New Raids On Haiphong

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported today fresh air raids on the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong and a surge of ground fighting in South Vietnam, particularly in the important northern provinces threatened by Communist troops massed near the demilitarized zone.

Navy planes from the carrier Intrepid flashed over Haiphong Thursday to blast 16 antiaircraft and missile sites. Right behind came waves of jets from the Coral Sea to hit the vital rail and road bridge in the city's southwestern section for the seventh time.

The headquarters reported for the first time this month "no significant shelling" along the demilitarized border with North Vietnam, where U.S. Marines are dug in across possible Communist invasion routes.

But heavy fighting was listed in the northernmost 1st Corps zone and 72 Communist soldiers were reported killed.

Smaller fights dotted the nation. In the Mekong delta south of Saigon, guerrillas ambushed and burned a U.S. Navy patrol boat—the first loss of one of the river boats.

Despite marginal weather over North Vietnam, Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots flew 150 combat missions. With the exception of the Haiphong raid, most hit at supply targets on routes leading south from Hanoi to the DMZ. Fliers reported hitting 144 river barges and a number of trucks, rail cars and locomotives.

Pilots said their bombs dropped at least one span of Haiphong's southwestern rail and highway bridge, one of four main bridges leading from the north's biggest port. All have been previously hit and all but one are known to have been severed. The fougth, a rail bridge on the northwestern edge of the city has been heavily damaged.

Heavy raids on Haiphong, have been carried on whenever the weather permitted since Sept. 11 in an effort to strangle routes leading from the port and back up supplies.

Disaster Area To Get Federal Aid

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, touring the flooded lower Rio Grande Valley Thursday, declared 24 sodden South Texas counties to be a major disaster area.

He allocated $2.5 million of special federal aid as a starter — only half the amount, the White House said, that Gov. John Connally requested.

As Johnson acted, Rio Grande floodwaters ravaged villages and pushed toward the twin cities of Brownsville and Matamoros. Houses und buildings in Arroyo City, a tiny fishing village 15 miles from Harlingen, toppled one by one into the swirling waters. Residents left the village before the danger.

Convening an impromptu airport news conference here to announce the federal grant, which will be used to rebuild roads, bridges and other public facilities, Johnson said, "There wasn't a great deal I could do by personally coming here."

He said he made the trip "to let these people know that their government cares for them."

Johnson added he wanted victims of Hurricane Beulah and her ensuing floods to know "that we are a compasionate and understanding govenment and that in an hour of need we are there."

The President rode around Harlingen—where many of the streets looked like canals—in a yellow school bus.

Then he boarded a jet-powered helicopter and flew 70 miles over thousands of acres of flooded farmland to Rio Grande City on the Texas side of the Mexican border.

There he inspected an emergency hospital set up in a high school classroom and visited a temporary mess hall where he leaned on the tables to chat with refugees eating a supper of chili, corn, stringbeans, fruit salad, bread and butter and milk.

With the chief executive were two long-feuding Texas Democrats—Connally and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, as well as Republican Sen. John Tower.

Wednesday Yarborough accused Connally of waiting too long to ask for federal disaster aid. The governor responded by calling the senator a "despicable man."

Johnson managed to get both men into the same bus and helicopter with him, and had public words of praise for each.

"I'm happy," he said, "that these servants of the people still care about the people."

After his tour of the water-and-wind stricken valley, Johnson flew with Connally to his ranch near Johnson City for a weekend stay. Yarborough flew to San Antonio.

Mrs. Johnson, who skipped the flood tour, awaited the President at the ranch, where they may remain until next Tuesday.

Johnson is to address the 1,600 delegates to the National Legislative Conference in San Antonio tonight in what was expected to be a full commentary on the Vietnam war.

Meanwhile, the hurricane-triggered floods appeared to be abating in Harlingen.

The flood depth at Harlingen was 41.30 feet late Thursday night, down three feet from Wednesday morning's peak.

Pope Opens First Synod

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI opened today Roman Catholicism's first synod of bishops from around the world and in a markedly conservative speech warned against the dangers to the church in "modern mentality."

The Pope dwelt more on what he considered threats to the faith than on its updating. He addressed the nearly 200 bishops convened for the synod, heralded as an experiment in bringing greater democracy to Church government.

Indicating he wanted the bishops to declare themselves strongly opposed to unauthorized developments since the Vatican Ecumenical Council, Pope Paul decried "insidious dangers" inside and outside the half-billion member Church.

The speech reflected the Pope's concern over ferment within Roman Catholicism and some saw in the pontiff's warning an attempt to mollify conservatives of the Roman Curia, the Church's central offices. They are expected to battle at the synod against efforts of progressive bishops to throw off curia control.

The Pope hailed the synod as a 'new instrument of the Church's visible government." But he conceded it did not possess the "solemnity and power" of the Vatican Council.

Pope Paul looked substantially recovered from the urinary infection which struck him Sept. 4.

The dangers facing the Church, he said, were caused "by the irreligious orientation of the modern mentality and insidious dangers which even from within the Church find utterance in the work of teachers and writers, desirous, it is true, of giving new expression to Catholic doctrine but frequently desirous rather of adapting the dogma of the faith to secular thought and language than of adhering to the norm of the Church's magisterium (teaching)."

Storm Edith Begins To Drift South

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Edith, stalled all night over warm tropical waters that build up hurricanes, began inching toward the Beulah-battered Lesser Antilles today. The makings of another storm brewed 1,000 miles to the east.

Edith, the season's fifth tropical storm, was about 280 miles east southeast of Guadeloupe when she began drifting toward the west. A hurricane watch remained in effect for Dominica and the Leeward Islands with gale warnings flying from Dominica to Antigua.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in San Juan, P.R., said Edith would continue plodding toward the west at about five miles an hour for at least 12 hours.

The Weather Bureau said the center should approach the Lesser Antilles, where 13 persons died in the ravages of Hurricane Beulah, in the vicinity of Dominica by Saturday evening. Residents of the northern Windward Islands and the Leeward Islands were urged to keep in touch with later advisories.

Strong winds will probably begin tonight or early Saturday, the Weather Bureau said.

A second disturbance with winds up to 30 miles an hour and the circulation necessary for growth to a tropical storm, was located Thursday about 1,000 miles east of Edith.

At 6 a.m. EDT, Edith was centered near Latitude 14.7 North, Longitude 57.1 West, 20 miles east southeast of Guadeloupe or abopt 60 miles east southeast of San Juan and 1,700 miles east southeast of Miami.

New Missiles To Be Multiheaded

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most U.S. single-bomb nuclear missiles will be converted in five years to hydra-headed weapons capable of striking several enemy cities simultaneously, Pentagon sources say.

By 1972, according to a rough breakdown outlined by Pentagon sources, the current force of 1,710 missiles will be packing up to 7,500 or more deliverable nuclear warheads.

This huge increase of atomic power was ordered by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to counter the Soviet Union's antimissile system and to insure that its accelerated offensive missile production is more than matched.

The move toward huge numbers of nuclear warheads reflects the McNamara philosophy that the best defense is a good offense.

The $5 billion antimissile system announced by the Pentagon chief last week is designed to thwart any attack by Red China in the early 1970s.

McNamara considers it virtually impossible to establish a missile shield good enough to stop the swarms of decoy-ridden warheads which a technologically sophisticated enemy could unleash.

Dr. John S. Foster, the Pentagon's chief scientist, said in testimony before Congress last spring that the U.S. strategy for countering a Soviet missile defense would be to overwhelm it by sheer numbers of warheads.

McNamara did not describe how many warheads would form the deadly spearpoint of U.S. rockets, but he told Congress a new missile math is in order.

Numbers of individual missiles, he said in January, are no longer the proper way to measure strategic strength.

Without publicly detailing their capabilities, McNamara ordered into production the Air Force Minuteman III, which will be sunk in concrete-hardened firing silos, and the Navy's Poseidon—successor to the Polaris—which can be launched by submarine beneath the sea.

Sources have told The Associated Press the Minuteman III, a 6,300-mile-range missile, will carry three nuclear warheads, while the Poseidon will haul more than 10 warheads.

Neighbors Find Body Of Longview Man

LONGVIEW (AP) — Neighbors found the body of Jim Thomas, about 38, a Longview policeman and farmer, beneath a brush cutting machine near his home about 1:30 a.m. today.

He apparently was killed accidentally.

After Thomas failed to come home at the end of the day, his wife went to investigate and located his pickup truck and tractor in a field.

LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCE

De-Escalation Plan Told

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A young Iowa lawmaker dropped a potentially high explosive Vietnam war de-escalation proposal into the National Legislative Conference mill here Thursday.

Rep. William J. Gannon, Democratic minority leader of the Iowa House, proposed the resolution after listening to scholarly proposals for federal revenue sharing with states and alternative suggestions for easing the state-local revenue bind.

Gannon, 30, called for a halt in U.S. bombing of Vietnam as a "good faith effort toward de-escalation of the war."

The second-term legislator said, "Billions of our tax dollars are being spent to carry on an unjust and improper military action in Asia."

His resolution would put the legislative conference on record as "unalterably opposed" to any increase in federal taxes "without first priority being given to the domestic problems which are quite apparent..."

Indications were the legislators' section resolutions committee would not recommend any conference action on the matter.

"I feel confident it will not come out of committee, said Texas House Speaker Ben Barnes, who won NLC endorsement of President Johnson's Vietnam policies last year. "If it does come out, I will lead the opposition."

U.S. Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz.; John Peterson, economic adviser to Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and John Shannon, of the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations in Wasbington, led discussion of revenue sharing schemes.

Fannin urged the 1,600 conferees and guests from all states to back bills permitting states to share in federal revenues, but he emphasized major problems cannot be solved overnight.

"Alternate sources of revenue are the only hope for state governments, said Fannin, who served three terms as Arizona governor.

"The federal government must assure states and local communities a steady source of funds—to expand more or less proportionately to increases in the gross national product. It must free them from the maze of regulations, paper work and red tape that obstruct their efforts to serve their citizens."

Fannin noted 70 different bills proposing various methods of revenue sharing are before Congress.

Ex-Snyderite Bound Over

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)— Sammy Wayne Kenney, 21, formerly of Snyder, Tex., has been bound over for district court trial on kidnaping charges.

Justice of the Peace Louis Bryan of Hobbs held a preliminary hearing Wednesday.

Kenney is charged with kidnaping, an attempt to kill, aggravated battery and raping a child. He is held in the Lea County jail at Lovington in lieu of $10,000 bond.

The charges stemmed from an Aug. 15 attack on a Hobbs woman and her 2-year-old daughter at a self-service laundry in Hobbs.

Police said the woman was struck several times with a pistol and her daughter was taken away in a car. Kenney was arrested about two hours later on the outskirts of Hobbs.

Project Is Inspected

Members of the Snyder City Council the city manager and architect made an inspection tour this morning of the downtown improvement project.

They were looking over new concrete work and other items which had been constructed in the assessment program launched last spring.

Some clean-up work and dirt work around the courthouse are about all that remain for the project to be declared completed.

NASA Analyzes Moon's Surface

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chemical analysis of lunar surface measurements taken by the Surveyor 5 spacecraft indicate that a lrrge part of the moon surface may consist of earth-like basaltic rock, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration disclosed today.

Leading scientists on the Surveyor project reported preliminary results from the spacecraft's two weeks of data-gathering on the lunar surface during the moon's daylight period.

Their reports showed that the lunar surface measured contains, in atomic composition, 58 per cent of oxygen, as do rocks on the earth, and 18.5 per cent of silicon, which also is the second most common element on the earth surface.

A magnet aboard the spacecraft also was found to have attracted iron particles in the loose material thrown up by the spacecraft's feet.

Dr. Donald Gault, of the Ames Research Center, Moffet Field, Calif., said the surveyor chemical analysis represented 'one of the greatest scientific achievements of the civilization of man."

HOLD TWO KEY STRONGPOINTS

Hard-Hit Marines Standing Firm

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist North Vietnamese troops cannot come across the border zone to South Vietnam in force as long as U.S. troops hold two key strongpoints, Pentagon sources say.

This is cited as a chief reason for U.S. Marines to remain at Con Thien, a hilltop outpost under heavy Communist bombardment for a month, and at Gio Linh to the east.

"We've got to stay in those strong points as long as the North Vietnamese are inclined to come across in that area in force," one military expert said.

Tactical, political and psychological reasons were advanced for retaining control of Con Thien, particularly hard hit in casualties, and Gio Linh.

A pullback to any depth from these forward positions would endanger certain supply bases supporting U.S. Marine forces and Route 9, an east-west road over which U.S. military units are supplied from the coast.

A withdrawal, possibly yielding this ground to the North Vietnamese, might shake the confidence of South Vietnamese in areas now under U.S. protection and also might raise some questions in the mind of the Thais, who are ever watchful for signs of a weakening of U.S. resolve to hold the line against communism in Asia.

Some sources said a withdrawal from the Con Thien sector might have an upsetting psychological impact in the United States.

Some officers suggested that the bombardment, mainly from artillery positions in the North Vietnamese half of the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone, might be intended to lure American ground forces up toward the Ben Hai River boundary and possibly into a trap.

About eight battalions of American and South Vietnamese infantry last May drove up into the southern half of the demilitarized zone close to the Ben Hai River.

They destroyed extensive Communist fortifications and mortar positions from which the enemy had been dropping rounds into Gio Linh and Con Thien.

American officers say the success of that operation was due largely to surprise—the North Vietnamese did not expect a U.S. ground move into the DMZ.

"It's apparent if we go in there again we'll be sacrificing surprise— we'll pay a price," a military planner said. "The enemy may be trying to draw us in now."

Thieu Speaks At Embassy Dedication

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu declared today South Vietnam is "on the threshold of a new era" and appealed to the United States to remain unified with his country and persevere against the Communists.

At a ceremony at which he helped dedicate the new $2.6 million U.S. Embassy in Saigon, Thieu said, "There is no challenge that cannot be met if we remain unified and persevere in our efforts."

As Thieu spoke, his government was threatened by a new political crisis involving the militant Buddhists headed by Thich (Venerable) Tri Quang. The militants are demanding withdrawal of a charter recognizing a moderate Buddhist faction as the country's established church, a demand Thieu said "we cannot accept."

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said at the ceremony that the allies are making progress in South Vietnam. But he said the "true revolution" in this country depends on Vietnamese solutions to Vietnamese problems.

The 74-year-old Bunker reaffirmed America's commitment in South Vietnam and dedicated the all-white, six-story embassy building to "the cause of peace" and to Americans who have served in Vietnam.

Cites Need For Gas Exploration

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Industry representatives said Thursday that the United States must find more natural gas as the demand climbs rapidly toward present production peaks.

B. Warren Beebe of Boulder, Colo., geologist, told a meeting of industry leaders and government officials that the industry "must have more economic incentives" to widen and deepen its exploration.

Beebe is chairman of the potential gas committee which in a report released Thursday estimated at 690 trillion cubic feet the undiscovered supply of natural gas in the United States, excluding Alaska and Hawaii.

Another industry group, the future requirements committee, estimated in July that this country will use 680 trillion cubic feet in the period ending in 1990.

Beebe said "economic incentives are something that each producer has to determine for himself."

"We need encouragement to find gas and oil," he said. "We need money to find it. Money is tight right now."

Dr. Orlo E. Childs, president of Colorado School of Mines, which released the gas committee's report; Marvin Chandler of Aurora, Ill., president of the American Gas Association, and others at the meeting expressed similar sentiments.

The American Gas Association has estimated at 286 trillion cubic feet proved recoverable reserves of gas in the contiguous 48 states.

David M. Evans, a Denver geologist and an official of the mining school, termed Thursday's report "the most reliable estimate of undiscovered gas ever made."

Hoover Has Tips For Ex-Agents

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has some tips for ex-agents with a literary bent—and for those suffering middle-age spread.

Hoover told some 1,700 former agents Thursday that if they decide to write about the FBI, they should note that he doesn't insist on agents wiping their hands before speaking to him and he seldom stands on a platform during such conversations.

Finally, said Hoover, "only two men shot and killed John Dillinger, not 1,750."

The remarks, addressed to a meeting of the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI, referred to what Hoover called myths that have appeared in books about the bureau.

The FBI dirctor, head of the agency since 1924, chided overweight ex-agents.

"While I recognize many of the faces, I don't recognize the size of the bodies," he quipped. "The weight control program has obviously not been observed since you gentlemen left the bureau."

Among the former agents attending the convention, which ends Saturday, are five congressmen—Reps. H. Allen Smith, R-Calif., William T. Cahill, R-N.J., Omar Burleson, D-Tex., Ed Edmondson, D-Okla., and Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa.

Amarillo Tots Taken From Parents

AMARILLO AP)—Child welfare workers and police sought foster homes today for four children, aged 2 through 5, whose parents were charged with keeping them in a single room for four months without clothing or bathroom facilities.

The children, three boys and a girl, were hospitalized for checkups.

A welfare officer filed a charge of neglect against the parents. A hearing was set for Oct. 11 in domestic relations court.

Police quoted relatives as saying the children had not been allowed out of their one-window room for at least four months. The officers who went to get them said the stench in the room was almost unbearable and filth was caked two inches deep.

The rest of the four-room frame house was clean and the floors were polished, police said.

Doctors said the children apparently had been well fed. They had no clothing and no bedcovers on the single bed they shared.

"I feed those kids. I don't see how they can be called sick or mistreated," the mother said as the children were taken away.

Voters Approve City Sales Tax

By PAUL FREEMAN
Associated Press Writer

That one per cent municipal sales tax—the one the last Texas Legislature passed with major misgivings—is selling like hotcakes in the voting booth.

Residents of eight Texas cities —including metropolitan areas like Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi and Texarkana—gave their votes of approval for the levy Thursday.

The lone holdout was little Electra in West Texas, where issue went down to a 549-172 defeat.

An election to put the tax into effect at Austin is the next hurdle for the tax. That vote comes Saturday.

Approving votes were recorded Thursday at Henrietta (247-202), Ingleside (144-43), Port Aransas Pass (443-62) and Taylor (1,011-60).

Corpus Christi turned out a light vote, 9,626 for and 3,270 against. At Wichita Falls the margin was 9,566-5,074 and Texarkana's approval came 1,530, 500 with the issue getting the nod in every voting precinct.

Today the mails were full of registered letters carrying canvassed votes to the state comptroller's office in Austin, and even some city officials carrying the vote totals so they could be mailed in Austin. To go into effect Jan. 1, the state must get notification before midnight Saturday by registered mail.

The one per cent tax, to be collected on top of the state's two per cent sales charge, was endorsed by Gov. John Connally as a last ditch effort to pull municipalities out of their worsening financial bind.

Thursday's voting ran the total score to 12-1 for the new tax.

The measure carried easily Wednesday in El Paso, Nacogdoches, Elgin and Orange Grove.

Texarkana Mayor Neal Courtney promised 10 per cent reduction in property taxes if the sales tax passed. He said the property tax cut would take effect Oct. 1 of next year.

In Wichita Falls a bond issue running with the sales tax saw three items with a total value of $11.4 million get the nod. All three would be paid with sales tax money. Two other bond issues, worth $4 million, were turned down in the West Texas city.

In Austin Thursday, the comptroller's office said special arrangements had been made to certify the official vote in the elections.

"We'll have someone at the Post Office until midnight Saturday to receive the results after the Post Office has registered the mail," the spokesman said.

Officials of Merietta did not take a chance on the airmail. A man was dispatched after the vote was canvassed Thursday night. He was to fly to Austin and mail the package there.

Former Michigan State varsity swimmer Pete Williams won the 400-meter individual medley in 4:50.8 at the 1967 National AAU outdoor championships.

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

It isn't considered quite the thing to say (especially by the manufacturers of the cheap products), but the truth is that the price of a paint brush is a good guide to its quality.

Topnotch brushes cost more to produce. You have to pay more for them. The extra price is worth it, not only because the good brush lasts longer, but more important, because it produces better results.

If, however, you are the type of person who simply will not give a paint brush the proper care — and you have plenty of company — the added money you pay for a quality brush will be partly wasted. Only partly wasted because you will have at least had the benefit of its superior paintspreading ability for a short time.

Peculiar, isn't it, how a person will spend several hours painting, either inside or outside the house, and then neglect to spend an additional few minutes cleaning the brush? This failure to use the extra few minutes can mean the difference between having and not having a brush ready and waiting the next time a project is at hand.

This is especially true when oil paint is being used, but it also applies to all other types of paint, varnish, lacquer, shellac and synthetics. Too many times, for instance, a person will leave a paint brush in a container partly filled with turpentine and then forget about it. When he is ready for another job or wants to complete the first one, he finds that the turpentine has evaporated and the brush has hardened — at which point he spent far more time trying to soften the brush than he would have in cleaning it in the first place. Or he gives up in disgust and buys a new brush.

A brush should be cleaned with the same solvent for the particular material for which it was used. Thus, the solvent for oil paint is turpentine or mineral spirits; for varnish, the same; for latex paint, water; for lacquer, lacquer thinner; for shellac, denatured alcohol. For special kinds of paint such as the odorless type, read the label on the container to determine what the solvent is.

Whether being left overnight or stored for months, a brush should never be placed in any position which will bend the bristles. When it will not be reused within 24 hours, it should be wrapped in aluminum foil, wax paper or any similar type of material after it has been cleaned.

QUESTION: There are red cedar shingles on the roof of the house we are buying. They don't appear to have any finish on them. Is this all right? And if it isn't, what can we use for a finish?

ANSWER: Shingles of this type do not require any finish. However, use a shingle stain if you wish to color them. Also, the stain will give some additional weather resistance, although many believe that this extra resistance is unnecessary.

• • •

QUESTION: I put down asphalt tile on our basement floor a few months ago. Some of the black adhesive has oozed up in four or five places. It doesn't seem to wipe off. What solvent can I use for it?

ANSWER: None. Solvent would take out the spots but ruin the tile. Try using steel wool with a little scouring powder. Rub firmly but carefully.

• • •

QUESTION: We picked up a nice old piece of furniture recently. Not quite sure what it's called, but it's something like a dining room dish cabinet. It appears to be made of cherry wood, although we're not sure. We have heard that rubbing it with mineral oil will help to maintain its finish. Is this true and is there any special procedure for putting it on?

ANSWER: Yes, mineral oil can be used for that purpose. But it is inclined to leave a "tacky" surface if it is not wiped off immediately. Apply it with a clean cloth and then quickly go over it with a second clean dry cloth. Using still a third cloth, rub down vigorously. This treatment should be repeated every six months or so.

Senate Making Oblique Try To Curb President Johnson

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is shadow-boxing with the President. It's talking of doing something it can't make stick.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright and others complain President Johnson is getting too big for his britches, although they didn't put it that plainly. So alterations are suggested. It's an old story with Congress and presidents.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt is still being criticized for something he did when Germany had Britain on the ropes just before World War II. He gave the British 50 old destroyers without consulting Congress.

And President Harry S. Truman got an endless pasting for going into the Koean War without asking Congress for so much as by-your-leave. But Roosevelt was operating under the Lend-Lease Act which made what he did possible.

And Truman was responding, if he neded a legal reason, to the United Nations' call to its members, of which the United States was one, to stop the invasion from North Korea.

But Johnson did the opposite. He got overwhelming congressional approval beforehand for sending troops into Vietnam, if he found that necessary, which he did—and now he's on the receiving end from Congress just the same.

What he got mixed up in in a big way was the ancient rivalry for power in foreign affairs between Congress and presidents.

The approval he got was in the Gulf of Tonkin resolution which Congress passed Aug. 7, 1968, at his request the Senate by a vote of 88-2 and the House by 416-0. It authorized him to do what he thought necessary to stop aggression in Southeast Asia.

Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee and Johnson's most constant critic about the war, took charge of getting the Tonkin resolution through the Senate three yeas ago.

But now he has offered his own resolution which would cripple Johnson's handling of foreign affairs by saying a "national commitment" has no validity or meaning unless both the pesident and Senate approve.

One trouble with "national commitment" is its vagueness. What does it mean? Fulbright explained it as too often turning out to be "statements previously made by someone saying that we pledge ourselves to some undertaking.

But in Congress over the years a "commitment" could be interpreted as meaning all kinds of presidential actions which Congress hadn't approved.

Thirteen yeas ago, in the last great effort to drag the country back into her ancient isolationism, Sen. John W. Bricker, an Ohio Republican, offered something more poweful than a resolution. He called for a constitutional amendment.

His proposal would have hamstrung a president even more than Fulbright's. Fulbright, at that time opposed to tying any more strings to a president, called Bricker's idea a retreat from the world. The Senate killed the proposal.

The next day a substitute proposal, a little milder than Bricker's but still an interference with the president's foreign affairs powers, was also killed.

Ironically, while Fulbight voted against that, too, Johnson, then Democart leader in the Senate when Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower was president, voted for it.

But even if the Senate votes for Fulbright's resolution it can't change anything for Johnson. He wouldn't have to pay any attention to it since such a resolution is not a law.

Yet if it passed, it would be a warning to Johnson he could expect rough treatment if he made any "national commitment" and didn't get the Senate's okay first.

This could damage his strength in dealing with other nations for they could rightly ask: How can Johnson promise anything, and how can we expect him to make good on his promise, if the Senate hasn't agreed to the pomise?

All the Senate uproar over Johnson—because of his sending troops into Vietnam—coulc be ended in a minute if the Senate would just act to rescind the Gulf of Tonkin resolution which gave him the power.

So what's happening is an oblique attempt to curb him instead of doing it directly.

Junior Editors Quiz on FLY ROD

QUESTION: How did the fishing pole get the name "fly rod?"

* * *

ANSWER: There is no doubt at all that one can have a great deal of fun — and catch a lot of fish — by the use of the good old-fashioned fishing pole. A small sinker is attached above the hook and there is a movable float or bobber. When it "bobs," you jerk your pole to set the hook in the fish's mouth — and that's it. But somewhere back in Roman times, some sports fisherman got the idea it would be fun to make artificial bait, like the flies which often float on the surface and which fish grab at. Later developments made fly-fishing even more fun. A very light flexible rod came to be used, by which you played or tired out a fish rather than just yanking him out of the water. A reel on the rod handle enabled you to keep the line taut all the time. People like fly fishing because it's so exciting.

Life Is A Game For Collectors

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Life is a collector's game.

Everybody has to play the game, whether he wants to or not. The problem is—what to collect? Shall it be stamps or dolls, wounds or portraits of old windmills, bruises or money?

There are hundreds of choices. So many, many things to collect. But there is one thing you can't go though this world without collecting—memories. And nothing else man collects is so precious to him.

Your own collection is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when—

Airplane hostesses had so little to do they spent most of their time sitting in the seats and talking to the passengers.

A minister was more interested in getting the members of his congregation into heaven than in solving their problems on earth.

Ice skates had wooden runners instead of steel blades.

There was more nepotism in Hollywood than in Congress.

It was more fashionable for women to wear silver fox furs than mink.

One of the problems of motoring was putting up the car's isinglass and fabric curtains when the weather turned cold. A heater for automobiles? It was only an inventor's madcap dream.

George Ade made the nation laugh by remarking that one of the nice things about wearing white shoes was that they didn't show frost.

Conservatives were more fearful of Socialists than Communists because most of them, after all, hadn't ever seen a real live Communist.

The idol of childhood was the brawny neighborhood iceman, who drove a horse and wagon and always had a small chip of free ice for any kid—even if the kid was too shy to ask for one.

Only wealthy people belonged to country clubs and played golf.

It was taken for granted in most families that a farmer's sons would grow up to be farmers and a blacksmith's sons would become blacksmiths.

In every small town you could see a local character who wore a wooden leg he had whittled himself.

Children and Negroes were supposed to be seen, not heard—to know their place and stay in it.

Any schoolmarm caught smoking in public could kiss her job goodby.

There were still so many Civil War veterans around that they looked down their noses at the Spanish-American war veterans as young upstarts.

When the doctor made a home call, he was never so busy he couldn't pause for a cup of coffee in the kitchen, take the small children on his knee, and awe them by letting listen to their own heart beat through his stethoscope.

Come to think of it, almost everybody had more time to be courteous and kind and pleasant to one another then. They weren't so saddled by all kinds of urgencies.

Those were the days! Remember?

Marshall Expected To Join Liberals

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINTON AP) — Thirty years at the bar and on the bench appear to propel Thurgood Marshall, who takes the oath Monday as the Supreme Court's first Negro justice, toward the court's liberal wing.

It is often risky to speculate on the future course of a new justice. But a quarter-century as a distinguished civil rights lawyer, dozens of opinions as a lower federal court judge and his two-year stint as solicitor general—representing the federal government before the high court—provide a fairly reliable yardstick of the 59-year-old Marshall's legal and judicial temperament.

The 97th justice to join the court since the nation's founding, Marshall will take the judge's oath—"to administer justice without respect to persons and do equal justice to the poor and to the rich"— as the court opens a new term.

He has actually been a justice since Sept. 1, when Justice Hugo L. Black administered the constitutional oath in a private ceremony.

Marshall has taken over the chambers vacated by retired Justice Tom C. Clark. He has hired two law clerks—one from Harvard, one from Columbia—to help him with the mountain of legal business the court must dispose of by June. Both are white.

For several weeks, Marshall and his clerks have been reviewing hundeds of petitions for Supreme Court review of cases decided in state and lower federal courts. In the hectic days following the court's ceremonial opening Monday, the junior justice will cast one of nine votes on what cases to accept for review.

Until midwinter, however, he will be taking part in barely half of the court's work. Because he was U.S. solicitor general for the past two years, passing on all federal cases to come before the high court, he will disqualify himself from consideration of any federal cases in which he had a hand.

What may be expected from the newest justice as he settles into the court's routine? It has been routinely assumed that he will quickly align himself with the liberal majority led by Chief Justice Earl Warren, with Black and Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., and Abe Fortas. Clark usually voted on the "conservative" side with John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart, and Byron R. White.

The "liberals" of the court read the Constitution, as Marshall put it recently, as a "living document," to be interpreted and applied in the light of new situations as they arise. The "conservatives," loosely speaking, take a more rigid view of the Constitution. The "liberals" are identified with the defendant in the public debate over the rights of suspects and criminals, while the "conservatives" are popularly identified with the police and society at large.

The tiny republic of San Marino hires its policemen from Italy. With nearly everyone related to everyone else, the Sammarinesi feel that only foreigners can serve impartially.

JV Edged, 13-12, By Sweetwater

SWEETWATER — The Sweetwater Junior Varsity pushed over a touchdown with 2½ minutes left in the game, kicked the extra point and emerged with a 13-12 decision over the Snyder JV here Thursday night.

The Snyder JV held the upper hand for most of the game, although the count was tied at 6-6 for a time in the third period. However, Snyder's offensive success came in spurts, and despite the fact that they out-gained the hosts by 309 yards to 119 yards over-all, the Kittens found the end zone hard to reach.

Early in the first period, Snyder had a punt blocked, setting Sweetwater up in good position, but the locals held. A few moments later, Sweetwater punted dead on the Snyder 5 yard line, and ironically set up the first Snyder TD.

Randy Levens picked up 18 yards around left end and another running play netted three yards. Then came a 74 - yard pass play from Lee McNair to Willis Harrison for the first six-pointer. Harrison gathered in the ball on the Sweetwater 40 and won a foot race, Bob Hayes style, into the end zone. A pass for the extra points fell incomplete.

Snyder drove to the 4-yard line late in the second period, but its offense sputtered and finally flaked out.

The Ponies tied the score early in the third period after pouncing on a Snyder fumble on the Snyder 15 yard line. The first play after the fumble got the TD on a 15-yard blast up the middle.

Snyder recaptured the lead late in the third period when Harrison circled end from the one yard line. He had set up the score with a 22 yard off-tackle trip that almost reached the end zone.

The Ponies went 37 yards in seven plays for their second touchdown following a pass interception, one of three they picked off in the second half. A kick for the conversion point barely was inside the righthand upright of the goalpost.

The Sweetwater victory enabled the Ponies to break even with the Kittens this season. Snyder had won a 16-8 decision in Snyder in the opening game of the year.

George West Gets Forfeit

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George West became a major favorite in Class A schoolboy football Thursday without even having to kick the ball.

Three Rivers, whose school was flooded and which won't reopen until Oct. 16, forfeited its important district conference game with George West.

There are many games left to play but George West seemed to have the title stowed away since Three Rivers was its only strong rival.

Other adverse effects of the flood caused by Hurricane Beulah lingered, with the Harlingen-Alice game in district 14 of Class AAAA cancelled because members of the Harlingen team lost their homes in the flood.

In the northern part of the state, however, football went on as usual with a heavy schedule tonight featured by an interclass struggle between Amarillo of AAAA and Dumas of AAA. Dumas will be risking its high rating of No. 2.

Conference games are being played in one-half of the 96 districts of the classes that decide state champions.

Texans Wallop Toros By 30-0

Launching a scoring drive the first time they got the ball, Lamar's 9th grade Texans went on to wallop the Big Spring Toros, 30-0, Thursday night in Tiger Stadium.

The first Lamar scoring drive came after the Toros got off a short punt. Quarterback Bid Cooper ultimately got the six-pointer, going 8 yards after rolling out. Tony Breedlove added the two extra points.

The Toros made a bid to score, but failed after some weird bounces by the football. The Texans apparently had held on the 6 yard line, but the Toros fumbled to the 2 with the ball going out of bounds. Later from less than a foot away, the Toros fumbled into the end zone and Lamar recovered for a touchback. Then Cooper quickly hit Gary Shields with a 40 yard gainer and then threw a screen pass to Breedlove good for 37 yards and the TD. A pass to Shields got the extra points.

The Texans took the second half kickoff and scored on their first drive, with Bobby Thompson and Shields turning in good runs. Shields went the final 5 yards for the score. The try for extra points failed.

Breedlove made the final touchdown on a power play and Shields added the extra points.

Standing out on defense for the Texans were Larry Wall, Johnny Quiros, Steve Dillaha, Tony Breedlove and Bill Branson who intercepted two Toros passes.

Cougars Seeking Further Glory

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Cougars will be seeking to advance further in the national rankings while the Miami Hurricanes will be looking to reclaim a position among the rated teams in key games tonight that kick off another big college football weekend.

Houston, No. 3 in the latest Associted Press poll after its stunning 37-7 victory over Michigan State, takes on Wake Forest in the Astrodome. Miami, ranked eighth before being upset by Northwestern last week, plays Penn State in the Orange Bowl.

Saturday's action is highlighted by a meeting between top-ranked Notre Dame and 10th-rated Purdue on the Boilermakers' field. Second-place Southern California faces Michigan State in Lansing, Mich.

The Cougars are rated four touchdown favorites to beat Wake Forest which lost its first two games to Duke and Clemson. It is the strongest role as favorites in Houston history and coach Bill Yeoman is trying to caution his charges against over confidence.

Houston, 2-0, again will depend on the explosie running of Warren McVea and the passing of Dick Woodall. McVea was named The Associated Press' back-of-the-week after rushing for 155 yards against Michigan State. Woodall chipped in with touchdown passes of 77 and 76 yards against the Spartans.

Coach Bill Tate of Wake Forest said his team's pass defense has been among his major disappointments. The opposition has completed 16 of 29 for 306 yards.

A crowd of about 50,000 is expected to witness what figures to be a high scoring game in the Orange Bowl. Penn State dropped a 23-22 decision to Navy last week. The Hurricanes moved the ball well in losing to Northwestern, but their attack bogged down with fumbles, interceptions plus an illegal pass.

Penn State will be without the services of tackle John Ebersole, a defensive regular. He suffered a knee sprain in the Navy game and will be sidelined for several weeks.

Western Michigan is at Brigham Young in another game tonight.

Purdue opened with a 24-20 triumph over Texas A&M last week. Notre Dame scored a 41-8 victory in its first game. The Irish captured the national championship last season.

Lamar 8th Nips Goliad By 6-0

Lamar Junior High's 8th Grade Texans broke for a touchdown in the third period and then dominated play the rest of the way to defeat Big Spring Goliad, 6-0, last night in Tiger Stadium.

The visitors had held the upper hand through most of the first half, although neither team could mount a scoring drive during the first two periods.

Early in the third period Steve Norred galloped 45 yards for the games only touchdown. A rushing play for the two extra points was short of the double stripes.

The remainder of the game was played mostly in Goliad's end of the field as the Texan defense proved tough.

Standouts on defense in the Texan line were Mike Line and Randy Wright.

Teachers Are Back

By BOB MONROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Teachers who struck the nation's largest public school system for 14 days began returning to their classes today, but at least one was turned away by an angry East Harlem community leader.

A union chapter chairman at Intermediate School 201 was met at the door by Ralph Bess, a Negro member of the school's planning board, who blocked his path and said: "Not over my dead body!"

The union official, John Marsh, 33, left.

Community leaders and some parents in underprivileged areas of the city had said they would not permit teachers who participated in the strike to return to the classroom.

MORMON TABERNACLE CHOIR will sing during the 137th Semi-annual General Conference Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1. The 375-voice group, directed by Dr. Richard P. Condie, recently completed a nine-day ten-concert Expo '67 tour.

Private Clubs Probed By Liquor Board

AUSTIN (AP) — Aiming at "open saloons" allegedly operating under the guise of private clubs, the Texas Liquor Control Board is conducting a quiet investigation of El Paso clubs.

LCB Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. said that since Aug. 1, two auditors have examined the books of about 30 of the 119 clubs operating in El Paso at that time.

Since then, 10 private club licenses have been cancelled, 6 suspended and another 5 are up for hearings on whether they should be jerked.

Another 44 private clubs did not renew their licenses when they expired Aug. 31, although a number have submitted new "original" license applications.

"What we are finding in most (violation) cases is one-man ownership under a private club subterfuge. Some had no records, others no membership lists. All they were doing was selling whisky by the drink," said LCB Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr.

With its crew of 14 auditors, the LCB tries to audit each of the 1,240 private clubs in Texas periodicallx. But El Paso was singled out for a special audit, officials said.

For one thing, Stevenson said, El Paso had more clubs than all the rest of the board's San Antonio district—which includes El Paso. San Antonio itself only has 55 club licenses.

Dallas has about 200 and Houston some 300 clubs, he said.

For another, "There was quite a rush of conversions from wine and beer licenses to private clubs," he said.

But the clincher was a tabloid-size circular put out by some clubs advocating what Stevenson calls 'individual ownership"—open bars operating as private clubs in name only.

Clubs are supposed to have members.

'That caused us to start looking into the private club situation. Apparently most are trying to operate under a subterfuge. And a lot of thought was given here to whether they are trying to compete with Juarez," Stevenson said.

LDS Conference Slated In Color

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — This year's Semi-annual General Conference of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter - day Saints will be televised in color for the first time in the Church's 137-year history.

The six membership meetings are set for Sept. 29 through Oct. 1, under the direction of 94-year-old President David O. McKay and his counselors.

Featured during the conference from the historic Tabernacle will be the Salt Lake Mormon Tabernacle Choir. Choir members will appear in new attire for the color telecasts, the men in blue jackets, the women in salmon blouses and dark skirts. The Choir returned recently from a triumphant seven-city, nine - day tour to "Expo '67," the Midwest and the Eastern Seaboard.

Ths year marks the 100th anniversary of the completion of the historic Mormon Tabernacle, home of the Choir and site of the Conference. It was first used for a conference in October 1867, presided over by Brigham Young. This year's semi-annual conference, as in years past, will attract thousands of "Mormons," from around the world.

Relief Society Conference, a gathering of the women's organization, was scheduled Wednesday and Thursday. Sunday School Conference will be held Oct. 1. The Priesthood Missionary Conference is today, and General Priesthood Meeting will be held Saturday evening. The Priesthood Meeting, for male members over 12 years of age, will be carried by closed circuit to more than 400 locations in the United States and Canada.

Services Slated For Ex-Judge White

PORT LAVACA, Tex. (AP)—Funeral services were to be held today for Alton W. White 50, a former Calhoun County judge who was prominent in water development affairs along the coast.

He died Wednesday after a long illness.

White was active in development and promotion of water resources and was the first elected chairman of the Calhoun County Navigation District board. He also was an insuranceman and was one of the founders of the First National Bank here.

Together At Long Last

By HARRY MOSKOS

HONOLULU (AP) — The mixed-up vacation of Lance Cpl. Michael L. Harvold and his wife, planned for August finally came Thursday.

The delay, says Harvold, was caused by a clerical error of his unit in Vietnam. It was overcome by a U.S. senator, a newspaper and a presistent wife.

Instead of orders to Honolulu, where Crish Harvold was waiting in August, the 21-year-old Marine went to Taipan on his rest and recreation leave.

His wife was furious. After two trips to the Honolulu Airport, she flew home to Duvall, Wash, and told her plight to Svein Gikje, military affairs reporter for the Seattle Times. Then Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., started working on a second "R and R" leave.

Harvold's buddies donated $300 so his wife could make the second trip to Honlulu. The money paid for her flight and hotel bill.

When the first "R and R" flight came in Thursday, Harvold wasn't on that one either. His disheartened wife went back to her hotel. But on the second flight, at the very end, there he was.

'He looks handsomer than ever," Crish Harvold said, holding her husband's hand. 'I'm so much in love with that guy."

Police Seek Source Of Pesticide

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — A pesticide, possibly used to kill rats in a wheat field somewhere in Mexico, has been found in bread seized from an unlicensed bakery, authorities said today.

Poisoned bread was blamed for the deaths of 17 children since Monday. An autopsy was pending to determine if a 61-year-old woman who died Thursday was an 18th victim of the poisoning.

Laboratory tests by the California Department of Agriculture in Sacramento found the deadly pesticide parathion in bread. But further tests were planned to determine which ingredient in the bread contained the poison.

Braulio Gomez Veronica, a deputy district attorney, said poison was found in bread baked in an unlicensed home bakery in an eastern suburb of this border city of 265,000. The baker was not charged.

Veronica said it was believed that the ingredient—possibly flour—was contaminated before it arrived in Tijuana because no parathion was found in the city, "not even in stores that sell chemicals."

WE CAN TAKE ACTION
By Using Ears

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Snyder Daily News is sponsoring a Dale Carnegie course as a means of training and developing community and area leaders. This article is one in a series written by Warren Quinlan, director of the Dale Carnegie Training Program in West Texas.)

• • •

By WARREN QUINLAN

A wise West Texas sage once remarked that "We have two ears and one mouth to do twice as much listening as talking." For many persons listening is easier to preach than practice. For others who have acquired the skill of letting ideas, thoughts and trained observation penetrate their minds, listening is conversational generosity.

This winter, Jim, an assistant department manager, visited with his employer after an another employe had passed him for promotion.

'There's only one reason why you didn't get the job, Jim, and that's because you just don't listen . . . with your mind. You dominate every conversation from beginning to end. Your ears are supposed to be intake valves not locked vaults. The job you didn't get requires good listening skills with customers, employes, and management."

When Jim discussed this problem with us, he projected his mind to the problems poor listening created for him.

'First," we said "the less you hear, the more you're dominated by the principle of self-interest. That's probably why you only see things from your point of view." Jim remarked, "When a customer complains, I just don't get all the facts, and I'm half armed. And when that happens, I just don't ask enough meaningful questions, and listen to the answers. Why, this even carries over to my family. Even when I come home at night, I switch off my mind."

Just as important to all of us, when we never listen to anyone for long, they eventually shun us and switch us off and associate with someone who will listen.

After recognizing the need, Jim applied a proven recipe for improved listening. At the beginning he concentrated on encouraging the other person to talk without interrupting. On his first attempt, he confessed he almost broke in seven or eight times. After a few weeks of successful application, he discarded his reminder card, because he began to develop more self-reliance. As Jim practiced concentrating on what another person was saying, he discovered an important truth — that others are a thousand times more interested in themselves and their wants than they are in our wants and problems.

With this ammunition, Jim started to use his listening creatively, by helping customers solve their problems. In short, he became more than a source of supply. Morale in his department soon picked up, customers started asking for Jim. For Jim, listening and leadership went hand in hand.

Today, Jim is making up for lost time on the job and at home. He's enjoying the social rewards and personal satisfactions of being a good listener. His listening switch stays on and he illuminates his mind by constantly practicing conversational generosity. Jim rightfully feels that is we can do it once, we can do it twice, and if we can do it twice we can make a habit of it.

Yes, we, too, can take action our entire mind and not just our ears.

The wise know this, and it's well they should:
Man befriends himself by doing good,
While troubles come, as we know they can,
No evils injure the worthy man.
Though power and wealth may pass him by,
Yet his deeds of goodness will not die.

- - - little minds, I speak with whatever wisdom age has to offer. But Paul more wisely said it, "Though I speak with the tongues of angels, and have not Charity, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal." The wise lady offers good council but youth, it seems, must learn by experience, by precept, by example. That makes it all the more important for adult life to give its best to the basic needs of our youth. Keep good books before them; let your word of mouth be clean; make church attendance and Christian living a 'must' at your house, for, Charity must begin at home. And truly, we are as nothing without Charity. Then come with me to church, let us abide in the will of God, obey His voice and march to victory.
