

MADE OF FOIL

Disposable Swimsuits

LONDON (AP) — The latest British fashion gimmick is a disposable beach outfit made of aluminum foil.

The outfit consists of a bikini swimsuit, a beach hat and a beach bag — all made of metallic paper and available in three shades: silver, bronze and gold. It makes its wearer virtually a walking-or-swimming-sun reflector.

Almost All Over

The idea seems to be that the birds who wrap themselves in foil outfits will turn into swinging beach chicks baked a golden brown all over — well, almost all over.

Designer Morton Almond, 32, explained: "I figured that swinging London was going disposable, so I dreamed up the disposable swimsuit."

A Daily Sketch columnist figured that meant that when the outfit is worn out, you can cook a joint of meat in it or use it to wrap sandwiches.

Tops Need Moulding

The hat — like a sou-wester — costs just under $1.12, the same as the beach bag; the bikini just under $1.40 — and the top needs moulding to fit the individual wearer.

The swimsuit can be worn at least three times, and it is guaranteed for two wearings.

But purchasers are warned to swim only in the silver bikini. The colors of the bronze and gold run in water.

Witness Holds Up

NAPLES (AP) — After five hours of intense cross-examination, white haired Dr. Milton Helsen stepped wearily off the witness stand Saturday, still insisting that Carmela Coppolino was killed with a drug injection.

"No more questions," defense attorney F. Lee Bailey called out after a long effort to get Helsen to say that in some hypothetical situation he might withdraw his opinion.

Charges Foundation

The findings of the 64-year-old New York City medical examiner — that an injection of the drug succinylcholine paralyzed and killed Carmela — is the foundation of the state's murder charge against her former husband, Dr. Carl Coppolino.

Otherwise, there is no known cause of death and no basis for the prosecution.

Under Bailey's barrage of questions Helsen said time and again that his own autopsy and chemical tests by his associate, Dr. Charles J. Umberger, showed poisoning as the only explanation for the death.

Two Harmless Components

When it is injected into the body, succinylcholine splits up quickly into two harmless components — succinic acid and choline.

Over and over again, Bailey demanded to know that if the two components found in Carmela's brain could be accounted for from some other source than an injection, "would you withdraw your opinion?"

"No," Helsen insisted.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

Most everything took a back seat to Thursday's big blast from the west. Gales, sustained at over 50 mph and with gusts near mile a minute, stirred countless thousands of tons of sand, overturned farm trailers, shucked fruit from trees, sand blasted tender vegetation, broke twigs and big limbs from trees, battered signs, broke some glass, and sifted into homes and business houses. It lasted only about eight hours, but it punished this area severely. There have been worse, said old timers — but not much worse.

Whatever benefit might have come from successive showers of .1 and .3 inch was more than undone by the big wind. A few fields which had been planted early were practically inundated by sand. Now, it will take a soaking rain all over the area before planting can be done. About the only thing on the plus side was the passing of danger of a frost. This date is just about the latest we ever had a freeze.

Oil developments were on the brighter side. Ray Albaugh No. 1 McDaniel, 22 miles southwest of Colorado City, was swabbing oil at the rate of about four barrels per hour from an unidentified

JURY RULES HE SHOULD DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Speck Found Guilty Of Mass Murder

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — A Circuit Court jury Saturday convicted Richard Speck, 25, a blond drifter, of massacring eight student nurses in Chicago last summer and recommended that he die in the electric chair.

Speck looked disinterested as the verdict, reached after only 49 minutes of deliberation, was read.

Public defender Gerald Getty said the verdict would be appealed.

Asked how Speck felt, Getty said, "To say that he is very disappointed is obviously an understatement. All he wants now is to see his family."

Motions will be heard in Peoria on Monday. Judge Herbert C. Paschen, the presiding judge, said Speck will not be sentenced for at least 30 days. Sentencing probably will be in Chicago, site of the eight murders, July 14, 1966.

Judge Paschen is not obligated by law to accept the recommendation of death.

The fathers of the victims, who were seated in two benches in the small courtroom, filed quickly and stoically out after the verdict was read.

Persons standing outside the second-floor courtroom screamed the "guilty" verdict down to teen-agers crowded on the first floor below. One teenager ran out the front door screaming, "He got it! He will burn!"

State's Atty. John Stamos of Cook County and the chief prosecutor, William J. Martin, sprinted out of a side entrance, somber expressions on their faces, and newsmen were not able to catch them for interviews.

Getty was the last principal to leave the courthouse. When asked where he had been, Getty replied soberly, "I have been with Richard."

"We will file an appeal if we are appointed by the court to do so."

LAST TO LEAVE
Getty, public defender of Cook County, is defending Speck without payment.

"Naturally, I am extremely disappointed in the verdict," added Getty, who has never lost a client to the electric chair in more than 400 cases.

"I did the best I could at the best level I could," he said.

There were seven men and five women on the jury, which took six weeks to select. A total of 612 veniremen were questioned before the panel was chosen.

Head prosecutor Martin told newsmen, "The enforcement of criminal law, especially in a capital case, is no reason for joy and rejoicing."

"We presented the evidence to the citizens of Peoria County and they did their duty."

The eight young women were found July 14, slashed and choked, their bodies strewn in pools of blood through four rooms of their town house dormitory on the South Side.

Corazon Amurao, a dark-eyed, doll-like nurse from the Philippines, escaped the methodical massacre by rolling under beds where she was concealed and forgotten.

42 WITNESSES

Martin, short, stocky, 30-year-old prosecutor, presented the state's case in eight days of precise testimony which chronologically paralleled Speck's activities the week of the murders. He called 42 witnesses.

Getty, 53, used only one day and 11 witnesses for his defense. He called Speck's mother, brother, five sisters and brother-in-law for brief appearances, then concluded his surprisingly brief defense with a man and wife who said they saw Speck in a restaurant at the time of the murders.

Murell Farmer and his wife, Gardena, a bartender and waitress at Kay's Pilot House, said Speck had a hamburger there shortly before midnight July 13. The state had contended Speck entered the townhouse at 11 p.m. July 13 and remained there until 3:30 a.m. July 14, during which time the girls were corralled, trussed and murdered.

Martin opened his case April 3 after six weeks of tedious jury selection proceedings.

Counter-Demonstrators

These counter-demonstrators advertised a different view in New York City Saturday as "peace" demonstrators marched through the city. One carries a sign urging bombing of

Hanoi, another urges support of American servicemen, and still another waves the American flag. (See more pictures on Page 6-A.) (AP WIREPHOTO)

Marines Have Started Work On Barrier To Block Invader

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines, though skeptical of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's arrangements for a little Maginot Line inland from the sea, bulldozed jungles Saturday in a companion project just south of the demilitarized zone.

The Leathernecks said that, acting on a South Vietnamese request, they are clearing an area seven miles long and a quarter-mile wide westward from their base at Gio Linh, two miles south of the demilitarized zone. They plan to string barbed wire, lay mines and set radar units reported able to detect the movement of human beings.

Proponents theorize that the cleared strip, like the barrier of bunkers, mines and wire that Ky announced the South Vietnamese will build to cover the 15 or 20 miles from the coast to the mountains, will make any direct invasion attempt from North Vietnam too costly.

Like the massive Maginot fortifications which failed France in World War II, however, the line could be outflanked. Most of the infiltration by North Vietnamese regulars across the demilitarized zone has been through the mountains rather than the coastal plain. U.S. Marines do the mountain fighting, Vietnamese troops man the plain.

Ky announced the long-debated project on a visit to Bien Hoa, a big military base 15 miles northeast of Saigon. He said about 20,000 civilians will be moved from the affected sector, in northeast Quang Tri Province, and resettled at a cost he estimated at $1,300,000. A Vietnamese engineering battalion is already at work on the barrier.

Meanwhile, the United States plans to tell its Southeast Asia allies this week that prospects for peace in Vietnam in the predictable future are now extremely dim.

President Johnson is continuing secret diplomatic efforts to draw North Vietnam into peace talks, officials report. But the hopes of success which dominated administration thinking earlier this year have now generally given way to forecasts of prolonged warfare.

The only exception to this generally gloomy view lies in belief that the Communist leadership might decide at some point, in view of heavy losses on the battlefield, to undertake negotiations as a means of seeking to slow down the U.S.-South Vietnamese military drive and political program as in South Vietnam.

Peace March Brings Out Big Throngs

Campus Has New Incident Fails To Rally Expected Crowds

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania State University reported Saturday the latest in a series of shootings, beatings, muggings and other incidents which have plagued campus life here this past week.

A Penn State spokesman gave this version of what happened:

Two 22-year-old Penn State seniors, one a male and the other a female, were in a parked car on a farm road near the university.

A black car pulled up in front of the parked auto and an occupant hurled a cherry bomb — a giant firecracker — at the auto, breaking the windshield.

The girl was cut slightly on the face by the shattered glass, the university reported.

The two seniors then gave pursuit and when the autos were speeding along Rt. 322, someone in the black car fired at the pursuing auto, the university reported. The shot missed.

The incidents began last week — on Thursday night — when a freshman was beaten and robbed of $10 by several men.

Then about 2 a.m. Monday, someone fired eight shots with what was believed to be a rifle at Cooper Hall, a women's dormitory. The shots broke four windows; no one was injured.

NEW YORK (AP) — Peace demonstrators from throughout the nation, in cadence to the bongo drum and the cry of "black power," marched Saturday in massive East and West Coast protests against the Vietnam war. But they failed to rally the throngs they had aimed for.

FEWER SHOW UP

An estimated 70,000 took part in the New York demonstration, less than the 100,000 the sponsors had predicted and far below the 400,000 the police were prepared for. A similar San Francisco rally had a total of 100,000.

Midtown Manhattan streets and avenues were clogged with marchers, who roamed beyond the control of police en route to the United Nations headquarters, there to hear Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. voice a repeated demand to "stop the bombing."

There were draft card burnings in New York's Central Park, and some of the marchers shouted in defiance of the draft, "Hell no, we won't go!"

BURN CARDS

As about 15 men, one in clerical garb, tossed draft cards into a flaming coffee can, onlookers chanted, "Burn, baby, burn."

the slogan of the Watts Negro rioters in Los Angeles in 1965.

In Washington, Rep. Joe Pool, D-Texas, a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, charged that the antiwar demonstrators sought to create another "Watts incident."

"At the first sight of such a Watts-type movement," he declared in a statement, "Gov. Nelson Rockefeller should call out the National Guard troops with fixed bayonets, machine guns and tanks to protect private citizens and their property from this Communist-inspired attack on the streets of New York."

COUNTERACTION

The demonstrators engendered counteraction as their parade proceeded. A milk carton filled with white paint was hurled from a window in Manhattan. Amid the crowd in Central Park, a counterdemonstrator paraded with an American flag and warned:

"If they burn this flag, there's going to be a murder because they'll have to burn me too."

In the antiwar ranks in New York were Negro civil rights advocates and Negro extremists, some wearing steel helmets with the inscription "Mau Mau."

Some of the demonstrators were bearded male beatniks, accompanied by girls in dungarees. Many carried knapsacks and bedrolls.

SMITH, BARNES AGREE ON CLOSING DOWN TIME

No Special Session Predicted

By JACK KEEVER
AUSTIN (AP) — Texas lawmakers should be home, finished with the 60th legislature, in time for their kids' summer vacation, say two top legislative leaders.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Speaker Ben Barnes, who have disagreed on lots of things, agree there is no need for a special session.

OWN IDEAS
But the two presiding officers, who may oppose each other some day for governor, have their own ideas about what work should be completed between now and the end of the 140-day regular session, May 29.

Barnes, Gov. John Connally's young political protegee, wants the legislature to enact as much of the governor's program as possible.

Smith, who has waited patiently for Connally to quit the governor's job so he can run, ignores most of the governor's program in his assessment of what has to be done so legislators can go home.

WASTED
He insisted, in a recent interview, that the failure of the House Appropriations Committee to bring out its 1968-69 spending bill "has wasted two weeks" and appears to be "the major stumbling block to finishing on time."

"So far as the real needs of the people are concerned, there are only three pending matters which need to be solved—reapportioning the House of Representatives and congressional districts, appropriations bill and a tax bill if it is determined one is necessary," said Smith. "There is no reason why, if the Senate and House apply themselves, we shouldn't finish those," he said. "There is plenty of time."

BEEN SLOW
"I can't understand why the House has been so slow about getting their bill out. The Senate has been sitting patiently, waiting for them."

Rep. W. S. Healy of Paducah, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, says it probably will be toward the end of the week before the House bill comes out.

Smith said he did not expect the Senate to take up its version of the appropriations bill, approved April 3 for floor debate, until senators get a look at what the House was recommending.

SENATE BILL
The Senate bill calls for $846.8 million from general revenue, the state's major checking account. The House bill is expected to call for some $911.5 million, which Connally wants.

"Senators should have a chance to look at the House bill, just as they have looked and analyzed ours," said Smith. "Ours has been called a political bill, unrealistic, but the bill expends $229 million more from general revenue than in any previous two-year period."

LIKES BILL
Smith said he likes the appropriations bill as it is written by the Senate, but added that he thought the conference committee which generally works out the final version, should look at proposals for schools of social work in Houston and Arlington and possible purchase of the James Connally Technical Institute at Waco. "There's a lot of merit in these," he said. Dimming hopes for passage of some of Connally's program in the Senate, Smith said, "I don't want to permit legislation to come up that will tie up the Senate in filibusters in the closing weeks." That could apply to the consumer credit code, traffic safety, annual sessions, constitutional revision and four-year terms for governors, all proposed by Connally.

NOT VITAL
"We can live without four-year terms," said Smith. "I don't want the Senate tied up on something that's not vital to the people."

Barnes, who wants the House to act on all major bills except taxes, appropriations and redistricting before May 1, says, "I see no reason for a special session."

His list of 10 top legislative items include the major suggestions made by Connally which also include industrial safety and changes in unemployment compensation.

He obviously thinks the remaining workload is heavier than Smith estimates, and said he planned to ask Smith's help on annual sessions. "Even though he is opposed to it, I hope he will give us a fair run," Barnes said in a recent interview.

COMMUNICATIONS
Barnes has urged his committee chairmen to get the bills out on the floor, promised to pass Senate bills that make it to the House and says "I am convinced I have to go the extra mile to make sure communications are open between the House and Senate and executive branch."

The same day he made that statement Barnes visited Smith twice while the Senate was in session and was asked by a reporter, "Are the lines of communication open?" Barnes smiled and walked out of the chamber.

ABILENE — A busy schedule is in store for Hardin-Simmons' Founders' Day program on Monday.

The 75th Anniversary Celebration, launched last Founders' Day, will officially end with the program which will center attention on early day supporters and alumni over the years.

The feature of the day will be a 10 a.m. program in Behrens Chapel with Dr. William E. King, Abilene, president of the alumni association, in charge.

Dr. Elwin L. Skiles, H-SU president, will make medalion presentations to graduates of the school who finished 50 years ago or earlier. Among those due special recognition will be Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, president emeritus and senior professor of history, who is marking his 50th year with H-SU.

Truett Latimer, executive director of the Texas Historical Survey Committee, Austin, will be present to participate in the presentation of a historical marker for the H-SU campus.

Two groups of supporters will be convening on the campus in conjunction with Founders' Day. They are the board of development and the board of young associates.

MURDER TRIAL STARTS MONDAY
CORSIKANA, Tex. (AP)—The trial of Ronald Wilhelm, 23, of San Antonio, one of three men accused of killing a Breckenridge service station attendant, is expected to start here Monday.

A jury in Graham assessed the death penalty against Claude Edwards in January in the same slaying, that of Clarence Swain, 51, whose riddled body was found July 4, 1966. The body was in a plowed field near Breckenridge. Swain had been shot 10 times.

KEITH HILLMAN

Lakeview Y Now Half-Way

The Lakeview YMCA member drive has reached the half-way mark, according to Sam Dawson, director, and he estimates it will take another big step when a large number of pledges are paid.

Keith Hillman, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Hillman, has been selected the outstanding student in the Lakeview Day Nursery, one of the services provided by the YMCA facility. He is the youngest student ever enrolled in the nursery, and has already accomplished the feat of leading the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag each day.

Donations from businessmen have totaled $75 in the campaign thus far, Dawson said. In addition, about 50 families have made pledges, which have not yet been collected.

The drive will continue through this month.

First Buyer Of Cotton Due To Make Collection

LUBBOCK — The 20-member Cotton Board has adopted tentative regulations to govern the collection of $1 a bale from U.S. producers to finance a cotton research and promotion program, designating the first buyer as the collector of the assessment.

Regulations will not become final until interested parties have had an opportunity to file views and comments and the Secretary of Agriculture gives final approval.

Comments must be filed by April 24 with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

The collecting handler, or first buyer, is described in the proposed rules as any person who purchases a bale of cotton from a producer.

The collecting handler will be the ASCS County Office when cotton is tendered to Commodity Credit Corporation for Form A loan except when another person such as a marketing cooperative advances the loan value to the producer, in which case the collection responsibility rests with that other person.

These first buyers, as described, will remit their collections to the Cotton Board twice a month along with a report for the period. A separate report will be required of the buyer on cotton from each gin, bearing the gin code number and listing the names and addresses of all producers from whom collections were made.

The ginners' involvement in the procedure, except when he is also the buyer, is limited to in-season reports and a final report at the end of the season. During active ginning operations, each gin will report to the Cotton Board the cumulative number of bales ginned as of the close of business on July 31, August 15, August 31, September 15, September 30, October 17, October 31, November 13, November 30, December 12, January 15 and February 28.

Within 10 days following the end of its ginning operations each season, but in no event later than Feb. 28, ginners will report an alphabetical list of producer names, addresses, and the number of bales ginned for each.

These reports, too, will carry the gin code number, and will presumably be used as a control check against first buyer reports.

Gas Price Hike Asked

DALLAS — The petroleum industry must realize more revenue from gasoline in order to support needed exploration for additional United States oil reserves, R. I. Galland, president of American Petrofina of Texas, told the annual meeting of the Texas Oil Jobbers' Association Saturday. More than 900 petroleum jobbers are meeting here.

Citing the suggestion of an industry economist that a four cents per gallon increase would be logical to finance the needed discoveries, Galland said such an increase would raise the cost of owning and operating a car by only two per cent.

"The threat to a higher price for gasoline is not the government," Galland said in referring to the efforts of the Interior Department to roll-back the recent one-cent increase. "The threat lies within the marketing group itself, and is rooted in the financial weakness of the average retailer."

In citing six reasons why the oil industry stands at a critical position:

1) energy use is expanding at a staggering rate, 2) oil must provide the vast majority of added energy requirements, 3) national policy demands the increase be provided from the domestic oil sources, 4) higher capital expenditures are needed, 5) additional funds must be generated from refined product sales, and 6) gasoline will yield the greatest revenue from the least unit price increase.

These reports, too, will carry the gin code number, and will presumably be used as a control check against first buyer reports.

Aggie Muster Is Scheduled For April 21

Former students of Texas A&M who live in Big Spring will gather at the Big Spring Country Club on April 21 for the traditional Aggie Muster.

The affair will start at 7 p.m., and Alton Marwitz, president of the local A&M Club is urging a turnout of all Aggies.

The San Jacinto Day muster is a tradition of the school dating back 65 years. It is the occasion when Aggies of earlier years pay homage to fellow classmates who have passed on, and also pay tribute to the Texans who accomplished the freedom of Texas in the battle of San Jacinto on April 21, 1836.

The Big Spring muster will be one of more than 300 similar ceremonies held throughout the world, wherever a group of A&M can gather.

National Library Week To Be Observed Here

Today begins observation of National Library Week, not only in Big Spring, but over the state and nation.

Locally, those who are closely associated with libraries are laying stress alike on the benefits to be derived from wider use of the library facilities of the community but likewise on the many libraries in the community.

Most people think of libraries as limited to the Howard County Free Library, the Howard County Junior College Library and the library at the Big Spring High School, Mrs. Opa McDaniel, Howard County librarian, points out. "These are not all of the libraries we have in Big Spring and Howard County," she notes.

There are large number of other libraries, many of important size and usefulness. One such is the effective library to be found in the VA hospital; another is the big library facility at Webb AFB.

Most of the elementary schools have libraries, Mrs. McDaniel notes, and others are adding libraries. Both junior high schools boast excellent libraries.

The Big Spring State Hospital has a fine library for the use of its patients and staff. One of the more attractive libraries in the city is to be found in the Malone and Hogan Clinic.

In addition to these libraries, there are several churches which maintain libraries of impressive size and which are in heavy use by the church members and their friends.

One library which rates as exceptionally fine, and which, although its clientele is limited, is usually busy, is the Howard County Law Library. This facility is to be found on the third floor of the Howard County courthouse. It is financed by fees collected when a civil lawsuit is filed in the courts.

This library has grown until it is now taxing the room allotted to it.

Mrs. McDaniel points out that there are many men and women in Big Spring who are engaged in the duties and work of librarians. In addition, there are numerous volunteers who render yeoman aid in keeping the libraries functioning efficiently.

The importance of this service to the people of the county is difficult to overvalue.

There are 34 Texas counties which have no libraries at all. There are 50 cities with public libraries which are open only one day a week.

Texas ranks 27th in the nation in per capita expenditures for libraries — an average of 84 cents per year. If the state had the barest minimum of one book per person, Texas would have to add 3,000,000 volumes.

A comprehensive program is being mapped by the county's libraries to stress the week and to emphasize the quite generous abundance of library facilities in this county.

Recognition is planned for the men and women who serve as librarians in the heavily used, but little publicized, libraries. Services will also be laid on the services which are available without cost at the city and county libraries.

REV. J. M. MINNICK

One Texas Railroad Had No Rails, One Ran 3 Years Late

By ED SYERS

For recent OBT train-watcher's questions, here are a pair of railroad record breakers: a 100-mile-long right of way without cross-tie or track, and a locomotive that took three years to reach its destined depot. Extracting Reed's "History of Texas Railroads," San Antonio's Rod Varney of Texas Transportation Museum recalls "Tillman's Lane" — a strange Hill Country line of a half century ago. First, some background. By 1911, 25 years of off-and-on building had pushed a Frisco subsidiary, the Fort Worth and Rio Grande, south far as Menard, aimed for Kerrville with feeders to the cattle country hills about, which still were devoid of transportation.

RAIL—LESS ROAD

"The F.W.&R.G. struggled to serve counties like Sutton, Kerr, Edwards, Mason, Kimble and Schleicher. Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, and Texas & Pacific were tough competition. A line from Menard south just seemed a loser. So Frisco's stock agent, E. F. Tillman, came up with an idea.

"He fenced a lane from Sonora to Brady, 100 miles long, 250 feet wide, with holding pastures, wells and windmills. He bought 'right-of-way' from a dozen ranches. He had $60,000 invested, not a foot of track, and opened up.

In the black! Down Tillman's Lane? The cattle, up to 50,000 at a time. For 10 years, into the 'twenties, that beef — walking, rail-less road paid. By then, the Santa Fe pushed to Sonora from San Anton. But in the meantime, Tillman had himself a cattlemen's railroad.

Two other San Antonians, Sidney Langhart and Sam King, tell of the old shore — hugging Gulf and Interstate — Beaumont to Port Bolivar (across from Galveston) and the 80-mile, three-year journey of Train No. 1.

"The G.&I. went out behind Engine No. 4, the morning of Sept. 8, 1900. Down to High Island it rolled, then along the coast . . . straight into the eye of the terrible Galveston hurricane. Eleven miles short of Port Bolivar, wave and wind buried

THREE YEARS LATE

"Three years later, funds were found to dig out the train, repair track. Back to Beaumont went Engine 4 for repairs. Then the resolute road announced that any tickets not punched before the end of the 1900 run . . . well, they'd be honored. Several of the surviving passengers made the trip.

"On the morning of Sept. 23, 1903," says Railroader King, "Train No. 1 pulled into Galveston, three years, 16 days and 10 minutes late."

Sidney Langhart (227 Twillight Terrace) is secretary of the San Antonio Chapter, National Railway Historical Society, wants railroad lore of Texas and the Southwest . . . will swap. (When you get a real good one, ticket OBT?)

AERIAL DOGFIGHT

Confederate Air Force Commander Col. Jethro E. Culpeper and his patriot airmen have built from scratch, at the Valley's Mercedes, likely the rarest collection of flight-ready, willing-and-able World War II aircraft anywhere.

Comes now a Culpeper directive that this summer's English-filmed "Battle of Britain," rematching Messerschmidt and Spitfire, will find five Confederate pilots dogfighting: one Spitfire, four ME-109s. Spanish skies are the theater. With that behind, says Col. Jethro, CAF plans more toward settling the best — fighter-argument: "By winter of 1967, the skies above Rebel Field should see the Spitfire, ME-109, and P-51 Mustang in one helluva dog-fight."

Employees Of N.M. Drilling Concern Approve Union

Employees of McVay Drilling Company of Hobbs, N. M., voted April 13 by a two-to-one margin for the International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL-CIO) to be their bargaining agent, according to Local 826 headquarters here.

The election, said the announcement was a re-run of an earlier one which prompted the union to file charges with the National Labor Relations Board. Later the NLRB issued a complaint, but a formal hearing was not conducted when both parties agreed to a second election. This was the first election held in the union's organizing campaign of drilling crews since last August. Local 826 officials said 25 petitions for elections are pending, but action is expected soon.

Dear Abby Young Man Must Want Help

DEAR ABBY: What does one do when he knows for a fact that his son is smoking "pot" and experimenting with L.S.D.?

He is 21 and lives and works in another city, but he writes home regularly and visits when possible.

He has always been a "good" boy but he refuses to listen to reason on this subject. I am so afraid he will get caught and ruin his future by having this on his record.

Please tell me how his mother and I can help him. Print your reply as I do not want to sign my name. HIS FATHER

DEAR FATHER: Level with your son, and without threats and recriminations, let him know that you are aware of his activities and stand willing to help him.

A young man who will not "listen" must consent to listen if he is to be helped. He must be made aware that while smoking "pot" may appear harmless, it almost always leads to drug addiction when the effect of "pot" loses his kick—which it surely will. And L.S.D. is equally, if not more dangerous. If he still refuses to listen, he is sunk. There is no help for the one who will not help himself.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a young man who says he loves me and wants to marry me, but there is one problem.

When we are with people, he talks and talks and never shuts up. And when we are alone together, he talks all the time, too. He never listens to anybody. Sometimes he will ask me a question and he won't even wait for an answer—he answers it himself.

He is too good a catch to just get rid of. Is there any way I can break him of this terrible habit? FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: My advice is to forget this "good catch." Talking all the time, and refusing to listen, is more than a "habit" — it's a symptom of selfishness. So don't marry him unless you want to wind up talking to yourself for the rest of your life.

DEAR ABBY: Last Sunday the crowd I run around with wanted me to go to a show, but I had to go with my family to visit my aunt and her three screaming kids.

Why do parents force their children to go visit relatives? It's boring. They keep telling you that your "youth" is the best part of your life, then they make you miserable dragging you to places you don't want to go. Can't they realize that when a girl is 16 she just isn't happy going to visit relatives all the time? BORED AT 16

DEAR BORED: Children, even 16-year-olds, should not be forced to attend all the aunts' uncles' and cousins' get-togethers. But neither should they be excused from all such visits because they are "bored." If you must go — go, with a smile on your face. And make up your mind you're going to have a good time. And who knows? You may even have one.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

School Musicians Plan Tours, Then Concerts

By WINNIE UNGER

The Big Spring High School's young musicians anticipate a busy schedule as they prepare to go on tour Wednesday and Thursday, April 26-27. About 60 choir members plan to depart April 26 on their tour of northern New Mexico, and about 100 bandmen will leave the following day for the Buccaneer Music Festival in Corpus Christi. After the six-day tour is ended, they'll probably begin rehearsing for their spring concert scheduled May 11-12.

Little Theatre trypouts for the six women and six men needed in "A Streetcar Named Desire" will be held Sunday, 3 p.m., and Monday, 8 p.m., at the Prairie Playhouse in City Park. All interested in participating, either as actors or backstage help, are urged to come out. Mrs. Joyce Sandner will be director, and Mrs. Jeff Randall and Clark Frayser, producers.

The gallery of the Midland County Public Library currently is showing a collection of paintings, lithography and serigraphy by Helen Green Blumenschein of Taos, N. M.

Blumenschein studied at the Art Students League in New York City, and spent 2½ years in Paris art training. She has received wide recognition nationally and has exhibited in Venice, Italy and Sweden. The exhibit will be open during gallery hours through April 26.

Today is the last day to see the 20 paintings by Fred Harman, western artist, which are on display at Alicean's Art Gallery, 116 Vaughn Building in Midland. Harman is best known for his Red Ryder cartoon strip.

Colorado City's Brush & Palette Club is holding its membership exhibit today between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. in Civic House, and visitors are welcome.

This afternoon's fine music program over KFNE at 3 p.m. offers Beethoven's "Symphony No. 8 in F Major, Opus 93," and a one-act opera, "Bluebeard's Castle," by Bartok. Mezzo-soprano Regina Resnik and bass Arnold Volkeltitis perform the only singing characters, Bluebeard and his last wife, Judith.

The Texas Fine Arts Association Region 29 exhibition in Lubbock, which will be on display at Municipal Garden and Arts Center through Wednesday, announced John W. Rainey III of Levelland as its top winner. Dr. Clarence Kincaid and Conny Martin, both of Lubbock, won second and third.

Two other art shows of particular interest opened last week in Lubbock. One, in the La Ventana Room of Altura Towers, 1617 28th St., is a collection of contemporary paintings by South American and European artists, some Nepalese and Tibetan bronze figures and Japanese wood block prints. The collection is on loan from the Kiko galleries of Houston.

The other show at Regency Galleries, 1811 13th St., features works in various media by contemporary Japanese artists.

The H. J. Russell Fine Arts Foundation of Midland presents the eighth lecture in its art appreciation-history series today at 2:15-4 p.m. in the Community Room, Commercial Bank & Trust Co. Arnold Leondar is producer and lecturer of the series. Today's phase is entitled "Art and the Civil War." No admission is charged, and the public is invited.

The Southwest Annual Art Exhibition, which begins registration April 11-20 at the Museum of the Southwest in Midland, will be juried by Richard Allen Madigan, a graduate of Drew University, Madison, N. J. He is director of the North Texas Museums Resources Council, a new 10-county educational program at Amon Carter Museum in Fort Worth.

Ruth Tears, Dallas artist, will be guest instructor for the Adult Paintings Workshop to be held June 5-16 at Municipal Garden and Arts Center, sponsored by Lubbock Art Association. Information may be obtained from Mary June Holton, committee director.

Big Spring Art Association has received more prize money and merchandise from local businesses for the Region 18 TFAA Citation Exhibition, beginning April 21 at First Federal Savings and Loan building. Latest boosters include Chub Jones, W. D. Can you afford to let another year go by?

Cadillac is by far the soundest automotive investment in the world. Some of Cadillac's twelve models cost less than the corresponding models of other fine cars. And, in a surprising number of cases, they cost little more than cars in the middle-price range. One reason is that Cadillac is gifted with a wide variety of equipment that would cost extra on lesser cars. A Cadillac price sticker is always worthy of careful study. Then, there is the matter of resale. It is a very real fact that Cadillac craftsmanship is an irresistible attraction to those who buy previously owned.

Cadillacs year after year. This enables a person who buys a new Cadillac to drive his car for substantially less than many well-known makes over a one, two, or three year span. And, of course, Cadillac ownership offers satisfactions that cannot be measured in terms of cost. For how can you price its wonderful and relaxing quiet? Or its rewarding comfort? Or its incredibly smooth ride? So don't let another year go by without appreciating Cadillac price, Cadillac comfort, Cadillac performance and Cadillac value. Ask your authorized dealer for a demonstration.

Sinclair Employee Takes Retirement

There are three important days in April for Charles C. Barnes, Colorado City. First of these for the veteran Sinclair Oil and Gas Company production department unit operator, fell on Saturday. It was just 45 years ago April 15 that Barnes began work with Sinclair.

CHARLES C. BARNES

The second — and perhaps most important — April date on Barnes' personal calendar is April 28. On that day, he will officially retire and get all set to catch up on visiting his grand kids, doing some fishing and taking it easy after nearly a half century of steady work.

And the third April date of significance to Barnes is April 29. That is his 65th birthday.

All three days are — or were — duly noted by the Barnes family.

TO COAHOMA AREA
Although Mr. and Mrs. Barnes live in Colorado City, his work for the past 29 years has been in the Coahoma area. He became unit manager at Coahoma in 1942.

His fellow workers likely will "throw a party" of some kind for him on April 28 to mark the end of his active career with Sinclair. "I suppose it will be in Big Spring," said Barnes.

"You can't stay 45 years on a job and not remember the anniversary dates," Barnes noted. The company also had a notation about it. They sent out press releases calling attention to the Colorado City man's long career with the company.

"I TOOK IT"
He said that in 1922, he needed a job and Sinclair had one open as a truck driver. "I took it," he said, "and I was glad to get it." That was on April 15.

From Tulsa, where he was hired, he was sent to the oil fields at Slick and at Bristow in the Sooner state. Later he was transferred to the East Texas oil fields where he operated a company machine shop for nine years.

Prior to joining Sinclair in 1922, Barnes had served with the coast artillery in World War I.

He and Mrs. Barnes live at 405 E. 13th street in Colorado City. They have made their home there since he was transferred to the Coahoma fields.

They have one son, the Rev. James F. Barnes, Indianapolis, Ind., two daughters, Mrs. Betty Hale, Loraine, and Mrs. Marcia Jones, Loudonville, N.Y.

The Barnes are members of the Baptist church and he is affiliated with Lodge No. 563 AF&AM, Colorado City.

State Hospital Plans Programs On Mental Health

To better acquaint the public with the progress being made in the field of mental health and the facilities available, the first week in May has been set aside as National Mental Health Week.

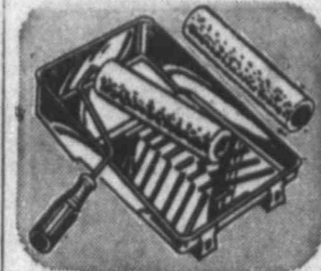

Big Spring State Hospital will host several Big Spring, Stanton, and Lamesa civic clubs at their luncheons. Each day at noon during the period May 1-5, a program presented by the patients and staff will permit visitors to see the changing picture of treatment of mental illness.

Entertainment, information, and an educational film will portray the parts played in the over-all treatment plan. After 1 p.m., a tour will be arranged for those desiring to visit some of the patient units.

Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the hospital, has invited many clubs to attend, and those organizations that have not received a letter are asked to contact the hospital (Extension 300) before April 25.

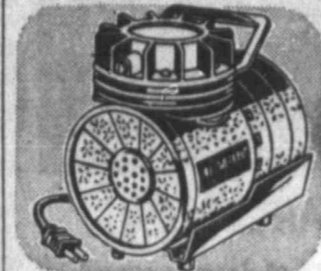

Motion Denied

The 11th District Court of Civil Appeals has dismissed a motion to the jurisdiction of L. F. Jamison in the appeals case of J. R. Hanson versus Otis Pelham et al. The case originated in Dawson County. The court also received the appeal of two cases from Howard County, Travelers Insurance Company versus M. A. Hampton and Travelers versus Mike Y. Munoa.

DEATHS

Dr. Irineo B. Bringas, VA Hospital Staffer

Funeral services for Dr. Irineo B. Bringas, member of the Veterans Administration Hospital staff, will be held at 3 p.m. today at the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. The Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate, assisted by VA Chaplain C. O. Hitt. The body will be flown Monday to Los Angeles, Calif., and interment will be held, possibly Wednesday, at Westminister, Calif., in Westminister Memorial Park.

Dr. Bringas died at 11:30 a.m. Friday at the Veterans Administration Hospital about an hour after he complained of not feeling well and asked to be taken to the hospital. He had experienced a mild heart flury a few months ago.

Born

Dec. 15, 1900, in the Philippine Isles, he came to the United States as a youth with only $100 his father had scraped and saved. Working at any job he could find to sustain himself, he managed to get his high school diploma from the academy of Drake University, went to the University of Chicago for his pre-med courses, then to the University of Nebraska Medical school because it offered a specialty in tropical medicine. Following his graduation in 1927, he interned at Saginaw (Mich.) General Hospital, then entered practice at Indiana Harbor, and Gary, Ind.

Dr. Bringas returned to the Philippines in 1931 to practice. On Oct. 27, 1935, he married Miss Violet Varian, head nurse at the Baguio General Hospital. Later he opened a clinic at Bangued, Abra, where he did general practice and surgery.

In 1941, Dr. Bringas entered the U.S. Army Medical Corps and was appointed regimental surgeon in Northern Luzon. He was in the Battle of Bataan and after the war, he went on reserve status with the Army and returned to private practice in 1946. Dr. Bringas came back to the mainland in 1952 and did residency in St. Joseph Hospital.

He joined the United States Steel Corporation in Gary, Ind., and served as surgeon for nine years. While visiting his son, who was in service at Ft. Bliss in 1963, Dr. Bringas decided to retire and move to El Paso because of the climate. However, a year of inactivity left him restless, so he joined the medical staff of the VA hospital in Big Spring in February of 1964.

Dr. Bringas was a member of the American Medical Association, and of the First Methodist Church in Big Spring. Surviving are his wife, Violet; two sons, Arthur V. Bringas, El Paso, and Irineo B. Bringas Jr., Gary, Ind.; four grandchildren; one brother, Thomas Bringas, Roselle, Ill.; and three sisters, Mrs. Isidora B. Blanco, Mrs. Genevieve B. Braga, and Mrs. Emilia Gatchalian, all of the Philippines.

Mrs. Val Verde, Long Illness

Mrs. Savina Val Verde, 47, died Saturday morning in a local hospital after an illness of one year.

Rosary will be said at 8 p.m. Sunday and funeral will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in St. Thomas Catholic Church, with Rev. Leo J. F. St. John officiating. Interment will be in City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Childress, Former Resident

Mrs. Frances Tompkins Childress, 86, a former long-time resident of Big Spring, died last Monday night in a San Gabriel, Calif. hospital after a lengthy illness.

Funeral was held Thursday in the Hillside Chapel in Rose Hills Cemetery at Whittier, Calif.

Mrs. Childress, widow of Leon Allen Childress, was born March 8, 1881 in Murphreesboro, Tenn. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Ella McLeod, Franklin; two sons, Harvey A. Childress, San Diego, and Raymond R. Childress, Atascadero, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Mabel Brown, Rosemead, Calif.; seven grandchildren, including Mrs. Martha Beck, San Dimas, Calif., formerly of Big Spring; 17 great-grandchildren; and one great-granddaughter.

DR. I. B. BRINGAS

Mrs. Williams, Lamesa Resident

LAMESA (SC) — Mrs. Minnie E. Williams, 72, died in a local hospital at 4 p.m. Friday following surgery.

She was born May 21, 1894 in San Saba, and moved to Dawson County 21 years ago from Seymour. She was a Baptist.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church, with Dr. George Worrell officiating. Interment will be in Lamesa Memorial Park under direction of Branon-Phillips Funeral Home. Nephews will be pallbearers.

She is survived by two brothers, A. L. Lindsey, Brownwood, and John Lindsey, Fort Worth; and several nieces and nephews.

Bandsmen Look Ahead

The 107 bandsmen of Big Spring High School have turned their sights on their projected concert at Corpus Christi April 27, following the Interscholastic High School in Odessa Saturday League contests at Permian High School in Odessa Saturday.

Hopes for another sweepstakes trophy, to go with those won during the past five years, were dashed when judges rated the local band second in concert and third in sight reading.

The judges had words of praise for the band's concert work, calling it a very good performance. The band played "Aguero" by Franco and the "American Overture for Band" by Jenkins, including Holst's "Second Suite in F."

In the sight reading competition, the judges stated the Big Spring band had good direction and played quite musically, but the difficult key changes added to uncommon rhythms proved a difficult step. In the contest, the band is given a selection it has not previously seen, and asked to play after six minutes study.

The band placed first division in the marching contest last October and received this trophy.

IN NEW YORK, 70,000 MARCHED

Flower-carrying hippies, itinerants who espouse bizarre garb and communal living, swarmed into the streets of New York City and San Francisco, Calif. Saturday in parades to dramatize their protests of the Vietnam war. The California marchers walked five miles to Kezar Stadium for a "peace rally."

IN SAN FRANCISCO, 100,000 MARCHED

The New Yorkers walked from Central Park to the U.N. building to hear Martin Luther King. Draft card burners provided some highlights, using a chant from the Watts riots, "Burn Baby Burn." Counter-demonstrators turned up too, but they did not receive the wide attention given the beatniks and card-burners. There were few reports of damage caused by the huge crowds on either coast, nor of any injuries. (AP WIREPHOTOS)

David Roberson Will Take County Colors To Lubbock

By SAM BLACKBURN

Goliad Junior High School's spelling champion, David Roberson, took the Howard County championship Saturday morning and brought the coveted county spelling title to his school for the second successive time in four years.

David, showing exceptional poise, spelled his way through the rounds until only he and Susan Sulak, the champion of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School, remained in the field.

FALTERED

Susan faltered on the word "precede" — the 168th word that Mrs. O. T. Brewster, the pronouncer used — and David successfully spelled it. He then clinched his title by spelling "preliminary."

The Fifth Annual County Bee, attended by a throng of teachers and parents packed the vocational agriculture class room in the high school to capacity, brought out what observers said was the best speller ever to compete in a county bee.

An exciting episode was provided by tiny Marianne McLaughlin, 11, a fifth grader from St. Mary's Episcopal School. She is the sister of Scott McLaughlin, who last year was county champion and came out fifth at the regional bee in Lubbock.

Marianne, showing remarkable spelling ability, stayed until only David, Susan and herself remained. In the 13th round, she fumbled on "mischievous" but came in a strong third and looms large as a possible 1968 champion.

MORE SKILLED

Mrs. Brewster, who was the pronouncer in 1966, said the spellers showed more skill and endurance this year. Last year, the title was determined on the 156th word.

The exciting feature of Saturday's bee was the upsurge of the two church schools — one providing the runner-up and the other the third place speller.

Young David is the son of Capt. and Mrs. John H. Roberson, 4006 Dixon. He is a seventh grader in Goliad Junior High School and is 13-years-old.

Miss Sulak is an eighth grader at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School. She was her school champion in 1966 and repeated this year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Sulak, 4200 Parkway Road and is 13 years old.

Marianne, the pride of St. Mary's Episcopal School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, 112 Cedar. "We're starting all over again," exclaimed Mrs. McLaughlin. She was referring to the previous bids of Scott, their older son, last year's county champion.

FREE TRIP

David gets a free trip to Lubbock April 29 and a chance to compete in the regional spelling bee against the champions of 21 West Texas counties. He also received a plaque which will be engraved with his name and becomes a permanent memento of his achievement.

Miss Sulak was presented with a dictionary.

Judges for the event were Roger Brown, Col. George Franks and Bill Johnson. Walker Bailey, former county school superintendent, who has served in the same capacity for the four previous years. The Herald has sponsored the bee, served as master of ceremonies again.

First speller to drop out of the bee was youthful Michael Barbee, 9. He was the champion from Midway School and fell out of the contest in the third round of words.

10th ROUND
Mary Lou Brown, who was last year's runner-up and who has been champion of her schools for four years, went out in the 10th round when she misspelled "embarrassment." She was the Rannels champion this year and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Brown, of Gay Hill.

The 18 alternates — who placed second in their own schools' competition — were introduced. The school champions were presented with purple ribbons and special pins.

Should David win at the regional bee in Lubbock, as did Don Hickson, Big Spring, in 1965, he would get a free trip to Washington, D. C. and a chance to try for the national title.

The schools and their champions are:

- College Heights — David Smith, 12.
- Bauer — Uvaldo Lopez, 11.
- Boydston — Julia Evans, 11.
- St. Mary's Episcopal — Marianne McLaughlin, 11.

Minor Wrecks Are Checked

Five minor accidents occurred Friday and early Saturday but no one was injured.

The parked car of Matilda Rodriguez, Midland, was struck by the parked car, which rolled back, of Clarence Shaw, 1007 NW 4th. Patsy Edens, Route 2, and Joe Smith, Route 1, collided at 400 Main Street. Danetta Richardson Williams, 1465 Bluebird, and Michael Mackie O'Brian, Box 1709, collided at Old US 80 and West Fourth. Albert Dean Forrest, 1813 Benton, and Leroy Todd, Gail Route, crashed at Second and Gregg.

A three car collision involved the cars of Harlan Ray Womack, San Angelo, Gerald George Siegert, Webb AFB, and James O. Peter Sille, Webb AFB at Second and Gregg.

Runnels Star In Front

Roman Ramirez of Big Spring Runnels is shown winning his heat in the ninth grade division of the 660-yard run in Saturday's Optimist Junior High Relays at Memorial Stadium. Runnels, Lincoln Share JH Crowns

Big Spring Runnels and Abilene Lincoln shared team honors in the annual Big Spring Optimist Club Junior High Relays here Saturday.

The resident Yearlings scored a total of 50 points to easily outclass San Angelo Lee, which had 32, in the ninth grade division.

Big Spring Goliad had some hard luck in the relay events in the eighth grade class and finished second to Abilene Lincoln. Lincoln wound up with 38 points while Goliad settled for 31.

Only four records fell in the meet, two in each class. Oddly enough, they came in the same events — the pole vault and the sprint medley relay.

Beard Maintains Las Vegas Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — 25 managed to break par and only two could equal it.

Robert de Vicenzo of Argentina shot a remarkable 68 which gave him a total score of 212.

"I never saw it blow so hard in my life," said Beard, echoing the sentiments of all the players and the dust blown galaxy.

Arnold Palmer, who is seeking his third straight victory in this desert event, remained well behind with a 74 for 215.

U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, who had a 77 in the second round Friday, had a 71 for 219, and the other man to match par was Bert Yancey, which gave him 216.

"If I could stay in the press tent long enough and let the others fight it out in the wind, maybe I could get back in the running," said Palmer, although at that moment the press tent was about to take off like a big striped balloon.

Doug Sanders, who was in the running after two rounds, soared to a 77, and Masters champion Gay Brewer, another threat, shot a 74 and was tied at 213.

Beard started the round with a lead of two strokes over Sikes, Nicklaus and Sanders. He had a 38 for the first nine, bogeying two holes, but came back in 36 when the wind was at its highest.

Awards Made At Ackerly

ACKERLY—An estimated 300 persons attended the annual Athletic Banquet staged in the high school gymnasium here Saturday night and heard a brief address by Glen Whitis, head basketball coach at Howard Payne College.

The party was sponsored by the Sands Booster Club. The student body donated money for the purchase of radios which were given to coaches James Blake and Arlen White.

Plaques were passed out for the following awards:

Outstanding football player—Randy Hambrick; outstanding basketball player (boy)—Leon Russell; outstanding basketball player (girl)—Kay Sample; outstanding volleyball player (girl)—Janell Etchison; outstanding track performer (boy)—Mervin Beal; outstanding track performer (girl)—Joanne Coleman; top scholastic (boy)—James Lemon; top scholastic (girl)—Shara Dee Hambrick.

Mets Trounced By Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Tony Gonzalez' grand-slam home run and run-scoring single sent Philadelphia to a 6-2 victory over the New York Mets Saturday.

Jim Bunning, who gave up only two hits in the first eight innings, before allowing two runs in the ninth was the winning pitcher for the Phils.

Gonzalez' grand slam, the first of his career, came in the first inning off Mets' starter Bob Shaw after Johnny Briggs had doubled and Shaw had given up walks to Rich Allen and Johnny Callison.

The Mets scored in the ninth on a sacrifice fly by Larry Stahl and a single by Ed Kranpoc.

HC Hawks Achieve Win In Meet At Roswell

ROSSELL, N. M. — Howard County Junior fought off Lubbock Christian to win first place in the annual New Mexico Military Institute Invitational track and field meet here Saturday in ideal weather.

The Jayhawks scored 69 points to 47 for runnerup LCC. NMMI was third with 40, followed by Amarillo, with 18.

Air Force Academy's freshmen, the defending champions, were not able to leave Colorado Springs because of a heavy snowstorm there. Trinidad, another entry, had to cancel out for the same reason.

HC set records in the pole vault, sprint relay, 100-yard dash, 220 and triple jump. In all, the West Texans won eight first places compared to four for Lubbock Christian and as many for NMMI.

High point man of the meet was David Wright of HCJC, who won first places in the broad jump and placed third in triple jump, high jump and the high hurdles for 17 points.

Jimmy Jasper of the Hawks copped blue ribbons in the 100, negotiating the distance in a record 9.6 and the 220 in 21.4 for another new mark. In addition, he helped set a mark in the sprint relay with a 42.1 clocking. Other members of the team were Linwood Wright, Robert Lindsey and Spencer Harris.

Jim Zapp Once In Same Outfield With W. Mays

By NATE MITCHELL

The year was 1942 and World War II was in full bloom when Jim Zapp decided to try his hand at playing baseball. The big Tennesseean was stationed in Hawaii with the U.S. Navy at the time. The closest thing he'd played to baseball prior to entering the Navy had been softball back home in Nashville.

In those years the Navy was partially segregated, so Jim began playing for the all-Negro team at Aiea Naval Barracks. He had a fine day a little later in the season; belting two home runs and displaying fine fielding ability.

By coincidence, Edgar Jones, manager of the white baseball team at the base, happened to be in the bleachers. (Jones later became a star halfback for the Cleveland Browns.) Jim Zapp so impressed Jones that he grabbed him for the main team.

PLAYED WITH GREATS
Zapp finished that season with the team, and the following year found himself playing with (and against) such major and minor league greats as Pee Wee Reese, Johnny Mize, Hugh Casey, Al Brancato, Bob Usher, Billy Herman, and Barney McCoskey.

McCoskey went on to succeed Jones as pilot of the club. Zapp recalls that earlier, when McCoskey had been an outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, he'd been Zapp's biggest idol.

Also putting in his military duty at the Hawaii naval base was Bill Garbe, whom Zapp later learned had been a Big Spring ball player prior to entering the Navy.

The team walked away with league laurels that year and went on to cop the 1944 Hawaiian championship.

The following year found Zapp back in the U.S.—stationed at Staten Island, N. Y.—and still playing baseball. A friend of his urged Jim to try out for the Baltimore Elite Giants of the Negro National league.

"Fifty dollars per game plus expenses would have more than filled the bill," Jim told me, "but getting the opportunity to play with Roy Campanella and Josh Gibson made it even more rewarding."

Zapp still insists today that Gibson was the greatest home run hitter of all time. "Josh Gibson would have broken Ruth's record had Negroes been allowed to play in the majors in those days," he feels.

After getting discharged in 1945, Zapp joined the Elite Giants in spring training. On the Giants' roster that year were Jim Gilliam—another Nashville native—and Joe Black, with whom Zapp shared a room. Both Gilliam and Black later joined the Brooklyn Dodgers as big leaguers.

RETURNED HOME
For the next couple of years, Zapp lived out of a suitcase—made the rounds of three of the better All-Negro professional baseball teams—Baltimore, Nashville and Atlanta. Unhappy with his progress in the game, he hung up his glove and returned home to Nashville.

Later, at the urging of a friend, he joined the Birmingham Black Barons. "This was one of my most important decisions," he reflected, "because this turned out to be the greatest team with which I'd played up to that time."

The team not only boasted Piper Davis, playing manager, and Art Wilson—later to become stars in the Pacific Coast

League—but an 18-year-old kid called Willie Mays. "Mays wasn't much of a hitter in those days," Zapp told me, "but his running, fielding and throwing were something to behold."

The Barons won the Negro World's Championship in 1948 by defeating the Kansas City Monarchs in a seven-game series. Zapp's circuit blast in the eighth inning with a man aboard had won the crucial sixth game for the Barons to deadlock the series at three-all.

The Barons' winning the title had proven to be no small feat, considering that the Monarch squad had consisted, in part, of standouts such as Hank Thompson, Curtis Roberts, Gene Baker, Willard Brown, and Elston Howard. All of these players later advanced to the major leagues.

Never having been able to lick his problem of being too temperamental, Zapp quit the Barons at the season's end. He spent the next three years bouncing from the Nashville to the Baltimore ball clubs and back again. He realized at the time that temperament was destroying his career on the ball field.

In 1951, Butch McCord was playing with the Paris, Ill., ball club of the Mississippi-Ohio Valley League. After recommending his friend Zapp, the Paris club gave him a trial the following season. Jim set some records that year that still stand. He batted .330, blasted 21 homers, and drove in 126 runs.

The following season, Lincoln, Neb., of the Eastern League bought Jim's contract, but sold it the next season to Corpus Christi, Tex., of the Big State League. Again, temperament played a key part in Jim's obtaining his walking papers so quickly.

Zapp had spent a couple of days at Corpus before they decided that the town was not yet ready for a Negro ball player. As a result, Jim was told to report to Odessa, Tex., of the Longhorn League. Instead of going to Odessa, however, Zapp took the bus back to Nashville—and his pregnant wife. Unable to find suitable employment, he later called the Corpus club and told them that he'd changed his mind and would go to Odessa.

CALLED MARTIN
Since Odessa's roster had already been filled, they called Pepper Martin, owner-manager of the Big Spring ball club—also of the Longhorn League. Martin accepted Zapp on a 30-day, look-see basis. Zapp hit back-to-back homers in his first two games to give Big Spring a couple of victories, so Martin bought his contract from Corpus Christi.

Zapp went on to set a record in Big Spring that year with a walloping 32 round trippers. Considering that he'd mustered a .330 batting average in the meantime, he'd had a real good year. Next year, Jim was still beating the horsehide well; hitting at a .350 clip and challenging Joe Bauman's minor league record of 72 four-baggers. When the team decided to move Jim from the outfield to first base, all peace and quiet abruptly faded from the scene. Never having played at the position before, Big Jim managed what seemed to him at least one costly error per game. Soon, the fans began to get to him. The wisecracks, rotten fruit and pop bottles coming from the bleachers weren't so bad, but when they presented him with a bushel basket, that was the last straw.

After threatening to quit, Zapp was traded to Port Arthur on Aug. 1 of the same year. In the month left in the season, Zapp hit eight homers, one triple, and seven doubles for Port Arthur.

Hired at Webb
After the season, he returned to Big Spring to inquire about a job at Webb AFB in the athletic department. While he was at Webb, the Cleveland Indians purchased the Port Arthur club and released all but two players—Jim Kirby and Zapp. Everything was fine until they spoke of the cut in salary, so Jim, then 31, decided against joining the Indians and went to work at Webb instead.

Now in his 12th year as athletic director at Webb, the big Tennesseean has mellowed with the years and today is most easy-going. Perhaps his greatest compliment as a ball player came from a local doctor. The doctor said that during his college days around Chicago, he'd seen all of the great home run hitters—Foxy, Ruth, Gehrig, Williams and DiMaggio—but Zapp's home runs left the ball park faster than any he'd ever seen.

Zapp stays active in the game these days as an umpire. He works high school and sandlot games all over the area and is regarded as one of the best in the profession.

If he still yearns for a big league career, some observers say he could toil in the majors as an arbiter.

Reed's Grabs 7-3 Victory In Tourney

Bill Reed Insurance trounced Morton's Foods, 7-3, in a winner's bracket game and Chapman's Meat Market routed the City of Big Spring contingent, 15-5, in a loser's bracket battle in the City Softball league's pre-season tournament at the City Park Friday.

The Chapman - City contest was called after five innings, at which time the 10-run rule was invoked. Chapman scored 10 runs in the third inning with the help of only three hits.

Joe Blessingame and Eddie Aciri teamed up to pitch Chapman's victory in the second game, surrendering only three hits to the city team.

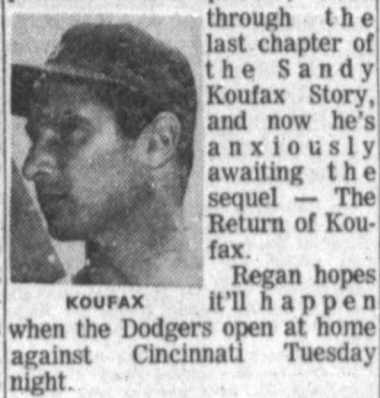

Tito Arencibia batted in two runs for Chapman's with a third inning single. Tommy Roger accounted for two of the City's runs with a fourth inning one-baser.

Blessingame was the only player on either team to get as many as two hits. He singled in the first and again in the third.

Regan Would Call His Pet 'Koufax'

By MURRAY CHASE Associated Press Sports Writer

KOUFAX

Regan didn't scare easily last year. Besides posting a 14-1 record, the 6-foot-3, 200-pounder was credited with 17 saves and compiled a 1.62 earned run average. His .933 percentage was the best in the National League, and he won 13 straight, going undefeated from May 17 through the end of the season.

Explaining how Koufax happened to dub him the Vulture, the 30-year-old Regan said: "Sandy pitched 11 innings against Philadelphia one night and struck out 16. He left the game with a 1-1 tie, and I came in, pitched one inning and won."

"In his next start, against Pittsburgh, he struck out 10 in seven or eight innings but again left with the game 1-1. I came in and won again. When I came into the clubhouse, he called me a vulture."

"I don't mind the name. In fact I sort of like it. When a nickname sticks with a guy, a lot of people remember him because of it. Actually, it's when your teammates ignore you that you should worry."

Despite all the notoriety Regan has gained because of his brilliant record last year, the reliever doesn't necessarily care for the victories.

"I'd just as soon save a game as win it," he said. "I know how I felt when I was a starter in Detroit and a guy gave up the tying run and then got the win. A relief pitcher has to go in the clubhouse and face these guys after something like that happens."

"I remember one game in particular last year. I relieved Don Drysdale when he was leading 3-2. The other team tied the game, but then we won it and I got the victory."

"I felt real bad because Don was struggling real hard at the time, and he could've used that game. It was pretty tough to face him."

Rosy Future Is Foreseen For Pro Soccer Circuit

By TED SMITS Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Big scale, professional soccer makes its debut in the United States Sunday and the commissioner of the National Professional Soccer League can see only success ahead.

There are three reasons it will catch on, says Ken Macker: "1 — The caliber of the ownership. Our people are experienced in professional sports and well financed. They are cognizant that it will take several years to develop soccer into a paying proposition."

"2 — We have a 10-year contract with CBS for color television, at approximately $1 million a year, subject to revision."

"3 — And we already have fans built up by the fact soccer is much more widely played in the United States than is generally realized."

The National League's televised game Sunday is Atlanta at Baltimore starting at 2:30 p.m. EST. In other games, Toronto is at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Chicago, Pittsburgh at San Francisco, and New York at Los Angeles.

Soccer's second big league, the United Soccer Association, which is importing foreign teams intact for its first season, opens its regular play May 26 when Cleveland, represented by Stoke City of England, plays at Washington, represented by Aberdeen of Scotland. The National League has recruited individual players but includes 11 native Americans plus some naturalized players.

The United Soccer Association has been recognized by the United States Soccer Football Association, which in turn is affiliated with soccer's world governing body, the Federation International Des Football Association, or FIFA. The National League is not recognized, but already peace talks have been started between the two leagues.

Soccer is played more widely around the world than any other sport. It is already popular in many American colleges and particularly in private preparatory schools. In recent years, William D. Cox promoted professional games in New York and other cities, appealing chiefly to ethnic groups. In New York he used Randall's Island, a stadium difficult of access. The New York teams in the two new leagues will use Yankee Stadium.

But never before have men who own major league baseball access to the finest stadiums, and football teams, decided to back the sport.

Basketball is for seven footers and football for 250-pounders but soccer is for smaller men. The premium is on speed and agility.

"The heaviest player on the average about $5,000 a year," said Macker. "I know one of our men who gets $25,000 and there are quite a few around $20,000. We have a limit of $200,000 on what the clubs can pay in salaries."

"And foreign clubs aren't as mad at us as you might think. We have paid up to $200,000 for a single player. That's called a transfer fee."

Normally soccer consists of two 45-minute periods with no time out except when a goal is scored or the ball is kicked out of bounds, or there is a serious injury.

American soccer already has had a heavy impact on England, birthplace of the game. "I understand salaries there

We give you less for your money.

You don't get a drive shaft. (Our engine is in the rear to give you better traction!)
And you don't get a radiator. Or a water pump. Or hoses. (Our engine is air cooled, not water-cooled.)
And since you don't get any of these things, you don't have to get anti-freeze. Or rust inhibitors. And what you don't get, you don't have to pay for.
So if you like what you don't get, you can get a new Volkswagen for only $1785. That's the price you pay for getting less.

Wedding Solemnized In St. Lawrence Rites

The St. Lawrence Catholic Church was the scene Saturday afternoon of the wedding of Miss Carolyn Ann Schraeder and Kenneth Arthur Eggemeyer. The Rev. Fabian Diering, pastor, and the Rev. James Plagens, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Odessa, were officiants.

The altar was adorned with an arrangement of roses and flanked by twin baskets of white stock, gladioli and gold candelabra holding white tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Schraeder of St. Lawrence are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Eggemeyer of Miles are parents of the bridegroom.

Traditional wedding selections were sung by Mrs. Hubert Eggemeyer and Mrs. Jimmy Sample, and the organ accompaniment was played by Mrs. Jonathan Jones.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white silk organza over satin peau de soie, designed with an Empire bodice, ring collar and long, fitted petal point sleeves. A detachable chapel train fashioned in five organza tiers extended from a Dior bow at the Empire waistline. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion fell from a cluster of silk organza flowers and fabric leaves scattered with seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried an arm bouquet of sweet heart roses, white feathered chrysanthemums, and stephanotis with white satin streamers.

Miss Sharon Jacob of San Angelo was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jean Eggemeyer of Miles, Miss Kay Schraeder of St. Lawrence, sister of the bride; Mrs. Gary Seidenberger of Big Spring and Miss Lorene Eggemeyer of Miles.

ATTENDANTS
The bridal attendants chose identical carpet-length cerise dresses fashioned similar to the bride's gown. The brides were of cerise pink Georgette crepe over satin peau de soie with ring collar and cuffs. The demure skirts of embroidered satin were attached to floor-length trains of Georgette crepe held by a Dior bow. Their headpieces were of graduated shades of pink organza flowers and leaves accented with pearls. They wore pearl earrings, a gift from the bride, and carried bouquets of pink carnations and Sweetheart roses with pink satin streamers.

James Eggemeyer of Miles, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Dennis Schraeder and Bill Schraeder, brothers of the bride; Gary Seidenberger of Big Spring and Wayne Hoelscher of Levelland. Ushers were Harvey Eggemeyer of Miles, Leonard Jones of Stephenville and Alton Braden of St. Lawrence.

Theresa Schraeder, sister of the bride, was flower girl, and Gregory Schraeder, brother of the bride, lighted the altar tapers.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose an off-white knit suit with bone accessories. The couple will be at home in Odessa.

Mrs. Eggemeyer is a graduate of Garden City High School and attended Texas Technological College in Lubbock. The bridegroom graduated from St. Joseph's High School in Rowena.

RECEPTION
Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parish hall. Those in the receiving line were the bride and bridegroom, their parents and the feminine attendants.

The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth over cerise, and centered with the three-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink rosettes, and topped with a miniature bridal couple and wedding bells. Bouquets of the attendants, crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Miss Alice Hoelscher of San Angelo presided at the guest register. Members of the house party were Miss Theresa Lange of Rowena, Miss Anoinette Schraeder, Miss Judy Hirt, and Mrs. Linda Wilde, all of Lubbock; Miss Dorothy Jansa and Miss Ruth Jansa, both of Norton; and Miss Brenda Jacob, Miss Beverly Jacob, Miss Linda Hoelscher and Miss Susan Lange.

Also, Mrs. Leon Hoffmann, Mrs. Melvin Braden, Mrs. Walter Jacob, Mrs. Ralph Hoffmann, Mrs. George Schwartz, Mrs. Lawrence Hoelscher, Mrs. August Frysak, Mrs. Arnold Lange, Mrs. Robert Hayden, Mrs. Ed Plagens, Mrs. Delmar Batla, Mrs. Eugene Hirt, Mrs. Sidney Hirt, Mrs. Delbert Halfmann, Mrs. Pat Halfmann, Mrs. Cecil Halfmann, Mrs. Daniel Hirt, Mrs. Clifford Hoelscher, Mrs. Alfred Schwartz and Mrs. Lester Jansa.

Table decorations were by Mrs. H. H. Squires and Mrs. Douglass. The table was laid with a white cloth and featured jasmine runners interspersed with yellow roses, jonquils and blue lilies. The centerpiece was an arrangement of spring flowers.

Mrs. W. A. Franklin of Wichita Falls was introduced as a guest. Mrs. W. M. Gage presided and announced that sympathy cards would be signed for mailing to Paul Sledge, class superintendent, and other class members. Flowers were taken to a hospital after the meeting.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

After the really outstanding "cover up" blow on Thursday I have wondered about MRS. H. F. RAILSBACK's asparagus patch at her home in the Knott community. I'm wondering if she can still find it to cut, and when it's cut, if she is having any luck getting the extra sand out of the spears.

Recently in a grocery store visit she and I were discussing the tasty vegetable and as it was her first time around with having asparagus in her garden she was finding different ways to prepare it... she had even eaten the crisp, young, tender stalks raw and found them to be delicious.

Some people I know have a way of eating asparagus that I had never heard of, and according to them it is the proper way. The spears are cooked and served without seasoning and when they are served the spears are picked up with the fingers and are then drizzled through melted butter on the plate. Personally I'd rather use my fork. Well, so much for the eating of fresh asparagus.

Thursday and were joined by the couple for the trip to the lake. The Big Springers will visit in the Hardesty home before returning here in two weeks.

It's an early family reunion that attracted MR. and MRS. TOMMY STEPHENS and their children, Pam and Tommy, to Leoma, Tenn. The affair had originally been planned for June but the time was set up until this weekend at Stephen's mother's home. Family members from several surrounding states plan to attend.

MR. and MRS. OMAR JONES have returned from their ranch near Kerrville where they spent several days last week.

A long time resident of Big Spring has been here during the past week and plans to return to his home in Dallas today. He is DYER SMITH, who with his wife came here to attend the funeral of a friend and to see after business matters. The Smiths also were in Midland to visit MRS. JACK OGLETHORPE, the former MRS. BERNICE SMITH. The Smith's son has recently returned from a tour of duty in Vietnam.

MRS. ARTHUR PICKLE is in Lubbock for a few days with her son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. H. R. PICKLE.

The MILLER HARRISES are expected to return Monday from Durango, Colo., where they have been the past few days attending to business matters prior to moving back here. They will make their home at 2809 Coronado.

The "gone fishing" sign is out for L. T. KING and LUDWIG GRAU who left last week for Florida and fishing. They didn't have any place specifically to drop their lines... just fishing.

Alpha Chi's Advised On Balloting

District and state officer ballots were presented and discussed at the Thursday evening meeting of the Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha in the home of Mrs. Glyn Mitchell, Sand Springs.

Plans were discussed for the Founder's Day breakfast. Members named to help with this project were Mrs. C. W. Uley and Mrs. McMullan.

Color Blindness Shared By Many

Eight men (and less than one woman) out of every hundred are color deficient and may have difficulty telling red from green. Unless their eyes are tested, they may never know they are seeing a less colorful world, according to reports in "The Little Seeing Book," published by the makers of Vistine.

The scientist, John Dalton, who gave his name to this condition — Daltonism — did not know that he was color deficient until, at the age of 19, he discovered that other children could pick cherries faster than he could.

Lake Tahoe is the vacationing spot for MR. and MRS. J. D. ELLIOTT, who are spending several days there with her brother and sister-in-law, MR. and MRS. JACK HARDESTY. The Hardestys live in San Francisco. The Elliots flew there

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MRS. R. D. FRERICHS
It's spring again, and the urge to get out into the great outdoors is in all of us. What better way to meet new people, renew an old hobby, or just get away from it all than to dust off those golf clubs that have been sitting in the closet all winter and head for the golf course for a couple of hours of fresh air and good, stimulating exercise?

WEBB LGA

The Webb Air Force Base Ladies Golf Association is being reactivated, and weekly tournaments are being planned for the coming season. All wives of military members of Webb Air Force Base are eligible to participate in the Ladies Golf Association activities. Tuesday is ladies day at the golf course, and woe betide the man who fails to yield to the cry of "Fore" on that day. Ladies have the right of way on the fairway, and isn't that nice for a change? Weekly play will resume on Tuesday, April 18, with coffee in the club house at 8:30 and tee-off times starting at 9.

If you're a brand new golfer or you haven't played in a few years and you feel that your game has gotten a little rusty, check with the pro at the golf course, and see what bargains are available on lessons. There is a golf pro in attendance from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and the course is open from sunup to sundown throughout the year. Golf clubs are available on loan from the pro shop. The golf pro shop and snack bar offer a pleasing atmosphere for the weekend golfer to discuss his latest birdie. A putting green and driving range round out the country club setting. Further information on the Ladies Golf Association can be obtained by calling the golf course pro shop or contacting Mrs. Barry Butler at AM 3-4396.

A LOVELIER YOU

Long Tresses Lose Charm When Stringy

By MARY SUE MILLER

A teen lovely writes: My father says my hair looks like a floor mop. I usually suffer the remark in silence. But there may be something to it. The other day my boy friend made some crack about a shaggy mane. Well, my hair is long and does get kind of stringy. All the long-haired girls I know have the same trouble. Still, maybe I should work on mine. But how?

The Answer: Long hair has always been considered a most feminine characteristic. But it loses its charm, unless it is groomed to a satin finish. Where's the femininity in a frowsy mop of hair?

To keep long hair shining, it must be shampooed the day before the need is noticeable. This may mean several shampoos each week, particularly if oil's a problem. And, please note, after-shampoo rinses could bring up highlights and a d d bounce. Such rinses are formulated for normal, dry and oily conditions. It is important to use the right one.

Between shampoos there is just one way to maintain sparkle and smoothness: that's with your hairbrush and your good right arm. You simply cannot brush too often or too long.

Too much work? Not when you consider the reward — the approving compliments from the male contingent! Besides, such appliances as an electric hair dryer (hand model) and a transistor-operated hairbrush would halve the effort. A bit of baby-sitting coin covers the costs.

TEEN TRESSES

Is your hair a problem, Miss Teen? Then send for my leaflet, "Teen Tresses, Model Type." It tells how to correct such ailments as oily hair and flaky scalp; fly-away, unmanageable, lackluster locks. Included, too, are styling tips and model grooming quickies. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Today Carol and I dusted her doll collection and packed it away. I must admit to a feeling of sadness, for the moment made all of the wedding preparations suddenly become real. Carol is being married in less than a month, yet it seems only yesterday John and I brought her home from the hospital.

Hansel and Gretel were last, and I smiled as I packed them. For they remind me of Carol and her young man. They seem such dreamy young innocents, but are really quite practical. Already they've solved many of the problems John and I never thought of until after our marriage. Yes, their path is well marked through the forest of matrimony.

To be sure, they may have troubled times, but they share a deep and abiding love for God that promises strength and comfort beyond their own resources. With God and His church at the center of their lives, they cannot fail.

George Rice Talks On Distributive Education

George Rice, Distributive Education director at the Big Spring Senior High School, was guest speaker at the Thursday meeting of the College Heights Parent-Teacher Association at the school.

Billy Jones of the Industrial Cooperative Training program at high school assisted on the program.

"Twenty-five per cent of high school graduates later graduate from college," said Rice. "The Vocational Education program helps prepare the other 75 per cent to find jobs, and some later are able to use learned skills to work their way through college."

Jones announced that tentative plans have been completed to begin an adult vocational training course during evening classes. The course is being planned for the opening of the next school term.

Mrs. Ed Pierson awarded certificates to eight members having completed eight-hour training courses in "Education for Family Living." Mrs. Floyd Williams gave a report on the spring conference and expressed appreciation for a life membership award.

Cancer Crusade To Climax On Tuesday

Do you know cancer's warning signals? Are you taking proper check-up precautions? You will be given helpful information so that you can be conscious of the dangers of cancer—and the steps you can take if you act promptly—as volunteers make calls on homes this week in the Cancer Crusade.

Scores of workers will be knocking on doors throughout the county Tuesday evening, to help give information on combating cancer, and to enlist financial support to carry on research against the disease.

A total of $8,000 is sought as the county's quota in the American Cancer Crusade. Some of this money already has been contributed through advance solicitation and in the business area. Tuesday night brings the opportunity for each family and individual to help.

HELP WANTED

Volunteers in the Tuesday night canvass are being directed by Mrs. Ralph Caton and Mrs. Bob Galbraith. They still are needing helpers, and will welcome calls from volunteers.

The callers will leave an important informational leaflet, "Know Cancer's Warning Signals." They also will leave a brief survey (which the respondent will be asked to mail in) which asks questions about physical checkups, smoking habits, and other questions which will help in national research against cancer. The public's cooperation is sought on this.

The American Cancer Society hopes to get its informational leaflet into 40 million homes.

NOT ENOUGH KNOW

"We want people to have this information, and to read it," said Mrs. Joe Moss, chairman of the general Cancer Crusade. "Our incentive is the fact that at present only 69 per cent of the people of the country can name even one of cancer's several warning signals, in spite of much educational effort."

"The signals were designated by medical specialists after it became known that early detection and prompt treatment can greatly increase the number of lives saved from cancer."

"During the Crusade, when a volunteer urges you to post the warning signals, we hope you will do so, and, most of all, we hope you will heed them and take proper action if action is called for."

CHECKUPS

This year, in addition to zero-ing in on the warning signals, Mrs. Moss said, the Society is furthering its efforts to persuade people to have annual health checkups.

"Surveys have shown," he said, "that many early cancers are being detected as a result of periodic physical checkups. Attention to the warning signals is considered an additional precaution. Widespread knowledge of the warning signals would mean more checkups and more lives saved."

LIVES SAVED

The chairman pointed out that early diagnosis and prompt treatment have contributed substantially to the fact that 1,400,000 men, women and children, cured of cancer, are now alive.

She added that the leaflet points out that a warning signal does not necessarily or even usually mean cancer, but "if one lasts more than two weeks it is important to go to your doctor."

The warning signals are: unusual bleeding or discharge; a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; a sore that does not heal; a change in bowel or bladder habits; hoarseness or cough; indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; and change in a wart or mole.

Bora Bora: 'Shangri-La' Of South Pacific Cruise

Place gleaming, white beaches, sparkling blue-green waters, brilliant flowers of every hue, soft, sweet trade-winds and golden sunshine against a breathtaking backdrop of mountains rising sharply from the sea—and you have a picture of Bora Bora.

The tiny, French-controlled island will be the first port of call on the 42-day South Pacific cruise tour sponsored by the Herald aboard the Matson liner Monterey in August.

Many travel writers have described Bora Bora as the most beautiful isle in the Pacific. Noel Coward wrote a poem about it. Everybody who visits the island falls under its spell.

UNSPOILED

Bora Bora, 140 miles northwest of Tahiti, is untouched and unspoiled by the advent of "progress" and all it implies. There are no drive-ins, neon signs, television sets or electric blankets. The islanders lead idyllic lives, with fish, bananas, and breadfruit virtually at arm's reach.

The island, which covers only 15½ square miles, has 1,700 residents, primarily engaged in copra-making. When the islanders don't feel like working (and that's quite often), they go skin-

Jones Awarded Hospital Job

J. D. Jones Construction Company has been awarded the contract for constructing a warehouse addition and remodeling job at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Approximately 6,000 square feet of floor space will be added to the original warehouse unit in the western part of the hospital campus. In addition, there will be considerable remodeling of the existing structure. Also included is one loading dock.

The building will be brick and tile, with steel joist, poured deck, and other similar types to produce fire proof construction.

Cost of the project is slightly in excess of $56,000. Work will be within a week with the issuance of a work order.

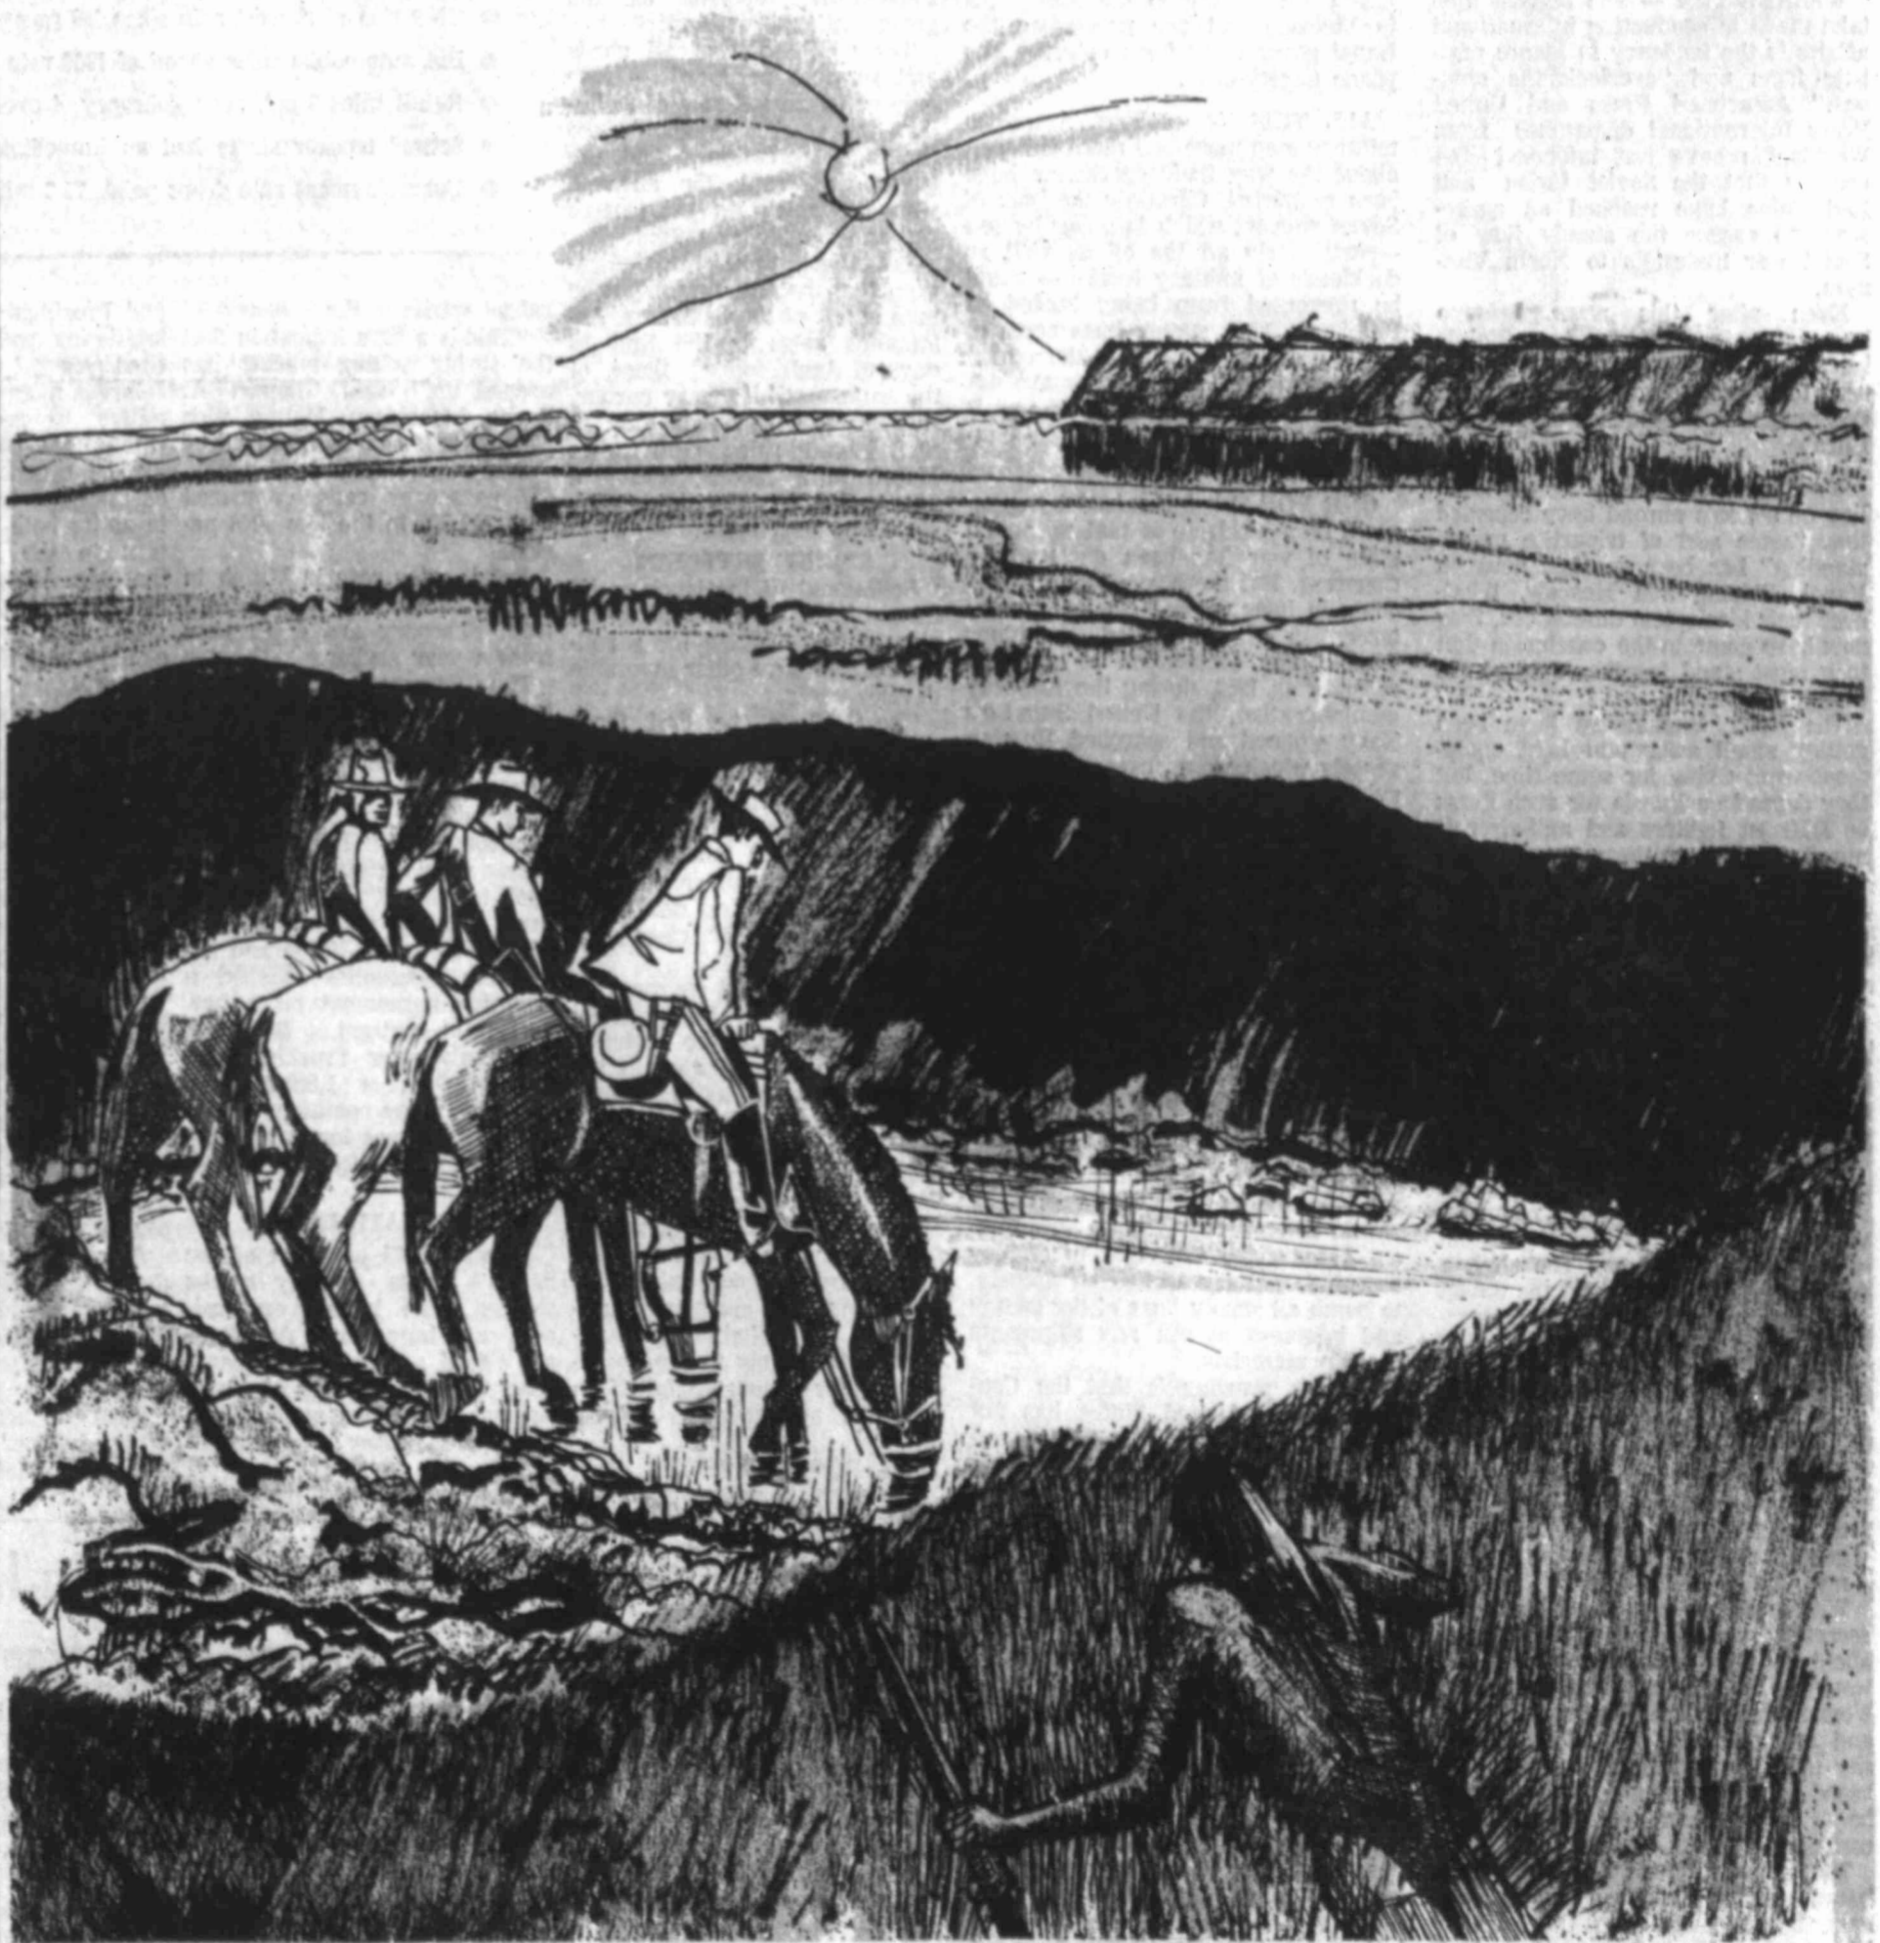

Cops Locked Up In Cemetery

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — "Car four, where are you?"

called the police radio dispatcher. "We're in Cedar Lawn Cemetery," came the reply. "We're locked in."

The two Paterson police officers — embarrassed and anonymous — told the dispatcher they went in to make their nightly patrol of the cemetery Thursday when the gatekeeper unknowingly locked them in.

Another patrol car found the gatekeeper and let them out.

a gathering at the spring

Excerpted from "Big Spring" by Shine Phillips

"I don't reckon anybody knows how long this "Big Spring" has been attracting humans, but the spring itself is a right historic spot. A good while before the Texas and Pacific Railroad came along, it was a stopping place on the Comanche War Trail. The Indian tribes scrapped over it. Yep, the Indians drank water too. Most folks never heard of an Indian doing anything but scalping a White Man, but from what I've heard tell, the Indians were at all times in as much danger of the White Man scalping them. Anyhow, the Indians were always scalping each other over Big Spring and a few coyotes to boot. There were just a few waterholes in this whole country—Moss Spring and Big Spring being the only two in a radius of sixty miles — so it was easy to see why men and beasts fought for their rights when it came to a showdown about a waterhole."

A Devotional For The Day

"We cannot but speak of what we have seen and heard."
(Acts 4:20, RSV)

PRAYER: Almighty God, give Thy church the vision to tell right from wrong, and the courage to speak out fearlessly against every form of evil and oppression. In Jesus' name and for His sake. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Significant Accomplishment

When the record is finally written, many accomplishments will be listed to the administration of Gov. John Connally, but few will rank higher than the passage of the new water rights adjudication bill.

With the creation of the State Board of Water Engineers in 1913, need of such an act was recognized, and in 1917 one was passed, only to be declared unconstitutional in 1921. Since the 1940's the legislature has wrestled with this problem. At the urging of the governor, the State Bar, the Texas Water Conservation Association, professional associations, and others came into fundamental agreement on form of an act. Sen. George Parkhouse carried it through the Senate and Rep. M. J. Murray through the house. Thursday, Gov. Connally signed it.

Perhaps this will avoid the prolonged, costly wrangle over water rights. Cited is the cast of the Rio Grande Valley water suit which has cost all parties around $10 million including $400,000 by the State of Texas. The Colorado River Municipal Water District, delayed from one to two years by a prolonged rights struggle, can testify as to need of such procedure. This delay probably increased the district's costs in the Robert Lee project by a million or so dollars.

The new act permits the Texas Water Rights Commission to conduct hearings, issue preliminary findings, subject to further hearings which lead to a final determination. This then goes to a district court for judicial review followed by a final decree. If the matter then is appealed to the courts, only the actionable rights can be included in the greatly simplified suit. This should bring some degree of reason and order to the settlement of rights.

Need To Find Weapons

It would be silly to contend that research, like some good luck charm, would frighten away a sandstorm of the magnitude of last Thursday. But the severity of this storm should underline again the need of extensive as well as intensive basic research into means of reducing the loss and damage accruing from unchecked wind erosion.

It is impossible to estimate the cost to this area in soil damage, which is an almost irreparable loss. Some of these days, when the world learns how to settle its problems without extravagant and non-productive wars, these millions of acres of lands may be desperately needed to meet the food and fiber needs of this and other nations. It is sheer folly to let soil and its fertility get away because of a lack of knowledge of what can be done to mitigate this loss.

War Supplies Flow Into N. Vietnam

WASHINGTON — The biggest mistake made in conducting international affairs is the tendency to ignore realistic facts and "overlook the obvious." Associated Press and United Press International dispatches from Washington have just informed the country that the Soviet Union and Red China have reached an agreement to assure the steady flow of Soviet war materials to North Vietnam.

Even after this news became known, State Department officials were urging Congress to pass measures to improve trade relations with Communist-bloc countries in Eastern Europe.

YET THE government's own intelligence sources abroad have reported that "some sort of tripartite understanding" has been reached between Hanoi, Peiping and Moscow. Whatever their ideological differences, they now have come to the conclusion that they must stand together against the United States.

The North Vietnamese have been getting small arms and light equipment from China for some time, but they depend on Russia for such items as MIG jet fighters and anti-aircraft missiles. Most of these supplies are going by sea, but some of the more important items connected with missile operations are being shipped overland.

ACCORDING to international law, every nation may trade with either side in a war but takes the risk of having its trade interrupted and war supplies seized and confiscated as contraband.

The United States has taken no steps to halt Russian vessels or the ships of any of the other countries which are steadily moving in and out of the port of Haiphong. The obvious fact is that Red China and the Soviet Union are helping to kill Americans in Vietnam and are preventing the Hanoi government from entering into peace negotiations.

ALL THIS is making American military men more and more unhappy about the way their operations have been restricted. Certainly the bulk of Soviet support which is going by sea — particularly all the oil as well as deckloads of military trucks — could be prevented from being landed at Haiphong. Also, supply lines north of Hanoi could be bombed. If the armed services of the United States are not given the right to fight the war as it should be fought, the conflict in Vietnam may go on for years.

ONE POINT being raised by opponents of a blockade is that no actual state of war has been declared by Congress. But there are many precedents in international law for the interception of arms and munitions without any declaration of war. As recently as 1962, during the Kennedy administration, the United States Navy stopped and searched Russian vessels which were suspected of carrying equipment for the Communist missile bases in Cuba. Congress had not passed any resolution specifically authorizing this action.

SIMILARLY, during the Korean war, although the Congress of the United States had not declared a state of war, the United States Navy was employed along the entire Korean coast to prevent any kind of sea traffic from reaching the Northern part of that country, which was held by the Communists.

The Vietnam casualties are continuing to mount. Military men privately are expressing concern that they should be expected to win a war without being given the right to employ essential military tactics — namely, to bomb all supply lines of the enemy and intercept at sea any shipments of war materials.

What is puzzling is that the Congress of the United States has not taken cognizance of the Soviet and Red Chinese activities in supplying war materials to the Hanoi government.

Lion Country

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — It's happened at last. South Africa, known for centuries as the lion country, now has to import the big cats.

They are coming from such "lion-less" places as Europe and Britain. "The 25 lions we are importing are undoubtedly the offspring of lions which had originally been exported from South Africa," a spokesman for the importing concern said here.

"We can in fact buy lions locally but this will result in a reduction of the lion population of our game reserves," he added.

The lions are destined for a "mini" game reserve about 10 miles north of Johannesburg. Eventually the 900-acre reserve will sport 100 lions, giraffe, zebra, many species of wild buck, rhino, hippo and monkeys.

The spokesman said the 100 lions would be the largest single pride in Africa. They each cost $600 Rand ($360).

Economy May Be On New Upturn

NEW YORK (AP)—The economy slowed during the first quarter of the year.

This became definite during the week when the Commerce Department reported on the gross national product.

The GNP—total of all goods and services produced—rose only at an annual rate of $5 billion, the smallest amount since the 1961 recession. And, the government said, the advance was due solely to price rises rather than higher output.

But there were two indications that the economy might be pulling out of the doldrums. Automobile sales in the first 10 days of April topped those of the same period a year earlier, showing the first such gain in 1967. Retail sales climbed in March to a record, setting a new mark for the first time since last September.

Settlement of the trucking industry labor dispute and extension of the deadline for a railroad strike were other favorable developments.

The GNP in the first three months of this year reached a record annual rate of $764.3 billion but the $5-billion gain was far below the $14-billion spurt in the 1966 fourth quarter. Not since the $300-million annual-rate gain in the first quarter of 1961 has the GNP risen less vigorously.

The 0.7 per cent increase in prices during the January-February-March quarter equaled the increase in inflation in the fourth quarter of last year, officials said, despite declining prices for food, consumer durables and some raw materials.

The latest increases were in construction services, construction, factory equipment and government purchases and salaries.

Government economists attributed the dwindling in overall growth mainly to the sharpest quarter-to-quarter falloff in inventory accumulation on record.

BOOSTS SPIRITS

The spurt in automobile sales

BRIGHTER SPOTS

- GNP rise at slowest rate since '60 recession
- But automobile sales ahead of 1966 rate first time
- Retail sales 3 pct. over February, 4 over March '66
- Settled trucker strike had an immediate impact
- Unemployment rate drops point, 75.2 million working

IMMEDIATE IMPACT

Wheels of 65 per cent of the nation's cross-country trucks stopped. The impact on business was immediate. Automakers closed some of their plants because of a shortage of parts.

Normal operations were quickly restored after the lockout ended.

Congress rushed through—

JOBLESS DOWN

The Labor Department reported that in mid-March the unemployment rate dipped to 3.6 per cent of the labor force from 3.7 per cent a month earlier.

The number of persons unemployed in mid-March fell by 229,000 to a total of 2,954,000.

Total employment rose by 54,000 to 72.56 million.

Automobile production dipped during the week because of the trucking shutdown to an estimated 153,000 cars from 165,000 the previous week and 211,601 a year ago.

Steel production for the week declined 2 per cent to 2,385,000 tons from 2,434,000 the previous week.

Around The Rim

San Jacinto And The Aggie Muster

If you're in Texas, you're in a segment of important history at this time of the year.

About this time 131 years ago, General Sam Houston was leading a somewhat scraggy band of fighting Texans back toward the Louisiana border, and there was some opinion that the new Republic had not long to stand, if when the Mexican General Santa Anna and his army caught up with Houston's men.

THE CONFRONTATION did occur — on April 21, 1836 — and what might be called a storied upset occurred. The Mexicans were whipped at San Jacinto, and the doors were opened to a new era of history for the North American continent.

And so, in these parts, we give San Jacinto more than passing attention. Which leads us, if you can follow a devious trail to another distinctive group who are known as the Texas Aggies.

WE ARE not going into the Aggie jokes here; this is not the time and they've all been too warmed over. But the Texas A&M men have their traditions that should get some attention.

One of these is the Aggie muster. If the men under Sam Houston proved themselves, in a showdown, to be fighting men, an honest chronicler would have to say that subsequent generations of Texas who left the campus at College Station have carried on the manner of their heritage.

THE FIGURES are not at hand, but it is common knowledge that in the fighting forces in American wars, the names of Aggies are not only prominent but numerous. The statistics of World War II, I believe, were that, next to the U.S. Military Academy, Texas A&M produced more fighting officers than any school. The same ratio must hold good in other conflicts.

Some people make light of the military tradition at A&M, but on the record, it is no light matter. The Aggies have been in the battle lines.

THIS BEING true many of them have lost their lives. And for 65 years now, Texas A&M men have followed another tradition: On San Jacinto Day each year, wherever a group of the Aggies can get together, at home or abroad, the "muster" is held. The roll is called, of names of Aggie men who have passed on during the year (whether on the field of conflict or not); and when the name is pronounced, a fellow Aggie present answers in firm voice, "Here!"

IF YOU ever attended one of these ceremonies, you would grasp a bit of the feeling, the spirit of an institution whose men link themselves together in common interest. What the living say, in effect, is that though those fellow Aggies are beyond this mortal coil their spirit remains.

It is a spirit not made enough of these days: a spirit of loyalty, of patriotism, of bravery and of brotherhood.

IF THIS country continues to be great, if it will not look back but maintains its honor, no matter the cost, this spirit must continue. There is no joke about this, even if you fancy yourself an Aggie-hater.

The Problem Of The Hippies

WASHINGTON — If a quick sampling of attitudes in the Midwest and in California has any meaning most Americans today are preoccupied with holding their own in the face of rising prices. The war in Vietnam is a long way off and they wish it would go away.

THE SENSITIVE nerve is the threat of ever higher taxes. Not only governors but mayors and city councilmen face implacable hostility at even a hint that taxes, and in particular property taxes, must go up to meet expanding needs. Bond issues to build schools and fill other urban needs are repeatedly voted down.

But another phenomenon that obviously disturbs a great many people rarely fails to draw a response. That is the alienation of the younger generation or a segment of it. How large is this segment and how permanent is the alienation no one seems to know.

THE CASUAL visitor to Haight-Ashbury, the farthest out center of alienation in the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco, looks in vain for a common thread of meaning. Are these young people parading up and down the street in every kind of outlandish costume really advertising their total alienation from a society they constantly proclaim as corrupted? Or is it exhibitionism, these men with frowzy beards, masses of tousled hair, dangling earrings from pierced ears, the women in long clinging garments, sandals and dirty feet being universal?

UNKEMPT CHILDREN trailing their unkempt parents are the saddest aspect of what at times looks like a human zoo. The Gray Line has now put on a daily two-hour "Hippie Hop" for tourists through Haight-Ashbury.

The average citizen, if the taxi driver is any sample, boils with indignation at the hippies. Tossing them off the bridge into the bay is the mildest form of punishment proposed. Public Utilities Commissioner Thomas F. Stack, denouncing Haight-Ashbury as a Sodom, persuaded the utilities commission to reroute all buses around Haight-Ashbury on weekends and holidays. This, said Stack, was essential to protect the city's children.

SENSATIONAL REPORTING and scenes of violence on television in all probability exaggerate the extent of alienation of the young. In the sit-in demonstrations at the University of Wisconsin against recruiters for a company making napalm only a fraction of one per cent of a student body of 30,000 was involved. Similarly in the demonstration against Vice President Hubert Humphrey at Leland Stanford an investigation showed that the number of enrolled students participating was a small fraction of the several hundred who charged on the vice president.

SO MUCH is conjecture. One phase of the widely heralded revolt of youth is drug-taking. Here again no one seems to know how widespread this really is. Statistics recently released in California indicate an appalling statewide increase in the use of drugs, notably marijuana and LSD.

It may be a passing phenomenon. Those of us out of the era of bathtub gin, the Charleston and the John Held flapper were widely consigned to perdition. But transitory though it may prove to be for a great many parents it seems to have gone on forever.

For Anybody, It Takes Bread

WASHINGTON—Last week Stokely Carmichael told the students at Fisk University in Nashville to take over the school. There have been similar suggestions made by radical speakers on other campuses, and it's hard for an outsider to figure out what exactly the far-out students would do if they did take over the school. Perhaps it would go something like this.

"Hey, man, we are now in complete charge of Banana University. Since it was my idea, I'm the new chancellor."

"CRAZY. I'm the president, Dirty Eddie is the new dean of men, Clara is the dean of women, and Papa Pete is dean of medicine."

"Hey, Chancellor, there's a bunch of kids outside who want to know when classes are going to begin."

"Tell them they can start any time they want to."

"But there are no professors left. They all took off when you took over."

"Well, get some graduate students to teach them. They're on our side."

"THE GRADUATE students say they won't start teaching until they see some bread."

"I got it, Chancellor. Let's charge tuition and use that to pay the instructors."

"That's a good idea, Dirty Eddie. You announce it to the students. Tell 'em we need tuition to pay the teachers so classes can start again."

Dirty Eddie comes back in a few minutes. "The students wouldn't listen to me. They said we are part of the reactionary administration now and they're going to hang us all in effigy. The student newspaper has come out with an Extra attacking our high-handed attitude in dealing with their demands."

"What are their demands?"

"THEY DON'T KNOW. They said if we were sensitive to their feelings, we'd know what they should demand."

"Clara, you go out and talk to them. Maybe you can find out what they want."

Clara returns. "They're holding a rally now to demand our resignations. They said there will never be peace on campus until they have a say in the running of the school."

"But we represent them."

"NOT ANY MORE we don't. David and Bathsheba have started a new organization called 'Students Against the Student Administration.' They said we have to negotiate with them or they're going to boycott our antidraft rally tomorrow."

"Oh, they are, are they? Well, we'll see about that. Get me the campus chief of police... Chief, this is Chancellor here. The students are holding an unauthorized rally on the promenade. I want your men to break it up and arrest the ringleaders. Yes, use police dogs and billy clubs if you have to, and call in the National Guard only if it's absolutely necessary."

"CHANCELLOR, the students have just set fire to your motorcycle."

"That does it. I'm going to resign. If that's all they care about higher education, they don't deserve a decent administration."

"We'll all resign. Let David and Bathsheba have the headaches of running this place."

"You said it. I'd rather be back on LSD anyway."

"Wouldn't we all?"

THE SEEDS

'Seeds' Created Flower Music

The Seeds are a group of young men who may suddenly become the fastest rising American pop stars on the music scene. Besides having had three hit singles — "Pushin' Too Hard," "Mr. Farmer," and now "Can't Seem to Make You Mine" — they've become the spokesmen of a new revolution among America's youth: a revolution in search of that "next plateau."

The Seeds are the creators of "flower music," a musical concept that's having an impact upon youth, radio and music industry, and some teenagers now regard themselves as "Flower Children;" disc jockeys can be heard screaming such phrases as "Flower Power."

At a recent concert in Los Angeles' Valley Music Theatre, over 3,000 teenagers — flowers in hand — screamed frantically throughout The Seeds' entire performance. Only at appearances of The Beatles, The Stones, or Elvis Presley, has there been such a spectacular response, complete with tears, fainting, and mass hysteria. And the pandemonium did not stop with The Seeds' last song — as the group's limousine sped away from the theatre, cars filled with their most ardent fans followed them down the freeway for the grand finale — the Big Chase!

The Seeds are under the direction of Lord Tim Hudson, a Londoner now living in America, who has been connected with many top music personalities. He has travelled with The Beatles, been associated with Herman's Hermits, and was the discoverer of The Moody Blues. In the United States, he has become a popular disc jockey on several top radio stations. His belief, regarding his management of The Seeds, is that the continued success of the English acts, such as The Beatles and The Stones, is due largely to "their treating rock and roll as a regimented form, like any other type of big business."

'Fugitive' To End The Chase

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — The longest cliffhanger in television history is over. After four long years as a fugitive, Dr. Richard Kimble finally has been vindicated.

The on-the-lam medic has been played on ABC's "The Fugitive" by David Janssen, he of the gable-like voice and face. It has been a long run—literally—and he was much relieved when the series ground to a halt a fortnight ago.

And what happened in the final reel? How did Dr. Kimble win vindication? Did the real murderer happen to be an armed Ben Gazzara? (Run for your life, Ben!)

"I'm under wraps at the orders of ABC and (Producer) Quinn Martin as to how the final show came out," said Janssen. "It's a two-parter, and the present plan is to show it after the summer reruns."

"About all I can say about it is that I'm innocent." And so "The Fugitive" will go off the air after four years of stretching a slender story line to the ultimate. When the series started, doubting Thomases couldn't see how it could last longer than a season. After all, how many possibilities were there for a one-hour drama about a man who escapes after conviction for his wife's murder and seeks to establish his innocence while eluding capture?

Yet the show came up with endless variations on the theme and established a high quality of script and performance.

"We could have gone a fifth year," Janssen remarked. "The network wanted it. But I think it was better to leave at the top. I felt as Quinn did that we had developed as much as was possible with the show; there was nothing new we could attempt as to character."

Diana Rigg Quits TV's Avengers

LONDON (AP) — Actress Diana Rigg is quitting the British television series "The Avengers" in which she plays secret agent Emma Peel.

ABC-TV said Miss Rigg, 28, does not wish to renew her contract after the present 26-week series ends in the summer.

A former model and Shakespearean actress, she wants to concentrate instead on stage and film roles.

"The Avengers" is Britain's top-selling TV export.

Mort Sahl Jabs Way To Top Of Show Biz

In real life, Mort Sahl got the break that made the world his pin-cushion from a night club owner with a sense of humor. Jabbing at the "establishment" seemed funny to Enrico Banducci, owner of San Francisco's Hungry 1, so he hired Sahl for one week at a salary of seventy-five dollars. The engagement lasted a year-and-a-half, the club grew from 83 seats to 300, and the comedian's salary jumped to $5,000 a week.

In his film role in "Doctor, You've Got To Be Kidding!" starring Sandra Dee and George Hamilton, Sahl does a turn-about. He enacts a night club owner who gives Miss Dee her big break as an entertainer. You might say he was type-cast, for Sahl himself owns a club in West Los Angeles. From that headquarters he bounces around the country for other club dates, wedges in his own television show and still has time for films.

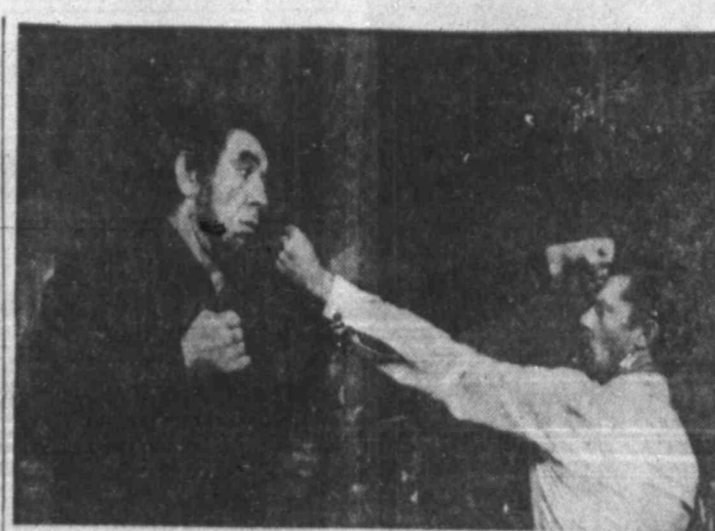

What is the magic that has skyrocketed Sahl to the top? Time magazine described him as "the most notable American political satirist since Will Rogers." The New Yorker termed him "the best-paid nihilist ever produced by Western civilization."

Sahl admits that by nature he's an outsider and whatever the establishment or "in" group happens to prevail, he has to be outside pointing barbs at it. When the Republicans were in the White House, they were the butt of his jokes. When the Democrats took over, they soon found there was nothing sacred in their high offices, either. Sahl became the first entertainer to make a comedy album a success and he is the only non-musician to win the Metro-nome award three years in a row in a category created for him — "entertainer of the year."

Sahl likes to make people laugh because he feels it's necessary to laugh at the things we take most seriously in order to survive. He came by this emotional - seesaw philosophy naturally. He describes his father as an eternal pessimist who wanted to be a playwright but never made it. His mother, on the other hand, was an incurable optimist. Thus the boy grew up soaking up at one and the same time, idealism, skepticism, respect for creativity and contempt for show business.

When he first appeared on television, one network characterized him as "hopelessly withering" as a comedian. Sahl proved them wrong. Came the San Francisco night club engagement and the rest is show business history. As long as there is an establishment to swing at, Mort Sahl will keep swinging.

'BULLWHIP GRIFFIN'
New comedy from Walt Disney

Western Comedy Is Spoof Of Boxing

"The Adventures of Bullwhip Griffin" — as the title implies — is probably the funniest far-out - West feature-length spoof in the history of Walt Disney Productions, starring the California gold rush and a quartet of comedians who have few peers in the field of outlandish comedy: Roddy McDowall, Suzanne Pleshette, Karl Malden and Mike Mazurki.

There are, literally, no holds barred in a distinct Disney attempt to wring every last laugh out of unsuspecting audiences who may come to the show thinking Bullwhip to be the huge Mazurki, for instance, instead of the slight McDowall.

McDowall, as a Boston butler in the story, and his 13-year-old ward, played by Bryan Russell, are shanghaied aboard a steam sailer bound for the wild and woolly, strike it big in the gold country, are bilked out of their fortune by a slick con artist, played by Karl Malden, and arrive back in San Francisco without a nugget in their pokes. Butler Griffin signs up to fight Mazurki, a giant barroom bouncer name of The Mountain Ox, and the fun gets funnier.

Not since Disney tricksters flubberized an undersized basketball team in a belly laugh called "The Absent-Minded Professor" has there been such a side-splitting satire of the world of sports. Needless to say, Griffin wins the day, but not without the inspiration of a beauty called the Boston Belle, played by Suzanne Pleshette, plus some high flying Disnastics by the agile, often fearless McDowall.

As if the Flubber type of action isn't enough for the laugh department, Disney animators — masters of the sight gag — spoof the spoofing with intermittent cartoon introductions and interruptions.

Others who contribute include Harry Guardino as the slick owner of the Lucky Nugget Saloon; Richard Hayden, as an absent-minded Shakespearean actor who loses a map to the Mother Lode; Hermione Baddeley, as Miss Pleshette's penny-pinching companion; Cecil Kellaway, as a comic lawyer, and Arthur Hunnicutt, as 'the dishonest referee handling the fantastic fisticuffs.

Foxes Adopted Into Dog, Cat Families Of Butlers

By SAM BLACKBURN
"Animal compassion and mother love" is the way that Mrs. Bill Butler interprets it and probably that's about as near to the truth as you can get.

Inky, the lady dog, and Mrs. Cat, who live with the Butlers at their place seven miles north and east on the Snyder Highway, have certainly demonstrated that they are overflowing with kindness and charity.

ADOPTED FOX
Otherwise, why would they have so cooperatively adopted two tiny fox pups, left orphaned and helpless when their mother was trapped and destroyed?

The saga of the two little foxes and of their amazing new life began about April 1. On that date, the mother of the little foxes was trapped and killed just a short distance from her den.

A week later, neighborhood boys found one small fox, his eyes not yet open, creeping about in front of the den.

Mike Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Butler, who is a student in the Howard County Junior College, and the other youths dug into the den. They found five baby foxes which had survived a whole week without food or water.

Mike took two of the little foxes with him. The remaining three were taken by the other youths. They have since died.

Not so the pair that Mike took home with him. They are anything but dead — they are thriving, growing by leaps and bounds and enjoying the life of Reynard Riley.

BROKE RIGHT
Things broke just right for them. The night before the foxes came into the Butler home, Inky, the Butler dog, gave birth to four puppies. One died.

About a week earlier, the Butler cat, Mrs. Cat, had five kittens. Mike brought the two little foxes into the living room where Inky and Mrs. Cat were on hand with their respective babies.

The little foxes began creeping about. "It seemed that the dog and the cat had a little talk," said Mike. "Then they went to the two foxes and each selected one."

Mama Cat moved the little fox she had in with her kittens and, if anything, shows a marked partiality for her adopted child. Inky had room in her family for her fox to replace the puppy which had died.

Now that they are about three weeks old, the little foxes are the favorites of the Butlers and their foster mothers. One is a female and one a male. The fox being reared by Inky is outgrowing his sister but in the zset for life, sister seems to have the edge.

KINDER
Mrs. Butler says that the benevolence of Mrs. Cat and

WANDER AWAY
The little foxes sometimes wander away from their respective family groups. Mama Cat sometimes checks. She may, by error, go first to Inky's child. One sniff, though, and she realizes her mistake. The same applies to Inky. Each mother knows her own adopted baby.

The foxes are also keenly aware which mama is which. Take them away from their mothers and place them across the room. They infallibly go right back to their proper family groups.

Mama Cat lets her child wander around to a limited degree. When she thinks the fox has gone far enough, she goes after her. Seizing her firmly by the nape of the neck Mrs. Cat lugs the unprotesting little animal back where she should be.

What will the Butlers do with the foxes when they have outgrown the need for Mrs. Cat and Inky? Mike shrugs when asked. "We'll wait and see," he said. "It all depends on what happens."

Three Pleas Of Guilty Entered
Three guilty pleas were accepted in Howard County Court on Friday afternoon. Jack Scoggins, charged with DWI, was fined $50 and placed on three months probation. Norma Clark, worthless check, was fined $25; and N. Guzman, charged with DWI, drew a fine of $50 and was placed on probation for six months.

In each case the defendants were assessed costs in the case in addition to any fines levied.
