Millions Are To Be Poured Into Building

Small Business Men Also Are Promised Loans; Authority Is Held By Corporation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—A newly-created National Mortgage association may lend up to $211,000,000 as its part in the administration's housing program, officials of the Reconstruction Finance corporation said today.

The RFC created the association—the first of its type—yesterday with a paid-in capital stock of $10,000,000 and a paid-in surplus of $1,000,000. It was empowered to issue debentures up to 20 times its capital stock.

Purchase First Mortgages

Officials explained that the agency is intended to demonstrate the part which financial institutions can play in reviving residential construction. The association will purchase and sell first mortgages insured by the Federal Housing administration. It is designed in part to provide money for large-scale projects.

Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC said:

"A real building program will increase employment and stimulate business more, perhaps, than any other one thing that can be done."

Similar Private Groups

Similar associations may be set up by private individuals.

At the same time, Jones said the RFC already has all the authority it needs to make loans to small business men for their financing needs.

"I don't want to administer a law lending money on character," Jones said, "because I don't want to take the responsibility of judging whether a man has character."

Many of those at the small business conference, he said, were asking the government to lend them money with no security for its repayment.

All RFC loans to business in the past, he said, were backed by enough collateral to give "reasonable assurance" that the government would not have to take a loss for bad debts.

Hike In Relief Roll Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 — Aubrey Williams, acting administrator of the Works Progress administration, said today President Roosevelt's request to congress for an additional $250,000,000 emergency relief appropriation contemplated an immediate increase of 500,000 persons on the relief rolls.

Williams made this statement to reporters just before explaining to the house appropriations committee the president's request for extra relief money.

Thousands To Be Added

"If this appropriation is approved," Williams said, "we will be able to add a necessary 500,000 persons to the present total and we'll not have to discharge another 450,000 we otherwise would have to fire."

The president, in transmitting his request for the funds to congress yesterday, said 1,950,000 persons cur-

FDR Asks For More Cash To Bolster Army

Fund Of $16,880,000 Sought By President; New Aircraft Material Being Planned

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 — President Roosevelt has asked congress for supplementary appropriation of $16,880,000 to strengthen the army, the house appropriations committee announced today.

The money was requested to meet recommendations made by Mr. Roosevelt in his national defense message to congress January 28.

New Aircraft Material

It would provide $8,800,000 for additional aircraft material; $6,080,000 for gauges, dies and other aids to the manufacture of army material; and $2,000,000 toward making up deficiencies in ammunition.

House naval committee members indicated they would defer a vote on the naval expansion program until after the Feb. 20 "deadline" for Japan's reply to questions concerning battleship construction.

It might be necessary to revise the pending bill, members said, if the Japanese disclosed they were building battleships larger than the 35,000-ton limit fixed by the 1936 London naval treaty.

Information Not Expected

There was little expectation here, however, that Tokyo officials would give Secretary Hull the desired information.

Talk of this delay came while the committee was considering whether to subpoena Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of the New York Times, to tell by whom he said he was "expertly informed" that the American and British navies automatically would aid each other in the Pacific if mutual interest demanded.

Giant Electric Light Bulb To Start Burning For Edison

MENLO PARK, N. J., Feb. 11 (AP)—A 3 1-2-ton electric light bulb 14 feet high atop a 130-foot tower starts burning today in honor of Thomas Alva Edison, over the site of the laboratory where the "wizard of Menlo Park" worked on his inventions from 1876 to 1886.

On the 91st birthday anniversary of the late inventor, his old cronies and helpmates who are banded together as the Edison pioneers, gathered in New York for their 20th annual luncheon at which William Slocum Barstow, donor of the memorial tower, was to press a button lighting the massive bulb.

British AAA Votes To Refuse Participation In Olympics

CHELMSFORD, Eng., Feb. 11 (AP)—The general committee of the British A. A. A. today passed by unanimous vote a resolution against Britain attending the 1940 Olympics in Tokyo.

H. F. Pash, member of the committee, expressed hope the United States and other countries would follow the British lead.

"It isn't question of politics as some people think but a matter of humanity and fair play," Pash said. "What has happened in China has set the feelings of all lovers of sport against those responsible."

Fate Of Paul A. Wright May Rest With Jury Late Today

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11. (AP) — Paul A. Wright, denounced by the prosecution as a "moral leper" and pictured by the defense as a "puppet of the fates," may know tonight whether he is to be punished or set free for the slayings of his wife, Evelyn, and his friend, John Kimmel.

Superior Judge Ingall W. Bull said he would instruct the jury of eight men and four women immediately after the prosecution presents its final argument, expected to end about 5:30 p. m. (CST).

Friends Of Harvey Firestone Gather For Funeral Rites

AKRON, O., Feb. 11 (AP)—Friends of Harvey S. Firestone, who molded a world-wide rubber empire, gathered at the Firestone mansion for his funeral rites today.

Looks Like "Cactus Jack" Is Trapped And Will Be Forced To Don His Tails Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Barring the unexpected, Vice-President Garner will have to get into his tails tonight and do his once-a-year stint as host at a formal dinner.

It's too late for the plain-spoken Texan to make a deal with President Roosevelt, as he did last year, to call off the dinners which they traditionally give each other.

The Garners dined at the White House last month, and it's their turn to entertain the Roosevelts tonight.

Asked if her custom-defying husband planned any innovations, Mrs. Garner laughed:

"You can't play around when you're giving a dinner for the president. It's just about as formal as anything you can imagine."

The Garners always have forsworn the conventional after-dinner musicale. Instead, guests are entertained by a varied group of performers rounded up by Gene Buck, president of the American Society of Authors and Composers.

One year the late Will Rogers attended the vice-president's dinner despite his refusal to don white tie and tails.

President Roosevelt is reported to have wanted to stay on all night the time a clever mindreader was among the entertainers.

Modern "Svengali" Uses Twin Daughters In Criminal Plot To Pass Counterfeit Money

(By The Associated Press)

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Feb. 11. — The machinations of a modern "Svengali," who used his pretty, 15-year-old twin daughters as innocent "fronts" for a counterfeit bill passing scheme were disclosed by U. S. secret service agents here today.

The "Svengali," they said, was Charles L. Baker of Tucumcari, ex-convict who pleaded guilty to counterfeiting charges in Denver yesterday after he had been arrested for passing allegedly bogus bills at a Trinidad, Colo., grocery store.

Baker, sought for more than a month in connection with a wave of counterfeit money in eastern New Mexico and West Texas, met his downfall when he sought to operate in the absence of his daughters Wilma and Velma.

By using them as unwitting pawns, the agents said, Baker successfully had passed many allegedly counterfeit bills in Clovis, N. M., and Amarillo, Tex., sending the girls into stores for small purchases, while he waited outside to collect the change they brought back.

Model School Pupils

The girls came here about a year ago with their mother, becoming known as model school pupils, while their father completed a term for burglary at the Arizona state penitentiary. He was released about two months ago.

The sympathetic secret service agents said there was no question that the twins had "simply been imposed upon and used" by their father, and that "absolutely no action" would be taken against them.

Baker, they revealed, also had served prison terms in Indiana, New Mexico and McNeil island federal penitentiary.

Pension Club Is Not Dead

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—When the Los Angeles Townsend club — or Townsend Trade Builders, Inc., as it is now called—moved into the somber quarters of a former mortuary, the remarks of the opponents of the Townsend plan were obvious.

But the Townsend plan is far from dead and the enthusiasm of its estimated million active members all over the country is now greater than ever, say the author of the $200-a-month scheme, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, and the head of his office here, J. P. Charletois.

Petitions Are Passed

Currently, the Townsend organization's interest—in addition to its ever-present problem of crystalizing sentiment—is the distribution of petitions calling upon the governors of every state to press upon congress the necessity of passing a constitutional amendment to make the Townsend plan a law.

Townsendites also are interested

Kelly Field Instructor Dies As Planes Crash In Mid-Air

Lieut. Marvin F. Stalder, air corps, pilot of the other plane, brought his ship down near the scene of the crash.

Military Rule Over Rumania Is In Force

New Government With Powers Of Dictator Set Up; Four Sweeping Decrees Ordered

(By The Associated Press)

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Feb. 11—A new government with dictatorial powers governed Rumania today, commissioned by King Carol to restore confidence shaken by the six-week administration of the anti-semitic Premier Octavian Goga.

Sixty-eight-year old Dr. Miron Cristea, patriarch of the Rumanian Orthodox church, is the new premier and he will rule without a parliament by decree until a new constitution is promulgated.

Four Sweeping Decrees

He acted quickly upon taking the oath of fealty to the king with four sweeping decrees which:

1. Named military garrison commandants of large cities as prefects of their districts.

2. Made nation-wide a "state of siege" by which persons charged with serious crimes may be tried before military court. (Bucharest and other larger cities have been under such "siege" for a number of years.)

3. Postponed indefinitely chamber and senate elections, set for March.

4. Ordered higher officials of villages to call assemblies for the naming of mayors and two assistants to each mayor.

The cabinet formation was a centre and liberal group, so that an order suspending all party activities

Court Test Of Tax Promised

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Feb. 11.—A court test of unemployment tax collections was assured today.

Orville S. Carpenter, chairman of the state unemployment commission, said the commission would file an answer to the petition of 95 South Texas farmers, shippers and produce men who yesterday obtained a restraining order against the collection of unemployment taxes. Carpenter said the commission already recognized that there are serious doubts as to whether certain operations of the industries come within provisions of the act.

Test Is Welcomed

At Austin, Pat Moreland, labor's representative of the unemployment commission, said the commission welcomed a legal test to clarify the issue of exemptions to the compensation tax law.

District Judge Cullen Briggs, Corpus Christi, issued a temporary injunction against collection of the taxes from the petitioners, pending a test of the law.

Three Texas Lads Have Swell Adventure On The High Seas

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 11.—The captain and crew of the good ship Nancy Lee, out of Corpus Christi, today were preparing to return to salt water and home.

The Nancy Lee, a 12-foot flat-bottomed boat, motivated by barrel staves, set out from Corpus Christi yesterday, captained by J. P. Harmon, 15. His crew consisted of Merrill Snyder, 14, and Billy Allen, 11. After cruising several hours the deep seamen noticed they were almost out of sight of land.

A distress signal—a blue shirt—was hoisted and a few minutes later a fishing boat hove into sight and took the Nancy Lee in tow and docked her crew at Portland, some miles from Corpus Christi.

A hurried consultation resulted in the youths boarding a truck, expecting to return to Corpus Christi, but instead landed them at Three Rivers.

The youths decided to seek another ride. Again they guessed wrong—and landed in San Antonio. Bewildered, the

They're Shivering In The Grip Of Winter

As Spring Hovers Over Plains

Here's a typical river scene in the north central states after heavy rains and thaws caused ice jams and floods on many streams. Thousands of families were made homeless by floods in Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and other midwest states. The gentleman in the lower photo became a telephone pole sitter, not by choice, when flood waters trapped him near Sebewaing, Mich. Yes, winter is still here, but we'd never know it here on the South Plains with our balmy spring days, unless we had such pictures as these to remind us.

Battle Raging In Senate To Delay Vote

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—A last-minute fight over dairying provisions delayed a senate vote on the crop control bill today but administration officials predicted it would go to the White House this weekend.

Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash) led a movement to strengthen a section intended to protect dairy and livestock farmers against competition which might arise from diversion of land.

Demand Saturday Session

Democratic Leader Barkley, fighting that proposal, called the senate into session an hour earlier than usual. He said he would demand a Saturday session if a vote was not reached today.

Republican Leader McNary of Oregon and Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) supported Schwellenbach.

The house, meanwhile, was in recess but committees were busy.

Here is the background of the dairying controversy:

Farmers growing cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco would be paid under the new program to reduce their acreage of these crops.

The house and senate bills, as sent to the conference committee, provided that if farmers used this diverted acreage for feeding dairy cattle or livestock for market, they would lose benefit payments and be ineligible for loans.

Administration leaders argued it would be impossible to enforce

Men Adrift On Ice Floe Report Wrecking Of Tent By Storm

MOSCOW, Feb. 11. (AP)—Four Russian scientists adrift on an ice floe off the eastern coast of Greenland reported today that an arctic storm had wrecked the silk tent which had sheltered them while waiting for rescue.

The tent was ripped and the radio mast which also had served as tent pole was blown down. Loaded sleds were overturned. The radio, however, was set up in a new position and the campers built a snow hut in which to wait for relief. Rescue ships were enroute.

The men had fresh meat—three polar bears they killed last Tuesday, when their small floe drifted within sight of the bleak, mountainous coast of Greenland.

Californians Begin To Wonder What's Happened To Sunshine

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Rain and snow deluged northern California today for the sixteenth consecutive day of storms which have caused eight deaths, an estimated millions of dollars damage and shattered weather bureau records.

It was the longest rainy period in the more than half century records have been kept here. But it failed to dampen the ardor of tourist bureaus in inviting all America to visit "sunny California."

What's left of California's sunshine has become the exclusive property of Los Angeles and its environs, temporarily (San Franciscans hope).

Most of the deaths and virtually all of the damage, heaviest in agricultural areas, were caused by Wednesday's winds which blew over California with the force of a hurricane.

The gale formed off the California coast, but most of the rains came originally from the Aleutian islands in the North Pacific ocean, birthplace of the majority of western America's storms.

Senators Are Given Praise

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. — Recent letters of President Roosevelt praising two Democratic senators up for reelection recalled today similar efforts by other presidents to retain in office those favorable to them and their policies.

Mr. Roosevelt has smilingly parried all questions regarding administration endorsement of candidates in this year's elections.

Favors Two Senators

He is on record, however, of wanting the "home folks" of Kentucky to know "how much we think in Washington of their senior senator (Alben Barkley)," and the "home folks" of Wisconsin to know that "we are as proud of him (Senator Ryan Duffy) as they are."

James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the president, spoke of Senator Claude Pepper of Florida as "loyal to the administration," and added:

"It is our sincere hope he will be returned to the senate."

To which Rep. J. Mark Wilcox, who also seeks the Florida senatorial nomination, replied that young Roosevelt's statement is "unwarranted meddling."

Presidential endorsements in the past frequently have brought criticism on occupants of the White

Hitler Facing Crisis In His Reform Plan

Reports Of Army Revolts And Street Fighting In Berlin Heard; Problems Arising

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Feb. 11—German government officials are trying to squelch sensational rumors—from outside of Germany—of widespread unrest growing out of the military and cabinet crisis.

Reports of supposed army revolts in East Prussian garrison towns, street fighting in Berlin, executions of 16 generals and the closing of German frontiers were denied officially.

No Basis For Rumors

(Thus far investigation by the Associated Press Berlin staff ... Associated Press reporters in ... rounding countries has shown ... basis in fact for those reports.)

Government officials who ... into the late hours last night because of the rumors were confronted also with problems surrounding the resignation of Premier Octavian Goga's cabinet in Rumania and the possible relationships the new regime might have with the reich.

Because of the change in the Rumanian government—nazi officials had looked upon Rumania under Goga as definitely swinging toward the right—German foreign experts on Rumanian affairs were summoned hastily from a ball for explanation and interpretation of the situation.

Worst Since 1934

The rumor mongering of yesterday was the worst Berlin had witnessed since the blood purge of June 30, 1934.

The government believes the reports, nearly all of which came from outside Germany, may finally be traced to one source or a group acting together. A clue was seen in the desire of certain of Germany's neighbors to obtain quick approval of their parliaments for rearmament programs.

Careful probing by the Associated Press Berlin staff into every public and private source considered reliable led to this picture of the situation in Germany:

No Fights In Berlin

There have been no street fights or other disorders in Berlin;

The shakeup last Friday in which Chancellor Hitler assumed supreme command of the army and strengthened his hand in foreign affairs is drawing further changes in its wake;

Border traffic apparently was normal.

At Mittenwald, important point on the Austro-German frontier, investigation showed no interruption in traffic across the border, Cologne sources close to the Rhineland military authorities reported the situation was quiet.

Deny Frontier Closed

(Belgian officials at Brussels denied that the Belgian-German frontier was being closed at the request of Germany. Advices from Basel, Switzerland, and Strasbourg, France, said both the Swiss and French frontiers were open normally. The Austrian official press bureau telephoned all German border stations and reported everything normal.)

From Berchtesgaden, Chancellor Hitler's Bavarian retreat, came re-

Russians Plan Elephant Hunt

MOSCOW, Feb. 11. (AP)—With the care usually reserved for the opening of an ancient Egyptian king's tomb, soviet scientists are considering the task of salvaging the carcass of a mammoth, or prehistoric elephant, dead in the Arctic for untold centuries.

So well preserved by the ice when it was discovered by natives on Wrangel island in October, the hulk is believed by soviet authorities to be the most complete remains of a mammoth ever found.

To Remain In Ground

Until spring permits a ship with scientists aboard to reach the island, the carcass will remain in a bed of sea pebbles in the eternally frozen ground of a moss-covered tundra. It rises about two feet above the ground, 20 feet from the shore of the Chukotsk sea.

The carcass itself forms a hump in the ground more than 19 feet long. Its trunk is 10 feet long and the body is covered with hair three inches long. The legs, both fore and hind, are half bent.

A radio message from the authorities on Wrangel island to the Northern Sea Route, which administers the soviet Arctic, said animals had eaten away parts of the head, one leg and part of the trunk. The tusks are missing, but the scientists hope to find them under the body. Many other mammoth tusks have been found thereabouts, the message said, indicating a whole herd of the beasts perished there.

Preparations for the salvage will include measurements of the coastal zone and the drawing of a map of the sea depths to determine if a ship with a special expedition of the soviet Academy of Sciences will be able to approach the shore and take the find aboard.

WAS VICTIM OF GASSY STOMACH

Had Headaches, Dizzy Spells, Constipation; But Van-Tage Gave Him Amazing Relief

"I had been suffering with gaseous stomach and constipated bowels," said Mr. Orin Hale, of 220 S. Victoria Ave., Pueblo, Colo. "And it seemed like I was always having to take a strong physic. This sluggish condition caused dizzy spells and headaches. Sometimes my head ached so bad it felt like it was going to break open! I read about Van-Tage so I decided to try it. I want to say right now that I never saw anything like the way it relieved me! It had a fine cleansing action on my sluggish bowels, making them act more normally than they have in years, and it helped clear out loads of gas from my stomach. This cleansing has done wonders for my headaches and dizzy spells, too, and I hope many others who suffer like I did will hear about this wonderful medicine and take it."

MR. ORIN HALE

Over 30 Ingredients In This Natural Compound

VAN-TAGE contains over 30 Ingredients, so it is like taking several medicines at once! Brings forth gas and bloat, helps cleanse bowels and invigorates sluggish kidneys, so that people declare it made them feel different ALL OVER. Van-Tage is NOT expensive, so get it—TODAY—at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Park Plan Is Being Pushed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—The national parks service director, Arno B. Cammerer, thinks "it would be a shame if the people of Texas muff their chance to establish Big Bend national park."

That's what he said at a recent conference here of national park service officials. Cammerer, in an interview, had this to say:

"The Big Bend park site in the extreme southwestern corner of the state is a wonderful one, and that means something because it takes a really exceptional area now to qualify for designation as a national park.

Anxious For Success

"Texans, I am sure, are anxious for the early success of Brewster county's campaign to raise funds to acquire the land and the park service is just as eager. We can't, of of course, use federal funds for this purpose.

"The national parks service can't go ahead with the proposal to create this preserve, authorized by congress June 20, 1935, until the land is donated to the federal government. Once this is done we're ready to carry on."

Cammerer was particularly enthusiastic, he said, about the idea of cooperating with the Mexican government to establish a "joint" international park.

Linked By Bridge

Mexico, he said, was willing to set aside about 440,000 acres on its side of the Rio Grande, directly across from the proposed Big Bend national park. It was contemplated, he explained, to have the parks operated as a single playground area, linked by an international bridge.

Mexico, however, is holding up its project until the Big Bend park actually is established.

Park service officials said the international park would be the second of its kind. The other is the Glacier national park in Montana, contiguous to Waterton lakes park, famed Canadian preserve.

Herbert Maier, regional parks service chief at Santa Fe, N. M., equally enthusiastic about the Big Bend plan, discussed it informally at the conference. His office has aided sponsors of the financial campaign.

Cammerer said the site covered a maximum of 736,000 acres of which about 100,000 are owned by the state of Texas.

IN CROWDED TOWNS OR IN WIDE OPEN SPACES . . . .

The cook is at the chuck-box
Whistling "Heifers in the Green",
Making baking-powder biscuits, boys,
While the pot is biling beans.
The boys untie their bedding
And unroll it on the run,
For they are in a monstrous hurry
For the supper's almost done.

"Here's your bloody wolf-bait!"
Cried the cook's familiar voice
As he climbed the wagon wheel
To watch the cowboys all rejoice . . .

. . . This life is not so sumptuous,
I'm not longing for a change,
For there is no place so homelike
As a cow camp on the range.

Labor Expert Speaks Here

BY ARGO PEEK

Youth of today has the right to ask "Whose war is this, anyway?"

Germany, Japan and Italy are not the principal enemies of future generations; rather, want, hunger, inaccessibility to raw materials and markets, and insurmountable tariff walls — in general, economic maladjustment.

Those are the "injustices on which war should be waged — through arbitration and concessions."

Speaks Last Night

Those were interpretations of Dr. Edwin A. Elliott, director of the 16th district of the National Labor Relations board, in an address Thursday night in the lounge of the men's dormitory of Texas Technological college. The speech was his third of the day, under sponsorship of the college YW-YMCA.

In the future, there should be better distribution of economic goods throughout the world, Dr. Elliott suggested in discussing War and Peace. Wars should be settled "over an international economic table," with each nation making concessions that would restore the logical standard of living to all populations.

War Over Petty Causes

Old wars, he said, were begun over such petty causes as dynasties seeking added power over others, by jealous kings, or because of religious differences, but in the future, as in the immediate past, economic conditions will be basic.

The World war was ended by the peace treaty of Versailles, but around that peace table were gathered not the forces of peace, but punitive restrictions leaving the embryonic basis for future wars, intrigu and hatred. Population and land were wrested from Germany, tariffs on goods raised and heavy indemnities.

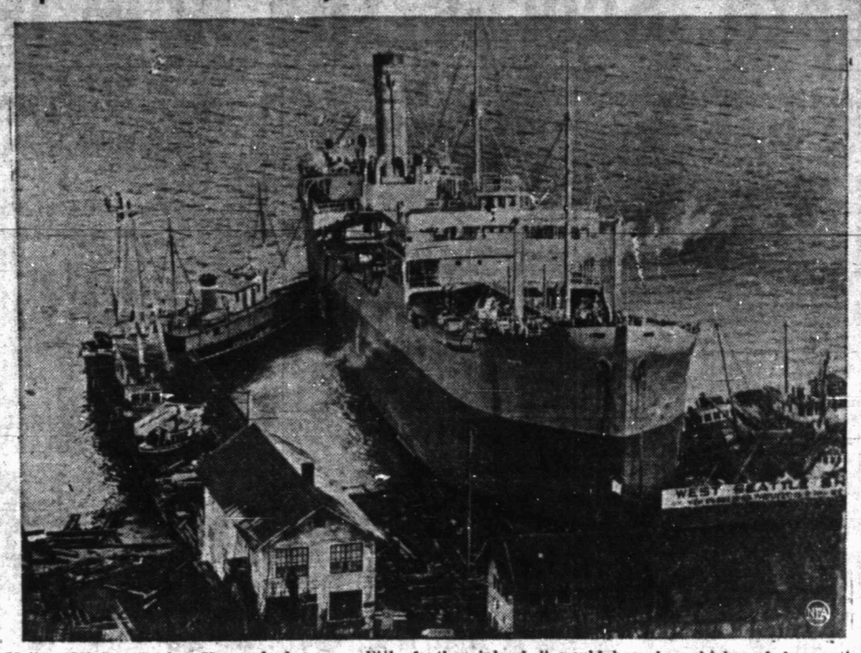

"If western Europe is led by Hitler into another war, the United States and her late allies must take full account of the responsibilities," said Dr. Elliott.

George Dupree, jr., president of the organization, introduced the speaker.

BUILDING BOMBED

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11. (AP)—For the second time in a week Chinese terrorists early today bombed the building occupied by the United Press and the American-owned Shanghai Evening Post. No one was injured.

Shipwrecked---In A Boatyard!

If the 6500-ton Tanker Hagan had gone a little farther inland, it would have been high and dry on the Elliott Bay waterfront in Seattle, Wash. As it was, half of the 416-foot ship was on the beach at low tide. The Hagan ran aground during a heavy fog, overturning two fishing trawlers and doing $10,000 damage in the boatyard where it is pictured stuck on the beach. Four tugs were required to float it.

Gas Masks For Babies And Rubber Shoes For Cattle Are Manufactured Abroad

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—Gas masks for babies and rubber galoshes for cattle are among the new products being manufactured abroad, the commerce department reported today.

The American commercial attache at London described a sleeping bag with a built-in gas mask which the English have developed to protect infants from gas attacks.

Bata, the huge Czechoslovakian shoe company, was said by the American attache at Prague to have developed the rubber shoes for cattle. They are intended to protect animals from the hoof and mouth disease.

Baltimore Shows Huge Gains In Amount Of Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—Baltimore, next to New York, made the biggest gain in foreign trade among major ports last year, the commerce department said today.

New York, which handles nearly eight times as much foreign trade as its nearest competitor, increased its volume about $650,000,000 to $2,713,000,000 in 1937. This was more than a third of all United States merchandise exports and imports.

Baltimore, which advanced from eleventh to ninth place, increased its share $80,000,000 to $205,000,000.

Considering both exports and imports, the ranking of ports last year was, in order; New York, New Orleans, Galveston, Philadelphia, Detroit, Boston, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Baltimore, and Buffalo.

The first five export ports, in order, both last year and the previous year, were New York, Galveston, New Orleans, Detroit, and Norfolk.

36 BURN TO DEATH

MOSTAR, Yugoslavia, Feb. 11. (AP)—Thirty six members of a peasant wedding party were burned to death at the village of Sretniza when the roof of the bridegroom's father's home collapsed and caught fire. The bridegroom was killed but the bride was rescued.

CLINTON, Okla., Feb. 11. (AP) — Death ended today a month-long fight by surgeons to save Joella Reynolds, 3, of Sayre, whose heart was partly exposed by an operation for pericarditis, an inflation of the heart sac, or covering.

Alluring Alice Alexander is going south, far from the cold reception Broadway gave her first effort as a producer, "Right This Way," in which she lost $190,000. But, as the former show girl's smile indicates, she'll brave Broadway's criticism again—when her frozen assets thaw out.

Pope, Back From The Door Of Death, Scorns The Role Of Invalid

Life Proving Near Miracle

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 11. (AP)—To see Pope Pius XI today is to see a stooped man, 80 years old, with face darkly ashen, steps slow and gestures pathetically weak.

There still is fire in his eyes and his lips brave the ire of the great dictators, but the real wonder is that he sits at all on the throne of St. Peter.

For only a year ago Pope Pius lay near death in his sparely furnished apartment at the Vatican palace. Newspapers in every land carried bulletins on his condition, and the world's 350,000,000 Catholics awaited late reports anxiously.

Recovery Almost Miraculous

How is it possible?

Pope Pius himself has thanked God for his almost miraculous recovery and has asked all Catholics to join in the thanks.

His personal physician, Dr. Aminta Milani, says the Pope's own will to live was the best medicine. Although His Holiness was unafraid of death and said repeatedly he had resigned himself to God, he declared also that he was determined to live and work for the church.

A complication of ailments endangered the Pope — principally hardening of the arteries, weakness of the heart, asthma and varicose veins which partially paralyzed his legs for many weeks.

To meet these threats, Dr. Milani ordered rest. For the hardening of the arteries, he admitted there was no cure. But he sought to curb its progress. This illness, together with an uncertain heart condition, still afflicts the Pope, and his full work program often makes Dr. Milani look askance.

Audiences Are Restricted

With the best of treatment and care, Pope Pius' painful recovery took several months and he suffered several relapses.

The Holy Father's life, though busy, is somewhat different from the program he followed before his illness. At least half of his time will be spent at Castelgandolfo, his summer retreat 17 miles from Rome. He passed six months there last year and has decided to do the same thing this year—from May 1 to October 31.

Audiences both there and in the Vatican City will be more restricted than before. The Pope will receive in general audience only two days a week instead of daily, and will ascend St. Peter's throne and talk to the throngs, instead of passing from person to person so that they may kiss his Fisherman's Ring.

The Pope arises early, has a frugal breakfast while his two secretaries read him dispatches, receives Vatican officials, then noted visitors privately, and receives 500 to 1,500 persons in public audience on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Mental Vigor Surprising

On other days, he receives a large group of religious pilgrims anyway. About 2 o'clock or later he has lunch, then rests a while or takes a drive or even a brief walk in the gardens. Late in the afternoon he dictates correspondence or works on papal documents. He eats sparingly again about 10 p. m., then reads himself to sleep.

Although the pontiff still likes to have a finger in every piece of important administrative work, he relies more on his "dear Cardinal" Eugenio Pacelli, the papal secretary of state. During the worst of the Pope's illness, Cardinal Pacelli carried on virtually as an assistant Pope and had his work ratified later by the pontiff.

With mental vigor surprising in one who had been so ill, the pope this year tackled three major problems—the spread of bolshevism, the development of neopaganism in Germany, and the suppression of Catholic activities by the Nazi government, and the religious situation in Spain.

To Preside At Easter

In March he amazed the world by publishing three long encyclical letters—against communism, against anti-church measures in Germany, and on the church situation in Mexico. Last September he published another encyclical for a crusade of prayer and criticized incidentally both communism and state-inspired atheism.

The pope worked out the details of a consistory in December at which he named five new cardinals. On December 24 he pronounced a Christmas allocution to the cardinals and then started immediately to prepare for a series of beatifications and canonizations at Easter time.

At Easter, too, he plans to preside at the Pascal high mass in St. Peter's. Preparations for canonization will require him to preside over dozens of meetings of the Congregation of Rites. Perhaps he will give final approval for the beatification of his favorite predecessor, Pope Pius X, whose name he took and whose case for sainthood already has been filed.

Rail Commission Candidate Is Visitor In City Thursday

O. C. (Red) Christie of Collin county brought his campaign for railroad commissioner to Lubbock late Thursday as he neared the end of a tour which has carried him over most of the state. Christie is a former tax assessor of Hardeman county, is an ex-service man and has been prominent in the affairs of the League of Young Democrats.

"Special interests have dominated the railroad commission's actions for years, and this fact is well known to all students of the situation," Christie said. "There has been rank discrimination against the independent oil operators and against the trucking industry. This situation I propose to remedy if I am elected."

"I am relying solely upon my friends and a recital of facts, in my campaign, to offset the power of money. If it is necessary in Texas to buy an office, then I do not want one."

Proposed Labor Board Probe Is Killed By Senate Group

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP) — Senate judiciary subcommittee killed today a proposed investigation of the National Labor Relations board.

The action was taken by a unanimous vote of the subcommittee. Even Senator Burke (D-Neb), who asked for the inquiry, voted approval of a motion by which the subcommittee recommended to the full committee that the investigation resolution be postponed indefinitely.

Senator Burke said that "under the present circumstances" he believed it wisest to drop the inquiry.

Heavy Loss To Texas Fruit And Grain Is Feared By Weather Men

Killing Frost Is Expected

AUSTIN, Feb. 11. (AP)—While more Texas fruit trees throughout a wide area put on buds or blossoms today under a continuing strong sun the keepers of the weather records dolefully fixed at virtually zero their chances of missing a killing frost.

The temperature here the past nine days has been at a higher average than in any other corresponding period during the last decade, and other parts of the state reported similar conditions. Fruit trees already were blooming in far North Texas.

Apprehensive Over Outlook

J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, was frankly apprehensive over the outlook for fruits and some grains.

"There's a chance we won't have another freeze," he said, "but the odds are large that we will, particularly in North and Central Texas.

"If a killing frost comes in late February or March the loss probably will be terrific."

McDonald said the unseasonably warm weather had caused grain to grow more rapidly than usual and much of it would die in a hard freeze.

Holds Ray Of Hope

Frank D. Haynes, United States weather observer for Austin, said the average last frost here was March 5. He held out a ray of hope, however, by digging up records for February, 1932, showing there was not a single below-freezing day that month. The mercury here so far this month has averaged higher than in the early part of February, 1932.

Dr. J. L. Cline of the Dallas weather bureau said that during the 24 years of the bureau's existence the last killing frost always had occurred later than February 10. In 1918, he said, there was none after February 21. Most of the last frosts at Dallas came in March, some in April.

One old-timer about the capitol recalled that the mercury stood at 10 degrees below zero in Central Texas exactly 40 years ago.

Freezing cold predicted for North Texas yesterday was shunted away by an area of low barometric pressure.

CALLS HEARING ON RATES

AUSTIN, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Railroad commission followed up today its recently announced intention of pressing gas rate investigations where requested by critics, calling a hearing on rates in Trenton, Fannin county, for February 21.

Spudding In Of Oil Test To Be Made Today In Kent County

(Special To The Journal)

SPUR, Feb. 11 — Spudding in of the Thad A. Bryant, jr., trustee No. 1 House, in the northwest of section 10, block B. H. & G. N. R. R. Co. survey, public school land, is scheduled for Friday, said A. A. House, who assembled the 10,000 acre block, the test being located in Kent county.

The test will go to 8,000 feet unless oil, gas or water is found above that depth. The location is near the corners of Kent, Dickens, Garza and Crosby counties and is three miles northwest of the Gulf No. 1 on the northwest of section 25, block No. 2 H & G. N. R. R. Co. survey, Garza county.

There has been considerable leasing activity in that area. Leases are reported trading for up to $10 per acre, and some above that figure.

Ely Culbertson Declares He Is Hounded By Women With Proposals Of Marriage

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Ely Culbertson, the bridge expert who sailed for Europe two months ago lamenting because his bridge-partner wife was getting a Reno divorce, returned today in the Bremen even sadder.

The cause of his grief—there simply seems to be no escape, he said, from the "army of women," age 16 to 70, which has been hounding him with proposals of marriage.

"Unfortunately," said the lanky bridge ace, "now that I have become an eligible bachelor I have not had a minute's peace.

"I have been pestered with new proposals of marriage from an army of women, varying in age from 16 to 70, and in social positions from a chambermaid to a duchess."

Henry Ford Called No. 1 Lawbreaker

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Henry Ford was characterized last night by Homer Martin, president of the CIO's automobile workers union, as "America's outstanding lawbreaker."

Ford motor workers, Martin asserted, were not CIO-organized "because they know that despite the law and the courts their jobs and their homes are at stake if they so much as look or think about a union."

"The only real bloodshed in the (labor troubles of the) automobile industry was at the hands of Ford service men and the police. Every automobile which has the Ford stamp on it is covered with the blood of the workers."

Gang Warfare Being Probed

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP) — Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police said last night he was "definitely convinced" Big Sam Costello was slain because he tried to "muscle in" on a slot-machine syndicate.

Kelly reported new evidence indicated the shooting "was caused by Costello's attempts to push slot machines into Joliet and surrounding counties in northern Illinois."

He said Costello had purchased a 12-cylinder, bullet-proof automobile three months ago. Earlier Captain Daniel Gilbert had reported it appeared the "operation of illicit stills and the peddling of alcohol" caused the shooting.

Companions Wounded

Costello was slain and three companions were wounded yesterday by two hoodlums who shook Costello's hand before they sprayed bullets through the suburban bake shop and then fled in an automobile.

Investigators withheld comment on published reports that mob men were embroiled in a fight for the right to rule the rackets. Underworld denizens were represented as believing Al Capone, now under observation for insanity in Alcatraz prison, would never return to his old syndicate and a struggle for leadership was in progress.

At the time of his death, Costello was wearing one of the diamond belt buckles Capone once presented to his friends.

Rags To Riches Is Goal Of Germany In 4-Year Plan

BERLIN, Feb. 11. (AP)—The nazi government has turned ragman on a major scale.

With the four-year-plan for economic self-sufficiency in full swing, a campaign to promote its aims also has been stepping along in double-quick time, built around the slogan 'ohstoffe sparen" (conserve raw materials).

An important cog in the program is the collection of waste and its conversion to new uses.

The government-controlled press seldom misses an opportunity to show how it can be done in factory, office and household.

The list of what not to throw away includes old paper, bones, shoes and clothes, tinfoil, cream tubes, tin cans, copper wiring, lead piping and even hair cuttings.

When a man, for instance, buys a tube of shaving cream he finds it wrapped in a red slip of paper which reads:

"Attention! please do not throw the empty tube away, because it is made of metal which we need urgently. Give this tube, worthless to you —as well as silver foil and caps for bottles—to the Hitler Youth. The metal then will be converted to new use through the old-material establishments and you will help conserve raw material."

Tuesdays and Fridays are "bone days" in the Berlin schools with a prize and the honorary title "bone child" offered to the student bringing the most bones. The school receives a pfennig a kilo (roughly 1-2 cent for each two pounds) for the bones which are reduced to fats, bone meal and fertilizer. The income is used by the schools for prizes.

Newspaperman May Be Sorry He Sought Political Post

NACOGDOCHES, Feb. 11.(AP)—G. M. Haltom, veteran retired newspaper publisher of Nacogdoches, says he "may be sorry in July" that he is seeking political office for the first time. He filed recently as a candidate for Nacogdoches county treasurer. Thus far, two women are his opponents, one the incumbent.

Mr. Haltom has been associated with newspapers since he was a printer's devil at 11. In 1883 he was associated with his brother, the late R. W. Haltom, in publishing the Nacogdoches Star. The Star became the Chronicle in 1889 and the Daily Sentinel in 1899.

Challenge To Duel With Cream Puffs And Custard Pies Is Speeding Toward Manila

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—A challenge to a duel with "cream puffs and custard pies at 20 paces" sped toward Manila today on the China Clipper.

Lieut. Isidro Paredes of Randolph flying field, Texas, issued the challenge to Narciso Lapuz of Manila, the Philippine commissioner's office said today.

Paredes is the son of Resident Commissioner Quentin Paredes, recently challenged to duel by Lapuz in a dispute about Philippine independence.

The youth advised Lapuz to heed his father's admonition to "take care of your health."

Offering to take over the challenge sent to the commissioner, young Paredes told Lapuz to name the weapons, but suggested the cream puff custard pie selection "in the interest of your health."

The United States will be in the middle of history's greatest naval armaments race — as the above chart shows—if the pending appropriation bill is passed. Little opposition to the measure is expected for the world's war fever seems to have left its mark on Congress. Look how the various nations place varying emphasis upon types of ships. While the United States, Great Britain and Japan concentrate upon new destroyers, Russia hastens to augment its already world-supreme submarine fleet. Italy and Russia see no benefit in aircraft carriers, while all other five nations have aircraft carriers under construction. Japan is building subs, but how many only Japan's naval warlords know. War on the water—if it comes—will follow no universal pattern.

Texas Solon Says He'll Be Good In The Movies If He Gets Plenty Of Hisses

AUSTIN, Feb. 11 (AP)—If he gets enough hisses, he'll be good.

That's the way Manley Head, "baby" member of the Texas senate, will evaluate his first screen role.

A native-born southerner, he's playing the role of a carpetbagger in Paramount's "The Texans," which begins production on location near Cotulla, this week.

He Wins A Part

Hollywood nabobs sought his technical advice on the picture which has a Texas historical background, gave him an incidental screen test and liked him so well he won a part.

Head, who actively practices law in Stephenville, has three more years in the senate before his term expires, but he's not ready to drop politics for acting.

"For that matter everybody is an actor and there is drama in politics and the court room," Head opined.

"If a man can get paid for acting, it is so much the better."

Apparently, he already is wise to the ways of motion picture technique. From his screen test, he has detected some faults and mannerisms he thinks he can correct.

Asked about additional work before the lenses when his first role is completed, Head said that was a "conviction" anyone entering the movies was subject to.

The former school teacher-salesman-seaman probably is one of the youngest members of any legislature. Trim of figure and with a mustache not unlike William Powell's, many friends assert he'll fare well in competition with Randolph Scott and other Hollywood luminaries with whom he will appear in "The Texans".

Lumber From Old Home To Be Used In Building Another

BEAUMONT, Feb. 11.(AP)—Lumber from the 50-year-old home of the late George W. Carroll, Beaumont philanthropist and one-time candidate for vice president of the United States on the Prohibitionist ticket, is to be used in building a new house.

Carroll literally hand-picked it from the stock of a lumber company in which he had an early interest. Lee Carroll, one of the philanthropist's sons, recalls spending the night of the "September storm of 1900" in the house while it stood on temporary underpinning after being moved from its original site to another location.

"Did that house moan and sway!" the younger Carroll exclaimed. "The wind seemed about to rock it off the blocks, but it stood that blow and many other gulf storms in after years."

mmediate Action To Enlarge City Water Supply Will Be Taken

stimates On osts Given

mmediate action seeking to en-ge Lubbock water supply and dis-bution facilities was decided upon city commissioners at their semi-nthly meeting at city hall Thurs-afternoon as they agreed that serious problem may arise next nmer.

hey rejected three proposals to ll three new water wells in the thwest edge of the city, directed t new bids be called and that ailed estimates be prepared as to cost of water extensions deemed perative.

Tentative Costs Estimated

Tentative estimates of cost to solve immediate problem were that ee wells would be about $3,000 ch and that cost of mains and er equipment to tie in with the tribution system would be approx-ately $70,000 additional.

Those submitting proposals opened Thursday's commission meeting re L. A. Peeples, B. B. Baron and P. Crawford. Each contract would uire the drilling of a small test le to be followed, if water should found, by a 24-inch bore. The oposals ranged from 70 cents to per foot for the test bore and m $4 to $4.80 per foot for the -inch hole.

Believe Northwestern Area Best

Belief is, officials were informed, at water in the northwestern area ll be found at a depth of approxi-ately 140 feet and that each well ll produce approximately 600 gal-ns per minute.

In discussion of the problem, offi-als recalled that on occasions last mmer water usage in Lubbock ceeded utmost production capacity. hat problem will be increased next mmer, they said, but the fact that e well drilled about 15 years ago robably will have to be abandoned. hey pointed out also that opportune ins last summer reduced the de-ands for city water below the nor-al summer average.

Special Meeting Scheduled

Members of the commission de-rred until a special meeting, date which is to be set, discussions with committee of the Lubbock Safety ouncil relative to increasing the rsonnel of the police department nd the boulevarding of more heavily raveled Lubbock streets. Recom-endations of that nature were con-ained in a letter to the city com-ission recently from L. G. Phares, hief of the Texas highway patrol.

However, the commission awarded ontract to the Varsity Book store or the printing of 20,000 booklets ontaining the essentials of the new affic ordinance adopted several eeks ago. The booklets will be dis-tributed with new automobile license lates and a supply will be made vailable for city school pupils. Bid f the book store, represented by . Y. Lee, was $240 and was the owest of several submitted.

Other Action Deferred

The commission also deferred ntil the special meeting discussion f some method of dealing with the ewage and sanitation problem grow-ng out of increased numbers of tructures of the "trailer house" type.

Discussion of the problem started hen J. W. Gamel asked for per-nission to place a number of such ouses in the 2200 block on Avenue K. They would be served, he pro-osed, by common toilet and sewage isposal facilities. Present ordinances equire water toilet connection for ny habitation within 100 feet of a ewer line. Commissioners agreed ith Gamel's statement that there undoubtedly is extensive violation of that ordinance. One proposal they will discuss when the special meeting is held will be one that a district devoted entirely to trailer houses be created.

An application by W. T. Walters for permission to erect an outdoor toilet at 1824 Avenue E was rejected.

Rejected also were applications of Wood Paper and Paint company, 1111 Avenue G, Leftwich Food market, 1119 Avenue G, Hub Laundry, 2107 Nineteenth street, and Charme Cosmetic company, 706 Main street, for designation of loading zones at their places.

No action was taken on the proposal of M. S. Acuff to pay taxes nearly 20 years delinquent if the city will cancel half the amount.

Ordinance Finally Passed

City Manager W. H. Rodgers advised the commission that the Santa Fe railroad at last had started construction of a crossing over its switch on Fourth street near Avenue P after a year of waiting. Thereupon the city commission passed on second and final reading an ordinance authorizing the Santa Fe to extend a switch 52 feet in the alley between Broadway and Thirteenth street from the vicinity of Avenue E. The commissioners agreed when they passed the ordinance on first reading it would not be finally approved until the railroad built the crossing on Fourth. The officials warned that the switch extension order will be revoked unless the crossing is completed.

Contractor's bond of R. W. Walker was approved.

Application of I. C. Robbins for a job keeping street markers in condition and cleared of obstructions was referred to Billy Clark, street department official.

The city manager was directed to confer further with agents of the Great American Life Insurance company relative to their proposed purchase of paving certificates held by the city on a 5 per cent discount basis. The certificates pay 6 per cent interest.

Present at the commission meeting were Mayor Ross Edwards, Commissioners J. A. Fortenberry, W. G. McMillan, W. B. Price and A. J. Richardson, City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley, City Secretary Lavenia Williams and the city manager.

He Got Cold Feet In The Test

Future comfort of the human race hung on the opportunity that science gave the man, seated, center above, but he got cold feet. Purpose of the whole affair was to determine what constitutes a draft and how people react to them. A stream of cold air was directed at the feet of the man with his legs in the "ankle boxes." While the man at the left took electrical readings of the skin temperature, the fellow with the cold feet recorded his comfort reactions on the chart he holds. The tests were performed in a Pittsburgh laboratory.

Dale Funeral Services Are To Be Conducted Today At Cone

Funeral services for Mrs. W. R. Dale, 38, of Cone, who died in a Lubbock hospital late Thursday after a long illness, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the church at Cone with Elders Len Dalton of Hamilton and E. C. Mahurin, Baptist pastor, officiating.

The body will be removed to Ralls for burial under direction of Marr Funeral home. Rix Funeral home was in charge of arrangements here.

She was the wife of Elder W. R. Dale, pastor of the New Salem Primitive Baptist church at Cone. They had been living there about two years. They formerly lived at Midland.

Other than her husband, she is survived by her mother who lives in California, a sister, Mrs. Charles Wester of Sherman, a brother, J. T. Bell of Tishomingo, Okla., and a brother in Florida and a sister in California. Their names were not obtainable immediately.

Safety Regulations Are Being Watched

Assisting in enforcing new safety regulations about parking in front of Dupre school between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. are eight patrol boys and girls. These children watch to see that students cross the streets at intersections only on Avenue T and Twentieth street and at Avenue T and Nineteenth street.

Patrol students are: Charles Bratcher, Leroy Harris, Ed Richardson, Conrad Ward, Ruth Taylor, Loretta Joyce Maner, Juana Lee Perry, and Eloise Hughes. These students represent the fourth grades of Dupre school. They must be the best students of the rooms in order to qualify, and if a student proves himself unworthy of the responsibility someone is selected to replace him. They have been instructed to help boys and girls to be more watchful in crossing the street, but they are not to take hold of any child and lead him.

Patrols for the first semester were: Billy Slagle, Dennis Patterson, G. W. Hensley, Crawford Barrier, Jo Dean Payne, Clifford Dean, John Donald Stone, Ed Bledsoe, Jane Robin Lawson, Norma Grace Reid, Anne Wharton, Nell Anthony, Marjorie Moore, Billie Nell Pipkin, Ruth Cowart, and Joanne Forbes.

Recreational Equipment Being Added To Local High School

Recreational equipment in the form of ping pong tables, two sets of deck tennis, two sets of gym horse shoes, two sets of aerial darts, four paddles and four shuttle cocks have been added to the equipment of the physical education department of Senior High school. The equipment is to be used in physical education classes, at noon, and in recreational tournaments which will probably be sponsored by the physical education classes later in the year.

Two ping pong tables were made in the wood-work department by E. E. Key, woodwork instructor. They were bought, along with nets, balls and paddles, with money made by the girls' physical education department selling tags. Two more tables are to be added to the equipment with money made during the recent Drollery night sponsored by the department. The other new equipment was purchased by the school.

Track Stars To Meet Tonight In Revival Of New York Tests

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 11. — Glenn Cunningham and Jim Herbert, those winning "twins" of the current indoor track campaign, carry their victory streaks back to Park avenue and the unbanked Armory boards tonight in the revival of the Seventh Regiment games, made famous in Paavo Nurmi's heyday.

Cunningham, undefeated at his favored mile distance, and Herbert, unbeaten from 500 meters to 1,000 yards this season, headline the comeback of the Regiment games which are returning to the Park avenue Armory after 12 years of discard.

Tonight's local games have attracted a standout field, with some 500 athletes entered.

With Archie San Romani sidelined by spike wounds, Cunningham figures to win his fifth straight race of the season, his fourth mile in a row. Herbert, the New York university flash, may have a tougher time in the invitation 600-yards.

His most dangerous opposition comes from his Fordham foe, Wes Wallace; Delmer Brown of the North Texas Teachers' twin Browns, and Charles Beetham, the former Ohio State star who won last week's Millrose 880. Cunningham should find no more than a breeze against a field that offers as standouts only Lou Burns of Manhattan and Blaine Rideout, of North Texas Teachers' other set of twins.

The crack North Texas Teachers relay quartet, with the twins Brown and Rideout, take on a picked New York team at the mile distance in the top baton-passing event. Other leading competitions are the two-mile handicap, with Joe McCluskey, the "perpetual motion" veteran, favored; Bob Rodenkirchen and Delmer of the North Texas Browns meeting in the 300-yard handicap, and the 1,090-yard run, with Wayne of the Rideouts at scratch.

Rollie Hemsley Is Traded By Browns

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns bolstered their reputation as the American league's "David Harums" today with their second three-for-one deal of the trading season.

They sent "Rollicking Rollie" Hemsley, veteran catcher whose play at times has ranked with that of the game's greatest backstops, to the Cleveland Indians for Catcher Billy Sullivan, Infielder Roy Hughes and Pitcher Ed Cole.

Deal Is Announced

William O. De Witt, vice-president of the Browns, announced the deal after a long distance telephone conversation with C. C. Slapnicka, general manager of the Indians, who is in Florida.

In their first three-for-one trade, the Browns obtained Pitcher Buck Newsom, Outfielder Buster Mills and Infielder Ralph Kress, all Boston Red Sox regulars, for Joe Vosmik, one of the American league's best hitters.

The Indians had wanted Hemsley for some time. Two years ago they were reputed to have offered from $50,000 to $75,000 for him but the Browns held out for a straight player trade.

Saw Little Service

Hemsley, obtained by the Browns in 1933 after being waived out of the National league, saw little service last year. He had frequent brushes with the club's management for violating training rules and was disciplined several times.

Quick as a cat, possessed of a fine throwing arm, fast on the bases and dangerous at the plate, Hemsley appeared headed for stardom in his first seasons in the American league. He caught the entire all-star game in 1935. The next season difficulties with the management cropped up and it was no secret he was on the trading block.

Road Trip Of Raiders Ends

(Special To The Journal)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb 11—A desperate last half rally was not enough for the Lobos last night, and the hustling Texas Tech cagers closed out a long and tiresome road trip through the Border conference with a nifty 39-26 victory over University of New Mexico.

Tech's victory enables the Raiders to split the series, and the four conference games with New Mexico this season.

Sachse Takes Honors

The Techs' one-man scoring band, Frank "Butch" Sachse, came back after an off night Wednesday and tallied 21 points to take individual honors.

Reversing procedure of the previous night, the Raiders stepped into the lead at the starting whistle, and piled up a 22 to 8 advantage in the first half.

With seven minutes of the last half remaining, Chief Saenz and Carl Seery started on a scoring spree, but the Tech defense tightened and the cherry and silver rally stopped, although the Lobos made 18 points to Tech's 17 in the period.

Are Back In Form

The Matadors were back in form after Thursday's rest. Coach Berl Huffman used only six men in the game. George Webb, Tech's star in the Wednesday night game, played a fast first half but bogged down in the last. He made 11 points in the first period. Elmer Tarbox and John Henderson turned in good performances at the guard posts.

New Mexico's passing and shooting were ragged, mostly due to the crowding Tech defense. Tal Godding and Bill Burnett, main cogs in Wednesday night's victory, were held to three points each last night.

Three Men Are Added To The Roster Of St. Louis Browns

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11. (AP)—With three additions today, the St. Louis Browns now have 15 players under contract, but the club has not yet announced, coming to terms with any of its 1937 regulars.

Recruits Johnny Barkley, who finished last season at second base; Southpaw Pitcher Ewald Pyle, obtained from Des Moines, and Shortstop Sigmund Gryska, coming up from San Antonio, were the latest to come within the 1938 fold.

FULLBACK CHIEF SECOND

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.,—Charley Holm, Alabama fullback, acts as chief second for the boxing team.

Signed Contracts From Six Dallas Steers Received

DALLAS, Feb. 11. (AP)—Signed contracts of six of the 24 players on the Dallas Steers' baseball roster were in the club strongbox today, and terms were accepted by two others.

Business Manager Bob Tarleton said he had received word of the acceptances of Phil Todt, first baseman, and Sal Gliatto, pitcher.

Those who have signed are Shortstop Jimmy Levey, B. W. Stuart, catcher; Infielder Bob Kennedy, Joe Demoran and Boyd (Jelly) SoRelle, pitchers, and Tommy McBride, outfielder.

Vanderbilt Says That Public Should Know Of Intentions

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11. (AP)—"Let Alf do it" was the reaction today of Santa Anita race track to a proposed "anti-exercise" rule aimed at horse owners.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt—the "Alf" in the case—declared three days ago that the public should be advised if a stable sent a mount postward with no intention of pressing to win, but merely as a "prep race" for future engagements.

Charles H. Strub, general manager of Santa Anita, pointed out that the track had pioneered the way in adopting the photo-finish of races, electrical timing for horse races and "was open to all new ideas."

"But I would like to see Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's qualifying plan tried out first at Pimlico," said Strub.

Harvesters In City For Cage Series

Two Tilts In Big Five Are To Be Played

Lubbock's Westerners and Pampa's Harvesters clash tonight in the opening game of a two-night Big Five Basketball league series at the local senior high gymnasium. Game time is 8 o'clock each night.

It will mark Pampa's first visit to the local gym this season, and the concluding series of the season for each team. The Big Five schedule ends after Saturday night's game here. Plainview is playing at Amarillo tonight and tomorrow night, and the Bulldogs now are favored to take the championship.

Change In Local Lineup

Pampa, however, still has a chance at the flag and can give Plainview a race by sweeping the series here from Lubbock. The Westerners, if they take both games, should finish in second place. Complete team standings were not available last night.

Coach Goober Keyes of the Westerners said he was making a change or two in his starting lineup with the idea of picking out the best possible combination for the District interscholastic league championship tournament to be played at the Tech gymnasium next Friday and Saturday.

"The five boys who show the most hustle and ability in the Pampa series," Keyes said, "will be hte five I'll depend on in the District tournament. They'll all get a chance to play against Pampa, which is one of the toughest teams in West Texas, and the boys who show up the best will start in the tournament."

Harvesters Add Strength

Keyes is moving the lanky Henry P. Ford from center to a forward position, and will start him there tonight with L. D. Venable, regular forward. Jack Ware, large footballer, will start at center, and Bob "Cotton" Allen will be at guard with Dutchy Cawthon.

Harold Parsons, Wayne Johnston, Ernest Winter and others will have opportunity to show their stuff in the Pampa series.

The Harvesters will be stronger, Keyes believes, because of the return to action of Andis, star in the early part of the season who has been out with injuries and illness.

In Heiskell, Coach Odus Mitchell has one of the league's highest scorers, and Cox is considered one of the best pivot men anywhere. Dunaway is Pampa's "long shot" artist. All the Pampa players "graduated" from the gridiron to the court.

For the closing league series of the season, the Westerners hope the gymnasium will be crowded.

First Round Ended In Cage Tourney

LEVELLAND, Feb. 11. (Special)—The first round of the Hockley county interscholastic league basketball tournament for both boys and girls was completed last night with four games being played in the Levelland High school gymnasium.

In the girls' division Pettit took Whitharral 31 to 14 and Ropesville trounced Anton 20 to 13.

Pettit boys won from the Ropesville quintet 24 to 14 and Whitharral snatched its opener with Levelland 25 to 15.

The tournament will continue today and Saturday with games scheduled for mornings, afternoons, and nights of both days, said Tom V. Watson.

Los Angeles Newspaper Will Sponsor Open Golf Tourney

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11. (AP)—The annual Los Angeles Open golf tournament will not go begging for a sponsor next winter.

Assurance that the event, oldest links feature in southern California and one of the most outstanding in the nation, will be held on schedule next Jan. 6-9 was given today by the Los Angeles Times. The purse will be $7,500.

The newspaper stepped in and revived the 1938 tournament after it had been called off for want of a sponsor.

Fast Hooping Coming Up

By Collier Parris

THE WESTERNERS are winding up their Big Five Basketball league campaign in a series beginning tonight and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

While results of the Big Five League have nothing to do with the Texas Interscholastic league race, the former serves a purpose that should be more generally appreciated than the interscholastic league race.

As far as local fandom is concerned, the Westerners appear only two days out of the year in official interscholastic competition — that in the annual district tournament, which, by the way, is scheduled for next Friday and Saturday at the Tech gymnasium.

The Big Five provides basketball games and entertainment throughout the season, bringing teams of Lubbock High's own class to town. In time, the Big Five league probably will far outstrip the interscholastic league tournament so far as interest in Lubbock, Amarillo, Pampa, Plainview, Borger and Lamesa is concerned.

Which brings up the thought that it'll be the "Big Six" next year, what with Lamesa coming into the Class A fold.

Lubbock High, incidentally, hopes to get somewhere in the district tournament. Outstanding contenders for the title, so far as we are able to ascertain now, include Ralls and Lamesa, now fighting for the unofficial Class B league title in a play-off.

Plainview, only other Class A team of this basketball district, probably is the strongest of all, including the Westerners, but we do not look for Plainview to win the district championship, although the Bulldogs are by way of hanging up the Big Five flag if they beat Amarillo tonight and tomorrow night.

Your presence at the high school gym tonight will be appreciated by the Westerners, their coaches and supervisors. The series with Pampa should merit your attendance.

VICTORY BELLS RING WELCOME TO RAIDERS

They brushed the cobwebs from the Tech victory bells last night after four nights of depressing silence.

The tired Tech cagers sawed off a ten-day road trip through West Texas, New Mexico and Arizona with a victory last night, and they'll be home some time today, driving through from Albuquerque.

Hopelessly out of the Border conference championship race, the Raiders showed their metal in rallying for a final win, after dropping four in a row. So the victory bells of last night are welcome bells of today. Huffman's lads deserve much credit for that victory, which gave them a split season with the New Mexico Lobos.

Starting out strong, the Raiders weakened after their first four games on the swing through the Border conference, the piling-up miles and lack of sufficient rest no doubt taking their toll.

Trips such as that are good for sustained interest, but tough on the ball players. They piled into a couple of automobiles for the swing that covered approximately 3,000 miles, making long hops and playing nearly every night —nine games in eleven days.

We are not so sure that trips like that are worth the cost and trouble. The boys, to be sure, deserve some trips, but we imagine they find the annual conference swing pretty tough. It is hard on a club to ride in an automobile, especially Bo Williams' automobile, for 350 or 400 miles, then get out and play a conference ball game, grab a few winks, get up early and hit the road for another long hop, and repeat this every day for ten days.

You can't expect a team to play so hotly under those conditions, especially in a league as hot as the Border basketball league.

Personally, we think the lads did pretty well.

They've got trouble ahead, though, here at home, although it's a coming treat for the fans. New Mexico's Aggies, champs last year and virtually "in" this season, come here next week, followed by the Arizona State Lumberjacks from Flagstaff.

There has been a slight mixup on the schedule. The Aggies are due to play here next Friday and Saturday nights. Those are the days of the district interscholastic league tournament, of which Coach Burl Huffman is director.

The tournament games may be shifted to the high school, or the Aggie games may be moved up or set back. We should know after conferring with Huffman when he returns.

Like everybody else in town, we're anxious to see the Techs go, now that that popular hotshot, Butch Sachse, is on the club and cutting capers.

GRID HEADACHES IN STORE FOR RAIDERS

And speaking of Tech, Elmer, how you like that football schedule they are cooking up for the fall?

Yeah, that's what we think, too. And you'll probably think more than that when you hear the rest. At least one date, possibly two, remain to be filled, especially the December 3 date.

We are not at liberty to disclose names of probable Tech opponents until the contracts are signed, but Cawthon has some strong "feelers" out, and should have a signed paper back from one of them right soon.

It did us a bit of good yesterday when Cawthon got a telegram from Tom Leib, Loyola of Los Angeles coach, asking for a game with Tech.

Following the Los Angeles debacle of 1936 when the Techs fell like a tornadoed tin barn before the Lions at the Coliseum, Leib broke in on Cawthon's sorrow with the rash statement: "Get you a ball club together before you come out here any more. When you've got a team, let us know and we might consider playing you again." Tech had dropped three in a row to Loyola on the coast.

Then yesterday came the wire:

"Please wire collect if you would be interested in playing us November 26 in Los Angeles. No competition here that weekend. Should draw a good gate. (Signed) Tom Leib."

To which Cawthon wired back, in effect: "Sorry old man but we are dated up on Nov. 26 with a little old club named Marquette, here at home. We might consider bringing you here on December 3, provided a certain other little old club we are dickering with does not come, or will change dates."

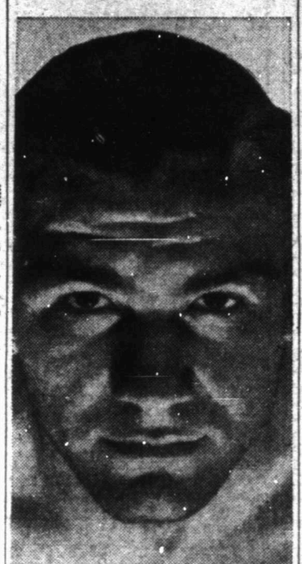

Cawthon might have added ". . . provided you can get a ball club together, etc."

The Loyola Lions must be slipping, and it must be quite galling to the self-contained Leib to be seeking a Thanksgiving week game at this late date, let alone the necessity of carding games with such clubs as Baylor and Hardin-Simmons.

EXPENSIVE EFFORTS

CHICAGO—Sam Pian, manager of Barney Ross, and Charles Lucas, Australian promoter, have spent $1300 on cables, trying to close a welterweight title fight in Sydney between Ross and Jack Carroll.

High Excitement Now Reigning Over Camp Where He Trains

NATHAN MANN

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 11—Natie Mann, like many a young fighter before him, is convinced he is about to become the world's heavyweight champion.

There is hope and high excitement in the hillside camp near Summit, N. J., where Natie, 22 and only two years out of the amateur ranks, is preparing for his 15-round go with Champion Joe Louis on Feb. 23.

Natie Is Confident

What matter that common sense says Louis figures to win and that the hard-headed gamblers of the city are offering 4 to 1 against the lad from Connecticut. Natie is sure he will knock the big negro out, the telegraph instruments, and that is everybody else around his camp, including the famed Madame Bey.

There must be something contagious about it. After watching Natie work over a couple of sparring partners and hearing what he had to say, this observer came away convinced he is the best short-ender since Jim Corbett.

"It's a chance I hadn't dreamed of getting this quick," said Mann. "It's a wonderful break for me, and I won't muff it. Did you know that the governor of Connecticut and about a thousand others are coming down from New Haven to watch me win?"

Was Never Knocked Out

He feels that way, possibly, because he never has been knocked out.

"I had to sign an agreement to fight Louis again within 60 days," he will win the title," he revealed, "but that doesn't bother me. If I win him once I can whip him again. No, I won't necessarily fight Schmeling after that. I'll fight whoever looks like pulling the biggest crowd."

Natie, who gains assurance from the fact that he is 5 feet, 10 inches tall and weighs 193 pounds, the same as John L. Sullivan in his prime, went on to explain that Louis, besides offering an easy, to get for a body attack, doesn't like a good right-hand sock on the jaw.

"Schmeling proved that," he added, "and did you notice how he batted his eyes and covered up a time Farr threw a right at him?

Women Enter Final Round

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 11. (AP)—Kathryn Hemphill, blue-eyed brunette from Columbia, S. C., pursued the Palm Beach women's golf cup today, her game in high gear for the first time this winter.

Miss Hemphill came to grips with Mrs. Helen Hockenjos of Lake Hopatcong, N. J.

Minneapolis' Patty Berg, winner of three consecutive tournaments, won the Palm Beach meet last year but passed it up this time for a much-needed rest.

Everybody Is Tired

"We're all tired," Kathryn said. "Next week I'm going to lie around on the beach and forget about golf."

After that will come the South Atlantic tournament at Ormond Beach and the Florida East Coast at St. Augustine. Miss Hemphill won both last season, beating Miss Berg in the finals of the latter.

Kathryn, the tournament medalist, shot one-under-par golf yesterday to trim Marion Miley of Fort Pierce, Fla., 4 and 3. She was a decided favorite over Mrs. Hockenjos, who defeated Mrs. Jane Cothran Jameson of West Palm Beach 2 and 1. Mrs. Hockenjos was seven over par for the 17 holes.

Diana Fishwick of London met Katherine MacCloskey of Pittsburgh in the second division finals.

TOUGH FOR DIMAGGIO

CLEVELAND—Joe DiMaggio was able to consistently solve every pitcher in the American League but Mel Harder, last year. The Cleveland flinger limited the Yankees' centerfielder to three hits throughout the season.

NESTELL SUSPENDED

LOS ANGELES—Bob Nestell, most promising Los Angeles heavyweight of 1937, has been suspended in California until he gets in shape.

E. E. Cummings, contemporary poet, is the author of a book without a title.

Jackson Says Supreme Court Must Express People's Will

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP) — The Supreme court "must express the will of the people," Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, told a senate sub-committee today.

"I doubt it can deny that for very long," he said, adding that only by use of the army could a government that defied the expressed will of the people be maintained in office.

"If," he remarked with a chuckle, "that is heresy, I am guilty."

Fall From Train Window Injures Son Of Justice Pierce Butler

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 11.(AP)— A fall from the washroom window of a speeding passenger train Thursday critically injured Kevin Butler of New York, 31-year-old son of Justice Pierce Butler of the U. S. Supreme court.

Pennsylvania railroad trainmen reported the accident occurred on a sharp curve known as "Devil's bend," and expressed the opinion Butler may have ben jolted through the window.

Claimed By Death

Ned Ten Eyck, his son and coaching assistant, said "Old Jim" succumbed to a heart attack shortly after 6 o'clock this morning.

Carnegie Medals For Texas Youths Are Being Sought

KILGORE, Feb. 11. (AP)—Carnegie medals for heroic deeds will be sought for J. R. Holcomb, 11, and his brother, Bobbie Dale, 5, credited with saving the life of their sister, two-year-old Betty Sue, at their Danville community home.

The brothers missed their sister and found her in a coverless 15-foot well into which she had fallen while playing.

The elder lad let a bucket down to the water, secured the rope and slid down. He placed his sister in the bucket and Bobbie Dale pulled her out.

J. R. remained in the well until his brother summoned his mother and neighbors.

All But Last Official Touches Are Put On Tech Selections

Student conucil of Texas Technological college Thursday night put all but last official touches to selection of publications personnel for the next school year.

The council decided favorably eligibility of Reeves Henly, candidate for editor of the Toreador, semi-weekly student publication; Tom B. Coker, jr., for editor of La Ventana, college yearbook; Johnny Wells, for Toreador business manager—and expects to receive a certification of eligibility from dean and registrar today for Raymond (Babe) Curfman, grid star who had petitioned for the office of business manager of La Ventana.

It is expected, in lieu of opposition, the four will be declared elected, when the council meets Feb. 24.

Revision of the constitution to comport with the college's new catalogs, which count off two points each semester hour for F's, under the shift from grade to quality points, was decided, and a committee of Paul White, Hugh McCullough and Mary Howell, as well as a sub-committee of Clarence Rannefeld, Eron Gafford, and Wayne Vaughn appointed by Maxine Fry, student president, to serve in that capacity.

Anti-Lynching Filibuster Is Not The Longest On Record

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—Although the senate filibuster against the anti-lynching bill is among the longest in congressional annals, it is still far from a record.

Debate on the measure has occupied 26 days—127 hours in all—not counting interruptions for other business.

Senate attaches said the longest filibuster on records developed over the silver purchase bill of 1893. That one lasted from Aug. 29 to Oct. 31.

SUED FOR DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11. (AP) — Nunnally Johnson, film writer, was sued for divorce today by Marion Johnson who charged he constantly found fault with her housekeeping and cooking.

He also told her he did not love her, the complaint set forth.

On Guard Until Death

Journey's end came to this soldier on the Teruel front as he was perched on lookout duty for Spanish government troops. After Insurgent guns spotted him, his body slumped in this fashion.

Poage Explains Bill Before Central Texas Gathering

MARLIN, Feb. 11 (AP)—Two thousand Central Texas farmers Thursday heard Congressman W. R. Poage explain the revamped farm bill and insist it "pays the farmer for doing something rather than for not doing something."

"The payments to the small farmers who have received less than two hundred dollars for soil conservation payments will be increased and beginning next year no payments will exceed ten thousand dollars.

"The landlord cannot get a larger portion of the payments due to a change in relationship between him and tenant," he said. "A provision of which I am doubtful allows the farmer to mortgage his prospective government payments and secure loans.

"Congress has taken a step toward remedying the situation which permits the shipment of cotton to Japan cheaper than it can be shipped to the mills in North Carolina by giving Secretary Wallace the right to appear before ICC and ask adjustment of freight rates.

"One of the most important phases of the bil is that which provides for a cotton laboratory to ascertain new uses for cotton and its products," he said.

That Girl on Broadway says all people feel the same pride and shame. The trouble comes when they are proud of the wrong things and ashamed of the wrong things.

The world is largely made up of two kinds of people: those who rave about modern literature and those who think it's just a lot of tripe.

ALWAYS interested in the hotel business, albeit not in an academic way, The Plainsman the other day cornered Mr. George Zarafonitis in conversation and came up with several interesting items.

According to Mr. Zarafonitis, who is maitre de hotel (coffee shop boss, in plain West Texas) at Mr. Connie Hilton's big boarding house, the people who run hotels know pretty much what the score is regarding each and every guest. The guy who thinks he can flimflam the innkeeper, 99 times out of 100 is kidding himself.

Today's hostelry has an espionage system of such scope and efficiency as to make the Russian OGPU turn green with envy. By the time everybody from the chambermaid to the manager appiy the professional eye to the guest, the auditor has a pretty fair idea of how long to let him remain without presenting a bill; whether or not he is slipping somebody in to share his room registered for as a "single"; from his baggage and belongings his general economic state, and a lot of other points which need not be mentioned in the paper.

According to what we wormed out of the darkly handsome Mr. Zarafonitis, there is a surprisingly large percentage of eating customers—especially young smarts of both sexes—who delight in swiping pieces of silverware for "souvenirs". That habit worries maitres de hotel no end.

Another thing that interested The Plainsman no little was Mr. Z's solemn assurance that while it may look easy to walk nonchalantly out of a hotel without paying up, it is no cinch—even in the big joints. The lads and lassies who work for hotels seemingly have a sixth sense and can tell at 40 paces if the guest is a gypper.

ALSO cleared up for The Plainsman was something about hotels which has been puzzling him for years. It's how a smiling bellhop is always waiting at the elevator when you try to bring your own bag down to check out.

Male guests in a hurry frequently decide to tote their own grips from their rooms to the cashier's desk. Accordingly, they enter the elevator, with bag in hand, on the trip down.

The elevator operator, unknown to the grip-toting guest, pokes a button just under the elevator lever and the call is recorded on a hootus adjacent to the bellhops' bench. As a result, a bellhop is always on hand when the elevator hits the ground floor level and the door is slid open.

Darned clever, those hotel folks.

MAYBE he is overly suspicious, but The Plainsman smells a rat—a great, big well fed rat—in connection with the March of Time's latest movie release.

Currently showing at the Palace, the edition of Time magazine's news reel deals with Nazi Germany. It is interesting, all right, but nothing in it is new. It is merely a photographic conglomeration of regimentation under Hitler, of which everyone who knows what time it is has thoroughly realized and understood for a long, long time.

The odor of rodents which The Plainsman believes he detects is in connection with a great hullabaloo which was raised when the film first was released a couple of weeks ago.

Claiming that the film was propaganda for Nazlism and for Adolf Hitler, a Jewish owner of scores of theaters waxed wrathy—in the public prints and in Time magazine—claiming that the release would be barred in all his houses.

Henry Luce, president of Time, Life and the March of Time, was quoted in defense of the film as being "merely pictorial news and a factual presentation of what is going on in Germany."

Another Jewish owner of another big string of movie houses leaped into the verbal fray in support of Luce and with the contention that the film, if propaganda in any form, is detrimental to Nazlism and to fascism in general.

And the gullible public, smacking its lips over the controversy, dug down into its jeans to take a peek at the picture so one and all might form an opinion, one way or another.

AS The Plainsman sees it, the current March of Time treatment of Nazi Germany is entirely innocuous.

Certainly there is nothing in the film to recommend Nazlism to the American movie public; nothing more is said about the persecution of Jews than is said about the hand-in-hand persecution of Christian religions which also is a popular pastime with the fanatics of the Hitler regime.

And not a single new point concerning Nazlism is brought out in the picture; it is simply a repetition of what every informed person has known for several years.

It looks to us like the movie people and Mr. Luce pulled a fast one on the newspapers and their readers.

Some smart press agent had his head up!

The colored cotton picker sat gingerly on the edge of the witness chair.

"Sam," said the judge, "do you know what will happen if you don't tell the truth?"

"Yassah, Mistah Jedge," said Sam, "I goes to de jail house for perjury."

"Quite right," said the judge. "And do you know what will happen if you tell the truth?"

"Yassah, Mistah Jedge. We loses de case!"

That Man on Avenue Q says a new night photo of the Department of Interior building shows all the windows lighted. It seems the boys have an extra CCC camp left over in a trial balance.

You can recognize the route of human progress by the bones of martyrs to ignorance scattered along the way.

THE Texas department of the American legion is considerably upset over the unemployed man of over 40.

As a result, every legion post in the state is to be active in a campaign to find jobs for unemployed veterans who, while in the prime of life, are unable to compete for jobs against the younger generation.

That is a worthy undertaking but one likely to come to naught, unless legionnaire employers set an example for the rest of the business men of the state.

The Plainsman, neither 40 nor unemployed, never-the-less has sympathy for the unemployed citizen on the other side of that age.

Like a great many others, he believes that the man in the 40-to-50 age bracket is a good risk for the employer in many lines of work—often a better risk than his young rival of a more skittish age.

But unless the man in the 40-50 period has a specialty for which he is trained and experienced, he is in a bad way, legion campaign or no legion campaign. His opportunities of landing a job are thus so decreased that he is bound to have tough sledding.

AMONG the many employers of all kinds in Texas there are many ex-service men—many of whom also are members of the legion.

If the Department of Texas is going to be successful in its laudable effort to help the forgotten man of more than 40, those ex-service and legionnaire employers are going to have to take the lead and to set the example.

If they will do that—if they will do no more than simply give the man of over 40 an even break with the younger applicant—the campaign can be successful and many worthy men will be given a hand up.

But if they do not, there is no incentive for the other employer to play ball.

Isn't that right, Commander Jackson of the Lubbock post?

CONSTANCE CORBY — heroine; richest girl in the world.

BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.

RODNEY BRANDON — Connie's fiance.

KATIE BLYN — Connie's double.

* * *

Yesterday: Bret, finding himself miserable without Connie, comes back. And they are married. She is now Mrs. Breton Hardesty for keeps.

CHAPTER XVI

Tomorrow came, as tomorrows will, turning into today, and the whole world knew that Constance Corby had married a struggling young man with practically nothing to his name. The whole world hummed and buzzed with the news, exclaimed, either approvingly or with condemnation, prophesied as to whether or not such a strange marriage possibly could last.

None of which bothered Connie or Bret in the least. They had each other, which was more than sufficient for the present. They were in that first idyllic stage of honeymooning when a rosy glow transfigured and enveloped everything; an interlude of ecstasy in which reality does not exist.

They stayed at a small, unpretentious hotel in the nearest good-sized town so that Bret could drive back and forth for the two weeks remaining until the bridge was completed. They had the bridal suite, which was far from elegant, but it is doubtful if they noticed that. The only thing Connie noticed was that the days were suddenly longer and exceedingly empty. That was because Bret was gone. The hours when he could be with her were all too short.

"As soon as the bridge is done," she said, "we'll go away somewhere so that we can be together every single moment. We'll have a real honeymoon."

"I like that!" Bret's dark eyes were teasing. "Isn't this a real honeymoon, Mrs. Hardesty?"

"Only when you are here," she told him. "Only half of one, because of that. We shall go away, darling, for a long, long while—around the whole world, perhaps."

Bret's dark eyes grew sober. "You forget, my sweet," he said, "that I'm not in a position to take my wife traveling around the world. If we went, we would have to go on your money. I don't believe I'd like that."

"You forget," Connie reminded, "that my money is now our money. We agreed that we were going to work everything out together, and that means sharing everything together, too. We said we were not going to be afraid of money, or of anything else under the sun, as long as we had each other."

Bret said that that was what they had agreed. Still he did not like the idea of another honeymoon under those conditions. He had not realized yet that he had married Constance Corby.

Connie, on the other hand, seemed to have slipped back, quickly and easily, into her true self again. After all, that was what she had always been. With the exception of that brief lapse when she had been Katie Blyn. It was perfectly natural for her, having experienced that metamorphosis, to decide to circle the globe, or do anything else if she wished.

One of the first things she did, after she received a wire from Uncle Tippy wishing her happiness and scolding her for having achieved it in the way she had, and sending her several thousands of dollars with a letter of credit for the bank, was to shed that other girl's clothing.

She was a bit tired, she discovered suddenly — one day that dragged unusually long with Bret away — of the shoddy navy suit and the black dress and all of those somber, sensible things.

That evening when Bret, tired and dusty, came back to the bridal suite he found a girl he had never seen before, a girl whose golden curls had been carefully shampooed and waved, whose nails were like coral jewels, whose slender figure wore a lovely frock of sofest blue, matching the shining excitement in her eyes, whose ankles were encased in cobwebby hose and feet in high-heeled, dainty slippers. In brief, a girl who might have stepped from a page of a fashion magazine.

"Good Lord!" he exclaimed. "What have you done to yourself, honey?"

"Don't you like me?" Connie executed a little dance step around him, showing off her finery.

"You're very grand," he said. There was a puzzled look in his dark eyes. One could not tell whether he was pleased or not. "But I'm afraid to touch you." He raised his hands, dropped them, comically, at his sides.

"Oh, you needn't be," she said lightly. "See", catching him by the hand and pulling him on into the other room, "there are plenty more pretties, should you muss this one up!" The bed, the chairs, the tables were literally covered with boxes and packages. There were frocks of every color and description, tailored ones, frilly ones, sleek and sophisticated; with hats, it appeared, to match each one; negligees of gleaming satins, or billowing chiffons; stacks and stacks of delicate, lacy underthings; rows of shoes; dozens of pairs of gossamer hose.

"I'll try them all on for you, if you like," Connie said, her eyes dancing. "You shall see how beautiful your wife can be, Mr. Hardesty."

As she spoke, her fingers started to unhook the blue dress, she stepped out of it, swished another over her shiningly coiffuered head. This was an evening gown, extremely decollete, its cloth of gleaming gold, shimmering like a knight's polished armor. She kicked off the blue slippers, wiggled into matching gold ones, caught up a wrap of deep green velvet, with an enormous collar of white fur.

She had not noticed that Bret had not answered her question. He still stood, looking at her, that curious expression in his dark eyes. She said again: "See how beautiful I am, my husband! Don't you like me, darling?"

Again she pirouetted around and around for him.

Still he did not answer her.

She came to him, put her arms around his neck, laid her cheek against his. "Darling . . . aren't you going to tell me. . . . Don't you like me this way? Don't you like my lovely new belongings?"

* * *

"You look very grand," he said again. "But you look so different, not at all like the girl I married. Beautiful, of course, no one could deny that. But no," he shook his head. "I think I liked the way that other girl looked better."

The dancing light went out of Connie's eyes. "Darling," she said, "aren't you being a bit — well, stuffy? Those clothes really were impossible, you know. I looked a fright in them."

"You looked all right to me," he insisted. He looked now, as Connie had first thought upon seeing him, like a young man who was very certain as to what he liked and thought. "That thing you've got on . . . it's scarcely decent, showing so much of your neck and arms. I liked your hair the other way."

"But I'm not that other girl any longer," Connie said. The hidden fire leapt into her eyes. "This is the way I always looked, the way I wore my hair. You'll have to get used to me."

"I suppose I shall," Bret said. He turned away from her. He had not even kissed her! She ran to him, burst into tears, flung her arms around his neck.

"I'll send them all back, if you want me to!" she sobbed. "How can you treat me like this, when our honeymoon isn't even over? I wanted something to do, to amuse myself. I wanted to make myself lovely, for you."

"There, there!" Bret said. He patted her shaking shoulder, but had she glanced up she would have seen that his expression had not changed; his dark eyes were somber. "Of course, I don't want you to send them back. Not if you want to keep them. And by the way, this honeymoon is over. The bridge is finished. And now, sweetheart, you'll have to give me a little more time to get used to you—please remember that."

Her arms tightened around his neck; she ceased crying, moved closer. She had won in this, the first quarrel they had had since their marriage.

But something told her that tears and tantrums, maybe even kisses and young slim arms, might not always win if Bret felt himself entirely in the right.

COLLEGE-SPONSORED BOYCOTTS

It was with considerable interest that we noted a recent Associated Press story to the effect that students of the University of New Mexico are sponsoring a boycott on goods manufactured in Japan and offered for sale in this country.

According to the news story, not only are the college kids of our neighboring state eschewing all Japanese products themselves, but they also are urging similar action upon the part of the adult population of Albuquerque, where the university is located.

Idly cogitating the matter, we could not help but wonder how much—if anything—students of the University of New Mexico know about world affairs; what, if anything, they expect their action to bring about; and who is behind the rather silly movement.

While our sympathies in the Far Eastern muddle are thoroughly with the Chinese, it occurs to us that college youngsters—at best imbued with all the irresponsibility of youth—are hardly the ones to lead any sort of a movement and that closer application to their algebra and English will probably get them further in the long run.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 11. — Speaking generally, movie people have a lot of money, spacious estates and ranches, and an infinite capacity for honest affection honestly bestowed. These are reasons why so many of them have so many pets.

I don't know a picture star without a dog, except Clark Gable, who lives in a hotel. Most of 'em have two or three, and an assortment of cats.

Charles Ruggles acquired so many dogs, mostly Scotties, that he finally established a kennel as a commercial venture and breaks better than even on it.

Harold Lloyd and Edward Everett Horton, though, became involved with the fecund and voracious breed of St. Bernards, and each actor found himself buying approximately 15 tons of meat per year.

Horton now is tapering off with a couple of sheep dogs, a few Scotties and a German shepherd. He hasn't even attempted a census of the cats around his place.

Prize To The Oakies

But the prize—if ever there was a prize, instead of a penalty—should go to the Jack Oakies. The sturdy Oakie himself acknowledges ownership of only one beast, a dachshund. But an inventory of his wife's menagerie reveals the following: 12 Afghan hounds (her specialty); 1 cocker spaniel; 1 Badlington terrior; 2 Sealyhams; 3 Cairn terriers; 2 West Highland terriers; 2 bantam chickens; 6 rabbits; 200 pigeons.

The pigeons are not thoroughbreds. Mrs. Oakie (affectionately known to Mr. Oakie as his "Pigeon") is just practicing on them and really will go in for the bird culture when she buys pedigreed varieties.

She knows so much about pets that she now is conducting a weekly magazine—"The Illustrated Animal News." Mrs. Oakie thought of it, but the Golden Jakie got it under way by putting up the money and being the first guest editor. In his opening article he said, "I always start these shows . . ." With that and his financial backing, he ended his participation in the venture.

His wife, Venita Varden, really works at it. Reads proofs, edits and collects material. After three months the publication has a circulation of several thousand, including six subscribers in England, two in France and one in India. She also attends dog shows and is a qualified judge.

Each week she has a guest editor, and these have included Bob Burns, Lily Pons, Horton, Ruggles, Glenda Farrell, Frieda Inescourt, Stuart Erwin, Anita Louise, Jimmy Gleason and Jeanette MacDonald.

Rent Out Their Horses

Several players own horses which are in demand for screen work. Best known is Leo Carrillo's Sui Sun (West Wind), which earns his hay bill with frequent jobs at $100 a week. He works in "Girl of the Golden West."

Practically all the western stars own their own mounts and receive extra checks for their services. Guinn (Big Boy) Williams often rents polo ponies to studios, and one of Spencer Tracy's horses worked in "Saratoga." George O'Brien has a couple of camera-trained horses that are in demand at $100 a week, and Allen Jones' mount in "The Firefly" was his own, rented for $25 a day. That one named Smoky, behaved so intelligently that he may have a movie career.

Most of the dogs you've seen in pictures, especially those which appeared incidentally, without any special acting to do, belong to actors and actresses. Directors have found that animals are easier to manage if they are the personal pets of the people with whom they appear.

There is not yet an Animal Division of the Screen Actors' Guild, so pampered pooches that don't need the money are still cutting a lot of professional dog actors out of jobs.

In fairness to those same prosperous pups, it should be said that many of them work for nothing. The pets of Carole Lombard, Claudette Colbert and Madge Evans have acted for the fun of it. Edith Fellows demanded a salary for her little mongrel, and got 50 cents a day. Stuart Erwin's prize Scotty, Crag Haven Blinker, has worked in pictures, but not for nothing. Lon Chaney, Jr., also rents his Doberman pinschers.

Colleagues Want Benjamin Cardozo To Remain On Supreme Court Bench--With Good Reason

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—Although Supreme Court Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo's health has improved in the last few days it's still a toss-up whether he will resign from the court.

Rodney Dutcher

Cardozo is still in a weakened condition and he will be unable to resume his place on the bench before next fall, if then.

His colleagues on the court are using their influence to keep him from resigning. They want to keep this great jurist on the job—and most of them, it can be said, fear that he might be replaced by a man who would be too much like Justice Hugo Black.

One-Man Dissenter

Personal relations between Black and his liberal colleagues are excellent.

But the Alabaman's self-assurance has surprised and even disconcerted them. Black neither asks nor takes advice from his more experienced brethren. He has embarked on a series of one-man dissenting opinions which delight many liberal laymen, but scandalize the conservative justices and cause even the cautious liberal justices to say privately that

The Federal Communications commission blast at Mae West and the broadcasting company which carried her celebrated lines was more of a grand-stand publicity stunt than a sincere attempt to keep the ether pure. The F. C. C. was far from shocked.

"I never yet have seen a Mae West movie," said Commissioner Norman S. Case after hearing the transcription of the broadcast. "It's about time I did."

So off he went to Mae's latest picture and enjoyed himself immensely.

one Black on the court is enough.

In the Indianapolis water works rate case, which the majority sent back to a lower court on technical grounds, Black insisted the issue should have been decided promptly. He made what resembled a senatorial speech against absurdities of the cost of reproduction-new valuation theory and in favor of the prudent investment theory.

Are Corporations Persons?

In another case Black denounced the famous old Supreme court decision that a corporation was a "person," with a human being's rights under the Fourteenth amendment. Apparently Black intends to slam whenever possible at the Supreme court's "usurpation" of power in the last century.

"He is shooting in the right direction, but with blank cartridges," said one liberal justice of Black's corporation-person dissent, explaining that, although he felt Black had delivered an able opinion on the subject, it had little practical application to affairs before the court.

As to the Indianapolis dissent, liberal justices wondered whether Black realized that the public utilities themselves might, under changed future conditions, sometime espouse the prudent investment theory as the best way to hold up watered financial structures.

The liberal justices pray that the next appointee may be a liberal of the Felix Frankfurter type who has a thorough grounding in the history of the law. They are pleased with appointment of Solicitor General Stanley Reed, whom they describe as an "excellent workman" on the court.

Ghost Myth

Persistent reports that Brain Truster Tom Corcoran, Roosevelt's fast-moving all-around handy man, has been ghost-writing Black's dissenting opinions are fantastic and absurd. Black writes the opinions himself and is darned proud of them.

The yarn appears to have grown from a casual and facetious remark made by Mrs. Virginia Durr, the justice's sister-in-law, at a dinner party. Mrs. Durr knows Corcoran and his prodigious reputation as a speech writer for the President and others.

"Hugo is so swamped with work these days that he may have to get Tom Corcoran to help him," said Mrs. Durr.

She laughed when she said it—but in Washington stories have a way of growing out of nothing very much.

this provision without checking every pig, cow, chicken, egg or pound of butter sold by every farmer.

Provision Is Rewritten

The senate-house conference committee rewrote the provision so that farmers could engage in "normal" dairy production, even using diverted acreage. They said that "normal production should be judged on a county-wide basis rather than by individual farms."

Restrictions on feeding pigs, cattle, sheep and other livestock and poultry were removed by the committee. Instead, the secretary of agriculture was given power to impose restrictions if he found income of normal dairy and livestock production areas was adversely affected.

Legislators from livestock and dairy regions, however, contended these changes would remove all protection and actually would place the government in the position of subsidizing competition.

Relief Rolls

rently were on the rolls.

Williams said unemployment conditions were "generally spotty" and remarked that "it is not quite accurate to say that the need is primarily in industrial centers."

Quick Action Expected

If the appropriations committee approves the $250,000,000 fund quickly the house will debate it next Tuesday.

Democratic Leader Barkley predicted senate acceptance of the measure immediately after the house passes it.

Nevertheless, administration chieftains found indications of some trouble ahead.

Senator King (D-Utah) asserted, for instance, that he would vote against the extra fund because the original $1,500,000,000 "would be sufficient if properly allocated and wisely and economically expended."

Nazi circles made no secret of the fact that garrisons at Stolp and Allenstein in Prussia, as an example, are "filled with reactionaries." One nazi spokesman said it was self-evident that changes must follow.

He added, however, that "you do not know the spirit of the army if you think they will do anything overt."

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11 (AP)—Cotton recovered a few points in initial dealings today.

First trades were 2 to 4 points not higher with March contracts at 8.87, May 8.94, July 8.96, Oct. at 9.02 bid, Dec. 9.06 and Jan. 9.08.

May reacted to 8.92 on later selling and towards the end of the first half hour the general market was 1 point higher to 1 point lower compared with the previous close.

Liverpool cables said continental buying and local support induced by the firmness of Bombay met profit taking at limits.

Trade buying and covering asorbed hedge selling and liquidation during the morning but prices fluctuated within a narrow range.

Towards mid-session March contracts sold at 8.84, May 8.93, July 8.98, Oct. 9.02 and Dec. 9.04 or unchanged to 2 points above the previous close.

Manchester cabled that price maneuvering in cloth and yarns continued but that the turnover was disappointing.

Worth street reported moderate activity in print cloths.

The turnover yesterday was 37,800 bales and open commitments 444,250 bales, an increase of 500 bales over the previous day.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 3 higher to 3 lower. Higher cables were offset by uncertainty over action on the farm bill in the senate. March 8.73; May 8.82; July 8.83; Oct. 8.90; Dec. 8.91; Jan. 8.93.

Fairly active March liquidation and selling of later months by commission houses tapered off shortly after the call and prices then rallied a few points on trade and scattered buying.

May sold off from 8.82 to 8.77 and was later quoted at 8.80, with prices net unchanged to 2 points higher.

The cotton exchange service estimated January domestic consumption at 438,000 bales, against 420,000 in December and 678,000 in January 1937.

During the remainder of the morning prices in quiet trading hovered within a few points of the previous close, as traders awaited developments in the senate on the farm bill.

May at midday was selling at 8.79 and the list was net unchanged to 2 points higher.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Selected stocks dozed at slightly higher levels in today's market, but numerous issues either stood still or slipped a notch or two.

It was one of the slowest sessions of the past several months, with transfers hardly sufficient to keep the ticker tape in operation. Gains of minor fractions predominated near the fourth hour.

Leaders pushed up as much as a point or more at the opening. They backed away from 2:30 marks later as a little profit selling appeared.

Most speculative forces, brokers said, were inclined to conserve buying ammunition pending further developments at Washington, including action on the much disputed farm bill, a decision regarding greater expansion of armaments and final action on the farm bill.

Further improvemen, in rail loans again provided a prop for the bond division. Commodities were mixed.

Favored the greater part of the day—some subsequently gave ground — were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Anaconda, Chrysler, United Aircraft, Du Pont, Philip Morris, American Radiator, Dome Mines, Texas Corp., and International Harvester.

MARKETS TO CLOSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 11. (AP)—Leading security and commodity exchanges in the United States will be closed tomorrow, February 12, in commemoration of Lincoln's birthday. Exceptions will be the New Orleans cotton exchange, Boston wool and certain livestock markets.

Senators Praised

House and in some instances have proved to be boomerangs.

In 1930 President Hoover sent a letter to Rep. Reece (R-Tenn), who was up for reelection, in which he commended Reece's stand on the then important issue of disposition of Muscle Shoals.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) criticized Hoover for intervening in the primary. Reece won the Republican nomination, but was defeated by an independent Republican candidate in the general election.

Praise For Norris

President Roosevelt in 1936 went further in his support of a senatorial candidate than he has gone thus far with regard to Barkley and Duffy. When Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) was up for reelection, Mr. Roosevelt said Norris should be kept in the senate "as long as he lives."

Several Nebraska Democratic leaders declared he had jeopardized the party's state and national chances. Both Mr. Roosevelt and Norris, however, were reelected.

In early types of motorcycles, the first form of ignition was a tube protruding from the cylinder. This was heated by a Bunsen burner before the engine could be started.

Curious Canary

Training a canary to do tricks may sound like tedious business, but 13-year-old Jean Luzt, above, of Allentown, Pa., has accomplished the feat. Her little pet performs all sorts of stunts, and is so unafraid of his mistress that he poses, as shown above, with his head almost in Jean's mouth. She calls him "Dicky."

Grain Session Opens Today

First session of a two-day meeting of the state plant and seed board and the State Certified Seed Growers association was to start this afternoon at 1 o'clock in room A-123 of the division of agriculture administration building at Texas Technological college.

Dr. E. P. Humbert, chairman, is to preside over the state board session Saturday.

To Bring Greetings

Oran S. Cliett, president-elect of the Certified Seed Growers association is to bring greetings from the state group. Other speakers will include J. M. Atkins, Denton, an agronomist with the U. S. department of agriculture; Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture at Tech; D. F. Bredthauer, Floyd county agent; O. B. Howell, professor of horticulture at Texas Technological college; R. E. Dickson, Spur, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station there.

Saturday morning J. F. McDonald, Austin, commissioner of agriculture is to deliver the principal address at 11 o'clock. Dr. Humbert, Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station here, and R. V. Miller, Austin, secretary of the state seed and plant board also will speak.

Certified breeders meet at 1:30 Saturday and the seed and plant board at 2:30.

County agents, vocational agriculture teachers and others have been invited to attend.

Military Rule

appeared primarily directed against the fascist-inclined iron guard group headed by Cornelius Codreanu.

The decree naming military commandants as prefects placed the nation's civil administration under military control. Telegrams from the premier's office authorized the commandants to assume the prefectural duties and to "preserve order."

The hand of the Ling was evident in every move of the new government, which Carol formed by cutting across lines of political parties after the collapse of Goga's regime yesterday.

Takes Emergency Measures

It was emphasized at the palace, however, that the monarch was taking what he regarded as emergency measures and that he intended to return to constitutional forms of government as soon as the atmosphere was cleared of the uncertainties raised the past six weeks.

The new regime, after the period of economic decline and action to suppress Jews attributed to Goga, was greeted by Jews and Christians alike with seemingly widespread optimism.

Tension in foreign affairs, it was pointed out, was a factor in Goga's removal, as he had been considered leaning more to friendship for Italy and Germany, rather than France and England.

King Carol, in an announcement to the people, said:

Statement To People

"For eight years as your king, I have governed with the cooperation of political parties.

"In recent times these parties have engaged in disturbing propaganda. This resulted in tension which has affected the whole country.

"So I have decided to create a government which appeals to the highest patriotism of our leaders, and with experienced men who have demonstrated their love for the fatherland.

"With these men of great authority, I shall try to work out the policies for salvation of the people and for restoration of confidence. To this end, I shall devote all my energy to serve the people and the country.

"So help us God."

Pension Club

at the moment in their leader's determination to go to jail, rather than appeal, for his refusal to testify before a special house committee investigating his old-age pension plan. In March, 1937, Dr. Townsend was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 for contempt; this week, an appellate court upheld the conviction.

He Is A Poor Man

Through Charlebois, Dr. Townsend issued a statement today telling why he is refusing to carry his case to the supreme court.

"The reason is, he is a poor man," said Charlebois, "not able to incur the expense."

Dr. Townsend wants it understood, Charlebois continued, "that he does not harbor any contempt for the congress of the United States as a whole, but that he will never cease to hold in contempt any committee of congressmen who transcend their powers and prerogatives and make a deliberate attempt toward the assassination of the character of witnesses who are ordered before such a committee.

"Dr. Townsend feels that he was unjustly treated."

Building Total For February Is Nearing $50,000 Mark

Building permit totals for February scaled within less than $260 of the $50,000-mark with authorization of two projects costing a total of $2,600 this morning, Building Inspector Jim Reid reported.

The total of $49,741.90 for the month thus far compares with $60,710 for the whole of February, 1937. The new construction total for 1938 up to noon today of $167,783.26 compares with $134,122 for the whole of the first two months of last year.

New permits this morning were to Maxey Lumber company, for a metal-clad lumber shed costing $1,600 at 710 Avenue Q and to L. O. Griggs for repairs and alterations costing $1,000 at 1711 Seventh street.

Six small permits for construction costing a total of $1,446.90 were issued Thursday afternoon.

Triangle Without Rancor

Leave it to Peggy Rich, the marriage-minded blond Broadway delight, to give the eternal triangle a new twist. She's snapping a picture of prospective hubby No. 5 (hatless Michael Tree, the orchestra leader) bidding bon voyage at New York to hubby No. 4 (behatted Terry Royce, British film actor). As soon as Royce finishes a movie in England, he'll rush back to help Peggy get an annulment of their elopement marriage so she can marry Tree.

Scouts Govern City Today

Boy Scouts took charge of city offices today, and believe it or not, none has ever fought a duel with deadly weapons—not even has issued a challenge to such a duel.

Thus they solemnly swore as 14 youths took oaths of office before entering upon duties they will discharge throughout the day. The oath was administered by Miss Lavenia Williams, city secretary.

No Duels Fought

A portion of the legally required oath for officials to which the boys subscribed reads: "I, being a citizen of this state, have not fought a duel with deadly weapons nor have I sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel with deadly weapons, nor have I acted as second in carrying a challenge or aided, advised or assisted any person thus offending."

After taking the oath, the boys became the companions of the regular officials, to each of whom was directed by Mayor Ross Edwards to cooperate with the scouts in every way possible. The new city commission was to meet this afternoon, receive reports of various department heads and each then was to return to his department.

New City Officials

The officials are: mayor, Francis Bearden; Commissioners, Lewis Mills, Jimmy Butler, Olin Monk, J. A. Blackwell and Skeezix Barrier; city manager, Junior Moss; police chief, Billy Tucker; fire chief, James Zeitz; electrical superintendent, Max Walthall; water superintendent, Billy Wright; and health inspectors, Jim Kuykendall, Bill Kennedy and Tom LeMond.

Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court, who was to have addressed the boys briefly, was out of the city because of the illness of his brother, Grady West, official reporter for 99th court, substituted for him.

Featuring tomorrow's closing observance of scout anniversary week will be activities at Camp Post, for which approximately 175 boys are scheduled to leave this afternoon, according to Earl M. McClure, executive. John Vickers is in charge of the program, which will include a treasure hunt. Boys are to take their own food, which will be prepared in the open.
