5 Perish In Flood Following Dam Break

NORWICH, Conn. (AP)—Five persons perished and one was missing after a broken dam turned flood waters on a narrow, deadly path through the center of the business district Wednesday night.

The water roared from a 15-acre lake on a hill overlooking the city and swept into a coal-manufacturing plant, setting off a boiler explosion.

Four workers on the night shift were killed. One wing of the three-story building was demolished.

Beck Case Dismissed

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A federal judge has dismissed income tax evasion charges against Dave Beck Sr., former president of the Teamsters Union, and five others accused of conspiring with him.

"It would be a waste of public funds to carry prosecution further," U.S. Dist. Judge George H. Bohn said.

Beck, 65, is serving a five-year sentence at McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary near here. He was convicted in December 1957 of evading $240,000 in income taxes for 1950-51 and two counts of filing false returns for the year.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals set the tax evasion conviction aside in January 1962 on the question of taxability of embezzled money.

The tax evasion case was sent back for retrial, but Asst. U.S. Atty. Jack S. O'Connor said Wednesday the government decided Monday against another trial because Beck is in prison on the false return conviction. He will not be eligible for parole for about a year. He is serving a five-year sentence for filing false returns for the year.

Good Reading Habits Pushed At Stanfield Elementary

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series of articles on Snyder School activities, written by Snyder High School Journalism students in connection with observance of "Texas Public Schools Week."

BY JANE FORRE AND TREVA MOORE

Trends toward the use of library facilities in the schools have changed within the last decade. Stanfield Elementary School has library programs developed to encourage students and encourage good reading habits.

"I didn't know about the use of a library until I was in college," stated smiling Pat Falk, principal of Stanfield.

"We try to give the students a basic knowledge of using the library," he went on to say.

Each grade has a regularly scheduled 25-minute library period under the guidance of Phyllis McGinnis, school librarian.

Students are introduced to the basic functions of the library, such as call numbers and where each book is placed. After learning to read they are allowed to check out books according to their reading capacity.

The library has a decimal system, card catalog, and more details on call numbers are introduced to the second grade. During the second year, usually all the children are allowed to check out books.

Third graders begin written work on library skills. Reference questions are handled by the librarians. Fourth graders are given reports for their classes.

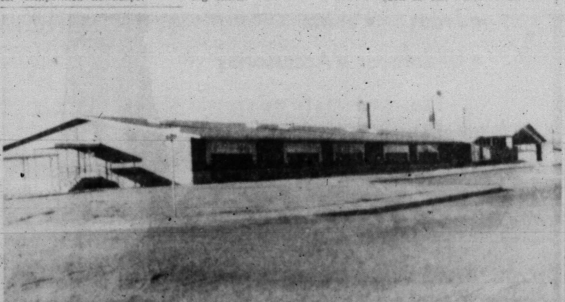

Mrs. McGinnis encourages the last three classes, fourth, fifth, sixth, to branch out in their reading areas. These students become aware of biography books, fairy tales, animal stories, fiction and non-fiction, poetry, factual, history, travel books, family stories, and sport stories.

Sixth graders are introduced at the last of the year to the reader's guide. In order to be prepared for all junior high research work.

The Snyder School Board has provided $100 per child for all library material during the year and with this new books can be added to the library.

At inventory Mrs. McGinnis discovered not one of the library's 2224 books was lost.

As the students leave elementary school and enter into junior high, they are well acquainted with what is to become one of their most treasured friends—the library.

Connally Urges Revision Of Financial Procedures

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally recommended today that the state sales tax be revised and that the present franchise tax be extended to finance 1964-1965 spending of $2.1 billion for Texas state government.

In giving his biennial recommendations on spending and revenue to a noon session of the Senate and House, Connally warned that "a tidal wave of taxation" may be ahead in Texas if financial procedures are not changed.

Connally stressed, as he did Thursday in a special briefing to editors and publishers, that most of the overall state budget consists of "unbudgeted" expenditures that the governor and legislature can not govern.

This "fantastic system of unbudgeted funds shielded by constitutional restriction or by existing laws" literally ties the hands of those who are charged with the handling of the state's finances, he said.

"And let me say this further," Connally added, "unless the people of Texas recognize the consequences of this mushrooming financial monster we have created—and give our elected officials meaningful control, we are facing a tidal wave of taxation ahead."

"Being realistic then, let's talk about that small slice of the pie that we do have available at our discretion—the 13 cents out of every dollar—the money which you will appropriate from the general revenue fund," he told the legislators.

"I am recommending to you general revenue fund expenditures of $475 million for the next biennium. Almost 52 per cent of this total, I am asking for public and higher education. More than 75 cents of every dollar I am recommending for appropriation of the general revenue fund goes for the education of our young, or the care and treatment of our sick, aged and dependent."

Connally said his general revenue budget "reflects my full and personal attention and consideration to the multitude of needs in our state, weighed against the common sense balance of sound business management and economy."

Outgoing Gov. Price Daniel recommended a total budget of $3.1 billion, including $472.1 million from general revenue. He said this could be handled without new taxes by doubling state college tuition and extending the franchise tax rate.

The Legislative Budget Board recommended biennial spending of more than $3 billion with $475 million from general revenue. The Joint Senate-House Study Group estimated its budget would result in only $2.28 billion deficiency which could be handled by budget economy or the franchise tax extension.

"I said to you in January that I would accompany any recommendations for increased expenditures with suggested avenues for revenue," Connally said. "The budget presented you today will necessitate two actions by the legislature."

1. Adoption of recommendations of the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy which provides for the removal of the inequities in the present sales tax, anticipated to produce approximately $23.8 million in the next biennium.

2. Extension of the present corporate franchise tax, estimated to provide approximately $22 million the next two years."

Connally said his general revenue budget "reflects my full and personal attention and consideration to the multitude of needs in our state, weighed against the common sense balance of sound business management and economy."

Powell Fund Request Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has slashed nearly in half the amount Rep. Adam Clayton Powell wanted to run his committee. And it cut off without a penny the special task force over which he has sole control.

This is the latest in a series of cuts in Powell's budget. He has asked for $100,000 to run his committee. The House voted to slash the budget of his Education and Labor Committee.

A colleague, Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., said the chairman was ill with flu. Some members laughed. Another member said the Harlem congressman was requesting at his beachside home in Puerto Rico.

The House voted the committee $200,000 for next year instead of the $400,000 Powell sought and virtually told him how to spend the funds.

Each of the six subcommittees get $25,000; the money to be used as directed by the subcommittee chairmen with Powell's endorsement. The remaining $50,000 for the parent committee to spend under Powell's direction.

The usual practice is for the House to hand a committee a check, letting the chairman distribute it.

Field Of Five In Race For Snyder School Board Posts

Last-minute filings brought the number of candidates for the Snyder School Board to five.

Petitions were filed Wednesday afternoon for Jack Lawrence, Dr. John W. O'Banion Jr. and C. C. Terry.

Lawrence is a partner in, and manager of, J's Super Market. He has lived in Snyder since 1959, and is married to the former Miss Rita Grinnett. They have one son.

Lawrence attended Texas Tech. He is president of the men's organization of the First Methodist Church; a director of the Lion's Club; and a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Signing his petition were Howard J. Harrington, Dr. Louis K. Rice, Arden Brunken, Dr. Carl A. Dillaha and Larry J. Hall.

Dr. O'Banion is Chief of Surgery at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. He took his pre-medical work at Southern Methodist University, and also graduated with honors from the University of Texas Medical School.

Dr. O'Banion moved to Snyder from Dallas in 1959. He and Mrs. O'Banion have two daughters in the Snyder school system. He is a Rotarian and a member of the Christian Church.

Signing Dr. O'Banion's petition were James Russell, Lee T. Simon, Hugh Boren, Jr., Dean Floyd and Nolan von Roeder.

C. C. Terry is a co-owner of Basin Wax Products Co. He has lived in Snyder for the past 10 years. One son attends Snyder High School. The Terrys also have a married daughter.

Terry is a member of the board of trustees of Lubbock Christian College. He is a member of the Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ.

Signing Terry's petition were William H. Wilson, Jr., R. C. Patton, Rayburn Burgess, Billy Hudson, Dr. E. A. Rogers and J. W. Key.

Candidates who announced earlier are J. L. (Broadway) Brown and Buster Anderson.

The terms of Gene L. Dulane and Dr. Thomas P. Hartley, expire this year, and neither is seeking reelection.

Hidden members of the board are William J. Schiebel, president of the board; Lee D. Stone, Dr. Robert H. Hargrove, Dr. R. J. Weaver and Albert Ray Martin. The election will be held April 6.

Believe Russians Storing Supplies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army's intelligence chief says the Soviets may be storing ammunition, military vehicles and aircraft in thousands of caves in Cuba—and aren't letting even top Cuban military personnel get close enough to have a look.

"Aerial photography has further revealed the extension of roads to known and suspect caves locations," Maj. Gen. Alva R. Fitch told the Senate Armed Services Committee Wednesday, and it is considered highly probable that much military equipment and supplies are being stored underground."

At the same time, Fitch discounted recurring reports by Cuban refugees that offensive missiles or bombers are being hidden in the caves.

"It is our belief that the Soviets did, in fact, remove all strategic weapons systems that were in Cuba at the time the quarantine was imposed," he said. "No major warheads are believed to be in Cuba although it is possible that they could be used by some of the weapons systems present there."

There are no indications that Soviet ground force units have departed from Cuba other than those associated with the intermediate and medium-range missile systems.

Among other things he told the senators:

"There are no indications that Soviet ground force units have departed from Cuba other than those associated with the intermediate and medium-range missile systems."

Indications are that the activity around the caves is being conducted solely by Soviet personnel, with Cuban military brass barred.

"The economic situation is grim," Rusk said. "There is evidence of great and growing discontent on that island."

"The fact that a couple of hundreds of thousands of Cubans have given up all their material possessions and left Cuba to seek freedom abroad since the beginning of this present regime would indicate that Cuba is not a satisfactory place in which to live now."

"Our information is that several hundred thousands of these Cubans have sought their lives in the United States and have left Cuba to seek freedom abroad since the beginning of this present regime would indicate that Cuba is not a satisfactory place in which to live now."

More Of Same Due On Weather Menu

By The Associated Press

It was more of the same on the Texas weather menu Thursday.

Skies were generally clear and temperatures unseasonably warm, ranging from the 70s in the Panhandle to the 80s in the Lower Rio Grande valley before dawn.

Clear to partly cloudy skies.

At the same time, Fitch discounted recurring reports by Cuban refugees that offensive missiles or bombers are being hidden in the caves.

British Parliament Member Threatened By Phone Caller

By ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard kept close guard today on a woman member of Parliament who said an anonymous phone caller told her she was marked for death by the terrorist French Secret Army.

Mrs. Alison Bacon, 32, Labor's spokeswoman on home affairs, led the attack in the House of Commons on the government's failure to nab France's fugitive ex-Prime Minister Georges Bidault, whom he slipped into Britain last month and gave a television interview to the British Broadcasting Corp.

The legislator said a man telephoned her shortly before midnight Wednesday and said in a heavy French accent:

"You are on the OAS (Secret Army) list, and you have not much longer to live."

"I am convinced this was no hoax—the man was definitely French," said Miss Bacon. "I rang off at once and phoned Scotland Yard."

Afterward, there was another telephone call. "But when I took off the receiver nobody spoke at the other end."

Scotland Yard put a guard out on the location of ex-Prime Minister Bidault and his followers in London apartment.

The political furor continued over the taped interview with Bidault.

A government spokesman declined any more comment on the incident, which put a new strain on British-French relations. But Labor legislators drew up new questions to ask the government in Parliament.

Labourite Arthur Henderson was expected to demand that Prime Minister Macmillan make certain that Bidault and his followers be prevented from slipping into the country again.

Rusk Says Many Cubans Discontented

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today there is a growing discontent in Cuba and several hundred thousands of Cubans have indicated they want to flee Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

"The economic situation is grim," Rusk said. "There is evidence of great and growing discontent on that island."

"The fact that a couple of hundreds of thousands of Cubans have given up all their material possessions and left Cuba to seek freedom abroad since the beginning of this present regime would indicate that Cuba is not a satisfactory place in which to live now."

Beans, Rice, Cheese Are Plentiful

By The Associated Press
The housewife who can astutely blend rice, beans, cheese and peanut butter into menus in coming weeks can boost the mileage of her food allowance.

Aside from the attractions they have for Lenten meals, these items are all budget priced because of record or near record production.

They offer rich returns in protein for reasonable prices.

Red meat and poultry, however, are also generally attractive and, regionally, seafood and fish categories include several bargains.

Eggs, serving both Lenten and non-Lenten eaters, are down slightly in price in most stores.

Housewives can team up bargain items for variety, using high-protein avocados with seafoods or making cheddar cheese sauces to give extra body to soup and other vegetable dishes.

Chuck and rump roasts are among featured beef cuts.

Pork attractions include loin roasts, chops and hams, with several variety cuts, regionally featured.

In the poultry line-up, turkeys, fryers and baking hens are vying for favor.

Vegetables include radishes, potatoes, sweet potatoes, celery, onions, cabbage and carrots. Leading fruit items, in addition to avocados, regional attractiveness include apples, pears and increasingly, citrus fruits and strawberries.

A variety of both fresh and canned fish and seafood items is available at reasonable prices.

The Snyder school board's concept of education and reasons for several school policies were discussed yesterday afternoon in a special meeting called by the school board of all teachers, professional personnel, and other employees of the schools.

Dr. Wilton Jones, board vice president, was spokesman for the board at the meeting. He was introduced by another board member, Ross Humphill, who told the group that for some time the board had felt it should go before all school employees and tell briefly its concepts on education.

Retiming of the signal lights on down town street intersections by city street employees in the past few days has caused many delays in traffic movement, but it is hoped that improved flow of traffic through the downtown area will result from the retiming of the lights.

Posse Holds Session Here

The Scurry County Sheriff's Posse held the regular monthly business meeting Tuesday night at the Clubhouse. Several new memberships have been added to the roster.

A clubhouse schedule book was voted on to be kept by C. E. McDonald in order to prevent conflicts of the clubhouse use. A Trail Ride was discussed and G. B. Williams was appointed to select a committee and work out definite plans for this as soon as weather permits.

The club plans to ride in the parade at San Angelo Friday. All members who will ride are urged to meet the group at Ballard's 6:30 a.m. March 8.

Goldwater Drive Opens

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A Goldwater for president drive has been opened in California by committee headed by Del Kirkpatrick of Anaheim.

Kirkpatrick said Wednesday his committee plans to get two million signatures and more than $1 million to support conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for the Republican nomination next year.

He said if Goldwater decides against running in the California primary, the committee will pick "a constitutionally-oriented, Republican presidential candidate."

Kirkpatrick said his group has already collected 25,000 signatures on draft Goldwater petitions.

Exhibitions Recapitulate Abstract

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK, N.Y. — There are two current exhibitions which span the whole career of one of the originators and high priests of abstract expressionism — Vasily Kandinsky.

That abstract expressionism is considered in some quarters to have run its course should come as no surprise, for it has been a half century since it got under way. But unquestionably the movement has been of great importance, historically.

And in these two Kandinsky shows it is possible to see not only the individual artist in retrospect, but also a good deal of the movement itself.

Both exhibitions were organized by the Guggenheim Museum here. Even those art lovers who feel baffled by abstract impressionism may well be glad of the opportunity to see how well the Guggenheim has performed its function of presenting a comprehensive review of a major element in the art of our times.

The Kandinsky "international" will be at the Guggenheim until April 7, and thereafter will move to Paris, The Hague and Basel. The Kandinsky "national" opened in the Pasadena (Calif.) Art Museum and in the next year and a half will travel to the San Francisco Museum of Art, the Portland (Ore.) Art Museum, the McNay Institute in San Antonio, Tex., the Colorado Springs (Colo.) Fine Arts Center, the Baltimore Museum of Art, the Columbus (Ohio) Gallery of Fine Arts, Washington University in St. Louis, the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts and the Worcester (Mass.) Museum of Fine Arts.

The artist was born in Moscow in 1866 and became a painter at the age of 30. His early works were pretty mediocre, but it was in his first German period shortly before World War I that he began to break through into the radically new abstract idiom.

Kandinsky is important not only as a pioneer painter, but also for his association with the Blue Rider group, which he helped found and for his ironic connection with Russian abstractionism. For three years after the revolution of 1918 Kandinsky was in the thick of a flourishing modern movement in his native country.

Then the cultural tide turned, and ever since Russia has clung to "socialist realism." Kandinsky went to Germany again, taught at the famous Bauhaus, and then fled the Nazi regime to Paris, where he died in 1944.

There are more than 100 paintings and water colors in the "international," carefully tracing Kandinsky's many changes. They were drawn mainly from three sources — the Guggenheim collection, Kandinsky's widow Nina and the Städtische Galerie in Munich, Germany.

Even the abstract — abhorring Russians contributed to this show seven works which the artist painted between 1909 and 1913. They are artistically significant because they demonstrate what he was doing in the formative years when representational painting was being thrown out the window.

As the viewer strolls down the ramp at the Guggenheim, he gets the feeling that he is witnessing a recapitulation of a good many other shows.

Kandinsky's early representational paintings — fauvist in nature — are shown in a few examples. His first amorphous abstracts were pretty daring in their day, but they still are echoed in many of the oil sketches that appear in New York commercial galleries.

You can see a comprehensive display of his adventure into geometric abstractions in the period from 1922 to 1933 — some of which remind you of cubism. And then there follow the bright, colorful abstractions that initiated the movement to the present.

It would be interesting to know what Kandinsky might think of the New York school of the 1950s and 1960s, in which the artist's self-expression has become mostly "self."

But the point is that Kandinsky rose out of the miasmic fog of the early 20th Century as a real innovator. Like him or not, you have to recognize him as a strong force. The Guggenheim has made a case for him.

Toward Silent Nights

LONDON, N.Y. — Britain's Noise Abatement Society has announced a noise survey of the nation's hotels in an all-out campaign to assure guests of quiet nights.

"As things now stand," said a spokesman for the society, "a guest can book into a hotel and find a room in some secluded seaside cove, only to find he's yet himself in for nights of bedlam and a nervous breakdown."

The society has asked the Automobile Association — which grades hotels annually in its handbooks — to start a quiet classification. For instance, if a hotel has 10 quiet, or soundproof rooms, the AA handbook would point this out, saying "10 quiet" or "10 soundproof."

The Automobile Association said it would give serious consideration to the society's campaign. John Connell, secretary of the society, said the country's hotels would be asked to let acoustic experts measure the noise level in its bedrooms.

The first reactions from London hotels were mixed. A spokesman for one chain said, "Soundproofing is possible only with double windows and air conditioning, but most people in this country don't like air conditioning. They like to open their windows."

Mrs. Fay Brown of Dallas, Texas Division President, will give the opening talk followed by a lecture by Mrs. Sherrad.

Other Division Board Members taking part in the day's activities are Mrs. Earl Blackburn of Berger, Chairman of Social and Economic Issues, and Mrs. Charles Harter, Canyon, Chairman of Higher Education.

The program will close at 3 p.m. with a summation of the workshop by Mrs. Haslam.

AAUW Sets Workshop At Lubbock

A slide-wide workshop in the field of social and economic issues will be held in Lubbock on Saturday by the American Association of University Women.

Mrs. John J. Haslam of Orange will be program director. The day's activities will begin at 9 o'clock at the Woman's Club with a coffee, given by the hostess, Mrs. W. W. Lamb, president, will head the group. Distinguished guests from Washington, D.C. will be Mrs. Edith Sherrad, Staff Associate in Social and Economic Issues and in Program Development. She will address the group at both morning and afternoon sessions.

Girls Meet 'Challenge'

ALLENTOWN, Pa. — Four juniors at Cedar Crest, a girls' college here, congratulated themselves Wednesday that they had met a Yale fitness challenge with extraordinary distinction.

The girls, all about 20, said they were spurred to their great effort by a recent 30-hour student "sit-down" at Yale. The inspiration for that and other miscellaneous performances was President Kennedy's accent on fitness, which sent many happy Americans off on jaunts up to 50 miles.

In a 12-year-old automobile, plastered with cards reading, "If Yale can sit, Cedar Crest can ride," the girls set out late Tuesday to ride around the campus until 50 miles were traveled.

It took them four hours and 23 minutes to cover the 50 miles. The campus has a 15-mile-an-hour speed limit. They changed drivers every five miles.

The girls are Harriet Kehm, Allentown; Bonnie Harrison, Kingston, Pa.; Susan Potts, Lancaster, Pa.; and Kathy Sauter, Nyack, N.Y.

Interchangeable Parts For Man Biggest Achievement

BY INEZ ROBB

When the history of the 20th Century is written, if it survives fusion and fission, it becomes more and more obvious that the splitting of the atom, awesome as it is, is not the greatest achievement of this century — the stupendous fact that man is rapidly becoming a creature of spare or interchangeable parts.

We accept today, without question or even wonder, the operations of the eye bank and cornea transplants that restore failing sight. We do not even stop to marvel at the kidney transplant. As for skin grafts, bone transplants and cartilage grafts, these are so common that most hospitals keep such supplies in their drawers.

It would be interesting to know how many millions of persons around the world are alive today because of a phenomenon that is now so common that no one gives it a second thought: Blood Transfusion.

But the ultimate in interchangeable parts for man — a new heart — will be a fact within five to 10 years. This possibility pales into insignificance the probability that man will land on the moon within that time span.

One of the oldest and most common metaphors in many languages is: "He or she had a change of heart." That old folk saying has always indicated that the individual has undergone an emotional — or, occasionally, intellectual — change for the better or the worse.

But "a change of heart" that once meant only a change in outlook or attitude will soon become a medical fact. Dr. C. Walton Lillehei, professor of surgery at the University of Minnesota, has just told a meeting of the American Cardiology Society, "Just a step away" was his astounding prophecy.

The problems of replacing diseased hearts with transplants or even mechanical devices are less complex than those of putting a man on the moon," Dr. Lillehei told his conferees.

"All the basic knowledge needed is already available," he continued. "Success depends on how much research we are prepared to do."

The successful transplantation of human hearts is only two to five years in the future, Dr. Lillehei said. At this point the interested reader may pause to ask himself who is going to give his heart to whom, in the literal sense, and if the giver isn't going to be in desperate need of a mechanical substitute to keep himself afloat.

However, the answer is ready.

Dr. Lillehei says that diseased or damaged hearts will be replaced with hearts taken from persons who have died of other causes than heart disease. Obviously, before very long there are going to be "heart banks" comparable to eye banks.

But Dr. Lillehei says, there is no reason to replace one human heart with another. He foresees a day when the heart of a healthy calf, pig, dog or baboon will be just as acceptable "a change of heart" in the human breast as a human ticker.

It is going to take a little longer — five years — to perfect the substitution of a mechanical heart for the defective human heart. But within 10 years at most, mechanical substitution will be a certainty, in the doctor's opinion.

This conquest of and by man dwarfs the split atom and makes it seem a puny achievement. The human heart is a pump, and the first mechanical successor will be a pump, too, probably connected by wires to batteries outside the chest. To keep going, man will only have to remember to keep his batteries recharged or to replace them, as needed. It will probably be not much more complicated than changing the batteries or transistors in a pair of glasses now wired for sound for the deaf to hear.

Not only will the "change of heart" enable man to live, but the mechanical heart should increase the life span immeasurably. Dr. Lillehei says the other organs of the human body are probably built for 150 years of wear and tear. The mechanical heart will have the Methusalem magic.

"Have a heart!" indeed. In another decade that will not be an exclamation but an invitation. There lies the true measure of the 20th Century.

Rainy Days Of Winter All Same

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Every sunny day in summer is different, but in winter all rainy days are the same.

The rain begins during the night and drums city and country with billions upon billions of nervous fingers. It seeks anything dry and tries to turn it wet.

The elderly feel its advance warning first in herald twinges of pain in foot and hip and wrist and hand, and they reach for the aspirin bottle as they realize they are in for another long siege of "the rheumatiz."

The middle-aged hear the rain patter, drop by drop, upon the air conditioner outside, and turn over in bed and seek an extra half-hour nap after the alarm clock goes off.

Lulled as by a multitudinous surf of sound, the young sleep on and on. When they awake, they rush to the window to look out and hurry through breakfast so they can put on boots and go out and wade in sidewalk torrents.

Only the child and the farmer love a winter rain, and the farmer is too wise in the ways of the weather to be overly grateful. "Probably be a drought come July," he says, scanning the heavy sky.

Many a person gazes out at the chill, dripping landscape from home or hotel and is swept by the eternal loneliness of life. They feel old wounds again, old hurts of the spirit, past dimas of hope. "Who'd buy anything in this weather except a duck-and-duckies don't have money," mutters the traveling salesman, and he stays in his motel room and turns on the radio and starts filling out his expense account.

The housewife decides she can do without going to the supermarket for a day and the department store bargains can wait until tomorrow. Bums, their coat collars turned up, huddle hopelessly in the doorways of vacant stores, knowing few passers-by will pause to shell out a quarter of a rainy day's wages, those serial handout artists share the same problem—they squat droop-featured in overhead corners.

Everybody thinks we get rich when it rains," grumbles the cab driver sourly. "Actually, we make less. Business falls off. Nobody with any sense goes out in the rain."

A damp stray dog with no one to love it sniffs forlornly at a covered garbage pail, then it pauses at a street corner, knowing it makes little difference which way it turns.

Outside the cold rain falls alike on the just and the unjust, and falls, and falls, and keeps on falling, as if this were to be the fate of man forever.

In winter all rainy days are the same.

Husband Winner In Domestic Argument

LONDON (AP)—Barbara Hugh-Johnson wanted a baby. Husband John wanted a television set, a washing machine and an auto.

Barbara lost.

In court Wednesday Barbara sued John, 28, for divorce, charging him with cruelty for depriving her of the child she wanted.

She lost again.

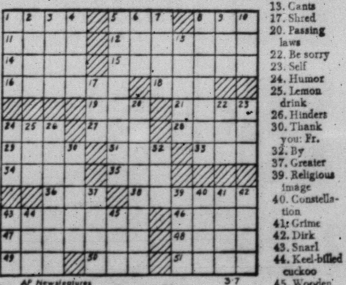

The judge said John is basically a decent chap who considered babies too expensive. He always told his wife they must postpone parenthood until they got their house furnished.

The judge said he didn't think Barbara, 27, suffered injury to her health because of John's attitude and refused a divorce.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE COAST GUARD

QUESTION: What are the duties of the Coast Guard?

ANSWER: The Coast Guard motto "always prepared" describes the spirit of this valuable branch of the armed services. Coast Guardmen are always ready to aid people and ships in distress on the sea or inland waters, no matter what the weather or the risk and no matter what action the people who need this help bring.

The service started in 1790 as the "Revenue Marine." This was our first naval force. The mission of the first 10 "cutters," as coast guard vessels are called, was to eliminate smuggling and piracy. We illustrate one of these little ships in (B). At first, life saving stations on the coast were operated privately, but the Revenue Cutter Service took this over in 1871, and such services being combined in 1915 under the name "United States Coast Guard." Coast Guard lifeboats look new waves to rescue distressed sailors (A); their cutters check out and report dangerous drifting icebergs (D). Helicopters now play a very important part in Coast Guard rescue work. The men are trained at centers in Cape May, N.J., and Alameda, Calif., and future officers take courses at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn.

FOR YOU TO DO: What watercraft is the most fun? Boats? They're great—but then you have to have a boat. Swimming? That's it! All you need is your own skin. Learn to swim, not only for the cool fun of it, but also so you can be your own coast guard, "always prepared."

(Randall Burton of Dayton, Tenn., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper and you may win $10, or the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias.)

CREATIVE COOKS

Lowly Vegetables Turn Glamorous

BY LUCY DYKART
Lovely Mary Lois, Mrs. Bill Wilson is a whiz of a magician in the kitchen. One of her talents is creating real culinary magic with such basics as the lowly onion and eggplant.

The main ingredients in the two recipes she chose to share are not the most popular vegetables around, but when Mary Lois finishes with them, they suddenly turn into glamorous assets for any meal.

BAKED EGGPLANT
1 large eggplant
1 cup drained salted crackers
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 to 1 1/2 cups grated cheese
1 cup butter
Pre: Slice and boil eggplant in salted water until tender. Drain. Four into mixing bowl, add butter, beaten eggs, milk, salt and pepper, and half of cheese and cracker crumbs. Mix well. Pour into greased shallow baking dish having mixture about one inch thick. Sprinkle with remaining cheese and cracker crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes, or until mixture is firm.

ONIONS IN CHEESE CAUCE
12 small onions
2 cups milk
4 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
Boil onions in salted water until tender. Drain. Make sauce from milk, flour, butter and half of cheese. Arrange onions in baking dish, pour sauce over onions and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in 350 degree oven until sauce bubbles.

50 Aides Of Texas Solons In $10,000 Salary Bracket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty congressional aides from Texas each make $10,000 or more a year, according to payroll figures released by Senate and House officials.

Their aggregate salaries for last year considerably exceeded a half million dollars. Many were in the $12,000 to $16,000 a year bracket.

Vice President Lyndon Johnson, as president of the Senate, additionally hired four persons, all Texas, at $10,000 or more a year.

The Senate payroll report disclosed only the gross amount paid employees during the last three months of 1962. House figures showed the gross pay during January.

Any Senate employees going on the payroll in the fourth quarter are not included in the report.

Among Texas aides were two congressional wives, a senator's son and a congressman's sister. All are citizens. Few visitors to the office have any idea of their identity.

One of the wives is Mrs. John Dowdy, whose gross pay in January was $915. She worked as a secretary in Texas for years before she and the congressman were married.

The other is Mrs. Jack Brooks, who received a January salary of $811. Mrs. Brooks, the former Charlotte Collins, was employed as a secretary of Rep. Bob Casey of Houston when she and Brooks were married a little over a year ago.

Richard Yarborough, lawyer son of Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., is a legislative assistant on his father's staff and drew $2,963 gross pay in the final quarter of 1962.

Mrs. Grace Jordan, a sister of Rep. Clark Fisher, D-Tex., was paid $337 in January as a member of his staff.

Payroll data for Johnson's office showed these employees and their gross pay for the last three months of 1962: Walter Jenkins, $4,561; Clifton Carter, $4,534; Elizabeth Carpenter, $3,746; and Glynn Stegall, $2,723.

Ten others were listed on the vice president's payroll at an average of $1,500 a quarter. Still others were listed on the vice president's payroll at an average of $1,000 a quarter. Additional persons work for Johnson in his role as a special adviser to the President, and those reportedly in $10,000-a-year-plus jobs on this unpublished payroll — not a part of the Senate list — included George Reedy and Charles Boatner, former newspapermen.

The $10,000-a-year plus Texas senatorial aides, with their gross pay for the fourth quarter of 1962, include:

Yarborough — Alex Dickie Jr., $3,790; Louise Mathis, $3,721; Lou Nora Spiller, $3,226.

Sen. John Tower, R — Edward Menden, $3,972; Herschel Schooley, $3,916 — since resigned and succeeded by Ken Tovey, former Austin newspaperman; Horace Clay, $3,804; Kathleen Wharton, $2,961 — since resigned.
