NUCLEAR ARMS LIMITATION, CLOSER ECONOMIC TIES

Nixon-Brezhnev Summit Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Communist Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev arrived Saturday during a heavy downpour for a series of summit talks with President Nixon on new nuclear arms limitation, closer economic ties and a range of other global problems.

GOOD OMEN

"This is a wheat rain which in America is a very good omen," Secretary of State William P. Rogers told the Soviet leader at Andrews Air Force Base. They shook hands at the foot of the Ilyushin IL-62 jet which carried the Soviet leader and other aides into the capital area from Moscow.

A raincoat draped over his shoulders, the bulky Brezhnev, wearing a gray suit and looking tired, stepped along the traditional red carpet and accepted welcomes from U.S. and Soviet diplomats.

At a given signal, 10 small Russian children, dressed in their red-kerchiefed school uniforms, dashed out to present bouquets of red carnations to Brezhnev. He stooped down to accept them and chatted with the children for a moment.

Last spring when Nixon arrived in Moscow for his first summit meeting with Brezhnev it was raining gently and the Soviet leader told him it was a "mushroom rain," which is considered a good omen in the Soviet Union.

CHEERS

Rogers exchanged the compliment under a much heavier downpour.

A plane carrying some 50 Soviet reporters reached Andrews about an hour in advance of Brezhnev's plane.

When he left Moscow Saturday morning, the Soviet politboro turned out in full to see him off. But at this end U.S. officials deferred to Soviet instructions and arranged a low-keyed arrival.

Some 400 Russians allowed close-up positions near the airstrip burst into cheers when Brezhnev stepped from the plane. Some waved tiny red flags bearing the hammer and sickle.

Later, the Soviet leader approached them and told a few: "I spent three days in Moscow just to let you know how your relatives are."

Brezhnev spent 10 minutes at the Air Force base before boarding a U.S. Marine helicopter which took him to Camp David near Thurmont, Md.

He arrived at the presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains at 5:30 p.m. EDT.

Brezhnev is to confer there Sunday with presidential adviser Henry Kissinger and meet with Nixon Monday in Washington. Nixon spent the weekend at Key Biscayne, Fla.

Snyder Flood Threat Fades

A capricious, sudden thundershower Friday evening poured out two inches or more between Snyder and Lamesa and three inches northwest of Snyder to momentarily threaten that city with flooding.

In Big Spring, hail accompanied high winds and spasmodic spurts of showers. This amounted to 1.2 to .20 with an area at the southeast edge getting more. Hail picked up foilage slightly and high wind ruffled it.

Saturday morning the Colorado River Municipal Water District had no runoff reports, but Deep Creek, which drains the Snyder area, was running back full just above where it empties into the Colorado River in northwest Mitchell County.

Rainfall in Snyder measured only 1.27 at the waterworks, and .10 at the west edge of town. But the northern outskirts had up to three inches, an amount that held firm to Dermott 12 miles northwest.

At one time Deep Creek rose two feet within an hour, and Snyder residents were on edge as they recalled last August's severe flooding. Water got over two low bridges but subsided after threatening to touch the floor of the US 180 bridge downtown. Three mobile homes, not tied down, rolled over.

Starting west of Snyder CRMWD rain gauges quickly hit 2.0 bobbled up to 2.5 and peaked at 3.0 10 miles east of Lamesa and back to 1.90 at Lamesa.

In northwest Mitchell County farm terraces were backed up with water in several places Saturday morning.

Local Schools Receive Funds

The long awaited impact funds for the Big Spring schools are scheduled to arrive within the next week in the form of a $260,790 check according to an announcement late Friday in a telephone call from Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's office.

This is still some $80,000 short of what the school district received in other years in impact funds but it is within $5 of what the local school business office had figured they would receive this year.

Don Crockett, assistant superintendent, had recently told the school board that he hoped to receive around $260,795 which is within $5 of the check.

Crockett says that the schools earlier received a payment of $23,000. Total entitlement is $289,767 so the check that arrives within the next week or so will just about pay out the difference. There will be only around $6,000 more in entitlement according to this year's specifications.

Schools still have not heard from other Title I funds, such as special reading and individualized instruction. Head start funds have been approved.

Irony and tragedy combined to claim the life of one of our long-time citizens and narrowly missing another. Briscoe Trims Spending Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Despite widespread speculation of vetoes, Gov. Dol Briscoe signed into law Saturday bills that would give 18 to 21-year-olds full legal rights and provide free kindergartens for all 5-year-olds.

The approval of the two controversial measures passed by the regular session of the 63rd Legislature follow Briscoe's earlier surprising action of only vetoing $1.59 million out of the $9.7 billion general spending bill for 1974-75.

Most other governors have trimmed legislative spending by larger amounts.

KINDERGARTEN TALK

The legal rights and kindergarten bills were subject to speculation of vetoes after Briscoe saved them until almost the very last among the hundreds of measures presented him by the legislature that ended May 28. Sunday midnight was his deadline for taking action.

Briscoe's office said the governor had signed or let become law without his signature a total of 659 bills passed by the legislature. He vetoed 29, none of statewide major importance.

Briscoe said in a statement that young people of 18 have "earned full citizenship rights and have proved they are capable of meeting the responsibilities of adulthood... They gave their young lives to protect for you and me the American Way of Life. In my opinion it is unreasonable for us to expect and in times of crisis demand this kind of service, patriotism and sacrifice from young people at the age of 18 while withholding from them the full privileges of citizenship."

LEGAL RIGHTS

During the legislative session Briscoe favored an unsuccessful proposed constitutional amendment that would have let voters decide the legal rights of young people.

Briscoe said he realized the kindergarten bill would cost some school districts more money. However, he concluded, "without this new law, one-half of the younger 5-year-old children in Texas would fall exactly one full year behind the other half of 5-year-olds by the school year of 1974. This would add a burden to the education growth and development of these children that would be difficult to overcome as they progress through the formative primary grades."

PLAN OF ACTION

Briscoe gave the recent 63rd Legislature's regular session a pat on the back as he endorsed almost entirely their general appropriations bill for the next two years—which lived up to his no-new tax campaign promises.

"House Bill 139 is a plan of action that places top priority on human needs, expands and improves present state services and initiates new concepts," he said in a statement.

NEW TOTAL

The general appropriations bill totaled $9,703,011,877 after the vetoes, compared to the $9,704,608,115 as agreed to by a conference commitee. The new total of spending from general revenue funds was $2,029,968,269 instead of $2,031,323,007.

At the same time the governor said he was immediately initiating "zero-base budgeting" in Texas' state governmental accounting processes.

Floods Roll On In South Texas

By The Associated Press

The long summer of thunderstorms continued in North and Northwest Texas Saturday spreading into central portions sparking flood threats and tornado warnings.

Nearly three inches of rain fell in Wichita Falls late in the evening as one of several thunderstorms in the area also unleashed small hail and caused minor damages to a few homes.

Winds of up to 54 m.p.h. were registered in the Wichita Falls area during the storm according to the Weather Service.

The showers and thunderstorms covered an area from Wichita Falls to just north of San Angelo.

FUNNEL CLOUD

The Department of Public Safety reported a funnel cloud was sighted 30 miles northwest of Abilene early in the afternoon.

Tornado watches were for the early night hours for portions of North Central Texas.

Beyond the thunderstorm front, weather was mostly fair with clear skies, especially in West and South Texas.

Temperature readings across the state ranged from the 60s in the northern portions to near 100 near Laredo and Cotulla.

Yet the Weather Service said all of Texas faces possible thunderstorms Sunday, with additional rain possible in Southeast Texas through Tuesday.

Damage from the week's floods in Harris and Montgomery counties alone has been estimated at $40 million exclusive of harm to the City of Houston where estimates of losses have not been compiled.

In the flood area, an outbreak of mosquitoes was expected although spraying has been extensive. Health authorities said the floods could result in rabies incidents. Persons exposed to raw water were urged to take typhoid shots.

Flooding was occurring also on the Sabine River in far East Texas. The Weather Service reported major flooding near Longview and this is expected to continue through the week. Overflow occurred near Emory during the morning. Some overflow is expected at Tatum.

Many low areas from about Conroe south through Houston have been covered by flood waters for up to five days.

Preparations For Rodeo Heading Down Stretch

Preparations for the 40th production of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo are heading down the home stretch.

Specialty performers, and others in the troupe of producer Tommy Steiner completed a show at Paris last night and will arrive here today.

Headquarters will be set up at the Settles Hotel with Mildred Farris in charge of the office in the lobby. She is the wife of John Farris, veteran stock superintendent for Steiner, who had produced the show here for many years.

Tom Hadley, Brady, who again will announce the show here, hurried from Paris Saturday night to announce a steer roping feature at Pawhuska, Okla., this afternoon, is due to arrive here tonight.

Part of the livestock will begin arriving in Big Spring today, with the movement being completed Monday, giving the animals plenty of time for rest before the grand opening Wednesday evening.

Meanwhile, repainting and conditioning of the grounds and facilities at Rodeo Bowl, just off U.S. 80 and FM 700, are being rounded out.

Michael Landon (Little Joe of the Bonanza series) and his string ensemble, Western Union, will arrive ahead of the Wednesday opening. A street dance Tuesday evening downtown, and the rodeo parade Wednesday 4 p.m. are other advance features.

Wanda and Rex Rossi will be featured in exhibitions of high-speed precision trick riding. Tom Lucia, Weatherford, and Tommy Sheffield, Rankin, will be the rodeo clowns.

The rodeo parade will be 4 p.m. Wednesday, and the Rodeo Association, headed by Charlie Creighton, has sweetened the pot with $100 for first prize and $50 for second in the decorated float event. Activities begin with a street dance Tuesday evening downtown, and each evening during the rodeo, Hoyle Nix and his West Texas Cowboys will play for an after-show rodeo dance in the fair barns.

Khadafy Drys Up Libya

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Even foreign diplomats are having a hard time finding an alcoholic drink in Libya.

Prohibition has been on the books since 1969, but for the first time the antidrinking laws are being strictly enforced as part of Moammar Khadafy's campaign to "rediscover the true values of Islam."

After coming to power, Khadafy banned the sale of alcohol and closed down all bars, night clubs and casinos in this Moslem country. The religion forbids drinking.

Child, Officer, Gunman Die In Berkeley Tragedy

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A 4-year-old girl was slain in her crib and a policeman was shot to death by a gunman before he was critically wounded during capture, police said. They said the man had wounded two other persons and held the baby and four others hostage in a home.

The suspect, identified as Ernest M. Silas, 34, a part-time trumpet player, was cut down by police gunfire and collapsed as he staggered from the house, four hours after the violence started.

Police said a single shot heard from the house just before the man came outside killed the girl, identified as Magic Wolff.

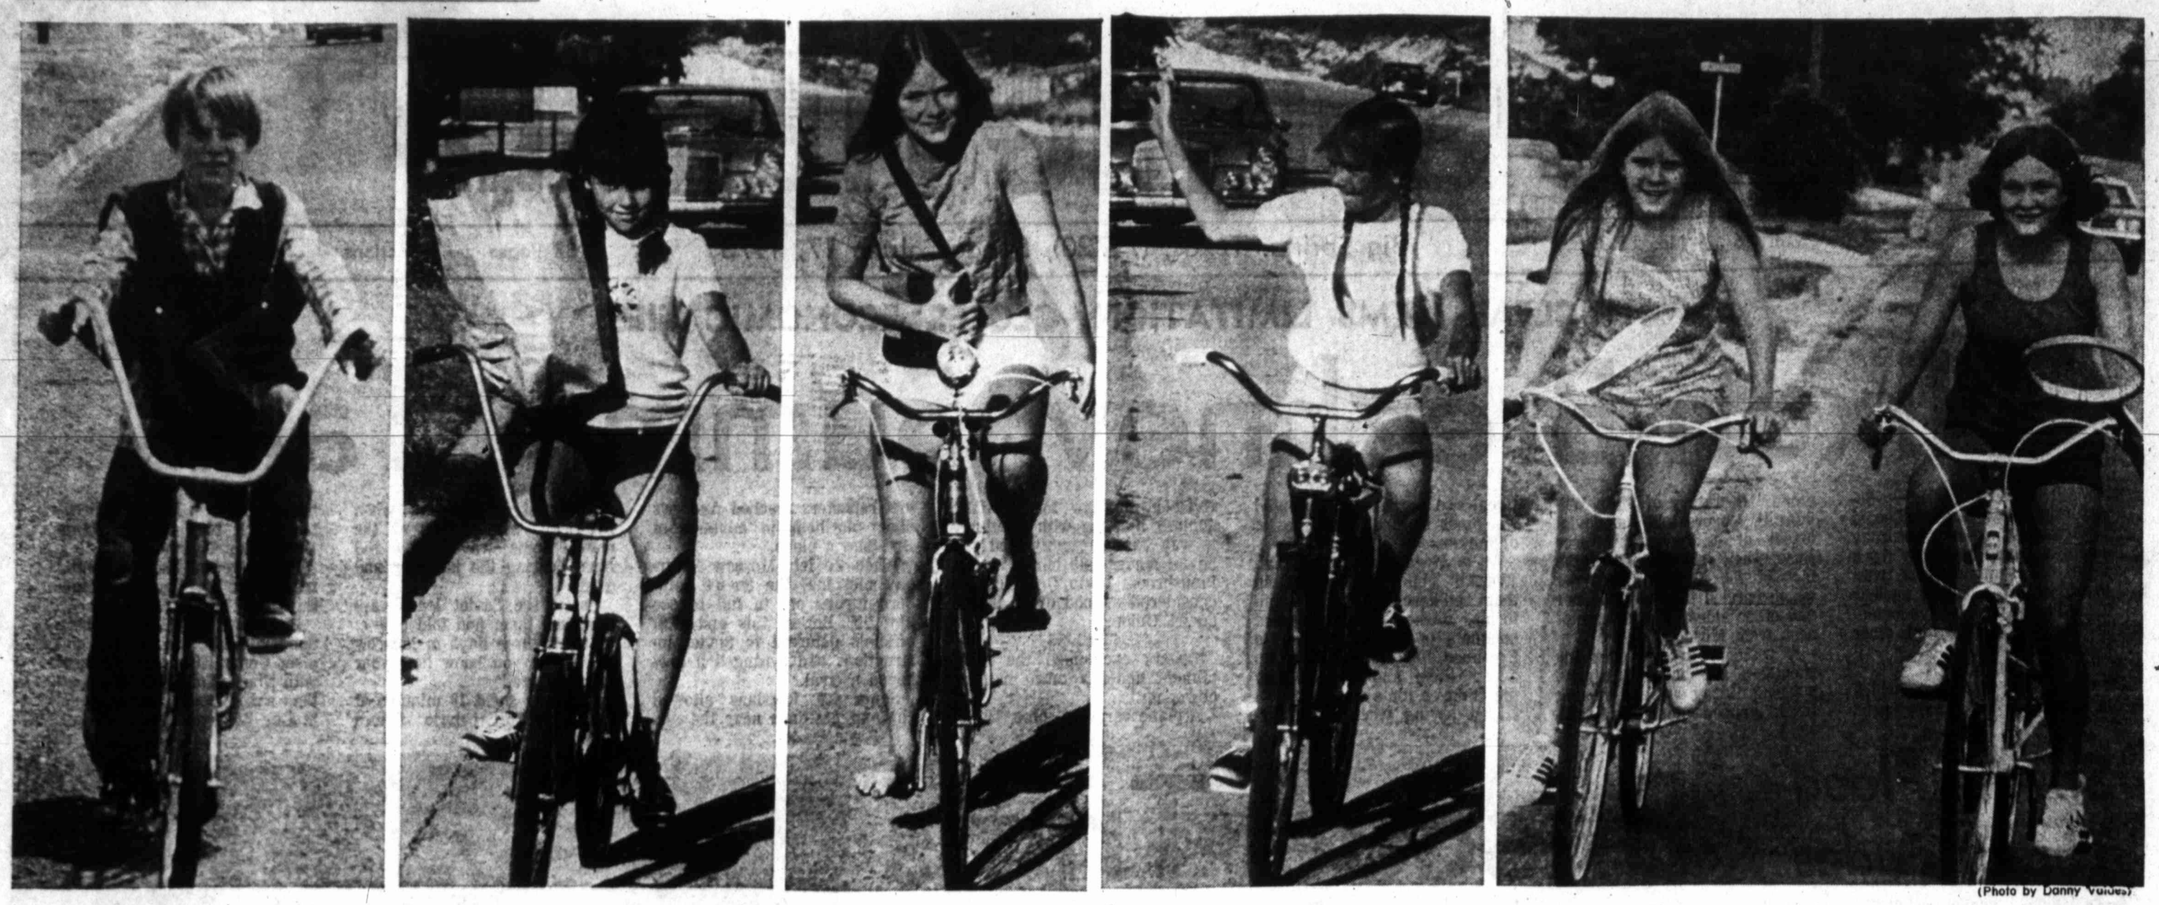

"The shot was fired into that little sleeping girl," Inspector Earl Bergfeld said. Police officer Gary Larsen said Silas shot the girl in the head but said authorities did not know why.

The violence began about 5:15 a.m. when a witness said the gunman who was on the street wounded Steve Levine, 26, a neighbor. Police Sgt. James Rutledge, 50, was fatally wounded after he was called to the scene and attempted to handcuff Silas, authorities said.

Claims Housewives Don't Understand Ranchers' Woes

RIO BLANCO, Colo. (AP) — Rancher "Bus" Norell thinks President Nixon's consumer price freeze may help reduce the woes of the cattleman.

"I'm glad to see the President finally admitted that the country is short of food — or at least that's the implication of what he said," according to Norell.

He added that the general freeze on prices is "a lot fairer than a freeze just on meat prices like Nixon had before. You can't stop one part of the economy and let the other parts go wild."

Nixon ordered a 60-day general price freeze Wednesday but exempted rents and raw agricultural products sold by farmers.

Norell, a husky, soft-spoken man with thinning grey hair, has been in Colorado for 17 years and owns a large ranch in the Piceance Basin of northwestern Colorado. As his 2,200 cattle grazed serenely on the meandering rangeland, the cattleman said he is afflicted by the same inflation as the housewife in New York or anywhere else.

"They're gonna have to make up their minds to pay more," he said. "We pay more too."

Among the higher costs that the cattleman faces are increased fees for permitting grazing on federal land, which Norell says h amsore than doubled, and tax boosts.

Norell, 47, said that he raises cattle on 5,700 acres of land that he owns, on 27,000 acres of land leased mostly from oil companies and on 12,000 acres of federal land which he uses by permit. He sells the cattle to a feeder who fattens the livestock and sells them to a packer.

Norell said he has a capital investment of $2 million and makes $79,000 a year profit on his cattle operations.

Says Law Officers Intimidating Her

HOUSTON (AP) — Marcia McKittrick, one of three persons charged in the death of a prominent Houston plastic surgeon has accused law enforcement officials of harassing her.

Miss McKittrick, 22, and Bobby Wayne Vandiver, 34, both of Dallas, are under indictment on charges of slaying Dr. John R. Hill. Hill was shot to death in his River Oaks home Sept. 24, 1972.

Another woman, Lilla Paulus, 54, of Houston, has been indicted on a charge of being an accomplice in the slaying. All three are free on bond.

Miss McKittrick's suit, filed Friday, asked state District Court Judge Dan Walton to order law enforcement officers to quit intimidating and contacting her and her family.

The suit alleges that officers have accosed and harassed Miss McKittrick and her parents in Houston, Dallas and Lubbock. It also charges officers also have tried to interfere with the relationship between Miss McKittrick and her lawyer.

Walton scheduled a hearing on the suit for Thursday.

Hill was under indictment in the death of his first wife at the time of his death.

The indictment alleged Hill caused his wife's death by failing to give her proper medical treatment and hospitalization.

Mrs. Hill, daughter of Ash Robinson, wealthy Houston oil man, died March 19, 1969.

Hill was tried on the charges but a mistrial was declared after six days of testimony.

ROY BURK

Top Calf Ropers Due In Big Spring

DENVER, Colo. — Some of the top cowboys in pro rodeo are expected to enter the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Among them are Merkel, Tex., cowboy, Ken Welch, who placed 15th in saddle bronc riding in 1972 and Bussy Kaul, Hereford, Tex., who is sitting in 12th place in the world championship steer wrestling standings. Also top calf ropers Barry and Roy Burk, both of Duncan, Okla., plan to compete. Barry and Roy have competed in matched ropings at Big Spring.

A $2,750 purse has been put up again this year to be added to the cowboys' entry fees for total prize money. Last year at the rodeo, with 152 entries, prize money totaled $7,105.

Entries close at 3 p.m. Tuesday, June 19, at the rodeo office in the Settles Hotel lobby.

N'West Howard Gets Wildcat

Midwest Oil Corp., Midland, plans No. 1 D. Allred as a 9,000-foot test in northwest Howard, 1⅛ mile northwest of the depleted Knott (Spraberry and Pennsylvanian) field, in which Pennsylvanian production was at 9,016 feet.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 5, block 33, T-2-N, T&P survey, 15 miles northwest of Big Spring.

G. E. Kadane & Sons, Wichita Falls, will re-enter and deepen to 10,000 feet at No. 1 Morgan Ranch, dual Leonard and Wolfcamp pay opener in the Morgan Ranch field of Howard County, for recompletion attempt as a second Fusselman producer and ½-mile northwest extension to that pay in the field.

Originally drilled by the same operator, it was completed May 9, 1971, as a commingled strike to pump 96.4 barrels of oil per day, through perforations at 6,670-6,735 feet and 7,204-7,300 feet.

It spots 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 27, block 32, T-1-S, T&P survey, five miles southeast of Big Spring.

The Fusselman opener, Kadane No. 1-B Morgan Ranch, finaled Oct. 28, 1971, for 40 barrels of 49-gravity oil and 20 barrels of water daily, through perforations at 9,734-9,742 feet.

Clinton Oil Co., Houston, will attempt to open a shallower pay in the Dunigan (Ellenburger) field of north Borden County, with the re-entry and plugging back to around 4,100 feet at No. 2 W.A. Waddell, former deep oil producer, 12 miles north of Gail.

The project spots 1,981 feet from north and 1,988 feet from west lines of section 20, block 30, T-6-N, T&P survey.

The field presently produces from the Ellenburger at about 8,737 feet. It also formerly produced from the Strawn at 8,442 feet. There has been no shallow production in the pool.

James P. Dunigan of Abilene has filed application to drill No. 2 M.A. Parks, et al, as an 8,500-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Borden, ½ mile northeast of the depleted Ellenburger re-opener in the Fluvanna, Southwest field.

Location spots 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 583, block 97 H&TC survey, four miles west of Fluvanna.

It is ½ mile north of the firm's No. 1 Parks, scheduled Ellenburger wildcat, which went "tight" at 8,349 feet, where casing was cemented, and ½ mile east of its No. 1-B Clyde Miller, also an Ellenburger venture which went "tight" after taking a drillstem test at 8,096 feet.

Drilling Rigs Sale Revealed

Roden Drilling Company, a subsidiary of Big Spring Exploration Company, has sold all of its drilling rigs and related equipment for $525,000, Ted O. Groebl, Big Spring Exploration president, has announced.

The transaction takes the company out of the drilling business and will leave Big Spring Exploration wholly in crude oil producing. Proceeds from the sale enables the company to clear its debts and retain some cash surplus for acquiring overrides, interests and production.

Big Spring Exploration has small production interests in Martin, Kent and Pecos counties, but most of its production comes from interests in 32 wells developed by John Roden in Wyoming, said Groebl.

Bids Due On Last Stretch Of IS 20

AUSTIN (AP) — Bids for construction of the last stretch of Interstate 20 between Fort Worth and Abilene will be taken June 19-20, the Texas Highway Department announced.

The project includes concrete paving, grading, structures and flexible base for 4.8 miles just east of Eastland and west of Ranger. Estimated cost is $5 million.

A total of 35 projects will be up for bids at the two-day letting.

Lake Becomes Big Attraction

COLORADO CITY — Fishermen and campers have been piling into the state park facilities at Lake Colorado City with weekend car count reporting as many as 4,000 cars during the top weekend this summer.

This would figure out to be around 10,000 persons in one weekend. Last Saturday a dedication was held of the new facilities at the park which include roads, campsites, restrooms, floating docks and a boat launching ramp.

The new acilities also include a swimming beach with beach sand, a 500-foot long fishing pier to be completed soon, 30 picnic areas with shade shelters, 35 multi-use camp sites with electricity and water, a butane system and over 3.5 miles of paved road.

The state park is fast becoming one of the big weekend attractions in the entire West Texas area.

Fuzzy Worms, Grasshoppers Damage Cotton

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County cotton farmers have been hard hit during the past two weeks by both fuzzy worms and large grasshoppers.

The fuzzy worms have been particularly hard on the edges of fields of young cotton, according to information from the county agents office. The grasshoppers were found out in the middle of the fields.

Concern had been expressed by some area farmers when a spray used during other cotton seasons on the worms failed to show results this year.

However, the cycle of the worms is expected to be short and farmers are hopeful that damage will be at a minimum.

Jane Cave Will Teach Overseas

STANTON — Jane Cave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Cave, will begin processing at Fort Worth this week on her appointment to teach on an United States Military base in Germany.

She had been notified by the Department of Defense of the acceptance of her application and will be assigned to teach English, and speech on the high school level. For the past four years she has been teaching English in a junior high school at Arlington.

She will be in Fort Worth Wednesday to begin the list of things which must be cleared before a department date Aug. 1.

Miss Cave is a graduate of Roby High School and of Baylor University with a BA in English in 1969. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Big Spring.

Searching For Dirty Steam

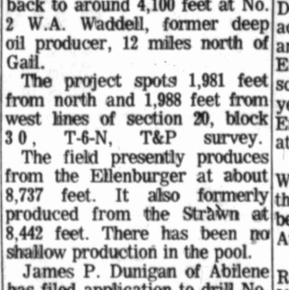

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Scientists checking pollution at a steam plant couldn't find any smoke when they went up in a helicopter to take a sample.

Officials of the plant agreed later to adjust the antipollution devices on their smokestack temporarily, darkening the plume so the scientists could find it.

Four Texas Congressmen Ailing In Recent Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Texas congressmen have been ailing in recent months and two are still in the Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Maryland this weekend.

The 26-member Texas Delegation has been unusually hard hit by illness this spring.

The latest casualty was the youngest Republican in the House, 31-year-old Rep. Alan Steelman of Dallas who tried to get up from a chair in the House chamber Monday—and couldn't.

BAD PAIN

He was removed in a wheel chair and taken to Bethesda. He has a slipped disc.

"I was in real bad pain for the first couple of days," Steelman said in a telephone interview from the hospital. "I've had a disc problem for eight years but this was the first time I'd had muscle spasms.

"The doctors haven't decided yet if I will have to have a back operation. They won't know until this weekend. And, of course, I hope it won't have to be," he said.

Also at Bethesda is veteran Rep. O. C. Fisher, who felt a bit weary 10 days ago and stopped by the Capitol doctor's office for a checkup.

NEEDED REST

Two minutes and two electrocardiographs later, Fisher was in an ambulance on his way to Bethesda.

The doctors determined he did not have a heart attack but needed to rest and get away from the tensions of Congress for a while.

He is answering mail and handles details of his military procurement subcommittee from the hospital. He said he wasn't happy about having to cancel engagements in Texas and in Las Vegas where he was to be honored. Fisher is 69.

Rep. Bob Price, a Pampa Republican, had a mild heart attack in early February and a relapse the next week. He spent more than seven weeks in the coronary ward at Bethesda and cleared his appointment book of most engagements for the next three months.

LOSES 23 POUNDS

"He's almost back to a normal schedule this week," said a Price aide, and he's going to the district this week. Price is 45.

Rep. Olin E. (Tiger) Teague, a College Station Democrat, has been suffering from various longterm ailments.

He spent from May 7-24 in Bethesda suffering from pancreatitis and, under the doctor's direction, lost 23 pounds.

Pancreatitis is an inflammation of the pancreas, a gland which secretes enzymes concerned in digestion.

Teague, who is 53, had been in the hospital April 4 with chest pains which doctors now conclude was a forewarning of the pancreatitis attack. He's also suffered from severe back pains.

Real, Bogus Mothers Keep Kittens Full

Puppy, a mother bitch owned by Mr. R. J. Johnson and his family, 612 Caylor, is not only nursing her own recent litter of four black pups but two kittens as well.

Johnson said their pet dog and cat had babies and both had a box in the garage. One afternoon it was discovered that Puppy was nursing the cat's kittens.

"She (mother cat) didn't seem to mind," Johnson said. "She's got a baby sitter."

The mother cat, who has not yet been named, did not reject the kittens, he said. The mother cat also nurses them and cares for them.

"She takes good care of them when the dog doesn't have them," he said.

One kitten is white and one is brown and white. This is the first litter for both mothers.

Johnson said the kittens are carried from box to box.

Sevice-Disabled Vets Get Clothing Allowance

A $150 clothing allowance will automatically go this year to service-disabled veterans who have qualified previously for the annual payment, according to Jack Coker, Waco Veterans Administration regional director.

Coker pointed out these are veterans whose clothing is subject to extra wear and tear from artificiallim s and other prostheses.

About 46,000 service disabled veterans have already received $6.9 million under the law authorizing the $150 allowance which became effective last August 1.

Coker noted application forms were mailed to 60,000 potentially eligible veterans shortly after Public Law 92-328 was enacted in June last years.

The allowances are in addition to monthly VA compensation payments to veterans who have service-connected disabilities.

Once a permanently disabled veteran is approved, the allowance will be paid automatically each year thereafter.

Where the condition requiring use of the prosthesis is not of a permanent nature, however, veterans shortly after Public Law 92-328 was enacted in June last year.

The allowances are in addition to monthly VA compensation payments to veterans who have service-connected disabilities.

Once a permanently disabled veteran is approved, the allowance will be paid automatically each year thereafter.

Where the condition requiring use of the prosthesis is not of a permanent nature, however, subsequent payments are subject to reestablishment of the veteran's elibiblity.

Eligible military retirees must apply for the allowance each year also, but they do not have to waive any of their retirement pay to qualify.

Coker urged eligible veterans who may not have received application forms to contact the nearest VA office if they are interested in receiving the allowance. The va office in Big Spring is located in Room 10 of the Veterans Administration Hospital, office hours 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Information may also be obtained by writing to the VA Regional Office, 1400 North Valley Mills Drive, Waco, Texas 76710.

Bentsen Urges Campaign Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., urged a $3,000 limit today on individual contributions to any candidate for federal office.

He also recommended to the Senate Rules Committee, which is working on campaign reform legislation, that any contribution of more than $100 be by check or other written instrument so that its source could be traced.

"The abuses of the 1972 presidential campaign — slush funds, suitcases and attache cases full of cash, secret foreign bank accounts — serve to highlight the problem," Bentsen said.

'IT MEANS THEY GOT CAUGHT'

People On Watergate

By The Associated Press

Today is the first anniversary of the Watergate break-in.

Stop on any corner of America and you'll get an opinion on the raid which triggered the most widespread political scandal in history.

Seeking a cross-section of American opinion, AP reporters in 13 cities took to the streets to ask people: What does the Watergate affair mean to you?

Here's what it means to some:

Chet Fanning, 50, Cheyenne, Wyo., meatcutter: "I don't see any sense to it at all — all that money they're spending to do this. Hell fire! Personally, I just don't like it, but I don't think it has had much effect on me or my life."

Harry Elliott, 65, Topeka, Kan., locksmith: "Well, I'll tell you. It means we're in kind of a mess. As near as I can tell it, the people who are there, doing this stuff, their code of ethics isn't too good."

Greg Moreno, 24, Santa Cruz, Calif., college student: "This confirms my opinion of this administration. But it's the first thing in a long time that's given me faith in the American system. The various branches of the government are showing strength — the Congress, the courts, the press, too. It shows one branch can't dominate too long."

Helena McGuire, 42, Atlanta, domestic: "I'm afraid to say anything about government that might be used against me. It's good to investigate whether it was policy. I'm not satisfied with the way the facts have come out. It's not over yet."

Jimmy House, 45, Jackson, Miss., discount store manager: "It means a lot of baloney. They're making a mountain out of a molehill. It's politics, something they dug up. I think it's just cheap politics. I don't think the Republicans have done anything more than the Democrats. The Democrats would have done the same thing if they had the opportunity. They didn't get caught."

Libbie Garner, Houston, Tex., tailor shop owner: "Politics is politics. But it requires honesty and integrity and we've lost all that. I just want everyone involved to have a fair trial and be presumed innocent until proven guilty."

Gary Proby, 17, Cheyenne, Wyo., high school student: "People think those in the White House can get away with it because they are in the White House. It has affected the way people think about government."

Quentin Mitchell, 34, Topeka, Kan., construction worker: "It means they got a bunch of crooked politicians for one thing — in the highest offices of the United States."

Ray Kepher, 49, Pasadena, Calif., cheese shop owner: "It means they got caught, that's all. I don't think it's anything new, anything to get excited about. They're not going to do anything to these guys. The guys who are in jail now, that's it. Let the man finish his office, let him finish his job. And I think he's doing a hell of a job. I mean that. Thank God for the press, too. I mean thank God there's somebody to lay things on the table and say, 'This is how it is.' Without that things would be a hundred times worse than they are."

Shawn Christy, 25, Seattle, bartender: "Hopefully it will affect the government. It's pretty dirty. I'd like to see it all out in the open — I'm not a Nixon fan anyway. Hopefully, people will see the hearings and be interested and watch their government more closely."

Joseph Garza, 39, Seattle, Wash., butcher: "I think it stinks. I hope these fellows all the way through get right to the bottom of it. Nixon said he was going to get the crime off the streets. He did. He put the crooks right in the White House."

Jerry Berns, 66, New York City restaurateur: "Personally I feel it's been blown out of all context and all proportion. It's becoming more vindictive; it's an attempt by the liberals to be as vindictive as the conservatives in another era. I think witch hunt is the word, isn't it? There's no middle course; everything is extreme. I'm bitter it started and bitter it's on and I'll be bitter until a conclusion is reached."

Marvin Marshall, 73, Atlanta, painter: "If the Senate had let the damn thing alone, and let the case got to court, it would have been all over with . . . don't think Nixon had a thing to do with it. He had too much to lose and nothing to gain. Ehrlichman and Haldeman were doing it — like slipping the card under the table in a game of poker."

Cable Car Activated After People Trapped In Midair

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The two cable cars of the Sandia Peak Tranway east of Albuquerque were back in operation Friday, less than 24 hours after 42 persons were rescued from the stranded tram.

An intensive inspection showed there was "no damage and everything is functioning properly," said tramway company president Robert Nordhaus.

The first car resumed operation up the 2.7-mile tranway to the top of 10,378-foot Sandia Peak early Friday afternoon.

The two cars became stranded early Wednesday night during a thunderstorm in the area, beginning an almost 24-hour ordeal for the passengers who were suspended in the cars.

A spokesman said lightning in the area set off an emergency brake and gusty winds at the same time caused the cars' hauling cable to whipsaw out of its pully mechanism, leaving the cars untracked.

One car carrying 10 persons was suspended 250 feet off the ground, while the other car held 32 persons about 650 feet in the air.

Passengers in the lower car were lowered to the ground by a rope sling Thursday afternoon. The upper car was lifted by a giant Army helicopter and the cable was put back in place, allowing the car to glide to the summit of the peak under its own power.

Webb Doctor Has Fellowship

CHICAGO — Dr. Bruce B. Ettinger of USAF Hospital, Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring has won an ACOG-ORTHO academic training fellowship in obstetrics and gynecology.

The one-year fellowships, established by the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists in cooperation with Ortho Pharmaceutical Corporation, provide opportunities for two specially qualified young obstetrician-gynecologists to spend an extra year doing work which will help train them for academic positions in their field.

The award was presented to Dr. Ettinger by Dr. Sprague H. Gardiner, president of ACOG. Selection of fellows is made by a committee appointed by the College.

Dr. Ettinger, a native of New York City, is senior obstetrician-gynecologist and chief of ob-gyn services at USAF Hospital at Webb AFB. During his fellowship he will carry out research under Dr. Miles J. Novy, head of perinatal physiology and associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Oregon Medical School.

SOPHISTICATED MECHANICAL TELLERS

Banking 'Round The Clock

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

Down to your last dime? Banks closed till Monday?

Well, that isn't the Texas-sized problem it used to be. Just drop by your friendly 24-hour banker and collect what you need.

Computerized round-the-clock banking is now available at 41 banks in Texas and more are being added all the time. Systems available range from simple cash dispensers costing $18,000 each to sophisticated $30,000 mechanical tellers which can carry out as many as 11 different banking transactions.

'TOTAL TELLER'

And the biggest producers of such machines in the nation is located in the Dallas suburb of Irving.

Docutel Corp. turned out its first automatic "total teller" equipment in 1969 and, 12,000 units later, now employs 650 workers to tackle a continuing three months backlog of orders.

Marketing manager Mark Mastrodonato says: "It's catching on faster and faster now. We've already supplied 350 banks in 42 states and the demand grows daily."

Banking Administration magazine gave this breakdown of units delivered as of March this year:

Docutel Corp.—650 total tellers and 200 cash dispensers installed, 400 back orders.

Money Machine Inc.—300 installed, 1,000 backlog.

Burroughs Corp.—65 cash dispensers installed in 30 banks 300 backlog

Diebold Corp.—62 installed at 20 banks, over 100 in Europe. Backlog undisclosed.

William Buckley, a vice president of Preston State Bank in Dallas, said his bank and four others associated with in in the same Master Charge card program, have offered 24-hour banking to customers for just over a year.

CARD HOLDERS

"Anyone who banks with us can get a card," he said, "and we have 144,000 card holders in the program, although of course they don't all use our total teller system."

Buckley said the cards issued are standard, except for a magnetic strip on the back which bears the coding needed for out-of-hours banking.

Under the sophisticated system used, customers carry out 11 separate transactions without ever having to face up to a teller.

Among them: withdrawals from checking or savings accounts of $25 or $50—though there's a limit on how many times you can do that in 24 hours—cash advances on credit cards, transfers between checking and savings accounts, check deposits—you get a proper receipt—and payments on account on a Master Charge or installment loan account.

Buckley says transactions run at about 2,000 a month and involve no staff work beyond normal auditing when the bank reopens for business.

Each customer has the security of his own six-figure identification code on his card—a figure which is checked against the machine's own memory when inserted and before the cash comes out.

The four other banks in the program with Preston State are Hillside State, First National of Richardson, Texas National and Lewisville State.

Republic National Bank, largest in Dallas, has been using Docutel equipment in its Teller-24 program for 15 months.

"It's very successful and has high consumer acceptance," said D. J. White, vice president and director of marketing. "About 20 per cent of our card holders are using it and there's a steady increase all the time. People like to feel they've got a ready weekend reserve."

PERIOD OF ADJUSTMENT—I

Reality Closing In On Ex-POWs

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

American prisoners of war are deep into their special period of adjustment these days: from a world filled with loneliness and dreams to one crowded with decisions and problems.

The excitement and whirlwind of events since their homecoming are fading.

In the weeks after release, most of the 566 POWs plunged into speechmaking, answering fan mail, headlining parades, visiting the White House and throwing out baseballs.

GIFTS GALORE

At the same time, after years of deprivation, they were showered with all sorts of gifts from cars to junkets to wristwatches.

It was, as one wife put it, a time for doing everything yesterday.

Now reality is closing in.

There are the lingering problems of rebuilding lives with wives and children. There are adjustments to the sometimes drastic changes in American lifestyles. There are decisions about the future.

A survey shows most of the former POWs are adapting to the changes. Some even say it has been easy.

"It's no worse than coming back from a nine-month cruise as far as readjustment," said Navy Cmdr. Richard A. Stratton, 41, of Palo Alto, Calif., a prisoner for six years. The father of three sons added:

RIDING FOR FALL?

"Maybe I'm riding for a fall I don't know. Any problems are just minor. Like I don't like the way one of my sons holds his fork, so we're changing it. Petty stuff like that. My biggest adjustment is to California drivers . . . they seem as dangerous as the enemy."

Others, such at Lt. Cmdr. Michael Christian and his wife of Virginia Beach, Va., take a different view.

"You can't take a family — the father and mother — and put them into two different worlds for so many years and not have adjustments," said Mrs. Christian, the mother of three, whose husband was listed as missing for three of the six years he was a POW.

DON'T SAY THAT

"The big adjustment for us was Mike's wanting to go so fast. I can remember saying 'Let's just take it easy and do one thing at a time.' And he replied, 'Don't say that to me, that's what the North Vietnamese said to us.'"

In general, the men say they are in good health. Some have had corrective surgery because of torture or lack of medical attention in prison. Practically all have undergone dental work.

Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, the Pentagon's health chief, said preliminary figures on various forms of disease and injury found by military doctors who examined the POWs in U.S. hospitals showed nearly one-third, mostly pilots, had suffered major fractures.

WORM WOES

Wilbur also said more than 53 per cent of the prisoners came back with worms that led to malnutrition and anemia.

He said the men would be advised and watched for five years to try to avoid a repetition of the high violent death rate experienced by some U.S. POWs after World War II and Korea.

Wilbur said the Vietnam prisoners have experienced "a lot of difficulty in moving back into their families." He said the returned prisoner often found that his family had been "getting along pretty well without him."

In his statement Friday, Wilbur specifically cited the possibility of suicide.

On Sunday, Air Force Capt. Edward A. Brudno was found dead in Harrison, N.Y. Police called him a suicide.

Brudno had been among the first group of POWs to return home but never held a press conference.

STAY IN SERVICE

The majority of men have chosen to remain in the service, at least for the time being. Of 101 POWs interviewed in the last few weeks, eight said they were leaving the military and four were undecided. About 80 per cent of the men expressed interest in pursuing their education.

At least four POWs learned on return that their wives had died during the years. Some found they had lost a mother, father, brother or sister.

TEXAS TRAGEDY

For others tragedy awaited.

Lt. Col. Armand J. Myers returned to his wife and 14-year-old son Randy in Dallas, Tex., after more than 6½ years in a prison camp. Less than two months later, his son was killed in a sand dune cave-in.

At his homecoming, Myers had said of his son, "I left a small boy, he was a very sweet and docile boy. And when I came back I looked up to a 6-foot-2 bright, mature young man and from what I've seen so far I'm real proud."

The wife of another officer says her problem is getting her husband to change clothes.

"And he was the kind of man who (before he was taken prisoner) would change shirts every two hours" she said.

"He takes them off at night and carefully folds them up. He hangs his slacks up ever so neatly. But he doesn't want me to take them away to wash. I have to sneak them to the hamper.

"He himself has analyzed this as some sort of psychological reaction, and so is slowly improving" said the woman, who asked to remain anonymous.

LONG HAIR

Most POWs said they'd had some problem with their children. For some it was long hair; for others it was the kids' not meeting expectations. Most said it was simply a question of getting to know young adults who were children when they left.

"Of course, there have been problems. My children have lived 7 years and 4 months without me. They don't know me. It takes a while to get to know people after a separation like that. And they have to get used to seeing me around, to having someone else in the house," said Cmdr. Theodore F. Kopma of Lemoore Naval Air Station in California.

Perhaps the most publicized problem of the POWs has concerned marriage.

Ninety-three of the POWs interviewed were married when they left for Vietnam. Of these, 14 have been divorced, one is separated and nine said their marriages were in trouble.

VIEWS ON MARRIAGE

The men's views on marriage vary.

"We've had no marital problems. We never did before," said Air Force Maj. Arthur Burer of Rockville, Md., a POW for seven years. "I've come back to a woman who's much more mature. I don't think enough praise has been given to what our wives have done. I think if you had a good marriage to start with, a good woman to start with, then she hung on . . ."

Navy Capt. William P. Lawrence of Nashville, Tenn., a POW for six years, came home to find his wife had divorced him in 1971 and re-married.

Off-Base Hullabaloo

Clarence M. Kelley, newly nominated to become director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, already has had some bad advice. He also apparently acted on it, or someone did so in his behalf.

A four-page press release arrived in this office Tuesday. It was from Carl Byoir & Associates, Inc., a large New York advertising agency. The release was headed: "Chief Kelley: On History's Threshold."

The handout went on to describe in glowing term's Kelley's 21-year career with the FBI and 12 years as Kansas City police chief.

This was done, according to the ad agency, for "Kansas City." Who paid for it? Who needs it?

Kelley already had been described as "the best man in the country" for the FBI directorship by President Nixon.

The police chief's qualifications are impressive, especially in the wake of the politicized and inept L. Patrick Gray, who failed all major tests to succeed the late J. Edgar Hoover.

Whoever is directing this Madison Avenue-type campaign for Chief Kelley is far off base. One does not and should not "run" for the FBI post.

Kelley will get a thorough hearing by the proper Senate committee and the Senate will decide whether to confirm him.

The FBI needs stability and leadership by a man with sound law enforcement experience. Kelley appears to be that type of man. The ad agency's hullabaloo can only raise doubts about either Kelley's friends or Kelley himself.

Good Show Coming Up

This is rodeo week in Big Spring, marking the 30th time that this Western show has been produced for local and area fans. Like all of those before it, the show will be packed with that sure-fire ingredient of entertainment — action. It will be a lot more polished, and with more exciting specialty acts.

While rodeos are not everyone's cup of tea, they represent a form of sport or entertainment indigenous to this region. They grew out of informal contests during the historic roundups which were in this area before time of barbed-wire fences.

If you're bothered by pornography and reruns, and uncertain about whether something is fit for all the family, just come on out to the rodeo and relax. That it is still going strong after 40 years is a compelling testimonial in its behalf.

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

Ann Stephens, not the "body editor" but ex-Herald word chaser before becoming Alabama bound, has a story which she says applies to at least one member of our staff:

Employer: "You were 20 minutes late again this morning. Don't you know what time we start work in this office."

Employe: "No, sir. They're always working when I get here."

* * * *

AND SHE continued, despite objections from husband Tommy, ex-Herald ad whiz, in Big Spring on vacation:

A herd of buffaloes was stampeding across the plains. Suddenly the lead buffalo hesitated and was quickly overtaken. He was knocked down and trampled by the rest of the herd.

The last buffalo was very kind-hearted and stopped to console his fallen friend.

"Why did you stop so suddenly?" he asked.

"I thought I heard a discouraging word," he replied sadly.

I WAS SITTING here contemplating all the furor surrounding the Watergate caper, when Tommy Hart, who started a two-week vacation Saturday, said he wished Okie Will Rogers was here to make everything "perfectly clear" in several paragraphs.

So I got into my file on my favorite humorist and picked several of Will's comments which could be applied to the obviously mixed-up situation.

* * * *

HERE THEY ARE:

"Every time we have an election, we get in worse men and the country keeps right on going. Times have proven only one thing and that is you can't ruin this country ever.

"It's not the men so much as it is the system. It just looks like they can't get away from it. Every move they take, every step they make, is with some political object in view.

"It's awful hard to get people interested in corruption unless they get some of it.

Common sense is not an issue in politics; it's an affliction.

"Party politics is the most narrow-minded occupation in the world. A guy raised in a straight jacket is a corkscrew compared to a thick-headed politician.

"You can't believe a thing you read in regard to an official's statements. The minute anything happens connected with official life, it's just like a cold night, everybody is trying to cover up.

* * * *

"(TRUTH SERUM) would ruin the very foundation on which our political government is run. If you ever injected truth into politics, you would have no politics.

If we didn't have two parties, we would all settle for the best men in the country and things would run fine. But as it is, we settle for the worst ones and then fight over 'em.

"Popularity is the easiest thing in the world to gain and the hardest thing to hold."

My landlord, A. G. Hall, who is retiring Wednesday from the venetian blind business after 40 years in Big Spring, says:

"When you pitch the hot potato to someone else, you usually lose the gravy, too."

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

In church recently, the minister has been doing what you do on your TV specials and movies. I mean saying, "If you love God, come up to the front right now and show it." I think I love God, but I'm not sure, and I'm afraid to go forward. I am 14 years old. Can you tell me what to do?

Believer in Christ

P.S. I saw the movie "TIME TO RUN". It was excellent. It really solved some of my problems.

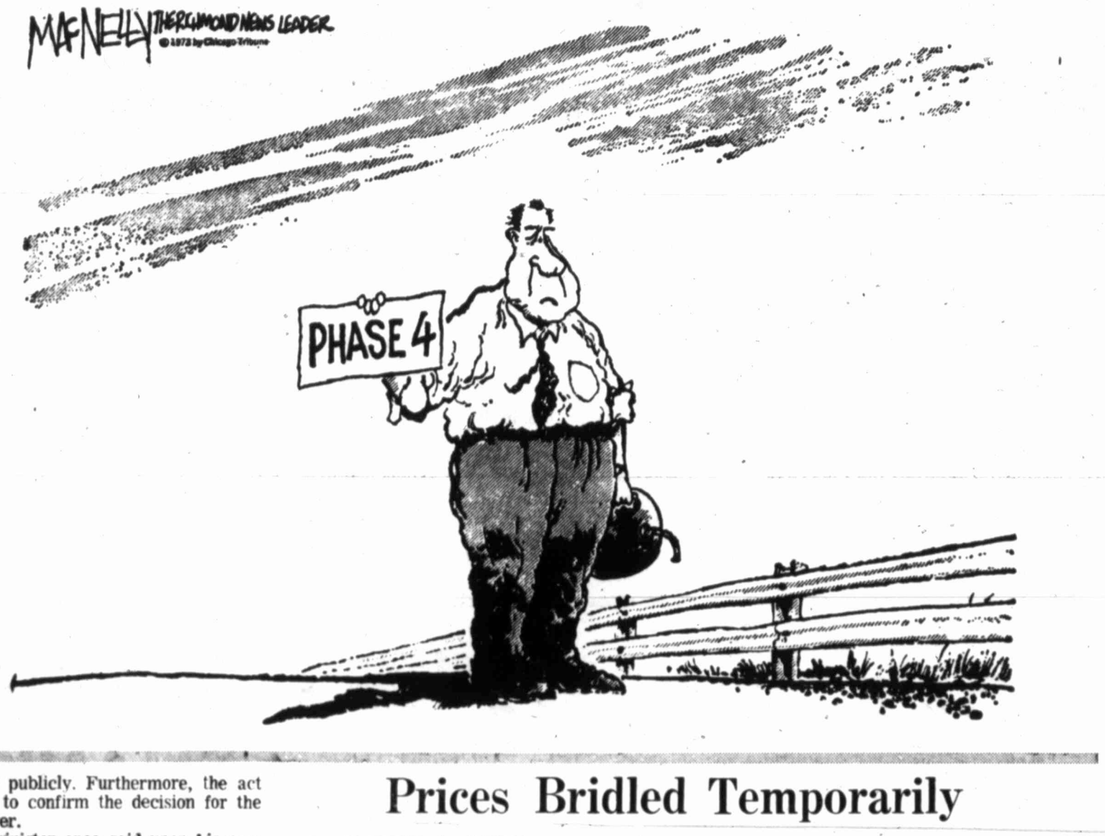

I came to know Jesus Christ one night in Charlotte in 1934. I really wasn't any different the next morning. I looked the same. I dressed the same. I played on the same team, and had the same friends. But you know when I got up that morning, I knew the world was different.

I hadn't had any emotion the night before when I accepted Christ. To me it was a very non-emotional thing. I just walked up in simple faith, not really understanding anything about it.

Now I have told you that in order for you to understand that for most people, there's an element of uncertainty and perhaps even fear in making a commitment of one's life to Christ. But move ahead on what you know, and that is simply your need and the willingness of God to save you.

In almost all our meetings, we invite people to walk forward and make their decision publicly. Everytime Jesus called people in the New Testament to follow Him, He did it publicly. Furthermore, the act helps to confirm the decision for the inquirer.

A minister once said upon his own conversion, "God was at the center of my theology, but I was at the center of my life." You see, making a public decision of faith in Christ announces this change. I hope you take this step as soon as you can.

Prices Bridled Temporarily

By RICHARD L. STERN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon imposed a temporary price freeze this past week to fight rising inflation.

The President froze all retail prices for up to 60 days at their June 1-8 levels. Raw agricultural products were the only goods excluded.

The freeze does not include wages, and the President said there will be no such freeze as long as settlements remain "responsible and noninflationary."

Rents, interest and dividends also were kept under less stringent controls.

PINCH EXPORTS

The President asked Congress to grant him authority to impose export controls. That would limit demand in an effort to keep prices down, but it would also presumably prevent producers of goods from sending large amounts of their products abroad for higher prices, and thus tending to create shortages in this country.

The President also ordered thorough financial audits of companies which have raised prices more than 1.5 per cent above January ceilings. He said that if the price increases were not justified by rising costs, the prices would be rolled back.

In adopting the temporary controls, immediately dubbed by some as Phase 3½, the administration acknowledged the failure of its largely voluntary Phase 3 program, a system Nixon adopted as a halfway step back to a free economy after the much stronger Phase 1 and Phase 2.

"FAILURE"

"Everybody admits Phase 3 was a failure," Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said.

In imposing the 60-day freeze, Nixon gave himself time to devise a new means of fighting inflation, which is now running at an annual rate of about 9 per cent.

Although Phase 3½ was a step backward from Phase 3 attempts to return to a freer economy, the President did not conceal his distase for tighter controls.

"We must not let controls become a narcotic, and we must not become addicted," the President said.

However, some economists said that the President's action may have permanently etched wage-price controls into the U.S. economy.

"WORST MOVE"

Chicago economist Milton Friedman said Thursday President Nixon's action was the worst economic move by a president in 40 years. Said Friedman, who has been firmly against any controls:

"The course which we took . . . is one that has no end except for ever-widening and ever-broadening controls."

Dr. Lawrence Klein, a leading economist at the University of Pennsylvania, said he thought the new "Nixon policy took us in the right direction . . . ." But referring to Nixon's statements against permanent controls, Klein said, the statement "takes the steam out of the control system by talking it down, putting it down."

However, economist Elliot Janeway termed the action "too little, too late, too complicated, too political."

The Week's Business

- Agricultural products, wages excepted from freeze
- President asks for authority pinch down on exporting
- Also asks for audit of companies raising prices over 1.5 pct.
- Action draws fire from both sides of economic aisle
- Schultz says "everybody knows Phase 3 was a failure"

Delicate Relations

Marquis Childs

TOKYO — On a clear day, and they are few and far between in the rainy season, with a powerful telescope you can just make out the dollar. Against the background of the floating yen it has a small, shrunken look.

THE WONDER is that in Washington such masters of the dismal science of economics as Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz and Peter Flanigan should say they cannot understand why the poor dollar has taken yet another nose dive. For Americans who must live and work abroad under the disadvantage of a dollar constantly reduced in purchasing power this adds insult to injury.

The reason is not hard to find here in Japan. At one point the Japanese held $27 billion in dollars not convertible into gold or other currencies, the latter at a serious loss. Part of this has been whittled down by purchases in the United States of land, hotels, golf courses and tourist attractions, particularly in Hawaii and California. As zealous travelers, the Japanese are making the Hawaiian Islands and the West Coast their special goals.

LIKE A threatening avalanche some $100 billion of these dollars world wide, have hung over the currency marts. The Japanese have played a responsible role in holding off their share of the threatening disaster as the dollar has fallen lower and lower against the yen, the German mark and the Swiss franc.

What is more, they have made a serious effort, and with some success, to scale back the serious trade imbalance between the United States and Japan. Risking an inflationary budget, the Tanaka government has sparked a flourishing consumer economy. American imports costing less with devalued dollars are building up.

FOR APRIL the imbalance was whittled down to $30 million in Japan's favor and the same downward trend is expected for the months ahead. The hope is that the total for 1973 will be under $3 billion as against $4 billion for last year. At the same time, instead of pouring the products of Japanese labor into the world markets, the Japanese people are to share in the benefits of their remarkable industriousness and high technology.

IN THE strained relationship between the two Pacific powers the Japanese feel that Washington has not given sufficient recognition to the progress already made in Tokyo's side. An illustration is their sensitivity to one sentence in the 13 pages devoted to Japan in the President's World Report which got concentrated attention. That sentence:

More Similarities

William F. Buckley Jr.

Concerning references made here a fortnight ago to similarities and dissimilarities between Kennedy — Chappaquiddick and Nixon — Watergate, and Sen. Kennedy's objection thereto, the tale continues . . .

THE NEW YORK Times news story commented on the "remarkably brief inquiry" by the grand jury in April 1970 into Chappaquiddick. "At the very outset of their deliberations the jury ran into a roadblock when a superior court judge refused to let them see impounded records of a secret inquest held last January . . . The jurors were further frustrated, it was learned, by their realization that Dist. Attorney Edward Dinis, who knew the contents of the report which was forbidden them, and who had already twice investigated the drowning, felt further action was futile. Mr. Dinis . . . faces re-election next fall on the same Democratic ticket with Sen. Kennedy . . . ."

The "New York Times" editorial referred, in quotes, to the "investigation' " which "ended with no indictments and no diminution of the mystery surrounding the plunge from a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island last summer of a car driven by Sen. Edward Kennedy. The speed with which the inquiry was concluded and the failure to call any of those most directly involved only adds to dissatisfaction widely felt by the public that there remains a multitude of unanswered questions relating to the episode."

THE NATIONAL Observer cited the pressures on the members of the grand jury to keep mouths shut. "Said Judge Paquet sternly: "You have no right and it would be violative of your duty and your oath to your God if you revealed one single thing that happens in the grand jury room. And I don't mean for a day. I mean forever. Your lips are sealed.' Seated next to the judge was a Roman Catholic priest, apparently because Massachusetts jurists may have a clergyman of their choice at benchside if they so choose. Thus, the grand jurors, in effect, were doubly warned about the cosmic consequences should they break their silence." If the grand jurors in the Watergate case had been so effectively silenced, the "New York Times" and the "Washington Post" would have appeared, in recent weeks, as great tracts of blank paper.

After the inquest was released, the "New York Times" editorial said: ". . . it exposes the utter inadequacy of the efforts of local law enforcement officials to arrive at the truth. Sen. Kennedy's story, too well known to repeat here, Judge Boyle found unbelievable. So do we . . . The judge's own conclusions would have been more solidly grounded, however, if the investigation of the tragedy by the appropriate officers of town and state had reflected a determination to get to the bottom of this strange tale."

THE WALL STREET Journal said that clearly Sen. Kennedy had been treated deferentially by Massachusetts authorities. " . . . it was a crescendo of bungling in the judicial process, that at no step of the way had Sen. Edward Kennedy been subject to the same scrutiny an ordinary citizen would have received a similar circumstances . . . What seems to have happened is this: that favortism in the judicial process drew criticism when the public could learn of it, so a lid of secrecy was clamped on so the favortism could continue with utmost decorum, subject to criticism only after the Senator was better protected from further prosecution."

The Louis Harris Poll, published in "Time Magazine" after Sen. Kennedy's television speech, after he had refused to answer questions by the press, after he worked, in "Time's" words, "through his lwayers, to alter the ground rules of an inquest into the death" showed that Kennedy slipped seven percentage points, from 44 per cent who believed in August that "Kennedy has not told the truth about the accident;; to 51 per cent. Nixon slipped eight points, from 50 per cent to 58 per cent after his television appearances.

Better Let Doctor Do It

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know how to prevent wax from accumulating in the ears. What method do you advise for removing it? Also what to do for a slight ear infection and minor ear ache? — Mrs. R.T.S.

Let's begin by remembering that ear wax is a useful substance, and it is formed by the the ear canal. Ordinarily any excess works its way out naturally and slowly.

When too much of it hardens and becomes impacted in the canal or against the ear drum, it can interfere with hearing. With a light and proper instrument, your doctor can remove the excess wax in a few minutes, and that is the best way to handle it.

If you are going to attempt the job yourself, I heartily urge you NOT to try to pick it out with hairpins, toothpicks, swabs, or any such things. First of all, you can't see what you are doing. There is too much danger of damaging the ear drum or scratching the ear canal.

Second, you are much too likely going to jam the wax against the ear drum instead of picking it out.

So my first choice is for you to have your doctor do it. He also can tell you whether it is accumulating to a degree that is interfering. And he also can see whether any other visible condition needs attention.

If you won't take my advice on that, or if your doctor tells you that it is advisable for you to remove the wax occasionally yourself, do it the safe way. Put a drop or two of warmed sweet oil, or olive oil, in the ears and let it stay overnight to soften the wax. Then RINSE the wax out with warm water, or peroxide, or water with a pinch of bicarbonate of soda added. An infant's rectal syringe can be used for that.

Do not force the fluid into the ears. Just let it flow in and out.

Your mention of a "slight infection" bothers me. The mechanism of the ears is so delicate that I'm not inclined to regard any ear infection as "slight." If the infection spreads into the middle or inner ear, then you have serious trouble. Some of the "wax" may actually be hardened secretions from the infected area.

If you have a recurring ear infection, I simply do not know of any home remedy. See your doctor or preferably an ear specialist. Ear infections are not for do-it-yourself tinkering.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is better for children, regular homogenized milk or skim milk?

My daughter-in-law has three children and has given them skim milk from the age of one year so they would not get fat. They are smaller than average and have always been thin.

I maintain they need the vitamins of regular milk for growth and, since they are small and thin, why give the skim milk?

I am concerned about my grandchildren but feel I can't say anything about it to my daughter-in-law. She reads your column every day. Mrs. H. B.

There is hardly any difference in vitamin content except that the skim milk, having had fat removed from it, has less vitamin A. Other constituents are the same.

In other words, it boils down to a question of whether the children are getting enough to eat. For the chubby child, I recommend skim or 2 per cent milk; for the child who is not overweight ,regular milk provides more calories.

Honorary Degrees

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — This is the time of year when honorary degrees are presented to men and women who have made their indelible mark on this country.

Here are some of the degrees which had been offered, but for one reason or other could not be accepted.

WATERGATE UNIVERSITY

To G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt — a doctorate in electronic communications. Their research into the Democratic Party headquarters broke new ground in understanding the American political process. Working from grants given by the White House and the Committee for the Re-Election of the President, their reports on Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and various newspapermen in Washington are textbook classics in the science of gathering information against insurmountable odds.

CASH STATE COLLEGE

Maurice Stans — a doctorate in political finance. He brought a new era to Mexican-American banking relations. In less than three months he managed to raise $20 million, most of which could not be traced to its donors.

The name Stans has now become synonymous with the $100 bill.

MARTHA UNIVERSITY

John Mitchell-a doctorate in grand juries. As attorney general of the United States, he brought law and order to a chaotic land. While serving as attorney general, and afterward, as manager of the President's campaign, he used all his expertise in fighting crime to assure Mr. Nixon's re-election. Some may question his methods, but no one can deny that as architect of the election game plan, he brought glory and honor to the Republican Party.

WASHINGTON INSTITUTE OF CREEP

Jeb Magruder — a doctorate in perjury. His boyish face and winning smile hide the heart of a Nixon loyalist who would do anything, and has, to protect the great office of the Presidency. Whatever credit he gets for changing the manner in which we elect our future leaders, it is richly deserved.

Heidelberg University.

A Devotion For Today . .

A broken and contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise. (Psalm 51:17).

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, bestow Thy healing powers upon our broken spirits. Give us new resources of strength that we may be able to live more in Thy likeness through Jesus Christ, in whose name we pray. Amen.

PLAY TIME — Boys enrolled in the Citywide Summer Recreation program get in a bit of softball as part of their daily routine at Comanche Trail Park. Most of the girls used this time for arts and crafts. These are but two of the many activities available for any elementary age child — free of charge — at the park or at Lakeview Monday-Friday this summer. Parents should bring the children by 9 a.m.

Gunfire Punctuating Vietnam's Cease-Fire

SAIGON (AP) — Gunfire punctuated Vietnam's supposedly strengthened cease-fire Saturday and implementation of the most recent Paris accord appeared headed for more delay.

Not a single provision has been put into effect in South Vietnam, though the Saigon government and the Viet Cong pledged in the accord signed Wednesday to follow a timetable designed to bring a quick halt to cease-fire violations.

IGNORE DEADLINE

A noon deadline for a meeting of South Vietnamese and Viet Cong battlefield commanders at places of direct conflict to work out temporary truce measures passed without any action. The issue was put on the agenda for Monday, when chief representatives of the two-party Joint Military Commission meet.

Lt. Gen. Pham Quoc Thuan, chief of the Saigon delegation, said the question had not been resolved because of differences on how it should be implemented. He said the Saigon position is that the meetings should be conducted only at division level. The Viet Cong want the battlefield commanders to meet at the lowest levels, down to small squads.

PROPAGANDA

The Saigon government fears the Viet Cong would use the lower-level meetings to propagandize both low ranking commanders and the civilian population.

The communique calls for the two South Vietnamese parties to "ensure the democratic liberties of the people" immediately after application of the new cease-fire accord. But Hoang Duc Nha, South Vietnam's commissioner general of state for information, said these should be included in a comprehensive solution. He added that the lifting of restrictions depends on the Viet Cong's observing the cease-fire and on general elections.

108 TIMES

The Saigon military command charged that during the 24-hour period from noon Friday, when the new cease-fire officially went into effect, until noon Saturday the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese violated the truce 108 times. This is about the average number of alleged violations reported by the Saigon command per 24-hour period since late March.

In Paris, Le Duc Tho, the North Vietnamese official who worked out the 14-point communique with Henry A. Kissinger, accused the Saigon government of serious violations of the new cease-fire. Tho told a news conference the Saigon government refused to issue orders for the new cease-fire, continued military operations and is conducting air attacks against Communist command forces.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, had said earlier that cease-fire orders were sent to all field comanders and that he had no reports of air strikes.

HEAVY BARRAGES

Radio Hanoi said South Vietnamese artillery fired a 1,500-shell barrage into two Viet Cong-held villages just north of Saigon and followed up with an infantry attack in the first hour of the cease-fire. Hanoi termed the alleged attack "a blatant land-grabbing operation in direct violation of the new cease-fire."

Newsmen who attempted to move up Highway 13 north of Saigon into the general area mentioned by Radio Hanoi were blocked by South Vietnamese police Friday. These newsmen reported hearing heavy artillery barrages but said they could not tell which side they came from.

The South Vietnamese foreign minister, Tran Van Lam, said meanwhile that during two weeks of discussions between Kissinger and Tho in Paris "it is certain that the United States and North Vietnam reached some understandings" beyond the joint communique that was made public. He said that while there was no secret text, these understandings include the problem of North Vietnamese infiltration into the South.

In Cambodia, meanwhile, field reports said Communist-led insurgents occupied Highway 5, the country's last major highway open to traffic and the main supply line for getting rice into the capital city of Phnom Pehn.

City Dads Pay Hike Proposal

A pay boost for members of the City Commission is one item in a series of proposed revisions to the city charter to be up for final Commission consideration June 26.

Commissioners drew up the list of revisions at a workshop meeting last week. In July, the Commission will set a date, probably in September, for voters to have their say on the charter alterations.

Concerning pay for commissioners it is proposed that they be paid $25 each per meeting with no more than $50 a month. Each is now paid $5 per meeting with a $10 a month maximum.

The provision also calls for the mayor to be awarded $50 a meeting with a $100 a month limit.

Other proposed changes are the lowering of ordinance reading requirements, the election of Commission members by places at large and the lowering of residency requirements for Commission candidates.

HCJC Trustees To Consider New Faculty Members

Howard County Junior College trustees will consider recommendations for new faculty members at their meeting Tuesday noon. The session will be in the board room of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building.

One of these will be a successor to J. P. Clements, who is retiring as head of the science department head ,who has consider naming the department head. Another will be an instructor of speech and drama. Trustees also will pass on naming someone to chair the fine arts. Resignation of another depatment head, who has accepted a fellowship to work for his doctorate, is to be presented.

Other items on the agenda for the meeting include consideration of the stadium parking lot improvements; invite bids for a depository, employ an accountant for the annual audit, and receive routine reports.

'MY DARLING, MY BELOVED WIFE'

One Of 'Sweetest' Wills Filed In Howard County

By MARJ CARPENTER

Back on Aug. 2, 1880, a Texas Ranger named J. J. Byrne had an elaborate will filed in Howard County. It is duely recorded in Volume 154, page 481, Deed Records.

It is probably one of the most flowery wills ever filed anywhere and is in the form of a letter to his wife, sent from Yselta near El Paso.

NOT DISSIPATING

It begins, "My Darling, my beloeved wife. I have just concluded a postscript to my letter of last night to you, and you may imagine from the crampted and irregular formation of the lines and inchoerency of ideas, that I have been dissipating. I have not my Darling. But if ever human nerves were strung to greatest tension by emotions, too sad for words to tell, mine are at this moment.

"I will will leave here tonight to join my party. If accident should befall me, this will be my last goodbye, to all I love upon this earth."

ATROCITIES

He then adds that she will never receive the letter unless he is killed. The letter went on to tell that he dreaded the Indians who killed him just a few days later.

It says, "The Indians have crossed over again into Texas and have already commenced their fiendish atrocities. They killed the Stage Driver and one passenger, Saturday night between Ft. Quitman and Eagle Springs, last week they killed all eight Mexican soldiers — a few days before I passed through Baso's Canon, they killed a woman (Mrs. Sherman) and two men between Eagle Springs and Van Horns Wells. About two months ago, they killed and multilated 29 men, women and children near Corizal in the Canddaria Mountains. Their objective point now I am informed is the Guadalupe Mountains, the very place that I am going to work."

GREAT DANGER

Then explaining why he must go, he adds, "I have gone so far in this business that I cannot now back down with either honor or self respect and must go through with it, but recognizing the presence of great danger, desire to put my affairs in order."

The letter then lists land that he has acquired along the Colorado River, nine sections, and also lands in Callahan County. He goes into great detail about who owes him money and who he owes money in exact amounts.

He was far more aware of the exactness of his business affairs than most men. Summing it up, he tells his wife that total value will be close to $25,000. He even tells her who to go to for legal aid.

Then, in a touching love letter, he adds, "My own, my beloved, darling wife, sweet companion of my happiest hours on earth, my hope of everlasting joy in great hereafter, these last few parting words."

ANGEL CHILD

In a colorful letter, he gives her permission to marry again, "although your loving spirit will always be mine," and gives instructions to be buried by their child, "our angel child."

Mrs. Byrne heeded all of the instructions but did not probate the will until 1886 when a woman in New York State claimed to be the illegitimate daughter of the ranger and tried to clai mhal fth eproperty. All of the claims are also recorded here and the final decision that the letter was a valid will and it included testimony from two men named F. W. Ball and A. M. Carter who maintained that the letter was in the ranger's handwriting.

The beloved wife had become Mrs. Max Elser and he joined her in the petition.

Pauline Petty, county clerk, said in all of her years of filing instruments and studying the ones in the files that have been placed there in the old days, "This one is certainly one of the sweetest and most touching of all wills ever filed in Howard County."

Water Revenues Continue To Run Behind 1972 Mark

Revenues for the Colorado River Municipal Water District are continuing to run well behind a year ago, but that may be changed in the immediate months ahead.

Receipts for May amounted to $392,336 compared to $448,000 for May, 1972 and left this years total at $1,857,506, or some $284,000 under the first five months a year ago.

However May production (which won't be billed until June) was up slightly, and the return of dry, hot weather has been pushing up water deliveries. For instance, Friday was the year's peak with little over 71,000,000 gallons produced.

Municipal revenue is down most sharply, falling $21,000 below the same time a year ago in amounting to $1,054,801. Oilfield and industrial deliveries have brought in $780,566, which is down some $69,000 for the five-month period.

The smaller production has reduced operating expenses by $59,000 for the period, making the outlay $492,224. This left $1,365,281 for future transfer to the payment of bonds, interest and indentured funds.

The vast bulk of the water sold comes from the two major reservoirs — Lake E. V. Spence 1,727,288,000 gallons for the five months period, and Lake Thomas 3,264,338,000 gallons. More than three-quarters of a billion gallons of water produced thus far is of the unpotable type delivered to oil companies for repressuring.

Houston Educator Charged In Murder Of School Girl

LIBERTY, Tex. (AP) — Houston educator Joseph D. Farrar was held without bond Saturday after being charged with murder in the death of a teen-age pupil at the school he founded for emotionally disturbed children.

A Liberty County grand jury returned an indictment Thursday accusing Farrar, 56, of murder after Danna Annette Hvolboll, 17, died following an incident at Artesia Hall, Farrar's school near Cleveland.

Miss Hvolboll died Nov. 14 in a Houston hospital three days after she allegedly swallowed an insecticide poison

STRAIT JACKET

Dist. Atty. W. B. Woods Jr. said Farrar is accused of not giving the girl treatment for 36 hours after she admitted taking the poison.

"Although she went into convulsions, she was bound with straps, a strait jacket," Woods said.

Farrar, also head of the Aston Academy at Houston, was arrested Friday at Houston and taken to the Liberty County jail.

Artesia Hall is a child-caring facility 14 miles east of Cleveland in Liberty County.

75 PUPILS

Farrar founded the combination school and detention home in October 1970 for what he called "pre-delinquent" teen-agers who are "defiant, deceptive and impulsive."

The school has an enrollment of 75 pupils between the ages of 12 and 22. Parents are assessed by the month by Farrar to keep their children at Artesia Hall, largely a collection of mobile homes on a small tract of rural land.

The school was given a child-caring license by the state Department of Public Welfare Nov. 19, 1971.

The license was issued just three days before a state district court here heard arguments by Liberty County Atty. Jack Hartel to close down the school for operating without a license.

BIZARRE PUNISHMENT

Welfare workers testified that children at Artesia were sometimes kept in a four-by-four chain link cage for misbehaving.

Three girls who escaped from the school and were later picked up by the sheriff's office told of being caged and other bizarre forms of punishment.

Farrar said at the time that the children who made the complaints were emotionally disturbed and could not be held accountable for the truth. He also said he removed the cage from the school.

Woods said the indictment against Farrar was the result of a seven-month probe by a holdover grand jury. C. Bruce Stratton, a Liberty County lawyer, was hired by the grand jury as a special prosecutor in the case.

John Wayne Sullivan of Pasadena, Tex., holds the distinction of being the 1,000th student to apply for admission to the new, upper-level University of Texas of the Permian Basin opening this September.

Sullivan's application was received by the Office of Admissions at UT-Permian Thursday, June 14, bringing the total number of graduate and undergraduate applications to 1,000. Over half of the students who have applied, 557, have been accepted to date.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

A BIG MISS — Arnold Palmer bends double and raises his putter after missing a birdie putt on the 12th green in Saturday's third round of the U.S. Open Golf Tournament at the Oakmont, Pa., Country Club. He was at even par 142 when he started the round, but picked up strokes as he traveled the rain-soaked course and gained a share of the lead with three other golfers, including Julius Boros.

Boros, Palmer Claim Share Of Open Lead

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Julius Boros stormed into a four-way tie for the third-round lead in the United States Open Golf Championship Saturday.

The two veterans, each older than the oldest previous winner of this famed event, matched three-under-par 68s under ominous skies and were tied at 210 with mop-haired Jerry Heard and lanky longshot John Schlee.

Heard, an easy-going 26-year-old, scored an eagle three en route to his brilliant five-under-par 66. Schlee had a 67 to move into a tie at three under par for 54 holes over the wet-and-soggy Oakmont Country Club course.

Tom Weiskopf, winner of three of his last four starts, was just one stroke back going into the final round.

Tall Tom romped over the 6,921-yard layout with a 67 for 211.

Joining the logjam near the top was the irrepressible Lee Trevino, the rags-to-riches guy who started his drive to millionaire status with his 1968 victory in this tournament.

Trevino put together a 70 and was tied at one-under 212 with dour Bob Charles, the New Zealand lefty who had a 72.

Gary Player of South Africa, the leader through the first two rounds, stumbled with a string of five bogeys in one string of seven holes and went to a 77 and 214.

Jim Colbert, just one stroke off the pace before the third round started, also had his difficulties. The jaunty little man bogeyed his first three holes and finished with a 75 for 213.

Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion and pre-tourney favorite to win his fourth American national championship, stumbled back in the pack on a rash of missed putts. He had only one birdie as he took a 74 for a 214 total—four back of the leaders.

Boros, a paunchy old guy and the idol of the over-age set, has been nick-named "Old Man River" by his younger companions on the pro tour for his deliberate, unhurried gait and smooth, fluid swing.

His playing partner was Palmer, the quick-striding one-time king of the game who is hoping for a comeback.

Palmer has won only once in the last two years—making him the subject of countless golfing obituaries.

THOSE PUTTING BLUES — Gary Player, U.S. Open leader at the start of Saturday's third round, hangs his head after missing a birdie putt on the fifth green at Oakmont, Pa. He had started the round with a five-under par 137.

LOCAL RUNNERS SHINE IN SEMINOLE EVENT

SEMINOLE — Four Big Spring tracksters came away with their share of the honors Saturday in the Seminole Summer Recreation Track Meet, with Doug Smith leading the way for the locals.

Smith, who will be a senior at BSHS next year, scored a first and four seconds in highlighting the effort of coach Glenn Petty's group. Smith won Senior Division 440-yard dash in 52.8, and finished second to San Angelo's Tony Poole in the 100 and 220-yard dashes in times of 10.2 and 24.3.

He also managed career bests in the long jump, 20-3, and the discus, 106-7, both runner-up finishes.

Two other Big Springers scored victories in the Senior Division. Ricky McCormick won the 880-yard dash in 2:09.9, and David Wood topped the high jump entries with a 6-1 leap. Wood was also third in the long jump as he soared 19-9.

Smith's little sister, Denise, was third in the 11-and-under girls group long jump with a 12-8½ effort, was sixth in the 50-yard dash and ran on a third place relay team.

Farmer Beats His Age, Par

For the second time in his life, J. R. Farmer has shot his age in a round of golf. In fact, this time his golf score came out on top.

Farmer, 73, fired a one-under par 70 Saturday at Big Spring Country Club to accomplish one of golf's most pleasing feats. Two years ago, when he was 71, he equalled his age. Farmer is a seven handicap golfer.

Playing with Farmer were Carlton Young, Weldon Bryant and Whitney Reynolds.

Rangers Battered In Near No-Hitter

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore's Jim Palmer retired the first 25 batters before Ken Suarez singled up the middle for the first of two Texas hits as the Orioles routed the Rangers 9-1 Saturday night.

With the crowd of 8,587 cheering every out as early as the fifth inning, Palmer mowed down Texas with relative ease, but fell two outs shy of what would have been the 12th perfect game in major league history.

The 27-year-old right-hander fired a 1-2 pitch past Vic Harris leading off the ninth for his sixth and final strikeout but Suarez then rapped a 2-0 pitch up the middle past the desperate lunge of shortstop Mark Belanger.

The crowd first booed Suarez, then cheered Palmer, who then lost his shutout bid as well when Jim Mason walked and Dave Nelson singled home the Rangers' only run.

Palmer had pitched a no-hitter against Oakland on Aug. 13, 1969.

The Orioles staked Palmer to a 5-0 lead in the first inning. Loser Steve Dunning, 0-4, walked Al Bumbry to start the inning and also walked Tommy Davis with two down. Earl Williams singled for the first run, the second came home on Paul Blair's double and the rest on Elrod Hendricks' bases-loaded triple.

Cards Bop Astros, 5-3

HOUSTON (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals backed Bob Gibson's five-hit pitching with eight hits and took advantage of two balks and two passed balls to defeat the Houston Astros 5-3 Saturday night.

Balks by Houston pitchers Ken Forsch and James Rodney Richard produced two Cardinal runs.

Joe Torre walked in the first inning, advanced to third on a wild pitch and Bob Watson's passed ball and scored on a balk by Forsch, 6-7. Richard relieved in the fourth following Gibson's single and another run came home on Lou Brock's single, another passed ball and Richard's balk.

Gibson, squaring his record at 6-6, retired 10 consecutive batters after permitting doubles to Jim Wynn and Watson and a single to Lee May in the first inning, giving the Astros a 2-1 lead.

OUT OF THE HOSPITAL, INTO THE OFFICE

TCU's Tohill Eyes Road To Recovery

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Billy Tohill, the young football coach of the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University, has begun on crutches the long way to recovery and the renewal of his career.

Tohill, 34, the youngest head coach in the Southwest Conference, left John Peter Smith Hospital here Friday after spending three months and a day hospitalized following a March 14 auto accident that nearly cost him his life.

The accident did cost him a foot.

"It's great to see the outside world again," said Tohill as he walked out of the hospital accompanied by his wife, Bobbie Jean, and into the arms of his three children.

"I'm going to stay at home for a couple of weeks and then start coming back in the office for a few hours each day starting the first of July.

"Right now, the first order of business is to throw a big ole steak on the grill and have it along with some French fries and about a gallon of iced tea," said the Mississippi-born Tohill.

Tohill took over the Horned Frogs in November 1971 a few days after Head Coach Jim Pittman collapsed with a heart seizure four minutes deep into the annual TCU-Baylor game.

Pittman, in his first year had brought Tohill to TCU as his assistant from Tulane.

"I will do whatever it takes to make a winner," he said as he took the reins.

But success has evaded him. Last season the Horned Frogs had a 5-6 record and won only two games in the tough Southwest Conference.

After the 1971 season, when the Frogs ended with a 6-4-1 record, Tohill and Pittman, the latter posthumously, were named co-coaches of the year in the Southwest Conference.

Tohill spent several days in critical condition with injuries to the head, face, ribs, pelvis, wrists, ankle and right foot.

A week later he had his right foot amputated.

"I've been doing real well the last week," he said. "I've gotten a lot stronger and I can walk a lot better. I'm pleased."

He was even more pleased that he was going home.

"I haven't seen my kids much," he said. "Just once a week."

The TCU coach will be fitted next week with an artificial foot that will provide him with better mobility.

Then, he added, "I will start thinking about a return to work."

The day before his accident, the heavy set Tohill had been considering a weight-reduction diet.

During his stay in the hospital he lost 65 pounds going down to 170.

"But I wouldn't really recommend this as the way to lose weight," he said.

The long wait officially ends today for Big Spring's tennis supporters as dedication ceremonies and exhibition matches featuring some of the state's top amateurs open the new $60,000 Figure Seven Tennis Center.

The program will get under way at 1 p.m. with official dedication of the new center and Whipkey Drive, the new road leading to the courts, and the matches will follow at 1:30 p.m.

Steve Buck, Ike Groce, Fred Kniffen and Joe Williams will each play a singles and a doubles match in a two-hour program.

Buck, a North Texas State University netter, is currently the Missouri Valley Conference doubles champion who starred at Midland Lee High School in recent years, and Williams is a former Class AAAA state singles champion from San Angelo. He played college tennis at Texas Tech.

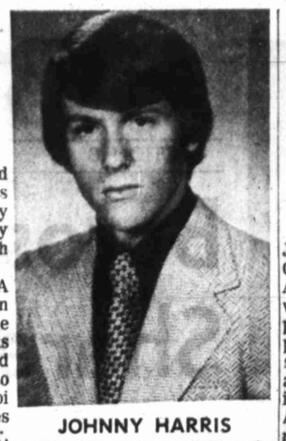

Groce was an NAIA singles semifinalist in 1965 while playing at Southwestern State College in Oklahoma, and Kniffen, brother of Figure Seven pro Novice Kniffen, is currently a teaching pro at Rose Park Tennis center in Abilene. Fred Kniffen was a star at Hardin-Simmons University in the mid-1950s, capturing conference singles and doubles titles all four years he competed.

Judge Ralph Caton, a local enthusiast who was instrumental in obtaining a grant from the Dora Roberts Foundation for the center, will begin the opening ceremonies with a welcoming address and will introduce board members of the Dora Roberts Foundation.

Then Big Spring Mayor Pro Tem Eddie Acri will dedicate the center and Whipkey Drive, the one-way street leading to the center from U.S. 87 South, named in honor of former Herald published Robert Whipkey, who died March 31.

Acri will also introduce members of the City Commission. Novice Kniffen, Figure Seven pro and president of the Big Spring Tennis Association, will be next on the program and he will offer thanks to the city and the Foundation members before introducing the players.

Harris Inks With HCJC

JOHNNY HARRIS

Johnny Harris, a 6-0 guard from Wichita Falls Rider has signed an agreement to play basketball at Howard County Junior College, Jayhawk coach Harold Wilder has announced.

Harris, who helped the AAAA Rider team to a 19-10 season standing last year, becomes the fourth player to join the Hawks this year. Coahoma's Roland "Snickle" Beal was the first to sign and two Mississippi schoolboy cagers, guard James Allen and 6-7 Earl Faulkner, added their names later.

"Bubba Bailey, Harris' high school coach, said he's a real fine team player, that he's unselfish and can find the open man. And that's primarily why I recruited him," Wilder said.

"When he attended a tryout camp here last spring, though, he wasn't only impressive with his passing but he also scored well. Our returning players were impressed with him, I think because they realize we're going to need somebody like that."

Harris was a member of the Rider team which captured district championship his sophomore and junior years. Last season he was the leading free throw shooter on the team.

At the guard spot Harris joins Allen, Beal and returnees Leroy Lumzy and Bobby Beall. Also back this year will be all-Western Conference inside men Taylor Williams and Thomas Bledsoe, and swing men Mike Randle and Dave Matthews, who can play inside and at forward.

Spurs Sign Top Scorer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The San Antonio Spurs of the American Basketball Association announced Saturday the signing of Rich Jones, their leading scorer last season, to a multi-year contract.

Spurs' General Manager Jack Anderson did not disclose the price tag of the contract but claimed it would make Jones one of the ABA's highest paid players.

Jones averaged 22 points per game last season as a forward when the team played in Dallas.

The Spurs, who will be this city's first major league professional team, have yet to ink other veterans. Draft choices William "Bird" Averitt of Pepperdine and Richard Fuqua of Oral Roberts have signed contracts.

Coaches All-America Grid Clash Saturday

LUBBOCK (AP) — Coaches John McKay of Southern California and Shug Jordan of Auburn will be out to prove which half of the nation produces the better football players, and they will have some of the top collegiate talent at their sides when they collide in the 13th annual Coaches All-America Football game here next Saturday night.

McKay, coach of the 1972 national champion Trojans, and Jordan, who guided Auburn to a surprising 10-1 season, will handle the West and East squads, respectively, in the first of the summer all-star contests.

More than 40,000 fans are expected to be on hand for the game.

The 60 players assembled, many of them drafted by the professional leagues, represent the top senior performers of last season.

"I've seen every game since it was started in 1961," said Texas Tech athletic director J. T. King, "and in my estimation this is the best squad we've ever assembled. There is more talent, more quality football players than ever before."

McKay brought in five members of his national championship team plus a pair of pass oriented quarterbacks in Ty Tiane of Washington State and Dan Fouts of Oregon.

Jordan has three of his Auburn pupils. Jordan will build his East offense around Virginia Tech's Don Strock, who was one of the nation's total offense leaders last year.

Aiding the West's running game will be two-time all-America Gregg Pruitt of Oklahoma and Sam Cunningham, who scored four touchdowns for McKay in last year's Rose Bowl game.

The East's defense will be spearheaded by linebacker Jamie Rotella of Tennessee and lineman John Mitchell of Alabama, Greg Marx of Notre Dame and John LoHoup of South Carolina.

Cards Tip Yanks; Tigers, Jets Win

The Tigers and Jets won as expected in Big Spring Little League play Friday, but the National League-leading Yankees were slipped up on by a surprising bunch of Cardinals.

Kevin McLaughlin struck out 10 batters and scattered five hits as the Cards earned a 7-0 decision over the Yanks, who fell to 13-2-1 with the loss. The Cardinals are 7-8-1, and currently holding down third place.

With the Cards ahead 3-0 midway through the game, Carl Gresham crashed a grand slam home run to tuck the decision away. Toby Bryant, Jerry Monje and Dale Earnest also had hits for the Cards, while Scott Moore and Mark Warren shined on defense.

For the Yanks, Mark Poss and Jim Robinson knocked two hits apiece.

Kevin Bartley tossed a four-hit shutout as the Jets gained a 4-0 verdict over the Hawks in American League competition Friday. The Jets are now 7-9, while the Hawks dropped to 2-14.

Dixon slapped two hits to lead the Jets, and Bartley, Pearce, Cordes and Floyd all added one. For the Hawks, Evans, Kyser, Robinson and Touchstone hit safely. Evans was the losing pitcher.

The Tigers pushed across three runs in the top of the sixth inning Friday and came away with a 5-3 Texas League win over the Red Sox, running their record to 13-3. David Montanez stopped the Sox on three hits, and also picked up one himself.

Freddie Martinez had three hits in the triumph, including a clutch two-run single in the sixth, and Vela and Renteria also had hits. Vigil, Rivera and Vela had hits for the Red Sox, now 11-5 on the year. Valencia was credited with the loss.

MIDLAND CUBS SET JULY 1 AS 'BIG SPRING NIGHT'

Big Spring becomes the first city to be saluted by the Texas League Midland Cubs July 1 when "Big Spring Night" is unveiled at Cub Park in the Tall City.

Cubs General Manager John Cox said that all Big Spring people with special coupons will be admitted at a reduced price and youngsters in youth baseball uniforms free for the 7:45 p.m. Sunday game with El Paso. There will also be a clinic held at 6:15 p.m. in Cubs Park, with Manager Al Spangler and all the Midland players on hand to advise the youngsters.

Adults will be admitted to the game for $1 and students 35 cents with coupons, which will be circulated through the Little League here.

Tiger Cubs Try Abilene, Ladies Auxiliary Today

The Big Spring Tiger Cubs are in action today at Steer Park, part for real and part for fun.

Oscar Cervantez will be on the mound at 1:30 p.m. when the Cubs put their 7-5 record on the line against the Abilene Camaliones, but in the second game there won't be quite as much at stake. The Cubs will meet the GI Forum Auxiliary Ladies team in a benefit game, with funds to go into a scholarship fund for seniors graduating from Big Spring High School.

Juano Cervantez will be behind the plate in the opener, with Felix Hilario at first, Johnny Munoz at second, Mike Gonzales at short and Adam Yanez at third base. Gilbert Pesina will be in left field, with Tom Arista in center and Billy Diaz in right field.

Substitutes include Chochi Vierra, Manuel Arsiaga, Jessie Olague, Ernesto Garcia, C. Q. Cervantez and Mike Gamboa.

Starting for the Ladies Auxiliary will be pitcher Elda Morales, catcher Esabel Anguiano, Aurrora Puga at first base, Ofelia Flores at second, Julia Correa at shortstop, Mary Ann Gonzales at third base, Elvira Nunez in right field, Ema Brown in left and Sylvia Rodriguez in center field.

Belinda Mendoza, Patsy Lopes, Belen Gonzales, Cruz Valles and Anita Valles are the team's substitutes.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Westchester Star Tops 4A All-State

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas High School Baseball Coaches' Association Class 4-A all-state baseball team is a good review of the recent major league baseball free agent draft.

Houston Westchester pitching ace David Clyde, who has signed an attractive major league contract with the Texas Rangers, and Doug Heinold of Victoria Stroman were the first team pitchers.

The shortstop is San Antonio Lee's Pat Rockett, also an outstanding football player, who signed a contract with the Atlanta Braves.

Michael "Rocky" Thompson of San Antonio Jefferson played in the outfield most of the season but made the all-state team as a catcher, where he played his junior year. Thompson was drafted as a catcher by the Chicago Cubs.

Others on the first team were: first base, Gary Ashby, Lubbock Monterey; second base, Gary Pyka, San Antonio Churchill; third base, Jim Lassiter, Houston Westchester and outfielders Louis Perez, Midland High, David Mire, Port Neches-Groves and Randy Phillips, Irving MacArthur.

Members of the second team were: pitchers Mike Mehaffie, Dallas Kimball and Robert Shaeffer, Midland High; catcher, Jimmy Shankle, Lubbock Monterey; first base, Kenny Kolkhorst, Houston Waltrip; second base, Mike Maness, Irving MacArthur; shortstop, Mike Reynolds, Corpus Christi Carroll; outfielders Larry Horn, Lubbock Monterey, Bobby Hernandez, El Paso Bel Air and Rodney Paulette, Lufkin.

Rustlers Rout Midland, 47-5

The Big Spring Rustlers opened their Miss Softball America Senior League season in impressive fashion Thursday night, routing Midland No. 3 by 47-5. Ruth Knight was the winning pitcher, and also scored six runs to lead the team at the plate, along with June Sterling.

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By JERRY METCALF

Here's one I bet you didn't know about golf . . . During the first few hundred years of golf, no one played the game with a golf tee . . . The golf tee wasn't invented until 1920 . . . And it wasn't invented by a golf pro, but rather by a dentist in South Orange, N.J., William Lowell . . . He patented the first golf tee in 1920 and even then it look a few years till it was accepted by all golfers.

* * *

Anybody who ever had trouble getting a golf ball into the hole might be interested in knowing just how wide a golf hole is . . . It may seem smaller when you're putting, but the exact width is 4¼ inches.

* * *

Here's an oddity . . . Only once in big league baseball history has a team finished first one year, then last the next . . . That strange fate befell the Philadelphia A's of 1914-15 . . . And what makes their tumble even more unbelievable is this . . . In 1914, when the A's won the pennant they finished 8½ games ahead . . . In 1915 they not only landed in last place, but they finished 58½ games behind!

I bet you didn't know . . . that we have radiator sales and service.

RICKY STEEN

As Long As Baseball's Around, Steen Is Happy

By JACK COWAN

Ricky Steen's idea of a great time is knocking a baseball around all day long, and it looks like he's closing in on his dream.

After 10 years of playing the game for grins around Big Spring diamonds, the hard-hitting local lad last week signed a contract with the St. Louis Cardinals organization and left Friday for the Gulf Coast League in Sarasota, Fla. Finally, the game is beginning to return his support.

"This is it. This is what I've been waiting for," the soft-speaking youngster said before he left. "I guess it's sort of a dream come true." While the words didn't come so easy for him, Steen seemed a waterfall of emotions — anxiety, excitement, anticipation, grim determination, and a little bit of fear.

"Sure he's afraid, anybody would be," said Larry Horton, Ricky's high school coach last season. "It's pretty tough out there."

But Horton sent his pupil off with the advice many who had been in that situation would offer, mainly "hustle and hope." Only five or six of every 100 players signed ever make it for even one time at bat in the majors, and lots of times that means being lucky at the right time in the right place.

Horton, however, knows more than that is involved. "He's the best hitter I've coached in three years. No, I'll go further than that — I'd say he's the best high school hitter I've ever seen."

That'll help. Ricky proved himself to his coach by hitting .467 in District 5-AAAA play last spring with seven home runs, and the year before he was the league batting champion with a .454 mark.

He played shortstop all last season for the Steers, but Red Barkley, the Cards' scout who signed Ricky, thinks his future will probably be at third base. That's OK though, because at Sarasota Steen will have one of the best teachers in the business, former St. Louis great Ken Boyer, who manages the Cards' rookie team.

Should he like the Cardinals and the Cardinals like him during their next two months together, Ricky might be asked back for the Instructional League in the winter, and from there one could only guess at his advancement. The next step would be Class A ball at St. Petersburg or Modesto, Calif., and if he performed well there, he might get a promotion to Little Rock of the Texas League, a Class AA team.

The Cards' AAA team is Tulsa of the American Association, and the next stop is the top of the line — the real Redbirds.

Like most youngsters, Ricky's dream probably was born somewhere around his sixth birthday, and as his interest in the game grew, so did his talent. He started with little league, and made the all-star teams when he was 11 and 12 years of age.

Then came Sophomore League, Hi-Junior, American Legion and high school ball, not to mention assorted sandlot competition throughout the years. Steen was all-district as an outfielder in 1972 and made the District 5-AAAA elite last year at shortstop.

He was fortunate enough to grow up near R. J. Englert, who was about six years his elder, but according to Steen, "quite a teacher." Englert also developed into quite a player, currently playing at Fresno of the San Francisco Giants organization after starring four years at Texas A&M.

It remains to be seen whether Englert is as good a teacher as he is a player. At least Steen has a lot of confidence in both of them.

Hogg's 32-Pound Yellow Cat Tops Area Fishing Reports

Robust catfish catches were reported at Lake J. B. Thomas last week, topped by a 32-pound yellow cat by L. V. Hogg, Lamesa. Crappie and channel cat catches were good, too.

At Lake E. V. Spence, according to reports reaching the Colorado River Municipal Water District, there was a good balance between black bass, crappie and channel cat, but also with a generous sprinkling of striped bass, the best being an 8-lb. 6-oz. speciman landed by Grady Huffman, only slightly better than the 7-lb., 6-oz. beauty by Violet Huffman.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission biologists are making use of Lake Thomas yellow cat for spawning and stocking. There were netted nine 10-pounders for brood purposes. Other studies may be made at the lake to see if the walleyed pike are catching on.

Here are some of the reports from Lake Spence:

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Still trying to get back into the groove of those pre-vacation days, I find it's much tougher than it was getting out. You'd think someone would come up with a cure for that sort of thing . . .

The Midland Cubs have a happy personnel change to announce. Jerry Tabb, a hero first baseman and the Chicago Cubs' No. 1 draft choice, has been added to the roster and will begin playing immediately. Tabb, a Tulsa University standout, hit .401 with seven home runs his senior season. His three-year average of .396 is one of many records he set at TU . . .

The Cubs have also declared Thursday Midland Bulldogs night in honor of that city's state champion schoolboy baseball team . . .

* * * * * *

Former Howard County Jayhawk Lawrence Young was one of nine basketball players to earn letters at Texas Christian University this year. Young, who played his high school ball in Abilene, will be a senior next year . . .

* * * * * *

And the most famous of all Jayhawks, Archie Myers, is also in the news. Myers, the 1972 Junior College All-American who established a national scoring record, was married recently to Cassandra Cavil in her hometown of Midland. The two met while attending HCJC . . .

Archie, incidentally, has decided to return to Stephen F. Austin University for his final year of eligibility, despite reports a couple of months ago that he was unhappy at the Nacogdoches school . . .

It's hard to believe, but the football season kicks off Saturday night in Lubbock with the Coaches All-America Game. True, there's a bit of a wait before the real storm, but many fanatics consider this the salad before the main course . . .

If you care to know such statistics, the series between the best players east and west of the Mississippi River, is all even at 6-6 after last year's 35-28 victory by the East. The game is expected to be a sellout at Jones Stadium for the fourth straight year, after an anemic start at Buffalo and the same story later at Atlanta . . .

* * * * * *

Central Texas College of Killeen, uncontested in winning the HCJC Invitational Tennis Tournament here a few months ago, also had a fairly easy time in winning the National Junior College last week. Also about the same time, Ranger Junior College was winning the national baseball championship, giving Texas a pretty good name around the juco sports world . . .

The Midland A&M Club is having its annual barbecue Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the American Legion Hall, located at 206 South Colorado St., and the Tall City folks went all the way to the top of their entertainment. Aggie head coach Emory Bellard will be the guest speaker, and his talk will likely be very Maroon, naturally.

Anyone interested in ticket reservations can contact Adam Praisnar at 694-2398 in Midland. Tickets are $3.25 for adults and $2.25 for children under 12 . . .

Texas Eyes Third NCAA Golf Crown

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — A strong host opponent, an old enemy from down home and some blustery Oklahoma winds will be among the obstacles facing Texas this week in its bid for a third straight national collegiate golf title.

The field will be 240 strong Wednesday as play opens in the NCAA Golf Championships at the tough 6,534-yard, par 70 Stillwater Golf and Country Club course.

Texas, paced by Ben Crenshaw, has won the championship the last two years and Houston has finished second both times.

Perennial powerhouse Oklahoma State is also considered a favorite, especially because of the home course. Other strong entries include Florida and Wake Forest.

Asked whom he rated as the favorite this year, OSU coach Labron Harris Sr. said, "It's got to be Texas and us because we we're playing at home. I'm not forgetting Houston and Florida either, but I feel a lead horse like Crenshaw and the home course advantage command your attention in this field."

Harris, who is retiring at age 65 after 26 years as Cowboy coach, lists several darkhorse candidates, including Southern California, Long Beach State, Brigham Young, Wake Forest and Indiana.

"The reason I list Indiana," he said, "is that we're playing on bent grass greens and this will make a difference to the Southern teams."

The stiff southwesterly winds which regularly whip the Stillwater course will also have an effect, he says. The wind blows right in the face of golfers on the third, fourth and fifth holes.

Coahoma Edges Colorado City

Mike Tredaway and Troy Kerby combined to pitch Coahoma by Colorado City 5-4 Friday in Senior League Baseball action.

Dean Wood had a bases loaded triple to get things started for the Coahoma team, and after Jerry Stout drove in the tying run, Larry Stanley slapped another triple and came home on a passed ball for the winning run.

Yankees, Dixon Throttle Angels

Lynn Dixon fashioned a one-hitter and his teammates banged out 12 hits as the Yankees popped the Angels 12-0 in Big Spring Sophomore baseball action Friday.

The Yanks, now 5-2, had 10 runs by the end of two innings, thanks mainly to the bats of Mike Burleson, with three hits, and Dixon, Dennis Dixon and Frankie Rubio, who managed two apiece.

Tony Viera was the losing pitcher. Rice had the Angels' only hit.

HE SPEAKETH — Penn State head football coach Joe Paterno was in Beaver Stadium Saturday — not to tutor football players, but to address the 1973 graduating class. Paterno, who recently turned down a pro coaching job, urged graduates to admit when they are wrong. It was the first time a coach addressed a Penn State class.

HURLERS TELL AARON

No. 715 May Be Easiest

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Aaron has worked very hard for his home runs but if some pitchers have their way, No. 715, the one that breaks Babe Ruth's career mark, will be his easiest.

"I'd throw a medium fastball right down the pike," says St. Louis pitcher Reggie Cleveland. "If he's going to get it off somebody, it might as well be me."

But not if Los Angeles Dodger hurler Andy Messersmith beats him to it. "I'll lay it right in," he says.

Not to be outdone, Houston pitcher Larry Dierker says, "I think I'd throw one right down the middle, just to see what happened."

Come September, if Aaron continues at his present home run clip, he should be nearing Ruth's total of 714 homers. By then the pennant races may be decided but the race to serve Aaron's 715th on a silver platter should be just heating up.

Already the volunteers are stepping forward. Apparently a lot of guys who normally earn their living by throwing baseballs past batters see Aaron's 715th as a clout with a silver lining—and they want to cash in on it.

"Everyone is in this game for money," says Phil Hennigan whose paycheck is signed by the New York Mets. "If it's me, I'll tell him what's coming. It will be a half-speed fastball down the middle. It will be like batting practice. I'd be a fool not to do it."

Met Tug McGraw also thinks that being Aaron's victim No. 715 could be financially rewarding. "I'd throw my best pitch and hope like hell he hits it," says the effervescent McGraw who not only throws a screwball but sometimes acts like one. "I'd be a commodity. I'd always be in demand on the banquet circuit."

Dierker, who doesn't throw a screwball but still owns a reputation for flakiness, wasn't interested in the money. "I wouldn't be doing it to get into the record book or for the endorsements I might get. I'd do it just for the hell of it, because it seems like a crazy thing to do."

Whether there is much demand for a pitcher who gives up a big home run is debatable. But there's no argument that surrendering an historic home run is one way to leave your mark on the game. Tracy Stallard probably would have been forgotten as just another 30-57 pitcher, but for one pitch, the one that Roger Maris deposited in the right field stands at Yankee Stadium for No. 61 in 1961.

San Diego pitcher Bill Greif isn't interested in being recalled that way either. "The guy who gives up No. 715 will be more infamous than famous," he says. "I wouldn't want to be remembered that way."

Cards Visit SA Angels

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Cardinals visit San Angelo's Angels, the only team to defeat the Cards last year, in semi-pro baseball action today at 1:30 p.m.

Orlando Olague will probably be on the mound for the Cardinals, 2-1 winners over the Angels last week, as the team seeks to extend its undefeated string to 11 games.

Joe Martinez or Abel Ramirez will be behind the plate, with Sammy Rodriguez at shortstop, Jimmy Fierro at second, Jody Florez at first and Billy Pineda at third base. In the outfield will be Andy Gamboa, Jessie Zapata, and either John Grizzle or Benny Marquez.

Ismael Paredez, Tony Fierro, William Issen and Joe Cadenhead may also see action as relievers.

HOROSCOPE

CARROL RIGHTER

Sunday, June 17, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you really need to live the Golden Rule if you are to sidestep the pitfalls that could endanger your position in life. Take a good look about you and improve surroundings. Make plans for entering a new phase of life.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You are toying with the idea of changing your whole lifestyle, but this could only lead to trouble. Don't approach a respected higher-up who is in a bad mood. Wait for a better day.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Ideal day to join with wise individuals and make fine mutual plans for the future. A lofty concept is important, although it may b difficult to maintain. Attend the social tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) What you believe to be prophetic may be just the opposite so use good judgement and you stay on the right track. Use a gentle approach with mate and avoid a big quarrel.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Attend to regular routines since any changes now could prove very detrimental to your best interests. Be prepared to take some disappointments in your stride. Be logical.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be more serious about your obligations today and take steps to improve your image with others. Stay on the practical side of life since your intuitions are not good at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good day for encouraging others and making them feel happier, since the aspects are gloomy for almost everyone. Buy a thoughtful gift for mate. Avoid one who likes to argue.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Ideal day to visit an inspiring place where you can appreciate the beauty of nature and restore your spiritual energies. Then you can deal with business and personal matters later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Using extreme care in travel is important now or you could get into trouble. Don't give advice to others unless asked to do so. Think before you speak and improve harmony at home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Attend to the practical tasks that stamp you as a sensible person so that others cannot criticize. Do what you think is best in a personal matter. Show more devotion to loved one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are gentle and kind with those who are troubled, you gain the respect of those who were opposed to you. Show more hospitality in your relationship with others. Be wise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Forget all that gregariousness for the time being and attend to important business matters. Become more practical in all of your dealings. Taking health treatments now is wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Work on more immediate matters instead of those that take a long time to come into proper focus. Don't antagonize a good friend who nags. This person is vital to your welfare. Be patient.

Monday, June 18, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This day is tops.

You can put new arrangements in action and get wonderful results. Accept this chance to expand along lines of best expression for you. Be positive.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Get bigwigs to understand your aims so they give support, then you can soon gain these aims. Get out in the socia whirl and make the right connections. Avoid one who is unfriendly.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Good day to contact the most powerful persons you know and gain the backing you need for your particular aims. Get into civic work you like. Building up your credit is wise, also. Think.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are now able to get into new projects that you can handle vey clevely, creating a fine impression. Making new allies can help you expand more readily. Be sure to pick them carefully, though.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handle debits and credits very carefully and please those with whom you have business dealings. Build more accord with them. The one you love is most devoted. Make the best of this fine evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Listen moe caretully to what a partner's ideas are, although somewhat radical, since they could be quite good and workable. Improve your image with the public in general, whether in bhsiness or personal life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Update your work systems so that you can save time and money and get far better results. Be more cooperative with others. Become a more dynamic person through right exercise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are able to do whatever you most desire today and get fine results. Something very thoughtful for mate is also wise. Think out how to make your financial condition more as you want it to be.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you state your ideas clearly to those at home, you find they will understand and go along with them. Start an upfrend in all of your affairs. Yoursuccess can be comparable to your dreams.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make the appointments early with those you wont to get advice or help from, and keep them on time for good results. After a productive day, enjoy the hobbies you like in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use intelligent methods to add to whatever property and money you may have. Use good judgment and those inspiring ideas. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets who could have been fawning on you for some time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Going after the personal aims that you want takes a little time and effort, but is well worth it. Give attention to good friends and please them more. Avoid one who is sadistic, or you can get into serious trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Once your work is done, be with the one you love and become inspired for the future. Follow your intuition since it is most accurate. Arrive on time for some important appointment you may have made.

TEEN FORUM

TELL HER? (Q.) My best friend is the same age as I am, 18, and she is engaged to my brother. He is in the Marines. They plan to be married when he gets out.

How can I tell her, without hurting her, that she will be in a terrible mess if she marries him? He is lazy, sloppy and has a bad personality.

I should know, because he is my brother. She is adorable and I would hate to see her hurt. — A Sister Who Knows in West Virginia.

(A.) Your friend knows your brother, too. She has made up her mind about him. She may be as good a judge of chracter and personality as you are. Her judgment may even be better than yours.

If you tell her what you think about him she will probably believe you are just trying to be meddlesome. It may cost you her friendship and make her even more determined to marry him.

Dear Dad: Have A Happy Day

By JO BRIGHT

Dad deserves the best every day of the year but, today, he's the king of the mountain — as everybody makes a fuss over father.

He's a very special guy, and everyone is anxious to tell him so.

Today, The Herald spotlight turns to some fathers who spent long years working to rear their families and are now taking a deserved rest in retirement. These gentlemen, who remain in close touch with their families, are residing at either Big Spring Nursing Inn or Mountain View Lodge.

Charles Johnson Brooks, 83, and Mrs. Brooks were married in 1914, and have two daughters, Mrs. Leroy Hollingshead, Big Spring; and Mrs. W. E. Dart, Dallas. There are three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

William O. Leonard, 73, and the late Mattie Hull, were married in 1927. They were the parents of two children, Mrs. Ada Mary Johnson, El Paso, and the late Mrs. Billie Sue Armstrong of Big Spring. There are seven grandchildren.

John E. Brown, 88, is formerly of Dunn. He and the late Mrs. Brown, who died in 1962, have one son, Jeff Brown of Big Spring. There are two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

T. G. Wood, 83, has been a widower since May. He and Mrs. Wood had three children, Milas Wood and Mrs. Pat Boatler, both of Big Spring; and Mrs. G. E. Malone, Fort Worth. There are five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

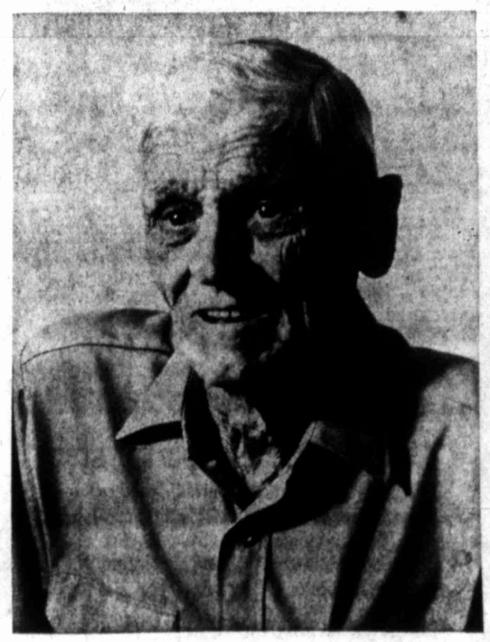

Dalton Lawrence Layman, 65, is the father of five children, one being deceased. The children are Larry Layman, Big Spring; Donita K. Layman, Sayre, Okla.; Mrs. Clara Mae Gillespie, Anaheim, Calif.; and Edgar Dee Layman, New Haven, Conn. There re 11 grandchildren.

E. R. Thompson, 81, was widowed in 1957. His five sons are E. R. Thompson Jr. and Clyde A. Thompson, both of Big Spring; Glen Thompson, Abilene; O'Neal Thompson, Seattle, Wash.; and Leon Thompson, Farmington, N.M. There are 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

John Wesley Warren, 72, has been a widower since 1965. The couple were parents of two children, Mrs. James W. McDonald, Ackerly, and John W. Warren Jr. of Kansas City, Mo. There are five grandchildren.

Adolph Ben Halfmann, 82, and his wife, who died in 1966, had eight children, two of whom are deceased. The surviving children are Mrs. John Cline and Mrs. Grace McDaniel, both of Big Spring; Mrs. Robert Conner, Midland; and Ross Halfmann, Walter Halfmann and Ralph Halfmann, all of St. Lawrence. There are 27 grandchildren.

Nat Shick, local postmaster for over 20 years, and Mrs. Shick were married Dec. 19, 1907. They are both currently residing at Big Spring Nursing Inn. Their only daughter, Mrs. Granville Dawson, and her husband have recently retired and returned to Big Spring to make their home.

Couples Observe Wedding Anniversaries At Reception

Mr. and Mrs. James Banks and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. (Son) Dunagan observed their 25th wedding anniversaries Friday with a reception from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the Patio Room of Holiday Inn. The couples have been close friends since high school days.

A white lace cloth covered the refreshment table, and the centerpiece was a silver candelabrum arranged with white flowers. Milk glass appointments were used. The cake was decorated with silver bells and the inscription, "Banks and Dunagan — 1948."

The women were presented white and silver corsages, and the men wore white boutonnieres.

Mr. and Mrs. Banks were married June 23, 1948 in Big Spring. Mrs. Banks is the former Doris Jean Harbison Boney, daughter of Mrs. Nancy Grantham and Ted Harbison, both of Big Spring.

Banks, who was born at Loraine, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Banks Sr. A resident of Howard County since 1929, he has been in the auto repair business for many years. He is an auto mechanics instructor at Howard County Junior College and is an antique auto collector and enthusiast. Mrs. Banks is operator of Spring Health Center, Sand Springs. They are members of Sand Springs Church of Christ where Banks is an elder.

The couple has four children, Cary, Dallas; Rusty, Lamesa; Jake, Sand Springs; and Toyah, Sand Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunagan, both natives of Big Spring, were married here April 2, 1948. She is the former Geneva Ruth Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilmore of Big Spring. Dunagan is the son of R. C. Dunagan, Elbow, and the late Mrs. Dunagan.

Dunagan has worked at Cosden Refinery since 1949, and his wife is employed in the Security Police Division, Webb Air Force Base.

They have a son, Dennis, of Big Spring, and a daughter, Mrs. Michael (Connie) Lewis, Canyon.

Miss Banks and Mrs. Lewis served as hostesses.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Senter and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Senter, all of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howell, Lubbock; and Mrs. Ruth Holmes, Midland.

Flowers Add To Wedding Rites

Flowers will be an important part of the wedding, making the first impression on your guests as they enter, and adding a touch of festivity. They will enhance the bride's gown and those of her attendants, and she may choose from a number of possibilities.

The bride's bouquet may be a formal, traditional arrangement or simply a single rose. She might want a circlet of daisies around her wrist with streamers flowing to the hemline of her skirt.

Flowers on a family Bible are a favorite of many brides. A wedding taking place in a garden setting might be enhanced by everyone carrying garlands of polished English ivy.

MRS. RUSSELL ANDREW NEEFE

Couple United In Marriage

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Nancy Susan Barr and Russell Andrew Neefe at 7 p.m., Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church.

The altar was flanked by pedestal arrangements of white gladioli and lavender carnations. A branched candelabrum, entwined with foliage, centered an archway.

The rites were performed by the Rev. R. Earl Price, pastor. A prelude of nuptial music was played by Frank Wharton, organist, and Miss Jerri Reed was vocalist.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. George R. Colvin Jr., 105 Jonesboro, and Richard Barr of Dallas. Neefe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neefe Sr., 2701 Rebecca.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin overlaid with white silk organza. The high-rise bodice topped a gathered skirt which extended to a deep ruffle edged with picot lace. Matching lace formed a cape collar and high neckline adorned with seed pearls. Long full sleeves ended in deep lace cuffs, and her chapel-length illusion veil was held with a bandeau of lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses with small lavender carnations and streamers.

Miss Billie Shelton of Andrews served as maid of honor, wearing a formal-length gown of lavender silk organza. The dress featured a low ruffled neckline, and she wore a white garden hat with lavender ribbons. Her nosegay was of miniature lavender carnations.

Charles Neefe Jr., who is assigned with the Navy in Honolulu, Hawaii, served his brother as best man, and ushers were Michael Gafford, Fort Worth; and Randall Trevilion, Burkburnett.

Tommy Hill, San Angelo, was ring bearer, and altar tapers were lighted by Linda Barr and James Colvin, the bride's sister and brother.

The newlyweds will reside in Big Spring following a trip to points in Texas and Mexico. Mrs. Neefe attended Big Spring High School, Bossier City High School in Bossier City, La., and Commercial College of Odessa.

Neefe graduated from Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College. He attended the University of Hawaii and is currently employed as manager of Neefe Optical Lab, Big Spring.

A reception honored the couple in the church fellowship hall. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white satin cloth overlaid with white lace. The centerpiece was an arrangement of lavender carnations and statice encircling white candles. Silver and crystal appointments were used. Mrs. Tommy Hill, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

Morrison, Quitaque; Mrs. C. W. Trevilion, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Stubblefield, Ruel Lasseter, Miss Patsy Lasseter, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stubblefield, all of Burkburnett.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted Friday evening by the bridegroom's parents at K.C. Steak House.

Mrs. Heckler, who was attired in a floor-length, white dotted Swiss dress, was presented a corsage of yellow daisy mums. Similar corsages were presented to her mother, Mrs. Joy Harmon, and her husband's mother, Mrs. Albert M. Heckler.

Refreshments were served from a polished table appointed with silver and crystal. Centering the table was an arrangement of summer flowers flanked by yellow candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Heckler, who were married May 26, are residing in Big Spring.

MRS. NATHAN H. BAKER

Rites Held At Sand Springs

Miss Lesa V. Bruton became the bride of Nathan H. Baker during a ceremony at 7:30 p.m., Friday in Sand Springs Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bruton, Route 1, Box 636, and Baker is the son of Mrs. Audie Baker, 407 Donley, Big Spring, and Alvin L. Baker of Coahoma.

The Rev. Jim Fields of Odessa, former pastor of Sand Springs Baptist Church, officiated before an archway of greenery and daisies accented with white doves. The arch was flanked by candelabra, and baskets of daisies and blue carnations completed the setting.

Vocalists were Miss Cheryl Shafer and Miss Teresa Duke, both of Coahoma. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Chesley Wilson, organist.

For her attire, the bride chose a formal-length gown fashioned in white satin with nylon net overlay. The empire waistline was outlined with lace, and a lace yoke extended to form a ruffled lace collar. Long full sleeves reached deep cuffs edged with a ruffle. Her illusion veil was held with a cluster of nylon petals outlined with pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade arrangement of white and blue carnations tied with long satin streamers.

Miss Becky Hayes of Coahoma was maid of honor, and Miss Connie Tucker was bridesmaid. Serving as bridesmatrons were Mrs. Joe Post and Mrs. Bobby McCormick, both of Big Spring.

The attendants wore floor-length blue gowns styled with A-line skirts, short sleeves and high necklines. In their hair, they wore bands of blue flowers with long blue streamers, and they carried bouquets of blue carnations on white fans.

Serving as best man was Bill Bailey, and groomsmen were Richard Bruton, brother of the bride; Joe Post and Bobby Lee McCormick. Ushers were Robert Baker and Jimmy Baker, brothers of the bridegroom.

Donna Nell Myers was flower girl, and David Tillapaugh was ring bearer. Lighting the altar tapers was Ray Don Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker will reside at 606 W. 6th, Big Spring, when they return from a trip to the Dallas and Fort Worth areas. She attends Coahoma High School and is employed at Cowper Clinic and Hospital. Baker attended Big Spring High School and is currently employed at Bill Sheppard Contractors.

The couple was honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. The serving tables were laid with white cloths and accented with blue streamers. Appointments were of crystal and silver, and the tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Serving were Mrs. Don Myers, Mrs. Bill Tucker, Mrs. Marion Hayes and Miss Spring Winters of Vincent.

Relatives attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Fields, Odessa; Mrs. Bobbie Cornileson, Fort Worth; and Richard Bruton, Arlington.

Rebekahs Hold Memorial Ritual

A memorial service for members of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 who died in the past year was led by Mrs. W. C. Cole Tuesday at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. C. C. Forrest was musician, and other assisting with the program were Mrs. Grady Beck, Mrs. Gladys Sudberry, Mrs. Ralph LaLonde, Mrs. U. S. Beechly, Mrs. Wynell Rayburn and Mrs. Pauline Petty.

Mrs. A. I. Johnson presided during business, and 16 members reported 38 visits to the sick. Following business, the women attended "friendship night" hosted by Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284.

Give Guests 2-Week Notice

Invitations to a shower should be kept simple and be issued about two weeks before the scheduled date. A short informal note, one of the many shower invitation cards available in stationery stores, or a simple phone call will do.

If a special type of gift is expected, the invitation should say so. Only close friends of the guest of honor are invited, for the bride-to-be wants to be surrounded by those who mean the most to her.

In addition, since a gift is mandatory, it would be an imposition to invite a person who normally would not give one.

Spring Flowers

Let the spring flowers blossom on jewelry. Flower rings, pins and brooches will perk up any outfit.

Headpiece Must Go With Gown

Picking a headpiece to compliment her gown is often the most fun for a bride. It should be in keeping with the style of the bride's gown.

Many spring brides are choosing garden hats with wide brims. The Renaissance look is very popular with Juliet caps being chosen frequently.

Some brides are choosing a circlet of flowers to wear in their hair and some prefer a simple bow with very long streamers falling from the back.

Whatever the bride chooses, she should try it on keeping in mind the style in which she will be wearing her hair on her wedding day.

Church Scene Of Ceremony

An altar flanked by spiral candelabra provided the setting for the wedding of Miss Cynthia Dianne Hingst and Tom Carl Hadley at 7 p.m., Saturday in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Vernon.

The rites were performed by the Rev. Roy Jacob of Vernon and the Rev. Carroll Kohl, Big Spring. A background of traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Clarence Graf, organist; and T. H. Daberkow, vocalist.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hingst, Vernon, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hadley, 1214 E. 18th, Big Spring.

The bride wore a full-length gown of white taffeta overlaid with sheer organza, the empire bodice styled in Chantilly lace and featuring a high round collar and bishop sleeves. The A-line skirt, bordered with lace and seed pearls, extended to form a cathedral train. She wore a Juliet cap which held her lace edged fingertip-length veil, and she carried a cascade of carnations, stephanotis and babies'-breath.

The bride's sister, Miss Susan Hingst, was maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Connie Hadley, Topeka, Kan. was bridesmaid, along with Miss Janice Lindmeyer of St. Louis, Mo.

Pale blue crepe formed the attendants' floor-length gowns which featured short puffed sleeves and high collars which were accented with pearls and pleated lace. Small bows highlighted the back wasitlines. Their headpieces were Juliet caps holding short blue crepe veils trimmed with pearls and lace, and they carried nosegays of blue carnations and babies'-breath with white streamers.

Spec. 4 William Davis of Wagonfeld, Germany was best man, and groomsmen were Alvin Choitz, Ellsworth, Kan.; and Kirk Poovey, Clearwater, Kan. Ushers were Doyle Graham Jr., Chillicothe; and James Golden Jr., Austin.

Miss Shelly Hingst was flower girl, attired like the other bridal attendants. Ring bearer was Karl Mueller, Carpentersville, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Hadley are on a trip to Branson, Mo. and the surrounding Ozark area, after which they will reside at 1729 Red Bird Cove, Brentwood, Mo.

MRS. TOM C. HADLEY

Hadley graduated from St. John's Academy and Junior College Winfield, Kan., and from Concordia Senior College, Fort Wayne, Ind. He plans to continue his studies at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., to prepare for Lutheran ministry.

Mrs. Hadley graduated from high school in Vernon and attended St. John's Junior College. She graduated from Concordia Teacher's College, Seward, Neb., and will teach at Salem Lutheran School, Florissant, Mo.

A reception honored the newlyweds in the church parlor, where the serving table was covered with a white cloth with a ruffled organza skirt. Appointments were crystal and silver, and the tiered cake was topped with a gold Christogram. Those serving were Ms. Mary Golden, Ms. Dianna Graf, Ms. Lana Greschel, Mrs. Kay Farris and Ms. Eddie Lou Graf.

Attending from out-of-town were the Rev. and Mrs. George Fickenscher, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. William Davis Jr., Midland; and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Roth, Fort Wayne, Ind.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Wilbarger Auditorium in Vernon.

Reception Introduces Ann Black

Mr. and Mrs. Weiland Brown hosted an introductory reception Saturday for Miss Ann Black of Dallas, fiancee of their son, Dan Weiland. The affair was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams, 1301 Tucson, with calling hours from 8 to 10 p.m.

Receiving guests with the honoree were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Black of Dallas. Miss Black, who was attired in a long pink dress with full, sheer sleeves, was presented a corsage of white carnations. Similar corsages were worn by the mothers.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white linen cutwork cloth. A crystal punch bowl and silver coffee service were placed at opposite ends of the table, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of summer flowers.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Brown, Fort Worth.

The engaged couple will be married July 21 in Dallas. Both are teachers in the Fort Worth public schools.

David Eugene Salters Will Live In Midland

(Curley's Studio)

MRS. DAVID EUGENE SALTER

Mr. and Mrs. David Eugene Salter are on a trip to Corpus Christi and Brownsville following their wedding at eight o'clock Saturday evening in the College Baptist Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. G. Newcomer, a retired minister. The couple stood at a heart-shaped archway entwined with greenery. Flanking the altar were baskets of gladioli and assorted spring flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold James Lloyd, Route 1, Knott, and Salter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Salter, Cherry Hill, N. J.

Mrs. Raymond Stevenson of Conroe, organist, and Miss Lynn Hopper of Knott, pianist, provided traditional music and accompanied Mrs. Bruce Parker, Ackerly, vocalist.

The bride was attired in a formal-length gown fashioned in white bridal satin with full bishop sleeves which were gathered to wide cuffs accented with pearl buttons. The high waistline was enhanced with a satin bow in the back, and bands of scalloped Venise lace with pearls extended down the front of the A-line skirt. The skirt formed a chapel-length train, and her elbow-length illusion veil fell from a cluster of petals and bows. She carried a bouquet of white camellias and lily of the valley, centered with an orchid tied with purple and white streamers.

Mrs. Leslie Zant of Lubbock served as matron of honor, and bridesmatrons were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. David Sawyer, Norfolk, Va.; and Mrs. Richard Pitts, Ackerly.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of orchid taffeta overlaid with sheer flocked organza and fashioned with high waistlines. They carried nosegays of orchid and purple camellias.

Attendants for the bridegroom were Aunie Sellers of Ralls, best man; and Lance Hopper of Knott and David Cook of Dallas, groomsmen. The bride's brother, Douglas Lloyd, served as usher with Jimmy Jarrell, Lubbock.

A reception honored the newlyweds in the church fellowship hall, where guests were registered by Mrs. Mike Shockley. A skirted orchid illusion cloth, overlaid with white lace, covered the serving table, where the tiered cake was topped with doves and wedding bells. Orchid and purple spring flowers formed the centerpiece. The bridegroom's table was covered with a gold linen cloth and centered with a candle.

Refreshments were served by Miss Kathy Lloyd, Mrs. Freddie Hodnett, Miss Becky Awtry, Odessa; Mrs. Benny Carter, Natchitoches, La.; and Miss Shirley Blackburn, Waco.

The newlyweds will reside at 719 W. Louisiana, Midland. Mrs. Salter graduated from Sands High School and was formerly employed by Household Finance Corporation in Big Spring. Salter attended high school in Port Arthur and graduated from Cherry Hill West High School, Cherry Hill, N.J. He graduated from Texas Tech and is currently employed by Texaco, Inc., Midland.

Relatives attending the wedding from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blackburn, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. James Salter, Zwolle, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Awtry, Odessa; Mike Salter, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stephenson, Meadow; Dave Sawyer, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Jesse Reed and Mrs. Max Reed, both of Sidney.

Miss Sherri Arrick Honored At Shower

Miss Sherri Arrick, who was married this weekend to Charles Wisener, was honored with a gift shower Thursday in the home of Mrs. B. F. McCreary, 1302 E. 18th.

Miss Arrick Weds Charles D. Wisener

Miss Sherri Donette Arrick became the bride of Charles D. (Pete) Wisener in an afternoon ceremony Saturday in First United Methodist Church. The Rev. J. B. Sharp, pastor, served as officiant, and the vocalist was Dwayne Clawson. A prelude of nuptial selections featured Mrs. Donald Richardson, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. J. Arrick, 1210 E. 18th, and the late Mr. Arrick. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wisener of Carrollton.

The wedding party stood before an altar setting enhanced with massive arrangements of pink gladioli and white chrysanthemums. The same flowers were used in a horizontal arrangement on the altar table, and banked ferns completed the scene.

The bride was attired in a formal, full-length gown of white bridal satin, the pearl-adorned bodice topping the soft fullness of the A-line skirt. The bodice was fashioned with a lowered, squared neckline, and cuffs of the full, Victorian sleeves were trimmed with seed pearls. Her jeweled Camelot cap anchored a chapel-length veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses showered with picot streamers.

Walton Beach, Fla., were the flower girls and were attired identically to the other attendants. Eric Larimore, Ft. Walton Beach, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom's sisters, Miss Jonna Wisener and Mrs. Mike McCreary, both of Dallas, presided at the guest register.

Reporter's Job Called Rewarding

"Why Would Anyone Want to be a Reporter?" was the program given by Marj Carpenter, Herald reporter, when she was guest speaker Thursday for Altrusa Club at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Carpenter said the job of reporter offers an opportunity to be involved in community activities, as well as providing a wide range of interesting and exciting experiences. She related novel incidences encountered during her career. She pointed out that being a reporter is "not for people who like wealth, security or leisure time."

Mrs. W. H. Kay presided and read a letter of resignation from Mrs. G. C. Broughton Jr. Guests were Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. R. W. Middleton.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. William Charles Stovall III, Sterling City Route, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Karen Diane, to Lt. R. Warren Gale Jr. of Abilene. A LOVELIER YOU

All-Climate Coat Is Must For Travelers

By MARY SUE MILLER

Suddenly it's summer. And the travel-bent Lovely needs a rain-sun-cold-heat-soil-resistant coat suddenly.

What sort of coat fills every requirement? Think warmth first. How cold will it be at stopovers after dark? If your itinerary takes you to Scandinavian fjords, you'll want a lightweight wool tweed or knit, or cotton blends with zip-in lining. In warmer climes cotton polyester nylon — all blends — give sufficient protection.

A handtag or care label fills you in on a fabric's treatments against rain, soil and wrinkle. With these practicalities ticked off, style and color — the fun parts — flick on. From travelers' reports khaki trenchcoats fare best on rugged jaunts.

White double-breasted coats, often alligator quilted, star in the big cities by day and night. Water green, palest beige, no-color pink and blue, navy are much in evidence. As are sashes, back belts, patch pockets, knee-lengths.

Of course there are all manner of variations, from wild plaids to tent widths. Just consider that your coat has far to go, looking ti Lovely American — like you.

WINNING MANNERS

To open a door on increased poise and popularity, send for my booklet, "Winning Manners." Topics included are Introductions, Invitations, Table Manners, The Charming Hostess, You — The Guest, Dating Manners, Formal Dances, Travel Tips and Tipping, Small Points, like when to wear a hat or check your coat. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin, and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Anything Goes In Spring Bags

According to the National tion, materials for the spring bags are as diverse as silhouettes. They include: glossy patent, plenty of soft leather and leather look-alikes, ostrich for dressing up, canvas and tapestries for easy casuals.

Rebekah Team Will Practice

Mrs. Everett Hood, district deputy president for John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge, has requested that all incoming officers and members of the installing team remain for practice after the regular meeting Tuesday.

Sanctuary Is Scene Of Nuptials Saturday

Miss Donna Ervin and Gary Grissam exchanged nuptial vows at 7:30 p.m., Saturday in the First Christian Church, with Chaplain Lee Butler of Veterans Administration Hospital officiating.

The church was decorated with standing baskets of white gladioli and carnations, interspersed with emerald foliage. Traditional nuptial music was played by Mrs. Bob Simpson, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ervin, 2604 E. 24th, and Grissam is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Grissam, 3619 Dixon.

For her attire, the bride chose a formal-length gown fashioned in white lace over taffeta with a scooped neckline which was trimmed with seed pearls. Long sleeves were gathered to a wide band, and the high waistline featured a satin bow at the back. The softly gathered skirt swept to a chapel-length train, and a satin band embellished with scalloped lace and seed pearls held her waist-length veil. She carried a bouquet of Frenched white carnations with garlands of English ivy and accents of gypsophilia.

Miss Katie Kernodle, maid of honor, wore a mint green floor-length gown of dotted organza. White lace and green ribbons accented the waistline.

Serving as bridesmaid was Miss Cindy Williams. She wore a light yellow gown of dotted organza, styled like Miss Kernodle's. Both attendants carried nosegays of white and yellow daisies with highlights of gypsophilia and green satin streamers.

BEST MAN

David Pickle served as best man, and the bridegroom's brother, Spec. 5 Charley M. Grissam of San Antonio, was groomsman. Ushers were Gene Lee of Austin, the bridegroom's brother-in-law; and Gary Ervin, the bride's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Grissam were honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall. An ornate silver candelabrum, holding yellow candles and a bouquet of yellow spider mums and daisies, centered the serving table, which was covered with a floor-length white net cloth. The table was overlaid with lace-edged scallops of white organza. The tiered cake was decorated with yellow flowers.

Haunting Past

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl with an ugly past. I have "made love" with so many lovers that I now wonder if it will ever be an expression of real love when I would like it to be.

There is someone who probably will be asking me to share love with him, I'm sure. I desperately want to avoid going into another affair in which I will be another sexy pastime for someone to trip with. All of my past affairs have ended in my having contempt for the fellows. I don't want to make that mistake again.

I am now going with someone who seems to care for me as a person. He hasn't pressured me for sex. He knows that I have had lovers and that if he pushed the matter he probably could include himself on the list. Yet, so far, he hasn't.

What do I say if our relationship develops into a really serious love? He will think I'm playing games if I say "no" to him when he knows I've said "yes" to others.

I have learned that if a sexual involvement is held off, if the relationship survives it must be for other reasons, which will give me self-respect and feeling of worth as a person.

What do you think, Abby?

HOLDING OFF

DEAR HOLDING: You have the right idea. You can say "no" with integrity today even though you have said "yes" yesterday because you have learned from your mistakes. You are confusing "making love" and "having sex." You have had sex, you haven't really made love yet.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman and I call myself a divorcee. It's nothing to be ashamed of. Practically every other woman you meet nowadays is a divorcee.

I have this friend who was married for nine years. She and her husband fought all the time, and they finally got a divorce. About three months after the divorce was final, her ex-husband dropped dead of a heart attack. This friend now goes around passing herself off as a widow. She thinks it will get her sympathy, and maybe improve her chances of getting another husband.

Personally, I don't think it will help her much. I'd like your opinion.

DIVORCED AND ADMITS IT

DEAR DIVORCED: Statistics show that more divorcees than widows remarry. But if your friend thinks she'll get more sympathy as a widow than a divorcee, she's right. In spades!

* * *

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self addressed envelope, please.

Busy Bee Club Sees Purse Craft

Mrs. Dorothy Earhart illustrated the art of making purses Thursday for Busy Bee Hobby Club at the Texas Electric Reddy Room. She displayed several purses she made using knit fabric, lunch boxes, wooden and plastic boxes. Some were decoupaged, and some were gold leafed.

The speaker showed how to make a lunch box purse, beginning with cleaning and removing any rust. She sprayed it with a rust preventive finish and painted it. She then used glue to attach decorative material and floral medallions, and then added two coats of gesso. Finally, she spray-painted the box.

Mrs. James Norman, a new member, won the attendance prize. The next meeting will be Thursday at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room, with a program on porcelain roses.

"Let me tell you something that we Israelis have against Moses. He took us 40 years through the desert in order to bring us to the one spot in the Middle East that has no oil." Premier Golda Meir of Israel in a speech at a state dinner for Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany.

Blacksmith Once Worked On Cars

When Big Spring's first car collision occurred 60 years ago today, there was one answer to the problem.

Take the cars to a blacksmith shop.

Most everything was beaten into shape or tacked back into place, or, in the cases of smashed wheels, etc. replaced in part and seldom in whole.

The three score intervening years have wrought great changes in the approach to this business of automobiles running into each other, striking abutments or rolling over.

SPECIALISTS

The blacksmith, a general artist in his own way, has been superseded by artist with a precise specialty — the bodyman. He's not easy to come by; one operator said it takes at least three years to train a good metal man.

Big Spring alone has a dozen shops which devote their time and energies to repairing and refinishing damaged cars.

While precise figures are lacking, reports from several body shows indicate that there are 65 to 75 employes in a dozen shops. Their aggregate annual payroll approximates $300,000 to $350,000. Together, the business volume of business approaches a million dollars a year. Of course, some of this comes from out of town, but then some locally owned cars fall on evil days and into out-of-town shops, too.

Body repair — or perhaps restoration is a better word — is getting down to an exact science. Some owners complain that body replacement is a more accurate term, but there is a sound reason for the disposition to replace rather than to repair — economics. It's simply less expensive to put in a new fender than it is to try and straighten, weld and refinish an old one because to go this route would involve much time consuming, highly skilled labor.

EQUIPMENT INVESTMENT

Whereas, the blacksmith had his forage, his anvil, hammers, metal snippers, crowbars and tongs, today's well-equipped body shop maintains an expensive inventory of equipment.

It takes accurate, specialized apparatus equipment to detect a sprain or bend of a frame, and massive equipment to bend these back into shape and line.

"You're talking about $1,500 just for one of these jacks," noted one operator. And it takes several of varying power and size. It also takes an array of grinders, drill presses, sanders, clamps, bars, etc, plus a well-equipped paint shop. And besides the investment of the plant in equipment, each worker generally has his own set of hand tools.

GLASS-TOOL

Still another specialty is the replacement of glass. It's almost impossible to have a mishap without sacrificing glass. It's not like putting in simple window pane, either, for most of the glass is high-test safety, shatter proof type that comes in contoured or moulded forms. Moreover, if the body has been sprung, it takes a lot of tedious work to fit that windshield or window back as snugly as it was originally. Again, this has led to establishment of glass ships.

The modern body shop would be lost without its library. Here are volumes of parts numbers on various models and makes of cars going back years and years. And these must be updated constantly to reflect availability and price. Since some insurance companies require that the owner get two or estimates on costs of body repair, the operator must be able to promptly figure parts, transportation, plus the amount of labor usually required to make the change.

If the parts library is exacting, it is no more so than the paint books.

HENRY'S CHOICE

Henry Ford once was quoted as saying that he would give his customers any color they wanted so long as it was black. And originally he and other makers applied black oil based paint with a brush — and the repairman did the same.

That long since has been changed. Each car emerged from the manufacture with a code plate, which includes, among other things, codes that pin-point a mix of paint. Most shops order paint in pint or larger amounts according to codes, but some go to their books and dig out the specifications in order to mix according to the original formula. Some highly specialized shops use spectographic equipment to nail down a mix.

And when it's all over, you can't tell where the original paint left off and the new takes over. One reason for that is the improvement in finishes. Paints gave away to tougher enamels and lacquers, which eventually were sprayed on then baked. Then came the synthetic enamels and lacquers, then the acryllics (enamel and lacquers) which apply smoothly dry rapidly (within half an hour or so) and hold fast their color.

There is no record of what happened to the battered hulks of the first two cars which arrived at the same time and place on South Scurry Street, but it is safe to say that it was weeks before either was able to chug off — worse for the war. Today, wrecked cars wrinkled like a prune can emerge within a few days shining like new.

Catfish Cost Men $7,000

MATHIS, Tex. (AP) — A fondness for catfish cost three men $7,000 in fines recently at Mathis near Lake Corpus Christi.

The three were arrested with 1,580 channel and flathead (yellow) catfish weighing from three ounces to 27 pounds. The fish were in the men's boat on the lake.

Pleas of guilty on charges of exceeding the catfish limit of 25 per person were entered before Justice of the Peace Ernst L. Ridenour of Mathis by William Robert Rich of Zapata, 15 counts, fined $3,000; James G. David of Zapata, 10 counts, fined $2,000; and Byrl G. Reid of Mesquite, 10 counts, fined $2,000.

The arrests came after a week of surveillance by game wardens of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

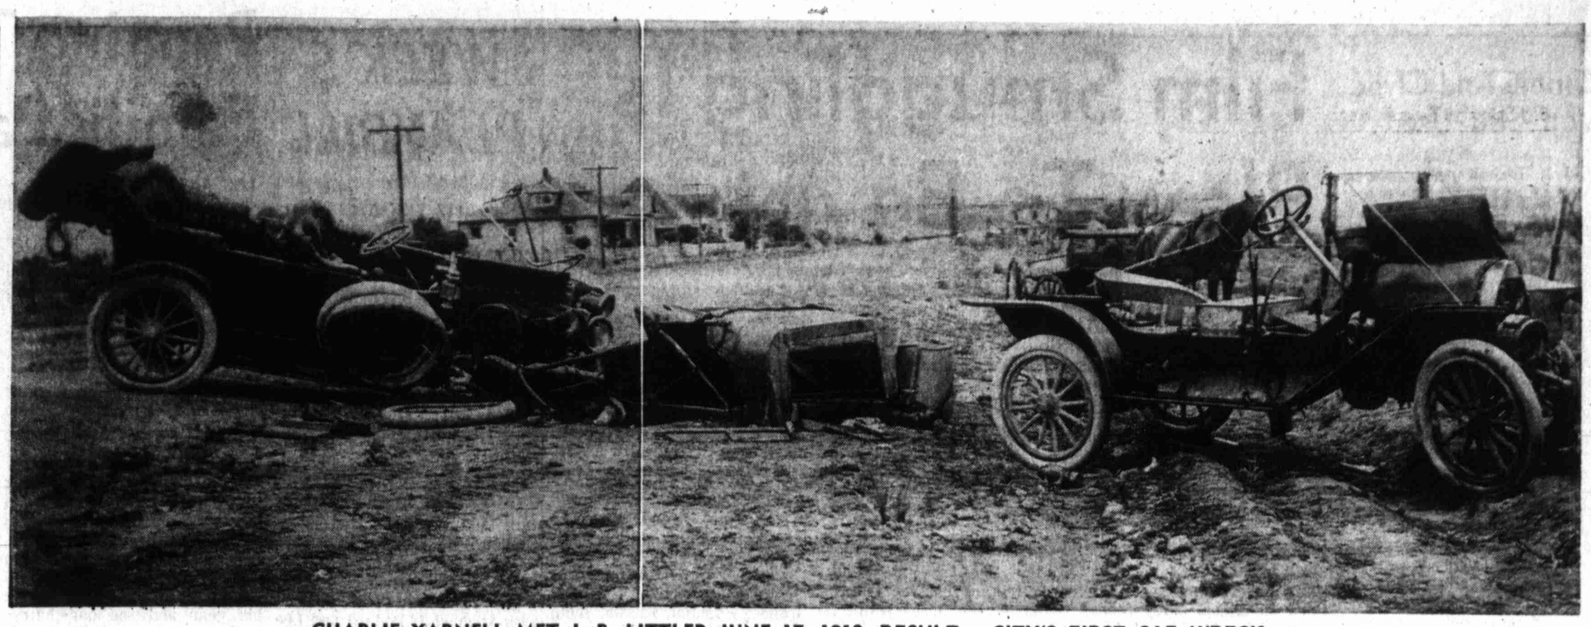

During that time, according to Stetson Reed, director of the law enforcement division, the men were observed removing a reported 2,700 pounds of fish from Lake Corpus Christi and had more and 1,000 pounds of catfish at the time of arrest by a team of 20 wardens.

Reed reported that 14 nylon fish traps each capable of containing 1,000 pounds of fish were confiscated.

Person To Person

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (AP) — Actor George C. Scott, despite a beard, long bush coat and a baseball cap, was readily recognized when he stopped to make a phone call in a cafe.

"I'd better never commit a serious crime," Scott quipped as he autographed a waitress' scratch pad. "I'd never get away with it."

CHARLIE YARNELL MET J. B. LITTLER JUNE 17, 1913: RESULT — CITY'S FIRST CAR WRECK

Curious Flocked To View Result Of County's First Auto Wreck

By JOE PICKLE

Sixty years ago today, John B. Littler, driving his EMF, and Charlie Yarnell, driving what may have been a White, met at 10:30 p.m. on Scurry Street just above 15th.

The result: Big Spring's first car wreck.

So far as is known, there were no appreciable injuries to the drivers, but both cars were much worse for the wear.

There being no radio and limited telephone service, word didn't get around until next day. But, as one long-time resident recalled:

"We all turned out to see it like it was a circus."

One of the town's photographers was thoughtful enough to chronicle the wreckage on film.

"NOT READY"

Wyatt Eason, whose consuming interest was automobiles in those days, remembers the incident.

"I don't know what they did with the wreckage. We had a couple of garages, but they sold and repaired cars. Nobody had had any wrecks — so they weren't ready for this."

Judge Littler's horseless carriage (at right in the picture) was put out by Studebaker, maker of fine wagons. In order to not confuse the public image, the car was marketed under the name of EMF (E. M. Flanders, president of the company). A later model was known as Flanders, and ultimately as Studebaker.

Eason is not certain about the Yarnell car being put out by White, but he has a strong feeling it was. He worked for Yarnell at a laundry. Littler was an attorney.

Automobiles weren't exactly new in Big Spring, but a collision of them was.

"I don't know how true it was," recalled Eason, "but Big Spring had a reputation of having more cars than Fort Worth, Dallas, or Houston. This was because a lot of promotors either owned or hired them to transport prospective buyers to land promotion sites. One of these was W. P. Soash, who was selling off the Col. C. C. Slaughter ranchland; another was C. W. Post, the cereal maker, who established his dream city at Post, in Garza County."

Most of the familiar names in automobiles of today were now known then. Ford had just moved strongly into the market; so had Nash. The more predominant names were Stoddard-Dayton, American Underslung, Stern, Pope-Toledo, etc. White had come out originally with a steam-powered car but switched to the piston motor.

By the time the cars began taking hold here, they had graduated from the single cylinder to four (although there were still a few two-cylinder models).

Oddly, the steamers were the speedy ones, being capable of some 50 mph for an extremely short stretch (before the pressure dropped). Several of the reciprocal motors could hit around 40 mph, but a more realistic speed was about 20 mph top cruising. So the Littler-Yornell Collision was a low-speed affair.

But Judge Littler was something of a speed fancier, Eason recalls, for he once left here at 4 a.m. and reached Fort Worth some 18 hours later, hitting an unheard of average of 18 mph. Other old timers said the judge had an incentive — he wanted to hit Cowtown before the bars closed.

The town's two garages were off Fourth and Main. One of these was Miles & Shumway, for whom Eason worked at one time. Charlie Miles later developed the double-seal piston and made a fortune. Another product that came out of those early days was a car that laid claim to being the world's first six-cylinder automobile. W. B. Chenoweth disputed the theory that motors had to run in multiples of two-four or eight cylinders, and designed a car built by Charlie H. Miles. The chain-driven affair was demonstrated in 1906 on the race track in eastern Big Spring, where Washington Place now is located.

SPAWNS INDUSTRIES

The city always has been automobile oriented. By the late 20's, there were a dozen automobile agencies competing vigorously for business. This has dwindled to seven (there are nearly three dozen dealing in used cars) but consider that the sales record has gone up and up. Already this registration year (starting Feb. 1), Howard County has registered 17,174 passenger cars.

Many other commercial enterprises have been generated by this volume of trading in cars. For instance, there are 11 automobile parts and supplies stores, not counting car dealers and discount stores. As mentioned elsewhere on this page, there are 12 body repair shops, plus glass and upholstery specialists. A vast business has sprung up in automobile insurance. Half a dozen places major in automobile tires. There are 34 garages for repairs (including dealerships), and 93 gasoline-and-oil service stations in Big Spring alone.

Auto Insurance Premiums Cost $1,150,000 A Year

What happened after two cars collided June 17, 1913, the first record of a car wreck in Big Spring?

Well, nobody really knows. It's a safe bet that each party to the crash took care of his own damages, and that was that. There may have been such a thing as car insurance, but if so, none on this West Texas frontier had heard about it.

All that has changed.

Today, car insurance is a multi-million dollar business in this area. And so is the business of claims arising out of it.

PREMIUMS

The Texas Insurance Commission does not break out its statistics county by county unless the county reaches a certain size. For that reason, Big Spring and Howard County are lumped in what is known as the West Texas Oilfield territory (comprised of Ector, Midland, Howard and Scurry counties).

In 1971, passenger car owners in these counties paid $9,669,845 in premiums. The 10,598 claims incurred or paid amounted to $5,107,969. Using the same formula as the state uses for its computation (i.e. 95 per cent of registered cars as cars in use, and 80 per cent of the cars in use being insured for bodily injury), it is possible to come up with the approximation that Howard County premiums are about $1,150,000 a year and claims approaching a million.

Records of the city of Big Spring for mishaps within the corporate limits, and the Texas Department of Public Safety for those outside Big Spring, show that last year there were 1,581 automobile accidents in Howard County. Of this, 275 involved personal injury, and there were eight fatalities.

What's the trend? This is conjectural, but it's likely not getting any better. If the record of May 1973 inside Big Spring is typical, the year will produce something like 1,400 mishaps, as compared with 1,374 for last year inside the city. It's not a big gain, but a gain nevertheless in the face of rapidly rising costs. So the claims total could go up — and you can be sure that when that continues, the premiums will climb.

LOSS RATIOS

In the West Texas Oilfield territory the trend in loss ratios seems to be levelling off at .60 cents out of every dollar in premiums for bodily injury and .70 cents in property damage. Out of that margin the companies pay commissions, pay for operating overhead and have to maintain reserves for losses — and for unexpected losses. For instance, the normal paid losses for comprehensive (glass breakage, hail damage, etc.) is around $300,000. But in 1968 this suddenly jumped up to $1,289,000 and the next year was $707,000 due to severe hail damage.

There appears to be a trend to more and more car owners doing without this type of insurance — playing the odds. For instance, in the West Texas Oilfield group, 23,000 car owners carried comprehensive in 1962; this was down to 13,000 in 1971. Correspondingly the number of claims dropped from 5,000 to 1,900.

LESS FOR OWN

Latest available figures show that on a state basis, about four out of every five cars are covered with bodily injury and property damage (liability) insurance. But when it comes to protecting one's own car against damage, the coverage falls about half — from 76,455 with liability protection to 34,733 carrying $100 deductible on their own cars.

Ten years ago car insurance premiums ran about $5,000,000 in the West Texas Oilfields, or $4,500,000 less than now. But consider that then there were some 58,000 insured cars against 76,500 now.

Consider also that costs are rising.

Back in 1928, a Chevrolet 490 Supreme, a top line four-door sedan, cost $500 with all the extras. Fire and theft insurance amounted to $14; on a $50 deductible collision was $20; bodily injury $12, property damage up to $4,000 was $8 — a total of $54 insurance.

DIFFERENCES

Today, a 1973 Impala, top-line four-door sedan, costs $4,800. Fire and theft insurance run $17; the $50 deductible collision runs $88; bodily injury $29; property damage to $5,000 is $30 — a total of $164.

Insurance has only little more than trebled in those 45 years, yet the cost of the car has gone up nearly nine times. Before you jump down your car dealer's throat, remembr that the quality of today's car has multiplied several times too — the horsepower is way up, the motor is far superior, the cars are roomier, heavier, more comfortable (with air conditioners, heaters), have radios, wrap-around windshields, streamlined bodies, superior tires, vastly better brakes on four wheels, fine upholstery.

They also will cruise comfortably at the highway speed limits of 70 mph, will hit 90 mph to 100 without excessive strain, and hardly warm up in being held down to the in-city limits of 30 mph.

And there-in may lie a big part of the story of why Big Spring has around 1,400 car wrecks per year instead of one 60 years ago.

Since 1913 and the first recorded auto accident in Big Spring, the most evident concern of the automobile and related industries and businesses is that of safety. It is that concern for safety that this information is brought to you by the below listed business establishments.

Bonnie And Clyde Van Still Used

Old Hollywood performances may fade away with the props being discarded or sold at auction, but there is one, a 1927 Dodge truck, that is seemingly going to go on and on forever. It is the 1927 Dodge truck from the smash hit, "Bonnie and Clyde."

It would seem logical that the old Dodge would be up for permanent retirement after its first violent run in motion pictures. But, some months later it starred in a soft drink commercial, and then producer-director William Hillman added the truck to the cast of "The Man From Glover Grove."

The vintage Dodge proved the worth of its experience and maturity as it added to the supersonic comedy of "The Man From Clover Grove," rated "G", and presented by American Cinema. It is now showing at the Ritz Theatre.

Film Smuggling Is Blow To Egyptians

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian Film Industry is losing millions of Dollars of anticipated annual revenue because its movies are being smuggled to many parts of the world, including the United States and this country's arch enemy — Israel — cinema officials say.

"This has been going on for a couple of years now," says Mohamed Lameiy, Export-Import and Marketing Director of the Egyptian Cinema Organization, who charges that the films are being smuggled through Lebanon.

He believes they are duplicated either between the time the film is shipped from here and received by the distributor in Lebanon, or while being shown in a movie house there.

Lameiy, who says he receives reports that Egyptian movies are shown in Israel a week after they are first played here, adds they are also illegally shown in Australia, Canada, the United States and South America.

IN JEOPARDY

Complaining that this poses sharp losses for his marketing, he explains "the reputation of our movies is jeopardized because of the duplicat copies are faded, hazy and the sound is muffled. It is disadvantageous to us. When we try to make deals we find the market saturated with our films, and bad copies at that."

"It is maddening to think of the amount of money we lose through this business, especially since our industry has been holding by its toes for some time," says the mustachied, spectacled director.

He says they have no record of the number of films smuggled.

Royalties for showing an Egyptian film for a period of five years range between $58,000 and $138,000, he says, adding that deals are also made to exchange films with Arab countries.

Egypt has no legal defense against illegally shown films, Lameiy concedes. "All we can do is try to find the culprits. We have been unsuccessful for two years."

As an alternative, he says the organization had decided to set up movie distribution centers in the United States and South America, as a first step to fight the alleged smuggling, by increasing the scope of legal distribution.

He believes each would handle an average two films a month, mostly shown to Arabs.

At present there are distribution centers in Lebanon, Syria, Iraq, Iran, Morrocco, Pakistan and Indonesia.

Over the past two years, Egyptian films have been legally shown in West Germany, France, England, Russia, India, Pakistan, Malaysia, Kenya and Tanzania, for the benefit of large Arab colonies.

Robbed Because Team Needed Him

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Kurt "Meatball" Hardendorf told a U.S. magistrate he robbed the Third National Bank because he knew his softball team needed him.

As he was being arraigned on a bank robbery charge in connection with the Tuesday holdup, Hardendorf said the pitcher on the softball team at the federal mental hospital in Springfield, Mo., is nearing 60 and he thought he would go back and take over the spot.

Hardendorf was sent to the facility in 1966 after he robbed the Gem City Savings and Loan Association here.

Magistrate Roger Makley set bond for Hardendorf at $50,000.

Penning Tunes For Whole Family Pays Dividends

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Can a pair of songwriters succeed in today's youth-oriented music business by penning tunes for the whole family?

The Sherman Brothers, Richard and Robert, say it's possible.

For proof they offer their record of three back-to-back musicals at the nation's bigbest, most prestigious, film theater — the Radio City Music Hall: "Charlott's Web," Tom Sawyer" and the reissue of "Mary Poppins."

"It's fantastic," says Dick Sherman, 44. "When I was a little boy, my dad took me to the Music Hall and he told me, 'This is the greatest motion picture house in the world.

"Then to go back back there this year and see our names on the marquee for 'Charlotte's Web.' And to see the signs advertising the coming of 'Tom Sawyer' and 'Mary Poppins.' I was transfixed."

Enthusiasm is a key element of the Sherman Brothers' success. They write songs and do interviews at a fast clip, music and words tumbling out. This time Dick Sherman was doing a single; his brother, 46, was at Mayo Clinic for an operation on his war-wounded knee.

The Shermans grew up in Tin Pan Alley, their father being the writer of "Potatoes are Cheaper," "Save Your Sorrow," "You Gotta Be a Football Hero" and other hits of the 1930s.

The two brothers started their own careers in 19550, working in a $50-a-month apartment above a cleaning shop in Los Angeles.

"We had our own idea about what we wanted to write, and that was the wholesome kind of family song," said Dick. "Sure we could have earned more by writing raunchy songs, and we had offers to do so, even under assumed names. But Bob and I had a certain taste barrier."

Because of their attitude, they knew some hungry years from 1950 to 1965. Then Walt Disney hired them, and they turned out the score for "Mary Poppins."

Result: a quarter of Oscars, for musical score and the song "Chim Chim Cheree."

The Shermans continued pouring out family-type songs for such Disney films as "The Happiest Millionaire," "The Family Band," "Jungle Book" and "The Aristocats." one of the scores achieved the success of "Mary Poppins."

The brothers left Disney to freelance, still adhering to the family formula. Warner Brothers wanted them to write songs for a musicalized "Tom Sawyer," and they agreed—"if we can write the script, too."

Warners agreed, and the Shermans were hired to write both songs and script. But a change of management killed over by Cinerama. Money troubles stalled Cinerama, and the project was snapped up by Arthur P. Jacobs who produced it for United Artists in partnership with the Reader's Digest. Next from the same team: "Huck Finn."

Father's Day

That's My Father

Elizabeth Thomas Chapin

The world is full of people,
And of friends I know and greet
In quietness or bustle,
At home or on the street.
But one stands out among them
Like an amen on a prayer;
And I'm proud to tell the people,
That's my father standing there.

His mind is clean,
His voice is strong,
And too big a man is he
To compromise with wrong.
He's earned his neighbors' high regard,
For judgments true and fair,
So I love to tell the people,
That's my father standing there.

The best of friends, my father,
And the best of dads to me,
An example for my living
And all that I should be.
The best of dads a-living
And of dads beyond compare,
So I am proud to tell the people,
That's my father standing there.

FB Chief Is Skittish Of Price Freeze

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The president of the Texas Farm Bureau said Friday that President Nixon's 60-day freeze on retail food prices is a "stop-gap measure that carries with it some real dangers" for consumers and farmers.

"There is a real possibility that we may soon see shortages of milk, eggs and meat if prices are too low for farmers to make a profit," said J. T. Woodson, head of Texas' largest farm organization.

"Although farmers appreciate the President's exemption of prices of raw agricultural products, the freezing of prices at the retail level does affect prices all the way back to the farm," Woodson said.

Woodson said that some producers have absorbed all the increased prduction costs they can handle.

NEED INCENTIVE

"Farmers will not produce for very long when their prices are at or below the cost of production," he said. "When producers feel the pinch badly enough, it won't be long before the consumers will, too, in the form of empty grocer shelves and meat counters."

The farm leader said the only way that consumers can be assured of a bountiful supply of food at reasonable prices is to have adequate production and that this can only come from price incentives in the market place.

Woodson said that food prices are not out of line.

"The American consumer spends only about 16 per cent of his take home pay on food," he said. "This is lower than any other nation on earth and lowest of any-time in our history."

Carves His Mark With Bulldozer

BUFFALO, Okla. (AP) — It took the mud of the Cimarron River to do what fences, mailboxes, road banks and stop signs couldn't: halt Luther Nutter and his bulldozer.

Authorities said Nutter carved a swath for 20 miles across a northwest Oklahoma county into Kansas on Friday, leaving a trail of broken signs and fences before bogging down in riverbank mud.

Sheriff Lee Hargus said Nutter, 20, found the 10-ton machine after having an argument with his father.

"He got the thing started and just took off, really bulldozing things up as he went," the sheriff said, adding:

"I don't think he ever got it out of low gear. If he had got it into high, there's no telling what would have happened. He might have bulldozed up half of Kansas."

The sheriff said the bulldozer went through an old service station first, then took down a few stop signs and mailboxes along the road.

"Finally he cut through the edge of a wheat field and then took out across country," the sheriff said. "He took everything down as he went — fences and all."

Hargus said at one point, "he stopped and plowed up a sort of dike across a county road and left it piled there."

The sheriff said the Cimarron River is about two miles into Kansas where the machine hit it.

When found, Nutter was sitting on the bank of the river with his head in his hands. Nearby sat the $40,000 county-owned bulldozer, bogged down in mud.

No charges have been filed.

Trapped Baby Is Rescued

CONCORD, Calif. (AP) — "Oh, my God, they've freed him," cried the mother as her 15-month-old son came up bawling and muddy in the arms of rescuers.

Little Carl Christian had been lodged for almost three hours Friday night in a narrow well shaft, 11 feet below the surface and just 10 feet above water.

The boy's father, Richard Christian, said he was digging a well and had boarded it over temporarily.

"I didn't think he would get in," Christian said.

The boy's mother, Sherry, 29, recalled, "We were in the house and I went out to check on him because I heard him crying. When I went outside I didn't see him. I looked down in the well and he was crying his eyes out."

It was that same healthy voice which reassured rescuers as they dug a rescue shaft alongside the 20-inch-wide well. More than 200 persons gathered and kept watch. An ambulance stood by.

The workers tunneled into the encased well shaft beneath the boy so that they could catch him if he fell. Finally, they pulled him free and emerged from the hole to applause.

Budding Fashion Designers Bloom

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Note to Paris, France: Here come some budding fashion designers.

But none of them are over six years old.

Children in the 2-year-old through kindergarten classes at the School for Little People, First United Methodist Church, have designed some of the most original fashions around for their teachers.

Their tools were rather unusual—felt-tip permanent markers and large bolts of osnaburg fabric.

Here is what has taken place:

Mrs. Ray Davidson Jr., director, planned the project. She bought the fabric and each of the 11 teachers in the school were given enough fabric for sewing either long dresses, skirts, pants, jackets or short dresses.

The teacher then cut their fabric, spread it out on the classroom floor and each child put his individual art on it with felt tip markers.

The teachers took the fabric home and each one sewed up her garment.

Each teacher finished her design in a different way to show off the art work. Some blocked off the children's individual work in squares and outlined them with rick rack or braid.

The children were given their choice of colors to work with, so they chose bright yellows, oranges, reds, blues and greens. They were told to draw what they wished and the various work is an introspective look into the child's experiences at the school, his age and maturity.

Flowers, trees, windmills, houses and even the faces of the teachers are the subject matter. Some 2-year-olds simply swirled their colors around in "abstract" designs.
