Cold Weather Catch

When asked how often he caught a fish of this size, he laughed and said, "Every 61 years — this is the first one I've ever caught this big."

"Potrait of a Cradle" Given At Maranatha Study Club

December meeting for the Maranatha Study Club was hosted by Mrs. R. M. Reed in her home.

Decorations in the home were made by the class for exceptional children, taught by Mrs. Reed, at Hutchinson School. Also made by the children were attractive place favors.

Christmas project of the club was the purchase of clothes for a needy child. A report on this project was given at the meeting.

Program, entitled "Portrit of a Cradle," was presented by Mrs. Dee Bassham.

In her opening remarks, the speaker said that Christmas has favorite holiday of everybody people, and had been for almost 2000 years, as well as the favorite of musicians, artists, poets, and story tellers. She said that something extra special happens to people at this time of year, and that is our way of celebrating Jesus's birth.

"As we give that bit of extra, we help others (less fortunate) celebrate too. Much charity must be given all year, but Christmas is the time for extras," Mrs. Bassham told her audience.

She likened the Christmas story to a play with the following cast of characters:

Mary "Blessed art thou among women. Thou hast found favour with God." (Luke 1:26-35).

Joseph A just man, a righteous man, a man to be depended upon. (Matthew 1:18-24).

Shepherds They first received the holy message. They did not question the truth of the message. It was too good not to be true. (Luke 2:8-20).

Wise Men three or four scholars, not kings. God spread the news afar by the star, so we know he meant his gift for all men. (Matthew 2:1-2).

Herod "The man who missed Christmas." Because he was thinking only of himself. (Matthew 2:3-18).

The Innkeeper (Luke 2:7) Don't blame him, people were used to living near animals. It was more peasful in the stable.

Simeon and Anna (Luke 2:25-38) He was a just and devout servant of the Lord. His faith was rewarded "... seen the Lord's Christ," she "served God with fastings and prayer night and day" after the loss of her husband.

Jesus Star of the play, star of all Christian life from then on.

The speaker said that all characters except Herod were intelligent, faithful, hard working, obedient and loving. They all trusted in God's word. "All life is precious and important to God," she said.

"All places are precious and important to God," Mrs. Bassham stated, in relating the settings of the Christmas story. She gave the time of Jesus' birth as midnight or during the dark hours.

"Every moment is precious and important to God. If we will let it be so. He wishes to be with everyone, everywhere, all the time," she said.

"Christmas is meant to be for everyone. It is offered to us but we must accept it before it belongs to us. Accept it by living in humility with love in our hearts for neighbors as Jesus lived and taught God's word. Christmas is cradled in humility and rocked by the hands of love, complete humility, unquestioning love," the speaker stated.

She described the humble stable in which Jesus was born, the son of humble parents and of how the news was announced to humble shepherds. Mrs. Bassham told of Mary's love for God, how she in turn was loved by Joseph, the love if the shepherds and wise men for the Baby in the manger.

"All of this tells of humility and love of men and women for each other and for God. But I think that the greatest love and the most complete humility is found in the gospel according to Saint John," the speaker concluded, stating.

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16.

Members attending were Mmes. Pace, Reed, Cornelia Martin, Bagwell, Bullock, Newt Miller, Fox, E. Martin, Crabtree, and Shawn. Guests were Mrs. A. A. Herrington and Mrs. Bassham.

CONVERSATION CORNER

New Year's resolutions are things
That once you make 'em
Give you runnin' fits until
You get the nerve to break 'em

Happy New Year, Happy New Year,
May your heart keep gay,
If you can't be brave, be merry
Each tomorrow's a New Day!

THERE is no absolute law saying people have to resolve . . . or resolute every January the oneth.

People just do. It's become a custom appealing to the "so much good in the worst of us."

Self improvement, that's the stuff resolutions are made of. It's a hangover from our Puritan heritage. Anything you enjoy has just got to be awful, unlawful, sinful, hurtful or too danged costly to continue. So you have to give it up. Once a year. Every year.

IT could make you plumb ashamed. It could make you sad, remembering all those broken resolutions . . . It could even be smoke gets in your eyes, just thinking of 'em.

It could make you realize that the road to you-know-where may be paved with good intentions, but it's also likely to be hard-surfaced with cracked resolutions.

The thing to do about it is just to resolve to be a bit more practical. Stop trying to give up any pleasure really vital to enjoyment and just resolve to give up something you'll never miss.

LIKE well like we intend to give up turnips in 1964. And licorice sticks.

Furthermore, we may resolve to scorn reading Playboy . . . not to save bacon grease for lye soap . . . and not to keep chicken, pigs, goats or ducks in the garage.

We firmly intend to forego smoking any ivory-tipped cigars or corn-cob pipes . . . To do without Metrecal . . . Resolve not to listen to or watch Betsy Drake one single time . . . or come to town in blue jeans or a yellow bikini.

SEE how easy and delightful New Year's resolutions can be once you get the hang of 'em?

All you have to do is pick out resolutions you can keep and then be stubborn with your self about it.

In all probability, you can breeze right through 1964 without succumbing to buying some of those new flowered ski-knickers . . . Or eating raw shrimp . . . whether you ever stop smoking again for another New Year or not!

If you can't feel like a strong, self-disciplined character any other way, you could just resolve the old favorite that goes "be it resolved this year not to make no resolutions about nothing."

That one's sure to be workable . . . and easiest of all to keep.

ECHOES of the old year and the holiday season, ended now, include visits at the Marry Ratliff house from son Hubert, transferred in October from Dallas to Los Angeles . . . Ted and Iva Helen (Lee) Bossenroth of University of Iowa here as guests of her parents Mary and Ralph Lee . . . Also in the Lee home were Mary's sisters, Ethel and Kate Biggerstaff, and mother Mrs. E. L. Biggerstaff all of Childress and the Rodney Lees—Rod, Sara, Rebecca and Ralph Norman—of Waco.

SAW Mildred Mann Boyd (Mrs. James Melvin Boyd) and her daughter Susie of Hereford having lunch with Erdine Morgan. The Boyds spent Christmas here with their families—his mother Mrs. Jim Boyd, sister Marcelline Cox (Mrs. James) and her brothers Charles Mann and Hirtman Mann.

Here from Houston from Dec. 26 until Tuesday were Ross Glover, his wife Ruth (Hardison) and son Ross T. Jr. who visited his parent Mr. and Mrs. Tom Glover and her mother Mr. U. G. Hardison. Mrs. Hardison, who spent Christmas in Houston in the Glover home and the home of her son Marion Hardison and his family, returned to C-City with the younger Glover family the day after Christmas.

AND familiar faces who live in our hometown . . . beauteous Mary Ann McCloud (nee Kelley) wife of the district judge Austin McCloud and their two daughters Melinda and Sharon, downtown Christmas Eve . . . Brenda Bell home from college in Indiana for the holidays . . . Bill Keel . . . Mrs. Chester Berry . . . Mrs. Bennett Scott bearing a gift of homemade holiday cookies . . . Little Billie Wyatt Martin (Mrs. Elmer) . . . Dr. J. Melvin Crymes . . . Keith Miles . . . Neil Smith (Mrs. Charles) . . . Mrs. Joe Smoot Sr. happy over having her grown-up children and their children here . . . Alice Berman (Mrs. H. I.) and her Dallas grandchild Toni, daughter of the Harold Bermans.

MACK, THE MARSHAL . . .

New Year marks the March of Dimes fund-raising campaign again throughout this nation.

In Mitchell County there's one gent who has been marshalling the parade of dimes and dollars for 16 years now. This gent's name is A. L. McSpaddan. 'Mack' has earned his stripes for service. Earned salutes from his hometown. Earned the honorary title of 'Mack, the March Marshal.'

Had you realized, lately that March of Dimes money made possible both Salk and Sabin vaccines? Money goes now to fighting all cripling diseases, including birth defects.

Let's make the March with 'Mack' this year in the spirit of gratitude . . . gratitude for things we've seen come to pass . . . and things we all look forward to . . . conquering the cripplers.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Every outdoorsman is interested in the pollution problem.

That is the reason the recently released 1962 report of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, covering fish kills, should bring us to our feet.

Texas with a total of 68 reports last year was exceeded only by Pennsylvania, which had 86 fish kills reported.

Oil well and industrial waste was responsible for most of the cases reported in Texas. Agriculture and domestic pollution also was blamed in several of the reports.

Some of these cases were accidental, where bad situations got out of control. Others were from careless management.

As cities grow larger and more complex, pollution problems increase. Excessive uses of detergents through the sewer systems also are adding to the problem. Some locations now are banning the use of certain detergents, used for cleaning clothes.

Fortunately health agencies are working hard to prevent pollution, but it takes closest cooperation on the part of industries and even municipalities.

Oil operators, paper mills an other large industries, such as chemical plants, are facing the constant problem. Now most of them care. There was a time when the majority didn't.

According to the report more than 7,000,000 fish were killed last year by water pollution. This does not take into consideration the massive kill of 37,800,000 which took place in the San Diego harbor in August, 1962. Nor does it include several states, which made no reports.

Nationwide domestic sewage was the principal killer, accounting for nearly half the total amount.

The big kill in San Diego was the result of the dumping of a large quantity of oil in the coastal waters. Oil is toxic to fish.

"Another big kill" was reported in the Anacostia river near Washington, D. C., last September, where 3,100,000 fish were killed by the dumping of raw sewage.

The river mileage involved last year was 1500, with 25 miles of shoreline and 2500 acres of lakes.

Many Texas municipalities, particularly the smaller ones, face a problem in private dumping of waste. It is pathetic to cross many of the smaller streams of Texas in the vicinity of small towns and take a look at the creek beds. Many of them are filled with old automobile tires and bodies, refrigerators, or just plain garbage refuse.

Perhaps city officials could pay more attention to such disposal. Or the individual himself can be more careful where he dumps his refuse.

Some towns solve this problem with a public dump ground. Here individuals may dispose of their litter, where it is later covered over with dozers.

Sportsmen can give a big assist in stopping this pollution in a fight against litter and by giving support to their city and county government.

But the greatest good can be done by individuals who persist in littering the highways and open spots with beverage bottles and cans.

The state spends many millions of dollars each year on the care and development of roadside parks. Yet many people will drive into these parks, make use of them and leave litter scattered around.

A landowner who has a nice stream on his place told me he would be glad to take the lock off his gate.

"But I can't stand the litter," he says. "Every time someone uses the picnic grounds I have to go down there and do a cleanup job."

This same attitude is found on the part of many individuals fishing off T-heads on the coast or around the jetties.

As outdoorsmen, we must do our part to stop this pollution that is cosing us millions of fish each year. It is important both at a local and national level.
