Ellen Temple Stops In Bogata

Ellen Temple, the wife of State Representative Buddy Temple, was in Bogata Friday, April 25, campaigning on behalf of her husband's candidacy for a six-year term on the Texas Railroad Commission.

Mrs. Temple is traveling in the "Texas Campaign Express," a motor home used in the Temple campaign to allow the candidate, family and supporters to travel the various rural areas of Texas visiting courthouses, town squares, and greeting supporters.

In campaigning for her husband, Mrs. Temple said, "We are running our campaign aggressively and like no other in the history of the Railroad Commission. We are campaigning in every city, county and courthouse in Texas, emphasizing the importance of the Railroad Commission and its effect on our energy situation in Texas."

Mrs. Temple went on to point out that in the last few decades only one person had been directly elected by the voters of Texas to serve on the Railroad Commission.

"With the exception of Commissioner Newton, for many years the Railroad Commissioners have been appointed to fill a vacancy by the person who is Governor at the time. The Railroad Commission has become too important a job both here, and at the Washington level, for the people of Texas not to select the officeholders directly. My husband has never been a bureaucrat or been appointed to a government job.

Both of us have worked hard in his political endeavors by taking our case directly to the people in seeking elective office."

Mrs. Temple also pointed out the urgent need for leadership on our energy concerns: "Gasoline is costing all of us over one dollar per gallon and we continue to depend on OPEC for oil. I think that we all want new and aggressive leadership on behalf of Texas in our energy policies, and I'm working 12-hours a day because I believe my husband is qualified to do a good job."

Bogata Frontier Days In Planning Stage

The Bogata Area Chamber of Commerce's Frontier Day committee, headed by Mabel Troutt met recently and began preparations on what should be the biggest Frontier Days celebration so far. Attending the planning session were Mrs. Troutt, Mariam Stephenson, Charlie Lewis, Dr. Jack Troutt, John Howison and James Wood.

The committee is striving to add some new entertainment to this year's fun, but also trying to keep some of the best enjoyed events of the past.

One of the new additions will be a Dress-Up contest, headed by Mrs. Iva Hooker. Organizations such as the new Lions Club, Church Circles, Clubs, and other sponsoring organizations will have the opportunity to win a hundred dollars as they sponsor some man and some woman dressed in clothes of a style during earlier days. Out of town judges will determine the best outfit and the sponsoring organization will win fifty dollars for the best dressed man and fifty dollars for the best dressed lady. Mrs. Hooker is available to answer questions regarding this activity.

Art Hesch was selected to be the man to contact if someone or an organization would like to have a concession stand on the Saturday of Frontier Days. The Chamber of Commerce will have sno-cones and soft drinks, the Junior High cheerleaders will have a bake sale and several other organizations are expected to have money raising projects for their individual groups. There will only be one concession stand for each type of food so get in touch with Hesch immediately to reserve concessions.

For the fourth consecutive year barbeque will be served on Thursday afternoon downtown immediately after the parade. Earnies Barbeque of Greenville will cater the affair and tickets will go on sale shortly. Buy yours early and reserve yourself a plate of barbeque and all the trimmings before going out to the first night's performance of the famous Bogata Rodeo.

Again you can get all the pancakes and sausage you want on Saturday morning compliments of the Chamber of Commerce. Serving is scheduled to start promptly at 7 a.m. and new ideas have helped shorten the serving line for this year. This is the Chamber's way of saying thanks to everyone for taking the time to spend a few hours of relaxation and fun in town that day.

The Turtle Auction is scheduled this year during the serving of breakfast in order to get the races under way promptly at 9 a.m. The Chamber is getting a professional auctioneer all the way from Cunningham, Texas to help us out this year so bring your pocketbook and be ready to get some of those hybrid mossbacks at a real bargain this year.

Charlie Lewis is handling the Beard Growing contest this year and you men who want to slack off shaving for a few weeks are urged to contact him immediately. Everyone will have the opportunity to sign up for a fast paced contest that gets really messey, but is lots of fun, the Watermelon eating contest. Mayor Hood is in charge of this event, and will be on hand early Saturday morning to sign up those hungry for the melon race.

Gaylon Legate is in charge of the tobacco spitting event that is open to men and women and usually draws a lot of interest. Sign up will be after the pancake breakfast.

Remember how wet some got last year in the Tug of War event? They'll be back this year and Donnie Strain has a record to keep. He is in charge of the wettest event of the year, and should be even more challenging than last year.

Vote As You Please But Please Vote

Re-Elect PAT F. BEADLE 2nd Term County Attorney

In this last week before Saturday's primary election it is time to sum up. There are four men running for county attorney. Why should you vote for me?

First and foremost, it is a matter of experience. The job is primarily one of criminal prosecution, and only an experienced criminal trial lawyer can compete successfully with skilled and experienced trial defense lawyers.

My twenty years as a practicing lawyer are far more than any of the other candidates; and none of the other candidates has ever been a prosecuting attorney, while I have seven years experience as a prosecutor.

There is another area of my job, often overlooked, in which this experience is of utmost importance. It is also my responsibility to see that the innocent are not prosecuted and that even the guilty are not brought to trial until there is evidence to prove their guilt. Many complaints do not become courtroom cases. Every so often we have someone who would like to use the authority of our office to hit back at a private foe. Even peace officers, with the best of intentions, are sometimes influenced by their personal knowledge of the criminal history of a certain defendant and urge prosecution before all of the essential evidence is available. The evaluation of the evidence requires judgment, the kind of judgment which comes only from experience. The important thing is that each case and every complaint is dealt with according to its individual merits. No complaint is prosecuted without evidence and no case is dismissed without reason.

The other factor which I think you should consider in casting your vote is proof of performance. You have heard a good many promises from the other candidates, but you have never heard any of them say how he would get the job done. That is because none of them has any real conception of what must be done. They never bothered to learn about the work, only the salary. You have not heard promises from me because the work I have done is my promise to you and your best assurance of a proper job to be done in the future.

I am not unmindful that one or more of my opponents may choose to publish material this week which I will have no opportunity to answer. There is no way to anticipate such a thing. I can only point out that any legitimate complaint would have been publicized long ago, and a last minute statement designed to avoid an answer has little value.

I purposely published my own statement of position far enough ahead of election day that anyone who so desired could answer it. The only replies were not very accurate.

T. Fowler made the astonishing claim that he had come to me and tried to buy the county attorney's office after first refusing to run for it. Most people know, even if Fowler does not, that it is legally impossible for an elected official to transfer his office. The offer Fowler claims to have made would be highly unethical if not an outright bribe, which is illegal. I most certainly would have refused such an insulting offer if it had been made, but it was not.

J. Herrington says that he was not asked to run for county attorney last time. Well, I know that he was because I suggested it to him myself, and at least one other county officer mentioned it to him; but why quibble about it? No invitation is required. For that matter, I for one did not ask him to run this year, but he did so anyway. The only real point is that he could have had the job for a modest salary and to gain the experience he now lacks, but he refused because he could "make more defending them."

It is no wonder that these two opponents would like to alter their past records. Considering the promises they have made during this campaign, their past non-performance is something of a let-down.

I have been pleased to be your county attorney for the past 5-1/2 years, and I know that I have done you a good job. I will continue to do you a good job for the next four years if you give me the opportunity.

I WANT TO BE YOUR NEXT COUNTY ATTORNEY

During the last few months, I have enjoyed visiting with many of you. If I have missed seeing you in person, this newspaper ad is my message to you. I will appreciate each of your individual votes on Saturday, May 3rd.

Since I announced my candidacy for County Attorney of Red River County, I have tried to conduct a positive campaign based on the issues as I have seen them. I have attempted to tell you by personal contact, newspaper and radio why I believe I will make you the kind of County Attorney I believe you want and have a right to expect.

Toward that end I urge you to consider the following issues:

YES NO

1. DO YOU WANT A FULL TIME COUNTY ATTORNEY IN THE COURTHOUSE WHO WILL BE AVAILABLE TO YOU WHEN YOU HAVE A PROBLEM?

If all the various duties required of the office of County Attorney are diligently attended to, there is no question that it is a full time job. I intend to pursue all of these duties and spend full time as your County Attorney in the office at the court house. I will be there when you need help. I will talk to you personally about your problems. I will spend as many hours of the day as it takes to do this job right.

YES NO

2. DO YOU WANT A COUNTY ATTORNEY WHO WILL GIVE YOU $31,000 WORTH OF WORK FOR A $31,000 SALARY?

Our County Attorney's salary has been funded by the state since 1977. At that time, the state substantially raised the salary, and has continued to raise it yearly to the present amount of $31,000. There is a great deal of work to be done in the County Attorney's office. I will prosecute lawbreakers with vigor. I will work hard to institute new ideas and programs for juvenile offenders. I will be available to offer advice to the commissioners court. I will work closely with all law enforcement officers in this county. I will make the County Attorney's office a working office. I will be tough on crime in our county.

YES NO

3. DO YOU WANT A COUNTY ATTORNEY'S OFFICE THAT IS ADEQUATELY STAFFED TO DO THE JOB?

A County Attorney must have adequate evidence to effectively prosecute a case. I have told you that I will actively seek to have Red River County included under the Special Prosecutor's Act. This act will provide state funds to enable the County Attorney's office to adequately staff the office. This means that state funds would be available for a criminal investigator. That investigator will be able to help secure the necessary evidence to prosecute criminal acts successfully.

4. DO YOU WANT A COUNTY ATTORNEY WHO HAS THE YOUTH TO BE AGGRESSIVE YET THE AGE TO BE MATURE?

I am 38 years of age. I am not the youngest candidate running for County Attorney nor the oldest, but I believe I have the widest range of work experience and of experience in dealing with people. The chronological age of a man is not necessarily the real measure of his worth to himself or to society. It depends on what he does in his time. As a young boy I was taught that any task required hard work and diligence. I earned my "spending money" mowing yards and other forms of manual labor. During college I held down as many as three part time jobs to pay my way through college. This involved one job as a dishwasher. When I studied law, I had a paper route to support my wife and two children. I am thankful for all of my work experience. It helped me to listen to and understand the problems of others. I will continue to work hard for you as County Attorney. After all this is a job that will benefit my family as well as yours.

YES NO

5. DO YOU WANT A COUNTY ATTORNEY WHO HAS THE LEGAL EXPERIENCE TO HANDLE THE JOB?

I have been in the private practice of law here in Red River County for a number of years. I have a substantial amount of court room experience, both civil and criminal. I am confident that this experience makes me the best qualified candidate for this position.

If Yo If you have "Voted" YES to these questions, I urge you to vote for:

☒ YES

ATTENTION DEMOCRATS

John Connally doesn't need your vote anymore.
Ronald Reagan doesn't need your vote anymore.
Texas does!

Northeastern liberals have been planning for months to take over a seat on the Texas Railroad Commission—so they can continue to buy Texas energy for bargain basement prices.

They're counting on conservative Democrats crossing over into the Republican Primary to support Ronald Reagan (who now has the nomination all but assured)—leaving only liberal voters in the Democratic Primary.

If they are successful, they will elect radical left-winger Jim Hightower (not to be confused, as they hope, with conservative Congressman Jack Hightower).

Jim Nugent is the best qualified man for the job. Jim Nugent—and Texas—needs your vote in the Democratic Primary May 3.

Announcing
Bruce A. Scott
Candidate for Commissioner,
Precinct 1

In announcing my candidacy for County Commissioner of Precinct 1, I would like to introduce myself to those of you who may not know me.

I am Bruce A. Scott, 39, and my wife, Pat, and I live south of Clarksville on F.M. 910 with our two daughters, Renee, age 10, and Tina, age five. I am a native of this area and attended schools here. I have previously worked in the Metroplex as a service manager for Goodyear which gave me valuable experience in equipment repairs, maintenance, and the pricing of parts. I dealt with a wide variety of machinery and feel I have practical knowledge of its operation and repairs.

Since returning here to make our home in 1977, I have dealt with the public and operated equipment in my own business under the name Bruce A. Scott, Sand and Gravel.

During this time I have both operated and maintained various pieces of heavy duty equipment and road machinery. Additionally, as I did business countywide, I feel I am very familiar with county roads.

If elected, I will, of course, lease out my equipment and devote full time to my official duties. If elected I would, of course, continue the road and bridge headquarters there where it has been for more than a quarter century.

As an independent business man and one experienced with machinery, who can and will operate the county machinery myself, whenever necessary, I believe I have the necessary qualifications for this important office. I am looking forward to visiting with each of you during the campaign and I will appreciate your support.

Continental To Acquire NAC

James Napier, president of Continental Telephone Corporation, and Dr. Howard Frank, president of Network Analysis Corporation (NAC), announced that they have signed a Letter of Intent for Continental to initially acquire approximately 55 percent of NAC's outstanding shares with plans to purchase the remaining stock over a six-year period. Continental's initial investment will total approximately $3 million.

NAC, with facilities near New York City and Washington, D.C., is a ten year-old consulting and research firm involved in telecommunications planning and network analysis. NAC has extensive experience in designing and implementing telephone and data networks for many leading business firms and government agencies. Some of NAC's clients are General Motors, Xerox, General Electric, Chase Manhattan, Metropolitan Life and the American Bankers Association. Among its Departments of Defense and Agriculture, and the Federal Reserve Board.

NAC employs about 100 persons and was formed in 1969 by a group of engineers working on network problems as consultants to the White House, Office of Emergency Preparedness. Dr. Frank serves on the White House task force developing the next decade's communications strategies for the Executive Office of the President.

Dr. Frank said his company is evolving from the position of architect and designer of telecommunications networks to a position of "turn-key" supplier of total communications systems. He noted, "Continental's resources will enable us to accelerate this evolution and move beyond it to other related expansion strategies."

Continental, the nation's third largest non-Bell telephone company, is expanding beyond traditional telephone operations into areas such as the interconnect market, CATV operations, satellite communications and other related fields. Continental president Napier said that NAC is the nation's leading independent organization in its field. "The resources and expertise that NAC has will be important elements in achieving Continental's business objective to offer integrated systems and services for organizations seeking to apply modern telecommunications techniques and equipment to their operations," Napier added.

In 1979, Continental reported revenues and sales in excess of a billion dollars and recorded net income of $114.3 million.

Defensive Driving Course Begins

A four-week course in Defensive Driving will begin at Paris Junior College on Monday, May 5, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 102 of the Grimes Natural Sciences Center. Paul Daniels will teach the course on Mondays, May 5, 12, 19, and 26.

June Jones, director of continuing education at PJC, reminds drivers who have not completed the course within three years that they should re-take it to save 10 percent on portions of their automobile insurance. Fee for the course is $15, which includes the workbook for classes.

Reservations should be made by paying the fee in advance to the PJC Continuing Education Office, the Alford Lifelong Learning Center, telephone, 785-7661, extension 145.

Research projects covering graduates of the Defensive Driving course indicate that the graduates had fewer accidents the year following the course.

PJC sponsors the course throughout the school year.

To the Citizens Of Red River
County:

In the past several weeks it has been my pleasure to meet and talk to many people in Red River County during the course of my campaign for Red River County Sheriff.

It has not been possible to personally greet each of you, so please allow this letter to inform you of my desire to serve you as your next Sheriff.

The past five and one-half years that I have been in law enforcement I have tried to give my best in making Red River County the kind of place that you would want to live and raise your family. It is my desire when elected Sheriff to continue my efforts to this end.

Realizing the problems that face our County and that I do not have all the answers, I am asking you for the opportunity of using my past experience to help solve these problems.

Concerning employment in the Sheriff's office, I have talked to NO ONE or made any commitments to any person. I renew my pledge to have the best qualified personnel available to serve you the citizens of Red River County. I will have field deputies in each area of the county.

I do want to be your next Sheriff. Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated in the May 3, 1980, election.

Respectfully,

DeBerry Announces Retirement

Luther DeBerry, engineer-director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for the last seven years, announced last Friday he will retire effective June 30.

"I have had a very rewarding career with the department for well over 40 years and it is with some reluctance that I leave this fine organization, but I believe it is time for someone else to take over this position," DeBerry said.

A. Sam Waldrop, chairman of the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission, the policy-making body of the department, praised the retiring chief administrative officer for his service to the state and to the department.

"He has guided the organization through some of its most difficult and challenging years. Under his direction, the men and women of the department have shouldered new responsibilities in transportation while having to deal with rising costs, shortages and dwindling resources," Waldrop said.

A native of Bogata, Red River County, DeBerry joined the department full time as an instrumentman in Sherman after his graduation in 1937.

He has been with the department continuously since then, except for work with the Corps of Engineers and service with the U.S. Navy during World War II.

DeBerry will be honored in Paris May 2 with a reception and luncheon, sponsored jointly by the Paris Rotary Club and the Highway Development Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Lamar County.

A public reception will begin at 10:30 a.m. at Paris Golf and Country Club for DeBerry and other public officials.

The reception will be followed at 11:30 a.m. at the club by a luncheon in conjunction with the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club.

DeBerry Announces Retirement

Luther DeBerry, engineer-director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for the last seven years, announced last Friday he will retire effective June 30.

"I have had a very rewarding career with the department for well over 40 years and it is with some reluctance that I leave this fine organization, but I believe it is time for someone else to take over this position," DeBerry said.

A. Sam Waldrop, chairman of the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission, the policy-making body of the department, praised the retiring chief administrative officer for his service to the state and to the department.

"He has guided the organization through some of its most difficult and challenging years. Under his direction, the men and women of the department have shouldered new responsibilities in transportation while having to deal with rising costs, shortages and dwindling resources," Waldrop said. The Commission will select DeBerry's successor from within the ranks of the department, probably within a month. "We will carefully consider prospects from the many professionals in the

Dear Colleen

My best friend is really a great girl in every way I think. She is really nice and she is a cute girl, but she is always putting herself down for some reason. This is beginning to bother me. I tell her she is cute and has a good personality but she still keeps putting herself down.

Concerned

There are several reasons your friend could be putting herself down. Maybe she expects others to put her down and so she does it herself first, or maybe she is doing it to get compliments.

You should ask her why she puts herself down and maybe she will take a look at herself and find why she is doing this.

Puzzled

Sounds like you are trying too hard and in doing so you're not really being yourself.

Most of the time if we just relax and be ourselves, we are more likeable. Of course, some people will like us and some won't and you shouldn't expect everyone to like you. The less importance put on being liked and trying to get people to like you, the more you will be liked.

Warmer Weather Brings Ticks

Tick populations increase dramatically with warmer weather, causing inconvenience and health hazards for homeowners and pets.

Ticks are biting, blood-sucking parasites, and their bites may become inflamed and infected due to toxic secretions, points out Bob Moody, county agent. Tick paralysis, tularemia and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever may be transmitted through tick bites.

Brown dog ticks and American dog ticks are the most common in Texas home landscapes. Brown dog ticks are reddish-brown while American dog ticks are yellowish-brown when unfed and slate gray when engorged. The brown dog tick rarely occurs in rural areas; instead, it hides in crevices around buildings. American dog ticks are most often found along roads and trails.

A female tick may lay several thousand eggs, beginning a two to four month life cycle. Remaining stages—six legged larva (seed tick) and eight-legged nymph and adult—generally develop on separate host animals. After each feeding, the tick drops off the host and temporarily hides until the next developmental stage.

Regardless of the species, control is basically the same for all ticks, says Moody. Heavy infestations in the home may require treatment by professionals. Household sprays containing 0.5 percent diazinon or ronnel will control light infestations.

Outside the home where vegetation is thin, use 5 percent carbaryl (Sevin) dust at 20-25 pounds per acre. Increase the rate as vegetation thickens. If using a spray, mix five tablespoons of 25 percent diazinon emulsifiable concentrate (EC) in one gallon of water. Apply one gallon of spray per 1,000 square feet. Carbaryl gives the best residual control. When spraying, pay particular attention to roadsides, animal trails and paths.

Most species of ticks can't survive in cleared areas where they are exposed to excessive sunlight and predators. Keeping areas clear of debris is important in tick control.

Hikers and campers may want to use repellent materials on their jacket cuffs or the bottoms of their trousers. Also, Moody recommends tucking trousers into the top of socks or boots. Sleeves buttoned tight will also aid in protection.

Moody advises pet owners to examine their animals frequently. Light infestations can be controlled by rubbing carbaryl dust into the pet's hair. Also, treat the animal's sleeping quarters every week.

If a tick becomes attached to the skin, remove it with a slow, steady pull. Be careful not to break off its mouthparts. A drop of chloroform, isopropyl alcohol, ether, acetone or fingernail polish rubbed over the tick may help remove it. It can be removed a half-hour later with less damage to the skin because its oxygen supply is cut off.

Always apply an antiseptic to tick bites, adds Moody. If your hands touched the tick, wash them thoroughly with soap and water to reduce the risk of spreading disease.

Listening At The Library

by Bosley Bookworm

I can hardly wait for the library to close each day so I can go into the exhibit room and leisurely look at all the children's art work from around the world. This is the "International Children's Showcase" — a state-wide tour of 100 paintings and drawings by children in seventeen countries whose purpose is to create a better world through better understanding among the young people of the world. If you haven't been in to view this exhibit you are really missing a treat. Thanks to the Red River National Bank for bringing these lovely children's pictures for our county citizens to enjoy.

When I leave the exhibit room I've been wiggling over to the display table where there are a number of children's art books. These books give a short biography of each artist plus many of his works. The eight books on display are about Rembrandt, Toulouse-Lautrec, Frederic Remington, Renoir, Rousseau, Picasso, Chagall and Gauguin. If you would like to introduce your child to some of the great artists of the world along with his works this is a perfect way to do so for these are written so that even quite young children can understand. I'm not all that young, but I've really enjoyed looking at them and learning from them.

Also on the display table are a number of books dealing with the gifted or exceptional child. Let me list a few for you — "Help in Teaching Gifted Children," "Caring for the Gifted," "Helping your Teenage Student," "Teach Your Child to Read in 60 Days," "The Gifted Child," "Activities for Motivating and Teaching Bright Children."

Although weather plays a major role in forage production, the person cutting and baling the hay has the greatest impact on its quality. Thus management of a hay meadow is the primary reason for high or low quality hay.

Fertility and cutting management are important factors producers can combine to produce the best hay possible, insists Moody. With proper management, fertilizer can boost production of a high quality hay, but it cannot do the job by itself.

A recent Texas A&M study of fertilizer effects on coastal bermuda hay production yields and percent protein produced showed 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre yielded 4.38 tons of hay with 9.1 percent crude protein. Nitrogen applied at 600 pounds per acre yielded 10.65 tons of hay with crude protein content of 12.4 percent.

Fertilizing is important in high quality hay production and in increasing production, but it must be coupled with good cutting management for top quality hay, emphasizes Moody.

State of growth at cutting is an important aspect of quality hay production. Young grass is high in protein and high in digestibility because it has less fiber build up and digestibility drops.

A study in Georgia showed a clipping frequency of three weeks yielded on the average 9.7 tons of hay per acre, 19 percent crude protein and 27.7 percent crude fiber. In comparison, a clipping frequency of every 12 weeks yielded 11.6 tons of hay per acre, 9.7 percent crude protein and 35 percent crude fiber.

A high rate of fertility in the study boosted production and crude protein levels higher than normally expected, but results do show the decrease in protein and increase in fiber accompanying aging in grasses.

Early cutting does sacrifice some production, emphasizes Moody but you get higher quality hay that can better meet the nutritional needs of livestock.

Seminar On Hypoglycemia To Be Held

A nutritional seminar on hypoglycemia will be held at Paris Junior College at 8 p.m. Friday, May 2, in the Alford Center for Lifelong Learning, said June Jones, continuing education director. Dr. Fred House of Tulsa, Oklahoma, will discuss what he calls the "most misunderstood health problem in American today."

Fee for the lecture is $3 per person or $5 per couple, Mrs. Jones noted. Information may be obtained by calling the PJC continuing education office, 785-7661, extension 145.

In his lecture, Dr. House will help the audience to understand what hypoglycemia is, how to detect it, why one has it, and what to do about it. Common symptoms, according to Dr.

House, are nervousness, irritability, sinus condition, loss of memory and lack of will power.

Because it is often mistaken for other conditions, hypoglycemia is called "the great imposter." Dr. House, who has treated hundreds of cases of hypoglycemia with great success, has done extensive research and given seminars on nutrition on college campuses throughout the United States.

He is noted for his clarity and easy-going style, Mrs. Jones said, and persons interested in natural weight control and energy development should attend the seminar. Dr. House presented a nutritional seminar for PJC in 1978.

PEOPLE Of Titus County

A few weeks ago, I told you of my qualifications for Sheriff of Titus County. My experiences in the past 18 years of law enforcement are many. I have come in contact with many people. I have had to handle a lot of problems concerning people.

In the last three years, I have handled problems of all kinds, so this is nothing new to me. I do not contend that I know everything. I learn something new almost every day and I am willing to continue learning.

I will never shirk my duties as Sheriff of Titus County, no matter what they may be.

I have in the past, and will in the future, work with other agencies. I was elected by you, the people, to run this office to the best of my ability with what I have to work with. I will be my own man and not influenced by any one person or group.

I ask again for your vote and continued support.

Library Week begins April 13 through April 19 and during this week we are asking all those with overdue books to turn them in and forget the fine. Now I call that a pretty good deal, don't you? So why don't you look around and see if you might have a library book that you have forgotten to turn in. Remember there will be no fines at all during that week no matter how long you have kept the book.

Don't forget we have all the latest best sellers in now. We strive to keep up with the times, ya' know, so come on in and pay us a visit.

Happy Reading

Plan Hay Needs Now

It's that time again to plan your hay needs, suggest Bob Moody, county agent.

Be informed.

The Texas Railroad Commission is far too important to the proper conservation and management of Texas energy resources to elect a Commissioner on the basis of vague information, mistaken identity or a general "feeling" about a candidate.

Make sure you know the facts before you vote!

Did you know Jim Nugent:

- Is uniquely qualified to handle the complex technical and legal matters that come before the Commission, thanks to his background in law and engineering.
- Has almost 20 years of service to Texans, first as a State Representative, now as our Railroad Commissioner.
- Successfully introduced and passed the first "ethics laws" for elected Texas officials . . . and completely revised the state's penal statutes improving criminal prosecution procedures without violating individual rights.
- Is supported by a broad cross-section of conservative, moderate and liberal Democrats who know he's the best man for the job!
- As a member of the State Legislature and as our Railroad Commissioner, is respected and known as a tough, independent and dedicated public servant who has consistently fought for the rights of Texas consumers.

Did you know that Jim Nugent's opponent, Jim Hightower:

- Has no qualifications to serve. His only background is having worked as editor of a radical left-wing newspaper (he calls himself an "investigative reporter") and working for a former liberal senator.
- Is the candidate of Ralph Nader, George McGovern, labor organizer Caesar Chavez and a group of Northeastern liberals intent on buying a seat on the Railroad Commission so the Northeast can continue to buy cheap energy from Texas.
- Is basing his campaign on hopes that the electorate will confuse his name—Jim Hightower—with well-known conservative Congressman Jack Hightower.

*Jim Nugent has been endorsed by major newspapers* throughout the state. They have carefully considered qualifications of the two candidates, and have chosen Jim Nugent as the best man for the job.*

*Jim Nugent has been endorsed by the Austin American-Statesman, San Antonio Light, Houston Chronicle, Dallas Morning News and the Dallas Times Herald. As of April 22, no major newspaper in Texas has endorsed his opponent, Jim Hightower!

James E. (Jim) ★★★ Nugent

A Railroad Commissioner for Texans!
