Gordon To Review The Golden Dream

Nadine Gordon will present a book review tomorrow (Monday) as a program by the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce cultural committee.

"The Golden Dream," written by Stephen Birmingham, deals with the development of the suburbs in the United States. Mrs. Gordon will discuss some of the most unusual suburbs presented in the book.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Hesperian Room of the Mitchell County Library. The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served by the cultural committee.

Mrs. Gordon received a Bachelor of Arts degree and Master degree from Hardin Simmons. She also studied journalism at Texas Tech and the University of Texas at Austin.

Looking On The Outside

By PEGGY WILLIAMS

Next month, 133 students will graduate from Mitchell County high schools.

Along with graduation from high school will come the beginning of a new career, the start of a different life.

Although many of the students have probably decided what they will do upon graduation, putting those plans into action is another matter, a matter which demands serious consideration.

When I graduated from high school five years ago, it was fairly clear to me what I wanted to do professionally. I had always hoped to attend college and since I was interested in journalism, there didn't seem to be too many questions about my future.

But there were questions—plenty of them. I had to decide where I would go to college, how to pay for my education, where to work—the list went on and on. Only in looking back now do I realize how vague my picture of the future really was when I received my high school diploma. I didn't plan as much as I thought I did—most of it just sort of "happened."

And, a career just sort of "happening" does not seem to be unusual at all.

Larry Winders, Colorado City Chamber of Commerce manager, just "happened" to become a Chamber manager.

Senior Citizens Exchange Vows

Wedding bells chimed through the halls of Kristi Lee Manor Wednesday when two residents exchanged marriage vows.

Ella (Snookie) Elston, 64, and Harold Branch, 68, were married in the library at Kristi Lee Manor. This was the first wedding ever to be held at the lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Branch, both residents of Kristi Lee Manor, met at the lodge in the dining room. After a brief courtship, the couple announced that they wanted to marry. Families of the couple were contacted and arrangements for the ceremony were made by the staff members at Kristi Lee Manor.

Wednesday at 2 p.m., residents of Kristi Lee Manor, staff members, family and friends gathered to witness the exchanging of vows.

Rev. Roy Byrd, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiated.

Nettie Smith and Cordillia Davis, both residents of Kristi Lee Manor, were bridesmaids and Warren Zant, son-in-law of the groom was best man.

The bride wore a baby blue dress with a vest and had white accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink and blue carnations.

A floral archway, donated by Nell's Flowers, adorned the library.

Mrs. Ruby Sweatt played the piano for the wedding. Sue Pierce and Anna Zant, daughter of the groom, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Kristi Lee Manor dining room. The wedding cake was donated by Annie Ruth Hoover.

Members of the houseparty were Doris Clawson, Donna Ginkinger, Sue Pierce and Anna Zant.

In accordance with tradition, Mrs. Branch threw the bouquet, which was caught by Pam Molina.

The couple will reside at Kristi Lee Manor.

Time To Change Clocks

If you wake up this morning (Sunday) with the feeling that you've forgotten something or lost something, it might just be that what you've forgotten was to spring your clock ahead one hour when you went to bed the night before.

Don't worry about losing the hour though, you'll find it again next October when you and everybody else goes back on standard time.

A superior rating was given by all three judges as the band played three compositions — "Sones De Triunfo March," "Salvation is Created-Awake," and "Sons of Song."

For the sightreading competition, the band played a composition called "Magna Carta."

The group, directed by Kent Holder and Bob Newman, has received 24 I ratings at various contests during the past 2½ school years.

They were the only one of six Class AA bands competing to receive the Sweepstakes Award at Wednesday's contest.

due to the money shortage.

The City of Colorado City had to eliminate their animal warden because of such a shortage.

Here last Monday we had a funeral for my sister, which was a very large funeral. Because the wonderful people in this community were good enough to come out and show their final respects to my sister and family, and there was no police escort for the persons involved in the funeral procession, one car in the procession almost had an accident because there was no escort.

I understand that one officer might have been busy but why wasn't someone else there to handle the problem.

My understanding from talking to people is that the officer had a call on some type of animal and that the animal took first priority and the funeral took second priority.

I consider that to be very tragic when an animal takes priority over humans.

The staff of Kiker-

Seale Funeral Home did an excellent job, but I believe that it would have helped everyone concerned if we would have had a police escort.

If I remember correctly, the pallbearers car was the one almost involved in the accident.

It wouldn't have taken the officer but maybe fifteen or twenty minutes to take the funeral procession from the church to the cemetery. I don't consider that asking too much from the police department in one city.

Sincerely yours,
Manuel P. Molina

Culwell Hosts Culture Club

The Self Culture Club met at 3:15 p.m. Friday in the Texas Electric Reddy Room with Mrs. Billy Culwell as hostess.

The program was presented by Police Chief, Fred McWhorter on "Crime Reduction Or Prevention." He showed a film on some ways that crime by carelessness or by not thinking took place.

Chief McWhorter reminded the group of some precautions to remember about the locks on the home, the blinds at night and said you should have someone check on your house when you are away for a few days.

He also brought the new city manager with him, Ray Mason. He

Senior Citizens Month To Begin

Gov. Bill Clements has designated May as Older Texans Month.

The Governor signed a memorandum urging Texas communities to pay special tribute to senior citizens during the month of May.

"So that we may continue to benefit from the wisdom and experience of our matured Texas citizens, of whom there are more than 1.6 million, it is important that we provide opportunities for them to remain active," Governor Clements said.

"By acknowledging their contributions of the past, we can encourage their continued service," he added.

Ceremonies honoring Outstanding Older Texans are being planned by Area Agencies on Aging and nutrition projects for the elderly throughout the state.

Certificates signed by Governor Clements will be awarded to seniors who have provided outstanding services to their communities.

These awards will be presented at luncheons, picnics and other festivities scheduled by regional and local agencies providing services for the elderly.

The calendar of special events for Older Texans Month also includes arts and crafts exhibits, talent shows, dances, domino tournaments, senior olympics and free health screenings.

The screenings will focus on common infirmities of the aging, such as glaucoma, diabetes, hypertension and hearing impairments. They will be conducted at local health fairs, organized in cooperation with health officials and medical professionals.

Sponsoring Area Agencies on Aging and nutrition projects serve as focal points for the statewide network of aging services, administered through the Governor's Committee on Aging.

Arsonists Are Burning Everyone

Arson today accounts for more than 40% of all property losses from fire. This destruction amounts to over four billion dollars a year. And arson cases are rising by about 12% annually.

These fires are set for many reasons, but primarily to collect on the insurance.

The insurance companies, with the cooperation of the police and fire departments, are doing everything they can to take the profit out of arson. And a National Fire Prevention and Control Administration now has been set up by the federal government.

Despite these efforts, more insurance dollars are being paid out for crooked fire losses. So premiums have to go up to cover them.

Insurance, after all is simply a means of spreading risk. Insurance companies collect premiums from many people and compensate the few who have losses.

The price of insurance must reflect to cost of paying for those losses and the expenses of handling them.

No one likes higher prices. But we're telling it straight.

All Those Phoebes!

Rev. Roy Byrd Pastor First Presbyterian Church

He said he didn't go to church anymore—nothing happened there. As for church people, well...to be honest about it, he couldn't see that they were doing anything much. Their religion was humdrum.

I reminded him of what Paul wrote to the Romans. "I commend to you our sister Phoebe...for she has been a helper of many and of myself as well." (Romans 16:1-2).

True, Phoebe was no stem winder of a Christian. She stayed out of the way. She wasn't listed on the coliseum menu for lions, she missed out on Nero's flaming show. She was no martyr. She was nothing more than a helper.

I commend her to you. You can count on her for her support when you are down. You can bet on her to come in when there is sickness in the family. You can depend on her when sorrow settles in.

I commend Phoebe to you and all those other Phoebes. Those in the present time who are out there helping. Reading to those with tired eyes. Writing for those whose fingers are stiff. Making bandages. Baking a casserole for a couple not able to cook for themselves. Visiting the lonely. Strengthening the faint hearted. Brightening the day for someone else.

It will amaze you the amount of selfless, helpful service that comes from those congregations some have tagged as "drab." And these Phoebes do it, not to make the front pages, but out of commitment to Jesus Christ.

By the way, when the time comes, and you who say you don't go to church anymore need help, you can count on these Phoebes to come through with what you need.

I commend them, and their churches, to you.

cerning loans and has had about 1,200 other contracts, either phone calls or letters.

Because of this work load the office has been unable to keep up with the number of loan applications which have been filed and this affects not only the farmers applying for the loans but the entire community, economically, Anderson said.

According to Anderson, the office has only had time to complete emergency loans since the first of the year and not all of these loans have been completed. He stated that of 33 loan applications which have been made in Mitchell County, 11 remain uncompleted. There have been seven of 38 loan applications uncompleted in Scurry County.

Anderson added that of seven housing loan applications which have been made to the office since the first of the year, none have been completed. Also none of the farm ownership loans or the two limited resource loans have been completed because of the lack of qualified help.

Because of these developments, residents attending the meeting were asked to write personal letters to W. H. Pieratt, state FmHA director, asking his assistance in getting more help for the Mitchell and Scurry County offices.

Anderson added that anyone else who was interested in writing a letter to the director should bring it by the Chamber of Commerce office.

Marion himself was asked if he had any comment concerning the situation but he stated that he had none at this time.

Group Meets To Consider Needs

About 25 people representing all facets of Colorado City society—government, school, business, social and economic—met on April 17 to try to identify what Colorado City's most pressing needs are right now.

The meeting was sponsored by the West Central Texas Council of Governments in connection with the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and was led by Kenneth McDole, Rural Development Specialist with the West Central Council of Governments.

The citizens present were asked to break up into groups of five and put together a list of what they see as the most basic needs of the city.

Finally, the needs were listed according to priority as the entire group saw them.

The top five needs of this community were identified as follows—1. Industrial Development, 2. Recreation-Park Improvement, 3. Housing, 4. Water Distribution, 5. Street Improvement.

Water Line Repair and Extensions, 4. Sewer Line Repair, 5. Recreation Activities; Winters: 1. Water Supply, 2. Housing, 3. City Beautification, 4. Recreation, 5. Street Paving.

Another purpose of the meeting was to enable the West Texas Council of Governments to develop new strategies in helping the cities solve their economic and social problems.

FOOD STAMPS GLADLY ACCEPTED!

Chamber Of Commerce

By LARRY WINDERS

Much is being said about passing legislation that would require the Federal Budget to be balanced, and it makes me sick.

There is already such a law. It says America must have a balanced budget by 1981.

A bill authorizing appropriations for the International Monetary Fund was passed by the House in 1978. After it reached the Senate, several unrelated riders were tacked on. One of them by Senator Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.). It read: "Beginning with fiscal year 1981, the total budget outlays of the Federal Government shall not exceed its receipts."

That's all, 18 words.

The rider slipped through Congress because many lawmakers simply wanted to go on record, before the election, as being in favor of economizing measures. Apparently, they didn't take the wording very seriously. Now many of them want to repeal the law.

It is not surprising that our lawmakers find it difficult to live within the structure they compound for the rest of us. They have exempted themselves from Social Security, (their retirement program is much greater than ours) from the provisions of the Occupational Safety and Health Act, and many others. I feel that those making laws should be compelled to live under the same rules they create for the rest of us.

The budget law does need further attention, but not for the purpose of repealing it. Legislators need to take steps to clear up several questions, namely: Who should enforce the law? Who should know at what point appropriations exceed receipts? Who should be held accountable and what are the penalties if the law is ignored?

If you agree that the Budget should be balanced and the bill is essentially a good one, write to your Congressman and tell him so. Ask him to help set up the mechanism to make it work. But do it now for a serious attempt is being made to repeal this law. Another case of our Congress refusing to be governed by the laws they pass, or change the law to fit their wishes.

Up With People To Be Performed In Big Spring On Tuesday May 8

On Tuesday, May 8 an international cast of Up With People will perform live in concert in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at 8 p.m. sponsored by The Big Spring Herald as a community involvement project. Their casts have performed from Peking, China to Belfast Ireland; before millions at Superbowl X, Carnegie Hall and now in Big Spring.

Tickets for the May 8 performance are $3.50 and $5, and may be purchased at the Big Spring Herald, Chamber of Commerce, or at the Coliseum. All proceeds from the performance will benefit the United Way of Howard County.

The 1979 Up With People show is an entertaining blend of music and dancing which includes a broad range of contemporary and traditional materials backed by a complete instrumental section of guitars, percussion, piano and brass.

Known for the youthful enthusiasm they employ to promote understanding among people, the college-aged performers are here on part of a ten month tour which will take them to some 107 cities in the U.S., Canada, Mexico, South America and Europe.

"Up With People's family entertainment is truly an event for everyone of any age," explained one reviewer. Cast of "Up With People" have performed in all 50 states and in 42 countries on six continents as well as on national television across the world.

Their global tours include a recent visit to the People's Republic of China where a group of "Up With People" representing nine nations spent three weeks visiting six cities. Their performances were both formal and informal in schools, factories, and communes.

Approximately 425 young men and women from 18 countries are currently traveling with five casts of "Up With People." They represent a cross section of economic backgrounds and ethnic origins.

The acceptance of applicants is based on personal interviews conducted throughout the year. Approximately 700 people apply monthly and one in 17 finally participates.

The performers do their own stage work, promotion, day-to-day logistics, and may work for college credits through a program of independent study projects. An essential part of their education is living with families in the communities they visit.

During its 12 year history, 4,800 young men and women have stayed in approximately 41,000 host homes, each traveling some 32,000 miles in an average tour.

Up With People is an independent, non-profit, educational corporation headquarters in Tucson, Arizona. The organization endeavors to establish a creative format for communication and interaction between people of different cultures, nationalities, ages and points of view.

The New York Times put it this way: "Up With People's message is simple. People are what matter. And that's an idea worth celebrating."

For additional information on Up With People's appearance in Big Spring phone the Big Spring Herald at (915) 263-7331 and ask for Karen or Mark.

After serving 20 years in the military, Winders retired and began working for a major company in a job he did not really like. His father-in-law was vice-president of the Paducah, Kentucky, Chamber of Commerce and when the job of assistant Chamber manager came open, Winders accepted it, although it meant a drastic cut in pay.

Working as assistant Chamber manager in Paducah, Winders decided he really liked the work. However, he did not feel he was qualified to do the job well.

Thus, Winders quit the position with the Chamber and "job hopped" so he could learn more about the business world.

For four years, Winders worked in everything from sales to photography to hearing aids.

"It was an educational process," said Winders. In addition, he took classes in organizational management at Michigan State University.

Then, in 1968, Winders decided he was "qualified" to be a Chamber manager and he has worked in that capacity ever since.

Ann Gregory, director of Kindercare and director of the Community Action Program, has had two careers—one as homemaker and her present job.

When the last of Mrs. Gregory's four daughters began school, she went to work outside the home. Previously, she had been involved in volunteer work, mainly concerning children.

"I love children," said Mrs. Gregory, which explains why she ended up in her present job.

But Mrs. Gregory's job is not limited to working with children. As director of the Community Action Program, she is concerned with helping Mitchell County residents in various ways, such as seeking assistance for those in need.

Much like Mrs. Gregory, Barbara Gray has had two careers—first as a homemaker while her two children were young and now as Community Education coordinator at Wallace Center.

When it was decided that the Wallace School building would be used for the senior citizens, college extension service programs and community education, a coordinator was needed. Mrs. Gray had worked as volunteer with adult education and she was an administrative secretary in the Colorado Independent School District. Thus, she was the perfect candidate for the job, which began in 1975. Since that time, the programs at Wallace Center have continued to grow.

Bill Carter took office as Mitchell County judge in January, 1970.

Carter noted that the qualifications for the position of county judge include "must be a legal resident of the county and be well-qualified in law." Although Carter had no formal training in law, he was interested and decided he was "well-qualified in law."

Carter said that he didn't have any dreams of becoming county judge, but that it just "happened." He never really expected to live in Colorado City, either, and that also just "happened."

Carter explained, "I married into Colorado City." His wife, Doris, is a native of Colorado City and when Carter was discharged from the military, they moved here.

"If I had it to do over again, I'd still live in Colorado City," said Carter. And, if he had it to do over again, he would still be county judge.

Carter noted that the most important aspect of any job is to do the best you can.

"I don't mind making mistakes when I can profit from them," said Carter.

So, to the 133 prospective Mitchell County high school graduates, I wish you much success—an abundance of opportunity is awaiting you. Whether your career leads you to become a Chamber manager, a child care director, community education co-ordinator, county judge, or something in-between, remember to appreciate and make the most of whatever just sort of "happens."

The admission price to the Optimist Summer Fun Show is 50c per person or $2 per car load.

As a sidelight to the exhibits, the Optimist Club is also sponsoring a scuba diving booth.

Youngsters between the age of 18 and 19 will be eligible to register for 10 snorkeling scholarships which will be given away Sunday.

The snorkeling class will be taught this summer and will be instructed by Bobby F. Lee, a licensed NAUI instructor.

Correction On Burglary Article

In the April 26 edition, the Record incorrectly stated that an automobile owned by an Arizona couple had been burglarized while they were staying at the Whiteway Motel.

The story should have read that the couple was staying at the Villa Motel.

Tomorrow Final Day To Sign Up

Moore's Celebrate 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Moore celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Tuesday.

McCowan To Be At Center

Jobs and training are available for unemployed high school dropouts between the ages of 17-21 and family income is below the level set by the U.S. Department of Labor. West Central Texas Council of Governments coordinator, Rosia McCowan, will be at Wallace Center Monday from 10:30 a.m.-3 p.m. to interview eligible applicants.

WCT-COG is an equal opportunity affirmative action employer.

H. A. (Shorty) Moore married Dorothy Buckner on April 24, 1939. They were married at the home of Justice of the Peace Leech. Moore worked for several of the local gas and service stations until opening his own place of business, H. A. Moore's Feed Store, in 1948. They owned and operated the store for some 26 years. Mrs. Moore owned and operated Dorothy's Beauty Shop for 10 years. Mr. and Mrs. Moore have one daughter, Mrs. Lee Roy (Fern) Culbertson and two grandsons, Tony and Kerry. In honor of their anniversary the couple were taken to dinner in San Angelo by their daughter and her family and by their nephew Aaron Oden and his wife, Gladys.
