FINAL Edition

HERE IS "SPOT" NEWS IN VERSE!

The heart-stirring lines below were penned by Helen Welshimer when she read the story of Spot, waif dog left on the porch of Mrs. F. E. Barkley of Knoxville, Tenn. Hung from his neck was the sign: "Please take care of this dog. Mother made me get rid of him." When Spot's plight became known there was a rush to adopt him. The boy who was forced to give him up will be glad to know that Spot, re-christened Trixie, has a good home with Mrs. George French of Knoxville, an elderly invalid.—The Editor.

On Parting with Spot

By Helen Welshimer

WON'T somebody please take care of Spot?
I can't keep him any more.
My mother got cross at him because
He tracked mud across the floor.
He's the nicest dog in the world, I guess;
I love him an awful lot.
But I won't be seein' him any more.
Please, someone, take care of Spot!

I'M putting a card around his neck
But it hasn't got room to say
How he won't let anyone strange come near
Our house when we're all away.
He can carry a bag and find a ball,
And he's safe to play with and touch;
He's always slept by the side of my bed,
And he doesn't eat very much.

HE'S going to be lonesome just like me,
But he wouldn't feel quite so bad
If you'd pat his head—he's the grandest dog
Almost that you ever had.
Maybe someone will read this sign
Who's wanting a dog a lot,
And know that he is a reg'lar pup.
Won't someone take care of Spot?

Billion-Dollar Defense Budget Mapped

SAN ANGELO IS FLOODED

BITTER RACES ARE DECIDED BY VOTERS

FIVE STATES BALLOT TODAY ON CHOICES FOR MANY POSTS

(By The Associated Press)

Studying the Republican victory in Maine, the nation prepared today for the usual "post mortem"—the furious argument that breaks out every four years as to how far the Pine Tree state result can be considered a "weather vane" of nation-wide presidential sentiment.

The voters of Maine chose a Republican governor to succeed a Democratic incumbent, re-elected a Republican senator after a close, thrilling race, and gave all three of the state's seats in the house of representatives to Republicans. This is a gain of two congress seats for the party.

Race Decided Today

It was almost dawn today before the senatorial contest between the Republican Senator Wallace H. White, jr., and the Democratic Governor Louis J. Brann was decided. Finally, an almost complete count showed White in the van by more than 4,000. With 621 of the state's 633 precincts tabulated the vote was 157,340 for White, 152,412 for Brann.

Lewis O. Barrows (R) defeated F. Harold Dubord (D) for the governorship by a much larger margin—more than 40,000 votes. The Republicans won the congressional seats by commanding leads.

Others Vote Today

Attention turned to five other states which are holding primaries today.

Some leading features of today's primary voting:

Love Of Aged Woman For Young Painter Told In Diary; Death Probed

FEELING FOR YOUTH WAS SO INTENSE WOMAN FELT THAT DEATH MIGHT COME AS RELIEF

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15—While an autopsy was performed today on the body of Mrs. Anna Powell Crookshank, 78, police chemists made laboratory tests of contents of three bottles and three capsules found in her luxurious home.

Detectives also re-examined her diary, which told of love for a 21-year-old poet and painter, Thaddeus Pickens—love so intense that she thought death might be a relief. Pickens is held as a material witness.

The autopsy was ordered to determine officially whether Mrs. Crookshank died of natural causes, as reported in her death certificate. She became ill Sept. 3 while she and Pickens were at a mountain cabin and died soon after she was brought back to her home here four days later. The certificate gave pneumonia as the cause of death.

Detective Lieuts. Arthur Stoll and Miles Ledbetter said Pickens told them Mrs. Crookshank gave him money, provided him with an expensive apartment and supplied him with a $1400 automobile and a chauffeur for a recent trip he made to Chicago.

He also said Mrs. Crookshank recently changed her will to give him 75 per cent of her $100,000 estate instead of dividing it among 10 friends as she originally planned.

HUGE FUND TO BE EXPENDED NEXT YEAR

DEADLINE FOR FILING OF BUDGET FIGURES IS SET TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—High government financial quarters disclosed today that budget estimates for the next fiscal year probably will call for national defense expenditures topping the billion-dollar mark.

This report circulated as government departments engaged in a last minute rush to file estimates for the 1938 fiscal year with Daniel W. Bell, acting director of the budget bureau.

Deadline Is Today

Deadline for filing estimates for the twelve months beginning next July 1 was set today, with hearings opening Sept. 21.

In a call for estimates to the heads of government departments and agencies, Bell urged that "every possible effort" be made to bring demands for 1938 below appropriations for the current fiscal period.

Officials said, however, that the national defense estimate would rise above the $920,000,000 outlay projected in the current year because more money will be necessary to carry on a program of expansion already under way.

The enlarged national defense program contemplates additional funds in 1938, it was said, because costs for some features already inaugurated will grow heavier. The amount of a possible increase was not estimated, but officials asserted requests for allotments probably would go above $1,000,000,000.

PEOPLE SAID AROUSED TO THEIR DANGER

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Gov. Alf M. Landon said today "the Maine election has proved that the people of this country are aroused to their dangers and determined to preserve their system of government and of life."

"The people of Maine have sounded a call that will find an immediate response throughout the nation," the presidential nominee added, terming the election 'significant.'

RAIN RECORDS FOR SECTION ARE BROKEN

TWELVE-INCH FALL IS SEEN AT ANGELO IN LAST 15 HOURS

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 15—Rain records rolled down the Concho rivers here this morning after a 12-inch fall here in the last 15 hours, with 15 inches at Christoval augmenting the flood danger from the South Concho.

The fall here is the greatest in the history of weather data kept back to 1872, Sam Crowther, observer reported. It nearly equals the August record of 14 inches of 1882 when the old county seat of Ben Ficklin was washed away.

Some streets here were inundated, and the boathouse colony on Lake Nasworthy six miles southwest menaced the big dam temporarily. The boathouse broke up shortly and several motorboats washed away.

Water Over Highway

Miles received 6.5 inches of rain and the community of Pulliam north of San Angelo, about 10 inches. Water was over the highway there and also at Crows Nest east of

TOO MUCH FOR DUCK

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 15 (AP)—A full grown domesticated wild duck hen was overcome by water in her own front yard here last night. The duck, two years old, never had seen more than enough water to wade in, Raymond Bennett, owner, said. He believes the fowl drowned when it was awakened and tried to swim as a 12-inch downpour descended here. Its body was drifted up against a fence when Bennett surveyed the rain results this morning.

BUSINESS MEN IN SESSION

INSURANCE CHIEFS OF NATION ARE CALLED TO MEET BY FDR

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—President Roosevelt called insurance co any executives into conference today amid growing signs of a campaign battle over the New Deal's possible effect on insurance.

White House aides would not say what purpose the president had in calling the insurance leaders to the White House, but New Deal sources and a usually well informed Republican in New York said they understood the insurance men would be asked for statements comparing conditions of their companies when Mr. Roosevelt took office with conditions at present.

Linked With Speech

Although Republicans linked the White House conference with a speech made Sept. 5 in Allentown, Pa., by their vice-presidential candidate, Col. Frank Knox, Stephen Early, White House secretary, said the conference memorandum was dictated August 25. Invitations to the meeting went out more recently.

Knox, speaking at Helena, Mont., last night repeated his Allentown charge that life insurance and sav-

Texas Democrats Face Opposition

REPUBLICANS HOPE TO PICK UP SEATS IN NATIONAL HOUSE

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 15—Filings in the secretary of state's office showed today that at least 16 of Texas' 21 Democratic nominees for the national house of representatives would have opposition in the general election November 3.

The Texas delegation in congress now is solidly Democratic but Republican leaders expressed the hope their party would pick up "two or three" seats in the approaching election.

Fourteen On File

Fourteen Republicans already have filed and the candidacy of Ernest W. Clemens of San Antonio to oppose Representative Maury Maverick is one of the races in which the Republicans claimed they had a real chance of victory.

Clyde L. Garrett of Eastland, who trounced the veteran Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene for the Democratic nomination in the 17th district, W. R. Poage of Waco, the Democratic nominee in the 11th and Congressman Martin Dies of Orange, R. E. Thomason of El Paso and George Mahon of Colorado City as yet had no opponents.

WORK PROJECT SHUT DOWN

SLATON PLANS BEING ABANDONED TODAY DURING HARVEST

A Works Progress administration project employing 60 men at Slaton was ordered shut down at noon today to permit workers to take private employment in feed and cotton fields, J. O. Jones, district director, announced.

The project, providing culverts and drainage improvements in Slaton and operated for the past year, was suspended indefinitely until the harvest season is over and seasonal labor demands by private employers have ceased, Jones said.

First To Be Halted

Closing of the project followed a request from officials of Slaton, sponsor, and an investigation of employment conditions in that vicinity by the WPA. It is the first project shut down in the district of 15 counties to provide local labor for crop gathering.

Asked if additional shut downs were contemplated in the district, Director Jones said, "where there is sufficient private employment, we do expect project workers to take the jobs. If necessary, projects will be closed."

Guns Back Workers In Strike Section

SALINAS, Calif., Sept. 15. (AP)—Guns and barricades today protected imported non-union workers as packing shed operators in this great lettuce area acted to handle a $2,000,000 strike-threatened crop.

STRIKES SPREAD DEEPER IN FRANCE TODAY; THOUSANDS REFUSE TO WORK

Mobile guards and police were called out at Thaon-Les-Vosges to restore order after 2,500 dyers refused to heed the strike order and battled pickets.

Labor, supporting the government's industrial reform program, threatened to organize 100,000 militant workers to force Lille employers to agree to a 40-hour week.

Premier Leon Blum, Roger Salengro, minister of interior, and other ministers conferred but did not announce any decision on their reported plan to impose arbitration on the Lille mill owners.

All gins are operating, many of them running more than eight hours per day. Quite a few are working until after dark.

The Canyon gin, east of town, reported ginning 19 bales on Monday More than 90 bales were ginned last week at this gin, it was said.

The compress is handling a number of bales daily, the past week's average being better than 50 bales. Usually it is in October before a general compressing drive begins. It was said that the last of the week, if weather conditions are favorable, will see a normal October business.

Recipe For Correct Figure Given

A recipe for a good feminine figure, as outlined at a corset style show held at Hemphill-Wells company department-store Monday was: Bust line defined—waist line confined—hip line streamlined.

Misses, matrons, all women need some corset support under the new fall styles with their wasp waists and slim hips, is the opinion of Mrs. B. F. Maxey, head of the store's women's department.

Several comical old time corsets were modeled at the show. Each is valued at more than $100 and was sold for $18 to $25 when in style from 36 to 56 years ago.

The old fashioned corsets were brought here by Miss Susie Stone, manufacturer's representative who will remain at the store through today and Wednesday to give individual figure analysis and corrective fittings. The corsets will be exhibited in a window at the store.

Models at the show were Mrs. Arch Harper, Mrs. Frank Barclay, Miss Nettie Faye Brown and Miss Mabel Taylor.

New Courses Being Added For Dunbar

Made possible by the new five-room brick building, five new courses have been added to the course of study in Dunbar, negro school. The new courses have been designed to give vocational and recreational value to the students, according to E. C. Struggs, principal. They are foods, clothing, physical training, public school music, and manual training.

One hundred and two students, grades 5 to 11, are attending the new school, while 111, grades 1 to 4, remain in the building formerly used for all grades.

The new building contains five classrooms, a combination library study hall and assembly room, shower baths in both girls and boys rest rooms, and the principal's office. Teachers are Lorene Sprott, English; Theresa Pratt, homemaking; Mrs. C. H. Lyons, music; E. C. Struggs, science. The manual training teacher has not been announced as yet.

REST PERIODS FOR YOUNG STUDENTS IN LUBBOCK SCHOOLS ARE PROVIDED

Asleep, fast asleep! Right in their school room where they had been sent to get their share of the world's learning.

But their teacher, Mrs. George Duval, principal in Guadalupe school, was not worried about her six year old charges. Instead she tiptoed about the room, cautioning each child as they awakened to go quietly to wash their face and hands so as not to arouse the sleeper on the neighboring pallet.

In K. Carter, George M. Hunt, and Dupre schools where six year old children started on their road to learning last week similar scenes as the one enacted by Mrs. Duval and her Mexican charges were taking place. Teachers encouraged their pupils to take naps after the lunch period, making sure that they did not break away from the home routine the child was accustomed to too soon. All during the first year the children will be given rest periods, where under the guidance of a teacher, they are allowed to lay down on pallets or small cots and relax completely, even go to sleep for fifteen minutes if that is their habit.

Teachers have another aim behind the relaxation period, they explain. They want to teach the children to be able to relax at will, thereby equipping them more fully for the busy world in which they are to grow up.

WEATHER UNFAVORABLE FOR CROPS IN TEXAS DURING AUGUST; DAMAGE SEEN

AUSTIN, Sept. 15. (AP) — The United States department of agriculture reported weather conditions during August were mostly unfavorable for growing crops in Texas, especially in the northern half of the state.

Heat and drouth, with temperatures reaching high levels early in the month, caused marked deterioration in the condition of pastures, late feed crops and cotton.

"During the last few days in August," the report continued, "and the first days of September, rains fell in many sections of the state, but this moisture came too late to be reflected materially in the condition of crops Sept. 1."

Pastures Show Drop

Farm pastures were reported at 52 per cent normal, a drop of 20 points from their condition a month ago. The 10-year average ending 1932, was 63 per cent normal, livestock ranges were in good condition, only slightly below the 10-year average. Feedstuffs are ample in major portions of the state, with good supplies in the southern half and poor to fair in the northern.

"A 1936 cotton crop of 3,036,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight is forecast, based on conditions of Sept. 1, the report said. This represents a decrease of 814,000 bales from the August 1 prediction, but is higher than the 1,956,000 bales produced last year."

COMES TO LIFE

English art critics ridiculed the work of American landscape painters when th elatter exhibited pictures showing the brilliant colors of American autumn. The Britons believed the colors to be pure imagination, since English foliage does not change to brilliant hues in the fall.

Hoffman Visits At Texas Centennial

DALLAS, Sept. 15. (AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey braved a steady downpour Monday to see the Texas Centennial exposition.

His party included the entire executive department of New Jersey.

After a luncheon in honor of the governor on the exposition grounds, the New Jersey chief executive visited Camp Stephen F. Austin, the army post on the grounds. In the evening the governor and his party witnessed "The Cavalcade of Texas."

Lieut. Gov. Walter F. Woodul greeted Governor Hoffman on behalf of Texas and Governor James V. Allred, whose apologies he brought for not being present.

GIANTS CLING TO MARGIN IN RACE

CARL HUBBELL CALLED IN TO STOP CARDS IN MONDAY GAME

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Out of three teams staggering along in an exciting, if not especially brilliant, rivalry for the National league pennant, it begins to look as if the one that managed to stay the closest to a direct course will win the championship.

Right now that means the Giants. They took the lead at the end of a 15-game winning streak late last month, and since then they have barely managed to outdo the Cardinals and Cubs, mostly because of Carl Hubbell's pitching.

Similarity Is Seen

A remarkable similarity is seen in the "one-man" mound staffs of the Giants and Cardinals. Of New York's ten victories, Carl Hubbell has accounted for five, pitching four of the seven complete games turned in by Giant pitchers and topping it off with a brilliant victory in a relief role as the Giants whipped St. Louis 7-5 in their final encounter yesterday.

Dizzy Dean has been working just as hard, though not quite so effectively, for Manager Frankie Frisch. He also has hurled four complete games, winning two, and has been on the mound the last three days in succession.

Need Only Nine

The Giants need only nine more victories in their remaining 13 games, or a corresponding number of defeats for St. Louis, to cinch the flag.

A six-run outbrust in the third, during which they shelled Bill Walker and Jim Winford off the mound, paved the way for the Giant victory. But Gabbo Gabler and Dick Coffman had trouble protecting the lead and King Carl was called in. He gave only one run, a homer by Ed Heusser, and six hits in the last five frames to gain credit for his 14th consecutive victory and his 24th of the season.

Old Diz was summoned as the fifth St. Louis flinger and pitched hitless ball for the last 2 1-3 innings.

Cubs Drop Down

The Cubs dropped further into the ruck as Van Mungo, hurling five-hit ball, and Babe Phelps, driving in both runs, handed Brooklyn a 2-1 victory. Pittsburgh climbed closer to third place with a double victory over the Phillies, 11-4 and 6-5. Paul Waner set the clouting pace for the Bues with five hits in the two games, passing the 200 hit mark for the seventh season to equal the National league record made by Rogers Hornsby.

Chicago's White Sox trimmed Washington twice, 5 to 4 and 11 to 3, while Detroit downed the Red Sox 1-0.

The remaining major league game saw Paul Derringer of the Reds whitewash the Bees with five hits to win, 6-0. Four American league clubs were idle.

Tyler Trojans To Tackle Gladewater

TYLER, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Tyler Trojans and the Gladewater Bears meet here tonight in the first game of the final playoff series for the East Texas league championship.

Tyler gained a finalist berth last night with a 10-inning 5-4 victory over the Jacksonville Jax. Johnny Cummings doubled and romped home with the winning counter on Larry Kinser's single. Jacksonville won two of the six games played.

Gladewater previously gained the final bracket by turning back the Longview Cannibals four games to one.

Four victories will be necessary in the final series to win the title.

SPORTOONERS

by COLLIER PARRIS

THIS NEW FOOTBALL season is really moving up on us. It has quit slipping up—it's charging like a big tackle who has passed the line of scrimmage and is headin' with a dead eye for the boy about to punt.

Four more days and the season will have enveloped us in colorful September glory.

When four more days, not counting today, have been ripped off the calendar, local fans will have seen five different football shows. They've seen one. Ross Ayers and Walker Nichols having introduced their Lubbock High Cowhands with a triumph last Friday; they'll see the Texas Tech Red Raiders on dress parade tomorrow night, varsity and freshmen; they'll see the Lubbock High Westerners for the first time Friday night, and what an eyeful that is going to be; they'll see Berl Huffman's Picadors Saturday afternoon, and, finally, for the week, the Red Raider varsity Saturday night.

This public rehearsal tomorrow night at Tech Stadium (it's a real stadium now, you know) should attract quite a crowd. For many it will be the first glimpse of the new horseshoe stadium, and we're here to tell you that it's mighty nifty. For all, it will be the first ogling of the Red Raiders in their new suits, and you'll be pleasantly surprised. The freshmen will be there, too, and they're all dressed up. No more hand-me-downs from the varsity for the fish.

The band will play, the Red Shirts, a newly organized men's pep squad, will cavort, and it'll look like the real thing except for competition.

It's all free.

IN VIEW OF THE approaching games, it might be timely to talk about the rule changes for 1936.

The football rules committee behaved itself right well at their last meeting, curtailed the rule-changing. If you remember the old rules you can still get a kick out of football. Fans, however, would do well to study all the rules, because the more you know about the game, the more you enjoy it.

Lots of changes have been made in recent years. A Walter Camp, a Percy Haughton, a Walter Eckersall or even a Knute Rockne would hardly recognize the 1936 version of football; they'd think it had gone sissy, to a large extent, if they perused a new rule book, but they'd probably get a big kick out of playing it again.

While the game has "slowed up" from the standpoint of rules, it maintains a balance because of modern methods of playing it. The forward and lateral pass, the quick kicks, the dashing execution of running plays, making for a game so wild and fast the human eye can not follow but one portion of it at a time, has offset the rigorous limitations imposed by the rules committees.

Of the more important new rule changes is this: A ball kicked from scrimmage, which for any reason does not cross the line of scrimmage, may now be recovered and advanced by any player of either team. Heretofore, players of the kicking team were allowed to recover but not to advance the ball.

The 1935 supplemental note to the "dead ball" rule has been removed, and the automatic feature of the rule has been fully re-established. The note read: "A runner who is on his feet even though he be held by an opponent may run, pass or kick until the whistle is blown."

A supplemental note has been added to the personal fouls department. The rule says there shall be no running into or roughing a player who kicks from behind his scrimmage line. The note says: " . If contact is slight, or is caused by the kicker's own motion, this shall not be interpreted as "running into the kicker." This rule is further loosened up with an explanation regarding a blocked kick followed by bowling over of the kicker. "Team B lineman breaks through and blocks or partially blocks a kick, but his charge carries him into the kicker, who is knocked down. Team A claims penalty. Ruling: As kicker was knocked down as an incidently part of a successfully executed play, there is no penalty."

The rule regarding interference during forward pass plays has been reworded in favor of the defensive team. "If on a forward pass which has crossed the line of scrimmage, ineligible players who have crossed this line obstruct the right of way or view of opponents or if they are in advance of the spot where the pass becomes completed, incompleted or intercepted, it is interference. Interference by players of the passing team who have crossed the line of scrimmage is prohibited from the time the ball is snapped until the pass is touched."

INCIDENTALLY, somebody, or two or three, weren't up on their rules the other Friday when Brownfield and Amherst played at Amherst.

As the story came to us, the Brownfield team—it was the junior high team—started off on a tricky offense by pulling a trick on the opening kickoff. Lining up as if for kick-off, the Brownfield midgets had a ball near the sideline, and the Amherst club drew over in front of it. Just before the kickoff, this ball was tossed from the field. Another ball, ostensibly the official ball, had been thrown in from the other side, and was kicked off from that point. The report said it was an "on-side" kick, which a member of the Brownfield team, the kicking team, gathered up and carried to the Amherst ten-yard line before he was downed, the defensive club having been pulled away from the play by the "fake" ball.

The "on-side" kick-off, as commonly understood, went out some time ago, and no more may the kicking team recover the kicked ball and run with it.

That would have been a smart trick, was a smart trick, although illegal.

It wasn't illegal to kick that particular ball, as long as the other ball had been thrown from the field before the kick-off. The game begins when the ball is actually kicked off, and not before that time.

COOL WEATHER IS WELCOME

BRISK PRACTICE FOR SOUTHWEST SQUADS NOW IN ORDER

(By The Associated Press)

Southwest conference coaches and athletes welcomed cooler weather today as the process of rebuilding gridiron machines became more exacting.

Coach Jack Chevigny at the University of Texas took advantage of the rain to drill his Longhorns on holding a wet ball and advancing on a slippery turf.

Scrimmage Ordered

A soggy field gave the Rice Owls a respite from a scheduled scrimmage session yesterday but Coach Jimmy Kitts ordered scrimmage for today, tomorrow and possibly Thursday. The Owls tangle with the Texas A & I Javelinas at Corpus Christi Saturday.

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs settled down to work after showing off for the home town fans at a "dress parade." Players and coaches were introduced and the squads demonstrated playing formations.

Injuries began to crop up when practice sessions reached the strenuous stage at the University of Arkansas. Among those missing from the drills was Captain Cliff Van Sickle. The team physician said he might be suffering from appendicitis.

Practice Is Brisk

The favored Texas Aggies continued brisk practice without the services of Martin Lindsey, letterman tackle, who went to Dallas to consult a physician. Coach Homer Norton indicated Johnny Morrow, star end from Wortham, might earn a backfield berth with his passing and punting.

Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist emphasized blocking, kicking and passing in the second week of his campaign to build a team capable of defending the Southwest crown.

Coach Morley Jennings at Baylor university continued snappy, two-a-day drills for his promising Bears.

"RASSLE ROYAL" SLATED IN CITY

Eight proven men of the mat industry, most of them well known hereabouts, are to provide the fireworks in a five-bout program at Sled Allen's Auditorium tomorrow night.

A "rassle royal," second of its kind ever produced here, no doubt will be the high point of the program, and also the briefest. As the tin-ears, six of the biggest and meanest and best middleweights of the circuit, gradually pass from the "royal" picture, the lineup for the three regular matches will be determined.

To start the show, Promoter Allen is introducing a newcomer who is billed as somebody good. He is Clem Kusek, and he hails from Butte, Montana. He'll fight Bob Cummings, formerly of Mobile, Ala., now of San Francisco, in the fifteen-minute curtain raiser.

Here They Are

Danny McShain, Sailor Watkins, Gene La Belle, Dory Detton, Herb Parks and Yaqui Joe are the lads who'll go in at the same time, but come out by ones and twos.

Allen has asked Dutch Mantell, the veteran ape man from Amarillo, to officiate the battle royal and the main event. Mantell has not given a definite answer, but probably will accept the call.

First two men to be knocked out of the rassle royal will return to meet in the usual 20-minute preliminary. The next couple to be eliminated are semi-finalists, and the remaining two call it quits until they get back for the two out of three falls main go.

DEBUT OF RED RAIDERS SET WEDNESDAY

COMING OUT PARTY IS SET FOR TOMORROW AT TECH STADIUM

Texas Tech's annual football coming out party, where the varsity and freshman footballers wear their new-fashioned garments, where the band plays and where numerous questions regarding football in general and the Matadors in particular are answered, is scheduled for tomorrow evening under the lights of Tech Field.

With Freshman Coach Berl Huffman at the microphone, sending his stentorious tones through a system of loudspeakers conveniently and generously spaced around the big, new horseshoe stadium; with the varsity dressed up in its Sunday best and in fine spirits, and with the freshmen parading for the first time and engaging the varsity in scrimmage, the curtain rises on the 1936 grid season.

Free For Everybody

And it's free to the public!

They want 10,000 fans out there Wednesday evening. The program will last an hour, so fans who desire may attend the wrestling matches, but it'll be lively and frolicsome while it lasts.

It will be a double occasion. Fans not only may see how the football boys look, but for most of them it'll be the first glance inside the 15,000 seating capacity stadium.

In stiff preparation for their opening game Saturday night, the Red Raiders cavorted in a couple of workouts that left most of them too tired to think about attending the circus. They drilled hard on passes, scrimmaged against reserves for more than an hour on this phase of their offensive game.

Marring the practice was the injury to Charles Barnard, a transfer from Haskell Indian institute who arrived at the campus yesterday morning and engaged in his first workout at Tech in the afternoon. Anxious to get started, he joined the defensive team in pass scrimmage, charged in to tackle low, collided with an offensive man's body and sustained severe concussion. The whole team was jittery for the rest of the afternoon, but managed to execute some very nice overhead plays.

Texas League Goes Into Action Today

(By The Associated Press)

Possibility of an all-Oklahoma series for the championship of the Texas league was discussed by Sooner fans today as two Texas baseball teams moved into Oklahoma for the opening games of the Shaughnessy play-off.

The only Oklahoma clubs in the loop start the semi-finals tonight on their home lots—Oklahoma City's Indians, defending champs, meeting the pace-setting Dallas Steers and the Tulsa Oilers entertaining the Houston Buffaloes.

Three-Out-Of-Five

The semi-final series will go three-out-of-five, with two victorious clubs meeting in the four-out-of-seven series for the league championship and the right to meet the Southern association champions in the annual Dixie series.

Manager Bert Niehoff named Hugo Klaerner to start on the mound for Oklahoma City in the play-off opener.

Fred Marberry was expected to be Manager Alex Gaston's choice as the Steers' starting hurler. Both are righthanders.

Marberry has beaten the Tribe three times this season and hasn't lost once to the 1935 titleholder. Klaerner holds four victories over the Steers but he also has three defeats charged against him in games with Dallas.

Seats Faces Stein

Tommy Seats, southpaw ace of the Houston mound staff, will face Irvin Stein, a righthander, tonight at Tulsa. Seats, who hasn't lost to Tulsa all season, has beaten the Oilers three times. Stein holds only one victory over Houston against three losses to the Buffs.

The four clubs are scheduled to move into Texas Thursday night after games at Oklahoma City and Tulsa tonight and tomorrow night. If a fifth game is necessary in the Houston-Tulsa series, it also will be played at Houston Saturday night. Dallas and Oklahoma City will flip a coin to decide the site of the Saturday night game if a fifth contest is required.

Auburn Is On Spot As Year's Favorite

TIGERS RETURN TO PROMINENCE WITH ROSTER OF SENIORS; HEAVY SCHEDULE BEING FACED

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 15 (AP)—Auburn, after years of gunning for upset football victories, suddenly finds itself this season on the spot as Southeastern conference favorite.

Chief reasons for Auburn's return to prominence in Coach Jack Meagher's third season are 13 seniors, headed by Walter Gilbert, 200-pound center who was voted the south's best last year.

The Tigers' first string roster lists only seniors, with the exception of the halfbacks, Jimmie Fenton and Billy Hitchcock, who plugged the same gaps as sophomores last season.

Material Inadequate

Tackle and fullback material is inadequate for the grueling schedule Auburn faces this fall, largely due to the loss of Haygood Patterson, All-Southeastern tackle, and Buny O'Rourke, fullback.

Herbert Roton will fill the gap at tackle, with Wilton Kilgore stepping into the fullback job. Reserves for these "gap-closers" are scarce.

The Tiger line, built around Gilbert, is streamlined for speed, but rugged enough to handle bruising assignments. The forwards average 187 pounds.

Falls To Hitchcock

The offensive burden will fall to Billy Hitchcock and Jimmie Fenton. Hitchcock, brother to Auburn's All-American Jimmy of 1932, will handle the punting, passing and share the running duties from left halfback. Fenton, not so versatile, is a dangerous ball carrier.

The schedule:

Sept. 26 — Birmingham-Southern at Montgomery (night game); Oct. 3 — Tulane at New Orleans; 10 — Tennessee at Knoxville; 17 — Detroit at Detroit; 24 — Georgia at Columbus, Ga.; 31 — Santa Clara at San Francisco; Nov. 7 — Georgia Tech at Atlanta; 14 — Louisiana State at Birmingham; 21 — Loyola of New Orleans at Auburn; 28 — Florida at Montgomery.

BIG GUNS OF GOLF AGAIN WHEELED INTO ACTION TODAY; BRITISH ACE IS CONCEDED GOOD CHANCE TO WIN

BY BOB CAVAGNARO
Associated Press Sports Writer

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 15—As the second and last detachment of big guns wheeled into action in the second round of the U. S. amateur golf championship today, the topic on all tongues was the definitely dangerous threat of Scotland's Hector Thomson. By nightfall the original field of 210 will be reduced to 64.

The British amateur champion made a deep impression on American critics as he carved a machine-like 7 and 6 victory over John Roberts of Columbus, O., yesterday. They concede him a good chance of becoming the first Briton to win the American title since Harold Hilton's triumph 25 years ago.

Favorites Survive

Johnny Goodman, Albert (Scotty) Campbell of Seattle and Reynolds Smith of Dallas, the American favorites, all survived the opening test although Campbell gave his adherents some concern by trailing at various stages before hitting his winning stride. Campbell and Smith were scheduled for "breathers" today, but Goodman was matched against the erstwhile siege gun and former titleholder, Jesse Guilford of Boston.

The terrifying traps and narrow fairways of the par 73 Garden City course made many faces crimson yesterday.

Only 38 players out of 164 broke 40 on the first nine, whereas par for the first nine was either equaled or broken by six shot makers, Smith leading the small group with an outgoing 35—two under.

Only two contestants, Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati and Tommy Tailer of New York, finished their matches under par. They were one under regulation figures for 13 holes each.

Special Committee Will Make Report

AUSTIN, Sept. 15. (AP)—R. B. Anderson, chairman, said today Governor Allred's unemployment insurance committee would report before the special session of the legislature convenes September 28.

The committee will begin public hearings today. Legislation to provide for Texas participation in the federal unemployment insurance program may be considered at the session.

The report will discuss whether an unemployment insurance act would be valid under the Texas constitution.

Negro Gets Death For Man's Slaying

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 15. (AP)—I. V. Jackson, 30-year-old negro farm laborer, was sentenced Monday to death in the electric chair for slaying W. J. (Bill) Adcock, 48, prominent Miller county, Ark., planter last June 30.

Jackson admitted killing the farmer but claimed he did so in self-defense. He repudiated a statement in which he named Dixie Lawson, negress, as an accomplice. She will go on trial today on a first degree murder charge.

LUBBOCK HIGH AND EL PASO PLAY HERE

WESTERNERS ARE OUT FOR REVENGE; GAME SLATED FRIDAY

It is not hard, these days, for Weldon Chapman's Westerners to recall their treatment at the hands of a team of Tigers in El Paso last year, and as the Lubbock High gridders dash through spirited workouts this week they're thinking seriously of getting even.

The Tigers of El Paso High invade Lubbock Friday to officially open the pigskin season here.

Coach Chapman will continue offensive polish throughout the week with the first string line of Letsinger and Oden at ends; Nabors and Ritchie at tackles; and Piercy and Short at guards testing the skill of the blocking backs in their intricate assignments.

Coach Chapman hasn't announced a starting lineup as yet, but the Westerners will probably go to battle same as they did against the Exes last Saturday with the exception of Kinard at guard who will be replaced, possibly, by the veteran Piercy. Piercy, ailing last week with an injured leg, is coming along nicely.

Tickets for the El Paso team went on sale yesterday morning at the Hub Clothiers. Section C, a block of 726 seats, are on the reserve list at 75 cents, Pinkey Lowrey, business manager, announced.

Other than the big Mena at end, the strength of the El Paso team this year isn't exactly known in these parts. Most of the same team that defeated the Westerners 7 to 6 graduated in the spring.

IF IS YALE'S THEME SONG

BULLDOGS PREPARE TO LEAVE FOR THEIR TRAINING CAMP

BY LOU BLACK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 15. — Raymond W. (Ducky) Pond selected "if" as his theme song today as his squad of 64 candidates for the Yale football team prepared to leave for their training camp at Gales Ferry, then proceeded to hum a plaintive tune about the prospects of his squad.

"If," said Pond, "three of the boys I could use to great advantage win a tussle with their re-exams next week—well, that would change the song quite a bit. If we could develop a quarterback. . . . If some of those sophomores who looked so good in spring practice come through the way I think they will and don't make too many mistakes this fall. "If—oh, I see, you understand."

Pond, starting his third season as Yale's head coach, is frank to admit he is extremely concerned over the "make-up" exams which Frank Gallagher, center; Bill Platt, freshman pivotman last season, and Merri Scott, brilliant tackle and member of the "iron men" of 1934, take next week.

Nine lettermen are available.

The schedule:

Oct. 3—Cornell; 10—Pennsylvania; 17—Navy at Baltimore; 24—Rutgers; 31—Dartmouth; Nov. 7—Browns; 14—Princeton at Princeton; 21—Harvard.

CHARGE FILED IN INQUIRY

PROBE OF INSURANCE PLOT BEING MADE BY OFFICIALS

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15. (AP)—The death of "Crying Hank" Burke, a transient, resulted today in the filing of a murder charge against Charles D. Ernest, 45-year-old law school graduate and cleaning plant operator arrested in a police-instigated insurance plot investigation.

Police said two other deaths were under investigation and that several persons told them Ernest had offered to take out insurance on their lives and pay the premiums himself.

Arrested Sept. 5

The cleaning shop proprietor was arrested September 5, when police first disclosed they had been investigating for more than a year a theory that several penniless drifters who died under mysterious circumstances were insurance plot victims.

"I can beat this rap," said Ernest as he pleaded innocent to the murder charge. "I did not cause Burke's death." He was held without bond for a preliminary hearing.

William J. Gilwee, assistant prosecutor, said Burke was insured for $1,800 and that he had given notes for the total amount of his insurance to Ernest. Gilwee said Ernest brought suit when the insurance company refused to pay the policies.

Police said Burke and several other transients in the northside area bore tattooed on their arms their names, birthdates and the address of Ernest's cleaning shop.

JAPANESE BIRTHS RISE IN 1935 TO 250 EVERY HOUR

TOKYO, Sept. 15 (AP)—With little brown babies arriving at the rate of more than 250 an hour, Japan's natural increase in population during 1935 was the greatest in history.

For the second time here annual growth passed one million. It was 1,028,623 during the year, compared with 1,007,398 in 1932, the previous record year.

These figures show there is no relaxation in the pressure of population on the resources of Nippon.

Japanese social scientists explain by that factor the restless straining of this eastern empire against all bonds, its conquest of Manchuria, its military and economic penetration into North China, its plans for economic advance into the South seas and its unceasing fight for world markets.

Emigration Negligible

The figures are those of the cabinet's bureau of statistics. They apply only to Japan proper, excluding colonies such as Korea and Formosa and the newer dependency of Manchoukuo.

Natural increase means simply the margin of births over deaths. Emigration and immigration are on such a small scale as to make no essential difference.

In 1935 there were 2,190,681 babies born in Japan, 146,874 more than in 1934. Deaths were 1,162,058, a decrease of 72,525 from 1934. The natural increase of 1934 was only 809,224.

Per Capita Increase Drops

In one respect 1935 fell below the previous record year, 1932. Last year's natural increase was at the rate of 14.85 per thousand, whereas in 1932 it was 15.20.

The official census of October 1, 1935, showed the population of Japan proper to be 69,251,265. That count gave the population of the whole empire—excluding Manchoukuo—as 97,694,628.

Population increase in the colonies more than keeps pace with that of the homeland. Some time in 1938 the population of the Mikado's realm will pass the 100,000,000 mark.

years. I was also troubled with severe attacks of kidney disorders, had awful nervous spells when I would become so disagreeable that the least thing annoyed me. I had such pains in both my limbs and arms until I could hardly get around. A good night's sleep was impossible in my condition for all I knew was continued suffering. I had tried most every kind of medicine on the market—doing my best to find relief—but met only with repeated failure—until I began Gly-Cas."

"I would not take $1,000.00 for what Gly-Cas has done for me," continued Mr. Wier, "and not on my case alone either for I have seen so many people that have received almost unbelievable results from this new remedy. I am 100 percent better in everyway since I began Gly-Cas. Every ache and pain has left, gall bladder no longer bothers me, my kidneys and bowels are regulated and I am really like a new man. Anyone giving Gly-Cas a fair trial will see for themselves that it is one medicine that will do exactly as it is recommended to do—gives results that are desired."

MEN AND WOMEN RECOVER FROM THE EFFECTS OF ALCOHOLIC INSANITY AND PARALYSIS BY DAILY DRINKS

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 15 (AP)—Ten men and women who recovered from whisky paralysis and alcoholic insanity while drinking daily up to a quart and half of whisky, were cited to the Harvard medical school tercentenary today in proof that alcohol, which has been blamed for thousands of years, is not the cause.

The 10 were relieved completely by food plus vitamin B. They were part of 75 alcoholic patients with whisky paralysis who were also apparently cured by diet alone. The 10 cases were kept virtually tipsy all the time in a hospital to make sure that starvation was the main trouble.

Affects Arms And Legs

All 10 had whisky paralysis, medically called alcoholic polyneuritis, which affects the arms and legs. Several had insanity, a mild form which includes delusions (but not delirium tremens), loss of memory and confusion in thinking.

Two other diseases which have been considered due to an unknown "poisoning" were shown to be similarly due to starvation, especially for vitamin B. One was a frequently fatal pregnancy paralysis. The other was a pernicious anemia paralysis.

Drink Before Breakfast

The alcoholic paralytics, Maurice B. Strauss, M. D., Harvard instructor said, came from persons of the sort who take a drink or two before breakfast, then don't eat enough of the right food.

A quart of whisky daily, Dr. Strauss explained, furnishes 2800 calories. That is nearly enough calories. The drinkers do not feel hungry.

The diets which relieved them all included two eggs, a pint of milk, half pound of beef or lamb, half a pint of orange juice, four servings of green vegetables (freshly cooked and raw) three ounces of yeast and injection of vitamin B complex concentrate. The treatments took from two weeks to four months.

"The alcoholic psychosis are caused by defective nutrition and not by the alleged poisonous effect of alcohol."

Pawnee Bill Said To Be Recovering

PAWNEE, Okla., Sept. 15. (AP)—The rugged constitution of Major Gordon W. Lillie (Pawnee Bill), frontiersman and showman, stood him in good stead today and he showed rapid recovery from injuries received in an automobile accident Sunday night.

Dr. Robert L. Browning said, however, there still was an element of danger in the condition of his wife with whom he recently reenacted their wedding at a golden wedding anniversary at Taos, N. M.

Pawnee Bill, 76, rallied strongly and was able to be up and about his hospital room for a short time. He sustained a bad scalp wound, numerous bruises and shock.

Driving from Tulsa Lillie crashed his gold-colored car, which he had received as an anniversary present from admirers, into a machine driven by Leslie Adair, negro.

Many a maid the world over has slept with a sprig of yarrow beneath her pillow, hoping that it would bring her the man of her dreams.

Derides Charge

Scoffing at federal charges that she is a member of an international smuggling ring, Maria Wendt, Dutch-Chinese girl whose mother was a wife of a Tibetan official, declares that the $100,000 worth of narcotics said to have been found in her trunk was "planted" there. She is shown under arrest in Los Angeles after she once had escaped U. S. officers and made her way to New York by plane.

CELEBRATION IS LAUNCHED TODAY

D. Miguel Hidalgo y Costilla, Mexican patriot, was honored early this morning as members of the Lubbock Mexican colony began a 2-day observance of the 126th anniversary of the declaration of Mexico's independence from Spain.

Hidalgo y Costilla led a move for Mexican independence. He was executed in 1811, a year after the declaration was made.

The celebration is being conducted at Avenue M and First street. The entire public has been invited to attend by Theofilo Luis Espitia, president of the committee directing the fete. The celebration is the only one of its kind planned from the Panhandle to Big Spring and Abilene, and from New Mexico to Seymour, he said.

Persons appearing on the programs include Mayor Ross Edwards, Rev. Gabriel Diamante of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, City Manager W. H. Rodgers, A. B. Strehli of Texas Technological college, Mrs. George Duval, principal, and Mrs. D. Jarrett, teacher, at Guadalupe Mexican school.

STUDY FINGER PRINTS

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—Something new in college courses is being introduced this year at the National University here. It is a class in finger prints. The course will be conducted by Agripino Ruiz, finger print expert of the Philippine Constabulary for 15 years. It is expected that city policemen, secret service agents, and members of the intelligence division of the National Army will take the course.

COUNTY EXHIBITS CLAIMED ASSURED

County exhibits from Dawson, Lynn, Hockley, Bailey, Terry, Cochran, Floyd, Crosby, Gaines, Collingsworth and Hale counties are assured for the Panhandle-South Plains fair opening Sept. 28, announcement has been made at the chamber of commerce.

Space in the agricultural building on the fair grounds, where the county exhibits are assigned, is being rapidly exhausted. The west side and center sections are reserved and only space left is on the east side.

Besides the county exhibits, community and vocational agriculture displays will be housed in the agricultural building.

THERE'S a lot going on out at Texas Tech today. Registration of what is hoped will be the largest student body in the college's history is under way. Bright faced boys and girls from all over Texas and parts of other states are here among us and most of them will be here for a full nine months.

All of us like to make wise cracks and joking remarks about the eds and the co-eds who choose to pursue knowledge here among us, but we'd be in pretty bad shape without 'em.

There's just something about the opening of the college term that peps us all up a little—even those of us growing fat and bald and who haven't been a collegian for 20 years.

Yep, we get awful grouchy about the hitchhikers on Broadway and especially their continuous conventions in the vicinity of Broadway and Avenue T, but it's kind of good to have 'em back again.

Welcome, Matadors!

ARMY Armstrong, over at the cotton exchange, tells The Plainsman that the country is full of hawks and that they are getting the birds right and left.

He suggests that hunters adopt the practice of killing a hawk, or two, or three, every time they go out.

Realizing that most hunters are armed with shotguns and that a shotgun is a poor weapon for use on hawks as well as shells for them being expensive, Army suggests that hunters take .22 rifles out with them for use on hawks alone.

His idea sounds good—at least from the hunter's standpoint.

UNDER the lights of the remodeled, expanded and greatly improved Tech stadium tomorrow night, Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith, of the Matadors, will be hosts to football fandom, especially invited to see the 1936 edition of the Red and Black going through practice drill.

The party, which is free and to which all fans are welcome, will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be over in time for any who wish to get down to Sled Allen's Temple of Torso Twisting for the regular weekly mat card.

The city and surrounding country is chock full of ladies and gents who are wondering about Tech's material and chances for a successful season and Pete and Dutchy are anxious to give everybody a chance for an early look-see.

There will be room for everybody, since the newly arranged stadium will seat somewhere in the neighborhood of 14,000 souls without the necessity of putting up extra bleachers!

MILLING around the circus grounds Sunday afternoon with the chillun and under the expert tutelage of Bernie Head, Al G. Barnes press representative, The Plainsman was struck with the efficiency displayed by the scurrying crews of workmen unpacking equipment.

Each foreman seemed to know—and according to Mr. Head did know—just where everything was packed and just how much and how many pieces came under his direct supervision.

There was hustle and bustle but no false moves and the casual observer could not help but wonder if, after all, the circuses can't show all of us a little something about getting a lot done in a short time—and without costly repetition.

Incidentally, the average housewife would be greatly surprised were she to inspect the cook tent of any large circus.

It so happens that The Plainsman has, on several occasions, been a mealtime guest at circuses and was again last Sunday.

Good, clean, attractive, unchipped china is used on the clothed dining tables. Cutlery is both handsome and serviceable. Food is well cooked, there is a wide variety and plenty of it.

And the waiters are immaculately uniformed—so immaculately that one wonders how it's all done in a big tent put up on the prairie.

A circus cook tent is divided by a canvas six or eight feet high into what showmen call "the long side" and the "short side."

In the "long side," which gets its name from the fact that at its long tables feed the throngs of circus canvasmen, animal attendants, etc., has china and cutlery not quite as fancy as the "short side," where the performers and "big shots" sit at family size tables thrice daily, but the meals are identically the same. Further, employes can have second helpings or even third helpings if they so wish and that goes for the humblest roustabout the same as it does for the general manager or feature performer.

From a standpoint of sanitation and cleanliness, the circus cook tent has everything the average home or cafe boasts.

It's really remarkable.

Robert Taylor Rocketed Into Movie Skies In One Leap; Deluge Of Fan Mail Rushed Him Rapidly To Star Status

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15. — The first inkling anybody had that Robert Taylor might be destined for spectacular stardom was in February, 1935, shortly after release of the picture called "Society Doctor."

Mail carriers began staggering into the studio with sacksful of letters from movie customers the nation over. They wanted to know where the company had been hiding that glamorous, fascinating, handsome, enchanting, marvelous, romantic young actor with the teeth, the curly hair, and the educated eyebrows.

The studio had been hiding him, true enough. But now it rushed him into "Times Square Lady," and his name went up in lights on theater marquees.

Then came "Broadway Melody of 1936," "Magnificent Obsession" (on loan to another company), "Small Town Girl," "Private Number," the current "Gorgeous Hussy," with Joan Crawford, and next "Camille," with Greta Garbo.

No other player in celluloid memory has risen so rapidly. Indeed, he rose so much faster than his salary that there was a period when Taylor's expenditures in answering fan mail exceeded his total wage.

Salary Goes Soaring

For what seemed to him a distressingly long time he was kept at $250 a week. One day he was called into the office of Louis Mayer, studio head, and offered a new contract. It is to run seven years, with periodic increases.

Taylor now receives $2500 a week, plus bonuses. It is believed the figure will mount to $7500 a week within the term of the agreement.

That is about what Clark Gable now receives, but if Taylor remains in favor and out of scandals he almost certainly will be the top-salary male of Hollywood.

Naturally, that makes him one of the most eligible men in Hollywood, and the gossipers have not hesitated to connect his name romantically with those of equally eligible feminine stars, such as Virginia Bruce, Janet Gaynor, Loretta Young, and now Greta Garbo, with whom he has worked in productions.

For nearly a year Taylor went about frequently with Irene Hervey, a contract player with M-G-M, and the usual romantic rumors followed.

But that broke up, and a few months later Taylor began appearing publicly with Barbara Stanwyck. About a month ago Miss Hervey married Allen Jones.

Expenses Are Heavy

Should Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck marry, it would be the biggest talent-merger in celluloid history. She earns the impressive figure of $7000 a week, having obtained it by shopping around for her assignments at a time when lady stars were scarce.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer no longer buys Taylor's every-day wardrobe, but it now does pay the bills for fan photographs and postage—an item of something like $2000 a month.

On the other hand, the actor has assumed some new expenses. There's an agent, Nat Goldstone, who collects 10 per cent of his client's wage. There's a business manager, Al Manuel, who works on a salary. There are three secretaries who, with his mother, Mrs. Ruth Brugh, handle the 7000 to 9000 fan letters received each week.

It's amusing how many people are trying to establish kinship with Taylor under the impression that his real name is Taylor, instead of Brugh. Most of 'em are confident that dear, long-lost Cousin Robert will be happy to pay the mortgage, buy them a new business, and stand the cost of darling little Cousin Elizabeth's tonsilectomy.

TEXAS HENS SAY "TROUBLE AHEAD"

John Burson, poultry fancier, of Texarkana, Texas, the other day displayed three eggs, laid at different times by different hens, each bearing a perfect rising sun. "It means Japan will make a military campaign which will dwarf all previous offensives," he said.

A year ago William Settles, Texarkana chicken raiser, predicted war when his hens laid torpedo-shaped eggs. Three months later Mussolini started his Ethiopia campaign.

We have not been much disturbed by the predictions of the seers that something of moment to the world is to happen on the sixteenth of this month, but when Texas hens take to cryptic warnings it is time to prepare cyclone cellars for emergent use.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

(Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 15—Just what Tammany Hall will do to or for the Roosevelt ticket this November is a matter concerning which one finds considerable argument in New York City. But on one point practically everyone agrees: Tammany badly needs a courageous, forceful leader and is improverished in leadership material.

The organization is badly split right now. To some extent the split is one between supporters and enemies of Roosevelt and Farley.

Jimmy Dooling, present chief, was put into that job by the Farley forces after John Curry, who held the Tammany delegation for Al Smith against Roosevelt at the Chicago convention, had been unseated. Mr. Dooling, however, soon turned around and embraced Al Smith.

It has never appeared that Dooling was a very strong leader, which doubtless was one reason Farley and Roosevelt put him over.

That's another thing many or most Tammany leaders hold against the administration. They think Farley is intent on making Tammany merely a part of his national machine, driving out leaders who won't take his orders.

Eyes On City Hall Plums

Tammany likes to boss itself. Also, in general, it expects to see the administration backing Mayor LaGuardia for re-election in 1937 and has no intention of being balked in its confident anticipation of a return to power at City Hall.

The Roosevelt administration ran a municipal ticket of its own against the Tammany candidate and LaGuardia in the last mayoralty election, which is another item in the feud.

Dooling probably will soon be out. How soon or whether he will be succeeded by a pro-administration man are speculative questions.

The administration is in position to depend on few of Tammany's 35 district leaders, although it knows well the importance of having Tammany get out a full vote in Manhattan if it is to offset the anticipated large Republican majority from upstate.

Its closest relation for the time being is with Jimmy Hines, leader of the Eleventh assembly district and the most powerful individual in Tammany. He is an old friend of Farley, is awarded most of the federal patronage in Manhattan, and even has an entree at the White House.

"Knifing" Is Hinted

Most Tammany leaders, according to some who know them, would rather see a Republican in the White House, if not in the governor's chair as well. Then there wouldn't be such danger of administration politicians trying to barge in on them.

The leaders feel Tammany never got anything from Cleveland, Wilson, or Roosevelt. The Tiger "knifed" Cleveland in 1888 and Wilson in 1916, both men being up for re-election.

"Knifing" by Tammany, one is told by old-time political observers in New York, means that Tammany simply lies down and fails to get out the vote.

There are some predictions of a "knifing" for Roosevelt. Other experts say Tammany has so many candidates of its own for local offices that it can't afford not to turn out a full vote and that most of its controlled voters will vote traditionally under the Democratic star emblem on the ballot even if they're not for Roosevelt.

Some observers say the people of Manhattan will turn out a thumping majority for Roosevelt regardless of Tammany. Some strategists at Democratic national campaign headquarters are counting heavily on the American Labor Party's efforts for Roosevelt in the city.

How Tammany Functions

Tammany functions in the same old way. It remains powerful in a patronage sense, thanks to its control of key positions, despite LaGuardia's presence in City Hall. Roughly speaking, the Tammany idea is to get contributions from corporations or individuals for whom leaders arrange certain favors or jobs and to pass on charity money or minor favors to underprivileged voters, not forgetting occasional free ice cream for the kids.

The big money, according to Tammany foes, comes from assessments on jobholders, rake-offs from receiverships and trusteeships handed out by Tammany judges, tampering with or winking at laws and ordinances, profitable legal and business connections or, it is charged in some cases, protection of rackets.

The voters get some of this in the form of food, winter coal, minor jobs, help in police scrapes, fresh milk for babies, Thanksgiving or Christmas turkeys, clothing, picnics, boat rides, and so on.

In each election district is a captain responsible to the district leader.

He is supposed to know every family in his territory.

If he gets out a full vote, he gets ahead in Tammany. Any time Tammany is out for a big vote, he and a crew of sub-lieutenants watch the polls, check on those who haven't voted, and in the last two or three hours make a tremendous effort to bring all laggards to the voting booths.

Many big men have been beneficiaries of this system—Roosevelt, Senator Wagner, Governor Lehman, and Al Smith among them. Sometimes one of them can't quite stomach the system and has to turn Tammany requests down hard. It is said that there is much resentment in Tammany against Governor Lehman on that account.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

On her wedding day MARCIA CUNNINGHAM hears her fiance, BOB HASKELL, telling one of the bridesmaids, SYLVIA, that he loves her but can't afford to marry her.

Marcia, hurt and bewildered, sails alone on the trip that was to have been a honeymoon. On the ship she meets PHILLIP KIRKBY, engineer. Phil is going to Paris to ask CAMILLA HOWE, to whom he has been devoted for years, to marry him.

In Paris Marcia meets Camilla. Bob arrives and the four go about together frequently.

ROSITA and PIERRE, dancers in a cafe, evolve a scheme to blackmail Marcia, but Bob and Phil deal with the blackmailers.

Phil leaves on a bicycle trip. Bob again asks Marcia to marry him and she refuses—this time definitely. She goes to Nice to visit a friend who has a villa there.

Word comes that Camilla's father has lost his fortune. MARIAN, Marcia's hostess, asks Camilla and Bob to come to Nice. She also invites Phil.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI

By the time Phil Kirkby saw the announcement of the decline of the Howe fortune in the Paris Herald, the newspaper was two days old. He read the news one morning in a small pension, where he had ordered breakfast and was lamenting the fact that orange juice was not a morning beverage on the continent.

When he put the paper down he was silent. There was one thing only to do. He must go to Camilla. He always had been near when she needed him. At that he smiled grimly. She never before had needed him. But she had known he was there—something like a rock of Gibraltar or the stone that was sacred to the Pilgrim Fathers or something else unmovable. Phil was disgusted with himself. He had dreamed of the girl with bright, light hair and brilliant blue eyes for years. He had taken the first ship to France to see if she really was developing serious symptoms for an Austrian embassy attache. Now she needed him—

He got on his bicycle and rode all day, not stopping for lunch. At dusk he sent a telegram to Camilla at the Continentale.

"Am taking train for Paris tonight. Wait for me." He had hesitated over the next word. Then he had added, "Affectionately, Phil."

Camilla had been fond of him always in her way. Now that she could no longer play at love and romance she would turn to him. Well—he had asked for it long enough.

When he reached the hotel in Paris he found two messages. One from Camilla and one from Marion. Each urged him to join the house party at once.

"I am not checking in," he told the desk. "When's the next train to Nice?" He hesitated a second before making his second request. "Is Miss Cunningham still here?"

"Miss Cunningham checked out more than a week ago, Monsieur."

Well, that ended that. Definitely. He was strangely disappointed, oddly relieved that he would not see her again. He had left his luggage at the hotel, with word that it was to be forwarded to him if he did not return to Paris. Now he waited long enough to pick up a bag, then caught the next train south to Nice.

He had sent a telegram, and a pony cart met him at the train.

"The guests are all at the beach, Monsieur. You are to join them there," the driver explained.

Getting into black trunks Phil told himself that he was the master of his own mind. If he said that the provocative, tender lips, and wide gray eyes of a certain young lady should get out of his art gallery of faces, it should! Then he ran down to the water, and stared straight into that face.

"Marcia! You here?"

Marcia, glancing into his puzzled blue eyes, aware of the long, strong brown body, fashioned to weather wind and rain and sea, could only nod. So Phil had come. Had come to Camilla because he knew that she would need him. Well, there were plenty of ships to America. She could take one of them any minute she wanted to.

"I asked for you in Paris," Phil was saying, throwing his long body on the sand.

"I left Paris when you did and came here." Funny that she could think of so few things to say. "The water is beautiful today. Want to swim? I'll race you to the raft."

She was crazy to think that Phil looked disappointed—her mind was playing freak tricks. Phil had come to Nice to see another girl. He hadn't even known that she, Marcia, was here. He had just said so.

They raced to the raft where a chorus of eager voices greeted them.

"Hi, Kirkby. It's good to see you again!" That was Bob.

"Hello—sort of old home week." Marcia noticed the lack of warmth in Phil's return greeting. No wonder, she mused. He wouldn't want Bob around as a rival when he had come to plead his case with Camilla. She did not know that Phil was thinking: "So this is it. Of course Bob would be along wherever Marcia is. I'm a damned fool!"

The water at Nice was very black that night. It stretched away, acres and acres and acres of it. The stars were bright but there was no moon. Marcia, in a frothy blue dress, had been quiet at dinner. No one had noticed she decided, because everyone else had so much to say. Even Camilla, for whom everyone was supposed to be sorry, was merrier than usual. But Marcia understood that. Phil had come back and Camilla must feel safe again.

After dinner, Marcia went upstairs and changed to a white sports dress and some white walking shoes. She grabbed a woolly white coat, slipped out a side door, and started on a walk along the beach. It was too hard to stay in the house where the music, the laughter, the light voices, wove a spell that drew a young man with eyes that were bluer than she had remembered and another girl closer and closer together. Suddenly the walls had closed in around her and she had escaped.

She had not gone far when she became aware that she was being followed. She began to walk faster, then to run. It was lonely and she had been warned to beware of vagrants. One encounter with lawlessness in Paris had been enough. Then she decided that she couldn't outrun a man. She might as well see what he wanted. Or he might even pass her. Some people ran for exercise, not to get away from people or catch up with people.

She stopped and waited. The man called, "Marcia?"

"Phil!"

He came up to her. There was water and sand around them. Miles of sky above them. No lights except the beacon on a lighthouse, some where far at sea. Quite suddenly Phil's arms had gone around her and his lips were pressing hers.

* * *

When he dropped his arms, in the dim waterlight, she saw that his face was white and drawn. "Forgive me, Marcia. That was the last thing in Heaven or earth I intended to do."

"But—why?" she asked so gently that the words went drifting down the empty beach.

"Why?" He repeated the word al-

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15 (AP)—Opening net unchanged to 4 points higher, the cotton market held in an extremely narrow range during the early trading.

Cables were favorable, but a steady dribble of hedge selling prevented any important price upturn.

Election results had no effect on early prices.

Oct. opened at 12.02, Dec. at 12.03, Jan. at 12.05 and July at 11.90.

There was little in the news pertaining to cotton.

Early weather reports showed lower temperatures for the northern part of the belt, but sizeable rainfall was lacking in the western area.

While commission house comment continued bullish and the market was believed to have underlying strength speculative activity was limited.

Hedging continued to be the main market influence during the morning and options slipped off a few points. All futures dropped back across the 12-cent level as Oct. sold at 11.97, Dec. at 11.99, Jan. at 11.99 and March at 11.96.

Sufficient speculative interest to absorb offerings without recessions was lacking. Large sales of cotton at interior spot markets indicated there would be no immediate let-up in the increased hedge offerings.

Goods markets, according to daily averages, remained a bright spot in the general cotton picture.

Some concern was being expressed by the trade, particularly those interested in the export trade, over the fact that while crop movement is far ahead of last year, exports are only able to keep pace with last year.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 to 5 points advance on steady Liverpool cables and trade and foreign buying. Oct. 12.06; Dec. 12.09; Jan. 12.08; March 12.06; May 12.03; July 11.95.

Trading was mildly active with the buying coming largely from the trade and foreign sources and in just about sufficient volume to absorb hedging and scattered selling.

Fluctuations were somewhat irregular but comparatively narrow after the call with December selling at about 12.09 and May at 12.05 at the end of the first half hour or 3 to 5 points net higher.

The buying from abroad again seemed to be coming from Liverpool and the far east. Market opinions seemed to be largely dependent upon the absorption of the increasing new crop movements in the south.

While Liverpool was lower prices there did not fully meet yesterday's local selling. Early cables reported trade calling and covering had been sufficient to offset hedging there and said there was a fair inquiry in cotton cloths in Manchester but that many offers were low.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Stirred by reports that Italy had bought 1,800,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, the Chicago market late today developed firmness.

A further stimulus was that for the fourth successive day Canadian rural deliveries of wheat fell below last year's totals. Frost tonight was forecast in northwest sections of the American grain belt.

Wheat closed taut at the same as yesterday's finish to 1 cent higher, Sept. 1.13 to 1.13 1-4, Dec. 1.11 3-8 to 1-2, corn 1-4 to 3-4 advanced, Sept 1.13 1-2, Dec. 95 1-2 to 5-8, oats 1-8 to 1-4 off, and provisions unchanged to ten cents down.

CASH GRAIN REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (AP) — Cash wheat, No. 1 mixed 1.15; No. 2 mixed 1.14 1-2; corn, lake billing, No. 1 yellow 1.14 1-2; No. 2 yellow 1.14 1-2; No. 3 yellow 1.14; Illinois proportional, No. 1 yellow 1.15; No. 2 yellow 1.15; No. 4 yellow 1.14; No. 5 yellow 1.13 3-4 to 1.14 1-2; No. 3 white 1.20; sample grade 1.10 to 1.11 1-2; oats, No. 2 white 45 to 45 1-2; No. 2 white 45 to 46 1-2; No. 3 white 44; No. 4 white 42 3-4; sample grade 30 7-8 to 41 3-4; no rye.

Extra Work Caused At Lubbock Office

Increase of transients in Lubbock is causing extra work for postoffice employes these days.

Newcomers here have their mail sent in care of general delivery. As a result it has been necessary for several hours daily to have two men on duty at the general delivery window to care for the additional customers, explained Postmaster Amos Howard.

"The rush will likely keep up until the cotton picking season is over," he added. "It looks like, from the way things are starting, our fall business will be bigger than ever."

A heavy proportion of the transients are Mexicans. They generally have one or two in their party who speak English and the postmaster tries to have one clerk on duty who understands some Spanish. As a result of this plan, which has been used here for years, little trouble is experienced in handling transient mail.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. (AP)—The stock market blew hot and cold today on the Maine election results and prices got nowhere in particular.

The list made a feeble attempt to rally at the opening, but profit takers again stepped into the arena and cut down many of the leaders fractions to a point or more.

Dealings were on the quiet side near the fourth hour, however, and a number of issues found buying support.

Wright Aeronautical, a 10-share trading unit, got up more than 5 points on top of yesterday's jump. This company, a subsidiary of Curtiss-Wright, was reported to have received substantial orders for new airplane motors.

Seaboard Airline was one of the most active issues at a small gain. Others in the resistant area included Standard Oil of California, International Nickel, Anaconda, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, U. S. Steel and Republic Steel.

In the backward column were Chrysler, Crucible Steel, Sears Roebuck, American Can, J. I. Case, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Servel, Libby-Owens, Loew's, Western Union, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Bethlehem, U. S. Youth's Condition Is Said Improved

X-ray examination had not been completed early this afternoon to determine if Charles Barnard, 24, injured yesterday afternoon in his first workout with the Tech football squad, had a skull fracture. Suffering severe shock and concussion, Barnard was rushed to West Texas hospital in an ambulance.

His condition was reported "much improved" today. A transfer from Haskell institute, Barnard, of Tulsa, had told coaches he wanted to "get right into the middle of practice." Lined up with a scrimmaging team, he rushed in for a tackle and was struck on the head.

Louis B. Mayer, M-G-M executive, announced the huge film studios will be closed from midnight tonight until midnight tomorrow in tribute to the young producer. The Association of Motion Picture Producers said the entire industry would stop for five minutes during the funeral services.

When Carl Laemmle brought him west as his private secretary, Thalberg was 19. The Universal lot was dumbfounded when Laemmle, departing for Europe, announced this "boy wonder" would be general manager of the studio. The lot gave Thalberg possibly a week.

But the company's pictures began improving right away.

One of the reasons Hollywood liked Thalberg was this story, told by Carl Laemmle.

In Dire Straits

Two years ago the veteran producer was in dire financial straits. His whole company was at stake. He was desperate. He called on Thalberg at his home.

"Irving," he said, "will you do me a favor?"

"Yes," said Thalberg, "what is it?"

"Sign my note for a million dollars?"

"Where's the note?" said Thalberg without batting an eyelash.

And he signed.

The Lady Peace took off from Southport, England, at 9:03 p. m., (EST) Sunday night, and their landing at Musgrave Harbor was at 1:20 p. m., yesterday, or 15 hours and 17 minutes after their departure.

"Our plane sunk into that bog like it was a feather bed, it seemed to me, and boy, it felt good," Richman said, shortly after they landed. "It sure is soft stuff."

Merrill could hardly have found a more inaccessible place to land. The only means of communication with the outside world is by water and that is only by rugged harbor. All around the little fishing settlement, the land is flat and swampy. The nearest railway is 50 miles away through rough lands and there are no highways.

SEEK GIRL IN MURDER CASE

WIFE SLAYS HUSBAND BECAUSE OF AFFAIR WITH A STENO

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15 (AP)—Police sought a young stenographer today for questioning, believing she may be the girl H. E. Haugaard's wife heard him talking of in his sleep.

The wife, Mrs. Georgia Haugaard, 37, fatally shot Haugaard at their home early Monday after a quarrel in which she said he finally admitted making love to the girl he raved about in his dreams, detectives reported.

Soon after Haugaard was shot as he slept on a couch, the couple's high school son, Wally, 16, found his mother in a gas-filled back room, he said, but she apparently had suffered no serious effects.

Wrote Two Notes

Mrs. Haugaard wrote two notes, one to her son and one "to whom it may concern," Captain Blaine Steed of the police homicide squad said. The second note said, "I shot my husband because he tried to kill me after admitting being unfaithful to me with a young girl," and that "he constantly talked in his sleep and told of intimacies he was having with her."

The note to the son said: "Daddy admitted the affair with that cheap girl and I can't go on. We could all have been so happy if it weren't for her."

M. Curley contested for the Democratic senatorial nomination against Mayor Robert E. Greenwood of Fitchburg. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., endorsed for the Republican nomination by the Republican state convention, had two rivals.

Michigan—Senator Cousens, pro-Roosevelt Republican, sought renomination against former Governor Brucker. Battling for Democratic gubernatorial nomination were Frank Murphy, Philippine commissioner, and George W. Welsh.

New Hampshire—Attention centered on the race for the Republican senatorial nomination, between Governor H. Styles Bridges and George H. Moses, former senator.

Wisconsin—Unopposed for the progressive re-nomination, Governor Philip La Follette was target of campaign attacks by those seeking Democratic and Republican nominations.

New York—Voters cast ballots for aspirants to state's 45 seats in national house of representatives. Townsend and Union party supporters were among those seeking nominations.

the detectives reported.

Mrs. Crookshank's husband, David Crookshank, 85, tried unsuccessfully to divorce her three months ago, accusing her of an affair with Pickens. She and Pickens, however, in testimony denied misconduct and a decree was refused.

While Pickens was in Chicago, Mrs. Crookshank wrote in her diary: "Suspense coupled with anxiety is painful. Death seems the only door that can give me relief—and it may be mine. O, how I need you right now."

Pickens said he met a prominent woman who introduced him to Mrs. Crookshank several months ago. He was wearing an old sweater at the time.

"She was sorry for me and gave me $50," he said.

He said she later established him in the studio apartment, gave him $140 a month spending money, hired a houseboy for him and furnished the apartment expensively. He became her secretary-companion after he returned from Chicago, he said.

LUBBOCK JEWS WILL JOIN REST OF WORLD IN OBSERVANCE OF NEW YEAR

When the sun sets Wednesday Lubbock Jews will join all others of their race the world over in ushering in their New Year, 5697.

Rabb Alex Klein, new director of the congregation Shaareth Israel here, arrived this morning and will direct the ceremonies of Roch Hashana at 2420 Sixteenth street. Rabbi Klein came here from Chicago.

In observance of the New Year, Jewish-owned stores will be closed Thursday. The observance, however, will be continued for two days.

The celebration traces back to Biblical times, when Rosh Hashana was a festival marking the opening of the agricultural season. On the first day of the new year Jews are called upon to examine themselves and resolve to improve themselves during the year. The observance will continue until the appearance of stars Friday. A climaxing part of the program is the blowing of the shofar, a ram's horn. It is part of the basic New Year's service, which has come down practically unchanged over 3,000 years.

Rosh Hashana, which inaugurates the holy season, is closely followed Friday evening and Saturday by Shabbus Shuvah, the sabbath of repentance, and a week later by the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur, the most solemn of all Jewish holidays.

Details of the mishap were not learned.

San Angelo. The approach to the Lone Wolf bridge on highways 9-10 southeast of here was under water and traffic was tied up. The Santa Fe train to Sonora was annulled this morning due to a washout at Del Rio junction and the train west to Alpine was called off due to soft track.

Abilene and vicinity reported a fall of .22 inch.

Showers Reported

Seymour, Archer City, Graham, Olney, Breckenridge and Eastland reported showers. The weather in Wichita Falls was overcast and a drizzle was reported.

Weather was normal at Corpus Christi and skies were cloudy at Galveston.

Creek Out Of Banks

An eleven inch rain at Comfort, near San Antonio, sent Cypress creek, which runs through the outskirts of the hill town, out of its banks as the stream registered a 20-foot rise in 24 hours.

Small bridges across the creek were washed out both above and below the town, according to reports reaching here.

Lack of a heavy rain above Comfort prevented any extraordinary rise in the Guadalupe river above the town. Cypress creek empties into the river below Comfort. A rise in the river was reported below the junction.

Kerrville Gets Deluge

Kerrville received a deluge of 6.42 inches. Eastward and to the gulf coast falls diminished in intensity, Austin reporting 1.08, Port Arthur 1.84, Llano 3.46 and Eastland 2.50.

At 7 a. m. today rain still fell at San Angelo, Eastland, Ballinger, Hondo and several other points.

Denton, in North Texas, received .09 of an inch of moisture, the first in a month. Showers fell in the Vernon, Wichita Falls and Sherman areas. Temperatures dropped sharply.

In East Texas Paris and Texarkana had light showers and cooler weather.

Corsicana recorded a .43 of an inch rain.

Houston reported a light fall.

TECH IS BUSY WITH STUDES

PERMITS TO REGISTER ISSUED TO ABOUT 750 IN CITY

Permits to register as freshmen students had been issued to approximately 750 persons at noon at Texas Technological college. Registration of sophomore students began and freshmen enrollment continued this afternoon.

Dormitories and rooming houses were filling rapidly. Congestion around the gymnasium this morning indicated that more than the 750 students who obtained permits were waiting to register.

No Indication Of Total

This mornings enrollment was no indication of the total, Dr. Bradford Knapp, Tech president, said. Many students, seeing the long line at the gymnasium, postponed enrollment, he said.

Additional houses for students probably will be approved this afternoon, Doctor Knapp said. Although a scarcity of rooms has been rumored, housing will be assured for all students wishing to enroll.

Upper classmen will be enrolled at the gymnasium Wednesday, 8 a. m. to 12 noon and 1-5 p. m.

More Apply For Work

More persons have applied for work so that they may attend college than in any other year. More reservations were made in advance than in any other year and other indications of a larger enrollment than usual have appeared. Enrollment last fall semester was 2,441.

Instructions for registration have been issued as follows by the office of Registrar W. P. Clement:

Turn in transcript to registrar's office and get an entrance card.

All students must have physical examinations. This may be attended to before registration. The college physician, Dr. T. L. Morgan, maintains an office in Room P, chemistry building, office hours, 9-12 and 2-5 o'clock. Turn in physical examination card to the registrar's office at once.

All new students must have entrance cards, all former students must have grade books before entering the gymnasium. Get these at the registrar's office.

Mus' Approve Housing

Housing accommodations must be approved by Cecil Horne's office or by the dean of women's office. This will be attended to at registration time. Any question pertaining to the approval of a given house should be taken up with the proper office before registration.

No registration may be had until the appointed time. If you have not done so, secure a copy of the college catalogue at the registrar's office and study it carefully before going to registration.

Freshmen and sophomore students will follow master schedules in all divisions of the college. Any exception to this will be taken up on registration day.

All faculty members are on duty at registration. Deans also are in the gymnasium.

GAMES POSTPONED

Chicago at Boston, threatening weather. (Double header tomorrow).

Cincinnati at Brooklyn, wet grounds (double header tomorrow).

Pittsburgh at New York, rain and wet grounds (double header tomorrow).

most fiercely. "Why? Because you love another man and—"

"But I don't, Phil," she interrupted softly. "I love you!"

"You—what?" Even the darkness did not conceal the surprise on his face. "Say it again, Marcia—no, don't say it! You mustn't!"

"But I must," she repeated steadily. "I love you. Not Bob."

She was not prepared to have Phil drop down on a rock, put his head in his hands—she was not prepared for the shudder that went through his body.

"Marcia. Marcia darling," he said a minute later when he had grown quieter. "This is Hell! I love you. I went bicycling to figure things out because I thought it was no good. And I've got a duty to perform by somebody else—don't misunderstand me. I'm fond of Camilla. I thought I loved her. Maybe I can—" But his voice belied the hopelessness of his own belief.

"What are we going to do?"

It was Marcia who asked the question, in a little while, eyes on a sailboat that was little more than a blur on the ocean. She did not want to look at Phil. It was enough to feel his nearness.

"Forget each other, Marcia, my dearest. What else can we do?" He who had been so strong and capable could offer no solution this time. The girl who had asked the question knew that.

"Forget each other," she repeated. "But anyway, Phil, I'm glad you told me. I'm glad you love me! It's something—" She smiled crookedly. "Something to pack up for a rainy day."

"Will you do something for me?" he asked in a strange, tense voice. "What is it, Phil?"

"Go away tomorrow. Early. This is going to be plenty hard as it is."

FLASHES OF LIFE

Bargains

CLEVELAND, O.—The council of Jewish women opened a "thrift shop" to raise money for welfare work and one bargain hunter obtained a green felt hat for 25 cents and a tailored tweed coat for $1.25.

Long after the unknown shopper disappeared, Mrs. Milton P. Schlesinger, co-chairman of the venture, found her hat and her coat had been sold.

Ring Bared

DUNKIRK, N. Y.—Because he left a "ring" around a bathtub Harry Evans was in the city jail today.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kusher spied the "ring" when they returned home from an evening at the county fair and started looking for an intruder. Kusher found Evans hiding in a clothes closet.

Pleading guilty to entering, Evans told Judge Anthony Johnson he needed a job and thought he also needed a bath before applying for one. He got ten days.

No Offense

GREENVILLE, Mo.—For the first time in its 117 years, this town of 700 found itself without the services of a resident physician. Both doctors were ill and in a hospital. The same day they became ill, two new business establishments located here—both undertakers.

Sleuth On Bareback

DILLON, Mont.— "Somebody stole my saddle," a telephone caller reported to Sheriff J. A. McCollum. "You've been having good luck lately recovering stolen saddles. Please get mine back."

"Who's this talking?" asked the sheriff.

"Your deputy, Jim Burt," came the answer.

McCollum assigned Burt to the case.

Two On One

SARASOTA, Fla.—J. E. Levison told the old story of catching two fish on one hook, but exhibited the fish to prove it.

Levinson also explained how it happened. A jewfish struck first, the hook passed into its mouth and out through a gill. A mackerel snapped up the dangling hook.

In Detail

ATLANTA—J. S. Shettlesworth goes into detail in reporting campaign expenses—down to the last shoe string.

Here's the way the defeated legislative candidate reported the $142.45 cost of his campaign:

Entrance fee $125, cards, $15, eight street car tickets $.60, seven weiners (entertainment) $.35; seven bowls soup (entertainment) $.70, exchange on entrance fee check which came back marked "insufficient funds," $.15, shoestrings to replace pair broken while campaigning $.05, half soles worn out campaigning $.60.

THOUSANDS HERE FOR BIG CIRCUS

After showing to an estimated crowd of 13,000 South Plains residents in matinee and night programs here yesterday, the Al G. Barnes circus today was en route to Clovis, N. M.

Applause which greeted all the acts was greatest when the Cristianis finished their equestrian program. Featuring young Lucio Cristiani, the publicised Italians lived up to their advance notices. They performed stunts which would have made envious the traditionally good riders of the Americas—the Gauchos, the Comanche Indians, and the western cowboys.

Blood was drawn in one of the major animal acts when Bert Nelson, 31-year-old trainer of lions and tigers, was scratched on the right arm and the back by Norma. The four-year-old lioness, which Nelson raised on a bottle, was in a playful mood when she bounded on his back in the matinee performance.

Mabel Stark and her tigers went through their paces without hitch. Both trainer and animals showed great respect for each other.

Acrobats Outstanding

Of the acrobatic stunts three were outstanding—the Canestrellis on three unsupported ladders, the Waltiers on the aerial bars, and Hortense Cristiani and her troupe who performed on the teeter boards. Miss Cristiani was flipped high in the air to become the fourth member of a human pyramid.

Hal Silver, the tight-wire clown in tuxedo, provoked laughter with his "drunken" acts. He finished with a serious wire program.

And of course there was the celebrated Al G. Barnes elephant herd. Sixteen of the mammoth animals were performing in three rings at the same time. They went through their ponderous routine under the direction of Irene Ledgett, LaVerne McClain, and Josephine Spencer.

Bids On Auto For County Are Okayed

Bids on an additional automobile for the sheriff's department, boosting the number to three, and on a trade-in new car purchase were authorized yesterday by county commissioners.

Other business included authorizing Val Harris of Shallowater as constable for the justice precinct 5, and two part-time workers in the office of county tax assessor-collector, with monthly salaries of $40 each. An electric water fountain for the jail was purchased from Household Supply company.

Monthly reports were submitted and approved, and a salary order for Miss Wilma Delaney, appointed by Judge Dillard as county court stenographer, was voted.

A London theater has the largest one-piece carpet ever made in England. It weighs a ton, is 100 feet long and 43 feet wide, and requires 20 men to lift it.

MALARIA REDUCED

McALLEN, Sept. 14 (AP)—Malaria has been reduced in Hidalgo county this summer by dry weather.

Dr. D. R. Handley, county health officer, announced the scarcity of moisture materially reduced the number of cases reported.

Lack of rainfall prevented formation of pools of water in which malaria-carrying mosquitos could breed.

The road runner bird is a descendant of tree cuckoos, which it resembles in having two rear toes on each foot. These toes actually are a hindrance in running on the ground.

A GOOD NEIGHBOR

Railroad men are good neighbors. Every merchant likes railroad families for customers—churches and lodges like them for members. Steady and responsible, most railroad men own their own homes. They pay their bills, meet their taxes, keep up their insurance. Some of them live in your neighborhood. For the railroad is a home industry.

When you travel or ship via train you help your own community by making more railroad jobs for local men, supporting local families, patronizing local businesses. Western railroads and allied industries last year employed 750,000 workers.

The railroads themselves are good neighbors. They pay huge tax bills. They buy 70,000 commodities from factories, stores, farms, mines, quarries, lumber companies and diversified industries.

We invite you to use our services—fast freight with Free pick-up-and-delivery of LCL—world's finest passenger transportation in sleeping cars or coaches at lowest cost—substantial savings on round trip tickets—air-conditioning—dependability—comfort—safety. . . . See the railroad agent.

Proud of our achievements, we appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress
