McAdoo Man Faces Murder Charge

Phillip Pair, 24, Is Denied Bond Tuesday

Farmer Quoted As Having Made More Than One Explanation Of Death Saturday Night Of 19-Year-Old Wife

Nabbed At Funeral

Sheriff Koonsman Says Woman, Mother Of Young Twins, Was Slain By Discharge Of Shot Gun In Left Breast

(Special To The Avalanche)

DICKENS, Oct. 6.—A 24-year-old farmer, Phillip Pair, this afternoon was charged with murder of his 19-year-old wife Agnes Pair Saturday night at their home three miles northeast of McAdoo, and was held without bond in Dickens county jail after arraignment before J. H. Parks, Dickens justice of peace.

Body of the woman, mother of five-months-old twins, was found in the floor of the farm house, A 12-gauge single barrel shotgun lying three feet away. Death was established by Sheriff J. L. Koonsman of Dickens county as having been at 6 o'clock.

Arrested After Funeral

Pair was arrested by Sheriff Koonsman at Crosbyton, almost immediately after his wife had been buried, Sunday afternoon. Questioned that night at Crosbyton by the sheriff, District Attorney Alton B. Chapman of Spur and Jim Williams, deputy sheriff of Crosby county, Pair intimated his wife might have committed suicide.

Removed Monday to Dickens, Pair modified his statement twice, said Sheriff Koonsman, who said the young farmer told L. D. Ratliff, jr., Dickens county attorney, a conflicting version.

Shot In Left Breast

Mrs. Pair, who had been married to Pair more than two years, was struck in the left breast and the charge ranged downward inside her body, severing four ribs, said the sheriff.

She was lying on the floor on her back, and her arms outstretched, her face "straight up."

On one finger was a thimble. Sheriff Koonsman said the woman apparently had been sitting on a bed mending a shirt.

Bond Is Denied

Justice Parks denied bond in this afternoon's hearing. The murder

Nine Miners Die In Plunge

Cable Snaps, Plummeting Cage 900 Feet To Bottom Of Mine In Idaho; 55,600 Pounds Of Cable Crash Upon It Later

(By The Associated Press)

MULLAN, Idaho, Oct. 6. — Nine miners plummeted 900 feet to death early today when a cable broke, dropping a three-deck cage to the bottom of the Morning mine shaft.

The cable snapped, about 1,400 feet above the cage which even before it dropped was 3,050 feet down in the mine.

As the cage crashed to the bottom of the 3,950-foot shaft, 55,600 pounds of steel cable piled down upon it, crushing the elevator and its human cargo.

Bodies Badly Mangled

The bodies were so badly mangled that identification of some was impossible pending a checkup of the night shift.

The lower deck of the elevator had just been loaded, and was being operated by Cageman Henry Aune at the surface.

Aune could not explain the tragedy. He was given a signal to stop the cage at the 3050-foot level after men had been taken aboard at the 3600, 3400 and 3200-foot levels. Men were loaded into the bottom deck of the cage, and the signal was sent to lower the elevator slightly so the men could enter the middle deck. As it stopped at the middle position, the cable snapped, miners said.

Elliott Roosevelt Linked In Plan To Sell War Planes

Deposition By Anthony H. G. Fokker, Plane Manufacturer, States $5,000 Cash Paid Under Unfilled Contract For $500,000 Commission; Munitions Committee Releases Report

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—The senate munitions committee tonight made public what it said was a deposition by Anthony H. G. Fokker, airplane manufacturer, stating Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, had been paid $5,000 cash under an unfulfilled contract for a $500,000 commission for sale of military planes to Russia.

The affidavit, which committee officials said was released upon instructions by Chairman Nye (R-ND), quoted Carter Tiffany, of New York, Fokker's American business representative, as stating he had been informed by a third party that President Roosevelt had approved the contract.

President Objects

President Roosevelt was represented by Tiffany, the deposition said, as objecting to his son traveling abroad with Fokker in an effort to sell airplanes to various governments. Fokker was quoted as saying he proposed this "counting on the willingness of high foreign officials to receive Mr. Roosevelt."

The affidavit which the committee said was taken by Stephen Raushenbush and Joel Earnest, committee investigators, quoted Fokker as saying the price at whi h Elliott Roosevelt and his associates offered the planes was "so high that the Russians would have nothing to do with the whole business and had not bought any of the planes."

DENIES REPORT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 6. (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, denied tonight he ever made a contract with Anthony H. G. Fokker to sell military airplanes to Russia.

Roosevelt said he had contracted with Fokker in February, 1934, to sell airplanes, but that the planes to be sold were not military ships and that the contract expressly stipulated that Roosevelt was not to sell to foreign governments or to the United States government, or to officials of such governments.

Price "Notably Excessive"

It quoted Fokker as saying further, that although he considered the price "notably excessive," "he had been persuaded by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Roosevelt's associate, Mr. Stratton, that Mr. Roosevelt had enough influence with the Import and Export bank and the Russian purchasing commission, then in the country, to swing the deal at that excessive price."

There was no further identification of Stratton.

Correspondence in which Fokker was alleged to have called Elliott Roosevelt and Stratton "chiselers" was referred to in the deposition and Fokker was quoted as explaining that "apparently by that time he had come to that conclusion since no action had been taken toward the successful sale of Lockheed planes by Mr. Roosevelt and his associates."

The deposition quoted Fokker as expressing satisfaction with Tiffany's conclusion of the contract by a $5,000 cash payment to Elliott Roosevelt" and the payment of a further check for $6,666 through a brokerage house which it was diffi-

Japs Demand Neutral Zone In China Area

Virtual Independence Of Five North China Provinces Is Sought; Situation Is Said To Be Precarious

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, Oct. 6.—A Japanese demand for virtual independence of five North China provinces as a "special zone between China and Manchoukuo" was revealed by the Japanese embassy here tonight.

The Japanese spokesman said Japan did not particularly want a protectorate over the proposed area, but stated the Tokyo government felt there must be a "cushion" of some sort between Manchoukuo and China.

Situation Precarious

Both sides in the dispute over Sino-Japanese affairs, growing out of Japanese claims of alleged anti-Japanese "terrorism" in China, admitted tonight the situation was precarious.

"Anything can happen," it was said, as Dictator Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek and Ambassador Shigeru Kawagoe, of Japan, prepared to meet in a series of conferences in an attempt to alleviate the growing crisis.

Talk in both Japanese and Chinese official circles indicated the affairs of the two nations were rapidly approaching a climax.

Chinese circles were emphatic in the opinion that any Japanese pressure, at present would "without doubt be met by military resistance."

Lightning Strikes Football Players; One Dies, 11 Hurt

CANTON, O., Oct. 6. (AP)—Lightning struck the Lehman High school football squad at practice late this afternoon, killing Don Correll and injuring 11 others, including Coach Jimmy Robinson ad Assistat Coach Wilbur Billings.

The injured were rushed to Mercy hospital. All were released with the exception of Coach Robinson. Hospital attaches said he was in a serious condition, his lower limbs paralyzed.

Wallace Ferrell, witness, said the two teams were scrimmaging just before the fatal bolt struck.

"The varsity was in a huddle listening to instructions from Coach Robinson," he said. "There was a blinding flash of light and members of the team fell to the ground. Those who were able, put the injured in cars and took them to the hospital."

Other witnesses said three bolts struck almost at the same time. Two of them hit chimneys of two nearby houses and the other struck in the midst of the team.

Correll wore a metal nose guard, insulated with rubber, when the fatal bolt struck.

Information May Clear Death Of Forney Man, Sheriff Says

DALLAS, Oct. 6. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Bill Decker said tonight he had received information from an unidentified source which may explain the death of Quincie Rockey, 23, of Forney, whose body was found on a railroad right-of-way between Forney and Mesquite.

The body was discovered by section hands. Most of the clothing had been torn from the body and scattered along the right of way for a half a mile.

WITH FASCIST ARMIES, Oct. 6. — The Spanish Fascist army smashed nine miles closer to Madrid today and announced the "final drive" to capture the Spanish capital had begun.

Today's advance on the Maqueda-Madrid highway resulted in the capture of six important towns, the insurgent command said, and brought the attackers to Santa Cruz del Retamar, 37 1-2 miles from Madrid.

Second Column Nearer

A second column of the army was reported at Torrejon, on the Toledo-Madrid road, about 22 miles from the capital.

"Victories today cleared the Maqueda road of socialist government militia for an area 19 miles eastward from the Maqueda Fascist headquarters.

The path now was clear, insurgents said, for attack on Navalcarnero, 25 miles from Madrid. Capture of this last outpost of the Madrid defenders would bring the Fascist column approximately parallel to the troops reported at Torrejon.

Banner-Draped Tugboats Meet Dick And Joan; "Cute" Summarizes Joan

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. — Dick Powell and Joan Blondell, the Hollywood honeymooners, reached New York today on the Grace liner Santa Paula, and there hasn't been so much fun in New York harbor since goodness knows when.

At least 15 tugboats, most of them bearing banners of welcome to the movie couple, drew along side the liner and tooted their whistles all the way up the harbor.

In addition, an airplane, flying a streamer, "Welcome Joan and Dick," circled the ship as it entered the port.

"Isn't it cute?" said Miss Blondell as she surveyed the welcoming festivities.

"It ought to be," put in a (Warner brothers) publicity man, "it cost $12,000."

A crowd of several hundred movie fans was at the pier to meet the honeymooners, but was disappointed when the Powells were taken down a freight elevator and whisked off a few minutes later.

A car bearing a California license which was following the Gilmer car ran over the body, the differential apparently striking the youth's head. The car was reported to have slowed down but did not stop.

Investigation Conducted

Mayor Starns was following the other two cars and stopped to find the student dead. He reported the case to officers, who started an investigation.

The body was being held in an Alpine morgue.

Reduction In State Pension List Is Asked

Steering Committee Of House Old Age Assistance Inquiry Recommends Action To Cut List To Certain Limit

Report Up Today

Revision Of Pension Law To Be Requested; Arguments On Transferring Highway Fund Ae Heard Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 6. — The steering committee of the house old age assistance inquiry unanimously recommended today that the number of Texas pensioners be reduced.

The committee urged that the pension law be revised in such manner that the number on the rolls could be limited to between 70,000 and 80,000. Orville S. Carpenter, state director, estimated the list would grow to 147,000 unless the law was changed.

To Ask For House Action

A. T. McKinney of Huntsville, chairman, said the committee would ask the house to adopt its report tomorrow.

"Texas now is attempting to care for 33 1-3 per cent of her aged," the committee said, "as against an average of 20 per cent in other states. If all applicants are added to the roll who are likely to qualify under a liberal interpretation of state law, Texas will be caring for 50 per cent of her aged.

Arguments Heard

The house state affairs committee heard arguments on the much-discussed proposal to use $3,000,000 of highway funds to meet pension needs until revenue from new tax measures should start coming in.

There was considerable doubt the bill could be passed even if a majority of the legislators favored it as Speaker Coke Stevenson remained firmly of the opinion he would rule any highway fund diversion out of order on grounds of unconstitutionality.

Confers With Bankers

Governor Allred conferred with bankers from six cities on the pension emergency.

Responding to pleas that a tax bill be sent to the senate before the end of the week, th house voted to bgin floor consideration Thursday of a proposal to increase the oil tax from 2 to 2 3-4 cents per barrel.

Brisk Weather Hits Oklahoma

Hail And Snow Are Intermixed With Rain, Dust; Damage Done At Ardmore; Northwest Texas Reports Snow

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 6.—Hail storms, snow and dust in the Panhandle and widespread rains contributed to Oklahoma's freakish fall weather today while the mercury did its part by dropping sharply.

A smashing hail storm at Ardmore broke tree limbs, shattered small windows and damaged automobiles in a 25-minute fall. Wewoka, Miami and Tulsa had traces of hail.

Northwest Texas counties reported a light snow. A high north wind whipped up a dust storm at Cheyenne.

Gusts of rain swept over a wide area in the far northwest. Showers fell at Guymon, Boise City, Goodwell and Hooker, while Texhoma had a hard rain. The temperature began falling at 3 p. m. at Guymon when it read 46.

Hunting Tragedy Claims Life Of Popular Banker

Death Apparently Results From Attempt To Unjam Shotgun On Early Morning Hunt; News Shocks State; Victim Was Known As 'Best Country Banker In State'; Funeral Set

BY BILL DONNELL
Avalanche Staff Writer

SPUR, Oct. 6—What began about 6 o'clock Tuesday morning as one of his frequent hunting trips ended in accidental death less than two hours later for Walter B. Lee, 55, prominent Spur citizen, president of the Spur Security bank, and said to be "the best country banker in the state."

Telling his wife he would bring back "a mess of dove for breakfast," Mr. Lee met death in a pasture about six miles southeast of here when shot from a 16-gauge automatic gun tore through his left lung and emerged from the back.

Body 50 Yards From Car

One of a searching party of five, Jeff James, an employe of the Bryant-Link company, found Mr. Lee's body about 1:15 o'clock in the afternoon. It was lying about 50 yards from his parked car on the Wilson school road. Police authorities were immediately called.

"Death from gunshot wounds accidentally inflicted" was the verdict returned by Justice of the Peace G. B. Jopling. Other authorities conducting coroner's inquest at the scene and at the Campbell Funeral home, where his body was taken, were J. L. Koonsman, Dickens county sheriff, W. H. Parks, deputy sheriff, Alton B. Chapman, district attorney, and G. L. Barber, City marshal.

Messages Pour In

While details of the shocking mishap were being learned this afternoon, messages of condolences and tributes to the character of the man whose acquaintances were widespread over Texas began to arrive at his home and at the homes of his banking associates.

Members of the searching party which also included Clifford B. Jones, vice president of the bank and manager of the Spur Ranch Farms; Tom Johnson of Fort Worth, E. Sturman Lee, brother and assistant cashier at the bank; and George S. Link, a bank director, and investigating authorities, concurred in the following description of the death.

Had Contacted Friends

Mr. Lee had contacted Mr. Jones Sunday night in the hope of getting him to go the next morning on a brief hunting trip, but Mr. Jones declined because of a cold ailment. Monday night, another close friend, Lealus Hutto, had been contacted but was unable to go.

Setting out alone this morning, he planned first to call at one of his farms about 10 miles southeast of here in the Duck Creek community to inquire on the cotton picking situation, and attempt to shoot some dove on the way back to town.

After completing his inquiries, Mr. Lee apparently was en route to town when he stopped his car and climbed a four-strand wire fence to get into a likely area for the birds, mesquite and grass.

Beside Him Was The Gun

His body was found there. Beside him were the gun, two nickels and a dime. He was dressed in a business suit. No personal effects had been disturbed.

Mr. Jones said he and other friends of Mr. Lee had frequently mentioned to him that, because the gun frequently jammed, it should "be thrown away," but the reply always was, "It's the only gun I have."

The gun, it was said, apparently had jammed and Mr. Lee, a tall man, was attempting either to extricate a shell or correctly lodge it, with the gun held in his arms, by using the coins. The discharge entered the left chest about an inch below the nipple and plowed through the lung, making a sizeable hole as it emerged.

Not Instantly Fatal

Marks on the ground around the body indicated that the wound was not instantly fatal, and that death resulted from bleeding.

A search had been instigated by Mrs. Lee, Mr. Jones, and E. S. Lee during mid-morning when a call to the bank and at his home by a

Silence Trailing Bjorkvall Flight

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Somewhere above the Atlantic the plane of Kurt Bjorkvall, Swedish flier, drummed along tonight toward Stockholm on a non-stop flight attempt.

Late in the day there had been no report of his position.

As the 31-year-old Bjorkvall thundered along, a dashing blonde passenger who unexpectedly didn't get to go with him sat secluded in a club near New York.

She was the Baroness Eve Von Blixen Finecke, who has motored alone in Africa and shot lions in its jungles. She went to the air field today to be turned aside by the flier with an eloquent "no!"

Precisely why, none learned, except it was said the Swedish newspaper which had been backing the flight had withdrawn its support.

Bankers And State Officials Join In Expressions Of Regret At Loss Of Leader In Banking Circles Of Texas

Repute and admiration in which Walter B. Lee was held by bankers of this area and of West Texas as a whole was evidenced by an "understanding" he was to be named chairman of the seventh district of Texas Bankers association to succeed Oral Jones.

The term of Jones, Wichita Falls man and vice president of the City National bank there, is to expire in February, and a group meeting of the association is to be held at Wichita Falls Feb. 22.

Plan To Attend Rites

Additional testimony to Lee's memory was found in expressed intention of numerous prominent bankers of Texas to attend rites of the accident victim. Lubbock bankers telephoned the Morning Avalanche to ask whether time for services had been announced, details of the accident and other particulars.

It was understood that Jones, R. E. (Bob) Baskin, president of the Farmers National bank at Seymour, W. A. Philpott, jr., of Lallas, secretary of the Texas Bankers association, and numerous other well known banking officials of the state would attend services.

No Banker More Loved

The Woman's Angle

FORTY-YEARS ago there was not a single motion picture in the world. At present there are 88,000 of them. Forty years ago families sat in the parlor after supper knitting, talking, napping or playing whist. Tonight in 20,000,000 homes, in fifty different languages families are saying "Let's go to the movies." That, my friends, is progress!

ON INTRODUCTIONS

MRS. J. SAM LEWIS in introducing Dr. A. B. Cunningham to an audience attending his book review Monday night expounded a theory that we have felt for some time. It cocerns introductions. Said Mrs. Lewis :"People listen to introductions with ill-concealed indifference."

Not that Mrs. Lewis's few well chosen words fitted that description—on the contrary she made a short and charming introduction—a speech that was pleasing to her hearers and must have suited the lecturer. But how many of us like to listen to introductions? Too often they are boring, meaningless and sometimes longer than the speech that follows. Our nomination for the best introduction made is: "Ladies and gentlemen, the President of the United States."

EVEN THE ALPHABET!

MRS. LEWIS said another thing that we liked. It was that if a lecturer has a charming delivery you would enjoy hearing him review the alphabet. We remember that Alla Nazimova, the Russian actress, once recited something in the tongue of her native country to the great delight of a roomful of guests. One gushed up to her with, "Oh Nazimova what did you read?" "The alphabet," the actress replied, walking away.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT

TWO SMALL boys were talking in a yard at Texas avenue and Fifteenth street, the dirtiest one holding a football in his grimy hands.

"Les play," urged the first, "do you want to be the Amarillo Sandies?"

"Heck no," said the owner of the ball.

"Well gee, they beat the Westerners every year."

"I don't care if they do; I don't want to be them anyway."

Which, we submit to our friend "Chap" Chapman, is the right spirit for some potential quarterback on his team to possess.

WHO STARTED IT?

SPEAKING of changing the name of the Tech Matadors to Red Raiders, young Arch Lamb of Fort Worth, head cheer leader, says he believes nothing could be done about it even if the student body and the alumni rebelled. Who started that anyway? Bo Williams, graduate manager of athletics, hasn't the remotest idea, or at least that's what he said Tuesday afternoon.

"It's just like a stone rolling down a hill," poetically said Mr. Williams," it gains momentum and before it reaches the foot nothing can stop it." Well that may be right, but somebody starts the little stone rolling and that must have been the case of the Red Raiders.

WPA ROOM WEDDING

SURELY no more representative list of guests ever gathered at a local wedding ceremony than assembled in the WPA sewing room Tuesday afternoon for the marriage of Mrs. Dora Davis and J. M. Jonas. There were white workers, Mexican and negro women and supervisors and helpers from WPA administration office.

Those women who have worked side by side for several months have genuine affection for each other and Mrs. Davis said she had rather marry there with those friends than any other place.

The profusion of flowers was arranged through the generosity of Mrs. LaVerne Kershner.

WE STAND CORRECTED

C. W. RATLIFF, night editor, called our hand on saying that Crane county, Texas is the smallest in the state. The honor, if such it is, should go to Loving county, last admitted and which boasts a population of 195 citizens. Crane county has a population of 2,221. And thus have we erred!

Ibarra Draws Pen Sentence

Mexican Murdered Sheepherder Whose Decomposed Body Was Discovered April 8; Rijos Case Dismissed

Five years in the penitentiary was assessed Jesus Ibarra, 25-year-old Mexican, in 99th district court Tuesday for the murder with malice of Jose Cobarrubias, aged Mexican sheepherder. Case of Jesus Riojas, about 45, similarly indicted, was dismissed because evidence was insufficient to submit a case to the jury.

The decomposed body of the sheepherder was found April 8 in the Mexican quarter near Guadalupe school after another Mexican had complained of stench in the vicinity of Cobarrubias' shack.

Possessed Dead Man's Key

Ibarra was captured by Deputy Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter of Lubbock a week after the body was found, near Roswell.

It was testified the suspect had in his possession at time of arrest a key to a trunk belonging to the murdered man and that in his bedroll was a pair of trousers splotched with blood.

Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer, testified photographs offered in evidence were fingerprints found on the globe of a kerosene lamp in the death shack and were those of Ibarra. Fort had taken prints from the suspect and from the base of the lamp, as well as from the handle of an ax with which the sheepherder had been slain.

Burton Burks Prosecutes

Assistant Attorney Burton S. Burks, who had joined investigators in a probe of the case, prosecuted. Mel T. Janes and Syrian Marbut represented the Mexican, having been appointed by the court after it had been determined Ibarra had no money for employing an attorney.

The jury was out approximately one hour.

Felix Gonzales, operator for Western Union, acted as court interpreter.

Bob Howard pleaded guilty to the last count of an indictment alleging forgery and passing of a forged instrument and was assessed a suspended sentence of three years. The instrument upon which the indictment was based was a $5 check passed to South Plains Co-op Fuel association. Defendant's home is near Albuquerque, N. M.

Doorknobs Costing $35 Are Economic Weather Vanes In Pointing Out Mismanagement

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6. (AP)—Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Journal, today recommended "old fashioned business arithmetic" for the nation's hospitals, many of which, he said, "'just grew' like Topsy—with no planned idea of location of economy."

For an example, he cited a hospital equipped with $35 doorknobs.

"That gives you a nice turn for your money," he commented, but added that it wasn't conducive to economical management.

"An eastern hospital has just been completed at a cost of $8,000,000," he told the fall meeting of the Southwest Clinical conference here.

"I asked how they were going to operate a hospital that cost so much on an economically sound basis and they told me they didn't need to worry about that because the money was given them."

Arguments In Cattle Thief Case Start Today At Tahoka

Summations in the case of Oscar Sumner of Lubbock, charged with theft of a cow, this morning will begin in 106th district court at Tahoka, said G. E. Lockhart of Lubbock.

Lockhart, of the firm of Lockhart and Brown, which represents Sumner, said evidence was completed at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon and that a jury charge had been prepared.

Sumner, who pleaded not guilty, is being prosecuted by District Attorney Truett Smith, County Attorney C. H. Cain, and Dayton Moses of Fort Worth, attorney for the Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers association.

Black Broadcloth Goes Through Life With Him

FALLS CITY, Neb., Oct. 6. (AP) Frances F. Dietrich, 95, pioneer Richardson county resident, was buried here today in the suit in which he was confirmed 79 years ago, in which he was married 64 years ago and in which he observed his golden wedding anniversary 14 years ago.

It was Dietrich's dying request that he be buried in the black broadcloth suit and its shiny vest which his mother made for him when he was confirmed in Pennsylvania at the age of 16. He wore the suit on all important occasions in his life.

Hand Weaving Is Being Studied By Federal Official

Information to be used in extension of facilities for weaving material in the United States Southwestern Reformatory at El Reno, Okla., is again being sought from the textile engineering department at Texas Technological college by Ray V. Guffey, instructor-foreman of weaving in the institution.

Guffey was granted 30 days leave to study yarn making at Tech, preparatory to introducing that work at the reformatory. Inmates of the institution have shown a great interest in weaving and produce 2,000 to 2,500 yards of homespun a month, used in making suits given to men when they are released from the reformatory, Guffey said.

Designs for the looms were obtained from Tech about two years ago. Problems in the work have been taken to M. E. Heard, head of the Tech textile engineering department, since the work was begun, Guffey said. Tech is the only institution they have found making any development in hand weaving, he said.

H. L. Merry, superintendent of the reformatory, introduced the work at El Reno, which is the only place Guffey knows of at which inmates of a federal institution are weaving material.

Captain Legge Warns Drivers To Place Lights On Vehicles

Capt. W. W. Legge of the highway patrol issued warning Tuesday that persons who operate trailers or wagons without proper rear lights will be arrested.

Captain Legge asked that all persons place burning lights on trailers and wagons during the cotton harvest season, thereby lessening the danger of collisions.

Two mishaps involving wagons and automobiles have occurred in Lubbock county within the past week. Captain Legge said he feared more serious accidents would result unless cotton vehicles are properly lighted.

Failure to obey the law is punishable by fine ranging to $200 and costs.

Workmen returning to a stone quarry near Hoganville, Ga., found their machinery gone and a lake in the quarry's place.

Farm Income In State Gains

Farm And Livestock Production In Texas In 1935 Increased 13 Per Cent; Cotton Money Payments Included

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 6. (AP) — The United States department of agriculture said today gross income from farm and livestock production in Texas last year was estimated at $550,630,000, a 13 per cent gain over 1934. Included was $58,751,000 from government rental and benefit and cotton price adjustment payments.

Gross income from crops, including government payments, amounted to 62 per cent of the total. That from livestock and livestock products made up the remainder.

Gross income from cotton and cotton seed, including government payments, was the largest single item. It amounted to $238,492,000. Milk ranked second at $75,181,000, and cattle and calves third with a gross income of $52,796,000.

McNair Resigns As Pittsburgh Mayor

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6. (AP)—Mayor N. McNair resigned unexpectedly today and returned to the little law office from which he emerged four years ago to become the city's chief executive.

A few hours later city council, at a special meeting, designated its president, Cornelius D. Scully, as mayor. He was immediately sworn in.

McNair's action threw city departments into confusion but paved the way for release of paychecks to thousands of employes who went payless because the city is without a city treasurer.

The mayor dismissed the incumbent, James P. Kirk, several days ago, but council refused to confirm the appointment of his successor, William B. Foster.

Landon Decries News Censorship

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 6. (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon said today the New Deal was employing a "censorship of the source of news" which he said was "just as bad as the censorship of news" itself.

"Harry L. Hopkins has shut off the source of news," the presidential nominee added to a press conference in reply to questions concerning the WPA administrator's statement that relief records were open "to anybody who has a legitimate reason to see them."

Landon said he thought WPA cost records and payrolls "is a public business and the information should be made available to any newspaper."

"I view newspaper publicity as a legitimate purpose," the Republican candidate said. "All public records, of any kind or description, should be open to the newspapers.

"It doesn't make any difference whether or not it should be during a campaign. Censorship of the source of news is just as bad as censorship of the news."

Yankees Crush Last Lingering Hope Of Battle-Worn Giants To Take Series

'Bronx Bombers' Are Blasted Back To Baseball Heights By Salvo Of Basehits, 13 To 5

Whole Page Is Torn Out Of Record Books Tuesday As Junior Leaguers Take Neighbors In Lopsided Tilt

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The New York Yankees blasted their way back to the baseball heights today with a farewell salvo of basehit shrapnel that crushed the last lingering hopes of the battle-worn Giants, and tore another whole page out of the record books.

Riddled by the long-range guns of the American league champions, crippled but still fighting up to the very last with all the resources at their command, the Giants finally crumbled under a ninth-inning barrage that produced seven runs and swept the Yankees to a lopsided conquest, 13 to 5, in the sixth and final game.

Set Flock Of Records

The "Bronx Bombers" emerged with a decisive victory, four games to two, in a series that set a flock of new hitting and scoring records.

The Yankees not only squared accounts with their metropolitan rivals in World series play, with two triumphs for each club in four battles for the game's highest stakes, but registered their fifth championship conquest in eight attempts and their fourth in succession. Following up their sweep of the 1927, 1928 and 1932 battles with the National league, the Yankees now boast a record of 16 games won out of 18 played.

Giants Off in Front

Four pitchers, led by the hard-luck victim of the third game, fat Freddy Fitzsimmons, failed to check the tidal wave of Yankee basehits this afternoon. The Giants got off in front and finally forced their southpaw foe, Vernon (Goffy) Gomez, to cover in the seventh inning, but it was an uphill battle for them nearly all the way.

The National leaguers simply did not have the power to match their rivals and their emergency defense finally came apart in the ninth-inning debacle.

Fitzsimmons Driven Out

The Giants, trailing 3 to 5 after Fitzsimmons had been driven from the box within four innings with a nine-hit five-run assault, lost their big chance to regain command of the ball game in the seventh frame. They came within one run of tying th score when Dick Bartell doubled and Bill Terry belted Gomez for a basehit to center that Joe DiMaggio fumbled for his first misplay of the series.

Gomez gave way to the relief pitching of Johnny Murphy after Hank Leiber sacrificed and Mel Ott walked but the Giants rushed three pinch-hitters into the crisis without being able even to produce the tying run. Hitting for Gus Mancuso, Sambo Leslie, who had hit safely in his two previous turns as a pinch batsman, fouled weakly to Rolfe. Jimmy Ripple, hitting for Burgess Whitehead, walked to fill the bases but Mark Koenig, running in from the bullpen to hit for Travis Jackson, took a third strike with his bat on his shoulder.

Coffman Knocked Out

After blowing this big chance, the Giants folded quickly with a lineup revamped in four positions for the last two innings. Dick Coffman, who relieved Clydell (Slick) Castleman in the box was knocked out in the ninth by the farewell salute.

Thirteen Yankees went to bat in the concluding frame, within two of the World series record. The rookie star, DiMaggio, got two of the five base hits that punctuated the firing off the combined pitching efforts of Coffman and his successor, Harry Gumbert, both righthanders. Gumbert, victim of the six-run drive by the Yankees in the ninth inning of the second game, came in with two on, none out, and three runs already in. He finally retired the side, after four more tallies rattled over the plate.

Equals Old Record

Three bases on balls, together with an error by Catcher Harry Danning on a dropped throw as DiMaggio charged for the plate, contributed to the record run-making splurge of the new World champions in their last turn at bat. Their final total equaled the old record which they had displaced with an 18-4 rout of the Giants in the second game.

All told, at least a dozen World series records were broken or equalled by today's finale. The Yankees displaced a flock of marks for a six-game series in the offensive department. Their aggregate totals of 43 runs and 41 batted in, 65 hits and 49 of of the one-base variety, 26 bases on balls and 96 total bases, all established new records.

Create Attendance Record

The attendance at the Polo grounds for the sixth game was the smallest of the series, with 38,427 cash customers contributing to gate receipts of $169,213, but they were b' enough to create new six-game records in both departments of calculation.

The total attendance of 302,924 displaced the previous six-game mark of 301,430, set by the Yankees and Giants in their last intra-city battle, in 1923. The aggregate receipts of $1,204,399, topped the previous six-game mark of $1,073,794, set by the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs last year, and were the second highest in all series history.

The inclusion of the $100,000 received from radio rights puts the aggregate cash total beyond anything on record. The record "gate" from ticket sales of $1,207,864 was made in 1926 when the Cardinals beat the Yankees in seven games. That was before the club owners discovered they could increase their profits by selling broadcasting privileges.

Single game records for attendance and receipts twice were broken at the Yankee stadium, Saturday and Sunday. New York's 1936 baseball civil war left considerable to be remembered by.

Today's triumph meant the difference between the winners' and losers' share of the gate receipts—nearly $60,000—in addition to the extra spoils for the players from the radio money.

Collecting well over $6,000 per man for their record-smashing exploits, the Yankees put an impressive finish to a year that also saw them blast many a pennant-season record to pieces in their overwhelming march to victory.

The club managed by Marse Joe McCarthy got a good share of the "breaks" in a series that was exciting but not particularly well-played.

The renowned Carl Hubbell, as well as Hal Schumacher and Fred Fitzsimmons, the "Big Three" of Bill Terry's staff, took turns being belted by the "Bronx Bombers."

Gomez, although he didn't go the route, gained his second pitching triumph of the series as his mates put the final crusher on their rivals, while Fitzsimmons was charged with his second defeat.

Mel Ott, the Giants' cleanup hitter, emerged from his slump to slam out a double as well as his first homer of the series, driving in three of his team's five markers. His circuit clout, as well as Joe Moore's, in the eighth, both had the misfortune to come with the bases empty.

Wild Celebration Is Held In Yanks' Dressing Quarters

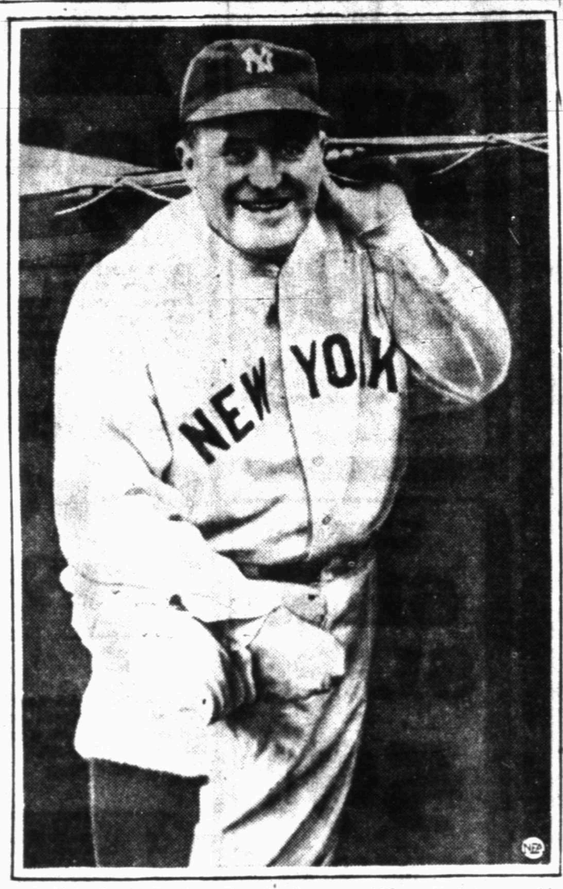

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP) — The hell-bent fury of "murderers' row" that exploded the Giants clear out of their World series trenches in the final inning of the final game increased to a deafening roar as the Yankee mauraders blew their vocal gaskets in a wild dressing room celebration today.

As the Giants wearily started at the big wall separating the dressing rooms of victors and conquered, the new World's champions of baseball turned their clubhouse into a "no man's land," belting each other around and shouting at the top of their lungs while flashlights bulbs and beer bottles popped a merry refrain.

Last in the clubhouse came Manager Joe McCarthy, struggling and fighting his way through his men who halted him at every step to wring his hand and wallop him on the back. But Marse Joe, only pilot to win pennants in both major leagues, went directly to Pitcher Johnny Murphy

"Murphy, I'm proud of you: you were great," congratulated the Yankee boss to the grinning Irishman who held the Giants in check when the going was the toughest. "You won that one for us."

Victory Smile Spreads Over Marse Joe

Buffalo Joe McCarthy, otherwise known as "Marse Joe" has a wide smile on his face in the photo above and after Tuesday's game when his Yankees blasted the Giants out of a World's series, it took on added significance. McCarthy is the only manager in baseball history to win a World series in both the National and American leagues.

Chicago Cubs Of '37 Must Be Colorful Outfit, Owner Wrigley Decrees; Noisy, Battling Crew Wanted; Grimm At Helm

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 6. The Cubs of 1937 must have more color and punch, which Phil K. Wrigley says were all too lacking last season. He demands a noisy, battling team.

After watching his club show only a resemblance, during the late campaign, to the crew that won the 1935 National league title, Owner Wrigley has reached the conclusion that the Cubs need more ball players who get their uniforms dirty in performance of duty. These will be plenty of money for bigger laundry bills—and probably not so much for salaries.

Must Have More Color

To satisfy Wrigley, who regards baseball as a serious business proposition rather than a hobby, the Cubs of 1937 must not only have more punch, but much more color. Instead of the complacent type of athlete, of which he hints, without mentioning any names, there were more than a few, he wants a noisy, battling team.

Charlie Grimm who led the club to the 1935 championship will manage, the Cubs again next year Wrigley says. And Wrigley has given Grimm full authority to use any member of the squad in deals for able, colorful players.

Wants First Baseman

Grimm who will attend the minor league meeting at Montreal, and the major league lobby-standing contest at New York, in December, probably will concentrate on efforts to obtain a first basemen. He is known to yearn for Jim (Ripper) Collins of the St. Louis Cardinals, whom he selected for duty in the all-star game last July. The Cards, fortified with Johnny Mize, are said to be open to inducement.

Cardinal Farms Fare No Better Than Parent Club

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6. (AP)—The injury-racked St. Louis Cardinals, who faltered and stumbled their way into a second-place tie with the Chicago Cubs in the National league, found little solace today in the records of their ten 'farm" teams.

The play of the minor league units offered but slight encouragement for the substantial replacement sadly needed by the Cardinals, who practically fell apart in the stretch drive.

Columbus, Ga., Winner

Little Columbus, Ga., in the Sally league provided the only pennant winner in the far-flung, coast-to-coast system built by Owner Sam Breadon and General Manager Branch Rickey. Columbus after finishing second in the first half of the league's split season, won the second half and beat Jacksonville in the playoff.

Another of the smaller links in the Red Birds' chain, Greensburg, Pa., in the Pennsylvania State association, also finished second in the first half of a split season and first in the second half, but lost in the playoff to Jeannette.

Sacramento Is Last

The Cards' newest addition—Sacramento—finished last by a wide margin, although the team got the praise of W. C. Tuttle, Pacific Coast league president, for its aggressiveness before the season started. Tuttle criticized Rickey for sending "sandlot" and "cast-off" players to represent the California city.

Two seconds and a sixth were the records of the three top farm teams, Rochester, N. Y., defeated Newark in a one-game playoff after both had tied for second place in the International league. In the Shaughnessy system eliminations, however, Rochester lost to Baltimore.

Houston, Tex., finished second in the Texas league and then lost in the Shaughnessy playoffs to Tulsa. Columbus, O., finished sixth in the American association.

A "Time Out" In A Motorcycle Game Is Allowed Only In Case Of Injury Or For Substitution

A "time out" in a motorcycle polo game is allowed only in case of an injury or for a substitution, and the time out lasts no longer than it takes to remove the injured player or for a substitute to get on the field.

Which should be some indication of the speed and constant action of a motor polo game, a standard example of which will be seen Sunday at the Lubbock baseball field when teams of Amarillo and Lubbock open the throttles of ten powerful motorcycles at the same time.

The Amarillo team, sponsored by the Harley Davidson agency there, is moving to Lubbock with serious intent Sunday against a Lubbock Red Shirt club which has never tasted defeat. Two years ago, Lubbock trounced Amarillo for the West Texas championship, then defeated Beaumont's Black Cats, after taking the Fort Worth Panthers, for the state title which sent them into the national tournament at Philadelphia.

Amarillo, with an improved setup, has sent advance word that it's team is out to replace Lubbock as the West Texas leader. In an intra-squad workout last week, the Amarillo team drew a cash crowd f more than a thousand spectators. A slightly smaller crowd jammed the local park Sunday to watch the Red Shirts scrimmage among themselves in a free workout.

Texas Aggies Test Defensive Strength In Drills Tuesday

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 6. (AP) The Texas Aggies tested their defensive strength today as a husky freshman team, drilled in Rice plays, hammered against the varsity eleven, both on the ground and through the air.

The freshmen had fair success at first but later found the going tougher. The Aggies also turned their attention to their offense, polishing up their plays and ending the day with 100-yard sprints.

The Aggies play Rice Saturday.

Westerners' Heels Dogged By Hard Luck

Ineligibility, Weather And Injuries Setting Eleven Back In Preparation For Cleburne Game Friday

Hard luck continued to dog the Westerners yesterday, weather and illness handicapping preparations for Friday night's feature game with Cleburne High school here.

Unable to get much work done in the steady rain, the Westerners huddled about Coaches Chapman, Keyes and Ayers for verbal instruction and pointers. Keyes orated at some length regarding the strength, style and system of the Yellow Jackets from Cleburne, a fast, heavy team which has bowled over its early opposition with ease.

Two Others Are Injured

It leaked out that at least two Westerners are physically handicapped, both of them regulars, and that, on top of the disqualification of Earl Ince, did little to shed cheer among the struggling Westerners.

H. L. Gantz, regular end and one of the most important linemen, has been in Lubbock sanitarium for three days being treated against blood poisoning. He sustained a leg scratch in the game at Abilene, and the wound became infected. It isn't likely that he'll do much playing, if any at all, against Cleburne. Coach Chapman will abide by the doctor's suggestions, which now indicate that Gantz should do nothing more than sit on the bench, if that much.

Babe Ritchie Out

His is the more serious ailment. Babe Ritchie was on the hospital list Monday, suffering from wrenched back and a severe cold which threatened "flu," but was better yesterday. It is probable that he will play against Cleburne.

Chapman was virtually set on his backfield. It appears that Co-Captain C. L. Storrs, who has been calling signals from the fullback, or tailback, position, will continue to do so at the quarterback slot, the blocking position formerly held by Ince. This change sends Max Rutledge from a wingback position to Storrs' old place, and moves Walter Webster, a newcomer to the team, to the wingback. Harold Ingley retains the other wingback slot, of course, and will do a big part of the ball carrying.

Ticket sales faltered yesterday, due to the weather, but should pick up today. Choice seats are going rather fast, and it may be necessary to declare reservations on other than middle sections of the grandstand. The game, fair weather prevailing, should draw one of the largest high school crowds of the season, excepting the November 11 game with Amarillo.

Stiles, Williams Advance In Play

Dr. Hooper Stiles, champion in 1934, defeated Bob Harvey, 2 and 1, yesterday to gain the quarter-final bracket of the Lubbock Country club championship golf tournament. The match, started Monday, was completed in yesterday's rain.

Clyde Williams, who had won his opening round match, advanced to the semi-finals by taking out C. J. Quinlan, 4 and 2.

Other quarter-final matches are to be played today. Cliff Dean meets C. I. Wall, Don Mitchell plays Ted Tipps, and Ralph Trolinger meets Dr. Stiles.

Semi-finals are to be played Thursday and Friday, with Williams playing the winner of the Dean-Wall match.

Small And Mittermeyer May Not Play Against Oklahoma

AUSTIN, Oct. 6. (AP) — Captain Clint Small, center and Heinie Mittermeyer, quarterback, of the University of Texas football team may not see service in the game with Oklahoma university in Dallas Saturday.

Coach Jack Chevigny said today that unless the pair showed improvement from injuries received last week he would not risk them in the Oklahoma game.

Gulf Association Of A.A.U. Is Backing Rafferty In Fight

HOUSTON, Oct. 6. (AP)—Jack Rafferty said today the Gulf association of the A. A. U., which comprises the south half of Texas, was backing him in his fight to keep the 1936 national convention in Houston.

A mail ballot on the proposal to transfer the convention to Chicago will be completed this month.

The proposal to transfer the convention, set for December, was based on the contention Chicago was more centrally located and a meeting there would be less expensive to delegates.

May Be Regular

This bit of action shows Coach Weldon Chapman's new backfield 'find," Walter Webster, 175-pound halfback candidate, who became eligible last week after transferring from Cisco. Webster is a fairly large, considerably fast ball carrier who likes it rough. He is shown shaking off a would-be tackler in a scrimmage at Lubbock High's practice field.

Birmingham, Tulsa Renew Tilt Tonight

Oilers Are Two Up On Barons In Dixie Series; Weather Is More For Football Playing Than Baseball Series

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 6.—Dripping skies and a chill wind made thoughts of baseball a bit incongruous here tonight but the loyal supporters of the Tulsa Oilers were ready nonetheless to turn out in force tomorrow night for the third game of the Dixie series.

The Tulsa club, champions of the Texas league and two games ahead of Birmingham of the Southern association in the Dixies playoff, was due with the Barons early tomorrow morning.

A civic welcome for the two teams was on the program, with the mayor and city dignitaries to be out to greet the teams.

George Darrow, lanky southpaw who won 21 games and lost 7 for the Barons during the regular season, had the pitching assignment for Birmingham.

Marty McManus, manager of the Oilers, hoping to continue the success of the club which has already beat the Barons twice, was expected to send the steady Irv Stein, righthander, to the mound, though there was a chance he might call on Clarence Pickrel, a young righthander who has been laid up with an illness, to start the pitching for Tulsa.

Georgia And Louisiana State To Tear Off Wraps Saturday

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 6. (AP) Georgia and Louisiana State university will tear the wrapping off their bids for 1936 Southeastern conference grid distinction here Saturday night in one of the nation's major games.

Louisiana State will be defending its title. Both will be hungry for victory but should line up for the kick-off in different frames of mind.

Successful in two non-conference starts, Georgia has produced the impression locally that it has been going under wraps and has a better team than it has displayed.

On the other hand, Louisiana State while making a fine showing in defeating Rice in its opener, slowed down and was held to a tie by Texas.

Country Club Purchased By Louisiana State; Functions Are To Be Presented There

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 6. (AP) —Louisiana State university, to which the late Huey P. Long brought big buildings, and colorful football teams, is going to buy a complete country club.

The board of supervisors authorized the purchase for $25,000 of the Westdale Country club with is specious golf course, modern clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis courts and other equipment.

Dr. James M. Smith, university president, said the purchase was made primarily to obtain a golf course for the use of students. Social functions would also be held on the property.

MAY USE RESERVES

WACO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Reserves may replace some of the first-stringers in Baylor's starting lineup against Arkansas Saturday, Coach Morley Jennings indicated today.

Tech Players Drill In Rain For Wichita U.

Steady Drizzle Fails To Halt Practice; Team Is To Be Put To Stern Test Friday Night Against Kansans

A steady drizzle cut short but did not cancel Texas Tech's scheduled defensive drill yesterday as the Red Raiders made additional preparation for Friday night's battle in Wichita, Kansas, against the Wichita university Wheatshockers.

For approximately an hour Cawthon and Smith hustled their charges through a stiff workout, some of it in the form of a scrimmage against Coach Berl Huffman's freshmen, who had been learning Wichita plays as brought back by Tech scouts.

Anticipate Tough Contest

Anticipating one of their toughest games, and probably the roughest, Tech coaches confided yesterday, "If we can go against Wichita, on the Wheatshockers' own field, we can go against almost anybody."

Tech usually turns up with a better road team than a home club, although there have been instances when this did not seem the case. They will be put to a stern test Friday night at Wichita, and it appears that most of the players are realizing that promise.

One Of Strongest In Area

The Municipal University of Wichita has one of the strongest teams in the Central Collegiate Athletic conference. The Wheatshockers won the title in 1932 and 1933 after tying for first place in 1931. They finished last year in a tie for first place with the Fort Hays Teachers, after scoring 92 points against 76 for the opposition, and losing only three games, one of them in the conference to the Fort Hays team.

Texas Tech gained a 13 to 7 victory over the Shockers last year, and some experts thought they were lucky to win it. The game was one of the most colorful football displays of the home season.

Tech will be gunning for its fourth straight victory of the season Friday night, while the Wheatshockers will be trying for their first. The Tech game has long since been put down on the Wheatshocker and Wichita list as the feature contest of the season, and information from Kansas indicates a complete sell-out for the game.

Nordy Hoffman, line coach at Wichita who scouted Texas Tech against OCU last week, said all reserved seat tickets already had been sold, and that additional bleachers had been ordered for the game.

Mustangs Are To Leave Today For Tilt With Rams

DALLAS, Oct. 6. (AP)—The Southern Methodist university Mustangs, headed by Coach Matty Bell, will board a train here tomorrow afternoon for New York City where they meet the powerful Fordham Rams Saturday in a game at the Polo grounds.

The squad will stop in Indianapolis Thursday for a workout. A practice session will be held at the Polo grounds Friday in the afternoon.

Coach Bell put his charges through a heavy workout today and plans a lighter one just before train time tomorrow.

Between 150 and 200 rooters will accompany the team.

KITTS LOCKS GATES

HOUSTON, Oct. 6. (AP) — Coach Jimmy Kitts moved his Rice Owls behind locked gates today for secret drills in preparation for the game here Saturday with the Texas Aggies. Kitts said all drills the rest of the week would be secret.

TROJANS START TREK

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6 (AP)—University of Southern California football delegation, including 38 Trojan players and nearly 100 ardent fans, was set to leave here late today for Champaign and the intersectional game with Illinois Saturday. The Trojans will work out tomorrow at El Paso.

A Good Indian

Here's a new picture study of Yaqui Joe's stolid countenance. The swarthy Aztec clashes with unshaven Gene La Belle tonight in the main go at Sled Allen's wrestling show.

Yaqui Joe And La Belle Meet In Mat Event

Sonora Indian To Tangle Up With Bad Frenchman Tonight At Auditorium; Other Two Matches Promise Action

THE STARTING LINEUPS

Preliminary — Dale Haddock, Detroit, vs. Bob Cummings, San Francisco. One fall or 20 minutes.

Semi-final — Dory Detton, Salt Lake City, vs. Joe Bauer, Milwaukee. One fall of 30 minutes.

Main event — Yaqui Joe, Sonora, Mexico, vs. Gene La Belle, Montreal. Two out of three falls or 2-hour time limit.

Time — 8 o'clock.

It must be a good wrestling card that has Dale Haddock and Bob Cummings on the preliminary and Dory Detton on the semi-final. Such a supporting cast should have a lively main event to back it up, and Yaqui Joe versus Gene La Belle ought to fill the bill.

Some think La Belle does not rate continued main event slots, since he has lost his two last starts. But he's one of the hardest working grapplers in the circuit, as well as one of the most colorful and bloodthirsty. His venomuos attack is most unpopular with the fans, who despise him along with Sailor Tex Watkins and Danny McShain. But he's drawing card, nevertheless, and he makes his opponents do some tall stepping to keep up with him. He "nearly" wins every time he gets into the ring. He whipped Herb Parks to a bloody pulp last week, only to run in for the kill, thereby colliding with a knockout kick by Parks, when he should have waited for a natural death.

Joe Must Snap Out Of It

Yaqui Joe, so sure of himself that he has adopted the habit of toying with his opponents and drifting along in a manner that makes him appear slow, must snap out of it if he takes La Belle tonight. Because he is tougher, more experienced and a careful fighter, and because of the great strength in his wiry legs, the Indian rules a slight favorite, but the edge is little.

On the semi-final is the younger brother of the world's heavyweight wrestling champion. Dean Detton, largest of the Detton wrestling family of Salt Lake, defeated Champion Dave Leven last week to capture the most popular heavyweight championship, although several other grapplers claim the title. Dory Detton, most agile of the Dettons, finds the middleweight hill a little harder to scale, but he gave the world's champion a great battle two summers ago. Dory should take Joe Bauer, the stomping German, within thirty minutes if he applies himself, although Joseph is nobody's chump in a real wrestling match. He has his

On This 'Newer Diplomacy'

AFTER the World war we heard much of the New Diplomacy—open covenants openly arrived at and all that sort of thing. Today we have a Newer Diplomacy of which the dictatorships are examples. This Newer Diplomacy is notable principally for the casual and emphatic way in which statesmen of high rank publicly insult other nations.

Nazi Germany might be called the torch-bearer of the Newer Diplomacy. Certainly Adolf Hitler lighted the way for the other Newer Diplomats when, at Nurnberg, he termed Bolshevism "World Enemy No. 1." Maxim Litvinov, Soviet Russia's commissar for foreign affairs, is not going to let Hitler carry away all the honors of the Newer Diplomacy. Maxim is a man of mettle. Addressing the League of Nations assembly at Geneva, he said of Naziism and Fascism:

"They are the deadly enemies of all working people and of civilization."

From the viewpoint of the Newer Diplomacy, that was a fairly graceful comeback. Litvinov might have said more, of course. But he didn't, because Soviet Russia's government disdains reply to insults, "not only with disgust at the sources of these insults, but mainly because it wishes to leave to others the responsibility for all consequences of the breaches in elementary rules of behavior between peoples."

So M. Litvinov's venture into the Newer Diplomacy apparently was simply for the purpose of showing what he could do if he wanted to. One gathers from his lofty comment, however, that Soviet diplomats still are committed to politeness, no matter how much it hurts.

Meanwhile, intelligent Americans will insist that their own nation steer clear of this Newer Diplomacy, together with Communism and Fascism, those two forms of government under which it appears most to flourish.

IN DARKEST D. C.

A. W. Gilliam of Washington, D. C., is an effectionate husband. He kisses his wife when he feels so inclined which is not infrequently. The other night he felt so inclined while the Gilliams were in their car parked in front of their home.

At the moment of exchange of the conjugal caress, two policemen stuck their heads into the Gilliam car and wanted to know what was going on. Mr. Gilliam replied that he was kissing his wife and inquired what, if anything, it was to the cops. One of the latter said Mr. Gilliam looked like a suspicious character. Mrs. Gilliam wept. Mr. Gilliam told the cops just what he thought they were and what their ancestors were before them. Then the patrol wagon came.

And now Mr. Gilliam wants a judicial determination of two questions: First, is it lawful for a man to kiss his own wife in the District of Columbia? Second, is it lawful for Washington policemen to poke their noses not only into peaceful citizens' cars but also into peaceful citizens' family circles?

Unless Mr. Gilliam gets satisfactory answers to both questions, we think he would be justified in expatriating himself from the District of Columbia until such time as its residents are emancipated.

Further, we are glad to have this proof that there are still men who enjoy kissing their own wives—and regardless of conditions, doing it frequently!

WITH OUR CONTEMPORARIES

"We are holding a grudge against Charlie Guy, chief pencil pusher of the Avalanche-Journal," say the Richardses in the Ropes Plainsman. "Everytime he quotes this paper, he winds up by saying: 'says Editor A. M. Richards of the Ropes Plainsman'. Say, Charlie, there are two of us birds over here. Yea, and we happened to be twins." (No wonder your dad finally got rid of you two birds over at Anton. Don't see how he has put up with you as long as he did. Well, we live and learn; P. M. as you say A. M. is gone this week.)

"Opal Smith, in her shoppe, using high powered salesmanship on one of her gentlemen customers: 'These stockings are the very latest fall shades, hole proof, run proof, and priced far lower than elsewhere, and a very good yarn'," reports Jess Mitchell in the Muleshoe Journal. "Yes," he replied, "and you tell it well."

Today's One-Minute Sermon

I will sing unto the Lord as long as I live: I will sing praise to my God while I have my being.

My mediation of him shall be sweet: I will be glad in the Lord.

Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and let the wicked be no more. Bless thou the Lord, O my soul. Praise ye the Lord.—Psalms CIV: 33-35.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KAY DUNN, pretty airplane stewardess, falls in love with TED GRAHAM, veteran pilot who flies the trans-Pacific route.

Ted has two interests in life—his job and DICKIE, his adopted son, 7 years old. When Ted asks Kay to marry him, she fears it is merely to make a hom fore Dicki, but she agrees.

She does not agree, though, with Ted's theories that marriage, to be successful, must be planned scientifically, just as a plane flight. She is rebellious because he insists her housekeeping must be carried on in the same way, with charts and budgets.

They have their first quarrel when Kay hears that Ted has lectured MONTE BLAINE, another pilot. Kay believes it is because she and Monte went dancing together.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVIII

THE first quarrel of Kay's and Ted's married life ended in a reconciliation, but it left its mark. Ted promised to spend more time at home when he was in port and Kay agreed she had not meant her angry words. But the conflict was still in their hearts. Kay knew it and Ted knew it. She could see it in his eyes when he kissed her goodby before his next trans-Pacific flight.

For several days after he had gone she was strangely quiet. She would sit for hours, gazing across the distant reaches of the bay. Finally, after a struggle, she took up life again as it had been in the little house on the sands. She was less tense than before. She had stopped worrying about Dickie and had become his partner. They plotted adventures together—usually at night after Dickie had on his pajamas, ready for bed.

The child talked less and less about his mythical brother and soon seemed to have forgotten him. Dickie had so many real friends now he didn't need to imagine them. He and Kay spent gay afternoons on the beach, at the airport, at the little cabin in the San Carlos valley.

Occasionally Kay had guests from the flying colony at the cabin. Doris would come with Ralph Bangs when their differences were sufficiently composed. The colony was a compact little group now.

Monte Blaine seemed to avoid Kay. He had received his promotion from apprentice pilot to pilot, and everybody was pleased. Throughout the spring nothing disturbed the tranquility of the colony except the occasional ripples of gossip at bridge.

"So-and-so saw Digger in Honolulu last week, and he was with a pretty girl. Buzz. Buzz."

In this way a rumor reached Kay's ears, third or fourth hand, that Ted had been seen in Honolulu with a foreign girl called Iliah.

It was, Kay felt sure, the same Iliah she had met on her honeymoon in the Orient almost a year before. The news was no reassuring to a lonely wife's peace of mind.

But Kay laughed off the tale. Doris had repeated it to her before some others, and Kay tried resolutely to show them that she wasn't a silly, jealous woman.

"That's a long grind at the controls, from port to port," she said. "Of course Ted dances at the hotels when he is in port. Why shouldn't he? He has to stay keen for his work."

"And what about the wife's job at home?" Doris said, laughing. "Doesn't she have to have relaxation to stay keen for such a man?"

Everybody laughed, dismissing the incident lightly, but, deep in her heart, Kay faced a struggle.

The look Iliah had given her in Manila on the honeymoon was neatly and precisely closeted in her mind. The reappearance of this woman was going to be a severe challenge to Kay's faith in Ted.

She long had anticipated her wedding anniversary. For weeks she had counted the days, even the hours. Ted was due from Hawaii the day before the anniversary, and Kay planned a little dinner for them, alone, even excluding Dickie. She spent hours on the menu, and did most of the cooking herself.

Then she went happily down to the landing to see the Mariner come in. But Ted did not walk down the gangplank with the crew of six. The acting captain handed her his letter.

Kay read it through a mist of tears. He had been detained at the company's office in Honolulu. He needed some advice from an expert there on a feature of his gyropilot. He was coming in on the next plane, a few days later.

And he had forgotten their first wedding anniversary! He didn't even mention it.

At home Kay cried a little. Then Doris came in with Ralph Bangs and an invitation to a gay party.

Doris tried to console her friend. "It's too bad," she said, "about Ted being held up in Honolulu. I remembered it was your wedding anniversary, and we were going to surprise you both with a party tonight."

Even Doris had remembered the date!

"We're going to dance at the Presidio," Doris said.

Kay smiled at them, holding her arms wide. "But to dance at the Presidio I have to have a man."

"That's easy," Doris advised. "We'll call up Monte. Poor Monte! Since he was promoted to a pilot he's been as dead as a stick! I think he's afraid of that husband of yours."

Suddenly Kay's eyes danced with an inner fire. She picked up the telephone book, and searched for Monte's number.

"This is Kay," she said when the husky masuline voice answered over the wire. "Remember? We used to dance together in the good old days—before the war?"

"Which war?" Monte said, laughing. "I can't keep track of them."

"Monte!" Her voice rebuked him. "Ted was held up in Honolulu and Doris and Ralph are here with talk about a party. Why don't you come over and go with us?"

"With you? he said. His voice was eager.

"Yes. To dance."

"I'll be right over!" he said.

At the Presidio they met the army crowd. It was like the aviation colony, on a larger scale—a compact group in which everybody knew everybody else. Gossip flew. There were people there who were as familiar with Honolulu and Manila as with Chicago or New York. Many of the officers' wives had flown to far-flung army posts with Ted Graham as pilot. They were anxious to meet his wife.

Kay liked her new acquaintances. She loved the glitter of spurs and the uniforms. She liked to dance with the officers.

But, most of all, tonight she enjoyed Monte Blaine. His spirits were high. He was easily the handsomest man in the room. Many of the older women, solicitous for their unmarried daughters, cast acquisitive eyes in his direction.

"Who is that remarkable young man dancing with the red-headed girl? Buzz! Buzz!" Lorgnettes clicked. Fans halted in mid-air.

"My dear, that is Ted Graham's wife."

"She knows how to pick them, all right. What an extraordinary combination—red hair and green eyes."

Kay was dancing near by and could hear every word. She wondered why gossipers so often fail to realize how loudly their voices carry.

But all at once Kay's eyes became as still as china eyes. Her fingers tightened in Monte's arm and she couldn't help but listen.

"I suppose she has the right to dance with this gay young fellow," a voice at her right said. "I flew with Ted Graham from Honolulu th last time, my dear. He is always dancing in the islands with that woman. You've seen her! That horribly rich young widow, Rosalind Kruger. So terribly attractive and so smart!"

"My dear, my husband once said that Rosalind Kruger was a menace to the army and navy both."

"She makes a race-track, back and forth, of the Pacific. You never know where she's going to appear next, but she's been concentrating lately on Ted Graham. I feel sorry for his poor little wife. Rosalind Kruger is so dazzling."

Kay leaned against Monte for an instant. Something closed over her heart and squeezed it mercilessly. She felt a little faint. Her hands were leaden.

"Monte, let's go out in the cool," she said. "I need fresh air. A cigaret."

She hurried down the terrace steps into the dark. She didn't want anybody to see what was going on behind the mask of her face.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

NEW DEALERS are bracing themselves against the shock of the mailbox offensive which cetrain industrialists will deliver against FDR in the waning weeks of the campaign.

Though details are secret, the last minute attack will resemble Mark Hanna's tactics except that it will be modified to escape new laws banning coercion of workers. It will consist of letters to millions of shareholders, customers and dealers suggesting that Rooseveltian policies will eventually reduce their income, business and orders. Letters already in circulation don't mention FDR, but indirectly deplore his theories. It is estimated that more than 40,000,900 such warnings (that exceeds the total vote cast in '32) will be sent out before election day.

Principal sponsors so far are the National Association of Manufacturers and Felix du Pont, but the idea is spreading. Original plans contemplated enlistment of banks and insurance companies, but they have lately cooled toward the idea of political solicitation of depositors and policy holders.

DEAD: Anti-trust prosecutions strategically scheduled before election day will not come off for the simple reason that there are no victims in sight.

Department of Justice dockets bulge with complaints of violations of the Sherman and Clayton acts. But official investigation usually discloses that manufacturers and business men are using the law as a nice, polite sort of commercial blackmail. Here's how it works: When a powerful corporation threatens to encroach on a little fellow's prices or territory, the latter calls out Uncle Sam's anti-trust detectives. The game is to frighten the trust-breaking company into buying off his littler competitor at a fancy price, or to scare the invader into retreat. If this strategy succeeds, the complainant immediately withdraws his charges or refuses to furnish evidence to support them.

Numerous judicial decisions and legal devices—fixing prices by unwritten agreements, corporate domination of markets, allocation of territory by private understandings—have virtually killed off competition and made a dead letter of the anti-trust laws. Advanced legalites insist that they need wholesale overhauling.

WHITES: By solemn decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, Adolf Hitler's crusade to make the world safe for "Aryan" and "Caucasian" peoples has no standing in court. It is illegal, unconstitutional and unscientific by decree of a most conservative jurist—Associate Justice Sutherland.

The opinion was exhumed from the files by a lawyer who has a racial and sentimental interest in Herr Hitler's anti-Jewish policies. It was delivered in 1923—a decade before Der Fuehrer's seizure of power. It upset a lower court's ruling that a high caste Hindu was entitled to citizenship because scientists had held his race to be of "Aryan" stock.

"The Aryan theory as a racial basis," declared Justice Sutherland, "seems to be discredited by most, if not all, modern writers on the subject of ethnology . . . The word 'Caucasian' is in scarcely better repute." The court then pointed out that some classifications include Hindus, Samoans, Hawaiians, and Ethiopians (Haile Selassie will be glad to know that) among the "white races."

LESSON: For two years the American government has entertained and edified civil aviation officials of South American countries in an effort to open their markets to our airplane products.

So far the missionary work has produced no orders that would not have been forthcoming without solicitation. European nations, especially Italy and Germany are capturing the South American field. The Latin pilots prefer our planes, but it's the higher-ups who do the purchasing. And as our bond salesmen discovered in the 'twenties', it's necessary to grease a few palms to do business. Foreign competitors are less scrupulous about this custom than American traders.

Our manufacturers also demand cash (they are still owed $800,000 by one nation), whereas the Italians and Germans advance credit or accept goods in payment. It may be hard on Promoter Daniel C. Roper but it means that Yankee producers have learned a few lessons since the days when they loaned money to finance purchase of their goods—and then couldn't collect the loans or recover their property.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

SECOND thoughts by high financial sources on monetary realignments arising from French devaluation inspire the following predictions:

(1) That the steady flow of gold into the United States from abroad—which has enormously expanded our credit base in the past year—will now dry up.

(2) That there may be some reversal of the gold movement, but exports of the metal to Europe will be small and tentative for many months.

(3) That it won't hurt us in the least if we do lose a lot of the metal in this manner. Our present supply is far in excess of all reasonable requirements.

(4) That our money rates will have to stiffen if we are to cooperate constructively for de facto stabilization.

(5) That this tendency could bring about a marked decline in low yield bonds—including governments.

(6) That Britain will try to wangle a readjustment which would value the pound more cheaply in terms of the dollar—perhaps around $4.50—as a condition of cooperation to stabilize.

(7) That Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Morgenthau will not be impressed by British sales talk along this line.

(8) And that anyone who seriously believes France is going to pay something on her war debt to the U. S. as a result of these monetary maneuvers could give Pollyanna cards and spades.

REALIST: New York sharps suggest keeping an eye on Robert H. Jackson as on his way to national political prominence. Mr. Jackson has the confidence of his superiors in the administration and is being given increasing opportunity to show what he can do. For instance, he was personally entrusted with the task of drafting the New York State Democratic platform—a document of substantical importance to the national as well as the state campaign.

Some months ago there was considerable talk—as we reported at the time—of substituting Jackson for Lieutenant Governor William Bray on the New York Democratic ticket this year. It was felt that he would be a far more suitable crown prince for Governor Lehman than the incumbent, being heartily in accord with New Deal principles. The governor himself is said to have viewed the proposal favorably. However, it turned out to be politically inexpedient and was dropped.

It is worth noting that Jackson himself was realistic enough to realize it would never do. He opposed it privately from the beginning and his advice was quite a factor in the decision to abandon it. He will be given a chance to make a name for himself as assistant attorney general. Lawyers who should know say he has done an astute job in his preparation of the government's case against Electric Bond & Share.

Lubbock To Be Host To 1937 West Texas School Band And Orchestra Contests In Early Part Of May

Lubbock will be host to the 1937 West Texas school band and orchestra contests, which will attract from 2,000 to 2,500 students here the first week-end in May, said D. O. Wiley, director of the Texas Technological college band.

Wiley and H. A. Anderson, director of the local high school band, went to Big Spring Sunday to attend a meeting of band leaders of the West Texas division and to extend an invitation for the contests to be held here. Sweetwater and Abilene also were seeking to be host to the contests.

About 40 bands of West Texas likely will enter the contests, said Wiley. The contests were held in Lubbock in 1935.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, No. 63

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The captive Tarzan did not fear death, for the Grim Shadow was his daily companion. His regret was that if he died now, there would be no one to combat the Leopard Men, that clan of jungle gangsters who terrorized and extorted tribute from peaceful people.

The keen-eyed Jungle Lord watched every opportunity as the men monsters marched him and The Kid at high speed through the forest; but not once did fate offer him a chance to escape by the exercise of his quick wits and strong muscles. Fortune had deserted him . . .

. . . Nor were his would-be rescuers making any progress. Old Timer quickly lost the trail of the Leopard Men. He was a poor tracker. His centuries-old heritage of civilization had robbed him of the faculty by which the beasts and primitive men trail their quarry. . . .

. . . Tarzan's black friend Orando, accompanied by Nkima the monkey, followed the trail easily enough. But the warrior knew it was useless to pit his lone strength against the army of Leopard Men, who wielded with fanatic fury the dreadful Talons of Death.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT
NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—Buying demand spread over the stock market today and selected issues sprouted gains of fractions to 3 points generally with a few jumping ahead as much as 7 or so.

Buoyed by optimistic economic developments at home and improved sentiment regarding monetary readjustments abroad, many favorites pushed into new high territory for the past 5 or 6 years.

Well out in front of the advance were farm implements, aircrafts, oils and a wide assortment of specialties. Several rails came forward in the final few minutes of trading, but most of these, along with leading motors, steels, alcohols and utilities held to a comparatively slim groove.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .6 of a point at 70.4, a new top since May 8, 1931. Transfers amounted to 2,256,520 shares against 2,082,180 yesterday.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—Cotton sagged slowly from slight early rallies today under a moderate volume of hedge selling.

December sold off from 12.04@11.90 and ended at the low with the market barely steady at net losses of 8 to 12 points.

The market opened 2 points higher to 2 points lower and rallied to net gains of 1 to 5 points before halting. October liquidation influenced by the circulation of notices against 7,800 bale, local and New Orleans selling supplied contracts on the decline. Final prices were about for the lows of the day.

Another private crop report indicated production of 11,536,000 bales against 11,887,000 by the same authority last month and a condition of 59.9 against 62.1 a month ago.

The average of five reports thus far is 11,504,000 bales against 11,770,000 at the end of the August.

Exports today 37,219, making a total of 923,947 for the season. Port receipts 55,581. U. S. port stocks 2,040,469.

AVERAGE PRICE
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 12.09 cents a pound.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6. (AP)—Cotton sold off 50 cents a bale today.

The decline occurred almost entirely in the last hour after the market had held within a point or so of previous closing levels for most of the session. An increase in hedging and reports that the American Cotton Cooperative association was out with a crop estimate of 11,900,000 bales was said to be partially behind the decline.

Officials of the American Cotton Cooperatives refused to confirm or deny this estimate, however.

Weather developments offered little change. Higher temperatures in the northern half of the belt was considered favorable, as this region is always the first to feel frosts.

Dec. closed at New Orleans at 11.88, Jan. at 11.87, March at 11.87 and May at 11.84. The average spot price was 11 points lower with middling at 10 markets at 12.09.

Dale Haddock hit town Monday after a summer and early fall on the West coast. He's a main eventer in anybody's arena, and before he left this circuit several months ago he had gained the top rung. He faces a good wrestler, and a clever and clean one, in his new start here. Bob Cummings has been near the top for nearly two years.

Norther, Sand Strike

A norther brushed the mercury down to 53 degrees at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. A strong gale blew out of the north. Sand was sifted with it.

Rainfall, estimated to have been approximately .10 inch at Lubbock, fell in the afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. Damage to cotton was certain. Farmers need all the hot weather they can get between now and the first of November in order to harvest opening cotton.

Cotton Stripped In Brady Section

BRADY, Oct. 6. (AP)—Hail stripped several hundred acres of cotton and feed crops and damaged automobile tops and roofs in McCulloch county today.

The hailstorm cut a diagonal swath estimated at four to five miles wide across the county from Melvin to Voca. Some of the hail stones that fell here were two inches in diameter.

COLEMAN, Oct. 6. (AP)—A heavy rain, accompanied by lightning and hail, fell in this section today. No damage was reported but cotton picking will be delayed.

Hapsburg Ascension Revived After Premier Goemboes Dies

BUDAPEST, Oct. 6. (AP)—With the death today of Premier Julius Goemboes, legitimists who hope to see Archduke Otto or some other member of the Hapsburg family on the Hungarian throne saw revival of their prospects.

The premier, known throughout the land as the man who stopped at attempted return of former Emperor Charles and Empress Zita to the throne in 1921, died in a sanitarium at Nymphenburg, near Munich, Germany. He was 50 years old. He had been ill for a month.

WELL IS AFIRE
EDINBURG, Oct. 6. (AP) — The blazing Pantano Petroleum company Speed No. 1 R. E. Harding oil well continued unchecked tonight.

The well caught fire yesterday as a crew sought to stop a wild flow of oil and gas. A crater about the well now covers nearly an acre, observers said.

REQUESTS EXTRADITION
BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 6. (AP)—Governor Richard W. Leche requested extradition of Charlie Frazier, notorious desperado now in the Texas penitentiary, late today on a charge of murdering a camp captain in a break from the Louisiana penitentiary three years ago.

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Big export purchasing in Canada that totaled more than 2,000,000 bushels, helped much to hoist wheat values today.

Topmost quotations since 1930 were reached for October delivery of wheat at Liverpool. Something of a stimulus came also from reports that domestic stocks of flour are running unusually low.

Wheat in Chicago closed firm, ⅜ to ⅞ above yesterday's finish, Dec. 1.14¼@1.14⅜, May 1.12⅜@1.12½, July 98⅜@98½, corn ½ to ⅝ up, Dec. 94⅜@94½, May 90⅛, July 86⅝, oats ½ to ⅝ advanced, Dec. 41⅝, and rye showing ¼ to ⅜ gain, Dec. 81⅞.

Wet weather in the corn belt tended to give independent firmness to corn values and to oats. The moisture was looked upon as likely to retard picking of the new crop. Offerings of rye proved meager.

Provisions were steadier by action of grains.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 6. (AP)—Demand for corn was slightly improved at Fort Worth today but other grains were still quiet.

cult for Mr. Elliott Roosevelt to accept in view of the president's disputes with Wall Street at the time."

Stopped Payment On Check

Tiffany eventually stopped payment on the check, the deposition said, when it was neither cashed nor returned.

The agreement with Elliott Roosevelt was dated February 28, 1934, the affidavit said, and "covered the expected sale of 50 military airplanes of Lockheed make to Russia at an expected price to allow a commission of $500,000 to himself (Fokker) and $500,000 to Elliott Roosevelt."

Fokker was quoted as saying he had entered the agreement with Elliott Roosevelt after discovering he could not procure an exclusive sales agency for Russia from the Douglas Aircraft company "because it had been given to Mr. Elliott Roosevelt and certain partners in business with him."

Released Because Of Charges

Questioned concerning the reason for making the deposition public at this time, committee officials said Chairman Nye had ordered its release as a result of published charges the committee was withholding information from the public.

Fokker's agent was quoted as saying he desired Elliott Roosevelt to travel abroad with him in an effort to sell airplanes to various governments "counting on the willingness of high foreign officials to receive Mr. Roosevelt as the son of the American president."

Arrangement Fell Through

This arrangement fell through, the Fokker agent reported, according to affidavit, after Elliott had discussed the plan by telephone with the president and "had been told by the president that he had objection to Mr. Elliott Roosevelt's traveling abroad in this connection, but had approved the contract with Mr. Fokker."

During Tiffany's questioning, the deposition said, he stated he had been called upon by "Franklin K. Lane, jr., son of a former cabinet member" (Franklin K. Lane was secretary of interior in the Wilson administration), representing Elliott Roosevelt and Stratton.

Fokker was quoted as saying he had not dealt with Lane "or anyone else in political life" except Roosevelt.

Fokker stated his agreement with Elliott Roosevelt was dated February 28, 1934. His deposition was signed September 18, 1935.

W. B. Lee Is Gun Victim

Popular Spur Banker Accidentally Shot While On Hunt Near Spur Tuesday Morning; Had Tried To Unjam Gun

person having business with Mr. Lee disclosed he was not in town. Mrs. Lee presumed he had either extended his tour for the morning, had car trouble, or had eaten downtown.

While verifying Mr. Lee's visit to his farm, the party met Mr. Link and Mr. James, who joined in the search and proceeded in the opposite direction. They ran upon a tudor sedan which resembled that of Mr. Lee's, but were unable to find any identification papers in the vehicle. It had been parked there before 8 o'clock, said C. D. Copeland, farmer living 10 miles east of Spur, who had passed around the vehicle twice.

Body Brought To Spur

The five men left for that scene when a check at Spur revealed the ownership of the car. The body was brought here by Webber Williams, undertaker.

Funeral services are to be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Church of Christ. Burial will be in Spur cemetery. Other arrangements had not been completed last night.

The bank will not transact business Wednesday, although officers of the institution will be available for consultation, and will be closed Thursday, day of the funeral.

Had Active Career

A long list of community, district and state services had been rendered during the life-time of Mr. Lee.

He was born in West Texas, at Hamilton, May 27, 1881, the son of parents who were farmers. He was graduated from high school and later attended a business college at Waco.

From 1901 to 1920, he was connected with a bank at Rochester and became cashier and vice-president.

Called here in 1920 as president of the Spur National bank, which in 1933 became the Spur Security bank, Mr. Lee launched into a program of wide-spread activities.

Member Of ACC Directorate

At the time of his death he was a member of the board of directors of the Abilene Christian college, was an outstanding member of the Texas Bankers association, was active in promoting better dairy cattle stock in the county and area, and was active in church work as an elder of the Church of Christ here.

For several years he was chairman of the agricultural committee of the state bankers' association and had appeared on many convention programs in addition to making trips to the state and national capitals to further that work.

Filled Many Offices

He was a past president of the South Plains Bankers' association, of the Spur Chamber of Commerce, and of the Spur Rotary club.

As a banker, he took advantage of his position to extend financial assistance to members of vocational agricultural clubs in securing choice breeding stock.

Also as a banker, his reputation was outstanding. Although frequently offered the opportunity of going to a "city" bank, he declined. Friends said his heart-felt interest in agricultural developments overshadowed that of better salary and advancement. He preferred "country" banking.

Member Of Local Lodge

Mr. Lee also held membership in the Spur Blue lodge and chapter of the Masonic organization, and was a member of the Lubbock Knight Templars.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, W. B., jr., married, with the Gulf Petroleum company geophysics department in Louisiana; Pershing an end on the Spur High school football team; and Charles, 3 years old; two daughters, Anne, graduate of Abilene Christian college and his stenographer at the bank, and Reginia, high school student; and two brothers, E. Sturman Lee, of the Spur bank, and Virgil P. Lee, vice-president of the Production Credit corporation at Houston.

raising until the house passed some sort of bill.

To Consider Tax Bill

The house perhaps will start consideration tomorrow of an omnibus tax.

The senate passed and sent to the house a bill to abolish the permanent old age pension fund and transfer its $446,000 to the available pension fund.

Senators withheld confirmation of Governor Allred's recess appointments of the three members of the state liquor board, the five members of the Guadalupe-Blanco river authority, and G. Fred Turner of Cooper to the barber board. All other appointments, numbering more than 70, were confirmed.

Investigating Liquor Board

The governor's nominations committee was investigating policies of two of the liquor board members. The members of the Guadalupe-Blanco river authority were expected to be confirmed after the return of five senators who were absent for the funeral of Senator Ernest Pellbaum of San Antonio.

A resolution by Senator W. R. Poage of Waco urging President Roosevelt to make immediately available $30,000,000 PWA allocated to the Brazos river flood control project was unanimously adopted by the senate.

The senate labor committee reported favorably a bill by Senator Allan Shivers of Port Arthur setting up an unemployment compensation system under the federal social security act. The house already had passed a similar bill.

In discussion, Poage said the state organization would be "run by the social security board at Washington" and restrictions might even limit the governor's choice of appointments for the executive commission.

bock knew no banker loved more by fellow bankers. It was with deep regret that news of his death was received."

At Spur, business leaders and acquaintances of Mr. Lee were stunned by his death.

Clifford B. Jones, widely-known citizen and vice president of the Spur bank among other activities, declared, "If ever platitudes apply to anyone, they certainly apply to W. B. Lee."

State Officials Send Regrets

Charles Lockhart, state treasurer, Zeta Gossett, commissioner of banking, and H. C. Burke, vice president of the Continental National bank of Fort Worth, had telephoned the office of Mr. Jones last night seeking more details of the mishap, learned while they were together in a hotel room at Austin.

In a statement made for publication, Treasurer Lockhart said, "I feel very sorely at the loss of this man. Being from West Texas, in particular, I have been very closely allied with him and extend heartfelt sympathy to his family. There's not a better man in West Texas."

Mr. Gossett declared: "I have known Walter Lee for many years as a personal friend. All through these years not only myself but bankers of the state have considered him very active in affairs of the Texas Bankers' association. Particularly was he active in the work of the agricultural committee and on a great many programs of the association in its district and state work. We have all looked to his advice and counsel with reverence and respect. We considered Walter Lee an outstanding man and banker."

Other tributes were paid by Mayor E. J. Cowan, George S. Link, a director of the bank; District Attorney Alton B. Chapman, James B. Reed, Dickens county National Farm Loan association representative, and M. C. Golding, merchant.

Said Mayor Cowan, "It's useless to say that his dealings have been of the very highest type. He was well-liked as a citizen of the community, was very prominent in business and social affairs, and was a leader in civic improvements."

Mr. Link stated, "I never saw him fail in an undertaking. He was cheerful spirited, had a word for everybody, and was all anyone could ask for in a man of trust.

"He was an ideal family man," said District Attorney Chapman, "taking great interest in the activities of his children. He had a keen sense of humor and seemed to enjoy living more than any person I have ever known."

"I know of no greater loss that could have come to Spur at this time," Mr. Reed declared.

"Walter Lee was one of the greatest men that it has been my privilege to contact," said Mr. Golding. "He was a man full of human sympathy. It could be said that 'even his enemies liked him and respected him.' His honesty and integrity were never questioned."

Contempt Case Set For Today

Farmer Is Charged With Trying To Influence Jurors In Trial Of Chas. D. Walls In Medical Practice Case

Hearing in the contempt of court case of Chas. D. Walls, chiropractor, and A. W. Wright, farmer, is scheduled for county court at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Walls was acquitted of a charge of violation of the medical practice act by a county court jury Tuesday morning. Three jurors afterwards told County Attorney Jess C. Levens that Wright, about 60, had approached them concerning the case.

No Action Against Jurymen

County Attorney Levens yesterday afternoon filed a motion asking that County Judge J. J. Dillard hold the men in contempt of court and fine them. No action was taken against the jurymen.

On motion of the county attorney, Judge Dillard dismissed the jury for the week and continued the 13 remaining criminal cases until the November term of county court.

Levens said he would file a motion asking the court to declare a mistrial in the Walls case.

Petition Cites Charge

In his petition concerning Walls and Wright, County Attorney Levens charged the defendants had attempted to "influence, persuade, and cause" the jurors to return a verdict of not guilty in Walls' case.

"In their efforts to influence and persuade said jurors, said defendants stated that Chas. D. Walls was a good man and needed in the community, that said cause would be called for trial during said week beginning on the 5th day of October, 1936, and that anything they could do for him as jurors would be appreciated, said Wright stating to such jurors that the defendant Chas. D. Walls was his friend and that he wanted to see him acquitted."

The motion set out that Wright had contacted E. H. Foerster, R. L. Kelly, and Luther Weed, all members of the Walls jury, and C. E. Moreman, J. A. Fortenberry, A. L. Brownfield, Walter Jackson, and A. F. Ham, who were subpoenaed for jury service but who were not taken in the case.

After the jury had reported its verdict exonerating Walls of the charge he had violated the medical practice act, Levens asked each juror if any one had attempted to influence him. Weed, foreman Foerster, and Kelly said that Wright, who lives about five miles west of here, had approached them last week.

Wright, in the courtroom, was identified and was questioned by Levens and Deputy Sheriff Grady Harrist. The officers said the farmer told them Walls had given him a jury list and had suggested he contact the members. Wright said he and Walls were friends.

Program For Committees Of Lions Club Given Tuesday

Meeting around the luncheon table in committee groups, members of the Lions club yesterday began their fall campaign with a discussion of committee programs. The program, in charge of Dr. M. H. Benson, program chairman for the day, was designed to enable members of the standing committees to become better acquainted with each other.

President H. C. Pender called upon several chairmen to make reports of their work. Those reporting included: Fritz Carter, Paul Sherrod, Joseph R. Griggs and W. H. Evans.

J. W. Jackson, reporting on a questionnaire recently used, gave the rsults of the balloting of members on types of program and work. More educational programs, more entertainment, no increase in ladies night programs, etc., were some of the results.

S. J. McFarland, speaking for local fire insurance men and the chamber of commerce, reported on accomplishments in the city, state and nation on a nation-wide drive to decrease losses and deaths by fire. Lubbock last year, he said, saved $21,000 by its fire record; this year the savings will be $31,00.

George Berry, member of the advisory board of the Salvation Army, discussed that groups activities the past year. He added that the board planned to meet with the club later and discuss its drive for funds.

Department Probes Bids

"Hundreds And Hundreds" Of Cases In Which Firms, After Government Contracts, Gave Identical Bids

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Justice department officials said today they were investigating "hundreds and hundreds" of cases in which firms, seeking government contracts for supplying construction material, submitted identical bids.

How many of the bids could be termed "collusive," officials declined to say pending completion of investigation.

Responsibility for inquirying into bids which might be collusive rests with the justice department's anti-trust division, headed by Assistant Attorney General John Dickinson.

Simply Fact Finding

"Our investigations are simply fact finding. We are not doing detective work," a department spokesman said today some company books have been examined.

President Roosevelt suggested last June 20 that if federal agencies received identical bids they should be turned over to the department of justice for investigation. The suggestion, made to the 10 regular departments and to approximately 12 independent offices, brought a flood of reports to Dickinson's office.

Officials said today there were assessed by the commissioner of internal revenue.

They contended the commissioner did not allow sufficiently for depreciation of oil well machinery, for worthless oil, gas and mineral rights and for stock and security losses.

The taxes were assessed for 1933 and 1934.

Fifteen New Patients Enter Speech Clinic Held Weekly

The free speech clinic sponsored by the Texas Technological college speech department has 15 new patients said Miss Ruth Pirtle, head of the department.

The clinic, which was re-opened last Thursday, will be conducted each Thursday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock at Lubbock sanitarium. Schedules will be worked out for the patients.

Only new patients had been asked to attend the first session of the clinic. Patients who have received treatment in the last two years will be accepted at other sessions.

New patients ranged from 4 to 40 years of age and had various impediments, including stuttering, lisping, negligent speech, and defects resulting from shell shock.
