French Announce New 'Deal' To End Strikes

By ALLAN A. PRIAULX

PARIS (UPI)—France today announced a revolutionary new wages and hours deal to end paralyzing strikes by 10 million workers. But some Communist-dominated unions vowed to strike on until the government is overthrown, and police reported an extremist plot to use bloodshed to block peace.

Thousands of students, disgruntled at what they called a labor sellout to the affluent manufacturing class, called mass protests tonight. The Interior Ministry said extremists had stockpiled weapons to turn the protests into bloody riots.

An announcement by the Interior Ministry, which controls police, warned that "the government has taken the necessary measures to make sure that law will prevail." Some Communist leaders who first endorsed the strike settlement appeared to be waver ng but said student demonstrators were being egged on by the K. S. Central Intelligence Agency.

French workers who ventured forth today found nothing had changed.

Public transport was still not running and it took hours to get anywhere, either by hitchhiking or driving with dwindling gasoline supplies. Highways were choked with other cars trying to reach the heart of the city.

Electrical workers staged nuisance strikes which sent the power supply flickering on and off. They are not covered by the agreements with private industry.

Rain swept the streets and soaked the uncollected garbage heaps and the refuse poured from cans and paper bags into the paths of pedestrians and cars.

Clusters of office workers made the hard trip into the city only to find their offices closed.

Some banks reopened but reserves of cash had not been replenished and hundreds of persons were turned back disappointed, still unable to cash a check.

Observers here said the first reaction to the accord is a judgment of almost total victory for the 10 million workers who had frozen France with strikes and the occupation of more than 300 factories.

There had been fears the large Communist-led unions would purposely balk at settlement in order to continue the general strike and further deepen the woes of France and de Gaulle's regime.

The agreement was the second immediate stroke of good fortune for De Gaulle Sunday. The secretary-general of his party, Robert Poujade, won an unexpectedly large and victorious vote in a race for a seat on the Dijon city council.

New N. Viet Offensive?

US Troops, Reds In Two Major Battles

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI) —North Vietnamese troops fought two major battles with American forces near Dak To Sunday night, U.S. military spokesmen said today. The Communists lost 150 dead while destroying two vehicles in an armored column.

Possibly it marked the opening of an expected North Vietnamese offensive in the Central Highlands.

The clashes followed earlier weekend action which saw 410 North Vietnamese killed while attacking the northern frontier Marine base of Dong Ha.

In Saigon American military spokesmen said that for the first time North Vietnamese were using radar-directed 100mm guns against American planes. American jets struck at 16 such gun positions in Sunday raids.

Destroy Two Vehicles

The American armored column fought its battle with a North Vietnamese battalion near Ben Het, the largest Special Forces base in Vietnam. The Communists destroyed two vehicles and boarded several others with satchel charges in an attempt to blow them up, Dennis Ross, UPI newsfilm correspondent, reported.

In another battle less than two miles away more than 1,000 North Vietnamese attacked an American artillery base after an hour-long shelling with mortar rounds filled with tear gas charges.

The Communists then charged the perimeter base and broke through the barbed wire. U.S. spokesmen said the attackers were driven out and left behind 79 dead. They said 14 Americans died and 56 were wounded in the battle.

Fighting near Dong Ha ranged from one to four miles from the supply and headquarters base just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) dividing North and South Vietnam. Allied losses included 26 Marines killed and 45 wounded, while South Vietnamese units suffered "very light" losses.

Only Agreement Is To Meet 'Again Friday

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam told the United States today it must halt bombing and "all other acts of war" against the North if it wants Vietnam peace talks. The United States asked Hanoi to quit distorting facts and get down to talks aimed at a "just and honorable peace."

U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Hanoi's chief envoy Xuan Thuy held their fifth and longest session. It lasted four hours and 10 minutes. It brought no sign of a breakthrough in their stalemate, but they agreed to try again on Friday.

As in the past four sessions this one was marked by some blunt talk on both sides. At one point Thuy looked directly at Harriman and asked:

"I am waiting, gentlemen, for a reply to this question: When will the United States cease unconditionally its bombing and all other acts of war on the whole territory of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam, in order to allow the discussions to proceed then to other questions of interest to the two countries?"

Thuy reiterated earlier charges of alleged American "perfidy" for refusing to discuss a bombing halt and raising other questions. Harriman flatly rejected Thuy's assertion the United States had agreed to come here merely to discuss a bombing halt.

Harriman said the talks were being held on the basis of President Johnson's March 31 speech announcing limitation of bombing of the north.

"We reject the suggestion now being urged by you that the only reason for our meetings is to give the hour and date of the cessation of bombing," Harriman said. "This suggestion falls by its own weight, because if that were the reason, no meeting would have been necessary."

Harriman criticized what he called Thuy's wide variety of unfounded charges and accusations and described Thuy's claims of alleged Viet Cong successes as "not only grossly wrong but sheer fantasy."

In previous sessions each side has merely read prepared statements. These statements became more and more sharp and were promptly handed to newsmen, hardly the route of successful diplomatic negotiation.

American officials said such propaganda exchanges are inevitable in the first stage of any conference at which Communists sit on one side of the table.

CoC Participates In New Tourist Boosting Project

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce is participating in an area program designed to add new tourist income for the communities working together in the effort, it has been announced by Harold Barrett, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The program is built around a "Land of Coronado" theme and will use outdoor advertising, window cards and table cards to acquaint tourists with the area's attractions.

Twenty-three outdoor advertising boards are the principal sources of tourist information in the program. In addition to an overall coverage of area attractions, a welcome to Texas and a "Fun Tour Ahead" slogan, the communities participating in the program will have signs about specific attractions. Pampa's sign will promote the area in general. The sign will also say "Stop in Pampa."

The window cards for display in hotels, service stations and eating places will have complete information on area tourist attractions. The same information will also be found on the table cards for restaurants and cafes.

"The tourist dollar is a so-called 'new' dollar, which otherwise wouldn't find its way into a community. If nine tourist cars a day stop in our community over-night, the economic gain is the same as adding a $100,000 a year industrial payroll. As many as 10,000 tourist cars pass through this region daily, so the prospects are there. The opportunity for repeat business is there, too, if tourists enjoy their stay in our community and tell their friends to stop when they vacation," Barrett said.

The outdoor signs will be on display during July and August

Soviet Bomber Crash Cause Is Still Unknown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cause of the crash of a Soviet bomber which buzzed a U.S. aircraft carrier in the Norwegian Sea remained a puzzle today.

The Soviet plane, a TU16 Badger, went down in flames Saturday moments after making a fourth low-level pass over the carrier Essex. Parts of the bodies of three men from the plane, which normally carries a crew of seven, were found.

In Washington, Defense Department officials said that U.S. forces "in no way interfered with, hampered or threatened the Soviet aircraft at any time or in any way prior to the crash."

In Moscow, Soviet news media were silent on the subject and there was no confirmation of the crash by Soviet officials.

It was considered unlikely, in any case, that the Soviets would admit one of their planes buzzed an American ship.

Commencement Tonight

Parable Explained At Senior Vesper Service

By WANDA MAE HUFF
Pampa News Staff Writer

After marching into the Pampa High School Field House Sunday to the chords of "Pomp and Circumstance" the 324 graduating seniors heard Rev. T.O. Upshaw pastor of Central Baptist Church, explain the parable of "The Foolish Farmer."

Using the scripture Luke 12: 13-21 for his vespers sermon, Rev. Upshaw said "by the standards of the world today, this farmer was successful, was an industrious man who knew how to provide for the future. These were good qualities to be admired, but God called him a foolish man because he had four foolish conceptions."

His first, Rev. Upshaw said was a "foolish conception about ownership. What he possessed belonged to God. He had a foolish conception about security. He thought security came by materialism. He left God out of his life and failed to realize faith made him secure."

"The third point was a foolish conception about peace. The farmer said 'eat, drink and be merry.' He failed to realize the full meaning of what Jesus said 'it is more blessed to give' than to receive," Rev. Upshaw said.

The last was a "foolish conception about the life beyond. The things he owned possessed him. His scarlet sin was being wrapped up in himself. He met God with a self-centered life because he failed to realize the significance of what Jesus meant when He said 'what would it profit a man if he gained the whole world and lose his own soul,'" Rev. Upshaw explained.

Other ministers participating in the annual vespers service were Rev. Monroe Woods Jr., St. Mark Methodist Church pastor, invocation; Rev. Martin Ha-

Malone Tells Local Group...

Groundwork Needed For Training School In Pampa

By TEX DEWEESE
Executive Editor

A great deal of groundwork needs to be done before a solid foundation can be laid for an areawide vocational-technical training school in Pampa.

This was the counsel given today by Dr. James F. Malone, Pampa's new school superintendent, who was an invited guest at a meeting of business, industrial, school, city and county officials to discuss problems related to the establishment of such a school on the secondary level as suggested at a public hearing last week by George Hinson, chairman of the House Education Committee of the Texas Legislature.

Dr. Malone, who will become superintendent here on July 1, was introduced by school board president John Gikas and was asked to offer any suggestions he might have to make.

He stated that five important steps need to be taken and that his study of the Pampa situation shows that only one of these has been taken so far — an areawide survey among industries. Among other steps ranking in importance he included a complete counseling program, student survey, an adequate building, and, of course, methods of financing.

Dr. Malone stressed before an application could be successfully processed the first requisite would be definite figures on student attendance.

Additional surveys need to be prepared, Dr. Malone stated, and added that when he takes over duties as superintendant, the training school will be one of his first projects.

"We hope to develop the finest comprehensive educational program possible," Dr. Malone said, "and the first thing when I get here will be to start on this program."

Dr. Malone expressed the thought that there would be need for an areawide program bringing in surrounding towns in the Pampa area. He stated he thought there should be a meeting of school superintendents from surrounding districts to bring those area into the plan.

"If we can assure enough students the school district can support it," he said.

W. F. Taylor, living north of Pampa, recorded .20.

Melancholy Seniors End School Years

By BILL MARTIN
Daily News Staff Writer

School's out, the books are put up, the students are scattered and the long hallways are empty and barren.

These are the lonely times for the students, especially the seniors who will rarely frequent these halls again. They are the empty hours right up until the diplomas are received, and moreso afterward when the students go back for one last look.

One senior girl was overheard saying, with tears in her eyes as she peered down the long idle hallway, "It's so sad. I don't know what I'm going to do now. Especially when the fall term begins next year and I'll be in another school. Maybe it'll wear off before then, I don't know." The last few words were barely audible as she choked back a sob. But the tears came, regardless.

Another boy who spent many long hours in the gymnasium spoke also with an empty heart as he stared over the empty court and bleachers. Again, sadness.

Scenes like this are probably being played not only in Pampa, but everywhere as thoughts are going back to the first football game, or pershaps the first assembly or some other local school event.

Tomorrow Last Day In Runoff Absentee Voting

With tomorrow the last day for voting absentee in the June Democratic Party runoff primary, 121 votes have been cast in the Gray County clerk's office, according to deputy clerk Mrs. Joyce Combs.

Only seven returns on 26 ballots mailed out have been returned so far and voting was reported to be light today.

Total number of absentee votes cast expected to be far short of those recorded in 1966 and 1962 when voters cast county-wide ballots on local elections. In 1966, a total of 298 absentee ballots were cast in the Democratic Party's runoff primary between A. J. Carubbi and Bill Craig for the post of county judge. The 1962 runoff primary, which featured races between gubernatorial candidates John Connally and Don Yarborough, Clyde Carruth and Bill Craig for county judge, and Nat Lunsford and Clyde Organ for county commissioner, attracted 288 absentee votes.

Only those who voted in the May 4 Democratic primary, and those who did not vote at all then, are eligible to vote in the runoff primary, County Clerk Charlie Thut reminded voters.

The June 1 runoff primary will feature two races to be voted on county-wide and one to be voted on locally.

Gubernatorial candidates Don Yarborough and Preston Smith will vie for the Democratic Party's banner, and James A Joy of Plainview will oppose Jack Hazlewood of Amarillo for the post of associate justice of the 7th Court of Appeals, in the

Court Rules Out 'Choice' School Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court today ruled out freedom-of choice plans for desegregating southern schools if other methods are available to do the job better.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court today declared Constitutional a 1965 law forbidding the burning of draft cards.

The court action marked the first time since its 1954 school desegregation decision that it had taken a broad look at the results. For the most part, it has left details to lesser tribunals.

The court was unanimous in supporting three opinions on the subject written by Jutice William J. Brennan Jr.

Brennan said the court is not

Bills Should Aid Farmers' Credit, Price Reports

WASHINGTON (SPL) —Two bills passed by the House last week should help farmers who are in need of credit and operating loans, according to Panhandle Congressman Bob Price.

One of the resolutions, sponsored by Price in the House Agriculture Committee, will authorize advancement of $30 million in Commodity Credit Corp. funds to the Emergency Revolving Fund administered by the Farmers Home Administration.

"All 30 counties now included in the 18th Congressional District, and also Hale County are now designated as emergency areas making farmers and ranchers in those counties eligible for 3 percent loans from the fund," Price said. The Senate has also passed the bill.

"The Administration continues to withhold $25-million which was appropriated last year for the fund," Price said, "leaving thousands of farmers without a source of credit at the critical start of the growing season. It is imperative that these funds become available immediately or these farmers and ranchers will be forced out of business."

Price noted that the emergency fund has an excellent record of repayment. "Over the past

Church Slates Dedication, Open House At New Hall Here Today

An instructive program has been prepared in connection with the dedication and open house of the newly-constructed Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses at 17th and Coffee Streets, Clarence Newcomb, a special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, arrived in Pampa today to conduct the ceremonies and be principle speaker.

"Newcomb is no stranger to the Witnesses in this area. He has served twice in the past as circuit supervisor from 1959 to 1961 and from 1963 to 1964. During the latter period he was instrumental in the plans of the now completed building project." C. A. Regal of the church said today.

Gerald D. Grizzle, the present circuit supervisor, will speak on the subject "Expansion of the New World Society." The growth of the congregations in this area is only a part of the increase that has now spread to 197 different land and numbers about 40,000 annually, Regal said.

A former Pampa resident now serving the North congregation of Amarillo, Luther Plattor, is also on the program. He will review the history of the congregation from its earliest beginnings in 1930.

"The public is welcome not only to visit the building during open house this afternoon and evening, but to attend the sessions planned for the program beginning at 7:30 p.m.," Regal added.

disallowing all freedom - of-choice plans, although experience to date indicates they have been ineffective in promoting integration.

"Where it offers real promise of aiding a desegregation program to effectuate conversion of a state-imposed dual system to a unitary, nonracial system there might be no objection to allowing such a device to prove itself in operation," the opinion said.

"On the other hand, if there are reasonably available other ways, such for illustration as zoning, promising speedier and more effective conversion to a unitary, nonracial school system, 'freedom of choice' must be held unacceptable."

Price said it would be tragic if thousands more of our farmers and ranchers were forced off the land through the inability to obtain emergency financing. "Many have already been hurt by adverse weather conditions and natural disasters that created an unprecendented need for emergency loans," he said "Congress has now shown its intention that these funds be made available, and it is hoped that the transfer is effected immediately."

The other bill also approved by the House Agriculture Committee, would help Federal intermediate banks and production credit associations to obtain additional capital funds from non-government sources.

Jr. Pythians Slate Fishing Trip Friday

Members of Pampa Chapter No. 70, Pi Delta Pi, Junior Order Knights of Pythias, held a special meeting Sunday evening at the Pythian Hall and about 301 members of the Chapter made plans to attend a three-day camp-out at Lake Altus, Okla.

They plan to leave Friday and return Sunday evening. Knight J. C. Hopkins, advisor, and assistant advisors Robert Elliott, Danny Robbins and B. B. Altman, Jr., will be in charge of the trip. Several other members of Pampa Lodge No. 480, sponsor of the trip, along with some of the members' fathers, will accompany the boys. Any member unable to attend yesterday's meeting and who plans to go on the trip should contact one of the advisors and be at the special check-in meeting to be held Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Pythian Hall, Lodge representatives said.

"We can't all become experts on tourism overnight. But if we are courteous to visitors and know the attractions in our area, we can reap many economic benefits. A new dollar moves, on the average, seven times before it leaves a community, so there is benefit for all in a program of this type," Barrett concluded.

Americans Say Religion Losing Influence In U.S.

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)— The proportion of Americans who believe religion is losing its influence on the country's life has risen from 14 per cent in 1957 to 67 per cent today, according to a Gallup poll.

The Gallup report said that five surveys between 1957 and the present showed a steadily increasing number of Americans of all faiths and ages seeing a decline in religion influence.

The polltakers said most persons holding this view cited one of four reasons:

"Young people are losing interest in formal religion—other influences are becoming more meaningful; growing crime, immorality and violence; materialistic distractions; the church is not playing its proper role (some say that the church is not keeping up with the times, but as many say it is too involved in social and political issues)."

The report said that in 1957 only 7 per cent of the Catholics polled held these views, compared to 61 per cent today. Among Protestants, the percentage rose from 17 in 1957 to 69 today.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about people who just walk into your house because the door isn't locked? Many times I will tell my grocer to set my groceries inside my door instead of on the back porch, and I leave the door unlocked for him.

Well, this neighbor lady tried my back door, and, finding it unlocked, she walked right in. She yoo-hooed and nobody answered because my husband was in the shower. He thought he heard someone come in, and, thinking it was me, he walked out. She said she heard the shower running, and, thinking it was me, she walked in. They met in the hall.

Now my husband can't face her and wants to move. We have lived in this house for 36 years and I think he's silly. What do you suggest?

DEAR EMBARRASSED: A towel and another "yoo-hoo" at the right place and the right time would have saved the day. Stay where you are; and tell courage her, you've encouraged fascinating as he may think.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound like a silly problem to you but it is serious to me. My bones crack. Honestly, when I am sitting in one place for a while and then start walking, my knee cracks. It doesn't hurt, but it is very embarrassing.

When I eat, sometimes my jaw snaps. If you are laughing at me I can't blame you, Abby, but I sure wish you would tell me if there is anything I can do about my problem.

"CRACKY"

DEAR CRACKY: Grin and bear it. The "problem" is grossly exaggerated only because it is your own. How much attention would you give to the "cracking" of someone else's knee? Or the snapping of his jaw? Not much, I'll bet.

DEAR ABBY: I have preschool children and a large home to care for, but I schedule my time so that everything gets done. When the children nap, I read, write letters, and relax alone, which I enjoy.

At that precise time, invariably a certain neighbor barges in on me with her children. She helps herself to refreshments, then settles down for an endless outpouring of gossip, unasked-for advice and a monologue of opinions on various subjects. She is a terrible bore.

I would pretend not to be home but she can see my car in the garage. At first, I found her entertaining, but now she comes so often. I've taken a dislike to her. Please tell me what to do,but don't use my name or location. She has a vicious tongue and would make a better friend than an enemy.

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: People who open their doors to bores and tolerate their company day after day have only themselves to blame. By your failure to discourage her, you've encuraged her. If you had to decide between having this rude, vicious gossipy pest for a friend or an enemy, I think you made an unwise choice.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Drysdale Sets Baseball Record In Blanking Houston By 5-0

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

All they worry about is giving 100 per cent in every game and maybe that's why they're growing old gracefully in a sport usually referred to as a young man's game. Both still are playing for the teams with which they started in the 1950s —the Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs respectively—and implanting their names firmly in the record book.

The 32-your-old Drysdale tied the National League record of four consecutive shutouts when he beat the Houston Astros 5-0 Sunday while the 37-year-old Banks became the 11th player in major league history to hit 450 lifetime homers in a 4-2 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.

Unaware of Record

"I didn't know anything about the record until I was told after the game," said Drysdale, whose 45 shutouts place him No. 9 on the all-time NL list. "I've never been a record addict. I just try to get the job done. If I get it done, OK. If I don't and give it 100 per cent, that's all I worry about."

"There's no reason I can't continue to play every day for a number of years," said Banks. "Mental attitude means everything in baseball. I love this game and if I can walk on the field I'll play. I'd like to hit 500 homers before I retire and I don't think the goal is too far off."

Drysdale pitched a six-hitter, struck out six and walked two in scoring his fourth straight shutout and fifth of the season. He now shares the NL mark of four consecutive shutouts with Mordecia Brown, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Ed Reulbach, Bill Lee and Sal Maglie and is one shy of the major league mark set by Doc White of the 1904 Chicago White Sox. Drysdale's 38 consecutive scoreless innings are 18 short of the major league record held by Walter Johnson.

Adds Two Hits

Drysdale also singled home the Dodgers' first run in the third inning and had another single during a two-run ninth-inning rally.

Banks hit two homers Sunday, the first a two-run drive which gave the Cubs a 3-0 lead in the first inning and the second a solo shot in the fourth. Both were off Mike McCormick, a 22-game winner last season who suffered his fifth setback against four victories this year.

The Philadelphia Phillies whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 9-3, the Atlanta Braves nipped the New York Mets 2-1 and the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds played an 8-8 tie in other National League games.

The Oakland Athletics beat the Detroit Tigers 7-6, the Baltimore Orioles shaded the Washington Senators 8-7, the Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 5-4, the Cleveland Indians downed the California Angels 5-2 and the New York Yankees swept the Chicago White Sox 5-1 and 7-6 in American League games.

Allen Scores Four

Richie Allen drove in four homers and a single as the Phillies dealt the Cardinals their ninth loss in 11 games. Woody Fryman went the distance for the Phillies, although tagged for 10 hits, to win his sixth game of the season.

Phil Niekro won his fourth game for the Braves in a contest cut to six innings by rain in Atlanta. Hank Aaron tripled home the Braves' first run and Tito Francona singled home the other as Tom Seaver suffered his fourth loss for the Mets.

Rain wiped out a ninth-inning run by the Pirates with the score reverting to the 8-8 tie which existed at the end of eight full innings. Gene Alley had three hits for the Pirates and Vada Pinson and Fred Whitfield drove in three runs each for the Reds during the free-hitting game.

Yankee Tennis Team Wins

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— It's on to Charlotte, N.C., and the finals of the American Zone Davis Cup finals for the United States' triumphant tennis team.

The quartet of Arthur Ashe, Clark Graebner and newcomers Stan Smith and Bob Lutz demolished the highly rated Mexican team over the weekend with a five match sweep that gave the U.S. the North American zone Davis Cup series.

Either Ecuador or Chile, now battling for the South American zone title, will furnish the competition in the Charlotte matches June 7-9.

Afhe and Graebner completed the sweep Sunday by winning straight set singles matches from Mexico's best, Rafael Osuna and Joaquin Loyo-Mayo.

Graebner overpowered Osuna, 10-8, 6-3, 6-2, and Ashe took the measure of Loyo-Mayo, 6-4, 8-6, 6-2.

Actually, collegians Smith and Lutz, both from the University of Southern California, scored the clincher Saturday. They teamed to post a come-from-behind 4-6, 6-3, 9-7, 10-8 doubles win over Osuna and Vincente arazua.

Whitworth Conquers Putting Fears To Win Dallas Women's Event

By ED FITE

DALLAS (KPI)—Kathy Whitworth, who says short putts "scare the tar out of me," conquered her fears well enough Sunday to win the Dallas Civitan Women's Open golf tournament — her second triumph of the year—with a 4-under-par 209.

The 27-year-old Texan had nothing but short putts on her final 2-under-par 33-36—69 round over the 6,100-yard par 35-36—71 Glen Lakes Country Club course when she beat this year's No. 1 money winner, Carol Mann, by one stroke.

She sank two birdie putts of four feet and two of three feet and a score or more par putts of around the same distance as her short iron game continued in the same groove that made her the only golfer in the field to conquer par all three days.

"I usually get the short ones down, but like everybody else, I guess, they scare the tar out of me," Miss Whitworth commented after dropping the four-foot birdie tap on the 18th green that sealed her victory and $2 775 first money.

Miss Mann, bidding for her fourth tour victory, finished with a 33-35—68 and a 54-hole total of 210 that earned her $2,120 and boosted her No. 1 total to $13,270 compared with $11,845 for Miss Whitworth. A pair of missed short putts won for a par on No. 11 and the other for a birdie on No. 16, cost Miss Mann her big chance.

Sandra Palmer, the one-time North Texas State cheerleader, who led by one stroke going cnto the final round, lost her lead to Miss Whitworth by the second hole and scrambled all afternoon before winding up with a 37-36—73 and third place at 212. That was worth $1,680 and was the best finish of her five-year pro career.

Judy Kimball, and Clifford Ann Creed shot 69 and 70 respectively to finish at 213 and earn $1,270 each, while Mickey Wright, Jkdy Rankin and Sandra Hanie were at 241, worth $821.66 each. Miss Wright shot a final round 73 but the other two fired 69s.

'Tomato Juice' Wins At Memphis

By JIM EVANS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)— Californian Bob Lunn credits a new driver and an old putter for the four rounds of sub-par golf that gave him the $20,000 top prize Sunday in the 11th annual Memphis Open.

Lunn, 23, a Sacramento, Calif., native who bills himself as the 'tomato juice kid," toured Colonial Country Club with a three-under-par 67, which when matched with a first round 65 and two 68's gave him a 72-hole total of 268, 12-under par.

Another public links titlist, Monty Kaser, 26, nailed down the $12,000 second place money with a birdie on the par 5, 18th to outstrip Lou Graham, Saturday's leader, who faltered on No. 15 with a bogey and on No. 16 with a double-bogey.

Graham and B.R. (Mac) McLendon, another early leader in the tournament, tied for third place and carried home $6,250 each.

"I always thought I could win," the soft-spoken Lunn told newsmen in the clubhouse after his victory. "It will take me a while to get used to it."

He said he felt the new driver he had had for a "month or so" had helped his game.

Eut Lunn won with an eagle on the 500-yard, par-five 16th hole when his two-iron shot from the middle of the fairway dropped the ball 12 feet from the pin. He canned it with an "old bullseye putter I've been using for years."

"I've often thought about changing and trying another," said Lunn, "but I just never got around to it.

Player failed to make the cut, but Palmer and Nicklaus remained in contention.

Palmer, ending with an eight-under-par 272, collected $2,620 as his share of a five-way tie for eighth place while Nicklaus, finishing with a 275, was paid $1,500 in a three-way tie for 17th.

Drysdale Sets Baseball Record In Blanking Houston By 5-0

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

All they worry about is giving 100 per cent in every game and maybe that's why they're growing old gracefully in a sport usually referred to as a young man's game. Both still are playing for the teams with which they started in the 1950s —the Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs respectively—and implanting their names firmly in the record book.

The 32-your-old Drysdale tied the National League record of four consecutive shutouts when he beat the Houston Astros 5-0 Sunday while the 37-year-old Banks became the 11th player in major league history to hit 450 lifetime homers in a 4-2 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.

Unaware of Record

"I didn't know anything about the record until I was told after the game," said Drysdale, whose 45 shutouts place him No. 9 on the all-time NL list. "I've never been a record addict. I just try to get the job done. If I get it done, OK. If I don't and g.ve it 100 per cent, that's all I worry about."

"There's no reason I can't continue to play every day for a number of years," said Banks. "Mental attitude means everything in baseball. I love this game and if I can walk on the field I'll play. I'd like to hit 500 homers before I retire and I don't think the goal is too far off."

Drysdale pitched a six-hitter, struck out six and walked two in scoring his fourth straight shutout and fifth of the season. He now shares the NL mark of four consecutive shutouts with Mordecia Brown, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Ed Reulbach, Bill Lee and Sal Maglie and is one shy of the major league mark set by Doc White of the 1904 Chicago White Sox. Drysdale's 38 consecutive scoreless innings are 18 short of the major league record held by Walter Johnson.

Adds Two Hits

Drysdale also singled home the Dodgers' first run in the third inning and had another single during a two-run ninth-inning rally.

Banks hit two homers Sunday, the first a two-run drive which gave the Cubs a 3-0 lead in the first inning and the second a solo shot in the fourth. Both were off Mike McCormick, a 22-game winner last season who suffered his fifth setback against four victories this year.

The Philadelphia Phillies whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 9-3, the Atlanta Braves nipped the New York Mets 2-1 and the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds played an 8-8 tie in other National League games.

The Oakland Athletics beat the Detroit Tigers 7-6, the Baltimore Orioles shaded the Washington Senators 8-7, the Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 5-4, the Cleveland Indians downed the California Angels 5-2 and the New York Yankees swept the Chicago White Sox 5-1 and 7-6 in American League games.

Allen Scores Four

Richie Allen drove in four homers and a single as the Phillies dealt the Cardinals their ninth loss in 11 games. Woody Fryman went the distance for the Phillies, although tagged for 10 hits, to win his sixth game of the season.

Phil Niekro won his fourth game for the Braves in a contest cut to six innings by rain in Atlanta. Hank Aaron tripled home the Braves' first run and Tito Francona singled home the other as Tom Seaver suffered his fourth loss for the Mets.

Rain wiped out a ninth-inning run by the Pirates with the score reverting to the 8-8 tie which existed at the end of eight full innings. Gene Alley had three hits for the Pirates and Vada Pinson and Fred Whitfield drove in three runs each for the Reds during the free-hitting game.

Whitworth Conquers Putting Fears To Win Dallas Women's Event

By ED FITE

DALLAS (KPI)—Kathy Whitworth, who says short putts "scare the tar out of me," conquered her fears well enough Sunday to win the Dallas Civitan Women's Open golf tournament — her second triumph of the year—with a 4-under-par 209.

The 27-year-old Texan had nothing but short putts on her final 2-under-par 33-36—69 round over the 6,100-yard par 35-36—71 Glen Lakes Country Club course when she beat this year's No. 1 money winner, Carol Mann, by one stroke.

She sank two birdie putts of four feet and two of three feet and a score or more par putts of around the same distance as her short iron game continued in the same groove that made her the only golfer in the field to conquer par all three days.

"I usually get the short ones down, but like everybody else, I guess, they scare the tar out of me," Miss Whitworth commented after dropping the four-foot birdie tap on the 18th green that sealed her victory and $2 775 first money.

Miss Mann, bidding for her fourth tour victory, finished with a 33-35—68 and a 54-hole total of 210 that earned her $2,120 and boosted her No. 1 total to $13,270 compared with $11,845 for Miss Whitworth. A pair of missed short putts won for a par on No. 11 and the other for a birdie on No. 16, cost Miss Mann her big chance.

Sandra Palmer, the one-time North Texas State cheerleader, who led by one stroke going cnto the final round, lost her lead to Miss Whitworth by the second hole and scrambled all afternoon before winding up with a 37-36—73 and third place at 212. That was worth $1,680 and was the best finish of her five-year pro career.

Judy Kimball, and Clifford Ann Creed shot 69 and 70 respectively to finish at 213 and earn $1,270 each, while Mickey Wright, Jkdy Rankin and Sandra Hanie were at 241, worth $821.66 each. Miss Wright shot a final round 73 but the other two fired 69s.

'Tomato Juice' Wins At Memphis

By JIM EVANS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)— Californian Bob Lunn credits a new driver and an old putter for the four rounds of sub-par golf that gave him the $20,000 top prize Sunday in the 11th annual Memphis Open.

Lunn, 23, a Sacramento, Calif., native who bills himself as the 'tomato juice kid," toured Colonial Country Club with a three-under-par 67, which when matched with a first round 65 and two 68's gave him a 72-hole total of 268, 12-under par.

Another public links titlist, Monty Kaser, 26, nailed down the $12,000 second place money with a birdie on the par 5, 18th to outstrip Lou Graham, Saturday's leader, who faltered on No. 15 with a bogey and on No. 16 with a double-bogey.

Graham and B.R. (Mac) McLendon, another early leader in the tournament, tied for third place and carried home $6,250 each.

"I always thought I could win," the soft-spoken Lunn told newsmen in the clubhouse after his victory. "It will take me a while to get used to it."

He said he felt the new driver he had had for a "month or so" had helped his game.

But Lunn won with an eagle on the 500-yard, par-five 16th hole when his two-iron shot from the middle of the fairway dropped the ball 12 feet from the pin. He canned it with an "old bullseye putter I've been using for years."

"I've often thought about changing and trying another," said Lunn, "but I just never got around to it.

Player failed to make the cut, but Palmer and Nicklaus remained in contention.

Palmer, ending with an eight-under-par 272, collected $2,620 as his share of a five-way tie for eighth place while Nicklaus, finishing with a 275, was paid $1,500 in a three-way tie for 17th.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Got The Blues?

So you're not feeling so sharp today? A bit downbeat, moody, melancholic and depressed. What seemed so rosy only a few days ago, for some imperceptible reason, loses its aura and now looms bleask, even menacing. Pleasure turned to ashes, joy to depression and a song to sorrow. Well, let's take another look and see what we can find.

This would be a strange world if one could begin his week on a peak of intensity and rise from there. No, every mountain has its valley, and every plain a promontory. So with the emotions.

We are elated at one time, downcast another. These are the hills and dales of the human psychology. One is the preparation for the other.

If we laugh on one day, if we are borne on the wings of the euphoria of magnificent plans, be assured these gay moments will be followed by the tedium and drudgery of daily tasks.

So it has been from the beginning, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground," says the Scripture.

And why should it be otherwise? Do we think we can dance our way through life, without difficulty, without pain, without expenditure of effort?

Even a fairy tale would be closer to reality than such an imaginary existence. For stories of witches and goblins at least have their quota of evil, misfortune and despair. Can we reasonably suppose actuality should be less real than an author's fancy?

Physiologists tell us the human body is so constructed it must have its cycle for recovery. Feelings are largely a product of certain glands which, when they run out of juice, require time for restoration.

If this is true, and we have every reason to believe there is something to it, emotions (commonly referred to as "feelings") are least to be trusted. For gloominess then would be not an outward condition, and external pressure bearing down on us to change our private world, but rather simply an inward attitude that causes us to interpret what we see differently from the same that we saw the day before.

What counts, therefore, is not how we "feel" for the moment, but whether we have a fixed objective and are making steady progress toward it. What matters is not the transient wave of emotion, nor the current of circumstances, but the destination.

This is the reason why the dependable workman is so valued by his associates. They know he will not be deterred by a whim, nor disheartened by misfortune, but will labor steadfastly until the job is accomplished. The test of a man is not his feelings, but how he performs in spite of them.

Got the blues? The moral is, keep trying! Chances are the only thing that's changed is the amount of juice in your bloodstream.

New Approach to JD Problem

It has long been suspected that when it comes to juvenile delinquency as with so many other things, a double standard prevails between the poor and the better-off.

Suburbia "takes care of its own" —that is, police and parents settle offenses between them short of going to court. Sociologists call it "absorption."

A just-completed study of two upper -middle- class bedroom communities near San Francisco confirss the suspicion. The project conduoted by University of California criminologists, is described by the National Observer as one of the first systematic, community-wide studies of middle-class juvenile delinquency.

It found that juvenile offenses are "absorbed" by suburbia at a rate nearly twice the national average.

Sheriff's office figures for 1967 showed that 81 per cent of the juvenile offenders in one community and 77 per cent in the other were handled within the department and released. According to the latest FBI figures, the national rate is 46 per cent.

To put it another way, in only 19 to 23 per cent of these suburban cases did the law deal further with the offenders, while nationally 54 per cent are referred to juvenile authorities.

"Somebody in the lower-class communities is getting run off to the juvenile system pretty regularly," says Robert M. Carter director of the study.

However, it would be an error to try to eliminate middle-class absorption, he says. Instead the process should be extended to and strengthened among the less-advantaged because, by avoiding branding individuals as delinquents, it work to curb delinquency.

But while lectures about loss of prestige, damage to employment chances and threat to school careers are very effective in discouraging repeat offenses among white middle class youth, the same warning would mean little to ghetto children.

Thus Carter believes that a start toward spreading the absorption process in lowerclass neighborhoods would be co-operative youth-adult community projects.

At the least, he thinks, it might build up a feeling of community identification among youngsters, which is a key factor in suburban control or "absorption," of delinquency.

Growth and Public Policies

For a clear factual account of productive growth in the United States, there is no better place to look than in the modern annual reports of corporate enterprise. The Annual Report is no longer a dry statistical summary. It is more often than not a colorfully illustrated brochure with a text that not only presents facts, but also the story of the hopes and aspirations of the company.

Typical of such reports is that of a major oil company which was sent recently to its thousands of stockholders. The report tells how the company took steps in 1967 to strengthen its petroleum refining, transportation, and marketing activities. These included the expansion of refining capacity, the enlargement of its pipeline network and the opening of many new service stations along the growing U. S. Interstate Highway System. The report is an exposition of more than the growth of a company. It is part of the growth record of the United States — the kind of growth that provides jobs, taxes and the enhancement of living standards of our people.

One part of the report is particularly significant since it illustrates an all-important fact of life that every private enterprise must face, and most emphatically a private enterprise of the stature of the oil industry. The future of the oil industry, in common with most productive activity of any consequence, rests not alone with the competence of management. As the Annual report of this company states, "The strength of the U.S. oil industry is, to a significant degree, attributable to public policies. . ."

As centralized government becomes evermore powerful, public policy on such things as tax incentives, import controls, conservation programs, and many others will be the ultimate deciding factor in the productivity of the nation and its industries.

The American Way

By D. R. SEGAL

I have lately come to realize to my vast disgust, that I know almost everybody's father. This invariable sign of decrepitude has me pretty melancholy.

A few months ago a young fellow named Manny Sanchez ran for the state House of Representatives, and when he dropped in to say hello, I said:

"Are you Manny's boy?"

He ran against John Scanlan, another young stud, and I found myself saying to John:

"I've known your Mom and Pop for years."

I knew, both times, I'd goofed. Without really trying, they both gave me that certain look that I have learned is a calculating glance. Thay are calculating whether the old Man's arteries are sufficiently hardened to prevent him from following the intricate and exquisite political discourse they are prepared to give me.

We have another fellow running for office right now—Johnny Garcia, and damned if I didn't do it again.

"Sure," I said, "I know your Dad very well. You are Alec's boy, aren't you?"

He said he was, and stepped forward in case I needed to be helped out of my chair.

Medicaresville.

However, I am first to admit that I am not of this new generation. I cannot, for example understand exactly what went on at Columbia University where some sort of insurrection violently erupted and the chancellor showed how brave he could run from it. I am all for academic freedom, and if Columbia students—any or all—want to quit going to class it is okay with me. General Hershey doesn't care either. But if they are so cockeyed strong for freedom, why did they prevent other students from going to class? This, it appears to an elderly person, is somewhat alien to freedom-fighting. A fellow who worked for a press association used to tell me his shop was a madhouse run by the inmates, and I suspect this is a pretty good description of Columbia University.

Well, that's what happens when you grow old. You simply don't relate. To be truthful, I don't relate so good to the religion of the old parties either.

We are having a big election in Texas, as this is written. Innumerable Democrats are seeking their party's nomination for governor and so is a Republican whose name I can't recall. Pax. From the amount of frantic action observed among the partisans you'd think it made some difference which of these got elected. This is the Myth of the Ballot Box, or Don't Cry, Shirley, We Will Have An Election and the Rabbit Test Will Turn Negative. Some people say a few words out of the Book and go home confident they've made everything right. Others go into the voting booth and make a magic squiggle on the paper. These are the same folks who laugh like mad when they read about the ancient Britons painting themselves blue and worshipping trees. Some Dumb, them guys.

I asked a strong partisan of one of the candidates why I ought to vote for his boy and he was shocked. He asked if I weren't interested in "good government" and I said I thought that was a brass dime, like "wholesome sin" or "elevating crime." I could tell he had me sized up for the looney bin, so I made it worse. I asked how his boy could possibly accomplish the things he had promised unless he dismissed the Legislature and declared himself emperor. He said it was a matter of "influence" which the governor could exercise over the Legislature. I said I knew for a fact legislators were easily influenced, especially by High Moral Principles, such as money and votes, but I didn't see that the last dozen or so governers were such hot items in the merchandise of individual liberty. He gave me a sour look and left.

Kennedy Aides New Pitch to Southerners: Bobby Will Move Center When Humphrey Campaigns Left

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Presidential candidate Robert Kennedy is using a strong conservative appeal to try to pry loose Democratic convention votes in the Deep South.

Almost all are currently considered nailed down by Vice President Humphrey or favorite-son candidates that lean toward Humphrey or former Alabama Governor George Wallace.

At this point in the pre-convention nomination battle, pro-Kennedy sentiment is considered almost nil among the Southern delegates.

In a major effort to end this political blackout below the Mason-Dixon line, Kennedy's campaign lieutenants are working here to convince influential Southern legislators up for re-election that come November they will find it much easier to run on a Kennedy ticket than one headed by Humphrey.

Typical of this Kennedy argument was the strong appeal made recently to Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, S.C., who is facing a stiff re-election bid and who is now uncommitted but leaning toward Humphrey.

Hollings was approached with this sales pitch by Mark Shields, former legislative aide of Senator Proxmire, now a Kennedy advance man working directly under Sen. Edward Kennedy, Mass.:

"By November it will be to your political advantage for Senator Kennedy to be the Democratic nominee. As the party's standard-bearer, Bobby would move from the political left toward the center to become a middle-of-the-road candidate.

"The Kennedy name would be enough to attract the necessary liberal support to win in the big industrial states. To defeat the GOP candidate, Bobby must address himself to the more conservative Southern and rural Midwest voters."

HUMPHREY THE LIBERAL —"If Humphrey is the Democratic nominee, the opposite will be true," Shields told Hollings.

"The Vice President will have to wage a vigorous liberal campaign to attract the votes of the North. His appeal for unity and to conservatives during the pre-convention battle will make that shift to the left necessary."

For his political clincher, Shields added: "Under those circumstances, conservative Democrats will feel a lot more comfortable with Kennedy than Humphrey, whether they are running in the South or Midwest."

After listening to the new Kennedy appeal, Hollings reported he would like to discuss it with other South Carolina Democratic leaders before making a final decision on who he will support at Chicago.

KENNEDY'S STRATEGY—In addition to this new conservative line, Kennedy's strategy for gaining political leverage in the South includes:

—Offers to pay transportation costs and expenses of delegates' wives to Chicago for the national convention.

—Give-and-take sessions with delegates from all Southern states.

—Delineation of his views on national issues through speeches before carefully selected audiences, for example, on college campuses, where his reception is likely to be sympathetic.

—Exposure to the public through press conferences and public receptions in key Southern cities.

This is much the same format Kennedy is using in the West and Midwest as he pushes his drive for primary victories in Oregon, South Dakota and California.

In order to block Humphrey's nomination on the second ballot, Kennedy's aides frankly admit that their candidate must make a break-through in the South—the geographical area of Humphrey's greatest strength — in addition to winning all the remaining primaries.

THE VICTORY KEY —Nomination at the Democratic Convention in Chicago will require 1,312 of the total 2,622 delegate votes.

Eight Deep South states, along with Texas, have 439 delegates — or slightly more than one-third of the needed number. These states and their delegates are Alabama, 32; Florida, 62; Georgia, 43; Louisiana, 36; Mississippi, 24; North Carolina, 59; South Carolina, 28; Tennessee, 51; and Texas, 104.

Kennedy's own list of delegates now shows that the New Yorker can command no more than one or two votes from any of those delegations, with the heavy majority going to Humphrey and the remainder to Wallace.

For example, former North Carolina Governor Terry Sanford, an ardent supporter of the late President Kennedy, already has rejected Kennedy's appeal and is working for a Humphrey ticket with Texas Governor John Connally as his running-mate.

But in this year of political surprises, it is still not safe to write off Kennedy's so-far- unsuccessful drive for delegates in the South.

THE ROCKEFELLER CAMPAIGN — Governor Nelson Rockefeller's reluctance to spell out a farm program is due to the advice he is receiving from Sen. James B. Pearson, Kan., his Midwest campaign coordinator.

Pearson has bluntly counseled:

"Remain silent now. The farm vote does not count much any more. The farm problem is so complex and farmers so sharply divided that any specific proposal would probably please only one farmer in five and alienate the others."

Instead of having Rockefeller adopt a farm policy before the GOP National Convention in Miami, Pearson has advised the New York governor to tell farm groups and reporters only that he will meet with farm leaders later this year and come up with a farm program at that time.

In Nebraska, GOP leaders claim that Rockefeller's failure to have a farm program was one of the major reasons for his poor showing in that state's recent presidential primary.

His write-in effort produced only five per cent of the vote, compared to seventy per cent for former Vice President Nixon, and 22 per cent for California's Governor Reagan.

POLITICAL FLASHES — Largely unnoticed in the Nixon-Rockefeller battle is the leadership of five former Republican national chairmen in the belated drive to round-up delegates for the New York governor. They are Senators Thruston Morton, Ky., and Hugh Scott, Pa., William Miller, Barry Goldwater's 1964 vice-presidential running mate, Meade Alcorn, and Leonard Hall. In 1960 all these men were helping the Nixon campaign. . . .Vice President Humphrey now lays claim to most of the delegates from Wyoming, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, Arizona, Alaska, and Maryland. If these can be added to the Humphrey strength in the South, impressive delegate totals can be put together. . . . The Democratic Study Group in Congress is circulating a letter requesting financial support for campaigns to oust the 47 Republican freshmen elected in the 1966 campaign. One of the letters was sent by mistake to Rep. Dan H. Kuykendall, Tenn., one of the GOP freshmen. He was unmoved by the appeal.

LESSON FROM THE SWISS

A charming Swiss chemist was talking with me the other day about inflation and the effects of our dollar and gold crisis. It is always instructive to talk with people of other countries, who have had centuries more of government shenanigans than we have had. You can learn things from a pro. The Swiss franc has actually behaved very well for a long time and we discuss the reasons behind this. He explained that in his country government advanced in size very slowly, and this was why many people thought of Switzerland as being backward. They have great difficulty in putting in federal improvements and they can't even afford a standing army. It seems that this has been a major factor in keeping them out of war. They can't afford such luxuries and so they have to struggle along without these modern improvements.

The Swiss political system includes a proviso that anyone wishing to vote a blank ballot may do so. But the unique feature is that a blank ballot is counted as being opposed to whatever is being offered. So it is tallied against the overall majority that is obtained.

Blank ballots are, therefore, constantly cutting down majorities. And in many instances, a certain size majority is necessary to get anything enacted. The Swiss people have, apparently for years, turned in lots of blanks. I was informed by my friend that just about any proposition that is offered is going to be rejected overwhelmingly the first time around. And perhaps it will be turned down repeatedly. This has had an effect on the morale of the Swiss politician, who has found that a career in business is going to be much more rewarding than the gloomy halls of repeated defeat suffered at the hands of faceless and blank balloteers. And this, of course, accounts for the relative stability of the Swiss franc. The men in government would like to borrow money and go into debt and do all the other progressive things that we do. But they haven't been able to work it out. So in Switzerland the government leaves a person's bank deposits alone and can't even peer into your safety deposit vault. I suppose if the Swiss ever do get into a war, this will change; for in ware every kind of outrage, including the violation of privacy, is encouraged.

But my Swiss friend was telling me about the time when the Swiss franc was devalued. He was a small lad and remembered reading about it in the paper. He recalled the verbiage of political manipulators, who assured the Swiss people that their franc would always be a franc and would always do what it had always done. But even as these assurances were forthcoming, a loaf of bread was being priced upward by fifty per cent, as the franc dropped in purchasing power.

He looked at me to see if he was challenging my patriotism and then hazarded that he thought he detected a similar situation in this country. That is the way with foreigners. They are so blasted polite.

I told him I had detected it, and I believe I added several rather direct phrases of confirmation.

The conversation was reassuring, of course, because the Swiss had survived that devaluation and were still in the same place, fighting off their government and managing to stay at peace with the world. Lots of my friends in this country are taking out Swiss bank accounts and I have even heard that American assets are being sent abroad to get them out of the way of tax collectors and other political manipulations.

H. L. Hunt Writes

"WHAT CAN I DO?"

Patriots who wish their support of the Republic to be known can write letters to editors. The writer should bear in mind that, if published, his letter will be scanned by three times the number of the paper's total circulation and if not published, will alert the staff who peruse it of "good news items" for liberty's side. If published, a letter will inspire others to voice their opinions for freedom.

Every news staff has one or more patriotic members. These persons may be letting their ideas lie dormant, fearing that they cannot overcome the pressure of leftist opinions. Determined freedomists can help bring their thoughts to light by writing letters favoring the personal enterprise system which will be read by such staffmen.

It is advantageous to use the circulation of newspapers, read by most U. S. citizens daily, to voice views for the freedom side. News publishers and editors find it good public relations to print prevalent public opinion. If patriots will express their views in volume, the news media will discover the popularity of freedom, and devote maximum space to news in praise of liberty.

Every conceivable action should be taken to save our Republic. Freedom of the press is an obvious and vital component of our system of government; and writing letters to the editor is a constructive action every citizen can take to support it. "Write letters to the editor" is a perfect answer to the question, "What can I do to help the cause of liberty?"

Paul H. Douglas who is chairman of commission on urban problems, has come out with another idea for taking away the citizens freedom.

He says Negroes are not being let into the fancy suburban areas because people want to build on lots of ½ acre or more. He wants to do away with letting people decide what size lot to put their houses on.

He says buying the size lot you want is a barrier to the goals of the open-housing law. But he comes from where the corn blows in Illinois and is a ex-parrot on talkin out of both sides of his mouth.

In the next breath he says he ain't in favor of suburbs built up with apartments and row houses. But he wants every suburb to have at least 11 percent Negro occupants.

Now if the government is going to say you can only have a 50 ft. lot and can't even buy two lots if you want to, then how are you going to have anything else but row houses and apartments?

It ain't suburbs that have trouble, its the cities, where everybody is crowded together. Old PhD wants to make cities out of suburbs so the riots can start all over. There's too many of them geezers around who are gettin paid to prove they've got more bees in their bonnet than the next guy.

Why is an airship called a blimp? The World Almanac says the term blimp was first applied to lighter-than-air ships during World War I when the British were experimenting with various nonrigid craft. One experimental model they made was called the A-limp. The second was the B-limp, which quickly became blimp.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

A Joyful Candidate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A quick search of the record indicates Hubert Humphrey is the first joyful presidential candidate since Al Smith campaigned as "The Happy Warrior" in 1928.

This is not to say the others were dour. They merely were more restrained in the emission of good cheer. Which is quite understandable, considering what happened to Smith.

It remains to be seen whether the gladsome approach will work better for Humphrey. He injected a modicum of ebullience in the West Virginia primary in 1960, only to be done in by the late John F. Kennedy, a master of the wry grin.

Since 1964, however, Humphrey has had a lot of time to practice being radiant. That is about all a vice president is allowed to do.

Rising Spirits

This year he has been doing very well in the polls so far. Thus it would appear the market for political exultation is rising.

If Humphrey continues to run in the van, we may expect that many candidates for Congress and other offices will adopt his style. Already, I am told, some of them are taking jubilation lessons.

Further evidence that a trend is shaping up may be seen in the fact that the makers of Vote toothpaste have prepared a "smile guide" for the use of candidates.

In sum, happiness is full of pitfalls. For politicians, being joyful is a calculated risk.
