

AAA Elections For County Set On December 9

Every farmer in Collingsworth county who is eligible to vote in the farm program elections to be held in the county on December 9, should vote, advises J. C. Emmert, chairman of the county agricultural conservation committee. Elections will be held at the following places from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Shiner, Fresno, Rolla, Wellington, Cross Roads, Quail Marella, Dozier, Samnorwood and Lutie.

The chairman advises that all persons participating in the 1947 Agricultural Conservation Program, or who had a Federal Crop Insurance contract in 1947 are eligible to vote, whether owners, operator, tenant, or sharecropper.

Mr. Emmert urged farmers to make certain that their vote will be counted in the election of community committeemen and delegates to the county convention where the county agricultural conservation committee will be elected.

He said that too often farmers let other jobs and interests keep them from voting in these elections. But this year, with so many vital decisions and perplexing problems regarding current production and conservation, he stressed that farmers cannot afford to forego the opportunity to vote.

The Agricultural Adjustment Act provides that the administration of the farm program on the county and community level shall be in the hands of the local farmer-elected committeemen.

Pioneer Nurse Here For Winter Months

Mrs. Mary Robbins, who came to this county 57 years ago, has returned to spend the winter in the home of her brother, W. W. Roberts. Her present home is in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Robbins at the time she made her home here was Mrs. Mary Donahoe, but she was affectionately known to most of the residents at that time as "Aunt Mary." She made this her home for a number of years, and during the time she was widely known for her ability in nursing the sick.

Mrs. Robbins will celebrate her 91st birthday on January 2 and she is still able to be up and about all of the time, Mrs. Roberts said.

George Cristy Is Hurt in Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Cristy of Wellington learned recently that their son, George Cristy, MM 2-C, U. S. Navy, was seriously injured Monday, November 17, in a car wreck at Pascagoula, Mo. He, along with three other persons, was en route from Florida, where he had been stationed, to Corpus Christi, where he had been transferred.

The accident occurred, Mrs. Cristy said, when a tire on the right front wheel of the car which he was driving blew out. The vehicle swerved and first hit a tree, then a truck, and then another tree. None of the other occupants was injured, but the car was demolished.

Cristy, in a telephone conversation early this week told his parents he received a broken arm, with part of his elbow torn away, as well as cuts and bruises. He was flown to Oliver General Hospital at Augusta, Ga., and he said that he would be there for some time.

Cristy was reared here and graduated from Wellington high school before entering the Navy.

Mr. Hurd's picture appeared on the cover of the company magazine with this explanation:

"By timely exploitation in connection with school activities, he created additional business that resulted in a record-breaking week."

In addition, Mr. Hurd will receive the Griffith Crest, a metal medallion mounted for his use.

Mr. Hurd was named from among managers in 53 towns in Texas and Oklahoma.

Judge C. C. Bishop Opens Law Office

Judge C. C. Bishop this week announced the opening of a law office in the Small Building, over the Palace Drug Store.

Judge Bishop formerly served as county attorney and then county judge. After his retirement from the latter office, he joined the Farm Credit Association, with which he was associated until recently.

Although he has spent most of his time traveling over the Panhandle, he and Mrs. Bishop have continued to maintain their home in Wellington.

In announcing the opening of an office, Judge Bishop extended a cordial invitation to his friends to visit him in his new location.

Peters Orchestra Plays Here on Thanksgiving Night

Bob Peters and his orchestra will play for a Thanksgiving dance at the community building Thursday night, November 27, Russell Yates, who is in charge of the entertainment program of the VFW, sponsors, said Wednesday morning.

This dance was originally scheduled to have been played by T. Texas Tyler and his Oklahoma Melody Boys, and an ad to this effect is carried in this week's issue of The Leader. However, after that section of the paper had been printed, Mr. Yates was notified that Tyler had contracted pneumonia and would be unable to appear, but that Bob Peters and his orchestra will play instead.

Peters heads a modern dance orchestra which has been playing in New Orleans. He is highly recommended in entertainment circles and the bookers expressed the belief that he will furnish music that dance enthusiasts of the lower Panhandle area will enjoy.

This dance is one of a series sponsored through the winter months by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and which are attracting much attention and many visitors to Wellington from the surrounding area in the lower Panhandle and southwestern Oklahoma.

Building in Collingsworth Reaches High Peak As Countians Put Money in Good Homes

More homes, either completely destroyed by fire several years ago, and it is already well improved with trees and outbuildings.

Mr. and Mrs. Rountree are adding room to the house and an adjoining two-car garage is being constructed. The stucco finish has been removed from the exterior and it will be finished in asbestos siding. Considerable remodeling is under way inside also.

One of Wellington's attractive new houses will be that now being built by Wilbur W. Manney, and which will be occupied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Manney, who now live east of Dodson.

This is a six-room modified Cape Cod house, located on Childress Street. It will be finished in asbestos siding, with red shingle roof, and will add much to the section in which it is located.

In the way of repairing and improvement, Frank Light is doing remodeling and adding built-in features to the house which he occupies on the farm of Mrs. Nettie C. Hill west of Wellington.

E. L. Ellis is completing construction of a new 5-room house on Arlington Street. Mr. Ellis plans to sell this house, which is modern in all features.

Construction is progressing on the ten-room two-story house which T. D. Nored bought from the school and moved to lots just north of the Church of Christ. Originally

Pink Boll Worm Quarantine in Collingsworth Appears Certain

Buy Bonds, Forbis Urges County Farm And Ranch Families

"Nobody was ever sorry he saved," stated Mr. J. T. Forbis, County Chairman of the Collingsworth County Savings Bonds Committee. With this statement, Mr. Forbis announced that a current effort is being made by the U. S. Treasury to emphasize the importance of investing in U. S. Savings Bonds while agricultural products are at the highest peak in history and while farm and ranch incomes are beyond all previous levels.

Mr. Forbis stated that the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds in Collingsworth County for the 10 months of 1947 were: $107,300.00 E Bonds, $168,000.00 total all Savings Bonds. The total sale for Texas is $173,000.00.

"History repeats itself," according to Mr. Forbis, "and after every previous war in United States history there has been a similar period to that which we are now enjoying with farm and ranch products bringing high prices and extra cash to the producer. In the past, such prosperous periods as this have never failed to end in disastrous market fluctuations which have seen farm products and prices the first to suffer."

Every farm and ranch family in Collingsworth County is being sent a Savings Bond promotion circular by mail. Titled "Plant Now for the Crop That Never Fails," the circular brings home the message that "a seed unsown brings no reward. Planted, it grows to profit. Dollars 'planted' wisely grow, too! For the world's surest harvest buy U. S. Savings Bonds." (Continued on Page Four)

Hunters Report On Deer Killed

Opening of the deer season in Texas last week saw many county hunters leaving for different parts of the state, but principally that section around San Antonio. Reports from four have reached The Leader early this week.

Three Rolla men, L. B. Harrison, R. A. Burgess and J. E. Mitchell, experienced their first deer hunt, which they took in the Van Horn section of the Davis Mountains. They were on hand for the opening day, and during the first two days killed two bucks, one a ten point deer and the other a six point one. They weighed approximately 140 and 100 pounds. Both were brought back, and if a taxidermist can be located, the men plan to have the heads mounted.

J. B. Castleberry, who hunted near San Antonio, reported killing a deer.

Norwood Teams Play McLean in Opener Friday

Larry Sanders, a graduate of Samnorwood returns with his mighty Tigers and Tigerettes to invade the Samnorwood Eagles Friday, Nov. 28th.

McLean is boosting the greatest number that they have ever had to report for basketball. Their last year's record spoke well of the coaching staff for their two teams grew stronger throughout the year. The Tigers lost in an over time play-off to Wellington for district honors.

Supt. Orville Cunningham of Samnorwood, has previously coached some of the Tigerettes who will play against the Samnorwood sextet. The games are expected to be some of the best of the season.

Briscoe, McLean, Shamrock, and Samnorwood girls have been picked as the group from which the representative to the Girls State Meet will come. This pre-season estimate is being made from the way the teams stacked up last year and the material that they have this year. McLean carries twenty-four substitute girls. Samnorwood, likewise, has a debit balance on substitutes.

Samnorwood is anxious for the people to see their new Score Clock and the new finished floor. The game will start promptly at 7 p.m. and a record crowd is expected.

Kelton will play a two bill game at Samnorwood in their first conference game of the season Dec. 2. Kelton boys defeated the Norwood boys two out of three games last

Regulations Must Be Met on Seed Leaving County

That Collingsworth County is definitely to be under the pink boll worm quarantine because of boll worms found in cotton burs at gins seemed certain as The Leader went to press Wednesday at noon.

No notification to this effect has been given either county ginners or J. W. Thomas, county agent, but the oil mill at Fort Worth has been given official notice that Collingsworth and Childress counties are under the quarantine and that no seed is to be received from either until certain regulations are met with. The mill in turn notified gins with which it does business here and it appeared only a matter of a day or two until gins in the county will receive official notice. Those in Childress county have been reported as having been informed early this week.

The quarantine is placed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, and orders will come from Washington and the State of Texas making the quarantine official.

Collingsworth is only one of a large number of counties in this area to go under the quarantine. Hall county was notified last week, and in addition to Childress, Cottle county is also quarantined. Seven counties in southwest Oklahoma including Harmon are included.

The effect of the quarantine will not be felt this year, farmers were informed. The farmer will still take his cotton to the gin and take home the amount of seed he needs for planting. He cannot take home his burs.

Representatives of the Department of Agriculture worked in this county for several weeks recently, checking the burr piles of all gins for boll worms.

P. O. Designated For Postal Savings

The Wellington Post Office will serve as a Postal Savings Office after December 1, R. F. Curry, postmaster, announced this week. This is the first time the office has ever served in that capacity.

Only in recent months has there been sufficient demand that the local office act as a Postal Savings Office for a request to be designated as such, the postmaster said.

A savings account may be started with as little as $1.00 while the limit to such an account is $2,500, Mr. Curry said.

Any information desired on starting a postal savings account will be gladly furnished by the local office, he added.

the home of the Cocke family, Mr. Nored is converting it into apartments. New walls have been put in for the lower floor in the west and south wings. Interior changes will be made and when it is completed will contain several modern apartments.

Mr. Nored is also planning to move an Army Barracks here to turn into apartments. This will have an exterior finish of asbestos siding.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Lindley are remodeling their farm home near Samnorwood. Both interior and exterior work is being done. Many built-in features are being added. In addition, a new water storage tank has been put up and the house will be made modern throughout.

C. W. Roberts is completing remodeling on the two-story brick building a block north of the square known originally as the Cook Building. Both stories will now be used as apartments, although the upper story has been used for this purpose for several years. When completed it will be one of the largest apartment units in Wellington.

Bill Alexander recently finished a new three-room frame house for himself in the northwest part of town.

Ira Rolls, who lives near the West Texas Gin, has added a room onto his home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Pigg, who have lived south of Wellington for many years, have near completion a new six-room brick home on their farm. They tore down their old house and used part of the material in the new structure. It will be modern throughout when completed, as well as one of the most attractive homes in the section.

Carroll Blevins of Quail recently finished a three-room rent house in Quail.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Guthrie, who now own the farm in the Cross Roads community which was for many years the J. C. Phipps home place, are remodeling the house, which has stood for many years. Two rooms are being added, and the house is being remodeled throughout.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Alford are tearing down the story and a half house which she has owned on West avenue and will rebuild a modern five-room house, modern in all respects. This house formerly was rented as apartments. The old material will be used in the new structure, and the exterior finish will be either brick or asbestos siding.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harrison who live near Loco have just completed remodeling their home. Four rooms were added and the interior of the old section remodeled. The entire house was finished with a

The History of Thanksgiving Day Is Centuries Old

What does Thanksgiving dinner have to do with thanksgiving?

According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, meals have been regarded as thank-offerings since ancient times. "It is probably that among Christians, as among Jews, every meal, and especially every social meal, was regarded as being in some sense a thank-offering," the Britannica states.

The words "thanksgiving," "blessing" and "offering" were used more or less interchangeably, the Britannica points out. A Talmudic rule cautions, "A man shall not taste anything before blessing it," and St. Paul explains, "He that eateth, eateth unto the Lord, for he giveth God thanks."

Thanksgiving Day's traditional turkey played a part in Indian prayer offerings more than a thousand years ago, the Britannica reveals. Certain American Indian tribes kept turkeys in captivity—not for food, but for their feathers, which were plucked from the living bird and burned in prayer offerings to appease the gods.

In the early Christian church, one aspect of thanksgiving was the offering of the fruits of the earth to God to show gratitude for creation, preservation or redemption, according to the Britannica.

Appropriately, therefore, it was following their first harvest in 1621 that the Pilgrims set apart a day for thanksgiving at Plymouth. The Massachusetts Bay Colony held its first observance in 1630, Connecticut as early as 1639, and the Dutch New Netherlands in 1644.

"During the Revolutionary War the Continental Congress appointed one or more thanksgiving days each year, except in 1777," the Britannica relates. "President Washington appointed a day of thanksgiving (Thursday, November 26) in 1789, and appointed another in 1795. President Madison, in response to resolutions of congress, set apart a day for thanksgiving at the close of the War of 1812. By 1858 proclamations appointing a day of thanksgiving were issued by the governors of 25 states and two territories."

At present Thanksgiving Day is annually set by proclamation of the president and of the governors of the various states, and, the Britannica notes, is observed with religious services and as an occasion for family reunions.

A sheriff reports that inscribed on one of the stills he raided in the moonshine country were the words "Better things for better living, through chemistry."

Wheat Crop Purchase by U. S. Studied

WASHINGTON — A second congressional group was reported ready Saturday to recommend that the government consider purchase and rationing of the entire wheat crop as an anti-inflation move.

This decision was said to have been made by the joint economic subcommittee headed by Senator Watkins of Utah, as a result of an investigation of price and other economic problems in the West.

A similar group headed by Senator Flanders of Vermont recommended in its reports last week that "further study" be given the Canadian plan of grain control, under which the government buys the entire crop, sets the purchase and export prices, fixes processing margins, and rations grain to all users and for exports.

This group said Canada had achieved considerable success in the venture, had set a purchase price high enough to bring out heavy production, had sold wheat at a small margin above the price paid, and by supervision of processing markups, had assured consumers low prices for flour and bread.

Prepare Now for Thanksgiving 1957 Treasury Urges

The Texas farmer and rancher have much to be thankful for this Thanksgiving. In most instances his income from farm products and livestock has been the greatest in the history of the nation. Prices have been better than good, and in the majority Texas' crops have been abundant.

Yes, Thanksgiving 1947 is truly a day to give thanks.

But what about Thanksgiving 1957?

Will the farmer and rancher have as much to be thankful for then? If history repeats itself, and it always has in agriculture, the fat years will give way to lean years. In Texas the weather is always an uncertainty and it is conceivable that a long drouth in the following years can ruin even the most abundant crops.

But come what may, drouth or low prices, the farsighted farmer can have an abundant Thanksgiving in 1957. While his income is high he will invest what he can in a safe and sound investment. Such an investment is U. S. Savings Bonds. For every $3 the farmer invests now, he will receive $4 in 1957, when his Savings Bonds mature. In the meantime, he has a financial reserve that he can use at any time in case of emergencies.

Plant now the crop that never fails for your 1957 Thanksgiving.

Just because Uncle Sam wears whiskers is no reason the whole world should think he is Santa Claus.

Theatre Gift Books Offered

Theatre gift books, redeemable for motion picture entertainment in Wellington, are being offered for sale this year, it was announced today by Bill Hurd, manager of the Ritz theatre.

These can be purchased in any quantity at the theatre box office between now and closing time, December 24.

Offered as a gift service to patrons and those who have that perennial problem of "what to give," the books will be issued to purchasers with the understanding that the books are redeemable only at the above theatre.

The books are transferable and the coupons may be exchanged at the boxoffice at any time for any attraction until used.

"Zero-Zero" to "CAVU"

By BILL HUGHES

It seems a long time since we have had much to say about what's going on out here at base of operations, Marian Airpark. It would appear to be that we have been hopping all over the place and not remaining home long enough to even say "Howdy" let alone give a progress report.

If it appears that we have not been paying attention to business, at least others have out there, and that is so much more important than our negligence it is insignificant in comparison. For instance, the City Council, headed by the mayor, has provided the basis for a real future for the Airpark by purchasing the five acres that heretofore have clouded potential realization, as well as the house that without having to be moved will take care of personnel who must eventually be there. Then there is "Prometheus Handley and Company" including six other good gents and true, Jake Leach, Bo Yates, Roy Love, Felix Hunt, Orab Fike, and Roy Terry. They have not been idle. The hangar is up and nearly finished, the hole for the swimming pool is being dug and shall be completed just as soon as a part for "Old Matilde," the bulldozer, is forth coming.

Not so long ago I nearly collided with "Little Red" with "Prometheus" at its helm. This red chariot is a land mark of long known whereabouts; and "Prometheus" without so much as a questioning lift from his craggy brow for my having blocked "Little Red's" right-of-way, (you see, he understands the idiosyncrasies of youth) told me that he was hoping to be able to call in the Civil Aeronautics Authority by the middle of December to pass the airfield as fit for commercial operations.

Gene Craig and Otis Killingsworth have fitted the field office with telephone. Orval Couch and Floyd Cole say they are ready with plenty of REA juice. Steve Owens has his pumps primed with Phillips Aviation gas. All this we have out there along with that big Texas "Blue Yonder."

The Wellington Skeet Club have their Skeet towers in south of the west hangars and I am told that the course will be strictly in compliance with the Book of Hoyle for national and state competition. Remembering that nothing worthwhile is ever built without considerable thought, effort and patience, we are coming along fine out there. However, please, also, let us remember that this is but a beginning and this is the time to get in stride for some steady pushing. It is not the time either to rest on our oars or to fiddle—permitting the termites to destroy a good foundation before we have time to get around to the walls and roof.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Collingsworth is going to be placed under quarantine for the pink boll worm apparently. It is necessary; but it is a nuisance in many ways. Perhaps the loss will come from having to burn the bolls instead of putting them back on the land to build badly needed humus.

Shades of yesterday. Wouldn't this county be going places if we had a yield like 1926 at today's prices. In 1926 Collingsworth ginned 54,870 bales of cotton; but the average price was only 12 cents a pound. Our lowest recorded yield was in 1903 when the county ginned 717 bales. The lowest yield in recent years was in 1934 when the county ginned only 10,050 bales as a result of an intense drought. Next week The Leader will have a story giving the ginning totals from 1903 through 1946. It will settle many an argument if you will cut it out and file it away.

Monday, December 1, is the date for the organization of the Chamber of Commerce. The place is the Community Building and the time is 7:30.

There is a speech by Walter Hammond, president of the Farm Bureau, in this issue of the paper. It gives the farmers' side of the inflation story in clear words. Have you joined the Farm Bureau?

By the way why don't quite a number of you farmers join the revitalized Wellington Chamber of Commerce. It can serve you in many ways. Your advice and counsel and your support are all needed.

I intend to see to it that Corbett Ford joins the Chamber of Commerce. He made me join a gun club, and I don't even have a gun.

"Forever Amber" will show at the Ritz November 9. Louise and I saw it in San Antonio. It is interesting and will hold you for the two and a half hours that it takes to show it. The scenes in this color picture are magnificent. Those who have read the book and expect any of the racy scenes may be disappointed. The screen version has cleaned up the sex angle to such an extent that something of the tragedy of the story is lost; but the heart break of an erring woman is there still. It was not a great book; and it is not a great picture; but it is worth going to see far more than the average.

Bill Hurd asked me to write something about this picture if I felt like it. He may not ask me to write anything about a picture again. Incidentally our public spirited Bill has been named manager of the week of the entire Griffith chain. See the front page for details.

Commissioner Pat O'Hair: "Thanks for the fairness of the publicity carried in The Leader on the matter of the home demonstration agent. You and I don't see eye to eye on this, Deck, but I do think you have rendered a service to the people of the county in your effort to make them take an interest in the financial affairs of the county." Thanks.

Dick Dudley, Hollis editor, was run down by four Wellington men last week. He was crossing the street. The men paid fines; but the Hollis editor contemplates suit for personal damages for serious injuries and loss of time from his duties.

It is a wonder that more people are not killed on the streets of Wellington. That baneful, silly, insane but dangerous game of ditchum has cropped up in Wellington again. It should be stopped promptly. It is done by youngsters of school age. All are not in school however. Some are just hoodlums of school age. Two cars try to pin up another and force it off the street. Sometimes they drive without lights. Sometimes it is a car of boys trying drive a car of girls off the street. Sometimes all are boys.

In any case it is dangerous. It can mean still bodies on a slab in an undertaking establishment. It can mean broken bloody bodies in a hospital with bones sticking through the flesh, heart and lungs crushed, or the skull fractured. And it could mean life-long invalidism for some innocent person.

Every parent, all public officials and all law enforcement officers should be concerned about this and nip it in the bud. One Wellington father suspected his son and daughter of indulging in the practice and promptly prohibited the use of the car they had been driving. That is what all parents should do. Furthermore they will be most unfair to their own children if they get angry when the law takes a hand.

All the ditchum drivers are not Wellington boys and girls. Some live in the rural areas around Wellington. Parents on the farms need to keep up with what their sons and daughters are doing with the car they drive to town.

There are a number of other things that can be done in addition to the parents taking away the cars. It is well to know at all times where your children are and when they will be back home, and see to it that they get back home at the appointed hour or else.

County law enforcement officers can help; for they have the cars and the courts to back them up. The City can secure a car for at least one law enforcement officer; but this will do little good unless a trial court is set up. The mayor can act as a justice of the peace; but no mayor in recent years has been willing or had time to serve in that capacity. He does have the authority if he wants to use it. The clergy and the teachers can help a lot. Visual aid films of correct driving practices and of the terrible injuries inflicted on human bodies by wrong driving can help. The primary responsibility is that of the parents and the law of enforcement officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roark recently finished remodeling and adding to their farm home east of Lattie. Several rooms were added and the exterior appearance of the house completely changed.

To serve as headquarters for the James Doneghy land holdings, a new two-story brick house is now under construction southwest of Wellington, near the Hall county line. In addition to the two full stories, the structure will also have a basement. This will be one of the best buildings of the type for which it is planned in the lower Panhandle section.

The Fundamental Baptist Church, which originally planned to use the present church building in the construction of its new home, announced Tuesday that it will be sold and the new one built of cement blocks and later brick veneered. This new building will also be larger than planned, being 50 by 100 feet, Rev. George Shoff, pastor, said.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Smith are remodeling their house in the Houselog community, adding a sun room and refinishing a part of the house.

Henry Stall has under construction a modern five room house on South East Avenue. This was built from the Kesler school, which he bought, and will be brick veneered. Considerable improvement has been done by Dudley McMillin in the McMillin Lumber and Building Supply, which he purchased

"A farmer or ranchman who operates his land well enough to make a decent living during normal times can well afford to invest 10, 15 or even 20 percent of his income this year in Savings Bonds," Mr. Forbis said. "Remember, that each dollar invested now will be worth more in purchasing power during hard times when prices are nearer normal. Too, by investing surplus money today, you are helping to combat even higher prices on tools and equipment by removing excess money from the market until production equals demand. And, in the meantime, if you run into an emergency at any time before your Savings Bonds mature in ten years, you can convert them into cash immediately to take care of your needs. You can't make a better investment. You can't make a safer investment. You can't make a better move to protect your future security than to invest in U. S. Savings Bonds today. Nobody was ever sorry he saved."

and community level has proved itself the most effective organization yet devised for the administration of any national farm program. This country has never witnessed a finer demonstration of the processes of democracy in action than the committee system under the Agricultural Conservation Program."

The way to keep this organization strong and representative of the farmers is for all eligible farmers to vote in the elections when they are held in their community, Mr. Emmert said. For the convenience of those who might not be able to attend their community election meeting on the designated day to vote, ballots are being mailed to both the farmer and his wife to use in voting by mail, Mr. Emmert explained.

Guy Clements was admitted as a medical patient at St. Joseph's Hospital on November 25.

Motor Transport Industry Quarter Billion Business

AUSTIN — The commercial motor transportation business in Texas fell only slightly short of being a one-fourth billion dollar enterprise in 1946, according to figures released by the Railroad Commission on for-hire carriers under its jurisdiction.

Operating revenue was $225,615,121, and operating expense was $208,486,064, leaving the carriers a net income of $17,129,057 for 1946.

Emphasizing the economic importance of the motor transportation business to the State, Lynn B. Shaw, General Manager of the Texas Motor Transportation Association, pointed out that the industry paid $17,781,605 in taxes and licenses.

This item alone was greater than the 1946 net income of the operators, Shaw said.

Included in the report were motor buses, common carriers of commodities, specialized motor carriers and contract carriers. The report does not include farm trucks and privately owned fleets, since these are not subject to Railroad Commission regulation.

On the whole, the report showed that the 18,967 vehicles paid an average of $935 in taxes and license fees, including the gasoline tax. Taxes in all forms amounted to $14,243,422 and license fees amounted to $3,538,183, to arrive at the total of $17,781,605.

The industry spent nearly $1.2 million advertising its wares, the exact figure being $1,400,341.

Direct wages paid to 34,321 employees amounted to $60,513,513, and in addition the four divisions of the industry paid out another $2,978,469 for solicitation of business.

The enormous merchandise requirements of the industry, which contribute to prosperity of other business in the State, is reflected in purchases of $24,406,357 for $12,172,793 worth of gasoline, not including taxes; $9,257,078 worth of tires and tubes, $1,537,476 worth of garage supplies, and $1,439,010 worth of lubricants.

In addition, the carriers paid $9,564,229 in insurance premiums to protect the public against bodily harm and cargo loss.

Expense of terminal operation cost the four industry divisions the sum of $25,663,436 in 1946, the report showed.

Common carriers led the groups in number of miles operated, having traveled 253,439,274 miles in the hauling of 9,933,907,999 pounds or nearly 10 billion pounds of freight in 8,945 vehicles. Gasoline consumed by this group was 30,789,998 gallons.

Motor buses operated 106,183,325 miles carrying 64,956,767 passengers in 2,401 vehicles consuming 23,548,826 gallons of gasoline.

Specialized motor carriers traveled 159,541,662 miles and hauled nearly 13 billion pounds (12,865,133,364) of freight in 6,711 vehicles which consumed 84,392,329 gallons of gasoline.

Contract carriers operated 48,759,184 miles, carried 1,982,251,156 pounds of freight in 910 vehicles which used 9,982,364 gallons of gasoline.

Motor bus companies in 1946 showed revenue of $59,201,756.57 and operating expense of $50,403,223.24 for a profit of $8,798,533.33.

Common carrier motor carriers received $87,326,490.75 in gross operating revenue and had total operating expense of $84,995,339.94 for a profit of $2,331,150.81.

Specialized carriers received operating revenue of $70,298,528.96, had operating expense of $64,827,559.79 for a profit of $5,470,969.17.

Contract carrier gross revenue was $8,788,345.71 and operating expense was $8,259,941.99 for a profit of $528,403.72.

Maintenance of vehicles took a substantial amount of the gross receipts of the commercial carriers, amounting to $17,555,683.

FOR ME?

President Truman flashes a look of surprise as members of the White House News Photographers' Association present him with a miniature news camera and a movie camera.

Giant Wheat Seed Obtained for Use In Experiment Work

STILLWATER — A giant-grained hybrid wheat, with kernels three times the size of standard Oklahoma wheat kernels, was displayed recently by Dr. K. Starr Chester, head of the Oklahoma A. and M. College botany department. Dr. Karl Sax, director of the Harvard botanical garden, produced the grain by duplicating Russian experiments. Although Russia reported the results of such experiments in 1944, no seed was made available to the United States. Through his wide knowledge of genetics, Dr. Sax has been able to perform corresponding experiments producing the same results.

Russian scientists reported the giant wheat was resistant to rust and practically all other fungus diseases. It was also said to withstand droughts and produce up to 144 bushels of wheat per acre.

Give Thanks

Before you sit down to your Thanksgiving dinner this year stop a moment to count your blessings. In spite of high prices, shortages and a world still troubled by strife, thank Him for your health, your home and its warmth, for family and friends and for the food which graces your table on this day. Give thanks and a pledge to work for a better life and a better world for all. And now . . . eat hearty and rejoice.

Lewis & James Grocery

Dr. Chester has received 75 kernels of the new wheat which Dr. Sax produced in a special nursery. This seed has been shared with Dr. A. M. Schlehuber, Oklahoma A. and M. College agronomist. Dr. Chester will work in cooperation with Dr. Schlehuber through the Agricultural Experiment station in developing this new wheat.

Ten of the grains will be planted in the Experiment station winter wheat observation nursery; ten in the Experiment station spring wheat observation nursery and 32 kernels go to the college greenhouse to test its disease resistance. Seedlings from these 32 kernels will be transplanted outside, later, to produce seed. The remaining 23 seed will be put in safe keeping for an emergency, Dr. Chester said.

The botany department head emphasized the fact that the super-wheat was still in the experimental stage since it has never been tested in this country. Dr. Chester stated it would probably produce a low grade flour in its present form and may not be adaptable to the area's climate.

Chief value of the wheat may be in using it as a parent grain for producing new improved varieties that will be suitable for American conditions, Dr. Chester pointed out.

The Greeks do have a word for it. And the word is "gimme."

Boll Worm -

tions under which gins must operate, as well as an account of the pink boll worm itself, was given by The Memphis Democrat to the people of Hall county last week. These regulations apply also to Collingsworth County and are as follows:

The government has found that where one pink boll worm is there is another and on account of operating on a small budget the inspection crew, when it finds one boll worm, sends the insect to Washington, D. C., and the quarantine operation begins. Then the inspection crew moves on to another untested area.

Gin Regulations

Each ginner will operate under a dealer-carrier permit on an agreement between the gin management and the government. The gin will be responsible for all the products of ginning—from the time the cotton gets on the yard. He will have to care for the loose cotton before the ginning begins, the lint and seed after the process, for the bale and finally the burrs and other trash. This latter he will have to destroy. He cannot permit it to leave the gin.

The reason for burning burrs is because it is the natural hibernation habitat for the pink boll worm, and placing them back on the ground only serves to spread the worm from one farm to the other, thereby giving means other than natural flight to infest areas free of the menace.

In the Presidio Valley, where in some areas the loss has been as high as fifty per cent of the crop, the farmer uses sterilized seed that are heated to 150 degrees Fahrenheit which kills the hibernating larva, that can bore into a seed and live until spring unless the seed are given this treatment.

Bale to Acre

Germination of the seed is not affected by the heat, a temperature of 175 degrees being necessary to render the seed useless for planting. And in some areas where only sterilized seed are used the farmer averages a bale to the acre. Heated seeds are used in Arizona, the El Paso area, parts of New Mexico, and in the Rio Grande Valley.

The worm hibernates in the larva stage of its development and it has been found that it can go farther and spread faster when transported by humans. The history of the pink boll worm on this continent begins in the country of Old Mexico prior to 1912. Cotton had been shipped into the state of Durango near Torreon from Egypt and the infestation had begun. Seed were being shipped into the United States and that is how it first entered this country. Mills over here were checked and in 1917 the first discovery of pink boll worm activity was found near Hearne, Texas.

Working hard at research the government has found means of completely ridding an area of the worm and when this is done they lift the quarantine. But at this early date they knew little of it or its capacity for damaging crops.

Fortunately, however, the activity of the government, with the help of farmers and processors, has kept the spread of the worm confined to the southwestern area, the states of Arkansas, Mississippi and the other cotton producing southern states never having been an affected area.

Inspection Regulations
Only authorized mills can receive seed from infested areas and only authorized gins, dealers and truckers can handle the products. Each truck must be inspected. It must have a tight body to prevent leakage of seed en route and the beds must be smooth enough to be swept clean on unloading. And each load must be covered with a tarpaulin before leaving the dealer's yard.

Approximately 35 counties in Northwest Texas have been found to have the pink boll worm this season.

Randall Wooldridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wooldridge, was a recent patient in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Duck Season Closed Till Mid-December

The first half of the 1947 duck and goose season closed in this zone November 17 and will not be reopened for the second half of the split period until the middle of December. It will then continue through the remainder of that month.

It is the hope of the local group to be able to secure the routing of the road from Highway 66 at about Lela south through this county, to Memphis. From there, Memphis people are seeking the road west to Bryce and out by Silverton to Tulia.

Plains residents, as well as New Mexico people, are working for a federal road from the Tulia area due west into New Mexico.

Work on the road in Kansas and Nebraska has advanced considerably farther than it has in the Texas and New Mexico areas.

Civic workers throughout the Panhandle have been asked to cooperate with The Greenbelt Highway Association on this project.

A resolutions committee composed of Rep. R. L. Templeton, chairman, Claude Wells of Memphis and Pat Flynn of Amarillo was named to draw up a resolution pointing out the need and feasibility of the road and present it to the commissioners court, the State Highway Commission, members of the United States Congress and the State Representatives.

Petitions will be circulated in Collingsworth, Wheeler and Hall counties to be presented to the respective courts of the counties.

Other committees named at the recent meeting were:

Children of grade school and pre-school age are inoculated against diphtheria and typhoid, and teeth and eyes are examined periodically. T. This program has been extended to the high school children and to the Quail, Samnorwood and Dodson schools. East Ward school has been furnished with a cot, pillows, sheets and pillow cases and other necessities.

Under sponsorship of this program, talks on health have been given, classes in First Aid have been conducted as well as a home nursing class for the senior girls. Tetanus antitoxin and gas gangrene bacillus has been supplied to the hospital by the auxiliary as needed.

The Clothing Chest of the auxiliary was set up soon after the auxiliary was organized. It is replenished from time to time, and needy children and families are cared for from the chest. Food and donations are also made to the poor from this project, and candy is given to the colored children of Wellington at Christmas time.

Charles Jones Weds
Miss Frances Davis

Frances Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer E. Davis of Wellington, and Charles R. Jones of Bennington, Okla., were married recently in the First Methodist Church in Stillwater, Okla., in a single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a grey suit with black accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. She was attended by Christine Hearnson, Madill, Oklahoma, and Marie Newman of Lonegrove, Okla.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Davis are attending Oklahoma A & M. They will make their home in Veterans Village.

Fruits for Desserts
Save Flour, Eggs

Now that flour and eggs are on the list of critical foods, fruits can be successfully featured in desserts for the family, says Joy Riley, home demonstration agent.

Use of fruits for desserts is especially practical at the present time since there is a variety of fresh, canned and dried fruits on the market this fall. Sugar and syrups are also plentiful for sweetening purposes.

All homemakers know that baked pears and baked apples are easy to prepare as well as good to eat. Dried apples, peaches, apricots and prunes can be served many ways. Raisins add taste and texture variety to such dishes as baked apples, apple-raisin marmalade, fruit and waldorf salads.

Spiced prunes are good hot or cold and may be served as a relish with the meat course or as a dessert. Prepare the prunes in the usual way, Miss Riley directs, then toward the end of cooking add sugar to taste, a few grains of salt, such spices as clove, nutmeg, cinnamon or allspice, and a little vinegar or lemon juice. Other dried fruits can be spiced by the same manner.

If fruits are used as much as possible, Miss Riley points out, there is less need for cakes, pies and puddings. By cutting down on baked desserts, the housewife is doing her part in the government's program for saving certain foods.

Blouse Season

It is important to choose blouses that will give character and distinction to dark fall suits. A scarf blouse in large widely-spaced floral pattern is one of the latest in prints and it is popular as an over blouse. The rayon blouse with flattering yoke, horizontal tucks and unusually elongated cuff is proper for afternoon teas, and the simple classic blouse can be used at any time to give that Paris-inspired look to a costume.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Ma Hoskins Sneezed at Cats!

Ma Hoskins couldn't understand why she got a fit of sneezing every time Harpo, the cat, came in the room. Finally figured she'd have to get rid of Harpo altogether.

Then Doc Hollister explained she had an "allergy." Cat's fur made her sneeze like strawberries give some folks rash. He gave her an inoculation so she and Harpo could live sneezelessly together.

I guess a lot of us have "allergies" in the social sense. Some folks just can't stand movies, or radio comedians. Other folks don't go for beer. Myself, I enjoy a moderate glass of beer or two with friends ... but it's up to them what beverage they choose.

From where I sit, the important thing is not to let our social allergies result in antisocial taboos. Let's not criticize the fellow who likes beer if we like cider. A little inoculation of tolerance can help us live-and-let-live happily.

FARM AND RANCH CHATTER

WITH LAYNE BEATY WBAP
6:30 AM Week Days - 10:15 AM Sundays

For the first time, pink boll worm has been discovered in Oklahoma, according to state department of agriculture officials. It is in Caddo county, near Anadarko. Extent of the infestation is supposedly confined to a very small area, perhaps a single farm, but Oklahomans are more than slightly alarmed at the arrival of one of the six most destructive insects in the world. Some parts of Texas have been under pink boll worm quarantine for years.

Montague county grows good fruit. Most people know that. But it also grows pretty flowers. This department is in receipt of a box of lovely cut chrysanthemums, packed in dry ice, a souvenir of the recent flower show at Saint Jo.

While potatoes go onto the ration list in England, housewives in this country cast about for new ways to use them. Last summer Maine was dumping top quality spuds. Texas was making dairy feed out of them.

Peanut farmers should mark December 9 on their calendars. That's the date of the marketing quota referendum. In this election, they will determine whether they will have full support price for peanuts in 1948. Texas peanut growers increased the 320,000 acres of peanuts grown before the war to more than a million acres during the conflict, and now there isn't enough market to handle the increased acreage.

Time to get after those cattle grubs. For the next few months they'll be in the backs of the cattle where they're easy to get at. Dusting, dipping or spraying with deris or rotenone containing preparation. Experts tell us grubs are the most destructive of animal parasites yet one of the most easily controlled. Cowmen say it takes ten to fifteen percent more feed to fatten a grubby animal. Another name for them is warbles.

The much publicized special soil conservation train, sponsored by the Burlington Lines and the Second National Bank of Houston, has completed its rounds of several main Texas points on the Burlington system. Some 168 officials of businesses, including presidents of three federal reserve banks, a few professional men and, surprisingly enough, a handful of dirt farmers, rode the train for an entire week, at their own expense.

The purpose of the expedition, as others have been, was to call attention to the need for soil rebuilding, conservation. After all, a large chunk of our land that needs attention so badly is owned by people who seldom, if ever, see it—widows, corporations, city investors, etc.

Main attraction at each stop was Louis Bromfield, famous fiction writer who has become a disciple for soil conservation, giving freely of his time and talents, paying his own expenses, to speak on the subject. Bromfield disclosed that he wants to buy a farm in the Brazos river bottom in Texas, to spend his time there alternating with his famed "Malabar" farm in Ohio, about which he wrote his book "Pleasant Valley." He also mentioned plans to represent the U. S. Soil Conservation Service on a trip to South Africa.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

J. A. Lists the Things He Is Thankful for This Season

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek has the Thanksgiving spirit, in his own peculiar way, as his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

Thanksgiving being close at hand, I was out here this mornin' inspectin my neighbor's flock of turkeys figurin on tradin him out of one but he is too hard to deal with. Implyin in a sort of blunt and direct way he wouldn't swap me a turkey for the entire output of my farm for 1947, which I ignored as you don't judge a man or his farm entirely by material things and a man might have a barn full of feed and his head as empty as my corn crib.

When it comes to figurin a man's output for the entire year, you got to go below the surface and further away than his barn and what he thought is as important as what he produced and besides can't be checked up on and ain't subject to tax, and many's the time I have been sittin in front of the fire and been accused of dozin when actually my brain was racin and my thoughts had risen above the level of weeds in my corn patch and was wrestlin with the international situation, right up alongside General Marshal and President Truman.

But as I say this Bein Thanksgiving time I thought you might be interested in havin a list of the things I am thankful for.

First of all, I am thankful I live in America, don't make no difference if we have got high prices and not enough automobiles and there is some confusion over whether we're supposed to have chickenless Thursdays or Thursday-less chickens, but you don't hear of no trains runnin through Europe taking up a collection for us. Might be necessary after the next war, but not now.

Also, I am thankful I got good health, which I attribute to the fact I take care of myself and conserve my strength and long ago figured I'd rather be healthy and delinquent than paid up and run down. My farm may be a little ramshackle, but I wouldn't swap places with a tycoon and his ulcers in a big city.

I am also thankful for a lot of other things, one bein I'm not as long-winded as a editor, so will close.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Pasture Key To Plans for Saving Grain

Full, efficient use of pastures and roughages is cited by livestock specialists as the key to high production of meat and milk in spite of the scarcity of feed grain this season.

Temporary and permanent pastures, supplemented with home-grown roughages and protein concentrates, can supply a large proportion of the feed requirements of livestock. Pastures also aid soil conservation and, in many cases, provide additional feed and income from grain and roughage harvested after the grazing season.

Proper rates of stocking, mowing of unpalatable weeds, use of barnyard manure and fertilizers where adapted, and selection of livestock that can make the most profitable use of grazing are practices that help to make pastures of maximum value.

Grazing animals need dry roughage, obtained from hay, cottonseed hulls, bundle feed, straw or stalk fields. Keeping dry roughage available increases the value of grazing and livestock efficiency. Livestock on good pasture will often eat coarse, unpalatable roughage, thereby saving grazing; but the usefulness of such roughages usually may be increased by grinding or chopping and adding molasses. Silage is most profitably used when good pasture is not available.

Protein concentrates, such as cottonseed meal or cake, increase value of pasture, and often make it possible to maintain production, growth and desired rates of fattening with a minimum, or no grain feeding. Protein concentrates are especially important in fall and winter, when pastures become short and low in protein.

Satisfactory finish, of the type recommended this season to save grain, may be obtained on good pasture if yearlings and older cattle receive all of the roughage they will eat and 4 to 6 pounds, daily per head, of cottonseed meal or cake.

Creep-feeding of calves is especially desirable this season to save grain while securing rapid, economical gains. Creep-fed calves may receive cottonseed cake in a self-feeder, or be hand-fed 1 to 3 pounds daily, the amount depending on the age of calf, the amount of milk received from the cow, and the condition of available grazing. Scarce grain should not be fed to the beef breeding herd, which can be carried through the winter economically on grazing, dry roughage or silage, and protein concentrate. Breeding cows need 1 to 5 pounds of cottonseed meal, cake or pellets daily, depending on the amount and quality of grazing; and 10 to 15 pounds of dry roughage. Silage may replace dry roughage at the rate of 3 pounds of silage for 1 pound of dry roughage.

A grain-saving, simple mixture for producing dairy cows on good pasture consists of 100 pounds of cottonseed meal, 100 pounds of ground ear corn or sorghum head chops, and 200 pounds of chopped grass hay, ground bundles or cottonseed hulls. When grazing is short, increase the amount of cottonseed meal in the mixture to 200 pounds. Cottonseed hulls or other non-legume roughage should always be available, free choice.

When grazing is very short, 3 pounds of good green legume hay should be fed to provide vitamin A. The mixtures may be fed at the rate of 1 pound for each 2 1/2 pounds of milk produced by Jer-

Wellington has long needed an organization big enough to work for the over-all good of the area unhampered by desires for individual gains.

Just such an organization was established last Tuesday night when a group of men, supplemented by the Jaycees, met and completed plans for establishing the Wellington Chamber of Commerce. Able men were selected to direct the organization during its first year of existence.

Meetings will be held the first and third Mondays of each month in the Community Building, and on December 1, the members will pass final approval on the budget and the schedule of dues.

The Wellington Chamber of Commerce is an outgrowth of the Jaycees who proposed a reorganization early in November when the group realized it was too small in eligible membership to handle the job that needed to be done.

A program of advancement for the trade area is the main purpose of the Chamber of Commerce. The work will deal with industrial development, community projects, civic development, transportation and promotion of business.

The need for the Wellington Chamber of Commerce has been recognized for 15 years. Competition between areas is increasing, and if Wellington is to hold its own and protect its interests in the years to come, it must present a unified front and plan with authority to act when opportunities knock.

The success or failure of Wellington to become an area of industrial and civic development will depend on the success or failure of the Wellington Chamber of Com-

The Board of Education, Perryton Independent School District, has set Wednesday, November 12, as the date for the $395,000 school bond election, following the presentation of petitions signed by local tax-payers asking that the election be called. • New Crop for the Plains

John Paetzold, who is a strong believer in diversified farming and one of the most successful practitioners in these parts, has found a new crop to turn Deaf Smith county soil and water into cash.

It's lettuce, a virtual newcomer to the Plains, but one that may be here to stay.

Paetzold, whose specialty is growing spuds on a commercial scale, was one of a handful of Plains farmers to take a flier on lettuce this fall, and he's sold. The lettuce crop centered around Monroe, south of Lubbock, this year, but neighboring farmers, eyeing the yield at the Paetzold farm in this first experimental planting, are making motions that indicate that Deaf Smith county may become a lettuce producer in another year—Jimmie Giltintine in The Hereford Brand.

• Community Hospital

By a unanimous vote approximately 50 members of the proposed McLean community hospital gave the board of directors the "go ahead" signal to continue with the hospital project, although, as one man put it, "to go ahead a little faster than during the past."

The city of McLean bought the building at the POW camp from the War Assets Administration expressly for the use of a hospital. The building was bought at a great discount by the city, and the city will move it to town and set on the foundation. From that point the hospital association is to take over control—Lester Campbell in The McLean News.

Farmers Not to Blame For Inflation Says President of Farm Bureau

J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, currently holding its annual convention in Amarillo, last week delivered the president's report to the assembly.

In his message, Mr. Hammond discussed a number of problems facing the nation's agriculturalists, particularly those affiliated with his organization.

Here are some of the comments made during his speech:

There is a feeling throughout the nation that the farmers are rolling in wealth. Agriculture is faring better than in ordinary times, but in ordinary times—when there is no war—agricultural prices are so far out of line with other commodities that when agriculture does get in a little better position with reference to prices, it does look like—and even some of the farmers feel like—they are living in a millenium.

You know people can get in such straightened circumstances that a little relief—even though meager—makes them feel prosperous as compared to their original condition.

The manner in which we take care of the health of the people is a national disgrace. This nation spends more on the health of cattle than it spends on people.

Accusing fingers have been pointed to agriculture in an effort to place the blame for this spiral of inflation on the farmers of this nation. In the newspapers—you have seen imposing headlines which say—"Wheat prices have reached a 30-year high"—"Corn prices a 50 year high"—"Why should people be so concerned about increased prices of food when the nation spends only 1-5 of its income for food. Why don't we become concerned about the price of commodities on which the people of this nation spend the other 4-5 of their income? Why don't the newspapers print in prominent headlines—that tractors have made a 50-year high—or that automobiles have made an all time high—farm machinery and all the others. And in addition—that farmers are forced to pay a bonus of $600 to $1,000 for tractors, trucks and automobiles when available.

The prices of agricultural commodities in 1946 increased 11 per cent while at the same time the prices of industrial goods farmers buy increased 17 per cent.

The only cure for inflation is production, and who in this nation is putting forth the greatest effort to catch up with production? Farmers are working six and seven days a week—unmindful of hours—and what are the people doing who are accusing the farmers of leading the parade on inflation? What are they doing to catch up with production? These groups are working 8 hours a day—five days a week.

It may be that some new taxes will have to be levied by the next legislature, from the best information that I can get—either by an increased tax on gasoline, natural resources, or a sales tax. Gasoline already has a tax of more than 30 per cent, and a sales tax is a tax on sweat and toil.

Texas is the richest state in the nation from the standpoint of natural resources, but there are other states in this nation that derive more revenue from the natural resources of this state than does Texas herself.

I have no fear that labor will maintain the wages in line with the prices of other commodities. Industry will look after the prices of the commodities of industry. The only other factor necessary to continued prosperity is that farmers maintain prices of agricultural commodities in line with the products of labor and industry, which is a difficult problem and is the responsibility of the farmers of this country.

This is an organization age, and for the farmers to properly look after their interests—it will be necessary that they become strongly organized and in cooperation plan for the future. If the farmers fail in this responsibility, there will be a depression, for which the farmers will be responsible.

In 1946, consumers spent more for federal government than was spent for food. Every man, woman and child paid $316 for federal government, and $302 each for food—according to the figures of Senator Capper of Kansas.

There are some—and even farmers—who think there will be no further need for a government program, and are opposed to controlled production. I don't like controlled production, and I don't like for someone to tell how much to plant, and how to operate my farm. I like to be a rugged individual, but I am getting tired of being a ragged individual.

Bobcats Win 20-0 Over Junior Team

By JOHN M. JONES

The Wellington Junior High Firecrackers suffered a 20-0 defeat from the potent Childress Bobcats here Wednesday afternoon, November 20.

The Bobcats recovered a Firecracker fumble on the 30-yard line and drove from there for a touchdown. The team tried a run for extra point, but it wasn't good and the score stood at 6-0.

In the third quarter, Childress received a Firecracker punt and ran it to the Wellington 48-yard line. From there the Bobcats rolled up four first downs to the 5-yard line, and the Bobcats drove through the center of the line for their second touchdown. The conversion try was successful, and the Firecrackers were trailing 13-0.

During the last few minutes of play, a Childress back, with a convoy of blockers, circled the right end of the line and dashed down field for a 55-yard run and the final touchdown. The extra point was kicked, and the Bobcats held a 20-0 decision over the Firecrackers.

Jack Eads and Don Baird were the best yardage gainers for the Firecracker eleven. This team has played two games this year with Childress and has lost both games. The first encounter was won by the Bobcats 7-0. The Wellington junior high starting team averages from 90 to 95 pounds, and the average age of the players is 12 years.

By VIRGINIA ROBEY

O. R. McDonald renewing his Leader and at the same time subscribing for his brother, J. H. McDonald of Scott City, Kansas, who used to live here. "I never have time to write him what's going on, so I'll just send him the paper," he said. . . . Joan Thompson selling tickets to the chili supper given by the Methodist Young Folks last week.

T. P. Green, who lives on Route 6, renewing his Leader and asking about dailies. . . . Ethra Jean Norman discussing plans the high school crowd had for their Sadie Hawkins party Saturday night, with Kickapoo Joy Juice as refreshments. . . . Mrs. J. M. Orr and Mrs. W. R. Orr getting ready for a bridge party they gave for their friends.

Names make news, every newspaper knows, but when six Jacks come up in one family, that's something a little special. Mrs. Fletcher White, who with Mr. White and her brother, Jack Stewart of Dodson, has just returned from the 60th wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Stewart of Hot Springs, Ark., tells this of her brothers: Jack, whose name is Veryl Lee, is Jack to everyone here. But Carl is also Jack to his friends at Phoenix, Arizona; Denzil got the nickname Jack among the Monahans people; Bryan is called Jack at Dallas; George has always been called Jack by the family; and Jeff gained the name Jack at Gainesville. Only the seventh and youngest brother, Billy, has never shared the name.

Joy Riley in her new red car. . . I. D. Russell back home after his knee operation in Lubbock, but limping a little.

Miss Delia Cowan, who is such an efficient English teacher in the local schools, back in town after having to leave her work for several weeks on account of illness. With her was Dorothy Harbin, who was also substitute teacher in her English classes.

This note from Mrs. E. B. Carver of Wichita Falls, which said: "I wish to thank you for putting me in touch with Mr. Dodson, he wrote me a very interesting letter enclosing the article he wrote about Dan Kutch.

"My father, Tom Atkinson, bought Dan Kutch's grandfather's ranch in the Keechi Valley in Jack County in 1870 and he as well owned a half interest in the Diamond Tail Ranch with Bill Curtis."

Again thanking I am,
Mrs. E. B. Carver

May God bless each of you.

Gospel of Christ

(Rom. 1:16)

THE FAITH

"There is one Lord, one faith, one baptism." (Eph. 4:4, 5) In speaking of this faith Jude says, "Contend earnestly for the faith which was once and for all delivered unto the saints." (Jude 3) And Acts 6:7 says, "A great company of the priests were obedient to the faith."

Therefore, "the faith" is the gospel, "God's power to save" (Rom. 1:16). "The faith" is the doctrine delivered to the apostles by the Holy Spirit, and there is but one.

Just as there is "one body," church, (Eph. 4:4 and Col. 1:18) so there is "one faith," teaching, and all others must come from other sources than God. Upon the basis of God's word we can have unity, but upon any other doctrine there will always be difference of opinion and division. Is it unfair to plead for a return to simple belief in God's word?

LEARNING FAST

Tommy Herbert, who lost both hands Sept. 19 under a switch engine at Cleveland, has learned to feed himself at Cleveland's Rose Mary Home for Crippled Children. He's shown using a spoon fastened to leather cuffs on his arms. He can also pick up a cup of milk by pinching it between the cuffs. He'll be 2 years old in November.

Wish the plumbers would get a slack season. I'm getting tired of the faucet on the bath tub doing a drip tease.
