Resolution To Balance Books Gains Support

Senate's Interest In House-Approved Pensions Is Shaky

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 2—Senator Bridges (R-NH), one of the leaders of the current economy drive, branded as "ridiculous" today a suggestion that congressmen take a 5 per cent pay cut to help cut government costs.

At the same time Bridges agreed with Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) that Congress should remain in session "until Christmas, if necessary" to consider $3,000,000,000 of savings in government costs proposed by former President Hoover.

Four Choices Given

Bridges, former chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, testified before the Senate expenditures committee in support of a resolution that would direct President Truman to balance the budget.

He said Congress can do one of four things—"increase taxes, encourage deficit financing, simply drift along with the tide, or cut expenditures to the level of estimated revenues."

Bridges said press reports indicate that Senator Tydings (D-Md), author of another proposal for cutting government costs, has suggested congressmen take a 5 per cent pay cut.

"I disagree with Senator Tydings," Bridges said emphatically. "I think it's ridiculous to ask that Congress take a 5 per cent cut in salaries. The cost of Congress is a very minor item and beside the point."

Silent On Pensions

Senators pushing the economy drive had little to say about a veterans pension bill passed overwhelmingly by the House.

Instead the senators applauded action of their appropriations committee in whacking off nearly $13,000,000 cash from operating funds voted by the House for the State and Justice departments.

The Senate expenditures committee, too, recalled Budget Bureau officials for testimony on plans to lop off from one to more than three billion dollars from President Truman's spending plans.

Senate Views Unknown

By a 365 to 27 roll call vote, the House quickly stamped approval yesterday on a $72-a-month pension to be given World War I and II veterans when they become 65

Car Pilfered; Papers Taken

Valuable papers consisting of a power of attorney, deeds, contracts, releases and the like, as well as a leather jacket and other properties, were reported stolen in the night from R. K. Pittman of 215 Forty-fourth.

They were in his car, which was pilfered.

Sheriff John Freeman of Muleshoe informed the Lubbock county sheriff's department that a tool box containing numerous tools had been stolen from the tool shack of the American Legion building there. Wiley Bowers was listed as the owner.

Steer Is Missing

A black Angus steer was stolen in Muleshoe this week, the sheriff also said.

C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, set peace bond of $500 for John Santidanez, 34, a Mexican who pleaded guilty of having threatened to kill his wife Ascension with a pistol. Santidanez had not posted the bond, so remained in custody early this afternoon.

The sheriff's department said 10 Mexican nationals who had entered this country illegally were removed from county jail and started on a trip to their homeland. Port of entry will be Presidio, it was expected.

Arthur Lee Ivey, 50, of Lubbock route 7, who was sentenced Tuesday to five years in the penitentiary for murder without malice of Leonard Bailey, posted $5,000 appeal bond Wednesday

Groom Breaks Neck, Ex-Lubbockite Wed In Bedside Services

FORT WORTH, June 2 (U.P.)—A former Lubbock young woman was a June bride today, despite the fact her husband has a broken neck.

Miss Mary Farmer, formerly of Lubbock and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Trammel of Lorenso, was married in a bedside ceremony last night to E. J. Darling whose neck was broken in two places in a highway accident May 10.

The ceremony was performed at the home here of the bride's uncle, Burl Trammel, by the Rev. F. B. Hamilton of White Settlement Baptist church.

Darling must spend at least two more months in a brace and cast.

Federal Agent Defying Court

CHICAGO, June 2 (U.P.)—A federal judge might send a key FBI agent to jail today in a squabble touched off on the opening day of the court fight to get Roger (The Terrible) Touhy out of prison.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes ordered Chicago FBI Chief George McSwain to produce confidential files in the notorious gangster's case yesterday.

McSwain refused. He said an FBI rule forbade it.

Toughy Charges Frame-Up

"I conceive it my duty, lest you do produce those records, to punish you for contempt of court, and I shall do so," Barnes said.

Touhy appeared before Judge Barnes on his petition for a writ of habeas corpus. He is serving a 99-year sentence in the Illinois state prison for kidnapping John (Jake the Barber) Factor in 1933.

Touhy's petition for release charged that Factor cooked up a kidnapping by some Touhy gang members in order to keep from being extradited, then state officials and FBI agents helped "frame" Touhy with the crime.

4-H Club Members Will Meet At Tech

Between 150 and 200 4-H club members from the Panhandle-Plains area are to gather at Texas Tech Saturday for elimination contest in 4-H judging events in preparation for state contests at Texas A. & M. on June 13.

Two high teams from each district in the various contests will be eligible to go to the state contests.

Livestock, dairy, field crops, grass, tractor maintenance and entomology judging will comprise the six contests.

Districts 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 will be represented in the contests under direction of W. N. Williamson, district agent. County agent, assistants and club leaders will accompany the boys here.

Most of the youngsters in the contest will attend a showing of "The Green Promise," 4-H club picture, at the State Theatre Friday night. The visitors will sleep in barracks at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair grounds Friday night.

Miss Lennox won her race, a no-handicap event, by arriving first. Miss King as first to arrive in Miami in her Navion but the winner of the California-Florida race will not be determined until all entries have arrived and handicap times are figured.

Miss King, with co-pilot Cora Bloom of Oroville, Calif., arrived at 7:53 a. m. CST.

Second California flier to show at Amelia Earhart airfield was Doris Henry, Turlock, Calif., who arrived in her Bellanca at 9:11 a. m. Miss Henry was the novice of the entrants, having only 100 hours flying time in her flight book before she started the trans-continental jaunt.

Seven Funnels Dip To Earth; Nine Injured

Three Missing As Farm Homes, Barns Wrecked By Storms

(By The United Press)

Heavy thunderstorms lashed the Midwest today on the heels of tornadoes that injured nine persons and damaged about $1,000,000 in rural proyerty. Three persons were missing.

The twisters struck late yesterday near eight towns lying in a 200-mile radius where the Missouri river joins Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas.

Seven Funnels Seen

Seven funnels dipped to earth from dense black thunderheads, causing damage near Sidney and Percival in Iowa; Tarkio, Burlington Junction and Fairfax in Missouri; Bern and St. Benedicts in Kansas, and Nebraska City, Neb.

The twister that struck near Burlington Junction and Fairfax smashed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clark, injuring them and their four children.

Donna Louis, who lived 50 yards away, was hurt when she started walking toward the Clark home at the storm's height. Her mother, Mrs. Owen Louis, and two other Louis children were missing.

Fled To Basement

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stoldorf were hurt when a twister smashed their home south of Essex, Ia.

The tornado that hit near Bern, Kan., demolished two farm houses and then leaped over the small community. Meanwhile, another damaged farm houses and barns at St. Benedicts, 10 miles to the south.

Farmer Fred Ehrsan, his wife, and their two small daughers, fled to their basement and were unhurt as the wind wrecker their house near Bern.

Telephone communications were disrupted throughout the storm area.

The weather observer at the Tarkio airport tower spotted the tornado approaching. He radioed that he was being forced to abandon his post because of the storm.

Freight Cars Hit

He resumed broadcasting 30 minutes later and reported that the twister had veered off to the northeast. Some freight cars were blown off their tracks.

Thunderstorms and heavy showers struck repeatedly today from the Missouri river to the Great Lakes and from the Ohio river to the Canadian border.

A weather forecaster at Chicago described the weather as "very

Responsibility Law For Drivers Ditched

AUSTIN, June 2 (U.P.)—A drivers responsibility law, passed by the Senate, was ditched today in the House.

The lower chamber voted 57-52 to send the bill, authored by Sen. G. C. Morris of Greenville, back to the House committee on highways and roads.

The measure would require that all drivers be able to show financial responsibility, in case of a serious accident, for $10,000 personal liability and $1,000 damage.

A motion by Rep. Cloyd Young of Linden ended in recommittment of the bill.

Most observers agreed that the action virtually killed the bill for this session.

Truman Will Oppose Bank Loan To Spain

WASHINGTON, June 2. (U.P.)—President Truman today turned thumbs down on the idea of an export-import bank loan to Spain.

Mr. Truman was asked at his weekly news conference whether he would favor an export-import bank loan to Spain for purchase of American commodities. He answered flatly, no, adding that he would not favor any such plan.

HEART ATTACK FATAL EARLY TODAY

Tom Tyson, Texas Demo Leader, Dies

(By The Associated Press)

CORSICANA, June 2—Tom L. Tyson, 44, secretary of the state Democratic executive committee, died of a heart attack at 7:45 a. m. today.

A power in Texas Democratic and Baptist circles, Tyson suffered a heart attack at 7:40 a. m. at his Corsicana home and died five minutes later.

The stocky, personable Tyson was permanent chairman of the state Democratic convention in Fort Worth last September.

Strong Demo Supporter

He had been a strong supporter of both Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.

Tyson was born in Calvert, Robertson county, Aug. 12, 1904, and served two terms as Robertson county attorney. He had lived in Corsicana since June 14, 1937.

At the bedside when Tyson died were his wife a law partner, Matt Dawson and a neighbor, Mrs. J. J. McColpin.

Tyson had been ill since a heart attack three weeks ago. He was taken to a hospital then but had recently been returned to his home.

He was appointed secretary of

NEW AID PROGRAM IS MAPPED

Development Plan Is Drafted By UN

(By The Associated Press)

LAKE SUCCESS, June 2 — A plan for spending more than $85,000,000 in two years to put new life into under-developed countries was outlined by the United Nations today.

The plan is the U. N. response to President Truman's call for a bold new program designed to spread technical know-how around the world and raise the standards of living. This program must be approved by the U. N. economic and social council and by the U. N. general assembly. It is not likely to get under way, even if only partially approved, until early in 1950.

Figured In Decades

The estimated cost of the technical assistance proposed in a 328-page report issued by U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie would be $35,862,576 the first year and $50,079,807 the second year.

U. N. planners made no estimate of the cost for succeeding years, but emphasized that any economic program, to be effective, must be figured in decades.

Asked why the program did not add up to a greater figure, officials said the planners "did not want to bite off more than they can chew now."

The money would be raised through voluntary contributions from governments. No country would take part in any phase of the program if it did not so desire.

In his inaugural address, Mr. Truman proposed a program for making benefits of "our scientific advances and industrial progress

Polio Epidemic At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, June 2. (AP)—Mounting polio cases prompted officials to close schools, swimming pools and movie houses in this West Texas city today.

The number of polio cases reached 61. There have been four deaths. Dr. R. E. Elvins, city health officer, has declared polio is at an epidemic stage here.

Closing of the public places, including churches, was ordered by the city commission this morning.

Set Up New Ward

A C-47 from Goodfellow Air Force base here made a quick round trip to Charlotte, N. C., last night to get 24 hospital cribs and five hot pack machines to set up a new polio ward in a local hospital.

The summer recreation program scheduled to begin Monday was postponed. Recreation workers will be taken over by the health department. A stae encampment of civil air patrol cadets at Goodfellow also was cancelled.

Of 29 cases in one hospital, 26 are children under 15 years of age. Three are adults. The cases so far, with the exception of the deaths, have been "light" with very little paralysis.

San Angelo is intensifying insecticide spraying operations and pushing a cleanup program to fight the epidemic.

Week's Holiday Is Given House Okay

AUSTIN, June 2 (AP) — The House voted today to take a week's holiday if the Senate agrees.

It adopted by voice vote a resolution giving both houses permission to adjourn from today until June 13. The Senate must pass the resolution also. The week's vacation would give conference committees time to work on bills and speed the windup of this legislature's work.

Orange Housing Project Is Fight Center

Texans Vote Not To Pay Rent Hike Okayed By Control Boss

(By The Associated Press)

ORANGE, June 2—Tenants of a big housing project here voted at a mass meeting last night to refuse to pay rent increases granted by the rent control division on some of their dwellings.

Involved is the 1,582-unit Riverside housing project, built by the federal government for war workers here. It was sold by the Public Housing administration last year for $1,300,000 to a corporation headed by A. Pollard Simons of Fort Worth.

A $700,000 mortgage to a large insurance company is on file in the county clerk's office here.

Last week the rent control division, on the application of the firm which now owns the project, granted rent increases ranging from $3.50 to $10 per apartment on 146 units.

Jasper Inmon, Beaumont area rent control director, said the increases were granted on "the recommendation of the regional office in Fort Worth." At the same time Inmons' office denied applications of

Jester Urged To Send Help To Beaumont

Police Protection Said Inadequate As Labor Row Flares

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, June 2—Gov. Beauford Jester was asked today to send rangers into Beaumont as the result of a labor disturbance.

Herman Brown of Houston, head of Brown and Root Construction Co., called on the governor to ask state aid.

Brown said that both city and county police protection was inadequate.

The construction crew, working on a $1,000,000 gas compressor project, was called off the job last night.

Chief Offered To Help

Brown said that the Beaumont chief of police offered to "help you get your men out of town."

However, Brown added that "after dark he said he couldn't be responsible."

"Did the men leave?" Brown was asked.

He smiled.

"What would you have done?" he answered.

"I'm not going to ask those men to go out there and get beat up," he added.

Earlier, the governor's office said that state police aid would not be furnished unless requested by local authorities o. "if it is obvious the situation is out of control locally."

Sheriff Denies Needing Aid

The governor's office said that Jefferson County Sheriff C. H. Meyer had said state aid was not needed.

"If lawful authorities are unable to protect citizens who are going about lawful business in a lawful manner, it will become the duty of the governor and the Department of Public Safety to extend this protection," a spokesman said.

The trouble started when a busload of the carpenters was stopped by some 150 union men as it left the grounds of the Texas-Eastern Transmission Corp. late Tuesday. A car allegedly forced the bus to the curb, and irate union members hurled bottles through the open windows.

The bus passengers, traveling to their rooms at a tourist court, counter-attacked with hatchets and hammers before the disturbance was broken up by Sheriff Meyer. Five men required hospital treatment.

Sixteen of the non-union carpenters left Beaumont late yester-

Tragedy Hits Abilene Home

ABILENE, June 2 (AP)—With the body of her war-dead son awaiting reburial and with her husband dying of cancer, Mrs. E. C. Jackson, 53, died of a heart attack here today.

She had predicted her own death.

For three weeks she had kept a vigil day and night in a rocking chair at her husband's bedside. She died in that rocking chair.

"Mother hadn't been to bed in three weeks, N. L. Jackson, a son, said. "She refused to leave pa's bedside."

Triple Funeral Likely

He added that at 4:30 a. m. today his mother had telephone him at his residence next door and told him: "Take care of pa, son. I am going to die soon."

The son said he tried to sooth his mother, feeling she was just suffering from overwrought nerves. But at 8 a. m. she died.

"It looks like we'll have a triple funeral," the son added. "I don't see how pa can last out the day."

The body of another son, Pvt. Talmadge H. Jackson, killed in action in the European theatre in 1944, has been in Abilene, awaiting reburial, since April 28.

The father has been critically ill for several weeks. Once he weighed 150 pounds. Now he weighs 50.

Jester Gets Bill To Ban Secret Groups

AUSTIN, June 2 (U.P.) — A bill banning fraternities, sororities and secret societies in public high schools was passed by the Senate today and sent to Gov. Beauford Jester.

A similar bill was approved by the 50th legislature, but was vetoed by Jester when it reached his desk.

The House-approved measure, by Rep. O. E. Latimer of San Antonio, was sponsored in the Senate by Sen. Gus Strauss of Hallettsville.

Dip In Wheat Price Debated

Texas Leaders Disagree As To Causes; Appeal For Aid Dispatched To Truman

(By The Associated Press)

The head of the State Farm Bureau and Fort Worth grain elevator operators disagree sharply why Texas wheat prices are down.

J. Walter Hammond, president of the Farm Bureau, charged yesterday the storage situation is forcing the price of wheat down in Texas. He appealed to President Truman for aid.

Three Fort Worth elevator operators agreed wheat probably is selling below the $1.87 government support price, as charged by Hammond. But they said this is a natural result of last year's bumper crop and the heavy new crop now being harvested.

Claim Is Denied

The elevator operators also denied Hammond's claim that grain elevators are refusing to store grain for farmers, but have sufficient space for wheat bought at a below-support prices. The operators said their storage facilities are crowded and they cannot store grain if space is not available.

(Rep. W. R. Poage, Waco, has called a meeting of Texas congressmen in Washington today to discuss the critical grain storage situation. Ralph Trigg, head of the Commodity Credit corporation, has been invited.)

In an interview at Waco, Hammond declared:

"A large number of Texas grain elevators which have space for storage of wheat are refusing to store the grain for Texas farmers, but the elevators have storage for all the wheat they can buy at

'—IF IT TAKES ALL SUMMER'

HST To Sweat Out Slowpoke Congress

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 2—President Truman said today he is prepared to stay here all summer—and longer, if necessary—to work for his legislative program which now is bogged down in Congress.

Mr. Truman brushed off any suggestion that he might take his case directly to the people in a stump tour of the country. He had said recently that he might find it necessary to make a whistle-stop tour to discuss current issues with the people.

Must List Completed

But today, the President told his news conference that he intends to stay in Washington as long as Congress does—and probably longer—to work on behalf of his legislative program.

Asked if plans for a nationwide stump tour might be revived in August or September, Mr. Truman said there was no chance of that.

Reporters asked the President whether he intended to expand his "must list" of legislation for the current session of Congress.

He replied that his so-called "must list" was included in his state of the union, budget and economic messages to Congress last January.

Asked if that was the must list for this session, he said it was the must list for Congress.

"But there seems to be no intention of complying with your list," a reporter said.

Reporter Contradicted

The President quickly contradicted the reporter, saying that it was impossible to reach any such conclusion at the present time. He said it was not possibie to comment on the work of a session of Congress until the end of the session.

"Do you intend to stay in Washington as long as Congress does?" he was asked.

The President said yes, and probably longer. He went on to say that he would remain here as long as it took to complete his work as far as he could.

He said he had no vacation

Mercury Dropped By Cool Front In Area

(By The Associated Press)

A weak cool front shoved into the Texas Panhandle and across the upper South Plains early today, bringing a notable decline in temperatures, but there was no promise of relief from heat for remainder of the state.

Low morning temperatures included 47 at Dalhart and 52 at Amarillo, both in the Panhandle, and 61 at Lubbock, in the South Plains.

The cool front extended from western Oklahoma into the Texas plains, but it was of low-calibre and its strength was dissipated rapidly. It will provide only slightly cooler weather for West Texas and a slime portion of the northwest section of East Texas.

House Fanning Fire For Veterans Bonus

AUSTIN, June 2 (U.P.) — House members today fanned the fire for a veterans bonus in Texas by passing a resolution allowing the measure to be brought up at any time.

However, before the measure could be acted on under the resolution, the Senate must also concur in a suspension of the joint rules.

The vote was 64-51.

The bonus bill, authored by Rep. Jimmy Horany of Archer City, would pay veterans of World War II $250 for domestic service, with an additional $250 in recognition of service overseas.

Lightning Saves Man From Shock

KANSAS CITY, Kans., June 2. (U.P.)—Lightning saved a man from being electrocuted.

Claude R. Stutzman, circulation manager of the Kansas City Kansan, drove into his garage late at night. It was raining hard and water covered the floor.

A counter-weight cable on the garage door had short-circuited an electric wire. Stutzman brushed against the wire. The shock knocked him to the floor and pinned him there.

Unable to find a master electrical switch, Mrs. Stutzman sought to telephone firemen.

But at that moment, a bolt of lightning cut off electrical power in the area. Stutzman got up with his only injury a burned hand.

Grain Storage Ships Sought

WASHINGTON, June 2. (U.P.)—Part of the government's "moth ball" fleet may be put into operation this year as floating storage bins for government-owned grain, it was revealed today.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan has asked the U. S. maritime commission to "loan" him cargo ships for storing some of the surplus grain taken over by the government under price support programs.

To Decide Matter

Maritime officials said the commission is expected to decide the matter soon, possibly within the next five days.

The commission has jurisdiction over the 1,930 vessels in the nation's reserve fleet. These include 1,200 liberty ships and some additional cargo vessels of different types. Making allowances for some cargo ships which for various technical reasons could not be used for storage, it was estimated that there would be room for perhaps 100,000,000 bushels of grain.

No Fleet Sough'

However, agriculture officials emphasized that no vast sea-borne storage operation is contemplated, at least for this year. They said present thinking is that perhaps 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels of grain might be stored in cargo vessels, if the commission okayed the deal.

That would require no more than 30 or 40 Liberty ships. A Liberty ship can hold about 250,000 to 300,000 bushels of grain.

Massachusetts Bus Service Is Halted

BOSTON, June 2 (U.P.)—Some 1,200 AFL employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. struck today, cutting off bus service to about 500,000 commuters in 78 Massachusetts communities.

A last-minute plea by Gov. Paul A. Dever failed to deter the bus drivers and mechanics who walked out to enforce their demands for a 15-cent houly pay boost. The company has asked the workers to take a 10-cent hourly wage cut.

Two Catholic Students Appeal To Pope In Doctrine Dispute

BOSTON, June 2. (AP) — Two young students who say they have been denied permission to wed in the Roman Catholic church because of their stand against Boston archdiocese authorities in a controversy on church doctrine have appealed to the Vatican.

Thomas H. Sennott, 26, and Miss Doris M. Coulombe, 22, said in a statement last night that they are "hopefully proceeding with our plans for our wedding scheduled for July 2."

"The apostolic delegate has just informed us," the statement said, "that he has referred to the Vatican our appeal from the arbitrary ruling by the chancery of the archdiocese of Boston forbidding our marriage on account of our connection with St. Benedict's center."

Priests Silenced

St. Benedict's center is a school in Cambridge recently forbidden to Catholics. It is headed by the Rev. Leonard Feeney, a Jesuit priest "silenced" by the most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, archbishop of Boston, for disobedience.

Ft. Feeney was silenced after he issued a statement in support of three instructors discharged by Boston college for accusing the Jesuit institution of teaching heresy regarding salvation.

The archboship notified Catholics at that time that participation in activities at the center would bring forfeiture of the right to receive the sacraments of penance and holy eucharist, both necessary for Catholics planning to be married in the church.

Will Not Quit Center

Sennott and Miss Coulombe said they were told by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Walter J. Furling, chancellor of the archdiocese, they could not be married in the church unless they severed connections with St. Benedicts.

They said they had "no intention" of quitting the center. They also stated they would not be married outside the church.

Neither Monsignor Furlong nor any other church official has made any comment on the students' statements. The chancery has indicated there will be none.

The three former Boston college instructors have been active at St. Benedict's.

They maintain that no one can attain salvation outside the Catholic church, although the Baltimore catechism says:

"He who knows the church to be the true church and remains out of it cannot be saved. . . . This does not apply to men of good faith that belong to the soul of the church."

"Soul of the church" is defined as all those who "possess God's grace even if they are not actual members."

New Officers Named By 20-30 Club Here

Members of the Lubbock 20-30 club, who met last night for a business session in Hotel Lubbock, elected officers to serve for a six-months term beginning July 1.

A. L. (Chuck) Hawkins was named president. Others elected included Gene Blackburn, vice president; and Charles Nelson, sergeant at-arms.

Hawkins named James Bavousett to fill the appointive post of secretary-treasurer.

Members of the board of directors named last night were Joe Gaylor, T. L. Fanning, Jack Blankenship, Garland Hoover and Tommy Adams.

MUSEUM BUILDING RISES—A long-planned superstructure is now going up over the basement of the West Texas Museum building on Texas Technological college campus. The ground floor unit of the building was constructed from State Centennial funds in 1936. In November, 1948, construction contracts totaling $232,643 were awarded for the present construction. O. R. Walker is architect and W. G. McMillan is general contractor. When completed, the building will be two stories and a full basement with a dome which will provide attic storage space. Dr. W. C. Holden, head of the department of history and anthropology, dean of graduate studies and curator of the museum, is frequently referred to as the man most responsible for construction of the building. Love Triangle Probed In Blast Of Plane In Which 13 Killed

MANILA, June 2 (AP)—A love triangle may have caused the mysterious explosion of a C-47 transport plane that killed 13 persons last month.

National bureau of investigation agents said they have information a woman and her lover had a time bomb placed aboard the plane to kill her husbnd.

Dispatches from Daet in south Luzon said the bureau was assembling the facts today.

The plane, a Philippine air lines transport, blew up in the air on May 7 after taking off from Daet for Manila.

A spokesman for the NBI said a formal complaint of multiple murder is expected to be filed soon in court at Daet. He would not go into further details.

The report of the love triangle angle came in dispatches from Daet to Manila newspapers.

War Amnesia Victim With Two Wives Being Checked By Army

NEW YORK, June 2. (INS)—Anthony V. Martino, the 40-year-old cab driver with two wives and a strange story of combat "amnesia" returned today to the Army, which had listed him as dead or missing for nearly five years.

Martino must convince Army psychiatrists that his claim of a "blackout" during European fighting is true. Otherwise, he faces A. W. O. L. charges.

Meanwhile, his pre-war wife, Mary, said in her Waterbury, Conn., home that she will seek a divorce. Martino has indicated a preference for wife number two, Dotty, with whom he has shared a post-war home on Staten island.

The "dead" G. I. reported into First Army headquarters in New York today to explain how he "blanked" out five years ago in European combat. He said that he hadn't the foggiest idea of how he got back from France.

For the past four years he has been driving a cab, on Staten island.

The slightly baffled Army immediately shipped him over to Governors island for physical and psychiatric examinations. There he was attached to the 1201st Army service unit and will remain in the hospital for several days until the examinations are completed.

If amnesia is the verdict he will receive a handsome nest-egg in the shape of back pay from the time he last wore a uniform.

On the gloomier side, Col. John S. Roosma, provost marshall at Governors island, said if it turns out to be a case of desertion Private Martino will "undoubtedly" be prosecuted.

Meantime Martino is enjoying a temporary vacation from the snafu of his marital problems which include a pre-war and a post-war wife and offspring by each.

He had been living on Staten island with his post-war wife Dotty, a 33-year-old blonde, and their son. His sudden recovery of memory also brought him the news that he already had a pre-war wife in Waterbury, Conn., plus two children by her.

His 37-year-old pre-war spouse, Mary, has already stated her intention of getting a divorce as "there's nothing left to do."

Reservists To Hold Meet Here Tonight

The 707th Bomb Squadron (VH Res) will hold its regular twice monthly meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in buildi , 62, Lubbock Air Force base.

The business part of the meeting will be devoted to military lectures and pictures, according to Capt. Cecil E. Jennings, assistant operations officer of the squadron. Many of the members of the squadron will go on active duty tours this summer and they are especially urged to attend.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will also meet at the same time in the Officers' club.

Projects For Germans Set

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 2 (AP)—American officials today disclosed plans to fight western Germany's serious unemployment problem with public works projects.

"With 1,200,000 jobles and the number growing monthly, western Germany may face an unemployment crisis unless something is done," these officials said.

They expressed the hope that projects such as housing and power developments, which shoot money into the economy, might foster a general economic expansion.

Project List Asked

German authorities have been asked to prepare a list of projects. The Economic Cooperation administration mission to Germany has agreed to finance "worthwhile" projects with counterpart funds. The counterpart fund is made up by an ERP requirement that a sum equivalent to the dollar value of ERP goods sent to Germany be set aside in marks.

The fund, which now totals 420,000,000 marks ($140,000,000), can be used only with permission of American authorities.

Norman Collison, chief ECA official in Germany and military government leaders also are reported considering other moves to brake the continued rise in unemployment.

The total of 1,200,000 jobless represents about nine per cent of western Germany's labor force.

RICHMOND, Va. (U.P.)—Wayland R. Ham, 18, injured in an automobile accident, threw his crutches away after about five months. To celebrate the healing of his broken leg, he took a ride on a motor scooter. It hit a car. Ham broke his leg.

Brides And Brides-Elect Are Taking Spotlight This Month

June, traditional month of weddings, will find many couples meeting at the altar to exchange vows. News of brides and brides-elect will fill society columns during the next four weeks.

Miss Evelyn M. Prater became the bride of Hubert E. Wolffarth, jr., in a double ring ceremony read Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock at First Christian church by Dr. Travis A. White. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Prater of 1519 Thirty-third and the bridegroom is a son of Mrs. J. Perry Brown of 2314 Twenty-eighth.

The candlelight ceremony was read before an altar decorated with a fan shape arrangement of orchid gladioli. Palms were placed on either side. Mrs. Ernest Wilpitz, organist, played a prelude of wedding music and offered traditional wedding marches. She accompanied Miss Sue Tyson as she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gabardine dressmaker suit with blue and white spectator shoes. She carried an orchid on a white Bible and wore Vanda orchids in her hair. The pearls she wore were a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Doris Prater, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore a light blue gabardine dressmaker suit with a white carnation corsage. Miss Nancy Abbot was candelighter.

Gordon Hastings was best man and Jack Boyd and Jack Parks were ushers.

A reception was given at the church following the ceremony. Parents of the bride and bridegroom assisted with hospitalities. A yellow organdy cloth covered the bride's table which was decorated with a single ring wedding cake, a large white satin bow and three tapers. Mrs. C. P. Lunson served the punch and Miss Doris Prater cut the cake. Miss Evelyn Wolffarth registered guests and Misses Jody Turpin and Doris Stanley were others in the house-party.

Davenport-Fletcher Vows Read In City

The marriage of Miss Mary Jo Fletcher of 2321 Fourteenth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fletcher of Aspermont, and Jimmy F. Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Davenport of 4411 Thirty-fifth, took place Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the Davenport home. Rev. Abe Hester, jr., read the double ring service before an improvised altar banked with salmon pink gladioli and candelabra.

Mrs. Hester played wedding music and accompanied Robert Ramsey who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a pale blue Irish linen dress with a white hat. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid. For something old, she wore a cameo pin.

Dresses Are Aqua, Yellow

Mrs. S. M. Davenport, jr., of Wichita Falls, matron of honor, wore an aqua pique dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Miss Earline Ryan, maid of honor, wore yellow pique with white carnations.

S. M. Davenport, jr., served as best man and Jack Hoag of Old Glory, cousin of the bride, was usher. Candlelighters were Georgia Nan Norris and Charlotte Davenport, nieces of the bride and bridegroom.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, Mrs. Cecil Norris, sister of the bride, served a tiered wedding cake and Mrs. John McNutty, another sister, presided at the punch bowl. Out-of-town guests were from Corpus Christi and Aspermont.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride wore a pale green suit with navy blue accessories. After June 5, the couple will be at home at 2321 Fourteenth. Mrs. Davenport is a graduate of Aspermont High school and Orval School of Beauty at Wichita Falls. Mr. Davenport is a plumber.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Family Friend Seeks Advice On Whether To Attend Wedding Disapproved By Parents

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: The elder son of a friend of mine is to be married soon, but because of the girl's unmoral acts in the home of the boy, his family has refused to have any dealings with her. They do not recognize her in any way and consequently will not attend the wedding.

This puts me on a spot, for these are friends of long standing. The parents are fine, broadminded, modern persons, but they have a very high regard for family honor, and I can understand how they would feel about accepting a girl of this kind into their family circle.

One of the younger sons was married recently to a lovely girl who is adored by his whole family, so it isn't a case of the parents not wanting the boy to marry. It really is a matter of morals. Yet I have sympathy for him, too, for I have known him since childhood and fundamentally he is a fine lad, even though he has temporarily gotten off on the wrong foot.

Should I send a gift and attend the wedding, which I know would hurt his family, as they would feel I was signifying approval of the whole affair; or should I just send a card of congratulations and stay away from the ceremony? It is to be held in the near future, so I would appreciate an early answer. Signed R. W.

WHAT'S THE PITCH OF HER INTEREST?

DEAR R. W.: You designate the boy's parents as your valued friends of long standing, and you say that they intend to boycott his wedding, due to their scandalized, unyielding disapprobation of the bride-to-be. But you make no mention whatever of her parents or family, from which I infer that you don't know them at all.

In view of that picture, I rather, question the propriety of your active interest in the nuptials. In general a wedding is the bride's show, customarily staged by her family, and in the event the man's family refuses to join the supporting cast, it isn't likely that the snubbed girl or her mother would venture, or care, to include his parents' bosom friends in their guest list.

Where both families look with approbation of the union, the typical wedding listis a collaborative "work", with the betrothed pair and their respective mothers compiling and revising until a company of satisfactory size and representation is mutually agreed on.

WISELY BEWARE OF BUTTING IN

BUT in a case such as you depict, I should think the couple and the bride's sponsors would want a quiet ceremony, and would limit the company to the bride's family and close friends, plus a few contemporary-age friends of the bridegroom, if he has some special loyal favorites — say old classmates, business associates or other staunch young cronies who wish him well and don't feel subject to his parents' disapproval.

Thus in that type of assemblage I see no natural place for you, if familiarity with the dissenting parents is your chief social link to the situation. And a "congratulatory" note would be hypocritical, to say the least, if you feel that the boy is getting off on the wrong foot.

However, if your character and endorsements carry weight, so that your presence at the wedding might offset his parents' snub, and your sympathy is sincerely big enough to openly bestow that lift, you've title to go, provided the bride would welcome you. But if that's not the pitch, stay away—and send a gift, addressed to the bride, with" best love to both" inscribed on your card. M. H.

Dazzles Neighbors

"Last week my backyard became the showplace of the neighborhood," says Mrs. William Cumnaerow, 214 Sunset Blvd., Toledo, "because it was the first Perk wash I'd ever hung out on the line—and it was literally dazzling white. What with all the compliments I got, I wouldn't use anything else now—besides, Perk saves me money to boot." Mrs. Cummerow's experience proves, like 1218 washing tests before her, that Perk washes better . . . faster . . . and saves you money. Only Perk contains miracle washing ingredient, Armocel. Let New Perk go to work for you today.

Conspirators Who Attempted To Kill Reuthers Well-Heeled

DETROIT, June 2 (AP)—"Well-heeled" conspirators, says Victor Reuther, tried to kill him and his brother Walter.

But whose purposes they were serving he doesn't know.

From a hospital bed Reuther yesterday gave his ideas in his first police and press interviews since he was shot at his home the night of May 24.

The results, however, were evidently of little material help in the week-old investigation.

Police toda, meanwhile went on with a widespread hoodlum and gambler roundup in hopes of uncovering a worthwhile tip or clue.

Many Questioned

After 36 hours this tactic seemed to have yielded little of value.

From the crowded jails scores of men, including big and small-time gamblers and other police characters, had been released after questioning or on court writs.

Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy ordered the roundup, directing raids on the underworld by virtually his entire 4,000-men force.

At Henry Ford hospital nearly 40 minutes was spent with Reuther by prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien, chief of detectives Jack Harvill and senior detective Inspector James J. Maher.

Later, in a talk with reporters, Reuther said.

"The similarity between my brother's shooting and my shooting convinces me that it was part of a well-organized plot by a well-financed crowd."

Right Eye Lost

His brother Walter, president of the CIO United Auto workers, was shot at his home the night of April 20 last year. He almost lost his right arm.

Victor, the union's educational director, was blinded in his right eye.

For the interview Victor was propped up in bed. His head was bandaged, his mouth swollen from stitches in his tongue.

Disclosing he had lost a portion of his tongue from the shotgun blast, he viewed his experienced in grim humor.

"I told the doctors," he said, "that 'you may take out my eye, or take off an arm or a leg, but please fix up that tongue. I've got to make a living'."

The 37-year-old union official was asked if he thought Communists tried to kill him and he repeated "I don't know. I am convinced it was a well-organized group and well-heeled."

Reuther said he felt this way because $117,000 in rewards offered in Walter's shooting had induced no one to talk.

He said he was positive that no "crackpot" was responsible, as suggested at one time by Walter after his own shooting.

Victor said both attacks were possibly the result of an anti-union conspiracy but from what source he couldn't say.

Lila Leeds Is Back In California Court

BEVERLY HISS, Calif., June 2 (AP)—Lila Leeds, recently released with Robert Mitchum from jail after serving 50-day terms on marijuana conspiracy charges, was in court again.

And Justice of the Peace Henry Draeger yesterday:

Sentenced her to 45 days in jail, suspended, as a result of a Sunset boulevard traffic accident in a borrowed car.

Placed her on probation 12 months subject to loss of her freedom if she violates a traffic law during that time.

Ordered her to pay for damages to another car struck in the accident.

Fined her $100.

Suspended her driver's license for 30 days.

Albuquerque Dukes Trounce Lubbock Hubbers, 12 To 8

Amarillo Gold Sox Move Into Third Place Tie With Borger

Amarillo's climbing Gold Sox moved into a third place West Texas-New Mexico league tie with Borger Wednesday.

A change in schedules brings the loop leaders and cellar dwellers together tonight.

Amarillo and Borger each are seven games out of first place. Borger holds the percentage edge with 19 wins and 17 losses for .528. Amarillo has 20 wins and 18 losses for .526.

Albuquerque unleashed a savage hitting attack last night to win over Lubbock 12 to 8. Abilene won over Borger 9 to 8 and Amarillo over Lamesa 12 to 10.

Lubbock Meets Pampa

The Pampa-at-Clovis game was played Tuesday as a part of a doubleheader.

Clovis—still in the bottom spot—goes to Albuquerque tonight to engage the loop leaders. Borger plays at Amarillo, Lubbock at Pampa and Abilene at Lamesa.

Two inches in heighth made the difference at Borger. Had First Baseman George Sturdivant been just two inches shorter—it might have been a different story for Borger.

As it was, the tall first sacker soared into the air in the bottom of the ninth with the bags loaded to snare Ken Sears' liner that looked like it was headed for extra bases.

Amarillo Sweeps Series

The snag enabled Abilene to hold its one run edge and win 9 to 8. Borger scored one in the bottom of the ninth, but was unable to collect the necessary runs for the win.

Amarillo's victory over Lamesa gave them a clean sweep of the series. Six runs were pushed across the plate by the Gold Sox in the first two innings while Lamesa was scoring three.

Lamesa added one in the fourth, two in the fifth and four in the seventh—but were no match for the four added in the sixth by Amarillo and two more in the seventh and eighth.

Albuquerque collected 13 hits off Lubbock—eight of them for extra bases. There were three home runs, three doubles and two triples.

Cliff McClain was top hitter—getting two triples, a home run and a single, driving in four runs and scoring twice himself.

Qualifying Rounds In Hobbs Golf Meet Scheduled Today

HOBBS, N. M., June 2. (Special)—Qualifying rounds in the $1,000 Hobbs Country club Invitational tournament were scheduled for today on the local nine-hole course, with some of the outstanding linksmen in West Texas and southeastern New Mexico slated to compete for a slice of the big money pie.

E. C. Nix, Jr., of Seminole, defending champion, will face competition from approximately 150 golfers, anyone of whom might up set him and take away his crown. Play will cover four days, with prizes going to a 32-man championship flight and eight other 16-man flights.

Jack Williams, the Plainview youngster who won the recent San Angelo Invitational, rates as a top pre-tourney favorite. Williams won the Hobbs event in 1947, beating Abilene's Billy Maxwell in a torrid final that went the full 36 holes with both competitors shooting under par.

Maxwell, incidentally, is expected to be back this week, so there is the possibility of a return meeting between the two young rivals.

Also expected on this year's en-

BASEBALL MEET OPENS MONDAY

Schoolboys Boast Stellar Pitchers

(By The Associated Press)

The eight teams that go to Austin next week for the Texas schoolboy Class AA baseball tournament will be bulging with top pitching talent.

Some fabulous records have been made this season by such youngsters as Jack Sterling of Beaumont, who hasn't lost a decision and on his last appearance turned in a no-hit, no-run game. Sterling has allowed only 18 hits and two earned runs in 47 innings.

Denison's Bob Leach not only is a fine pitcher but he's quite a hitter. In one game he gave the opposition only one hit while clouting three triples and two doubles in five times at bat. He has two one-hitter and two two-hitters among his hurling feats.

Austin, the team favored to win the championship on the basis of veteran material and a 12-3 record, has a couple of unbeaten pitchers in Riley Verdine and Jack Brinkley.

Waco, which has won 14 and lost two, lists Joe Mac Gresham as its ace hurler. He has won 7 and lost none the same as Trini Quillen, star slabman for Bowie of El Paso. Bobby Shroyer is the main reason Stephenville managed to advance to the state tournament.

Marshall has a couple of pitchers with amazing records. Hollis Morton does most of the hurling and has a 9-1 mark. In 71 innings he has fanned 109 and allowed only 30 hits. His earned run average is 1.26. He has two one-hit-

Bob Cummings Defeats Estes

In the main event at Sled Allen's wrestling arena last night Bob Cummings won the two out of three fall decision over Balk Estes in a decision very unpopular to the crowd, and Referee Jack Papenheim and Cummings were booed at the conclusion of the bout.

Cummings took the first fall in 17 minutes with a combination of rope rebounds and body slams, and finished it with a shoulder pin after getting in some short jabs to the arm and midsection of Estes.

Estes was well on the way to winning the final fall, and he had Cummings cornered and ready for the decision when Papenheim attempted to break an illegal hold. Cummings took the opportunity to immobilize Estes with a jab to the stomach and head and took the fall and the match with a shoulder pin in two minutes.

Dusette Beats Bruckman

In the semi-final match, one that was very clean and featured scientific wrestling, George Dusette, the strongman from Boston, won the first two falls from George Bruckman to take the match.

The United States bought Louisiana from France in 1803.

Red Sox Drop Cleveland, 3-1

Raschi Hurls Yankees To 3-0 Win Over Chicago White Sox

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who's the No. 1 righthander of the American league, now that Bobby Feller has started to slip?

Vic Raschi, strong-armed New York Yankee ace, and Virgil Trucks, Detroit speedster, look like the leading candidates.

Feller isn't finished. He showed enough last night in losing a 3-1 decision to Boston to prove that. But even Bobby admits he's not as good as he used to be.

Raschi put in a solid claim with his three-hit shutout of the Chicago White Sox last night, 3-0. It was his seventh victory to one loss. Trucks survived a shaky start to subdue the Philadelphia A's in 10 innings, 5-4, for his seventh win. He has been beaten twice.

Gets Third Shutout

The brilliant job on the White Sox was Raschi's third shutout of the season, more than any other pitcher in the league. Only his wildness made the game tough for Vic. He walked five and wild pitched twice. A double by Floyd Baker in the third, a single by Earl Rapp in the sixth and a double by Jerry Scala in the seventh were the only hits.

Tommy Henrich's 10th homer broke up a 0-0 duel between Raschi and Howie Judson in the seventh. That came just after Raschi wiggled out of a tough hole when the Sox loaded the bases in the sixth.

Trucks started out like the worst pitcher in the league, walking the first three Athletics. Then he hit Hank Majeski to force in a run. Taft Wright's two-run single gave Coleman a three-run working margin but he couldn't hold it.

Feller Loses Tilt

The game wound up in a hectic tenth inning after the teams had managed to score up a 4-4 tie. George Kell led off with a single after Coleman, angered by an umpire's decision and bench jockeying, strode off the mound toward Coach Dick Bartell.

Kell moved to second on an infield out and scored the winning run on Hoot Evers' single. After the shaky start Trucks settled down and struck out 10 in the extra inning thriller.

Feller, making his first start in two weeks, gave up two runs in the second inning on two infield bounders, a walk and an error. Each side scored once later but that was the ball game.

Despite the victory, the Red Sox remained 4½ games behind the Yankees in the pennant race.

Washington handed the St. Louis Browns their seventh straight setback, 6-5, with the help of the first homers of the season by Eddie Yost and Sam Dente.

Braves Top Bucs

The National league which has been involved in a double or triple tie for first place finally has a clear cut leader in the Boston Braves.

The Braves outscrambled Pittsburgh, 8-6, and the Dodgers bowed to the Chicago Cubs, 11-5 on a seven-run seventh.

Stan Musial cracked two homers as the Cards came from behind to top Brooklyn. Musial's second homer started a four-run rally in the ninth.

Willard Marshall's 400-foot homer and Sid Gordon's triple helped the Giants come from behind to defeat Emil Kush.

The Phillies scored twice in the 10th to down Cincinnati, 4-3. An error by Red Stallcup allowed the tying run to score in the extra inning.

Ray Robinson Signs For Gavilan Fight

PHILADELPHIA, June 2. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, possessor of one of the ring's greatest records, puts his welterweight crown on the line for the first time in a year at Philadelphia's municipal stadium July 11.

The 147-pound champion and Cuba's Kid Gavilan yesterday fixed their signatures to a contract calling for 15 rounds or less under the promotion of the Philadelphia Arena, Inc.

A title engagement had been sought between Robinson and Gavilan ever since the champion nosed out the scrapping Cuban in a 10-round non-title affair in New York last summer.

U. S. NETTERS WIN

LONDON, June 2. (UP)—The world professional tennis championships virtually was an all-American affair today as Bobby Riggs faced Don Budge, and Jack Kramer took on Pancho Segura of Ecuador in the singles semi-finals.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

We haven't mentioned the Hubbers for several days, which probably is all for the best. When you come right down to it, a team in sixth place doesn't give you much to write about in the first place. If you can't beat the team in first place or the team in second, third or fourth, you have a slim chance of getting into the first division. But at the same time, this hasn't been the worst road trip in the world. The Hubbers took three out of four from Clovis, grabbed the first one from Albuquerque and then dropped two straight to that club. They now play Pampa.

The Hubbers were in sixth place from May 7 through May 13. On May 14 they dropped to seventh place, but bounced back up the next night to sixth and have remained there. At the same time, they have a better playing record for the past two weeks or more. Since that day they bounced back into sixth place, the Hubbers cut down the margin to the first division slightly. On May 15 they were nine and a half games out of first. They still are. On May 15 they were four games out of fourth. This afternoon they are two and a half games out. That's important.

Of course there's no doubt in anyone's mind that the Hubbers need pitching more than they do anything else. The only two really winning hurlers are Chris Haskins, without whom we dare not hazard a guess as to where the Hubbers would be, and Ray Reichelt, who hasn't been around long enough to prove whether he will be a big help or not. Chris has won three and lost one and the one he dropped wasn't due to his pitching, but lack of support. Reichelt has won two and lost none, but twice he has failed to hold Clovis and in one of his two victories he needed help. Royce Mills has won four and lost three, but is either right or terrible. Cotton Russell has won three and lost two, but isn't highly effective. It's a sad excuse for a mound corps that George Schepps' magic has secured.

The ladies had their day at the Meadowbrook Publinx Golf course yesterday and a flock of them showed up for the Women's South Plains Golf Association's meeting and tournament. Judging from the tournament's success, they'll gather momentum as the season goes on. When you come right down to it, there are a lot of women golfers in Lubbock and on the South Plains. And they enjoy the sport as much as the men, although in most cases they are not the golfers their male counterparts are. But here's to 'em, God bless 'em. The males couldn't live without them, despite their golf proclivities.

Paul Jones, the amiable pro at Meadowbrook, was in to see us last night. Paul has been out of town trying to beat the course to death at San Angelo, but failed to qualify for the National Open. He reports that the greens there are like mirror tops and that he had 40 putts on the 18-hole route. He also wanted to talk over the report carried here yesterday that Meadowbrook isn't in such good shape. Paul wasn't complaining; he merely pointed out that the flood did between five and 10 thousand dollars' worth of damage and you can't overcome that in one day. Moreover, he only has one assistant and his budget is limited.

It's Paul's studied opinion that conditions at the club could be much worse than they are. Probably the biggest trouble is the high rate they have to pay for water. Instead of being given a rate as an industrial user, the club pays double the amount a normal home user pays in Lubbock. And since the club is privately owned and operated, the budget for operation of the club is limited. It's only natural that W. G. "Bill" McMillan should want to make some profit from the club. It isn't much, but he's running it the way any businessman would operate it. As a result, the budget is balanced and somewhat in the black (more than can be said for the government).

A large majority of the public links clubs are owned and operated by cities. They are municipal courses and, as such, are run by local government. One of the finest in the nation is located at San Antonio. We used to play on one in Washington, D. C., that was well-run and kept up beautifully. It also had heavy use. We imagine that any loss was taken care of through a recreation department fund, for surely the low greens fee didn't begin to pay the salaries of the number of men employed. But Meadowbrook isn't municipally operated and until it is, conditions will not change much. No private owner is going to lose money just to provide men and women with exercise.

THE ROUNDUP: Chick Trout, who wandered into the Clovis tournament accidentally, came out with a beautiful consolation first place trophy . . . There'll be a surprise program at the Lubbock Gun club Sunday . . . We still like Albuquerque for the WT-NM pennant. Looks like they bought insurance in Frank Shone . . . Bob Marquis has reported to Binghampton, N. Y., after all. They sent him a plane ticket and he took off . . . Costin Bufkin of Texas Tech may be the new head coach at Sundown . . . Wonder if Baylor planned the dedication of the bible center and the football stadium the same day to throw off suspicion that they might be going according to Hoyle? Doubt it. . . . J. D. Kirkpatrick would like to meet either Tommy Adams or Gene James, or both, in the ring.

Teams To Bid For AA Crown

ters and one two-hitter in his record.

Lubbock does not feature pitching but has one of the classiest second base combinations in Texas. The Westerners have been sparked in their 19 victories by the hitting and fielding of Shortstop Bobby Brown and Second-Sacker Charles Galey. The latter is an all-state basketball player.

In the opening round of the tournament Monday Beaumont plays Waco and Stephenville clashes with Bowie in the afternoon with Marshall meeting Denison and Lubbock engaging Austin at night.

FINAL WORKOUTS FOR WESTERNERS ARE SPEEDED

The final days of practice before the Texas Interscholastic league state high school baseball tournament will be hot ones for the Lubbock Westerners, provided the sun continues to burn down, and Coach Fred Taylor will be trying to get his team in top shape for the trip to Austin Sunday for the championship tourney June 6-7-8.

But the more immediate future holds a game with Lamesa, scheduled for Chapman field at 3:30 p.m. Friday, and stiff competition is expected from the Lamesa nine. Most of the boys were on the team that won the District 3-AA title, including pitchers Royce King, Bill Hart, and Jerry Phillips.

Hart had the best record over the season with four wins and no losses, and King and Phillips each won two and lost two games. King is a lefthander and the other two moundsmen are righthanded hurlers.

Price of admission to the game Friday will be 30 cents for students and 60 cents for adults. Proceeds of the game will be used to defray expenses of sending the baseball team to the state tournament in Austin.

try list are Tommy Roberts, the teen-age Roswell thumper who last year was runner-up to Nix here, and Red Roden, veteran Odessa star.

All matches will be played over the well-groomed, nine-hole Hobbs Country club layout. After Thursday's qualifying play, matches are scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

An added attraction will be the new $100,000 clubhouse at the Hobbs course, which will be the site of numerous festivities planned in connection with the tournament. A Calcutta-barbecue program is scheduled Thursday night, a cocktail party Friday night, and a dance Saturday night.

LUBBOCK GOLFERS HEAD FOR ATTRACTIVE MEET

A number of Lubbock and South Plains representatives will be in Hobbs today for the opening of the annual Hobbs Country Club Invitational golf tournament.

At least 11 members of Lubbock Country club have signified their intention to compete in the Hobbs event. In addition, several non-affiliated golfers from the Lubbock area are expected to enter.

Plainview also will have a small contingent at Hobbs, spearheaded by Jack Williams, one of West Texas' top amateur shotmakers.

The Lubbock Country club delegation will include Don Mitchell, Fenner Tubbs, Roy Cooper, Roy Howard, T. E. Patterson, Ross Mitchell, George Canon, Hugh Anderson, Kirk Dean, Bill Tatum and possibly Raymond Marshall, L. G. Raney, Eldon Rawlings, Lindsey Telford.

Meadowbrooks Publinx club members planning to enter the Hobbs tournament include A. B. Holton, Kenneth Holton, Dave Lawson, Jack Trammell, Huston Trammell, Truman Hutson, Weldon Counts, Bob Ewerz and Manse Allen.

Australian leaders are pressing for drastic action to curb the rabbit plague.

White Sox, Yankees Meet At Boys Club

White Sox and Yankee baseball teams in the Pygmy and Pee Wee Leagues at the Boys club will collide this afternoon, the Pygmy game starting at 2 p. m. and the Pee Wee game starting at 4 p. m.

The first game in the American Legion Junior League schedule also will be played—at 6 p. m.—with the ABC meeting the Methodist Men.

In games yesterday, the Pirates won a pair of games from Red Sox nines, the Pygmy League team winning 8 to 5 and the Pee Wee team winning 19 to 16.

Wesley Light, with two singles in two trips, and Bill Boyd with a home run paced the victors. Lanney Shofner had a triple and single in three trips to lead the losers.

Paul Sikes had five for five for the Pirates in their Pee Wee game, including a home run, double and three singles. Don Wells sparked the losers with a pair of home runs, each with the bases loaded.

Dallas Edges Tulsa, 10 To 9

(By The United Press)

Twelve pitchers, 19 runs and 26 hits went under the bridge last night as the Dallas Eagles tightened their grip on first place in the Texas league.

While Dallas was downing Tulsa 10 to 9, its first-division rivals all were losing their games.

The Oiler-Eagle battle was something of a pitchers' duel for the first five innings. Then one flinger followed another in quick succession for both sides, and the base knocks rang off the walls.

Dallas led 3 to 2 going into the seventh inning. Then Tulsa picked up four runs. The Eagles got two in their half of the inning, then came back in the eighth to pick up five more, leaving the score at 10 to 6. An Oiler last-inning rally died one run short of tying the Eagles.

Leo Wells sparked the Dallas attack with a homer in the eighth with two aboard.

Second-place San Antonio was nosed out 2 to 1 as Beaumont's Gale Pringle held the Missions to one hit. Reid was the losing pitcher. The Missions now are three full games off the pace.

Third-place Fort Worth also dropped another game behind with a 5 to 3 loss to Oklahoma City. The Indians got four runs in the second and were never in danger. Burnett homered for the Indians in the second with the bases loaded.

Rounding out the schedule, Houston and Shreveport split a double-header in the Louisiana city. Shreveport took the first contest 9 to 1, and Houston took the nightcap 7 to 3. A total of six homers were blasted in the twin-bill, Shreveport collecting four of them.

MILLS IS FAVORED

LONDON, June 2. (UP)—Freddie Mills was favored at 7-5 to beat Bruce Woodcock tonight before a sellout crowd of more than 46,000 at White City stadium in the first of a series of bouts calculated to produce a new world heavyweight champion.

Big Ten Trackmen To Test Pacific Stars

CHICAGO, June 2. (AP)—The Big Ten today selected a 34-man squad to cross spikes with the Pacific coast conference in the ninth outdoor track duel between the two leagues at Berkeley, Calif., June 21.

The Big Ten will be shooting for its fourth straight victory, but is likely to fall short of the mark against a bristling west coast array, headed by super-swift Mel Patton of Southern California.

The Western conference has excellent distance strength represented in Ohio State's Mal Whitfield, Olympic 800 meters champion; Wisconsin's Don Gehrmann and Michigan's Herb Barten.

EXPORT TRADE SHOWS DECLINE

British Economic Situation Gloomy

(By The United Press)

LONDON, June 2—Britain seems to be heading into an economic crisis, and the trend has the government and lots of other people plenty worried.

Britain's export trade, the life blood of the nation, is dropping off dangerously. Its gold reserves are dwindling. The stock market has gone into a serious slump. Labor is restless.

The worsening situation reminds many of Grover Cleveland's "silent panic" which stole upon the United States without warning in 1893.

Concern Is Revealed

Nobody knows from what direction the next blow will come, or what form it will take. But there is a general feeling that a scarcity of dollars will have something to do with it.

The labor government already has betrayed its mounting concern over the country's plight. Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps, boss of the nation's economy, summoned the editors of Britain's principal newspapers to a secret meeting in his office recently and gave them the bad news.

He told them that Britain is losing a great deal of its gold reserves and very shortly may be "on the spot." There also apparently was talk, back and forth, about whether sterling would have to be devalued.

Exports Show Drop

Cripps, without flatly rejecting such action, made it plain that he believed devaluation of sterling would furnish only short-lived relief. The pound sterling now is worth $4.03 compared with $5.03 prior to September, 1936.

This meeting with the editors came soon after publication of the April trade returns. These showed a big slump in exports, which plunged to the lowest level for any month since last September.

The volume of trade in April was only 40 per cent above the monthly average for 1938. By contrast, exports during the first quarter of the year ran at 62 per cent above the pre-war average.

If May has shown no improvement, that would explain the alarming loss of gold to which Cripps referred. If exports and Marshall aid together do not pay for the imports which Britain needs to live, then the government has to dip into its gold reserves for the balance.

Tyson Dies

Democratic convention.

Tyson was a man of many affiliations. He was a member of the board of Mary Hardin-Baylor college at Belton; a member of the board of the Buckners orphans home, a Baptist institution at Dallas; a trustee of the Navarro county foundation; chairman of the board of deacons of the First Baptist church of Corsicana. At this church he taught the men's Sunday school class each Sunday.

He practiced law here in the firm of Tyson, Dawson and Dawson. Leighton B. Dawson, one of his law partners and brother of Matt Dawson, arrived at Tyson's bedside one minute after Tyson died.

Funeral Set Friday

Survivors include Tyson's wife; a son, Luther; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Tyson of Calvert; a sister, Mrs. Vernon G. Miles, of Minden, La.; and a brother, Arthur Tyson, professor at East Texas Baptist college, Marshall.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the First Baptist church in Corsicana, with Dr. Jared I. Cartlidge, pastor, in charge.

After the services, the funeral procession will move overland to Calvert, where Tyson will be buried Friday afternoon. Graveside services will be held at Calvert.

He added he had a report that wheat has sold as low as $1.55 per bushel in the Wichita Falls area. This is about 32 cents below the government support price.

He pointed out farmers can obtain the support price if it is placed in an approved storage space.

"But some elevators are denying the farmers this space, forcing the farmers to sell their wheat at a low price. If this situation is not changed, I estimated Texas farmers will lost from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 this year. I predict the price will sink down to $1.25 per bushel."

Hammond wired President Truman: "The gravity of the situation and urgency for action would justify unusual procedure."

One elevator operator said that elevators are still heavily loaded with the old crop bought by the Commodity Credit corporation and the government has been slow in ordering the outward movement of the crop.

plans whatever, with the possible exception of week-end holidays on the Potomac river and Chesapeake bay. He stressed that he planned to remain at his desk as long as necessary.

The President was asked whether he would accept a compromise on tidelands oil legislation. He said he could not answer before the legislation reached his desk.

Mr. Truman also told newsmen it would be impossible for him to attend the mid-western Democratic party conference on the administration farm program, which opens in Des Moines, Iowa, June 12.

Worries over storage space for the new crop acted as one reason for the selling. It was felt wheat which cannot be stopped for a government loan will have to be dumped on the free market. Traders were concerned over the amount of this free market wheat.

Wheat closed ⅝-1 ⅛ lower, July $1.87 ⅛-⅜, corn was unchanged to ⅛ lower, July $1.28 ¾-⅞, oats were ⅜ lower to ¼ higher, July 57 ⅝-¾, and lard was unchanged to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $11.25.

tenants for rent decreases.

John O. Young of Orange, attorney for the tenants, accused Inmon of a "preposterous and unreasonable" change of mind. Young said Inmon had assured him less than a week earlier that the increase applications would be rejected. Inmon contended that what he had told Young was that the tenants' applications for decreases would be denied.

Young met with about 350 of the tenants last night. The group voted almost unanimously to "continue paying rent at the rates called for in our contracts and to refuse to pay present or any future increases."

Hopes Dim At Paris Session

PARIS, June 2 (U.P.)—The three western powers virtually abandoned hope today for any type of agreement with Russia on Germany and indicated they were prepared to close the Big Four conference of foreign ministers on June 15.

As a last resort the United States, Britain and France may agree to a series of secret meetings at their afternoon conference today to see if Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky will make any new offers when the spotlight of publicity is withdrawn.

Hopes Are Blasted

Otherwise the West considers that even their hopes for a minimum of agreement on Germany and Berlin have been blasted and that there is no further use for continuing the present sessions.

Yesterday's session was devoted to a long legal argument over Russia's desire to maintain a veto on all subjects discussed by the four powers and the West's demand for rule by a majority vote.

Vishinsky became involved yesterday in a long legal argument on why the western powers are in Berlin. U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson answered the question bluntly by saying the West was in Berlin by right and by force of arms and intends to stay there.

Spending Plan

available for the improvement and growth of under-developed areas."

Plan Is Prepared

The United States delegation to the U. N. economic and social council next proposed that Lie and the heads of specialized agencies prepare a comprehensive plan for economic development through the U. N. and the agencies. The council agreed and the report issued today is the result.

Specialized agencies are cousins of the U. N., tied to the general organization by agreements but operating on their own.

Here is a breakdown of the general work and the amounts set out in the report:

U. N.—Industry, transport, power, government, administration, fiscal, and statistical services, $4,855,500 to be spent through the U. N. during the first year, and $7,643,500 the second year; $1,084,500 to be spent through specialized agencies cooperating with the U. N. in joint projects the first year and $1,601,500 the second year.

Other Activities Slated

International labor organization (ILO)—Training, migration, social security, industrial safety, labor problems, $4,678,400 first year, $6,793,500 second year.

Food and agriculture organization (FAO)—Agriculture, fisheries, forestry, nutrition $9,425,456 first year, $11,345,383 second year.

United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization (UNESCO)—Elementary, technical and adult education, $6,150,000 first year, $10,705,500 second year.

International civil aviation organization (ICAO)—Development of air navigation and transportation, $516,200 first year, $1,007,400 second year.

World health organization (WHO)—Malaria control, environment sanitation, public health administration, $9,152,520 first year, $10,983,024 second year.

International bank for reconstruction and development—Will continue help in making general surveys and resources and formulating development programs.

Continue Giving Advice

International monetary fund—Will continue giving advice regarding money and banking policy and organization.

International refugee organization (IRO)—Can provide skilled labor or technicians or specialists from its displaced persons manpower pool until field operations end.

In his report Lie emphasizes the planners' decision that nations receiving help must request it in the form of an acceptable program, and must be prepared to take full advantage of it.

"In every country," the report said, "development must be brought about mainly through the efforts of the local population, with the help of domestic resources, and by means of appropriate changes in economic and social structure. External assistance in the shape of capital and technical facilities may be important, in some cases crucial, but the major initiative, and the largest part of the capital and labor required, must come from domestic sources. Indeed, too great and too long-continued dependence on foreign capital and technicians may impede rather than accelerate development along sound lines."

Dr. Travis White Speaks At Kiwanis

The building of a stronger Christian democracy is as important as the building of a strong defense for protection from the outside, Dr. Travis A. White, pastor of the First Christian church, declared in a talk at the luncheon program of the Lubbock Kiwanis club at Hotel Lubbock today noon.

"Encroachment of the rising tide of isms, not only Communism but secularism, is as much a danger to our democracy as the threat of war," Dr. White said. "The responsibility facing us is a two-fold task.

"One place where we can take hold is the creation of a Christian democracy . . . How can we expect to lead other peoples unless we are something ourselves.

"A lot of us are concerned with the footprints we leave on the sands of time," Dr. White declared, "but about all some of us will leave will be the mark of a heel.

"We do a lot of talking about free enterprise and the threat to our personal liberties, etc., but everyone of us wants to get un to our knees in the porkbarrel of privilege. Our economy ought to be considered in terms of the greatest good for the greatest number of people."

Dr. White was introduced by G. E. Dawson, program chairman. Prior to his talk, two speakers, W. C. O'Mara and Dr. O. W. English, made an appeal for completion of the campaign to finance the Girls Scout building project.

Joe Long of Amarillo and Hollis Moore of Henrietta were out-of-town guests at the luncheon.

Lucas said the bill probably will go to the Senate finance committee, which normally handles such matters. Its fate there is uncertain. Chairman George (D-Ga) will be away from the Senate for two weeks and any decision as to hearings or other Senate action will await his return.

Republican floor leader Wherry of Nebraska and GOP policy committee Chairman Taft of Ohio, who have been big guns in the economy efforts to date, told reporters they must study the pension bill before deciding what they propose.

Changes Explained

The pension bill would assume that any veteran is totally and permanently disabled at 65 years. That would remove a present standard which denies a pension to the 65-year-old veteran who can work half a day, or earn half a normal day's pay.

The Veteran's administration now requires a medical test showing at least 10 percent disability before the old veteran gets the $72 monthly pension.

The bill also would allow a single veteran to earn up to $1,200 a year and receive a pension, now denied if he earns $1,000 or more. No change is made in the $2,500 income limit for a veteran with dependents.

The Budget Bureau estimated that the bill would raise costs for veterans pensions over the next 50 years from around $35,000,000,000 to $100,000,000,000. They said $57,000,000,000 of the increase comes from elimination of the unemployability clause and $8,693,00,000 through other liberalizations.

Foes Of Government Spending Praised

ESKRIDGE, Kan., June 2 (U.P.)—A one-time GOP presidential nominee, Alf Landon, believes that a real depression will be avoided—"if it is avoided at all"—by the "third party," a group he termed as "literate liberals" opposing President Truman's spending program.

In a discussion on the oil future in Kansas before a chamber of commerce gathering here, Landon praised the "literate liberals" for their "non-partisan attitude."

"The third party members," he said, "are those who put the welfare of their country above the welfare of their party. These men know history and know the fate of every government and people that embarked on such a program of government by handouts."

German Housewife Amazed By America

CINCINNATI, O., June 2. (INS)—Frau Schmitt-Maas, 31-year-old Wiesbaden, Germany, city-council member, today got a glimpse of America in action—and was pretty much astounded by it.

She is one of a group of Germans traveling in the U. S. under the auspices of the American military government. And today she sat in on a Cincinnati city council meeting.

Frau Schmitt-Maas listened for a while in stunned silence while a gas-station attendant told the city fathers how Cincinnati should be run.

She explained that in her city "people can only hear, they cannot talk."

Murder Trial Opens, Star Won't Testify

RIVERSIDE, Calif., June 2 (AP)—Trial of Mrs. Agnes Garnier on charges of murdering her wealthy employer, John E. Owen, friend of actress Irene Rich, opens today but Miss Rich will not testify.

Mrs. Garnier, 52-year-old divorcee, is accused of shooting the wealthy rancher, 68, following an argument at his luxurious ranch here April 22.

The prosecution contends the argument was over a set of cocktail glasses Miss Rich had given Owen.

District Attorney William Mackey of of Riverside county said he will not subpoena Miss Rich since she is in New York. Mackey added he didn't believe she could be of much assistance in the case, but that her name was bound to come up during the trial.

No witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear until next Tuesday. Selection of jury gets underway today.

At the time of his death Owen was married but had been estranged from his wife, Florence, for several years. Mrs. Garnier managed his apartment properties in Los Angeles.

Jury Favors Company In Suit Against Bank

A federal jury last night found in favor of the Union Supply company, Levelland, in a suit against the Levelland State bank and in turn found for the bank against third party defendants.

The suit arose when a former employe of the Union Supply accepted a check made out to the company in the amount of $5,650.22 and allegedly appropriated the cash and received for it to his own use. The check was issued by the Country Club of Levelland in payment of an open account.

The jury found that the Union Supply was not negligent in checking on their accounts. They further found that the bank had no reason to believe that the former employe, B. J. Hargroves, had authority to endorse and cash the check.

In the involved case the jury found for the Levelland State bank against B. J. Hargroves, now in the U. S. Army, B. J. Childress and Sherman Davis, both of Lubbock. The three men were named jointly and severally; Hargroves and Childress to be accountable for the full amount of the check and Davis for the amount of $1,300. The jury stated that they believed Davis had not acted in good faith in collecting $1,300 based on the larger check.

In the final finding the jury indicated that Hargroves and Childress had entered into a scheme to defraud the Levelland State bank out of $5,650.22. Judgment will be entered sometime this week.

Austrian Will Speak For Jewish Campaign

Dr. Manfred Arie, who formerly was presiding judge of the Austrian State Supreme court, will speak at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Congregation Shaareth Israel, on behalf of the $250 million United Jewish Appeal campaign, Rabbi Julius Kerman of Congregation Shaareth Israel said early this afternoon.

The speaker was appointed district attorney of Vienna shortly after close of World war I and advanced steadily in public positions until he became presiding judge of the Supreme court in Austria. He recently traveled extensively in Israel and will tell of observations during his trip.

Arrangements for the speech were made by the United Jewish Appeal of New York City, of which Henry Morgenthau, jr., is chairman. Purpose of the campaign is to raise money for aid to refugees and overseas aid. Dr. Arie's present home is believed here to be in New York.

Albert Skibell is chairman of the appeal campaign in Lubbock. Sunday's meeting will be open to the public, said Rabbi Kerman.

Demos Fail On Labor Measure

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP)—House Democrats have failed again to agree on a new labor bill.

The Senate, which starts its Taft-Hartley debate Monday, now clearly has the initiative on labor legislation and is likely to pass a bill before the House does.

Those developments, though not necessarily decisive, offered no cheer to Truman Democrats and labor unions today.

Truman Democrats on the House labor committee had hoped to agree on a compromise bill repealing major portions of the Taft-Hartley act, vote it out of committee, and see it approved by the House before the Senate completed action.

Counterweight Feared

Then, if the Senate passed a bill containing certain Taft-Hartley rovisions like anti-strike injunctions and the ban on the closed shop—as pro-union congressmen fear—the House-approved bill would serve as a counter-weight. And the final version might then more closely approximate the Taft-Hartley "repeal" which President Truman wants.

But if the Senate sends an injunction-and-closed-shop-ban measure to an aimless House that has no other bill before it, the theory is that the House coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats may be able to push it through and send it to the White House.

Truman, Churchill Optimistic As Indications Of Peace Grow

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

President Truman says he believes "we are closer to world peace now than at any time in the past three years.

Former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill declares he has the growing hope "that we may avert forever the horrible vision of a third world war."

What justification is there for such optimism in view of the continued clashes between the Russians and the western democracies in Europe, and the sweeping victories of the Moscow-inspired Communists in China? Has the gift of prophesy deserted these two distinguished statesmen?

Still Smart Boys

I don't believe either of them has lost his cunning. There are plenty of signs that the dangers of world war have receded greatly in recent weeks. The chief reason is that the Communist drive westward across Europe has been stopped by the power of the Democracies' counter-offensive. Not only has it been stopped but it has very largely spent its force and is without the sinews for recovery.

So much for Europe, which has represented the greatest immediate threat to the western world. But what of China, which houses close to a quarter of the world's population and is possessed of vast natural resources? Is there no danger in that situation?

China certainly does present grave dangers, but at this stage they are more ideological than military. It is quite in the cards that Russia, even though dominating that vast country politically, would find it a white elephant.

China Undeveloped

This is so because China, while potentially a great power, is backward and undeveloped. From the military aspect she not only wouldn't be any great asset to Russia, but on the contrary would involve heavy expenditures for development. Progress calls for mountainous efforts and great sums of money.

Putting China on her feet isn't a matter of years. It involves decades.

So at this juncture neither Europe nor the Orient hold threats of another world war in anything like the near future. Perhaps, as Churchill says, it may be averted forever.

But this doesn't mean the struggle between communism and democracy is drawing to a close. It will continue, but along ideological lines rather than as a "shooting war"—at least so long as the Allies keep themselves militarily strong as a preventive.

Good Ideas Needed

It therefore remains to be seen whether the democracies are as good with ideas as they are with guns. For the conflict will be won or lost with ideas. General Dwight D. Eisenhower pinned that down yesterday in his first commencement address as President of Columbia university. Said he:

"In the years ahead of you graduates, the fundamental struggle of our time may be decided—between those who would further apply to our daily lives the concept of individual freedom and equality and those who would subordinate the individual to the dictates of the state."

In this war of ideologies the democracies must lay down programs which are concrete and practical. No matter how much one may dislike communism, it does have a concrete program. The average citizen wants something into which he can get his teeth.

Aly, Rita Head To England For Derby

DEAUVILLE, France, June 2 (AP)—Prince and Princess Aly Khan landed here today in their private plane, enroute to England to see the Derby at Epsom Downs on Saturday.

They were expected to take off later in their twin-engine craft for a cross channel flight.

It was reported that Aly and his movie star wife would be guests in England at Mereworth castle in Kent. The prince's father, the wealthy Aga Khan, already is in England, accompanied by his wife, the begum.

The princess, nee Rita Hayworth, as well as the prince and his father, is an ardent race fan now.

Sky Larking, a two-year-old filly, wearing Rita's colors, won the Prix de Nogent yesterday at Le Tremblay. It was Rita's first purse and increased her bank account $479.

Aly's entry in the Derby is Iran, but the prince said yesterday he didn't think he had a chance. He said one of his father's horses might win the English classic. The Aga Khan has entered Hindustan.

Divorce Court Rules For Technicolor Head

LOS ANGELES, June 2. (INS)—Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, multi-millionaire head of Technicolor, Inc., successfully contested today the plea of his ex-wife, Natalie, for $3,000 a month separate maintenance.

"She's not my wife and I don't owe her a cent," Dr. Kalmus declared.

Superior Judge Daniel N. Stevens upheld Dr. Kalmus' contention that his 1921 Massachusetts divorce was valid and further ruled that Dr. Kalmus did not reconcile with Mrs. Kalmus three days after the 1921 divorce as she had alleged.

The judge also issued an order restraining Mrs. Kalmus from molesting Dr. Kalmus on the latter's pleas that his wife had threatened to kill him.

Wichita Trying To Get President For Democracy Fete

WICHITA FALLS, June 2 (AP)—Efforts were underway today to bring President Truman to Wichita Falls for a giant rally in connection with a "building democracy" program June 9-11.

Sponsors of the program said Sens. Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson of Texas were working to obtain the President's acceptance.

Citizens of northwest Texas and southwest Oklahoma are to take part in the program, Mrs. H. W. Weir of Wichita Falls, general chairman, said.

Governors To Attend

The program will be based on a premise that government begins at a local level, and that problems should not always be submitted to national or state governing bodies.

Among personalities who have acepted invitations to be present are Govs. Beauford Jester of Texas, Roy Turner of Oklahoma, and Sid McMath of Arkansas; India Edwards, Washington, executive director of the women's division of the Democratic national committee, and Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, Baltimore, former national president of the General Federation of Women's club.

Resort Theaters Close Doors In Protest Against Tax Levy

LIGONIER, Pa., June 2 (AP)—This summer resort town of 2,500 is without movies today.

Owners of the community's two theaters locked them up tight when borough officials put a ten per cent amusement tax into effect yesterday.

Alex and James Alexis boarded up the front of the Ligonier, a ten-year old movie house which cost $100,000 to build. Alvin Seiler shut the Vox, a second run theater.

Council Petitioned

Across the front of the Ligonier was spread a sign:

"We are closed to protest against discriminatory taxes on the theater-going public."

The Alexis brothers and Seiler said they won't reopen until the tax is repealed.

The borough council, meeting tonight will hear a petition from citizens that the tax be abolished.

This is the borough's second "amusement strike" in a month. The Ligonier Alleys, a nine-lane bowling hall, closed May 1 when council ordered a new $50 a year tax. The alleys are still closed.

Air Force Continues Wrecking Big Plane

DAYTON, O., June 2. (AP)—Air Force engineers today continued their six-weeks job of wrecking a six-engine B-36 bomber.

The destructive project is not just for fun. Engineers want to determine how much weight our largest air fortress can carry.

The tests were started yesterday by the Air Materiel command at Wright-Patterson air base.

One of the first tasks for workmen was to twist or break one of the 230-foot wings. They began loading bags of lead on the silver surface to create thousands of pounds of stress. Cables were attached to the underside of the wings and secured tightly to the floor to create even more pressure.

William Miller, assistant project engineer, said it probably would take six weeks to destroy the huge bomber.

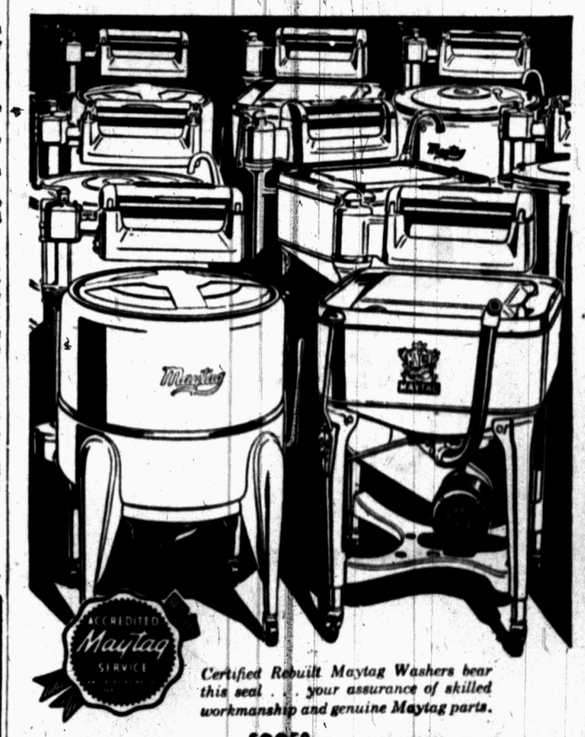

Stripped of its tail assembly and engines, the bomber still weighed 100,000 pounds.

Grave Storage Problem Is Faced By South Plains Farmers

Harvesting To Start In Area

Harvest of an estimated one million acres of wheat on the South Plains, scheduled to begin in earnest within the next few weeks, has brought farmers of the area face to face with a problem that in former years has been of varying importance, but which probably has never before been as important, or as serious.

That problem is storage.

Some harvesting already is underway at scattered points on and near the South Plains and the problem of storage is one of the farmers' chief worries.

Federal and staff agriculture men in the area see only one solution to the problem after the relatively small amounts of storage space in elevators and grain warehouses are filled early in the harvest sea . They unanimously agree tha m storage of wheat will be ne sary.

Major Shortage Seen

Walter Y. Wells, secretary of the Agricultural Adjustment agency, said last night that "available storage in this area for wheat will be just a drop in the bucket" to the total amount of grain harvested.

"Farmers are going to be forced to provide farm storage," he said, since "storage space will really be hard to get after wheat harvest has begun."

Wells sees the biggest disadvantage of farm storage of the grain —aside from the fact that so little time remains in which to prepare storage on the farm—as that of having to wait for the wheat to dry out sufficiently before it can be stored.

1948 Crop Carried Over

Like Lubbock County Agent Dave Sherrill and W. N. Williamson, district agent of the Extension service, Wells believes that emergency storage facilities placed at disposal of wheat growers during the harvest season and after, while extremely helpful, will be insufficient in taking care of the large amounts of wheat to be stored.

Williamson, whose jurisdiction includes 18 counties in this area, said last night that great amounts of wheat and grain sorghums are still in storage from last year in grain elevators and warehouses throughout the area, and that "we don't see what the answer is, unless the farmer provides farm storage."

"What we'd like to see farmers do is build farm storage. That's the only answer that I can see," he said.

Farmers Could Help

"It's late now," he added, "but they've still got time to provide some space at least."

He said that his office has advocated farm storage for several

Chairmen For Sessions Are Selected

Workshop-Conference To Be Held In Lubbock Oct. 21-22

At a meeting of members of the program and executive committees of the Texas Staff Teachers association District IV English workshop-conference, held Wednesday afternoon in the home of Miss Glenys Honey, 1911 Fifteenth, date of the 1949 English workshop-conference was set for Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21-22. The conference will be held in Lubbock.

The forthcoming conference, similar to the one held in Lubbock last October, will have as its general topic, "The Teaching of Reading," and will cover the teaching of reading comprehension, increasing the quantity and improving the quality of reading, and the critical evaluation of various types of reading material, such as imaginative literature, magazines, and newspapers.

Chairmen Are Named

At yesterday's meeting, chairmen of the three sessions of the workshop conference this fall were named, including Kline Nall, of the English faculty at Texas Tech; Miss Anne Louise Jones, of Odessa Senior High school; and Mrs. Nils Akeson, of Plainview Senior High school.

Members of the program committee attending Wednesday's meeting included Miss Honey, Mrs. Akeson, Mrs. J. L. Teal of Lubbock, and Nall.

From the executive committee were Miss Irene Arms of Lubbock Senior High school; Mrs. J. B. Caldwell of Slaton High school; Mrs. V. B. Hall of Howard County Junior college, Big Spring; Alan M. F. Gunn, of Texas Tech; Miss Quanah Lewis of Texas Tech; and Mrs. A. F. Rasor of Frenship Rural High school.

Mrs. Rasor was appointed chairman of the membership committee for 1949. Others who are to serve on this committee are Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. J. W. Blomshield of Big Spring, Mrs. Suttle Purcell of Lamesa, and Mrs. Charles Stewart of Tahoka.

Some 40 schools were enrolled in the 1948 workshop-conference program and were represented at the meeting held in Lubbock last October by more than 125 teachers of English. A special effort is

Jewish Holy Day Observed

Shovuos, one of the most colorful holy days on the Jewish religious calendar, will open at sundown today and will be observed in services at 8 o'clock tonight at Congregation Shaareth Israel, Twenty-third and Ave. Q.

At 8 p.m. Friday, a confirmation service will be conducted and the following pupils of the religious school will be confirmed: Al Alschuler, Morris Berger, Charles R. Fireman and Julian Potash Kornfeld of Lubbock and Geraldine and Reva Steinberg of Plainview.

Program Is Given

The sermon topic will be "Are You Grown Up?" Rabbi Julius Kerman will deliver the sermon.

Mrs. Sam Portnoff will sing a solo and Mrs. Joe Moise will be the accompanist.

Mrs. Alvin Goldstucker, newly elected president of the women's auxiliary, will present each confirmant with a Bible on behalf of the auxiliary.

Louis Wilk, president of the congregation, will present the confirmation certificates. A reception will follow.

Observance Ends Friday

Shovuos, or the Feast of Weeks, will close for Jews in Israel and for Liberal Jews at sundown Friday. Orthodox and Conservative Jews will observe an additional day Saturday.

According to tradition, Moses received the Ten Commandments from God at this season and established for all ages the covenant between God and Israel. In its origin, the festival celebrated the harvest season.

Confirmation services are conducted in temples and synagogues to observe Shovuos. The rabbi charges confirmants to prove worthy of their heritage by living in such a way as to be pleasing in the sight of God and man.

Franco Commentator Declares Eleanor Dictates U. S. Policy

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—The Madrid official radio in a broadcast recorded today by U. S. government monitors complained that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is "dictator" of American foreign policy.

The broadcast was based on published reports that the wife of the late president had prevailed on Secretary of State Acheson to refrain from backing a recent proposal in the United Nations to return ambassadors to the Franco government.

"Is Mrs. Roosevelt a sort of Stalin in petticoats?" demanded commentator Juan De La Cosa. "Where does her power lie? Why does Mr. Acheson obey her with so much submission?"

If Mrs. Roosevelt has that much influence, he suggested, she "personally directs U. S. policy" and "hence Mrs. Roosevelt is a dictator and the United States a dictatorship."

Annual Spur Rodeo Is Launched Today

(Special To The Journal)

SPUR, June 2. — The third annual Spur Cowboy Jubilee rodeo was to get underway here today with a parade through the downtown section at 1 p.m., to be followed by the initial rodeo performance in Jones stadium at Spur at 2:30 p.m.

Other rodeo performances are planned for 8 p. m. tonight, Friday, and Saturday nights, officials of the show said.

Old Timers To Rope

The Spur Cowboy Jubilee is sponsored each year by business men of Spur and ranch and cattlemen of Dickens county and surrounding area. The rodeo performances will feature bronc riding, calf roping, a cowgirl sponsor contest, double mugging, bare back bronc riding and steer riding.

In addition, a special feature will be an old timers' roping contest. Participants must be at least 55 years of age and be qualified in order to enter.

Stock for the shows is being furnished by Goat Mayo of Petrolia, who furnishes stock for shows in numbers of West Texas towns.

136 File Entries

Admission to each show is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Old timers and their wives will be special guests at the rodeo performances and will be given free admission.

Prizes totaling some $2,500 are to be distributed to participants in the rodeo events. Championship winners will be announced at the final show on Saturday night, at which time championship prizes are to be awarded.

Show officials said that approximately 136 persons had entered the rodeo contests by late this afternoon. Others are expected to enter Thursday morning.

Chinese Force Quits Tsingtao

NANKING, June 2 (AP)—Semi-official sources said today Chinese Nationalist army and navy forces were abandoning Tsingtao.

The old German-built north China port was the last government holdout in north China. Only yesterday Chinese government news reports claimed a great "victory" there.

These same sources said the United States Navy definitely had abandoned Tsingtao as a base for the western Pacific fleet. A Shanghai U. S. Navy source said he had been out of touch with Tsingtao but that the report likely was true.

Tsingtao has been isolated on land by the Communists for months. Apparently the Reds have moved in on the Tsingtao defense perimeter.

Gunfire Head

Gunfire was audible yesterday in the Shantung peninsula port. Likely the Communists will walk in unopposed shortly.

(At Canton, an old warlord, Yen Hsi-Shan, was nominated for premier of the Nationalist government. Yen, once ruler of Shansi province, has the support of acting president Li Tsung-Jen and the Kuomintang (government party). He would succeed premier Ho Ying-Chin, who resigned.

(The only other new war report was that Communists on the south-central front were withdrawing from Changshu toward Nanchang. It came from government sources.

(Changshu is about 150 air miles east of Changsha, which is on the Hankow-Canton railway about 400 miles north of the provisional capital of Canton.)

THE QUESTION

Do you agree, with the custom of "spring housecleaning?"

THE ANSWERS

MRS. P. W. HECKMANN, Wilson, housewife: "I guess it would depend on the necessity. After the season of the sandstorms, particularly, then yes, a general housecleaning is needed — including washing curtains and windows and dusting from top to bottom and cleaning out the debris."

MRS. P. E. CROSNOE, Lubbock route 2, housewife: "Oh, yes. I have to clean house more than in the spring, though, of course. When the sandstorms come, it gets terrible. I just have to do spring housecleaning when I can get to it. I have four children. When I start, though, I do as much as possible at one time so I can get through with it. I try to get the woodwork all done in a day. It takes about a week to get everything done — to get the curtains all ironed and back up and finish all of it."

MRS. JULIAN WEEHUNT, 3001 Francis, housewife: "Yes. I agree with it the year around. There's so much sand, you have to. I don't think we have 'spring housecleaning' like they must have meant it, when they started it, to mean the year's cleaning of everything. I wash my curtains at least once a month and sometimes more often. I have to, to keep them looking fresh. I wash the woodwork about as often as I wash the curtains."

MRS. C. L. PITTS, Idalou, housewife: "I do. In fact, I clean mine thoroughly about twice a year. It gets so dirty during the winter that you have to wash curtains and wash woodwork and windows in the spring. I think just doing it gradually is the best way, instead of doing the whole job at one time. It's a lot easier on me and the family, too."

MRS. PAUL LIMMER, Wilson, housewife: "It just depends on whether it needs a general cleaning. I clean mine when it gets dirty. I clean my windows after the sandstorms. A great many people do 'spring housecleaning', but it's wiser to wait until after the sandstorms."

MRS. JULIA GOODMAN, 2113 Ave. M, food packer at Stansell's: "Yes, I believe I do. I think it makes everything look fresh and makes the house smell clean. I usually set aside a time for general housecleaning. I try to wait until the worst sandstorms are over."

Soviet Air Line Pact Extended By Chinese

CANTON, June 2 (AP)—Chinese sources said today the Chinese-Russian pact giving the Soviets virtually exclusive commercial air rights in Sinkiang province had been extended five years.

The pact was signed in 1939 and was to expire in September.

Reports here said the Russian negotiators feted the Chinese government representatives when the pact was extended.

The Chinese province on the Russian border has long been of interest to the Russians, who maintain a large consular staff at Tihwa, Sinkiang capital.

New Oil Field Seen In Borden County After Test Of Wildcat

Sinclair Oil & Gas company, (formerly, Sinclair Prairie Oil company), No. 1 Williams, northwest Borden county prospective wildcat discovery, 11 miles northwest of Gail, was botomed at 10,000 feet, in a lime formation, thought by some geologist to be in the top of the Ellenburger, and it was pulling the testing tool after taking a three-hour drillstem test at 9,945-10,000 feet.

A 1,000-foot water blanket was used for that investigation. Gas showed at the surface in 37 minutes. Drilling mud and drilling water started flowing out at the top in 95 minutes.

The project was flowed to pits to clean for 55 minutes. Most of the recovery during that period was mud and water.

Report Not Official

It was then turned to tanks for 30 minutes and unofficial sources report that during that period the project made 20.75 barrels of 34 gravity oil.

The foregoing report has not been officially verified.

Interested observers think that this prospector has definitely assured that it will be completed as a commercial oil well and the opener of a new field.

Up to now no formation water has been developed from any of the sections which have shown possibilities of making oil in commercial quantities.

This venture has previously shown considerable free oil and had kicked out some fluid, while the drillpipe was being pulled after drillstem tests on the horizon between 9,830 feet and 9,928 feet.

Probably Mississippian

Some observers think that the formation between 9,830 feet and 9,928 feet is probably in the Mississippian.

Those same observers think that the Ellenburger was entered around 9,945 feet. That is no official verification for either of those surmises.

It is understood that the section between 9,945 feet, and the current bottom at 10,000 feet was extra soft. Considerable mud was lost in that section while it was being drilled through.

Surface elevation of this prospector is 2,957 feet. It is located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, TP survey, T-6-N.

Extension Is Proven

An extension to Devonian production in the Dollarhide field of southwest Andrews county has been proven at Cities Service Oil company No. 1-E Cowden, outpost to the field, 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 14, block A-52, psl survey.

Bottomed on 8,792 feet, the venture made production tests of the Fusselman and developed considerable water. That formation has been abandoned as a completion prospect.

Perforations were shot in casing at 7,755-7,800 feet opposite the Devonian. That zone was acidized with 1,000 gallons.

After swabbing oil and acid load, the well kicked off and flowed 380 barrels of oil in 24 hours through a one-half inch choke.

Operator To Perforate

On last report, operator was preparing to perforate at 6,545-6,652 feet and test the Clear Fork-Permian, where good shows were encountered when drilling through. If the Clear Fork flows oil in commercial quantities, dual completion might be attempted with the Devonian.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 2 Shafter, outpost to production from Spraberry field's lower Permian sand, in Southeast Dawson county, 15 miles southeast of Lamesa, has logged signs of oil in streaks in the zone between 6,539 feet and 6,628 feet, and as soon as a core now being cut from 6,628 feet to 6,665 feet is out of the hole, a drillstem test will be run to check the petroleum yielding ability of the section between 6,539 feet and 6,665 feet. The exploration is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 48, block 34, TP survey, T-5-N.

Presbyterian Church Reunion Argument Is Expected To Resume

MONTREAT, N. C., June 2 (AP)—The argument in the Southern Presbyterian church over reunion with the northern church is expected to blossom again in local areas during the coming year.

The southern group, known as the Presbyterian Church in the U. S., ended its 89th general assembly here yesterday after agreeing to increase cooperation with the northern church.

The decision to cooperate with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. (Northern), apparently paved the way for re-agitation of the whole re-union question. The controversial issue had been hanging quietly since last year's general assembly placed a five-year moratorium on re-union plans.

At least half a dozen commissioners (delegates) said yesterday's action negated the moratorium. As a result, they added privately, they now feel that they are free to campaign against reunion openly in their Presbyteries.

Race Report Okayed

The assembly during its final day "accepted" a report contending that good Christians should protect the basic rights of all men, white and negro.

The assembly action was not interpreted by officials as endorsement one way or the other of "human rights." It meant simply that the assembly commended the report to its various churches for "consideration and study."

Other action during the day saw the assembly:

Avoid a stand on the subject of divorced persons remarrying in the church.

Tone down opposition to mercy killings.

Endorse weekly religious instruction in public schools, provided local school boards do not object.

ABC Booster Group Visits Spur Today

Fred Hinson was in charge when another ABC boosters caravan left Lubbock this morning headed for Spur. As in the case of the two groups which have visited Hobbs, Midland and Big Spring, the tour will stop at all towns along the route to advertise the Boys' Club rodeo scheduled for June 8-11 at Jones Stadium.

The western garbed boosters have met with warm welcomes at each stop. If the receptions are to be considered as an indication, the rodeo will be a sellout, Larry Kennedy and C. B. Hardin, convoy leaders, said today.

Two sound trucks accompany each of the tours. One was furnished by the Southwestern Public Service company and the other by Baldridge bakery. Through announcements and music crowds are attracted at the various stops. The people are then given a program of the world-championship rodeo and toy whistles are given to the children. Show cards are placed in the windows of all the business houses.

53-Hour Sitdown Strike Finally Ended

Both Sides Claim Victory As Teacher Gets Retirement Pay

ATLANTA, June 2 (AP)—A tired but plucky little teacher, still composed after a 53-hour sitdown strike, collected her $65.78 from the state—but she had to quit her job to get it.

Dr. Willie Melmoth Bomar, the teacher, and the state's teacher retirement system, her opponent, both claimed victory.

"I won," declared the 54-year-old Columbia university Doctor of Philosophy. She tucked the check in her pocketbook yesterday and strode out of the office of J. L. Yaden, director of the retirement system.

Both Claim Victory

"I won," sighed Yaden, who had borne the brunt of Dr. Bomar's strike tactics. "I followed the law."

The dark-haired spinster, author of four books and holder of three degrees, said she needed the money for medical treatment of cancer. She left immediately for the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Bomar began her sitdown strike Monday morning. She spent two nights in the dark, lonely office building, locked in the women's restroom. Her only food was a few sandwiches provided by a watchman.

She demanded a refund of her $9.68 monthly contributions to the teacher retirement fund. She taught home economics at Glenwood, Ga., this year. Her salary was $193.50 a month.

"Cancer Won't Wait"

"They took it out of my puny little salary without consulting me. Now they want me to wait until I'm dead with old age to collect it. Well, I've got cancer. I need the money for treatment—and cancer won't wait."

Three days and two nights of negotiations with harrassed officials brought a solution. The state said all along it couldn't legally refund the money until Dr. Bomar resigned as a teacher. Yesterday she resigned—"under coercion" she said—and the state paid off.

Yaden said the law requires all teachers to participate in the retirement plan.

Dr. Bomar said after she leaves Rochester she will look for writing or editing work in New York or Washington.

Funeral services for Mrs. Edith Galloway, 42, of near Welch community in Dawson county, will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in the Lamesa Methodist church. Rev. Sam Thomas, pastor, and Rev. J. A. Martin, of Welch, will officiate. Mrs. Galloway was fatally injured Tuesday evening in a truck-car collision near Welch. Her daughter Bessie Jean Galloway, 12, who was seriously injured in the accident, has been reported as recovering satisfactorily in Lamesa General hospital.

Last rites for W. J. Sullivan, 75, of Lubbock route 3, were to be conducted at 3 p. m. today in the First Baptist church of Lubbock. Rev. Avery Sullivan, of Smyer Baptist church, was to officiate. Sanders Funeral home was to direct burial in Tech Memorial park. Sullivan died early Wednesday in his residence after suffering a heart attack.

Pat Garrett, of 2519 Twenty-third, today was reported "greatly improved" in condition at Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., where May 25 he underwent major surgery. Doctors at the clinic said today that Garrett should be able to return home within two weeks.

Russia Snubs Slav Protests

MOSCOW, June 2 (AP)—The Soviet government has rejected Yugoslav protests against "hostile" actions toward Yugoslavia.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the protests were made in a note May 23 accusing Russia of breaking a Soviet-Yugoslav treaty in connection with "activity of revolutionary Yugoslav emigres" in Russia.

Tass said the Soviet government replied May 31 that "the real cause for the worsening of relations between the U. S. S. R. and Yugoslavia is the hostile policy pursued by the government of Yugoslavia toward the Soviet Union."

The news agency said Russia turned down flatly Yugoslav demands the Soviet government should forbid activity of Yugo emigres in Russia, and stop them from publishing a newspaper.

Anti-Tito Move Cited

The Russian reply said Yugoslavia's "slanderous allegations" evidently were aimed at hiding Yugoslavia's attitude toward Russia from the Yugoslav people, Tass reported.

(The Yugoslav government newspaper Borba accused Russia last week of trying to create an anti-Tita clique of Yugoslav officers in the Soviet Union by offering many inducements, including pretty girls and high ranking jobs.

(Borba charged Russia had tried to set up this clique to lead a revolution against Premier Marshal Tito. It said the Soviets began their activities the day the Cominform denounced the Tito regime as nationalistic and anti-Marxist.)

Man Went Further Than Police Advised

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 2, (AP)—Joseph Griggs is charged with the shotgun slaying of his brother-in-law today after going to police to ask how to get rid of him.

Police Capt. Patrick J. Murray said Griggs, 52, came to police headquarters yesterday hoping to learn of some legal power to make Coy Gary, 28, his brother-in-law, move out of Griggs' home where he was living.

Murray said Griggs was advised simply to order Gary out.

Shortly afterwards Griggs was arrested and charged with the fatal shooting of Gary. Police said the victim was found lying in the street with wounds in his shoulder and head and was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Measure Permitting More DP's To Come To U. S. Eyed By House

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) — The House was called on today to decide whether more of Europe's stateless persons should be allowed to make their homes in the United States.

It is expected to pass and send to the Senate by nightfall a bill to boost the present displaced persons quota from 205,000 to 339,000.

This isn't as many as the administration wants, but in the eyes of some House Democrats and Republicans it is too many.

A "must" bill on the administration program, the legislation not only would raise the quotas in the 1948 act but would remove some of the restrictions which President Truman has criticized.

Texan Heads Opposition

The President originally asked that 400,000 European refugees be allowed to come to the United States.

Heading the fight against the proposed increases are Reps. Gossett (D-Tex), Bryson (D-SC), and Tackett (D-Ark). All are members of the judiciary committee—which wrote the bill. They joined in a minority report calling the new proposal "a snare and a delusion" and "legislation born of false and misleading propaganda."

Chairman Celler (D-NY) indicated that he would be willing to compromise and allow 350,000 or 375,000 entrants.

There is no major difference of opinion over spreading out the entrants over a three-year period ending June 30, 1951.

In addition to raising the quotas, the legislation would:

Proposals Listed

1. Move up the so-called cut-off date from December 22, 1945, to January 1, 1949, to make eligible thousands of postwar victims of political and religious persecution. The cut-off date is the date by which a refugee must have been in a displaced persons camp abroad to be eligible for admission to the United States.

2. Abolish present priorities giving preference to farm workers and to natives of Baltic nations now under Russian domination.

3. Permit the admission of 15,000 political refugees who have escaped from Soviet controlled countries, subject to screening by the State and Defense departments.

4. Provide separate quotas for (A) 18,000 Polish war veterans who fought for the allied nations and now are in England; (B) 4,000 refugees in Shanghai, and (C) 2,000 more orphans.

5. Set up a revolving fund of $5,000,000 for loans to help refugees reach their new homes once they have entered the United States. No change is proposed in the existing requirement that a refugee must have a job and a place to live before being allowed to enter.

Frank Netherwood, of the British Incorporated Association of Organists, accused churches of underpaying organists, quoting the figure of $64 a year.

Old Tack In Usual Form Over Drama

AMARILLO, June 2 (AP) — Gene Howe, the Tackless Texan of the Globe-News, says the great Broadway hit, "The Death of a Salesman," isn't much of a play.

"First New York hit in years that I haven't been enthusiastic about," said Howe. "But this show, said to possess greatness, doesn't register with me."

Here is critic Howe's word to his home folks, after seeing the play:

"I don't know what they do in New York homes, but I know how people act in Texas. I know what would happen at Eighteenth and Harrison where I live, if I started stalking through the neighborhood shouting wildly and talking hysterically to no one in sight. My family would hold an emergency conference.

"' The old man's crazy.' " they'd say in chorus.

"And they'd send for the sheriff.

"And by the time he arrived, there would be Chief Harper. The neighbors would have sent for him.

"If there are people anywhere like I saw in 'The Death of a Salesman,' I don't know them."

Schaefer Re-Elected Head Of K-C Group

At a meeting of the Lubbock council of the Knights of Columbus, held Wednesday night in Blakeslee hall, officers for next year were elected.

Paul G. Schaefer was re-elected grand knight. Other officers named were:

Joe Botik, deputy grand knight; John A. Remley, chancellor; Robert Quinlivan, warden; A. J. Shimek, treasurer; James Qualia, advocate; Raymond J. Neary, recording secretary; Royce Hill, inside guard; Bert Andries, outside guard; and C. A. Begey, trustee.

An annual report was given by the grand knight. Delegates to the recent state convention of Knights of Columbus at Laredo also made a report. Delegates from Lubbock were J. J. Moore, Anthony L. Borho and Paul G. Schaefer.

The record rainfall in New Orleans was 15.1 inches in 17 hours.

MEET THE MANAGER — Barney Stagner, manager of Pup Thomas and company, and partner with J. B. O'Connell and Pup Thomas, was born at Petersburg Nov. 12, 1921, and moved to Lubbock at the age of two years. He attended Lubbock schools and was graduated from Lubbock High school in 1938. He attended Texas Tech one semester, then started to work as a salesman in the clothing firm. He went into the Army Air Corps in April, 1942, and during the war served at various places in the United States as a ground crew member. When discharged in November, 1945, he returned and became manager of the company. Stagner is a member of the board of directors of Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce and a member of First Christian church. He is married and has one son, Barney Louis, 6. Mr. and Mrs. Stagner live at 1710 Main street. (Staff Photo).

Child Star May Get Wish For Mother's Marriage Annulment, But Not Too Easy

HOLLYWOOD, June 2 (AP) — A lot happened to Margaret O'Brien in one day, even for a movie star.

This is what happened yesterday:

1. Her mother announced that she would try to annul her marriage to orchestra leader Don Sylvio, the marriage that made the 12-year-old Margaret very unhappy.

2. Margaret stepped out of her $3,000-a-week job at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer by mutual agreement.

3. She had an offer to play "Peter Pan" on Broadway.

Husband Disagrees

Mrs. Gladys O'Brien Sylvio said that Margaret is "very happy about the annulment I am planning to ask but I do want to make it clear she had nothing—absolutely nothing—to do with it."

She added she had never lived with Sylvio as man and wife since the wedding last Feb. 22 in Palm Beach, Fla.

Sylvio disagreed.

"An annulment?" he said. "Why that's ridiculous. There was no fraud in our marriage and the marriage was consummated . . . as late as last Monday night."

As to Margaret's role in the annulment plan, Sylvio commented:

"If I could discuss that it would make quite a story, believe me. If Gladys insists on filing the suit I'll issue a statement that should be interesting reading."

Margaret cried and clenched her fists throughout the wedding and refused to kiss her new stepfather for the benefit of photographers.

The rites had been postponed several times previously, reportedly because of the child star's rantings. She had asked that her mother not remarry until she was 14. Margaret's father was killed in an accident shortly before her birth.

Mrs. O'Brien said that her MGM contract was dropped because "there is no story for Margaret right now."

The "Peter Pan" offer came in a phone call from New York but Mrs. O'Brien thinks Margaret is a little too young to handle the role.

"However," she added, "we're considering it."

Wall Street Violence Against Socialism Declared Possible

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—The possibility of armed conflict in the United States over establishment of "socialism" is admitted by a defendant in the Communist conspiracy trial.

But the fault would lie with "Wall Street" interests—not with the Communist party—John Gates, editor of the Communist Daily Worker, testified yesterday.

Gates told the court:

"We advocated winning a majority of the American people for the establishment of socialism, and we sought a peaceful means of doing that.

"And the only way force and violence would come into the picture would be if the big corporations and financial interests would attempt to prevent the American people from instituting socialism when they so desired."

Question Withdrawn

Judge Harold R. Medina commented that "maybe that is the catch in it."

The witness asked, "the catch in what, sir?"

The judge replied: "as to how you figured that out. Do you say yould wait until they did use the force and violence first before you would try to overcome it?"

Harry Sacher of defense council objected and the judge withdrew the question.

Gates, first of the eleven defendants to testify, spent his sixth day on the witness stand. The eleven, all members of the U. S. Red politburo, are charged with conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Violent Plans Denied

The Communist editor testified that there were 20,000 to 25,000 party members in New York City last year.

He denied the Communists ever planned to use force to establish what he called "socialism" in this country. He declared they sought the "legal and peaceful election" of a coalition government which would aim to restrict "monopolies."

The witness said such a coalition government would consist of "a united front of the working class, of the negro people, of the middle classes, and of those sections of the capitalist class which were convinced of the necessity to prevent war and fascism."

Monopolies Seen As Threat

"We anticipate on the basis of past history," he testified, "that undoubtedly the Wall street financial interests and the big corporations in this country would use every possible measure, including force and violence, to prevent such a government from coming to power, or to overthrow such a government once it came to power."

Gates said: "We envisaged that with the formation of such a (coalition) government we would point out to it that to prevent its possible overthrow by the reactionary interests—that is, the Wall street monopolies—by force and violence, it would have to take drastic means to curb these monopoly capitalist interests, to prevent them from sabotaging its work, and eventually would have to destroy the power of these interests."

Arthritis Victim Feeling Fine After New Hormone Treatment

CHICAGO, June 2 —Walter E. Swanson, 61-year-old Chicago business man, says he feels "wonderfully fit" after use of a new hormone for treatment of arthritis.

Swanson said that injections of the new hormone, the first of which was made less than two weeks ago, have given him the first real relief he has had in the 10 years he has suffered from arthritis.

Gains Weight

The treatments by Northwestern university doctors were 42 injections of a white powder known as adreno-cortico-tropic-hormone (A. C. T. H.), derived from the pituitary glands of hogs.

Swanson, former president of the Canteen Company of America, said his pain subsided within 24 hours after treatments started May 21. He said he had gained nine pounds and yesterday, he walked across his hospital room, his carriage erect, without a cane. He sat easily with his once stiff legs crossed and said the pain is gone.

Dr. David E. Markson, assistant proessor of medicine at Northwestern, said the new hormone does not possess curative powers alone. He said it stimulates production in a person's body of the effective but scarce hormone called compound E.

There is only a limited amount of the new product but prospects appear bright for its eventual manufacture in amounts to treat the thousands of persons suffering from arthritis. Doctors and scientists associated with the A. C. T. H. research said the product must undergo tests and there is not enough available to meet clinical research requirements. It is being manufactured on an experimental basis by Armour Research laboratories, a subsidiary of Armour & Co., packers.

Deportation Of Eisler's Wife Okayed By Immigration Officer

NEW YORK, June 2. (AP)—Deportation of Mrs. Gerhart Eisler has been recommended by an immigration inspector, and her counsel sought today to get her freed from Ellis island on bail pending departure.

Exit from the United States is exactly what the Communist leader's wife desires. But she wants to go in her own way—voluntarily. Attorney General Tom Clark says she can't do that.

After a two-hour closed hearing on Ellis island yesterday, inspector Ralph Farb of the Immigration and Naturalization service recommended that the 37-year-old Mrs. Eisler be deported to her native Poland.

To Ask Habeas Corpus

The recommendation needs formal approval by Watson B. Miller, commissioner of the service.

Mrs. Eisler's counsel, Ira Gollobin, said he would seek a habeas corpus writ in federal court today allowing her freedom in bail. The lawyer said he also would demand that Mrs. Eisler be permitted to leave the country voluntarily.

Arrested on an old deportation warrent and charged with overstaying her visitor's visa, she has been at Ellis island since May 13.

She wants to get to Europe to join her husband who fled this jumping escape on a Polish liner.

Eisler has charged his wife is held as a hostage. Her lawyer said she is "a victim of Attorney General Tom Clark's spite."

Texan Accidentally Killed By Recruit

KOBE, Japan, June 2 (AP) — Recruit Walter P. Williams, 20, of Waco, Tex., was killed at Camp Carver today by a bullet accidentally discharged from a sentry's carbine.

The sentry, Recruit William L. Pearson, Wynne, Ark., told Army investigators his weapon discharged when he attempted to move it from his right shoulder.

The bullet entered Williams' right armpit and came out through his left arm. He had been assigned to the Kobe quartermaster's depot.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blues disappear — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

10 pounds lost in 10 days

Mrs. M. C. Britton, 206 W. Wildwood, San Antonio, Texas, writes us as follows: "I am a faithful user of Barcentrate. I had dieted for weeks without your product and needed so badly to lose 10 pounds, so I started using Barcentrate and my worry was over for I lost the 10 pounds in 10 days. I now weigh 135 pounds.

"I eat most anything I want and hold my same weight."

LUFKIN, Tex., June 2. (AP)—Three years ago Mrs. L. T. Tinkle, wife of a Lufkin physician, lost a diamond ring in her yard.

The Week's Best Definition: A small town is one in which everyone knows how many chairs a woman borrowed when she entertained the missionary society.

NOT long ago a fellow name of Herb Parsons was in town advertising a brand of guns and ammunition.

A trick shot of amazing ability, he put on a demonstration at the Lubbock Gun club.

While we were impressed by his shooting, we were more impressed by one statement Mr. Parsons made toward the end of his exhibition.

"There are 1,440 seconds in every day," he said. "Have you given as much as five of them to say to yourself today: 'I'm glad I'm an American?'"

It's easy enough to feel a thrill of nationalistic pride when a fine band plays "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Marching troops, thundering planes, battleships in a harbor and Fourth of July oratory make us aware of our citizenship and its heritage.

Probably no American ever found himself in a foreign land without an inner feeling of pride of nationality and the protection it means around the globe.

But how many of us, day in and day out, stop to remember our greatest possession of all: our citizenship?

Very few.

ED Welsh, one of the reporters down here, came in from federal court the other day, just after Judge Joe Dooley had conferred upon five foreign-born persons the rights and privileges of our country.

"'You know,'" Mr. Welsh said, "every native-born American should at some time or another attend a citizenship proceeding in federal court. I've seen a lot of them. But I've never seen one yet that didn't impress me, didn't make me feel glad and proud to be an American."

Sure, there's enough wrong with this country to demand that all of us work ceaselessly to make it better.

It's no Utopia.

But it's the closest thing to Utopia man knows, or has known—at least since he's known such things as civilization and governments.

So it behooves us to recognize the fact; to daily reawaken our realization and to consecrate at least a little of our time, thought and effort to the business of (1) seeing that our country doesn't slip backward and (2) making it still better.

Five seconds 30 seconds—a minute a day spent by each of us in the contemplation of our good fortune in being Americans would pay big dividends.

To Herb Parsons, orchids for a fine idea.

WORDS we might do well to think over:

"It is optimistic nonsense to suppose that with all Asia in Communist hands, Japan and the Philippines will remain peacefully on our side."—Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, wartime leader of the Flying Tigers in China.

"If the Congress and the President are now unable to put through an honest, widespread and effective reorganization, they and the taxpayers might just as well surrender unconditionally. If the bureaucrats win again, we might as well concede that we are through."—U. S. Comptroller General Lindsay Warren, charging that waste and incompetence are rampant in Washington.

BY DREW PEARSON: OIL COMPANIES' UNREASONABLE PRICE BOOSTS NEED EXPLANATION

Acheson Says Critical Period At Conference Near

WASHINGTON — What is described as highway robbery in the price of gasoline has just been made the subject of a sizzling Senate report, hitherto unpublished.

On the basis of this report, Senator Maybank of South Carolina will call the major oil companies before his banking and currency committee and ask them to explain unreasonable price boosts.

PEARSON

What Senate investigators found was that the average motorist must pay an extra $40 a year for the same amount of gasoline that he purchased in 1946. Yet the oil companies justify higher prices on the grounds that they are losing profits.

Regarding this, Senate investigators state in their so-far-confidential report:

Zooming Profits

The oil company profits for 1948 were so high a sto exert a disproportionate influence on the general level of profits.

"Thus the Standard and Poor's corporation reported that for 1,548 industrial companies, profits for 1948 were 23.2 per cent above 1947. However, if oil companies were eliminated from the sample, 1948 profits were only 16 per cent above 1947. In other words, so great was the oil industry's increase in 1948 profits that for a large sample of all industrial corporations, the 1948 profits increase was about 50 per cent geater as a result of including the oil companies."

From 1946 to 1948, oil profits shot up more than 2½ times, the investigators report. The oil companies justified this on the grounds that they were expanding to meet the unprecedented demand for petroleum products. Now the expansion has stopped, as evidenced by cutbacks in production and imports. Yet the oil companies turn around and boost prices even higher because these inflated profits are settling back to earth again.

Senator Maybank will call the big oil companies before his committee around June 15.

PARIS conference—Secretary of State Dean Acheson has cabled the State department that next week will be the critical period in the Big Four foreign ministers' conference. Both sides have been sparing right up until now and no secret sessions have taken place to date. However, next week several secret sessions will take place and Acheson thinks they'll give an opportunity to find out whether the Russians want to fish or cut bait. If there is no action next week, Acheson will be home around June 10.

Talks with Vishinsky—Secretary Acheson has held two off-the-record meetings with Vishinsky—one short and one long—to talk over the Austrian peace treaty. And for the first time since 1947 Acheson believes an agreement can be reached to get Russian troops out of Austria. Vishinsky has shown a surprisingly mild attitude in these talks, and Acheson has indicated the United States may consent to let the Russians have $150,000,000 in Austrian reparations in return for an Austrian peace treaty.

Czech underground—A powerful underground movement has sprung up in Czechoslovakia that has the Communists worried. At least three well-organized guerrilla bands have been attacking Communist officials and police in the vicinity of Bratislava. After each attack, they retreat into the hills and can't be located. Five thousand army troops have been assigned to track down the guerrillas, but this hasn't worked out because many of the soldiers have deserted to join the guerrillas.

Robert McKinney, owner and publisher of the Santa Fe New Mexican, writes as follows:

"Dear Mr. Pearson:

"The shocking death by suicide of Mr. James Forrestal, late secretary of defense, will grieve all who ever knew and served with him. I had the privilege of a tour of duty, in a minor capacity, on Mr. Forrestal's staff, and came to respect him as an American of consummate ability and patriotism.

"His suicide, however, means more than a personal loss to his friends. It must be taken to the nation's heart as glaring proof of the need for fearless news reporting in the nation's capital. When your dispatch came out some weeks ago describing the advanced state of deterioration of Mr. Forrestal's mental health, it came as more of a surprise to me than did the subsequent news that Mr. Forrestal has now taken his life. I happened to be in Washington at the time you broke the story, and heard among his friends and many government officials the almost unanimous opinion that the Forrestal story was the last straw — that Drew Pearson should now be shut up for irresponsible reporting.

"Had the officials of the Naval medical center been as alert and diligent about their business as you were about yours, perhaps Mr. Forrestal might have eventually recovered and lived a long and useful life. American newspapermen should paste on their walls the headlines of this minor Pearl Harbor at Bethesda, to guide them whenever there is pressure to withhold the news."

INSIDE fact is that courteous Chairman Sabath could have squelched the rules committee filibuster against the public housing bill and railroad the bill to the House floor — if the benign gentleman from Illinois used the same strong-arm tactics that his foes use against him.

At one closed-door session last week, only one of the committee's four Republican — New York's Jim Wadsworth—showed up. This put filibustering Gene Cox of Georgia, the Dixiecrat, in a frenzy, because Sabath had the votes to vote the housing bill out over his head with three Republicans absent.

Cox, who almost always votes with the Republicans, immediately began demanding that the committee postpone action until 'all the members are here to express themselves." Sabath, however, stopped him.

"I could take advantage of these gentlemen who are absent and call for a vote, but I don't intend to. I don't believe in doing business that way. I try to be considerate of my colleagues who are against me as well as those who are with me.

'However, I expect the same treatment myself in the future," he added, looking squarely at the gentleman from Georgia.

Note—last summer, when Cox faced a tough re-election primary, he wrote a newspaper in his district indicating that he favored the housing bill, though later he ducked the vote. Today, safely re-elected, he is showing his true colors and is actively leading the opposition.

THE Barksdale "Bark," official newspaper of Barksdale Air Force Base, is giving one of its four pages each week to news and pictures about Lubbock to better acquaint members of the 3500th Pilot Training Wing with their soon-to-be home city.

1st. Lt. John W. Hassard recently spent several days in Lubbock, gathering material and pictures for the series and is doing a good job on it. He is Public Information officer at Barksdale and hopes to be transferred here, in a similar capacity, when Lubbock Air Force Base begins operation next fall.

Lieutenant Hassard's Lubbock feature, titled "Harnessing the Hub," is not a "buttering up" effort. The stories present Lubbock as it is: all good points and whatever not-so-good ones Hassard could find are spread out for readers to see.

"Harnessing the Hub" should go a long way in making the change in residence for the 3500th Wing easy and pleasurable and, overall, it tells the airmen that Lubbock is a very good place in which to live.

A Lot Of Help He Turned Out To Be!

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"CAN YOU tell me what's so terrible about asking an 18-year-old daughter what boy she was talking to on the telephone and if he asked her for a date?" a bewildered mother asks.

It seems she answered the telephone for her daughter and when the girl finished her conversation she asked interestedly, "Who was it, dear?" When the daughter told her the boy's name the mother said: "Did he ask you for a date?"

MILLETT

With that, the mother says, her daughter lost her temper, and said it was "impossible to have any privacy at home."

Undoubtedly the innocent sounding questions that caused the flareup were just the straws that broke the camel's back.

It isn't likely any daughter would have become so upset over such an incident unless for a long time she had felt that her mother wasn't allowing her any privacy at home.

MAY APPEAR TO BE PRYING

MANY MOTHERS who are naturally interested in all the details of their children's lives fail to see that what they consider only "normal interest" may seem like prying to their children.

Actually, whether the interest is irritating or not depends on how it is shown. Continual questioning is almost certain to seem like prying. But a mother who is more diplomatic usually learns just as much about a teen-ager's doings by being ready to listen when the daughter seems to want to talk and by being interested in what the daughter confides of her own free will.

Teen-agers may be overly-sensitive about having their private lives forever open to family discussion. But everyone likes to have some privacy.

Parents should remember that as their children grow older, so that home is a place that provides some privacy for every member of the family.

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

IN an exclusive dress shop in Beverly Hills, a regular patroness saw a new creation she fancied and asked the price. "A thousand dollars," said the proprietor without batting an eyelash.

The lady recoiled and exclaimed, "This time you've really gone too far. New look or not, you're never going to get a thousand dollars for that dress. In fact, I'll bet a hundred dollars you don't."

"It's a bet," he replied, "and furthermore, when I do, I'll even tell you who bought it."

As luck would have it, the proprietor did sell the dress for a thousand dollars just a few days later, but he never figured a way to break the news to the lady with whom he'd bet. The purchaser, it seems, was the lady's husband, making a little gift to his private secretary.

WHEN A St. Louis man suggested to his fiancee that they postpone their wedding, she fired four bullets closely over his head. Now the poor fellow is afraid to get married and skeered not to.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Peggy Cummins Is Comin' Up After Escaping From 'Amber'

HOLLYWOOD, June 2. (NEA)—Hollywood first saw baby-faced Peggy Cummins as the trollop with the wallop in the film version of "Forever Amber." But after six weeks they sent in a pinch-hitter, Linda Darnell.

Johnson

Miss Cummins has congratulated herself many times since, I am sure, for escaping the fate worse than death. 'Amber laid only a great big $4,000,000 technicolor egg.

Since then Peggy has coasted along in such films as "Green Grass of Wyoming" and "Moss Rose."

But now she has what she says is the best role of her career—a ruthless gun moll with John Dall in "Gun Crazy", the MacKinlay Kantor story which the King Brothers are producing.

Dall plays a fellow with a born passion for guns. He meets Peggy, a circus marksworman who has a passion for money. It's only a matter of time before they are holding up banks and killing law officers.

One of the bank holdups was staged at a real bank in Montrose, Calif. An interested spectator was Al Jennings, the 85-year-old reformed bank robber.

After watching Peggy and John for some time, Jennings went to Director Joseph Lewis and said: "You're doing this all wrong."

"What's wrong?" asked Lewis.

"Well," said Jennings, "the first thing to do is get rid of the blonde."

Mr. Jennings is a realist.

Sam Goldwyn is after the film rights to the new Broadway hit, "Detective Story." Spike Jones grossed $1,112,000 on a four-month tour of one nighters. And they say show business is bad.

ANOTHER film producer story making the rounds:

Seams a producer died and at his funeral the minister asked if his widow would like to say a few kind words about him. There was only silence. The minister asked if his children or any relatives would like to say something. Again there was only silence. "Well," 'd the flustered minister, "would any of his friends like to say something?"

Silence again. Then a tall man in a 10-gallon hat in the last row stood up and said:

"As long as no one else wants to talk, I'd like to say a few words about Texas."

Takes Look At Self

They told Vincent Price to look at himself in a mirror after donning the jeweled, plushy costume he wears as the Pasha in Bagdad."

Said Vincent: "I look like something that ought to be holding up a lampshade."

The censors art still looking at the silver nylon mesh harem pants Maureen O'Hara is supposed to wear in the film. What you see of Maureen, if they're approved, will be mostly Maureen.

"How could one possibly avoid it in a one-room apartment?"

Apollo Theater Razed By Blaze In Chicago

CHICAGO, June 2 —The interior of the vacated Apollo theater at Randolph and Clark streets in Chicago's Rialto was destroyed by fire this morning.

Twenty-nine pieces of fire equipment answered the extra alarm, sounded to prevent the flames from spreading to the adjoining 16-story Ashland block and other buildings.

The fire apparently started in the pit under the stage of the old movie theater and burned up through the roof of the four-story building. The cause of the blaze was not determined immediately. Fire officials did not estimate damages to the structure.

The theater closed last May 10 to make way for demolition of the building for a new bus terminal. The Ashland block and other nearby buildings also are to be razed.

GEOLOGIST DIES

WICHITA FALLS, June 2 — Donald Kelly, 51, head of the geological department of the Texas company for many years, died today. He resided here 19 years.

Today's Journal Editorial

A WORD TO THE WISE?

The evidence is recent and convincing that U. S. Sen. Clinton Anderson, of New Mexico, knew what he was talking about the other day when he told the senators who have failed to provide additional grain storage space this year that they may be sorry, come next election.

Second-guessers now are prcatically unanimous in agreeing that the Midwestern agricultural states were chiefly responsible for President Truman's upset victory last year. Agreement is almost equally unanimous that the factor which swung a decisive number of those states to Mr. Truman was the failure of the 1948 Republican Congress to provide storage for the crops of that year.

The result hit thousands of farmers smack in the pocketbook. Most of them couldn't get to their voting places fast enough in November to return Mr Truman to the White House and to kick out the Republican Congress in the biggest upset of that kind in history.

If the dereliction of the Senate this year forces many farmers to sell grain at sacrifice prices, they may forget before 1950 elections roll around. But pains in the pocketbook usually are long remembered—and it is elementary that a sentiment which elected a President should be entirely capable of defeating senators who may have offended.

Southern Coal Parley Resumes With Operators Still Unbeaten

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 2 (AP) The Southern Coal Products association today resumed contract talks with John L. Lewis with almost as much bargaining strength as ever.

Lewis had forced a week's delay in the start of negotiations, challenging the association's right to represent enough southern operators to comply with the SCPA's own by-laws.

But Joseph E. Moody came back to the conference today claiming to represent at least 100 million tons of soft coal production per year. The association was formed in 1941 to bargain for the southern operators. Its by-laws required that any contract negotiated by its officers should be ratified by two-thirds of the board of directors.

Delay Is Called

That meant that nine of the board's 14 members should ratify any agreement which Lewis and Moody conceivably could negotiate.

Lewis took advantage of some defections last week to call for a one-week delay in the bargaining talks. He said the SCPA needed the time either to pull itself together or fall to pieces completely.

But Moody, fighting to get the contract talks started well in advance of the expiration of the 1948 agreement June 30, refused to admit that there major withdrawals by operators.

When he returned to Bluefield he said that there had been no big new defections, despite pressure in Kentucky and elsewhere to split employer groups.

Demands Still Secret

Lewis has not yet told the operators exactly what he wants this year. Even though he allows negotiations with Moody to get underway this week, it was considered unlikely that he would spell out those demands to Moody before he has a chance to discuss the contract.

Moody has a sizeable package of arguments marshalled for use against Lewis' expected demand for a higher tonnage royalty for his welfare fund. Lewis would like to postpone that speech while he clears up preliminaries with the steel company "captive" mine interests and other geographical operating divisions.

The present royalty is 20 cents a ton. That yields about $100,000,000 a year, but it is being spent even faster than it is coming in. The UMW chief is expected to ask for more—maybe as much as 40 cents a ton.

Ching Ready To Move

It was considered improbable, however, that Lewis would disclose his demands until he gets the national conference which he appears to be aiming for.

He has a conference tentatively scheduled with U. S. Steel corporation after June 10, but there are no further meetings on the calendar. Both sides are waiting cautiously for the other to move.

In the meantime, conciliation director Cyrus S. Ching is eyeing the conferences, ready to move in if necessary to try to head off a nationwide coal strike.

Grain Storage

years but that majority of farmers in this area have not felt they could take time to construct home storage facilities. He said that farmers in counties in the north part of the South Plains and in the Panhandle have provided more farm storage space.

Wheat in Hale and Floyd counties totals about 250,000 acres each, it has been estimated, while Crosby and Bailey counties have about 100,000 acres of wheatland each. Terry county has some 50,000 acres. Lubbock has some 10,000 acres, and Lynn, Hockley and Lamb counties also have "pretty big wheat crops," it was said.

Wells said he had heard that Burrus elevators in Lubbock are approximately 85 percent full, while smaller grain elevators and warehouses are proportionately full. It was not known how much space Harvest Queen elevators would have available.

Observers have said that storage space at the Producer's Grain Corp., which currently is under construction, will fill up quickly after the space becomes available on or about the first of July. That organization's storage capacity is two million bushels.

Some Harvesting Underway

Harvesting of wheat was underway in several sections on and near the South Plains.

A report from Quitaque in Briscoe county Wednesday night said that the first loads of wheat had been brought in there late Wednesday afternoon. Chas. Gowin of about 11 miles north of Quitaque brought in the first load. The grain tested .63 with 11.45 moisture content. J. T. Bradley, also of north of Quitaque brought in the second load. He expected to cut about 25 bushels to the acre.

Harvesting also was underway south of Quitaque with E. W. Tibbets and J. T. Persons expected to bring in loads late last night or today.

What was believed to be the first wheat brought in on the South Plains was sold at Brownfield Monday by Paul Cobb, farmer of west of Brownfield.

Vernon Burn Victim's Fussing At Nurses Is Good Victory Sign In Battle For Life

VERNON, Tex., June 2 (AP) — Donnie Woodard fussed at his nurses last night and they loved him for it. It meant he might have won his fight for life.

Last night was extremely critical for the ten-year-old farm boy burned over 70 per cent of his body. It was the last phase of a period doctors said could be a turning point in his grim, 22-day battle to survive third-degree burns.

"He's just as fine as could possibly be expected," said a hospital attendant shortly before midnight. "He's fussing at his nurses—and that's a good indication he's feeling pretty good."

At one period yesterday Donnie sank fast. A quick blood transfusion snapped him out of the sinking spell and he seemed to improve.

Taking Nourishment

"He's taking nourishment—and it is doing him some good," an attendant said. "This doesn't mean he's entirely well, or that he is out of danger. But it is very encouraging."

The plight of Donnie has touched this West Texas town's heart. Scores of phone calls poured into the hospital yesterday afternoon when Donnie was pretty low. The Vernon Record's office was swamped with calls asking his condition.

The lad was burned on May 10 when an older brother accidentally threw a bucket of burning gasoline on him while the two were burning weeds.

Hundreds of persons have contributed to a fund to pay Donnie's hospital bills. And one, Mrs. Margaret Hutchinson of Texarkana, has promised him a pony. That's a big reason to live—for Donnie.

Because children about five years old frequently wobble about in traffic on small bicycles, Durban, South Africa, will place an age limit on bikers.

Ford Starting Contract Talks

DETROIT, June 2 —The Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto workers entered upon their strike-delayed 1949 contract talks today.

Their negotiations, a little more than two weeks late in starting by the union's time-table, cover Ford's 106,000 production workers.

Many of the latter are still idle with Ford as yet unprepared to bring its whole working force back to the job after the union's 24-day speed-up strike.

However, Ford expects to be going full tilt again within a week or so.

Pensions An Issue

The new contract talks will dwell on the UAW's proposals for company-financed $100-a-month pensions, health and life insurance programs, and an unspecified wage increase.

The UAW had sought to open negotiations May 16. Ford, declined in view of the strike. It was settled only last Sunday.

Working against a deadline, management and the union met today in a separate session in continued efforts to choose an arbitrator in the speed-up issue.

If unable to agree on a choice, each will name one representative to a three-man board.

Long Talks Indicated

These two are to choose the third member. If they can't do it by 5 p. m. next Tuesday, the place will be given to Dr. Harry Shulman, umpire under the Ford-UAW contract.

The "final and binding" arbitration will decide whether Ford has the right to temporarily work men faster than "established standards of production" provided a full day's work standard isn't exceeded.

The contract talks gave every advance indication of going on for an extensive period.

In addition to its major proposals, the union has listed numerous others and Ford has asked for a "review" of the entire present contract. It expires July 15.

John S. Bugas, vice president in charge of Ford's industrial relations who negotiated the strike settlement, headed the company's contract negotiations team.

Ken Bannon, director of the UAW's Ford department, led the union group.

Bachelor Falls Over Dead After Proposal

MUNCIE, Ind., June 2 (AP) A 44-year-old Muncie bachelor collapsed and died last night after proposing marriage to a widow while driving along a country road.

Coroner Sam Drake said the man, Earl T. Bennett, died of a heart attack.

Sheriff W. Pete Anthony said Mrs. Mabel Daugherty told him Bennett collapsed after proposing marriage. Anthony said Mrs. Daugherty told him she ran a quarter-mile to a highway and flagged a truck driver, who called the sheriff's office.

The sheriff said Mrs. Daugherty is the widow of Charles Daugherty, who was killed in a fight last December. He said her brother, Elmer Carroll, was convicted of manslaughter in the case three weeks ago.

Contracts Awarded On Hobbs Projects

HOBBS, N. M., June 2 (Special) —The mayor and city council of Hobbs Wednesday awarded a contract for a $610,000 street paving and storm sewer project.

A Lubbock firm of engineers, Hasie and Green Engineering company, designed the project. Coleman L. Hasie, partner, came to Hobbs for the bid opening.

The contract was awarded to Allison and Haney of Albuquerque on a bid of $610,728.87. The bid was in the amount of $301,435.86 for paving and $309,293.01 for storm sewers.

Second low bidder was Lee Mexico Construction company of Dallas, whose bids totaled $663,611.72. Third bidder was Armstrong and Armstrong of Roswell, who submitted a bid of $671,907.18.

Bolivia Riots Being Quelled

LA PAZ, Bolivia, June 2. (AP)—Order appeared to be returning slowly today to riot-torn Bolivia, but her rich tin mines remained shut and sympathy strikes continued to spread.

Officials at the Patino mines said 40 persons were killed and 83 injured in the four days of bloody rioting which followed the mine strikes, called to protest Bolivia's labor unions.

Violence abated yesterday as reports were received that the army had the situation under control.

Spreading sympathy strikes kept the situation unsettled.

Yesterday an estimated 8,000 organized factory workers walked off their pobs in La Paz. Later reports said the walkout had only been a partial success, however.

All the country's rail lines have been paralyzed by a sympathy strike that threatened Bolivia's food supply, but today troops brought in one train from Chile.

The bodies of two American mining engineers killed in the riots are to be flown to the United States tomorrow. They are T. J. H. O'Connor, of Pasadena, Calif., and Albert Krefting of Seattle, Wash.
