Floydada Man Tells His Version Of Fight Which Claimed Life Of Friend

Victim Dies Tuesday At Plainview; No Arrest Is Made

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Nov. 30.—Ray Moreau, Floydada mechanic, who was knifed in one arm during the fight November 17 in which Wilburn Kimble, also of Floydada, received a blow on his head which resulted in his death at Plainview Tuesday, today told his version of the fight.

Moreau said the fight took place at a country dance in the Farmer community, about 25 miles southwest of Floydada. He said he did not know the name of the man who slashed him with a knife, and that he was out of the affray at the time Kimble was hit.

Ready To Leave

He said the fight started after he and his roommate, Jimmie Baxter, were in the latter's car in readiness to leave the dance "to avoid trouble."

"Two men pulled Jimmie out of the car over me," Moreau said. "They got him down. I reached over to pull one of them off and he slashed my arm. I went inside to try to stop the bleeding. A little later someone came in and told Kimble's wife, 'you had better go out there, they've knocked Wilburn in the head.'

Were Boys Together

"Kimble and I were boys together. He and his wife went to the dance with me. He was not in the fight when I got out, but I am con-

Buyer Hates To Lose Six Bucks

(By The Associated Press)

TYLER, Nov. 30.—A negro man told police today he bought the federal building here for $94, but was worried about $6 change due him from the salesmen.

Some men told him the edifice was the Standard Oil building and they represented that company, he said. He paid them with a $100 bill, he said, and when they couldn't make change promised to wait until they returned with six dollars from "just around the corner." After waiting an hour, he reported to police.

"Maybe I jest didn't wait long enough," he said, "but I hate to lose that $6."

Buisch Speaks Before Retail Meeting Here

Merchandising Problems Are Discussed By Authority On Business; Advertising Value To Merchant Told

Merchandising problems were discussed by L. H. Buisch, of the merchants service bureau of a cash register company, of Dayton, Ohio, at a dinner attended by about 90 Lubbock merchants at Hotel Hilton last night. R. C. Smith was toastmaster.

Buisch's appeal to the merchants was to "lay aside your petty jealousies and work together for the common good of our communities, for you can't kick and pull out of the depression at the same time."

Program Arranged

A negro orchestra played during the dinner, and the special program included two readings by Miss Ethel McKinley, and three numbers by the Tech ocarina quartet, Roger Knapp, Lynn G. Gordon, Fred Fairly, and Culver Hill.

"We should be ashamed of the things we are stooping to do in 1932," Buisch declared. "We have been thinking in terms of price and not of quality, and we have shoved the prices down until there is no profit for the merchant, the consumer, the transporter, the manufacturer, or the producer of the raw product."

Attacks Wage Cutting

Mr. Buisch attacked wage cutting as "demoralizing the morale of your organization, and you call it business," and decried reduction of advertising appropriations.

"I presume a lot of you men here do not advertise, and yet you wonder why you don't get the business," he declared. "Do you realize that 226,000 merchants voluntarily with-

Sherman Charged In Assault Here

Jack Sherman, known as "Indian Jack," was charged with assault to murder in a complaint filed Wednesday in Justice of the Peace J. S. Connell's court. The charge was filed as a result of a knife attack on Brownie Beard here in October.

The knifing suspect was arrested Tuesday night by the sheriff's department.

Joe Murphy, who broke into print when he was charged with throwing a firecracker into a group of curbstone philosophers at Broadway and Avenue H several months ago, was charged with transporation of intoxicating liquor in a complaint filed in Connell's court yesterday. Murphy was acquitted of the firecracker charge. The sheriff's department said a small quantity of liquor was broken when Murphy was arrested yesterday.

Lubbock Gets Next Meeting

Interior Protective Association Names Seven Additional Directors And Chooses This City As Next Host

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, Nov. 30. — The Interior Protective association today chose seven additional directors, decided to hold its next meeting in Lubbock and listened to addresses by State Senators George Purl of Dallas, Joe Moore of Greenville and others.

Directors named were: Ben E. Keith of Fort Worth, a wholesale produce merchant; Phil Manier of Marshall, representing cotton oil mills; J. Webb Howell of Bryan, banker; O. Y. Early of Brownwood, wholesale grocer, Stanton Brown of Waco, compress man; G. H. Zimmerman of Waco, lumberman, and Ralph C. Goeth of Austin, wholesaler of hardware.

Date of the Lubbock meeting was not set.

"I have no fight to make on the port cities of Texas," Purl said, "but while we of the interior have been sleeping the ports have organized themselves for close concerted effort. The ports were made to serve Texas, not Texas to serve the ports."

"We do not propose to let anyone build a Chinese wall around the coast cities and cause the interior cities to pay tribute to them."

Fleet Of Four-Motored Ships Will Be Set Out On Oceanic Schedules; Lindbergh Tells Of New Developments

New Planes To Cover Distance Of 2,400 Miles In One Hop And Carry 50 Passengers On Scheduled Runs

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30. — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, with officials of the Pan-American Airways, unfolded plans today for development of trans-oceanic aviation by which they hope to dominate inter-continental air transportation.

Within two years, this airline plans to set out upon oceanic schedules a fleet of four-motored, all metal, monoplane "clipper ships."

Built For Efficiency

As were the "clipper ships" of sailing days, these airliners, built for efficiency rather than for size, will be sent into the trade routes to gain for American aviation the supremacy in passenger and pay load traffic.

Their design contemplates use on all the present ocean routes: America to Europe via Newfoundland-to-Ireland and Bermuda-to-Azores; and across the Pacific with a stop in Hawaii.

Contracts Awarded

The announcement that contracts for two types of these ships were awarded last night was made by J. T. Trippe, president of Pan-American.

Guardian Is Appointed For Heir To Bradford Fortune

DALLAS, Nov. 30. (AP) — Probate Judge F. H. Alexander today appointed T. L. Bradford, jr., guardian of the state and person of H. J. Jenkins, jr., 10-year-old heir to a large share of a million dollar estate left by Bradford's father and the boy's grandfather, the late Mayor T. L. Bradford of Dallas.

The action was the latest development in a case which attracted widespread attention in Texas and Kentucky, home of the boy's father, H. J. Jenkins of Louisville. The latter was charged with kidnaping his son from the Bradford home, where he had been in the mayor's care after the death of Mrs. Jenkins, Bradford's daughter.

Fighting Marines Get Mad As Personnel Is Reduced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. (AP) — The fighting marines were fighting mad today but said little about it.

News that the enlisted personnel of the marine corps was due to be reduced 1,700 in the interest of economy created a stir throughout marine headquarters as orders went out, reluctantly, cancelling any further enlistment at the various camps.

Although there was little open criticism, facial expressions and brusque replies to inquiries told clearly what the officers here thought of the move. The personnel reduction, the third in almost two years, was almost the only topic of conversation throughout the day.

Dates For Lubbock Meat Show Are Set For March 23 And 24; Many Agents Attend At Annual Gathering

(By Staff Correspondent)

SPUR, Nov. 30. — Plans for the coming year's work, including the Lubbock meat show in March, were made by county agents of district No. 2 at the annual meeting here, closing late today. With the district No. 1 meeting jointly, the attendance was in excess of 100 agents and specialists.

Dates for the Lubbock calf, pig and meat show were announced as March 23-24. Regulations were drawn up governing the show and indications are that it will be one of the largest in the state this year.

Today's programs were enlarged at the last moment. The women agents were invited by R. E. Dickson, superintendent of the experiment station here to visit the station this afternoon. This they did, going over his garden plans.

The men also were delayed in closing and held an afternoon session at the Baptist church. Discussion of organization plans for each county was held today.

Groups Are Formed

Federation Reverses Completely Former Stand In Plans Calling For System Of Unemployment Insurance

Program Backed By Threats Of Strikes And Boycotts; "We Will Fight," Green States In Ringing Appeal

(By The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 30.—Completely reversing its former stands, the American Federation of Labor today declared its support of a system of unemployment insurance.

It accepted its executive council's plan for compulsory unemployment insurance, paid for by industry and administered by the state.

As they did in calling for the six-hour day and five-day week, delegates backed their plans with threats of strikes and boycotts.

Go Out And Fight

"We will go out and fight for our program," President William Green had declared, and other speakers had urged that "just as our president threatened 'force' in gaining our other 'demands' so we can resort to 'force' in the interest of unemployment relief."

Green had explained in referring to his threat of 'force' that he meant "economic force"—strikes, boycotts and picketing.

Supports Modification

The Federation convention then supported "immediate modification of the Volstead act" and "repeal of the 18th amendment as rapidly as that can be brought about."

Just one year ago, the Federation

Cavalry And Infantry Thrown Against Leader Of Revolt; Main Infantry Advance Aided By Surprise Attack

(By The Associated Press)

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Dec. 1.—Japanese cavalry and infantry, several thousands strong, have opened an offensive against forces of General Su Ping-Wen, leader of the revolt east of Khingan mountains, and today had advanced more than 100 miles northwestward into enemy territory.

A Japanese vanguard of cavalry and infantry, the latter riding motor trucks, reached Chalantun, 90 miles northwest of Tsitsihar, Wednesday afternoon. A body consisting of a Hiraga brigade bivouacked last night in the neighborhood of Chantzushan.

The main attack began before dawn Wednesday, but preliminary advances of cavalry and motorized infantry began Tuesday. Striking overland north of the Chinese Eastern railway, by way of Kanna, the Japanese vanguard surprised forces of General Chang Tien-chu, General Su's lieutenant, in the rear. This facilitated the main infantry advance.

The Japanese claimed that wherever encounters occurred, the enemy retreated. The frozen snow-covered plains facilitated the rapid sweep of the cavalry and motor trucks, although sub-zero weather intensified the hardships.

Youth Indicted In Probe Of Vice By Houston Jury

Boys And Girls Said To Frequent Houses Of Disorder; Illegal Operations Bared

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Nov. 30.—The county grand jury got well into its investigation of alleged vice conditions affecting boys and girls of high school age here, indicating a youth of 19, not a student, on a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

Statements made to the county probation officer and laid before the grand jurors were to the effect that while high school students, both boys and girls, frequented the house, juveniles not attending school came there.

The grand jury expects later, it was revealed, to investigate reports of illegal operations upon girls. The body called in the managing editors of the three Houston newspapers today to request their cooperation in an educational campaign designed to reawaken parents to their responsibilities.

Meanwhile, school authorities issued statements saying no immorality existed at the schools and that the conduct of pupils over the city and out of school hours was necessarily in large degree a problem for parents.

Capital Police Forces Ready And Waiting To Halt Trouble If Marchers Start Something

Plans For Protective Barrier Of Blue Coats Around White House Are Laid; Leave For Officers Cancelled

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. — If it's trouble the demonstrators now marching on Washington want, city authorities said today, they will find the capital's various police forces ready and waiting to end it as soon as it starts.

Plans for a protective barrier of massed blue coats at the White House and capitol and for close supervision of the marchers wherever else they may go were laid in an all-day session of the District of Columbia commissioners and at a meeting of the capitol police board.

Leaves Cancelled

All police leave was ordered cancelled effective Sunday, when the demonstrators are scheduled to reach the city.

One hundred metropolitan policemen were ordered to reinforce the regular capital police as long as the marchers remain in the city. Congress convenes on Monday.

Fifty men from the park constabulary were assigned to the White House to augment police and secret service men regularly stationed there.

A point in the plan which the commissioners considered particularly important included orders that the arriving contingents be

Wild Horse Lake Given New Drink

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Nov. 30. — Wild Horse lake, at Amarillo's outskirts, was "wilder and wetter" today.

It had imbibed a new drink of liquor—50 gallons. The whisky was emptied by federal prohibition agents.

The lake in trail driving days was a welcome sight to thirsty cattle and cowboys who bedded down on the prairie around it. In more recent years, however, it has been used principally as a reservoir for "evidence" that has served its purpose in liquor cases.

Britain Sends A New Appeal

French Again Ask Postponement Of War Debt Payment Due On Dec. 15; America Plans Economic Conference

(By The Associated Press)

The new British appeal on the war debt issue, its contents strictly secret, was cabled to the British embassy in Washington for presentation at the state department today. It was generally expected to be Britain's most important document since the World war, going beyond the question of the $95,550,000 payment due December 15, with a direct economic appeal to the American people.

A new French note, which it was learned authoritatively would insist that the $20,000,000 payment due from that country on December 15 must be postponed, was outlined at a cabinet meeting in Paris. It was expected it would be sent to Washington before the end of the week. Open debate on the issue was curbed by vote in the chamber of deputies.

The American secretaries of state, treasury and commerce held conferences with President Hoover, financial experts and others in Washington, discussing plans for a world economic conference. Secretary of the Treasury Mills said the debts question was not discussed.

Insistence by counsel for other interests that Cole make public the proposals was met with calm refusal several times during the afternoon, Cole replying that they would be presented later.

Defendant In Murder Trial Details Story

State And Defense Counsels In Slaton Case Rest Late Wednesday; Self-Defense Is Plea Of Witness

Arguments To Open

Complete Story Of Shooting And Of Incidents Leading Up To It Are Told; Daughter Of Adams Heard

AFTER the gray-haired defendant had taken the stand in his own behalf and related his version of the shooting of Dr. S. H. Adams, pioneer Slaton physician, and several character witnesses had testified as to his character and reputation, testimony in the trial of A. L. Tudor, Slaton grain and coal dealer, was brought to a close Wednesday afternoon in 99th district court.

Both the prosecution and defense counsels announced closed at 4:48 p. m. after less than three hours of defense testimony. The state had previously rested its case at noon, put on two more witnesses in the afternoon and presented four witnesses in rebuttal testimony.

"He Made A Move"

Tudor testified he killed Dr. Adams "because he was coming towards me and I was afraid he was going to kill me" while on the stand and declared the physician had "made a move with his hands" before he fired the first shot.

The physician was shot in his office on October 13, the shooting resulting from the death of Mr. Tudor's son, Woody Tudor, on the doctor's operating table following an automobile accident on August 25. Tudor surrendered to officers a few minutes after the shooting.

Arguments Today

Arguments in the trial are expected to begin some time this morning after Judge Clark M. Mullican has presented his charge to the jury.

Mr. Tudor was the major witness for the defense, taking the stand as attorneys in his behalf opened their case. Four character witnesses followed him and defense testimony ended.

With little aid from his attorneys, Mr. Tudor gave a complete story of the shooting and incidents leading up to it.

Lived There Since 1921

He testified he had lived in Slaton since 1921 and had been engaged in the grain and coal business. He gave his age as 52 years. He said he had been married 32 years and had two sons, Woody, 30, and Melvin, a younger son. He said Woody had been in the employment of the Santa Fe for seven or eight years and earned around $150 a month. He said his relations with the boy had been "very close" until his death and that the boy visited in his home nearly every day.

Recalling the night the boy died, Mr. Tudor told of Woody coming by his house with his wife and children and getting Melvin, his wife and child and going to the Johnson ranch. He said he learned of the accident about thirty minutes later. He testified he went to Dr. Loveless' office and found his son there and the boy told him his arm was broken.

The boy said, "Dad, I'm shore glad I didn't hurt my baby," Mr. Tudor testified. He said Dr. Loveless was "whittling on a stick" and he asked why he was waiting so long and he answered he was waiting on Dr. Adams.

Went To Doctor's Office

"And he went and called him and came back and said it looked like he wasn't coming and I said 'I'll go over there and get him' . . . And when we got to Dr. Adams' office, he was in there by himself . . . and I said 'My God, Dr. Adams, get over there and help my boy' and it kinda made him mad, it seemed, and he said 'You're talking to the wrong man . . . if you

Added Support For Demo Prohibition Repeal Proposal Is Promised Garner

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. — Indications of added support for the Democratic prohibition repeal proposal scheduled for a house vote Monday came from members arriving for the short session but there still was some doubt in the minds of leaders over its adoption.

Speaker Garner declined to predict that a two-thirds vote would be amassed behind the proposal but said that on the basis of information at hand, the outlook was growing more favorable.

An incomplete poll of the membership conducted by Representative Milligan of Missouri, assistant Democratic whip, the vice president-elect said, showed a swing toward adoption.

Milligan told newspapermen that it was a "long guess" but indications were that 125 Republicans and 150 Democrats would vote favorably, or a total of 275. He expressed the opinion that 275 "will be enough" to obtain the two-thirds majority required for adoption of a proposed constitutional amendment.

German Leaders Fear Aged President Will Leave The Fatherland In Lurch

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 30. — If Germany's political chiefs do not watch their step they may find the Fatherland without a president as a result of the possible resignation in disgust of the aged Paul Von Hindenburg.

For several days there have been whispers in political circles that the president was sick and tired of party bickerings over the formation of the next cabinet—that he was disgusted at the inability of the rightist parties to form a "ministry of national concentration."

These whispers were boldly reported today by Der Deutsche, official daily organ of the Christian trade unions, representing 500,000 workers. Asserting that the president had seriously considered resigning, the paper said that was exactly what the monarchists desired, for it would open the way for a vice-regency.

Club Meetings Are Of Interest In Lubbock On Wednesday Afternoon

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

UT OF Arizona comes a story, telling of the slaughter of thousands of wild horses by the government because the ponies have become runty and diseased and are polluting stream heads far from the more populous places of civilization. Navajos and other Indians in whose reservations the horses range are being paid so much per head and it is planned to stock the plains with cattle in order that the red men may derive more profit. But even then these Indians are such lovers of horse flesh that they resist in rounding up the animals for slaughter with some reluctance.

With the passing of these wild horses the last vestiges of what once was fine Indian splendor in the far West is vanishing.

White man, as well as red, can look on this slaughter with a feeling of sorrow. The white man, that it was who brought civilization to West Texas, to New Mexico, Arizona and other western sections. For the wild horse is a part of his stock of memory of pioneering days.

Not so many years ago there were mustangs in this section. Hardly a ranch in the early day failed to have wild horses that had been caught on this Llano Estacado and tamed and even in more recent years the mustang was common enough. I suppose that every rancher or ex-rancher in Lubbock has had mustangs in his string of horses.

Men who pioneer in a country must live to see it transformed by civilization but they have a tender sentiment for the things that were. A practical government sees the feasibility of destroying worthless wild horses but men of the plains, white or red, watch the slaughter with a feeling of regret.

IT SOUNDS GOOD

OF ALL the suggestions that have been made in the last few months for remedying the depression one was made the other day that should receive some attention—or so it seems to me.

This suggestion is that more than 2,000,000 children, between 7 and 17 years of age, who are now employed be put back in school and that the jobs be given to adults who are without work. The campaign is being sponsored by Dr. Mary Woolley president of Mt. Holyoke college and a delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference; Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas; William Allen White; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and others.

It is estimated that over 3,000,000 children are out of school because of the depression and that over 2,000,000 between 7 and 17 are gainfully employed while between 10 and 11 million adults are now in "desperate need of work."

Naturally, it isn't going to solve the question of unemployment to do this one thing but it looks like a workable suggestion and a step toward the solution of a problem. Moreover, it would help thousands of boys and girls to receive a better education and possibly assure them of more independence as men and women.

MISDIRECTED ENERGY

ALL ALONG I have a feeling that our troubles — depression and unemployment—would come to an end a lot sooner if the people who are now crying for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment devoted the same time and energy to the promotion of law enforcement and to the advancement of peace, good will and honest, legitimate business.

In the last few months I have read and heard arguments yards long about the benefits to be derived from having beer, wines, whisky and what-have-you. I have been told that money will roll into the government store houses once the Eighteenth Amendment is repealed and some vague new law is introduced. I have been told that sobriety and temperance can be had only by making it easy for people to drink. I have seen men take their "sociable" drinks and go further than that.

But so far I have failed to hear one convincing reason. I have not known one business enterprise to prosper because the employers or employees drank. I have yet to see the man or woman who can transact his business better or become a better person because he has taken a drink. I have failed to see temperance promoted by offering youngsters the temptation of drinking. I am convinced that all this talent, time and energy could be used much more profitably in bringing happiness and prosperity to a nation.

Big Ranch Deal Is Consummated

MIDLAND, Nov. 30 (AP)—Completion of one of the largest ranch deals in West Texas in many years, and which observers believe may lead to an oil drilling campaign on hitherto untested property, has been announced here.

The deal involved about 61,000 acres, bought by J. F. Mabee, Tulsa, independent oil operator, from the Midland Farms company which is owned by the Fasken interests. Consideration was announced as nearly $500,000 cash.

Purchase of the ranch puts nearly 400 sections of land in this immediate area into the ownership or control of three local ranching affiliations and their associated interests. The three companies are Mabee and Pyle; Mabee, Pyle and Proctor; and Proctor and Parks. The NA ranch, involved in the deal, was for years leased by the Scharbauer Cattle company.

The NA tract is a part of the huge C ranch of 226,000 acres at one time owned by Nelson Morris of the Chicago packer family. It was later bought by D. Fasken. It was considered to have 175,000 acres of tillable land, and a few years ago was offered to farmers for colonization.

The giant tract has not had an oil test, but people here believe its purchase by Mabee, a leading mid-continent independent operator, may forecast a drilling campaign.

One Coffee That's Really Different

—Not Merely a Different "Name" or "Brand"

A Rare Type of Coffee That Not 1 Person in 20 Ever Has a Chance to Taste Because Only a Limited Amount Can Be Grown Each Year

For A Real Change, Try The Flavor of Mountain-Grown Coffees From The Famous West Coast Of Central America

FROM the West Coast of Central America comes a rare flavor of coffees that's little short of a revelation.

Not merely another "name" or "blend." Not merely a different "brand." But coffees of an indescribable richness and winey tang such as you've probably never tasted before.

For these rare coffees are more difficult to obtain. And only a limited amount can be grown each year in the tiny districts that produce them. So many people never have a chance to taste them.

Mountain-Grown

They are raised chiefly in isolated plantations where a peculiar set of coffee-growing conditions prevail.

(W/DE WORLD)

Antigua, Guatemala—The famous Antigua coffees used by Folger are one of the world's rarest varieties.

They differ from ordinary coffees because they're mountain-grown. Nourished in an odd-type of rich volcanic soil, where altitude and tropic rainfall combine to produce a flavor which coffee experts concede is not duplicated anywhere else in the world.

These are the rare coffees you taste in Folger's—the coffee so many women are turning to today. Brought to you with all the mountain-freshness faithfully preserved in key-opening, vacuum tins.

And to let you try them without delay, to let you test their unusual flavor—we make the following unique suggestion.

Try This Test

Just go to your grocer and get a pound of Folger's today. Drink it tomorrow morning.

The following morning serve the coffee you previously used. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them. 158

If, for any reason, you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. That's fair, isn't it?

NOTE: Folger's is particularly economical. Because of greater richness and body, you may use 1-5th less! Get a can today!

Ted Longworth Adds Texarkana Open Title To Laurels

Home Pro Wins After Holding Constant Lead

Card Of 297 Wins Top Money In First Annual Tourney; Ky Laffoon Of Denver Wins Second Place Purse

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

TEXARKANA, Nov. 30. — Elongated Ted Longworth, Texas Professional Golfers' association champion, Cotton State open champion and one of the ranking putters in the southland, added another golf title to his collection today. He won the first annual Texarkana club $500 open tournament with a 72-hole medal play card of 148-149—297, five over par.

He is professional at the Texarkana Country club, and was in front from the first to the final 18 holes.

Ky Laffoon of Denver, Colo., who holds the Colorado and Rocky Mountain open titles, finished second in the professional rank with a card of 309 flat, but he was tied for second low by two amateurs, David Goldman of Dallas and Edwin McClure, Louisiana champion, who each carded a 300. In the play-off for the low amateur prize, McClure beat Goldman on the extra hole, a 4 against a 6.

Nelson Is Third

Byron Nelson, Fort Worth amateur champion who turned professional in this tournament, won third place money with a card of 309. Francis Scheidcr, Dallas professional, and Dick Metz, San Antonio professional who finished second in the Los Angeles open last year, tied for fourth place with 302 each.

Earnest Harris, Little Rock professional, Ed Juelg, Houston professional, and Jimmy Demaret, Houston professional, tied for fifth low with each scoring a 305.

Longworth knew the Texarkana greens in this tournament. He had his putter stroking with accuracy, and when he flubbed a shot through the fairways, he was always there to one-putt and balance the score card.

Shoots A Mad 8

In his morning round, he even scored a glaring eight on his card, but he had the stout heart to keep shooting and finished the lap in 73 strokes, even par. He slipped three over with his 37-39—76 on the final round, but his lead was enough that the remainder of the field could not overhaul him.

Francis Schieder played a fine final round of 35-37—72, one under par, but his morning round of a bad 80 ruined his future chance. Scheider played his worst hole on the morning round. He reached the long dog-leg 18th green with two full woods, and was 10 feet from the cup, but it was a treacherous one and he four-putted to fall far behind.

Ky Laffoon staged a grand final round of 33-38—71, two under par, to blaze his way to second place after finishing the first 36 holes yesterday in 150 strokes.

Byron Nelson, playing his first tournament as a professional and determined to finish in the money, literally blistered the course in a sub-par round of 32-38—70 and a total of 301. Nelson's 70 and David Goldman's perfectly played 35-35—70 in the semi-final round were the lowest cards of the day. Goldman had a splendid chance to finish first after his morning round, but he started the afternoon round by taking a seven on the second and a seven on the fourth to finish with a 39-39—78.

In the play-off for the low amateur prize between McClure and Goldman, McClure sent his tee shot fading into a bunker. Goldman was down the middle, yards in front of McClure. The Louisiana champion took a No. 2 iron and spanked a hooked ball 10 feet from the cup and two-putted for a four. Goldman was short with his approach, but pitched seven feet from the bucket with his third. He had a down-hill putt that rolled beyond, and he missed coming back to take a six.

A card of 309 finished in the money. Ideal weather prevailed throughout the entire tournament. The tournament fund was more than $600.

Auburn's Hitchcock, Zimmerman Of Tulane Rate In Southern Conference

Associated Press Names Official Honor Team

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Nov. 30 — Jimmy Hitchcock and Don Zimmerman, triple-threat backs from Auburn and Tulane, drew most praise from coaches and sports writers who selected the eighth annual Associated Press all-Southern conference football team.

For the first time in several years there were no unanimous choices, but Hitchcock and Zimmerman were named on a vast majority of the 50 ballots by football experts.

Six teams, representing every section of the conference, placed athletes on the first squad, while seven have men on the reserve eleven.

One of the features of the balloting was the close race between the five star backs—Beattie Feathers of Tennessee, Clyde "Dizzie" Roberts of Vanderbilt, John Cain of Alabama, Zimmerman and Hitchcock.

Feathers was third in the tabulation as Cain won place over Roberts by a handful of votes. Although a halfback, Hitchcock received more votes for quarterback than any other and was named at that post. Ralph Kercheval, Kentucky's fine back and kicker, polled a heavy vote, but was crowded off by the landslide in favor of the other ball carriers.

Battle of Ballots

The closest duel of ballots among the linemen came at tackle and guard. Charles Leyendecker of Vanderbilt and Fred Crawford of Duke finished with a small margin over Bill Hupke of Alabama and John Scafide of Tulane topped the guards but the race for second team positions was spirited.

Pete Gracey of Vanderbilt had little competition for center, and David Arail of Auburn and Virgil Rayburn of Tennessee were easily the choice at ends.

Five players—Zimmerman, Cain, Gracey, Scafide and Leyendecker—were repeated from the 1931 honor team. Feathers Hupke and Arialil are juniors while the others are seniors. Joe Rupert of Kentucky and Harry Rossiter of Duke, named on the second team as ends, are sophomores.

The second team: Rupert, Kentucky and Rossiter, Duke, ends; Bill Grinus, V. P. I. and Malcolm Aitken, Tennessee, tackles; Marion Talley, Vanderbilt and Eugene Hite, V. P. I., guards; Howard Neblet, Georgia Tech, center; Lowell Mason, Duke, quarterback; Clyde Roberts, Vanderbilt, and Norman Mott, Georgia, halfbacks; Ralph Kercheval, Kentucky, fullback.

Waxahachie High Challenged After Winning Class B Title With Class A Student Number

AUSTIN, Nov. 30. (AP) — Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the Texas Interscholastic league, said today that eligibility of Waxahachie to play Class B football had been challenged by Groesbeck on the ground Waxahachie was a Class A school.

Henderson said a protest against Waxahachie was pending with the state committee. The protest he said, was received today and was taken up immediately with Waxahachie officials.

It had been reported that the Corsicana State Home had been ordered to play Groesbeck tomorrow for the District 17-B title and that Waxahachie, district winner had been ruled out.

Henderson said he knew nothing of Waxahachie being ruled out and stated that action of this nature would have to be taken by the state committee on the basis of evidence disclosed in its investigation. The mere filing of a protest would not disrupt the original arrangements which could be changed only by action of the state committee, Henderson said.

Figures in the state department of education showed Waxahachie had an enrollment of 611 students, Henderson said. The dividing line between Class A and Class B schools is 500 students, under the league rules, he said.

Wounded Woman Is Reported To Be In Serious Condition

FORT WORTH, Nov. 30 (AP)—Miss Lela Adams, 59, found wounded in her blazing farm home four miles south of Mansfield in Johnson county, was reported in a critical condition today.

Rufus Hinton, 21, found Miss Adams while entering the house to save valuables from the fire. He and W. D. Mills, and Milton Galloway discovered the fire and attempted to carry out the furniture.

Miss Adams was wounded by three bullets from a small caliber rifle. The wounds were not serious, but the woman was badly burned on the arms and face. The house was destroyed.

Attendance at Missouri state parks during the 1932 season showed a decline of nearly 100,000 from the previous year's 331,786.

New Rules Cut Grid Scoring To A New Low

Objection Raised By Colgate Coach Who Says Rules Aimed At Offense And Cut Out High Interest Of Game

BY FOSTER HAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—With added rules hampering offensive play, competition growing keener every year in the big conferences and the inclination growing to avoid setup games, football scoring records for the 1932 season tumbled to a new low average of 12.83 points per game, a compilation today of the records of 159 representative teams showed.

It is the lowest total of the 11 years such records have been gathered by the Associated Press, being 1.17 points under the previous low of 14, last year. The 1931 record was a drop of two points from the second highest total of 16, set in 1930. The average for 1922 was the highest of the 11 year period, 19 points, but the records of only 63 teams were used.

Some Coaches Object

Many leading coaches, among them Andy Kerr, mentor of Colgate's undefeated and unscored on team, believe the rules committee has been legislating too harshly against attacking formations and robbing the game of its main thrill —the scoring of touchdowns.

The six rules passed last year in an effort to cut down on the number of injuries are almost universally applauded by the coaches as having accomplished their purpose but apparently they struck more heavily at the offense than the defense. Three of the six rules—those forbidding the flying block and the flying wedge and the "dead" ball restriction—hampered an offense already slowed by the shift rule and restrictions on forward passing.

One reason for the decrease in scoring, however, may be found in the more even competition in the various big conferences and the scheduling by both big and little schools of teams in their own class. Nebraska, which held the mighty Pittsburgh machine to a scoreless tie and lost only to Minnesota, 7-6, scored only 84 points while allowing 34, in eight games.

Yale Finishes Even

Yale, with one of its poorest seasons in years, finished its seven game schedule with an exact standoff—scoring 41 points and yielding the same number. It had only one "set-up" game scheduled against Bates, and that turned out to be a scoreless tie.

Dave Bancroft Succeeds Donie Bush As Manager Of Minneapolis Millers

Price Of Crowns Cheap These Days

ABILENE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Crowns are cheap these days.

"Texas Special," crowned king of American steers at the international livestock show in Chicago, cost his owner only $450, it was revealed today by C. M. Largent, veteran Hereford breeder of Merkel, near here.

Largent bought the animal in Dallas last month after it had won the grand championship of Texas at the State fair. "Texas Special" was bred by D. F. Mayberry on his Fisher county (Texas) ranch. Mayberry bought his foundation here, one bull and eleven cows, from Largent many years ago. So "Texas Special," entering the Chicago International under Largent colors, in a sense was returning to his ancestral home.

In "big time" competition, C. M. Largent & Sons over a period of years probably have won more blue ribbons than any other Texas exhibitor. Largent senior is a banker of Merkel. His ranch, not a show place in any respect, is run for profit.

Another Big Topper Goes To Minors As A Skipper

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 30. (AP) — Managerial talent trained under the big top again was assured the Minneapolis ball club today with the signing of Dave "Beauty" Bancroft to pilot the 1932 champions of the American Association.

Like his predecessor, Donie Bush, who goes back to the majors as manager of the Cincinnati Reds, Bancroft formerly was one of baseball's shortstop celebrities, having starred particularly with the Philadelphia Nationals and the New York Giants. As a big league veteran, Bancroft played with and managed the Boston Braves. Later he was with Brooklyn for two years.

The new Miller manager inherits virtually all of the material with which Bush won the pennant. Some of his men saw service in the National League during the years that "Banny" played there, including Rube Benton and Rosy Ryan.

Mike Kelley, president and principal owner of the club, who announced Bancroft had signed a one year contract, did not give the salary figure but sports writers said the new pilot would receive the highest pay in the minors.

Fascist Italy Consigns Her New Ship To Ocean Highways

GENOA, Italy, Nov. 30 (AP)—Fascist Italy consigned her second great passenger boat to the ocean highways today when, amid a tumult of cheers, the 48,000-ton Conte Di Savoia steamed away for New York.

The Conte Di Savoia follows close on the heels of the 50,000 ton Rex, which inaugurated the Italia line's new "super-fast" service to New York in September. Both ships are capable of 37 knots and their scheduled time for the crossing is six and a half days.

Lubbock Greets Amarillo Grid Outfit Tonight

The Lubbock High school band and pep squad, as well as numerous fans of Lubbock will gather at the Santa Fe platform tonight and offer up a ringing cheer for the Amarillo High school Sandies who will pass through here enroute to Ranger and the bi-district game, local school authorities said yesterday.

Although defeated by Amarillo in the District 1 final game last Thursday, the Westerners and their rooters will join Amarillo fans in pulling for a Sandstorm victory at Ranger Saturday.

The train is due to arrive here at 10:15 o'clock tonight. An extra pullman will be added here for Lubbock fans who will make the trip to Ranger, it was announced yesterday. A low round-trip rate, approximately 60 per cent of the regular one-way fare, will be charged, it was said.

Last Of Four Big Liners Launched By Grace Lines

KEARNY, N. J., Nov. 30 (AP)—The "Santa Elena," last of four new $5,000,000 luxury liners built for the Grace line, glided down the ways at the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company yards today to become the newest recruit in the American merchant marine.

Miss Elsie Grace, daughter of William Russell Grace, director of the steamship company, christened the new liner with a bottle of campagne sent by the city of St. Helena, Calif., for the ceremony.

The new ship, was built for service between New York, California and the Pacific northwest, via Havana, Panama, the Spanish Americas and Mexico.

Yeah—Good Old Days!

THOSE citizens who prefer to live in the past and to call attention to "the good old days" when "you could get so much more of everything for a dollar" will be surprised at a recent survey made in Austin.

According to the University of Texas News service, Adrian Pool, who is well known here, has discovered that you can get more groceries for your money today than you could back in 1906. And 1906 is always included in the list of "good old days" by those who worship at the shrine of antiquity.

Mr. Pool, now a member of the State Board of Control, discovered among his papers an order he had given an Austin wholesale house 26 years ago when he was manager of the dining room in old Brackenridge hall, boys' dormitory at the university.

Being of an inquiring mind, he promptly sent a duplicate order to the same grocer and learned that today the order totaled $429.67 while in 1906 the same items added up to $521.97.

Staple groceries, he noted, are lower now than in 1906 but meats are higher.

On next Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, scan the food advertisements which are regularly presented in Avalanche-Journal papers and you'll be amazed at the values offered.

You'll find that Mr. Pool's survey is correct.

THE LINDBERGH CASE

The report that the Lindbergh kidnap case is in its most active stage since the week following the finding of the baby's body is cheering news to most of us.

And more cheering still is the brief announcement from Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, head of the New Jersey police, that he and his aides are confident the fiends will be brought to justice.

Newspapers and press associations are co-operating with the officials and with the Lindbergh family in "laying off" reporting the daily trend of the search but they are in touch with the situation, day and night.

Whether it will come soon, or not, no one knows—but don't be surprised some morning to pick up your paper and discover that the kidnapers and murderers have been taken into custody.

NOT OUR WORRY

We have a lot of trouble out here on the plains, all right, but we don't have as much trouble as some folks do, at that.

Consider the plight of the Swiss farmers and stockmen whose pastures often end at deep bluffs.

They have to go around from time to time to fix their fences, just like our cowboys do but their job is just a little different.

They have to keep up their fences to keep the cattle from falling off the pasture!

SOARING OVER DEPRESSION

What has been accomplished in air transport in the face of depression, as reported by Colonel Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aviation, suggests that if the incentives to general travel had remained normal commercial aviation would have outpaced by this time, as surely as motor transport did in its halcyon days, the devices of control and regulation.

Last year was sub-normal for movement by rail, water and highway. Yet scheduled air lines increased their mileage by nearly a third, carried one-fourth more passengers, flew an eighth more mail and much more than doubled their express business.

This phenomenal growth had potent government encouragement. Besides air mail payments, which are thinly disguised subsidies, the country has been provided with 19,500 miles of lighted and radio-equipped air routes, an unsurpassed meteorological service, and (by private and municipal enterprise) an amplitude of airports and landing fields. But the government has likewise lent indispensable support to rail and water carriers without corresponding results.

America's growing air-mindedness appears to be depression-proof. Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that depression has merely retarded the rapidity of its progress. The public interest in aviation development is the encouragement it lends to the belief that the time is not far distant when government props may be withdrawn from the lusty infant industry, to the rejoicing of the taxpayers, to let it test the strength of its own wings.

Tact is just the art of making the other fellow feel more important than yourself.

The slogan of all blocs is the quaint American phrase: "Gimme."

Robins As A Reformer

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Raymond Robins (he was "Professor" Robins then) had the reputation in Chicago newspaper circles of holding himself in mighty high esteem in the early 1900's, when he was prominent in Windy City welfare activities and I was "doing local" on the old Inter-Ocean in the same burg.

Police assignments and "human interest" yarns brought me into frequent contact with him.

He was a "reformer" — in the sense of the word that calls for quotation marks, a capital "R", italics or some such typographical device to give it plenty of emphasis.

We Chicago reporters were a cynical gang in those days. We regarded that kind of reformers with a certain—What shall I say? "Suspicion" is not quite the right term. We thought we had them estimated too accurately for that. We considered them self-advertisers of the first water. To this however, we did not greatly object—especially as to an individual like Professor Robins, who really was a good news source; he was entitled to a fair return in publicity for the "stories" he gave us we felt. Still, we did not want him to go to extremes and "sell" us a sensation, sooner or later, that might flatten out and make US look silly, for falling for it. And we were rather doubtful of his judgment. Perhaps it would be correct to put it that we were a trifle skittish of him.

AS WE ARE aware, Colonel Robins disappeared last September 2.

Let us consider the circumstances of his disappearance.

The colonel was electioneering at the time for President Hoover. President Hoover's support was largely conservative and the colonel previously was classed among the country's extremest progressives; in fact, in 1912 he was a Bull Moose bolter from the G. O. P. But he was intensely dry, and of this year's two major presidential tickets, it is of record that Mr. Hoover's was the dryer.

Surely it is not straining a point to assume that the colonel's dryness outweighed his progressive-ism.

BE THAT as it may, the colonel having disappeared, the surmise immediately was broadcast that he was the victim of a wet kidnaping at least; worse, possibly.

Now there have been wet-and-dry fights in the past (I have seen them on a local option scale) which, from having trended powerfully in the wets' favor, have switched suddenly and overwhelmingly in the drys' direction, as a result of some indiscreet act of wet lawlessness at the psychological moment.

Was this (one asked one's self, upon hearing of Colonel Robins' disappearance) to be such an instance, of national calibre?

"No" proved to be the answer.

The Robins case inexplicably failed to "take" with any vigor.

It "made" the newspapers' front pages for a few days; that was all.

If such a dry as, say, Senator Borah, had vanished on September 2, and if it had been suggested that the wets had kidnaped him, and if he had still been unaccounted for on November 8, will anyone contend that newspaper discussion of the mystery would have subsided completely in the meantime?

But who heard Colonel Robins' continued absence referred to as an issue on election day?

It was only when the colonel was found in the North Carolina mountains, suffering from amnesia, that the story again became one of public interest.

TRAINING PARENTS

Preparatory courses for training in the duties of parenthood were mentioned as possibilities of the curriculum of the University of Michigan by President Alexander G. Ruthven in a recent address. The idea is appealing. Unquestionably the job of being a parent these days has become complicated and any help the university could give would be a real service.

One might, however, take issue with the university president concerning who should be eligible for such instruction. He proposed that the course be offered to prospective parents." This seemingly would be a wasted effort. Everyone knows that prospective parents usually evolve a complete and ideally perfect system for the training of children. If instruction in child rearing is to be given, election of the courses should be only for fathers and mothers who have from three to a dozen children. They would undertake the study with appropriate humility and with full confession that they retain no preconceived notions, only a great sense of need.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE FASCIATED TREE:

It is usually a matter of years before a tree is old enough to have its leaves counted by the scores, but in the electric hothouse of the General Electric company in Schenectady, N. Y., there is a grapefruit plant which attained to this status in 13 days. Fasciation claimed this particular seedling as its victim, with the result that the tiny plant tried to grow all of its leaves at once, though it is less than two inches in height.

The seed of this plant, as well as many others, was subjected to the effect of 200,000-volt x-rays before planting, in an investigation of the effects of x-ray on plants.

Many Explorers Hunt Buried Treasure At Castle Gap But Meet Bare Success

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 30. (AP) — Cody Bell of Rankin has signed hundreds of contracts with treasure hunters which give him 10 per cent of their find, for he owns a big part of that two-miles-square territory at Castle Gap where fortune seekers have been busy for years. Thus far he has not received a cent of dividends. He signs them all but specifies that the guests must not tear down his fence or gates.

In San Angelo recently Bell said he had heard many reports about men finding treasure, but none has been verified. Several parties are hunting for treasure at Castle Gap now.

Many old men have been brought to the spot to look for a vanished spring, but their memories were bad and several have said the country had changed. Another landmark in the search for buried gold is a collection of burned wagon tires. In that section there are three such landmarks, but the right one has not yet been determined. China Pond, a lake that has nearly dried up and which is now on the property of J. H. Trippett, is another key to the hunt. Recently a man from Phoenix, Ariz., appeared with an old buckskin map which he said was the original map.

Recently Bell found a buffalo horn on the ranch. He sent the horn to San Francisco where it was classified, the report saying that the animal of this particular type had been extinct for more than 2,000 years.

Texas Forces Fight Repeal

Allied Forces For Prohibition In Texas Gather At Dallas To Petition Legislature And National Congress

DALLAS, Nov. 30. (AP) — Resolutions petitioning both the state legislature and congress to stand firm against the return of legalized alcoholic beverages resulted from a rally of allied forces for prohibition of Texas at the First Baptist church here last night.

The meeting set up a state organization and enlisted funds to carry on a campaign against any change in ay part of prohibition laws of the state or nation.

Dr. H. K. Taylor of Southern Methodist university presided. Principal speakers were Dr. George W Truett, pastor of the host church; Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurry college at Abilene; and Dr. M. T. Andrews of the First Baptist church of Texarkana.

Dr. Hunt charged that "large corporations and a group of 53 millionaires" had conspired to bring about repeal of prohibition laws in order to escape income taxes. He vigorously attacked the theory that the country could "pay itself out of debt by drinking beer." He said congress would be "cowardly" now to repeal the Volstead act, thereby nullifying the constitution in advance of its possible amendment and that congress would be doing by indirection what it could not do directly.

The meeting adopted a resolution introduced by Dr. Taylor designating Sunday, December [illegible] as "prohibition Sunday" for all Texas churches, and asking all pastors to discuss the subject on that date.

The steering committee headed by Dr. Taylor was given additional time to draft a slate of state officers for the organization, to be submitted for election at a later meeting.

Bronchial Troubles Need Creomulsion

Bronchial troubles may lead to something serious. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Mexican Cotton Picker Is To Defend Man Who Wounded Him

Big Spring Man Surprises His Friends By Request To Help Attacker; Lives After Bullet Entered Brain

BIG SPRING, Nov. 30 (AP) — Pete Correa, Mexican cotton picker, recently astonished physicians when he not only lived to tell about having a bullet pass squarely through his head, but could boast he felt no pain or loss of appetite. In fact, he returned to picking cotton the day after a fellow countryman had, 'drilled' him.

Now Pete has again done the unexpected. Since being shot he has appeared at an attorney's office here asking that he represent his assailant who has been indicted for assault to murder.

The astonished lawyer argued: "why, Pete, didn't he strike you and abuse you before he shot you?"

"I know" Pete said, waiving aside the argument, "but you no understand. He was just playing."

So the man who shot him will have benefit of counsel provided by the man whose head he punctured with a .38 calibre bullet.

The examining physician said when Correa was shot the bullet apparently passed clearly between lobes of the brain. It entered in the middle of the forehead and emerged from the base of the skull.

Tudor Trial

want that boy's arm treated, bring him over here' . . . And some of the boys tried to get him to go over there and he said, 'You boys all know I'm the Santa Fe doctor and you ought to come here for treatment'."

He testified that after they had gone back and brought the boy to Dr. Adams' office that Woody said to him, "'Dr. Adams, I'm afraid to take ether, Dr. Miller over at Clovis told me my heart would never stand it and never to take it' . . . And Dr. Adams said, 'Yes, you can stand it' . . . And I said to him, 'Doctor, if that boy can't stand ether, don't give it to him'," the defendant continued in his testimony with but little interruption from his attorney.

"I Love My Daddy"

"The boy said he could stand it without the ether," Mr. Tudor said. "and they said they would have to give it and he said, 'Well, let's get going and get it over with'. . . . When they commenced to give the ether, Woody said, 'I love my daddy, I love my daddy,' and that's the last word he said."

He said he judged it "must have been 40 or 50 minutes before the boy died, it seemed longer than that but I guess it wasn't."

Tudor testified he never saw Dr. Adams or any other doctor make any sort of examination of the boy's chest or heart after he had been brought into the office. He said it was 20 or 25 minutes before they started work on the boy's arm and he asked why it took so long. He said Dr. Adams was sewing up the gashes on the arm while Dr. Loveless was giving the ether. He said they gave the boy two cans and part of a third of the anesthetic.

"The Boy's Gone"

" . . . Tom Abel said, 'The boy's gone' and Dr. Adams got that thing and put it on his chest and then they started working his arms up and down and mashing his chest. . . . And I said, 'My God, doctors do something for that boy' . . . And I went around to his face and said, 'My God, son come out of it, come out of it'. . . . I asked Dr. Loveless what he figured caused his death and he said likely a clot of blood on the brain and I said, 'No, it wasn't, you doctors killed him'. . . . And they went into the other room and started talking low to each other," Mr. Tudor declared brokenly and with an occasional tear falling down his cheeks.

"And all the time, my wife was hollering and crying and saying, 'You're killing him with that ether'."

Told of Conversations

He told of the two conversations he had had with Dr. Adams with Mr. Nesbitt present and testified he had no other meeting with the doctor after that.

He said he went to the doctor's office "around 4 o'clock on October 13."

"Just tell then what you did," Geo. Dupree, a member of the defense, said.

Didn't Want To Bill Him

"Well, some of the men that was on the grand jury told me they wanted me to talk with them on Monday, that's what caused me to go. . . . I didn't want to bill Dr. Adams or have him sent to the penitentiary . . . that wouldn't help those babies or bring my boy back . . . I wanted to try to get him to help take care of those babies. I felt like he was responsible for his death through negligence," Mr. Tudor testified.

"I walked into the office, spoke to him and I said, 'Dr. Adams, some of the grand jurymen want me to talk to them Monday' and I told him I didn't want to see him go to the penitentiary and that I wanted some sort of settlement and that I wanted to know what he was going to do about those babies. And he said, 'I'm not going to do anything' and then told me 'to get out and stay out'."

"I Kept Shooting"

"He reached over with his hands like this (indicating the doctor's action) and when he done that I pulled my gun and shot that right arm . . . And then he got up and came toward me with his hands up and I just kept shooting and he fell on his knees and I went out the door and gave myself up."

He declared he warned the doctor not to come toward him, saying, "I don't want to shoot you". He said he didn't shoot any more after the doctor fell to his knees.

"Why did you fire the first shot?", Mr. Dupree asked.

Fear Is Expressed

"Because I was afraid he was going after a gun or something in that drawer," Tudor replied. "He was acomin' towards me and I didn't know whether he had anything in his hands or not and I was afraid he was going to kill me", he replied in a query as to why he fired the other shots.

Dayton Moses, prominent Fort Worth attorney, took charge of the defendant and put him through a rather severe cross examination, propounding question after question on details of his story.

Tudor said he didn't remember Dr. Adams telling him the reason he wanted the boy in his office was because he would get the benefit of a Santa Fe surgeon there. He also denied seeing the doctor make any examination of the boy's chest and heart, replying "If he did, I didn't see him".

Admits He Was Armed

Tudor admitted he was armed on both occasions when he talked with the doctor prior to the shooting in spite of the fact that he had promised Mr. Nesbitt the meeting would be peaceful and told him he didn't have a gun on him. He said he bought the gun at a pawnshop in Fort Worth several years ago and had only shot it once. He said it had the same shells in it that were in it when he bought it.

He said Dr. Adams was sitting down at a desk when he walked into the office and repeated how he had fired his first shot when the doctor made a movement toward a drawer. At this point, Moses had the defendant demonstrate to the jury how the doctor was seated and the manner in which he moved his hands.

Didn't See Weapon

"He jerked his right hand back when I shot and I kinda looked back at the door to see a way to get out and I heard a noise over there where he was and he was coming towards me", Tudor repeated in answer to Mr. Moses query on details of the shooting.

"You didn't see any weapon in his hand did you?", Moses asked.

"No, sir, I didn't know what he had," Tudor replied. He said he didn't know how many times he fired.

"Why did you carry a gun there?" Moses snapped at him.

"Well, I've been in the habit of carrying a gun for several years," the defendant answered. He said he carried his money home at nights often and used the gun then.

"But you weren't carrying any money home that day, were you?", Moses asked.

"No, sir," he replied.

No Violence Threatened

"Now, Dr. Adams never threatened any violence on you on either of those occasions when you talked about the boy's death, did he?", Moses asked.

Tudor replied in the negative.

He said W. A. Simmons and Gene Legg were the grand jurymen who told him they wanted to see him Monday about the case.

Questioned about his son's insurance, Tudor said his son's widow had collected "something over $2,000", one policy which drew double indemnity because of an accident clause.

"And you knew that before you killed Dr. Adams, didn't you?", Moses asked. "You didn't make any objections to your daughter-in-law collecting this policy on the accident claim, did you?".

Tudor replied that he hadn't.

Talked Over Suit

He admitted he had talked to W. W. Campbell, local attorney concerning a suit against Dr. Adams after Geo. Dupree, a member of his counsel, had declined to take the suit.

"And you didn't bring any suit, did you?", Moses asked.

"No, sir, I haven't so far," he replied.

On re-direct examination, Tudor said most of the insurance money went to pay funeral expenses and a debt on his son's home. He denied telling Dr. Adams to "stick 'em up' and said the doctor didn't say, "Please don't shoot".

He said one reason he carried a gun was because his business was near the railroad tracks and many bums got off trains near there.

Afraid Of Robbery?

"You weren't afraid of being robbed up there on the street, were you?", Moses asked. Tudor said he wasn't.

"Then why did you carry it up there on Garza street then?", Moses inquired.

"Because I was in the habit of carrying a gun," Tudor replied.

"Why did you kill Dr. Adams?", Moses asked point blank.

"Because I was afraid he was going to kill me," the defendant replied. He said he didn't remember telling Tom Abel, "He killed my boy and I killed him".

"You didn't tell him Dr. Adams reached for that drawer, did you?", Moses asked.

"No, sir," Tudor replied.

"Why didn't you tell him that?", was another state query.

"I don't know why," was Tudor's reply.

Leaves The Stand

At this point the defendant left the stand and J. M. Mabe of Levelland, former Crosby county judge; Rufus Moore, Ropesville farmer; Bill Montgomery, Lynn farmer and R. W. Arnold, Shallowater farmer, all testified knowing the defendant from ten to 42 years, each declaring his reputation during that time was good.

Dr. J. T. Kreuger was the first state's rebuttal witness. He described the slain physician's wounds and declared the doctor died "as a result of gunshot wounds".

On cross examination, he said the doctor died "from shock and loss of blood, more from shock than loss of blood. He said the doctor's shock was severe. He said Dr. Adams had "a moderate increase in blood pressure".

In answer to a state query, he said this pressure reduced the resistance of a shock.

Daughter Testifies

Josephine Adams, 19-year-old daughter of the slain man, took the stand and testified to finding a closed knife in her father's clothes. She identified the knife. She said her father owned a gun but that it was in a bureau drawer at home. She said her father was 58 years old at the time of his death and weighed 132 pounds.

J. S. Edwards, Slaton capitalist, testified he was at Dr. Adams' office when Mr. Tudor came over there to get the doctor to go to Dr. Loveless. He said Dr. Adams was treating two other boys injured in the car wreck.

On cross examination, he said he was standing in the door between the front and back rooms of the office and he didn't know whether Mr. Tudor saw him or not.

Death Due To Shock

Dr. W. E. Payne, physician, testified Dr. Adams' death was due to "shock produced by tremor of the wounds". He said the shock was severe.

At this juncture, both state and defense closed.

Dr. R. G. Loveless occupied the stand for the state throughout most of Wednesday morning's session, testifying that Woody Tudor's death was caused by "shock and hemorrhage following injuries."

He told of treatment of the boy, of happenings while they were in Dr. Adams office that night, how Mr. Tudor himself had aided in administering ether to the boy at one time and how the death occurred.

Describes Wounds

He also described wounds of Dr. Adams, having been called to the scene of the shooting.

Charles Whalen testified he was one of the first to reach Dr. Adams' office after the shooting and laid down his knife after attempting to cut the doctor's tie from his throat so that his shirt could be removed. He described the knife.

Jess Holler, tailor whose shop was next door to the physician's office, told of hearing the shots and of learning of the shooting from J. E. Stokes who came into his shop with a suit of clothes. He said he went to the scene about a half minute later and there were several people there he didn't know.

Who Am Eye?

Hollywood is seeing double these days. Along comes a recognized star, with some peculiar facial feature. And no sooner does that star win recognition than other stars bob up with that same distinguishing feature. For instance: Joan Crawford's eyes. Three guesses which is hers above. Give up? The eye at the right is Joan's. That at the left is Sheila Terry's. Sheila is a blond, Joan a brunet. And below, which is the hair, eyes, high forehead and nose of Greta Garbo. Give up again? Greta is at the right. Tala Birell, recently arrived from Germany, is at the left.

Wednesday noon a luncheon was held with the Rotary club as host. There were no formal talks and O. B. Martin and Sterling Evans were the main speakers.

The women agents met in the Methodist church for their several group meetings. Specialists from College Station declared the two district meeting was the most successful they had ever attended.

Is An Investment

"Most of you put your advertising bills in the expense column. If your advertising is properly done, it is an investment. How much time do you give to writing your advertisements, and do you honestly believe what you put in them?"

Mr. Buisch, who arrived here late Wednesday morning, addressed an economics class at Texas Technological college at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He will address a group of grocery store executives and employes at 7:45 o'clock tonight.

A. P. Duggan, senator-elect from Littlefield, and John N. Thomas, state representative-elect of Tahoka, were guests. In addition, Petersburg, Plainview, Lamesa, and Sudan were represented.

Labor Demands

threw out three resolutions for unemployment insurance.

Today, motivated by what leaders called "needs of the hour," it rallied to fight along a national front for such a plan.

Is Not Unanimous

But its recommendation was not expressed unanimously. In lengthy and often heated debate, several delegates declared the costs would only ultimately fall on labor, and some preferred to "use economic power (strikes and boycotts) to make industry furnish jobs, rather than to have it provide insurance. William Green, president of the Federation, defended the plan but agreed "employment would be better."

"But," he shouted, "if denied the opportunity to work, from a social point of view, what are we going to do with the unemployed? Unemployment insurance is the answer."

Western Texas Lambs Selling

Not Many Lambs Are Left In Area And The Calf Crop Is Selling Rapidly; Report Of Sales Is Made

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 30. (AP)—Not many lambs are left in West Texas and the calf crop is selling rapidly. Feeder buyers from the corn belt states say that if the feeders make money this year, feeder lambs will bring 5 to 6 cents a pound next year, in contrast to the 3 to 3 1-2 cents this season.

Although range conditions are ideal for winter, rain is needed on wheat fields, and some farmers are taking livestock off wheat as the moisture has not been sufficient to renew the grain as it is eaten off. Because of the good range and low prices, many ranchmen are holding back their heifer calves out selling the steer calves which are going at 5 to 5 1-2 cents a pound on the range. A few are going as high as 5 3-4 and 6 cents.

Although calves are occupying the main attention of buyers, some large individual sheep sales have been made recently. Roy Hildreth who bought 15,000 head of lambs in West Texas early this fall, has made another purchase, 15,000. He was accompanied here by H. L. Reed of Greeley, Colo., a section that normally feeds 1,250,000 lambs but which will have only about 750,000 on feed this winter, he said. The Windsor Mercantile Co., of Windsor, Colo., loaded out 3,000 head of lambs bought from Russel Menzies last week. Herman Schneeman has bought 3,000 lambs from J. T. Clegg at 3 1-4 cents and placed them on feed near San Angelo, adding them to 3,000 already on feed. He will begin shipping them in January. Jim Ramsay of Maize, Kansas, has bought 2,100 lambs from T. A. Kincaid at 3 1-4 cents a pound. He also got 1,200 from Sid Millspaugh and 800 from the Chalk ranch at Sonora. Bob Martin of the Indio ranch has sold 6,000 head of lambs. The Mann commission company of San Angelo has bought 6,000 lambs for northern feeders.

In the Big Bend country, the cattle shipping season has reached its peak. Shipments are leaving daily to northern feeders and packing houses, and will continue practically every day until the first of the year.

The Spade ranch in Mitchell, Coke and Sterling counties has sold its heifer calves this year to Walter Jones of Kansas, keeping back 700. The ranch has a calf brand of about 8,000 head this year.

The Jeff ranch in the Davis mountains has sold 800 steer calves at 5 3-4 cents a pound, weight 540. W. W. McCutcheon of Fort Davis has sold about 1,000 two-year-old steers to northern buyers at 4 3-4 cents a pound, weights 850.

West brothers of Ozona have sold 500 steer calves to W. S. Bales, buyer for the Drumm Standish Commission company of Kansas City, at a reported price of 5 cents a pound. Bales has bought more than 4,000 calves in West Texas this year. He also got 200 head of heifer calves from the Childress ranches in Crockett county at 3 1-2 cents a pound.

Guest Speaker

Andy Anderson, above, district governor of the 41st Rotary district was a guest and a speaker at the Rotary club luncheon at Hotel Lubbock Friday. Mr. Anderson, shown below, resides in Ranger. County Judge E. L. Pitts was the principal speaker on a program arranged by Mayor J. J. Clenments. Theme of the program was community service.

table near Tripper Colonel Lindbergh amplified the announcement with a discussion on the design of the airships.

This was the flyer's first meeting with newspaper men in more than six months.

Ships Are Described

From these officials, it was learned:

The ships will be built to cover a distance up to 2,400 miles at one hop—this being the longest jump in the trans-Pacific travel.

They will be of the "flying boat" type smaller in size than the DO-X, but larger than any fleet of ships now in commercial schedules.

Refuse Technical Details

The Pan-American refused to disclose technical details of engineering. It was said, however, that the ocean travelers would carry more passengers, attain a greater cruising speed and be larger over all than the present trio of "clipper" type planes now flying the Caribbean route of this line.

On this basis, the new fleet would be longer than 70 feet, have a wingspread greater than 115 feet and attain a cruising speed in excess of 125 miles an hour.

The contracts—awarded to the Sikorsky Aviation corporation at Bridgeport, Conn., and the Glenn Martin company, Baltimore—call for only engineering work at present.

While the new ships will be capable of carrying 50 passengers on the present South American routes, the officials would not disclose what the passenger and freight load limit will be on oceanic travel.

To the fact that no parade permits for the capitol grounds have been issued by Vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner were added today indications that none would be granted if requested.

The capitol police board, consisting of Kenneth Romney and David Barry, sergeants-at-arms of the house and senate, and David Lynn, capitol architect, decided that unless such a permit is issued no parade and no display of banners would be allowed.

Three Minute Relief From Periodical Pains

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B.C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded off a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B.C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neralgia ,muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B.C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold. (adv.)

Sam Feels Fresh Breeze And Decides To Pay His Fine; Now He's Back In

"Um-m, this breeze sho feels good," said Sam Samuel, 29-year-old negro Tuesday. "I think I'll pay the rest ob my fine and get out of that jail."

He plunked down $10 at the county clerk's office for the remainder of a fine for theft, a shoplighting case. Late Tuesday night Samuel again was in jail, a suspect in the shoplifting of a dress valued at $29.50 from Carter-Houston department store here. A charge of theft of the dress was filed in county court Wednesday against the negro.

A man went to Justice of the Peace J. S. Connell Tuesday, wanting to pay a fine for a negro held in county jail. The peace justice called for the wrong man, and Samuel was brought down. En route to the courthouse, the negro decided the breeze felt so pleasant that he would pay his fine.

Officers found the dress in a negro woman's house in the 1500 block of Broadway. She declared Samuel tried to sell the dress to her.

Cotton Price On Cotton Rather Erratic — Livestock Beef Values Drop Lower — Grain Corn And Oats Drop Sickenly

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30. (AP)—Cotton was moderately active today and prices were rather erratic. After advancing 5 to 20 points at the start the market gradually eased off 16 to 20 points due to weakness in stocks and liquidation by recent buyers, but rallied 7 to 9 points in the late trading on covering by shorts. The market closed steady with prices net unchanged to 7 points down for the day.

The market opened steady although Liverpool cables were about 2 penny points lower than due but Sterling was higher. Private cables stated that the market was steadier and hedge sales against prospective importation of Russian cotton were well absorbed by end of the month trade calling and sentiment was less pessimistic as to the political situation. Manchester cabled that there was a good underlying inquiry for cloths and yarns but buyers were temporarily disinclined to operate. First trades showed gains of 5 to 10 points due to over-night trade buying orders and some price fixing. January traded at 5.91, March to 6.01 and May at 6.12. Later prices eased off on realizing by recent buyers and a reactionary tendency in stocks which induced long liquidation and before noon, January traded as low as 5.80, March at 5.89 and May at 5.99, down 11 to 13 points from the opening highs and 3 to 4 points under yesterday's close. A private crop estimate issued during the morning made the crop 12,300,000 bales.

The market continued to ease off in the early afternoon until January dropped to 5.75, March to 5.82 and May to 5.92 or 16 to 20 points below the early highs. In the late trading however, prices rallied 7 to 9 points from the lows on covering and January closed at 5.82, down two points net for the day, March at 5.90, down 3 points net and May at 6.01, down 1 point net.

A private authority issued a report during the afternoon estimating the crop at 12,227,000 bales and the ginnings to the close of November at 11,075,000 bales.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow unchanged to 1 penny point up.

Prt receipts 51,462, for week 280,685, for season 4,739,527, last season 5,197,761. Exports 93,300, for week 267,278, for season 3,954,508, last season 4,760,567. Port stock 4,817,895, last year 4,860,687. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 186,138, last year 189,325. Spot sales at southern markets 37,781, last year 20,599.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 30. (AP) — Cotton fluctuated over a fairly wide range today but closed with minor changes.

An early advance was followed by a dip of nearly $1 a bale owing to increased southern selling. Near the close most of the losses were recovered on trade buying, covering and speculative buying for rally. March advanced to 6.03, declined to 5.84 and closed at 5.93, a net loss of 2 points. The general market closed steady at 3 points decline to 1 point advance.

The opening was 6 to 9 points higher in response to a steadier Liverpool market and the rally in Sterling exchange. There was a fair amount of foreign and commission house buying. However, the south sold more freely and during the greater part of the day the trade demand was comparatively slow.

Spot demand was reported quiet but the basis in the south was firm. A local commission house indicated the total cotton crop at 12,200,000 bales and indicated total ginnings to November 29, or 11,156,000.

Liverpool cabled that the market there was a small affair with little speculative interest and some hedging against Russian cotton and reported a fair mount of eastern buying of goods in Manchester. Exports today 94,375, making 3,078,666 so far this season. Port receipts 62,878. U. S. port stocks 4,870,878.

British Pound Stages Recovery And Stock Market Flops Toward Bottom

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 30. (AP)—While the British pound was making a vigorous recovery, the stock market flopped out of its recast narrow groove today and rolled a couple f points nearer the October lows.

Sterling's early strength caused enough nervousness among stock exchange shorts to give a firm tone to opening quotations, but the market turned downward after about fifteen minutes of activity on the buying side. Selling was fairly brisk at times the forenoon, and although offerings eventually dried up the list's recuperative powers were feeble and closing prices were around the lows. Net losses ran from 1 to more than 4 points in many leaders and sales reached 1,093,071 shares, about double yesterday's turnover.

The market had a professional appearance. Floor traders had doubtless grown restive during the sidewise movement of prices over the past week and with business statistics emphasizing the seasonal reaction of trade it probably seemed that the line of least resistance was downward. Sterling's swoop to well above $3.20 was assumed to be a reflection of short covering based not only on the currency's so-called "technical position" but also of news that London was shipping gold to New York. French francs ruled steady.

Steel shares were heavy. "Iron Age" spoke rather discouragingly of the sagging trend of orders for finished products, saying that although production had recovered to a 17 per cent rate from 16 last week, it seemed certain "incoming orders are not sufficient to maintain even this rate in the final month of the year." The review added that the industry plainly faced "a poor December." U. S. Steel preferred dropped 3 points. Steel common was down about 2 at the worst.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30. (AP)—Demand for dressed beef at eastern centers continues to be characterized as fair to slow with values generally showing a lower tendency. This situation found a direct counterpart at live weight centers for fed steers and yearlings today in the form of a slow trade at steady to 25 lower prices. Chicago sold best weighty steers up to 8.00 and best yearlings at this market made 7.55. At other points a few loads of good to choice steers and yearlings brought 6.25@7.00, while the general bulk of consignments had to sell at 4.50@6.00. Stockers and feeders were little changed in price trend, a few loads of replacement steers selling in a spread of 3.50@5.25. Receipts at eleven markets for the week number about 8,000 short of arrivals for the three days last week and total about 58,000 under the same period a year ago.

Hog values were rated chiefly as steady to 5 higher with Chicago scoring a late top of 3.40.

After a generally higher price trend Monday and Tuesday, lambs hit a definitely lower outlet today with values being tabulated as mostly 25 to 40 lower. Desirable fed lambs cleared largely in a spread of 5.25@6.25. A few loads of yearlings made 4.00@4.50 while good to choice feeding lambs brought 4.75@5.25.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Nov. 30. (AP) — Hogs 500, including 246 directs; truck hogs steady with Tuesday's packer market; no rail hogs offered; truck top 3.35 paid by packers for bulk good to choice 180-240 lb. truck hogs; odd head 3.45@3.50; packing sows 2.50@2.75 or steady.

Cattle 2,200; calves 1,100; general trade in killing classes cattle dull and draggy; slaughter steers barely steady to slightly lower; slaughter yearlings very slow around 25c or more lower; slaughter cows mostly steady, packer demand favoring low cutters; bulls scarce; better grades stock calves active and strong; slaughter calves unchanged, quality plainer than usual. Slaughter steers around 3.00@5.00; slaughter yearlings around 4.50 down; few fat cows 2.50 low cutters 1.00@1.25; good to choice stock steer calves 4.75@5.25; well bred stock heifer calves 3.75@4.10; slaughter calves mostly around 3.00 down.

Sheep 2,000, fat lambs and yearlings 25c lower; wethers scarce; fat lambs mostly 3.75@4.00; few good lambs 4.25, fat yearlings 3.00@3.25.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 30. (AP)—Demand was good for wheat, fair for corn and slow for other offerings on the Fort Worth cash grain market.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate or Texas common points: Wheat, No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing, 51 3-4@52 3-4. Barley, No. 2 nominally 31@32; No. 3 nominal 30@31. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 66@68, No. 2 kaffir 55@57.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn, No. 2 mixed 39@40; No. 2 white 42@43; No. 2 yellow 40@41.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats No. 2 red 22 1-2@23 1-2; No. 3 red 21 1-2 @22 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 30. (AP) — Corn and oats played the mischief with grain markets today, oats especially making a spectacle of themselves by tumbling to bottom prices never heretofore seen.

Unusual efforts to settle December corn and oats accounts in advance of expected large deliveries tomorrow put a strain on both of these grains and did much to spoil a promising advance of wheat values parallel to lively upturns in British exchange.

December oats today reached an extreme low price of 14 1-4 cents a bushel, outdoing the previous all-time bottom record, 14 1-2 cents, established in 1896. Corn for December delivery fell to within 2 cents of the all-time low, 19 1-2 cents, another 1896 black mark.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8 of a cent higher, corn 1-8 to 1 5-8 down, oats unchanged to 5-8 off, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents decline.

There are several forts along the Panama Canal to afford it protection. They are Forts Sherman, Randolph, de Lesseps, Amador, Davis, Clayton.

Christmas Buyers Are Really Doing Their Shopping Early In This City

Lubbock merchants declare buyers this year are adopting the slogan, "Do your Christmas shopping early." For the past week and a half business men have had to park their cars a block or two from their stores because of the increased traffic, an inconvenience they are welcoming.

The end of the cotton season and the migration of pickers away from this part of the country ordinarily would mean a noticeable slump in business, one store manager said, but the successful beginning of the Christmas season has caused a rise this year which, in many cases exceeds the sales for this time last year.

November always brings more business to the stores than does October, a record which has been established over a period of years. This fact, one merchant said, may account for the apparent increase in sales at this time.

Dollar day which the department stores hold the first Monday of each month usually is preceded with a decrease in business during the last week of the month. Most of the stores have not noticed the decline this week although some of them predict that there will be fewer shoppers in town during Thursday, Friday and Saturday than there were last week.

The December dollar day sales in previous years have opened the shopping season. This time it opened a week or 10 days early. Because of this fact local merchants are looking forward to the "21 more shopping days" with a great deal of optimism, they say.

Woman's Body To Be Exhumed After Death From Medicine

CLEBURNE, Nov. 30. (AP) — An order for the county health officer to exhume the body of Mrs. J. D. Martin, 54, who died at her home two miles north of Grandview several months ago, was entered today by Justice of the Peace H. R. Head at Grandview.

The order was that from evidence in his court Judge Head deemed an autopsy advisable and, if necessary, expert examination of the body of the woman, who, according to her husband, a landowner, and other witnesses, died July 8 after taking a dose of liver medicine.

Plan To Purchase Bridge Announced

AUSTIN, Nov. 30. (AP)—W. R. Ely, chairman of the Texas highway commission, said today the Texas and Oklahoma highway commissions had tentatively agreed to purchase a toll bridge across Red river connecting Bonham, Tex., with Durant, Okla., to be operated as a free structure.

Ely said the tentative agreement was contingent on satisfactory negotiations between the governors of the two states with the owners of the toll bridge.

Oklahoma and Texas bridge engineers have appraised the bridge at $44,911. G. G. Wickline, Texas bridge engineer, said some repairs would be necessary to place the bridge in first class condition.

Purchase of the bridge was discussed by the Texas commission with J. F. McKeel, Oklahoma highway commissioner.

Construction of free bridges that would link Electra, Tex., and Frederick, Okla., and Henrietta and Charley, Tex., with Temple and Walters, Okla., also was discussed with McKeel but no conclusions were reached, Ely said.

The Bonham bridge is on an extension of Texas highway 78. The Henrietta bridge would be on Texas highway 50 and United States highway 370. The bridge north of Electra would be on Texas highway 25.
