THE LUBBOCK AVALANCHE

VOLUME XXII — LUBBOCK, LUBBOCK COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1921. — NO. 16

FOUR DAY PANHANDLE SOUTH PLAINS FAIR CLOSED LAST FRIDAY

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND EACH DAY AND EVERY DEPARTMENT WAS WELL TAKEN CARE OF

HAS OUTGROWN THE BUILDING THIS YEAR

Exhibition Space Will Have To Be More Than Doubled For Another Year, Which Matter Will Likely Be Taken Up At An Early Date By The Association Management

When the Avalanche had gone to press last week, the fair had not closed, and was continued through Friday on account of the late arrival of the carnival, which was tied up on account of some difficulty with the railroad company, and did not get here till Thursday morning.

As we stated last week, the fair was a great success in every way, and the attendance was equal in every way to the expectations of the management, and will likely bring the association out nearly even, which will be remarkable, taking into consideration the fact that there was a great amount of money spent in improving the grounds and in the effort to house all the exhibits of every department, which cost quite a sum of money, but which was absolutely necessary to take care of the fair this year.

The fair has grown much more rapid than was first expected and the necessary equipment to take care of the fair this year called for much more money than the management expected it would, however, not a stockholder is kicking about that, but on the other hand believes this to be a good indication that Lubbock is recognized as the logical place for the South Plains fair, and will have more faith to launch out for greater things for future years.

It would seem now that to make the fair the success that it can be made, the capital stock should be doubled at least, and the exhibition building increased to take care of the demands for another year. This is particularly true of the Livestock department and the poultry show, and also the Agricultural exhibits. A number of people from other counties were heard to remark that they had faith in the South Plains fair, and believe Lubbock was the place for such a fair and believed it strong enough to take stock in the association, and help to make a go of it in grand shape. Numbers of others feel that way toward it, and we believe most of the stock holders in Lubbock would be willing to double their stock in order to make the fair grow faster, and that is what it will take to bring this about. It was full to its present capacity and beyond that this year, and in order to give it room to expand and grow as it would, something will have to be done to take care of it.

The secretary has not compiled a complete report of the fair, but will in a short time and will issue a statement of the receipts and expenditures. He has been busy this week checking up and with the multitude of things to be attended to has not been able to complete his work.

We have been trying all week to get a complete list of premiums awarded, but have not been able to complete the hog and culinary departments. We give below what we have been able to get complete:

Lubbock High to Meet Amarillo Friday Afternoon

The Lubbock High School eleven and the Amarillo Savages clash at Athletic Park Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to decide superiority on the gridiron.

The Lubbock delegation is cracked as one of the hardest teams in the entire West Texas and for this reason Friday's game is considered one of the most important of the season. Should the Savages win over the South Plainsmen, the indication will be that they will be able to more than hold their own the remainder of the season. Should they lose, the indication will be for additional hard work and practice and possibly a re-arrangement in the line-up.

The Lubbockites will arrive in Amarillo Friday morning at 11:40 o'clock over the Santa Fe, bringing a large aggregation of rooters, it is announced. No doubt, the game will be a hard fought one, the two contesting teams being considered two of the best High School eleven's in the Panhandle.

Amarillo High School likely will turn out in time for all students to go to the game, it is announced. A parade will be held on the business streets of the city at 2:30 o'clock, headed by the High school band.

All the Savages are in fine shape and ready for play with the exception of Murrell, quarter-back, who was injured in the game with the Vega outlaws. However, Murrell likely will be able to return to play by Friday, Coach Bigham announces. John Oaks has been running the team in practice since Murrell was hurt.

Rallies and yell practices are being held at the High school at 2:50 o'clock each afternoon, and indications are that a large attendance will be in evidence Friday.—Amarillo Tribune.

REV. C. E. LYNN WILL MOVE TO TEXLINE, TEXAS

Rev. C. E. Lynn, who has been making Lubbock his home during the past few years, is this week moving with his family to Texline, here they will make their home during the coming twelve months. Rev. Lynn for a number of years was in the regular work of the church, but was granted a rest by the conference during the past two years, from the regular conference work, though he has been just about as busy as if he had been assigned a work right off the reel. He preached for the Lubbock circuit one year and during the past summer has been holding revivals. He is a strong preacher, and makes a splendid citizen, and we regret to see this fine family leave, but wish them the best of success wherever they go.

OVERLAND ESTABLISH DISTRICT AGENCY IN LUBBOCK

The Overland Automobile Co., realizing that Lubbock is soon to become a city of great importance have decided to establish a District Agency here. F. N. Payne of Lubbock will be their district manager. The establishment of this agency in Lubbock means that the other Auto companies will have to do the same thing in order to keep up with the fast growth of our city and the development of the country. The establiishment of the country. The establishlarge stock of cars and accessories to be carried in Lubbock at all times. We congratulate the Overland people in securing the services of Mr. Payne as their district manager.

YES. POTATOES GROW IN THE LUBBOCK COUNTRY

T. R. Allen of Lubbock, brought in a sample of sweet potatoes to this office Wednesday morning. The largest one weighed 12 1-4 pounds, there were three potatoes in the lot and all of them were grown in the same hill; the total weight of the three was a fraction over 17 pounds. Mr. Allen also stated that his wife grew them in her garden.

Rabie Epperson, Herman Glenn and Roy Eaton, of Bronte, Texas, were in the city Monday. Messrs. Epperson and Glenn are looking for a location to open a Gents Furnishing business. If they should decide to locate on the South Plains it is a two to one shot that they will select Lubbock as their future home.

The next greatest thing to appear in Lubbock is the Semi-weekly Avalanche, which will make its debut on Nov. 1. Now is your opportunity to subscribe, or renew your subscription, and get the two issues each week for the price of one—a word to the wise is sufficient.

HIGHWAY ROBBERS HAVE BAD LUCK WHEN THEY ATTEMPT TO HOLD UP GARZA COUNTY FARMER

Sunday night about 11:00 o'clock, three masked men attempted to hold up L. E. Hughes, as he was on his way home from Post. Mr. Hughes was in the deep cut a few miles west of Post when he was halted by the three highwaymen, and commanded to stop. Instead of complying with their orders he opened fire on them, killing one of their number. The robbers placed their dead companion in their car and sped off with the body.

The sheriff was notified of the incident and proceeded at once to the scene of the attempted holdup. He took the trail of the bandits and after following it for ten or twelve miles he found they had buried their dead companion at the foot of the Cap Rock under some scrub cedar bushes. The grave had been dug some two or three feet deep and the body completely covered; the body was removed from its hiding place and carried to Post City where it was identified as that of M. R. Pruitt.

It was only a matter of a few hours, after finding the body, until the sheriff had, R. R. Pruitt, brother of the dead man, and E. T. Rutledge under arrest as accomplices of the dead man.

Sheriff Cravy and Deputy R. L. Self, of Post City, brought the two prisoners to Lubbock Tuesday morning and placed them in jail here for safe keeping.

The Sheriff's department was notified at an early hour this morning to be on the lookout for parties, who might be looking for either a doctor or an undertaker, as it was doubtful which the party would need most, as the result of an attempted holdup, west of Post City last night, when three men tried to hold up a man who was traveling alone in his car. The three men were standing in the middle of the road, so the report goes when they ordered the passing car to stop, but instead of obeying, the driver tried a little gun play himself, and made a quick run into Post City, and informed the officers what had taken place, who went to the scene at once, but no trace of the men could be found, but the ground was all spattered with blood showing that his shots had taken effect.

Their tracks were soon lost in the road, so no idea of their route could be ascertained, but thought likely they would try to find help for the wounded man, or bury him if he was killed.

Every road into the city is being watched by officers who are on the alert, for all suspicious characters could be learned.—Sweetwater Reporter.

Post, Texas, Oct. 10.—One of the three bandits who held up Luther Hughes, farmer, three miles west of here last night, was found buried beside the road this mornin.

Three masked men held up Hughes as he was riding in his automobile. He leaped out of the car and fired under a wheel at the bandits, mortally wounding one. He at once notified officers who are searching for the missing bandits.

The body of the dead man is at a local undertaking establisihment unidentified.

Santa Fe Again Is Encouraging Farm Industry

"The Santa Fe Railway is vitally concerned in the growth of the territory which it serves," said F. A. Lebman, general manager of the western lines of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway system, in discussing conditions along the lines in northwest Texas. Mr. Lebman and party spent two days out on the line this week in a railroad motor car.

In the party were T. B. Gallagher, general freight and messenger agent; J. N. Freeman, treasurer; F. J. MacKie, superintendent; R. G. Whyman, division engineer, and others.

"Before the war," Mr. Lehman continued, "the Santa Fe maintained an active and well equipped department for the purpose of encouraging agricultural, livestock and industrial development along its lines.

"This department has now resumed its work. F. P. Cruice, for a number of years assistant general freight and passenger agent at Phoenix, Ariz., has been appointed manager of the reestablished industrial and agricultural department, with headquarters at Topeka. Mr. Cruice knows the southwest and its needs becaüse of his long residence there.

"In this work the Santa Fe aims to co-operate with the agencies of the federal and state governments and communities, including the U. S. department of agriculture, agricultural colleges and experiment stations, extension service and farm and city organizations."

Mr. Lehman is well pleased with conditions on the plaiins and with the remarkable development that has taken place. He looks for greater progress in the next five years. These broad prairies are ready for farming without much preliminary preparation. The climate, abundance of cheap feed, and easy access to market favor rapid development of livestock feeding, dairying and hog growing.

"But this section needs more people," Mr. Lehman said. "Successful immigration work, however, must have the active support of the people already here. The new settler to succeed must be welcome and have help to become familiar with climatic soil and crop conditions. The Santa Fe maintains a colonization department in charge of C. L. Seagraves, general colonization agent, Chicago. The Earth, published monthly and edited by J. F. Jarrell, is devoted to spreading information about Santa Fe territory and attract settlers and investors to develop the natural resources.

"The time seems opportune," added Mr. Lehman, "for the great southwest to better itself and push development. The Santa Fe is ready to co-operate."

THE WRONG THING TO DO.

While out looking for local items the reporter asked a certain business man if he knew of any local happenings, after standing a few minutes he replied, "Yes, but I will let somebody else tell you." Now it is very probable that we fail to get the item, and it is a sinch that this party will be the first one to notice its omission from our local columns. Friends, if you will help the reporter we can, and will, make the paper a better local paper.

Dr. M. C. Overton is in Dallas a few days this week, taking the fair and visiting with his sister, who recently moved from Lubbock to Dallas, and also his little son Robert, who is making his home with his aunt.

Government Will Survey the Land Resources of U. S.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The Department of Agriculture has begun a survey of the land resources of the country, with the object of determining ho wlands heretofore dejected as unsuitable for cultivation may be utilized.

Five specialists have been named to conduct the survey, which will seek to located arid lands in the West suitable for irrigation, swamp lands suitable for drainage, and cut over timber lands.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace pointed out that less than half the national area is in farms. But, he sair, there is not an unlimited supply of farm lands, so many assume. Most of the billion acres not yet utilized can not be cultivated, he explained, and that part which may be regarded as reserve will require heavy expenditures to make it fit.

"The situation presents a national problem of how best to use drainable, irrigable, cut-over and lands of inferior quality which heretofore, have been regarded as unsuitable," said a statement from the Department of Agriculture, which pointed out that the increase in the area of farm lands had not been commensurate with the increase ii population.

Wallace suggested that consideration be given to present crop production, home consumption aid foreign demand, and the relation of these to land under cultivation and the needs of the future.

THE LATEST FAD IN FASHIONABLE SOCIETY

The latest fad in society is the tub-cure. In this the patient arises just as the crisp air of the morning is mellowed by the first sunbeam. An ordinary washtub is then filled with hot water and soap suds, into which various articles of linen are thrown. After they are thoroughly saturated the patient takes them up one at a time and rubs them briskly up and down on a washboard placed in the tub. This is kept up until the hands, arms and face are a glowing pink. The patient then goes into the open air and hangs all the linen articles on the line stretched for that purpose. The one completing the task first announces the time to others over the telephone, and is entitled to a prize. It is exciting sport and also invigorating exercise.

TWO MEN IN JAIL CHARGED WITH THEFT

Constable J. H. Rhea, placed a couple of men in jail first of the week charged with theft of bedding from a man camped at the Fair grounds. The bedding stolen was found in the possession of these men.

J. H. Griffith, president of the City National Bank, of Taylor, Texas, was in the city first of the week transacting business with our people. J. H. is an old boyhood friend of the reporter and it was indeed a great pleasure to meet him after an absence of thirty odd years. He has valuable land holdings near Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morehead of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thompson, of Lockney, spent Saturday night and Sunday visiting E. B. Thompson and family. Mrs. Morehead is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson.—Floydada Hesperion.

Will Cravey, Sheriff of Garza County, was a business visitor in Lubbock, Tuesday of this week.

THE LUBBOCK COUNTRY CLUB IS NOW PERMANENTLY ORGANIZED

MEETING HELD AT THE COURT HOUSE TO ADOPT BY LAWS OF THE CLUB

CLUB HAS FULL QUOTA OF ONE HUNDRED

Golf Links Have Been Completed and Contract Let For Dam To Create A Lake For Fishing Purposes and Club House Will be Built Early Next Spring

The recently organized Country Club held an important meeting in the Justice Court Room of the court house last Saturday night, and a very good attendance of the membership was present. The object of this meeting was for the purpose of adopting the by-laws of the club, which was done by a unanimous vote of all those present.

The officers of this club are: Neil Wright, President, W. B. Powell, Vice-President; W. S. Posey, Treasurer; C. E. Hunt, Secretary; Roscoe Wilson, George C. Wolffarth, J. A. Rix, Percy Spencer and W. A. Myriick, Jr., directors.

This club is organized and incorporated with an authorized capital stock of $25,000, and has a hundred members. The club grounds are located on the canyon north of Lubbock, being a part of the Wolffarth land, and is one of the nicest locations that could very well be found. A golf link has been completed, and members are playing there now, and it is stated that this will be one of the finest courses in the state. It was laid out by a man who knows the last word of golf, and experts who have visited the grounds pronounce them ideal.

A large lake will be created on the club grounds, in fact there is already considerable lake there, stocked with fish, but this lake will be greatly increased by means of a dam across the canyon. The contract has been let and a six hundred foot dam almost completed, and by early spring an up-to-the-minute club house will be erected for use of the club members and their families, and this will be the source of much pleasure for hundreds of people of this city.

The membership is composed of many of the leading and prominent people of the community, and they will not cease to add every improvement that will add to the attractiveness of this club property, and before long Lubbock Club grounds as is the town itself will be the attraction of this great South Plains country. Verily Lubbock continues to grow. Come to Lubbock!

OLD WATCH GAME SELLS MANY LUBBOCK PEOPLE

Quite a number of our people fell for the watch and razor man, who sold $2.00 razors and four dollar watches at the north-east corner of the Square, the latter part of last week. It was amusing to see how easily some people will fall for the street fakir. The way they bought watches (?) razors (?) etc., reminded us of an old verse which runs as follows:

"As a rule a man's a fool,
When its hot he wants it cool;
When its cool he wants it hot,
Never pleased with what he's got."

We are not going to divulge the names of those who bought razors and watches, it would only add to their discomfort, yet we cannot help but think they will be wiser the next time a street fakir invades our city.

Moral: Patronize reliable home firms, if you want value for good money.

C. N. N. FERGUSON TO BE METHODIST PASTOR

The Annual Conference in Session at Amarillo last week, sent to the First Methodist Church, Lubbock, Rev. C. N. F. Ferguson, who is well known throughout the state as one of the strong preachers of the Methodist church, to be pastor of the church at this place. He has been pastor at Clarendon during the past three years, and will move to Lubbock some time during next week.

Rev. Ferguson, will no doubt make Lubbock a good pastor. He has this reputation, and is a man of much influence in his church and the community in which he lives.

The Avalanche extends to Rev. Ferguson a cordial welcome to our city.

CRAP GAME RAIDED BY CITY OFFICIALS

The city officers made a run on a crap game running in full blast in the upper story of one of the hotels. There were five parties engaged in the fascinating game of throwing the ivories when the city officers swooped in upon them, they succeeded in arresting three of the five, but two of the bunch gave them "leg bond" and have not yet been apprehended.

REV. FAIRLEY WILL PREACH FOR PRESBYTERIANS

Rev. W. M. Fairley, of El Paso, will preach at the First Presbyterian church Sunday, at the eleven o'clock hour as well as at night. Rev. Fairley, is not altogether a stranger to this congregation, having held a meeting here some time ago. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

DELEGATES TO COTTON GROWERS ASSOCIATION

Governor Neff has appointed thirty delegates to represent Texas at the meeting of the American Cotton Growers' Association to be held at Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 26-29, inclusive.

Among the list of delegates to this meeting we notice the names of Curtis A. Keen, Lubbock; and R. A. Underwood, Plainview.

400 BALES COTTON ARE GINNED AT POST

Post, Texas., Oct. 3.—Cotton is selling here for 21c, and seed is bringing $31.

There have been approximately 400 bales ginned.

State Representative R. M. Chitwood of Nolan County probably will be a candidate for Congress to succeed Thomas L. Blanton. Announcement is expected within the next few weeks.

Rapid Development of the Sudan Community Now

Sudan, Texas, Sept. 27.—W. A. Killingsworth of Cedarvalley, N. M., Oscar Nicks of Swearingen, Cottle county, Texas, and A. F. James of Davidson, Tillman county, Oklahoma, bought farms in the Sudan vicinity Saturday. The abundant moisture of the entire season which has produced wonderful crops of every kind in this section of Lamb county, as has been the case for four consecutive years, is convincing prospectors that we have a sure farming country and land values are taking a steady upward trend. The men who have so lately invested here will all become citizens of the community at once. They are cotton farmers and the showing made by cotton fields is convincing the most skeptical that the staple is well adapted to this country and free from danger of boll weevil destruction.

Sudan, Texas, Sept. 27.—The following school trustees of Sudan independent school district, recently established by a special act of legislature, were elected last Saturday: W. W. Carpenter, C. C. Preston, P. E. Boesen, A. S. Luckey, J. W. Yeargan, W. H. Furneaux and H. J. McCarty. The newly elected officers will immediately call a bond election for the erection of a $40,000 school building. The increase of school attendance from three children three years ago to seventy-five children now attending, and the prospect of a large increase during the next few months, makes it imperative that larger school housing facilities be provided without delay.

REV. J. T. GRISWOLD WILL MOVE TO CLARENDON

As will be seen by the appointments made at the recent session of the Methodist conference, Rev. J. T. Griswold, who has been pastor of the First Methodist church in Lubbock the past three years, will move to Clarendon, where he will be in charge of the splendid church there. Rev. Griswold has made a fine pastor here. His work has been very successful. He has added to the church membership over six hundred during his three years h. e, and the church is well organized in every department and he leaves it in first class condition for his successor. Rev. Griswold and family have made a host of friends in Lubbock, who regret deep down in their hearts to see them leave. Dr. Griswold will fill the pulpit here Sunday, and the incoming pastor will be here during the next week, and will take up the work, where brother Griswold leaves off.

TWO FIRE ALARMS SOUNDED LAST SATURDAY MORNING

Last Saturday morning two fire alarms were sounded simultaneously. The oil stove in the residence of Chas. Jordan exploded, burning Mrs. Jordan and setting fire to the wallpaper in the kitchen. The fire boys quick response put out the fire before much damage was done to the building. We understand that Mrs. Jordan's burns were not serious.

The second alarm was from the residence of Herd Jones but the fire was put out by Mrs. Jones before the fire boys reached her home. The blaze started around the flue and but little damage was done.

Mr. O. B. Olson, Cotton Buyer of Floydada, is buying cotton in Lubbock this week. Mr. Olson buys wholesale and Lubbock will be his headquarters while purchasing in several surrounding towns.

Gaines County Fair Was a Great Success

Seagraves, Texas, Oct. 5.—Gaines County's second annual fair and rodeo, just closed, was a pronounced success, surpassing last year's event in almost every feature. With the bronco busting, steer riding and goat roping, a flavor of the days of the "wild West" were added that was most pleasing to all.

The West was there in all her picturesqueness and glory, but into the old West, as shown by the large and creditable farm exhibits, the nester has come. And judging by the fine agricultural display, it has come to stay, for the land that was once thought to be fit only for the cattle and sheep—owls and rattlesnakes—has under the plow of the experienced farmer been made to yield unbelievable returns.

Beets weighing 25 pounds, tobacco plants six feet tall, cotton stalks bearing 108 bolls, corn with two and three ears to the stalk, are some of the agricultural products that are being produced in Gaines County.

Farm Exhibits a Feature.

Corn was featured in the agricultural display of the fair. Five different varieties were shown, including all colors. The first corn planted in Gaines County was in 1905. Since that time production has grown by leaps and bounds, until now, with a population of a little more than 2,000 Gaines County produced nearly 100,000 bushels of corn.

W. B. Austin, a prominent farmer, living near Seminole, said that he had lived in the county eighteen years and had never seen a complete corn failure since the county had begun to grow corn.

Blue ribbons were awarded to the following for the best display of the different varieties of corn: Bloody Butcher, Walter Perry; Yellow Dent, E. B. Johnson; Strawberry, E. B. Johnson; June corn, J. W. Childers.

Bob White of Seminole carried off the honors for the best display of red maize, W. T. Pipkin was awarded first honors for the best display of white maize.

Rodeo Events Thrilling.

Two 14-year- old schoolboys, Welden Houston and Sam Simmons, furnished most of the thrills in the steer riding contests. These two boys of Seagraves rode three of the wildest steers in the herd with the ease of the expert rider. They brought the crowd to their feet several times.

J. F. Bennet, one of the steer riders, suffered a broken arm when he was thrown from a pitching steer. This was the only accident to mar the occasion.

The managers of the rodeo staged what is believed to be the first of its kind ever put on in Texas, a wild cow milking contest. The first money went to John Dublin and Jack Cotter, who roped and milked their cow in 45 seconds.

First prize was awarded to John Satin in the calf branding. His time was 36 seconds.

Goat roping, G. M. Brown, time 19 2-5 seconds.

Steer riding, D. B. Sanders.

Don't Drive Fairies Out of the Life of the Children

Drift with a little child into the land of fairies and make believe, where dreams come true and fairies dance, where Cinderella's rags become robes of silk, the princess married the soldier lad and Queen Mab sips from a violet cup.

Watch the child's eyes grow large and bright, notice how he leans forward, scarcely breathing, as he waits for the children to reach out for the blue-bird, and see his excitement as Jack climbs down the bean stalk.

The little ones call for these stories over and over again and never tire of them. Older persons in the telling slip by the magic portals with these airy, fairy creatures. One of childhood's delights is "make believe" or "let's pretend." Busy little minds are quickened and imaginations kindled by these strange weird tales. They like to act them out and often the childish fancy takes a thread from an old favorite and weaves a new tale.

After a long hour of geography, the schoolroom becomes a fairyland. Tired little faces, wistfully watching the birds in the trees outside, may be brightened, and restlessness stilled by a trip with Peter Pan or a flight with a beautiful snow-queen.

Some teachers would drive away the fairies and in their place put stories of fact. But all fairy stories contain an element of truth and children learn soon enough that their fairy friends are only beautiful creatures of the imagination. Are you not willing to face disillusionment for memories of the time you believed?" The fairy things are all around us, it is only that one must have the eyes of a little child to see them.

Charity Costs the State $164,704 in Month of August

The average per capita cost of maintenance of 10,287 inmates in August was $17.99. Of the 1,170 employes, 1,159 are given their board.

The number of patients at each of the eleven eleemosynary institutions were: Confederate Home, 355; Confederate Woman's Home, 93; East Texas Hospital for Insane at Rusk, 762; Feeble-Minded Colony, 192; Girls' Training School, Gainesville, 83; Juvenile Training School, Gatesville, 1,134; North Texas Insane Asylum, Terrell, 2,137; State Lunatic Asylum, Austin, 1,891; State Epileptic Colony, Abilene, 621; State Orphans' Home, Corsicana, 465; Tuberculosis Colony, Carlsbad, 305.

A Beautiful Woman is Always a Well Woman

San Antonio, Tex.—"After a serious illness, when my strength seemed as tho' it would not come back to me, I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic. I had seen it recommended so highly that I felt I could not go far astray. This medicine did all for me that could be desired. It restored me to perfect health and strength in a comparatively short time and I am just as strong and well as can be. 'Favorite Prescription' is a splendid tonic and builder for women and it is a pleasure to recommend it." Mrs. Hettie McLane, 308 Bowie St.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has made many women happy by making them healthy. Get it at once from your nearest druggist in either tablets or liquid; or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial pkg. tablets and write for free medical advice.

PROGRESS BEING MADE ON BLEDSOE TEST

According to Messrs Shultz and Pipkin of Abernathy, who were in Lubbock Monday, Mr. Bledsoe has his test well down about 920 feet, having struck salt water a short distance above that depth and has also completed casing of the salt water and is now making headway.

Quite a stir was made over the penetration of a formation of shale and sand just above the salt water when a showing of oil was made, according to these parties.

Although there seems to be but little interest being taken in this test, though it is commonly called a "Lubbock test," the people of Abernathy are becoming more confident that oil will be struck as the drill digs farther downward. Here's hoping.

Methodist Annual Conference Closed at Amarillo Sunday Night and Preachers Get Their Appointments by Bishop

The Northwest Texas Conference, Methodist Church, South, in twelfth annual session since Wednesday adjourned Sunday night to meet next year at Quannah. The reading of the appointments of the several preachers of Conference was the climax of a most successful annual meetinig.

Bishop McMurry in commenting upon the Conference meeting declared that there has been to some degree a spirit of unrest during the year, but notwithstanding that fact the Church has enjoyed substantial growth more than 4,000 members being added to the rolls in this Conference.

An old-fashioned "Love Feast" followed by an address by Bishop McMurry and the ordination of deacons and elders was the order of the morning service at Polk Street Methodist Church. At the evening service people were unable to get in and were turned away. Dr. A. J. Weeks, editor of the Texas Christian Advocate delivered an address. LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

Young men often hear their elders speaking of the opportunities lost in their earlier days. They were not in the position to grasp the opportunities when they came. Their life was lived day by day and the future was considered lightly.

They learned the value of saving because they did not save. The most pleasant way, we think, would be to learn by saving. The time is coming, maybe in the near future, when your opportunity will depend upon the thrift you have practiced. Young men, start saving now. Some day you will be old and then you will thank us for the advice.

SOCIETY NOTES

Twentieth Century Club.

The members of the Twentieth Century Club met Tuesday afternoon in the Ladies Parlors at the Methodist church. After the Parliamentary Drill an instructive lesson on the Grand Canyon and Glacier National Park was enjoyed with Mrs. Fred Boerner as leader.

Church Social.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church spent a most pleasant afternoon with Mrs. Moxley on Monday afternoon.

After a short business meeting, needle work was enjoyed and at the close of the afternoon delicious pineapple ice and waffles were served.

K. K. Klub.

Indeed pleasant was Wednesday for the members of the K. K. Klub, with Mrs. Joe Hitton as hostess.

A most delicious luncheon was enjoyed at the Lubbock Inn, after which auction Bridge utilized the hour.

Ku Klux Storm Griswold Home

Tuesday evening about 6:30, 18 or 20 girls stormed the Methodist parsonage, each carrying an armful of something good to eat, however it was not a real Ku Klux Klan, only Mrs. Griswold's Sunday School Class.

After much excitement and the Griswold family had calmed down from such a surprise, a delicious supper was served, buffet style, consisting of fried chicken, cream peas, mashed potatoes, potato salad, fruit salad, coffee and pie a la mode.

This was not all in store for the evening, as just before partaking of the good things to eat, Mrs. Earl Hunt presented Mrs. Griswold with a beautiful wrist watch from the class. This almost took Mrs. Griswold's appetite, but Jack was there as well as Bro. Griswold.

We regret very much having to lose this family from our midst and we sincerely hope they will find themselves wandering back to Lubbock in the near future.

1916 Needle Club.

After several month's vacation the members of the 1916 Needle Club thoroughly enjoyed Tuesday, with Mrs. E. B. Green as hostess and Mrs. Perkins as joint hostess, complimentary to Mrs. James H. Kimmel.

Cut flowers and potted plants added beauty to the home.

Needle work was the diversion for the hour and at its close a delicious salad course was served.

In a short business meeting, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Ballew, President; Mrs. Baldridge, Vice-President; Mrs. Darby, Secretary and Treasurer.

Mrs. St. Clair was made a member of the club.

Those enjoying this delightful occasion were: Mesdames Houston and Velton Spikes of Ralls, Fred Spikes, Earl Hunt, Ervin Hunt, W. R. Spencer, Green, Albert, Darby, Clark, Smith, Brown, Davis, Riddle, Robertson, Mortin, Baldrige, Ballew, Trinkle, Faulk, J. H. Kenmel, R. V. Kenmel, Perkins, E. B. Green and Miss Kathleen Turner of Santa Anna.

Ellis-McAfee Wedding.

At one o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 11, in the presence of over one hundred and twenty-five friends, at their home in the west part of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Temple H. Ellis gave their daughter, Opal in marriage to Mr. Guy McAfee. All that loving effort and thoughfulness could achieve were bent toward making this wedding ceremony one that must always be to the bride a beautiful memory, and that can never be forgotten by her friends who witnessed it. The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Bowen and in every detail, from the fitting words at its beginning to the earnest prayer at its conclusion, one was impressed by the sweet solemnity of the occasion, and felt keenly the satisfaction in giving the newly married couple a genuine "Godspeed" from a Christian home.

Opal Ellis is beloved by a host of Lubbock people, not only for her charm and beauty of person, but for her genuine fine womanly qualities. Mr. McAfee is a young oil operator of El Dorado, Ark., and it seems to the friends of the young couple that life holds for them the greatest promise of happiness and usefulness.

The home was beautifully decorated, one especially pretty feature being the white gates twined with vines and flowers that barred the way to the alter. Before the ceremony, Miss Brashier sang the solo "Believe me if all those endearing young charms" which was followed by "O Perfect Love" rendered as a duet by Miss Brashier and Mrs. Wagner. Then to the strains of the wedding march, Mrs. Mamie Robinson at the piano, accompanied by Mr. Brown on the violin, little Charlotte Hopkins and Katherine Klett dressed in white and carrying gold trumpets opened the gates leading to the alter through which passed the groom with his brother, J. C. McAfee, as best man. Then came Miss Lelia Roberts, maid of honor, dressed in brown beaded satin, crepe and carrying a bouquet of pink roses, next little Anseth Jones as flower girl dressed in gold tulle, and Dale Buckner in black velvet as ring bearer—and finally the bride, on the arm of her father. Miss Opal wore a beautiful going-away suit of midnight blue duvetyne with squirrel collar and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lillies of the valley. After the ceremony the most noticeable feature in the usual congratulations offered the bride and groom, was the especially warm and sincere wishes for happiness offered to the bride by her young friends, among whom she was an especial favorite.

An informal reception was held, after the ceremony and refreshments served to the guests in the beautifully decorated dinning room.

Mr. and Mrs. McAfee left immediately for an extended trip through California, Arizona, Utah, and Colorado, with stops at Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Francisco, Salt Lake, Grand Canyon and Colorado Springs. Before returning to their home at El Dorado, Ark., they will make a short stop with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis of this place, and also with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McAfee of Bridgeport, Tex., arriving at their home about November 5th.

Maggie & Jiggs Club.

Delightful indeed was Tuesday evening, for the members of the Maggie & Jiggs Club at the home of Mrs. E. E. Hailey. In 42, Mrs. Jack Tubbs won high score for the ladies and received a lovely manicure set. Mr. C. E. Wright was the lucky man and received a Leather Bill fold. After the merriment, a delicious salad course was served. Mr. and Mrs. Barnett and Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs were made members of the club. Misses Nobia Slagle, Mildred Meacham, Annie Ford and Messers Johnie Spikes, Bennet Slagle and E. H. Boullioun were guests of the club. At a late hour the guests departed, declaring Mr. and Mrs. Hailey wonderfull hostess.

Mrs. Ura Embry of Amarillo, attended the fair and visited friends here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Payne, of Ralls, were Lubbock visitors last week.

Mesdames Felton and Houston Spikes of Ralls, visited in this city Tuesday.

Miss Inez Lambert of Idalou visited Miss Aileen Baker last week.

Mr. John Lewis made a business trip to Abernathy last week.

The Womans Missionary Union met at the usual hour Monday afternoon at the Baptist church.

On account of pastor's absence no lesson was heard. Business was attended to. The ladies were justly proud of making more than enough at the Fair, to put down walks and curbing around our church lot.

Many plans were made for the future. We will have a Hollowen party Friday, Oct. 28.

On Monday, Oct. 31, a Parcel Post package party will be held at Mrs. R. A. Bonday's, for the first Monday in November, we will sew for Buckner's Orphan Home. On the second Saturday in November, a bazaar will be held by the Baptist ladies.

The Study class of the Womens' Missionary Society of the Methodist church met in the ladies parlor Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Rylander conducting the lesson. The class will study "The Kingdom and The Natives" at this term. A most instructing and interesting book. We would be glad to have all our women come to this class under the guidance of our efficient leader. Much good will be accomplished. After the lesson Mrs. Tubbs called a business meeting and several matters of importance were attended to. Among other things the society decided to extend our much loved pastor and family a "going-away party" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Posey.

We want to give them an opportunity to meet again every member of the church and we want to bid them "God speed" on their departure from us. They have given us three years of faithful loving service. We have appreciated and loved them, and our earnest prayers will follow them.

Every member of the Methodist church cordially invited to the home of Mrs. Posey, Friday night from 8 to 10. We are trying to reach every one by plane but if we fail to reach you this way be sure and come. You are welcome.

Next Monday afternoon at 2:30 the society will meet at 2:30 in the ladies parlor for a study of the Conference Minutes. Every woman is urged to come, this is important.

Tomorrow Opens the Greatest Fashion Event of Winter

Fashioned by Peggy Paige New York

Defining Authoratively the Accepted Mode In Every Department of the Store

WITH the entire store participating, with every department in full winter array, tomorrow will open a series of fashion events that will definitely present the final trend of the mode for winter—what Paris has settled and America accepted for the winter season of 1921.

The central note of the showing is the presentation of Peggy Paige Dresses for winter; the dominating thought is Smartness—the mark of Peggy Paige garments, the motive they express.

This showing brings definite word that skirts will be longer and irregular at the bottom. It brings the message of little or no change in silhouette but marked diversity and originality in trimmings and sleeves.

Altogether, it is a showing notable in distinction; truly expressive of the viewpoint of Paris as modified by American taste; living up to every obligation of the Peggy Paige label in the fine workmanship, honest fabrics and exceptional value at each price displayed; furnishing for winter wardrobe selections, a genuinely authorative array of the styles that are undoubtedly CORRECT at a price that leaves them without rivals.

If you care for correctness, if you are fastidious about the style of the garments you wear, you will be here at the opening tomorrow to gather information and to see an exhibit that can guide your every fashion choice this winter!

GLOVES
As Paris Sees Them

Paris has lengthened the glove but instead of meeting the sleeve, it is worn wrinkled around the wrist, leaving the forearm bare. The favorite materials are mosquetaire and black suede.

Even with the short-sleeved dinner gown is frequently worn a hand gauntlet with a much trimmed and stiffened cuff. Black and white effects predominate. Other desired styles and materials await your choice at our Winter Opening.

A Fashion Note in FOOTWEAR

Low shoes are still extensively worn and France, as usual, is responsible for the leathers and colors in which the American women will be fashionably shod. Suede slippers have been replaced by the black patent leather pump, worn with or without a large cut steel buckle. Strap slippers are shown in many intricate forms and on black patent leather pumps are seen scarlet, purple or royal blue heels.

SECOND SECTION

THE LUBBOCK AVALANCHE

VOLUME XXII — LUBBOCK, LUBBOCK COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1921. — NO. 16

Comments on the Avalanche Special

The Lubbock Avalanche has issued a 128-page edition, as a testimonial to the Panhandle-South Plains Fair, Oct. 4, 5, 6. The people of Lubbock and roundabout will never realize how much work and worry and money were expended in making this exposition of their country possible. It is, so far as State Press knows, the largest paper ever issued by a so-called country weekly. But what will the East Texas printers do if the Lubbock Avalanche and the Abilene Reporter use up all the print paper?—State Press, Dallas News.

The Lubbock Avalanche last week issued a special edition of 128 pages extolling the many advantages of the Panhandle-South Plains country and the City of Lubbock, the metropolis of that section. The paper is a credit to its publisher, the business men of the city and others who by their liberal support made this mammoth edition possible.—Christoval Observer.

The special Panhandle-South Plains Fair edition of the Lubbock Avalanche which reached this office Saturday was some paper. It contained 128 pages filled with interesting matter concerning Lubbock and the Lubbock country and we congratulate Editor Dow and the people of Lubbock upon the success of the undertaking.—Gail Gazette.

The Lubbock Avalanche is receiving the congratulations of fellow craftsmen upon the completion of its Anniversary Number, dated Sept. 22. The issue of the Avalanche, numbering 128 pages, is one of the most noteworthy in the history of the Texas sectional press. It is filled, from the first to the last page, with well written feature articles that fulfill their mission of convincing the reader of the resources and achievements of the South Plains section. Many of the pages carry handsome photographic illustrations. The entire edition lacks nothing in workmanship, both editorial and mechanical. It is a credit to James L. Dow, editor, and to every members of the Avalanche force who aided in its making, and is something that the city of Lubbock and the South Plains may well be proud, as reflecting adequately the glories of an empire of the soil.—Star-Telegram.

The Lubbock Spirit is certainly a winning spirit. Last week the Avalanche published a 128-page edition devoted to the natural advantages of Lubbock. The edition was possibly the largest ever printed by a country newspaper, and was well edited. The Avalanche is one of the best weekly newspapers in the southwest. Its regular edition seldom runs less than 20 pages. The business men of Lubbock are alive to the need of advertising their business and take half, full and double page ads regularly in the Avalanche when merchants in other towns are overlooking the drawing power of advertising and are therefore crying hard times. The spirit of the business men of Lubbock will build a city of that town.—Randall County News.

We have received a copy of the special Panhandle-South Plains Fair edition of the Lubbock Avalanche, which is about the biggest thing in the way of a weekly paper that we ever saw. It consists of 128 pages and every page is a typographical beauty and a model of the printer's art. The edition covers a wide range—just like the south plains country, and the big advertisements that it contains are a tribute to the progressive and enterprising spirit of that growing section. The publishers of the Avalanche have given the world a splendid panoramic view of the west, and have shown just what material the people are made of in making such an edition possible. No greater advertisement could have been sent forth to speak for them, and this edition will be worth more to Lubbock and the south plains country than ten special trains of boosters touring the entire north and east. When business men make it possible by their liberal patronage to issue such an edition they show a degree of wisdom and long-headed business sagacity that it seldom exhibited.—Comanche Chief.

The Lubbock Avalanche has always been a unique publication. It has always been the sole newspaper of that splendid city. Others have attempted to exist there, but hardly got started before they failed. Last week the Avalanche published a special Fair Week edition of 128-pages. It was perhaps the greatest single paper ever printed in the Panhandle. We congratulate Editor Dow and his staff on the splendid edition, and also the City of Lubbock.—Hall County Herald.

The Reporter this week received a copy of the Fair edition of the Lubbock Avalanche, a one hundred and twenty-eight page illustrated paper. This is the first time to our knowledge, and possibly in history, that a town the size and age of Lubbock ever attempted to put out an edition of its paper even approaching this number of pages. It is full of advertisements of the local merchants and business men and every page contains a boost for Lubbock and the Panhandle country. If this paper can be taken as an example of the enterprise of the people of the Panhandle country, the Fair at Lubbock, October Fourth, Fifth and Sixth, will be a world beater. You've got to hand it to 'em folks.—Lometa Reporter.

The Lubbock Avalanche of last week issued what is perhaps the premier edition of a weekly newspaper issued from a weekly newspaper town that has ever appeared on the desk of Texas papers. The special Avalanche last week was put out to advertise the Lubbock fair. The special consisted of 128 pages, and was replete with illustrations and special articles, making it a great issue, and a splendid memorial of Lubbock and the Lubbock South Plains section. We take pleasure in congratulating Editor James L. Dow on his mammoth achievement in gathering and printing such an issue. More than a carload of paper was used in issuing it. The special was an effort that would be a credit to a metropolitan office.—Canadian Record.

The Lubbock Avalanche's special Fair edition of September 23rd, was one of the biggest stunts ever "pulled off" by a country weekly and Editor Dow deserves high praise for his work.

Just imagine a little country newspaper plant getting out an edition of one hundred and twenty-eight pages, a sixteen page newspaper—but one. If you ever hung around a small plant you would soon decide it was a man-sized job to get out from an eight to hundred and twenty-eight pages is surely going some.

The progressive citizenship of the Lubbock territory made possible this record breaking edition by their liberal taking of advertising space and are to be highly complimented. It is this team work that is enabling Lubbock to constantly move ahead while other cities are at a standstill.

Editor Dow and the Avalanche are certainly putting Lubbock on the map, by successfully issuing a creditable newspaper.—Big Spring Herald.

The Lubbock Avalanche issued an edition last week with 128 pages advertising the South Plains and the South Plains Fair to be held there the 4, 5, 6 of next week. It was probably the largest paper ever put out on the Plains. The Terry county section of 8 pages was real good.—Terry County Herald.

The Lubbock Avalanche was 128 pages strong last week and was a dandy good boosting paper. Editor Dow is the right man in the right place.—Lamesa Reporter.

There came to our exchange table three special editions of good newspapers, on account of fairs in their city. The Randall County News published a twenty-eight page paper on account of the fair in Canyon. The Lubbock Avalanche published 128 pages boosting their fair. The Taylor County News was thirty-two pages in honor of the fair in Abilene. All of these were most excellent editions and showed what great results can be attained by the "fourth estate" backed by energetic men. We are sure that the several fairs will be equally great with these special editions.—Tulia Herald.

The Lubbock Avalanche "out-Lubbucked Lubbock," from whom we are always expecting great things, by publishing last week a fair edition of 128 pages! Such a feat successfully executed in a country print shop marks an epoch in the history of the newspaper business and demonstrates the fact that country newspaper plants are not what they used to be. The Avalanche has long held an enviable position as one of the foremost weekly newspapers in the State of Texas and the favorable publicity which the entire section will receive from the achievement of Editor Dow cannot be over-estimated. Better than anyone else, the members of "the gang" can understand and appreciate the magnitude of the job and they, too, will realize fully that Dow's assertion that he barely came out even on the edition, is, undoubtedly, the simple truth. He was, indeed, fortunate not to go behind, in these days of high costs. Lubbock owes much to the Avalanche and that the people rallied loyally to the support of this great undertaking evinces their appreciation of their newspaper.—Southwest Plains.

The Lubbock Avalanche and the Taylor County Times came out last week with Fair Editions that would do credit to any of the metropolitan dailies. But these are two of the very best papers published in two of the very best towns in Texas, and whose patronage fully recognizes the worth of printer's ink. May they both grow in their usefulness. Barstow Journal.

The Lubbock Avalanche produced a mammoth special South Plains Fair edition last week and we lost a good part of the week's work trying to count the pages. We got to 128 and lost track. Every page was filled with choice, snappy reading matter telling the outside world of the South Plains Fair and the plains country and made very attractive with a large number of splendid illustrations It was a big, fine paper characteristic of the Avalanche's way of doing things and breathing the spirit of the progressive community in which the Avalanche is published.—Rotan Advance.

The Lubbock Avalanche issued a Panhandle Plains Fair edition last week and on the wrapper this injunction is given: "Dont throw it away before you read it carefully." The doggone thing is too big to read. It would take as much time as one of the serials of a great writer. We will bet the facts set out in the paper are correct. There are 120 pages full of them and most attractive advertisements and illustrated views one could wish for. The Avalanche is printed in a big country and the issue on our desk is a whopper. There is not only brains behind the Avalanche but the mechanical make-up of the paper cannot be improved on.—San Saba Star.

The Lubbock Avalanche last week printed possibly the largest paper ever printed in a town of its size. It was 128 pages, and was gotten out to advertise the South Plains Fair, which will be held in that town next week. It covered not only Lubbock county, but also several other counties adjacent. The Avalanche and its publisher are to be congratulated on the edition. As a further mark of progress, the Avalanche has announced that it will change to a semi-weekly publication Nov. 1. The Avalanche is doing a great work in the upbuilding of its town and county.—Lockney Beacon.

Last weeks edition of the Lubbock Avalanche as a huge paper, consisting of 128 6-column pages. The paper goes far ahead of anything ever before attempted in the country newspaper line probably anywhere in Texas, and an examination of its contents, mechaical work, etc., shows that the execution of this gigantic undertaking has been well and creditably done. However, while Lubbock people are among the most enterprising to be found, this paper is not entirely the child of Lubbock, but of adjoining towns and counties.—Ralls Banner.

From the great south plains of Texas comes one of the greatest newspaper accomplishments of the year in the form of a 128-page edition of the Lubbock Avalanche featuring the South Plains Fair to be held at Lubbock. The edition is attractive from a mechanical standpoint, revealing long and careful work of artistic printers and other employees who had their heart in the work. The advertisement reflect the spirit of the great South Plains business men and the news columns told the story of the advancement of that section of the state and what it held in the future. One could not glance at the 128 sparkling pages with any degree of concentration without feeling that he had made a visit to that section of the state and had become better acquainted with those people. In this edition the Avalanche has an achievement of which the largest newspapers in the south might well feel proud. We congratulate Lubbock and the South Plains country of Texas on having such a newspaper.—McKinney Democrat-Gazette.

Editor Jas. L. Dow, of The Lubbock Avalanche, has announced that newspaper will be issued as a semi-weekly, beginning on November 1st. Editor Dow is progressive, and his newspaper is doing its patriotic duty right along.—Floydada Hesperion.

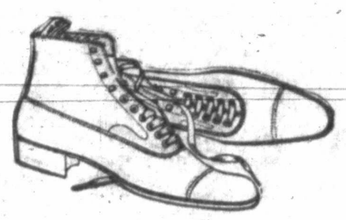

One of the greatest feats ever accomplished in a country newspaper office must be credited to the Lubbock Avalanche management who, two weeks ago issued 128 pages exploiting the great fair to be held in that city and heralding to the world the great possibilities of Lubbock county from every standpoint. An edition of that size is creditable to the best equipped daily papers in the south, and shows remarkable, ability, push and nerve on the part of Editor James Dow and his corps of helpers. The country newspaper is becoming more and more indispensible in the march of any community along the paths of progress.—Clarendon News.

In the rush of work last week we overlooked the special Fair edition of the Lubbock Avalanche recently issued. It was the largest paper ever issued in the Plains-Panhandle country, containing 128 pages, and certainly reflects credit upon Editor Dow and the entire force. Any town of any size should be proud of a paper like that issue of the Avalanche.—Slaton Slatonits.

The Lubbock Avalanche came to our desk this week with a 128-page special edition, issued in pre-celebration of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair to be held at Lubbock, Oct. 4, 5, and 6th. This is the finest special edition of a country weekly paper we have seen. It is replete with valuable information pertaining to the Panhandle and Plains section of our State It reflects credit not only on the publishers of the paper, but on Lubbock and that section. Clint Edwards, born and raised in McKinney, is foreman of this splendid paper. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Edwards, South Wilcox street, and a brother of Wm. J. Edwards, foreman of the McKinney Examiner.—The McKinney Examiner.

The News failed to mention in its columns of last week's issue the special edition of the Lubbock Avalanche, issued on the 22nd inst., containing 128 pages. The edition was the largest ever printed by a country weekly newspaper in Texas and was well edited. J. E. Griffith, the advertising manager deserves credit for the manner in which he secured the advertising, which made the large edition possible. The business men of our sister city in the north are a wide-a-wake set and are fast building a city of what was once a wide place on the banks of the Yellow House Canyon.—Lynn County News.

Dawson County Fair Was Magnificient Success

Lamesa, Texas, Oct. 1.—Farmers in the vicinity of Lamesa were too busy during the days of the Dawson County Fair to bother much about placing exhibits on display there. They were busy gathering a third of a bale to the acre from the 18,000 acres which have been planted in Dawson County. Some of the cotton is making better than that yielding one-half of a bale to the acre.

Regardless of the fact that most of the farmers were busy in their fields during the fair days, sizable exhibits were to be found at the Dawson County Fair. The quality of the exhibits was unusually good, and prominent among the exhibits were splendid displays of sorghum, grains and cotton. While folks from other sections of the State are talking a whole lot about King Cotton being dethroned, the old monarch is doing much better in the king business than a number of European regals and the approximately 8,000 bales of cotton which the farmers of Dawson County are going to sell this year at better than 20 cents as an average is swelling the deposits in Lamesa banks.

Community Exhibits

The communities of Ballard and McCarthy, in Dawson County had large exhibits at the fair. These are the major farm communities in Dawson County. The McCarthy community is the most thickly populated in the county and some of the finest land on the plains surround it.

The orchard of J. M. Wood produced some luscious peaches which occupied a great deal of attention of those who viewed the Ballard exhibit. A big bunch of maize, cane, kaffir and other grains was contributed by the Gorman farm, George ack showed a half-dozen mammoth sweet potatoes which had grown since the rain which fell June 13. The peanut family was represented by a display sent in by Clifford Ray.

Trio Display Products.

The bulk of the Woody community's exhibit was due to D. H. Bartlett, Roy J. Preston and Price Torbet. These farmers furnished fine specimens of sorghum grains. Some club corn was exhibited by Rosa Preston and a stalk of cotton with better than 100 bolls was the offering of Herbert Green.

The Wilson display featured cotton and the sorghum grains. A. G. Banning and J. B. Flemington offered some of both. Fine maize heads and broomcorn grown on the farms of J. C. Burkhart and J. E. Corbin were shown.

The McCarthy community display was replete with all of the fruits, grains and staples grown in West Texas. Some of the finest cotton farms of the South Plains are around McCarthy. The most tempting display made was that of three watermelons grown on the Chiddy farms. A number of different varieties of corn was shown and some especially fine bloody butcher corn.

WORLD WAR VETS MEET IN AMARILLO

Hanson Post, American Legion, joined by the Legion Posts throughout the Panhandle and Plains territory, will be hosts to the World War veterans in Amarillo, Friday, Nov. 11th.

This will be the first great all-Panhandle-Plains reunion for World War veterans, who are invited without regard to their affiliation with the Legion—it is for all. Special rates will be secured on all railroads entering Amarillo, and free entertainment will be furnished the men who wore the American khaki during the most terrible struggle the world has ever known.

A regular "mass dinner" will be one of the features of the day, and the former-men-at-arms will have many things to remind them of that through which they passed while making more secure world freedom and world democracy.

Floats will be in the parade representing the Army, Navy, Marines, and aircraft subdivisions of the glorious forces representing the United States. To these will be added a French box car, Woman's Auxiliary float, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Civil War veterans, and Daughters of the American Revolution, and other patriotic and civic organizations.

The program will be the best that is possible to devise and a good time for all of those who offered themselves as a debarment against the overriding of righteousness by the German Empire.

An all-inclusive decorative scheme will be employed and Amarillo will outdo herself in demonstrating to the "boys" her love for them.

This is to be an event long to be remembered, and the friends of the soldiers are invited to be present and participate in the entertainment in their honor.

(LIFE INSURANCE AT COST)

(A LOCAL MUTUAL AID ASSOCIATION)

ANNOUCEMENT

This is to advise the good people for a radius of fifty miles around Lubbock that we have completed TWO MUTUAL AID ASSOCIATIONS and have just started our No. 3 and want to fill it to 1000 members by January first, so let's all hurry and fill it up.

Most every one knows the many benefits offered by our Associations, it is LIFE INSURANCE AT COST, which has been less than $6.00 a year for the last 5 years.

The neighborly effect of this protection is especially appreciated by its more than 2200 members, any one most would give the small amount of $1.00 to most any one who had suffered the loss of a companion, in becoming a member of this Association you club together with 1000 people agreeing to give, which makes a good little amount, but not much to be paid by each member, then it is not begging either.

Age limit 15 to 55 years; price $5.00 for membership and $2.00 a year for expenses, nothing else except death calls of $1.00 each.

WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH YOUR FEEDSTUFFS?

Said a farmer recently, "I was told to reduce my cotton acreage and grow feedstuffs. I made but little cotton and much feedstuffs and now I find that it is unsalable."

The same situation must be met by many farmers. It was sound business to reduce the cotton acreage, for had a normal crop been produced the price would have been so low as to have made its picking unprofitable. It was not good business to produce a large amount of feedstuffs without making some preparation for consuming it.

Farmers are becoming painfully aware that the city market for feed has almost been destroyed by the advent of motor transportation. The number of horses in the cities is almost 75 per cent less than ten years ago, and what was once an outlet for surplus feedstuffs at a good price no longer exists. Therefore the necessity for more livestock on the farms.

Although the livestock business has been less profitable the past year or two than formerly, and in many individual cases large losses sustained, the farmer who has produced and fed a few well bred animals has been more than repaid. The livestock producer on a large scale—the ranchman—has lost. The livestock farmer has won, and frol now on the meat supply of the country will come from the farm in ever increasing proportion. We will have better meat animals whirh will sell for higher prires because of the better attention given to each individual. The cost of production will largely be offset by the fertility added to the soil and a profit made from the better crops produced. Diversification with livestock and poultry has any one crop system out classed.—Farm and Ranch.

Nutrition Work Given in Public Schools If Desired

Austin, Texas, Oct. 3.—Nutrition work in the public schools of the state will be conducted this year by Miss Eloise Berry of the home economics extension division of the University of Texas. Miss Berry will enter the schools at their request, and will endeavor to show by charts, weights and tables the children suffering from malnutrition. She will also lecture to mothers and teachers as to the best remedies for such conditions. Although the traveling expenses will be furnished by the University, she will be entertained in these towns by various civic organizations.

Work done by Miss Berry in the schools last year revealed the fact that a great many children in Texas were underweight and showed other symptoms of malnutrition. During the summer she has made a special study of nutrition in Columbia University, and has made surveys of the corrective work being done in New York City.

According to Miss Berry, the school children of Texas show the effects of malnutrition as badly as children in other states, but as yet this state is far behind the others in efforts to counteract the evil. Bulletins have been prepared to instruct the mothers as to the indications of malnutrition, and food leaflets have been compiled of proper diets from the first year of the child's life through the high school years. Tables of normal weight and height for the various ages compiled by Dr. T. D. Wood, a nutrition expert in Columbia University, will be used. Efforts will be made to impress on the child's mind the importance of health rules and scales will be put in the school to encourage the children to keep records of their own increases in weight and growth.

Miss Berry has already been invited to hold a nutrition booth at the Brazos County Fair, and from there she will proceed to Meridian to conduct a similar campaign in the Bosque County schools. About 1,000 school children will be inspected in the towns of Meridian, Valley Mills and Clifton, it is expected.

HOGS AND LAMBS HIGHER CATTLE STEADY TO LOWER

Kansas City Stock Yards, Oct. 10. 1921.—Urgent demand advanced hog prices 15 to 25 cents over last week's close and the offerings were cleaned up in quick time. The top price was $8.45, bulk $7.75 to $8.40. Cattle receipts were heavy. Best fat and common kinds were steady, other 10 to 15 cents lower. Yearling steers sold up to $10.

Today's Receipts.

Receipts today were 36,000 cattle, 5500 hogs, and 16,000 sheep, compared with 36,500 cattle, 5500 hogs, and 15,000 sheep a week ago, and 28,500 cattle, 8750 hogs and 8250 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle.

Fed cattle continued in moderate supply at fully steady prices. The best yearlings and light weights here sold at $9.00 to $10.00. Weighty steers sold at $7.50 to $8.75. The low priced grass steers were steady, but the medium kinds were 10 to 15 cents lower. Cows and heifers showed about the same price changes as steees. Veal calves and bulls were steady. Volume of trade is large and indications are that outlet channels will not be swamped with heavy receipts as in some former years. Chicago with 30,000 cattle, reported a slow and lower market.

Stockers and Feeders.

Practically all classes of stockers and feeders sold at steady prices, except the plainer kinds and they were slightly lower. Last week more than 36,000 stockers and feeders were shipped to the country. Corn belt feeders will continue buying the rest of this month.

Hogs.

Hog prices today were up 15 to 25 cents, top $8.45. Some 300 pound hogs sold up to $8.40, and several bunches of medium weights brought the top price. The bulk of the offerings brought $7.75 to $8.40. Packing sows sold at $6.50 to $7.00 and pigs sold up to $8.40.

Sheep and Lambs.

All the offerings in the sheep division cleared readily a tstrong to 25 cents higher prices. The bulk of the Western lambs sold at $8.40 to $8.75 and feeding lambs $6.50 to $6.85. Ewes sold mostly at $4.50 to $4.75.

Horses and Mules

Though trade in horses and mules is materially short of normal fall proportions, demand has improved some in the past ten days. Quotations were unchanged, as follows:

Drafters good to choice 1500 to 1700 pounds, $100 to $175.

Fair to good, $60 to $100, Chunks $50 to $115.

Southerners, $20 to $100, plugs $5 to $20.

Choice heavy mules $120 to $140, medium weights $5 to $85.

13 1-2 to 14 hand grades, $25 to $65.

AMARILLO IS EXPECTING HARD GAME WITH LUBBOCK

Keen interest is being manifested among football enthusiasts over the game between Amarillo and Lubbock Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. This game will be a strong one, for it is pointed out that Lubbock has put three of the big teams of the Panhandle-Plains territory, winning over each most decisively.—Amarillo News.

To the Business Men of Lubbock

During the next few days there will be a member of our firm call upon you in person. His business will be that of securing you to become a stock-holder in our company. The fact that we are handling this matter in a strictly business way is enough to show that we are above board and believe that the proposition we offer is sound and we are making no flashy promises—nothing but business.

We are honest in our belief that you will be interested in securing the additional plant; that you will want your ice the coming summer at a lower price and with better service.

When we call upon you, be sure that you understand the proposition well before giving us an answer. Upon the answer the people of Lubbock give us, depends upon the success we will receive and whether or not another plant will be in operation, making ice, before another summer comes.

We are looking for your support

A CHANGE IN INSURANCE FIRMS

A change in insurance circles occurred this past week. Mr. Sam S. Denman, formerly of Belton, and later of Houston, bought out the interests of Mr. E. C. Young in the insurance firm of Briggs & Young. Mr. Denman has had a number of years experience in the rating department of the State Insurance Commission, and for several years was a special agent, traveling West Texas. He will thus be a distinct addition to the insurance ferce of this city.

Mr. Denman states that he has long had his eye on this section of the country, and is glad to become a citizen of Lubbock.

The new name of the firm will be Briggs & Denman, and they will be at home to their friends in the southeast corner of the second floor of the Conley building on and after October fifteenth. This firm specializes in fire insurance, plate glass and bonding, and expect to continue giving what they call real insurance service to the people of Lubbock.

REV. FRANK NEAL RETURNS TO AMARILLO

"We're here again, and delighted to be back home," declared Rev. Frank M. Neal, general evangelist for Southern Methodism.

Rev. and Mrs. Neal have leased the S. P. Vineyard home on Washington Street, and will be at home there in a week or ten days. During the absence from Amarillo the Neals have maintained their residence in Corpus Christi. From the point named the evangelist has gone out over Texas and into other states, coming here direct, at the close of the conference Saturday from a great revival in Arkansas, it is learned.

During the residence in Amarillo, Rev. Mr. Neal spent much time in the work of his office, being away a great deal, but he always expresses joy at being here again and having the privilege of associatiing with Amarillo friends. He has many friends here, and is greatly estemed both as a minister, a neighbor and a friend in Amarillo and the surrounding territory.

It is stated that the minister continues in the same connection with the church during the next conference year.—Amarillo News.

It is mighty hard for a fellow to stay away from the plains, once he has breathed the pure air and gotten a taste of the Panhandle-Plains pep.

Five parties from other sections of the State went out with one of our real estate agents last Saturday, and after seeing the fine land surrounding Lubbock, they bought six tracts, one tract each, and one tract for a friend of theirs who could not make the trip with them. Again we say, buy your ticket to Texas and on to Lubbock.

BILTMORE PROGRAM FEATURES CLASSICAL AND POPULAR

Happy Medium Struck by Talented Group of Orchestral Artists—Here in Near Future.

The two most common criticisms of orchestral work are that the orchestra plays either a too classical program or a program which is altogether too light and "jazzy." In the talents of the members of the Biltmore Society Orchestra, which is to appear here on the evening of Wednesday, Oct 19th, at The Lindsey Theatre, local folks will enjoy a happy medium in the type of program offered. A long tour during the past summer on one of the largest Chautauqua circuits of the country has won such fine commendation for the Biltmore Orchestra that the Dixie management can unhesitatingly commend the program to all classes of music lovers.

Primarily, the Biltmore Orchestra consists of a group of fine orchestral artists, headed by Mr. Eugene Schweizer, a noted young leader of rare talents and considerable experience. Consequently the Biltmores play the standard symphony numbers with as much ease as they do the more popular orchestrations of the current season. They offer a program which has a strong appeal by reason of this very fact.

The program not only includes instrumental efforts, but features some strong vocal combinations as well. Mr. Schweizer, the leader, has an unusual baritone voice ,rich in quality and with big range and power, and he, with some of the other members of his orchestra who are particularly talented along vocal lines, lend a delightful novelty touch to their orchestral program.

The Biltmores have a great program, and those who love really good music along with the lighter numbers have a real treat in store upon the occasion of the Biltmores' concert here. 16-1

TWO STOLEN CARS RECOVERED LAST WEEK

Everyone remembers how a few months ago, F. D. Brown woke up one morning to find that his Overland had wandered off, and then again this past summer, W. J. Duncan found that his Buick had also taken itself away. Both of these cars were insured, and immediately the detective agency working for this insurance company, got busy. Mr. Brown received his insurance in due time, and Mr. Duncan was getting ready to collect his, when one morning two men drove into town with the Overland and the Buick.

It is an interesting story as to how these men traced these cars, and finally located both the cars, and the man who stole them in Raton, N. M. Suffice to say, the cars are returned, and the man is in jail, the insurance company has one Overland to sell, and all concerned are happy, except the man in jail.

HOTEL MEN PROMISE TO REDUCE RATES IN TEXAS

Houston, Texas, Oct. 9.—Over 500 replies to a circular letter, most of which promised an early or immediate reduction in hotel rates, have been received by A. W. Kolart, chairman of the State hotel committee, according to announcement made Saturday night at a meeting of the Houston Post C of the Travelers' Protective Association.

The circular letters sent by Mr. Kolart to hotel proprietors over the State declared that unless some remedy was found for the existing conditions many of the business houses would be obliged to call their men in off the road. The letters also pointed out that since other things had come down from 30 to 50 per cent, the travelers as well as the houses they represent feel that an injustice is being done them for hotels to maintain war-time rates. Mr. Kolart says that business houses are indorsing the T. P. A. in its move.

COTTON REPORTS CUTS THE 1921 COTTON CROP AT LESS THAN SEVEN MILLION 500-POUND BALES

Washington, Oct. 3.—Further decline in the condition of cotton during September resulted in a reduction of 500,000 bales in the forecast of production issued today by the Department of Agriculture, which places the total crop at 6,537,000, equivalent 500-pound bales. The Department of Agriculture based its estimate on the condition of the crop Sept. 25, which was 42.2 per cent of a normal, indicating a yield of 118.0 pounds per acre.

The forecast of production is equivalent 500-pound bales and the Sept. 25 condition of the crop in percentage of normal by States follow:

Virginia, forecast 10,000 and condition 53; North Carolina, 489,000 and 54; South Carolina, 644,000 and 40; Georgia, 722,000 and 33; Florida, 16,000 and 50; Alabama, 468,000 and 46; Mississippi, 646,000 and 48; Louisiana, 245,000 and 41; Arkansas 677,000 and 58; Texas 1,863,000 and 38; Tennessee, 217,000 and 62; Missouri, 48,000 and 70; Oklahoma, 405,000 and 38; California, 68,000 and 73; Arizona, 45,000 and 81; all other States, 7,000 and 83.

Forecast of Lower California's production was placed at 31,000 bales, included in California's total, but excluded from the United States' total.

Most Disastrous Year.

The growing season this year has been the most disastrous on record, the crop showing a loss of 1,666,000 bales in prospective production during August and September. The end of August found the crop in the worst condition ever recorded, while today's report showed a continuation of unfavorable crop conditions. Today's condition report showed the crop to be 12.2 points below the worst previous record.

"Over most of the belt there will be but little middle crop and practically no top crop," a statement issued by the department said.

"The swarming plague of boll weevils has advanced almost to the limits of the belt, through the lower third of North Carolina into eleven counties of Tennessee and over most of Arkansas, Oklahoma and practically everywhere, in such numbers and doing such damage as has not been experienced since the period of initial invasion.

"The army and other worms have been present in damaging numbers in most of the territory from the Mississippi westward, stripping the leaves from the plants over large areas.

"Comment is general that the crop may be picked out by early November in much of the central and eastern territory if favorable picking weather continues. The fair and dry September weather has permitted uninterrupted picking and, with labor plentiful and relatively cheap, a larger proportion of the crop probably has been picked out than ever before. In Texas the flood and the weevils have been more or less of an offset to the beneficial rains in the northwestern part of that State.

"In some sections, picking is completed and in much of the East Gulf territory the present picking will get most or all of it. There are fair prospects for clearing off the crop and plowing early to diminish weevil damage next year."

Greatest Methodist Missionary Dies In Japan, Sept 27

On Tuesday, September 27, a wire from Nashville brought the sad news that Bishop W. R. Lambuth died on Monday following an operation in a hospital in Japan. The news will bring sorrow to thousands throughout the world for he was a world citizen.

Walter Russell Lambuth was born on November 10, 1854, in Shanghai, China. His father, Rev. James William Lambuth, and his mother, Mary Isabella McClellan Lambuth, were pioneer missionaries of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in China. In fact, he came of a race of missionaries. His grandfather was a missionary to Alabama in the early years of the nineteenth century, working also among the French and Indians whose languages he acquired. His great-grandfather was a missionary from Virginia to the settlers in Tennessee at the close of the eighteenth century.

He was converted at sea in his stateroom at the ago of fourteen, while on his way to the United States and joined the Church at Lebanon, Tenn., soon after reaching this country. He was educated at Cumberland University, Emory and Henry College, the University of Nashville, graduating from Emory and Henry in 1875. He also took a medical course in Vanderbilt at the head of a class of sixty students. Later he was graduated from Bellevieu Hospital Medical College, New York City, and later studied in Edinburgh and London.

In 1877 he was married to Miss Daisy L. Kelley, daughter of Dr. D. C. Kelley, and a month from their wedding day they sailed from San Francisco under appointment as missionaries to China. In 1880 he was appointed Superintendent of the Japan Mission. In 1888 he established the Girl's School in Hiroshima. In 1889 he established the Kwansei Gakuin in Kobe. In 1892 he was elected Secretary of the Board of Missions, which position he held until elected to the Episcopacy in 1910. At the close of the Spanish-American War he made a tour of the Island of Cuba with a view to reopening and extending missionary work there. He was a delegate to the Ecumenical Conference in 1891 and again in 1901. He was a Commissioner to assist in the union of the Methodist Churches of Japan in 1907.

In 1914 he made a trip into the Congo Belge and established our Congo Mission. This trip involved tremendous labor, he having walked forty-one days over African trails to reach Wembo Nyama, the first station opened.—Texas Christian Advocate.

If This Were Your Washing

A small matter, this—yet only one of the risks incurred in sending the washing "out."

In what you wear, as in what you eat, purity and sanitation are important—and these you can be sure of only in a thoroughly modern laundry like ours.

Consider these things—what you send us is washed in billowy, purifying suds, in four fresh waters; it is rinsed not once, but three or four times, in more clean, clear water. Then ironed at 212 degrees and more, and wrapped, finally in a sunlit room, and in a dust-proof package.

Not mere cleanness—but practical sterilization.

And you'll find it economical, and clothes-conserving, too. Try this modern way by sending us your next family washing. Phone today.

THE PLOW IN THE SOUTH PLAINS COUNTRY

It was only yesterday that the many-million-acred empire which is Northwest Texas was considered the fit inhabitat of prairie dogs, cow punchers and grazing cattle. Today that section is recognized as a granary of the great Southwest, and gives promise of becoming in another decade or so the most important and most productive agricultural region of Texas.

As proof of it, a late report on county agricultural statistics by the Bureau of the Census reveals a marked increase in farming acreage and farming operations in the Panhandle and Plains counties. While the report as yet is partial, covering only a few of the many counties in that section, it may be considered a fair indication of what has happened on the upper Plains in the last ten years. It shows that the number of farms in Lubbock County has increased by 385 per cent; in Crosby County by 234 per cent; in Floyd County by 41 per cent, King County alone showing a decrease. The partial record is significant in view of the fact reports on the older farming counties of Texas have revealed, on the whole, a falling off, rather than a gain in acreage and operations.

Add to this story of progress another story of local origin. It is reported that the Plains region will far outnumber all other sections of Texas with county exhibits in the Agricultural Building at the State Fair this year. Sixteen of the Northwestern counties are already entered as exhibitors. And it is worthy of remark that these Northwestern counties have been making themselves notable, numerically and otherwise, with county exhibits at the fair within recent years.

All of this means that the plow is revolutionizing, enriching and developing a vast section of Texas that is capable of affording ample room and ampler sustenance for a population a thousand times greater than it can claim at present. It means that what may be termed the pioneer producers of the Plains are awake and alert and are bent upon impressing the outer, and until recently incredulous world of the productive possibilities of their great country. The Journal joins the State Fair in helping them along. The Plains country may not come fully into its own for a quarter of a century. But it is moving toward its high destiny now, moving steadily, persistently and surely. And the plow, the modern plow, will be its implement of fulfillment.—Dallas Journal.

IT'S THE SPIRIT OF THE WEST

The spirit of West Texas is alive. Drouths, financial depression, poor markets and the like halt West Texas and the Panhandle, but these sections came back with the resistence of a rubber ball. It is the domitable spirit of the West that at once commands the admiration of the rest of the country, and forges these sections ahead.

The news of the day as it comes from these sections tells its own story of progress and prosperity. The South Plains Fair at Lubbock was so successful the management extended it another day. More than 500 persons from Plainview attended the fair in automobiles to return Lubbock's visit to the Plainview fair, recently held. Delegates from counties along the proposed Puget Sound-to-the-Gulf Highway met in Lubbock, to select the route of the highway and discuss the plans for the building of the road. Callahan County asks for State aid for thirty-five of its schools so that each may have a seven-months term. Hood County holds a successful two-day fair at Granbury; Gaines County's fair at Seagraves is likewise successful. Jacksboro votes bonds for a sewerage system and waterworks, and Tulia is voting on the same propositions. And so it goes.

Every day the news dispatches tell similar stories from different counties. Progress is abroad in the vast region to the West and Northwest of Fort Worth and the towns in that section are growing and developing under conditions that would seem the less courageous and resourceful to hesitate.—Star-Telegram.

MORE COUNTY FAIRS NEXT YEAR

Reports from the county fairs held throughout West Texas and the Panhandle during the past month show these fairs have been more largely attended than ever before. The number of exhibits shown and their quality likewise is said to have been better than ever. More counties in that vast territory held fairs this year than ever, and reports from others indicate that the number of fairs next year will be still greater.

All of which will mean much for the agricultural and livestock development of that great empire. Nothing promotes agricultural development and livestock riasing like the county fair, and the value to the State of its success can hardly be computed in dollars and cents.

West Texas, the Plains Country and the Panhandle region are fast coming into their own. Already they are the granary of the State and value of their crops is increasing enormously every year. There is no limit to their agricultural and livestock resources, and in the development of these the county fairs will be found to have played a leading part.—Star-Telegram.

The announcement is made that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will tender its third annual banquet to the West Texas exhibitors at the State Fair in Dallas on October 15th, which is West Texas Day. Hon. J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls will address the banquet on irrigation.

People are looking Lubbockward. They are coming from every direction to view out the land. And the majority of them are delighted with the conditions that they find in the Lubbock section.

SEMI-WEEKLY AFTER NOVEMBER 1st

After the first of November, or in fact beginning with the first issue in November, the Avalanche will be changed from a weekly to twice a week. This change is made because we believe that Lubbock has reached that stage, where such a publication is necessary. The business people who patronize this paper have grown to a point where they desire to get their messages to the people more frequent, and the semi-weekly route will furnish the service, for a while longer, till the city grows a little more and the country surrounding will settle up, and the mail routes will increase and become more frequent, and a daily will be profitable and necessary in this field, but just at this time, the Avalanche does not feel there is business enough here to justify the publication of a daily paper. The merchants bear us out in this belief and do not feel that they are able to support a daily paper but are quite enthusiastic about the semi-weekly proposition, and will use it as an advertising medium through which to further promote their business interests. The Avalanche is keeping its eyes on the field, and its pulse on the business interests of the city, and when those who support the paper indicate their desire for a daily paper the Avalanche is rearing to go. When Lubbock has better newspaper service the Avalanche will furnish it.

The great fertile fields of the South Plains is about the last big body of land left for the people of the crowded East to come to for good farms, and the next few years will see such a flood of immigration to this section of the country that has never been known before. The East is crowded. Land is extremely high and the one-crop farmer is each year dropping back, and the diversified farmer is taking his place. The South Plains country is the ideal diversified farming section of Texas, and this is fast being recognized and people who want homes, and who farm for a living are coming this way. They are buying and are going to make this great South Plains country their home. This section is far beyond the experimental stage, and farmers are getting down to a more business like way of farming and this will truly be the granary of the South.

The crowded condition of the schools here is sufficient proof that we are greatly in need of more school buildings. Let's begin now to plan for a new High School building. The bond market is no good at present, but will come back, and we should vote bonds for a $150,000 High School building and be ready when the bond market opens up. No town will grow beyond its school facilities, and Lubbock must whip in line and prepare to take care of the people who come here for the purpose of educating their children, which many people do. Our good schools bring many thousand dollars of business to the town every year, besides it increases the value of our property, yet some folks will "bronk" about taxes for educational purposes, and then tell you they are for education. You have not convinced that you are, however!

We understand the order has been given by the Commissioners Court, the City Commission and the Board of Education of the Lubbock Independent School District to proceed to collect all back taxes. That's the stuff. It is the only fair way to deal with the situation. Everyone who owns property should pay their taxes, and thereby keep the valuations down to a minimum, instead of riding the maximum all the time, and making the fellow pay for keeping things running and a lot of fellows slacking on the job. If a man has a just reason for not paying, these things should be adjusted and the matter of tax paying put on an equal basis.

Lubbock has made wonderful progress in the past few years. We have spread out, and our population now covers a large territory, that is not served by the city sewer, water and light service, and it is about time that a move was made to increase this scope of service. The city is now able to float more bonds and this is the only way that an extension of the service can be made, except in a very slow way. A few cents added to the taxes would furnish hundreds of homes with all the facilities while otherwise they are deprived of the conveniences, and at the same time have to pay taxes on the bonds that are already outstanding which furnishes these things to only a comparative few.

The Panhandle-South Plains Fair brought a large number of interested people to this section and they were delighted with the showing in every department. Many sales were made by the various real estate dealers, and there will be many new families move to the South Plains before crop planting time next year. They have seen what the country will produce and have been fully convinced that this is indeed the land of promise.

Today would not be too soon to begin the selling of additional stock in the Panhandle South Plains Fair Association to enlarge the buildings and make other improvements on the fair grounds which is necessary to take care of the rapidly growing fair at this place. It is recognized by people from the South Plains counties that Lubbock is the exact spot for the fair, and Lubbock must not disappoint them. The livestock exhibits would have been doubled this year if the Association could have arranged for their care.

The Lubbock country will produce many thousands of dollars worth of cotton this year, besides the millions of bushels of feed stuff and the thousands of dollars worth of poultry and dairy products. Lubbock is an ideal dairying country.

Even with the large number of new residence buildings under construction, the demand for more homes in Lubbock continues to increase.

Lubbock county without an oil boom or booming of any kind has made the most rapid growth of any other South Plains county in point of agriculture in the past ten years. The government backs this statement by statistical figures.

SIX MEN BUY HOMES IN THE LUBBOCK COUNTRY

Last Saturday the following parties came to Lubbock, looking for new locations for themselves and families: J. C. Berden and L. J. Lee of Red Springs, Texas; J. A. Berden and R. S. Berden of Weinert, Texas; A. L. Tolson of Seymour, Texas; M. Berden of Red Springs, Texas. After spending part of the day out with J. E. Alexander, of the Texas Land Exchange, the entire party decided that the land west of Lubbock was good enough for them, and acting upon that decision each one of the above parties closed a deal for a farm.

We have always contended that the Lubbock country is the best on earth and all that is necessary for a party to become a citizen of country is for him to visit it and make a close inspection of our land, water and climate. Buy your ticket to Texas and on to Lubbock, The Hub.

SOME ITEMS FROM THE RALLS BANNER

J. C. Holt, who handles the mechanical end of the Lubbock Avalanche advertising department in such an efficient and artistic manner, and John Probst, one of the capable linotype operators on the same paper, were here from Lubbock Sunday and were appreciated callers at the Banner office.

It is estimated that there was $10,000 worth of cotton sold in Ralls last Saturday. A few more Saturdays like that one will go a long way toward placing our people on the road that leads to Easy street.

The electric light and ice plant propositions are still hanging fire. At a meeting held at the Crystal Theatre last Thursday morning the promoters agreed that if Ralls people would take $10,000 in stock they would establish these enterprises in our town, whereupon John R. Ralls, with his usual liberal and progressive spirit, proposed to take $5,000 of this stock and furnish sites for the buildings if the remainder of our people would take the other $5,000. The task of raising this money was placed in the hands of a committee consisting of Jno. D. Bird, Edd McLaughlin, R. L. Travis, Jno. R. Ralls and C. E. Dean. These gentlemen are now at work among our people and we feel that we will be able to state that the proposition has been put over in next week's paper, for surely we will not allow such important enterprises to fail for lack of the small sum of $5,000.

LUBBOCK FOOT BALL BOYS WIN FROM FARWELL

Last Thursday afternoon the Farwell foot ball team swooped down upon the Lubbock boys, for a game, whiich was played on the grounds west of the High School building that afternoon.

Through a misunderstanding of the coaches of each team this game was rather unexpected by the Lubbock boys, as they had expected the state liners Friday. However the Lubbock team shook themselves a few times and bowed their necks and gave the visitors a full setting of goose eggs to take back home as a trophy for their efforts to defeat the Lubbock buy, who have played three games without a score against them.

Lubbock Instructor Called to Instruct Judging Team

C. L. Davis, Vocational teacher in the Department of Education at Austin, Texas, was in Lubbock Monday, to ask that our City schools allow the A. and M. Colleges to furnish them one of its men to come to Lubbock and take the place of Prof. Mowery, teacher of Animal Husbandry, in the city schools, while Mr. Mowery goes to the A. and M. College (temporarily) to instruct a class of boys to act as special live stock judges at the Georgia State Fair.

The selection as teacher of this class is not only an honor to Mr. Mowery, but it is a signal honor to Lubbock and her school faculty. It is pleasing to note that when a competent Instructor is required by our higher institutions of learning, the Lubbock faculty can furnish the adequate requirement, from Superintendent to grade teacher.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

The Dirt that Sifts from Your Clothes

If you could see the common street dirt, dust and grit that sifts from your clothes when they are dusted in our special dusting machine before we clean them, you'd wonder what happens when you wear clothes that are not dry-cleaned.

Of course the dirt sifts through, onto your under apparel—and your person.

More than that, it grinds and cuts the fibres of your outer garments—they wear out faster than they should.

Both for health's sake and economy's sake, skirts, jackets, suits and coats should be dry-cleaned frequently—and of course there is the matter of good looks to be considered, too.

Have us call for your things today. We dry-clean the modern way.

Texas Schools Get High Scores on Health Chores

Four Texas schools have received recognition from the National Tuberculosis Association for having the highest score for doing health chores in the state of Texas during the spring months of the past school year. The chores were performed by children competing in the Modern Health Crusade movement which is conducted by the Texas Public Health Association under the direction of Miss Pearl N. Hyer, Children's secretary.

To win a National pennant every student in the grade which enters the contest is required to do at least 54 of the 72 chores each week for a period of fifteen weeks. To win a banner each student must do all the 72 chores for the same period of time.

The Modern Health Crusade is conducted for the purpose of teaching the students health habits, which consist of keeping the hands, face, neck, teeth and body clean, eating nourishing food, taking the proper exercise, sleeping with the windows open and their value in building up resistance against disease. The health habits taught the students will be carried on after they leave the school. These health facts were taught to over six million school children last year in the United States and several foreign countries.

The 1921-22 Modern Health Crusade is starting now in Texas and the different schools are determined to bring more of these pennants to Texas this year. Plans have been completed to make the Crusade this year the most successful ever conducted in Texas.

DR. BALLINGER UNDERWENT OPERATION MONDAY

The many friends of Dr. C. M. Ballinger will regret to learn that he was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis Monday and was operated on at the Lubbock Sanitarium. They will be glad however to learn that he is doing nicely, and in due course of time will be back home and at his place of business.

Rass Ritchey who was operated upon for appendicitis at the West Texas sanitarium here several days ago, returned to his home at Hale Center last Sunday.

Salvation Army Does Great Work at San Anotnio

San Antonio, September 20.—Wading through flood waters which have swept the business and residential districts here, Salvation Army officers have added another laurel to their crowns by their heroic efforts to relieve the suffering of the thousands made homeless from the effects of the heaviest rainfall in a century in San Antonio.

On Sunday morning, when the waters were at their highest, Captains Comer and Upper, of the Salvation Army, went to the city hall and offered their services, equipment and quarters in behalf of the flood sufferers. They were the first of the relief organizations to take hold of the situation according to the chief of police, who was in charge of the flooded area of the city.

The entire stocks of provisions found in several stores were purchased outright by Colonel George Wood, who arrived on the scene during the day, and many of the homeless were quartered in Army buildings. Several families were reunited in the Army headquarters who had become separated during the night of horror which followed the unprecedented torrent.

The Rescue and Maternity Home at 3019 River Avenue was in the path of the flood and the 50 girls and babies there were in danger for some time of being marooned. The water only reached about two feet in the home, however, before recession started. The damage to the home is estimated to be $3,000.

Mayor Black and other city officials have written their appreciation to Salvation Army officers for the excellent service rendered during the flood.

THE WORLD'S 1921 WHEAT CROP IS AMPLE TO FEED ALL THE PEOPLE IF IT IS PROPERLY DISTRIBUTED

There is no danger of a world shortage of wheat during the coming year, and there is at present no indication of an undue surplus, according to the October issue of Commerce monthly published by the National Bank of Commerce in New York. World wheat production and requirements are approximately in balance.

"Estimated 1921 production of wheat in twenty countries which before the war produced 68 per cent of the known wheat crop of the world aggregates 2,490,000 bushels last year," Commerce Monthly says.

"The 1921 crop of the United States is estimated at 754,000,000 bushels and of Canada at 294,388,000 bushels. Allowing 600,000,000 bushels in the United States and 90,000,000 bushels in Canada for consumption and seeding requirements, and assuming a normal carryover at the beginning and end of the wheat year, there would be available for export from the two countries before July 1, 1922 a little over 350,000,000 bushels.

"All hope of surplus wheat supplies from Russia has been abandoned and famine relief in that country may make an appreciable drain on international supplies. Crops in the northern Africa are fairly good, following a very poor harvest last year, but a normal exportable surplus is not expected. Exports from India are reported to have been prohibited entirely, because of the poor crop and high prices, and no improvement can be expected before the 1922 harvest. Argentina and Australia still have a fairly large share of their last crops. The amount available for export from Argentina on July 1 is estimated at over 40,000,000 bushels and from Australia at about 50,000,000 bushels allowing for a normal carryover in each country.

"Current stocks in Europe are not large but are distinctly better than last year and are sufficient to meet requirements until the new harvest is available. Normally western Europe imports an average of 400,000,000 bushels of wheat annually. Of this amount Russia formerly supplied 150,000,000 bushels. In the last crop year, ending July 1, 1921, Canada and the United States together furnished net exports of about 475,000,000 bushels, of which the greater part was sent to Europe.

"The estimated exportable surplus of 350,000,000 bushels from the United States and Canada, together with the 90,000,000 bushels carryover in Argentina and Australia, therefore, make a total of 440,000,000,000 bushels available to meet the international demand. This apparently balances the probable European requirements, with a reasonable allowance for Russian requirements."

CALOMEL MAY TURN ON YOU NEXT TIME

Next Dose You Take May Salivate and Start World of Trouble

Calomel is mercury; quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel. It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. 10-13

Four tons of medicines and drugs, thirty-five carloads of hospital clothing valued at $630,000 are from the European stocks of the Red Cross, according to cable advices received at the National Red Cross Headquarters in Washington. Other shipments include $50,000 worth of towels and blankets for hospital use, and thirty-five cases of surgical dressings. Lieut. Col. Henry W. Beeuwkes, who was a member of General Pershing's staff in France, is in charge of the medical operations in Russia.

GAINES COUNTY VOTES BONDS TO COMPLETE COURT-HOUSE

Seagraves, Texas, Sept. 29.—The $55,000 bond issue for completing the Gaines County courthouse and jail carried by an overwhelming majority. The unfinished structure of the courthouse has been standing for more than two years. Work was suspended on the building because of the failure of the company who bought the county script. The matter has been in the courts for some time.

MANY FIRES OCCUR THAT COULD BE AVERTED—LITTLE PRECAUTION MIGHT SAVE MILLIONS OF LOSSES

Farm fires cost about $20,000,000 a year—$18,166,710 of the fires that year 83 per cent were from causes classed as preventable, 37 per cent from partly preventable causes, and 30 per cent unknown but believed to have been largely preventable. With inadequate fire-fighting equipment on farms, fires are hard to control. Prevention is the best way to deal with them.

Defective chimneys and flues took toll to the extent of $1,962,031; sparks on roofs $1,181,171; careless use of matches by smokers and others, $1,071,987; petroleum and its products, $732,067; and stoves, furnaces, boilers, and their pipes, $674,968.

The largest item listed as partly preventable is lightning, $3,933,950.

Fire Prevention Week should be made a special time for looking over the premises to see that the buildings are in the best practicable shape to prevent and resist fire; that inflammable rubbish is cleared away; and that habits of safety are instilled in the handling of matches, lamps, stoves, and kerosene and gasoline.

Gasoline has come to play such an important part in farm life that special care should be taken to see that it is not stored in inflammable buildings, and is never opened in the presence of uncovered flame.

Fire Prevention week ends on the semi-centennial of the great Chicago Fire. While occurring in a great city, the traditional cause of this fire was one which is liable to occur in the country—the upsetting of a lantern in a stable. If lanters must be used in barns, they should be kept in good condition, set or hung in a safe place, and never filled or lighted in the barn.

Numerous disastrous fires are caused by threshing machines, both by scattered sparks and embers and by dust explosions in the separators. All smokestacks should have spark arresters, and the ground around the boiler should be kept clear and wet down if necessary. Grain dust explosions are largely preventable. The United States Department of Agriculture has made exhaustive studies of the subject and is prepared to recommend adequate safeguards.

Serious losses are caused by sparks from locomatives, which ignite dry wooden shingle roofs and start many fires in straw, stubble, and grass during dry seasons. If a railroad runs through the farm, it will pay to plow a few furrows along the right of way as a fire break.

Kerosene lamps should be examined to see that the burners are in good condition, and should never be left where they may be upset. Kerosene and gasoline receptacles should be kept apart and should be so different as to avoid possibility of a mistake.

Ordinary friction matches should be kept in safe receptacles, away from children, and never carried loose. Smoking in barns and garages never should be permitted. Fire marshals of Western States report greater fire losses in grain and straw the past season from carelessly thrown matches, engine sparks and automobile and tractor backfire, than ever before.

Buildings may be made safer by seeing that the chimneys are without cracks and free of soot, which may take fire and scatter sparks on dry droofs. Flues which may become hot should be covered with asbestos and any near-by walls and ceilings protected. There should be a sheet of metal under every stove.

Out of all the losses by lightning, not one was on a building protected by lightning rods. It is now definitely known that lightning rods afford protection. If installed intelligently they reduce the risk from lightning almost to the vanishing point.

Public schools may well devote an hour afternoon to a special fire prevention program. Some prominent citizen could be called in for a talk. Essays and perhaps, a playlet by the children would help impress the matter on their minds. Some schools already have a weekly 15 minute lesson on fire prevention. The plan iis admirable.

Meetings of farm organizations are particularly proper occasions for fire prevention programs. These organizations frequently have a first insurance association.

The lesson of fire prevention should be taken to every rural home and community. Precautionary measures will do much to cut down a loss that takes millions of dollars out of the possession of rural Americans every year and leaves nothing in its place. Prevention is better than regret.

BARNES CIRCUS WILL BRING DAY OF REAL PLEASURE

All roads in this section will lead to Lubbock on Thursday, October, 27 where the Al. G. Barnes big 4-ring wild animal show is billed to give two performances and a brilliant street parade.

Just as the ponderous, pea-eyed, palm-eared pachyderm towers above the miserable, morbid, and melancholy mouse, does the Al. G. Barnes Circus overtop all other tented aggregations.

In the steel-barred cages of the Barnes show are to be found the greatest collection of wild animals ever before gathered en group. Even opposition circus men reluctantly admit it. Animals, like figures, can't lie, and all may be counted. It is the boast of Al. G. Barnes that under the canvas of his big 4-Ring show may be seen the finest and best examples of jungle, plain, and desert life. Each in his way is a perfect specimen. And, what is more, each is trained. In all, 110 animal acts are presented.

Years have been spent in making the collection unique, novel, and extraordinary. Patrons of previous years have been lavish in their praise not only of the animals as exhibited, but in the remarkable prowess of the Barnes trainers, for each has, in his way, achieved the hitherto impossible.

It's Wearing Quality You Want

And You Want It At the Right Price

—We are believers in and try to practice our belief that people want good clothes, made up well and out of good materials, but they don't care about buying a "bunch" of frills that answer nothing more than a passing whim. Most people are conservative followers of style dictation and that is right. We cater to them and to those who want one hundred cents value with each dollar they spend. We have led in bargain making and price adjustments in Lubbock and people realize it.

Our Customers Come Back

—Therefore, we refer you to this fact, because only from it can you judge whether or not a merchant is selling goods that wear, that satisfy.

Our Winter Stock

—Is complete. From stockings and shoes for the school children to Overcoats, Blankets, Raincoats, Quilts, etc, etc. There's wearing quality, style and service in the goods we have for you this winter and we are selling them to you just as reasonable as you can expect and at a saving which you will be quick to realize and appreciate.

Are Goods Going Higher?

—Perhaps you have read and became convinced that since cotton markets has doubled its prospects of a few months ago, that the goods we buy from the cotton purchased at the higher prices will be higher to us and therefore higher to you. We are still selling our goods on the margin we bought them on, not on what we might buy them, at today or in a few weeks. Judge for yourself and see if it isn't the best time to get all cotton goods you need for the winter?

Government Loans Cover a Large List of Farm Products

Stamford, Texas, Oct. 1.—Word was received here today by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from Marion Sanson, Chairman of the Ft. Worth Committee, having in charge livestock loans through the War-Finance Corporation, that these loans will be on any kind of agricultural products, including livestock, cattle, hogs and sheep. This is considered of extraordinary importance in the entire grain-sorphum belt of West Texas. It was announced recently at the Texas Grain Dealers Association that West Texas was about to harvest the largest grain-sorghum ever grown and since the West Texas Chamber of Commerce estimated this crop to be more than 80,000,000 bushels, it is anticipated by the farmer and stockman that there will be an extraordinary amount of this grain marketed in the form of hogs poultry, sheep and cattle. This means that there will be a demand for the loans for hogs and sheep of unparaled degree. It has, however, been the custom for ranchmen and small farmers to borrow money on cattle and swine. The bankers have ordinarily been taking care of the small farmer in the way of handling loans for the handling of swine. It is certain that it is this type of loan that the bankers will welcome, as the farmers desires to engage in the swine industry on a larger scale, exactly as they have welcomed aid to cattle men and ranchmen.

COYOTES SERIOUS MENACE TO NEW MEXICO LIVESTOCK

Roswell, N. M., Oct. 6.—Coyote control is one of the big factors now confronting the livestock men of Eastern New Mexico. Cattle and sheep men are unanimous in stating that coyotes have reaped heavy harvest during the past year and stockmen are now seeking methods to meet the situation. Coyote control organizations have been formed at Hope, Pinen, Weed, Mayhill, Cloudcroft, Glencoe, Carrizozo, Three Rivers, Tularosa, San Marcial and Hansenberg.

The territory covered by these organizations extends from the Pecos to the Rio Grande and from Roswell to Las Cruces and Alamogordo.

Lumber Man Is Optimistic About the Plains

"With each recent visit to the Panhandle and Plains Country of Texas, its beauty is more strongly certain of its ultimate supremacy as a great productive area and field for all branches of legitimate business."

With all of the enthusiasm of a man of fewer years, A. C. Houston, president of the Panhandle Lumber Company, voiced this statement. He is fired with a zeal and fervent expectancy for all this territory that is unsurpassed, by even the pronounced resident "booster" in Amarillo, or at any other point in the Panhandle-Plains.

Although Mr. Houston has attained to the half-century mark in age, he is still young and vigorous of heart and thought. He looks with the eyes of a man whose future is inseparably linked with his matchless territory. Mr. Houston declines to talk of "years long gone," and he has little time for the discussions of "those good old days." The fact is that Mr. Houston stands in the front rank and expresses the ideas of the hopeful young man, coupled with the wisdom born of experience.

During the visit to Amarillo and this portion of the state recently Mr. Houston, in conversation with a representative of The News, said: "I am always astonished with the new developments and suggestions of added possibilities in this marvelous country with each return visit. As I look about me today I am rejoinded of our initial interest in this portion of the Southwest. I came here first with a view to buying an established business in our line, but an option was held by another man who took it over, and I am informed, has found his investment profitable. We later initiated our own plant, and I am glad to be able to say that it has never disappointed, but on the contrary, has exceeded our rights of expectation.

"We are glad to have even the part that has been ours in this development. Not only at Amarillo, but in numerous other communities we have been extended a hearty welcome and a share of the patronage in our line to an extent that could not be other than highly gratifying. This country, while developed to an astonishing degree over the showing at the time we came here, is but at the threshold of its possibilities. I see great things in the future for this most remarkable country. It is the country for the man who has ability, ambition, push and a determination to do things.

"Nor would I confine my statements to references bearing on the lands, the climate, the cattle, the conditions favorable to material wealth, but would include the people,—men, women and children unsurpassed in all the United States today. With the ruddy glow of health, the vigorous bodies and minds, the high ideals, the purposeful program of development in every line, make of this territory one that is potentially a paradise of good things. Now I have enjoyed my association with the good people of this portion of the state of Texas! I feel entirely at home, there is no cringing obsequiousnss, nor is there any ultra exaltation. Out here, man meets, greets and converse with man, as a friend as an equal in the mighty inheritance of the Giver of every good and perfect gift.—Amarillo News.

STATE AUTO LICENSE NUMBERS ARE NOW READY FOR 1922

Austin, Oct. 2.—The Texas highway department has received several seals, number plates, forms an other tax collector's supplies for 1922 and will begin shipping them to the several counties within a few days, the department announced.

Heretofore the commission has had considerable trouble in getting contracts filled for these supplies on account of the war and other abnormal conditions. The contractors were prompt this year, however, which made it possible for the department to ship the supplies by freight instead of express, thereby effecting a considerable saving.

There will be no change in number plates for motor vehicles for 1922. Seals for 1922 will be black letters on orange background. Dealers distinguishing plates will be black letters on orange background and motorcycle seals will be black letters on dark red back ground.

There will be little change in forms used for 1922. The only change was made to conform with the new truck law.

The commission has suggested that car owners in large cities obtain their license for 1922 as soon as possible in order to avoid the rush, which comes with the closing days of January.

Making Extraordinary Mileage a Certainty—

Car Owners want more rubber on the tread where the wear is hardest; more gum between cord plies to perfect a resilient and powerful carcass. And they want a scientifically constructed Non Skid tread with all angles and contacts to resist skidding and give sure traction. Firestone Cord Tires have met these demands of the car owners.

Read Letters Below—
Records from 29,000 to 57,000 Miles

Cord Tires built the Firestone way could not fail to produce mileage. Every day, from all over the country, comes the word that 10,000, 20,000 or 30,000 miles are frequent and consistent records. Now and then they are emphasized by unusual instances such as quoted below. Performances like these demonstrate the ultimate possibilities of Firestone Cords under careful driving.

Sept. 10, 1921

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.,
Jacksonville Branch,
Jacksonville, Florida.

Gentlemen:—

I submit herewith the history of a 33x4 Firestone Cord tire. This tire has run 57,000 miles. I have retreaded it seven times. The average mileage to each retreading was about 7,000. I think you will agree this is a remarkable record. It is especially unusual as I know the owner to be a severe driver. However, he gives his tires proper inflation. The tire in question is not yet out of service and has every indication of being sufficiently strong for another retread. I am mailing photographs under separate cover.

C. U. Penney,
Plant City, Fla.

Sept. 2, 1921

The Harvey E. Mack Co.,
Thirteenth & Harmon Place,
Minneapolis.

Gentlemen:—

It occurs to me that you might be interested in the mileage that I obtained from the set of Firestone Cord tires on my Dodge coupe. The first tire went over 29,000 miles. The second tire rolled up a mileage of between 34,000 and 35,000. These were both rear tires and had been cut considerably by chains. The two front tires have gone better than 35,000 miles and are still in good condition. I expect to get at least 40,000 miles from each of them. I need scarcely say that the Firestone Cord will be my tire choice for the future.

ORDINANCE NO. 201

AN ORDINANCE fixing and defining the fire limits of the City of Lubbock, Texas; providing that only structures of a certain standard with reference to inflamability shall be built, erected or constructed therein, that no building not reaching such standard shall be moved, in or within such fire limits; prohibiting repairs upon buildings now within such limits when the repairs reach a certain percentage of the value of such building sought to be repaired; providing the manner of determining if structures within such district are detrimental to public safety, and for the mode of compelling the removal thereof; repealing all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith; providing penalties for the violation of any part hereof; and declaring an emergency.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Lubbock, Texas.

Section 1. The following blocks within the original town of Lubbock, Texas, are hereby declared to be within the fire limits: 87, 88, 102, 103, 104, 105, West half 106, Blocks 118, 119, 120, 132, 133, 134, 135, North half 136, East half 149, West half 150.

Section 2. There shall not be built or constructed on any lot, or lots, within the fire limits any structure the walls and covering whereof shall not be of fire proof materials; nor shall any structure be moved from any place onto any lot or lots within said limits which has not its walls and covering of such materials.

Section 3. No building now within said fire limits, and constructed of other than fireproof materials as set out in Section 2, shall be repaired if the cost of such repairs shall exceed fifty per centum of the value of such building as it stands without repair.

Section 4. That whenever in the judgment of the City Commission, any building or structure shall become delapidated, or in such condition as to render it a menace to property or to public safety the Commission may notify the owner or person in charge thereof to appear before it at a day named in such notice, which shall be not less than ten nor more than twenty days from the date of such notice, and show cause why said building or structure should not be condemned as unsafe and removed from such fire limits; if, at such hearing, it shall be the judgment of the City Commission, that such building or structure be condemned as aforesaid and ordered removed from the fire limits, the owner thereof shall within ten days from the date of such order remove the building or structure from the fire limits, and upon his failure to do so he shall be deemed to have violated this ordinance, and each day the said structure or building, or any part thereof, remains within such fire limits, shall be a separate offense.

Section 5. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed.

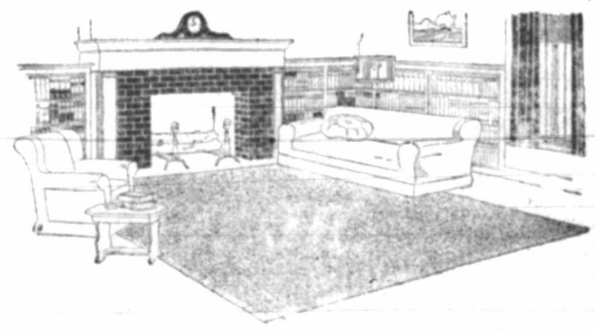

Section 6. Any person violating, or causing to be violated, any part hereof shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars.

Section 7. The fact that there is no ordinance adequately protecting the property within the limits above named from hazards of fire, and the great need to prevent fires within such district, creates an emergency and public necessity that the rule requiring ordinances to be read at two several meetings before enactment be suspended and that this ordinance be passed at the meeting of its introduction, and be effective after due publication, and it is so ordered.

Passed and approved this 27 day of September, 1921.

OFF TO THE STATE FAIR AND DALLAS EXPOSITION

County Judge Brown and the board of County Commissioners left Wednesday morning for the State Fair at Dallas. Several of our citizens were at the station and presented the Judge and Commissioners with one cent each and wished for them a most enjoyable and profitable trip. The reporter feels sure that the Lubbock bunch will talk our town and wonderful country while away, as their finances will not allow them to exceed the speed limit while in Dallas. We have wired "State Press" of the Dallas News to extend to them every courtesy, consistent with a one cent Bill of Fare, and by all means to see that they do not buy all the road machinery shown them while on this trip, realizing that it is no trouble for them to do so, but it would work a hardship on the tax payers of the county.

The Terry County people believe in showing their farm products. They have a fine agricultural exhibit in a building on west side of the public square.

Come In!

We want you to come in as soon as you can because we believe we can tell you as we have told a good many other car owners—how to make your battery last longer and serve better.

When you do come in, why not stay until you have pumped us dry of every bit of battery information that may help you to get MORE MILES of uninterrupted service PER DOLLAR.

We'll tell you why rubber had to be made porous before it could be used for battery insulation and how the threads turn the trick.

Making New Homes Out of Old Ones

Maybe you live in one of those severely plain houses built a number of years ago. All about you see modern homes being built with considerable thought to exterior beauty as well as interior convenience. Architecture has changed. Tastes have changed. Home owners want their dwellings to appear cozy, comfortable and livable to the passer-by.

What are you going to do? Abandon the old home?

WHY NOT REMODEL IT?

This house in the picture is a remodeled house. No changes were made inside. Carpenters simply added the dormers, the porches, the blower boxes and re-arranged the windows. The result is a mighty attractive home.

YOU MAY NOT NEED SPECIAL PLANS FOR REMODELING—COME IN AND LOOK OVER OUR PLAN SERVICE FOR IDEAS—YOU'LL FIND MANY OF THEM THAT CAN BE UTILIZED

CITY UNEMPLOYMENT

In a cartoon printed recently in an eastern newspaper an attempt was made to portray the downtrodden condition of the present day farmer. Two views were shown. One represented the farmer of a century ago when two out of three families lived on the farm. In this picture a stalwart farmer walked erect, carrying with ease his burden, a diminutive city man. The other picture represented present conditions when two families out of three live in town, and must be supported by one family living on the farm. In this picture the farmer, only half as large as the city man he carried, is bent under a load that is too heavy to be borne.

In referring to the change that has occurred in the last century in the ratio of the rural to urban population, we are in the habit of saying that the farmer family once had only itself to support and that now it must provide food and raiment for three families, one on the farm and two in town. In saying this however, we do not mean to imply that the farmer gives the town dweller anything, neither do we attempt to obscure the fundamental fact that farming is business and not charity. Farmers do not raise crops to keep the world from starving any more than manufacturers, run clothing factories to keep the world from going naked. What keeps the farmer going beyond the point of providing a mere living for his family is the hope of making a profit on the surplus he produces. We all realize that the elementary needs of humankind can be not only when supplying those needs yields a profit to the more intelligent and industrious of those engaged in the business and a living for the average worker.

The cartoonist in attempting to express unqualified sympathy for the farmer in his present plight, while perfectly well intentioned, was woefully misquided in his thinking. No one doubts that the present day farmer has many ills to bear, but one of them is not that there are too few engaged in farming. A situation in which too few farmers cannot help being highly satisfactory to those who are engaged in this industry, just as a situation in which there were too few grocers, could only be regarded as exceedingly fortunate for those selling groceries.

Looking at the matter from the standpoint of the farmer the worst thing that could befall him would be to bring more people back to the land and set them to competing with those already there. As it is the world has plenty of food, and as many farmers are now engaged in tilling the soil as are needed to keep up the supply.

The best thing for the farmer and everybody else would be to give those now living in town the opportunity to work at reasonable wages so they could buy at remunerative prices all that the farmer produces. Unemployment in the city hurts farm business almost as much as it does that of the manufacturer whose factory is closed and that of the merchant whose goods find no buyers.

If we can keep all the people that are now in town profitably employed, we shall soon get back to normal basis. No one would attempt to picture the disarrangement and distress that would result if we found it necessary to empty in part the city of its workingmen and try to find profitable employment for them in the country when the country has all the help it needs.

BIG JOB COMPLETED FOR DAWSON COUNTY

The Dawson county Chamber of Commerce, at Lamesa, last week placed and order with the Avalanche job department for 10,000 descriptive booklets, to be used at the State Fair in advertising their section of the south Plains. It was a two color job, and with this quantity was a big undertaking for any well equipped shop but the Avalanche was game, and began to deliver these books to the Dawson county booth Tuesday morning, and before this is in print the entire order will be filled, and we believe it as neat a job of printing as any bunch of printers ever turned out. With the aid of the new Kelly automatic press recently installed in the Avalanche plant, we do work quickly and acurately, and we are getting a great deal of work from all over the South Plains, and we have received many compliments of the class of work that we do.

FORMER METHODIST PASTOR VISITS HERE MONDAY

Rev. Ben Hardy, of Big Spring, who has been pastor there the past two years, stopped off here Monday, enroute to his home, having been in attendance upon the Northwest Texas Annual Conference at Amarillo. He was formerly pastor of the church at this place. He filled the pastorate of the Methodist church in Lubbock for four years, and has many friends here who are glad to meet him again.

Briggs & Denman, successors to Biggs & Young, will move their office from the Leader building into the Conley building about the 15th of this month. They will be glad to have the public visit them in their new quarters.

Business Operates On Confidence

Great financiers of the world claim that no other thing contributes so much for the building of business as does the confidence the individual concerns have gained. This is so in the dealings with nations or between nations. It must, then, be the object of the future successful man to build or start building confidence among his fellowmen.

Confidence Is the Mother of Credit

Confidence is the road leading to success and financial independence. Men deal with those whom they have confidence in liberally.

We want to co-operate with you and help you establish a credit foundation. May we?

LUBBOCK BOYS WILL PLAY AMARILLO FRIDAY

Lubbock's undefeated foot ball team wiill go to Amarillo Friday morning to face the Amarillo squad, or a test of superiority in foot balling. The Lubbock boys are full of confidence of victory, and the coaches are equally sure that the Lubbockites will acquit themselves in the usual peppy way, and that they will defend their record admirably on that day.

A large enthusiastic crowd should accompany the boys and back them up with all the pep that is in their being, and let the boys know that they have the backing of their home people, and it will help them a great deal to break the lines of defense of the opposing team, and help them to deal out another setting of goose eggs for the boys of the north plains.

PARENTS AS EDUCATORS

Who Is Jane's Teacher?

By Anne Goodwin Williams, National Kindergarten and Elementary College.

"Who is Jane's Teacher?" we asked of the mother of a charming little eight year old girl. The mother mentioned the name of Jane's teacher in the public school and then together we performed some arithmetical problems to prove that "Miss Bennett" was only one of Jane's many teachers and that her teaching hours were less than those of some of the others.

Suppose, we said, that Jane sleeps from seven o'clock until seven then in a year she has 4,380 waking hours—and only 1,000 of those hours are spent in school during the year—What of the 3,380 hours remaining? Who is teaching Jane then? She is certainly learning. Sometimes her playmates are her teachers, with lessons sometimes helpful, sometimes harmful. The father's teaching hours are limited to Sundays and holidays with an occasional evening hour; the Sunday School teacher may get twenty-five hours a year, but of course, the real teacher is the mother. Every day of the year, she teaches her little daughter; even during the child's sickness lessons continue, lessons of patience, gentleness and self control.

If anyone were to ask of the school teacher that she teach music, art, literature, domestic science and manual training, she would know it was impossible. And yet, that is just what is demanded of the mother as an educator.

Music! Yes, she is teaching music when she sings at her work or helps Jane select good music for the Victrola instead of Jazz. And as she arranges her home tastefully, with appropriate pictures, she is often unconsciously forming the child's taste in Art.

"What stories shall I read to the children?" we Kindergartners are asked again and again by eager mothers who feel that ordinary "trashy" stories are not good enough for the children who are so greatly influenced by the stories they hear and read.

The mother knows. This wise mother-educator who is asked to teach domestic science, how necessary it is for her little daughter to learn helpfulness in household duties. "I can't iron big things yet but I can iron all the handkerchiefs, daddy's and mother's and John's and mine," said little Jane with pride.

Actions are judged right or wrong according to mother's approval or disapproval. She is, indeed, the great teacher of morals. "Slip in behind those people so the conductor won't see you," I heard a woman say to a little boy one day as I was boarding a crowded street car. He succeeded in "fooling the conductor" and in getting a definite lesson in cheating and in dishonor.

Religious training, as well as moral, is part of the great task and the joyous task of the teacher-mother,—and is it not a glad sign for future America that so many mothers of our great country are, in their hearts, uniting in the prayer of "Motherhood" so beautifully given by Eleanor Robbins Wilson in a recent number of Good Housekeeping?

"So short a time at my command
These children that I hold tonight,
God give me grace to understand,
Wisdom to guide their steps aright
That I may be throughout the land,
A lamp unto their feet for light.

"So short a time do small hands cling
With confidence of babyhood,
Let me not idly dream the thing,
But live the noble part I should,
That henceforth from such mothering
They shall instinctively seek good.

"So short a time for my embrace,
For love, cheer, comfort, lullabies,
God help me hallow the brief space
That turns to gold each sacrifice—
So surely does a mother's grace
Build her soul's mansion in the skies."

In these rapid days some children are seting their parents a good example.

Miss Era May Perkins from Ballinger, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. J. Hicks.

Many Plainview and Hale county people have attended the South Plains Fair held in Lubbock this week, Tuesday to Friday, and as Tuesday was Plainview day a very large number went to Lubbock. The fair has permanent grounds and a number of exhibit buildings. The exhibits this year are especially fine in both farm products and live stock. Among the hogs are a herd of Duroc-Jerseys from Helen-Temple farm, also Dr. Barnes and Mr. Marshall and others at Hale Center have several head of this breed. The NEW EDISON is positively the only phonograph that can sustain the acid test of direct comparison with the living artist. It has given this amazing performance of direct comparison over 5,000 times before over four million people.

This Picture Means Something To You!

THIS picture is sketched from an actual photograph made of Bamboschek, principal conductor of the Metropolitan Opera, listening to the great Muzio sing in comparison with the New Edison's RE-CREATION of her voice. After the comparison, Bamboschek in amazement said:

"I have heard a comparison between Miss Claudia Muzio's voice and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. I consider that the quality of Miss Muzio's living voice and the quality of her RE-CREATED voice are identical."

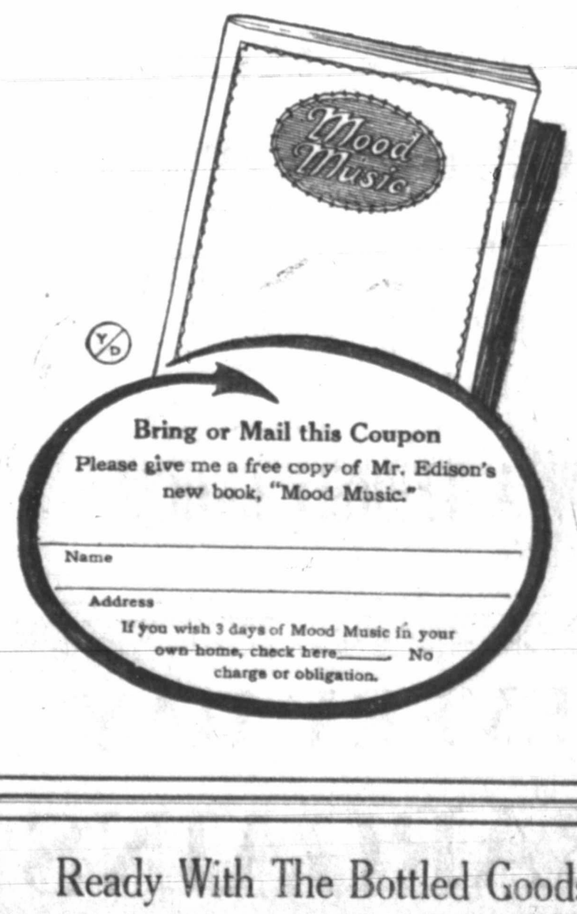

Is Bamboschek's Judgment Good Enough For You?

BAMBOSCHEK knows every note of Muzio's voice as you know the voice of the one nearest and dearest to you—and he pronounced Muzio's voice and its RE-CREATION on the New Edison IDENTICAL. Can you ask for any more—or could there be any more, positive proof that the New Edison gives you the performance of great artists with perfect, life-like realism? And it is significant, that only the New Edison dares to make direct comparison with the living artist or artists.

If You Give Due Thought to Tomorrows, We Recommend That You Buy a Double Burner or Round Oak Square Base Heater Today

Most any heating stove you might select will give pretty good service for a few years and then comes the expense of repairs—the re-building of fires on very cold mornings—the extravagant use of fuel and usually the replacement of the heater itself.

Isn't it advisable to buy a stove whose first cost is the final cost—whose first cost returns to you value received immediately and then starts paying for itself in the saving? We are telling you just a few of the good things about the Round-Oak Double Burner or other Round-Oak Heaters. When we show you the seamless castings, the double firepot, the efficient hot blast in the regular heaters and the double hot blast in the double burner, door frames rivited on, (not bolted), the extra heavy cold rolled, refined boiler iron body and other improvements, you will know why there is only one genuine Round-Oak and three hundred and more imitations.

If you folks agree with us that the value of a heating stove is measured, not by the price on the tag, but by the quality and quantity of service and satisfaction rendered in after years you will agree that the Round Oak is the stove for you to place in your home.

Are we going to have the opportunity tomorrow?
