Congress Is In Middle On Gun Control Debate

By ROBERT S. McNEILL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress, trying to adjourn or at least recess within a month, found itself this holiday weekend in what military men call a meatgrinder. All because of guns.

From one side come vehement demands for more gun control legislation. From another come equally vociferous demands to legislate against the criminal and leave guns alone.

The emotional issue, with extremists on both sides, has imposed a dilemma on many members of Congress.

Many once-a-damant opponents of new gun controls have switched sides since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Other lawmakers have labeled the subsequent public outcry against guns "mass hysteria." Still others have judged the reaction from all quarters extreme and called for cooler heads.

Chances appear slim for President Johnson's most stringent request, but reasonably good for some kind of controls. Congress is in a mood to act, but the question is how far will it go?

The principal measures are these:

—Johnson's bill to prohibit all mail order sales of guns and ammunition.

—The President's bill to register all firearms and license all gun owners.

—A bill by Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., to register all guns and license all gun owners, but give the states a chance to do it first.

Given the best chance of passage is the mail order ban, since it would supplement the mail order prohibition of pistols and revolvers already contained in the anticrime bill signed by the President last month.

Next most likely to pass is Tydings' bill, which could wind up as a companion measure to the extended mail order ban.

Here's what the three bills would do:

President's licensing and registration measure—require all privately owned firearms be registered and all gun owners licensed. If a firearm owner could not meet licensing requirements, his guns would be purchased by the U.S. Treasury at a "reasonable" price. No ammunition could be purchased unless the buyer presented to the seller a registration certificate for the particular gun in which it would be used. If, within two years, a state imposes equally restrictive laws, federal regulations would expire. If not, the state would lose its share of federal wildlife conservation funds.

Tydings' Bill—Require federal registration of firearms in two years if a state has not adopted equally restrictive laws; require federal licensing to purchase guns or ammunition unless states approved equally effective laws. To qualify for a license, an applicant would have to be over 18, not under indictment, not convicted of a felony, nor committed for alcoholism, narcotics addiction or for being mentally incompetent.

The President's Mail Order Ban—Prohibit mail order sale of firearms and interstate shipment of ammunition except between dealers or manufacturers; set 21 as the minimum age for purchase of pistols and revolvers and 18 for the over-the-counter sales of rifles and shotguns. Limit store purchase to state residents and require dealers to keep strict records of guns and ammunition purchases.

Additionally, to be licensed under this last bill, an applicant for a gun license would have to be fingerprinted and photographed. He would be denied a license if he were too young, suffered from a mental ailment, alcoholism or narcotics addiction.

French Economy 'Running Scared' As Prices Climb

PARIS (UPI)—In France a gallon of gasoline costs $1 or more today and is going up. The national economy is running scared.

President Charles de Gaulle recently triumphed over a 10-million man strike, the Communist party and rebel students. Today's French crisis is in the pocketbook.

The bankers talk in big pictures—gold reserves falling, bank interest rates rising. But unlucky little Pierre looks at the rising cost of a haircut, a sleeping car berth to the Riviera vacation and—no small beer in France—a glass of table wine.

No Devaluation

French officials said De Gaulle's government is determined to live up to its pledges not to devalue the franc. And that is the heart of the matter. Devaluation—about five francs now equal $1—would strike French prestige and wipe out much of the recent salary hikes.

In the past 10 years, De Gaulle proudly built up its stores of gold and foreign exchange currencies. Once a postwar economic sickman, France by the end of May had $6.4 billion in Bank of France reserves. Then the trouble came.

The big strike resulted in big wage increases. It also walloped industry with lost production and the cost of the pay boosts. In London, Zurich and other world banking centers, financiers reckoned the new look in Paris' France was more Twigg than Anita Ekberg.

They began selling francs, figuring boom was giving way to bust in France. De Gaulle has had already to shell out $1.3 billion in gold reserves to pay off the franc sellers and the end is not in sight.

Raises Bank Interest

De Gaulle raised bank interest rates from 3.5 to 5 per cent in order to keep foreign money.

Pampa Rejects Offer To Buy Meredith Water From Amarillo

A suggestion that Pampa might be a possible purchaser of part of Amarillo's water supply from Lake Meredith has been rejected by Pampa city officials.

Amarillo's Mayor J. Ernest Stroud offered other Canadian River Municipal Water Authority cities an opportunity to buy from that city's water supply after he said he had received complaints about the water from Amarillo residents.

Borger was the only one of the 11 CRMWA cities that said it would be willing to take a share of Amarillo's water for industrial purposes.

Pampa has not yet begun taking lake water from its own aqueduct system.

Mayor Jim Nation told Stroud Pampa wasn't interested and hadn't even considered such a plan.

Pampa still has to build a $750,000 water treatment plant before taking its own allotment of water.

The city's present water well system is supplying Pampa's needs adequately according to B. M. Wofford, supervisor of utilities.

Wofford said today the city can produce around 8 million gallons of water daily and has from 3 to 5 million gallons in overhead tank reserves.

So far this year, Wofford stated, the highest daily consumption was on June 28, one day consumption rose to 7,554,000 gallons.

FCC Investigating Howard Hughes' Bid On Company

By ISABELLE MCCAIG
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Can the Federal Communications Commission smoke out billionaire mystery man Howard Hughes to defend his bid for control of American Broadcasting Companies, Inc.?

Just two days after he hit Wall Street with his sensational offer to buy two million shares of the third-ranked network's common stock, the FCC announced it would hold public hearings.

The commission stressed that the transaction involved "a possible transfer of control of one of the most important mediums of mass communication in the nation."

At the same time, it ordered Hughes specifically not to exercise any voting rights in the shares of ABC stock he may acquire pending the hearing, or in any way to seek to influence the policies or operations of ABC.

Hughes assured the commission he would not exercise any voting rights to exert a controlling influence without first obtaining commission consent—if, that is, his offer to buy is accepted.

No date was set for the hearings to determine Hughes' qualifications to hold a controlling interest in ABC. But the FCC emphasized that the serious questions raised should be fully explored and all necessary witnesses examined.

The commission might well call Hughes—62-year-old financier who ranks with J. Paul Getty as America's richest individuals—to testify in person.

The two men are each estimated to be worth between $1 billion and $1.5 billion each.

Russians In Visit To American Embassy For July 4 Celebration

MOSCOW (UPI)—It could only have been Moscow, only on the fourth of July.

A Red army general with a medal spangled chest munched a hot dog and chatted with an American housewife. The mayor of Moscow stepped across the U.S. ambassador's lawn to a John Philip Sousa march.

American ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson had invited 1,200 persons to the traditional party Thursday. To the surprise of many, most showed up.

Missiles Are Fired At Planes But Miss

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. B52s struck North Vietnam's Southern Panhandle for the fifth day in a row of the war's heaviest bombardments, military spokesmen said today.

The Communists vainly tried to stop the Stratofortresses with missile fire.

The spokesmen said crewmen aboard the eight-engine Strategic Air Command bombers Thursday saw at least two surface-to-air missiles (Sams) fired at them. Both missed.

It was the first time in two months the North Vietnamese had got a shot at the high-flying B52s. Five of the Stratofortresses have crashed due to accidents in Vietnam but none has been lost in combat despite repeated Hanoi boasts.

Smaller U.S. jets flew 141 missions Thursday against North Vietnam southern panhandle supply lines, with no planes being lost. In South Vietnam Thursday, guerrilla ground fire shot down a U.S. Army helicopter, killing three Americans, and an Air Force jet whose two-man crew was rescued.

Early today the jets flew five missions against guerrilla positions menacing Saigon.

Because of the danger of missiles, the B52s have rarely until this week ventured into North Vietnam. But U.S. spokesmen revealed that since Sunday the huge bombers have pounded North Vietnamese territory 27 times—11 times inside the border of the Demilitarized Zone and 16 times above.

Hit Red Troops

In four strikes Thursday, the B52s bombed artillery sites, weapons positions and suspected North Vietnamese army troop concentrations, spokesmen said.

American intelligence sources said that since U.S. bombing was limited to the panhandle April 1, the North Vietnamese have increased both the number of troops and gun batteries just above the DMZ.

Just below the DMZ, the ground war raged.

About 100 North Vietnamese troops at dawn Thursday charged out of dense jungle and at U.S. Marines 12 miles below the DMZ and three miles southeast of Khe Sanh, the Leatherneck fort being abandoned.

The Marines, numbering about 200, drove the attackers back. They killed at least 17 North Vietnamese. Four Marines were killed and 13 wounded.

40-Minute Fight

The battle lasted 40 minutes. It erupted where the Marines were guarding Highway 9, the only open road from allied coastal bastions to Khe Sanh.

Near Saigon, U.S. Army infantrymen still had no report on how many Communist soldiers died in an almost suicidal assault on a U.S. camp 40 miles northwest of the capital, where the Viet Cong are believed massing 2,000 to 4,000 troops for a push toward the city.

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Twenty American military defectors protesting the Vietnam War crashed a Fourth of July party at the U.S. Embassy Thursday and tried to prevent the ambassador from speaking.

LONDON (UPI)—Arthur J. Hanes said today he had "officially" accepted the job of defending a accused assassin James Earl Ray. He said he might use a plea of insanity if Ray is brought to trial in America for the sniper slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

PARIS (UPI)—The French armed forces ministry announced Thursday two models of France's future long range ballistic missiles had been successfully tested in launching from the Atlantic island of Landes.

Senate Studying 'Poor People's Campaign' Probe

By ROBERT ALLEN
JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Serious consideration is being given to a possible Senate investigation of the so-called "poor people's campaign" whose bedraggled remnants are still plaguing the capital.

Congressional sources credit Senator John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Permanent Investigations Subcommittee, with looking into the ability of such a probe. Last week his committee made national headlines with sensational disclosures of a Chicago church being used as an arsenal and headquarters by a large ghetto gang whose leaders and members are on the payroll of a project financed with federal anti-poverty funds.

Financial and other jolting revelations of the "poor people's campaign" have been erupting since it ended in a welter of internal disorders and violence, including razor and gun fights, robberies, assaults and other crimes, and glaring bungling, mismanagement and failure to pay bills and other obligations.

Two latest instances of the latter are:

(1) The local Travelers' Aid Society revealed that in the past week it spent more than $11,000 to provide bus transportation home for inhabitants of "Resurrection City," which was forcibly shut down by the government when its extended permit expired. The Southern Christian Leadership Conference had promised to furnish this transportation but failed to do so.

Catherine Hiatt, Travelers Aid director, stated the organization supplied the free bus tickets on assurances from District of Columbia officials that the money would be reimbursed. Deputy Mayor Thomas Fletcher told newsmen the District expects to get back part of the money from "anonymous private funds."

SCLC officials admitted there had been some "ticket scalping" among the "poor campaigners" who got the free bus transportation home. Applicants for the tickets were required to show SCLC and "Resurrection City" identification papers and wrist bands. But Miss Hiatt explained, "We had no authority or capability to control" (See SENATE, Page 3)

Legislature Rejected Funds For Indian Reservation Tourist Facility

By PHILIP WHITE JR.
LIBERTY, Tex. (UPI) —

"We're down but not out."

That's the reaction of most everyone to the Texas Legislature's rejection of a requested $400,000 appropriation for construction of tourist facilities at the Alabama-Coushatta Indian reservation.

The Indians, who helped Sam Houston in the battle of San Jacinto and in 1854 moved on to the reservation after the Texas Legislature had purchased the land upon Houston's insistence, hoped to be independent by 1970. Their master plan called for the tourist income to relieve them of the necessity to ask for state and federal aid. They wanted to be self-sufficient.

The action of a House-Senate committee Saturday was a blow to that master plan.

"We're disappointed but we're not going to quit. This project has too much merit. The Indian people are doing such a good job that we're not going to scrap the program by any means," Dempsey Henley, Texas commissioner for Indian affairs, said.

"I still predict that this will be one of the most outstanding tourist facilities in Texas when we get through with the project," Henley added.

Walter W. Broemer, superintendent of the reservation since 1957, agreed. "We will continue the program, working toward the day we will be free of asking for more federal or state funds. I don't blame the legislature. They have problems too. But this gap of a year will hurt us. We will not be able to go ahead with the development program. If we have to wait, we'll have to wait."

Peter Williams, chairman of the tribal council and a resident of the reservation since 1939, said the Indians themselves are not irate over the denial. "We're just used to our condition, I guess. There are no hard feelings. But we must find some source of aid to complete our construction. The people are still confident."

or verify that these people were what they said they were, and were going where they said they were.

(2) After persuading a number of campaign women with children to get arrested and jailed by participating in illegal demonstrations on Capitol Hill, on assurances the children would be cared for, SCLC did nothing about them. As a result, they were virtually abandoned. Some 30 of them finally found refuge in a Catholic academy.

A number of Negro women in Washington have organized an emergency committee to care for these children, most of whom need clothes and shoes. LIVING HIGH — In contrast to these and other shocking developments, congressional authorities have information that (1) SCLC officials and their families lived in first-class hotels and motels throughout the campaign; (2) bought three trucks and nine automobiles for their private use; and (3) received hundreds of thousands of dollars in contributions for which no accounting has been made.

As reported in this column last week, congressional investigators are of the opinion that the "poor people's campaign" actually has enriched SCLC coffers by some $250,000—and the total may run as high as $1 million.

It is being pointed out that SCLC has failed to fulfill a number of its commitments.

Foremost among them is the pledge to restore the "Resurrection City" site to its original state as part of West Potomac Park. The National Park Service did that at a cost estimated in excess of $50,000.

Estimated total federal outlay during the six weeks' duration of the campaign is around $5 million. Included in these costs are large quantities of food and other supplies, care of the much-publicized "mule train," packing and storing of materials and abandoned personal possessions of the dismantled shantytown, and various emergency measures.

Congress

a fugitive from justice. These bills generally define guns as completed firearms or the "actions" alone, even though no barrel or stock was attached. A barrel by itself would not be classified as a firearm, nor would the stock.

As for ammunition, the bills specify that bullets, cartridge cases, primers and gunpowder would each come under the heading of "ammunition."

Cartridge reloading tools, such as presses and dies and other hand-loading equipment, would not be affected.

Against these proposed laws, opponents of more firearms legislation contend that there are plenty of laws on the books now to deal with the problem if they were enforced.

The National Rifle Association, which has advocated gun control laws, but opposes the administration proposals as extreme, cites the National Firearms Acts of 1934 and 1938 as examples of what can be done under present law to prosecute those who use guns for criminal purposes.

These acts impose a $200 tax on anyone making or transferring a fully automatic (machine gun) weapon, or a shotgun with a barrel less than 18 inches long, or a rifle barrel shorter than 16 inches, and set up other restrictions on interstate movement of firearms and ammunition. Both were passed as the result of the "gangsterism" of the 1930s.

The NRA, in opposing what it considers overly restrictive controls, contends that the 1934 and 1938 laws "if properly enforced" would:

—Compel all dealers in firearms to keep "complete records of shipments and sales of all firearms."

—Permit prosecution of any person for buying, selling, pawning or transporting in interstate commerce any stolen firearm or ammunition for a handgun.

—Permit prosecution of any person under indictment who has been convicted of a crime punishable for more than a year in prison for sending or receiving guns or ammunition in interstate shipments.

The NRA believes these provisions in large part are not enforced and that demands for new gun controls are really nothing more than national hysteria or politicians' appeals for votes.

—Which ever it is, Congress will have to decide—preferably before recess or adjournment. It will have to hurry.

Borger Man Charged In Two Assaults

BORGER, Tex. (UPI) — Don LaMare Manning, 23, of Borger was in jail today, charged with the rape of a 15-year-old girl and a 40-year-old woman. Both were assaulted early Thursday morning.

Manning was arraigned Thursday evening before Hutchinson County Justice of the Peace Sam Watson. Bond was set at $10,000 on each charge.

Manning was arrested after a 12-hour search by Borger police. Hutchinson County officers and the Texas Highway Patrol. Police said the girl allegedly was assaulted about 12:30 a.m. while she was visiting in the home of Manning's mother, with her mother and two young brothers.

Police said she was taken from an upstairs bedroom where she was sleeping with her brothers and was forced into a downstairs bathroom. The alleged rape of the woman, who police said was the mother of one of Manning's friends, occurred near Phillips, Tex., a few miles from Borger. Police said she was threatened with a pair of scissors.

Sturgeon Is On Bar Convention Resolutions Group

Ben L. Sturgeon, Pampa attorney, is in Houston this week attending the State Bar Convention as the official delegate from Gray County to the resolutions committee.

One of the main topics before the resolutions committee is a proposal for the Texas Bar Convention to go on record as favoring the elimination of the Electoral College for Presidential elections.

"I will have to hear the arguments—both pro and con concerning this proposed resolution before I can cast the vote of Gray County," stated Sturgeon. The convention convened July 4 and ends July 6, with the resolutions committee meeting prior to the convention.

Pampa Man Is Hit By Truck

A 41-year-old Pampa man, William Cullison, of 831 W. Kingsmill, was rushed to Highland General Hospital by ambulance around 10 o'clock last night when he was struck by a truck.

The accident happened on Alcock St. near its intersection with Banks, police say. The driver of the truck, Jimmy McPherson, 23, of 537 N. Lefors, said he noticed the man and two others standing beside the road and honked his horn to give them warning. McPherson told police that Cullison darted in front of his truck, however, and he was unable to avoid hitting him with the vehicle.

Cullison was kept at the hospital overnight for observation. Authorities there said this morning that his condition was good and that he suffered only abrasions to his arms and elbows.

4 Burglaries Are Reported

A rash of burglaries and break-ins were reported to Pampa police this morning, most of them thought to have been committed by the same person.

According to police reports, the burglaries happened at B&B Pharmacy, 120 E. Browning; Pioneer Natural Gas Co., 317 N. Ballard; Texas Printing Co., 319 N. Ballard; and the bus station at 115 S. Russell. The first three burglaries listed were thought to have been committed by the same person, police said.

An estimated $61 in merchandise, mainly cameras and flash bulbs, was taken from B&B Pharmacy. Apparently nothing was taken from the other places, police said.

An attempted burglary at the Quick-Stop Grocery, 900 W. Wilks, was also reported to police at 12:28 this morning.

In other police news, a Pampa woman turned rings over to police which she said she thought her 16-year-old son had stolen. No charges were filed. Several cases of malicious mischief were also reported yesterday and early this morning.

Man's Injuries Were Inaccurately Reported

A two-car collision at 5 p.m. Wednesday near the intersection of Kentucky St. and Price Rd. caused severe facial lacerations requiring approximately 10 stitches to Wallace Joe Jouett, 35, of 1108 Crane Rd., and not leg injuries as the Pampa News believed yesterday.

Four other persons involved in the accident were treated and released.

Jouett was driving a pickup pulling a boat and trailer and going south on Price Rd. when his vehicle and one containing Beckie E. Merrell, 15, of near Pampa, and Marie Fischer, 16, of 1019 Christine, collided. Miss Merrell and Miss Fischer were traveling on Kentucky at the time of the accident.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. AMOS HARRIS
The Pampa Chapel of Apostolic Faith

THE END

Billy Graham, in a recent sermon, said "The world as we know it could end in 5 years." Because of this statement, of the end, comment was made by news reporters on radio, television and in newspapers.

This caused the believer to think seriously what he really believed. Perhaps it caused the unbelievers to consider if they should believe. It caused me to think back to the first church I pastored. Early one Monday morning a man came to talk to me. He heard a sermon the night before on the coming of the Lord, and the end of the world. "Do you believe in the coming of the Lord and the end of the world?" When I answered "yes," he interrupted and said, "But preacher, fifteen years ago I was in a tent Revival and heard almost the same sermon and everything is almost the same now as it was then." I tried to explain that the Prophecy was being fulfilled and that the coming of the Lord was 15 years nearer. If I had known the future I would have told him that in five years would come the end, for in five years he was called home.

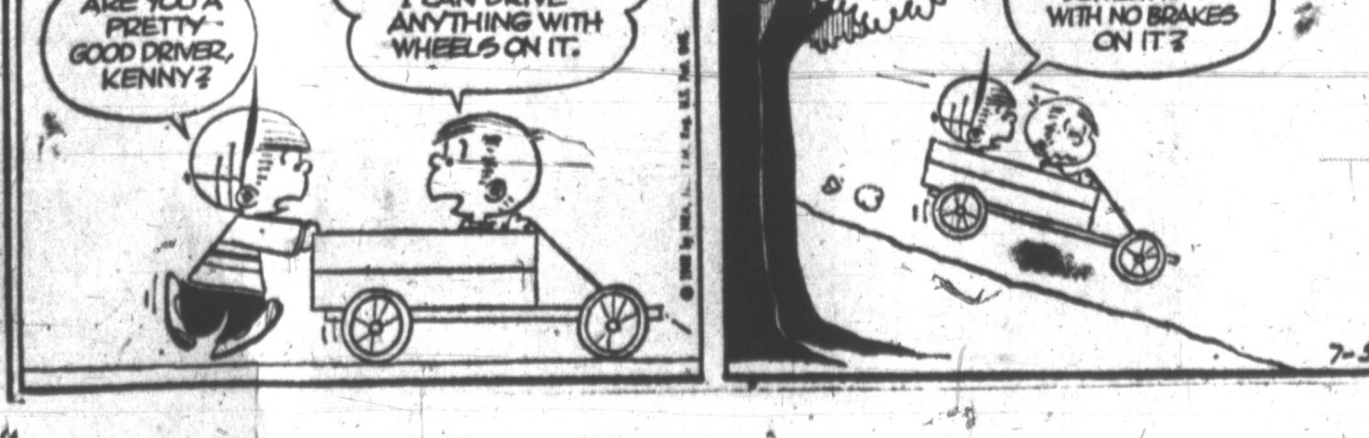

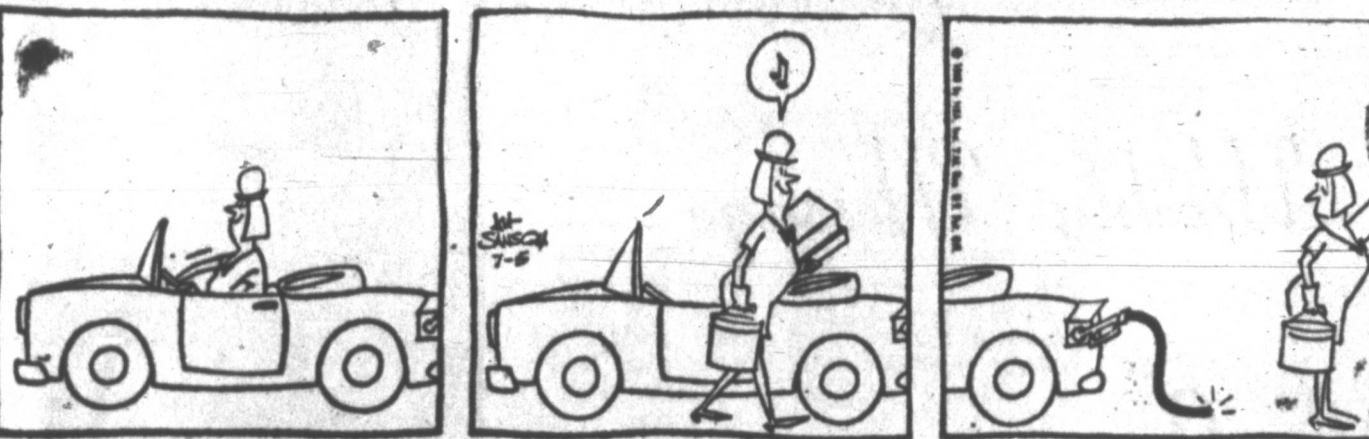

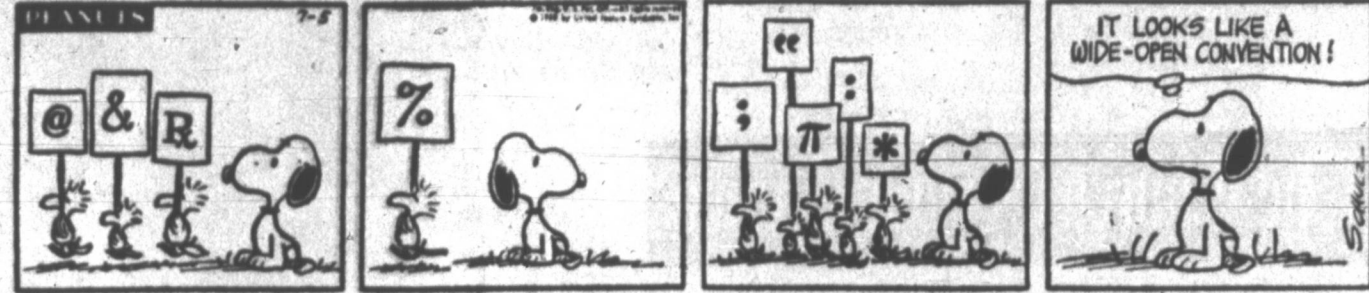

Why Do We Fear the End

Some fear the end because they have not found the real purpose to live. Eccl: 12:13 Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the duty of man. To those who keep His Commandments, and try to do the will of God are preparing themselves for the end. An example is David, Psa. 23:4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; Thy Rod and thy staff they comfort me. Another example is Paul, in II Timothy 4:68 For I am now ready to be offered and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me on that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing.

If we prepare for the end as these men, with faith in God, we need not fear whether the end comes tomorrow, in five years or within the next century.

DEAR

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is highly successful in his field, well educated, well traveled, and respected in this community. BUT when he is present, no one else can get a word in.

I cannot recall ever having been in this man's company when he didn't take the floor and hold it all evening. Granted, he is charming and entertaining, but there have been times when other interesting guests could have added something worthwhile to the conversation. But this man's voice is the only one that's heard.

Just what does one do about a person like this?

DEAR IRKED: In the absence of a "friend" to tell his boor that his manners need mauling, an enemy will do. A guest who comes to the party and hogs all the conversation is no better than one who hogs all the food.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and our three children (ages 8, 10, and 13) were invited to a relative's home for supper recently. She had one large table set for the adults and another one for the children.

My daughter, age 13, came to me and said she wasn't going to sit with the "babies." (Two of her 12-year-old cousins were sitting at that table and they didn't complain.) I told her not to make a fuss and to go sit down and be quiet. Being a very head-strong child, she raised her voice a bit and said she would rather go home. Well, I wasn't about to take her home and I couldn't let her walk home alone at night, so in order to avoid a scene I told her to go get her chair and to sit by me, which she did.

I dislike scenes in public and I still think I did the right thing. My husband said I should have told the spoiled little stinker to either sit where she was put or to go into the bedroom and sulk. What is your opinion?

such a smart husband, why are you writing to Dear Abby?

DEAR ABBY: First, let me explain that I am not some kind of nut, neither am I a sex maniac, which is what most people think when they learn that I am a nudist.

I took up nudism eight years ago and I can't say enough for it. It is the greatest equalizer in the world. At a nudist camp there is complete honesty. A person is what he is, and he can't fool anybody with fancy clothes. It takes a genuinely honest person to go before his fellow man just as God made him, willing to be judged strictly on his character, personality, and true self.

The sun is nature's best medicine. Why cover the body and diminish its healthful rays? I am not trying to sell nudism to people who think it's "dirty." They would not make good nudists anyway. I just want to say a few words in defense of some of the most misunderstood people in the world. Thank you.

Nudist,
DEL RAY BEACH,
FLA.

DEAR ABBY: Is there a tactful way to handle a friend (not close) who never uses our doorbell, but always opens our front door, walks right in, and calls our name?

She does this consistently. We are very much annoyed, but quite puzzled as to how to let her know. We DO value our privacy.

DEAR INTUDED: People who "value their privacy" usually lock their doors. Lock yours. Your friend will soon get the message.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1968

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is fine for making some long-range plans or enjoying pleasures that have proven to be satisfactory. The afternoon and evening find your judgment generally in effect. It is not a good time for extravagant actions nor for taking chances in any way. Double check what ever you do.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — You have it in your power to do something nice for close tie in a.m., but later don't spend too much for him. Your partner will join in your plans. Eradicate any errors that may have been made in the past.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Showing you are loyal to a pal early is fine. Do all you can to stall off some argument that may be imminent. Trust the judgment of a partner today, since he is thinking more clearly than you are. Get ahead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Morning is best time to put those ideas across that improve your present financial position. Then take the time to do favors for those who are deserving. A fine evening for taking those treatments that give you more vitality, vigor.

NOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Make those plans early for the special other for you want to have in P.M. or the evening. Be careful you are not demanding with others. Thought. Taking unnecessary risks would be unwise, also.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Talk over with kin what should be done today, and then go ahead with whatever has been desired upon without deviation. Give more attention to that plan you have in mind or it will not work later on. Be ingenious.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Much care in driving must be taken. Don't start some, silly argument with an associate. Keep an eye on your wallet, purse after you have done necessary shopping. Remember that money is pretty tight right now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Stop spending so much and do something about having a greater abundance. You have good ideas that should be put to use. If you want more good will, you have to show that you are a practical individual.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Morning is best time for accomplishing what you have in mind, since later you do not feel quite up to par and would not use good judgment. Some party in p.m. requires you dress very nicely. Make the right impression.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Early morning preparation for an ideal weekend is extremely important so that all goes like clockwork. Take the time to plan more efficient systems for your work as well in the new week ahead. Do your work efficiently.

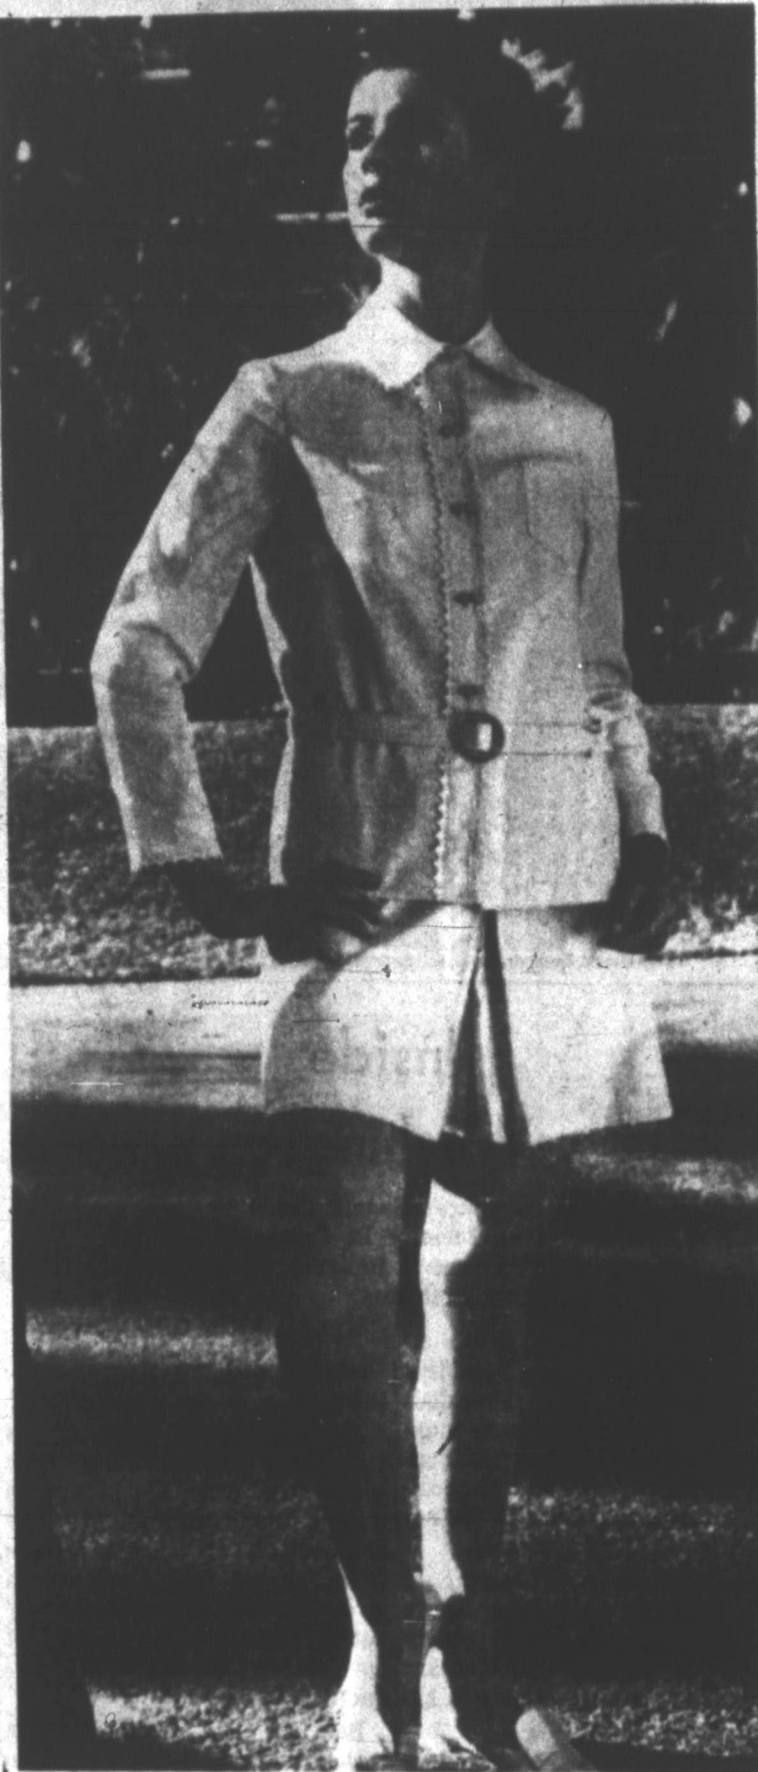

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Morning is the best time to see those good pals, since later they are either indisposed or not available. Some personal aims are slow in realizing, but show patience. Await a better day for such.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — An early start in a.m. will net you many a new acquaintance that can blossom into friendship. However, be careful not to take any risks that would later be a big headache. Conventionality is the keynote now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Your ideas are fine in a.m., but take care you keep within the realm of reason later in the day. Tonight, impress any new contacts with your ability to rise above any aggravating conditions. Be clever.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those clever youngsters who, all at once, will understand that it is important to be very careful in all things and will mature into a fine, outstanding citizen who knows how to say "no" or stall for time at the right time.

ren, Mrs. W.-B. Murphy, Mrs. Paul Root and Mrs. James R. McMurray.

PART PANT, PART SKIRT — every inch fashion, the divided skirt rides again, this time with "south of the border" flavor. In rugged cotton, softened here and there with the laughter of lace. Try Now to Trim Figure For Fun in Sun Season

By PATRICIA KING
NEA Beauty Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Now is the time to ready your figure for the sun season and there's no better way to start a painless daily exercise routine than by incorporating exercises into your ordinary household chores.

Every movement and all the energy expended while investing hours getting your 'me' in shape can also help put you in shape. It's quite possible that your winter knits need to be jogged after months of little activity. The innumerable stretches and bends that take place when you're spring housecleaning will ready your body for more vigorous exercise later, on the tennis courts and golf greens.

Stretches are the simplest and most effective movements for improving circulation, slimming, firming the body and something most women do hundreds of times unconsciously in their daily routine in the home or office.

For instance don't sweep floors slowly or casually, but rather wield your broom energetically. You'll do a great job on the floor and at the same time exercise and firm your shoulders and arms. When making your beds or changing the linen, do you approach this in a leisurely manner, having to rest each time you tuck in a sheet? Speed up the action and give your hips and legs a workout.

Weight, posture and proportion, all in good balance, is what it takes to make an attractive body. But before you get displeased with the shape you're in you should analyze, examine and know your figure. In order to do this you must know your height, frame structure, weight and measurements. These figures will determine how far or close you are to achieving your desired dress size.

Bone structure or frame size is small, average or large. Take an honest look in a full-length mirror. If your feet, hands and wrists are petite, your pelvis narrow and shoulders slender, your frame is small. Broad shoulders, thick hands, large wrists, big feet and a wide pelvis indicate a large frame. Understandably, if you appear between these two, your frame is average.

To determine whether or not you are underweight, just right or overweight, check your height and frame structure with your local life insurance company chart. It's always an accurate gauge.

Do remember, however, your pounds must be distributed in all the right places for the body beautiful. Some of us carry our weight out-of-balance, too much on the hips and too little on top. While it may seem like drudgery, keeping your house sparkling clean can also serve double duty by helping you fight the battle of the bulge.

I cannot recall ever having been in this man's company when he didn't take the floor and hold it all evening. Granted, he is charming and entertaining, but there have been times when other interesting guests could have added something worthwhile to the conversation. But this man's voice is the only one that's heard.

Just what does one do about a person like this?

DEAR ABBY: In the absence of a "friend" to tell his manners, a need for a manicure, an enemy will do. A guest who comes to the party and hogs all the conversation is no better than one who hogs all the food.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and our three children (ages 8, 10, and 13) were invited to a relative's home for supper recently. She had one large table set for the adults and another one for the children.

My daughter, age 13, came to me and said she wasn't going to sit with the "babies." (Two of her 12-year-old cousins were sitting at that table and they didn't complain.) I told her not to make a fuss and to go sit down and be quiet. Being a very head-strong child, she raised her voice a bit and said she would rather go home. Well, I wasn't about to take her home and I couldn't let her walk home alone at night, so in order to avoid a scene I told her to go get her chair and to sit by me, which she did.

I dislike scenes in public and I still think I did the right thing. My husband said I should have told the spoiled little stinker to either sit where she was put or to go into the bedroom and sulk. What is your opinion?

BROOKLYN

DEAR BROOKLYN: With

such a smart husband, why are you writing to Dear Abby?

DEAR ABBY: First, let me explain that I am not some kind of nut, neither am I a sex maniac, which is what most people think when they learn that I am a nudist.

I took up nudism eight years ago and I can't say enough for it. It is the greatest equalizer in the world. At a nudist camp there is complete honesty. A person is what he is, and he can't fool anybody with fancy clothes. It takes a genuinely honest person to go before his fellow man just as God made him, willing to be judged strictly on his character, personality, and true self.

The sun is nature's best medicine. Why cover the body and diminish its healthful rays? I am not trying to sell nudism to people who think it's "dirty." They would not make good nudists anyway. I just want to say a few words in defense of some of the most misunderstood people in the world. Thank you.

Nudist,
DEL RAY BEACH,
FLA.

DEAR ABBY: Is there a tactful way to handle a friend (not close) who never uses our doorbell, but always opens our front door, walks right in, and calls our name?

She does this consistently. We are very much annoyed, but quite puzzled as to how to let her know. We DO value our privacy.

INTRUDED UPON

DEAR ABBY: People who "value their privacy" usually lock their doors. Lock yours. Your friend will soon get the message.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1968

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is time for making some long-range plans or enjoying pleasures that have proven to be satisfactory. The afternoon and evening find poor judgment generally in effect. It is not a good time for extravagant actions nor for taking chances in any way. Double check what ever you do.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — You have it in your power to do something nice for close tie in a.m., but later don't spend too much for fun. Your partner will join in your plans. Eradicate any error that may have been made in the past.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Show you are loyal to a pal early in the day. Do all you can to stall off some argument that may be imminent. Trust the judgment of a partner today, since he is thinking more clearly than you are. Get ahead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Morning is best time to put those ideas across that improve your present financial position. Then take the time to do favors for those who are deserving. A fine evening for taking those treatments that give you more vitality, vigor.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Make those plans early for the school or other fun you want to have in P.M. or the evening. Be careful you are not demanding with others, though. Taking unnecessary risks would be unwise, also.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Talk over with him what should be done today, and then go ahead with whatever has been desired upon without deviation. Give more attention to that plan you have in mind or it will not work later on. Be ingenious.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Much care in driving must be taken. Don't start some, silly argument with an associate. Keep an eye on your wallet, purse after you have done necessary shopping. Remember that money is pretty tight right now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Stop spending so much and do something about having a greater abundance. You have good ideas that should be put to use. If you want more good will, you have to show that you are a practical individual.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Morning is best time for accomplishing what you have in mind, since later you do not feel quite up to par and would not use good judgment. Some party in p.m. requires you dress very nicely. Make the right impression.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Early morning preparation for an ideal weekend is extremely important so that all goes like clockwork. Take the time to plan more efficient systems for your work as well as in the new week ahead. Do your work efficiently.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Morning is the best time to see those good pals, since later they are either indisposed or not available. Some personal aims are slow in realizing, but show patience. Await a better day for success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — An early start in a.m. will net you many a new acquaintance that can blossom into friendship. However, be careful not to take any risks that would later be a big headache. Conventionality is the keynote now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Your ideas are fine in a.m., but take care you keep within the realm of reason later in the day, though. Impress any new contacts with your ability to rise above any aggravating conditions.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those clever youngsters who, at an early age, will understand that it is important to be very careful in all things and will mature into a fine, upstanding citizen who knows how to say "no" or stall for time at the right time.

PART-PANT, PART-SKIRT — every inch fashion, the divided skirt rides again, this time with "south of the border" flavor. In rugged cotton, softened here and there with the laughter of lace. Born to belt a la shirt jacket with tiny wooden buttons. The color is Natural, a neutral reminiscent of sunbaked sands.

ren, Mrs. W. B. Murphy, Mrs. Paul Root and Mrs. James R. McMurray.

Try Now to Trim Figure For Fun in Sun Season

By PATRICIA KING

NEA Beauty Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Now is the time to ready your figure for the sun season and there's no better way to start a painless daily exercise routine than by incorporating exercises into your ordinary household chores.

Every movement and all the energy expended while investing hours getting your 'me' in shape can also help put you in shape. It's quite possible that your winter knits need to be jogged after months of little activity. The innumerable stretches and bends that take place when you're spring housecleaning will ready your body for more vigorous exercise later, on the tennis courts and golf greens.

Stretches are the simplest and most effective movements for improving circulation, slimming, firming the body and something most women do hundreds of times unconsciously in their daily routine in the home or office.

For instance don't sweep floors slowly or casually, but rather wield your broom energetically. You'll do a great job on the floor and at the same time exercise and firm your shoulders and arms. When making your beds or changing the linen, do you approach this in a leisurely manner, having to rest each time you tuck in a sheet? Speed up the action and give your hips and legs a workout.

Weight, posture and proportion, all in good balance, is what it takes to make an attractive body. But before you get displeased with the shape you're in you should analyze, examine and know your figure. In order to do this you must know your height, frame structure, weight and measurements. These figures will determine how far or close you are to achieving your desired dress size.

Bone structure or frame size is small, average or large. Take an honest look in a full-length mirror. If your feet, hands and wrists are petite, your pelvis narrow and shoulders slender, your frame is small. Broad shoulders, thick hands, large wrists, big feet and a wide pelvis indicate a large frame. Understandably, if you appear between these two, your frame is average.

To determine whether or not you are underweight, just right or overweight, check your height and frame structure with your local life insurance company chart. It's always an accurate gauge.

Do remember, however, your pounds must be distributed in all the right places for the body beautiful. Some of us carry our weight out-of-balance, too much on the hips and too little on top.

While it may seem like drudgery, keeping your house sparkling clean can also serve double duty by helping you fight the battle of the bulge.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panama News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Race Solution in the Market

With all the talk and political activity connected with the poverty-stricken Negro and his struggle to gain equality, the obvious solution to the problem seems to have been overlooked.

The News has long held the position that political action is no answer to social problems. Consequently, we have counseled against so-called welfare programs by federal, state and local governments. This has brought us many critics, mostly those who subsist from political salaries but also those who don't understand that we are not anti-Negro and that we are not unsympathetic toward the impoverished.

This is the price sometimes extracted from those of us who refuse to join the socialist parade. But we shall continue to pay it and continue our efforts to sound a note of reason against the din.

The problem is how to show a workable plan to those who cannot or will not see anything but further control of society by political action.

Well, let us examine this nation of ours.

The protagonists for more and more handouts for the Negro and others among so-called minority groups argue that we are a land of fabulous wealth, yet the distribution is top-sided. This of course, is the oldest political trick in history. There have always been the so-called "haves" and "have-nots."

They exist in America, certainly but also in every socialist "heaven" in the world.

But the practice of playing class against class has paved the way of despots to political power for centuries.

Most of those who do not believe in political action have fought the war on the politician's terms, and in such a conflict we can only lose, granting one concession after another.

We have overlooked the one arena where we can win—the marketplace.

We are indebted to Business Week magazine for turning on some light. Last May 18, the magazine cover portrait was of Henry G. Parks Jr., president of H. G. Parks, Inc.

Parks is a Negro whose firm began making sausage in a Baltimore location in 1951. Today his sales are $7.5 million a year. The firm ships several million pounds of sausage and scrapple annually to 12,000 stores from Massachusetts to Virginia. Its customers include supermarkets in white suburbs as well as independent stores in downtown black areas. Park estimates 75 per cent of the people who purchase his products at stores are white.

While the magazine story is mostly about the success one Negro man has achieved, it points up that here, in the marketplace, is where the struggle for racial peace is to be won.

A quote attributed to Parks sums it up: "The laws of the marketplace," he said, "leaves no room for any racism."

There is racial prejudice in our nation, certainly. There will always be some but the politician's way is to feed on this prejudice.

In the marketplace, racism is minimized because of a simple law of economics—harmony is good for business.

There are many sincerely interested in helping overcome the racial prejudice that exists, and this may explain why the clamor for political action gets louder and louder.

But the News suggests if we really want to make meaningful progress toward racial peace and harmony, we will do best if our efforts are turned to those who are helping themselves.

Out in Orange County, California, an enterprising Negro man has instituted a program called Partners for Progress. Wyatt Friesen's approach to the problem is along the lines we consider promising. His idea deserves support and encouragement. But there are many other individual efforts by Negroes to make their own way in business and professional competition. Sometimes, a little word of advice or encouragement or constructive criticism can be a boost toward success.

Those who produce provide the only hope our society has for lasting racial peace. (Continued Below)

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

Let's Be For
After a recent speech I made, a sweet little old lady in tennis shoes timidly approached me, obviously to remonstrate with me over some of the ugly things I had said about some of our leaders. She handed me a note and said, "Don't read this until you get back to your hotel." The note said, "Please remember, nobody is perfect. Each one of us is a mixture of good and some, perhaps, not-so-good qualities. In considering our fellow man we should remember his good qualities and realize that his faults only prove that he is, after all, a human being. We should refrain from making harsh judgement of a person just because he happens to be a dirty, rotten, no-good S.O.B." That little old lady should try to clean up her language and brush up on her Christian charity.

The hippies, anarchists, Communists and atheists are not trying to improve our government and culture; they are trying to destroy it. They are the aginners.

An aginner whose mother-in-law died on a trip to Australia wired the undertaker: "Enbalm, cremate, and bury. Take no chances!"

A Christian cannot be a tear-dropper because a Christian is forever trying to remake himself and the world in the image of Christ. Thus a Christian believes in "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature"—the gospel of Jesus Christ, not the gospel of the atheist United Nations.

Let's be for. There are so many things to be for I feel like a mosquito at a nudist camp; I know what I ought to do, but I hardly know where to begin.

For less tolerance, permissiveness and submissiveness toward young people; and the world at large and more insistence upon what is right and good popular or not. For taxing the National Council of Churches as any other lobbyist, propaganda and un-American organization is taxed. For taxing all church property and earnings which compete with taxpaying businesses.

For winning in Vietnam by blockading all ports, sinking all ships (including British) supplying the Vietcong, bombing all major supply lines, depots and industries in North Vietnam and cutting off all trade with all Communist nations. Helping anti-Communist Cubans and others return to Cuba to destroy the Castro regime, the Russians, and the missiles pointed at us. For retaining our ownership and control of the Panama Canal, by force if necessary. For getting out of the U.N. and getting the U.N. out of the U.S. (The U.N. Bill, H.R. 164). For reasserting and maintaining the Monroe Doctrine.

For expelling from all public schools all students who sit in, riot, loot or otherwise deliberately defy constituted authority. For restoring to Congress the exclusive right to make treaties, tariffs and war.

I'm for rebellion—not by those who are living off the rest of us, but by those who are paying the bills. (The 16 per cent of our people who make $10 to $15 thousand a year already pay more than 60 per cent of the income taxes.) For guaranteed annual starvation for all able-bodied people who won't work. There are many unemployed people in America today—but there is no unemployment.

For making any administration and its leaders subject to recall and impeachment for spending more money than they take in during any fiscal year, except during time of declared war. For remembering that, although Moscow may possibly destroy us, Washington is far more likely to. For restoring the Constitutional balance between the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches by curbing Court and Executive and feeding Congress some Lydia Pinkham's or whatever is best for blood—like retirement. I'm bloody tired of most of those punks in Congress.

For setting our own restrictions on foreign imports and not allowing G.A.T.T. (the the politician as the keeper of our conscience and let loose the individual for attainment of his highest potential. It's that simple in black and white.

For independence, not statehood, for Puerto Rico. For full disclosure of finances of all public employees. For restricting the right to vote to those who receive no regular checks from federal, state, or local governments. Why should the accused be members of the jury?

For example, Johnson has told newsmen he would now like to see the beginning of journalistic exchanges through which U.S. reporters would be admitted to Red China and Chinese reporters would be accredited here. Such an exchange arrangement has long been sought by many American newsmen.

Inside Washington

Humphrey Should Establish Own Identity In Campaign, President Believes; Discusses Problems

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — President Johnson thinks Vice President Humphrey should take an independent stance in his presidential campaign and key his position on national issues to the nation's overriding interests.

The President is known to feel, however, that Humphrey's positions on such major policy issues as the war in Vietnam have never been contrary to his own.

These views of the President can be reliably reported as having emerged in recent White House discussions. Johnson is also described as confident that Humphrey will win easily in the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The President has talked with some White House visitors about Humphrey's central problem—the matter of establishing a campaign identity separate from the administration's record. He is understood to feel that the Vice President's problem can be safely endured.

With mock concern, Johnson is known to have told one recent visitor that Humphrey is in terrible shape, a pitiful wreck, who is only going to win his party's presidential nomination with 1,500 or 1,600 convention votes.

To visitors who inquire about it, Johnson has been saying that he has not advised Humphrey, or been asked to do so, on how to deal with the much discussed identity problem.

In his conversations with friends Johnson has placed one important restriction on campaign pronouncements by Humphrey and other candidates. He has stressed that the President, and only the President, can speak for the United States in international affairs.

NO CAMPAIGN PLANS — In recent talks, Johnson has also made it clear that he can make no crystal ball predictions about his own role in the presidential campaign. He has startled some visitors by saying he is not sure whether he will even attend the Democratic National Convention.

In that connection, however, the President is known to feel that he must defend himself and his administration's record if they become central campaign controversies. He hopes the controversy over the war in General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade), a State Department creation and therefore anti-American, to continue to flood America with slave-made and coolie-made merchandise which puts American workers out of jobs.

For independence, not statehood, for Puerto Rico. For full disclosure of finances of all public employees. For restricting the right to vote to those who receive no regular checks from federal, state, or local governments. Why should the accused be members of the jury?

For example, Johnson has told newsmen he would now like to see the beginning of journalistic exchanges through which U.S. reporters would be admitted to Red China and Chinese reporters would be accredited here. Such an exchange arrangement has long been sought by many American newsmen.

Johnson explains, however,

JOHN GOLDSMITH

Vietnam will not play a dominant role in the campaigning. Johnson is now described as completely convinced that his withdrawal from the campaign was a wise decision. He has emphasized that point in private talks, saying that his Vietnam peace initiatives would simply not have been believed if he had not removed himself as a candidate.

He has told visitors flatly that there would have been no talks with the North Vietnamese in Paris if the Communists had believed that he would be vulnerable to the political pressures of a presidential campaign.

Long-time associates who have talked to the President about his dramatic withdrawal announcement picture him as relaxed and serene—a man who seems to have no regrets about his decision.

VERY CAUTIOUS OPTIMISM — With respect to the Paris meetings on North Vietnam, Johnson is pictured as somewhat hopeful. He has warned visitors, however, that he does NOT want to be overly optimistic about the chances for major steps toward peace.

For the present, the President is known to believe that the United States has gained in world opinion as a result of the Communist strategy which couples diplomatic talk with intensified fighting. He has reminded callers that the Communists are attacking Saigon, and the Americans are not attacking Hanoi, as the talks in Paris proceed.

In such discussions he has been known to tick off the names of influential newspapers in foreign capitals which have taken a pro-American view of the Paris negotiations.

In a world sense, Johnson is understood to feel that the United States is in better shape, and the Communists in worse shape, than they were when the Paris negotiations began. He was supported in that view by recent consultations here with Ambassador Averell Harriman, who is the chief U.S. negotiator in Paris.

Harriman reported to Johnson at a Cabinet meeting that U.S. World prestige has never been higher during Johnson's presidential years.

Johnson's very cautious optimism about the Paris talks carries over, in private discussions, to other phases of U.S. relations with the Communist world. He has told visitors he would like to see steps to bring Communist China into what he calls the family of nations.

For example, Johnson has told newsmen he would now like to see the beginning of journalistic exchanges through which U.S. reporters would be admitted to Red China and Chinese reporters would be accredited here. Such an exchange arrangement has long been sought by many American newsmen.

Johnson explains, however,

Every effort must be made to obtain peace in our troubled world, but at the same time we must be ever alert to the threat which Communism poses, and recognize that the aim of the Communist leaders is to bring the world under eventual Communist domination.

In a speech which Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, assistant commander of the U.S. Marine Corps, recently gave at the Manlius Military School, near Syracuse, he quoted from a document written by Lin Piao, vice chairman of the Chinese Central Communist Party, in which he had stated, "Just as Communism in China succeeded by capturing the countryside and then encircling and defeating the cities, so the global Communist movement will ultimately succeed first by capturing Asia, Africa, and Latin America, thereby encircling North America and Western Europe, and then by finally and decisively defeating the United States and its western allies."

President John F. Kennedy recognized what the consequences would be if Viet Nam were to come under Communist control. The Dec. 8, 1967, edition of Time magazine reported, "Two months before his death, John F. Kennedy was asked if he doubted the validity of the theory that a defeat in Vietnam would imperil the rest of Southeast Asia. 'No,' he replied. 'I believe it. I think that the struggle is close enough. China is, so large, looms so high just beyond the frontier, that if South Vietnam went, it would not only give them an improved geographic position for guerrilla assault on Malaysia, but would also give the impression that the grave of the future in Southeast Asia was China and the Communists.'"

In 1950 President Truman ordered U.S. naval and Air Forces to help repel the Communist invasion of South Korea.

A good many white Americans are fearful of discussing the "race question" in this country today. They know that if they criticize the riots and the marches and the other disturbances, they are likely to be attacked as "white racists."

My friend Harlan Carter now lives out in Garden Grove, Calif., but he is a product of Laredo, Tex., and that makes him okay. Harlan is in charge of some vast portion of the United States for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, but he is all bound up in the affairs of the National Rifle Association. I think he is, or was, president of it.

I'm not much for crouching in a duck blind on a cold November morning with water up to my bawozoo or chasing mountain goats up the side of a 6,000-foot cliff, so I claim no particular affection for the NRA. It just strikes me that if most of the members are guys like Harlan, the NRA can't be the sportsman's mafia, as Senator Dodd claims.

With the recent rash of psychotic assassinations, the ploy seems to be that if you cannot control the man, you control the gun. This must rank among the 10 goofiest theories in history. It presupposes that (1) there is only one way to kill someone (with a gun); (2) that assassins wouldn't buy a gun illegally because they are law-abiding citizens; and (3) that if you can't buy a gun, there is no way of obtaining one.

Tom Wingert of Hidalgo County, Tex., used to be with the Border Patrol and he has a collection of homemade guns that could blow the head off a jack rabbit or prime minister with equal ease and accuracy. You can make a gun out of a length of pipe and a block of wood. Joyous youths have, in their exuberance, made such loveies as Molotov cocktails and bazookas out of scrap heap leavings. They didn't have to order them out of a mail order catalog. As I said, I am not a gun buff; as a matter of fact when the talk turns to guns, hunting and the baggage and clutter that go with shooting, I take five. But of all the gun lovers I've known, I can think of one that I think ought to be stripped of his hardware or made to register with the local sheriff.

Maybe one of them is a latent assassin; but of the last three fellows who killed prominent public figures, not one was a sportsman or member of the NRA. I think the hunters get their kicks shooting something other than people.

It occurs to me that every American ought to be allowed to own a gun, or guns, if he wants to. His car is a pretty deadly device but I haven't heard much sentiment to outlaw it.

It may be that registering guns is a harmless intrusion by the government into a private matter, but no one has pointed out what specific benefit it would accomplish. It doesn't figure that criminals, or psychopaths, would run down to the police station on the way to work and give the fuzz the serial number of the murder weapon.

This, most likely, is a sentimental and emotional reaction. But if there is no harm in the gun legislation, neither is there any benefit to mankind in expanding, even by one jot, the intrusions of government into the affairs of free men.

Rock and Roll Anne (the young daughter as she listened glassy-eyed to the record)—Did you ever hear anything so beautiful?

Mr. Bell (the father)—No. The nearest sound I ever heard was when a truck loaded with empty milk cans collided with another loaded with hogs.

A golfer did everything wrong according to the experts, yet managed to play a very creditable game. One day in a foursome with strangers one of them remarked.

Mr. King—I can't understand it. You often take your eye off the ball and still you made good shots consistently.

To which he replied.

Mr. Keys—I have a good memory.

Experience keeps a dear school, but fools still learn in no other.

From the pulpit, the government, the newspapers and the TV tube, they have heard the same accusation: it is all their fault. They are guilty.

The Manion Forum invited a Negro to discuss this "untouchable" subject over a recent radio program. He is George Schuyler, the distinguished author, editor and foreign correspondent. Schuyler told it like it is; and here, in his words, is precisely how it is:

"The unbelievable has happened. Cities gutted, colleges invaded, vandals destroying property, policemen attacked, business disrupted and in some cases destroyed.

"All of this conforms with the original Communist plans worked out by Stalin and brought here by his agents in 1922. We have now seen everything decided then by the Reds come to fruition. The Red plans called for civil war and treason, America, being most vulnerable on the color question, having passed through the Civil War and the trauma of its devastation and painful reconstruction period—the Communists have calmly hit upon that strategy and it has worked.

"What the Communist Party has done is to subvert and brainwash many thousands of people, many of whom don't know what it is really all about. An entire solar system of organizations has been established, or taken over, in this country to do the will of the Kremlin. All these organizations are committed to Marxism, collectivism, and the doctrine of class war and the destruction of free enterprise. They use clichés about democracy, equality, civil rights, freedom and anti-poverty.

"Reliable, responsible citizens of all colors have been cowed into silence and made to feel unwarranted guilt. Big public officials, clanking for Negro votes, chant 'We Shall Overcome'—that old Castro-Communist ditty—and lock arms with known extremist agitators. Officials have launched a nationwide mourning for an agitator who counseled civil disobedience and hoped for the destruction of America. Washington bureaucrats, from the White House on down, brainwash and bulldoze police, soldiers and militia into not shooting arsonists and looters.

"What we need is unparalleled pitiless exposure of how and why these outrages happen, who originates them and who profits from them. Certainly the colored whose homes are gutted do not profit by them."

Schuyler documented his charges in the radio broadcast, and named the organizations to which he referred. You can obtain this documentation by sending 15 cents to the Manion Forum, South Bend, Ind. Ask for Broadcast No. 714. And for more testimony from a brave Negro who dares to tell the truth, watch this column next week.

Well, they have gone and put through the new bits on the little feller! And every time the gov't takes another bite out of my check at the office I get two more bites at home.

The Blouse & Skirt is in a tizzy. She says we can't stand another bite if we are going to make one end meet with the other. The new tax does more than 10 per cent worth of damage. Them bureaucrats just never seem to get the overall picture.

They have got the Blouse & Skirt to the point where she don't trust anybody or anything. She won't buy wiseg cheese anymore because it is full of holes. She thinks everybody who comes to the door is either a polster, a census taker of a tax collector. A lot of times she is right. The bureaucrats have taken a sweet, calm, loving woman and made her a nervous wreck.

She can't afford a telephone because of the tax, and she is scared to go to the store when one pepper costs 60 cents and two tomatoes cost .50. The reason she is scared is because this week the pepper might be .70 cents and the tomatoes two for $1.

She won't turn on the Telleve, because when she does she sees some candidate hollering "Won't you help me?" Help him! What the Blouse & Skirt would like to know is, "Is there no help for her?"

Pampa Hosts Dumas Tonight in District Tilt

The Pampa American Legion baseball team will host Dumas in a district contest at Optimist Park tonight at 8 p.m.

Coach Lloyd Summers will lead the services of Alvin Ford, Steve Summers and Tom Hawkins to hurl against Dumas.

Pampa has a chance to climb over the .500 mark if they can win over Dumas. The Rebels now have a 4-4 mark.

Achord will put his four game hitting streak on line. The short-pitcher has 10 for 16 in the last four games and has the chance to hit safely tonight in the straight contests.

Pampa defeated Amarillo, 8-0, Wednesday night when Al Gomez hurled a no-hit game.

Recent Bride Leads In Open

READING, Pa. (UPI)—Mrs. Maxine Berning, a diminutive and attractive pro golfer, should have more than a new husband following her around today when she takes a stroke lead into the second round of the U.S. Women's Open golf championship.

Mrs. Berning, a bride of seven weeks, had only her husband, Dale, as a one-man gallery for the first 12 holes Thursday when she fired a two-under-par 69 at the nearby Pottsville Golf Club to grab the lead away by one stroke from four-time champion Bettye Wright.

The 5-foot-2 Mrs. Berning, 26, used good irons, a precision putter and a good-luck charm around her neck which was given to her by her husband to make a good starting run at the open championship that eluded her last year when she finished a tie for third, two strokes back of amateur Cathy Lacoste.

Trailing the first round leader by two strokes was former open champion, 6-foot-3 Carol Ann, garbed in a miniskirt and net stockings, who had a 71.

Opening round 72s were posted by Ruth Jensen and Marilyn Smith while those at 73 were Mrs. Muri Lindstrom, Sandra Post, recent winner of the Ladies Professional Golf Association (LPGA) championship, and amateur Phyllis Reuss.

Miss Lacoste, only amateur to win the 22-year-old open, and Betty Rawls, another former open champion, were among four tied at 74.

STROS RECALL MILLER

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Astros moved to bolster their sagging offense Thursday when they recalled outfielder Ivan Murrell from their Oklahoma City farm club in the Pacific Coast League and returned outfielder Ivan Murrell to the 90ers.

Miller opened the season with the Astros and hit only .190 in 14 games, but rose to a .306 average during a month in the PCL. Murrell was hitting .102.

AMBUCK UPSETS SMITH

PARIS (UPI)—Roger Bamuck of France came from behind in 10 meters to go and scored a stunning upset by beating U.S. star Ronnie Smith Thursday night in the 100-meter final at an international track meet.

Smith, co-holder of the 100-meter world record at 9.9 seconds, led from the start but finished just behind Bamuck, with both sprinters being time 10.1.

Shannon's Home Run Gives Cards 3-2 Victory Over Los Angeles

By FRANK DE GEORGES
UPI Sports Writer

Mike Shannon says he wasn't ready for World Series pressure last year. But he's ready now, he wants the chance and he's doing all he can to get it.

The St. Louis third baseman, new and unsteady around third base last season after several years in the outfield, found the World Series "too tough—I really didn't get to enjoy it."

He's grown accustomed to the base, though, and he demonstrated his enthusiasm for another October shot with a tie-breaking, two-run homer Thursday which carried the Cardinals to a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles and an impressive 8½ game lead in the National League.

Shannon hit his homer in the eighth off Los Angeles starter and loser Claude Osteen. The homer, his 11th, put the Cardinals ahead 3-1.

Mets, Bucs Split
In other NL action, New York and Pittsburgh split a pair, the Pirates winning the opener, 3-2, and New York coming back in the nightcap, 4-3; Philadelphia and Chicago divided a doubleheader, with the first game going to the Cubs, 6-2, and the second to Philadelphia, 7-4, San Francisco edged Atlanta, 6-4, and Cincinnati topped Houston, 7-4.

Boston beat Oakland, 7-2; Baltimore edged Chicago, 4-3; Detroit outlasted California, 13-10; Washington trimmed New York, 4-2 and Cleveland prevailed over Minnesota 6-3, in the American League.

Home runs by Cleon Jones and Don Bosch enabled the Mets to halt Pittsburgh's seven-game winning streak in the second game after the Pirates had captured the opener. Jones hammered his 10th home run of the year, tops on the Mets, with two out in the fifth and Bosch erased a 2-1 Pittsburgh lead with a two-run drive in the third.

Bill Mazeroski atoned for a costly error by doubling home Donn Clendenon with the winning run in the eighth-inning of the first game.

Rookie Jeff James pitched five hitless innings and recorded his first major league victory for Philadelphia in the second game. Home runs by Billy Williams and pinch hitter Dick Nen paced the Cubs' victory in the first game and Williams also hit a three-run blast in the nightcap of James.

Dietz Sparks Giants
Dick Dietz drove in four runs with a homer and a double to spark the Giants and give reliever Frank Linzy his fourth win of the season in 10 decisions.

Alex Johnson and Mack Jones drove in three runs apiece to lead Cincinnati to victory. Johnson produced one run in the third with a grounder and singled across runs in the fifth and ninth. Jones, whose infield out accounted for a run in the third, singled across two runs during a three-run ninth.

Funseth has earned only $13,168 in 20 tournaments this year, not enough to make the top 60 in earnings on the pro tour, and Baird has earned only $4,000. Each has scored only one tournament victory on the tour. Funseth in six years of trying and Baird in eight.

But, Thursday they solved the tough par 72-Warwick course, 7,001 yards long, with four under par 68s while the better known and more affluent players were battling to get close.

"Normally I don't play this course very well," Funseth said, "and I had very little confidence when I started. But I started putting well, my driving improved. I improved with my irons and everything came together."

Funseth played early in the day and holed out a 35-foot explosion shot from a trap for one birdie while knocking in putts of 25 and 20 feet for two others. Baird, playing after the greens were chopped up with spike-marks, said the putting surfaces were "bumpy" but he laughed about the problem.

"When you hit it right," he said, "it goes over the bump and in. But if you miss, you blame the bump. I putted okay. I didn't feel real good about it, but I made them."

He named one birdie putt of 25-feet and others of 11 and 18-feet while posting nine, one putt greens. Baird was in the event men's championship match set for Saturday.

Mrs. King, seeking to become the first woman to win three straight Wimbledon singles titles since Maureen Connolly last accomplished the feat in 1952-54, earned her fourth appearance in Wimbledon's finals Thursday with a 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 victory over England's Ann Haydon Jones.

Miss Tegtart advanced to the finals for the first time with a stunning 6-3, 6-1 triumph over Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., of the four finalists in the men's and women's divisions, Miss Tegtart is the lone amateur, playing for glory and expenses.

A $1,000 prize awaits Mrs. King should she win the women's title while Laver and Roche will be battling for a top prize of $4,800.

Their rivalry? A long accepted precept in Australia that one state is better than another, and he only wants to prove it is to fight it out on the sporting field.

Whatever the outcome, just about everything else about both men comes down to a common denominator.

They are both left-handed and both play the same sort of winning tennis.

While Laver and Roche battled it out to decide the first professional champion ever in the 82-year history of Wimbledon, Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., and Judy Tegtart of Australia will be quietly contemplating their Wo-

Tigers Hit Six Homers To Top Angels, 13-10

By PETE ALFANO
UPI Sports Writer

Mayo Smith, who takes a dim view of July 4 celebrations, would rather wait a few months before having his Detroit Tigers participate in any flag waving festivities.

The Tigers, who lead the American League by a comfortable 8½ games at the traditional halfway mark in the pennant race, set off their own brand of fireworks Thursday as Norm Cash and Jim Northrup led a six-homer barrage ended in a 13-10 trouncing of the California Angels.

Smith, however, was not carried away by the performance and took a seemingly unpatriotic view of the day's events.

"I don't believe in that July 4 stuff," said the Tigers' skipper. "What I believe in is Sept. 29, the last day of the season."

Mincher Homers
The Angels had taken an early 4-0 lead in the second inning on Don Mincher's first homer and errors by Bill Freehan and reliever Dennis Ribant on a bases-loaded bunt, which allowed three runs to score.

The Tigers retaliated with a nine-run rally in their half of the second, featured by Freehan's 12th homer, Northrup's triple and homers by Norm Cash and Willie Horton.

In other American League action, Washington beat New York 4-2, Boston triumphed over Oakland 7-2, Cleveland rallied to beat Minnesota 6-3 and Baltimore edged Chicago 4-3 in 12 innings.

In the National League, Pittsburgh split with New York, the Pirates taking the opener 3-2 and the Mets the nightcap 4-3, Chicago split with Philadelphia, winning the first 6-2 before dropping the second game 7-4, San Francisco topped Atlanta 6-4, St. Louis edged Los Angeles 3-2 and Cincinnati defeated Houston 7-4.

Ed Stroud slammed two triples and two doubles and scored two runs as the Senators beat the Yankees and pinned Stan Bahnsen with his fourth loss in 11 decisions.

Pizarro Does It All
Juan Pizarro, acquired last week from Pittsburgh, drove in two runs and pitched one hit ball in 6 2-3 innings of relief to lead the Red Sox over the Athletics.

Joe Azcue's two-run double climaxed a four-run eighth inning Cleveland rally that pinned Dean Chance with his ninth loss. Vicente Romo, who pitched five innings of relief for the Indians, won his first major league game.

Fred Valentine tripled leading off the 12th inning and eventually scored on a bases-loaded walk to Don Buford, lifting the Orioles past Chicago. Brooks Robinson hit his ninth and 10th homers of the season earlier in the game to take the Orioles to a 3-0 lead.

Survey Made In Pampa On Recreation

A survey on the recreational needs of Top of Texas citizens is now being conducted by a team of interviewers under the supervision of Mrs. Thelma Bray.

Questions are geared to answer the kind of recreation citizens now participate in, changes made or expected and recreation facilities used and desired.

The information, according to Mrs. Bray, will permit the proper planning and development of recreation facilities in Texas.

Interview questions deal specifically with recreation activity, vacation time, record of out-of-town trips (not vacation) and record of in-town outdoor recreation, trip and equipment cost and ratings of recreation facilities.

Interviewers started July 1 and will conclude before August 15.

A total of 275 families in the Panhandle will be contacted with a wide range of income groups used.

The survey includes 75 homes in Pampa; 75 in Borger; 20 in Stinnett; 10 in Sunray; 20 in Dumas; 10 in Fritch; 20 in Perryton; 15 in Hutchinson County; 15 in Ochiltree County and 15 in Moore County.

Census takers include Mrs. James Waldrop, Mrs. James Schaffer, Miss Jean Burnham, Mrs. Weldon Carter, Mrs. John Stafford and Ron Bray.

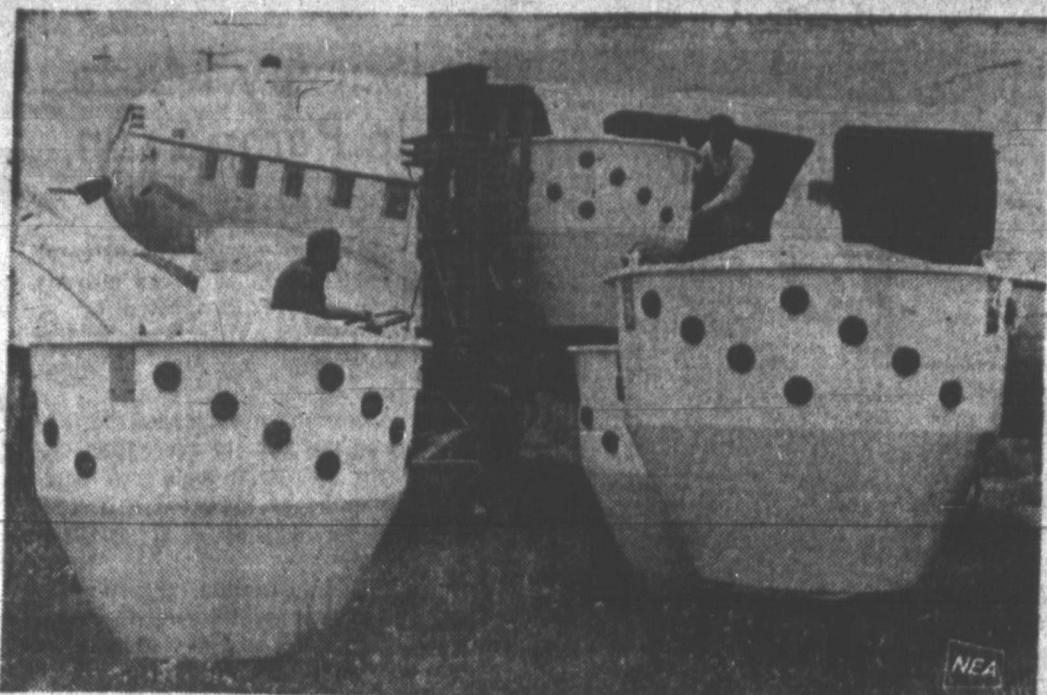

Packer Guard Retires From Pro Football

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—One of the most familiar pictures in the National Football League—barrel-chested No. 63 clearing the way for a Green Bay Packer ball carrier—won't be snapped any more.

Fred "Fuzzy" Thurston, who played no high school football but became one of the best pulling guards in NFL history during nine high-riding years with the Packers, announced his retirement Thursday.

"This is truly the turning point in my life—turning from a Packer player to a Packer fan," said the 33-year-old Thurston. "Anybody got a ticket for the opener?"

He plans to devote full time to his flourishing restaurant business. He operates steak houses in nearby Menasha, Appleton and Manitowish, and plans to open new ones here and in Fond SAIGON BUCKET BRIGADES will use these fiberglass water-containers which hold 450 gallons each. Developed by the Department of Agriculture to fight forest fires, the "buckets" will be slung beneath helicopters and used to put out fires caused by Viet Cong rocket attacks and other fighting.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—At this month's meeting of the Charles de Gaulle Appreciation Society, the other member and I discussed the recent disturbances in Berkeley, Calif. We agreed that the anti-DeGaulle demonstrations on the University of California campus gave us something new to appreciate.

"De Gaulle has drawn a lot of criticism in America," the other member pointed out, "but anyone who has those Berkeley students against him can't be all bad."

Our main concern, however, was the impact the Berkeley boisterousness might have on the student protest movement as a whole.

The Berkeley group was reported to be protesting the treatment that French students received from the De Gaulle government when the French students staged a protest demonstration.

International Reciprocity I'm not certain what the French students were protesting about, but they may have been protesting the treatment that Columbia University students received from New York police when the Columbia students staged a protest demonstration. Anyway, this obviously opens up whole new vistas for campus protest demonstrations.

If students can't find anything on their own campus to protest about, they can protest about something that is happening in another campus.

Looking ahead to next fall, I have prepared a news story that may cover the situation that may develop:

DEWLAPS, Mont. — A student protest group at the Dewlaps Poultry College seized control of the campus incubator today and locked Dr. Wilhelm Wattle, dean of egg candling, inside as a hostage.

Protest Calcutta Conditions Fergus McPeep, leader of the rebellion, said the students were protesting conditions at the University of Calcutta.

"We have no complaints about conditions here at Dewlaps, but we're fed up with the way students in Calcutta are being treated," McPeep explained, heaving a pop bottle at the campus cop.

Asked what issue had prompted the demonstration, McPeep said the Calcutta administration had refused to let Indian girls wear mini-skirts to class.

Foreign News Commentary

By RAY MOSELEY

ROME (UPI) — Italy was going through one of its recurring political crises a few years ago, and in parliament angry deputies were on the point of coming to blows.

From the President's podium, Giovanni Leone suddenly interrupted the debate and said: "Let's adjourn until 4 o'clock. It's 4 o'clock to us Neapolitans you understand. For you foreigners, late afternoon."

Amid a burst of laughter, the tension went out of the assembly.

Leone, a wry Neapolitan who is Italy's new premier, is likely to need all his skill at defusing crises to get through this summer.

Trouble Situation Much of the country is in an angry mood. Workers are striking. University students of the left-wing are calling for revolution. The Communists promise to give Leone's government trouble in parliament.

And Leone has at best only a three-vote margin to keep his government alive.

A 59-year-old Christian Democratic senator, Leone was brought to the helm of government not to resolve the nation's political crisis but to conduct a holding operation until a solution is in sight.

The crisis resulted from national elections last month. The Socialists who joined the Christian Democrats in a center-left government five years ago lost heavily in the elections to the Communists and refused to enter the new government.

They said the Christian Democrats were to blame for their setbacks because they failed to carry out social and economic reforms, making the Socialist presence in the government meaningless.

a majority in parliament, but they can muster a slim majority if the Socialists and the Republicans, their other partners in the former center-left abstain from voting and if all the Christian Democrats remain loyal.

Much depends on what kind of program Leone offers in his inaugural speech to parliament.

Leone is expected to give greatest emphasis to reforms in government administration and in the university system.

Students have been demonstrating and rioting all year in a demand for university reforms.

'Safari Park' Lions' Diet Is Expensive

TUEDDERN, Germany (UPI) — They won't eat pork, signed Richard Schmidt. "My 28 lions only want the more expensive beef and veal, and sometimes horse meat."

Schmidt's lions run wild within limits, on his 74-acre Safari Park, first of its kind in Germany.

Schmidt, 42, and his partner, Gottlieb Loeffelhardt, 34, opened the park in June, offering it as a land of adventure to families who can't afford to take their children to Africa.

The adventure consists of driving through the park slowly in the family car, with the windows closed tight despite current 95-degree noontime weather, so none of the lions can stick their paws in.

To insure that visitors do keep the windows up and remain in their cars, Schmidt dressed a store window mannequin in a man's suit, threw it to the big cats, and distributed detailed pictures of what happened.

The resulting rush of visitors is enabling Schmidt to finance the 700 pounds a day of horsemeat and expensive beef and veal.
