Bankers Plead Guilty on False Loans

Two former Wellington bankers, officers in the two banks here, pleaded guilty in Amarillo's Federal Court Tuesday to charges of making false entries for bank loans.

The two cases are not related.

Chester A. Long, 58, formerly the president of City State Bank, pleaded guilty to causing a false entry to be made in bank records in 1980 by forging the name of J.L. Diamond to a bank loan for $175,000 according to court records.

Billy Frank Moseley, former president of Wellington State Bank, also pleaded guilty to making a false loan of $15,000 in 1982, according to court records. The loan was made to Camille Starkey Estate who "did not authorize nor consent to" signing the note and obligating the estate, according to the indictment returned in April.

Trial testimony indicates that the money was used to repay personal loans.

Sentencing will take place in about three weeks, according to Judge Mary Lou Robinson. Both men face a maximum fine of $5,000 and/or 5 years in prison, she said.

They can also be made to repay restitution, she said.

It is emphasized that both old timers and newcomers have a part in the history book and are urged to attend the meeting.

SPLASH

Swimmers flocked to Marian Airpark Pool during the first week of pool operation this summer. Hours are 1 to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

Panfork Camp Slates Season

Panfork Baptist Encampment, about 10 miles northeast of Wellington, will open its summer camping program June 18, several weeks earlier than in the past, and continue through July, the Rev. S.L. Yeilding, camp administrator announced Tuesday.

The program has been expanded to serve more boys and girls, as well as adult programs, he said.

Ralph Owens is president of Panfork Encampment.

Panfork Baptist Encampment serves Baptist churches through the eastern half of the Panhandle, and in the last fiscal year, more than 3,200 youths and adults have participated in its programs, including the 1983 camping program, Rev. Yeilding said.

Approximately $175,000, or more, has been finished or approved in the last fiscal year.

A new structural metal building has enclosed the swimming pool, which was also finished in the last year, Yeilding pointed out.

The building not only makes it possible to use the pool comfortably later in the fall and earlier in the spring, but keeps out wind-borne dirt, leaves and other debris. Richard Laverty is the life guard.

The new pool is only four feet deep at the deepest end, as a safety precaution and to enable everyone to get the benefit of playing in it. There is no diving board. The cost is estimated at around $75,000.

Travis Avenue Baptist Church in Memphis has built a new cabin, 30 by 50 feet, at a cost of about $25,000. This is also of structural metal construction, in the camp colors of gold and brown.

Three churches have approved construction of new cabins in the near future: 1st Baptist Church of Wellington, 1st Baptist Church of Skellytown and Hobart Street Baptist Church of Pampa. These will also cost around $25,000 each.

Rev. Yeilding announced the schedule of summer camps:

--First Youth Camp, from 1 p.m. Monday, June 18, through noon Friday, June 22; Rev. Stanley Hughes, of 1st Baptist Church Wellington, preaching.

--Girls Camp, 1 p.m. Monday, July 9 through noon Thursday, July 12; Rev. Clayton Stakins, 1st Baptist Church, Canadian, preaching.

--Mexican youth camp, Monday, June 25 at noon to Thursday, June 28 at noon.

--Junior boys camp, Monday, June 16, 1 p.m. through Thursday, July 19 at noon, Rev. Charles Bridges, 1st Baptist Church, Booker, preaching.

(The boys and girls camps are for children in grades 4, 5 and 6.)

--Friday, July 20, day camp for children in grades one through three.

--The second youth camp, Monday, July 23 at 1 p.m. through Friday, July 27 at noon; Rev. Claude Cone of 1st Baptist Church Pampa, preaching.

--Friday evening and Saturday, July 27 and 28, Mexican family camp. This will close the camping program for the summer.

Rev. Yeilding pointed out that in addition to the 6-weeks summer camp program, more retreats are being held each year--more year-around activities.

"When we get the Panfork Road paved, we will have even more activities available to other church groups," Rev. Yeilding said.

RC Bloodmobile Here Thursday

County residents are reminded that the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Wellington Thursday, June 8, to collect blood, which is the county's part in the agreement whereby Collingsworth General Hospital receives all the blood it needs for patient use through the year.

The bloodmobile will be at Bura Handley Community from 2:30 to 6 p.m. Not more than 45 minutes of time is required for a donor to give blood, from the time he arrives at the community center until he leaves. About 12 minutes is needed for the actual donation. Eighty Units of blood is needed to meet this quota, and for that, at least 100 potential donors should come.

The bloodmobile is sponsored regularly by Collingsworth General Hospital Auxiliary. Mrs. Gorman Owens is in charge of this drive.

County Watches Senate Recount

Lowe Re-elected in Democratic Runoff

Collingsworth County Democratic leaders are awaiting further instructions on the recount procedure in the U.S. Senate race, requested by runoff candidate Kent Hance Monday, June 4.

Statewide, Hance trailed his opponent, Lloyd Doggett by 467 votes out of approximately one million votes cast in the state in June 2 Democratic Second Primary.

The official canvass of votes cast in all races in the county was held Tuesday night, June 5.

In the only local office at stake in the 2nd Democratic Primary, voters of precinct 3 returned Bill Lowe to the office of Commissioner.

Lowe received 166 votes, while his opponent, the Rev. Elvis Pitts, received 132 votes.

Collingsworth followed the trend of all other Panhandle and many others in Texas with a wholehearted support of Lubbock's Kent Hance.

Hance received 716 votes to 51 for Lloyd Doggett. In one box, Samnorwood-Lutie, Doggett did not receive a vote.

However, 319 fewer Hance supporters voted in the 2nd primary than in the 1st Democratic Primary.

In Collingsworth vote for the office of Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 2, W.C. (Bill) Davis polled 357 votes and Roy E. Greenwood 199.

In the race for Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 3, Bill White received 361 votes and Thomas B. "Tom" Thorpe 215.

The vote by boxes in the commissioner's race with only two boxes and the absentee box involved, was:

Quail: Lowe 19, Pitts 31; Wellington Elementary School: Box 9: Lowe 123, Pitts 97; absentee box, Lowe 24, Pitts 4. Total: Lowe 166, Pitts 132.

U.S. Senator: all boxes: Dodson, Box 2: Hance 35, Box 5.

Courthouse, Boxes 1, 3, 7: Hance 312, Doggett 11.

Quail, Box 8: Hance 40, Doggett 3.

Elementary School, Box 9: Hance 198, Doggett 23.

Samnorwood-Lutie: Box 9: Hance 67, Doggett 0.

Absentee: Hance 64, Doggett 9.

Total, Hance 716: Doggett 51.

First Wheat Delivered to Wellington June 1

Two loads of wheat, delivered to Wellington's two elevators, Friday, June 1, opened the harvest season, and gave indications of a much better wheat crop than anticipated.

Bill Lowe, manager of Singley Mill and Elevator, reported that Doug Seal brought a load of wheat from his farm at Loco. It tested 60 with a moisture contest of 12.6.

As cutting has just started, the yield on this field and on others in the community could not be determined.

This field has been hailed out for the last three years and Seal was especially eager to cut a crop this time, Lowe reported.

Also on Friday, Marty Warrick delivered a load of wheat from his farm at Arlie to Warrick's Inc., according to Glenn Warrick.

A little later, Elmer Keller delivered a load from just southeast of town, near the phone tower and Bruce Ward brought in a load of wheat from Buck Creek, Glenn Warick said.

He reported that several other sample loads had been brought in but the moisture is still too high on most of that.

"The test weights are a little bit low, but we are not far enough into the crop harvest to tell if there is a problem or not," he said.

Yields have been from 15 bushels per acre up to as much as 30 bushels. The big yield was from irrigated land.

"We are barely getting started, but the sampling is pretty good. Fields are much better than we guessed it to be. Keller is not through cutting, but you can tell it will be a pretty good patch of wheat," according to Warrick.

No one was reported as having disposed of wheat brought to the elevator, either by sale or through the loan, but the price Monday was $3.34 per bushel.

After the deliveries Friday, spotted showers over the county stopped all cutting, but if there is no more moisture, Lowe predicted that "we should see a lot of wheat cut this week."

Wellington Students Honored In Dental Assisting Classes

Two Wellington girls, Cathy Crelia and Carla Nunnelley graduated from the Dental Assisting Program of Amarillo College this spring. They were honored as being outstanding in separate categories.

Each has her name engraved on a plaque, which after a brief period with the girl, hangs permanently at AC.

Miss Crelia received the Outstanding Clinical Award, which concerns the dental assistant's relations with the patient and with the dentist to whom she is assisting.

Miss Crelia was critiqued by the dentist with whom she was working and she received the highest critique sheet of any student in the class, said Neita Boynton, coordinator for the Dental Assisting Program.

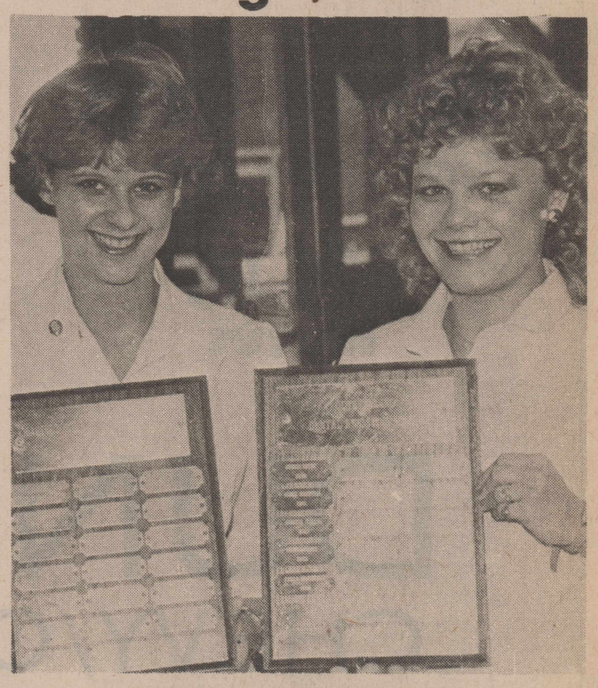

She will work for W.P. Estes, D.D.S., in his office here.

Miss Nunnelley was named the Outstanding Dental Assisting major. Her grade point average of 3.9 was the highest in the class. She was on the Dean's Honor Roll for both first and second semester.

Miss Nunnelley has been accepted into the Dental Hygiene Program for the 1984 class and will begin summer courses.

Both girls will take the County Brucellisis Free

AUSTIN - About one-third of the counties in Texas -- 76 to be exact -- are free of brucellosis, figures from the Texas Animal Health Commission reveal. Collingsworth is one of these.

Most of the counties free of the disease are in the Class B Area of Texas, which contains 141 counties in the western half of the state. In Class B, there are 72 counties free of brucellosis, which is more than half of the Class B Area.

Four counties are free of the disease in the Class C Area which is the eastern half of the state made up of 113 counties. The four counties free of the disease in Class C are Marion, Newton, McMullen, and Jim Hogg.

In the Class B Area, there are almost 60,000 cattle herds; of that number only 145 are under quarantine.

In the Class C Area, there are more than 102,000 cattle herds; of that number 1,710 are under quarantine.

Counties in the Class B Area of Texas free of brucellosis are as follows:

Cattle Study Aids Human Disorders

COLLEGE STATION - The cow, usually only considered in terms of a four-legged steak, may prove increasingly useful in medical research to benefit humans, says a Texas A&M University scientist.

As different as they seem, cattle, mice and humans share large blocks of essentially identical genetic material, explains geneticist Dr. James Womack of Texas A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine.

The discovery throws open the possibility of using cattle as a more reliable research animal in studying such divered human genetic disorders as cancer, dwarfism and Klinefelter's syndrome (marked by malfunction of the testicles and abnormally large breasts for males), he said.

Look out for frayed cords, cracked insulation, or loose connections on lamps and appliances. Make a point of checking the cords you don't regularly see, those hidden behind furniture. Don't repair; replace.

Are there cords running under carpeting? This is a real hazard. Not only might someone trip, but traffic and vacuuming on the rug may wear down cord insulation. Don't rig cords over nails or hooks, either. Rubbing may cut insulation.

What's in the fuse box? Get rid of any burned-out fuses. In most cases, you should be using only 15-amp fuses except on specially wired heavy-duty circuits.

Bettye Kiker Installed As Worthy Matron of Eastern Star

The 1984 officers of the Order of the Eastern Star were installed in an open installation Saturday evening, June 2 in the Masonic Hall.

Juanita Witaker of Paducah District Deputy, Section 2, District 5, was the installing officer.

This installation was unusual in that four members of one family became officers.

Bettye Kiker was installed as worthy matron and her son, Lon Kiker was worthy patron. The worthy matron's husband, Melvin Kiker, became chaplain and the worthy patron's wife, Melissa Kiker, fills the post of Electra.

Mrs. Kiker succeeds Evelyn King, who held the office of worthy matron during the 1983-84 year.

Other new officers include Sallie O'Hair, associate matron; Paul Davis, associate patron; Jennie Holcomb secretary; Mayme Lou Denley, treasurer; Deloyce Savage, conductress; Wanda Jeffrey, associate conductress; Melvin Kiker, chaplain; Floy Davis, marshal and Willie Wells, organist.

In addition to Mrs. Whitaker, installing officers were:

Frances Richards of Paducah, marshal; Tina Powell, chaplain; Tommy Taylor, both of Clarendon, organist; Joyce Hall of Paducah, secretary.

In the program following the installation, Melissa Kiker sang "Fill My Heart, Lord;" the Rev. Tom Thomson, pastor of 1st United Methodist Church spoke on "A Belief in God" followed by addresses by Bettye Kiker, the new worthy matron and Lon Kiker, new worthy patron.

After the benedictions refreshments were served in the dining room of the Masonic Hall.

UDC Chapter Makes Plans For Installation Program

The Sabine Pass Chapter 2459, United Daughters of the Confederacy held its regular meeting Wednesday, May 23 in the Heritage Room.

The meeting was opened by the president, Kedron Mitchell, leading the members in the UDC ritual. In the business meeting plans were made for a tea and installation of officers at the June Meeting.

Reports were made that 152 books and magazines, 41 personal items, were given to the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo.

Twenty-one letters have been written to U.S. Congressmen and Senators; 25 antique garments were donated to the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum in Canyon, and 6 historical programs had been held this year.

Mrs. Mitchell cited members for their help in making the district meeting a success.

In the business session also members voted their desire to remain in District 2 instead of transferring to District 9.

These members were present: Frankie Duncan, Maudie Coffee, Bettye Kiker, Willie Wells, Kedron Mitchell, Gertrude Mayhugh, and Jo Carson.

After the installation tea, there will not be a meeting until September.

Build a Patio and Add Value to Your Property

A living terrace or patio can do a lot for a home landscape.

Positive aspects of a patio include enhancing the property value, providing space for recreation and entertainment, and bringing indoor and outdoor environments together, says a landscape horticulturist.

"With the mild Texas weather, a patio can provide year-round enjoyment and affords the opportunity for more outdoor living," points out Dr. William C. Welch with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System

"Building a patio can be an enjoyable project for the homeowner, but it must be planned carefully," adds Welch.

As a general rule, a terrace should be no less than 8 to 10 feet wide and should repeat the lines of the adjacent building, says the horticulturist. Free-form patio designs can be attractive but are best left to landscape architects to design. Irregular forms with cutouts for trees or other plants can be successful if plenty of open space is included for activities.

"A patio surface should be firm and relatively smooth," Welch adds. "It should slope gently away from the house so water will drain away from the foundation. Smooth surfaces such as plain concrete and flagstone are usually easiest to sweep clean, but brick and pea gravel concrete can be hosed off quickly."

Most surfacing materials are easier for amateurs to install if done in sections, suggests the horticulturist. Use redwood or other long-lasting lumber as dividers or headers in 3- to 6-foot modules and do one section at a time. This method is especially useful when installing brick over a sand base since it adds a neat and finished look to the surface which would otherwise look irregular and uneven.

Welch advises designing a patio to provide privacy, which can be provided by plants, constructed screens or orientation. Most people like the convenience of having the patio adjacent to the kitchen or family room. Many also are constructed adjacent to bedrooms, living rooms and even bathrooms.

"Wood or masonry fences, vines over structures, or plants may serve as privacy screens around a patio. However, plants require more space than structural screens, which may make them impractical for small areas," Welch points out.

One or more trees near the patio will provide shade from noon and afternoon sun, or an overhead shade structure can be constructed.

Including accessories such as landscape lighting and weatherproof receptacles make the terrace more useful, adds Welch. Flowering plants or shrubs in pots, tubs or boxes can make a terrace more attractive, and a portable barbecue grill can be useful for entertaining. A small, depressed fire circle can be used for small campfires and covered with a table or potted plant when not in use.

Seafood Purchasers Should Observe Certain Pointers

AUSTIN - Seafood shoppers can make wiser purchases at the market if they are aware of a few basic facts about fishery products.

"The consumer's skill in selecting seafood has much to do with his or her success in preparing the dish."

The following tips should help shoppers find good buys at the seafood counter:

Whole fish -Scales tightly attached, firm pink flesh, mild and fresh odor, clear bulging eyes, reddish-pink gill area.

Fillets or steaks - firm flesh with translucent-like appearance, mild and fresh odor, no separation of flesh, no signs of freezer burn or bruising.

Shrimp - head firmly attached to tail, no discoloration of flesh, fresh sweet odor, no coloration associated with cooked shrimp, translucent rather than opaque in appearance.

Oysters - shells tightly closed is alive, (discard if sheels gap open and do not close when tapped) clear, thin liquor; no ammonia-like odor; plump with no extraneous material.

Crab meat - free of shell and cartilage if picked; sweet odor; alive if uncooked and in shell; bright orange and chilled if cooked in shell.

All seafoods are extremely perishable and must be maintained at a low temperature. Store seafoods in your refrigerator at 35 degrees F. in the coldest part; on the bottom shelf where two walls meet.

Mr., Mrs. W.R. Breeding Honored on 50th Wedding Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. W.R. BREEEDING

Almost 200 friends and family members came from across West Texas to join Mr. and Mrs. W.R. (Buck) Breeding of Samnorwood in celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

This was held Sunday, June 3, although the real anniversary date falls on Wednesday, June 6.

The hosts were the couples two children and their spouses, Karon and Rudolph Tate of Abra Community, and Laron and Dianne Breeding of Samnorwood.

The celebration was in the Tate home, although for many years this was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Breeding.

Assisting were the four grandchildren, Lynn Tate, Stan Tate, David Breeding and J.W. Breeding.

Mrs. Mary Coleman and Mrs. Edna Bradley were at the guest register.

The reception table was covered with a light gold floor-length satin cloth with gathered skirt. The anniversary cake, iced in pale gold, had darker shades of the same color as accents. Flowers were an arrangement of gold snapdragons and spider chrysanthemums, and on each side were a pair of silver candelabras which were gifts from friends at this golden anniversary.

Punch was ladeled from a large silver bowl.

Cake was served by Martha Coleman of Shamrock and punch by Dianne Breeding. Other members of the house party were Doris Elder, Ann Coleman, Bonita Myers, Dorothy Shields, Lois Knoll, Pat Breeding, Jo Nell Wischkaemper, Tess Breeding, Vera Amerson, Sondra Mimms, Crystal Breeding, Stacey Knoll and Betty Sue Kincannon.

Mr. Breeding and the former Marietta Kincannon, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Kincannon, were married June 6, 1934 in Memphis.

She was born at Boise City, Okla., but moved with her parents to the Abra community when she was quite young.

Breeding is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Breeding, early ranchers in the Abra community, where he was born.

Both have felt an obligation to be active within their community--duties which they perform with pleasure.

He is a charter member and was the first president of Samnorwood Lions Club and has served in most of the other offices.

He helped with the founding of the High Plains Eye Bank and its eye donor program, which is supported by Lions. Buck and Etta Breeding attended Lions International Conventions in Switzerland, Honolulu and New Orelans.

He was on the Samnorwood School Board for a number of years and then served the county as commissioner of Precinct 4 for approximately 20 years. Improved roads for the entire county and Pioneer Park at Salt Fork and Highway US 83 were work in which he took pride.

He was known state-wide for his work in behalf of Soil Conservation.

Mrs. Breeding devoted much time to the Abra Home Demonstration, now known as the Hobby and Social Club.

Also active in soil conservation, she was named Outstanding Conservation Homemaker of Texas in the Save the Soil and Save Texas Awards program.

Since he retired from public office, the couple has traveled extensively, making friends from wide areas and traveling with groups to many areas of the United States and Canada.

More than 60 remained for supper Sunday evening.

Floyd Pittman Family Gathers for Reunion

Ten of the 11 children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Pittman gathered for the family reunion over the weekend.

The event was held at the home of a brother and sister-in-law 10 miles south of Hobart, Okla., in a location ideal for such gatherings, at the foot of one of the large mountains, with two spring-fed ponds for fishing. Members reported that "this year the fish were cooperative," and approximately three to four pound cat fish were caught, along with a few smaller perch, bass and turtles. Members meet here each year. Between 75 and 80 attended.

This year the members of this large family came from three states, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma for visiting and reminiscing.

Besides fishing and feasting, there was mountain climbing during the three days of the reunion.

Plans are already under way for the 1985 reunion at the same location.

The ten brothers and sisters and their spouses were T.J. and Willie Mae Pittman of Perryton, Edward and Nina Pittman of Hobart, Armon and Joyce Pittman of Tulsa, Okla., Lora and Weldon Sexton of Dodson; Mattie and Erman West or Purcell, Okla., Jerry and Pat Pittman of Farmington, N.M.; Mamie and L.D. Greenhaw of Kemp; Mary Esham of Farmington, N.M.; Clara Marie and Larry Bunch of Kemp, Lois and Lester Williams of Clinton, Okla.

All had their children and grandchildren at the reunion.

A special guest was Clara Thompson of Kemp, the only sister of the late Mrs. Floyd Pittman. A few family friends were present.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

by Nancy Janes

DEVELOP A HOME MAINTENANCE PLAN

The air conditioner isn't working, so you open up the windows to get the cool evening breeze. Then you wind up with a house full of bugs because the screens have holes. If things like this happen to you, the chances are you could use a home maintenance plan, says Collingsworth home economist Nancy Janes.

"It seems like home repair problems happen all at once, when they actually occur over time. It's just that they catch up with us all at once," says Janes.

A regular program of home maintenance inspections can help homeowners identify and correct problems before they become serious. It can also reduce the costs of major repairs by heading off problems in the early stages she adds.

According to Janes, a home maintenance plan is simply a checklist of routine upkeep tasks. The checklist identifies a number of problems to look for in foundations and basements; doors and windows; exterior walls; the roof; gutters and downspouts; interior surfaces; heating and cooling system; electrical system; plumbing system; yard; and safety equipment.

In addition to guiding you through specific inspections you can make in each of these areas, a home maintenance plan creates a record of all upkeep and repairs to the house and its equipment.

This type of record can be useful in budgeting for future maintenance, can help organize tax records on home improvements, and generate a list of service people to call (or avoid) in the future, explains the home economist.

If you would like a checklist or more information on home maintenance, contact Janes at the County Extension office.

Here Are Dry Weather Tips for Landscape Irrigation

With dry weather already plaguing much of Texas, homeowners need to get the most from irrigation water to keep their yards and gardens lush and growing.

Everett E. Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, says much of the water used on yards and gardens is often wasted because of improper methods of application and poor cultural practices.

"Slow, deep watering will allow plant roots to penetrate deeper so that plant become more stress-resistant," Janne says. "Soaker hoses and drip irrigation systems are excellent for trees and shrubs while overhead sprinklers are most effective for lawns."

It's important that water be applied no faster than the soil can absorb it, emphasizes the horticulturist. If it is applied too rapidly, much of the water will be lost to runnoff and evaporation. Excessive amounts of water can cause soil to become water-logged in the root area, causing rotting, especially if internal drainage is poor.

"Be careful not to over-water plants native to more arid regions of the state," Janne says. "They can be damaged by root rot. Also, since they often fail to go dormant due to the more than adequate water supply and stay soft and succulent into the winter, such plants can be damaged by low temperatures."

Shrubs and trees near foundations, under eaves or on southern and western exposures need watering more frequently than others, says Janne. These plants often receive less benefit from rainfall and have to deal with heat reflected from south and west facing walls.

Areas under overhangs should usually be leached every few months to remove concentrations of salt left from water evaporation.

"Newly transplanted trees and shrubs require special care," Janne points out. "Water both the base of the plant and the surrounding soil. Often there is adequate moisture in the soil but the original root ball is dry. An organic mulch of pine bark, chopped straw, hay or similar material will greatly reduce irrigation needs of both newly established and older plants."

"Allow lawns to show some stress before watering to avoid losing too much water runoff," says Janne. "However, water lawns deeply and thoroughly."

Lawns and gardens can be watered any time of day, but evaporation is less at night or during the early morning. However, night watering can promote more disease problems.

"By treating water as a valuable resource and irrigating wisely, your yards and gardens will flourish without skyrocketing water bills," says Janne. "Plus you'll be helping to conserve declining water supplies."

Collingsworth County voters played a significant role in a statewide election for the second time this spring in voting in Saturday's Democratic primary runoff.

The latest count in the race between Kent Hance and Lloyd Doggett in the runoff for Democratic nominee for U.S. Senate shows Doggett leading by 467 votes out of almost 1 million cast.

In the May primary Collingsworth County voters gave Hance 1,135 votes and he won the race by about 1,000 votes. Last Saturday, in the runoff, Hance received only 716 votes.

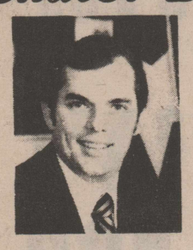

Voters didn't switch to another candidate. They stayed at home. Doggett, who received 113 votes in the primary, garnered only 51 in the runoff. And Bob Krueger, who received 187 votes here in the primary, was not in the runoff.

The 419 people who voted for Kent Hance in the primary and who decided not to vote in the runoff made a big difference in the outcome of the statewide race. Their votes alone would have brought Hance to within 49 votes of winning the election.

Moral of the tale: your vote counts.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — We have recently heard Ross Perot speak on two separate occasions expressing his views as to the problems in education in our state. I saw many people from around the Texas Panhandle at both the breakfast and luncheon which Mr. Perot addressed. I also had the opportunity to visit with Mr. Perot for some of the recommendations of the Select Committee on Education. I found Mr. Perot to be a very persuasive speaker, but, unfortunately, many of the things he brought out regarding our education system just are not representative of our schools in the Texas Panhandle.

Within the 29 counties I represent, there are 89 school districts, representing all types, from rich schools to poor schools and large schools to small schools. We believe our schools and teachers do a much better job of teaching our young people than many of the other schools throughout the state of Texas. I think some of Mr. Perot's comments are unjust and are not typical of the schools we have.

Mr. Perot commented that Texas has perhaps the worst school system in the entire world. I do not believe one can compare our school system to other countries when those countries provide an education for only 10% of the children. In Texas we have that freedom for all our young people. Mr. Perot stated that the typical school has 40 clubs and all they do is sell cookies and make trips to Belgium and Hawaii. I do not know of any school in my senatorial district that ever took a trip overseas or has even half the clubs that Mr. Perot estimates.

Mr. Perot strongly criticized vocational education and made it appear that the only vocational courses we have today are bicycle repair and pottery. He also criticized vocational agriculture to a great degree. I believe this is a program which has a very important role in our public school system. From the ninth through twelfth grade level, 44% of all the children in our public school system are enrolled in some form of vocational training. Currently, in the ninth through twelfth grade we have a 30% drop-out rate. It is my fear if the state funding for vocational education is eliminated, we will probably see a 50% drop-out in our public school system. I believe this is taking a step in the wrong direction.

We must realize that not all young people will be college graduates. Two-thirds of the jobs available today require technical skills and we will fight to maintain state funding for vocational education.

I strongly support Mr. Perot's recommendations that we must go back to the basics in education and increase emphasis on the grade school levels. We believe it is at this point where young people should learn how to read, write and master basic mathematics. We cannot wait until they are in high school to teach them these skills.

Education is something that means a great deal to me since I am the only member of the Texas Senate who has taught in the public school system.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Legislators are scheduled to convene in Austin this week to consider raising taxes to pay for increased teacher salaries and highway construction.

Governor Mark White called the special session, as he promised he would a year ago, to also consider passage of a public education reform package put together by Texans serving on his select committee.

Many legislators have expressed a reluctance to raise taxes right now, particularly the sales tax which White wants increased by a penny. Preliminary head-counting had a few folks wondering if White could muster the necessary votes to pass his program.

But the uniqueness of a Texas special session is this: the governor calls lawmakers back to Austin and only he sets the specific agenda of topics that they can consider. He can reward legislators by adding their pet issues to the agenda.

Many legislators do not like special sessions, one reason being they generally lose money if the session drags on. The meager compensation they receive in return for leaving their businesses and jobs back home is not a personal incentive to some.

And although special sessions are allowed up to 30 days, generally they are much shorter because of the concentrated agenda, and an underlying attitude to get things over and go home.

Governors feel they have the votes, or are close to mustering the votes, before they issue the call.

Limited Reform

And governors have the power to hold lawmakers' feet to the fire by calling several sessions in a row. Under these conditions, few legislators are strong enough to deny a governor what he wants, although they can limit what he gets.

The House leadership weeks ago signaled White they will not write a tax bill to pay for all the education reforms he wants.

Their strategy is, as indicated, to hold up passage of a tax bill until the education reform package bill is signed by the governor. This way, they can closer estimate how much tax to raise, and they can avoid giving any one individual or special interest a blank check to spend.

Other players in the political drama include Dallas multi-millionaire H. Ross Perot, who headed the select committee which drafted the reforms, and Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Annual Sessions

Bullock has been addressing the special session issues at various public speaking engagements around the state.

He warns that White's $4.8 billion tax hike plan is the largest increase not only in Texas history, but in any other state.

He also warns that if White succeeds in getting lawmakers to raise the sales tax, the Texas tax would be the highest in the country, and Texas "would lose its competitive edge."

Among other things, Bullock advocates raising legislators' salaries and annual sessions to write one-year budgets.

"After 25 years in state government, I believe we could do a better job of managing our money with annual sessions, at least so we could write one-year budgets," he said.

Bullock told Rotarians in El Paso that he thought the Legislature would limit the tax increase to not more than $2 billion, less than half of what White wants.

Low-Level Waste

One issue lawmakers will face in regular session in January is creation of a low-level nuclear waste dump to handle waste generated in hospitals, laboratories, etc.

But a poll released last week indicates most Texans are opposed to such a dump, at least in their home county.

Across the state, 71 percent opposed putting the low-level burial site in their county. In West Texas, opposition ran higher at 80 percent based on a fear of contamination of the environment.

Currently, low-level waste is buried at only three sites in the nation, none in Texas. But beginning in 1986, those sites can refuse to accept waste from other states, leaving Texas and others to scurry around looking for their own dump sites.

Hunting Leases

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said his staff is looking at raising more revenue for Texas school children by opening more state lands for hunting leases.

Mauro said his office would implement enhanced wildlife and game management plans, as well as soil conservation and revegetation projects.

Two weeks ago, Mauro was given the Texas Natural Resources Award from the Texas Wildlife Society for his work in protecting the environment.

Primary Endorsed

On the election front, Texas Democratic Party chairman Bob Slagle reversed his opinion and said he now favors a single national primary to elect a president.

Slagle caught a good number of suggestions and flak on Texas caucus system from members of his party.

Slagle was the defender and apologist for the caucus system, but rather than face a prolonged bloodletting among Democrats over the issue, he will support the changes.

On Democratic unity, Slagle said, "Our candidates act like a bunch of alley cats. And when they're done beating up each other, we'll be running a scarred-up guy against a president who's done nothing but smile at himself in the mirror for months."

THOMAS' ROLL CALL REPORT

Your Congressman's Votes Reported Each Week

WASHINGTON -- Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes immediately before and after the Memorial Day recess.

HOUSE

DEBT The House passed, 211 for and 198 against, and sent to the president a bill (HR 5692) raising the national debt ceiling by $30 billion, to $1.52 trillion. A $2.7 trillion debt may be reached within six years in the absence of major budget-cutting, the Congressional Budget Office estimates.

Members voting yes favored a higher debt ceiling.

Voting yes: Kika De La Garza, D-15.

Voting no: Jack Hightower, D-13, Charles Stenholm, D-17.

Not voting: Kent Hance, Dp19.

NICARAGUA By a vote of 241 for and 177 against, the House adopted an amendment to block further military aid this year for the CIA-directed rebels, or contras, who are fighting Nicaragua's Sandinista government. This occurred during debate on an appropriations measure (HJ Res 492) that later was sent to conference with the Senate, which favors President Reagan's request for $21 million in additional fiscal 1984 "covert aid" for the contras.

Members voting yes wanted to end the CIA's guerilla war against Nicaragua.

Voting yes: De la Garza.

Voting no: Hightower, Stenholn.

Not voting: Hance.

WASTE The House adopted, 324 for and 75 against, an amendment making it difficult for defense contractors to charge taxpayers exorbitant prices for spare military parts and other hardware items. In part, it would give any manufacturer, not just those on "qualified suppliers" lists, a chance to sell parts to the Pentagon.

Members voting yes wanted to cut waste by injecting more price competition into Pentagon procurement.

Voting yes: Hightower, De la Garza, Stenholn.

Not voting: Hance.

CIVIL By a vote of 87 for and 301 against, the House rejected an amendment to prevent spending for civil defense programs that are designed to help the remaining American population cope with a nuclear attack. The amendment to HR 5167 (above) had no effect on civil defense spending unrelated to nuclear war.

Members voting yes were opposed to civil defense programs based on the calculation that a functional U.S. society would survive a nuclear war.

Voting no: Hightower, De la Garza, Stenholm.

Not voting: Hance.

SENATE

WILKINSON By a vote of 36 for and 54 against, the Senate defeated a motion to return the nomination of J. Harvie Wilkinson III to the judiciary Committee for further scrutiny of his qualifications to become a Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals judge.

Lloyd Bentsen, D, voted yes. John Tower, R, voted no.

Since government has deregulated financial institutions, you read and hear about troubled banks and savings and loan associations over the nation. We have been busy over the past several years with our program to strengthen our association. The problems have been caused by having to pay high market rates for money which is loaned out at lesser rates. Our efforts to equalize this imbalance is now paying off.

Adjustable mortgage loans work to the benefit of both the borrower and the lender. The interest rate is tied to a national average over which we have no control and may increase or decrease according to national trends.

Protection

The signal light is man's guide to safer travel. However, they protect only as they are obeyed.

The Bible is God's Signal Light and guide for man's path through life.

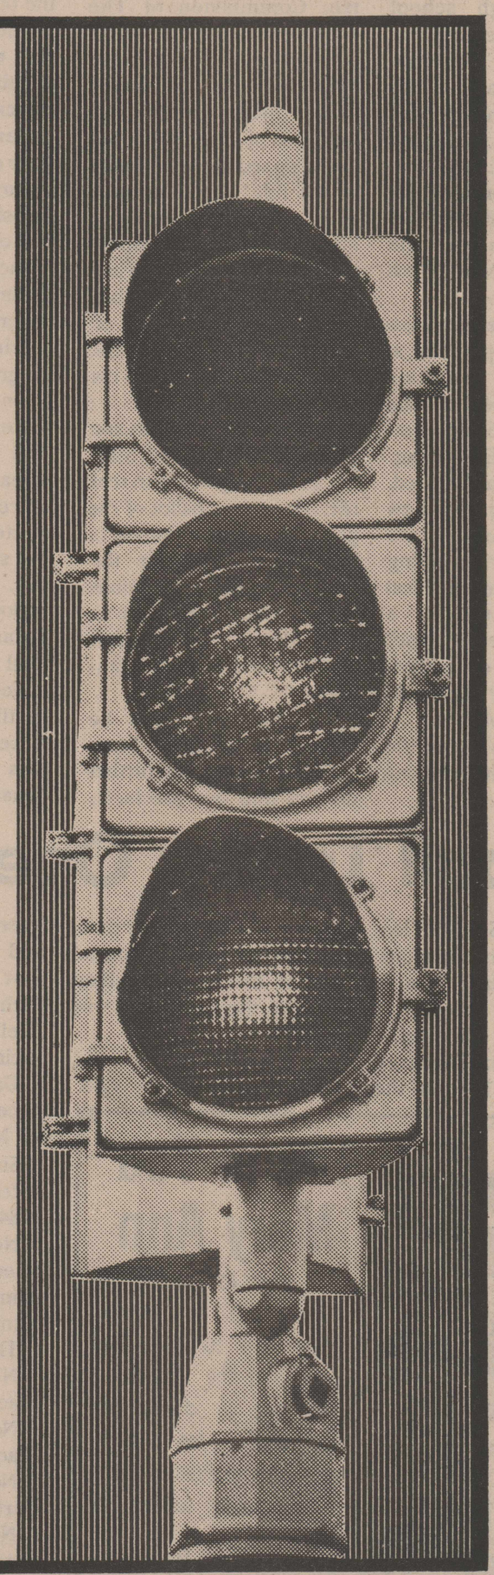

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

Through study of God's word, we learn His will for our life, and He will lead in paths of righteousness.
ATTEND CHURCH

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Ingram Attends Boys State

Heath Ingram is among 962 Texas high school juniors who is attending the 44th session of American Legion Boys State, which opened on the University of Texas Campus in Austin Saturday, June 2.

Ingram is sponsored by the Frank King Post of the American Legion with the Wellington Kiwanis Club cooperating.

Boys State citizens began registering at 1 p.m. for a full week of activities learning about the functions of government, State Commander Charles E. Sonntag, Jr. of Texas City announced.

That evening the new citizens of Boys State attended their first meeting in their assigned mythical Boys State City, for a program designed to teach responsibilities of citizenship in an actual "Learn By Doing" type workshop.

"Boys State is one of the outstanding youth training programs of the Americanism Commission of The American Legion," Commander Sonntag stated. "Not only do the youths learn more about the functions of government but they also see the importance of the role played by each good citizen in discharging his basic citizenship responsibilities in voting. They discover that each individual citizen is an integral part of, and responsible for the character and success of his government."

The political caucuses and conventions of Boys State are as exciting as any in real life. The secret ballot of the general election instructs the young citizens in the finer arts of being a gracious winner and a good loser as they learn from their experiences of campaigning.

The 962 boys will be housed in 22 Boys State Cities with each city further divided into two precincts, one for the Federalist and the other for the Nationalist political party. They will run for office or work for appointments as they organize city, county, and state governments. Climax of their effort is the election of a Boys State Governor, a Legislature, Supreme Court and other State officers.

Jack W. Flynt, 11, of Dimmitt and a member of American Legion Post 575 is Chairman of this year's program.

On Friday, June 8, the citizens of Boys State will visit the State Capitol and actually sit in chairs of the office to which they were elected and mythically run the state government for a day.

Boys State enrollment for Texas this year brings the total to 27,628 high school juniors who have attended in the past four decades, since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

by Don Reeves

TIME TO TREAT FOR CATTLE GRUBS

Cattle grubs are undercover workers--all their damage is unseen, yet they cause greater economic losses to the U.S. beef cattle industry than any other insect pest.

While grubs are usually found on the backs of infested animals during the winter months, that's not the time for control measures since the pests have already done their damage.

Grubs are the larvae or worm stage of heel flies, and adult heel flies are currently active over most of the state.

The time to control grubs is during the period of May through August when they are small and before infested animals suffer stress, weight loss and decreased feed efficiency.

Heel flies cannot sting, have no mouth parts and cause no pain to cattle. Yet, they frighten animals, making them difficult to manage.

Heel flies lay their eggs on an animal's hairs in the stomach and leg region, glued in position. Tiny larvae hatch in a few days, crawl down to the base of the hair and burrow into the animal's skin.

Then they begin a migratory course through the animal's body, congregating in the throat after a few months and after six to eight months, appear in the grub stage in the animal's back.

If a producer has a history of grubs in his cattle herd, animals should be treated over three months of age with one application of an approved systemic insecticide during the May through August period.

Systemic insecticides are absorbed directly through the animal's skin, circulated throughout the body, and kill grubs while they are small.

These insecticides come in various forms--dips, pour-ons, injections and spot-on treatments. A listing of approved insecticides and methods for controlling cattle grubs is available at the county Extension office.

Rev. Bland Has Heart Surgery

The Rev. Donald E. Bland, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, is convalescing in Denver, Colo., after undergoing heart bypass surgery in a hospital there on Monday, May 14.

He was released from the hospital on May 23, and he and Mrs. Bland are staying with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D.L. Shaffer and family in Littleton, Colo. His doctor has not yet cleared Rev. Bland to travel.

He had been aware of a heart condition for 9 years, but this was controlled by medication. Chest pain began to worsen about mid-March and in late April the Blands went to Denver for him to see his cardiologist and to celebrate their granddaughter's birthday.

An interesting side light to this was that Rev. Bland's eldest sister, Ruth Brown, who lives in Denver had emergency surgery on May 7 and the two were on opposite ends of the same floor in the same hospital.

"When we were able to walk the hall we would visit each other two or three times a day," he said. "We've received so many cards, calls and prayers from Wellington friends that have just encouraged and lifted me. We are truly grateful and our church is standing by us 100%. What a wonderful group of people they are."

Student Tells of Seminar

Thomas Cochran, Wellington High School student, recently attended the Hugh O'Brian Seminar, sponsored by the actor, Hugh O'Brian. Thomas gives this account of the youth event.

On March 30, 1984, I attended the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation, North Texas Youth Leadership Seminars in Dallas.

The seminar was about "America's Incentive System" and consisted of several mini-seminars. These mini-seminars covered topics such as "Professional Women in the Eighties," "Free Enterprise and Government Working Together,"

"Sports-Business or Pleasure; Long Range Strategic Planning and Acquisitions, Management Information Systems-Computers and Systems in Business and Banking and Finance."

Some of the guest speakers included Dr. Helen Harkness, founder and president of Career Design Associates, Inc.; John Oden, senior vice president, Mercantile National Bank; Bobby Bragan, executive assistant, Texas Rangers; Danny Bacon, account systems engineer, IBM Corp.

The seminar was beneficial to me because I heard the opinions and personal stories of these top leaders in their fields. It helped broaden my view on the way American business operates.

My trip was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Wellington, as Hugh O'Brian is an active member of Kiwanis International.

GTE Change on Interstate Calls

Changes approved by the Federal Communications Commission on May 25, will affect General Telephone customers using interstate long-distance directory assistance, customers using AT&T to make long-distance calls, and businesses with more than one line.

An interstate directory assistance charge of 50 cents per call with a two-call allowance for each billing period was approved for AT&T, the nation's only provider of interstate directory assistance service. To obtain the two-call directory assistance allowance, the customer must make at least two interstate calls during each billing period. If the customer makes one or no interstate calls, the allowance would be one or zero respectively.

The FCC also ordered AT&T to reduce its interstate long-distance rates by approximately 6.1 percent.

At the same time, the FCC approved interstate end user access charges of $6 per line for businesses with more than one line.

All of the changes became effective May 25.

The county's 4-H members will be among some 1,600 from across Texas taking part in a host of activities, says Nancy Janes, County 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Shawn Coleman, Craig Brown, Stephanie Brandvik, and Sandy Henard compose the Range and Pasture Grass judging team.

In their competition they must identify 40 plants telling if each is a cool season or warm season plant, rates from poor to good on its use by wildlife and domestic animals, indicate if it is an annual or perennial and determine if it is poisonous. Jimmy Brown is the coach and accompaned them.

Other teams going to state competition are Julie Caldwell and Patricia Fourmentin in the Cooperative division. Their 12 minute presentation is entitled "Daze of Our Lives" and was designed to explain how to set up a babysitting cooperative.

Nicole Keller qualified in the horticulture preparation and use category with a demonstration titled "Peanut Pizzazz". The demonstration points out the many uses of peanuts in your meals.

These 3 teams will be accompanied by Collingsworth County Extension agents Don Reeves and Nancy Janes.

Activities the first day will include the State 4-H food show, State 4-H project show, National Dairy Heritage Foundation public speaking contest and 27 career workshops. Some 40 contests will be conducted the second day.

The opening assembly for Roundup began at 7:00 p.m. June 5 with the recognition of 85 outstanding 4-H members who will receive scholarships totaling almost a half million dollars. Four long-time supporters of the 4-H program also will be recognized with special awards from the Texas 4-H Foundation.

R.J. Potts on Philippine Crusade

R.J. Potts, 12-year old evangelist who makes Wellington his headquarters, returned recently from the Philippines where he reported he held crusades in Manila, Surigao City and Del Nort.

Rev. Vassaya of Surigao City was his interpreter, he said. Potts reported that people walked 40 and 50 kilometers to attend the crusade.

Potts also said that among the facts he learned about the country is that divorce is not allowed. A wife is equal to her husband and women enjoy high positions and political offices. Education is important to the people, the preacher said.

He was accompanied to the Philippines by his mother.

My Sincere Thanks

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to all those who have been so thoughtful during my illness. For the lovely flowers, the food sent, your cards, visits and the many prayers offered in my behalf, I am indeed grateful. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.

Deadline Approaching to Submit Family Histories

With just over three weeks remaining in which to submit family histories to the Collingsworth County History Book, Mrs. J.B. King reminded that anyone may buy a book without submitting a family history.

"But we must have family histories in order for the book to materialize," she pointed out.

"Anyone living in Collingsworth County at present may have a free family story of 500 words space with a black and white picture of any size.

Anyone who has lived in Collingsworth County in the past but is now living elsewhere may also have a free family history of 500 words with a picture, Mrs. King continued.

There can be one history for each family unit, Mrs. King explained. "One for you and your present family--another for your parents and a third for your grandparents, or some other family unit.

"In this way, the 500 word limit will be easier to observe," she said. A family history may be more than 500 words, but there is a cost of 10 cents for each word over the 500 limit."

Mrs. King repeated the charges.

Cost of the history book is $35 plus $1.75 state tax, If the book is to be mailed, there is a mailing charge of $3.25 for the postage and book carton.

If the family name is to be imprinted on the front of the book, the cost is $5.

Half page $150.

One-fourth page $85.

All these include cost of pictures.

Businesses, organizations, clubs and churches may purchase the same size pages, as more history may be put on these pages than will be included in the general history section," Mrs. King pointed out.

"Remember, to have your history and your ancestors history in the county book, you must write the history or have someone in your family write it," said Mrs. King.

"There is a need for more present-day histories to be included in the book, as in future years you will be the history of this county, too."

Additional family histories received for the Collingsworth County Book include families of T.J. Bowling, Joseph W. Brock, Pete Brock, Hampton Clement, James Henry Davis, H.L. Duncan, Sr., Ruth C. England,

R.L. Tenison, John Walker, Sr., John Walker, Jr., Tony Winkler, and James Oliver Young.

Playing cards were used as money by early Canadian colonists. The back of each card was signed by the French colonial governor.

Loco-Arlie Annual Reunion News

Plans are being finalized for the annual Loco-Arlie annual reunion, which has been expanded to two days and will be held Saturday and Sunday. August 4 and 5.

Saturday events coincide with Wellington Ex-Students Association. This was done as many Loco and Arlie students attended Wellington Schools in the upper grades and this will enable them to visit with both groups. The annual Loco-Arlie Reunion will be on Sunday, Aug. 5.

Cherokee Inn will be headquarters, for the Loco-Arlie students. A luncheon will be held at noon and an evening meal together has been suggested.

In the afternoon, Loco and Arlie alumni will visit the sites of their schools, old home places and other locations in the two communities. Picture taking is urged, said Edith Copeland Carter of Hollis.

On Sunday, Aug. 5, the annual all-day Loco-Arlie reunion will be held in Bura Handley Community center with a covered dish luncheon at noon.

For several years, Loco Schools had a four-year high school, ending with the 11th grade, and so did Arlie School.

All Loco graduates have been located under the leadership of Ruthelle Lemley Myers of Nazareth, Penna., and graduates of Arlie School were found under the leadership of Blake Lyde of Petersburg.

The history of Loco and Arlie by Merle Black and Lucille Motsenbocker, is completed and Mrs. Carter is still working on the Loco history.

"We didn't realize Loco was so much larger than Arlie," said Mrs. Carter. Loco had 19 to graduate during the years it offered 11 grades (all Texas Schools had 11 grades at that time.)

Arlie graduated 5.

"We found where Arlie was given permission to graduate in 1928, 1929 and also 1933. We have the 1933 graduation list, but none for 1928 or 1929. We took the school census records for those years and wrote to the students.

Evelyn Owens Clark of Pomona, Ca., sister of Steve Owens, replied: "My Dad was on the school board then. He sent us to Lubbock to graduate. I believe if we had had a high school, we would have stayed at home. Qualified teachers were so hard to find and in some years they didn't find them."

Three class reunions will be held: Loco Alumni, Arlie Alumni and the students of Maurine Vaughan Greer who taught Loco second grade one year and 6th grade another year.

News sheets to graduates of both schools will be mailed in June.

The Loco-Arlie school reunion will have no program. There will be all-day visiting.

Short ballots will be distributed at the door for voting on small business. Books and paintings will be given as door prizes.

Hosts are Grace Martin, Gertrude Mayhugh, Vickie Mayhugh Porter, Curt and Lottie Hall, Ruby Lockhart and Loyd and Mamie King.

The only elective officers are two secretaries: Mrs.

Drive Carefully During Vacation

Now that school is out and vacation time is here motorist are heading for the road in droves, thus increasing their chances of having unfamiliar driving conditions.

Major V.J. Cawthon, Department of Public Safety Commander of Region 5 said, "When driving in the rural area, slow down before, not after entering a curve. If you wait until it seems urgent to slow down, it is too late. Your engine should be pulling your vehicle through the curve. This pulling force aids in directional control, when you use a safe speed in a curve."

The Major reminds the Texas motorist to be alert to the fact that many people lose their lives within 25 miles of depature and/or destination. This fatal fact of the road is due in great part to abusing the speed laws.

Plan your trip so that you have plenty of time to reach your destination and return in comfort. This means a minimum of night driving, no speeding and no driving when fatigued. Have a happy and safe school's out vacation.
