OCEAN FLIERS FOUND ON ISLAND

Aged Storekeeper Slain By Unknown Assailant Here

T. ZIMMERMAN FOUND DYING IN HIS SHOP

Merchant Unable to Tell Friends of Fatal Attack

FLEEING MAN SEEN

Neighbor Reports Finding Attack Victim Near Death

Theodore Zimmerman, 58, 406½ Lee street, was shot to death at his store about 9:45 o'clock Friday night. The slayer made his getaway. No money was taken, although police and friends of the slain man believe that robbery was the motive for the attack.

Mr. Zimmerman was proprietor of a small store at 406½ Lee street and usually kept the store open until about 10 o'clock each night, according to J. W. Lassiter, employe of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, who roomed in the house adjoining the store.

Scuffle Heard

Mr. Lassiter, awakened about 9:30 o'clock by a call boy from the railroad shops, said he was dressing when he heard a noise, as of a scuffle, in the store. A number of shots were fired while the scuffling was going on, Mr. Lassiter said, and Mr. Zimmerman called loudly for help. Running around the house to the front of the store, he found Mr. Zimmerman lying on the ground in front of the door.

"I'm shot, Bill," were his last intelligible words.

Blood was gushing from a wound in the man's chest, Mr. Lassiter said. Mr. Zimmerman was rushed to the Wichita General hospital in a Merkle Undertaking ambulance, but died within a minute after he had reached the hospital.

Man Seen to Flee

While leaning over the dying man, Mr. Lassiter said, he saw a man race from the store and flee down the street. Mr. Lassiter was unable to describe the man he saw escape from the store.

Wife at School

Mrs. Zimmerman, who at the time of the shooting was at Travis school watching an entertainment, was brought to the house by Howard Pate, city fireman. She told police that Mr. Zimmerman usually collected a large amount of money on Friday from the accounts he carried in the store. Examination revealed that no money had been taken, apparently, since Mr. Zimmerman had his pocketbook and a large sum on his person.

The store where the shooting occurred was littered with fruits and groceries, mute evidence of the fight Mr. Zimmerman had made to save his life. A bullet hole in the floor of the building testified to one shot that had gone astray. The slain man's hands were powder burned as though he had caught the pistol in trying to divert its bullets. A blue welt on his forehead was further evidence of his fight against the marauder.

Slayer Not Negro

Before his removal to the hospital the wounded man made every effort to tell police the things of that might reveal who his assailant was. To questions of the police he was able to nod his head, seemingly conscious of all that was going on about him, but he was unable to talk. The bullet, it seemed, had pierced his heart.

"Was it a negro?" police officers investigating the shooting asked. Weakly he nodded a negative.

"Was it a white man?" the officer asked. Parted lips gave no answer but the slow motion of the

GIVES BLOOD

Youth Improves After Pal Submits To Transfusion

Billy J. McHam Jr., 17, was reported to be in a slightly improved condition at the Wichita General hospital Friday night, following transfusion of about a pint of blood from Lewis Foster, a classmate of Billy at the Wichita Falls Junior college. The transfusion of blood was made by Drs. G. T. Singleton and L. B. Holland about 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

More than 100 boys of the Junior college had volunteered to give their blood in an effort to save young McHam's life.

Young McHam has been at the hospital for some time, and was in a critical condition following an attack of appendicitis.

OUTLAWS RULE NORTH WOODS

Murderers Hold Reign Of Terror

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 13. (US) Thugs of the north woods, near the Canadian boundary, have instituted a reign of terror in the villages of Orr and Cusson, Minn., two murders having been committed in the past week and the population not daring to venture out of doors.

While the outlaws ruled the town, a committee of citizens, headed by State Senator Fred W. Bessette, slipped out of the communities and arrived in St. Paul Thursday to appeal to Governor Christianson for help.

They pleaded to keep their identities secret, for fear that if they became known their homes would be burned and families maltreated. The first of the two murders the precipitated the appeal to the governor occurred last Friday when Martin Barlow was slain near Orr and the second was last Sunday when Mrs. Clark Brown, 61 years old, was killed in a store building outside of Orr.

These two murders, according to the story told the governor by the committee, are the culmination of two years of lawlessness in the north, during which time 20 people have been slain.

Governor Christianson turned the matter over to General Rhinow, head of the state bureau of criminal identification and apprehension. General Rhinow wired to the sheriff of St. Louis county, in which the towns are situated. The sheriff replied he would welcome aid.

Newt Byrnes Goes To Huntsville Pen

SAN ANGELO, Texas, April 13. (AP)—Floyd Newton Byrnes, confessed slayer of two women and a girl and under sentence of death for the murder of the last named, left for the state penitentiary today in the custody of Sheriffs Bob Hewitt of Tom Green county and Sam Russell of Coke county.

Los Angeles Banks Open New York Offices

LOS ANGELES, April 13. (US)—First National Trust and Savings bank and First Securities company will open offices in New York on May 1, according to an announcement today by President Henry M. Robinson. The location will be suite 2003 at No. 52 Wall street.

Paul K. Yost, recently elected a vice president of the bank, will be the New York representative of the two Los Angeles financial institutions.

King's Nephew to Wed Washington Girl

LONDON, April 13. (US)—The marriage of Margaret Watson of Washington, D. C., to the Duke De Nemours—Prince Charles Philippe D'Orleans and nephew of the king of the Belgians—will take place after all. The duke himself so informed Universal Service tonight, asserting that he had succeeded in persuading his family to withdraw objections.

MAYOR AKIN SWINGS AXE ON SALARIES

Pay of City Employes Pruned Under New Economy Plan

OTHER REDUCTIONS

Salary of $8000 Will Hire Manager, Says Patton

Slashes in salaries of a number of city employes and the elimination of repairs, improvements and the purchase of new equipment are being made in the budget recommendations which Mayor J. W. Akin is planning to submit to the city council Monday night, it was learned Friday.

Mayor Akin said Friday that he hoped to complete the budget for submission to the council at the Monday night meeting. Under the present plan, no city jobs will be discontinued, Mayor Akin declared, but a number of salaries will be reduced as a part of the necessary policy of city economy.

Audit Bids.

While Mayor Akin Friday worked to complete the budget, other city officials continued investigations as to the naming of a city manager. Bids from certified public accountants of the city for making the annual audit of city books will also be received at the meeting Monday night, it was learned from W. E. McBroom, city clerk. Specifications for the audit, which had been drafted at the request of Mayor Akin, were sent out Friday.

Discussion of the hiring of a city manager is expected to be resumed at the meeting Monday night.

J. H. Patton, alderman, received a letter Friday from the assistant city manager of Fort Worth, giving data Mr. Patton had requested on salaries of city managers.

"This letter seems to bear out my contention as expressed at the meeting of the council Wednesday night that $8000 should be a sufficient sum to pay a city manager," Mr. Patton said. "It shows that only two cities in Texas are paying more than $8000 for a city manager, and I believe we could get a good man for $6000.

Patton Seeks $8000 Man.

"Fort Worth pays its city manager $15,000 and that is the highest in Texas. Austin is second with a $10,000 man. Beaumont is third, paying $8000. Others of $5000 or more included Waco, $7000; Highland Park, $6000; Amarillo, $5000; and Big Spring, $5000. I believe all the rest were below $500.

"I believe we should get a good man at a reasonable figure, and that it is not necessary to pay the highest figure of all to get a good one."

Pastor Denies Flock After Wife Is Criticized

OAKLAND, April 13. (US)—Rev. Ira T. Gragg will not go back to the Albany Methodist Episcopal church under any circumstances. He will, later on, enter the ministry of some other denomination. The youthful pastor so stated after new efforts had been made to have him reconsider his resignation, presented because of criticism of his wife's asserted "flapperism."

Cure for Seasickness Discovered by Doctors

CHICAGO, April 13. (US)—A cure for seasickness has been discovered by two Chicago physicians, Dr. J. Frank Pearcy and Dr. Daniel B. Hayden, according to the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical association.

It is a sodium nitrate preparation, the Journal states. It was tried successfully on 16 patients and it brought complete relief, the article says, within four hours.

Dr. John M. Barcus to Officiate At Services Today For Mrs. W. L. Nelms

Funeral services for Mrs. W. L. Nelms, 70, who died at the home of Dr. and Mrs. S. S. McKenney, 1312 Tenth street, Friday morning, will be held from the First Methodist church at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Dr. John M. Barcus, pastor of the Main Street Methodist church at Cleburne and lifelong friend of the Nelms family, will officiate. He will be assisted by Dr. Walter J. Johnson and the Rev. S. A. Barnes of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Nelms had made her home with Dr. and Mrs. McKenney for the past nine years and came here with them when Dr. McKenney became pastor of the First Methodist church. Her husband, Dr. W. L. Nelms was for many years a minister in the Central Texas conference of the Methodist church, South.

Mrs. Nelms is survived by her husband, five daughters, Mrs. S. S McKenney and Mrs. Charles T. Clements of Wichita Falls; Miss Myrtle Nelms of Beaumont; Mrs. J. H. House of Tampico, Mexico, and Mrs. W. H. Collins of Houston; two sons, Dr. William S. Nelms of Atlanta, Ga., and Frank D. Nelms of Dallas, and a number of grandchildren.

Active pallbearers will be: J. J. Perkins, N. H. Martin, W. J. Daugherty, W. W. Silk, Oral Jones and N. M. Clifford. The board of stewards of the First Methodist church will act as honorary pallbearers.

GOOD CITIZEN

Man Who Escaped Pen 45 Years Ago Given Pardon

AUSTIN, April 13. (AP)—One of Governor Moody's few full pardons went Friday to Ben Loving, 67, who escaped from a Texas prison camp in 1883 and has been living for more than 40 years in one county in Arizona.

Reports to Governor Moody said that Loving has been an upright citizen and reared a family. Governor Hunt, state officials and others of Arizona signed the petition.

Loving was convicted of false swearing in Llano county in 1882. After serving several months he walked away from a convict camp and escaped.

FEDERAL BANK PROBE PUSHED

Failure of Committee To Act Is Attacked

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13. —The failure of the rules committee of the House to act on the solution of Representative Guinn Williams, calling for an investigation of the management of the Federal Reserve bank at Dallas, broke into the debate today when Representative Luther Johnson, another Texas member, insisted this was a matter which should be given attention.

The bankers of Congressman Johnson's district, he asserted, are thoroughly aroused over the arbitrary actions of Governor Lynn P. Talley and demand that Congress which created this bank, should exercise some supervision over its agents.

The congressman said that only two reasons have been advanced for failure of the rules committee to act. One of these was that the Senate already had appointed a committee for this purpose under the Mayfield resolution and the second that it was doubtful if anything could be accomplished by such investigation. Congressman Johnson insisted these objections might properly be advanced in the House but that the rules committee should not seek to pass on them. It was his contention, however, that the Senate resolutions is not satisfactory since the people of his section want a joint investigation. Such as proposed under the Williams resolution.

Paying a tribute to Congressman Williams, Representative Johnson insisted the facts on which the Williams resolution was drafted afforded abundant evidence for the investigation. He quoted from statements made by various bankers, including J. C. Beck of Front; A. B. Brown of Lockney; White George of Italy; Pat E. Hooks of Itasca; G. M. Mann of Whitney; and R. L. Harris of Blooming Grove. In addition, he laid before Congress the resolutions passed at a meeting of the Navarro County Bankers association last fall, criticizing Governor Talley and supporting J. P. Williams of Mineral Wells, brother of the congressman, who led the fight.

Lindbergh Makes Mystery Flight

SANTA BARBARA, April 13. (US)—Charles A. Lindbergh is flying again, perhaps for St. Louis.

It was reported he had told someone he was heading for St. Louis, planning to go straight through if the weather is right. It was also reported he may stop at El Paso, Amarillo or Phoenix.

Lindbergh's distaste for crowds swarming over his plane at landings is given as the cause of his secrecy.

THE WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Saturday cloudy, colder except in extreme west portion, much colder in southeast portions; Sunday fair, rising temperature in north and west portions.

OKLAHOMA: Saturday clearing, much colder, Sunday generally fair with freezing in east portion Sunday morning; rising temperature Sunday afternoon.

QUICK DENIAL COMES AFTER AL IS FLAYED

Senator Steck of Iowa Calls Heflin's Hand On Accusal

TREMAINE DEFIED

Alabaman Doubts North Will Bolt If Smith Loses Out

WASHINGTON, April 13. (US)—Forces working for the presidential nomination of Gov. Al Smith of New York are secretly using a "huge slush fund" to obtain delegates, Senator Thomas J. Heflin (Democrat) of Alabama, charged in a fiery senate speech today.

The Alabaman, who has repeatedly assailed the Roman Catholic church, called upon Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho to reintroduce his resolution for investigation of expenditures in presidential primary campaigns.

14 FOR SMITH

SPOKANE, Wash., April 13. (AP)—The Washington Democratic state convention tonight instructed its delegates to the national convention to cast their 14 ballots as a unit for the nomination of Governor Al Smith for president.

Quick Denial

"I believe the Al Smith organization is using the largest and most corrupt slush fund ever used in a presidential race," declared Heflin. "I believe that money was used secretly in Iowa. I believe it was used in Oklahoma. I believe it is being used everywhere."

Senator Steck, Democrat, of Iowa was quick to deny that money was used in the recent Iowa primaries in which Governor Smith was victorious.

"The senator from Iowa doesn't know what is going on out there," retorted Heflin.

"I deny money was used in behalf of Governor Smith or in behalf of Mr. Meredith," declared Steck. "The senator's information is not as good nor as correct as mine."

"I prefer to hear from Mr. Meredith," said Heflin.

Heflin Persistent

Senator Curtis, Republican, of Kansas, majority floor leader, tried to prevail upon Heflin to postpone his remarks, pleading that the senate desired to take up the naval appropriations bill with a view to getting a vote today.

Heflin, however, refused to stop and kept up his attack for nearly an hour.

He characterized as "unbecoming" and "un-American" the reported threat of Morris Tremaine, New York state comptroller, that northern Democrats will bolt the party if the South does not rally to Smith.

"I defy this man," shouted Heflin. "I spurn Tammany."

Makes Prediction

Heflin attacked claims that Arkansas has 17 out of 20 delegates for Smith.

"If that is true Arkansas has been deceived, because the people of that state are not for Governor Smith," said Heflin. "The people of Arkansas, in my judgment, are against Smith 10 to one."

The Alabaman declared that if Governor Smith wins the Democratic nomination he will be beaten "by at least 10 to 15 million votes."

First East-to-West Fliers

This picture shows Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenefeld, owner, and Captain Hermann H. Koehl, pilot of the German-transatlantic plane Bremen. Below is a view of the Bremen. Col. James Fitzmaurice, head of the Irish Free State air forces, who is relief pilot, is not shown in this group as he joined the expedition only a few days before the start, too late for his picture to reach America.

America Pays Tribute to Daring Irish-German Crew of Bremen

Thousands Wait Patiently But in Vain at Mitchel Field for Daring Aviators to Arrive

MITCHEL FIELD, Long Island, April 13. (UP)—America paid an inspiring tribute today to the courageous German-Irish crew of the transatlantic airplane Bremen.

Thousands waited patiently at this field all day to welcome Capt. Herman Koehl and his companions, who set out from Dublin Thursday morning to attempt the perilous and yet-to-be accomplished westward flight over the north Atlantic.

Carnival Scene

More than 10,000 people were at the field during the day. It was a carnival scene and the crowd at all times was optimistic that the Bremen would accomplish the flight.

Grover Whalen, head of the civic reception committee, and Mayor James J. Walker waited for several hours during the afternoon and expressed confidence that the Bremen would arrive.

Even when the bright April day had turned to dusk and the crowd began straggling off, Walker still had hope of the fliers' safety.

"I am still highly optimistic," he told the United Press. "True, they are a little late, but I have been late very often myself. Yet I always get to my destination.

"It seems certain now that they have crossed the Atlantic and are somewhere over the continent of North America. So many persons are on the outlook for the Bremen that it is impossible that the plane can go far without being sighted.

"I shall remain here until the last hope for their safety fades."

At 5:30 Capt. Walter Bender, operations officer of Mitchel field, said:

"I have little hope for the safety of the fliers."

Preparations were started, however, for lighting the field tonight. The beacon light on the post water tower was kept burning. The water tower light flashes on and off every second and a half. A searchlight mounted on a truck will flash a beacon light through the air and the field will be illuminated by flood lights.

Jimmie's Odds

The crowd had diminished to less than 2000 by 6 p. m. and was dwindling rapidly.

Walker left the field at 5:50 p. m., saying he was going to the Garden City hotel nearby for a while and then would return to the field.

"It is an 8-to-5 bet that the flyers land while I'm gone," said the mayor. "It would be just my luck."

Junkers Pilot To Fly to Island

MITCHEL FIELD, L. I., N. Y., April 13. (UP)—Plans to send aid to the crew of the airplane Bremen were under way tonight.

Fred Melchoir, chief pilot in this country for the Junkers company, builders of the Bremen, made tentative plans to take off in the morning for Labrador in a Junkers plane which has been made ready for such a flight.

Miss Herta Junker, daughter of Hugo Junker of Germany and who represents her father's interests here, may accompany the relief plane.

Final plans for the flight, however, will not be made until more information as to the condition of the plane is obtainable.

HUENEFELD CARRIES IRISH SHAMROCK.

DUBLIN, April 13. (AP)—A four-leaf Irish Shamrock was Von Huenefeld's good luck omen on his trans-Atlantic voyage. It flew with Fitzmaurice on the Irishman's Atlantic flight with Macintosh last September and brought him safely back to the sands of Valleybunion beach, when their plane was unable to fight its way through the storms off the Irish coast.

When the Bremen arrived at Baldonnel from Berlin, Colonel Fitzmaurice gave the German baron his cherished Shamrock to carry to America. When it was decided Fitzmaurice should fly in the Bremen Von Huenefeld, in return, gave the Irishman his most prized luckpiece, a little silver doll about an inch long.

"It brought me through the World war," he told Fitzmaurice, "and safely off six operation tables."

Fitzmaurice is without a passport, but he was not the sort to worry over such trifles in trans-Atlantic airplane crossings.

German World War Air Ace To Pilot Huge Flying Boat Across Sea

HOUSTON, April 13. (AP)—Captain F. Christiansen, World war German ace, now master of the German passenger motor ship Rio Bravo, which arrived in Houston Thursday from Germany, said Friday he would pilot a huge German flying boat across the Atlantic from Germany to the United States in May or June.

He will begin preparing for the trip as soon as he returns to Germany on his present voyage.

The plane he intends to use is ready, he said. He described it as equipped with four Napier motors with a total of 2000 horsepower. It was built at Frederichshafen in South Germany, and has a wing spread of about 140 feet.

Captain Christiansen said he expected to make the trip via the Azores islands and Halifax to New York and that it would be in the nature of a trial to test the practicability of a regular air service over that route.

The captain knows Captain Hermann Koehl, one of the pilots of the German plane Bremen, which was due on American soil from Ireland Friday afternoon.

PLANE FORCED TO LAND, CREW REPORTED SAFE

First East-to-West Atlantic Flight Completed By Intrepid Trio

LANDING IS FORCED

Tiny Greenly Isle, Off Canadian Coast Is Stopping Point

NEW YORK, April 13. (UP)—All the world rejoiced tonight as the news flashed out of the Canadian northeast the three gallant aviators who set out from Dublin Thursday morning had landed safely on Grenley island, a tiny splotch of land in the straits of Belle Isle.

For it meant—not alone that the lives of these interpid fliers had been saved—but that man finally had conquered the Atlantic ocean, both east and west, by a heavier-than-air flying machine.

To Hermann Koehl, veteran German aviator; Col. James Fitzmaurice of the Irish Free State air force, and Baron Gunther von Huenfeld goes the credit for the first westward crossing of the North Atlantic—a feat which has brought only disaster and death to those who have tried it before.

FROM HUENEFELD

GARDEN CITY, L. I., April 13. (US)—The first direct word from the German fliers was received here tonight in the following message from Baron Von Huenefeld to a representative of the North German Lloyd Steamship company at Garden City:

"Schmulte, North German Lloyd Steamship company, Garden City, L. I.:

"Made a safe intermediate landing on Greenly island, strait of Belle Isle, necessitated by lack of fuel and strong winds encountered on way.

Baron Von Huenefeld."

Landing at Noon

The landing on Greenly island was made, according to the United Press correspondent at St. Johns, N. F., at about noon, Newfoundland time, which is 10:30 a. m., New York time. On this basis, the elapsed time between Baldonnel airdrome, Dublin, and Greenly island was approximately 34 hours. This was considered excellent time by those who pointed to the difficulty in maintaining any sustained speed against the terrific headwinds over the mid-Atlantic.

They took off from Baldonnel airdrome at 5:28 a. m. Thursday (Dublin time). That was 12:28 a. m. eastern standard time.

A full 24 hours passed by shortly after midnight Thursday and still no word from the Bremen, as their plane was named, had been received. But there was still hope on the part of those who waited.

At 12:38 p. m. today (shortly after noon) 36 hours had passed and still no word had come. Anxiety began to be felt.

Near Boundary

The exact spot of the landing was five miles from Blanc Sablon and ten miles west of the Point Amour radio station. It was the Point Amour radio station which first sent out word of their arrival.

The region is in the far southeastern section of Labrador; almost on the spot where the boundary line, dividing that portion of Labrador which for years was under the government of Newfoundland, from the Quebec section of Labrador, runs into the Straits of Belle Isle.

WASHINGTON HAPPY AT AIR CONQUEST

WASHINGTON, April 13. (UP) Prominent officials joined with the citizens of the national capital tonight in rejoicing over the safe landing of the German fliers in an isolated point in Canada.

President Coolidge was still up when the news arrived and the

Monocle Fad Predicted If Bremen Lands Safe

AUSTIN, April 13. (UP)—Dr. J. T. Ward, optometrist, today is sending an order for monocles to an optical goods manufacturer. "If Baron von Huenefield succeeds in his attempt to fly the Atlantic monocles will likely be in demand," Ward said.

When Husband Reaches Restless Age of 40 Wife Should be Wary

Dear Miss Dix—My husband and I are both in our early 40s. He is very fond of dancing and when we go to parties he has no trouble in securing partners. Young women and girls are delighted to dance with him, but, although I dance as well as he does, I have to either dance with some baldheaded old granddad, or else sit in among the wallflowers and try to look pleasant while my lord enjoys himself with the flappers. I don't enjoy this state of affairs. Maybe it is jealousy, but at my age I can't seem to think so.

If I refuse to go to dances, my husband sits around and sulks and says I crab all the enjoyment he has. We have a continual argument over this subject. It is the only fly in our ointment. Otherwise we slide along fine. We have a son and daughter both married and gone from home. The gist of it all is that I want to stay at home, and my husband wants to run around. What shall I do? MRS. J. M.

Answer: Go with him unless you want to lose him. He has got to the restless age when home and domesticity suddenly pall upon a man when he has an irrestible longing for amusement and adventure, and when bright lights beckon to him even more alluringly than they did when he was a boy.

It is the most dangerous time in a man's whole life, and it is the time when a wife most needs the wisdom of the serpent and the gentleness of the dove in dealing with her husband, for on her attitude toward him at this critical period depends the safety of her home and the whole happiness of their future lives.

If she has intelligence enough to understand that this is a passing mood that is soonest cured by being humored, and if she will go with him and help him to enjoy himself all will be well. But if she sets herself to combat it; if she makes ructions every time he wants to go out; if she throws fits of jealousy every time he dances with a young girl; if she makes herself a killjoy so that he has to slip away from home to avoid scenes and lie to her and deceive her to get his good times, then disaster follows.

For man in the foolish 40s cannot be held by his wife's apron strings. In his veins he feels that strange, thrilling, recrudescence of a false youth that comes to so many of us just before age begins to settle down upon us. In his ears he hears the last call to the dining-car of romance and he is bound to have his feast, for in his secret soul he knows that it is the final one. No wife can stop him, but the wife who trails along with him can chaperon him and keep him safe from the vamps who prey on middle-aged men.

So, dear lady, no matter how much you are bored, go along with your husband to his dances and thank Heaven he is willing to take you instead of leaving you parked at home. Quit arguing with him about them. Stop objecting to them. Go cheerfully and willingly and make your husband feel that you enter into his pleasure. Thus shall you keep him feeling that you are a pal instead of a jailer and a spoil-sport.

It is no wonder that the dances get upon your nerves because they force you to face one of the bitterest truths that women ever have to swallow, and that is that a man in the 40s is still young and attractive to young women, while a woman of the same age is middle-aged and has no allure for boys.

It is a terrible moment when a woman finds herself pushed off the dancing floor into the chaperons' chairs ad realizes that only those men ask her to dance who are so old and fat and clumsy that the debutantes won't dance with them. And it is no wonder she feels like running home ad kicking off her dancing pumps and putting on her bedroom slippers.

But don't do it as long as you still have a dancing husband. Stand by and protect him from the flappers. It is a time when a fellow needs friend wife to save him from the folly he might commit without her. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have lost my husband, but to a true, fine, honest woman. He and she have fought a consuming love for years, but because of me and the children have suffered in silence. I don't deserve the sacrifice that has been made for me, for I have never been the wife that I should have been. My question is this: Shall I give him up to the woman who loves him as I never did or could love him? Our children have never had a real home life. Should I deprive my husband and his real mate of the privilege of raising a family that would be a blessing to them? I have failed him miserably. Shall I fight for him, or shall I step out of the picture I have ruined? I have all the necessities of life and it is only selfishness that makes me satisfied with the life that I have led. A DISTRAUGHT WIFE.

Answer: If you have no real love for your husband and you feel sure that your children would not suffer from being parted from their father, it would seem that it would be better for all concerned to break up a house that has never been a home, and perhaps found two real homes on the wreck of it.

As matters stand now, you seem to be taking a dog-in-the-manger position. You say you have never loved your husband. You have never tried to make him happy. You have never made any attempt to make a real home for him, yet you are not willing to make way for the woman who would give him the tenderness and understanding and affection that he craves, and that you have withheld.

Also, in the present situation there are three people who are unhappy, but if you give your husband up you will at least make him and the woman he loves happy, thereby achieving the greatest good to the greatest number. Doubtless you will also be happier, as we all are when we do the unselfish thing.

But the question in all divorce cases, to my mind, is not the happiness of a mother and father, but the welfare of the children, and it is for you and your husband to decide whether they will be better off in the kind of a home that you can make alone than they are in their present home.

It is a bad thing for children to be deprived of a father's care, but it is also a disastrous thing for them to be brought up in a home where the mother and father quarrell and fight, and over which hangs the knowledge of their father's love for another woman than their mother. DOROTHY DIX.

MODISH MITZI LELONG STYLES By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi couldn't resist them. There was a coat designed by Paquin who always does such interesting things with sleeves. This coat has cavalier cuffs, pointed seaming in the back and a little standing collar shirred in the center of the back. It didn't take Mitzi more than 37 seconds to decide she couldn't resist this.

There was the cape-coat ensemble created by Premet. Mitzi couldn't resist that either. It's a silk and wool mixture in brown and white with a short double breasted jacket and a cape that's no longer than the coat. Mitzi's is glad that no one came with her on this shopping trip—she might have had an argument getting this away from Polly.

An evening gown designed by Louiseboulanger is something one practically has to have—if one is Mitzi! Lace and chiffon with a dropping shirred skirt, folds of the chiffon for a bread girdle and then more folds of chiffon to trail gracefully down to the floor, Mitzi feels that she is equal to any possible social emergency in this.

Another ensemble designed by Premet was the fourth irresistible fact in Mitzi's life. This is not wool but silk, and sheer silk at that. It consists of a dress with a skirt of unpressed pleats and a really bloused blouse trimmed with applique and a full round cape that ties. After this hectic fever Mitzi consults her checkbook and quits.

SOCIETY Personals

Miss Annie Laurie Long has left for Mineral Wells where she will rest following a recent severe illness.

Miss Dorothy Campbell, Miss Ina Merle Robinson and Mrs. John Mackechney left Friday for Norman, Okla., where they will visit at the Pi Beta Phi house over the week-end and attend the amateur follies at the University of Oklahoma.

Miss Juel Ray returned Thursday evening from an extended trip to Washington, D. C., where she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hugh Wilson Olds, formerly Miss Adelle Ray. She is at present at the home of Mrs. W. E. Priddy, on Tilden.

Little Miss Jeanne Burton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Burton, 2013 Eleventh street, is reported ill.

Mrs. C. H. Bingham is planning a trip to Graham where she will visit among friends.

Junior Forum Will Give Luncheon Saturday

Members of the Junior Forum will observe their regular monthly luncheon at the club house Saturday, with Misses Mary Louise Clark and Mildred Gildhouse, special hostesses.

The following program will be given by members of the department: Vocal solo by Miss Virgie Mae Adams; reading by Miss Imogene Willis; violin solo by Miss Mathilde Donnell, and a vocal solo by Miss Rose Marion Art.

A list of reservations have already been made with Mrs. Claude Woods and Mrs. Darrold Kahn, sponsors of the Junior Forum.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell Hosts at Dinner-Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Caldwell honored their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wagner Caldwell, at a dinner bridge at the Wichita club Friday evening.

The club rooms were prettily decorated in an attractive spring-time color scheme of deep pink tulips and large baskets of bluebonnets. Pink candles added to the simple decorative idea. Prizes were wrapped in paper and tied with ribbons in harmony with the general scheme.

About 40 guests were entertained.

Bowie P.-T. A. Elects Delegates Friday

Mesdames Turner Lee, E. F. Moore and Fred West were elected delegates to the convention of the thirteenth district of the P.-T. A. to be held at the First Christian church here, April 18 to 20, at the meeting of the executive board of the Bowie P.-T. A. Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. W. D. Hageman, president.

Other matters of business were taken up at the meeting.

Young Wichita Falls

Showing the most popular style for the coming season among the very young of the city. This little number promises to be the leading mode for the late spring and summer months.

The model is Julian Elvis Ward, Jr., generally known the public as J. E. Ward, Jr., and he makes his home relatives at 2011 Jones street.

J. E. has a brother in college and a sister in high school which goes to prove that by no accident could the baby be spoiled. He is a year old and has never had any medicine any stronger than the juice of an orange daily and he weighs 28½ pounds.

When he grows up he is going to be either a preacher or a lawyer, 'cause he has such strong lungs. When the preacher starts preaching, the boy somehow gets the impression that he alone is being addressed which is pretty hard on the congregation. You see, the boy insists upon answering the ministers' questionings in a voice that can be heard everywhere in the church.

Mrs. Bailey Named Head Of Barwise P.-T. A.

The Barwise P.-T. A. elected officers for the coming year at the business meeting held at the school Thursday, naming Mrs. R. E. Bailey, president. Other officers are as follows: Mrs. W. Roberts, vice president; Mrs. L. H. Franks, secretary; Mrs. J. R. E. Richardson, treasurer.

Mesdames W. E. Wilson, W. Roberts, Roy Hutchinson and R. E. Bailey were chosen delegates to the district P.-T. A. convention to be held at the First Christian church here, April 18 to 20.

Dr. J. A. Little made a talk on "Contagious Diseases" as the feature of the program for the afternoon. Other numbers were devotionals by Mrs. A. H. Carrigan and a vocal solo, "Sweet and Low," by Grace Smith, sixth grade pupil, accompanied on the piano by Miss Louise Parnell.

Diamods sent from the Netherlands to this country last year were valued at $2,178,000.

CALENDAR

SATURDAY

Regular monthly luncheon at the Woman's Forum given by the Junior Forum, 12:30 o'clock.

Mrs. P. P. Langford will entertain the W. R. Scurry chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy at her home on Tilden, at 2:30 o'clock, afternoon.

Home Demonstration Club Meets Friday

The Bowie Home Demonstration club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Nicholson with the president, Mrs. R. A. Yeager, presiding.

The program was made up of a lecture "Planning a Well Balanced Meal," by Mrs. Minnie Gaffney, and a criticism on menus submitted by each of the members. Mrs. A. Bartell won the prize for the best balanced meal.

Ice cream and cake were served members following the program.

Hostess Compliments National Organizers At Pretty Luncheon

Mrs. Joe Carrigan was hostess to officers of the Wee-Che-Tah chapter of the Delphian society for luncheon at her home on Wenonah Friday in compliment to Misses Ada Pearl Roller and Daisy Roller, national organizers of the Delphian society, who are in the city in the interests of the work here.

The luncheon table was centered with a silver bowl of yellow tulips and golden calendula, the colors of the chapter. The house was made attractive with spring flowers.

Those present were the honor guests and Mesdames A. W. Burnside, F. W. Fisher, M. H. Glover, Harry Strief, W. S. Curlee, Roy I. Carter, Guy C. Raley, J. Wilkie Talbert, A. D. Montgomery, and the hostess.

Mrs. Metzger Hostess To Merry Bidders

The Merry Bidders Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Cecil Metzger at 1105 Austin street Wednesday afternoon for the regular bimonthly session of games. The house was prettily decorated with pink rose buds.

Mrs. L. Davenport was declared winner of the high score prize; Mrs. J. R. Greer won second high, while Mrs. Dick Wheeler won the guest prize.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Davenport, Harry Weisler, Bert Hamric, George W. White Jr., Greer, Wheeler, Dave White, and Misses Jessie Morris, Lily Roark, Loraine Huffman and Anna and Clara Krajca. Miss Morris will entertain the club at her home at 1007 Seventeenth street, April 25.

Ship's Pilot Held To Blame in Crash

HOUSTON, April 13. (AP)—A decision holding C. R. Magee, pilot on the United States shipping board steamship Eldena, responsible for a collision last year between that vessel and the steamer Griffdu, owned by the Charles Nelson company, in Bolivar Roads, entrance to Galveston harbor, was returned Friday by Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson.

Real Hot Dogs!

PEKING—Dog meat dumplings are now passe in Peking. Dogs were disappearing so rapidly that police investigated. They caught one peddler with a squirming dog in one hand, a knife in the other and a guilty look on his face. He admitted that owing to the stress of business he, as well as other purveyors of this delicacy, had taken to kidnaping dogs. The hides of the animals were sold to coat makers and the meat turned into dumplings.

Students Suffer From Teacher's Status, Claim

DURHAM, N. C., April 13. (AP)—Unless the high school teacher again becomes recognized as a scholar in his subject, children have little to look forward to, Prof. Griffith C. Evans of the department of matchematics at Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, said here today in an address at the matematical association of American's convention at Duke university here today.

One thousand live black foxes valued at $375,000 were recently shipped from Prince Edward island to Norway.

SPUDDERS DROP LAST GAME OF SERIES TO SPORTS, 4 TO 3

TOBIN SCORES THREE TALLIES

Frank Drives in Two And Accounts For Another

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor.

Mr. Frank Tobin was the arch-villain yesterday in an extravaganza on the greensward of Athletic park, entitled "Spilling the Spudders." Tobin, who formerly wore regalia of the Wichita Falls club, swung his big bat with direful effect; so direful, indeed, that the Sports took the third and final game of the series.

The score was 4 to 3, and three of the Shreveport tallies were due to the mace of Franklin. It was Tobin's two-base hit in the second inning that sent two mates home for the first runs. And it was his second double and third blow of the pastime in the seventh round that enabled Estrada, who ran for him, to score with what was to prove the winning tally.

Frank therefore had a perfect day at bat, smacking a single that was unproductive of run-getting in the fourth inning.

Cox Finds Batting Eye.

Dick Cox was an able second to Tobin in the defeat of the Spuds. It was remarked yesterday in this newspaper that he had been to bat nine times without hit but that he is a good hitter. He started hitting them safely yesterday, and drove in two runs with hits. Dick clouted three singles in the day's pastiming.

Milton Steengrafe was the victim of the clouting by his former battery mate. The Californian hurled indifferent ball. He was unsteady in the second and third rounds, in which the Sports scored three tallies, and again in the seventh was not at his best, when a trio of knocks gave the enemy the ball game. He yielded ten blows.

Spuds Fail to Rally.

Steengrafe's comrades didn't hit with their usual gusto, however. Chief Wilkins was effective with the exception of the third inning, when our nine scored all their tallies with the old of four clouts. Except in that round and the eighth Wilkins had the situation well in hand. He pitched a highly creditable eight-hit game.

The Spudders lost a golden opportunity to win in the eighth. Lamb and Jenkins started a threatened rally with singles and with none out. None of the succeeding batters, however, could hit the ball out of the infield. It wasn't their day.

Or, to drag in that old bromide about Friday, the 13th, mebbe the home athletes were jinxed.

Sports Play Erroriessly.

The Sports looked like a much better ball club than in the preceding two days. But a winner always looks good. However, they did play snappy ball yesterday; took advantage of the breaks on the attack and played erroriessly afield.

Only one misplay, which did not figure in the scoring, was made by the champions.

Shreveport scored a brace of runs in the second inning. Holman strolled with one out. Whelan singled to left, Holman going to second. Turgeon took Bloxsom's lift. Tobin doubled to left, scoring both runners. Wilkins grounded to Turgeon.

The Sports tallied again in the third. Cox singled to right for his second hit. Sears knocked sharply to right, Cox racing home. Benton and Fitzgerald took flies from Wilson and Holman.

Our Spudders gathered a cluster of three runs in the third, after two were out. Fitzgerald singled to right and went to second on Lamb's hit to the same territory. Jenkins crashed to the flagpole in center, Fitzgerald and Lamb scoring and Tom reaching second. Swenson, who usually hits when Jenkins connects safely, followed with another two-bagger to center that tallied Tom. Kilduff tossed out Stanton.

Shreveport won in the seventh. That pesky Ffank Tobin cracked his second double, this one to right. Wilkins grounded to Steengrafe, Tobin holding second. Cox singled to left, his third blow, Tobin going to third. Estrada ran for Tobin. Kilduff struck out. Sears dropped a hit into short left and Estrada ambled home.

BEARS WIN TO LEAD LEAGUE

Bruins Trim Exporters 3rd Straight, 6 to 5

SAN ANTONIO, April 13 (AP)—Heavy hitting in the pinches by the San Antonio team today gave the Bears their third straight victory over Beaumont, 5 to 6. Trailing 5 to 3 at the end of the eighth, Grimes hit for the circuit with a man ahead of him to tie the score and a few moments later Bates, who had walked, scored the winning run on Flaskamper's triple.

Newman, who opened the game for San Antonio, walked three batters and forced in a run. He was replaced by Messenger before he had succeeded in retiring a batter. Score:

WACO BEATS BISONS

HOUSTON, April 13. (AP)—Friday, the 13th, was jinx day to the Houston Buffs and Waco took the opening series of the season by beating the Bisons, 4 to 0.

Stein, a rookie left-hander, let the Buffs down with a brace of hits, one a double by Manager Snyder. Only 30 men faced the Waco wrong hander. He passed but one man during the game and struck out one batter. He was accorded perfect support by his mates, with Shires playing the feature role. Score:

Clarence De Mar Enters Boston Marathon April 19

BOSTON, April 13. (UP)—Clarence De Mar of Melrose, one of the greatest living marathoners, today sent in his entry for the annual B. A. A. marthon to be run April 19. De Mar's entry brought the total entered in the race to 165.

With his recent phenomenal record-breaking run in the Shepard stores 44-mile jaunt, De Mar is the outstanding favorite to annex first place.

Notes of the Game

Athletic park will be "dark" until Sunday, April 22. The Spudders start a three-day stand today at Fort Worth, open the season at Shreveport Tuesday with three games carded on the stay there and play two at Dallas before returning home.

Our athletes are to leave for Cat town this morning at 7 o'clock.

The Spudders are out of first place for the first time since 1926. By beating Beaumont yesterday for three straight San Antonio has undisputed lead.

Lyman Lamb had a corking good day yesterday. He bagged a brace of singles and walked in four times up and furnished the fielding feature of the game when he took Wilson's drive in the second off the fence.

Sports protested in the seventh when Umps Hill called a balk on Wilkins, when Turgeon went to second.

Jenkins shared honors with Lamb on the attack, getting a double and single. Tom's two-base drive wins a straw hat from the P. B. M. company.

Rabbit Benton played great ball in the three games. Not an error was made by the shortstop, a most remarkable record. He handled nine chances yesterday, a total of 20 for the three games.

Turgeon turned in some nifty fielding plays, too.

Holman also flashed more fast defensive work.

Sears continued his hitting streak with a pair of singles.

WICHITANS TO SOONER MEET

Coyotes and Indians Compete in Relays Today

Wichita Falls junior college and high school track men will participate in the Oklahoma relays today at Norman.

Jot Hodges, dash man and weight heaver, is the only man from the junior college team that will participate in the meet. Captain Filmore Meredith, Ross Saye, Olan Dickey and Maurice Allred will run in the high school division at the Sooner meet.

Coach Hall and his men left Friday morning at 6 o'clock for Norman and will return to Wichita Falls Sunday.

Grandfield Track Team to Compete

Special to The Record News.

GRANDFIELD, Okla., April 13.—Coach Irvin Kaiser will take his Bearcat cinder men to Ringling next week where they will compete in the South-Central conference track and field meet.

Bearcat prospects are much brighter with more men working out this week. G. H. Caldwell, who did not participate in the Burk meet, will be in the 220 and 440 yard dashes and will also run in the relays. Taylor Lawson appears to be sure for points, as he is tossing the spear around 150 feet in practice. This will give the Bearcats three entries in field events.

Captain Glenn McNees is pushing 10 feet in the pole vault. Carl Jones is the best bet for points in the shot and discus. He will also throw the javelin. Ralph Johnston, Walter Dykes and Leon Ward will run the 100 and possibly 220-yard dashes.

Couper and Kirkland Play in Tennis Final

Fred Couper won the right to meet Herbert Kirkland in the final match of the Wichita Falls junior college tennis elimination tournament, Friday, by defeating Jimmie Ford, 6-0, 6-3, in the last semi-final match.

The match between Kirkland and Couper will be played Monday.

Pack Closes Spring Grid Season Today at Haskell

Wichita Falls high school Coyotes end their spring football training season Saturday with Haskell high school at Haskell.

The Coyotes have been in training for two months and many bright prospects for next year's team have been discovered by Coach Bud McCallum.

FIELD REPORTS SHOW CHANGES

Winkler Leads Texas in New Production

TULSA, Okla., April 13.—Evidence of how conditions are changing in the active oil areas of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas (excepting the gulf coast and southwest Texas) is seen in field reports for the past fiscal week.

There were 191 "official completions," and of the total 93 were oil wells, having an initial flow of 39,038 barrels, and 20 gassers for 148,580,000 cubic feet of gas, besides 79 dry and abandoned tests.

The way that Oklahoma has slipped is shown by the summary:

State	Oil Init.	Pro.	Gas Init.	Flow	Dry
Texas	47	30,530	4	65,839,000 c.f.	45
Kansas	13	5,680	2	4,500,000 c.f.	3
Okla.	33	3,254	14	78,150,000 c.f.	28

An honest effort is being made to restrict drilling in Oklahoma and Kansas and some day similar tactics may be used in Texas, but until realization West Texas is continuing its completions. Winkler county had eight in the present compilation for an initial flow of 30,530 barrels, and the potentialities of that area are placed as high as 1,000,000 barrels. However, steps to restrict it are now about to be put into effect.

Seminole county had two wells doing 1510 barrels initial, thus leading the Sooner counties, with Osage's five doing 1495 barrels, and three in Stephens for 555 barrels and six in Pontotoc for 473 barrels. Muskogee led in dry holes, thanks to its town lot pool near Muskogee, registering 8 and the Pontotoc pools had four.

In Kansas the four new wells in Sumner county made 4915 barrels the first day, while Greenwood's five wells did but 330 barrels. The three failures were in Greenwood, Marion and Woodson counties.

As stated Winkler led the Lone Star counties in new output, with Gray county, in the Panhandle, second with two wells for 1595 barrels, while three in Pecos did 1364 barrels, one of them making 904 barrels in one hour's time. Brown's 15 wells made 1228 barrels initial. Wilbarger had four for 994 barrels initial. There was one more dry hole in Texas than it had oil wells, or 48, and Brown had the most, 10; Young registered 9 and the others followed.

War and Navy Departments to Get Future Helium Supply at Amarillo

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The final closing of a contract with the Amarillo Oil company of Amarillo, Texas, it is thought, will greatly increase the available supply of helium, the rare non-inflammable gas required for the operation of dirigibles, is announced by the United States bureau of mines, department of commerce. Under the terms of the contract, the bureau will undertake the extraction of the helium from natural gas from the company's leases on the Cliffside structure in Potter county, Texas, at a new helium plant to be constructed by the government at Amarillo.

Supply Dwindles

The bureau of mines, which has always played a prominent part in the development of helium for use in dirigibles, has had jurisdiction over production and conservation of helium for the war and navy departments since July 1, 1925. All of the helium produced by the government, to date, has been extracted from gas from the Petrolia field in Clay county, Texas, at the United States helium production plant near Fort Worth, Texas. As this source of supply is no longer capable of meeting the demands of the war and navy departments, the bureau of mines has been working toward the development of other fields.

Knowing of the government's need for increased supplies of helium, the Amarillo Oil company, through its president, N. K. Moody, offered to place gas from its leases on the Cliffside structure at the disposal of the government and to provide for the disposal of the gas from which helium has been extracted. After a thorough study by the bureau of mines engineers of all known sources of supply of helium-bearing gas, giving consideration to the quantity of gas available, its helium content, the terms under which it could be obtained, prospective life of the supply, possibilities of disposing of residue gas and numerous other factors, the Cliffside structure was found to be the most promising field upon which a new project for augmenting the production of helium might be based; also the vicinity of Amarillo was found to be a suitable location for a helium plant.

Details Worked Out

Through co-operation of the officials of the Amarillo Oil company, the details with regard to the gas supply and disposal of the residue gas were worked out to the government's satisfaction. W. H. Bush of Chicago, Ill., through his agent, James Bush of Amarillo, and Lee Bivins and the Fuqua Land and Cattle company of Amarillo, fee owners of the land from which gas for the project is to be drawn, were also instrumental in working out practicable arrangements for the project.

Preparations are now being made for the erection of a helium plant near Amarillo to process gas from the Cliffside structure. The details of plant location and construction are not yet fully developed, but it is planned to develop a helium project at Amarillo which will be an important factor in national defense.

The helium will be recovered by cooling the gas to approximately 300 degrees Fahrenheit below zero, at which temperature all of the constituents of the gas, except the helium, are reduced to a liquid state. The helium will be drawn off as a gas at this low temperature and compressed into tank cars or steel cylinders for shipment to points where it will be used in lighter-than-air craft and for other purposes. The remaining liquid, consisting of the original gas minus the helium, will then be evaporated to the gaseous state, by allowing its temperature to return to normal, and will be delivered into the lines of the Amarillo Oil company for use in Amarillo as fuel. The heating value of the natural gas is improved by the extraction of the helium, because the helium and other inert gases removed in the plant have no fuel value.

Houston's Shoulder at The Wheel

HOUSTON'S firm intention to receive its Democratic guests June 26 in the most cordial manner and to do its part—a large one—in handling the mammoth convention most efficiently is plainly manifest even to the casual visitor to Texas' great inland port.

"Me Too" buttons are worn by between 35,000 and 40,000 Houstonians. Retailing for one dollar each, in a recent drive for funds to entertain the national Deemocratic convention, these insignia sold like the hot cakes so long regarded as the standard for rapid merchandising. Hundreds of other citizens, including many republicans, have sent in checks and cash ranging in amounts from a few dollars to several thousand to aid in swelling the entertainment fund to its present proportions of more than $350,000.

Lawns, parks and boulevards throughout the city are being made more beautiful daily, all paving work is being rushed to completion and every unsightly spot is being cleaned up lest it offend the ocular or olfactory nerve of some present day follower of Jefferson and Jackson. These tasks, performed in large measure by the municipal government, resulted in the employment at a minimum daily wage of all ablebodied men desiring to work.

Paving of highways leading into Houston has been speeded up to such an extent that many roads will be completed before the great assembly, which, in the usual course of events, would not have been finished for several years.

An 18-story hotel, three-fourths completed 18 months ago, whose builders lacked the funds to finish it, was taken over soon after the convention was awarded to Houston by a group of loyal and wealthy citizens and is being rushed to completion for the great event. Requests for reservations received the first few days after the decision to hold the quadrennial meeting in the south Texas metropolis more than exhausted the capacity of the city's hotels. Since then householders have been responding loyally to the plea to list rooms with the housing committee.

The most noteworthy achievement, however, is the erection of the vast auditorium, a frame structure costing about $175,000. A centrally located site donated by the city was quickly cleared and leveled, skilled architects prepared plans approaching perfection for the purpose in view and early in March the great building began to take shape. Construction has been so rapid that the edifice appeared to grow almost miraculously under the beholder's gaze. A central hall of great size, with a roof so ingeniously supported as to require no pillars or other obstructions to vision, is surrounded by many smaller rooms, all necessary to the daily tasks of the convention. It is clear to anyone inspecting the progress of the work that the auditorium will be ready for the coming of the democrats.

All Texas has reason to be proud of Houston.

If invidious comparison were in order we might remark that dispatches emanating from Kansas City, designated host to the republicans, tell a different story.

Mellon Takes the Bull By The Horns

ANDREW W. MELLON is a financier. He is a cold blooded and practical business man. He is secretary of the treasury. He is the financial advisor of the administration.

He has notified congressional leaders that the $290,000,000 tax reduction voted by the house must be pared down to $201,000,000 and perhaps to $182,000,000.

He has insisted that the present automobile tax of three per cent which was repealed by the houes, be restored to the bill, saving $66,000,000; that the existing thirteen and a half per cent corporation levy be reduced to twelve per cent rather to eleven and one half per cent as voted by the house.

Flood control is going to cost money. If a $30,000,000 appropriation for this is necessary next year, the long headed secretary of the treasury declared that the total tax would have to be limited to $182,000,000.

Mellon holds the whip hand. He isn't playing for votes. He doesn't need votes. He doesn't need an office. He has served the American people seven years, not for the money that there is in it, but to make a name for himself in American history.

Open Season for Picking Delegates

MICHIGAN democrats elected delegates pledged to Smith of New York for president. Michigan republicans elected delegates pledged to Hoover of California for president.

New Jersey republicans sent a solid Hoover delegation to the Kansas City convention and New Jersey democrats sent a solid Smith delegation to the Houston convention.

Less than 20 per cent of the vast army of voters in the city of Detroit participated in the republican or democratic primaries. It was a foregone conclusion before the balloting began.

Slogan of the absentees: "Why waste the time?"

Well, why dodge responsibility? A qualified voter should be an honest-to-God American citizen and never shirk the duties of citizenship.

Texas-Okla. Press

SO THIS IS OUR HEADLIGHT LAW

To one who has been on the highway much after nightfall, the present state law in regard to testing and adjusting of automobile headlights seem to be a farce. About the only thing it accomplishes, seemingly, is to collect two bits from each motorist to get his lights tested and adjusted. If you meet 10 cars on the road, it is a safe bet that nine of them will have headlights so adjusted that they will make you blind as a bat. It is impossible to see the road when you are confronted with such lights, and it is only the grace of God which prevents scores of accidents from this cause.

Hall County (Texas) Herald.

ANOTHER VIEW OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

Suppose that every man, woman and child in the city of Boston were either killed or seriously injured. It would be a less disaster than befell the country as a whole from highway accidents alone last year, and, so far, as can be judged, less than will occur this year and each year in the future. While many accidents are seemingly unavoidable, the great majority of them are due to plain carelessness or foolhardiness. And it seems impossible to keep a fool away from a steering wheel.

—Waurika (Okla.) News-Democrat.

HIS SOLUTION OF BALDNESS

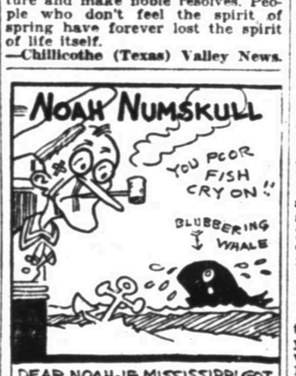

Trust the country editor to get at the bottom of things, as, for example, the one out in Oregon who says that the cause of modern baldness is the absence of hair.

—Vernon (Texas) Times.

SPIRIT OF SPRING AND OF LIFE

Spring is the season when new energy and hope rise in the blood courses of man like the sap in the trees. It is the invisible urge which makes man plan gardens, renew the home, plan for the future and make noble resolves. People who don't feel the spirit of spring have forever lost the spirit of life itself.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By BURTON RASCOE

NEW YORK, April 13.—A national hook-up of bus lines makes it possible to travel from New York to Los Angeles in six days and six nights for a fare of $56.50, half of the railroad tariff. The present schedule calls for two buses a day each way. Later the operating company expects to add Pullman motor cars with dining accommodations. It will also operate passenger planes, so that trips may be made partly by bus and partly by air.

A Palm Beach, Fla., reader of this diary calls us to account for not including the steamer trip around Manhattan island in my itinerary for the visitor who wants to see a lot of New York quickly. I omitted it from my list because the steamer's season doesn't open until around May 1. In summer months it is an ideal way to spend three hours. I will write about it later.

I heard a dweller in a fashionable apartment in the East Sixties who kept a pig in his rooms until it became a hog and made so much noise that other tenants protested, but I didn't believe it until I saw in Central park a sign, "Pigs for Sale," and investigated. Swine are kept in the park menagerie so New Yorkers can see what they look like. Superfluous pigs in the litters that arrive periodically are sold, frequently as pets. Thus there is a pig farm within a couple of blocks of the social center of Manhattan.

The pig owner referred to above was wont to walk in the park in the evening, leading his pet on a chain.

Incidentally, the cow is one of the most popular animals in the zoo with young visitors.

Boris Lovet-Lorski says he's going away to Bali, six days sail from Java, to live the life of Adam. He wants to exist in the nude while he sculps. In Bali he will find the kinds of stone he likes best for his work, and, he explains, "It's so primitive I won't have to wear any clothes. I tried that last summer in Connecticut, but people in clothes kept coming around and I couldn't keep my mind on my work."

Vincent Astor's new yacht, being built in Germany, at a cost of $2,000,000, will carry two planes. At the City club, where Lynde Denig took me to lunch, two men were talking about the Astor yacht plans, and one of them recalled that the late Horace Dodge's "Delphine" cost $100,000 a month to operate at sea. It was a smaller ship than Astor's.

"Forty times a groomsman, but never a groom," is one of joking lines friends perpetrate at the expense of John Nicholas Brown, more or less well known as the richest bachelor in the world. Of course, he is a much sought young man, but eligible debbies get infrequent glimpses of him here. When they do, it usually is at a wedding, for he is much in demand whenever one of his Harvard classmates marches to the altar. He spends most of his time in Boston and Newport, and is very shy about being photographed or interviewed.

I have been trying to persuade E. J. Loughman to allow me to get pictures to illustrate a story about his extraordinary hobby. He is a retired real estate operator with a farm at Lawrence, L. I., and he maintains a complete, ultra-modern fire department for Lawrence and Cedarhurst, twin towns, at his own expense. Like his brother, Michael, a state tax commissioner, he is an honorary fire chief of New York City. The brothers began following fires when they were boys, and never lost their enthusiasm for the sport. One of their favorite haunts is No. 40 engine house in West Sixty-eighth street, where they are admitted on a professional basis.

Damage Payments Hold Flood Control Stage

WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—The proposal by Republican house leaders to revise the $325,000,000 Jones senate flood control bill to provide for states furnishing lands for the construction of spillways and levees and paying damages for such lands, today gave promise of proving the most controverted point during house consideration of the flood control question.

"Tads" Rage No More.

COVINGTON, Ind.—The last of the "Raging Tads" is dead. Eighty years ago, Louis R. Hatfield, who was 104 when he died, joined with 19 other youths to form the club, the purpose of which was to gather once a year for a feast. The civil war, disease and old age had depleted the ranks until in 1925, only Hatfield was left. The association was dissolved when he drank the bottle of wine which had been provided for the last of the "Raging Tads."

Royal Neighbors Meet

FREDERICK, Okla., April 13.—One hundred and ten delegates from four counties in the southern part of Oklahoma were in attendance at the one day convention of Royal Neighbors of America, which met here Thursday.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

Charles Scribner's Sons

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

On the day following his decision, Markham and Vance and I were sitting in a secluded corner of the lounge-room of the Stuyvesant club. We often came together there, for we were all members of the club, and Markham frequently used it as a kind of unofficial up-town headquarters.

"It's bad enough to have half the people in this city under the impression that the district attorney's office is a kind of high-class collection agency," he remarked that night, "without being necessitated to turn detective because I'm not given sufficient evidence, or the right kind of evidence, with which to secure convictions."

Vance looked up with a slow smile, and regarded him quizzically.

"The difficulty would seem to be," he returned, with an indolent drawl, "that the police labor under the notion that evidence which would convince a man of ordinary intelligence, would also convince a court of law. A silly notion don't y' know. Lawyers don't really want evidence: they want erudite technicalities. And the average policeman's brain is too forthright to cope with the pedantic demands of jurisprudence."

"It's not as bad as that," Markham retorted, with an attempt at good nature, although the strain of the past few weeks had tended to upset his habitual equanimity. "If there weren't rules of evidence, grave injustice would too often be done innocent persons. And even a criminal is entitled to protection in our courts."

Vance yawned mildly.

"Markham, you should have been a pedagogue. It's positively amazin' how you've mastered all the standard oratorical replies to criticism. And yet, I'm unconvinced. You remember the Wisconsin case of the kidnaped man whom the courts declared presumably dead. Even when he reappeared, hale and hearty among his former neighbors his status of being presumably dead was not legally altered. The visible and demonstrable fact that he was actually alive was regarded by the court as an immaterial and impertinent side issue. . . . Then there's the touchin' situation—so prevalent in this fair country—of a man being insane in one state and sane in another. . . . Your layman, swaddled in the darkness of ordinary common sense, would say that a person who is a lunatic on one bank of the river would still be a lunatic if he was on the opposite bank. And he'd also hold—erroneously, no doubt—that if a man was living, he would presumably be alive."

"Why this academic dissertation?" asked Markham, this time a bit irritably.

"It seems to touch rather vitally on the source of your present predicament," Vance explained equably. "The police, not being lawyers, have apparently got you into hot water, what? . . . Why not start an agitation to send all detectives to law school?"

Markham grunted. "I'd hardly endear myself to the people of this country if I answered the current strictures against me by recommending law courses for the police department."

"Permit me, then, to suggest the alternative of Shakespeare's butcher: 'Let's kill all the lawyers'."

"Unfortunately, it's a situation, not a utopian theory, that has to be met."

"And just how," asked Vance lazily, "do you propose to reconcile the sensible conclusions of the police with what you touchingly call correctness of legal procedure?"

"To begin with," Markham informed him, "I've decided henceforth to do my own investigating of all important night club criminal cases. I called a conference of the heads of my departments yesterday, and from now on there's going to be some real activity radiating direct from my office. I intend to produce the kind of evidence I need for convictions."

Vance slowly took a cigaret from his case and tapped it on the arm of his chair.

"Ah! So you are going to substitute the conviction of the innocent for the acquittal of the guilty?"

Markham was nettled; turning in his chair he frowned at Vance.

"I won't pretend not to understand your remark," he said acidulously. "You're back again on your favorite theme of the inadequacy of circumstantial evidence as compared with your psychological theories and aesthetic hypothesis."

"Quite so," agreed Vance carelessly. "Y' know, Markham, your sweet and charmin' faith in circumstantial evidence is positively disarming. I tremble for the innocent victims you are about to gather into your legal net. You'll eventually make the mere attendance at any cabaret a frightful hazard."

Markham smoked a while in silence.

"Why this sweeping deprecation of circumstantial evidence? I admit that at times it may be misleading; but it often forms powerful presumptive proof of guilt. Indeed, Vance, one of our greatest legal authorities has demonstrated that it is the most powerful actual evidence in existence. Direct evidence, in the very nature of crime, is almost always unavailable. If the courts had to depend on it, the great majority of criminals would still be at large."

"I was under the impression that this precious majority had always enjoyed its untrammelled freedom."

Markham ignored the interruption.

"Take this example: A dozen adults see an animal running across the snow, and testify that it was a chicken; whereas a child sees the same animal, and declares it was a duck. They thereupon examine the animal's footprints and find them to be the web-footed tracks made by a duck. Is it not conclusive, then, that the animal was a duck and not a chicken, despite the preponderance of direct evidence?"

"I'll grant you your duck," acceded Vance indifferently.

"And having gratefully accepted the gift," pursued Markham, "I propound a corollary: A dozen adults see a human figure crossing the snow, and take oath it was a woman; whereas a child asserts that the figure was a man. Now, will you not also grant that the circumstantial evidence of a man's footprints in the snow would supply incontrovertible proof that it was, in fact, a man, and not a woman?"

"Not at all, my dear Justinian," replied Vance, stretching his legs languidly in front of him: "unless, of course, you could show that a human being possesses no higher order of brain than a duck."

"What have brains to do with it?" Markham asked impatiently. "Brains don't affect one's footprints."

"Not those of a duck, certainly. But brains might very well—and, no doubt, often do—affect the footprints of a human being."

"Well, according to your highly and peculiarly developed processes of reasoning, would the circumstantial evidence of those masculine footprints indicate a man or a woman?"

"Not necessarily either," Vance answered; "or, rather, a possibility of each. Such evidence, when applied to a human being—to a creature, that is, with a reasoning mind—would merely mean to me that the figure crossing the snow was either a man in his own shoes, or a woman in man's shoes, or perhaps, even, a long-legged child."

"I'm delighted to observe," said Markham, "that, at least you repudiate the possibility of a duck dressing itself up in the gardener's boots."

Vance was silent for a moment; then he said:

"The trouble with you modern solons, d' ye see, is that you attempt to reduce human nature to a formula; whereas the truth is that man, like life, is infinitely complex. He's shrewd and tricky—skilled for centuries in all the most diabolical chicaneries. He is a creature of low cunning, who, even in the normal course of his vain and idiotic struggle for existence, instinctively and deliberately tells 99 lies to 1 truth. A duck, not having had the heaven-kissing advantages of human civilization, is a straightforward and eminently honest bird."

"How," asked Markham, "since you jettison all the ordinary means of arriving at a conclusion, would you decide the sex or species of this person who left the masculine footprints in the snow?"

Vance blew a spiral of smoke toward the ceiling.

"First, I'd repudiate all the evidence of the 12 astigmatic adults and the one bright-eyed child. Next, I'd ignore the footprints in the snow. Then, with a mind unprejudiced by dubious testimony and uncluttered with material clues I'd determine the exact nature of the crime which this fleeing person had committed. After having analyzed its various factors, I could infallibly tell you not only whether the culprit was a man or a woman, but I could describe his habits character, and personality. And I could do all this whether the fleeing figure left male or female or kangaroo tracks, or used stilts, or rode off on a velocipede."

Markham smiled broadly. "You'd be worse than the police in the matter of supplying me legal evidence, I fear."

"I, at least, wouldn't procure evidence against some unsuspecting person whose boots had been appropriated by the real culprit," retorted Vance.

He became suddenly serious.

"See here, old man; there are some shrewd intelligences at present allied with what the theologians call the powers of darkness. The surface appearances of many of these crimes that are worrying you are palpably deceptive. Personally, I don't put much stock in the theory that a malevolent gang of cutthroats have organized an American camorra and made the silly night clubs their headquarters. The idea is too melodramatic. It smacks too much of the gaudy journalistic imagination; it's too Eugene Sue-ish. Crime isn't a mass instinct except during war time, and then it's merely an obscence sport. . . . Markham, old dear, don't let this romantic criminological idea lead you astray. And don't scrutinize the figurative fingerprints in the snow too closely. They'll confuse you most horribly."

He sighed deeply and gave Markham a look of bantering commiseration.

"And have you paused to consider that your first case may even be devoid of footprints? . . . Alas! What, then, will you do?"

"I could overcome that difficulty by taking you along with me," suggested Markham, with a touch of irony. "How would you like to accompany me on the next important case that breaks?"

"I am ravished by the idea," said Vance.

Two days later the front pages of our metropolitan press carried glaring headlines telling of the murder of Margaret Odell.

Arkansas Magnate Seeks To Merge Railroads

NEW ORLEANS, April 13. (AP)—H. C. Couch, Arkansas power and railroad magnate, today announced his intention to seek the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission to his plan for consolidating the Louisiana and Arkansas railway of which he is president with the Louisiana Railway and Navigation company. In the event approval is given Mr. Couch said $3,000,000 would be spent in improving the railroad.

TROPHY DISPLAYED

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, April 13—A beautiful silver loving cup inscribed "Class A Young County Meet, 1928," has been on display at the high school building this week, the trophy won by the local school for scoring the most points in the Young county interscholastic meet which was held in Graham two or three weeks ago. This cup represents the all-round county championship, including both literary and athletic events, and is the permanent possession of the school winning it.

Its Done—At Last

CHICAGO—Choirmaster Thomas Chapman was directing the negro choir in Friendship Baptist church. Baritone Casey McGurick Jones was singing off key. Without hesitation the deacon hauled out a blackjack and silenced the sour notes. Basso Washington McGavock didn't like that so he pulled a telephone from the wall and knocked out the deacon. A moment later the remaining members of the choir joined the organist in "Throw Out the Life Line."

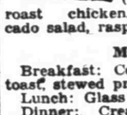

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy, who can be addressed in care of this paper.

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, April 15:

Sunday

Breakfast: Corn flakes (retoasted), cream, stewed raisins.

Lunch: Rice en casserole, spinach, head lettuce.

Dinner: Jellied tomato consomme (served in cubes), roast chicken, asparagus, avocado salad, raspberry whip.

Monday

Breakfast: Coddled eggs, Melba toast, stewed prunes.

Lunch: Glass of grapejuice.

Dinner: Cream cheese, string beans, salad of raw cabbage and celery, carrot pudding.

Tuesday

Breakfast: French omelet, small slice broiled ham, toasted cereal biscuit.

Lunch: Baked squash, combination vegetable salad.

Dinner: Vegetable soup, roast beef, mushrooms en casserole, salad of sliced tomatoes and celery, small dish of junket.

Wednesday

Breakfast: Wholewheat muffins, peanut butter, stewed prunes.

Lunch: Eight-ounce glass of orange-milk.

Dinner: Meat loaf, green peas, chopped cucumber in beef jelly, stewed apricots.

Thursday

Breakfast: Poached eggs, Melba toast, pear sauce.

Lunch: Raw apples as desired.

Dinner: Roast mutton, steamed carrots, turnip cup salad, baked apple a la mode.

Friday

Breakfast: Cottage cheese, pineapple, toasted cereal biscuit.

Lunch: Baked ground beets, cooked celery, shredded cabbage.

Dinner: Broiled filet of sole, artichokes, salad of sliced tomatoes on lettuce, plain Jello or Jell-well, no cream.

Saturday

Breakfast: Baked eggs, crisp bacon, Melba toast.

Lunch: Potato in the half shell, spinach, raw celery.

Dinner: Vegetable soup, broiled steak, steamed carrots, salad of sliced tomatoes, minced prunes in gelatin.

When the protein part of the evening meal is to be supplied by a roast, it is possible to figure out just what size roast will be entirely used by the family, whether the family is composed of two or ten persons. First, you must get away from the idea of a roast in terms of from three to six pounds, for it is quite easy to secure and properly roast a very small piece of meat, which makes it possible for the smallest family or even just one person to enjoy a different roast whenever they wish. However, to the average house wife the word "roast" means a large piece of meat, with the inevitable left-overs. So—until you get the knack of roasting or baking a sufficiently small piece of meat for the needs of your family, whether beef, mutton, pork or veal, use it up the next day as follows:

MEAT LOAF: Grind through a food grinder only the lean portions of the left-over roast, discarding all fat and gristle. Mix in the desired amount of chopped celery and any other non-starchy vegetable you may wish. Scatter through the mixture a generous number of ripe olives, moisten with a little hot water and form into a loaf. Bake in a tightly covered pan for 15 or 20 minutes, removing cover and allowing to brown under the broiler flame for a few minutes. Serve garnished with parsley and a few ripe olives.

NOTE: My weekly menus give a variety of meats to teach you their proper combination with other foods. You will learn, with a little careful study, that it is never necessary to discard good food in the way of "left-overs." For instance, if you have left-overs from a roast beef, it is perfectly all right to use it up the next day, as suggested above, in place of the roast pork that may be given in the menu of that particular day.

Questions and Answers

QUESTION: Mrs. J. H. writes: "I have been to two different eye specialists and they both claim I have patches in back of the eyeball and that nothing can be done unless we find out what it is caused from. They claim it isn't the eye itself, but due to something wrong in my physical condition. What do you think could be the cause? Tests show that urine, kidneys, blood and teeth are O. K."

ANSWER: The eye is a very delicate organ and easily affected by toxins in the blood. The tests you have had do not necessarily show such poisons but they must be there or your eyes would not be affected in that manner. Send for my special article called "A Cleansing Diet," which will tell you how to take a short fast followed by a cleansing diet that will surely be helpful to you in getting rid of the poisons which are causing your eye trouble.

QUESTION: T. W. B. asks: "What is the cause of one's teeth getting on edge when eating acid fruits, and is there a preventive remedy?"

ANSWER: Those whose teeth are sensitive to acid fruits usually have some crack in the enamel of their teeth, or the enamel is worn off so that the dentine is exposed. A perfectly healthy tooth would not be sensitive to acid fruits.

QUESTION: K. A. S. asks: "Will you kindly give a name for the complaint of shortness of breath, clutching at the throat and pain down the left arm, shoulder and hand at the same time, when walking, or at the least exertion or nervousness?"

ANSWER: Angina pectoris is probably the name of the complaint which you ask about in your condition.

Safe and Sane Relief for Pain

Capudine is the logical agent to relieve pain and high nerve strain because it gives relief by soothing the nerves,—not by deadening or doping them. It contains no opiates.

Being liquid, Capudine acts very much quicker than tablets and powders. Highly effective for headaches, neuralgia, rheumatic pains, periodic pains. At all drug stores; 30c and 60c sizes. (adv).

HAD TO WORK TOO HARD

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Gave Her Strength

Mt. Carmel, Pa.—"After my second baby was born I had to work too hard and be on my feet too soon because my husband was ill. After his death I was in such a weakened and run-down condition that nothing seemed to help me. I am starting the fourth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel a great deal better. I am much stronger and don't get so tired out when I wash or work hard. I do housekeeping and dressmaking and I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound. I am willing to answer letters."—Mrs. Gertrude Butts, 414 S. Market St., Mt. Carmel, Pa.

Felt She Was Getting Weaker All The Time

Health Seemed to Be Going Downhill—Suffered With Pain in Her Side — Says Cardui Helped Her Get Well.

DOTHAN, Ala., — "About nine years ago, I was in very bad health," says Mrs. G. S. Camp, 311 Range street, this city.

"I had been going downhill for some time, until I found myself so weak I could not keep going. I had to give up and go to bed where I stayed six weeks, flat on my back.

"I could hardly lift my hands, for weakness. I worried a lot about myself for I could see that I was not doing any good. I tried one thing and then another, but nothing helped me. I could feel myself getting weaker all the time, and I suffered constantly with a severe pain in my side.

"A friend happened to come in to see me and asked my why I did not try Cardui. I was impressed with the suggestion, and at once began to take it. It was not long until I began to improve. My strength returned and the dreaded pain in my side left entirely.

"I was delighted with this, so I kept on with the medicine for some time,—long enough to be sure that my gain was permanent. Since that time, my health has been unusually good, so I do not hesitate to recommend Cardui."

Sold by druggists everywhere.

THE "MAID WELL" FAMILY

First came Mayonnaise, creamy tinted,
Like a Marechal Niel rose in bloom;
Then Thousand Island, like a million dollars,
Came waltzing into the room.
"Good morning, Sandwich Spread, just when did you arrive?
Why, Sweet Pickle and I have been out for a drive.
We called on those who love us and greeted them with cheer,
They sent their best regards to all, and said we need not fear
But that we would be famous, more so than tongue can tell,
For there never was a family to compare with "MAID WELL."

Letting hair grow?

Guard Against Dandruff

You women who are letting your hair grow long, be on guard more than ever against dandruff. If you, or any of your family have any sign of it, douse Listerine on full strength. Massage the scalp thoroughly with the finger tips. Use a little olive oil in conjunction if scalp or hair is excessively dry. Keep this up systematically. You will be surprised to find how quickly Listerine checks loose dandruff. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

STOREKEEPER SLAIN HERE

Assailant Makes Good His Escape

dying man's head was an indisputable "yes."

Inquest Today

O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, said an inquest would be held Saturday morning. The body was taken to the Merkle Undertaking company parlors.

Lawrence Blackwell, callboy for the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, was the last person to talk with Mr. Zimmerman.

The slain man, according to friends, loved the younger folk and made friends with all of them. About 9:30 o'clock young Blackwell came to the house to call Mr. Lassiter. As customary, he stopped in to speak to the storekeeper, and talked to him for a few minutes.

A man was talking to the storekeeper at the time of the callboy's visit, Lawrence told police. This man later left the store, police believe, and was not present when the attempted hold-up ended in Mr. Zimmerman's death. The man seen to leave the store was not the man identified by Mr. Lassiter as the person talking to the storekeeper and seen by the callboy, it is believed.

Dewey Creamer, 404 Lee street, was second man to reach the scene of the shooting. Police arrived a few minutes later, Officers L. N. McKelvey and Fred Fountain taking charge of the investigation. Mr. Creamer told police that he had heard shots and had heard the storekeeper call for the help that reached him too late.

Several Shots Fired

Three or four shots had been fired, both Mr. Lassiter and Mr. Creamer told police. One of the shots took effect in the floor of the building; another entered the man's chest. Trace of other shots were not found.

Mr. Zimmerman came to Wichita Falls from Abilene in June of 1926. Since that time he has run the store here. His address at Abilene, revealed on a key-ring taken from the body by police, was 1135 Mulberry street.

He is survived by his widow and two sisters who live in Iowa. Two step-daughters, both of whom live in Lawton, were notified immediately after Mr. Zimmerman's death and started for Wichita Falls. One step-son is in the United States navy and a second stepson lives in Kansas City.

The store was locked by police until it could be further examined. Meanwhile, police officials of neighboring towns had been notified to be on the lookout for all suspicious characters and local police were combing the haunts of Wichita Falls' small underworld in the hope of locating the criminal. All roads out of the city were being watched carefully and railroad men were on the lookout for the fugitive.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk

G. H. Kennedy, Oklaunion, and Ruby Jones, Decatur.

JINX DAY

At Least These Items Came In Friday, 13th

The Spudders lost to the Shreveport Sports, 4 to 3.

G. H. Kennedy of Oklaunion and Miss Ruby Jones of Decatur, were issued a marriage license. Efforts to determine whether or not the jinx-defying couple dared actual marriage Friday proved futile.

The first jury trial in corporation court for several days ended in a hopeless deadlock. Defendants, charged with violation city milk ordinance No. 556, later plead guilty and were fined by W. L. Bass, judge of corporation court.

Fred McDaniel of Dundee, coming in to see the baseball game here, and Charlie Bennett, driving another car, collided on the Seymour road. Both cars were damaged, but no one was injured.

Friday the 13th was seen as a good luck day by C. C. Bunnenberg who has charge of the parks of Wichita Falls. He has been at home, suffering from influenza for the past few days, but was able to attend to a portion of his duties at his office in the Municipal auditorium Friday.

Nineteen persons Friday came to Mrs. Effie McHam, secretary of the Family Relief association, with hard luck stories. Five families were represented in the jinx-day wails. Nineteen persons later departed from Mrs. McHam's office with smiling faces and hunger satisfied.

The automobile of a Wichita Falls garage man was returned to him by Frank Morgan, constable, at noon Friday, before the owner knew his car had been stolen Thursday night. A new bullet hole in the windshield of the car could not be explained.

Three suits for divorce were filed before Miss Eunice Jackson, district clerk, Friday.

Marvin Johnson, 1519 Irvy street, late Friday declared Friday had been the most successful Friday, 13th, he had spent in Wichita Falls. Since coming to this city, Mr. Johnson said, he has twice been sent to the hospital as the result of accidents received on Friday the 13th. Up to late Friday afternoon he had escaped all accidents for the first Friday the 13th he can remember. Mr. Johnson said he stayed at home all day and would not dare venture on the streets Friday night. He was, none-theless, pessimistic about the balance of the evening.

A man arrested here Friday by members of the sheriff's department, Friday night was on his way back to Breckenridge, where he is charged with forgery. Sheriff H. C. Thornton of Stephens county came to Wichita Falls for the fugitive.

A man arrested here Thursday who is wanted in Abilene on liquor charges, was started back to Abilene Friday afternoon, under escort of a deputy sheriff.

OBSERVE EXPERTS

Junior college tennis stars, in the hope of learning something useful, are going to Fort Worth Saturday to see the Davis Cup team and William Tilden in operation. Those who will go are James Ford, Fred Couper, Jack Jamison, Raymond McPhail and Herbert Kirkland.

FACTORY VISITED

As an unusual laboratory feature the Junior college chemistry class, supervised by W. C. O. White, head of the department, went to the Wichita Window Glass company for an inspection tour. There the class saw the entire process from the time the raw materials consisting of silica, soda ash, and sodium sulphate were placed in the furnace to the cutting and crating of the glass. Students were especially interested in the huge furnaces and the blowing of the glass by vacuum tubes into large cylinders ranging from 15 to 45 feet in length. The factory, located here because of the natural gas facilities, is the only one of the kind in Texas. The trip was in connection with the studies in the textbook on the ceramic industries and the making of glass.

ARCHERY PLANS LAID

Extensive plans for Sunday were made by the Archery club Friday morning. Club plans are to take up various types of novelty shooting. Among these will be trap shooting, shooting at moving objects, shooting for altitude, and shooting for the greatest number of arrows it is possible to get into the air at the same time. As yet three arrows is the best any member of the club has been able to do. Another sport that the club contemplates is the shooting of rabbits, considered as pests by the farmers.

TENNIS CLUB

Tennis club plans Friday morning consisted mainly of how to choose teams in the doubles tournament. There is a division of opinion in the club as to whether the players should be allowed to choose their own partners or whether all should play together in open competition, and determine who will have the best chance to bring the championship back to the Junior college. Present plans are to start the last doubles tournament next Monday. Only one doubles team will be sent to the state meet.

LORD HELPUS PROGRAM

Entertainers from the Lord Helpus club of "Jolly Old England" offered a varied program to the Girls club in the Junior college auditorium Friday morning.

The program opened with Beslor Pasley as Lord Helpus, introducing each member of the club. The first number on the program was by Joe Bailey Howard and Jimmie Hale, singing "Honey Moon Man." Harry Greer sang a vocal solo, "Girl of My Dreams." Jimmie Hale sang a solo, "Told Them All About You," followed by a duet by Jimmie Hale and Jimmie Morgan, "Bungalow of My Dreams." Several novelty numbers were rendered by the entire club and the program closed with Harry Greer singing "Walla Walla."

EAST-TO-WEST FLIGHT MADE

World Rejoices at Safe Landing of Bremen

United Press message was taken to him by a White House attache.

The broadcasting of United Press bulletins on the finding of the fliers brought scores of telephone inquiries into the United Press Washington bureau from persons seeking more details.

It was suggested in some quarters here that the government might send a warship to pick up the fliers and bring them to their original destination if this should be found agreeable.

The White House and the state department are expected to convey their congratulations tomorrow to the fliers upon their safe landing.

Munich Friends Wire

Ambassador Von Pirttwitz of Germany learned of the safe arrival of the Bremen during a lecture delivered by Count Keyserling at a local hotel and issued the following statement:

"I am very happy to hear that the German plane Bremen has safely arrived on this side of the Atlantic. My greetings go to the brave crew who mastered wind and weather and by their westward transatlantic flight brought aviation another step nearer the goal of connecting the two continents."

An hour after the arrival of the fliers was confirmed the first cable of congratulation arrived at the German embassy. It was addressed to the German fliers from friends in Munich.

CHICAGO, April 13. (US)—The body of an unidentified man, believed to have been "taken for a ride," was found today, concealed in a clump of trees on the southern edge of the city. The man had been shot four time in the back of the head.

Doege, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. John Reynolds is survived by his parents, one brother, Earl Green, and two sisters, Kathryn and Joe Lou Green.

MRS. NICHOLS MAKES BOND

$2500 Bail Completed Friday Morning

Mrs. Clara Nichols, 1528 Blond street, Friday morning was released from the county jail on bond of $2500. Mrs. Nichols, indicted for the murder of her husband, J. C. Nichols, had been in the county jail since her arrest shortly after the shooting to death of her husband at the Nichols home Easter morning.

The shooting of Mr. Nichols, according to a statement the woman made to Sam Spence, assistant district attorney, was the result of a quarrel. Prior to the shooting, she said, she and her husband had not lived together as man and wife for several months. For several days, the statement read, Mr. Nichols had not been at the residence.

Lorene, 19-year-old daughter of the couple, although in the house at the time did not witness the shooting.

No date for trial of Mrs. Nichols has been set, according to announcement made Friday by Mr. Spence.

STATUTE ANNULS SUIT

OMAHA, Neb., April 13. (UP)—Federal Judge T. C. Munger of Lincoln today dismissed the government's suit against Nels B. Updike, Omaha publisher, and his associates, in which $373,000 was alleged due in income and excess profits tax. Judge Munger ruled the statute of limitations had expired and voided the suit.

FINAL CALL FOR OYSTERS

Menu Makes Use of Season's Close

Last call for oysters this season, so we'll use them just once more. If we decide not to have them in this menu, for any reason, we can at least save the recipe and use it next year.

BREAKFAST.
Oranges and Bananas Wheat Cereal
French Toast Coffee

LUNCHEON.
Oysters a la Creole Sally Lunn
Pineapple Salad Hot Tea

DINNER.
Thin Cream of Potato Soup
Vegetable Platter with Mushrooms
Whole Wheat Bread
Current Jelly
Roquefert Cheese Salad
Mocha Sponge Coffee

Recipes.

Mushroom Vegetable Platter—In the center of the platter put a whole cauliflower, cooked tender but not to pieces, and seasoned with butter. Surround it with small whole beets; on on eside put carrots, on the opposite side onion baked in a caesserole with butter and milk; on the remaining sides, green beans, peas or parsnips. Place whole, broiled mushrooms around the edges, and use parsley or watercress for a garnish. If you cannot get them use sliced pickle.

Oyster a la Creole—Three ounces butter, one small onion, two tablespoons flour, one medium sized can of tomatoes, one pint oysters, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half green pepper, cut in narrow strips. Melt half the butter, fry the onion, cut fine, gently, then rub in the flour and use the can of tomatoes, instead of milk to make a cream sauce. Melt the other half of the butter, put in the oysters which have been washed, drained, and had the little hard circles of muscle removed, and cook gently until their beards curl. Season with salt, pepper and dash of cayenne, and the Worcestershire, and add to the tomato sauce. Last of all put in the green pepper, and serve on toast, preferably buttered. This will serve four generously.

Mocha Sponge—One cup strong coffee, three teaspoons gelatin, three eggs, three-fourths cup of sugar, four tablespoons cocoa, one teaspoon vanilla. Soak the gelatin in a quarter cup cold coffee for five minutes. Bring the remaining three-fourths cup of coffee to a boil and pour over gelatin. Separate the eggs, beat the whites dry and stiff in sugar slowly, beating meanwhile. Beat yolks until foamy, and add vanilla. Stir cocoa into coffee gelatine mixture and then beat with egg beater to eliminate all lumps. Add this mixture to the yolks, and pour into the whites, combine thoroughly but lightly. Pour into a chilled mold and set in the icebox. Serve with whipped or unwhipped cream. This dessert will set within an hour of the time it is made.

Household Hints

By MRS. MARY MORTON

Fish loaf is a good dish to take the place of meat. A good tart tasting salad is always the proper accompaniment for fish, in my estimation. A lemon pie or pudding seems appropriate, too.

Tuna Fish Loaf
Sour Cabbage Salad, Creamed Peas
Lemon Pie or Pudding Coffee

Recipes

Tuna Fish Loaf—The tuna fish loaf calls for one cup tuna fish picked into bits, one cup cooked rice, a white sauce made of one tablespoon flour and one cup milk. When the white cause is made, season to taste and add fish. Add one hard cooked egg cut into small pieces. Line a mold with well-cooked rice. Put in seasoned creamed fish. Cover with rice. Cover dish and steam for one-half hour. Unmold and serve with egg sauce.

Lemon Pie—One-half cup sugar, two teaspoons cornstarch, a pinch of salt, yolks of two eggs, juice and grated rind of a lemon, one cup hot water. Cook until smooth and thick and pour into crust that has been previously baked.

Lemon Pudding—Two cups water, one cup sugar, two tablespoons cornstarch, dissolved in water, juice of one and one-half lemons. Cook in double boiler. Whip into whites of egg beaten stiff. Serves four.

Suggestions

Useful Board—The experiences of other housewives are often helpful to us. And husbands, also have a way of making work easier for their wives.

"My kitchen is small, with two work tables, having cupboards underneath, and a sink (open underneath) between them. My husband made me a board to match my table tops, the proper size to fit over the sink, having cleats to hold it in place. This is very useful as it can be used to give more table room in the kitchen when serving company. Also makes a very convenient table to work at while sitting on the kitchen stool.

When not used as a sink cover, this board makes a good place to put cakes and cookies hot from the oven; it can easily be carried from place to place.

Scrambled Eggs—Into the upper part of the double boiler break as many eggs as needed, add one teaspoon butter for each egg, one tablespoon milk or water for each egg and a bit of salt and pepper. Break the egg yolks with a fork and stir the mass lightly. Remember that the egg will cook quickest near the bottom of the container where the heat is greatest, so stir from the bottom up. When the mass is soft and creamy take from the fire. Cooking goes on for some time after removing from fire so take them off before they are quite done. Serve at once on freshly toasted and buttered bread.

Dumb Dora Climbs Into Fifth Place as Comic Vote Nears End

Another day of the Record News and Daily Times comic contest has added more than 1,300 votes. Mr. and Mrs. still holds the lead in the number of votes for first place, with Ella Cinders second for first places and leading in the total number of votes cast.

It looks like Ella has a break at last, providing O. Waters Neek doesn't appear on the scene and ruin things.

In the total number of votes cast, the standing remains unchanged down to fourth place, Ella Cinders, Toots and Casper, Tillie the Toiler, and Pa's So-nin-Law, respectively. Dumb Dora replaced Mr. and Mrs. for fifth place, coming up from near the bottom. Mr. and Mrs., Elmer and Our Boarding House, taking sixth, seventh and eighth places respectively. The Nebbs, which had eighth place, dropped down out of the top eight.

Two Injured When Auto Turns Over

Mrs. Mary Dalton suffered a broken arm and her three-year-old son, Lonnie, received lacerations and bruises about the head when the automobile which Mrs. Dalton was driving overturned on the Holliday road, 12 miles out of Wichita Falls about noon Friday. Three women and four children were riding in the automobile.

The injured were taken to the Wichita General hospital by W. D. McAfee of Electra. All but Mrs. Dalton and son were released after an examination failed to reveal serious injuries.

Lonnie Dalton received a severe cut in the forehead, hospital attendants said.

Committee to Study Postal Needs Here

An investigation of the need of a new federal building in Wichita Falls will be made by two government officials of the treasury department upon their visit from Washington, D. C., in the next 10 days or two weeks.

These men are being sent as a result of the request by Orville Bullington and Postmaster O. P. Maricle for the erection of a new federal building here. The possibility of getting the new building by Wichita Falls rests largely upon the findings and report of the investigating committee, Mr. Maricle said.

Community Chest To Ask Incorporation

Another week will see the Wichita Falls Community Chest incorporated unless the unexpected happens, according to anouncements made Friday by Bert King.

"I have finished putting the papers in legal shape, and they are now ready for signing," Mr. King said. "Miss Merle Neely of the Community Chest office probably will get them Saturday and have the incorporators sign it at once so that it may be sent to Austin."

"Fiddlin' Dad" Winner In Contest Held Here

S. A. Owens of Electra, known as "Fiddlin' Dad," won an old fiddlers' contest held here Thursday night at the Labor Temple. He was accompanied on the guitar by J. J. Fletcher, of Sulphur, Okla., who sponsored the contest. About 14 entrants participated. A harmonica contest, also held, was won by "Happy Jack" Thompson, of Terrell, Texas.

Hoffman to Name Program Committee

The committee to outline the program for the business council of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, will be named Saturday, according to announcements made by Luther T. Hoffman, chairman, Friday.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 13. (AP)—Cotton moved up $1 to $2 a bale today on prospects for a renewal of unfavorable weather in the south. Prices made new high ground for the present movement, July contracts selling up from 19.46 to 19.79 and closing at 19.77, compared with 19.58 at the close the previous day. The general market closed strong, at net advances of 19 to 24 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 6 points, active months showing but losses of only 1 to 2 points under liquidation and local selling influenced by smaller domestic consumption figures than expected.

The statistics, however, were offset by the prospect for a renewal of wet weather and lower temperatures in the south, and after initial offerings had been absorbed, the market turned upward. The rather favorable detailed weather reports for the day failed to bring in any fresh selling of consequence, and as prices worked upward during early afternoon, demand from shorts became more active.

May contracts sold up from 19.65, the early low level, to 19.96, an advance of 292 points from the previous close touched on the mid-winter decline. Closing prices were within a point or two of the best.

The report of the census bureau showing 581,318 bales of lint cotton consumed in this country in March, compared with 573,810 in February and 693,081 in March last year, was below average expectations and was considered chiefly responsible for the early decline. Its failure to bring in more general pressure appeared to disappoint recent sellers, and after the first flurry of liquidation had subsided, the market seemed comparatively bare of contracts.

Liverpool reported liquidation and Bombay selling in the market there and only a small turnover in cotton cloths for India and China.

Exports today, 22,122, making 6,115,745 so far this season. Port receipts 11,365. U. S. port stocks 1,619,742.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 13. (AP)—Pessimistic weather and crop reports started the cotton market here on the upgrade today, with prices reaching a maximum at 33 points up from the previous close. After selling off 8 points to 19.18, July, the most active position in the day's trading, advanced to 19.50 and closed at 19.48, up 22 points net. The general market closed steady at net advances of 18 to 22 points.

The market opened with a flourish, May climbing to 19.50, an advance of 8 points on the strength of better Liverpool cables than expected. Disappointment in the March consumption figures of 581,318 bales caused some selling and the market became easier with the early months declining 7 to 9 points from yesterday's close.

This decline was quickly checked with the appearance of official weather reports which predicted rains and colder weather for the Gulf and freezing in the northwest. The market remained the rest of the upside on the buoyancy of these reports with only slight reactions which were quickly checked. By noon May traded at 19.56, July at 19.41 and October at 19.17, 19 to 23 points up from the early lows.

The advance was further stimulated during the afternoon session by numerous private reports from the interior which said that planting still was being delayed and that what seed was in the ground either had rotted or failed to germinate. These reports prompted short covering and considerable trade buying with the result that near the end of the session all months made new highs at 19.65 for May, 19.50 for July and 19.26 for October, 28 to 32 points up from the day's low. The close was a little off from the best on Realizing.

COTTON GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, April 13. (AP)—Very moderate trading was reported in cotton gray goods today. Finished cloths were sold in small lots. Raw silk advanced at Yokohama and in the local markets, the rise here being about 5c a pound. Burlap markets were steady with trading chiefly in spot and nearby goods.

Bonds

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, April 13. (AP)—The bond market was active and prices firm today. Again the New York Traction issues were the feature, New York Railway 6's and Third Avenue Adjustment 5's moving to new tops. Interborough Rapid Transit refunding 5's advanced more than a point.

There was renewed demand for St. Paul 5's of 2000 with resulting gain of a point in price, but other rails, including Missouri Pacific 5's, Denver & Rio Grande 4's and St. Louis and San Francisco 4's, sagged.

Anaconda and Andes Copper 7's were outstanding among the industrials, both improving slightly in price. American Telephone and Telegraph was the only utility active in early trading.

Demand for the Mexican issues again was the feature of the foreign group. There was some buying also of Argentine 6's.

48 New High Price Levels Chalked Up On Stock Market During Day of Hectic Trading

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, April 13.—Easing of the call money rate to 4½ per cent from a renewal of 5 per cent encouraged even wilder trading on the stock exchange today, and as a result practically all groups advanced.

General Electric was the outstanding leader of the day as it skyrocketed to new high record price with report of coming melon-cutting given wide circulation. General Motors was the most active and closed 3 points higher while interest in the steel group was taken from Steel common by the consistent strength of Bethelehem which benefited from the pool operations told of here a few days ago. Tobaccos were much more prominent and closed net higher while the rails also displayed more interest on the part of the speculating public which is now "in the market" to an extent never witnessed before.

Sterling eased in an otherwise quiet and fairly firm foreign exchange market. Cotton and other commodities recovered after early weakness on receipt of bullish weather advices.

American tobacco scored the best advance in the tobacco group, moving ahead smartly to new high with buying influenced by knowledge of the steady increase in earnings during recent months which ultimately is expected to influence splitting up of the shares. It was a report of early announcement of tobacco products dissolution plan, however, that attracted attention to the group as the reported plan of distributing three and three quarters United Cigar shares with $30 a share to holders of both "A" and "B" shares leaves wide speculative leeway at current market levels. Liggett & Myers was prominent in the advance, also, with further talk of the improvement in sales of its favored brands.

There was a total of 48 new highs registered with the pools working more vigorously than ever and all stock exchange firms reporting the "public" was taking stock as never before.

General Electric recapitalization talk was widespread with similar reports influencing further advance in Consolidated Gas and Brooklyn Edison. Splitting up of the latter two will take place ultimately but no such action is planned for the comparatively near future. Corn products was another to move to a new high with group work being accompanied by higher dividend talk. Schulte gained also with further rumors concerning planned retirement of the preferred.

Our courteous ad taker will receive your Classified Ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the following day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for the convenience of our patrons in transacting business over the telephone.
Classified Ad patrons desiring to have ads charged must have a telephone listed in their own name. No book record is made by the publishers on account of the great number of transactions, hence the necessity of collecting promptly.
Correction of errors in Classified Ads must be made before the second insertion. No allowance will be made for more than one incorrect insertion.
Cancellations and adjustments regarding errors should be telephoned to the Classified Ad Department between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.
Where ads are ordered and paid for no refunds are allowed where ads are cancelled before expiration date.
Closing Hours: Ads accepted for week days until 6 p. m. day before publication and for Sunday's issue until 7 p. m. Saturday night. Ads received later than above hours will appear under "Too Late to Classify."
Exceptions: Want Ads will be accepted over the telephone for all accepting the following classifications: Situations Wanted and Wanted to Rent. Ads for these classifications are cash with the order and will not be accepted over the telephone.
The Times reserves the right to classify all Classified Ads under the appropriate headings and to revise or to withhold from publication any ads deemed objectionable.

BEEMAN URGES P-T A SUPPORT

Waurika Honored by Business Council

Men of Wichita Falls are not cooperating with the Parent-Teacher association as they should, according to W. O. Beeman in a speech at the business council of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce Friday.

The idea that the boys and girls of Wichita Falls needed the active work and cooperation of their fathers as well as of their mothers was stressed by Mr. Beeman.

Nelson Speaker

R. A. Nelson, president of the Tuf Nut Garment Manufacturing company, followed Mr. Beeman's talk, with the statement that of all things the city should watch and work with, the children should come first.

Mr. Nelson thanked Wichita Falls for its cooperation and support in making a branch of the Tuf Nut company a possibility here.

G. A. McConnell, vice-president of the Tuf Nut company, emphasized Mr. Nelson's remarks and praised the activity of the chamber of commerce.

C. G. Morris, president of the Waurika chamber of commerce, told of the appreciation of his city for the friendship of Wichita Falls and said that Waurika wishes to cooperate in every possible way with this city in gaining good roads and other similar things of mutual benefit.

Joe T. Dillard of the Waurika delegation, said that Waurika would like to get on the proposed Petroleum Airline and in that way be closer than ever to this city.

Guests at Luncheon

The luncheon was named in honor of the Waurika delegation which included Mr. Morris, Mr. Dillard, Mayor Earl McCraw, E. B. Ellis, M. C. Groseclose, Mrs. Betty Gaines and Mrs. O. E. Heacock.

Three guests from Byers also were introduced. They were Leo Curtis, T. B. Harrison and Sam Householder.

Charles I. Francis, president of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce, welcomed the visitors, and told of the efforts of Wichita Falls to get good roads through to Waurika.

Hubert Harrison, manager of the chamber of commerce, told of the possibility of a revolving fund to encourage industries to come to Wichita Falls in much the same way the Tuf Nut company was brought here.

Site Purchased For Garment Plant Here

Three lots, one block from the Wichita county court house, were purchased by the Tuf Nut Garment Manufacturing company from J. B. Marlow Friday, according to announcements by R. A. Nelson, president of the company. The purchase price was not announced.

Contract will be let in the next ten days, and construction will be started as soon as possible thereafter. The building will be a two-story brick and mill building 75 by 150 feet, Mr. Nelson said.

Mr. Nelson said that J. W. Chatham, industrial an dtraffic manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, will be in charge of the operations in the immediate future after the departure of Mr. Nelson and also of George A. McConnell, vice-president and attorney of the company who is here.

Today At the Theaters

MISSION: "Drifting Sands," with Bob Steele. Fox newsreel. Comedy. On the stage, Rabbit Reed and Mullen's Musical Maids in musical comedy.

STRAND: Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer," on the Vitaphone. Talking motion pictures.

OLYMPIC: Last time Saturday: Evelyn Brent and George Bancroft in "The Showdown." Pathe news. Comedy.

MAJESTIC: Harold Lloyd in "Speedy." Topics of the day. Fables. Paramount news.

"The Showdown" is in its last day at the Olympic theater Saturday. This remarkable film has dramatic intensity such as is known to few pictures. It also has the advantage of offering a new star for Paramount in George Bancroft. While he is not a new actor to the silvers?eet, he is new as a star, and in "The Showdown" has registered in an excellent manner as a dramatic heavy lead.

◇ ◇ ◇

The record breaking run of "The Jazz Singer" on the vitaphone at the Strand theater will close Sunday night instead of Saturday night as announced in the Friday morning Record News. That allows just one more day for Wichitans to see and hear talking motion pictures for Monday the house will be dark. People from Chillicothe, Quanah, Waurika and many other cities in Oklahoma and Texas have come here for the expressed purpose of seeing the marvel pictures. Those who haven't been to the Strand should do it today for it will be too late.

The picture is one of the season's biggest. In New York City at the Rivoli theater they thought so much of it they placed the largest sign along theater row for it. It covered the entire length of the Rivoli building and ran from immediately above the box office to the roof. Two words, "Harold Lloyd," were all to be seen on the sign.

DEBATERS WIN STATE TITLE

Wichita Boys Victor In Arlington Meet

Robert Long and Seldon Hale, representing the Wichita Falls Junior college in debates at the state meet at Arlington, Texas, Friday won over Texas Military school in the finals to bring Wichita Falls Junior college its first debate championship.

In the first debate the Junior college team won over Weatherford on the affirmative. In the semi-finals they won over Weyland college, champions of last year, on the negative. In the final debate the Junior college team drew the negative and won over Texas Military school for the state championship and the Junior college loving cup.

Robert Long has been a resident of Wichita Falls for several years and is well known as a speaker and debater of exceptional merit. Seldon Hale is spending his first year in the Junior college, having come here from Archer City where he did notable work on the Archer City high school debating team.

Husband of Slain Film Extra Is Arrested

LOS ANGELES, April 13. (AP)—A secret investigation conducted by Alfred Daniels, wealthy New York City beauty parlor operator, into the supposed suicide of his daughter, St. Claire Evans, film extra, last June 4, in Hollywood today resulted in the arrest of Arthur S. Evans, surviving husband, on a charge of suspicion of murder.

Borrow Where the Paying Back Is Easier
For the protection of the funds of our patrons we must make sure of the good faith, the integrity, the security of those calling for a loan. But after having this established we make it wonderfully easy for the borrower to pay the money back through small monthly installments.
In fact, by our plan the borrower receives 6% interest on the money he reserves each month for paying the loan at maturity; and the interest is compounded twice a year. Naturally this makes the borrowing much more economical as well as easier. Come in and let us explain how nicely it works out.
