Loraine High School

January 10 is new date for coach's hearing

January 10 is the new date for a hearing requested by suspended Loraine High School teacher and coach, Dan McGhee.

McGhee was suspended earlier this month for violating the no-smoking rule of the school district. He was suspended with pay and the hearing was originally scheduled for Thursday night, Dec. 16. However, attorneys for both sides were not able to meet at that time and a new date had to be set.

In Monday night's board meeting of the Loraine school trustees, a group of citizens met with the Loraine board and delivered a statement dealing with several points relating to McGhee's suspension and other school matters.

Contacted before the board meeting Monday, Randy Henderson who is serving as the spokesman for the group, said they were not looking to get rid of anybody in the school district but felt like "it just needed to get on track once again."

He said the group had wanted to address the school board earlier but had not. The suspension of McGhee triggered their appearance Monday said Henderson.

Gary Buckingham, superintendent of schools in Loraine, said he thought the comments were well received by the board and would get a committee together to look into what changes, if any, needed to be made in school policies.

CISD Superintendent, City Manager evaluated by respective boards

Colorado ISD superintendent Don Nimmo received his yearly evaluation from the school trustees Monday night in an executive session that lasted a little over an hour.

After opening the meeting up to the public, board president Dwayne Harris announced that he would meet with Nimmo to discuss the evaluation. immediately after the meeting was over.

Harris later said this yearly evaluation "went very well." He said the board felt Nimmo was doing a good job in running the district at this time.

"We look at the evaluation from last year and see what improvements have been made," said Harris. "We point out what we consider weak points and compare the performance. Overall, we are pleased."

Harris said the board looks at the overall year and not just one isolated instance.

It was evaluation time for City Manager Buddy Foster this week also as the personnel committee of the City Council met Thursday afternoon in executive session.

Sammy Contreras is the chairman of the committee and serving with him is Allen Pharis and Brian Bassham.

Contreras said Friday that the evaluation went "pretty good."

"We discussed points that we felt Foster is weak in but we also discussed his strong points also," Contreras said.

"We went over some areas we would like Buddy to improve in but we were not always talking about him," said the chairman. "We discussed things that need to be done in the city such as improvements in the landfill, water, sewer and other areas."

Mitchell County Hospital

Craddock resigns from board

After serving as chairman of the Mitchell County Hospital Board since May of this year, Jay Craddock submitted his resignation this week citing health reasons.

Craddock has served on the board for some seven years before resigning Monday.

Craddock said Thursday that some problems with his health had just come up and felt the resignation was best for him at this time.

Marion Bassham, who had been chairman of the board before Craddock, is currently serving as vice-chairman. The hospital board is to meet this Wednesday, Dec. 22 for their regularly scheduled meeting and is expected to appoint a new chairman at this time.

Also, in their meeting Monday night, Craddock said the board did not offer a contract to two physicians from Uvalde whom a physician's search firm had indicated wanted to relocate here.

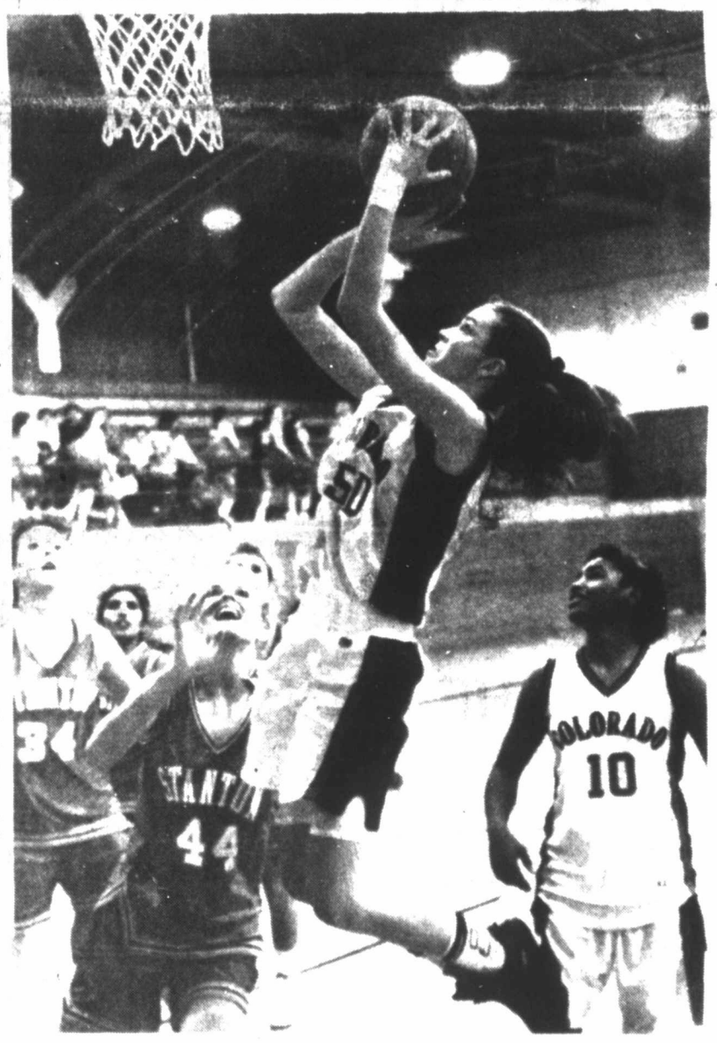

Craddock said the board felt there was not enough population to support five physicians. One physician from California is expected to begin practice here in the spring to join Dr. Dee Roach and Dr. Thomas Aguillion.

In Thursday Meeting

Commissioners adopt prayer resolution

Mitchell County joined over 100 other Texas counties and communities Thursday in adopting a resolution urging prayer be returned to the public schools.

The resolution in part reads that the Constitution of the United States says "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.....and our nation was founded on the freedom of religion and was not founded on the freedom from religion.... and the Commissioners Court strongly believes that reinstitution of prayer in the public schools will move this nation toward those religious ideas and beliefs upon which this nation was founded."

The resolution continues in stating that the Mitchell County Commissioners Court strongly urges that prayer be returned to the public school systems of this nation and invites all cities and counties across this state to join in an effort to reinstate prayer in the public schools by passing similar resolutions and uniting in a grass roots movement for that purpose."

Baptist Women

Week of prayer observed

On Monday, December 13 the Susan Everman Baptist Women's Group of the First Baptist Church met to observe the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions in the home of Jean Edwards.

Earline Sellier gave the Calendar of Prayer for missionaries with birthdays on this date and presented bookmarks with a missionary's name on it to keep and pray for in 1994.

The mission action committee reported that the church members provided 41 Christmas gift boxes for the Seaman's Center at the Port of Houston.

Anna Staats was the program director for the study "Declaring His Glory Through Prayer."

Catharine Morris told of "Declaring His Glory in Brazil." Brazil is one of the oldest mission fields for Southern Baptists. Anna Staats discussed, "Declaring His Glory Among Mongolians." Until recently no missionaries were allowed in that country and there was only one evangelical Christian. Now a new strategy accepted by Mongolia allows some growing mission work there.

Doris Carter told "Declare His Glory to the Uttermost Parts of the Earth." These are countries that are closed to traditional missions work and must be reached by new methods. Shanghai and Kashmir, India are examples of this.

Earline Sellier gave, "Declare His Glory to the Unreached People," such as the K'ekchi Indians in Guatamala and the Maasi in Africa.

Mae Dunn gave, "Declare His Glory Among the Hurting" in Liberia, which has been devastated by a civil war and also the people of Chile.

Jessie Mae Merket discussed, "Declare His Glory to Those in Spiritual Darkness," the tribal people in Zimbabwe. Carol and Paul Brown, who are doctors in Zimbabwe, testify to many specific instances of answers to prayers on their birthdays and during the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions.

Anna Staats concluded the program by reminding the group that the total Lottie Moon Offering goal is $85,000,000 and First Baptist Church Goal is $10,000.

The meeting closed after prayer for those in the church and in our community.

Those attending were Earline Sellier, Anna Staats, Margaret Bodine, Jessie Mae Merket, Linda Rhodes, Doris Carter, Catharine Morris, Betsy Aycock and the hostesses, Mae Dunn, Mary Lloyd and Jean Edwards.

Kicking the couch potato habit

The American Heart Association has labeled physical inactivity as the fourth risk factor for coronary artery disease. So being a couch potato ranks with cigarette smoking, high blood pressure and high cholesterol.

Fortunately, you don't need to run marathons to reduce your risk of heart disease. Studies show that low-intensity activities such as leisurely walking, gardening, yard work and housework can go a long way toward keeping your heart healthy. Physical activity means getting up and moving your body. Try to look for opportunities for expending energy. It does not matter what type of activity you do; just move around.

Your goal should be to spend at least 30-40 minutes on your feet at a walking pace each day. That might mean walking around the block when you pick up the morning newspaper, strolling through the mall in the afternoon and vacuuming after dinner.

Besides keeping your heart in shape, moderate exercise provides other benefits. It can help prevent osteoporosis, control diabetes and obesity and improve flexibility, mood and muscle tone.

Are you a couch potato? You are a true couch potato if you:

- Spend most of the day sitting.
- Eat lunch at your desk.
- Always use inter-office mail, even for co-workers a few steps away.
- Get upset if you have to park more than 50 feet away from your destination.
- Always take the escalator or elevator.
- Avoid walking up and down stairs in your home.
- Watch television as your main leisure activity.
- Do most of your walking from the couch to the refrigerator.

You can cut your risk for heart disease if you:

- Stroll through downtown Colorado City on your lunch break.
- Walk correspondence to co-workers in the office.
- Park a few blocks from your destination and walk.
- Use the stairs whenever possible.
- Do your own housework.
- Do your own yard work.
- Wash your own car.
- Spend 30-40 minutes on your feet at a walking pace each day.

Farm safety hints listed by Perry

In all the hustle and bustle of the holiday season it's easy to forget or overlook some safety measures around the farm and ranch, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said.

"Folks in urban areas are exposed to all kinds of safety reminders during the holidays," Perry said. "But often this information is not directed toward our farmers and ranchers. Because many of them live a good distance from the nearest emergency response center they are the ones who may need this information the most."

A freshly cut green tree loaded with lights, tinsel and ornaments is still central to spirit of Christmas. However, it is also the cause of most of the household fires during the holidays. Even though the number of fires caused by Christmas trees is small, these fires can be destructive if not extinguished quickly.

• When choosing a tree, make sure it is a freshly cut one. If possible, buy from a local tree farm where you can cut your own.

• Place the tree away from any heat sources, including fireplaces, space heaters and even the television.

• Limit the time the tree is up. A tree standing in plenty of water will stay green and fresh a couple of weeks before Christmas.

• Lights approved by Underwriters Laboratories (UL) will reduce drying. Do not connect more than 200 midget lights together through one string or cord. Inspect the lights each year.

• Unplug the lights before going to bed or leaving the house. A short circuit can also cause a fire.

• Candles should never be used as tree decorations.

"Farmers and ranchers are known for having common sense, and that's just what safety habits are," Perry said. "By following a few good, safe commonsense safety practices, Texans can enjoy a safe and happy holiday season."

Service please!

I'm the fellow who goes into a restaurant, sits down and patiently waits while the waitresses do everything but take my order. I'm the fellow who goes into a department store and stands quietly while the sales clerks finish their little chit-chat. I'm the man who drives into a gasoline station and never blows his horn, but waits patiently while the attendant finishes reading his comic book.

Yes, you might say I'm a good guy. But do you know who else I am? I am the Fellow Who Never Comes Back, and it amuses me to see you spending thousands of dollars every year to get me back into your store, when I was there in the first place and all you had to do to keep me was to give me a little service, show me a little courtesy.

B&PW meet, hold Christmas party

The Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club met on Tuesday, December 14 at 7 p.m. for their regular dinner and it was followed by a Christmas party. There were 24 members and guests present.

The meeting was called to order by Earline Selliers in the absence of Lovess Curlee, president. Earline turned the program over to Anna Staats, chairman of the Civic participation Committee, which was the hostess committee for the evening.

Following the pledge to the flag and a prayer, the dinner was served. After the dinner, a gift of appreciation was presented to the girls at the Civic Center.

The program for the evening was begun by Anna Staats reading a poem entitled, "What is Christmas." Next on the program Dorothy Wells, Ruby Bracy, Fay Ross and Gerry Randle, a group of ladies who are members of the Senior Choir from St. James Baptist Church, sang several songs. Afterward everyone joined in to sing Christmas carols and they were accompanied by Connie Penland on the piano.

Everyone enjoyed the exchanging of gifts and Eddie Barclay, Margaret Oyler and Shirley DeLaney were recognized as having birthdays in December.

Those present were Margaret Oyler, Christine Cooley, Nancy Crow, Erdine Morgan, Shirley Bradley, Shirley DeLaney, Molly Bruce, Phyllis Lane, Earline Selliers, Fay Spivey, Donna Laurens, Eddie Barclay, Anna Staats, Mildred Free, Louise Logsdon, Velma Moseley, Juanita Schafer, Ray Ross, Dorothy Wells, Ruby Bracy, Gerry Randle, Sue Womack, Pauline Light and Connie Penland.

Live nativity can be seen

The congregation of Christian Temple has chosen a live nativity scene as their Christmas outreach this year. The nativity scene can be viewed by driving by the church on Monday and Tuesday, December 20 and 21, from 6 to 8 p.m. It will include live actors and animals.

To view the nativity, according to Pastor Pat Savage, you won't have to leave your car. "The church is on the corner of 5th and Elm and what we are doing can be seen clearly from the street," said Savage. The pastor does recommend for best viewing that cars come west on 5th Street to Elm, then turn north on to Elm. This will put you in the lane closest to the church.

You may also wish to roll your windows down, because accapella singing of Christmas music will accompany the nativity scene. Savage says, "This is a chance for the people of Mitchell County to see the real reason for the holiday without having to drive 35 miles." There is no charge for viewing.

Piland hosts Society meeting

The Beta Epsilon Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society met in the home of Gayle Piland on Tuesday evening, December 7th. The Christmas theme of the meeting was enhanced by the large, beautifully decorated Christmas tree and the seasonal decorations throughout the home.

President Margaret Rees welcomed the members and Ethelyn Lancaster followed the Christmas theme in her inspirational thought about Christmas at Grandmother's and sleeping in her feather bed.

Peggy Ratliff and Wilma Reynolds were leaders for the program, reflecting on the memories that give Christmas a special meaning as the members shared their memories.

Contributions to buy gifts for children in foster care was a practical means of showing the true Christmas spirit.

The refreshments and fellowship made for an unusual and enjoyable time; it was the first time to have Snow on the Mountain, a dish each person assembled from a great variety of foods to please her own taste. It was a new experience that everyone enjoyed and it added to the holiday spirit.

Members attending were Marian Craddock, Margaret Sparks Wilma Reynolds, Peggy Ratliff, Frances Godwin, Ethelyn Lancaster, Sonya Hanks, Janet Mayo, Kitten Arthur, Adele Wilkenson, Janie Greenlee, Barbara Hammond, Betsy Aycock and the hostesses, Gayle Piland, Earline Sellier and Margaret Rees.

Drugs take heavy toll on society

A 66-year-old grandmother in Houston sat on her front porch last year on July 11 crying uncontrollably because she had just shot and killed her daughter who was an abusive crack addict. Her addicted daughter constantly beat her and her grandchildren for money. When her daughter pulled a butcher knife on her, she shot her. She repeated to police as she cried, "I just couldn't take it anymore." Sad story but even sadder: Babies are being abandoned at hospitals because pregnant crack addicts continue to abuse drugs, endangering the unborn babies' lives. According to an 1991 government national survey, 22,000 infants are born a year to drug abusers or unstable mothers. More than three-fourths of these babies tested positive for drugs and nearly half were born prematurely.

These are just some examples of the toll drugs take on human lives and the crippling effects that addictive substances can have on our society. For years the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse has been working diligently to provide prevention, intervention and treatment services for chemically dependent Texans. We have seen how drugs alter people's behavior, making them very violent, causing them to abandon their families and babies and commit crimes they otherwise wouldn't commit if they were not substance abusers.

Studying the legalization of drugs, as suggested by Surgeon General Joycelyn Elders, would only increase drug use and be detrimental to our society. In Britain, where addicts get heroin from the government, the number of registered addicts has risen from 2,800 in 1980 to 80,000 in 1990. Let us not forget the lesson we learned from legalizing alcohol during prohibition. Since alcohol prohibition was repealed, consumption rose by 50 percent. Today, alcohol kills 100,000 people and costs our country more than $85 billion a year. Alcohol abuse also rips families apart; one in four Americans report alcohol has been a source of trouble in their family. Today, substance abuse costs the nation $300 billion each year in crime, decreased productivity and direct health care costs. Drug abuse is also a prime vehicle for spreading HIV. Legalization of substance abuse would only increase these staggering statistics dramatically. Drug Czar Lee Brown, Attorney General Janet Reno, TCADA and others advocate instead that the answer to our country's debilitating drug problem lies in prevention and treatment, which have already proven to be successful.

Illicit drug use, both nationally and in Texas, is decreasing. Drug use fell by 37 percent between 1985 and 1988; that's a drop of 23 million regular users to 14 million. Casual cocaine use is down markedly from 12,200 in 1985 to 6,065 in 1991. A recent TCADA survey shows a general decrease in drug and alcohol use among fourth through sixth grade students between 1990 and 1992. Among seniors in 1992, 29 percent admitted to using marijuana, compared to 46 percent in 1988. Cocaine and crack use among seniors dropped from 12 percent in 1988 to 8 percent in 1992. These figures are encouraging and highlight our successful combined efforts but they are still dramatically and unacceptably high.

Another successful treatment initiative lies within our State's prison system. Texas is undertaking the largest drug treatment program for prisoners in the world, the Criminal Justice Chemical Dependency Treatment Initiative. More than 60 percent of the nation's prisoners have a serious drug or alcohol problem. Users are also more likely than nonusers to commit more crimes after being released from prison unless they are treated for their chemical dependency. "Barry," a habitual criminal who was treated for substance abuse in prison, says he used to be violent and angry at everyone but is a different man, at peace with himself and the world. He attributes his metamorphosis to the chamical dependency program. The feedback from other inmates is also positive and encouraging. For Barry, the addiction was a nightmare that controlled his life. He says that when he was under the influence he did things he never would have done when sober. Barry says he was tired of his life, of being addicted and of being in and out of jails. He wanted out and the chemical treatment program in prison gave him that way out. Legalization would be sentencing many to the same nightmare that Barry and many like him have lived.

For Americans, the answer is also "no" to legalization. In a 1988 nationwide Gallup poll, 74 percent of the public and 78 percent in the South opposed legalization. We have all seen the toll and damage that drugs take on our country, families and individuals. We must never give up the fight to save people from the hazards of drugs. The answer lies in prevention and treatment. These initiatives work and we must never give in to legalization. Because if we do the alternative would be to lose a whole way of life, traditions, values and morals in which Americans believe and that make this country great.

Nabers releases letters

Texas Railroad Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers released letters she mailed to President Clinton and Secretary of Energy Hazel O'Leary urging their immediate help for independent oil producers.

In her letter, Nabers urged immediate federal action that will encourage increased domestic oil production. "If federal policy remains unchanged, many independent producers will cease operations thereby further increasing our reliance on imported oil," Nabers said.

In addition to contacting the President and Secretary of Energy, Nabers is also active in working with the Interstate Oil and Gas Compact Commission to pass a resolution urging federal action.

"Huge job losses have already occurred and this country now depends on foreign countries for more than half of its oil needs. We are losing our infrastructure, our service companies and our industry expertise. Other countries are enticing our developers and our technicians. As a nation that wants to remain competitive, we are risking too much," Nabers said in her letter to the President.

We must make the public aware of the potential danger to our country if we lose the ability to produce oil domestically, Nabers warned.
