Abandon Evacuation Plans In Oil Field

Order Revoked Late Thursday By Staff Head

Early Order By Wolters Had Called For General Cutting Of Troops In Martial Law Zone On Saturday

Special Messenger Carrying Order From Sterling But No Inkling Of Contents Bared; Action Expected

(By The Associated Press)

KILGORE, Sept. 3. — Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters, commandant of the martial law zone, revoked his order tonight, calling for the evacuation of the bulk of the troops from the East Texas oil field. The revoking order was issued following a telephone conversation with Governor Ross S. Sterling from Austin.

The order issued this afternoon was designed to throw open the oil fields next Saturday under a proration order of the railroad commission.

Held In Abeyance

General Wolters said all plans for partial evacuation of troops and opening the field would be held in abeyance until tomorrow. The orders were revoked on behalf of Governor Sterling.

A special messenger was bringing an order from Governor Sterling as to what would be done concerning the opening of the field, General Wolters said. The general said the governor had not advised him what was in the order.

Sterling Refuses To Make Comment

AUSTIN, Sept. 3. (AP)—Governor Ross S. Sterling refused to comment tonight on a general order, issued by Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters, martial law commandant, calling for the evacuation of the bulk of the troops in the East Texas oil field.

General Wolters' order stated that

"The Fight's Still On," Murray Says And Hurls A New Threat

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 3.—Governor Murray threatened late today that if it became necessary in his fight for higher priced oil, he would initiate a bill in Oklahoma that would give hm the right to issue bonds, build state owned oil refineries and pay for them from a tax on incomes of oil operators.

The governor said he would build the refineries only "as a last resort."

His threat came after he was informed Texas oil fields would be opened Saturday under proration.

"That won't do," the governor shouted as he received news about the Texas opening.

"I haven't lost anything, though," he added. "The fight is still on here. I won't compromise. The oil's safe underground and no one can steal it."

Excitedly, Murray declared he would not open fields until operators agree to $1 oil and ratable taking.

Revolt Sweeps Chile As Entire Navy Is In Chaos

Last Of Navy Force Joins Mutiny And Steams Away

(By The Associated Press)

VALPARAISO, Chile, Sept. 3. — The entire Chilean navy was in revolt tonight and communist leaders were seizing the opportunity offered by the chaos existing in Santiago, Valparaiso and other centers to urge the establishment of a Chilean Soviet republic.

The last of the naval forces which had remained loyal up to today joined the Coquombi mutiny this afternoon. All able vessels steamed out of the Talchahuano navy yard and a cruiser and several destroyers left here for Coquombi.

Refuse To Fire

As the battle craft, the number of which was not ascertainable, sailed away from Talcahuano the commanders of the short batteries there ordered them to fire on the departing ships, but the artillerymen refused to comply with the order.

Communist agitators, many of whom were said to be not Chileans, were urging seizure of the government tonight, the confiscation of foreign business institutions and corporations, the division of lands among the workers and the expulsion of foreigners.

Salaries Hold Up

As a counter-move to the agitation, the provisional government announced this afternoon all public salaries, including those of the army, navy and air corps for September, would not be reduced.

The government also announced it would begin shortly a public works program which would give

Looks Like A Big Year For Old St. Nick

FROM THE looks of things, Santa Claus is going to have a big year and will not be compelled to lay off any of his toy makers because of the business depression, low price of cotton, 10-cent oil, or German moratoriums.

Two notes addressed to "Santa Claus, North Pole," written by two Lubbock youngsters were placed in the Avalanche-Journal's postoffice box yesterday for forwarding to the kindly, old gentleman with the cotton whiskers. Signers of the notes were Juenell and Charles Dillard, 1601 Avenue D, Lubbock.

At the time the letters were written, almost four months before the old gentleman is scheduled to begin cleaning chimneys with his red flannel suit, Juenell wanted a big doll, doll bed, dresser, stove, rocking chair, phonograph and records. Charles, in his petition to Santa Claus, appeared to be thinking of starting a one-man band. He asked for a harmonica, saxophone, horn and drum, and a few side gifts, such as a baby billy goat and a rope with which to tie the goat.

Both of the letter writers promised good behavior until Christmas.

Extortion Plot Thought Solved

DALLAS, Sept. 3. (AP)—Dallas detectives arrested a man and a woman tonight in connection with an alleged attempt to extort $30,000 from I. N. Cerf, Corsicana, banker.

Cerf paid $15,000 to kidnapers last December for the release of his son, Robert Cerf. The man and woman, who said they were married, were arrested after a long chase during which a "dummy" package was sent through the hands of business men, cafe owners, and messenger service operators.

Cerf was instructed in a neatly typewritten note to leave $3,000 in unmarked bank notes at a Dallas department store. He and members of his family were threatened with death unless he followed instructions.

Prominent Chicago Attorney May Aid In Power's Defense

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 3. (AP)—Barrett O'Hara, Chicago attorney who recently defended Virgil Kirkland, Gary, Ind., youth sentenced to 10 years in the slaying of Arlene Draves, came here today to confer with J. Edward Law, counsel for Harry F. Powers, said by police to have confessed the killing of two women and three children.

Law and O'Hara were in conference for a long period, and together they went over evidence in the case of the middle-aged salesman who conducted an extensive 'one-man matrimonial agency. The Chicago lawyer said he had not been retained and added he did not know if he would be asked to assist Law.

Oversubscribed Bond Issue Relieves Financial Worry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—An oversubscribed bond issue today relieved the government of immediate financial worry but left administration officials still seeking a plan to bring disbursements nearer the level of the treasury's income.

Another big issue of government securities—bonds or treasury certificates—to meet obligations falling due in December was regarded in informed circles as a distinct possibility.

Amarillo Has Again Scored Rate Victory

Reduction In Telephone Rates Rounds Out Perfect Score In Panhandle City In Battles Against Utilities

Lubbock City Commission Asks Company For Reduction Here; Survey Of Properties Likely Will Be Made

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Sept. 3.—A reduction in telephone rates today rounded out a perfect score for Amarillo in its fight for lower utility rates.

The reduction amounted to 25 on residence telephones, 50 cents for business connections and 75 cents for commercial flat rate trunks. It will benefit 10,400 subscribers in Amarillo, effective September 1.

Subscribers Aided

Mayor Ernest O. Thompson, who asked the Southwestern Bell Telephone company for the reduction less than a month ago, said: "It certainly is a step in the right direction. Every subscriber in the city will benefit on an equal basis."

When asked if he was satisfied with the reduction, Mayor Thompson refused further comment.

G. N. Hailey, district manager of the telephone company, said that conditions in Amarillo enabled the company "to try out the reduced rates with the hope that they will not so impair earnings as to make them inadequate."

Spends $2,000,000

"The reduction is in accordance with an agreement between the city and telephone company, entered into when the local exchange was changed from a manual to a dial system of operation," Hailey continued. "The company spent approximately $2,000,000 in Amarillo, and the city agreed to permit such rates as would enable a fair return on the investment."

In answer to a question regarding the company's attitude toward

Governor Long Directs A Radio Appeal To Texans

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 3. (AP)—Governor Huey Long tonight, in continuance of his radio appeal for adoption of his cotton prohibition proposal, excoriated all members of the Texas state senate opposing what he said was legislation providing the farmer with the only way out of the slough of bankruptcy.

The governor's address tonight was primarily directed at the people of Texas, and the farmers of the Lone Star state were told it was up to them and their legislators to put the no-crop plan across.

Modest Pilot And Old Plane Given Ovation By Throngs

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3. (AP) — A modest pilot and his home-made plane injected pluck and color into the national air races today. He is Ben O. Howard, Chicago mail pilot, who drew the first spirited applause of the meet from the largest race crowd to date, estimated at 53,000 persons by officials.

The spectators, who usually back a winner, gave their ovation in tribute to the sportsmanship and skill of the pilot through his wee white plane, that cuts the air from the energy of a four cylinder engine, could not nose across the finish line first.

More Bodies Are Sought In Texas Gang Slayings

Oil Man Arrested In Dallas; Police To Continue Probe

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Sept. 3.—Arrest of an oil man in Dallas today encouraged police in their search for evidence to confirm the belief that gangsters slew John Cherris, notorious police character, then killed Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jones of Houston.

A body found yesterday in the Brazos river near East Columbia in Brazoria county was identified as that of Cherris. He had been shot through the head, weighted with about 50 pounds of iron and thrown in the river.

Three Convictions

Police were seeking him for questioning in the Jones case when his body was found.

Jones recently engaged in the oil business but previously his activities had led to three convictions. He was known as "Keggy" in the underworld and frequently resorted to aliases.

He was found shot to death in his Houston apartment. His wife's body, clad in pajamas, lay nearby. A pistol, with several cartridges fired, was on the floor of an adjoining room.

Seen In Houston

Police learned that Cherris was seen in Houston Saturday with three men. Police believed Jones and his wife were slain by the same three men after Cherris had been killed.

Cherris was shot through the head. Blood marks on the bridge above which his body was found indicated he was killed there and dumped over into the river from an automobile.

The oil man arrested today at Dallas was believed to have information that might aid in cleaning up the Jones and Cherris slayings. He was immediately returned to Houston for questioning by the grand jury.

May Drag River

At West Columbia Justice of the Peace J. L. Main, who conducted an inquest, said the river may be dragged tonight for another body believed to have been thrown in

College Farmers To Get Tuitions

(By Associated Press)

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Sept. 3.—Luther college students who farmed during the summer are in luck.

The college has decided to accept the grain they raised as tuition, at more than prevailing market prices.

The only stipulation is that the grain must come from the farm on which the student worked. Number one and number two northern wheat, selling here at 51 cents a bushel, will be accepted at 60 cents.

Lone Star Gas Company Feels Wrath Of Law

Governor Bill Murray Strikes At Gas Interests Affecting More Than Score Of Cities In Sooner State

(By The Associated Press)

WAURIKA, Okla., Sept. 3.—District Judge Eugene Rice tonight appointed John Hoffman of Oklahoma City as temporary receiver for the Lone Star Gas corporation, against whom Governor Murray today filed action. Judge Rice also issued a temporary order forbidding removal of any gas company property from the state pending a hearing in the case.

The temporary receiver, however, will not take charge of the corporation's property unless it violates the temporary restraining order, which prohibit removal from the state of any of the corporation's properties, or records. Judge Rice termed it a "technical receivership."

Hearing Is Set

Notice of today's action was served on the corporation and September 19 was set as the date for a hearing.

The state's suit to cancel charters, licenses and franchises of the Lone Star Gas interests in Oklahoma were filed in the Jefferson county district court late in the day.

Many different varieties of vegetables and fruits were put up in glass and tin cans. Demonstrations held this week were: Hardy, Monday; Wolffarth, Tuesday; Acuff, Wednesday, and Becton, Wednesday.

Dallas Man Reports That He Was Robbed Of $1,300

HOUSTON, Sept. 3. (AP) — Harry Keller, 51, of Dallas, reported to police today that he was robbed of $1,300 in cash and checks on a lonely road near the city last night.

Keller said the money was to have been invested in a cigar store. He told police he was robbed shortly after he had visited a cold drink stand downtown. Men forced Keller into a car, he said, and drove several miles before they threw him out and robbed him.

Disappearance Is Suspicious

Personal Accountant To Mayor Walker Is Being Sought For Questioning; Actions Draw Severe Criticism

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. — Chief Samuel Seabury today described as "suspicious circumstances" the disappearance of Mayor Walker's personal accountant, Russell T. Sherwood, wanted for questioning by the legislative committee investigating the municipal government.

Seabury referred to Sherwood's departure from an Atlantic City hotel, where he was found after it first became known he was wanted, as a flight from the state's jurisdiction.

Assurances Given

"It is difficult for me to reconcile this action," he said, "with the repeated assurances that have been given that those close to the mayor have nothing to hide."

While he described Sherwood as a "personal agent" of Mayor Walker, Seabury said matters he wanted to question the missing man about did not concern the mayor's personal affairs, but were business affairs.

Chinese Capital Threatened By Floods As Dykes Break

SHANGHAI, Sept. 3. (AP)—Great floods broke through the Yangtse river dykes today threatening inundation of Nanking, China's capital, after having caused the deaths of approximately 350,000 Chinese recently and leaving many millions facing starvation.

Moving down from the sister cities Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, where more than quarter-million persons perished, the flood entered Wuhu, 50 miles up-river from Nanking. Four thousand were reported dead at Wuhu and 200,000 destitute and homeless.

Optimism For Europe Shown By Secretary

Henry Stimson Returns From A Vacation Trip And Pictures Europe As Showing Way For Prosperity And Peace

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Optimism over the political and economic situation aboard and hope for "a lasting structure of peace" were expressed today by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson upon his return from a two-month tour abroad.

He pictured Europe paving the way for peace, prosperity and political good will.

"I think there is now good reason to believe that European statesmen, taking advantage of the respite granted by Mr. Hoover's moratorium, as well as the recommendations of the London conference, are beginning gradually to lay the foundations of political goodwill, upon which a lasting structure of peace and economic prosperity can finally be rested," Secretary Stimson declared.

Expresses Optimism

He found other causes for optimism in the recent plebiscite in Prussia, the German banking situation, and "even more encouraging," the meetings that are taking place be-

Socialist Leader Jailed Thursday

PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 3. (AP)—Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president of the United States in 1928, spent two hours in jail today while he and 45 others awaited arraignment on a charge of unlawful assemblage.

Thomas encountered the legal obstacles when he attempted to champion, by picketing, the cause of 6,000 silk workers now in the sixth week of a protracted strike. He said he thrust himself into the silk workers' fight at the request of the American Federation of Labor.

He and his 45 companions, including two clergymen and a labor college president, were freed late today in $15 bail each.

Leader Of India's Swarming Nationalist Millions Sleeps On Unconcernedly Upon His Hard Bed While Curious Deck-Patrolling Passengers Gaze At Him In Amazement

(By The Associated Press)

ABOARD THE S. S. RAJPUTANA, Sept. 3—Mahatma Gandhi, leader of India's swarming nationalist millions, has spurned the first class stateroom placed at his disposal by the British government for his trip to the round table conference in London and sleeps on a wooden bench in the stern of this liner.

Covered by a white sheet, he slept unconcernedly today while deck-patrolling passengers gazed in amazement. "Who is it" they asked, and an attendant answered courteously, "that is Mr. Gandhi, but this is his day of silence, and so he is sleeping."

There are many strange things for the unitiated aboard the Rajputana — for instance, the half ton of mud brought from the sacred Ganges by Pandit Malaviya, Mr. Gandhi's companion. The Pandit converts the mud into miniature gods for purposes of worship.

When darkness falls each evening the Mahatma Gandhi rises from his wooden bench and summons his small flock of followers to prayer. All are dressed in white flowing robes, and all squat Buddha-like on the deck, hands clasped, heads bowed, eyes closed, in meditation.

Gandhi's voice surges above the lashing wind. "We humbly ask the giver of all gifts to give India her freedom," he prays.

Expulsion Orders In Mexico Causing Flood Of Celestials To Cross Border; Settlement Sought

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 3. —Orientals flocking into the United States as a result of anti-Chinese legislation recently passed in the state of Sonora, Mexico, taxed the capacity of Pima and Cochise county jails.

Immigration authorities here advised border points to hold all illegal entrants because there are no accommodations in the Pima county jail for additional federal prisoners. This forced the transfer of all city and county prisoners at Bisbe to the Lowell, Arizona, jail, while Cochise county prisoners from Douglas had to be removed to Tombstone to make room in the new Bisbee jail for the Chinese.

With the arrest by border patrolmen of eight more celestials in the vicinity of Naco, Arizona, the number held in Bisbee has reached 42 and ten others are confined in Douglas.

DETAILS ASKED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—The state department advised the Chinese legation today that if it should submit the details of the Chinese-Mexican expulsion controversy the American government might be able to employ its good offices in seeking a solution.

Legation officials discussed with the state department the Mexican move to expel Chinese from Mexico. Department officials said, however, the question of mediation or arbitration was not involved. The course which would be pursued under international law if the facts warranted would be the employment of good offices.

The labor department already has granted permission for groups of Chinese leaving Mexico under the expulsion order to cross American territory.

Department officials withheld further comment but it was indicated that one of the complications that made the problem more difficult was the fact that the action was described as having been taken by individual Mexican states and not by the federal government of that country.

That government was described as entirely friendly to the Chinese. The American government in the employment of its good offices could deal only with the federal government.

CONSUL OPTIMISTIC

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3. (AP) — The Chinese consul at Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, informed Chinese Minister Sam Young here by telephone last night that he was optimistic in regard to a settlement of the question of guarantees for Chinese nationals in Sonora.

Young also received a report from Cananea, Sonora, saying Chinese there had been ordered to leave by tomorrow, and other reports indicated that the expulsion of Chinese from Sonora and Sinaloa was continuing.

EIGHT ARRESTED

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 3. (AP)—The city marshal of Garland City, a well known physician and six other men were arrested in a raid today at Garland City 25 miles from here by federal prohibition agents and county officers.

In accordance with the wishes of Thomas Bower, who died recently, aged 94, at Bury St. Edmunds, England, his automobile was taken to one of his farms, where it was burned and buried.

Local Girl Has Desire To Rove Into Far Lands

Parents of a 16-year-old Lubbock girl breathed the proverbial sigh of relief on learning that their runaway daughter had hitch-hiked and arrived safely at the home of an aunt in Burbank, Cal.

The adventurous girl left here Friday or Saturday and the sheriff's department had been asked to aid in an attempt to find her. Her parents feared she had gone to Juarez, Mexico. From here the 16-year-old went toward Clovis, N. M., officers said. She telegraphed her family here.

Learning that the girl was safe, the parents told officers they would not attempt to have her returned here, as they believed it best to let so determined a child "stay put" until she indicated recurring restlessness. The girl had seen her aunt at Burbank only twice before, the parents said.

Two Hundred Thought Dead In Flood; River Comes Up

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 3. (AP)—The newspaper La Democracia said today that 200 persons were drowned last night at Ponca when the Portugues river rose in flood.

The number of dead could not be verified immediately but first reports to the police said many small houses along the river banks had been carried away by the torrent.

The Portugues river skirts the outlying district of Ponce and native huts are scattered all along its shore. Ordinarily the water level is low and often it is entirely dry, but in flood time the stream becomes treacherous.

Heavy rain which began yesterday and continued all night caused the flood and brought much damage to the sugar cane crop.

At noon the cable office at Ponce reported that ten bodies had been found.

Confidence Is Now Necessary

Senator Fess Declares That Confidence Between Bankers And Public Is Best Way To End Depression

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—An exchange of confidence between bankers and the public was declared imperative by Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio for a restoration of business stability.

The senator cited a recent experience of his own in seeking unsuccessfully to obtain money to build a home. He expressed his views to an Ohio constituent in commenting upon complaints of heavy increases in postal savings.

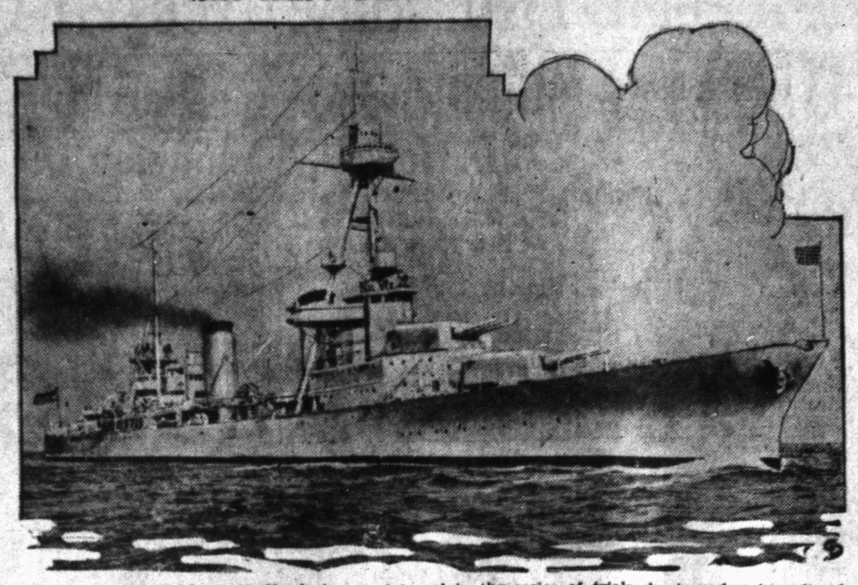

"It is a situation most difficult to decipher," wrote Senator Fess. "The country has all the assets it ever has possessed with the single exception of confidence. There has been no great calamity since the world war involving destruction of property or loss of resources. We have all the basic elements of a sound prosperity, including managerial ability. The one thing lacking is confidence in our financial institutions. How to insure this is our problem. . . For the life of me I do not see how you can cure this lack of confidence but like the mumps it must work itself out.

"Last week I asked a banker to loan me $6,000 to be applied on the building of a new house. The banker threw up his hands and said: 'Oh, Senator, we cannot make any loans at present. While we are sound we must remain in a liquid condition.'

"I informed him that it would be necessary for me to take out my deposits in the loan associations. Applications to the three associations in which I have deposits sufficient to build the house met the same response. This meant that I could not use my own money, not because they didn't have it. That is one case of several in a small town. That case is typical throughout the United States. That spells the depression under which we are suffering."

The person, who wrote Senator Fess, had called attention that in his Ohio town since the middle of March a total of $357,028 had been deposited in postal savings there.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

WELL, maybe nobody loves a fat man, generally, but take it from Miss Hilda Renard of Franklinton, La., they make the best husbands.

Not that Miss Renard can speak from experience. But she has the fat man up as an ideal type. They are jolly. They have a sense of humor. There is a solidity about them that is reasurring. "Nothing flighty, see what I mean? They stay hitched!" she explains. And Miss Renard was recently elected beauty queen at L. S. U.

And because they "stay hitched" may be the reason we hear the old expression about nobody loving a fat man.

GLEANED here and there: A large portion of the successful wearing of these new tilted hats that seem to be our lot for fall, depends upon being able to manage our hair well. Nearly the entire left side of our heads and some of the back of them are likely to be exposed to public gaze. An untidy coiffure can no longer be tucked up under the crown of a hat with a bit of hair pulled out here and there for artistic effect. "No woman cares enough about smoking cigarets to roll her own." . . . That is according to E. J. Parker of the Sherman Democrat, but some man who was in this office recently thinks a pipe is the only thing left for man since the invasion of the feminists . . . Buying a half smoked ham is economy for an average family if it can be utilized without serving ham too often . . . Babies do not learn to speak quickly if parents talk a lot because they get tired trying to get a word in occasionally and simply give up . . . The short fur jacket, both pert and practical, will be a favorite wrap in madame's wardrobe this fall, according to a dispatch from Paris.

MORE ON INDIANS

FOR THOSE who are interested in other sections of the country, a letter from Anita R. Kirksey of Miami, Fla., is of interest. Incidently, since this is one of my few fan letters, I am all swelled up with pride since it came.

The substitute columnist whom she mentions is Miss Margaret Turner and I can assure her that I shall do all I can to keep the public from knowing how good Miss Turner is. Here is the letter.

"I wonder if you will not be surprised to learn that your column is read daily way down here in 'the Magic City'?

"I have an uncle living in Lorenzo (the South Plains?) and he subscribed to The Avalanche-Journal for me. The Avalanche is only 3 days old when it reaches us.

"Casting about for something to fix my interest in a paper which had no local interest for me, I found your column and it has 'grown on me.' I now look forward to enjoying it each day.

"It was the same way on first coming here from Cuba. I could not get interested in the local paper until I began reading the special columns. It is the kind of thing I like.

"I wish to tell you how interesting to us was your description of the Indian show at Albuquerque, N. M. We have the Seminole Indians here. I think they must dress differently from most Indians. Both men and women of the Seminole tribe here wear dresses (boy children, too, as well as girls). The dresses are very gaudy, made of blue, yellow, red, black and white cotton cloth in stripes. The women wear a kind of close-fitting cap made of beads which reach up to their ears. They have the characteristics you mention of the other Indians. They are dull looking, stolid. They never smile or laugh. Very few of them can speak English. Their names are not beautiful. The old chief was Billy-Bow-Legs. The young chief now is named Oceola. That is better.

"Your substitute 'columnist' was interesting, too, while you were away. Better look to your laurels."

FAIR WEATHER FRIENDS

"WITHOUT using my name, I wish you would say something in your column about these friends who like you only when you make a good appearance in public," someone was saying to me this week. This was a young woman and she told of an incident that had inspired her to make the request.

"One of my friends has gained a lot of flesh during the last year or so and she tells me that she knows some of her friends hate to be seen in public with her. And, some people are always picking at others, suggesting new colors for them to wear and trying in a lot of ways to change their modes of dress," she explained.

The old problem of fair weather friends. Appearances do mean a lot to most of us, but we shouldn't judge people solely by their looks. Of course, the one who feels that her friends are ashamed of her might find that she can improve her appearance and help matters in that way.

Dr. J. M. Lewis Reads Service At High Noon Thursday In Ceremony At Presbyterian Church

Miss Blanche Bacon, daughter of John F. Bacon, 1620 Broadway, was married to L. D. Howell of Washington at high noon Thursday with Dr. Jack M. Lewis reading the ring ceremony. The service was read at First Presbyterian church, of which Dr. Lewis is pastor, and was attended by many friends of the pair.

Simple altar decorations were used in the church auditorium. Against a background of greenery there were two large baskets of coral gladiolas.

Marries In Blue

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Charles Bacon, wore a dress of dark blue chiffon velvet, simply fashioned, with gardenias at the neckline. With it she wore a blue velvet hat, blue shoes and white gloves and carried a lace and linen handkerchief that her mother had carried in her wedding. Her bouquet was of sweetheart roses and valley lilies with showers of forget-me-nots.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Virginia Bacon, who was gowned in brown and coral velvet with brown accessories. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Dr. McKinley Howell of Plainview was best man. He is the groom's brother.

Ushers were Robert Taylor of Stratford and Lawrence Bacon, the bride's cousin.

Mrs. Douglas Sings

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, Mrs. Richard L. Douglas sang "I Love You Truly" with Miss Louise Jennings at the piano.

Miss Jennings and Miss Mary Meador, playing the violin, continued with Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus" for a processional and played "Traumerei" as the vows were read.

Mr. Howell and his bride are going from here to Galveston and will sail from there for New York. After October 1, they will be at home in Washington, D. C., where he is in the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

A two-piece suit in Spanish tile color trimmed in beaver fur and with brown accessories, was chosen by the bride for travelling.

Mrs. Howell has a wide acquaintanceship in and near Lubbock. Her father came to this country among the early settlers as a stockman and for a number of years lived on a ranch near where Idalou is now located. For the last few years, they have lived in the city of Lubbock. She is a graduate of Ward-Belmont college at Nashville, Tenn., and of the University of Texas at Austin, where she is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Mr. Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Howell of Bexar Ala., holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Texas and A. and M. college at College Station and is a former student in the University of Tennessee and the University of Wisconsin. Women Are Saving—Woman Banker Says They Hold Purse

By HELEN WELSHIMER
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—It isn't the king who is in the parlor counting out his money any longer, according to the National Association of Bank Women. It is very much more likely to be his wife.

For the women of America are doing 85 per cent of the banking that is done in savings departments today. The old theory that credited women with plenty of spending ability, and little or no saving genius has had its day, too.

Since women are handling the family exchequer considerably more money is going into the banks than it did when their husbands were captains of the family finances.

Miss Jane Langthorne, manager of the women's department of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company of Brooklyn, and chairman of the publicity committee for the ninth annual convention of the Association of Bank Women which is to be held in Atlantic City, October 5 to 8, is enthusiastic in her approval of the way that women are learning money values.

Women's Departments Grow

It hasn't been so many years since the first women executives appeared in banks. Women's departments developed. Their success has been unusual.

"Women are more inclined to save than men because it means more to them to have a definite amount of money in the bank where it can be reached," Miss Langthorne says. "Most women have a definite objective toward which they are saving. Either the education of their children, the buying of a home, or the paying off of a mortgage. Quite frequently women save in spite of their husbands."

For the head of the house may think a new golf club membership is important when there is money in the bank, but his wife knows that the house shoud be painted next spring!

"Every woman should have a definite plan of saving as well as of budgeting her money for household and other purposes," Miss Langthorne explains. "There isn't any established form for making out her schedule that we can give her. She alone knows her particular problems and how to solve them."

Depresson Brought Lesson

The women's departments of the bank are not extravagant gestures towards the feminine financial interest, either, according to Miss Langthorne. Every day women come, in search of facts, not tips. Since the depression they are

Now that intriguing plumes are going to sweep down from hats in a manner quite beguiling, and basques and bustles are making a suggestion of coming back, there will be no danger of women losing their interest in the handling of money, Miss Langthorne is certain.

Women may go feminine in a glamorous way, but they will keep their share of the family's money in their beaded bags.

The present economic era is responsible for this. Their grandmothers who were enchantingly feminine and financially ignorant didn't handle money, mainly because they didn't need it.

Women Turn Financiers

"Economic conditions have changed", the spokesman for the women banking officials explains. "Once upon a time all interests centered in the home. When there was illness the patient was cared for at home. When there was entertaining it was done at home. Luncheon or dinner was served in the family dining room.

"But now illness is taken care of in hospitals, and guests are quite likely to be taken to a club or hotel for entertainment. It is necessary for women to handle money today whereas it wasn't in an earlier period.

"Many men are busy, too, during banking hours. They let their wives act as their secretaries and do the banking. Physicians, for instance, turn their books over to their wives quite frequently."

So it isn't any wonder that the women bank executives have an organization of their own. There is more money in the banks today than ever before, Miss Langthorne says.

Vicks VapoRub

Your Same Vicks...Only Color Removed...Same Formula Same Price

HERE'S real news! Science has found a way to remove the color from the world's most famous treatment for colds—without altering the time-tested formula an iota! It's your same Vicks—just all chance of stain gone!

Why 26 Million Jars Are Used Yearly—For twenty-five years Vicks VapoRub has been the mothers' reliance—the family standby for cold troubles. Like nothing else Vicks acts externally—without the risks of "dosing"—direct to the affected area—by stimulation and inhalation—2 ways at once.

In Golden Amber or Stainless White — Now your druggist has Vicks in the original amber or the new stainless white form—as you prefer it. It's the same dependable Vicks . . . same time-tested ingredients, compounded in the same exclusive Vick way—at the same price.

VICKS NOW IN TWO FORMS... as you prefer it

For a generation an especially selected amber petrolatum has been used as the base of Vicks, because we found no white or "stainless" base of satisfactory melting point and viscosity that would permit the gradual, long-continued vaporizing action that is distinctive of Vicks.

Through the perfection of a process which removes the natural color, without otherwise affecting its properties, Vick Chemists have at last made Vicks VapoRub possible in white, stainless form, for those who prefer it.

ON'T 'DOSE' COLDS EXCEPT ON YOUR DOCTOR'S ADVICE

For whiter washes safely . . . try these hard-water suds

THE SOAP you use makes a big difference on washday. If the suds are flat and lifeless, you'll have to scrub to get the dirt out. And even then your wash won't look white enough.

But thrifty Rinso gives you a gleaming, snowy wash every time! Its suds are creamy, active—even in hardest water. Saves scrubbing and boiling. Of course clothes last longer!

Cup for cup, Rinso goes twice as far as light-weight, puffed-up soaps — without the help of powders or softeners. The makers of 40 washers recommend Rinso. Great for dishes, too.

Ouimet, McCarthy Lead Field; Hubbers Beat Tahoka

Ancient Event Is Slashed To 4 Competitors

Ouimet Tackles Champion Of Virginia While McCarthy Meets Jack Westland For Semi-Final Honors Today

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

BEVERLY COUNTRY CLUB, CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Slim, scholarly Francis Ouimet, one of the old masters of golf at the age of 38, and swarthy, broad-shouldered Maurice J. McCarthy, jr., New York, a born battler of the links, rode the crest of superlative play into the semi-finals of the United States amateur championship today.

As a result of their two sweeping conquests in the 36-hole quarter-finals, the veteran Ouimet will match his skillful experience tomorrow against the youthful challenge of 19-year-old Billy Howell, Virginia state champion, while McCarthy tackles the brilliant Chicago district champion, Alfred J. (Jack) Westland.

Ouimet reached the semi-finals for the sixth time in the last nine years by trouncing the 21-year-old Kansas City bantamweight, Paul Jackson, 7 and 6.

McCarthy Looks Best

McCarthy forged his way to the last four by blasting out the finest round of the day, a par 71, in the morning, and then surviving an afternoon slump to take the measure of California's last hope, Fay Coleman, Los Angeles, 6 and 5.

Howell, a slim, blond Virginian, who has lost eight pounds through the rigors of his first National tournament, won the right to play the great Ouimet by overcoming Lester Bolstad, St. Paul, former public links champion, 3 and 2. The young southerner was two down in the morning, after his worst round of the championship, but rallied to win in the afternoon.

Westland and Yates Battle

The hottest battle of the day was fought out to the last putt on the 36th green, where Westland finally beat off his 268-pound rival, Arthur (Ducky) Yates, Rochester, N. Y. It was a terrific struggle throughout between two fine match players. At no time were they separated by more than two holes. The match was squared six times before Westland came through with a fine par five on the difficult 572-yard home hole to settle the issue.

The surviving quartet is the most sharply contrasting set of semi-finalists the ancient tournament has known in many a year.

Ouimet and McCarthy have played by far the most consistent golf of the remaining title contenders, to justify their positions as favorites in the fight for the title relinquished by Jones. Ouimet's 74 over the first round today was as sound, if not quite as spectacular as McCarthy's in the morning but was considerably steadier in the afternoon. Westland's 77 in the morning and 76 in the afternoon represented good but far from brilliant golf.

Sinclair's Famous Stable Is Retired Off Turf By Auction

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 3. (AP)—The famous white and green capped silks of Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable were retired from the turf today as 25 thoroughbreds, representing the stable's horses in training, passed into new hands via the auction block in the Saratoga race course paddock.

The 25 horses, many of which have carried the popular Sinclair colors to stake victories, sold for a total of $81,300—an average of $3,252 per head.

The top price was paid for the two-year-old Defier, a son of Bud Lerner, for which Frank Seremba paid $12,600. Defier is eligible for the Hopeful stakes Saturday.

Ladana, three-year-old filly whose recent poisoning prior to a race at the local track resulted in the barring of Rancocas horses from overnight events, went to Victor Emanuel's Dorwood stable for $9,500—the second highest price of the sale.

Wheat Belt Golfers To Meet In Post Season Tournament

CANYON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Two hundred and fifty golfers of the Wheat Belt League will meet at Plainview September 27 for a post-season tournament. The tournament will be played on the Lena Ware course with Jack Bush, pro, in charge of the grounds.

There will be several flights and prizes will be equal for each flight. J. M. Posey of Hereford is chairman of the prize committee, and working with him are A. A. McNabb of Vega and T. V. Reeves of Canyon.

Players participating will come from clubs at Clovis, Hereford, Canyon, Vega, Lockney, Plainview, Happy and Tulia.

Amarillo Badgers To Open Grid Season September 12

AMARILLO, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Badgers of Amarillo College, who opened training camp August 31, will play their first game September 12, less than two weeks after their training started.

Coach Al Baggett is confident, however, that his charges will win the first clash, with the Panhandle Aggies of Goodwell, Okla. The game will be played in Amarillo.

Baggett's confidence is based on the return of 12 of his 20 lettermen from last year's squad, who went through their season undefeated.

CANYON, Sept. 3. (AP)—The freshman rule will be observed by the West Texas State Teachers' College Buffaloes this fall as the school seeks major classification for its athletics.

Dickey Tosses Locals To 7-2 Win In Opener

Teams Play Tonight At 8 In Final Of Series; Hubbers Hit Lefty Squires Hard To Put Over Win

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

Frank Larkin, portsider, failed to show up in time to start last night's game for Tahoka and Lefty Squires, who was slated to pitch tonight against Blue Eyes Graham in the second of the series, was forced to open the first game. He was mauled about rather mercilessly by the Lubbock Hubbers who took the big end of 7 to 2 score.

Greer Dickey pitched masterful baseball for Lubbock, allowing but six hits, keeping them scattered among six batsmen and over six innings, to win his ball game. He walked four men and permitted the bases to be loaded in the last go-around, but otherwise carefully defended his superiority over Tahoka pitchers.

The Hubbers played a nice defensive as well as offensive game, even if they did commit four fumbles. They let in one unearned run, that in the seventh when Lefty Bettes threw wild to France at second to permit a tally by Cathcart, who was safe on a fielder's choice after K. Wells had singled and was caught at second, and Harley Wells went to third on the play.

Other Run Is Close

The other Tahoka run barely counted. It was in the second inning. Bettes missed a throw from France who had to toss while running and Squires was safe to start the second. Mister Squires made the fatal mistake of trying to steal second while big Galey held the ball and was out a mile, Galey to France. Bridges drew a walk and Johnson flied out to Gaither in right. Then Karl Wells hit a hard one to Marshall in left that would have gone for a double had the runner stopped at second. As it was, bridges scored but in some neat throwing, Marshall to Waller and Waller to Galey, then Galey back to Waller, Wells was out like a 1910 bathing suit.

Hambright tripled to start the Hubber half of the second and while Marshall was batting, Wells let one get by and Hambright came in to tie the score. Galey doubled in the same frame but Squires was powerful to strike out Graham and Bettes.

Squires struck out eleven men last night to partially make up for the eleven hits gleaned off him. He was backed by errorless support, save for the passed ball that let Hambright in.

Galey Hits Homer

There was no more scoring until the fifth when France walked, stole second and came in on Gaither's double to center. Gaither advanced on Hambright's dinky single and stole home while Catcher Wells held the ball at the plate in a beautiful slide. Two more were added in the sixth when Marshall singled and came in on Galey's circuit clout, a bingle that hit beyond second and rolled past center and right fielder to the boards.

The last pair of runs came in the seventh when Gaither singled after France and Waller had whiffed and Hambright doubled. They both scored on Marshall's single. Marshall went to second on the play and stole third but was left there as Galey struck out.

Hambright had a perfect day at bat with a single, double and triple. Galey's home run, a double and single put him among the hitting trio who hit a trio of hits each, Gaither being the other two singles and a double.

The teams play tonight at 8:30 on the Merrill Park field. Graham will pitch for Lubbock against Larkin for Tahoka.

Court Upholds Man's Slaying

Military Body Rules Slaying Of Former Wink Police Officer In East Texas Field Was Justified

KILGORE, Sept. 3. (AP)—A military board of inquiry ruled today that the slaying of R. E. "Bob" Williams, alias Joe Rochat, by officers here yesterday, was justified.

The board held that Williams, a suspected bank robber, came to death while resisting arrest and while armed with a deadly weapon.

The military investigation was required because Williams was shot in the East Texas martial law zone. Officers encountered him on the highway near London, in Rusk county.

The board's report stated that Williams "was undoubtedly one of the three persons who held up the Pelican, La., State bank, Aug. 31."

Investigation showed that he had an Oklahoma prison record and was at one time a member of the Henry Starr gang.

A Louisiana woman who came to Henderson to view the body identified him positively as one of the men who robbed the Pelican bank of $2,600.

Ranger Thad Carver and Deputy Sheriffs Homer Gray and Edwin Holt halted Williams and another suspect on the highway. Williams leaped out of the truck in which he was riding with a pistol in his hand and was killed in an interchange of shots.

His companion was arrested for investigation.

Williams' wife had been living in a tent camp near London. Officers learned of her residence and maintained a watch there until Williams arrived.

Definite Action Urged By Banker

DALLAS, Sept. 3. (AP) — J. W. Hoopes, president of the Texas Bankers association, said today that Gov. Ross S. Sterling should indicate definitely whether he intends to call a special session of the legislature to consider cotton farmers relief proposals, or whether he intends to leave the situation in the hands of non-political forces.

"If Gov. Sterling plans to call a special session, he should definitely announce his purpose," Hoopes declared. "Assuming that legislation which might be enacted would be of benefit to the cotton farmer, every day that the session is delayed means a loss to the farmer.

"The crop is beginning to move now, and will soon be out of the farmers' hands. If any legislation which might be enacted would bring about an increase in price, its benefit would be lost to the farmer if the cotton has passed out of his control.

"On the other hand, the threat of a special legislative session is restraining the work of others who are interested in the situation. It is a distinctly disturbing factor, and the sooner we know definitely what is to happen at Austin, the better off we will all be."

Federal Farm Board Criticized For Its Cotton Plan By Governor Murray

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 3. (AP)—Governor Murray, who would initiate laws in Oklahoma to curtail cotton and wheat acreage, said today the federal farm board "merely sought some excuse to say it had tried to aid the south" in its proposal for destruction of one-third the cotton crop.

The proposal, he said, "was made knowing it would not and could not be done. You can't take private property, even for public purposes, without compensation."

He also charged that forces which created the board did so to hold down prices of agricultural products.

"Some people think the national government should regulate production," the governor asserted. "The government hasn't police power within a state. The state, however, may use police power to prevent growth of a crop for purposes of soil preservation and to destroy insect pests." He also said efforts of states to control cotton production through the national government would be impractical because of lack of a congressional house majority from cotton and tobacco states.

"The federal government can and has joined states to accomplish such results," he added.

Cotton and wheat producing states, he continued, should form a league of states, not only for agriculture but for oil production control and ask the federal government to assist.

Sudan Growers Of Plains To Gather

Fred W. Mangelsdorf, of Atchison, Kansas, yesterday announced that a series of meetings will be held on the South Plains during the coming week looking forward to the organization of Sudan grass seed growers. Mangelsdorf who seeks to organize an association of seed growers, said a cooperative plan was in mind. The meetings will be held at Plainview, Olton, Dimmitt, Muleshoe, Lubbock and Littlefield.

Meetings Are Listed

The meetings, at which are invited Sudan growers, business men and bankers, will be held as follows:

September 5: Plainview, Hale county courthouse, 2 p. m.; Olton, Lamb county courthouse, 8 p. m. September 7: Dimmitt, Castro county courthouse, 2 p. m.; Muleshoe, Bailey county courthouse, 8 p. m. September 8: Lubbock, Lubbock county courthouse, 2 p. m.; Littlefield, City hall, 8 p. m.

Mangelsdorf said he expected representatives from the Federal Farm board, Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston and officials of agricultural colleges to attend the Plainview gathering. If successful in organizing the co-op it will be named "The Southwestern Sudan Grass Seed Growers Co-Operative association".

Highway Fight Is Fatal To Two Men

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 3. (AP)—Two men were killed and three wounded late last night in a highway gun fight that occurred when officers hunting a group of filling station bandits tried to halt an approaching automobile.

The dead were Police Captain W. A. Bourland and a suspected robber identified as Orb Crow of Tulsa and Bartlesville, Okla. His companions, who gave their names as Everett and Ted Wackerly, were in a hospital under guard today in critical condition from their wounds.

Patrolman Ralph Howard who was with Captain Bourland also was wounded.

Officers said Crow and the Wackerly's were identified today by J. E. Cantwell of Spiro, Ark., as the three men who robbed his filling station.

England imported $85,000,000 worth of eggs in the last 12 months.

Coleman Official Extends Invitation To Annual Fair

Sim O'Neal, secretary of the Coleman Chamber of Commerce, was a business visitor in Lubbock yesterday. While here, O'Neal extended an invitation to Lubbock people to attend the annual Coleman county fair to be held at Coleman, October 7, 8, 9 and 10.

In spite of general business conditions a successful exposition is expected, the Coleman secretary said. The fair at Coleman and another at Ballinger will be the only regional expositions in Central West Texas this year, according to O'Neal. Fairs at Abilene, San Angelo and Brownwood have been called off this season, he said.

Man Is Charged Here With Swindling; Check Is Given

J. C. Smith, alias Stagner, was charged with swindling yesterday in a complaint filed in justice court in connection with attempt to pass an alleged worthless check at J. C. Penney company department store here.

The man is said to have selected a hat at the store and offered to give a check for $2.98 as payment for the article. He asked a clerk to fill out the instrument and also to sign his (Smith's) name, the man stating that he could not write. Smith made his mark beneath the signature. Jack Parsons, manager of the store said the man did not have an account at the First National bank, upon whom the check was drawn.

Unemployment Again Tackled

Committee Of United States Chamber Of Commerce Meets To Draft Report On Basis Of Investigations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—The unemployment problem was tackled today by Representatives of American industry through a committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The committee, headed by Henry I. Harriman, of Boston, met at the chamber headquarters here to draft a report on the basis of many months of investigation.

Meanwhile, the chamber's first president, Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago banker, was organizing a committee under President Hoover's unemployment relief organization, to find means of increasing employment

Wheeler was appointed yesterday by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, as chairman of the committee on employment plans and suggestions.

The relief organization also announced today through Fred C. Croxton, assistant director, a nation-wide back-to-school movement to be carried on by the churches. Croxton said Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churches had pledged their co-operation.

The chamber committee was expected to devote two days to drafting a report which officials of the organization hoped would make recommendations not only for dealing with the relief problems, but for stabilizing employment in the future.

Brewster Dillard Is Held In Jail

Although his short jail sentence for the theft of gasoline has expired, Brewster Dillard, who recently figured in an attempted jail break here, was still in the city bastile last night.

Dillard was out under bonds in two felony charges at the time of his arrest for theft of gasoline, officers said. After the youth attemped to saw his way to freedom a week ago, his bondsmen requested that they be allowed to withdraw as sureties, Sheriff Wade Hardy said yesterday.

The youth is charged here with the theft of an automobile from C. C. Lindsey and is charged at Plainview with burglary, officers said.

Dillard recently was chained to his bunk in the jail for alleged participation in an attempt to break jail here. A deputy sheriff who was guarding the rear window of the jail, said Dillard was the first to appear at the window, where a bar had been cut.

King Opens Egyptian Parliament

In this imposing fashion, His Majesty King Fuad I presided at the opening of the Egyptian Parliament in Cairo recently. It was his own speech that officially opened the legislative session, but King Fuad, as you see him here on the royal dais, merely listened while Ismail Sidky Pasha, right, the Egyptian Premier, read the speech of the throne.

Senator Parrish Details Reasons At Kiwanis Club

Reasons for calling a special session of the legislature to enact laws for the purpose of aiding the cotton situation were recited yesterday by State Senator Pink L. Parrish in an address befor the Lubbock Kiwanis club at Hotel Lubbock.

"Under the conditions I cannot see how the governor can afford not to call a special session," he said.

"You can't make it any worse," Senator Parrish said in referring to the present cotton situation, "and it is my belief that legislation of some sort will raise the price of cotton and aid in stabilizing the industry.

Must Be Conservation

"If it is passed, however," he said "it must go through on the conservation theory. I believe that something can be done through this way."

Senator Parrish pointed out the existing conditions throughout the United States and cited as one of the causes the fact that 540 individuals in the nation received more dividends than the agricultural yield totaled. He said that six per cent of the population controlled 80 per cent of the nation's wealth.

"As a people, and the government is the people," he continued, "we must see that this is changed. We don't have to be smart to know that we, or at least our grandchildren, will be peons under the present system. Do you remember in the olden days, when your father always encouraged you to save and get a 'stake' to start a little business and how little capital was needed. But let a young man start out in some business on a small capital today and there's somebody to choke him out".

Cited Oil Stations

He cited the chain oil stations and how the companies would lower the price in one section and raise it in another to meet competition of the 'little fellow'.

Mr. Parrish was introduced by Tom Garrard, chairman of the day, who made a few brief remarks preceding and after the senator's talk.

Visitors present were: F. L. Butler of Oklahoma City; H. T. Lindsey of Houston and G. R. King of Fort Worth.

Plans for attending the district convention in Oklahoma City next week were talked briefly. Mr. Butler extended a welcome on behalf of the Oklahoma City clubs.

Police couldn't see his side of the argument, however, and he was arrested, only to be freed on the plea of the man he attacked.

Help Mother Like Her Job!

"MOTHER kin flare up," commented the late Kin Hubbard, who as "Abe Martin" became the generation's greatest philosopher, "but thank goodness she can't get another job as quick as the hired girl!"

There's a lot of sense packed into that sentence; you husbands, sons and daughters can all remember, no further back than yesterday, when Mother did flare up because she had reason to. Just think where most of us would be today if Mother could change jobs as rapidly and for as little reason as most hired girls! We'd either be in bad shape—or we'd have learned, a long time ago, to treat Mother with the deference her labors deserve.

School days are "just around the corner" and thousands of Lubbock households must move more on schedule time than they have been moving during the past three months. On Mother's shoulders rests the major responsibility of getting the family up in time, of getting breakfast on the table in time and of starting the kiddies off to school so they'll get there before the tardy bell. These functions are particularly Mother's responsibility, but the rest of the family can—and should—help her along.

It isn't necessary to wait for Mother's Day to give Mother her just deserts. She appreciates help and consideration through the year a lot more than she appreciates a little bunch of posies or a box of dollar candy.

Husbands and older sons and daughters, turn over a new leaf this year and decide to give Mother "a break" when it comes to carrying the family load. Certainly she can't get another job as quickly as the hired girl but you should be so glad she can't that you'd be willing to carry a part of the never lightening load that nature, and our plan of living, have unceremoniously dumped upon her shoulders.

LET'S WATCH THIS PAVING

The State Highway commission has called for bids on grading and drainage structures preparatory to paving 137 from Lubbock to the Hockley county line. That means plans are going ahead and that sometime in the near future the hardsurfacing contract on this particular project will be let.

It has been noised around Lubbock that after the completion of the strip on Highway 9, between Lubbock and the Lynn county line, there would be no more concrete construction in this county. This rumor has not been officially upheld by the highway department, but there is little doubt that efforts will be made to work in some asphalt construction, despite the fact that the Lubbock county bonds were voted upon the predication that construction would be of the concrete variety.

It will behoove the citizens of this county in general—and the County Commissioners court in particular—to keep an eye upon the plans of the highway department in this regard. As has been stated in these columns before, the people should be advised officially concerning what is being planned in the way of paving the balance of Lubbock county's roads.

LET'S NOT FORGET IT

After an editorial, published in Wednesday's edition of The Morning Avalanche, urged action in taking steps to protect school children on busy streets in the vicinity of school buildings, plans were immediately begun to put the suggestion into operation. The City hall announced that warning signs would be erected for the benefit of motorists and that efforts would be made to organize patrols to guild children across thoroughfares. Superintendent of Schools M. H. Duncan also responded by asking for "no-parking" limits along side of school buildings.

A good start has thus been made to safe-guard the lives and limbs of the youngsters but let's not forget it. Let's all of us work hand in hand to see that the suggestions are carried out to the letter and, by so doing, contribute our part to making Lubbock streets safe for the kiddies.

Cuba is in revolt. If it's for American "liberty," boy, page Volstead!

Practical Health Problems

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 29th of a series of 36 timely articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein on "Food Truths and Follies," dealing with such much discussed but little known subjects as calories, vitamins, minerals, digestion and balanced diet.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, And of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

WHEN our knowledge of vitamins first began to develop it was taken for granted that the vitamins found in the fresh fruits and vegetables could be had in equal amounts by taking canned, pickled or preserved substances.

However, later investigation showed that vitamin C, the anti-scurvy vitamin, could be modified considerably or perhaps eliminated entirely by submitting it to oxidation. Oxidation occurs when such fruits and vegetables are cooked in open kettles on a stove, and does not occur to nearly so great an amount when such substances are cooked under high pressure in sealed cans; as is done in the commercial cooking process.

The only means of finding out how much vitamin C, or indeed any other vitamin, may be present in food is to test it on an experimental animal. If the animal is given a diet without any vitamin C in it, it will die of acute scurvy in 25 days. If such animals are put on scurvy-producing diets and are then fed the protective substances, it is possible to tell by the response of the animal about how much of the substance is necessary to save its life. Thus the scurvy-preventing factor can be standardized.

Lemon juice is known to be one of the richest substances in content of vitamin C. However, most attempts to pack lemon juice for sale have resulted in the destruction of the vitamin quality. Recently British investigators named J. Williams and J. W. Corran have attempted to preserve lemon juice with various added substances. They find that the reaction of the bottled lemon juice is of importance in maintaining its content of vitamin C.

They found that the addition of lemon rind oil, or sodium benzoate, or of formic acid did not save the vitamin C. Indeed the latter two substances exerted a destructive action. Oil of cloves had a destructive action and sucrose failed to save the vitamin. The addition of a very small amount of hydrochloric acid in order to overcome the alkalinity of the lemon juice enabled the saving of the anti-scurvy activity for 14 months.

Here then is the beginning of evidence which may lead to suitable methods of preserving vitamin C in canned and packed products of the citrous fruits. Canned tomatoes, strawberries and other fresh vegetables are rich in vitamin C, and are now used regularly in the feeding of infants whose diets are deficient in this substance. Thus far, it has not been possible to develop a lemon juice that contained a vitamin C factor in usable quantities.

Two Problems May Link

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The prohibition question would not stand a ghost of a show if it had to compete with the hard times issue for attention at the next session of congress.

L. C. Dyer

The most ardent wets admit as much.

They also are free to confess that they were growing decidedly discouraged until recently, at the fashion in which interest appeared to be waning in the modification campaign that they had hoped would be approaching its climax on Capitol Hill next winter. Not that they were counting on victory at the coming session, but they did look for a hot enough contest to make the wet-and-dry controveersy bulk largely in the 1932 presidential fight.

That, however, was earlier in the season, before it had become so evident that no other subject can be invested with sufficient ginger to command serious consideration while the depression lasts.

YET NOW—

Behold the appeal for "good beer" being put forward as an unemployment relief suggestion!

And prohibition under attack as at least in part responsible for the industrial and agricultural crisis!

THE STRENGTH of the pro-beer plea, in its application to the unemployment situation, lies in its promise (a wet promise, disputed by the drys, of course) of new jobs immediately for large numbers of men.

Though it may be true, as the drys maintain, that the proposition's economics are faulty and will prove themselves to be so in the long run, it is hard to convince the average individual that the legalization of a popular beer would not be followed by the opening of a lot of breweries in short order or that the opening of a lot of breweries would not make work for a lot of hands.

What the drys say would happen ultimately is, after all, problematic.

What the wets say would happen at once (that 1,000,000 men or so would be needed to brew and deliver "real beer" and provide materials incidental to its production) is more than problematic; it sounds highly probable.

THIS LABOR argument is the spearhead of the wets' drive.

It has ten times the punch in it of all the Wickersham reports put together.

The Wickersham findings were dampish, to be sure.

For example, the commission set down two-thirds of the cost of administering federal criminal justice to prohibition. It mentioned "unemployment and prohibitory laws" as the chief causes of crime. One of the reports blamed bootlegging influences for racketeering generally. Commissioner Henry W. Anderson referred bitterly to "undue and irritating restraints upon normal social and economic activities."

Nevertheless, the Wickersham board merely, told its story; it promised nothing in particular.

EVEN PROMISES such as Representative Leonidas C. Dyer of Missouri makes, in his campaign for 4 per cent beer, are not of a sort to stir the rank and file of the country's voters to a frenzy of enthusiasm.

Legal "real beer," says Dyer, would yield a billion dollars yearly in federal revenue.

Which would mean, presumably, an annual billion-dollar reduction in income taxation—an entrancing prospect, indisputably, to folk who pay income taxes, but, comparatively, there are not many of them.

And mass votes are required to modify prohibition.

A CONVINCINGLY-MADE prediction that approximately 1,000,000 additional jobs will be thrown open and that 80,000,000 additional bushels of grain will be uurgently needed directly upon "real beer's" legalization is calculated to make more wet converts, from among voters who may happen to have been idle for a winter or two, than assurances of any imaginable total of increased federal revenue.

When everyone had employment perhaps it would not have been so cogent an appeal. Today it should be mighty effective, if believed in.

The prohibition question will be subsidiary to the hard times issue certainly, but indications are that it is pretty securely hooked onto the latter. If so, the combination threatens to complicate matters for the drys very materially.

THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS ARE HIGHER IN SUMMER THAN IN WINTER:

All metals and minerals expand with heat, and mountains, which are made of metals and minerals, will expand to some degree in hot weather. Therefore the great ranges of the Rockies will be higher in summer when their snow blankets are melted than in winter when their peaks are ice-bound. However, since the heat of the sun, even in the tropics, is not capable of penetrating any great depth into the surface of the earth's crust, the variation in height would be slight. SYNOPSIS: After Pierre trails Bruce to the desert, Ann, Bruce's wife, and Tony follow them to Red Butte. There the sheriff has a telepraphic order to hold them in connection with the cashier's murder, for which her father is in jail. Meanwhile Pierre, coming unseen upon Bruce and Colorado Bill, hears Bruce admit killing the cashier and stealing $25,000. When Bill kills Bruce in a row over their canteen, Pierre forces him to dig a grave. He plans to turn the slayer over to the law and by returning Bruce's stolen money effect Ann's father's release. The digging reveals the lost gold vein and in the excitement Pierre's prisoner is identified as his father. The youth, astounded, does not see the man secure his gun.

Chapter 35
A LETTER'S SEQUEL

"That telegram, sir, is an outrage," said Old Tony, following up Ann's protest to the sheriff. He patted Ann's hand reassuringly.

"Don't be alarmed, my dear. This ridiculous order will never be carried out. It is preposterous. It is like everything else that silly ass of a sheriff in Orchard Hill has done from the first evening when he arrested your father."

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Carey," said the sheriff. "Suppose you tell me the whole story. I'd be mighty glad to help you if I can."

"I think that would be best, Ann", agreed Old Tony.

"Where shall I begin?"

"Suppose you begin with the disappearing of your husband," said the sheriff. "I know the main facts of the affair at the bank, and the arrest of your father. I thought it was established beyond doubt that Bruce Carey was in Camden when the crime was committed?"

"Yes, sir, Bruce was delivering some papers to the president of the Camden bank."

"Then why didn't he come back home to Orchard Hill?"

"Why, Bruce didn't even know about what had happened at the bank when he went away. His going away was planned before anything could have happened. He—left a letter about it — about his going away, I mean.

"Who has this letter?" the sheriff asked.

"I have."

"Haven't you shown this letter to the authorities?"

"Oh, no, sir. Nobody but Father Tony and Pierre and I know about Bruce's reasons for going away. I simply couldn't let Orchard Hill know. I—I would die of shame. And it would be terrible for Pierre. It would be just as bad for Bruce too when he comes back. We could never live such a thing down. It was all such a horrible mistake—Bruce's going away. It would have been bad enough any time, but for him to disappear, for a reason that we dared not let anybody know about, the very night the bank—"

"I see," said the sheriff. "And when Bruce didn't show up the morning after the crime the officers began hunting him in spite of his alibi?"

"Yes, sir. And Father Tony and Pierre and I thought if Bruce could only come home of his own free will, before the officers found him, that everything would be all right—and nobody would ever need to know the reason for his going away, as they would have to know if he were arrested and brought back in connection with the bank."

"You were right in that, Mrs. Carey. But it would have been better if you had told the authorities why your husband disappeared."

"We could never have gone on living in Orchard Hill if I had. And wouldn't the officers have arrested him and brought him back for the bank just the same? Besides, it—it wouldn't have been fair to Pierre."

"Pierre?" The sheriff glanced at the telegram in his hand. "Who is this Pierre Donovan?"

Ann looked appealingly at Old Tony.

"Pierre Donovan, sir," the old actor spoke impressively, as if referring to a personage of more than ordinary importance, "Pierre Donovan is the son of one Roy Donovan and Harriet Noel, his wife. She died when her son was only a child and I had the honor to be appointed by her as executor of her will and guardian of her son. Pierre is destined to be as great an artist of the stage as was his mother.

"Harriet Noel was one of the greatest actresses of her day. Her boy grew to manhood in the atmosphere of the theater so far as it was possible for me to create such an atmosphere for him in Orchard Hill."

"His home is in Orchard Hill, is it?"

"Pierre made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Carey. These three young people, sir, grew up together in Orchard Hill."

"This man is an actor, you say?"

"Pierre Donovan was born to be an actor. His earliest memories are of the theater—when he was on the stage in child parts with his mother. He has been reared in the best traditions of dramatic art. He was about to begin his life work by enrolling in the Academy of Dramatic Art when suddenly this unfortunate situation developed."

"And so Pierre lived with you and your husband, Mrs. Carey?"

Poor Ann's reply was scarcely audible. "Yes, sir."

"And did he work in the bank, too, with your father and your husband?"

"Oh, no sir. Pierre worked in the HOUSTON, Sept. 3. (AP) — R. L. Dudley, publisher of the Oil Weekly, declared today that the immediate effect of the Texas railroad commission order establishing proration in the East Texas oil fields on a basis of 225 barrels per well daily "will be to stimulate the drilling of additional wells on inside locations." He said it also would result in increased equipment of East Texas for pumping.

"The well basis laid down by the commission will cause most operators to go ahead and drill their 'inside locations' in order to prevent drainage of these properties by the approximately 1800 wells now completed and ready to begin production as soon as martial law is lifted," he said.

"It is the opinion of some major operators that the crude oil market will absorb 400,000 barrels of East Texas crude oil a day on the basis of a price of 68 cents which is in general effect in that field. Of course, what happens in Oklahoma may affect this market price to a material extent. In view of the approaching low winter gasoline demand, a higher production than 400,000 barrels in East Texas will prove dangerous," he added.

"Predictions are being freely made that between 1,000 and 1,300 additional wells will be drilled in East Texas between now and the first of the year unless the railroad commission revises its order. Such a revision is a possibility, inasmuch as the order was issued on 'open market' and is subject to revision without notice or hearing, any new order issued being based on the testimony entered at the Austin hearing last week.

"Some oil men take this to mean that the commission does not intend to let the situation get out of hand, but inasmuch as the commission orders can be based only on the ground of conservation many feel that it is doubtful if the order will be further interferred with."

Employes Of Railroad Will Appear In Court At Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 3. (AP)—Employes of the Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas railway company will appear in federal court here October 18 in an effort to obtain a permanent injunction enjoining the road from cutting salaries 15 per cent. Hearing will be before Judge William Hawley Atwell.

Judge Atwell denied petition of the employee for a temporary injunction yesterday. Counsel for the railroad company based their fight against the petition on ground the road was operating at a financial loss. The suit was brought by J. W. Quinn, general chairman of the Greenville local of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers, and others.

Banker Announces That All West Texas Ranges Are Good

DALLAS, Sept. 3. (AP) — John Owens, vice-president of the Republic Bank and Trust company, announced today that West Texas cattle are in good condition and that ranges promise ample feed throughout the winter.

On a trip to the Davis mountain section he found cattle, sheep and goats fat. He believes West Texas will hold a very advantageous position on the market this year.

General Pershing—In A High Hat

It's not often a top hat and formal attire are seen adorning General John J. Pershing. Shown in the center is Walter E. Edge, United States Ambassador to France.

Drug Store. He was a soda fountain clerk."

"What did you mean, Mrs. Carey, when you said you just now that you couldn't tell why your husband went away because it wouldn't be fair to your soda fountain actor friend?"

Again Ann turned to Old Tony appealingly. "Must I tell him, Father Tony?"

"I'm afraid you must, Ann."

The sheriff waited.

At last Ann managed to speak.

"Bruce thought that Pierre and I were in love with each other—I mean—in a way that we had no right to be. In the letter he left for him he said that I had been untrue to him, and that was why he was leaving me and was never coming back. Don't you see, sir, why I couldn't let anybody know that Bruce had left me for such a reason as that? Don't you see how unfair it would have been to Pierre?"

"Pierre knew why your husband left you, did he?"

"Oh, yes, sir. Pierre and Father Tony read the letter after the officers took father away. And we decided it would be best not to mention the letter to any one—and that Pierre must go and find Bruce and bring him back home before the officers could arrest him for the bank trouble."

"What made you think that Bruce might be in these parts?"

"Because Pierre's father, who deserted Pierre and his mother when Pierre was a little boy, wrote Bruce about a wonderful gold mine out there, and wanted Bruce to get money to put in it."

"And did Bruce get money to invest in this mine?"

Ann answered this question with womanly indignation as she remembered how Bruce had taken Pierre's money.

"Yes, sir, he did. He persuaded Pierre to let him have his school money. But Pierre doesn't know that it is his father who has this mine. Pierre's father wasn't good to his mother, and Bruce thought if Pierre knew, he wouldn't let him have the money."

"Didn't the officers know about this mine?"

"They didn't know about it when Father Tony and I left Orchard Hill. You see, from the first, Bruce never would let us tell anybody about it, because he was connected with the bank, and he thought Mr. Dayton, the president, wouldn't like him to be interested in mines and such things."

"I see. So you thought Pierre could find your husband and bring him back home before the sheriff could locate him?"

"Yes, sir."

"What about your father, Mrs. Carey? He is under arrest for this bank crime, ain't he?"

Ann wrung her hands. "Oh, yes, sir. And that is another reason why Bruce must come home. Bruce will know what to do to help father.

"We—we didn't know what to do. I needed Bruce so. Don't you understand, sir? Don't you?"

"There, there, ma'am," the sheriff assured her. "Sure, I understand. But what are you and your old friend doing away out here in Nevada?"

"We came because I was so worried about Bruce and Pierre. I was afraid Bruce wouldn't come home. You see, he thinks that Pierre and I—that we—Pierre might never even find Bruce, and if he did, he and Bruce might—I haven't heard a word from Pierre since he left. He might get into all sorts of trouble. Do you know where Pierre is, sir? Has he found Bruce? Are they all right?"

Henderson Editor Called By Death

HOUSTON, Sept. 3. (AP) — The body of Charles W. Ingram, 40, editor of the Henderson Daily News and former editor of the Temple Daily Telegram, who died here yesterday, was sent to Temple today for burial at 10 a. m. Friday.

Ingram suffered a stroke of apoplexy at his desk at the Henderson Daily News office. At the request of his brother-in-law, Dr. R. K. McHenry, Houston physician, Ingram was rushed here.

In 1913 Ingram began newspaper work on the Temple Telegram. He remained with the organization until 1929, when he resigned to engage in business. A year later he returned to newspaper work.

Ingram formerly was president of the Temple Chamber of Commerce and president of the Temple Lions club. He was a Mason.

Mayhew Search Proves Futile

Officers And Citizens Scour Plains And Panhandle Area But Reports Thursday Bear Little Trace Of Man

(Special To The Avalanche)

FLOYDADA, Sept. 3.—A score or more of Floydada officers and citizens today conducted a futile search for W. B. Mayhew of Floydada, who disappeared Wednesday after evidently planning to commit suicide and then changed his mind.

The man was last seen early this morning at a farmhouse, 20 miles northeast of Floydada, where he spent the night. Stopping at the farm home, Mayhew said his name was Brooks and he was looking for work. Occupants of the house recognized him and the sheriff's office learned of it at about 8:30 o'clock this morning. Searchers led by Sheriff J. M. Bright went to the house, but were informed that he had gone toward Quitaque.

Sheriff Bright and other searchers spent the entire day in the vicinity of Quitaque, but found no further trace of the man.

Letters Received

Search for Mayhew started Wednesday shortly after noon when Mrs. Mayhew received a letter from her husband stating where his body could be found. Officers rushing to the appointed place found another note, in which Mayhew said he had changed his mind about drowning himself and advised that no further search for him be made, "for you will never see me again."

Mrs. Mayhew, suffering from shock, was reported improved today.

Her husband was about 45 years old and father of two grown sons and a daughter. He had worked at elevators here but had been out of employment for several months.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 3. (AP)—Cotton was very quiet today.

The fact the market here as well as in New York will be closed Saturday and Monday and that the government crop estimate will be issued Tuesday caused a general disinclination to enter on new ventures and such trading as developed was of evening-up character. Prices showed net declines for the day of 3 to 4 points at the close.

Liverpool came in 6 to 8 penny points better than due and private cables said shorts covered and foreign and local traders sought. Manchester cabled that the cloth trade was quieter and yarn sales were below production.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Trading in cotton was generally quiet today with moderate rallies from a slight opening decline followed by renewed easiness in the later trading.

December contracts after selling off to 6.88 at the start, rallied to 7.06 on some trade buying and covering but later declined to 6.97 and closed at that figure. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 3 to 4 points.

The opening was steady 1 to 2 points lower under overnight selling orders. October eased off to 6.75 and March to 7.37 but the market stiffened up, with active months selling about 6 to 7 points net higher during the middle of the day.

Revoke Order

most of the troops would be taken from the oil field Saturday morning and that the new proration order of the railroad commission would be placed in effect at that time. He said a skeleton force would remain and that the martial law order would stay in effect.

Warns Reporters

Coming from a series of conferences with the railroad commission and state officials, the governor warned newspapermen against taking somebody's else word for what he was going to do.

"I am the only man that can lift martial law in East Texas. I have not told anyone when I would modify martial law," he asserted.

He would not discuss whether the troops would be reduced or whether a proration order issued by the railroad commission for Saturday would be placed in effect.

Members of the railroad commission refused to comment, saying they preferred to have all statements come from the governor. One member expressed surprise he had not made a statement of his plans.

It was indicated from reliable sources that an agreement to reopen the field Saturday morning under the proration order of the railroad commission had been reached.

It was pointed out that the governor had one of three courses. He could lift martial law or he could modify his proclamation to permit the order of the commission to go into effect or he could keep the field closed down tight under troop rule.

Efforts to locate Mrs. Cherris having failed, the magistrate said there was a possibility she might have been slain and her body also thrown into the river.

An application for letters of administration of the estate of the late "Keggy" Jones was filed in probate court today by Ed J. Drake, his associate in the oil business. Drake estimated the value of the slain ex-convict's estate at $20,000.

The application will come before County Judge Rollin H. Spencer, Sept. 15.

employment to 25,000 persons and pay approximately $625,000 a month in wages.

Air Corps Ready

The government's announcement did not reveal whence would come the funds for the public works proposals, the action, however, was construed to be an effort to dissuade unemployed Chileans from turning willing ears to the arguments of the agitators.

A crack bombing squadron of the air corps awaited orders here to proceed to Coquimbo if necessary to bring the revolting navy to terms.

The government continued to believe tonight the mutineers would surrender but there was no indication from the rebels of what their plans might be since they were joined by the rest of the fleet.

Substantial Increase In Volume On Market Marks Further Price Decline

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—A substantial increase in volume marked the further decline of stock prices today. In the busiest trading since July 15 all groups followed the rails in a reaction that sent most prominent carrier issues to new lows and also broke United States Steel through its early June minimum.

There were two selling movements. The first, coming in the morning, affected chiefly the rails. An interval of dullness followed this break, but in the final hour offerings in other groups increased and the market closed not far from the bottom. The turnover totaled 2,120,420 shares.

Whereas a week or two ago stocks were willing to ignore bad news, recent developments of an unfavorable tenor have been used as a basis for lowering prices. On the debit side of the ledger today stood the omission of the Case dividend, the weakness of the Berlin bourse where trading was resumed after a suspension of nearly two months and a disappointing August sales record by a leading mail order house.

company, Community Natural Gas Co., Meridian Gas Co., and Guthrie Gas Service Co., by Leon Hirsh, attorney, the suit affects rights to do business in more than a score of cities and towns, seeks a receiver for properties of the companies and asks judgment for $365,095 alleged due the state in fees and penalties.

Charges Are Made

The petition charges the companies with unfair and destructive competition, abuse of rights and privileges, discrimination in gas rates and filing of "false and fraudulent returns," on value of property.

Several weeks ago, after a Lone Star protest against assessed valuation before the state board of equalization, Governor Murray said: "All right; let them go; we'll fix them." A hearing is to begin September 14 before the state corporation commission to investigate rates of the Lone Star Gas company.

Huey P. Long Says "We Will Put The Fires Under Sterling"; Fight Is On

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 3. (AP)—After scanning dispatches indicating that Governor Ross Sterling of Texas would not call a special legislative session for cotton crop curtailment, Gov. Huey P. Long, leader in the 1932 cotton prohibition proposal, said here today that "we will put the fires under Governor Sterling again" in an effort to have the Texas lawmakers assemble.

In a statement in which he said that "the governor of Texas is being misled," Long declared: "He is a bad interpreter of the real wishes of his people. I feel confident of this."

He said he would "not be deterred" by Sterling's statement of today, adding "we are going right on. I'm getting telegrams from Texas legislators right now. We will put the fires under Governor Sterling again. The fight must go on. I am convinced that this is the only way out and that the people want it. The people of the great state of Texas will get behind their governor again. He cannot afford to throw them down and I do not believe he will."

The governor made a flying trip here from the capital, returning to Baton Rouge this afternoon to resume his radio cotton-prohibition appeal series tonight.

Art Goebel Enters Trophy Derby; Seeks Share In $17,500 Premiums

BURBANK, Calif., Sept. 3. (AP)—Col. Art Goebel of Los Angeles has registered to compete in the Bendix trophy air race from this city to Cleveland, increasing the number of entrants to eight.

Goebel, in announcing he sought a share in the prizes totalling $17,500, said he would fly the same Lockheed-Vega monoplane in which he raced from Burbank to Chicago last year.

The pilots, meeting last night, decided the weather was too unsettled to permit a take off before tomorrow.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Sept. 3. (AP) — Hogs 900; fall and trunk market 15-20c lower; truck top 6.30; bulk better 170-240 pound truck hogs 6.10@6.25; packing sows steady to quarter lower, mostly 4.25@4.50.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 3. (AP) — Cattle receipts totalled 21,300. Most markets carried a steady to strong tone on slaughter steers and yearlings. Chicago secured 10.10 for 1348 lb. and 1392 lb. fed steers. Short fed grass steers at river markets were 6.50@7.00 while bulk straight grassers made 4.90@6.00. Stockers and feeders held about steady although demand was rather narrow. Replacement steers ranged at 4.25@6.25.

A weak to lower market on most cuts of dressed pork at eastern dressed centers reflected the same tendency to the live trade and values were unevenly steady to 10 lower.

Chicago scored the day's top of 6.75. Arrivals numbered 64,500.

session. I can't make them pass a law."

"If I called the legislature down here, knowing the members would not pass a law and they refused to pass one, I would be hanged to the highest limb in the state," the governor said. "The session would be called to help the farmers and if the senate refused to act, it would be of little benefit to the farmer."

A check of answers received by the governor showed the majority of the representatives favor the McDonald plan, calling for a 50 per cent reduction in 1932, rather than the Long "no 1932 cotton" plan.

The governor's delay in deciding the matter drew criticism from several quarters.

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 3. (AP)—Steady demand was reported on the cash grain market today. Exporters were bidding 4@4½c for wheat delivered at Texas Gulf ports.

Quotations on other grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Gulf export or group three points:

Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 48 1-2@50c; No. 1 hard 14 per cent protein 50@51c; 15 per cent 51@53 1-2c; 16 per cent 52@53 1-2c.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 80@83c; No. 2 kaffir 80@83c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. (AP) — A substantial rally carried wheat slightly above yesterday's close today after prices on all deliveries had been driven to the lowest depths of the year. Profit taking by shorts on the outward swing and some buying by commission houses on resting orders helped the market rally. Corn and oats also recovered from early dips. Corn was stimulated by reports of a better cash demand, 430,000 bushels being sold for shipment, the largest total in months.

Wheat closed firmer, 1-8 to 3-8 cent higher than yesterday's final quotations, corn strong, 3-8 to 1 up, oats mixed 1-8 lower to 1-4 higher, and provisions 10 cents down to 2 cents advance.

Rate Victory

other West Texas cities who have asked for reductions, Hailey said: "Each case will depend upon its own merits. It is simply a matter of investment and earnings. Company officials will give each request for lower rates proper consideration."

Surveys Properties

He said that Lubbock had asked for a reduction, and that properties will be surveyed to determine if earnings will permit a slash in rates.

Mayor Thompson opened negotiations with the telephone company in a letter August 8 in which he charged that local rates were illegal and unfair. He charged further that the company had violated its agreement to file annually a financial statement.

The mayor directed his attack through the newspapers, and called on the citizens to aid him, saying: "There is no law against having your telephone taken out. The only thing the telephone company does not charge for is to discontinue your service."

The new rates will be $6.50 a month for business telephones, $3 for one-party residence phones and $9.75 for private trunk line exchanges.

Drastic reductions were made earlier in the year in the Amarillo gas and water rates and a moderate reduction has been obtained in electrical rates.

Formal Request Is Entered Here

The Lubbock city commission made a formal request of the company for reduction in rates charged here about two weeks ago, a letter having been mailed by Acting City Manager W. H. Rodgers to T. A. White, local manager, last week.

Discussion of the rates had been made by the commissioners for several meetings and the action came after officials had declared the rates too high here.

Mr. Rodgers said last night that he had received no reply from the request made to the company.

Mayor J. J. Clements and Mr. White could not be reached for statements.

The request was forwarded to higher officials, Mr. White said several days ago. A survey of the properties would probably be made in connection with the request, it was learned.

tween ministers of European countries.

He said he thought Germany had received "a new spirit of courage and confidence."

The gray-haired, business-like secretary, ranking member of the cabinet, left the breakfast table on the Leviathan early this morning when he heard that more than 60 reporters, photographers and news reel men had boarded the liner at quarantine and were searching the vessel for him.

Questions Begin

The reporters were ushered in the ship's library and in a moment Mr. Stimson appeared flanked by two secretaries.

"I did not have any mission," he explained. "I had no appointment. I went over to talk with ministers of foreign affairs informally, feeling that that would be more helpful—just as it in business where one talks directly with a person and comes to know him rather than attempting to decide important questions through correspondence."

Then the questions began.

How about the world court?

The secretary said he had enjoyed his ocean voyage.

What did he discuss with the foreign ministers?

"I can only say the talks fulfilled my highest hopes," was the reply.

Was it likely the disarmament conference set for next February would be postponed?

"As far as I know there has been no postponement."

Mexican Slayer Will Go In Gas Chamber At Dawn Today

STATE PRISON, CARSON CITY, Nev., Sept. 3. (AP)—Luis Ceja, 28, Mexican slayer of a wealthy Winnemucca Chinese, will be put to death in the gas chamber tomorrow at dawn.

The United States circuit court of appeals refused in San Francisco today to review a federal district court decision denying a writ of habeas corpus. Had the court consented to review the record the execution automatically would have been stayed.

It's A Man's Job—Done By A Girl

This picture, purported to have been smuggled out of the Soviet Union and taken to London as evidence of conditions in the northern lumber camps, shows a young Russian girl trimming a tree which she has felled. Note her heavy boots and masculine attire, except for the shawl about her shoulders. It has been charged that young girl workers like this one receive only two scanty meals a day for their arduous toil.

Say When, Baby!

It was lunch time when little Ruth Wilkinson visited this three-months-old mountain lion at the San Diego zoo. As it seems to be quite a serious business with everybody intensely interested.

After Denver Hail-Deluge

Denver experienced the strange thrill of being struck, simultaneously, by a flood of water and an avalanche of hail stones, which turned streets into lakes and other sections of the city into scenes reminiscent of Winter. Note cars swishing through water wheel-deep near the West Alameda subway, following the torrential downpour. While water was making Denver's streets look like Venice, Johnny Jones (insert), of South Denver, close by, was enjoying the thrill of Winter in Summer by playing with a mound of frigid hail stones.

Humble Oil Company President Says Proration Order Will Be Observed

HOUSTON, Sept. 3. (AP) — W. S. Farrish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining company, said today his impression of the state railroad commission's new oil proration order for East Texas was that it provided for production of too much oil and "puts a premium on unnecessary development."

"We are approaching the winter season, when consumption of American oil will fall off 300,000 to 40,000 barrels a day as compared to the summer season," said Farish.

"The findings of the commission apparently are to the effect that per well production between 200,000 and 300,000 barrels a day does not mean waste.

"If the commission adheres to this decision, it would mean a larger quantity of East Texas oil than can be readily absorbed. The order apparently perpetuates the inequities now existing due to some areas being drilled more densely than other areas.

"The order apparently limits future development to one well to ten acres. This, in my opinion, should have been one well to 20 acres. The order apparently puts a premium on unnecessary development and benefits those concerns or individuals that can finance their development on a long term basis, rather than quick turnover. There apparently is no limit to the number of wells or the amount of oil the field might produce under the order.

"In order to avoid the perpetuation of the inequities existing on account of high development on certain leases, producers who are able to do so will promptly drill up their acreage.

"This will lead to the drilling of many thousands of wells and to the withdrawal of excessive quantities of oil from the reservoir and in the dissipation of the gas energy of the pool, lowering of the reservoir pressure and the rapid encroachment of water, which will materially cut down the ultimate recovery of oil from the pool, which is actual physical waste of the worst type.

"The Humble company will naturally, as it has in the past, observe the commisison's order in every way possible, and we will endeavor to adjust our business to live under it whether or not we approve of it."

Heart Disease Is Fatal To Stovall

Ed Stovall, 29, died unexpectedly at noon yesterday at his home at 402 Avenue L. Attending physicians said his death was due to heart disease.

Stovall had returned home for lunch when he was stricken. His wife said he complained of feeling ill and instructed her and their children to go ahead with their lunch, stating he would join them later. He suddenly fell to the floor and was dead when an ambulance reached the residence to carry him to the hospital. Mrs. Stovall said her husband complained of feeling ill yesterday morning before he went to work at a local poultry establishment.

TREASURES AFTER ALL

KENOSHA, Wis.—Maynard Robbins and Anthony Pairepito, diving in the Fox River, came across a pile of shiny ingots. When brought to the surface, they resembled gold. But they turned out to be brass and copper "pigs" stolen from the American Brass Co. here last year. Custom Union Is Renounced

Schober And Curtius Concur On Agreement To Pursue The Matter No Further; Decision Is Anticipated

GENEVA, Sept. 3. (AP)—Germany and Austria, acting through their foreign ministers at the Pan-American commission, today renounced the customs union they proposed several months ago.

JULIUS CURTIUS.

Dr. Johan Schober, attending for Austria, said his government had arranged with Germany to pursue the matter no further, and Dr. Julius Curtius of Germany concurred.

Their action anticipates a decision by the world court, to which the customs arrangement was referred for an opinion.

Spokesmen for France, Italy and Czechoslovakia cordially welcomed the decision of Austria and Germany. Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, describing it as a promise of district improvement in the world's economic conditions.

Dr. Curtius expressed the conviction that a realization of the imperative necessity for European co-operation had increased appreciably in the past few months, and asserted that closer economic co-operation between nations is the only way of improving economic conditions in Europe.

"I hope," said Dr. Schober, after he had announced that Austria would abandon the customs union, "that this declaration will contribute materially to clearing of the atmosphere so that the governments may cooperate constructively. The declaration which I have just made should serve to restore reciprocal confidence. The important thing now is that collaboration should in fact take place and that practical results should be attained."

A series of guideposts designed to point Europe's way out of the wilderness of economic adversity passed before the eyes of the commission in plenary session.

The coordinating committee of the commission in formulating its recommendations admitted that no single remedy to restore prosperity could be advanced and that the psychological depression was the greatest hazard to be hurtled.

Certain major guiding principles can be laid down, their report said, "and the first of these is that the psychological factor dominates the economic crisis affecting most nations today, and it is for the politicians above all to influence men's minds by spreading throughout the world a general feeling of confidence.

"It would seem to be necessary to discard every pre-conceived opinion, to be guided by experience and to seek remedies wherever there seems to be a chance of finding them."

Mexico Not To Take Any Part

President Rubio Declares He Will Not Intervene In Vera Cruz Problem; Says Church Must Obey Laws

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3. (AP)—The federal government's announced determination not to intervene in the Vera Cruz religious controversy, which recently has led to a series of bombings and riots, was received with dismay by Catholic circles.

President Ortiz Rubio in his annual address at the opening session of congress yesterday made his first definite reply to requests for intervention with the statement that the Vera Cruz legislature acted within its rights in passing an anti-church measure and he considered federal intervention a violation of state sovereignty which he was not willing to commit.

The Vera Cruz law limited to 13 the number of priests allowed to perform their offices in the state and rather than comply with these restrictions the church has permitted itself to be practically eliminated from Vera Cruz. With the exception of a mere handfull, the Catholic priests have left the state.

Simultaneously with the president's announcement, a serious riot was reported in Orizaba, Vera Cruz, where several thousand Catholic demonstrated in protest against an unsuccessful attempt to burn three Orizaba churches. The demonstrators stoned the Masonic temple and a Protestant church and resisted troops with the same weapons. Order finally was restored and several arrests made.

President Ortiz Rubio said the federal government would continue nationalization of church property throughout the country and that foreign prieses would be prevented from entering Mexico, no matter in what capacity they came. The government will respect all religious creeds, he said but any church that wishes to remain in Mexico must obey the law.

"Where have you been all my life?"

When the right one comes along . . .

You wonder why you wasted time on the others!

This been-waiting-all-my-life feeling has hit millions of smokers, men and women both . . . when they broke open their first Chesterfield package and caught its more pleasing aroma . . . when they lighted their first Chesterfield and knew, that minute, that it was milder—not sharp or biting.

And after a few puffs, they knew that the taste was better. Here were the cigarettes they had always hoped for, and looked for.

Here were the cigarettes that satisfy! Satisfy—that's the word that "fits."

The right tobaccos—the CHESTERFIELD kind of tobaccos, Domestic and Turkish—cured and aged, blended and cross-blended in the right way. Everything that goes into Chesterfield is the best that money can buy and that science knows about. The paper is just right. Everything about them is just right. Notice the difference.

They Satisfy . . . and—they're milder. Smoke as many as you like!

GOOD . . . they've got to be good!

Cotton Group Is Organized

Plans For Both Permanent And Emergency Relief In Crisis Made With Organization Of Cotton Council

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 3. (AP)—Plans for both emergency and permanent relief in the cotton crisis were made here today with organization of the Oklahoma cotton council.

The emergency relief plan contemplates action of the farm board in guaranteeing $225,000,000 to establish a minimum price of nine cents per pound; agreement among farmers to cut acreage 50 per cent and steps to advance the price of this year's crop in a way that the huge federal expenditure would not be needed.

The other plan would be to establish a home consumption basis for cotton production and stop exports by legislation declaring all cotton unneeded for home consumption is unsalable.

Wilburn Cartright, congressman, told the 60 agricultural representatives at the meeting the emergency plan has the backing of the state's congressional delegation and will be urged before the farm board. The other proposal was submitted by John Simpson, national president of the farmers union. Jack Hill, Minco banker, presented the emergency scheme.

C. P. Blackwell, dean of the school of agriculture at Oklahoma A. and M. college, was made temporary chairman of the council.

Hill's plan contemplates down payment to farmers who will sign an agreement for a 50 per cent acreage reduction of six cents a pound and a further payment of at least three cents a pound on July 1, 1932. Credit certificates for the last three cents could be used as security to banks for loans to finance the 1932 crop at a maximum interest rate of six per cent, he said.

Old-Timers Back-Track Into West Of 40 Years Ago; Phantom Buried

CANON CITY, Colo., Sept. 3. (AP)—Old-timers today back-tracked into the west of forty years ago to recall the exploits and crimes of "The Black Phantom," who, clad in somber garb and riding a jet black horse, roamed Colorado and Wyoming for several years.

The body of the phantom, otherwise Allen Hench Downen, 80, Colorado's oldest prisoner, was lowered into a grave at the state penitentiary here yesterday. Downen died Tuesday. He had served thirty-three years under a life sentence for murder.

Colorado officers said he was the mysterious horseman who once ruled the highways leading into Denver and Wyoming. Pioneers recalled the Black Phantom rider who disappeared shortly before Downen's conviction.

He was almost invisible at night at he rode the ranges, stealing cattle and robbing travelers.

Higher Freight Rates Are Ordered On All Furniture

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—The interstate commerce commission today authorized railroads throughout the country to put into effect a general upward revision of freight rates on furniture.

The decision, made under the Hoch-Smith resolution, provided that furniture in territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac and Ohio rivers shall be shipped as second class freight and third class for the remainder of the country.

The decision fixed only maximum rates. It was explained that the commisison purposely refrained from making the rates obligatory in order that the carriers might fix lower rates if necessary to meet truck and other competition.
