnut colt, Mate, and the Greentree stable entry, Twenty Grand and either Anchor Aweigh or Surf Board rule lightly as the favorites.

Mate had many followers in the rule grass when Equipose and Twenty Grand ruled as winter book favorites, and his Preakness victory Saturday sent his stock still higher.

The other likely starters are Sweep All, Morstone, Boys Howdy, Pittsburgher, Insco, Ladder, Spanish play, The Mongol, Prince D'Amour, Don Leon. Up and a few others whose owners are yet to be decided.

Entry List For Annual Joust Reaches 19 Clubs To Date A Amarillo Country Club Jo

Lubbock Country Club Scene Of Golf Activity When Almost 750 Players Meet To Try For Championship

Acceptance of the Amarillo Country Club's application for membership in the organization and the receipt yesterday of that club's subsequent entry list for the seventh annual championship tournament brought the total number of entries to nineteen clubs to date and assured promoters and members that the competition in the West Texas Golf Association tournament here next week would be just that much tougher. The Amarillo club will compete for the first time in the West Texas golf classic.

Jo Dick Slaughter, chairman of the local arrangements committee, announced yesterday that Walter Sikes, well known professional of Amarillo, had been selected as official starter for the tournament, which begins a week from Thursday on the Lubbock County Club course.

Included in Amarillo's entry list are two of the best golfers of the Panhandle, Mansell Merriman and Phil Taber will be among Amarillo's leading contenders for Dennis Lavender's championship throne. Merriman has been among the leading West Texas golfers for the past several seasons and already looms as a possible top flighter in the tournament here.

Nearly 750 Expected

It is expected that between 500 and 750 golfers will be here to take part in the qualifying round May 21. More than half of the clubs in the association have already filed entries and it is thought that nearly all clubs affiliated with the body will send delegates here. Several cities are expected to send unusually large representations. Fort Worth, having two clubs as members of the association, probably will send the largest out of town entry, and Wichita Falls more than likely will be well represented. Both of these clubs are bidding for the 1932 tournament.

Due to the large number of local golfers who plan to enter the tournament, a special qualifying round may be held on Wednesday preceding the official opening date. Nearly 100 local golfers are thought to be polishing clubs and otherwise preparing for the battle.

Dennis Lavender, defending champion who won the title last year for the Abilene club, has moved to Dallas and may not be here to defend his trophy. Efforts are being made to assure his presence.

Nearly 60,000,000 felt hats were made in Italy in the last 12 months.

The NUT CRACKER

BY COL. JOE O'GOOFTY
Former Editor Biter's Hints

NEW YORK, May 11.—Strahgler Lewis lost his wrestling championship the other day in Canada when he is said to have bitten Henri DeGlane on the wrist. Lewis says it isn't so, and that DeGlane bit himself.

Your correspondent, an expert on stings and bites, etc., suggests that DeGlane's wrist and both wrestlers' bridgework be sent to the Pasteur Institute for scientific study. If it should be proved that Lewis really did bite Henri, of course the Strangler should be shot.

If Lewis bit DeGlane, as a further humanitarian gesture, muzzles should be put on all wrestlers before a match. This will help to cut down not only the amazing toll taken annually by hydrophobia but reduce elephantiasis which may be communicated by the bite of an enraged pachyderm.

Of course, as the Strangler says, perhaps DeGlane may have been chewing himself. This is a not uncommon habit of Gallic descendants.

Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Uniformed Baldiness Boys, while not a Gaul, once bit himself by accident during an argument in Philadelphia. The argument was a sort of informal affair, involving 30 or 40 embattled burghers, ball players and cabmen. In the heat of the fracas someone stuck a finger into Uncle Robbie's mouth. Robbie bit it off.

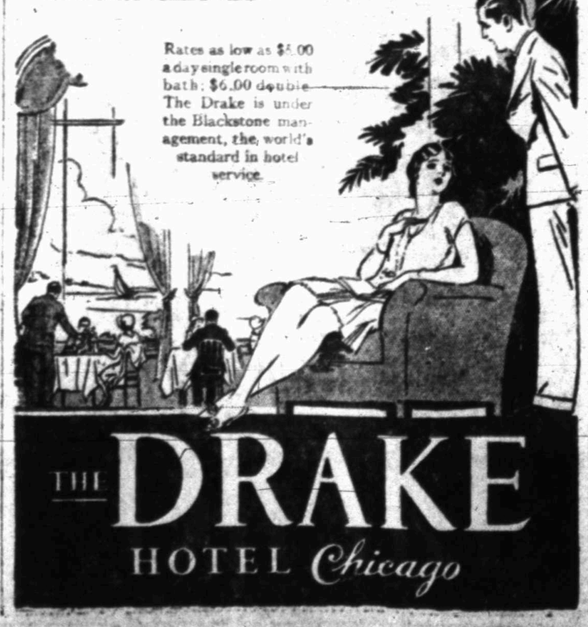

You can imagine his embarrassment the next day when Robbie, while washing his hands, discovered that he had bitten off his own finger.

Simmons Wins First Honors In Intercollegiate Press

ABILENE, May 11. (Special) — First honors in the Texas Intercollegiate Press association went to Simmons university for the second consecutive year when the organization met at Stephen F. Austin Teachers college, Nacogdoches, last week.

By winning first place in the newspaper contest, the sport story and the one act play and taking fourth place in the feature story, Simmons representatives scored 16 points to lead the field of 15 schools.

North Texas Teachers college, Denton was chosen as the meeting place for the 1932 convention. Officers elected were: Abe Skiles, president, Tom King, treasurer, and Billy Howe, secretary, all of North Texas; and Beth Weaver, vice-president, of West Texas Teachers college, Canyon.

NOW READ HOW KONJOLA WORKS

Let The Experiences of Others Be Your Guide In Finding The Right Medicine

After all, what wiser thing to do than to be guided by the happy experiences of those who have put Konjola to the test. Read, right now, the grateful words of those who know what Konjola has done for them.

Mrs. C. J. Slaney

"I feel great", says Mrs. C. J. Slaney, 1104 Cherry Street, Fort Worth, Texas, "after taking the fourth bottle of Konjola. For more than a year I suffered with kidney trouble, nervousness and constipation. I was tired and worn out, and my complexion was bad. Now I have vitality, and I think Konjola is a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Henry Felske

And read the words of Mr. Henry Felske, 1427 Market street, Galveston: "Four years I suffered terribly from rheumatism. There were times when I could not stoop nor walk without pain. I tried many medicines. Now I am on my fourth bottle of Konjola and am better than in ten years, for my general health is vastly improved."

Mrs. Magdalena Muehe

And read the grateful statement of Mrs. Magdalena Muehe, 1409 K street, Galveston, who declares: "For years I had trouble and constipation, and I tried many medicines, but none gave me the relief that Konjola has. I give this endorsement so that others who suffer as I did can get the same relief."

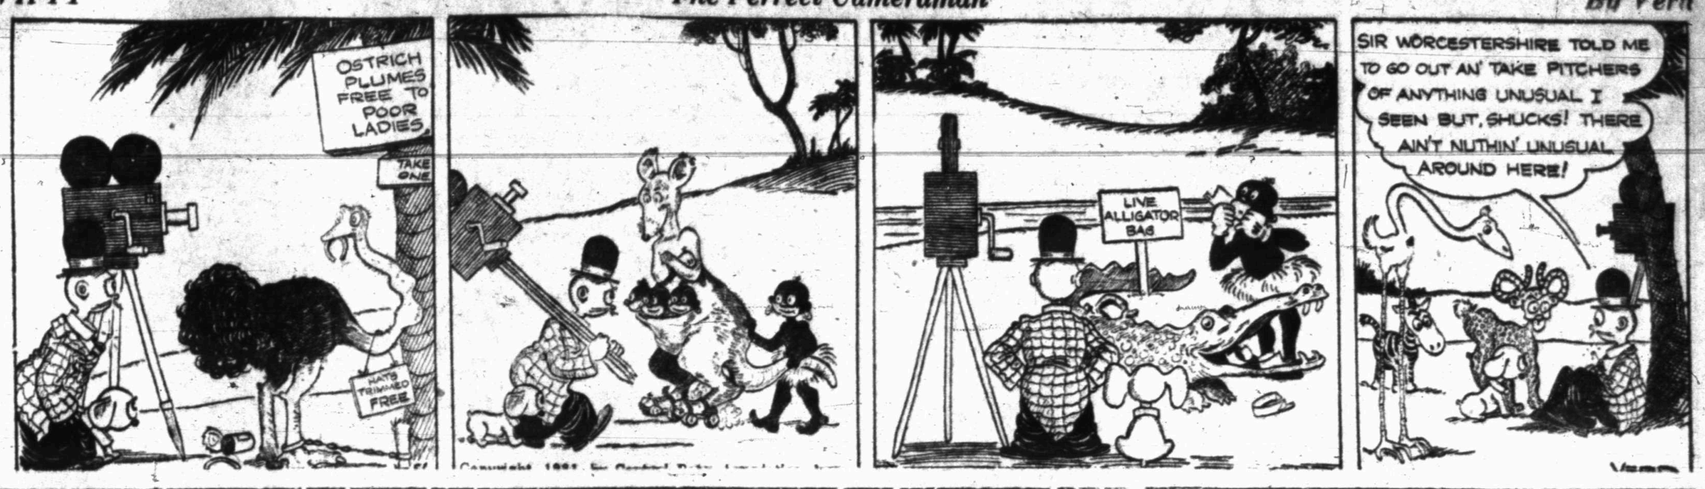

Isn't this the medicine you want: one that gives relief like described here? Konjola works swiftly, all of its 29 ingredients working together. Konjola is for the aged or the infant; for all the family. Buy Konjola in any good drug store anywhere, and do not accept a substitute. Adv.

Cotton — Cotton Is Very Sluggish Monday — Livestock — Steers Develop Market Strength — Grain — Grain Prices On Downward Trend

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 11. (AP)—Cotton was decidedly sluggish in today's trading. Prices developed a downward tendency owing to much lower Liverpool cables than due and decidedly bearish textile statistics for April. That month's sales totaled only 61 per cent of production and unfilled orders decreased 21.3 per cent.

The market closed steady showing net declines for the day of 7-9 points.

Liverpool came in 3-4 penny points worse than due and private cables stated that there was local and foreign liquidation and some hedge selling. Manchester cabled that there were moderate cloth sales to the home rade and South America.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—An early decline in cotton under realizing and scattered selling inspired by relatively easy cables was followed by partial recoveries today. July closed at 10.00 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 9-12 points.

Trading in May was very quiet, only a few sales being reported. Selling tapered off as if influenced by reports of rallies in the stock market and the forecast for light frosts in some sections of the western belt.

The standard cloth statistics for April indicated that sales for the month had been 61 per cent of production with an increase of 3 per cent in stocks on hand and a decrease of 21.3 per cent in unfilled orders. These figures did not appear to be much out of line with expectations but were mentioned in connection with the early decline, which appeared to be chiefly influenced by the better eastern belt weather and easier cables.

Stocks Unenthusiastic In Drag Up And Down On Market After Opening

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP) — Stocks dragged up and down unenthusiastically today.

Professional traders accounted for a large part of the 1,700,000 share turnover, giving the market a dip in the morning and again during the last hour.

Between those two intervals prices managed to rally, paying little attention to sustained weakness in a few individual issues. Net changes were narrow and irregular.

Bonds were firm in a reduced volume of trading, with the best inquiry for the highest grade obligations, many of which reached new tops for the year. Wheat, corn and cotton closed lower, but losses were meagre.

San Diego Girl

body was found May 3 in a lonely park.

Jury Gives Report

The murder charge was filed after a coroner's jury, this afternoon, found the young woman "met death at the hands of a person or persons unknown," and that "evidence in the case points strongly to M. E. Garrison."

At the inquest Edith Bradshaw, 15, sister of the victim, testified Hazel had told her "I am afraid to quit going with Garrison. He is the type of man who might kill me." U. S. Wilson, a sailor, once engaged to Miss Bradshaw, said Garrison had threatened to kill them both upon learning of their friendship.

Story Is Told

Miss Kesler, missing since Friday, told police she had been abducted by two men, taken to a nearby house and attacked. She said she was released this morning and walked to San Diego.

Police announced they were checking her story and that there appeared to be several discrepancies.

During the morning police also turned their attention to the first of the four recent murders — the slaying of 10-year old Virginia Brooks. They visited the home of Richard Ward, 56, escaped convict and admitted slayer of two persons. Ward was arrested yesterday as a suspect.

Two weeks ago the unclothed body of Louise Teuber, 17, was found, hanged to a tree. A few days later Mrs. Dolly Bibbens, a widow, about 35 years old, was found dead in her home.

age, who went to the place to begin his duties soon after dawn Monday. Duke entered the place through a rear door and found the body of his employer swinging from a rafter.

A note addressed to Mrs. Eickmann and their son, Rudy Eickmann was found lying on Eickmann's desk. The note declared that Eickmann was as innocent in the Tampke case "as a baby in a cradle" and that he was simply trying to help Mrs. Tampke the best he could. He asked his son to tell Mrs. Eickmann "just what had happened."

Mrs. Tampke was shot at her home Saturday night. She was in a hospital today and her condition was said to be critical, though slightly improved.

Ernest "Waldcat" Stephens, wrestling promoter, was taken in custody in Harlingen and brought to San Antonio but proved that he had been in Harlingen all day Saturday and was released.

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, May 11. (AP) — Cash grain demand, good.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid: Wheat No. 1 ordinary hard $1 1-2@2 1-2.

Corn No. 2 mixed 69@70, No. 2 white 72 1-2@73 1-2, No. 2 yellow 72@73.

Oats No. 2 red old crop 34@37.

Barley No. 3 nominally 57@58.

Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 1.33@1.35; No. 2 kaffir 1.23@1.25.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 11. (AP) — Despite a sharp decrease of the United States wheat visible supply all grains went downward today. Auspicious reports concerning domestic winter wheat prospects gave bears an advantage. In addition, better moisture conditions for spring wheat south of the Canadian boundary tended to offset nead of a general soaking north of the international line.

Wheat closed irregular, 3-4 cents lower to 1-8 advance, corn unchanged to 1 cent down, oats unchanged to 1-8 to 1-4 off, and provisions showing 2-5 cents decline.

Much of the selling that accompanied price downturns in wheat was apparently based on dispatches from Chicago observers that the Kansas crop outlook seemed almost perfect.

Livestock

Activity was the rule in the markets for hogs and sales ranged steady to 25 above last week's closing levels. Sharply decreased offerings was the main factor in the better tone. Combined receipts were 88,400, as against 136,337 a week ago.

LOSS IS $10,000

SAN ANTONIO, May 11. (AP) — Damage estimated at almost $10,000 was done by a fire, believed to have originated in a short circuit, which almost completely destroyed six trucks and a shed at the plant of the J. E. Decker Packing company here yesterday.

Blights have done great damage to the present wheat crop in Uruguay.

Deficit

der consideration or sale of which was planned.

Representative Byrns said "congress made the annual appropriations for 1932 last December, appropriating $27,000,000 less than President Hoover asked to be appropriated.

"These appropriations were made at a time when the president was on record to the effect that the deficit at the close of the present fiscal year would be at least $180,000,000 and some of us at that time predicted that it would amount to four or five hundred millions.

"Certainly this anticipated deficit should have been sufficiently large to have aroused the interest of the president at that time. But it did not. He made no reduction of his estimates, nor did he seek to have congress cut the appropriations.

"That was the time to have reduced appropriations. Now that the deficit will reach $1,000,000,000, the president has evidently become fearful of the effect. The deficit will amount to more than the cost of running the government before the war under a Democratic administration."

Oil Proration

overruled a petition for a temporary injunction after Fred Upchurch, representing the railroad commission, had pointed out that penalties for violation of the proration order ceased with the filing of the suit and that a temporary injunction therefore would serve no purpose.

The Central Pipe Line company was poined in the suit by the operators of the lease from which it is taking oil. The company claimed it had a contract to take 15,000 barrels a day from the well but the railroad commission had endeavored to reduce the daily output to 387 barrels. This was an interference with a contract and a deprivation of property without due process, the plaintiff contended.

Any penalties against the MacMillian corporation likewise were halted by the federal court suit. The plaintiff claimed that before the proration order was issued it had made certain contracts to sell oil which could not be carried out under the restricted production prescribed by the commission.

The plaintiff corporation said it had two wells from which it had been marketing 15,000 barrels daily but the commission had cut the allowable to 1,455 barrels.

Some of the allegations were that the proration order was a violation of the anti-trust laws that it interfered with private contracts, that it was a violation of the due process clause of the constitution and that it was in restraint of interstate commerce.

The bill to give the railroad commission additional proration powers and to speed up trials of injunction suits was due to get its first hearing tomorrow night before the house committee on oil, gas and mining.

plant "will be better and will benefit more people than putting in a duplicate system."

"We tried to arrive at a purchase price with the gas company," he said, but failing through negotiations we decided to institute condemnation proceedings."

"We have the right, under the gas company's permit to buy the property. All the condemnation is for is to see that a fair price is fixed by the courts.

"The city is not obligated to buy the pipeline from the field into town. The franchise specifically states that the pipeline is not to be considered a part of the distributing system."

Mayor Thompson in conference with Ray Johnson, corporation counsel, after the meeting said that court procedings would be started at once. The first thing, he said, will be for the city to go into county court and file its petition or notice that it proposes to acquire the property and ask that a board of appraisers be named to set a price on the system.

Spanish War

clamped down a state of war upon the capital.

While smoke still curled from the embers of the burning churches, bugles and drums sounded a call to arms. Infantry marched into the streets and armoured cars and machine-guns rattled out.

From the garrison of Alcala De Henares the flower of Spanish cavalry rode hard for the capital on emergency orders from the Republican cabinet, which had declared a state of martial law.

Reliable Catholic sources stated that more than 10,000 nuns and priests had abandoned convents and religious houses and had either taken refuge with friends or left the city.

An attack was made on the merchants club at Seville, the rioters smashing windows when some one was heard to shout "Down with the republic!" Several persons were said to have been saved from lynching by the police after they had cried "Hurrah for King Alfonso!"

Minister of Interior Maura described the burning of the convents as "sheer brutality."

President Alcala Zamora admonished the monarchists "to think over the whole affair and see what in their attitude might have helped to bring about the situation."

In a radio address tonight, President Alcala Zamora said:

"I respect all religious creeds and I guarantee that there will be no more church-burning such as occurred today. I can not permit the civil guard to be disarmed as has been requested because this body has a definite position in the maintenance of public order in the republic. Nobody but communists, monarchists or anarchists, who wish to make our work more difficult, would ask such a thing."

Campaign For Two Confessed Slayers Planned By Courts

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—Attorneys appointed by the courts began today to map out the campaigns the law requires them to make to save Francis Crowley and Rudolph Duringer from the electric chair.

Although both young men have confessed the murders with which they are charged, and Crowley has expressed a desire to "get it over with quick," the New York state law will not permit a man to plead guilty to first degree murder, the penalty for which is death.

Hospital Day Will Be Held

Lubbock Sanitarium And West Texas Hospital Plan Observance Of National Hospital Day; Open House

The Lubbock sanitarium and West Texas hospital will hold open house from 2 to 5 p. m today for public inspection of those two institutions, in observance of National Hospital day. Today is the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, who served as the first army nurse during the Crimean war and who was active in stimulating the hospital movement.

The Lubbock sanitarium and the West Texas hospital will hold "open house" Tuesday from 2 to 5 p. m. for the public inspection of these institutions. They will be among the 2,500 hospitals holding programs throughout the United States.

Nurses On Duty

"We will have a corps of nurses on duty to show people through the building. C. E. Hunt, superintendent of the Lubbock sanitarium said in making his program announcement. "Visitors will be taken through the entire building and shown the X-ray room dining room and kitchen, operating room and other rooms.

"It has been our practice to observe hospital day. We want the public to see how we operate our building. There will be some light refreshments served in the dining room.

The hospital has observed the plan for several years. Last year about 1,000 people went through the building.

At the West Texas Hospital a similar program will be observed. "The institution will observe National Hospital day," R. S. Williams, business manager of the West Texas hospital said. "We will throw open the entire building to visitors and they will be shown over our plant.

"It has been our plan to take part in the program. We want the public to inspect the place so they will understand more about our operations. Mrs. Ruby Gilbert, superintendent of nurses, will have a number of student nurses on duty as escorts. Last year we had several hundred persons here to see the hospital."

Rooms of particular interest in West Texas hospital include the obstetrical room, major and minor surgical operation rooms, and types of rooms for patients, Mr. Williams said.

The Lubbock observance is a part of a nation-wide program. It is pointed out by the American Hospital association national Hospital day committee that there are 720,000 people in hospitals normally, with 700,000 full time workers caring for them, not including 97,000 physicians. During a year 12,500,000 people are patients in hospitals.

El Paso High School Teacher Believes In Having Father As Knot-Tyer Even When She Runs Away For Marriage

EL PASO, May 11. (AP) There are elopement and elopements but few where the bride's father performs the ceremony. Such was the experience, however, of Mrs. John Bales, teacher in El Paso high school at present and formerly instructor in San Marcos Baptist academy.

After her last afternoon class, Mrs. Bales, formerly Miss Londaline Maddox, left the school house with John Bales, druggist of San Marcos, and her two sisters for Alamogordo, New Mexico, and there looked up the Rev. Layton Maddox, Baptist minister of El Paso, who was conducting a revival in Alamogordo.

Informed Bales wanted to be married, Mr. Maddox suggested he was only a visiting minister and one resident in Alamogordo should be retained.

"You'll do," said Bales. "The bride and the witnesses are waiting outside."

"You?" stammered the Rev. Maddox when confronted with his own daughter. Then he married her to Bales.

Mr. Maddox never had seen Bales, who met Miss Maddox in San Marcos. The groom returned to San Marcos, and the bride arranged to teach the remainder of the school year.

Highway Groups Will Meet Soon

The executive committees of the Carlsbad Cavern U. S. 62 Highway association and the Arkoma highway association are to meet in Oklahoma City within the next 15 or 20 days to discuss and complete plans for the amalgamation of the two groups according to J. H. Hankins, president of the former association.

Arrangements for the meeting were made recently during the annual convention of the Arkoma group, which Mr. Hankins attended. The meeting will be attended by Luke Roberts, Lovington, N. M., and W. M. Snyder, also of Lovington, vice-president, and C. W. Snyder of Altus, Okla., a vice-president. It will be held in the office of R. A. Singletary one of the officials and manager of the good roads department of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce. A. B. Davis also may attend. He is secretary.

"I hope that the highway is named the Carlsbad Caverns U. S. 62 Highway association," Mr. Hankins said. "It will be designated all the way from Niagara Falls N. Y., to El Paso and will give us an international highway from Montreal to Chihuahua, Mexico.

Harvard Teacher Is Attack Victim

CAMBRIDGE Mass., May 11. (AP) At least sixteen persons have received "poison pen" letters attacking Professor Timothy A. Taracuzio, Harvard law school instructor, and former captain in the imperial Russian army. District Attorney Warren L. Bishop said today.

Those receiving the letters included twelve members of the faculty and several young society women.

Alienists and typographical experts were today examining reams of manuscript and other typewritten material and numerous typewriters within the confines of Harvard in an effort to establish the identity of the writer.

The authorities also had in their hands a letter, copies of which were received by several newspapers, which stated the "poison pen" letters attacking the Russian professor had covered a period of about a year. The letter, which was typewritten and unsigned, said Taracuzio knew the identity of his attacker.

A model of a 17-story University club, made by students in architecture, also is included in the display.

Oil Situation Is Better In Wichita

WICHITA FALLS, May 11. (AP)—The oil development situation in the Wichita Falls area looks brighter, is the opinion of oil men.

This past few days eleven permits have been issued for new wells, two of the number being for depths of 2,500 feet. The Deep Oil Development Company's No. 1 Munger estate, thirteen miles southwest of Wichita Falls, and one of the three deep tests, was swabbing oil Monday night from a depth of approximately 3,800 feet. At times the oil would flow as high as the double board on the derrick.

Oil men look for the Munger estate well to become a good producer. In the vicinity of this well two tests are going down to the producing sand and within thirty days should reach pay.

The talent, as a whole, is more optimistic now than they have been for months. All feel that the oil business has turned the corner and better times are ahead for those with wells of settled production.
