Hoover Opposition At Kansas City Increases Activity

'ALLIES' BEGIN FIRST WAR ON HOOVER CAMP

Anti-Hoover Body Claims to Have Majority

EMMERSON AT HEAD

Pro-Lowden Alliance Formed in All Night Caucus

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 7 (UP) Political jockeying was in vogue today as the "allied" forces opposed to Herbert Hoover for the first time showed signs of real activities.

With their organization less than 12 hours old, the allies or "coalition" as they prefer to be called, already are predicting victory, and in a statement tonight, Clarence F. Buck, campaign manager for Frank O. Lowden, predicted the consolidated forces have a majority. He claims 611 delegates.

Mid-West Group

After being almost leaderless all the week, and forced to watch the Hoover forces tuck away practically all of the contested delegations, those groups favoring candidates representing "mid-western states" hastily organized at a caucus held most of last night.

The object of the forces is an alignment to stop Hoover and while the favorite sons call it the anti-Hoover movement, the Lowden supporters refer to it as the pro-Lowden alliance. At any rate, it is organized as the "greatest fighting political organization ever brought together in a campaign."

All day long supporters of Lowden, Watson and Goff were, using the parlance of the football field, going into "huddles," and late in the day the organization was said to be completed. Curtis forces are said to be refraining from active support of the coalition until the arrival of Senator Curtis from Washington.

Emmerson Leads

Louis L. Emmerson, secretary of the state of Illinois and Republican nominee for governor, is named as the generalissimo of the anti-Hoov-

They were returning home from a cemetery, where they had decorated the grave of Hasty's wife.

Move On—
Mixing Issues—
The Real Problems—
Honored Abroad—

City Manager George D. Fairtrace has told members of Wichita Falls' little "underworld" to move on to other places while they have the opportunity. The warning is opportune, and should be backed by the full power of public opinion, as well as by the police power which Mr. Fairtrace has at his disposal. Infractions of the law and of the rules of society, such as those described at the Monday night meeting of the city council, do not develop overnight, but grow over long periods of time, chiefly through official and public indifference.

◆ ◆ ◆

To The Record News, it seems unfortunate from the viewpoint of effectiveness that the evidence given the council was scattered over so many different recommendations, and that the speakers were not always in accord in their own deductions. It seems to the writer it is unfair and unjust to link a demand for movine picture censorship with demands for control of vice and liquor traffic. A few years ago there was a great hue and cry for picture censorship, but the demand seems to have died with the necessity. Certainly, in Wichita Falls there are conditions which are much more serious than the offerings from the stage and screen.

◆ ◆ ◆

Another speaker mentioned "games of skill" at the Texas-Oklahoma fair concessions. The writer knows nothing of them, but would say that on the whole the fair has been one of the finest and cleanest places of amusement and education in the country. These charges are small compared to the other allegations made by the committee.

◆ ◆ ◆

When the committee talked about liquor and vice traffic it scored a bullseye. It should not stop its work. The facts can be produced, even to the "underworld" which exists, probably unknown to the great majority of Wichita Falls residents.

◆ ◆ ◆

Five scholarships have been given to Junior college within the last week, and before the opening of the next fall term many more should be added by loyal Wichita Falls citizens. The work at Junior college has been outstanding since its foundation. It deserves the support of this city.

◆ ◆ ◆

Centenary college has conferred a degree on Walter D. Cline. Charles K. Walsh was honored by St. Edwards university of Austin. Another college honored Dr. S. A. Barnes of the Floral Heights Methodist church. These men are leaders in work for education and progress, three of many here. Wichita Falls can take pride in the honors that have come to them in other towns and from other organizations. —H. C. F.

CONTACT MADE BY WIRELESS WITH ITALIA

Rome Relief Committee Announces Final Success

SHIP HEARS SIGNALS

City of Milan Reports Picking Up Radio From Nobile

ALTOONA, Pa., June 7. (AP)—An Altoona amateur wireless operator tonight reported reception of a message purported to be from the Nobile party saying the dirigible Italia had been "crushed against a mountain." Position was given, the operator, Clyde Amen, said, as 84:15:10 north, 15:20:40 east.

LONDON, June 7. (US)—Communication with Commander Umberto Nobile and his lost arctic expedition has been re-established, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome tonight, quoting the Italia relief committee. The supply ship City of Milan has re-established wireless communication with Commander Nobile, the dispatch said. Information to this effect was received from the City of Milan which is off Spitzbergen. No details were included in the first dispatches received.

Weak Signals Heard

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 7. (AP)—Twice today the radio operator on the Citta di Milano, base ship of General Umberto Nobile's lost polar expedition, heard weak signals which he was sure were from Operator Biagi, radio man on the dirigible Italia. The signals were too weak to decipher.

Official Announcement

MILAN, Italy, June 7. (UP)—Signor Mercanti, chairman of the committee directing the relief expeditions in search of Commander Umberto Nobile and the crew of the missing dirigible Italia, announced tonight that he had received a message from the Citta di Milano, mother ship of the polar expedition, announcing that radio contact with the Italia had been re-established.

Calls for Help

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 7. (UP)—The commander of the Citta di Milano confirmed tonight that messages calling for help have been received by his ship, which is the flagship of the Italian polar expedition in which the dirigible Italia with its crew of 16 is missing.

The commander was reluctant, however, to state positively that the messages which were weak and somewhat garbled, actually came from the Italia.

"We are not certain that these messages emanated from the crew of the Italia," the commander told the United Press, "but such a possibility appears greater now than heretofore. It can be definitely stated that we are receiving calls for help and we are making the utmost effort to communicate with the mysterious sender."

Many reports have been received of amateurs and official radio stations picking up messages from the Italia, but so far most of them have been of doubtful origin, the messages being so garbled that it was not clear whether they were coming from the Italia or from some agency attempting to communicate with General Umberto Nobile, the Italia's commander.

The latest messages picked up by the Citta di Milano, however, apparently are definite appeals for help, which would make it appear that they are either actually from Nobile or are coming from someone sending spurious distress signals.

Girl Kidnaping Victim To Return to Her Home

COLUMBUS, Neb., June 7. (UP) Miss Rose Rogers, 18, of Philadelphia, who said she was virtually kidnaped by William F. Forbes of Newark, N. ## Two Women Fliers With One Great Ambition and What a Race It'll Be!

Girl Fliers Delayed In Attempts At Trans-Atlantic Race

MISS EARHART FAILS TO HOP

Unfavorable Winds Keep Friendship to Shore

TREPASSEY, N. F., June 7. (AP)—Although the weather forecast was none too favorable, Wilmer Stultz, pilot of the monoplane Friendship, set 6:30 a. m. eastern standard time, tomorrow as the time for the take-off for a flight to Europe. The weather was clear tonight but the forecast was for rain and fog in the morning.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., June 7. (UP)—Miss Amelia Earhart, excited by reports that Miss Mabel Boll had left Curtiss field to race her for the honor of being the first woman to fly across the Atlantic, made frantic efforts to force the huge monoplane Friendship into the air for the dangerous voyage to England today. Lack of wind and the heavily laden airplane held the machine to the water.

Three times Miss Earhart and her male companions, Wilmer Stults and Lew Gordon, drove the monoplane the full length of Trepassey bay, three miles, without clearing the water once.

The flyers then brought the Friendship back to its mooring mast to await a stronger wind to help lift the machine into the air.

This was the third disappointment the girl flyer had experienced here. Once the flight was held up by a leaky gasoline tank and then sudden high winds had prevented departure. She now hopes to be able to start Friday.

Crew and Passengers Of Ship Are Saved

DULUTH, Minn., June 7. (AP)—An old passenger steamer, the America, is lying on the bottom of Lake Superior tonight under 17 fathoms of water. Its crew and passengers, about 45, were taken off Isle Royale tonight where they went when the ship sank this morning.

The only report of the sinking came from the purser.

His story was that the vessel struck a reef near Washington harbor on Isle Royale at 3 a. m., and that the ship sank an hour and a half later. It was assumed here that this gave all persons on board ample time to board lifeboats.

Newly Married Couple Found Shot to Death

HUNTINGTON, Texas, June 7. (AP)—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gibson were found beside their automobile on a country road near here late today. They had been shot to death. They left their home yesterday for a short ride and when they failed to return last night a searching party was organized. The couple had been married about two months.

Southern Cross Takes Off On Third Leg of Argosy Over Pacific Seas

Kingsford-Smith and Companions Soar Away From Suva To Destination On Australian Continent

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7. (AP)—The naval radio station here received the following radio message from the monoplane Southern Cross at 9 p. m., Pacific coast time:

"To all ships—well, here we are on our way again. Everything is running o. k. In 19 or 20 hours we will be in dear old Aussie. Our landing in Brisbane will be the culmination of ten months, hard work and the realization of Smithy's and my ambition to be the first to really cross the Pacific by air.

"After our arrival in Brisbane we will leave the next day for Sydney by air but please assure the Brisbane public that we intend returning there on a tour after a couple of week's rest. Cheerio from all. Ulm."

The instructions concerning assurances to the Brisbane public evidently were intended for Australian land stations.

SUVA, Fiji Islands, June 8.—(Friday)—(UP)—Soaring into the skies from the beach at Naselai, the monoplane Southern Cross, to whose credit stands the longest over-water flight ever made, this afternoon started on the last leg of its three-stop journey from California to Australia.

Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith was at the controls as the big three-motored Fokker, its blue and silver colorings flashing in the sunlight, roared away from the beach at 2:45 p. m. (9:55 p. m. Thursday, eastern standard time).

1795 Miles to Go

Before the plane and its occupants lay 1795 miles of South Pacific ocean. Successful completion of the jump will take Kingsford-

THAW TO SEE LONDON SIGHTS

Noted Character Wins Way Into England

SOUTHAMPTON, England, June 7. (US)—Harry K. Thaw's desire to see the sights of Piccadilly will likely be realized within the next 24 hours, for Universal Service was authoritatively informed late tonight that he probably will leave the isolation of the Aquitania by 9 o'clock tomorrow night.

After a restless day, most of which was spent in communicating with anyone who might possibly be able to help him, Thaw tonight held a four-hour conference with his London solicitors. After the conference he was most elated, but refused to discuss what took place, saying:

"I have been advised that further publicity would hurt matters at this moment. The situation now is a most delicate one and demands careful handling."

It is understood the home office has been informed that Thaw was never convicted of extraditable crime, restrictions in the order upon which he now is being detained and it is anticipated that through this loophole in the order he will manage to get the decision to send him back to the United States altered.

MABEL BOLL IN FUTILE FLIGHT

Big Plane Forced Back In Take-Off

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., June 7. (AP)—Oliver Le Boutillier, pilot of the monoplane Columbia, in which Miss Mabel Boll plans a transatlantic flight to Europe, announced tonight that a take-off for Old Orchard, Maine, would be made about 2 o'clock tomorrow morning.

CURTISS FIELD, L. I., June 7. (UP)—Miss Mabel Boll, recovering from a futile six-hour flight over the fog-ridden New England coast, apparently was more determined than ever tonight that she would be the first woman to cross the Atlantic in an airplane.

The sturdy monoplane Columbia, forced to return here after departing for Old Orchard, Me., on the first leg of a flight to Europe, had no more than taxied to a stop than Miss Boll was climbing from a tiny cubby hole behind the gasoline tanks, undismayed by the misfortune which had overtaken her and the Columbia's co-pilots.

She immediately went into conference with Charles A. Levine, who placed the monoplane at her disposal. The conference was lengthy and what decision, if any, was reached in regard to another attempt, was not made public.

"It was unfortunate," said Miss Boll, "but when we start next time, we'll have better weather charts."

Except for the fact that there would be a "next time" the Rochester heiress would give no indication of her future plans.

Oliver C. Le Boutillier, pilot, and Captain Arthur Argles, navigator, and co-pilot for Miss Boll, said the fog was "so thick you couldn't see your hand in front of your face."

They estimated they were in 50 miles of Old Orchard when the decision to return was reached.

Andrew Surini, mechanic, accompanied the fliers on the unsuccessful trip today. He would have prepared the plane at Old Orchard had the flight been successful.

"Yankee Doodle" Rides New Pony In Effort to Break Flight Record

ROCKWELL FIELD, SAN DIEGO, June 7. (US)—Yankee Doodle is riding to town on a brand-new pony.

He left this field at 1:15:08 this afternoon and is now believed to be zooming across America at the speed of 150 miles an hour in an effort to add some bright new feathers to Uncle Sam's flying helmet and establish a new transcontinental non-stop record for a flight from west to east.

The Yankee Doodle is a beautiful, red, white and blue Lockheed Super-Vega monoplane. It rose gracefully from the army field here after a run of 2000 feet, and rapidly gaining altitude, headed for the mountains.

Lee Shoenhair, pilot, and Harry J. Tucker, owner, expect to cross the United States in 18 to 19 hours.

The present record, established several years ago by Lieut. Kelley and McReady, flying east to west, is 26 hours.

TORNADO HITS AT CHILLICOTHE AND VERNON

County Club Smashed As Optimists Hold Inter-City Meet

ONLY ONE INJURED

Night Time Temperature Record Made Here As Freak Wind Hits

A high hot wind which swept out of the west like a blast from a furnace alarmed hundreds of Wichita Falls residents Thursday night, sent the temperature here up to 102 degrees at 11 o'clock at night, and did considerable damage in Vernon and Chillicothe where it approached the proportions of a tornado.

Vernon Man Hurt

Only one person, Aubrey Foster, of Vernon, was injured, slightly, according to a check of the northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma territory made by The Record News. Trees were uprooted and the roof of the Country club torn off at Vernon, according to reports given The Record News. At Chillicothe many small buildings were damaged, and several large ones unroofed. Trees were also blown down over a wide area, reports said.

So far as could be learned from long distance communication with the towns in this area, the storm or wind travelled at a much slower rate than that of Sunday night, and was accompanied by rain or hail at only a few isolated points. The storm area extended north into Oklahoma as far as Frederick and Altus, and as far south as Dundee, Seymour and Archer City, although at the latter two cities the wind amounted to little more than a heavy sandstorm.

The wind or storm's greatest intensity seemed to be along the route of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad. Towns along the line, however, reported little serious damage. Telephone communication with Oklaunion, in the path of the wind near Vernon, had not been restored early this morning, however, and no report could be secured from that area.

City Alarmed

Striking in Wichita Falls shortly before 10 o'clock, the wind sent the mercury here climbing from 88 degrees to 102 degrees in a period of about 30 minutes, according to an unofficial reading of the thermometer maintained by the Texas Electric Service company. At 11 o'clock the temperature had dropped back to 90 degrees and shortly before midnight to 88 degrees. Old time residents of West Texas told The Record News that such a wind at night was unprecedented, and could recall no similar instance in past history.

For a period of more than an hour, telephones in The Record News office rang incessantly with demands for the cause of the wind, and the possibilities of a tornado.

CHICAGO, June 7. (US)—"Why shouldn't a preacher swear?" was the subject of a statement received in Chicago church circles today from the Rev. Granville M. Calhoun, D. D., of the Milwaukee Kingsley M. E. church.

Rev. Granville listed 10 reasons why he swore. They are:

"It pleases mother so much.
"It is a fine mark of manliness.
"It proves I have self control.
"It indicates how clearly my mind operates.
"It makes my conversation so pleasing to everybody.
"It leaves no doubt in any one's mind as to my good breeding.
"It impresses people that I have more than an ordinary education.
"It is an unmistakable sign of culture and refinement.
"It makes me a very desirable personality among women and children and in respectable society.
"It is my way of honoring God who said 'Thou shalt not take the name of thy God in vain.'"

Dr. Calhoun's shafts of sarcasm toward profanity are said to have made cussing experts sign a pledge for clean language.

GIRL'S FURY UPSETS COURT

Frenzied Outburst Halts Murder Trial

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., June 7. (UP) Jumping from the witness stand, shaking her clenched fist and screaming, Margaret Bumbaugh, 31, on trial for the murder of Walter H. Cook, wealthy Niles manufacturer, today threw the court room into a frenzy of excitement and stopped proceedings until her hysteria could be calmed.

It was the girl's second dramatic outburst of the day during cross-examination and caused such confusion that additional deputies were sent from the jail across the street to keep the audience in order.

"Mother, mother," she shouted, "don't let them kill the boys. They may kill me but spare the boys."

Parents in Court

By the "boys," the witness was referring to her brothers, George and Girard, who are charged jointly with the sister on a first degree murder charge.

The defendant's mother and father, tears streaming down their cheeks, and her brother, George, rushed to her side but she jumped from the stand and rushed to the jury box. Shaking her fist at the jurors she screamed in a voice that reverberated throughtout the courthouse.

"Take my life. Kill me if you like, but spare my brothers—they have done nothing."

By this time the spectators were panicky. Women cried and attempted to push their way through the court railing apparently in an effort to offer comfort to the girl and her mother. Baliffs and deputies held them back, however.

Court Recessed

The mother, father and two brothers gathered about the hysterical woman, but it was several minutes before she could be calmed.

Judge Charles E. White held a hasty conference with rival attorneys and court was recessed and Miss Bumbaugh was led to the jurist's private chambers. A doctor was called to attend her.

Twenty minutes later she was brought back into the courtroom but she was not placed on the stand again.

Her first outburst occurred about a half hour before when Prosecutor George Bookwalter was questioning her relentlessly on the one question. "When did you stop loving him?"

She jumped to her feet, clenched her fist and screamed:

"I loved him—I loved him until the trip to Chicago when he told me there were other girls in his life. I told him I was his; that I had given my all to him."

Waste Box Holds $105,000 in Bonds

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 7. (AP)—A package of negotiable bonds valued at $105,000 missing from the New York office of the First National Bond corporation since last Thursday, was found in a bale of waste paper at a paper box plant here today.

On the slight chance that they might be found in the waste paper removed from the office on that day, officials communicated with the company which disposes of the paper.

When one of the bond company officials arrived here he was told that six of the 22 bales of paper received had already been ground into pulp. However, examination of the other 16 bales was started and before the search had gone far the envelope containing the bonds was found.

Poincare Prepares Way For New Rate Scheme

PARIS, June 7. (AP)—Premier Poincare told the chamber of deputies today what was necessary to keep the franc stabilized once the new rate legally was established. He carefully avoided, however, indicating the date he purposes to perform the operation.

France, the premier said, must continue to spend less than she receives, produce more than she consumes and export more than she imports.

Flores is hiking from Buenos Aires to New York and has already covered 15,400 miles in 695 days. Four companions started the trip with him, he said, but one was killed in a fall from the side of a mountain, another was drowned, one died from disease and the fourth dropped out.

County Candidate Tells Views On Issues

To the voters and taxpayers of precinct No. 1, Wichita county, Texas:

Some time ago I made announcement of my candidacy for county commissioner from precinct 1. I think it is nothing but fair that I make a statement of the reasons I am asking the voters to confer on me the honor of serving you in this capacity.

Having lived here 40 years I think a statement of the experience I have had is sufficient introduction. Therefore I will state that I served eight years with the American Express company as local agent and auditor, 15 years as salesman and later as local merchant. All of these things I feel have given me experience I can bring to the office and that will be of value to the taxpayers of the precinct and county. In fact I feel sure that it will not be necessary for the county to hire high priced auditors to check the accounts of the county officials submitted to the county auditor, and it is the duty of the commissioners to do this work. The other experiences have given me first hand information into the problems of the average man, the worker and the business people that should be of value when questions affecting their interests come up.

And I specifically promise the voters that I will at all times refuse to make expenditures by the warrant route, for I believe warrants should only be issued when an emergency exists such as fire, flood, pestilence or other unforeseeable catastrophies arise and that that this is the meaning of the law that makes their issuance possible. I do not believe the law intends them to build bridges or roads to help some private interest where the court knows good and well that the people would not stand for a bond issue for those benefits. The people demonstrated that fact when the last bond election was called for road bonds. Yet I do not feel that progress should be hindered and I believe that the people of the precinct are for community progress and should be given a chance to say how much money the commissioners should spend and where.

I am Democratic in my ideas—believe that things should be done for the greatest good for the greatest number of people, not for the increase of wealth of the wealthiest. I further believe that the enormous sums paid by the people of Wichita county in the three-cent gasoline tax and automobile license should be largely spent for the good of this county and that we as a people, and the commissioners court in particular, should exert every influence to see that the next legislature provides such a law, for I do not believe that it is right or fair that Wichita county should pay into the state treasury the large sum that it does now to build roads in East Texas counties where they only produce politicians and probably a few sweet potatoes and at the same time spend their lesiure moments cussing West Texas oil men.

In regard to this tax reduction, I will say that I think the people are really entitled to it, and that it is a good thing that campaign year comes around now and then and that office holders have a little competition, for it seems this is necessary to bring tax reduction about. The same requests were made for the past two years and the commissioners turned a deaf ear to the proposition until such time as it could be used as campaign propaganda.

On these policies, and assuring you that if elected I will endeavor to consider fairly all questions affecting the interest of the precinct and that I have the backbone and stamina to follow my judgment free of dictation from outside interests, I ask your vote in the Democratic primary.

William J. Wales and one of his teams.

Probably the only driver in the world of horsedom whose hands are considered valuable enough by his employers to be worth a $50,000 insurance policy is William J. Wales, internationally known driver for the Union Stock Yards, Chicago—and he admits he has never been on a race track in his life.

Lamar Bank Suspects Are Unidentified

SHAWNEE, Okla., June 7. (UP) Another suspected trail to the identity of gangsters who robbed the First National bank of Lamar, Colo., killing three men, blew up here today when witnesses to the Lamar robbery failed to identify Charles Holden, 38, former Oklahoma convict, arrested as a suspect.

Several Lamar citizens who saw the robbery, summoned when Holden was arrested on his chicken farm near here, failed to connect him with the case. Officers said Holden probably would be released.

SEEK TO END CHURCH WARS

Mexico Opens Negotiations With Catholics

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Negotiations are under way looking toward settlement of difficulties between the Mexican government and the Roman Catholic church. This may be stated definitely today, but with equal definiteness it may be added that any announcement of progress is premature.

Dwight W. Morrow, United States ambassador to Mexico, who is here on leave, declined tonight to make any comment, either on the situation in general or on the negotiations which Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz of Michoacan, is reported to be conducting with the vatican in Rome for a settlement of the difficulties between the Calles government in Mexico and the Roman Catholic church.

Aids Negotiations

For months unofficial negotiations have been in progress between President Calles and representatives of the Roman Catholic church, some of whom have been permitted to visit Mexico. Mr. Morrow used his good offices in a purely personal way toward bringing the opposing factions together for negotiations.

Although Archbishop Ruiz is an exile from Mexico, along with other church dignitaries, he was permitted to make a secret visit to Mexico, and discussed church problems with President Calles. So the negotiator who is presenting the case to the pope in Rome has the advantage of being able to say President Calles' position is much the same as that previously announced by him. He is reported to be willing to have the religious laws of Mexico enforced reasonably. He is apparently unwilling to alter the existing laws, and is reported to take the attitude that the Roman Catholic church may resume services in Mexico if it desires to do so under existing laws.

Team Driver's Hands Insured for $50,000 by Chicago Employers

By DAVID I. DAY
Staff Writer for Central Press and Record News

CHICAGO, June 7.—The only driver in the world of horsedom whose hands are considered valuable enough by his employers to be worth a $50,000 insurance policy is William J. Wales, internationally known driver for the Union Stock Yards—and he admits he was never on a race track in his life.

The fact is that "Billy" Wales' fame rests upon his ability to drive draft horses, the big Percherons, Belgians and Clydesdales weighing up to a ton each. He drives 'em singly, in tandem and in teams of four, six, eight and even 12-horse teams. He drives 'em in crowds, at great expositions and — before kings!

Appeared Before Kings

Just 21 years ago, Wales made his first trip with his big teams to the capitals of Europe. The high points of that five months' trip were special exhibitions at London for King Edward VII, and later at Edinburgh for the Prince of Wales, now King George V. Since then Wales has demonstrated the dexterity of his driving hands before many of the world's celebrities.

Following the tour of Europe, Wales and his big nags became a feature attraction of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show. Then big business grabbed him. He became the trainer and driver of exhibition draft teams for the Union Stock Yards back in 1914. Other employers were the Hanley Brewing company and the National Biscuit company. For the brewery folks, he trained and drove a 12-horse Belgian team weighing nearly 30,000 pounds, which proved a sensation at the Madison Square Garden and before big crowds throughout the nation.

Back in the Yards

Now, "Billy" Wales is back at the Exchange avenue stables of the Union Stock Yards training a team of eight horses, each of which tip the beams at a ton or more—and he is happy. The high collars worn by these massive horses weigh 20 pounds each and each contains 50 square feet of leather. When driving them six at a time with two in reserve, the lines would reach a city block. The harness has 214 brass buckles which are polished daily.

Wales is now nearly 62 years old, but he looks forward to years of annual triumphs where the crowds are thickest.

"I like the life—and horses," he says. "I like to sense the enthusiasm of great gatherings of people and the feel of power over the big horses—for I guide them and control them more with my voice than with the lines, and I talk little. Between horses and men as between people, there grows an understanding with time!"

Spiritualist Churches Increase in Texas

AUSTIN, June 7. (AP)—Texas had 18 Spiritualist churches (National Spiritualists' association) in the latest accounting by the federal department of commerce census bureau reported here. Only two churches were reported from the state in 1916.

Membership of the 18 churches was 1123.

The state also had nine reorganized Churches of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, with a membership of 1013, as compared to 11 churches in 1916, when the membership was 1068.

Including holders of season tickets, the passengers carried by the London nad North Eastern railway last year were 47,000,000 fewer than in 1925.

Ramblin'

with

Marie Theresa

THANKS. Now I guess I'll sit at the counter for my daily three cups of coffee.

A few days ago Marie Theresa voiced a complaint at the 10 cents charged by local restaurants for a cup of coffee consumed at a table, while the same cup of coffee could be had at the counter for one-half that amount. In addition to three or four verbal answers, I have received the following explanation, anonymous, but pretty plainly stated:

"Dear Marie Theresa:

"Your article of inquiry regarding the charge made for a cup of coffee by restaurants interested me, and I made some inquiries. I find that in a five-cent cup of coffee, even when served at the counter, there is little profit. When the same price is charged at the table, the restaurant loses money. Show me a group of four persons at a table drinking coffee, newspaper men and women included, who will not spill coffee on the table cloth, soil four napkins, and otherwise mess up a table with pencil markings, smoking, etc. The cost of laundering a table cloth is 10 cents, a napkin 3 cents, a total of 22 cents, not including the coffee, service, cream, sugar and dish washing. And when two or three persons sit at a table for coffee at the noon or dinner hour, keeping those who might come in for a meal waiting, the loss is greater still, for there is no way of determining the profit that might have been realized from customers turned away."

Sounds plausible, doesn't it? While the financing of these coffee drinking expeditions has never bothered Marie Theresa a great deal, she has always been curious to know the reason for the cover charge. Now she knows, and we'll all sit at the counter.

THIS QUESTION of women smoking has ceased to be interesting except that varying answers bring out varying sidelights. One woman was heard to say at the recently held biennial of Women's Federated clubs in San Antonio, "If I were slender I would smoke, but in a fat woman smoking is common, ugh!" She admitted to tipping the scales at 160, which after you give it a thought, may be reason enough to refrain from the use of the rather ubiquitous cigaret.

CHIC CHERIE — Chilly Enough for Coats — LATEST FASHIONS

Coats? Impossible! Well, just look at them if you don't believe it. Even Paris isn't perfect and any summer may have a chilly day or two. The coat to the left is notable for its diagonal band that looks like a diplomatic ribbon and makes a flare for the skirt. The other coat is princess in line with trimmings vaguely military.

And Cherie, who is looking at these coats through the window, is wearing a blouse that uses both sides of satin crepe. And Dina is wearing a blouse that has a pointed yoke outlined by fagoting, and sleeves and waistline trimming of fagoting, too. If anything more is needed to convince you it's smart we say only that it is yellow.

The cape suit combines two fashionable colors—green and gray. Two shades of gray are used for the other ensemble, which is about the slickest thing in princess silhouettes we have seen this season. "Time to reduce," says Cherie, "if that long, slim and fitted stuff is really coming in"—and she takes another piece of chocolate candy. Two more coats and then we're done for the day, but don't neglect these two. There's a slight back dip to the one on the left following the line of the seaming and that's new in coats; and the coat to the right has a different kind of cape, split in two and overlapping—and (this is important) nor hide nor hair of a sign of a collar.

Camp Fire Girls Return to Camp Following Storm

Undaunted by the storm of last Sunday night which tore away the west wall of the rock house and did considerable damage to the camp, Camp Fire Girls returned to Camp Griffith at Diversion dam for the second session of the annual summer camp Thursday!

However, registration is being limited so that the girls can be adequately cared for in the rock building. The third well has been put down, so there is now cool, pure, running water for the camp. The house is being repaired from the effects of the storm and everything will soon be in good running order.

Wichita Falls homes have been opened to the girls from Stamford, who have been waiting here to go back to camp. Maxine Rowland, Josephine Pinson and Margaret Upshaw were entertained in the home of Mrs. Ernest Allen; Wyatt Booth and Jeanete Davis in the home of Mrs. H. R. Hanks; Emelyne Link was a guest in the home of Mrs. Emory Morgan; Margaret Cundiff in the home of Mrs. H. E. Bradley; Clarice Buie in the home of Mrs. W. K. ## Texas Mother Finds Best Plan

When Nature fails you, try and help yourself by the most natural method! That's the advice of leading authorities nowadays; and for over fifty years it has been the plan of the makers of California Fig Syrup. The quick, easy way this pure, wholesome product relieves children of those symptoms of stubborn bowels, such as headaches, biliousness, coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy, etc., and makes them strong, energetic and rosy-cheeked again shows there's no use drugging a child with harsh purgative medicines. And Fig Syrup helps give tone and strength to weak, flabby stomach and bowels so they continue to act of their own accord, and you don't have to keep dosing them. Its popularity is shown by its sales record of over four million bottles a year and by parise thousands of mothers are fairly showering on it. A Texas mother, Mrs. M. H. Goodrich of 1530 S. Olive St., San Antonio, enthusiastically declares: "My big, fat boy, Milton, Jr., is now six. He is strong and energetic and weighs 43 pounds. I give California Fig Syrup a lot of credit for his condition. I have used it with him since babyhood for every cold or upset spell. It always regulates him quick and starts him to eating right and improving in every way."

Your protection against inferior substitutes is the word "California," which always appears on the carton of genuine California Fig Syrup.—Adv.

Deserted Wives Cause Their Own Misery by Everlasting Wailing

Deserted Wives Continually Wail to High Heaven That They Are Forsaken Because of Their Age and Lack of Beauty—Actually, the Cause Is Their Own Dispositions and Failure to Jolly Their Husbands.

Whenever a woman loses her husband to another woman, she invariably attributes her misfortune to her age and weight. This excuses her and saves her face, as the Chinese say, for becoming fair, fat and 40 is an act of God for which no woman is responsible and which no human agency can avert.

But in reality this alibi of the forsaken wife will not hold water. Men tire of their wives, and fall out of love with them for a hundred different reasons, but middle age and losing pulchritude are not among them. It is not time that waves the wand of disenchantment.

To begin with, few women are married for their beauty, or else the old-maid crop would be much larger than it is. Every woman likes to believe that she has a face that would launch a thousand ships, but this is a delusion in which her husband has never shared. He did not pick her out for a wife because he thought she would be a prize-winner in a bathing beauty contest, but simply because for some reason she looked good to him, even if her features were a little scrambled, her complexion synthetic and her hair as straight as a poker.

Furthermore, as long as she continues to please him in other directions, she keeps on looking good to him, for, by the mercy of heaven, few husbands ever take a good, long, appraising look at their wives after they leave the altar. They keep the impressions they had of their brides, and the average wife could wear a dress cut off to the knees or one that trailed on the floor, and have her hair bobbed or coiled in a coiffure a foot high on her head, and her husband would never know the difference unless she called his attention to it.

More than that, none of us notice the changes that take place in those with whom we are daily associated. They come so imperceptibly that we are not aware of them, and it is ridiculous to think of a man ceasing to care for his wife because she is a couple of pounds heavier this year than she was last year, or because she has acquired a few more gray hairs or another wrinkle at the corner of her eyes.

When a husband loses his affection for his wife because of her appearance, it is because she has let herself get repulsive-looking. It is because she goes sloppy and dirty around the house. Or because she looks shrewish and peevish. It is not because she has lost the skin you love to touch, but because she has the temper you are afraid to rouse.

No. Few women lose their husbands because they have grown middle-aged and have acquired feather-bed or beanpole figures. Most women who lose their husbands lose them as they lose their diamonds, through carelessness. They have an idea that once a woman has acquired a husband that he is hers for keeps, and that she can't possibly mislay or get him stolen.

So she treats him any old way. She never shows him the slightest consideration. She never has any regard for his feelings. She doesn't show him even ordinary politeness. She speaks to him as she would not dare to speak to any other human being on earth, and she lets him see that she considers his only purpose in nature is to provide the money for her, and the children to splurge upon.

All of us know households in which after the first baby was born the husband ceased to exist as a man for his wife and merely became the children's father. All of us know wives who never speak to their husbands except to find fault, and who do not hesitate to criticize their husbands before strangers. All of us know wives who whine and complain because they cannot have the things that richer women have, and who humiliate their husbands continually by twitting them with their failures. All of us know wives who go off and stay for months at a time, leaving their husbands alone to get along as best they can.

Sooner or later these women lose their husbands, and they beat upon their breasts and cry out that they have been forsaken for younger and fairer women because they have got old, but there isn't a word of truth in it. They haven't lost their husbands because they have lost their looks, but because of the way they have treated them.

Wives lose their husbands through their nagging, that makes even a worm of a husband turn and crawl away after a while. They lose their husbands by their petty tyrannies that make them enslave the men to whom they are married and deny them every vestige of personal liberty, even about what they eat and wear and what time they come home of an evening.

But, most of all, wives lose their husbands through their failure to be companions to them.

Very often after marriage a woman lets herself slump mentally. She sits down and folds her hands and lets the procession go on without her. She never reads anything. She never keeps up with what is going on in the world. She never gets a new idea. She can't talk about anything except the children and the price of butcher's meat, and what the people next door are doing, and if she is married to an intelligent man she bores him until he comes to hate her.

Sometimes she is the type of woman who will never chum up with her husband, or enter into any of his plans. She won't play with him. She is never ready to grab her hat and go off on a lark, and when he does drag her out, she wet-blankets the occasion by finding fault with everything and counting the cost.

Oftenest of all, she is a woman who never even tries to understand her husband and sympathize with him. She never tells him that she loves him. She never tells him that she thinks he is handsomer than any sheik. She never tells him that she thinks he is just wonderful, and that he is the grandest man in the world. She never tells him how she appreciates all that he does for her, and how she blesses her lucky stars for having got him as a husband.

And because every man must have some woman who loves him and admires him and flatters him, some woman to whom he can show his heart, the woman who will not be a companion to her husband loses him to some other woman who is a good sport.

Oh, many wives lose their husbands, but it is not because of their age and lack of beauty. It is because of their dispositions, and because they don't jolly their husbands along.—DOROTHY DIX.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 7.—As a result of the annual army inspection by regular officers of the regular army, the Texas national guard, composed of 169 units, and 8200 officers and men, has been rated at 81.25 per cent, which is "very satisfactory." This showing makes the Texas national guard one of the best in the United States, stated Adjutant General R. L. Robertson.

The precentage last year was 68 per cent. This year's report shows that 139 of the units were found "very satisfactory" in helath conditions, efficiency in training and the like, as compared to 117 last year.

Lieut. Col. Taylor Nichols, assistant adjutant general, stated that as far as he knows the Texas guard's rating is the best in the nation. Texas has one complete infantry division, the 36th, including the air squadron, under command of Major General John A. ## Politics by Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald

MRS. KNAPP OF NEW YORK

Politics is an ugly game and there are many who invade the arena who pay the price. That is, if convicted of wrong doing. Florence E. S. Knapp of New York, former secretary of state and the first woman ever elected to high office in the entire commonwealth, is facing a term in the penitentiary.

She was convicted by a supreme court jury on a charge of stealing a $2875 census check issued in the name of her step-daughter, Clara Blanche Knapp, a Vermont college instructor. She was indicted for grand larceny. This was the second time she had been tried. At the first trial the jury disagreed. Indeed, the press carried a story at the time that eleven of the jurors were for conviction and one for acquittal.

Her step-daughter was the principal witness against Mrs. Knapp. She declared positively that her name was never on the roll of the census workers, that she was in Vermont at the time when the state census was taken, that she has never received the check and had never known of its existence until the grand jury had returned an indictment against her step-mother.

This verdict on the grand larceny charge carries with it imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term ranging from four to ten years, discretionary with the judge. Mrs. Knapp is a college bred woman. She was a leader in the fight for suffrage. She was an outstanding champion of the Republican party before and after suffrage came in. Indeed, she was admitted to be the most popular and the best equipped woman on the Republican side for secretary of state when the leaders of the party placed her name on the ticket.

She was elected secretary of state when Al Smith was given a huge majority for governor and carried with him to victory most of his party nominees. As secretary of state, she conducted through her organization the census taking of the population of the commonwealth. It was charged by newspapers that large sums of money were paid to persons who did little or no service, and that gross favoritism was shown in making the appointments of the census taking division.

After her retirement from office Mrs. Knapp became dean of women of one of the foremost colleges of the empire state of the East. Now she is a down and outer and may wear the garb of a convict in the near future. George Cohan was right. "Life is a queer proposition after all."

WHEN SCHOOL TURNED OUT

Why, I shall ne'er forget the joy
When school years came to end;
Those days when I was just a boy,
And souls did not depend
On all the means that I employ
To give them what they spend.

Though up in years, I'm still in school,
And getting ample share
Of definition, word, and rule,
And home-work to prepare.
Life's strict quiz-masters I can't fool.
School never closes there.

One-Minute Sermon

And He looked up, and saw the rich men casting their gifts into the treasury.

And He saw also a certain poor widow casting in thither two mites.

And He said, Of a truth I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast in more than they all:

For all these have of their abundance cast into the offerings of God: but she of her penury hath cast in all the living that she had.—St. Luke, xxi, 1-4.

Money for Modern Highways

ON THE SAME DAY that President Coolidge signed the $82,500,000 federal good roads bill, the attorney general of Texas approved $800,000 bonds of road district No. 1 of Hidalgo county.

This federal appropriation carried $75,000,000 for aid to states in road building and $7,500,000 for national forest roads and trails. Every time Uncle Sam appropriates a dollar for road building purposes, Old Man Texas is there to match him with another dollar.

Henry Ford is responsible for the road building age as well as well as the auto building age. Country dwellers fell for the tin Lizzie. Country dwellers had a new birth. They saw that a Ford automobile had to have a hard surface or gravel road to run on.

They became converts to the doctrine of bond issues for public improvements, they annihilated distance and they placed country and city in a 20th century alliance.

And this is merely the beginning.

An Appeal for the Boy Scouts

THE BOY SCOUTS of Wichita Falls are in need of a generous friend.

During Sunday night's storm about 24 feet of the roof of their camp at Diversion Lake was torn off by the wind. It is estimated that $300 will be required to make repairs to make the camp habitable. The Scout Council finds itself without funds to make the needed repairs.

The budget for the scouts was pared down to the barest necessities when the fund was made up at the beginning of the year. No emergencies were provided for. Scout Executive Frank Creighton and Scouts have worked hard to prepare the camp for the groups of boys who were beginning to use it and who had expected to use it throughout the summer. Out of the sky came the visitation which wrecked the camp and which made it well nigh useless until it is repaired.

But the Scouts and their Council have faith that their need will be met. Scout Executive Creighton has been instructed to proceed with the repair of the camp and to proceed with plans for the summer. They are hoping that some good friend will come forward with the needed funds. Some generous Wichitan can make the Scouts and Mr. Creighton happy by calling the scout executive over the telephone and telling him that a check is being sent to cover the cost of the repairs.

Largest Hog in the World

NEBRASKA comes to the front with the largest hog in existence William Deichmann is the owner of the hog, and the animal stands 51 inches high and weighs 1225 pounds. Nebraska is a state where the cow and the sow and the hen make dividends for farmers.

Nebraska is the state where the voters elect two senators who are for farm relief legislation and whenever it is necessary, they break party lines to put over a program for the advancement of the men who till the soil, produce the food staples and do the best they can for themselves.

Governor Adam McMullen of Nebraska will lead 10,000 farmers to the Kansas City convention, farmers who will wear big straw hats, jumpers and overalls and brogan shoes. They make this march from the farm to the Kansas City convention to tell the master minds that all their farm relief plank must be planted in the Republican platform and candidates who are in sympathy with the platform named for president and vice president.

"Back to Abraham Lincoln" is one of their slogans. "Back to Andrew Jackson" was the slogan of the Democrats who attended the Jackson day dinner in the city of Washington.

Well, the Democrats are not going "back to Jackson," neither are the Republicans going "back to Abraham Lincoln." Not this year at least.

The Combine and Harvest Labor

THE state labor commissioner of Oklahoma has sent out word that there will be no great demand for harvest labor from Oklahoma this season. He gives as a reason the increasing use of combines for the harvesting of wheat. These combines cut and thresh the wheat at one operation. Five or six men can do the work that formerly required 30 or more men.

Only a few years ago the wheat harvest called to many thousands of laborers, many of whom followed the ripened wheat from Texas through Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and the Dakotas into Canada, starting in Texas in June and finishing in Canada late in the fall. Now the combines are supplanting the old time reaper, the hay wagon, the old time threshing machine and only a fourth or a fifth the men once employed are now required. Most of these men are already employed on the farms and the additional labor that is required can be obtained for the most part from nearby sources.

Harvest labor has been one of the big problems of wheat growing in the West. Combines are in a large measure solving this problem. So are the tractor, the gang plow, the double cultivator, the corn husking machines and other new and improved farm machinery helping solve the problem of other farm labor.

It is a higher class of farm labor that is required to operate this machinery. It is a class that draws better pay. The passing of the old system certainly cannot be regretted by the farmers themselves.

KENNETH SPOTSWOODE, a manufacturer

THE STORY THUS FAR

Skeel's finger prints were found in the apartment of the strangled Margaret Odell, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the murderer did his work. The thing that baffles police is the door to the alley. It was bolted on the inside, seemingly precluding the exit or entrance of anyone through it. Mannix, Dr. Lindquist and Cleaver all lie about their whereabouts the night of the murder. Spotswoode, who had called on the girl, had rushed to the door at sound of a scream, but had been reassured through the door that nothing was wrong. Later Skeel is found strangled, after promising to reveal the murderer. Vance demonstrated how Skeel could have manipulated the side door and asks Markham to invite Spotswoode, Cleaver and Mannix to his apartment for a poker game, promising to reveal the murderer after it is over. Cleaver wins an unusually large stake from Vance, beating four kings with a straight flush.

CHAPTER XLVIII

About half an hour later Vance again took out his handkerchief and passed it across his forehead. As before, I noted that it was Allen's deal, and also that the hand was a jack-pot which had been twice sweetened. Allen paused to take a drink of his high-ball and to light his cigar. Then, after Vance had cut the cards, he dealt them.

Cleaver, Markham and Spotswoode passed, and again Vance opened, for the full amount of the pot. No one stayed except Spotswoode; and this time it was a struggle solely between him and Vance.

Spotswoode asked for one card; and Vance stood pat. Then there followed a moment of almost breathless silence. The atmosphere seemed to me to be electrically charged, and I think the others sensed it, too, for they were watching the play with a curiously strained intentness. Vance and Spotswoode, however, appeared frozen in attitudes of superlative calm. I watched them closely, but neither revealed the slightest indication of any emotion.

It was Vance's first bet. Without speaking he moved a stack of yellow chips to the center of the table—it was by far the largest wager that had been made during the game. But immediately Spotswoode measured another stack alongside of it. Then he coolly and deftly counted the remainder of his chips, and pushed them all forward with the palm of his hand, saying quietly:

"The limit."

Vance shrugged almost imperceptibly.

"The pot, sir, is yours." He smiled pleasantly at Spotswoode, and put down his hand face up, to establish his openers. He had held four aces!

"Gad! That's poker!" exclaimed Allen, chuckling.

"Poker!" echoed Markham. "To law down four aces with all that money at stake?"

Cleaver also grunted his astonishment, and Mannix pursed his lips disgustedly.

"I don't mean any offense, y' understand, Mr. Vance," he said. "But looking at that play from a strictly business standpoint, I'd say you quit too soon."

Spotswoode glanced up.

"You gentlemen wrong Mr. Vance," he said. "He played his hand perfectly. His withdrawal, even with four aces, was scientifically correct."

"Sure it was," agreed Allen. "Oh, boy! What a battle that was!"

Spotswoode nodded and, turning to Vance, said:

"Since the exact situation is never likely to occur again, the least I can do, by way of showing my appreciation of your remarkable perception, is to gratify your curiosity—I held nothing."

Spotswoode put down his hand and extended his fingers gracefully toward the upturned cards. There were revealed a five, six, seven and eight of clubs, and a knave of hearts.

"I can't say that I follow your reasoning, Mr. Spotswoode," Markham confessed. "Mr. Vance had you beaten—and he quit."

"Consider the situation," Spotswoode replied, in a suave, even voice. "I most certainly would have opened so rich a pot, had I been able to after Mr. Cleaver and you had passed. But since I nevertheless stayed after Mr. Vance had opened for so large an amount, it goes without saying that I must have had either a four-straight, a four-flush, or a four-straight-flush. I believe I may state without immodesty that I am too good a player to have stayed otherwise."

"And I assure you, Markham," interrupted Vance, "that Mr. Spotswoode is too good a player to have stayed unless he had actually had a four-straight flush. That is the only hand he would have been justified in backing at the betting odds of two to one."

"You see, I had opened for the amount in the pot, and Mr. Spotswoode had to put up half the amount of the money on the table in order to stay—making it a two-to-one bet.—Now, these odds are not high, and any non-opening hand smaller than a four-straight-flush would not have warranted the risk.

"As it was, he had, with a one-card draw, two chances in forty-seven of making a straight-flush, nine chances in forty-seven of making a flush, and eight chances in forty-seven of making a straight; so that he had nineteen chances in forty-seven—or more than one chance in three—of strengthening his hand into either a straight-flush, a flush, or a straight."

"Exactly," consented Spotswoode. "However, after I had drawn my one card, the only possible question in Mr. Vance's mind was whether or not I had made my straight-flush.

"If I had not made it—or had merely drawn a straight or a flush—Mr. Vance figured, and figured rightly, that I would not have seen his large bet and also have raised it the limit. To have done so, in those circumstances, would have been irrational poker. Not one player in a thousand would have taken such a risk on a mere bluff.

"Therefore, had Mr. Vance not laid down his four aces when I raised him, he would have been foolhardy in the extreme. It turned out, of course, that I was actually bluffing; but that does not alter the fact that the correct and logical thing was for Mr. Vance to quit."

"Quite true," Vance agreed. "As Mr. Spotswoode says, not one player in a thousand would have wagered the limit without having filled his straight-flush, knowing I had a pat hand. Indeed, one might almost say that Mr. Spotswoode, by doing so, has added another decimal point to the psychological subtleties of the game; for, as you see, he analyzed my reasoning, and carried his own reasoning a step further."

Spotswoode acknowledged the compliment with a slight bow; and Cleaver reached for the cards and began to shuffle them. But the tension had been broken, and the game was not resumed.

Something, however, seemed to have gone wrong with Vance. For a long while he sat frowning at his cigaret and sipping his high-ball in troubled abstraction. At last he rose and walked to the mantel, where he stood studying a Cezanne water color he had given Markham years before. His action was a typical indication of his inner puzzlement.

Presently, when there came a lull in the conversation, he turned sharply and looked at Mannix.

"I say Mr. Mannix"—he spoke with only casual curiosity—"how does it happen you've never acquired a taste for poker? All good business men are gamblers at heart."

"Sure they are," Mannix replied, with pensive deliberation. "But poker, now, isn't my idea of gambling—positively not. It's got too much science. And it ain't quick enough for me—it hasn't got the kick in it, if you know what I mean. Roulette's my speed. When I was in Monte Carlo last summer I dropped more money in ten minutes than you gentlemen lost here this whole evening. But I got action for my money."

"I take it, then, you don't care for cards at all."

"Not to play games with," Mannix had become expansive. "I don't mind betting money on the draw of a card, for instance. But no two out of three, y' understand. I want my pleasures to come rapid." And he snapped his thick fingers several times in quick succession to demonstrate the rapidity with which he desired to have his pleasures come.

Vance sauntered to the table and carelessly picked up a deck of cards.

"What do you say to cutting once for a thousand dollars?"

Mannix rose instantly.

"You're on!"

Vance handed the cards over, and Mannix shuffled them. Then he put them down and cut. He turned up a ten. Vance cut, and showed a king.

"A thousand I owe you," said Mannix, with no more concern than if it had been ten cents.

Vance waited without speaking, and Mannix eyed him craftily.

"I'll cut with you again—two thousand this time. Yes?"

Vance raised his eyebrows. "Double? . . . By all means." He shuffled the cards, and cut a seven.

Mannix's hand swooped down and turned a five.

"Well, that's three thousand I owe you," he said. His little eyes had now narrowed into slits, and he held his cigar clamped tightly between his teeth.

"Like to double it again—eh, what?" Vance asked. "Four thousand this time?"

Markham looked at Vance in amazement, and over Allen's face there came an expression of almost ludicrous consternation. Every one present, I believe, was astonished at the offer, for obviously Vance knew that he was giving Mannix tremendous odds by permitting successive doubling.

In the end he was sure to lose. I believe Markham would have protested if at that moment Mannix had not snatched the cards from the table and begun to shuffle them.

"Four thousand it is!" he announced, putting down the deck and cutting. He turned up the queen of diamonds. "You can't beat that lady—positively not!" He was suddenly jovial.

"I fancy you're right," murmured Vance; and he cut a trey.

"Want some more?" asked Mannix, with good-natured aggressiveness.

"That's enough." Vance seemed bored. "Far too excitin'. I haven't your rugged constitution, don't y' know."

He went to the desk and made out a check to Mannix for a thousand dollars. Then he turned to Markham and held out his hand.

"Had a jolly evening and all that sort of thing . . . And, don't forget: we lunch together tomorrow. One o'clock at the club, what?"

Markham hesitated. "If nothing interferes."

"But really, y' know, it mustn't," insisted Vance. "You've no idea how eager you are to see me."

He was unusually silent and thoughtful during the ride home. Not one explanatory word could I get out of him. But when he bade me good night he said:

"There's a vital part of the puzzle still missing, and until it's found none of it has any meaning."

PLANS SCHOOL FOR HOBODOM

Millionaire to Teach Road Manners

WASHINGTON, June 7. (UP)—The capital is to have a new college—a "knowledge box"—where the elite of hobodom will go to school, according to plans formulated by Thomas Shannon of California, organizer of the International Brotherhood Welfare association. The college program is sponsored by Dr. James Eads How, millionaire wanderer and grand old man of the open road.

Profs Volunteer

Headquarters have been opened here and Shannon expects to have the hobo college operating within a month. Professors and lecturers of Washington schools have volunteered to instruct at the new college, he said.

Subjects to be taught are undecided but will probably include classes in cooking, economics, personal hygiene and elementary law.

"We will try to make the 'hobo' a better citizen," the organizer explained, "teach him to respect the rights of others and the communities through which he passes. In this manner we hope to give the public and hoboes both a better understanding of the others' problems. It has been Doc How's life-long dream."

Hobo Life Changed

Just what noted knights of the old road would think of the modern trend of hobodom, Shannon could not say, but he expressed the belief that the life of the great brotherhood has changed—for better or worse, according to your viewpoint.

Responsible for this great change is the automobile. Transportation is the real problem in every hobo's life, equally as important as food, and as the automobile changed the entire contour of American civic life, so is it changing the habits of the hobo.

No longer do the nomads "flip bumpers" or ride the "John O'Briens" (box cars). Instead they tour the country on rubber tires—some one else's rubber tires, of course."

Seek Comfort

"It isn't that the rattlers are harder to flip nowadays," Shannon explained, "but the buggies are so numerous and the roads so many that it is much quicker and easier to 'snitch' a ride on the rubber.

"Practically 80 per cent of the hoboes have left the steel for the highways. Riding on the leather gives them ideas and a desire for comfort. They want to know how the other fellow gets such things and we will try to teach them."

Hunt Missing Link

SEATTLE.—The British schooner, Effie M. Morrissey, commanded by Captain R. A. Bartlett, recently anchored here to load supplies for a trip to northern waters. The expedition will try to determine whether a band of Toltecs, crossing from Asia to the Aleutian islands, were the first settlers of North America. The ship will visit several islands in the north where old mummies are thought to be buried. The explorers hope to find traces of prehistoric man and rare northern animals.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Observations of a wanderer on Fraudway, sometimes called Broadway:

Adolph Zukor, the small-sized big movie man, walking to work. He has a soft voice and belies popular ideas regarding what a money-master looks like. A noon-hour Bible lecturer shouting "Have faith! Have faith!" while a nearby hawker sells "Dollar watches for 25 cents—the same kind you see advertised in the magazines for four and five dollars!" The horse of a mounted cop who keeps auto parkers moving in side streets, wants to get up on the sidewalk, and has two nice old lady passersby worried. Police mounts get to know shopkeepers, and they whinny when they get to places where they sometimes get sugar or apple handouts. Harry Bruno, who has the only annual pass good on air lines, is Lindbergh's publicity man.

Morris Gest, arguing with his companion, "Talking pictures will change everything," he may be heard saying. Dennis King stops to buy a paper. He is Broadway's biggest matinee idol now, with a popularity rivaling that of the gallery gods of yesteryear. Gets as much fan mail as a movie star. Speaking of fan mail, Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth's rival, gets a lot of it from girls. So do other handsome ball players.

A woman with imitation violets on her hat sells little bunches of the real thing for a quarter. O. O. McIntyre, in his new Rolls-Royce. One Broadway "drug store" no longer fills prescriptions. A sandwich counter occupies space formerly used by the pharmacists. There are eight other shops in the same block, and five of them sell food. There are twice as many restaurants and lunch counters in New York as there were six years ago.

A luggage shop features the new airplane suitcase, designed especially for plane travel. Air passengers are allowed little luggage without extra charge, and the special suitcase is lighter. Business has fallen off in the automatic photograph galleries, after booming trade in regular photographers' shops in the district. The "3 for 25 cents" photos were too realistic to suit the customers, but they aroused desire for real pictures. Dorothy Dalton, who used to be one of the most popular film actresses.

John F. Hylan, the former mayor, passes through a sidewalk throng unrecognized, despite his flaming locks. Used to put his name on all the city buildings, parks and automobiles. The men's haberdashery business must be "shot" for two or three dozen cut-rate furnishing stores have opened in the Times Square district. Marilyn Miller, the actress and divorcee, in a car, with a bandaged hand. A clumsy maid spilled a cup of scalding coffee on it. Maids are too scarce in New York to be fired for anything less than murder.

* * *

It may be stated with authority that if Al Smith becomes an occupant of the White House, the presidential private zoo will be larger than ever, for Governor Smith loves animals. His favorite sport is going to the Bronx zoo and watching the monkeys. Also, he likes to watch fires, and if he's president, he'll visit the Washington firehouses to sit around and talk "shop" with the boys.

Charles M. Schwab isn't the only man with a private organist. There are a number of wealthy New Yorkers who have organs in their homes and maintain a staff organist. One free-lance player, Archer Gibson, gets $500 each time he plays an evening's program in a private home, and he has two or three such engagements weekly. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., loves organ music.

A medal or something special ought to be given to the thief or thieves who carried off an ancient lion, weighing 275 pounds, which, with its mate, guarded the entrance to an antique shop.

Police say this isn't the strangest theft on their books. There is the case of the man who stole a complete furnace from a house, carrying it out a piece at a time. And the policeman who stole the complete furnishings for a house, entering stores on his beat at night, and taking out heavy chairs, tables, etc., which he later called for in his auto.

A visiting British author told me, "Your hotel guests live better than our royalty."

FLAT WORLD, SAYS PROPHET

Zealot Brings Weird Yarns Back Home

NEW YORK, June 7. (UP)—Prophet Wilbur Glenn Voliva today sped toward his home in Elijah avenue, Zion City, Ill., after having convinced himself by a personal investigation that the earth is flatter than a pancake.

Voliva returned from Europe on the liner Laconia, and before departing for the consecrated community near Chicago, he expounded a few good, hearty, unqualified views on topics of the day.

Describes Hell

Hell, he said, is a lake of fire not far underfoot, parallel to heaven and with the earth in between, convenient to both angels and devils. The Ku Klux Klan is all right. The Volstead act compares favorably with any of the ten commandments. Herbert Hoover is the greatest man since Abraham Lincoln. Any one who thinks there is a sunrise and sunset is to be pitied. And the world, by the way, will come to an end in seven years.

Prophet Voliva said he was particularly gratified at being able to bear glad tidings concerning the flatness of the earth to Zion City. Otherwise, his four and one-half months in Europe and the edges of Asia might have been only a pleasure jaunt, and Voliva considers pleasure without purpose as sinful.

Earth Doesn't Move

"I am more than ever certain that this earth is an outstretched plane and that it doesn't move a fraction of an inch at any time," he said. "It is the sun that moves around the earth from the tropic of cancer to the tropic of capricorn, never going north of the one nor south of the other. The sun is just 32 miles in diameter and is exactly 3000 miles from the earth.

Voliva had collected vivid impressions of Europe.

"Rome is beautiful. Jerusalem is interesting. Paris is a fraud. London is like home, and Constantinople stinks," he said. "These are my principal impressions—outside of topography.

Whale Yarn True

"What the world needs is absolute belief in every word of the Bible. Of course the whale swallowed Jonah and spit him up, and Noah certainly went a-sailing in the ark with all the animals in creation. Fundamentalism! That's what the world needs."

Prophet Voliva displayed no pain when it was mentioned that some of his flock had entered suit against him during his absence for $10,000,000.

Trifles Discussed

"Oh, I heard about that after I sailed," he said of this little affair. "They said I sold a lot of property which belongs to Zion. Well, I've sold millions of dollars worth and I'll sell millions of dollars worth more. They can show on that if they want to! Zion City is prospering never better. It's been appraised at $7,000,000 by cold-blooded real estaters, and I personally value it at $15,000,000."

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, June 7.—The lights of Iowa Park's new "white way" shone for the first time last night. Six light poles have been placed in the business district, one on each side of the city hall, two by the Park hotel, one in front of the Central garage and one in front of the Wichita County Lumber company, following the line of the main thoroughfare.

The poles cost about $100 each and will add much to the town. Other poles are to be added later.

TAKES THE MYSTERY OUT OF TIRE BUYING

Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires
The Tire Supreme

Why should anyone buy tires without knowing who makes them?

The manufacturer who made your tires has a definite obligation to you and unless you know who he is, how can you be sure of getting your money's worth for the price you pay?

In line with the Firestone policy of reducing motoring costs—of constantly giving the car owner greater value—Firestone manufactures a tire to fit every purse and purpose.

Firestone has pioneered every important advance in building tire quality for more than a quarter of a century. Firestone built the first balloon tires and knew how to make them travel further, faster, safer and with greater comfort than any tires ever built, through a special process of saturating and insulating the cord with rubber gum—preventing internal disintegration by heat and friction. These Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have won every official record for speed, safety and endurance. Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are the most durable and longest wearing tires in the world—and present prices on these wonderful tires are the lowest in history.

To obtain the utmost in quality, comfort and economy equip your car with the tire supreme—the Firestone Gum-Dipped Tire.

OLDFIELD
High Grade Standard Tire

Oldfield Tires are built by Firestone in the industry's most economical tire plants. They are the best values on the market because they have the advantages of Firestone exclusive manufacturing methods and special processes, all the economies of Firestone control of raw materials at the sources of supply—together with economical distribution direct from factories to car owners through the 30,000 Firestone Service Dealers.

You cannot get greater tire values anywhere in the world than you can get right in your own neighborhood from the regular service-giving Firestone Dealer who is a part of your business life, interested in everything that goes on in the community—and who is trained and equipped to give you better service.

The Oldfield Tire is the greatest value in standard tires. Firestone took over the manufacture and distribution of this tire from the Oldfield Tire Company, who for over four years sold it through its own dealers as the most outstanding tire on the market, securing a much higher price for the Oldfield than for any other high grade standard tire.

Now the Firestone Dealer can give you Oldfield Tires, at a price—the lowest price at which standard quality can be sold.

COURIER
Oversize, Low Price Tire

Firestone also makes and distributes direct to its dealers Courier Tires and Tubes. These tires are oversize, rugged and the protected sidewall ribs prevent rut wear. In the low-price field they have no equal.

Don't experiment with tires the manufacturer of which you do not know and whose greatest sales argument is a misleading advertised mileage guarantee.

The Firestone Gum-Dipped Tire—the tire supreme; Oldfield, the high-grade standard tire, and the oversize Courier Tire, are all fully guaranteed from any defects of material and workmanship and whose average mileage records are known and hold all world records. This guarantee is backed by the largest exclusive tire manufacturer in the world whose reputation is to give you the greatest value for your money.

Save You Money and Serve You Better

The Tire Supreme
Holds All World Records

Firestone Gum-Dipped Balloons absorb every road obstacle without sacrificing long mileage

Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires hold all world records for Speed, Safety, Comfort and Endurance. They made the fastest mile ever travelled on wheels—207.55 miles per hour. They have won every National Championship race since 1920.

On Decoration Day, May 30, 1928, they won, for the ninth consecutive time, the famous 500-mile Indianapolis Sweepstakes.

A single cord of a Firestone Tire unwound into 15 smaller cords, composed of millions of little fibers—all saturated with rubber

Dirt track and endurance records—transcontinental runs—passenger, bus, car-owner records—and taxi-cab mileages—are equally startling. Never before has a tire so thoroughly earned its title—"The Tire Supreme."

For Light and Medium Weight Cars

This tire is designed and engineered to the needs of the light and medium weight car. It is therefore extremely flexible, of limited ply construction, made unusually strong by the extra process of Gum-Dipping and uniformity in cure. It is generously over-size and will give you greater comfort, safety and economy than any tire in the world of heavier and more bulky construction. Do not decrease your speed, increase your gasoline consumption or wear out your tires prematurely by putting a heavier tire on your light or medium weight car.

For the Heavy Car

Firestone has also designed a special tire with extra plies of cord fabric and heavier and tougher tread, especially for heavy cars. Naturally, this tire requires additional air pressure, and while the carcass is Gum-Dipped and flexes uniformly under load, yet its degree of deflection is less because of its heavier carcass, thicker tread and necessary higher air pressure.

For Commercial Cars, Trucks and Buses

For motor vehicles of still greater weight and carrying capacities, the carcass is made still heavier, using from six to fourteen plies (depending on size) of cord fabric and a thick heavy tread. This tire is also Gum-Dipped by the special process and makes this tire more flexible and durable than any other tire in its class, yet it is engineered especially for commercial vehicles. This is the best tire that money can buy in its class, but if you want comfort, safety and economy of operation on passenger cars don't use this thick, heavy tire.

Once upon a time Charles Ray was one of the screen's most popular players. During the height of his career Charlie decided to do a little producing on his own hook, and lost everything but the initials on his pajamas. He recently made a stab at a comeback, and is now in New York, where it is said he will soon be seen on the legitimate stage.

Here's a story he likes:

"A kind-hearted old gentleman was upset when he came across a little girl standing on the sidewalk weeping.

" 'What's the matter?' he asked, sympathetically.

" 'I'm lost!' boo-hooed the little one.

"Lost? Nonsense. You musn't give up hope so soon. Where do you live?"

" 'Don't know,' whined the youngster. " 'W-we've just moved, and I c-can't remember the address.'

"Well, what's your name?

" 'Don't know.'

"Don't know? Surely you must know your own name!

" 'No, I can't remember, sobbed the little one. M-mother got married again this morning.' "

DECEPTIVE BLADDER PAINS

Many people, who think they are suffering from kidney disease, are really feeling the effects of a disorder of the bladder. The symptoms of this trouble are varied, but usually include pain in the back or groin, painful or frequent passing of urine, gravel-like sediment, blood and sometimes pains that are mistaken for rheumatism. These disorders are found in both sexes, at any age, from the cradle to the wheel chair.

Some form of inflammation is practically always present in bladder trouble. This is usually slow in developing, but may form suddenly from an unusual irritant or infection.

The bladder walls are adapted to contain a slightly acid fluid. A permanent tendency toward either excessive alkalinity or acidity will produce enough irritation to inflame the delicate lining. Some foods and medicines are particularly irritating to the bladder and kidneys. This is true of onions, garlic, turpentine, wintergreen, and wrong combinations of food.

The pressure of abdominal organs upon the bladder itself is a cause of weakness that is not often recognized. The intestines, and sometimes actually the stomach itself may slip down out of their natural positions and weigh upon the bladder. Children often have mild cases of bladder inflammation that become acute at the age of puberty from the pressure of developing organs. In women, there is often a pressure from the womb during pregnancy, and sometimes forms an antroversion (falling forward). A shyness or carelessness, causing one not to obey the natural calls, will often be the beginning of a bladder irritation.

Stones in the bladder, or renal calculi, produce a tenderness in the bladder, and severe, sharp pains upon passing water. There is a tendency to frequent urination, and usually only a small amount can be passed at a time, which may be tinged with blood. The calculi or gravel may vary in size from a dusty sediment to that of a fair sized marble.

Oxalic acid, found in many common foods, is the basis of most calculi. This acid should be oxidized and rendered entirely harmless just as are the citric acids, but in a few individuals, suffering from acidosis, the oxalic acid is passed through without being consumed. As long as the individual has this tendency, he should avoid those foods containing oxalic acid. The commonly used foods that contain sufficient oxalic acid to be avoided are cocoa, tea, pepper, sorrell, spinach and rhubarb. Contrary to the opinions of many, tomatoes do not contain enough of this acid to have any detrimental effect.

In some diseases there is an inability to retain fluid in the bladder. This is true in many diseases of the spinal cord and in some nervous disorders, or in affections of the circular muscle which acts as a closing valve to the bladder.

Growths inside the bladder usually do not produce any distress until they are well developed. Ulcers of the bladder sometimes form in cases of chronic inflammation or gonorrhea, the latter disease being not uncommon, even among those who are entirely ignorant of the fact that they have contracted it.

I advise a urinalysis as soon as one notices any discomfort in this region; in fact it is a good policy for one to have this done at intervals simply as a means of being forewarned against the development of serious disease.

Questions and Answers

Question: Mrs. H. V. writes: "I have had stomach trouble for nearly two years and very often I have distressing pains below the stomach. The doctor thinks I will have to have an operation and have the gall bladder taken out before I shall be better. Do you think I shall be obliged to have this operation?"

Answer: It is unwise for me to attempt to diagnose your case through this column or to estimate whether or not you should have the gall bladder operation. I find only a small percentage of gall bladder cases require operation, as a diet treatment will usually effect a complete cure. The diet should be tried first and if this fails it is time enough to try surgery.

Question: J. G. R. writes: "I use two tablespoons of bran along with clabber every morning for my breakfast. This acts as a laxative. Is this combination all right?"

Answer: The combination of bran and clabbered milk is all right for you if you are getting results with it. I suggest that you use pulverized bran, and only the curd of the clabber, discarding the whey.

Question: Embarrassed writes: "I am a young girl and have a heavy growth of hair on limbs and arms. In fact, there is a visible hair in practically every pore on my entire body. Will you please tell me the cause and how to overcome this condition?"

Answer: It is perfectly natural for some persons more than others to have a growth of hair on their limbs. It is foolish to try to do anything to remove it as long as it covers such a large area, as in your particular case.

Izaak Waltons Adopt Outdoor Code of Ethics

AUSTIN, Texas, June 7. (AP)—A code of "outdoor ethics," compiled by the Izaak Walton League of America, an organization to conserve fish and game life, has been received by its Texas chapters for use of sportsmen.

The code follows:

"Your outdoor manners tell the world what you are when at home.

"What belongs to the public isn't your own—play fair.

"Respect the property of rural residents—ask before using it.

"Save fences, close gates and bars, go around planted fields.

"People, livestock, trees and birds are never meant to be target practice backstops.

"Respect the law—catch enough legal fish to eat, then quit.

"Protect the public health—keep springs and streams clean.

"Clean up your camp and don't litter the highways with trash.

"Finish what you start—carelessness with fires is cussedness.

"Leave flowers and shrubs for others to enjoy. Do your share to keep outdoor America beautiful."

Our Spudders are on their way. And I don't mean maybe. Duplicating their hard and timely hitting and errorless fielding of the day before, the champions yesterday repulsed the Bears and swept the two-game series out at the appleknocking orchard. The score was 3 to 2 and it was the third straight victory for the Williamsmen.

George W. Payne, who won four in a row, and then lost seven straight, checked his string of reversals by pitching superb ball. George held the enemy to seven hits, and except in the eighth inning when the Bears bunched three knocks, one of which probably would have been fielded except for a high, erratic wind, baffled the Bears with his screw ball and change of pace.

It now can be written George Won Payne and not George Whaled Payne, and the ending of his run of losses heralds another winning chucker to aid the home town nine in their drive upward and onward. In addition to limiting the Gibsons to seven hits George struck out six and passed only one.

Big Andy Is Victim

Brick Eldred, who according to last averages was leading the Texas league in batting, was the hero of the attack. Eldred emerged from a brief batting slump with a vengeance. In the first inning the stocky right fielder singled to drive two comrades home and in the fifth round Brick smote the ball down the left field foul line, into the stands for a home run, thus accounting for all the Spudder tallies.

Frank Gibson declined to send another chucker to the bull pen in the first inning and when Andy Messenger saw he was to have no relief the elongated right hander settled down to the business at hand in a commendable manner. Only five more blows were made by the Spudders after the opening round, but one of those knocks was Eldred's drive.

As big "Shovel" Hodges, the right hand pitcher would say, "I want to make mention" of the work of Wally Swenson. The Swede, only attaining his real stride within the last couple of days, following an injury, continued to play a brilliant defensive game yesterday. He also hit safely twice.

Flaskamper, the brilliant Bear shortstop, continued his excellent hitting with two knocks. Chief Nason also banged a brace of hits. Each had a double.

Gibson Changes Lineup

Annoyed by losing to Fort Worth and the Spudders in consecutive games, Skipper Gibson shook up his batting order yesterday, advancing Philbin to second and dropping Najo to seventh. Boggess played third base and Tommy Taylor right field, reversing their positions of the previous day. But the changes were ineffective, as may be surmised from the score of the pastime.

Pete Turgeon started the first inning assault with a single to left, after one was out. Lamb doubled to right, Turgeon going to third. Eldred singled to left, Turgeon and Lamb scoring. Eldred hit his homer in the fifth after one was out and none on base.

With one out in the eighth Messenger singled to center. Flaskamper doubled to center, the wind carrying the ball back of Lamb when Lymie was about set for the catch, Messenger going to third. Philbin's fly to Eldred scored Messenger. Griffin hit to center for two bases, Flaskamper scoring. Payne then bore down and Taylor popped to Lapan.

Stanton Banished

George caused Nason to pop to Williams; struck out Boggess for the third time and Najo also lifted to Carl for three up and three down in the ninth.

The skipper played first base after Stanton was banished from the contest in the first inning by Umpire Cecil Griggs. George protested vehemently that a third strike called by Cecil had nicked his arm and not the bat. But the only result was that the young man was told to rest on the bench for the rest of the afternoon.

Notes of the Game

Cvengros or Kiefer will pitch the opener at Dallas.

Williams made a glittering one-hand stop of Messenger's grounder in the third inning and retired Andy at first unassisted.

Jenkins made a sparkling one-hand snatch of Meyers' drive in the eighth.

Boggess struck out six times in the two games, thrice before Payne and Steengrafe the previous day.

Rabbit Benton, hit above the left eye in practice Wednesday, did not play again yesterday but probably will be back in the lineup today.

Lamb continues his hard hitting, a double yesterday helping in the victory.

Tommy Taylor a couple of years ago was a mighty hitter in the Southern association. He was at bat seven times in the two games of the series here and failed to hit safely.

When the Spudders return home a week from today there will be a grandstand for negroes. The section now occupied by the Rotary club's Knot Hole Gang will be given over to the negroes. The knot holers will be moved to the left field stands.

CUBS DEFEAT CATS

WACO, June 7. (AP)—Sensational pitching and hitting by Barnabe gave Waco a game today they seemingly had lost. The score was 7 to 5, yet not an earned run did Fort Worth get. Two boots and an error of omission filled the bases with two out in the first, and a hit by Kibble drove two across.

In the same round a boot by Kibble on a double play ball paved the way for three runs for the Cubs. A boot by Battle with two out and a man on second paved the way for two more Fort Worth runs in the fifth. Score:

Memory of Christy Mathewson To Endure Forever in Baseball

By DAMON RUNYON
Copyright 1928 by Universal Service

NEW YORK, June 7—The memory of Christy Mathewson has become a symbol in baseball. It will live beyond the name and fame of any player of any time.

Not so much because of his baseball ability, though the history of the game rates him one of the greatest pitchers that ever lived.

But allowing that there may have been greater—Johnson, Alexander, Waddell, Radburn or old Cy Young—the symoblism of Mathewson's memory is in what he did for baseball and what he stood for in the minds of American sport lovers during his life time.

He was regarded as typifying beyond any athlete of his time the tenets of clean living and sportsmanship. He was the lesson and the moral to the youth of this country across a period of nearly 20 years.

He got more publicity than the president of the United States. He was the outstanding figure of the outstanding sport of the times. The youth of the land eagerly read every word they could find about him and accepted him as their inspiration and guide.

Had Mathewson been a rollicking, devil-may-care fellow, which was the type of the ball players of his early career, it is conceivable that he might have spread a harmful influence. But Mathewson was as steady as a rock, a man of high morality and restraint, a checker player in the Y. M. C. A.'s, a preacher by word and precept of abstemiousness and decent living.

And on the ball field he was a sportsman and a gentleman and the maker of magic when he fondled that baseball in the hollow of his old glove and started in to befuddle the opposing batsmen.

"The Old Master"

"Big Six" they called him in the early days of his career, and the name itself had appeal to the youthful imagination. Later he was "The Big Train," a title afterward appropriated for Walter Johnson by the admirers of the Washington pitcher.

But finally Christy Mathewson, in the gloaming of his pitching career, when he was still one of the mightiest moundsmen of the day, lacking only the blistering speed of his youth, became affectionately, "The Old Master," a name that he carried until he hung up his glove.

I often write of Mathewson in this column. The excuse today is the dedication at Bucknell university Tuesday of the Mathewson gate to the stadium there, a memorial to the great pitcher raised by funds donated by baseball people and others.

Mathewson attended Bucknell in his youth. He was a football player of some renown there. He was laid to rest in the little old cemetery near the university when the great umpire called him out for the last time. The big-wigs of baseball went to Bucknell Tuesday to take part in the dedication ceremonies.

Idol of Manhattan

The fans of Manhattan island who loved him so well when he was the big blonde hurricane of the pitching mound, did better by "Big Six" than a memorial after his death, though the memorial is a very nice thing—and appropriate.

The fans of Manhattan island turned out at a testimonial ball game while Mathewson was still living, though desperately ill up there in the Adirondacks, and produced a considerable sum of money for him. As I recall it, the amount was upward of $50,000, and I doubt if any baseball player before, or to come after, ever received such material token of the affection of his following.

Flowers for the living, it was. But the Mathewson gate, too, is a splendid thought. In the years to come the youth of Bucknell passing through the gate will be sure to inquire:

"Who was Mathewson?"

And there will be some oldster around to tell them the story of the Bucknell boy who became a professional baseball player, and attained fame and affection that merited an enduring monument.

And who can say but what the lesson of Christy Mathewson as told by that memorial may not be an inspiration to the generations of Bucknell boys that are to come?

GENE STUDIES TOM'S MOVIES

Viewing Pictures of Heeney Fights Part of Drill

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 7. (UP)—Professor Gene Tunney has laid aside the volume of Shakespeare presented to him by the appreciative, if lamentably facetious, Yale boys, and is spending his evenings at Speculator gazing at what those who lack the champion's erudition know as "moon pitchers."

The films which absorb Professor Tunney's attention are of the educational variety. No fluffy haired heroine writhes beneath the villain's moustachios; no lathered cow ponies drum a furious tattoo down the rocky canyon.

In the films which flicker before Professor Tunney's absorbed gaze, it is now Jack Delaney, now Jack Sharkey doing the writhing. The tattoo is drummed by the flying fists of Tom Heeney.

The heavyweight champion has inaugurated training for the defense of his title at Yankee stadium, July 26, by commencing a series of detailed consultations with motion pictures of the challenger in action.

Gene, you see, never has seen Tom fight. "Slow action" films, however, are available. The champion intends to learn from them everything he can about Heeney's style of attack.

"They didn't fight him right," was one of Tunney's few comments after studying the pictures of the Heeney-Sharkey and Heeney-Delaney fights.

About Amateurs

Tillman Wilcox, Weeks Park Golf club professional, is improving from injuries received in an automobile wreck two weeks ago and is working short periods during the day.

Reid Howard got the only two hits that Continental knocked off Anderson Wednesday.

There are few, if any, second basemen in the Twilight league as good as Herschel Johnson of Texas Electrics.

Johnson has made some sensational stops and robbed batters of clean hits several times. He is also one of the foremost hitters in the loop.

Ryally Rawls, Panhandle first baseman, seems to be one of the most feared hitters in the Twilight league. Opposing pitchers have hit Rawls with pitched balls and have walked him more than any other batter in the loop.

Producers Creamery has been crippled for the last few games but if the Milkmen get back into shape before the next half opens they will be hard to keep out of first place in the City league.

The Dimock Plumbers have also played good ball this half in the City loop and may be serious contenders next half.

James Brothers team probably hustles harder than any club in the Twilight league and with improvements being made each week in the lineup the Creamery will be a hard team to beat next half.

Jim Murray Has Offer To Umpire in Western

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 7. (AP) Jim Murray, veteran umpire, released last winter by Thomas J. Hickey, head of the American association, may return to organized baseball, he was informed today. There is a job open for him in the Western league.

"I'll be glad to accept the job if Dale Gear, president of the league, offers me enough money," said Murray, who has been working for the Wisconsin State league. He was dismissed following charges that he was in a brawl in Minneapolis.

Tom Heeney Boxes With Two West Point Cadets

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 7. (UP)—Tom Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight who meets Gene Tunney in July, visited West Point today and engaged in two exhibition bouts. Cadet C. B. Mus of Arkansas and Joseph M. Colby of Iowa, members of the army's boxing squad, each boxed two rounds with Heeney during a gymnastic meet in the cadets' gymnasium.

DAILY DOPE

By Larry Dailey

THE WESTERN LEAGUE continues to furnish lots of laughs. The other day Denver played Pueblo and Des Moines on the same day, for some reason or other, which isn't made clear. Indeed, probably there was no reason. According to latest averages there were 51 players batting 300 or better in the Western league. That's a hitters' paradise.

Oklahoma City and Tulsa fans still are disgruntled at their failure to get out of the Western and into the Texas league. Charley Brill, sports editor of the Daily Oklahoman, wired Cal Farley, president of the Amarillo club, asking Cal how he liked "our Texas leaguers," (Oklahoma City) when that team trounced the Broncs three straight by heavy scores.

NOT SATISFIED with establishing a lead that apparently is going to win the first half championship, Frank Snyder would make further changes calculated to strengthen the Buffs. The latest rumor is that Houston is after Hubbell, the Beaumont southpaw. The Buffs could use this lanky fellow. Indeed, any club could use such a chucker. But it hardly is likely that the Galloway-Robertson combination would part with one of their best assets. They certainly need all the strength they have—and more.

THE FOLLOWING is from a recent column by Lloyd Gregory, sports editor of the Houston Post Dispatch: "From all accounts, the Buffs got out of Spudderville, without having to use their bats. The square treatment Snyder's crew received from the Wichita Falls fans merely goes to illustrate the fair-mindedness of the average fan. Just because Howard Fitzgerald came out second best in a little squabble with Carey Selph was no reason why the Spudder fans should become unduly excited. Evidently, that's the way Wichita Falls diamond bugs also felt about the matter.

MAY GASOLINE TAXES SLUMP

University Oil Royalties Also Decline

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, June 7.—Considerable rainfall over the state with a subsequent slowing down of automobile traffic and a similarly decreased gasoline consumption cut the state's receipts from the gasoline tax during May something like $35,000, W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer, reported today.

The collections of the three-cent gasoline tax during May amounted to $1,498,206, the treasurer announced. Of this total the highway department received $1,123,655, and the available school fund a total of $374,551.

There remains but three months of the three-cent gasoline tax, the rate automatically going back to two cents on September 1, as provided by the 40th legislature.

Mr. Hatcher also announced today that the collections from oil royalties of the university lands during May amounted to but $163,365, a drop of $20,000 from the April figure. Lower oil prices, and greatly reduced production, due to the proration agreements being reached in the different pools to cut down excess producing, is responsible for the slump in oil royalties, it is said.

At the first of this year the monthly collections from this source for the permanent university fund were running about a quarter of a million dollars, or $100,000 more than now.

WINKLER POOL LIGHT THREAT

So Tulsa Operators Say After Tour

TULSA, Okla., June 7.—The Hendricks pool of Winkler county, in West Texas, is not as serious a threat to the stability of the oil industry as many imagine, so several Tulsa oil men back from that district report.

The area has 175 completed wells, which made 147,500 barrels a day Tuesday, pinched in, according to the terms of a restrictive program imposed by operators and the Texas Railroad Commission.

Of the 175 wells, a total of 115 were making from 2 to 95 per cent water, a field report reported.

The rules under which Winkler county is now operated with H. N. Pardee as umpire, may be adopted for the Pacos county oil area, and a meeting of Yates pool operators is called for Austin on June 11. This pool is now making 51,500 barrels a day, also restricted.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Partial recoveries featured the cotton market today. Some additional selling on favorable weather reports was absorbed on moderate reactions from an opening advance and prices later rallied, October selling up from 20.50 to 20.71, and closing at 20.69. The general market closed steady at net advances of 12 to 15 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 to 4 points and active months quickly sold about 10 to 13 points net higher in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables which seemed to promote the covering or rebuying by recent sellers. The advance was checked by a renewal of realizing or liquidation and offerings increased during the forenoon, as if influenced by favorable weather reports and a fairly favorable forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

July eased off to 20.35 and December to 20.37, net declines of 1 to 5 points, but offerings tapered off after this spurt of selling had run its course, and the market firmed up during the afternoon on covering and trade buying.

Wall street was a large seller on the mid-morning decline, but offerings from that source tapered off later, suggesting an improved technical position, and failure of the early decline to carry prices below 20.50 for October, made a favorable impression on sentiment. There also seemed to be nervousness or uncertainty as to weather developments over the approaching week-end, which contributed to the advance.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 7. (AP)—The cotton market was firmer today with the technical position stronger as a result of the recent liquidation influence behind fluctuations being assisted materially by unfavorable crop advices.

Following an opening advance with October at 20.13, the market weakened under profit-taking on prospects for favorable weather and all the early gain was lost. Prices rallied later in the morning and continued on the upgrade for the remainder of the session with October trading as high as 20.20, 20 points net up and closing at 20.15. The general market closed very steady at a net gain of 14 to 17 points.

Liverpool cables were 6 to 8 penny points better than due at the start here and initial trades showed advances of 12 to 13 points with July at 20.30, October 20.13 and December 20.12. Several unfavorable crop accounts helped the firmness.

The advance met realizing which was probably induced by prospects for fair weather over most portions of the belt and all the early gain was lost, the market trading off to about parallel with the previous close. When the offerings were absorbed, however, prices steadied and were on the upgrade for the remainder of the session with but a few and inconsequential reactions. The main influence behind the firmness was the better technical position and the existence of a large short interest particularly in the New York market. Some boll weevil talk may also have been a contributing influence.

In the late trading July touched 20.37, October 20.20 and December 20.17, or 17 to 20 points above the previous close. The market closed a few points under the best with July at 20.35 and December 20.14.

Erratic Market Closes Lower, From Credit and Political Uneasiness

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Speculative uneasiness over the political and credit situations was reflected on the stock market today in the frequent shifts of price trends. The market rallied briskly at the opening, experienced a sharp reaction around midday and then bobbed up and down during the afternoon, with final quotations irregularly lower. The erratic course of prices had a tendency to restrict trading, the day's sales aggregating 3,177,300 shares.

So plentiful was the supply of call money that the renewal rate was lowered to 6 per cent, as against 6½ yesterday, with a subsequent decline to 5½ per cent. Time money rates were slightly firmer, a few loans being arranged at 6 per cent, the highest rate in years, with 5⅞ to 5¾, the ruling quotation.

The New York Federal Reserve bank announced no change in the 4½ per cent rediscount rate, but fears were still entertained that directors of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank, due to meet tomorrow, might inaugurate a charge of 5 per cent. Wall street also heard reports of large shipments of gold to France in the near future.

Chairman Butler's denial of rumors that President Coolidge had written him a letter definitely declining to accept a renomination, which were partly responsible for yesterday's late break, stimulated buying operations in the early trading. The day's trade news had a bearish tinge. Reports of a further weakening of pig iron prices were accompanied by predictions that the monthly tonnage statement of the United States Steel corporation, due Saturday, would show a drop of between 200,000 and 300,000 tons. Wall street also heard reports of a gasoline price cutting war in New England.

The weekly federal reserve report on brokers' loans showed an increase of $93,776,000, bringing the total to a new high record at $4,563,242,000. In view of the sharp decline in prices this week, Wall street had looked for a substantial decrease and believed the gain to be due to temporary loans in connection with the flotation of new securities.

Speculation in stocks centered largely in the motor shares, buying of which was based on a fresh crop of merger rumors. Packard was the individual feature, soaring more than 6 points to a new high at 84½ and closing within a fraction of the top. General Motors closed 2½ points higher at 191¾ after fluctuating between 189¼ and 192¾. Hudson rallied from 86½ to 92½ and then slipped back to 89¾, up 1. Nash advanced 1½ points.

WASHINGTON. — Capital cops are no longer riding around on motor cycles equipped with "rumble seats," or side cars. The solo ruling was made because authorities agreed that police used the side cars for other purposes than patrol duty.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service

CHICAGO, June 7.—Sickening weakness which developed in wheat right at the opening today spread through all the grain markets and prices gave way woefully during the session. Toward the end corn and rye showed their inherent strength by good rallies.

Wheat was down 2⅜c at the close; corn was 1c to 1⅛c lower; oats were off ½c to 1⅛c; rye was down 2¼c.

The trader who was long on wheat overnight never had a chance to get his breath and stabilize his judgment. The market opened off about 2c, rallied enough to give him some hope, and then faded way. It broke through the old lows during the session, but at the close was only slightly under the bottom of the opening range.

Long wheat was dumped in large volume. The fact that the market came back to a finish at just about where it sold in the first minute, however, suggested that big interests were buying freely.

Corn broke and shook out a lot of bulls. But the way in which the market came back and closed with great strength made it look as if the real big longs in the nearby futures were not worrying. Although wheat broke to new lows, corn held above prices it made when wheat hit the former bottom.

Bears in corn jumped on the market, and at the end it probably was again heavily oversold. Some of these shorts have corn sold at considerably higher prices, but they will cover if the market looks as if it were going back up into high ground.

In the cash market wheat was 2c to 4c off; corn was ½c to 2c off; oats were unchanged to ½c off; rye was easy; barley was unchanged.

Cotton Advances On Wichita Falls Market

Middling cotton climbed from 15 to 25 points on the local markets Thursday, with one broker offering 20 cents and another bidding 19.65.

Wheat, with none brought to market since Monday and Tuesday, continued steady at $1.20. Oats also were unchanged at 55 cents. Buyers said that Sunday's rains although not thought to have injured the wheat or oats, delayed marketing for a time. Grains brought to the market early in the week, they said, probably were ready before Sunday.

Produce, with addition of early watermelons, which is a fruit, arguments to the contrary, notwithstanding, remained unchanged Thursday. Poultry and eggs and creamery prices were stationary.

Tornadoes at Vernon And Chillicothe

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, June 7.—Dipping out of the skies with a terrific roar a tornado struck the Hillcrest club house here about 10 o'clock Thursday night, injuring one man slightly and bringing to an end the charter meeting of the Vernon Optimist club, attended by about 175 persons.

The tornado uprooted trees about the club grounds but missed the city proper.

While Jimmie Allred, president of the Wichita Falls Optimist club, was making an address, the tornado, preceded by hot winds, but without a warning, swooped down upon the club house, hurled the chimney down and carried away parts of the roof. Practically the entire membership of the Wichita Falls club was present.

A number of women fainted. Others shrieked. Pandemonium reigned in the club house. Then the storm was gone, the wind died down, leaving only one person of the 175 gathered there injured.

Aubrey Foster of Vernon suffered bruises about the body when caught by part of the falling roof. His injuries, however, were not at all serious.

But the Optimists, without lights, and with frightened women, were forced to call off their program for the night.

A check up on the storm near Vernon failed to reveal any other casualties. A number of trees were uprooted on the edge of town. A few small houses were partly demolished. The damage here was not great, however.

CHILLICOTHE—A storm which struck here shortly after 8 o'clock tonight tore the roof from the Ford garage and smashed in the front of the McPherson Hardware company building. Scores of trees were uprooted and many small buildings damaged in the twister. The storm was preceded by a high hot wind, and considerable sand. No rain fell here during the period.

Widespread small damage was expected here after the storm, but no serious loss had been reported early tonight. No one was injured.

PADUCAH—A heavy rain fell here late Thursday afternoon. The rain was accompanied by a heavy wind for a few minutes.

CHILDRESS—A sandstorm of a few minutes duration blew here late Thursday afternoon.

MEMPHIS—Hot winds blew in Memphis for about 15 minutes Thursday afternoon. No damage was reported.

QUANAH—A high, hot wind brought much sand but no damage to Quanah Thursday night. Although residents feared a tornado, nothing more serious than the sand storm developed.

IOWA PARK—A hard, straight wind, very warm, blew here Thursday night but there were no other storm disturbances.

BURKBURNETT—A phenomenon of hot wind, blowing at a high rate, and alarming clouds threatened a storm here Thursday night in this vicinity.

CROWELL—About an inch of rain, accompanied by a moderate breeze, fell here in about 45 minutes beginning about 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

DUNDEE—There was no rain nor unusually high winds here up to 11 o'clock Thursday night.

FREDERICK, Okla.—A terrific, straight, burning wind struck here about 10 o'clock Thursday night. No damage was reported. It lasted only a short time and turned into a lighter and cooler wind.

SEYMOUR—A depressing heat wave was felt over this region late Thursday night, and although storms and high winds were expected no disturbance resulted.

HOLLIDAY—A hot wind, like a blast from an oven, struck Holliday late Thursday night, but so far as could be learned did no damage here. There was no rain.

ARCHER CITY—There was no unusual atmospheric disturbance here Thursday night.

ELECTRA—Heavy winds accompanied a terrific heat wave here late tonight, but no damage was reported. For a while a sandstorm was feared.

ALTUS, Okla.—Hot winds from the southwest swept through Altus Thursday afternoon about 6 o'clock. No damage was reported here.

WELLINGTON—A heat wave struck Wellington about 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon, bringing a high wind and a blinding sandstorm. The wind at times reached cyclonic proportions, but no damage has been reported. No rain fell here.

GEM: "Hoof Marks." Serial. Comedy.

Patsy Ruth Miller, wild and wildly attractive in her freshness and naturalness, is coming to the Olympic Friday in "Shanghaied."

Talking Motion Pictures continue to set even Hollywood on fire with wonderment as to what is coming next. According to Louella Parsons, Universal Service motion picture critic, they are establishing schools on the coast so the movie actors may learn how to talk, after the manner of the stage, so they may be ready when they have the chance to appear in the movies.

William Fox, who, up to this time, has let his speaking movie machine, the Movietone, do most of its work in reciting news items, now comes forth with the announcement of a whole Movietone feature called "The Family Picnic." Paramount's first talking movie will be "The Haunting Melody."

"The Garden of Eden," opening at the Strand Friday, is a United Artists picture which shows Corinne Griffith as a First National star for the first time. It is a typical romance of springtime picture. There are some rather exciting incidents in the picture, and the baldheaded row probably will be filled after the first performance. Charles Ray is playing opposite Miss Griffith.

Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan have sprung the most unusual thing in moving picture history. With divorces all the rage, this pair which had already separated and received an interlocutory decree, kissed and made up. Now, they MAY live happily ever after.

Wahoo Sam Crawford, whose murdering bat made the horsehide of many a baseball sail over the fence at Frank Navin's old Tiger park in Detroit, is in Wichita Falls this week—in the movies. Wahoo Sam is seen as coach of the University of Southern California baseball team in Buster Keaton's "College," which is now playing at the Majestic.

PROTEST GAME

Frazee Handed Unique Report From City League Team

Just like grown ups, the boys of the Junior Recreation league protest baseball games.

Thursday, a protest was received by C. C. Frazee, who is handling the playground work this year, from the Tramps. The Tramps team filed a formal written protest that the East Side Sluggers in the league played a game with a big, 19-year-old boy, and also a member of the DeMolay team in the lineup.

The protest was left at the office when there was no one there, so the Tramps stuck it to the door with a piece of chewing gum to make sure that it would be received in the legal and proper manner.

er forces. He also represents former Governor Lowden on the "executive committee of organization representing mid-western states and embracing in its personnel delegates from Lowden, Watson, Curtis and Goff Camps."

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois will be second in command, and is in charge of publicity for the group. Others on the committee are Henry W. Marshall of Indiana, representing Senator Watson; A. Newman of Missouri, representing Senator Curtis of Kansas; William H. Miller of Ohio, and another member who will represent Senator Goff.

Lowden Favorite

This coalition group is the direct result of the "arbitrary" way the national committee gave Hoover most of the contested delegations in the south, leaders claim. The contests also showed that the opposition to Hoover was waging an aimless, spiritless fight, while the efficient Hoover machine bowled over all interference.

Just what candidate will be the one the coalition will support is not made known but the banner of Lowden is believed to be at the masthead. But they are firm on this decision, "Anybody but Hoover." In a statement issued late today, Emmerson said:

"Without at this time recommending any particular candidate, those upon whose shoulders will fall the burden of carrying the mid-western states in November, insist most emphatically that the nomination of Mr. Hoover would be a mistake.

Southern Cross In Air Again

Smith and his three companions to Brisbane, where they expect to arrive in 18 or 20 hours.

The Southern Cross took to the air with the outgoing tide, thus gaining a longer run along the sands which, temporarily cleared of water, were hard and firm. After gaining altitude slowly, the plane's nose was pointed toward its pilot's native land.

Kingsford-Smith and his Australian co-pilot, Charles T. P. Ulm, were in high spirits at the take-off, as were their American companions, Harry Lyon, navigator, and James Warner, radio operator.

Warner was still chuckling over an experience of last night when retiring to a native village after the departure of the Southern Cross had postponed because of difficulties in getting fuel aboard, he caused a sensation by rigging up a radio set with a loud speaker.

A station in Washington, D. C., furnished the entertainment. The islanders stood about in amazement at the strange machine the white man had introduced.

While Kingsford-Smith, before the departure, was reticent about discussing plans for his future after he reaches Australia, it was understood that he hoped to continue on with the Southern Cross for an around-the-world flight.

It was just a week ago that the flyers left Oakland, Cal., and arrival in Australia will give them a record of 7351 miles with stops only in Hawaii and the Fijis.

A great crowd of kinky haired natives, as well as almost the entire foreign population of Suva, saw the heavy plane rise into the air and circle over the sea.

The flyers had been delayed 24 hours beyond the time they had hoped to leave Suva. Delay in getting gasoline aboard had prevented the Southern Cross from leaving yesterday, when the plane was flown to the beach from Suva, a distance of 10 miles.

William Randolph Hearst Tells How Hoover Can Whip the Demos

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 7. (UP)—William Randolph Hearst, newspaper and magazine publisher, issued a statement here tonight endorsing the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination.

"There is probably no man in the whole Republican party who would be as useful a president to the party and as valuable a president to the nation during the next four years as Secretary Hoover," Hearst's statement set forth.

Has Labor Following

Hearst went on to point out that Hoover's strength would lie largely in the larger cities, where the Democratic vote usually is strong and predicted that with Hoover the Republican candidate many voters of foreign descent would transfer their allegiance from the Democratic to the Republican party.

Hearst's endorsement of Hoover and particularly that portion of his statement in which he pointed out what he considered the best way for the Republicans to defeat the Democrats in the November elections, recalled the long and bitter political enmity which had existed between Hearst and Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, at present the foremost candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

About Face

Another angle of interest to Hearst newspapers in the past have Hearst newspaper in the past have usually supported the Democratic party; yet in this statement tonight Hearst apparently makes a special point of telling the Republican party how it can best beat the Democrats.

With Hearst's statement tonight, Hoover now carries the support of the two largest newspaper "chains" in the country—the Scripps-Howard newspapers and the Hearst newspapers. There is a wide difference, however, between the positions of these two newspaper groups, the Scripps-Howard newspapers having promised to support Governor Smith for the presidency in event the Republican convention fails to nominate Hoover.
