SNOWMOBILE

Collingsworth County suffered a week of sub-freezing temperatures, snow, ice and sleet, but First Baptist Church education and music director Ron Long decided to make the best of it with an automobile snow sculpture in his lawn and a muppet behind the wheel.

Family Poisoned By Carbon Monoxide

A Wellington woman and her two daughters suffered carbon monoxide poisoning and were hospitalized overnight when clogged heater vents filled their house with toxic fumes Friday, Feb. 1.

Sue Lacy and her daughters, Dena, 14, and Angie, 12, were taken by ambulance to Collingsworth General Hospital Friday morning and given oxygen treatment. They were released Saturday. Mrs. Lacy's husband, Denzil, was in Arlington when the incident occurred.

"We started getting sick about 1 a.m. Friday morning, and I thought we had a virus," Mrs. Lacy said. "I was up all night. I remember the morning alarm going off, but after that I started losing consciousness."

"Apparently carbon monoxide attacks the nervous system, because I started jerking and couldn't stand up," Mrs. Lacy said. "I went to the medicine cabinet, but couldn't stand long enough to find anything."

"We all had headaches and were sick at our stomachs," Mrs. Lacy continued.

"It's really dangerous because it affects your thinking and your nervous system, and you don't realize what's happening."

"I called Barbara Williams, and she called our next door neighbors, Joe and Margaret Wood and my sister, Barbara and Frank Coleman. They came to check on us and called Lone Star Gas to come check the house."

A high carbon monoxide level in the house registered on an instrument used by Lone Star Gas manager Melroy Cofer and an ambulance was called.

The fumes were the result of natural gas heater vents which were clogged. One heater was a wall furnace and one heater was a floor furnace. The vent pipes were rusted, and were clogged with snow, leaves and birds' nests.

"We had this same thing about three weeks ago, and thought it was a virus then, too, but the vents were probably stopping up," Mrs. Lacy said. "The wind was blowing pretty strong and we were probably getting some fresh air in through the fireplace."

Fire chief Danny Gray said that people should check their gas floor furnace, wall furnace and hot water heater vents visually to see if they can spot any rusty surfaces. They also should feel the top of the vent pipe to determine if hot air is rising through the vent. If the pipe is cold to the touch, the vent may be clogged, and fumes may be exhausting into the house.

If anyone suspects that they might have a clogged vent, they should call the gas company or a plumber to check the vent.

New Transportation Service Begins for County Residents

A new transportation service, Panhandle Transit, began operation in Wellington this week when Jean Ferguson began driving a new Chevy station wagon to provide Collingsworth County residents with door-to-door rides in Wellington and transportation to out-of-town medical appointments.

The new service is available to everyone in the county. It is free to anyone over 60. Other people may be eligible for other programs which will pay for the rider charges on a sliding fee scale.

For those not eligible for free transportation, the cost is 50 cents per one-way ride anywhere in Wellington. Out-of-town charges are 25 cents per mile.

Anyone who wants a ride must call 24 hours in advance and make an appointment at the Community Action Center, 447-2840, 612 East Avenue. Detailed information on the new service is available from Community Action.

The transportation service is available for any purpose locally, including trips to a beauty shop, a grocery store, a retail store, doctor's office, a dentist's office, a business office, or the hospital. It is also available for out-of-town trips for medical appointments.

House Fire Kills Two Women

Two Wellington women died as a result of injuries suffered when their house at 505 Galveston Street burned Thursday night, January 31.

Agnes Williams, 95, died in Collingsworth General Hospital shortly after being rescued by firemen from the smoke-filled and blazing house. Her daughter, Leana Mallard, 75, died Sunday, February 3 in Collingsworth General.

Wellington Volunteer Fire Department received a call at 10:41 p.m. Thursday, and responded with 19 men in bitter, 3 degree weather.

"The front half of the house was totally engulfed in flames and the house was full of smoke when we arrived," fire chief Danny Gray said. "People at the scene said there were two people inside the house."

"We knocked the flames down in order to enter the building," Gray said. "Three men went in the front of the building where the fire was located, and three went in the back door. The house was filled with thick smoke. As we entered we found Mrs. Mallard about 6 feet from the back door in the kitchen. She was breathing and we took her out to the ambulance, which was waiting."

"Then the three men went back inside through the back door and found Mrs. Williams crouched between the refrigerator and stove. She didn't appear to be breathing and we took her out to an ambulance."

"Even though the temperature was 3 degrees we didn't have a problem with water because we used the tanker trucks," Gray said. "When the weather is that cold the steam effect will put out some of the fire."

The fire appeared to have started in a couch in the front room of the house, fire marshal Richard Keller said.

Gray said the fire was put out by 2:30 a.m. and that firemen rechecked the building at 3:30 to be sure the fire had not erupted again.

Mrs. Williams died at 11:35 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 31 and Mrs. Mallard died at 7:08 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 3.

Joint funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Monday, Feb. 4 at Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church with Rev. Leroy Walker, pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. Jimmie Barber, pastor, Church of God in Christ.

Mrs. Williams was buried in North Fairview Cemetery and Mrs. Mallard was buried in Fairview Cemetery, under the direction of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors.

Pallbearers were Robert Powell, R.L. Hunnicutt, Logan Bailey, James Thomas, Homey Washington, Robert Coffee, Willie McKinnon and Jessie Culpepper.

Agnes McMillan Williams was born April 1, 1889 in Grimes County, Texas, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McMillan.

She came to Wellington in 1959 from Dallas. She was preceded in death by her husband, John Williams.

In Dallas she attended Mt. Corinth Baptist Church, and in Wellington she attended Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church.

Leana Williams Mallard was born June 22, 1909 in Navasota, Texas, the daughter of John and Agnes McMillan Williams. She was married to Horace Mallard, who preceded her in death.

Her step-grandson, Payton Mallard, grew up in her home. She was a member of Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church.

Survivors include Mrs. Williams' nieces and Mrs. Mallard's cousins, Leslie Franklin of Stockton, Calif., and Lillian Ringo of Navasota, six step-grandchildren of Mrs. Williams and step-children of Mrs. Mallard, Nicey Mathis, Robey Mallard and I.V. Mallard, all of Pampa, Mary Hanks and Cardie Hutchinson, both of Bryan, and Versie Mitchell of Houston, 18 step-great grandchildren of Mrs. Williams and step grandchildren of Mrs. Mallard, including Payton Mallard of Houston and Charles Mathis of Wellington, and several step-great-great grandchildren of Mrs. Williams and step-great grandchildren of Mrs. Mallard.

Varsity Girls to Play Tiebreaker With Shamrock

Wellington High School girls varsity basketball team missed the district championship by one point Tuesday night in a 43-42 loss to Quanah.

Wellington girls now face a playoff with Shamrock for the second place team which will enter UIL playoffs.

The date and time of the playoff game with Shamrock had not been decided at press time. Coach Don Lacy said the game would be played either Friday, Saturday or Monday night on a neutral court.

Tuesday night's loss by Wellington handed Quanah the district championship if they win one of their two remaining games. Quanah plays Memphis Thursday night and White Deer Friday night in a make-up game.

Wellington will play White Deer here Thursday night in the final regularly scheduled game of the season.

Council OK's Addition, Two Councilmen File

Wellington City Council gave final approval to an ordinance to bring lots being developed by Steve Davis Construction west of Haskell Street in the Rude Addition into the City of Wellington, at regular council meeting Monday, February 4.

City manager Glen Taylor reported to the council that the process of adding a new layer of foundation dirt to the city's dirt streets is 90 per cent complete. When city water lines began bursting last year during zero degree temperatures, the city discovered that years of grading the streets had removed several inches of dirt and left water lines too near the surface.

Taylor also reported that concrete work and plumbing has been installed for a new sewer lift station, and that new pumps will be installed as soon as weather improves. Each of the new pumps will have a 400 gallon per minute capacity, a big improvement over the old pumps currently in use, Taylor said.

Two city councilmen whose terms expire this year filed for re-election Monday night: Sam McGill and Milburn Derryberry. Mayor Ralph Owens, whose term also expires this year, has not yet decided whether or not he will run again.

Present were council members Gary Brewer, Willie Gragson, Sam McGill, Milburn Derryberry, Lyndon Crelia and mayor Ralph Owens.

Job Training Programs to be Explained Feb. 14

A Job Training Partnership Act Employers Seminar will be conducted on February 14th in the Heritage Room of Wellington State Bank. The time will be from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Ms. Loretta Kindsfater, Director of Employment and Training, Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, will be speaking on Financial Incentives, both Direct and Indirect, that are available to businesses through local training funds. Ms. Kindsfater said, "she likes to use the straight-talk approach when talking to businesses about Employer Training Programs because she realizes that profit is the bottom-line for businesses."

Ms. Kindsfater will present topics related to profit generation such as Employee Retention, Employee Reliability, Cash Flow, and available Tax Credits. Also included will be a look at the local economy and the work force, plus the productivity of the Older Worker and the Teen-Ager, and how all of these have a cumulative effect on current and future business operations.

Ms. Kindsfater says that some employers are reaping the benefits of available training incentives to ensure growth and survival, while other businesses are literally losing thousands of dollars each year through a lack of awareness. Many large and small businesses who are enjoying technical assistance and financial benefits through employer training programs, Ms. Kindsfater said.

Kiwanis Clubs Celebrate 70th Anniversary

Wellington Kiwanis members celebrated Kiwanis International's 70th birthday during Kiwanis Anniversary Week, Jan. 20-26, according to Jerry Duncan, president of the Wellington Kiwanis Club.

The first Kiwanis club was chartered on January 21, 1915, in Detroit, Michigan. Today the organization has grown to include 8,100 clubs and 310,000 members in 80 nations and geographic areas. Clubs are composed of business and professional men involved in voluntary community service under the motto "We Build."

Last year, Kiwanis clubs raised and spent $41.4 million for service projects, with special emphasis on the needs of underprivileged children. Individually, members also contributed more than 21 million man-hours to service work.

Homeowner's protection isn't just for people who own houses. Even if you rent, you still need insurance protection for your residence. (Condo owners need special protection.)

Your home-rented or owned-is filled with your personal property that should be insured. The owner of the dwelling is not responsible if your property is stolen or destroyed by fire.

You'll need liability protection, too. It should protect you and your family in case of lawsuits from people injured in your home or elsewhere as a result of your activities, or for the loss of or damage to guests' belongings through your negligence.

How much insurance do you need? It's wise to choose replacement coverage so that you'd have adequate proceeds, in case of disaster, to start over.

What kind of insurance do you need? You'll get the right coverage for your special needs from the experts at 1st Wellington Agency.

Neighbors Key to Rural Area Theft Prevention

COLLEGE STATION - Texas is number one--in the number of dollars lost to farm equipment theft.

With farm and ranch equipment theft on the upswing, neighborhood or community patrols can be a key deterrent to such crime, says Dr. J. Fred Cross.

"Neighbors working together to keep an eye on each other's property can aid in reducing or preventing farm thefts and burglaries," says Cross, a community development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Community patrols organized in cooperation with the county sheriff enable neighbors to watch each other's homes, barns, equipment and livestock, notes the specialist. These patrols extend the eyes and ears of law enforcement agencies. Patrols do not get involved in any action, but just notify the police or sheriff of suspicious activities.

Cross offers these guidelines for organizing a community watch patrol:

*Patrol members should be at least 18 years of age.

*Issue personal identification cards to patrol members (type determined by the sheriff or chief of police.)

*Patrol members using radio equipment should possess FCC licenses.

*Automobiles used by citizen patrols should be easily identified by the police and other private citizen patrols operating in the general area.

*Do not permit citizen patrol members to carry weapons.

*Do not equip citizen patrol vehicles with sirens or emergency lighting.

Steps to Take to Reduce Tractor Theft

COLLEGE STATION - There was a time when farmers and ranchers didn't worry much about locking doors on their barns or homes. Unfortunately, times have changed--so much so that the rural crime--particularly theft--is now outpacing urban crime.

Despite the rapid increase in rural crime, farmers and ranchers still don't take many steps to prevent theft, says Dr. J. Fred Cross of Stephenville, a community development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Tractors, in particular, are a major theft item due to their high price tags--$45,000 and more.

"Farmers and ranchers can do a lot to prevent the theft of tractors and other equipment," notes Cross. "Every thief has to have three things: the motivation to steal, a victim and an opportunity. Farmers and ranchers can control the 'opportunity'."

The specialist lists a number of things that can be done to remove the opportunity for tractor theft:

1. Remove the rotar. On gasoline or LP fuel tractors, this will disable the ignition system. Even though many professional thieves carry extra rotars, this step will discourage amateurs who like to "hot wire" the ignition.

2. Shut off the fuel line. On diesel fuel tractors a locking fuel line cut-off can be installed. These cut-offs will prevent the thief from starting the tractor.

3. Lock in gear. Many tractor thieves use tilt bed trucks or trailers and a winch line to load a tractor. If the tractor's transmission cannot be put in neutral, then the wheels will not turn readily, making loading difficult. A hinged metal plate can be welded onto the tractor that can be folded across the transmission and then padlocked to keep the shift in gear or park position. A long shanked, heavy duty padlock, such as one used to lock motorcycle wheels, also can be used to lock the gear shift and steering wheel together to keep the tractor in gear and to prevent steering.

4. Chain the wheels. A heavy duty hardened chain and good padlock can be used to chain together the front and rear wheels or both rear wheels. This will keep the wheels from rolling and will make loading difficult. The wheels or frame also can be chained to immovable objects, such as a large tree.

5. Watch it. If a tractor or other equipment has to be left in the field, park it so that it can be watched by someone, possibly a neighbor.

6. Hide it. If a tractor or equipment must be left where it can't be watched, then park it out of sight behind a hill, trees or brush.

Following these practices may not completely halt thieves, says Cross, but it will deter them in many instances by reducing the opportunity for theft.

Turkey Hunt Applications Available

Applications are now available for spring turkey gobbler hunts on Texas Parks and Wildlife Department management areas during April. Two of the 5 areas are in this part of the state: Gene Howe WMA in Hemphill County, with 46 permits, and Matador WMA in Cottle County, also with 46 permits.

Application forms may be obtained from TP&WD wildlife and law enforcement regional offices or by mail or in person from Austin headquarters, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744. Deadline for receiving applications in Austin is 5 p.m. Feb. 18.

A public drawing will be held March 1 in Austin to select 328 hunters. A $10 fee will be charged successful applicants.

The spring turkey season will be April 13-28, with a one gobbler limit for the season. The WMA hunts are conducted on a three-day basis, starting on the afternoon of the assigned day, continuing all the next day and ending at noon on the third day.

More than two-thirds of Canada's population lives within 100 miles of the U.S. border.

Farm Program Looks At Advantageous For Cotton Growers

Because of a large cotton crop in the United States and abroad the past year that has depressed market prices, producers need to take a hard look at participating in the 1985 farm program.

With the March 1 sign-up deadline looming ahead, farmers must decide soon whether or not the benefits and risk reduction associated with the program will outweigh any lost revenue from acres taken out of production.

The 1985 cotton program is much the same as last year. The target price remains at 81 cents a pound, the base loan rate has increased slightly to 57 cents a pound, and the maximum deficiency payment per pound has dropped 2.3 cents. The main change is in the acreage reduction phase; last year it was 25 percent of the base acreage while this year farmers will have to idle 30 percent of their land. Ten percent of that will qualify for 30 cents per pound diversion payments.

With cotton farmers facing average prices for their 1985 crop that will likely be near the loan rate, those taking part in the farm program may receive near maximum deficiency payments (the difference between the target price and the loan rate). This makes the program fairly attractive to producers.

A study by the Extension Service has shown that producers in all the major cotton growing areas of Texas would benefit from participating in the farm program. Increased returns would range from more than $15 per acre on dryland production in the Rolling Plains to over $63 per acre on irrigated cotton in the Rio Grande Valley.

Crappie, Striper Limits May Change

AUSTIN - New bag, possession and size limits for crappie, hybrid striped bass and catfish on a number of Texas reservoirs are among fishing regulation changes being proposed by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Officials said crappie reproduction is generally poor in heated power plant reservoirs, making restocking essentially a put-grow-and-take concept. The limits would help assure that the fish reach quality sizes before harvest.

The proposal would affect lakes in the following state parks, with lake acreages in parentheses: Caprock Canyons, Silverton, (100); Copper Breaks, Quanah, (70).

The fastest bird of prey is the peregrine falcon, clocked at over 200 miles per hour in a dive.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

INTEREST AND INFLATION AFFECT YOUR INVESTMENTS

Interest and inflation can perform amazing feats with your money. Over time, inflation can whittle away your nest egg, while interest can make it grow. Other things being equal, when interest and inflation rates are balanced, they cancel each other out.

It's important to know about these rates because with any long-term investment, your goal is to gain more from interest than you lose to inflation. Keeping track of interest and inflation helps you choose among today's wide variety of confusing financial options.

The point is you must make a choice. If a relative died and left you a $10,000 check, you could put that check in your safety deposit box. If you took it out 15 years later and cashed it, the bank teller would give you $10,000. But if inflation was running at five percent, in 14 and 1/2 years, your money would buy only $5,000 worth of anything.

Or you might instead buy a savings certificate with your $10,000 that pays you 10 percent fixed annual interest, compounded. In ten years you'll have almost $26,000. A five percent inflation rate over those years would reduce the value of your money, but you would still come out ahead.

Figuring the value of costs and benefits that occur at different points in time is a confusing business. Yet it's probably the most important concept anyone with any financial resources at all needs to grasp. It's a good way to make comparisons among investment strategies, retirement annuities, houses, and insurance policies.

You have to keep in mind not only the interest and inflation rates that have occurred or that you think will occur over the years, but also tax consequences, future income expectations and intangible values such as personal satisfaction.

Nobody ever said this was simple. You can find help at the public library, or from your financial advisors. Most financial or accounting books have tables that list present and future values for various interest or inflation rates over various numbers of years.

Whaley Transfers Toll Free Number to Austin

State Representative Foster Whaley of Pampa recently transferred his incoming toll-free WATTS line number to his Austin office from his Pampa office.

Constituents from Whaley's 84th Legislative District can now dial his Austin office toll-free by dialing 1-800-692-1389. For the past two years, any resident of the 84th District could call Whaley on this same number and reach him in his Pampa office. Now, by dialing the same number, the call will terminate in his Austin office.

This change was made effective January 8, 1985. Mae Beth Palone, Administrative Assistant to Rep. Whaley in Austin, can quickly retrieve information on the status of any bill pending before the legislature or help with other inquiries.

Whaley was granted special permission to have this toll-free WATTS number because of the large 13-county elongated district that runs from Pampa to Reese Air Force Base west of Lubbock. The district is bound on the southern end by Crosby, Dickens and part of Lubbock Counties. The eastern part of the district covers Dickens, Motley, Hall, Childress and Collingsworth Counties. The western counties include Lubbock, Floyd, Briscoe and Armstrong.

Whaley said, "I'm very pleased that every citizen in my legislative district can have equal access to me and my office through the WATTS line." He also added that his 84th District was the first in Texas to have this service.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Judd Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Judd celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, Feb. 2 with a family luncheon in the Fellowship Hall of the Church of Christ, and a reception for friends from two to four in the afternoon in the Fellowship Hall.

The reception was hosted by their five children, all of whom were present for the occasion: Trueman Judd of Amarillo, Ronald Judd of Austin, Patricia Dale Wilkins of Bakersfield, California, Dickie Judd of Hobbs, N.M. and Don Judd of Olathe, Kansas.

C.M. (Dick) Judd and Lavern Grout Judd were married February 1, 1935 at Hollis.

Mrs. Judd was born October 6, 1920 at Burkburnett. Her stepfather and mother were the late Lec and Charlie Barker. She moved to Collingsworth County in 1925.

Mr. Judd was born January 2, 1917 at Stringtown in Carson County, the son of the late I.T. and Dena Josephine McMullin Judd. He moved to the Roundup community in Collingsworth county in 1924.

He served in the U.S. Army in World War II. In 1948 he entered barber college in Amarillo and upon graduation returned to Wellington to open his own barber shop. He has also farmed north of Wellington for many years.

MR. AND MRS. DICK JUDD

They are members of the Church of Christ, which they joined in 1950.

Mr. Judd is now semi-retired from his barber business and the couple say they now enjoy travel and fishing together.

Mr. Judd had six brothers and 7 sisters. One brother, Thurston, died in an automobile accident in 1950. Mrs. Judd has two brothers.

The couple's children and grandchildren attending were Trueman and Bette Judd and Angie of Amarillo, Ronald and Dianne Judd and Dawn of Austin, Patricia and Joe Wilkins of Bakersfield, California, Dickie and Reta Judd, Stacey and Tabetha of Hobbs, N.M.; Don and Judy Judd and Austin of Olathe, Kansas, Kathy and Gaylon Matous of Galveston, and Randy and Janet Judd of Austin. In all, five children, nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild attended.

Four of Mr. Judd's brothers and three of his sisters attended: Birdie Francis, Ruth and Dan Culp and Buck and Maudine Judd, all of Amarillo, John Judd and Snooks and Jewell Judd of Clarendon, Denny and Juanita Judd of Wellington, and Mrs. Thurston (Monta) Judd of Portland, Oregon.

Other out-of-town guests were Lloyd and Pauline Branch and Johnny Branch of Childress, Mike and Martha Little and daughters of Shamrock, Debby Addy and Levi of Pampa, June Little of Pampa, Preston and Sue Paschell of Amarillo, Joan Dawson of Anton, Andrew Dawson of San Antonio, and Sarah Chitwood and Jennifer of Childress.

Pointers For Parents

The Acne Years

Almost everyone gets some form of acne during adolescence—whether it is an occasional blackhead or severe long-term eruptions. Here are some helpful facts for parents of teenagers.

• Girls usually get acne at an earlier age than boys. The peak incidence of acne occurs at age 14 for girls and at 16 for boys.

• The most severe forms of the skin disorder generally occur three to five years after a person's acne begins.

The peak incidence of acne occurs at age 14 for girls and at 16 for boys.

• To achieve these ends, dermatologists now have many effective acne treatments. The person who can best select treatment specifically for your child is a dermatologist. Or, consult your family doctor.

Mrs. Lewis Green Celebrates Her 80th Birthday Jan. 26

Mrs. Lewis Green was honored on her 80th birthday with a reception in her honor at the Community Building on Saturday afternoon, January 26.

Hosts were her children and their spouses, Mr. and Mrs. M.W. "Ike" Paschall, Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Green, and Dr. and Mrs. Donald E. Green of Edmond, Oklahoma. Guests included old friends, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and a number of out-of-town relatives and friends and their families including Mr. and Mrs. Arvel Schoonover and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Burns of Dumas; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Schoonover of Kingfisher, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Blackwell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blackwell and Mrs. J.H. Moore of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Brooks of Shamrock, Mrs. Douglas Burgess of Clarendon; Mrs. Florence Paschall of Memphis.

Beth Green, a granddaughter, served punch and a two-tiered birthday cake.

Mrs. Green was born Margaret Christene Schoonover on January 27, 1905 on a homestead claim near Dryden, Oklahoma Territory, the daughter of Frank and Matilda Schoonover. She was named after her two grandmothers, Christene Shows, whom she never knew and Margaret Petty Schoonover, a Civil War widow, who lived with the family. In about 1908, her father moved the family to Shamrock where he worked for a time as a blacksmith before buying a farm in northern Collingsworth County on the east slope of the Rocking Chair Mountains.

She caught the eye of a handsome young cowboy of a neighboring family, and on Christmas Eve of 1923, Lewis and Christene were married in Wellington by Judge R.H. Templeton in the old Collingsworth County court house. Four children were born to the couple, one of which died at birth. In 1933, Lewis and Christene moved their family to a quarter-section farm on the north side of the Salt Fork in the Roundup Community. There they built a three-room shotgun house in the shade of a large lone hackberry tree.

Over the next seventeen years the Greens acquired by quarter-sections and half-sections all the land that lay between the "River Place" and the old country club (now Panfork Baptist Encampment) along the Salt Fork. Christene's "place" was never solely in the home. In addition to rearing her children, she worked alongside her husband, plowing with teams of horses, pulling cotton, shocking bundles and riding pasture.

In 1947 Mr. and Mrs. Green moved into Wellington. While Lewis continued to be active in ranching operations until shortly before his death in 1980, Christene found joy in her growing number of children and great-grandchildren. She is a lifelong member of the Church of Christ as was Mr. Green, who also served the church as an elder.

Scoopin'

Many conservatives and even some farm organizations have called for a "free market" in agriculture commodities trading. They say that government should get out of the agriculture business, and that we should rely on the workings of the marketplace to determine what crops should be grown and when and where they should be grown.

Two recent articles may have raised some questions in the minds of the free marketers.

On Tuesday, January 29 The Wall Street Journal reported on the Soviet Union's large and clever manipulations of commodities markets. The Journal says that the picture of the Soviet Union that emerges from C.I.A. reports, congressional testimony and interviews "shows the Soviets to be sophisticated, savvy traders who, despite a late start, rank among the best in the business. Using a shrewd combination of timing, muscle and bluff, they capitalize on their secrecy and size."

The report helps shed some light on the myth of the free commodity market.

Were an American farmer to put his bushel of wheat on the auction block, and were a Soviet baker to bid on it against other bidders, it could be that the free market philosophy would indeed be the best method of determining agricultural production.

But only one half of the equation is in place today. The American farmer does put his bushel up on the market, but the buyer is not an individual on equal footing, but in the Soviet's case, a sovereign government with the power to tax, to divert resources, to make war. Other examples of interference in the "free market" abound in international economic and diplomatic policy.

The second article appears in The American Spectator, a conservative journal if there ever was one.

The article, by Anthony Harrigan, president of the United States Business and Industrial Council, in The Spectator, raises alarms about the damage to our industrial base that free trade philosophy has caused. The problems he discusses are somewhat different than those involving agriculture, but they arise from the same philosophical point of view: America should open her markets to any and all comers, and everyone should be able to sell to America and buy from America without restriction at the same time that many markets are closed to American companies and many markets are dominated by sovereign governments or industries owned by sovereign governments.

Mr. Harrigan notes an interesting sidelight by quoting the chairman of Phelps Dodge Corporation: "...these governments are sheltered from the adverse impact of low prices by concessionary loans from the IMF and other multinational financial institutions, such as the World Bank--institutions whose largest source of funding is the American taxpayer..."

Montgomery Ward Catalog Sales Agency owners Pam Sexton and Genevieve Patterson have been notified by Ward officials that they intend to close their store, even though their gross sales last year were up 30% over the previous year.

Several of Ward's customers have asked me to whom they might write to protest. I made a few calls to Montgomery Ward offices in Kansas City and Chicago. The agency territorial manager said that all questions about closing a store must be referred to a public relations officer. The public relations officer gave me an answer so nebulous I won't waste our ink or your time on it. But here, apparently, are the names and addresses of two men to whom you should address your complaint:

Letters From The People

Dear Editor:

A recent column in your newspaper by Lyndell Williams of the Texas Press Association contained some glaring inaccuracies about the Family Farm & Ranch Loan Program, which is administered by the Texas Department of Agriculture. The program was authorized with passage of a constitutional amendment approved by Texas voters in November 1979.

Mr. Williams calls the program "controversial." Hardly. Almost always the program is described as unique, innovative and the only opportunity many agricultural producers have of purchasing their own farm or ranch land.

The statement in the column that TDA "floats" bonds to pay for the program is also incorrect. A one-time bond sale was conducted. Revenue from that bond sale is now invested by the State Treasurer and is-in fact--earning money for the state.

Finally, Mr. Williams says "political controversy" has stalled implementation of the program. Again, history proves otherwise. The implementing legislation passed by the 1979 Texas Legislature contained some major technical flaws which rendered the program useless. Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower asked the 1983 Legislature to correct those problems and promptly got the program operational.

Approximately 30 applications are pending with the Department from family farmers and ranchers who need the state guarantee in order to obtain a land loan from the local financial institution. We encourage others to inquire to Family Farm & Ranch Loan Program Administrator Larry Strange.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN--Texas Legislators heard the governor urge them to raise fees but not taxes in his State of the State address on Tuesday, then many attended the funeral of former Gov. Allan Shivers as the session ended its first full week.

Meanwhile, the Republican Party revealed its plan to convert 15 Democratic House members, and the latest political contribution reports indicate two statewide offices held by Democrats are now vulnerable.

The hottest political revelation of the week came when former House Speaker Bill Clayton confirmed he was considering running for governor in 1986 as a Republican. Clayton, who served an unprecedented four terms as a conservative Democrat speaker, said anyone considering a statewide race, "must look at it both ways."

Clayton, who now works as a Capitol lobbyist, was the subject of a support letter recently mailed on his behalf by an oil and gas operator. The former speaker played down the publicity last week, but didn't say no.

Meanwhile, colleagues speculated how eager Gov. Mark White would be to sign bills pushed by Clayton during this session, wondering if he would be facing Clayton on the campaign trail. Clayton was among several gubernatorial appointees recalled by White when he first took office in 1983.

Fees Boosted

Legislators collectively breathed sighs of relief last week after the governor presented his budget which boosts "user fees" by $184 million, but does not raise taxes.

Behind the relief, however, is a certain cynicism about Mark White which is plainly evident in legislators. Although White campaigned on a "no new taxes" theme, once in office he forced lawmakers to pass a record tax bill which contributed to the defeat of many Democratic House members.

Now, six months later, he is preaching no new taxes again, but it's after the House leadership laid down that line, backed by new Republicans in the ranks.

Senate Skeptical

Over in the Senate, leaders expressed skepticism that White's proposed budget could be funded without tax increases.

Senator John Traeger of Seguin predicted a raise in the sales tax from 4 1/8 cents to 4 1/2 cents. Carl Parker of Port Arthur, openly supported a tax hike to support educational and social programs.

New president pro tem Sen. Ray Farabee said White's budget couldn't be realized solely on the basis of cutting spending in other areas and raising some fees. Farabee will most likely support the budget proposed by the Legislative Budget Board.

House Is Anti-Tax

House members were more gracious towards White's budget, but it's because they have confidence in their chamber's fiscal resolve.

Speaker Gib Lewis handed out committee assignments, giving Republicans about one-third of the chairmanship. He also stacked the powerful Ways & Means Committee, chaired by Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, with anti-tax votes, including seven Republican members.

The makeup of the committee means a tax bill will get through the first "gate" only with great difficulty.

Mauro, Hiring Freeze
Land Commissioner Garry

Mauro announced his office has raised an additional $27.7 million to go into the fund for public school children, which helps lawmakers avoid a tax hike.

A hiring freeze by state agencies is also being implemented voluntarily, and so far Comptroller Bob Bullock and Treasurer Ann Richards have joined it. Bullock said he will fill only one out of every four vacancies. The University of Texas also responded and even added a salary freeze.

Dollars Await Taxing Units

Meanwhile, Bullock has issued an "all aboard" call for local government taxing units to be included when he distributes a projected $58 million from the first year's revenue of the new corporate franchise tax on banks.

Full Gospel Prayer Breakfast Set for Saturday

A full-gospel prayer breakfast has been scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 9 at 9 a.m. at the Christian Center Church in Dodson.

Roger Reeves, pastor of The Church Triumphant of Mangum will speak.

Coffee and donuts will be served, followed by worship, praise, special music, testimonies, a message and united prayer.

"This will be a wonderful opportunity for Christians to come together for fellowship and for agreement in prayer," Rev. Dan Denissen, pastor of Abundant Life Fellowship, said. "As the Body of Christ comes together in unity, God's people can expect great things to happen."

The breakfast is free of charge.

Healing Study Scheduled at Abundant Life

A special service studying healing will be held Saturday, Feb. 9 at 7 p.m. at Abundant Life Fellowship.

The service is open to the public and everyone is invited, Rev. Dan Denissen, pastor, said.

Rev. Denissen will lead a study that will emphasize "God's ability and willingness to heal our physical bodies."

"God desires that we prosper and be in health, even as our souls prosper," Rev. Denissen said. "We invite everyone to come and hear God's promises concerning healing."

Youth 14 to 21 May Apply Now for Summer Job Program

Amarillo, Texas -- The Summer Youth Employment and Training Program will make jobs available for eligible Panhandle youth between the ages of 14 and 21 this year. There will be various job and training opportunities for students and out-of-school youth throughout the area between June 1 and August 31, 1985.

Persons interested in these jobs are urged to apply immediately.

Young people in Collingsworth County should apply for the program by calling Tessie Burba, director, Collingsworth County Community Action, 447-2840, 612 East Avenue.

One Gas Well Completion in Collingsworth

One gas well completion in Collingsworth County's East Panhandle Field, was reported by the Pampa Office of the Railroad Commission.

This is the Panhandle Drilling Co. No. C-1 SESCO, Sec. 11, blk 17, H&GN RR survey.

Elevation is 2548' and the well was spudded May 7, 1984 and completed May 12, 1984, and tested Sept. 12, 1984, with potential of 120 MCF. Rock pressure is 97.4, pay 1897 to 2045, and total depth 2052, pulled back to a total depth of 2050'.

CJC Schedules Dinner Theatre Production

Clarendon College Theatre will present its dinner theatre for the public Friday and Saturday, Feb. 8 and 9, at 7 p.m. this will be at Clarendon Country Club, located at Greenbelt Lake.

The production will be "Laundry and Bourbon," an adult comedy by James McLure. The director will be Leslie Schnauffer, chairman of CJC Fine Arts Department.

Action centers on the funny gossip of three small town wives and their discontent with their marriages.

The cast includes Charla Crump and Dorothy Braddock, both of Clarendon, and Valerie Camill of Felt, Okla.

Tickets are $6 for the dinner and $2.50 for the play. Reservations should be made with Clarendon College Theatre.

Dad's steady influence is needed for...

LIFE'S OBSTACLES

We can easily see physical obstacles such as logs, boulders, and many other things that may be too difficult for our children to handle, but things that are not physical are not always so obvious. A young child needs help from his parents in spiritual matters too. The church can be an influence on children's lives, but when you, a parent, are taking part in church worship, you can be an even greater influence. Give your children, the leaders of the future, a hand now when they need it most. Take them to church regularly...and you too, will have a fuller and better life.

ATTEND CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Community Action Names Raymond New Exec. Director

The Board of Directors of the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation have approved Johnny Raymond as Executive Director.

The board, comprised of community leaders throughout the twenty-six county area of the Panhandle, unanimously agreed to appoint Raymond to the position.

Members of the personnel committee reviewed applications and resumes and conducted interviews before selecting and recommending Raymond to the executive director's position.

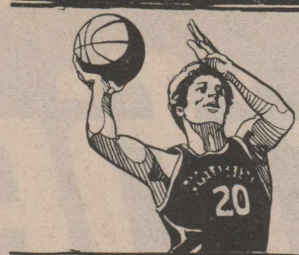

Millie Reynolds, President of the TPCAC Board of Directors announced that Raymond had accepted the position and began work with the agency on February 1, 1985. Reynolds said, "We have been searching for an executive director since the middle of September. After many hours of screening, we felt most fortunate to have an applicant with Raymond's experience and qualifications."

"Johnny Raymond is a native of the panhandle and has had sixteen years of public service. He is certainly aware of the geographic needs of the panhandle counties in which our agency serves. We believe his experience, education, leadership abilities, and philosophy are most compatible with the general goals of our agency," Reynolds said.

Raymond is a graduate of Sunray and attended McMurry College in Abilene for two years. He transferred to West Texas University in 1959 to complete his Bachelor's Degree in 1960 with a major in public speaking and education. Raymond began teaching for the Amarillo Public Schools in 1960 and continued his education at WTSU. He received a Masters' Degree in Education with a minor in Sociology and Speech Therapy in 1961. Raymond left the teaching field in the summer of 1967 to become a counselor for the Neighborhood Youth Corp., a Department of Labor funded program which served in-school students and out-of school dropouts. In 1969, Raymond transferred to the TPCAC as Assistant Director to the Department of Employment and Training, a position he held until being promoted to Director of the department in 1974. In June, 1980, Raymond was selected Executive Director of Panhandle Rural Health Corporation. He was instrumental in developing medical clinics in Oldham and Hutchinson Counties through the Department of health and Human Services, Rural Health Initiative Act.

Raymond and his wife, Johnnie, live in Canyon and have three children, Stephanie 21, Doug 17, and Scott 15. Mrs. Raymond teaches second grade with the Canyon School District.

Thursday is named for the Teutonic god Thor.

Sales Tax Check Up 7.12% Over Year Ago

AUSTIN - State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday sent checks totaling $516.6 million in local tax payments to the 997 cities that levy the one-percent local sales tax.

Wellington received $3,515.18 as its sales tax rebate for the period ending January 3.

This is up from $3,281.58 for the same period in 1984. As this represents the first period of the year, 1985 payments to date also total $3,515.18, up from $3,281.50 for 1984 payments to date.

This is up 7.12% from the same period a year ago. This is one of the larger increases of any surrounding county.

January checks represent taxes collected on sales in November and reported to the Comptroller by December 20.

Older Homes May Be Cheaper To Heat, Cool

COLLEGE STATION - While most houses built before 1940 don't have the advantages of modern insulation materials, they still may be cheaper to heat and cool, say researchers with the Center for Energy and Mineral Resources (CEMR) at Texas A&M University.

Center researchers report that studies show older houses tend to use less energy for both heating and cooling, and probably require fewer improvements against the weather than people expect.

One of the most universal energy-saving characteristics of old houses is operable windows, researchers report.

In addition, the houses often include rooftop ventilation, skylights, exterior balconies, porches, wide overhangs, awnings and shade trees.

Johann Sebastian Bach had 20 children.
