Means To Secure Cheap Water For Lawns Discussed

Engineer Believes Low Pressure System Is Most Satisfactory

PIPE LINE INADEQUATE

Enormous Cost and Low Pressure Said to Oppose Feasibility

By A. M. McPHERSON,
Written Especially for The Record News.

The question of an adequate supply of cheap water for irrigating the lawns and gardens of this city has been much discussed recently. Supplying irrigation water throughout the city by means of the present pumping plant has been proposed. Also it has been suggested that the present pumping plant be removed to another location.

The Pressure Pipe Line.

As a result of these discussions several people have suggested supplying both irrigation and drinking water by means of a pressure pipe line direct from Lake Kemp. It has been pointed out that many cities such as Los Angeles, New York and Tulsa get their water supply from great distances by means of pipes or closed conduits.

There are a number of objections to running a pipe line direct from Lake Kemp to the city, the chief one is the enormous cost. It would have to be of large diameter and about forty miles long. The cost would run into the millions.

Not Adequate Pressure.

Even if we did get water by such a line it would not supply adequate pressure in all parts of the city. The business section of Wichita Falls is about a hundred feet lower than the bottom of Lake Kemp, but a portion of the city at the end of Tenth street is 75 feet higher than the downtown portion, or only 25 feet lower than the bottom of Lake Kemp.

It can readily be seen that to give sufficient pressure for fire protection a pump would have to be installed even with such a pipe line and the city would be in about the same position it is now expect that it would owe a lot more money.

For Low Pressure System.

The proposed low pressure system taking water directly from the irrigation ditches which surround the city will probably be the most satisfactory and economical method of supplying cheap irrigation water and making an effectual reduction in the cost of water here.

FOR INDIAN HEIGHTS SCHOOL.

Land Purchased But Board Has No Money to Build Now.

Belated information disclosed yesterday that two blocks of land with the exception of two lots have been purchased by the school board of Wichita Falls for the establishment of another school building in the future. The land fronts Hays street and runs back to the Seymour road recently paved.

The new site is well located, W. W. Brown, secretary of the board, stated Monday. In relation to Indian Heights the land lies east of the addition. It is blocks twelve and thirteen of the West Floral Heights addition.

The board has no money with which to build at the present time, and will wait a more favorable time for the issuing of bonds to complete the proposed building.

MINISTER SAYS WOMAN AIDED IN DEATH PLOT

Methodist Divine in Illinois Changes His Earlier Confession

WOMAN IS JAILED

Mob Violence Is Feared And Fifteen Special Deputies Sworn In

By The Associated Press.

MOUNT VERNON, Ills., Sept. 22.—The Rev. Lawrence M. Hight of Ina, signed a new confession late today in which he said he poisoned his wife, Anna, and bought poison with which Mrs. Wilford Sweeting killed her husband. They had planned to be married, the minister admitted. Mrs. Sweetin was ordered arrested.

Earlier in the day the Ina clergyman had signed confessions that he had administered poison to both his wife and Sweetin. Until this afternoon he had steadfastly maintained Mrs. Sweetin was in no way to blame.

The supplemental confession was made after a visit to the jail by the Rev. C. C. Hall, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church, who urged him to "make a clean breast of it."

Sheriff Holcomb was not at the jail at the time. A local newspaper man took down the admissions, which were attested to by the Rev. Dr. Hall.

Hight said he purchased poison at Benton July 22, and gave it to Mrs. Sweetin, whose husband died July 28. Later he purchased more of the poison in Mount Vernon, which he administered to his wife. She died September 11.

Fearing possible mob violence, State's Attorney Frank G. Thompson telephoned the sheriff's office from Ina today asking the jailer to throw a guard around the county jail. Thompson said feeling was running high at Ina. Fifteen special deputy sheriffs were sworn in immediately.

In his latest confession Hight repudiated his statement that he had put

FIGHT ON RAIL NOMINATION IS NOT DEVELOPED

Terrell Given Post And Hatcher, Dallas, Named To Treasureship

HURDLESTON QUITS

Ferguson's Choice Led By Opponent by Thirteen Votes

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 22.—The unexpected selection of C. V. Terrell of Decatur, democratic nominee for state treasurer, as a member of the state railroad commission, succeeding Dr. Walter Splawn, resigned made it necessary for the state democratic executive committee, in session here today, to select a democratic candidate for state treasurer. W. M. Hatcher, attorney, of Dallas, was chosen for the latter office.

Terrell was selected to make the race for state railroad commissioner after C. H. Hurdleston, the Ferguson choice for the job had withdrawn from the race and James E. Ferguson announced he would throw the weight of his influence behind Terrell. Hatcher's selection was by acclamation.

The ballot fight expected between Hurdleston and Clifford L. Stone of Beaumont failed to materialize.

Terrell was leading Hurdleston by 13 votes on the third ballot before the latter withdrew.

A telegram from A. D. Dalyrimple of Fort Worth was read, stating he had information that Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth of Fort Worth, national democratic committeewoman from Texas, two weeks after the Austin convention, had spoken against Mrs. Ferguson's candidacy. However, the session ended with Mrs. Bloodworth's status unchanged.

EGYPT STIFFENS MARKET.

Intervenes in Cotton Trade and Staple Goes Up 80 Points.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—An agency dispatch from Cairo states that cotton prices advanced 80 points Saturday in consequence of purchases on account of the Egyptian government.

A Cairo dispatch Friday said the Egyptian minister of agriculture had not definitely decided to intervene in the cotton futures market, although a committee had reported that the government was prepared, if necessary, to place large orders. Action was unlikely, it was added, as prices had already stiffened on the mere announcement of possible government intervention.

The flight from Tokio to London will be made via India and may be extended to around-the-world trip.

ARGUMENTS IN GRIFFIN CASE TO START AT 9 A. M.

Judge Wilson Begins Preparation of His Charge Monday Evening

EVIDENCE COMPLETED

Visibility of Scene Forms Bulk of Testimony In Concluding Hours

Special to the Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, Sept. 22.—The run of testimony was exhausted early this afternoon in the trial of Herbert S. Griffin, Jr., charged with the murder of Hugh Reilly, Jr., and the lawyers will begin their arguments before the jury in the 30th district court Tuesday morning.

Lawyers and court attaches are taking a rest tonight while Judge Wilson is preparing the charge. Three attorneys will speak for the prosecution, and a like number for the defense Tuesday. The case will be left with the jury some time in the afternoon.

Arguments Today

District Attorney Allred will open the arguments at 9 a. m. Tuesday. The states case against Griffin was presented in evidence, represents two separate and distinct phases, and spectators and others probably the, jury are wondering just which side of the evidence the prosecutors will lean strongest to in summing up the case to the jury. One wing of the testimony would indicate that Griffin killed Reilly and then took his guns and laid them near him. The other that Griffin and Reilly met by arrangement and shot it out the best shot winning.

The defense on the other hand is expected to challenge the good faith and truthfulness of some of the state's witnesses.

Both prosecution and defense used the hour after lunch today in cleaning up odds and ends of testimony. Charley Drummond, a cowboy testified that he could see a man from a distance of 1 mile on an average day.

Deputy Sheriff Testifies.

Ollie Roberts, deputy sheriff, testified to seeing Sheriff Goodwin pick up an empty shell just 18 inches from Reilly's rifle.

J. W. Ross, merchant and bank director of Dundee, told the jury he talked to Lige Griffith, one of the state's main witnesses, the day after the killing and that Griffith related to him substantially the same story as told the jury a few days ago.

Mrs. Herbert Griffin, wife of the defendant, took the stand for a few minutes when court opened Monday morning. She told of Chas. McDaniel coming by her home with news that her husband had shot Reilly and of her drive with McDaniel to the river and their search for the body. They were unable to find Reilly until they saw Griffin, Dr. Woodall and Pete Rayburn coming across the field. She testified that Griffin had eaten dinner at her home as usual that day, but she did not know that when he left he took a Winchester and a pistol.

Griffin was wearing a khaki colored shirt, she said. This is important to the defense because Lige Griffith, one of the states main witness testified the man he saw running along a fence near the scene of the shooting was wearing a white light shirt.

Called For Doctor.

It was Mrs. Griffin who went to a long distance telephone and called a doctor and ambulance from Wichita Falls that day, but she was for a while at the scene where Reilly lay wounded.

"Did you do anything with reference to Reilly's gun or cartridges. Did you touch them at all?" Defense Attorney Weeks asked.

"I did not," she answered.

"Did you hear any one say anything about a duel that afternoon?"

"No."

"Did you hear any one say anything about any one waylaying anybody?"

"No."

The state did not cross examine Mrs. Griffin. They did not ask her a single question.

Charley Ansell a stockman farmer on the Wichita-Archer county line told of a conversation with Hugh Reilly, Jr., a month before the shooting. He was at work on the diversion dam and Reilly came down to talk to him about the dividing line between the Reilly and Griffin places. He said Reilly told him he was having a difference with Griffin on the question.

Said Courts Too Slow.

"I told him I thought the land belonged to Griffin, but he ought to settle the matter in court," said Ansell. "Hugh remarked that the courts are too slow. I told him they ought to arbitrate some way, but he said Griffin was contrary he would not do anything."

Reilly then said he had taken about all of Griffin's bull dozing he was going to and he was going ahead and put up that fence."

Ansell said he told Reilly that he had been in several trades with Griffin, and had found him a very reasonable man.

On cross examination Ansell's statement before the grand jury was produced. In this statement Ansell gave a new version of the fight as he said Griffin had related it to him at the scene after Reilly had been moved. Ansell said Griffin told him when he saw Reilly he hollered at him:

"Damn you don't come through that fence."

Reilly's reply, according to the statement was:

"Damn you you've bulldozed me long enough." After which he pitched his shot gun over against the fence and raised his rifle to his shoulder. When both dropped to their knees and fired.

Saw Loaded Shells.

Ansell said he looked around at the place where Reilly had been laying without finding an empty shell. He said he had seen several loaded ones on the ground however. He said

Fliers Are Back From Where They Started in March

They Give Good Measure By Getting There Ahead Of Time

MOTHER GREETS SMITH

Daring Flyer Loses His Steel Nerve When Loved Ones Kiss Him

By The Associated Press.

SAN DEIGO, Calif., Sept. 22.—America's round the world fliers, returned today to Rockwell field, San Deigo, from which they took off last March to start on their globe encircling trip. As if to give good measure to an achievement already heralded far and wide the fliers got ahead of the announced schedule, disappointing part of a large crowd which was assembled to meet and cheer them, but there was enough of a crowd on hand to make the welcome a real one and the aviators made it plain that they appreciated the reception.

To Resume Today.

The announced plan is for the fliers to resume tomorrow their trip towards Seattle, the official starting point of the flight around the world. They expect to leave for Santa Monica about noon.

At 10:34:48 a. m. Lieut. Lowell Smith, commander of the squadron, dropped the wheel of his air craft on the ground of historic Rockwell field.

Lieut. Erik Nelson, wingmate of Smith on the entire voyage, brought his ship to the field at 10:34:51, followed by Lieut. Leigh Wade at 10:35 o'clock.

Amind the crash of the band, the cheers of the spectators and the roar of the propellors as Lieutenant Smith Taxied his ship up to the dear line, came a cry from the lips of Mrs. Jasper Smith, mother of the world flight commander, "I want my boy."

Looks For Lost Ones.

From his seat in the forward cockpit, Smith, his grime covered face eagerly scanning the crowd for the sight of those two who he loves best, saw him mother and father wididly waiving tiny American flags to attract his attention.

Major Shepley W. Fitzgerald, commanding Rockwell field, sprang on to the lower wing section, reached through the strut wires and shook Smith's hand.

"Let me get down major," said Smith. "I want to get to my mother."

Jumping from the plane, Smith rushed into his mother's arms.

"My boy, my wonderful boy," she whispered, as she kissed the flight commander time and again. Smith's father, reaching the only spot on the army aviator's face that was not being smothered with kisses, by his wife, reached his arm around both and planted a resounding smack in his boy's right ear.

More Than He Could Stand.

It was more than Lieut. Smith could stand and not give vent to his feelings. The man noted throughout the American air service for his steel nerve, his stoical demeanor in the face of the greatest danger, wept softly as another mother too, wept for joy at the home coming of the globe airmen. She was Mrs. Harding, mother of Lieut. John Harding, relief pilot and mechanician with Lieut. Nelson.

"God bless you," said Mrs. Harding as she flung her arms around her boy's neck and kissed him. "God has brought you back safely to me."

Despite the triple patrol of blue jackets, marine and cavalry, Colonel Frank Lahm, air officer in charge of the ninth corps area, who flew here from San Francisco to greet the aviators, and Major Fitzgerald, had a difficult time fighting their way to the flag draped reviewing stand. Lieuts. Nelson, Ogden, Harding, Arnold, Wade and Smith, the fliers and their mechanicians with their relatives and members of the reception committee, finally were grouped together for the official welcome.

GRIFFIN

he was a good friend to both Griffin and Reilly.

E. L. McCarter and Louis Brock, who were plowing in one of Griffins' fields within two thirds of a mile of the shooting, testified they did not hear a shot or hear any one yell.

H. H. Roberts, architect and civil engineer of Wichita Falls, who was used by the state earlier in the trial to prove the distance from Lige Griffith's house to the scene of the shooting, was called by the state in rebuttal Monday. His testimony was calculated to offset that given Saturday by Clint Wood, T. B. Noble, Fred Orrich and others regarding the ability of a man to see correctly from Griffith's house to the scene of the trouble.

These men testified good visibility at that distance was impossible; that a man's arms or whether he carried anything could not be determined.

Roberts testified a man's arms could plainly be seen at this distance. In running the survey line he placed his instrument at the fence in question and used W. F. George of Iowa Park, an uncle of Reilly, and Charley McDaniel, another witness, as chain men for him. They had their position at Lige Griffith's house, and then he would wave his arms to the right or left as a signal for them they would promptly respond.

Testify On Visibility.

W. F. George and McDaniel confirmed this testimony with statements that at that distance they could tell whether a man was swinging his arms or not, or whether he was carrying anything in them.

This testimony all bears on the accuracy of Lige Griffith and his wife in their testimony Friday. The wife told of seeing Reilly leave his car and walking briskly up the fence to where he was shot, swinging his hands. Her husband told of seeing a man in a tight shirt run from Reilly's car, stopping, to the place where Reilly's body was found, appeared to lay something down at two places and then turn around and run back to the car, get in and drive off.

W. F. George, uncle of the dead man, admitted that as late as two years ago there were differences existing between Reilly and Griffin. At that time Griffin and Hugh Reilly, Sr., owned land together. Reilly was turning his Archer county place over to his two sons, Ed and Hugh Reilly, Jr., and George made an inspection of the land with the intention of buying the interest the Reilly boys had in it.

He talked to Griffin about it one day, he admitted on cross examination, and Griffin told him he hoped he did buy it because he was having a hard time to get along with Hugh Reilly. George said Griffin who expressed the desire that if he, George, didn't buy the Reilly's part of the land that he hoped be would buy his (Griffin's) part. On that occasion Griffin remarked that he and Hugh Reilly had previously had trouble over a cattle deal and "Hugh still has a sore spot left in him."

He Will Pay $100 For Bucking Wild Horse At Circus

Something unique is offered to the farmers of Wichita Valley by Ponca Bill, in charge of the Wild West show in connection with the Robbins Brothers circus that will be in this city next Frday. The wild west show is with the main program and no extra charge is made.

He is willing to pay $100 dollars to any farmer who is in the possession of a real outlaw and who is so wild that no one can tame him. Ponca Bill claims to have the best riders in the world. Some of them are products of West Texas and are very keen on taming the wildest of the outlaw tribe of equines. Ponca Bill proposes to give the money to the owner of the horse if not successfully ridden by one of his boys. It will be a real contest, as several of the farmers have already volunteered to take up the offer. The trial will take place in the main tent during the afternoon performance.

SQUATTERS ARE MOVING.

Looks Like City and Mrs. Montgomeery to Win Finally.

The now historic battle between the city and squatteers in the Front street district seems to have swung definitely in favor of the former.

Several years of legal proceedings backed up with injunctions, threats and orders had, up until the last few weeks, resulted in nothing more definite than a shifting around of the nondescript shacks that are strung along the Wichita river banks, through areas surveyed for city streets and over privately owned residential lots. The city and Mrs. R. E. Montgomery, owner of a large part of the land under dispute, have tried unsuccessfully to evict the squatters from their shanties by means of court action and serving of notices. The city was interested primarily in getting the shacks out of the streets, while Mrs. Montgomery wanted them removed so that the property could be cut up into lots and placed on the market.

Repeated warnings now seem to have an affect and it is reported that many of the shacks have been vacated. Other residents have expressed a willingness to move if it is still insisted that they do. The vacant shanties are to be torn down, real streets graded up and, probably, most of the land sold.

STORAGE FIRE AT TIPTON.

It Spreads to Katy Property And Results in Damage.

TIPTON, Okla., Sept. 22.—Fire starting in one of the M. K. & T storage tanks here yesterday afternoon spread to surrounding railway property, buildings and cars, and did several thousand dollars worth of damage before it died down. Although fire fighting equipment was called from Altus, efforts to extinguish it were fruitless.

Two box cars, several flat cars, a hay barn with 50 tons of hay, and over a thousand cross ties were consumed by the fire, which burned for over two hours.

SETTLEMENT IS EFFECTED.

Litigants Compromise While Judge Prepares Instructions.

A settlement was reached in court Monday afternoon in the case of A. C. Scurlock, local attorney, vs. the Stevens County Lumber company, defendant in a suit for attorneys' fees involving approximately $2,000. Evidence in the case had been heard and the court was preparing its verdict when it was announced that the litigants had agreed on a satisfactory settlement between themselves.

The case was started before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court.

poisin in Sweetin's drinking water.

"I said that to shield Mrs. Sweetin," he declared.

Mrs. Sweetin was arrested at Ina and brought to the county jail here shortly before 6 o'clock tonight when State's Attorney Thompson, who had returned with the woman began to question her. When arrested Mrs Sweetin was not informed that Hight had made a statement implicating her in the death of her husband.

New Angle in Case.

Another angle in the case came today when Sheriff Holcomb and State's Attorney Thompson awaited the result of an investigation in White county of the circumstances under which a high school girl died in Centerville three years ago to determine whether her death was similar to those of Sweetin and Mrs. Hight.

A picture of the girl, it was reported by the sheriff, was found in the little parsonage at Ina and, according to the sheriff, the clergyman said the girl had died of ptomaine poisoning.

LA FOLLETTE IS UNDECIDED

Pink Standard Bearer Wants to Invade Middle West.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, independent candidate for president, returned from New York late today, undecided when or where he will deliver his next campaign speech.

The proposed speech making itinerary of the senator was discussed by him before leaving New York at conference with Gilber E. Roe, his eastern campaign manager and others.

Senator LaFollette is known to be anxious to invade the middle and far west but he also is being urged to deliver addresses in a number of cities in east and New England.

Senator LaFollette declared he was elated over the reception given him on both his New York appearances.

May Wipe Out U. S. Debt Next 25 Years, Is Claim

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 22.—Complete retirement of the gigantic public debt of the United States in next 25 years is now contemplated by the treasury.

Federal fiscal affairs have reached the stage, Assistant Secretary Dewey of the treasury disclosed in a speech at the annual convention of the Investment Bankers' association today, where the treasury has been warranted in mapping out a program contemplating the wiping out of the entire debt now about twenty one and a half billion in the next quarter of a century.

To put through such a program, however, Mr. Dewey said the treasury must have the full cooperation of all. He told the investment bankers that any effort to interfere seriously with the present wide market for government securities would upset the plan and be urged them to aid in combetting any movement that would result in the trading off by their holders of government securities.

Pointing out that the government has had to pay approximately one billion dollars a year—almost one-fourth of its entire expenditure—in interest on its public debt, the assistant secretary declared that outlay must be reduced if material reduction is to be an accomplished fact.

FEDERAL MAN ARRIVES

R. O. James Will Collect Cotton Pickers For Farmers.

R. O. James, representing the federal department of labor arrived in Wichita Falls Monday and has opened an office at the city hall. He will be here at least for a week and may stay longer in the interest of farmers needing cotton pickers.

It is requested that whole families or individuals wishing work in the cotton fields register with Mr. James so that they may be directed to the points needing hands. A number of requests came into the office yesterday from farmers in need of field labor.

Mr. James was formerly stationed here during the threshing season and was instrumental in bringing together a number of employers and employees.

CORRECT SHOOTING VERSION

Mrs. Harrison Shot in Back of Head. Declare Relatives.

A request that a correction be made in accounts of the shooting last Thursday afternoon of Mrs. Blanche Harrison, who was killed a few minutes before her huband, W. B. Harrison, turned a gun on himself, has been made by relatives of the dead woman.

It was stated in newspaper stories of the affair that Mrs. Harrison had been shot in the mouth, but a closer examination of the body seems to have revealed that she was shot in the back of the head, the bullet entering at the base of the brain and lodging under the left ear.

10-CT. TAX REDUCTION.

Improvement District No. 1 Will Have Rate of 90 Cents.

A ten-cent reduction in the tax rate of the Wichita county water improvement district No. 1 for 1924 was announced yesterday morning following a meeting of the directors in the district offices of the Staley Building. The rate for this year was set at ninety cents on the hundred dollars, the previous rate having been a dollar on the hundred.

It was announced by the officials and directors that the reduction was made possible by reductions in the expenses of administration, increase of revenue from sale of water to refineries and oil operators, and from the watering of more than 1500 acres of land under irrigation during the summer months.

RUTH ROACH HEARD FROM

Mrs. J. V. Henley Meets Her In Paris and They Talk Wichita

Post cards have been received from Mrs. J. V. Henley, under date of Paris, France, containing the interesting information that she and Ruth Roach, famous rodeo equestrienne, were enjoying their tour. They are soon to return to Wichita Falls, according to the message.

The card also contained a photograph of the Hall of Mirrors in the Versailles palace. Mrs. Henley stated in her card:

"Met Ruth Roach and we are having a grand time. We took lunch together and talked over the 'home town'. The rodeo is a big success here. We are just dying to get back to 'the old town'."

MANY AUTO ENTRIES.

Racing Program at T-O Should Be Good One.

Many entries are being received for the automobile races to be held the opening day and closing day of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. The races are to be under the rules and sanction of the American Automobile association. It is expected that approximately 100 cars will be entered in the races, which are to be a feature on each of the days, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

The best drivers of the southwest are expected to compete with the speed demons of the middle-western and the eastern and northern states for purses and prizes totaling more than $4,000. Most all of the cars are especially built for racing on dirt courses. Several of the half-mile champions are expected to compete in the races.

One of Each Five Couples in Texas Go Divorce Route

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 22.—One out of every five marriage barques sail into the divorce court sea in Texas, if figures announced by the department of commerce today for 1923 are representative.

The number of marriages in Texas in 1923 were 63,245 and the number of divorces was 14,641. In 1922 there were 61,730 marriages and 12,527 divorces. Thus, the increase in marriages reported for 1923 over 1922 is 7,513 or 9 per cent. The divorces reported for 1923 show an increase of 2,114 or 16.9 per cent over 1922.

Harris county in 1923 led Texas in both marriages and divorces.

Only one Texas county—Crane—had no marriages in 1923. In 1922 Winkler and Andrews were also in this class, but Andrews had two and Winkle one in 1923. Regan again had one wedding in 1923 just as it did in 1922.

EIGHTEEN DOGS KILLED.

They Are Executed Monday at The City Pound.

Eighteen dogs the last batch awaiting slaughter at the city pound, were executed Monday afternoon.

With a dog catcher on the job the past few weeks, vagabond pups have been sent to violent deaths at the rate of from 10 to 15 a day. New allotments were brought in as fast as one bunch had been disposed of.

The dog catcher has quit for the summer now—at least the old one has, and it may be that homeless hounds will not be molested for a time. A campaign against the dogs conducted more or less consistently all summer, has resulted in the capture and execution of close to a thousand.

6 GOVERNORS AT ONCE.

Including Pat Neff They Will Visit El Paso Exposition.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 2.—Six governors, three from Old Mexico and three from the United States, including Governor Pat M. Neff, will attend the official opening of the International Exposition at El Paso Thursday.

Governor Neff announced he would leave Austin Tuesday for El Paso, stopping at Sierra Blanca to visit the irrigated districts in Hudspeth and El Paso counties to determine how much water will be needed from the Rio Grande for the proper irrigation of this section.

The three governors from Mexico represent three Mexican states bordering on the Rio Grande. The governors from the United States attending the exposition are, besides Governor Neff, the governors of New Mexico and Arizona. The six governors have all been invited to officially open the exposition with speeches.

AUSTIN BREATHES EASIER

Time For Filing Contests in Election Held Past.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 22.—Time for the filing of a contest of the results in the recent charter amendment election whereby the commission manager form of government was adopted for Austin, expired Sunday at midnight according to a statement from City Attorney J. Bouldin Rector.

Since the city-manager election here August 9, there have been persistent reports of plans being made for a contest based on the closeness of the vote on more than a score of amendments adopted. One of the amendments passed by a narrow margin of eight votes.

Cimarron Is On Rampage: Orient Service Delayed

Special to The Record News.

FAIRVIEW, Okla., Sept. 22.—The Cimarron north of here is on a rampage, and spread out so far due to the recent rains, that it washed whole hunks of dirt out of way of the Orient railway. In no case did the washout completely go through the right-of-way, but in many cases it undermined the track. As a result the railway service was disorganized for twenty-four hours. Passenger trains only ran to this city from the south and turned and went back over the southern line. While the same was done on the other side of the Cimarron.

Among the incidents of the break in traffic was the delay to the big Robbins Brothers circus trains. They were caught on the north side of the river and compelled to lay all day and night on the prairie. Their trains were finally backed up to Cimarron where their live stock and animals were unloaded, so as to rest until the break was repaired. They missed their date at Fairview and did not reach this city until Sunday morning at 5 o'clock. They gave two performances today at Altus and had crowded houses both times.

The flood did no damage outside of the railway and wagon bridge which were materially weaknened. The west pier of the big county bridge sank down a foot through the roadway out of line and making it very dangerous to pass over, according to a report received here.

PRIZEFIGHTER IN CELL

Police Pick Up and Jail One of Recent Ring Principals

A popular favorite of the American legion prizefight ring has been the first victim of a police department drive to clean out some of the undesirable element attached to Wichita Falls. The scrapper in question was arrested Sunday for accosting several young girls on the streets. He spent the night in the lockup and was liberated Monday morning when a $50 cash bond was put up. He is to face trial in police court this morning.

While in no way condemning the fights themselves, Chief of Police Hodgins is of the opinion that what he termed "some undesirable ham and eggers" are doing themselves and the city no good and are in town merely to attend the fights and pick up what they can on the side. Several complaints have recently been made against men known to be professional ring men for accosting women and girls on the streets.

It is to remedy this situation that Chief Hodgins has ordered a careful watch kept.

SMALL TALKING MACHINE

"Peter Pan Gramaphone is Demonstrated in Wichita

Perhaps the smallest talking machine in the United States even in America is in Wichita Falls. "The Peter Pan gramaphone" an English made machine was brought here from New York by Miss Thelma Wells, local oil operator.

The gramaphone weighs around four pounds, and measures 4 1-2x6x7 inches. It plays any size record, and gives out a clear tone minus the vibration one might expect from such a small machine. The gramaphone will be exhibited at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, it was stated by Mrs. G M. Holt, who is keeping the gramaphone at the Texan hotel.

HE IS 3,000 MILES AHEAD

Hiker Comes to Wichita Falls on Long Continent Trip

With 38,790 miles behind him and 1,210 miles and a fourth slice of a $25,000 cash prize ahead, James H. Duffey, world war veteran and aspirant to national hiking champion honors arrived in Wichita Falls Monday. City Clerk W. E. McBroom signed his book and attached the city seal as proof that Duffey had been here. Legion officials also signed his papers.

The hiker is one of eight persons who started Jan. 1, 1920, to travel 40,000 miles, visit every state capitol in the union and make other points within five years and six months. He is about 3,000 miles ahead of the nearest competitor. Three others remain in the race.

From here Duffey goes to Oklahoma City and thence east to Washington where the journey ends. He has been in all but five states and will catch those on the way back.

As a member of the famous 42nd (Rainbow) division, Duffey served with distinction in the world war. He has with him a medal bestowed by Marshal Foch for conspicious bravery Shell shocked and badly gassed, he returned to this country after the armistice, totally disabled, but is now regaining his health. Repeated operations and tre[illegible] at government hospitals failed to relieve him, he said, but since being on the road he has recovered exceptionally well. He carries a 40-pound pack and camps at night.

The prize in which he will share on returning is a trust fund in the care of Johns Hopkins university.

Miriam's Words Used To Attack Her Office Right

Quotations from "Ferguson Forum" Introduced at Injunction Hearing

THE LAW QUESTIONED

Defense Seeks to Show Dickson's Contention Is Unconstitutional

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's own words were introduced in court here today in an attempt to show that there had been an agreement between herself and her husband that he would be the governor in case of her election.

Quotations from the "Ferguson Forum", purported to have been written by Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, were contained in a supplemental petition filed by the plaintiff, Charles M. Dickson, who brought the injunction to have Mrs. Ferguson disqualified to hold the office of governor.

Articles Are Quoted.

One article quoted said: "The issue in this campaign is the Ferguson issue and the Ferguson name and we need not quibble over first names. Jim Ferguson is the only candidate for governor who has been telling the people about all this business (government economy) for the last two years. Ask for a Ferguson ticket whether it begins with Jim or Miriam."

Another statement quoted as written by Mrs. Ferguson, said: "I promise to carry out the platform and he (Jim) will help me to give the people of Texas the best administration that our ability can produce. Jim wants another chance and if you will elect me he will consecrate himself to your service."

These statements will be relied on by the plaintiff to sustain their allegation that Mr. Ferguson will be the real governor and Mrs. Ferguson only "a figure-head."

Law's Validity Attacked.

The defense started an attack on the validity of the law under which Mr. Dickson brought his suit and on the jurisdiction of the court. After the afternoon had been consumed by W. G. Love, attorney for Mrs. Ferguson, in argument, it was decided none of these law points would be determined until all the facts had been introduced. Judge I. W. Stephens, representing Dickson, will start the case tomorrow at 9 a. m. for the plaintiff introducing all the evidence for his side and presenting the arguments. The defense will then take up its arguments on jurisdiction and constitutionality and on the question of whether a woman has the right to hold office, which is declared to be the foundation of the case.

Mr. Love argued for Mrs. Ferguson that Mr. Dickson had no right to bring the suit under the statute because the question is a political matter for the law officers of the state and because Mrs. Ferguson's election would not damage him in anyway. On the other hand, if it is held that he has a right to bring the suit, the contention is that the law is unconstitutional because it attempts to vest the power of election contests in a private individual.

Mayfield Case Cited.

The Mayfield injunction case, in which it was sought to prevent the name of United States Senator Mayfield from going on the ballot was cited. In that case, the court held the suit could not be brought by a private individual.

Assistant Attorney General John C. Wall for the defense argued that if one voter could maintain this suit a million suits might be brought against Mrs. Ferguson and the will of the people be completely thwarted.

"Socialists could destroy this government if every voter could bring such a suit," he said. "Republicans who didn't want to see Mrs. Ferguson elected could almost stop the processes of our elections in this manner."

It was argued that the only body to consider election contests and the qualifications of the candidate is the legislature, since it is a political question and not one for the court.

Forenoon Procedure.

An attack on the validity of the law permitting a citizen to bring suit to contest an election was launched by attorneys for Mrs. Ferguson when the injunction suit seeking to disqualify her as democratic nominee for governor was called for hearing here today. Mrs. Ferguson was present in person.

Mrs. Ferguson denies that there was any agreement between herself and her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson, that he was to be governor in her name, declaring that this is but a conclusion of the plaintiff and a mere campaign assertion.

The answer also questions the jurisdiction of the court over the subject matter and the parties, contending that Charles M. Dickson, who brought the suit, had no interest in the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson and could be neither benefitted nor damaged by her election to the governorship and hence could not bring the action.

This suit is an effort to interfere with legislative functions the legislature being the only proper body to contest elections, the answer states.

Mrs. Ferguson Present.

Mrs. Ferguson sat close to her lawyers in the court room. Her husband was not present, having gone to Houston to attend the meeting of the state executive committee.

Court recessed until 2 p. m., without hearing any argument, to permit the plaintiffs' to study the defendant's answer.

The attorney general filed an answer similar in substance to that of Mrs. Ferguson.

The chief attack is on the constitutionality of the law and the jurisdiction of the court. The attorney general's answer contends the question involved is one of public interest and therefore is a matter solely within the authority of the officers of the state. It is a political right that is contested not a legal right and the effort to determine the candidate's eligibility is a legislative matter.

Say Suit Premature.

Furthermore, the suit is premature, the answer contends, because it is an attempt to determine the woman's eligibility for election in advance of the election and if it has any merit it should be brought after the election, because her election may never happen.

The charges of the plaintiff that Mrs. Ferguson would be merely a figure head with her husband the real governor are declared to be more conclusions of opinion and insufficient in law to make a cause of action. The charges that Mr. Ferguson would share the governor's salary as her husband and that the salary would be community property, thus permitting him to draw money from the state though forbidden to do so by the legislature is pronounced "irrevelent and immaterial and shows no legal cause of disqualification."

Mrs. Ferguson will be required to take an oath of office to administer the duties of the governorship in her individual capacity and upon her "personal and official responsibility," the answer declares, and concludes that there is no legal basis for saying that she will be only a figurehead.

File General Demurrer.

The charge that a woman has no right to hold office is reached by a general demurrer which denies that this is the law.

Mr. Dickson pointed out that the law under which he brought the suit, now attacked by the answer, was the very law under which a private citizen obtained an injunction to keep Mr. Ferguson's name off the primary ballot. This point was to be strongly argued by the plaintiff's lawyers when the hearing resumed this afternoon. The supreme court decided that Mr. Ferguson was not eligible, though this law was not questioned in that case.

CHURCH FIGHT ON KLAN

Man Knocked Down in Aisle After Rector's Sermon

By The Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 22.—Loud voiced criticism of the rector's sermon at St. Paul's Episcopal church yesterday by the Rev. James Fulcher, here from Michigan to address ku klux klan gatherings, brought down the wrath of a member of the congregation who followed him down the center aisle to the vestibule and knocked him prone in a lively fist fight.

The Rev. Beverly D. Tucker Jr., rector, midway in his sermon, had criticised men "who go about hooded and masked, seeking the detriment of non-Protestant persons," when Mr. Fulcher, also a member of the Episcopal clergy, jumped up from a front seat with the remark that "you don't know what you are talking about."

As he stormed out down the aisle Andrew D. Christian, a prominent lawyer member of the congregation, pursued him and the fistic encounter followed.

After he had been arrested and released on bail Mr. Fulcher was said to have stated he would tender his apologies to the rector.

ATTACK PINK ELECTORS.

North Dakota Republicans Would Remove LaFollette Names.

By The Associated Press.

BISMARCK, N. D., Sept. 22.—Republicans of North Dakota asked the state supreme court today to remove from their presidential elector ticket the names of four candidates admittedly supporters of Senator Robert M. LaFollette.

The court issued a writ returnable Monday, September 29, when the La Follette supporters will be required to show cause why their names should not be eliminated.

NEVER ATE FRIED CHICKEN.

Enid, Okla., Pastor Tastes It After 26th Birthday.

ENID, Sept. 22.—Enid has a preacher who never tasted fried chicken until after he had passed his twenty-sixth birthday. Rev. T. H. Mathieson, pastor of the University Place Christian church and a New Zealander by birth, is the pulpiter who was denied this ministerial luxury. In recent years, he has been making up for lost time, and few Enid clergymen can match his capacity along this line, his intimates declare. Wilfred E. Powell, member of Phillips university faculty and a native of Dunedin, New Zealand, which is Mr. Mathieson's home town, told the chicken story on the clergyman, following his recent return from a New Zealand trip. New Zealanders never fry chicken, Powell says. They prefer it broiled or stewed.

HE CHALLENGES HAYNES

Congressman Makes 2.75 Pct. Cider And Will Be Prosecuted.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes in a statement late today, declared there could be no doubt that Representative John Phillip Hill of Baltimore, had violated the prohibition statutes in making cider which he recently announced had an alcoholic strength of 2.75 per cent and challenged the commissioner to prosecute him.

Mr. Haynes said a definite course of action had been agreed upon between prohibition authorities and the department of justice. Neither Mr. Haynes nor the department of justice, however, would discuss what course could be followed.

One Dead, Two Missing, Result Of Texas Flood

By The Associated Press.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Sept 22.—One man is known to be dead and two or three others are missing as the result of the overflowing of Gonzales Creek here late yesterday following a cloud burst. The property loss was placed today at $100,000.

E. Settles, 41, employe of the Sinclair Oil company, was drowned when his automobile ran into a washed out bridge. Nearly every house in the negro and Mexican section was flooded and it is from there that several persons are reported missing. Three hundred persons were homeless last night. Many negroes were in water until nearly midnight. Thirty houses in one white settlement were flooded, the occupants having narrow escapes on rafts and boats which were sent to their rescue.

Nearly every industrial establishment and many wholesale houses were flooded. Railway tracks were washed out in all directions from Breckenridge and wire communication demoralized.

Heavy loss was reported from the agricultural and oil districts surrounding Breckenridge.

FAMILIES FIGHT IT OUT

Invitation to "Duel" Accepted and One Dead, Three Injured

By The Associated Press.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Sept. 22.—One man is dead, two others are probably fatally wounded and another is seriously hurt following a clash between members of the McCormick and Stanley families in McClean county yesterday, according to reports received here from Calhoun.

Otis McCormick, 28, was killed, Ross McCormick, 56, father of Otis, and Frank McCormick, brother of the victim, probably fatally wounded and Melvin Stanley was seriously hurt.

Members of the McCormick family were enroute to their home from a church meeting when they stopped at the farm home of David Stanley, according to the version of the affair received here. An enmity between the two families had existed for some time and the McCormicks called for the Stanleys to come out.

The Stanleys accepted the invitation, the report added, and opposing factions met in a field near the Stanley home. David Stanley, it was said, was armed with a pocket knife and members of the McCormick family with fence slats during the ensuing fight.

MASONS HUNT BODY.

E. R. Fairchilds Believed To Have Been Lost in McAlester Fire.

TULSA, Sept. 22.—Belief that E. R. "Pop" Fairchilds, chief scout for the Indian territory, Illuminating Oil company, lost his life when the Busby hotel at McAlester burned was expressed here Sunday by Mrs. Fairchilds. He has been missing since 8 o'clock Monday night. The hotel burned thirty minutes later. Burdett Blue, vice-president of the oil company, has asked Masons at McAlester to help search the ruins for Fairchild's body.

Fairchilds was sent to McAlester Monday to check up abstracts of leases on the Pittsburgh county records. He has not been heard of since and not seen later than a few minutes before the fire broke out.

Fairchilds was 48 years old and has worked for the Texas and Carter Oil companies in north Texas, and the Marland and Empire companies in Kansas and Oklahoma.

He is originally from Bradford, Pa., where he has many relatives.

14-Year-Old Got Mad; Killed His Aunt With Axe

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 22.—Asbury Wessinger, 14-year-old boy, was held here today on a murder charge following his confession that because he "got mad" over an argument about a lost pen knife he killed his aunt with an axe and attacked her three small children, injuring two of them probably fatally. The boy admitted to officers yesterday he had just fixed up the story he first told about being chased away from his aunt's home here by a "tall, black negro," which had led to the arrest of three negroes, since released, in attempts to solve the murder which occurred Saturday.

In his confession the boy was said to have related that when he went to his aunt's house to look for a knife he thought he lost there on a previous visit, an argument developed with his aunt and he "got mad" and "lost my temper." When she left the house to milk a cow he said he picked up an axe handle and attacked the three children, Newman, aged 6, and Rufus, 4, being critically injured. Azilee, one year old, probably will recover.

Picking up an axe, according to the confession, he then followed his aunt and struck her from behind while she was milking. The woman died in a hospital here yesterday.

CHANGES PLEA TO GUILTY

Two Defendants Change Pleas In Trial On Oil Fraud.

By The Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 22. —The trial of Harold I. "Mike" Lyvers, Harry N. Morris and Otto L. Morris, charged with use of the mails to defraud and conspiracy in connection with Arkansas oil field operations, which was started in the United States court here this morning, came to an end suddenly after noon when Lyvers withdrew his plea of not guilty and substituted a plea of guilty.

The jury had been secured during the morning session of the court. Immediately after the noon recess Lyvers made the change in his plea, which was followed by the presentation statements of the case by government counsel and opening address by defense counsel.

Before any further procedure could be taken a halt was called for a conference between Harry N. Morris and his counsel, following Morris appeared before the bar, withdrew his plea of not guilty and substituted a plea of guilty.

With the two principal defendants thus eliminated Judge Frank A. Youmans ordered one of the jury withdrawn, an order of mistrial was entered and the case continued to the November term of court as to Otto L. Morris, the third defendant.

Other defendants in his case were not in court today.

Lyvers and Harry N. Morris were granted a stay of sentence until October 1, meanwhile standing on their present bond.

All jurors in attendance were dismissed until next Monday, when the Robert Chew case will be called.

Conscience Must Guide Says Wolfe Leaning to Butte

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—In a statement today M. H. Wolfe, former chairman of the state democratic executive committee, said concerning the platform of Dr. George Butte, the republican nominee for governor.

"I am not in politics at present but the fact is that every democrat in Texas is now facing two serious obligations. The first obligation is to the welfare of the state. The second obligation is to the democratic party.

"Every man or woman must decide for himself or herself which is the most sacred obligation. Without being committed to anybody I must confess that I am a great admirer of Dr. George C. Butte. His platform published in Sunday's paper is a gem. It is not a republican platform, but it is a statement of high principles of government to which principles many of us have dedicated our lives."

The statement concluded by saying Dr. Butte was "gifted and equipped to fill the high office of governor of Texas" and "it becomes the inalienable right and duty of all citizens to vote according to dictates of their own conscience."

COTTON PICKERS TO ALTUS.

Trains Bring Hundreds to That Section to Pick Big Crop.

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Sept. 22.—Cotton pickers by the hundreds are coming to this town and being distributed among the planters hereabouts. Every train that comes in is loaded with young men from all parts of the country. The daily train to arrive here from Wichita Falls carries all the way from 100 to 200 pickers. Yesterday the train had 250, and the crowd was so large that some of the pickers were compelled to stand up all the way. A special coach was added for negro pickers.

The crop of this year is the largest ever raised in this section. The plant stands high and erect. The blooms are very numerous, some carrying as many as seventeen. The yield will be enormous. Planters of experience declare that in some cases there will be a bale to the acre, although the average instead of being the ordinary third of a bale, will this year be one-half of a bale.

WANTED FOR BIGAMY.

Lawton, Okla., Man Is Also Sought for Child Abduction.

LAWTON, Sept. 22.—Several charges enter the marital mixup of a Lawton man, sought by police for abduction of his two children from their mother, Mrs. Rosa Conklin of Hot Springs, Ark. W. H. Conklin, a machinist, married for 30 years to one wife and the father of grown children, according to the story of wife No. 2, visited her home at Hot Springs, Ark., in 1920, where the couple were married. She had no knowledge of the existence of the first wife.

Following the birth of two children, Conklin left his second wife and returned to wife No. 1, residing in Lawton. Recently he went to Hot Springs, according to his second wife, and abducted their two children, bringing them back to Lawton.

MASTER AND SLAVE.

In the long ago Jefferson Davis was a gallant soldier, a ripe statesman and a knightly man. He had a black manservant, a slave, who was with him throughout the Mexican war and served him on the plantation at home in Mississippi. Jefferson Davis became the president of the Planters Republic and Abraham Lincoln the president the the states that remained steadfast to the flag of the Union.

Slavery died, the Planters Republic became a memory while Jefferson Davis lingered on for a few years, ever retaining the affection of the people of the south and the admiration of many who were on the winning side. The son of the black slave of Jefferson Davis became a United States senator from Mississippi and a leader of his people in reconstruction days.

His name? Blanche K. Bruce. He died years ago but he left a son, Roscoe Conkling Bruce, named for the famous republican statesman and leader of New York. Young Bruce graduated from Harvard. He was head of the colored schools of Washington, D. C., for many years and now lives in Prince George county, Maryland.

He is one of the national leaders of his people, a brilliant orator and a lifelong republican. In this campaign he has declared for John W. Davis because of the ku klux klan issue and will make speeches in many northern states having large negro populations.

He announced his decision in a most scathing criticism of the president for his refusal to voice an opinion on many of the issues which are uppermost in this campaign. This excerpt dealing with a situation in Massachusetts when the president was governor, is very interesting:

"Mr. Coolidge said no word when his word might have helped. His method was shown in the Boston police strike—to sit on the fence until the cat called Public Opinion has made its decisive jump and then to announce and sonorously support the principles of that jump until the unwary imagined the praise belongs to Mr. Coolidge himself rather than to the cat. But, if I may draw upon the folklore of my people, I would say that not every shut eye is asleep. To make public opinion is better than to exploit it."

This grandson of a former slave of Jefferson Davis declared for John W. Davis before the president had granted pardon to six of the negro rioters who were lifers in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth. These pardoned convicts were principals in the murderous uprising in the city of Houston in war time when fourteen innocent persons were sent to bloody graves.

Why point the finger of scorn at Chief Justice Caverly of Illinois? Aren't convicted murderers pardoned by those in high office? Aren't murderers who should be convicted given their freedom by maudlin jurors who look upon life as less worthless and the crime less heinous than the theft of a horse or a pig?

But back to the noted negro lawyer and educator. He is on the road for John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan, which shows that the noted negro divine was right when he said, "De sun do move, Brother Jasper."

DID YOU KNOW

That the national Get-Out-the-Vote club, a non-political organization recently founded, has appointed an organization leader in each of the forty-eight states to push the activities of the organization, the idea of getting out a full vote all over the country having been endorsed by President Coolidge, John W. Davis and Senator La Follette.

That the central labor union of Jersey City, N. J., with a membership of 57,000 has declared itself for John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan, for the reason that "the democratic party has ever been the friend of labor, organized and unorganized and the nominees of the party more fully represent the cause of the common people than the nominees of the other political organizations."

That John W. Davis in his farm program promised foreign markets, farm credits and cuts in taxes and rail and water rates, as well as a fair deal for all.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE.

LIBRA

Today's planetary aspects are very beneficial and stimulating and while they encourage a certain degree of conservative aggressiveness in both business and commercial efforts, they are more conducive to success in domestic and personal affairs. Those who marry today are almost sure to secure that happiness they both seek. Those who are in love, but have not yet formally given expression to these thoughts, can put the matter to a final test without fear or trembling. Those to whom a child is born will find in their creation a comfort and a solace.

A child born today will have a normal babyhood and childhood, and will grow up to be a healthy, normal man or woman. Its character will be founded on principle, its disposition sunny and self-sacrificing; its mentality quite up to the average. This child will be one of those who give cheer and comfort to its parents, and pleasant association and companionship to those brought into contact with it. While always keen to resent a wrong—and it will possess a highly developed sense of justice—it will always be amenable to love and affection, and will forgive readily. Its success along material lines may not be exceptional, but it will shed sunrays wherever it is, and the world will be the better for its sturdy example of simple faith and duty.

If today is your birthday, you very often grumble and complain of the meagre success that, so far, has attended all your efforts. If you analyze yourself, will you not find that your condition is largely attributed to your unwillingness to serve, whereas you expect others, as well as circumstances, to serve you?

In the old days, kings ceased to make service their first consideration, instead, they demanded the service of others. Thus they wrote their own doom. Neither human being nor animal, which ceases to serve, lasts.

Great service, generally speaking, brings great reward. He or she who is ambitious to success must learn how best to serve, how best to be fitted to earn high rewards, how, in short to be useful beyond the ordinary.

There is scarcely a single door leading to success which cannot be opened by the key of service. A too-current business phrase used to be "soak 'em." The modern version, and a much more workable and worth-while one, is, "Serve 'em."

Successful people born on this date are:

James F. Dana, scientist.
Elihu B. Washburne, statesman.
Sara June (Clarke) Lippencott, author.
Alexander Davidson, inventor.
James Carroll Beckwith, artist.
Wm. DeWitt Hyde, educator.

HOW IT STARTED

"THE WINE AND THE BUSH"

When in order to imply that good deeds require no heralding and the right sort of wares do not need to be distinguished by the wrapper we say "Good wine needs no bush" we are quoting Shakespeare in, "As you like it."

The phrase "The wine and the bush" is a survival of the days when each shopkeeper had his sign emblematic of his business. Like the pawnbroker with his three gold balls, the wineseller had his bush.

The symbolism of the wine and the bush, however, is said to go back still further—quite to the days of antiquity. For the Publius Syrus a Roman writer whose famous moral apothegms have been preserved for us, we find this sentence:

"You need not hang the ivy branch over wine that will sell."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

My second-hand motor stopped running,
And finding it quite broken down,
Good money I paid for the technical aid
Of all the repair men in town,
They each took a look at its vitals
And harked to the internal clatter,
And solemnly said, with a shake of each head,
That a different thing was the matter.

Each one of them tinkered and tinkered
By turns with the broken down car,
Which sometimes would go for an hour or so,
But never would go very far.
And when it grew silent forever,
I fell in a fit of depression
And said that these gents didn't have any sense
And followed a futile profession.

My health failed a month or two after,
I felt funny pains in my side;
I couldn't allude to the subject of food,
And working I coudn't abide,
I went to a half dozen doctors,
Who after a careful inspection,
Each avowed that my health had been raided by stealth
By a different sort of infection.

I have taken a half dozen treatments,
For a half dozen species of ills;
I have spent all my pelf, for a big closet shelf
Filled with various lotions and pills.
And I've learned that all sorts of professions
Are prone to occasional errors,
Which is why, you will find, I am somewhat more kind
When speaking of motor repairers.

THE HEIGHT OF DISSIMULATION

You can judge a man by his exterior, sometimes, but never a cantaloupe.

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

PRACTICAL PACIFISM.

All who are pacifists do not desire to deliver up their country to any foe that will come and take it. They desire to protect their country and think that this can better be done by a working agreement with other nations than by war.

It is constantly held and stated that pacifism means the absence of love of country. But a pacifist can love his country as intelligently as any militarist. It is only a question of judgment.

The method of protecting their country by increasing its attacking power has been tried over and over again and has failed. It would seem that some other method should be tried.

Perhaps it will take a long while to grow up a sentiment that shall properly back the effort to bring the nations together. The idea must win its way by its inherent common sense and against all forms of misconstruction and misstatement.

America is essentially a peace loving country and the people of every country are peace loving. They do not go into war except as their passions are inflamed and as men play upon their feelings of nationalism and pride.

Whatever, therefore, can help to increase the intelligence of a people and of the diplomats who represent them, whatever can establish the spirit of compromise, without which no peace is possible, must help a little.

It is certain that no nation, just as no individual, can maintain its superiority over all others, it must give way a little. It must abate somewhat of its spirit or pride or vanity for the sake of peace.

Whatever shall bring the nations of the world together and lead them to act for the good of all, instead of for the good of their separate country, will be of value.

Labor and art and commerce are more and more absorbing the interests of the people. War, as a profession, is losing ground and in time the efforts of every population will be directed rather toward making the individual country serve the world than to dominate the world.

The love of rule has always been disastrous. The love of service makes for peace.

GLEANINGS FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE

BY CLARK KINNAIRD

A DEVIL BREATHING SUGAR

One of the popular conceptions of George Bernard Shaw is that he is a sort of mythical devil, breathing fire.

Yet it is Shaw who says:

"Live in contact with dreams, you will get something of their charm; live in contact with facts, and you will get something of their brutality.

"I wish I could find a country where the facts were not brutal, and the dreams not unreal."

However, Shaw contends that romance is always a product of ennui, an attempt to escape from a condition in which real life appears empty, prosaic, and boresome—therefore essentially a gentlemanly product.

It is not death that matters, he opines, but the fear of death.

"It is not killing and dying that degrade us, but base living, and accepting the wages and profits of degradation.

"Better 10 men dead than one live slave or his master."

Mens sana in corpore sano is a foolish saying, Shaw believes. The sound body is a product of the sound mind, he says.

Some more Shavianisms:

People always exaggerate the value of the things they haven't got. The man with toothache thinks he will be happy when he is out of pain.

A man's mouth may be shut and his mind closed much more effectually by his knowing all about a subject than by his knowing nothing about it.

The English do not know what to think until they have been coached laboriously and insistently for years in the proper and becoming opinion.

Hell is the home of the unreal and of the seekers after happiness. It is the only refuge from heaven, which is the home of the masters of reality, and from earth, which is the home of the slaves of reality.

UNCOMMON SENSE

By JOHN BLAKE.

Personality.

Recently in New York City a young English actress has made a tremendous reputation.

Inasmuch as we do not intend to mention her name it is safe for us to say that she is not particularly good looking.

There are many chorus girls who would rank far higher in a beauty contest than she does.

Neither is her voice remarkable.

Were she to try for grand opera she would not be given so much as a small part.

But she has a charm, and a manner which fills the theatre night after night, and brings people back to see her and listen to her again and again.

What the girl has is personality. And her personality is the product of intelligence and an earnest desire to succeed at her business, which she very properly regards as a career, and not as a stepping stone to a marriage with some dull-witted young heir to a fortune.

In private life she uses this charm but little, being a quiet sort of girl, who would sit around the porch of a summer hotel for week after week without ever atracting any attention.

But she has learned, by watching her audience carefully, just how to please them, and she never underestimates their intelligence by trying to please them with cheap jokes and stage tricks.

She choose her songs carefully, and sings them so that every line is made to count.

She plays the parts in the sketches assigned to her as carefully as Bernhardt played tragedy parts.

She works for hours over lines until she can speak them so they will count.

In a little while she will be independent of her profession, for the hit she has made is bringing her wealth.

But her love for the stage will probably keep her on it for years, and when she is fifty she will be as pleasing as she is today at thirty.

Personality is generally supposed to be born in one. But it is as often cultivated as it is native, and always brains play the chief part in its cultivation.

A desire to please others is almost always rewarded by success, if it is keen enough.

But the desire must be genuine and not simulated.

If only the yearning for adulation is behind the desire it will be about as useful as a child's wish to "show of

SUB ROSA

By MIMI.

Dear Girls:

I do appreciate all of your letters. I feel as if I really know you after reading your sweet little notes.

It is queer how a person's personality shines through a letter, and how near the receiver of the letter and the sender, feel to each other.

I have answered your letters and have mailed the song list, and the reading list, and the pattern to those requesting them.

Here is a fashion hint for your autumn wardrobe. It is the last word in an artistic effect, so you girls ought to try it.

Buy a plain dark blue dress and hat—or a tan dress and hat and the most brilliant scarf you can get.

The scarf is not to be worn around the neck, but thrown over the arm, or carried in the hand—that's the trick of it—it is just to give color and dash to a plain costume.

You can indulge your most barbaric taste in selecting the colors of the scarf—as it does not have to be becoming to you because it is not worn near the face.

Really it is a wonderfully attractive style, and the girl who carries it out gives a "poster effect" when she makes her appearance.

Don't be afraid to be original—let me hear from the first girl who tries it out. Here is the reason for the scarf:

Men love color—and now that the summer is almost over and our bright sport clothes have to be cast aside—let's give them a thrill with a wave of color.

Lots of love—

THE HORSESHOE CHAMPION.

"Putt" Mossman of Eldorado, Iowa, Defeats All Comers.

By The Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept 22.—"Putt" Mossman of Eldorado, Iowa, today was national professional horseshoe pitching champion. He defeated Frank Jackson, Kellerton, Iowa, last year's champion, here yesterday, taking three straight games and scoring 152 points to 54 for Jackson.

Mrs. C. A. Lanham of Bloomington, Ills., woman's professional champion, retained her title by defeating Mrs. George Broulette of Minneapolis.

Lake Worth, Fla., was awarded the 1925 tournament—and Al Mischler of Lake Worth was elected president of the association. R. P. Spencer, Picher, Okla., was elected second vice-president.

A Heart-to-Heart Talk to Husbands and Wives About Opening Each Other's Mail—Shall She Marry Her Tightwad Sweetheart?—The Girl Who Broke Her Engagement Because of Her Fiance's Mother.

Dear Miss Dix—Has a wife a right to open her husband's letters and read them? MRS. R. W. A.

Answer:

Certainly not. Neither has a husband a right to open and read his wife's letters without her express permission. For either husband or wife to open the other's letters is a violation of the ethics of good taste and an exhibition of prying curosity and suspicion that is an insult to the one whose mail has been tampered with.

A letter is an intensely personal thing intended just for the one to whom it is written, and neither a husband nor wife should feel that he or she has a right to supervise the other's correspondence.

A man's wife has no right to know many of the private affairs of his sisters and brothers that they might like to consult him about, nor has a husband any right to hear every detail of the troubles of his wife's family that they tell her in their letters. Both men and women have old friends who write them things that are intended for the friend's eyes alone, not for the callous and critical reading of strangers.

So real delicacy of feeling would prompt husbands and wives not to ask to see the letters that are written to their mates. Certainly, a man or woman who can't be trusted to get a letter is so poor and miserable a creature that he or she is not worth watching, nor is any system of espionage successful. If a husband or a wife desires to carry on a compromising correspondence with any one there are plenty of ways to do it.

Married people often think that they are under no obligation to observe the decencies of life with each other, or to respect each other's privacy and individuality. Never was there a greater mistake. Just because husbands and wives are thrown into the intimate contact of daily life; just because they are so much in each other's power, it is the more necessary for them to use every courtesy and nice observance toward each other, if they are to keep any illusions whatever regarding each other.

Married couples soon get on each other's nerves if they never grant each other any liberty, and if each has to render an account to the other of every thought and word and furnish an alibi for every hour of the day and night. You cannot make a prisonhouse of matrimony and expect either a man or woman to love it. The things that count in marriage are the little things, the appreciation, the word of thanks, the free granting of each to the other of some personal life of his or her own on which the other does not intrude—the right to gratify a fad, to go into a room and shut the door and be alone, to have one's own individual clothes and toilet articles that no one else uses, to get one's letters unopened.

Believe me, many a marriage that goes on the rocks could have been saved by a husband or a wife respecting the privacy of the other. For familiarity not only breds distrust, it is the mother of hatred.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young girl twenty years of age, and for two years I have been going with a young man. He is a very nice chap, well educated and has a good position. He comes to my house every week, but he has never taken me to any place of amusement or spent any money on me. He even goes to the theatre and movies by himself all the time. This man wants to marry me. Do you think I would be happy with him?

ANXIOUS.

Answer:

I certainly do not. Of all the husbands in the catalogue of men whom it is dangerous to marry, the very worst is the tightwad. An openhanded rounder, or even a drunkard, is a less aggravating life partner than one who doles out the pennies and who always asks his wife what she did with the quarter he gave her week before last.

This man has given you a taste of his quality. He has shown you that he has no care for your happiness or pleasure, and that he is utterly selfish. If a man treats his sweetheart that way when he is courting her, he will display those qualities intensified a thousand times when he is married. If he never takes you anywhere now nor gives you a good time, be sure that he will think that cooking and washing are amusement enough for you after marriage, and you will never again see another picture show unless somebody else takes you.

If he is selfish enough to go to the theatre alone now, he will have all the good clothes and step out alone after marriage and leave you alone with the babies.

And your miser husband will make your life a burden to you because he will always be snooping around the icechest and the garbage can, demanding to know why you didn't peel the potatoes a little thinner, and why you threw away a bread crust. And on the days when the bills come in you will be terrified of your life, he will raise such ructions over them.

Don't marry a stingy man, for the man who has a padlock on his pocket before marriage will keep his purse in a steel safe after marriage, and you will never be able to jimmy into it.

Texas Democrats Asked For $200,000 to Help Davis Win the Election

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette and Senator Burton K. Wheeler are telling the people wherever they travel that John W. Davis and Calvin Coolidge are the gold dust twins and that the interests are shelling out the funds for democratic and republican campaign purposes. All the big bankers and big corporations who are backers of the Mellon plan are kindly disposed toward Coolidge and Dawes. It goes without saying that the republicans have fat campaign chests. It goes without saying that the democrats have empty campaign chests.

Got a Late Start

This accounts for the very late start made by the democrats. They were compelled to wait a month before they could make the money to make the machinery function and to send John W. Davis forth as a Gladiator for the winning of the west. James W. Gerard is the treasurer of the national committee. This former minister to Germany in war time was selected for the post by Mr. Davis. This brief note penned by Treasurer Gerard covers all the ground:

"A political campaign can not be managed without money. The democratic party needs funds for the legitimate expenses of a national campaign. Checks or cash may be sent to James W. Gerard, treasurer, hotel Belmont, Forty-second street and Park avenue, New York, New York, and prompt acknowledgement given."

Jesse Jones At Head.

A Texan, Jesse Jones, was named chairman of the national finance committee by the democratic nominee and this Texas millionaire, who is a lifelong democrat, has been very busy constructing machinery in the forty-eight states. W. L. Clayton of Houston is the director for Texas. He has appointed zone directors. Texas democrats are expected to donate $200,000 to the Davis campaign fund. More than 800,000 democrats voted in the August run-off. It should be easy for them to dig up $200,000 to help to place John W. Davis in the White House. John A. Young of Dallas is the zone director of sixty-eight counties and he expects Dallas to contribute at least $40,000 to the Davis fund. It is announced this early in the campaign that many Texas bankers, who call themselves democrats are strictly for the Mellon plan of taxation and are backward in contributing to the democratic campaign chest.

No Pikers Are Wanted.

Thomas B. Love always knows where to find his hat. He came across with the first $500 contribution to the Davis fund. His war cry is going to be "Davis and Butte and God and Home." Colonel Love lost at San Francisco in 1920; he lost in New York in 1924; he lost again in Texas on August 23, 1924. Then he divested himself of all political titles, kissed the machine goodbye, buried himself in the Davis mountains, communed with nature and the God of nature and then returned to his farm in Dallas county to build new political bridges for the future. Some of his friends, after his resignation and retirement, said that the Colonel was out of politics forever. Those who know him best, including this writer were willing to make it a two to one bet at the time that the former Missourian would never retire from politics until the clods had been placed on his coffin. He has set the pace for the rich democrats of Texas. His chip is for $500. No pikers need sit in.

Riders In the Fog

"Now," I said, "my father was killed because he knew these things. If you were not deaf and blind you must have known this, too. And you've got your sight and hearing yet. But here is something more." I recited the conversation which I had overheard between Sugden and Karmany, and while I was doing this he dropped his head into his hands.

"Lathrop," I finished, "I think that even you will have to balk at turning over your daughter to this man, when the sheriff is so close after him."

He raised his head and gave me a look so full of mingled shame and anguish that I came near to pitying him; but before he could answer I heard a light step in the little hallway which opened from this sitting room into the wing where the bedrooms were. He startled violently at the sound.

"Barbara!" he cried. "Not now, girl. Please don't come in."

I had taken a step toward the door, but he made me a gesture so appealing that I stopped. He listened until she had gone away and then turned to me.

"Brad," he whispered, and his face had grown all drawn and haggard in this little time, so that he did not look like himself at all, "I swear to God I never knew one word of that."

"I never knew," he repeated. "I never knew, I tell you—Brad!" He passed his shaking hand before his lips as if he were brushing off something, and I saw those lips go tight. Suddenly his voice became firmer. "I have got to tell you how it was. It was me that was afraid of jail all this time, not dreamin' men was after them—not for the like of such wild doings, anyhow. I though they watched that trail for—"

"I have got to tell you everything, I guess, right from the start. You see, Brad, the schooner wasn't making much money before Sugden came into this country. Tan-bark business had fallen off in the last year or two, and I'd seen a chance to pick up something easy, as the saying goes. I was"—his voice rose suddenly to a high pitch and he ran the words out so swiftly that they flowed into one another—"running opium, Brad, up over the mail trail; that was the start of the whole thing.

"Well, Sugden came along and began buyin' up the land, and I did business with him and got along well. But pretty soon, o' course, them riders of his got next to what was goin' on with the schooner; and he come to me one evenin' and made the proposition that his men would help me. They could take the stuff from the schooner when she brought a bit of it up from Mexico, and fetch it up the hill where the people from the other end of the trail could slip in and get it; and I would be taking no chances. I took him up, and that put me right in with the whole bunch o' them.

"I knew Karmany and the others was a wild lot, but I never knew they was wanted murderers; and Sugden had a mint o' money and was making more, and seemed like a good, solid man. 'Twas his say-so of sending Barbara away to school; and he footed the bills, and I looked on him for a blame good match for her. O' course there was that woman, but many a good man has got tangled up that way.

"And then came the killing, Brad; and Sugden told me your father had been trying to get word out informin' on me and his men about the opium, and that had caused it. And ever since that day I've looked on it, that I was to blame as much as the murderer; and Sugden has owned me from that day like I was his dog. That's why I wanted you should get out, when they told me you'd been up there in the barn and must have seen the cache they had there."

I remembered then the queer little tins which I had stumbled upon and knew they must be tael tins of opium.

"That's why he held me to marryin' Barbara to him. And I told her 'twould ruin me if she did not. And even then she went to him last night to beg off, Brad."

Lathrop rose slowly and went into another room, and when he returned he was carrying his rifle. He pumped a cartridge into the chamber and stood before the window, peering out.

"They'll be coming back any minute," he said, "and I do not aim Sugden shall cross my doorstep again. When he rode up this morning he told me he'd got news which would take him away on business before night, and he wanted he should marry now, so he could have Barbara along with him. I did not know—"

"I'm going to see Barbara," I told him, and my voice must have shown the change that had come over me; for I could not feel toward him as I had felt before.

"I'm glad you've come, Brad, while there was time," he answered, and turned to the window with his rifle on his arm.

CHAPTER XXII

Waiting

"I knew that it was you, Brad," she said quietly, when I had found her. "Thank God, you've come!" And then as my arms went around her, "I was about to go to you, Brad, when I heard you in there. I couldn't—" She lowered her head against my chest and I kissed her hair.

"There, Barbara," I told her, "that's all fixed now. You're not going to be troubled by him any more."

Which was true; but neither of us knew it then, nor suspected what of wild action lay before us, and we were tasting much of happiness in this moment. She looked up into my eyes and I saw hers darken.

"My father, Brad?"

I understood her question. "We've straightened out some things between us, Barbara," I answered. "No need for you to worry."

And I may as well say here that this was all the talking I did ever Jim Lathrop's behavior.

She was silent for a moment after I had given my answer and then, "That man?" she whispered. It was the only way she ever did allude to Sugden from that time on; I never heard her speak his name.

"Before night comes he's going to clear out of here," I assured her. "And all we've got to do is sit down and wait until we're rid of the whole crowd."

I had hardly spoken the words before the heavy roar of a rifle fired within doors came from the front part of the house to contradict my last assertion.

As I ran to the living-room, I had a fleeting glimpse of Barbara's face; her lips were resolute as she came on after me.

The living-room was reeking with the fumes of black powder; that was before the days when every hunter came to own nitro cartridges, and if one discharged a firearm, everybody within a reasonable distance knew it. Within the smoke-wreaths Jim Lathrop stood, on the threshold of his open door facing the roadway; and out there before the front gate was Sugden on his black horse, with two other riders.

"For the next time I shoot," Lathrop announced, "I aim to line my sights on you, Sugden."

"So that's the way the wind lies now, Lathrop," he said easily. "Well, I am coming—" He broke off to speak a soothing word to his horse whom the shooting had startled into a state in which he would have been unmanageable for most riders. "—When I get ready," he finished quietly.

For some moments the three of them sat there on their horses facing the house, and not one of them had made the first movement of his hand toward his holster. I am sure that had any one of them chosen he would have had his big revolver out and spitting flame before the average marksman could have trained his sights on him. But shooting was not their purpose—not as yet, at any rate. Sugden was a little ahead of the other two; he was bending his head forward as if to see better, and now he caught sight of Barbara and me. He uttered a sharp ejaculation which I could barely hear, and his face darkeped until it was an ugly sight to look upon. Then suddenly he wheeled his horse. "Come on, boys," he called, and at the word they galloped off up the road.

Lathrop closed the heavy front door and dropped the thick iron bolt across it. It was the first time I had ever seen him show anything like genuine physical courage, and his lips were pressed tight together as he faced me.

"Brad," he said, "do you go to the back of the house and keep an eye open. Those hombres are going to come back before long. I'll stick right here, and if either of us hears anything he can run to the other." He let his eyes go to Barbara, and they grew softer; then he dropped them, and I saw that he had the grace to be ashamed; but she came to him and laid her hands on his shoulders and kissed him before she went out with me, and when the two of us were in the wing with the door between us and him she said softly:

LAIDES AID OF FIRST CHRISTIAN MEETS FRIDAY.

The Ladies' Aid of the First Christian church will hold a homecoming meeting Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the church to honor their president, Mrs. T. T. T. Reese, who has been in California for the summer. Members of the ten divisions of the society are asked to be present. Mrs. Ola D. Hamlin's division will be hostesses to the gathering.

This meeting is to be the first one of the season, and plans for the year's work will be discussed. The society with its 200 members has just finished the new eight-room brick parsonage at 907 Travis. A great deal of charity work is done by the organization, and it has helped materially in the progress of the church work. The ladies' aid took over a $5,000 debt on the church property and this has been cared for, and the building of the pastor's home was the next object taken up outside of the help given to charity cases.

Campfire Girls Plan Exhibit At T-O Exposition

Imagine a miniature camp scene, green trees among the mountains, a little river, a glistening lake, a canoe, a swimming pool, and 50 or more persons in the activities of camp life. When you have imagined that, you have in mind the exhibit of camp life that the 300 Camp Fire and Blue Bird girls will have at the Texas-Oklahoma fair this year.

For two weeks, the Camp Fire girls have been working on the miniature dolls which they are using to portray their camp activities. The dolls will be dressed in the uniforms of service, dress, camp, ceremonial gowns and bathing suits, each suit being the hand work of the girls. Explanatory posters will tell the law of the fires, the activities, and other phases of the work, Miss Glenore Fisk, Camp Fire executive stated.

Five little tents will be used in the camp scene; a group of Camp Fire over-night hikers will be included; in fact, each phase of life the Camp Fire organization stands for is shown in the exhibit for the fair.

The Camp Fire booth will be in the woman's building on the fair grounds.

A Wonderful New Heart and Stomach Remedy

Doctors Are Surprised How Quickly and Nicely this New Remedy Acts in Such Cases

Many thousands are taking this remedy every month and finding wonderful relief. If you have irregular heart action, shortness of breath, indigestion, constipation, bloating, weak nerves, poor sleep and that tired feeling, you owe it to yourself to give this new remedy, Nuga-Tone, a trial. It will be a great surprise to you the way it brings you back. Nuga-Tone builds strong nerves and increases most wonderfully the power of endurance, gives fine digestion, good appetite and regular bowel movement, brings sound, refreshing sleep, lots of enthusiasm, ambition and pep. If you are not feeling just right, try it. It costs you nothing if you are not benefited. It is pleasant to take and you will begin to feel better right away. Take it for just a few days and if you do not feel better, take the remainder of the package to the druggist, and he will give you your money back. Manufacturers of Nuga-Tone know so well what it will do for you, they request all druggists to guarantee it and refund your money when you are not satisfied. Recommended, guaranteed and for sale by all druggists.—Adv.

Prince Discards Blue Book; Society Gasps

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Society, or that part of it most often referred to as "the Four Hundred," isn't in the least pleased because the hostess most favored by the Prince of Wales on his American visit is the wife of a shopkeeper.

The matron more often seen in the company of the prince after he began going the rounds of smart society on Long Island, is Mrs. "Freddie" Cruger, whose husband is a Fifth Avenue haberdasher.

The ability of "Freddie" to keep a shop and a membership in the ultra-exclusive and gloriously fashionable Racquet Club at one and the same time, has been for years one of the freakish phenomena of New York society. Many, many times has the question been asked: "How do they do it?"

Not only has the prince repeatedly favored Mrs. Cruger to the exclusion of others, but he took time to go over to her husband's shop for a shat the very first time he slipped over to Manhattan from Long Island.

The dowagers who rule in society's inner shrines are rather aggravated with the prince. Of course, this is an unofficial visit, but they don't think he should be "mixing it" with every Tom, Dick and Harry. Presentation at the British court is absolutely the highest social honor that can be obtained by the ranks, and all those who are blessed with the coveted distinction of having been allowed to bow to their majesties thing there are eloquent grounds for being peeved because the crown prince and future ruler of that court is accepting the hospitality of having a jolly good time with persons of all sorts.

Mrs. "Freddie" Cruger Glimpsed on the Beach.

More than one "climber" has obtained a foothold on the sacred ground as a result of the prince's visit. But the prince is a social mentor in a class by himself, and if he plays havoc with the social register there's absolutely nothing that can be done about it.

A "BROKEN OUT" FACE HOLDS YOU BACK

Many men and women of middle age feel that they have never had a chance to make anything out of themselves. But the main reason for it usually is that they let such things as pimples, rash, "breaking out," eczema, tetter, etc., on their face, neck, hands or arms, make them feel that they are not wanted around and they keep to themselves too much.

You can get just as much out of life as anyone. All you need is confidence in yourself, which you get naturally when you rid yourself of those skin troubles, if you just use Black and White Ointment and Soap. They are economically priced in generous packages. All dealers have them both. The 50c size of the Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size —Adv.

World Wide Meet On Reduction Of Arms Is Probable

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 22.—If three or four of the great powers — Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan—which have permanent seats on the council of the League of Nations and ten other state members of the league, ratify the protocol of arbitration and security which was made public today there will open at Geneva on June 15, 1925, a great international conference of the reduction of armaments.

U. S. Is Invited.

The United States, like Germany, Russia and other non-members of the league, has been invited to participate in the conference, the program of which will be prepared under the direction of the council of the league.

The long awaited protocol draft was presented today officially to the commission on disarmament by the "big twelve" composing the sub-committee and speeches were made by Dr. Edouard Benes, of Czecho-Slovakia; Arthur Henderson, Great Britain; Signor Schanzer, Italy; M. Boncour, France, and M. Pullet, Belgium.

The protocol provides a plan of arbitration for disputes of whatever nature; it also provides securities for countries like France and Belgium by authorizing regional accords, stipulating that they must be open covenants and quite definitely arranged for a conference for the reduction of armaments.

For Non-members.

From the standpoint of interest for Americans, two clauses stand out prominently. One permits non-members of the league to adhere to the protocol of arbitration and security. This clause serves as a corrolary to article 17 of the covenant, whereby non-member states are permitted temporarily to assume the obligations of membership in the league in case of dispute with league members and submit their case to inquiry by the council. The protocol clause provides that non-member states can accept the protocol "so as to assure a specific solution of conflicts with signatories of the protocol."

TEXAS AFTER THE CUP

League of Women Voters Want to Win Election Prize

Mrs. Helen Moore of Texas City, president of the Texas league of women voters states that the Texas league is in the race to win the loving cup of the league by getting out a larger increased vote in the general election, than any other state. The vote this year will be compared with the general election vote of the last presidential year.

"The object of this campaign is to increase the number of voters 25 per cent," Mrs. Moore said. She explained that Texas had a good chance to win for the primary elections this year showed a 60 per cent increase over the 1920 vote.

"In other words, it is a crusade to restore majority rule in this country. Only 49 per cent of the citizens who might have done so voted in 1920; yet intelligent men and women sit supinely by and wonder why so much seems to be wrong with our government."

RUN-DOWN WEAK, NERVOUS

Benefited by First Bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lancaster, Pa.—"After I was married I became terribly run-down and was weak and nervous. My sister-in-law told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My husband got me a bottle at once, and it did me so much good that I kept on taking it. I began to feel well and strong again and was able to do my housework up to the time my baby was born—a nice fat little girl in the best of health. I surely am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends when they have troubles like mine, and I am perfectly willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. —Mrs. FRANK H. GETZM, 532 Locust Street, Lancaster, Pa.

Women should heed such symptoms as pains, backache, nervousness, a run-down condition and irregularity, as they indicate some form of female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all these troubles. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Rheumatism

"Good-bye old crutch!"

THERE IS positively no longer any excuse for suffering the agonies of rheumatism! Especially in the autumn of your life, when the vital organs weaken, impurities multiply and linger in the muscles and joints, as never before. It is now, just now, when you cannot afford to guess. No day returns!

Here is a joyous fact which can mean to you a fond farewell forever to all the miseries, the tortures, the body-twisting pains that you have suffered from the demon of rheumatism. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S. the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 22.—Zack Wheat's double to right center in the twelfth inning, scoring Mitchell from first, gave Brooklyn a 2 to 1 verdict over Chicago in the opening game of the series here today. Bill Doak, twirling for the Dodgers, allowed but five hits and turned in his tenth consecutive victory. The Dodgers gained half a game on the Giants by winning today while the New York club was idle. It was a pitchers' battle all the way between Doak and Vic Aldridge.

CORKRAN SETS GOLF RECORD

Philadelphia Amateur Wins Qualifying Medal National Tourney.

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 22.—Dudley Clarke Corkran of the Huntington Valley club, Philadelphia, today won the qualifying medal of the national amateur golf tournament with another new record. The impetus of his unprecedented 67 of last Saturday carried him to a total of 142 for the 36-hole qualifying test, two strokes lower than Bobby Jones of Atlanta.

Bobby duplicated Saturday's 72 today and seemed to have the medal won with 144 when Corkran went to the turn in 42, six more than par.

Needing a par 75 to beat Jones, Corkran arose to the emergency and came home in one better than par for a 75. Jones had to be content with the day's best score for 18 holes.

Corkran has the honor of making the lowest 18-hole medal score ever made in a national amateur golf tournament and also the lowest qualifying score for 36 holes. The old 36-hole record was equalled by Jones today.

The highest qualifiers today are: D. Clarke Corkran, Philadelphia, 67, 75, 142; Robert T. Jones, Jr., Atlanta, 72, 72, 144; William I. Hunter, Los Angeles, 74, 74, 148; Eddie Held, St. Louis, 75, 73, 148; Dexter Cummings, Chicago, 73, 75, 148; Francis Ouimet, Boston, 75, 74, 149; Max R. Merston, Philadelphia, 76, 73, 149.

GOING TO HAVE BIRTHDAY.

Little Thelma at Age of Four Now Weighs 550 Pounds.

Little Thelma will celebrate her fourth birthday at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29, and in honor of the occasion, that day is set aside as "children's day" at the fair. Although little Thelma is only four, she weighs around 550 pounds, quite an exceptional weight for age so young. To greet her small guests, Thelma will wear a robe of royal purple on her birthday, and in return for the presents offered she will give a piece of her big birthday cake. Thelma likes peanuts, and a five-cent bag from the children will please her. Little Thelma is the baby elephant that comes from Detroit, Mich., to attend the fair.

Here's Pennant Dope!

How They Stand and What They Must Do to Win Rag.

Brooklyn, by winning from Chicago today, 2 to 1, in twelve innings, advanced to within one point of the Giants, whose game with Pittsburgh, one and one-half contests back of the two leaders, was postponed by rain.

Washington retained its two-game advantage in the American league over New York, as Walter Johnson won his fourteenth straight game by defeating Chicago 8 to 3. The Yankees won from Cleveland 10 to 4 and Detroit defeated Boston, but the Tigers dropped out of the race as they cannot win now even by taking all of their four contests if Washington loses its six.

The Senators can now clinch the pennant by winning five of their six games or tie by winning four even though the Yankees take their remaining six.

Pittsburgh by winning all of its eight games, can finish ahead of New York and Brooklyn.

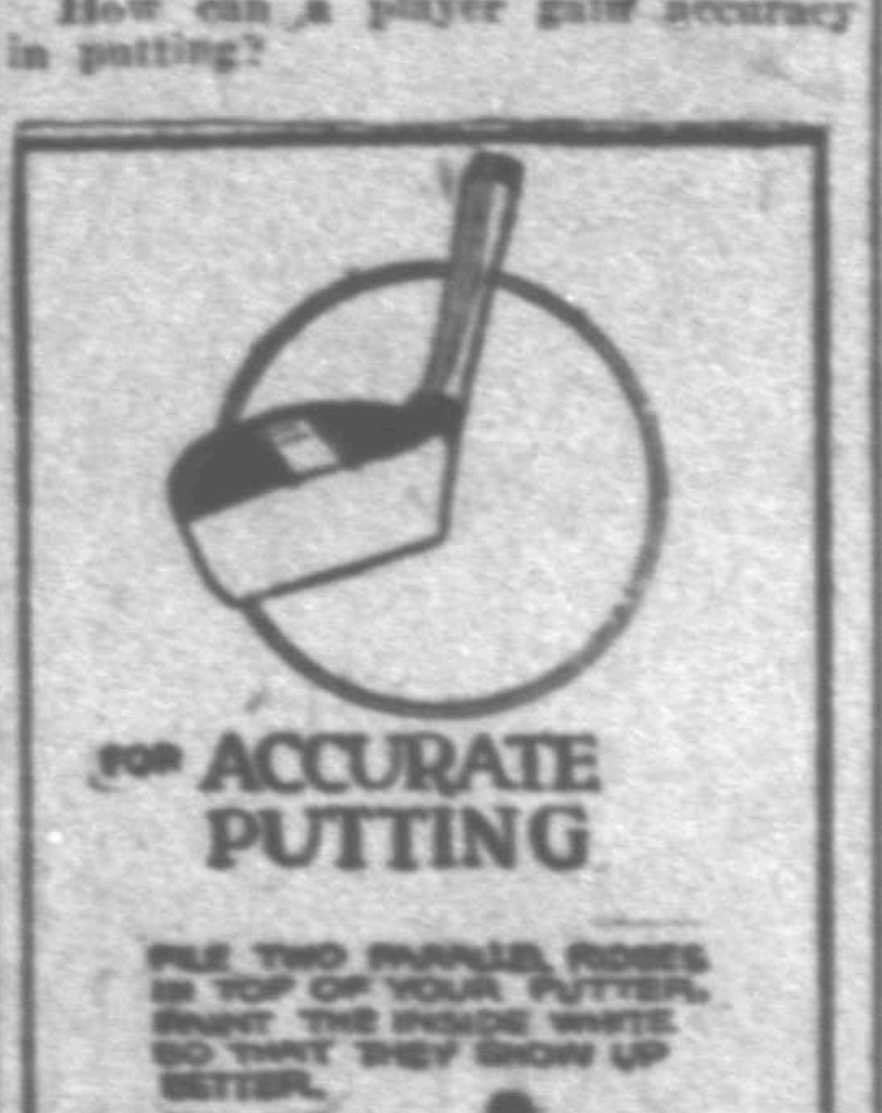
As Champions Play It

How can a player gain accuracy in putting?



FOR ACCURATE PUTTING
FILE TWO PARALLEL RIDGES IN TOP OF YOUR PUTTER. PAINT THE INSIDE WHITE SO THAT THEY SHOW UP BETTER.
THIS HELPS TO LINE UP THE PUTT.

Answered By
BILL STRACHAN
Wichita Falls Golf Club Professional

Naturally, practice is probably the chief factor in putting accuracy, but there is a little device which the average golfer can use which ought to save him from two to five putts during a round of golf. Take your putter—supposing it to be of the cleek type and file two little parallel lines on the top of it as shown in the illustration. Paint the inside of the ridges white so they will show up a little better. This allows the eye to line up the ball in making the putt. Instead of keeping the eye on the ball while using this "trick" putter, keep the eye on the parallel lines of the putter and see that the ball strikes just as shown in the illustration.

53 MILES OF CARPET.

Wool From 30,000 Sheep Used Daily by One Carpet Mill.

The wool used daily in the weaving of carpets and rugs by a New York manufacturer is equal to the shearing from 30,000 sheep. The soft, rich coats of these animals are turned into the looms at the rate of 120,000 pounds every day.

These and many other interesting facts were revealed recently through the publication of statistics concerning their mammoth mills at Yonkers, N. Y., by Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet company, said to be the largest manufacturers of carpets and rugs in the world.

If all the wool used in these mills were reckoned according to the number of animals from which it is sheared, a year's output at the mills would represent the clip from 9,000,000 sheep—a number which would constitute herds beyond the imagination.

For the manufacturing of all this wool into American-made carpets and rugs, the energy and industry of 7,000 employees is devoted with a spirit of co-operation and craftsmanship resembling the loyalty given to his individual loom by the smaller weaver of bygone days.

This army of workers operates 1,500 looms, with a total daily production of 90,000 yards of carpets and rugs. Place one day's tremendous output in a continuous line and it would make a strip of carpet 53 miles long. In one year of eight-hour working days, the 1,500 looms turn out 28 millions of yards, making an annual production of almost 16,000 miles, enough to reach more than half way around the world.

Every hour this mill produces 11,250 yards, or 187½ yards per minute! The amount of mechanical energy entering the work may be pictured from the fact that the company uses 225 tons of coal every day. And all this activity takes place in mills which occupy 52½ acres of floor space, ample area to accommodate the parking of about 40,000 motor cars!

It is interesting to note that the founder of these giant mills was also the inventor of the famous Axminster loom. The institution which has carried on since 1860 has specialized, it is said, in the making of four basic weaves known as Axminsters, velvets, tapestry, brussels and wilton velvets.

Powers-Anderson Team Wins North Texas Net Meet

Youngster Adds Another Laurel to His Racquet Accomplishments

WIND-UP IS CLOSE

Steady Lobbing Game Finally Wins With Three Sets in Row

Youthful Oscar Powers added another laurel to his tennis accomplishment in the North Texas tennis tournament Monday when he and his partner, Edward Anderson, in doubles finals shaded E. A. Bebb and M. A. Ellis in four sets, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Powers, by winning through last week to the semi-finals in the singles was awarded the singles championship of the tournament when his brother, Bill Powers who was other semi-finalist, departed for Baylor university.

The wind-up play in the doubles yesterday was close and hard fought with exception of the initial set when Bebb and Ellis won handily. By playing a steady lobbing game, the ultimate victors captured the next three sets in order, but the contests were of the tighest, and each set was in doubt right up to the end.

The Anderson-Powers team will be allowed the privilege of having its names inscribed on the Little Sporting goods company trophy. If the annual tournament is won three times by any one team permanent possession of the cup will be allowed.

Oscar Powers' name will be placed on the Landon-Hill sporting goods company trophy which also is put in annual competition.

Teams to Tour Canada, British Isles, France, Germany, Belgium

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Preliminary arrangements for the European tour of the New York Nationals and Chicago American league baseball teams were announced tonight by President Charles A Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox. It will be the first baseball expeditionary force since the world tour of the same teams in 1913. While the other trip, despite an initial outlay of $100,000, was a profitable venture, the agreement signed this afternoon provides that all profits shall be turned over to charity.

Prospects for the financial success of the trip are brighter this time than even in 1913, President Comiskey declared, as the trip this time will be confined to those European states where the American Doughboy made the American national pastime popular. The countries to be visited are British Isle, France, Germany, Italy and Belgium.

The 40 members of the official party, besides wives and friends, will leave New York the night of October 10, it was announced tonight, counting on the conclusion of the world series by that date.

According to present plans, the first game of the tour will be played in Montreal, Sunday, October 12. President Comiskey and John J. McGraw will be in active charge of the trip, an umpire from the American and one from the National league will officiate at the games, two American newspaper men will be official reporters.

CON KENNEDY SHOWS BEST.

Highest Endorsements Given Carnival Coming to T-O.

The Con T. Kennedy shows have been booked to present the Wood midway attractions at the Texas-Oklahoma fair. They will bring a most complete and elaborate midway. After careful investigation of months duration, which included every out of door amusement organization that seemed to be worthy of consideration, the management of the local exposition selected the Con T. Kennedy shows because of the splendid reputation born by them during the twenty years of their existence.

The Kennedy shows will come to the local exposition with the highest endorsements from the civic officials in the cities where they have appeared this year as being one of the largest and cleanest amusement companies enroute. Its owner is a pioneer in the movement for clean amusements in traveling shows. Con T. Kennedy believes in giving the people what they want to see and also what they ought to see.

NELSON LEADS ORANGE POLOISTS TO VICTORY

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Jack Nelson, brilliant Argentine rider, led the Orange county polo team to a 12 to 5 victory over Earl Hooping's East Cotts and earned for his team the right to meet Tommy Hitchcock's waterers in the semi-final of the open championship on Wednesday.

MAKING HIM DIZZY

Sports Done by Brown

Dave Bancroft, manager of the Braves, and one of the keenest students of baseball in the game, throws an interesting light on the development of Dazzy Vance into one of the greatest pitchers of the game.

According to Beauty Dave, the main reason for the greatness of Vance these days may be due to his success in concealing his delivery.

Bancroft explains that when Vance first joined the Dodgers he telegraphed his curve and fast ball—his main assets. "I watched his pitching hand on the back swing. If he raised the index finger off the ball I knew the shoot was going to be a fast one. If he held the ball tightly I knew he was going to 'hook one,'" says Bancroft.

Dazzy, however, has learned to hide successfully these two deliveries. Bancroft is frank in his admiration for the Dodger hurler's flinging these days.

Through the western minor league districts fans are calling Jake Atz the "John McGraw of the minors." For five consecutive seasons Atz has led the Fort Worth league team to a pennant. In four of these five years the season was divided—really made into two seasons. Just to show his disdain for such a handicap Atz proceeded to capture both halves of the season those four campaigns.

Atz has given his recent years to the Texas league. He played the infield for Beaumont in the Texas circuit for several seasons before moving to his present home.

Major league fans may recall that Atz went up to the White Sox from New Orleans in 1907 as a promising player. He served three years in Chicago and then was sent to Providence. His second year there he managed the team.

Bert Cole, heralded as one of the coming pitchers of the game by Manager Ty Cobb last spring, had won but three games when averages were issued recently. His third victory came when he was sent in as a relief hurler against the White Sox.

Cole had lost nine when he won that third. It is unnecessary to point out what the season might have held for the Tigers had Cole lived up to Ty's expectations. But baseball is made up of such blasted hopes.

The list of winning teams in past big league scrambles and the pilots who led them is of more than usual interest as the hottest race in recent years for championship honors draws to a close.

Here are the winning teams in the National and American leagues the years they triumphed and the men who have led them since the inception of the league:

SLUGGERS VERSUS BOXERS.

Next Legion Card Brings Together Polished and Unpolished Plugs.

The legion fight card slated for Thursday eve will consist of four bouts, and peculiarly each match will bring together a slugger and a boxer. Elmer McMullen of Dodge City, Kan., strictly a haymaker type of battler, has been billed for the 12-round main event with Pat Corbett of Dallas, a very clever boxer and the opposite of the flailing kind of fighter. Joe Denton of Amarillo, a willing mixer and a boy with a punch, but yet not a real slugger, will step ten rounds with Rube Murray of Altus, Okla. Murray in his only match held in Wichita Falls slugged Moko Carpenter down for the count in one round.

In George Lee of Holdenville, Okla., fans will see a more or less combination boxer and slugger, say his followers. Carpenter, Lee's opponent, either slugs his way to a knockout or gets knocked out. Jimmy Riley of Altus tries to be more of a boxer than slugger. He meets Jack Denton, who although he attempts to box, is after all, a slugger, too.

WILLS NO MATCH FOR JACK

Negro's Showing With Firpo Disproves Argument For Bout With Champ

Supporters of Harry Wills in his demand for a championship battle with Jack Dempsey point to the showing of the champion against Tommy Gibbons and Bill Brennan to prove that Wills' failure to dispose of Luis Firpo in twelve rounds in their battle the other night does not disqualify him for a chance at the heavy crown.

Gibbons, you recall, stayed 15 rounds with the Manassa Mauler. The late Bill Brennan stayed almost 12 rounds with Dempsey before he was beaten to the floor.

Wills' boosters are right in asserting that Wills' lack of a knockout punch doesn't necessarily eliminate him as a possibility. They do, however, overlook the one salient fact that—

The man who took all Wills had for 12 rounds lasted only two against Dempsey.

Comparison of the showing of Dempsey and Wills against the same man—Firpo—is more indicative of their relative ability than the records of Dempsey against Brennan and Gibbons.

One might compare the showing of Wills against Gibbons and Brennan to that of Dempsey against those two men but for the fact that—

Harry Wills never fought those men.

REMEMBER 1887 SERIES?

St. Louis Played Detroit 15 Games And Teams Drew $40,000 gate.

The near approach of the world's series of course recalls all manner of dope concerning post-season clashes of the championship teams of the game.

Few fans of today recall the famous series of 1887—long before the modern world's series—between the Detroit National league team and St. Louis, which went 15 games. Detroit won the series with ten victories. The games were not confined to the two cities, however. Fans of New York, Brooklyn, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, Baltimore and Chicago got a glimpse of the championship teams in action.

And the financial end of that series?

Such a barnstorming trip of the American and National league champions today would get gate receipts of millions of dollars. Those two teams—or their owners and the others interested—collected just $40,000 at the gate.

"GAVE WASHINGTON FLAG"

That's All Clark Griffith Needs To Make Ball Record Complete.

Is Clark Griffith about to add to his long and enviable baseball record another chapter reciting how he won a pennant for Washington in 1924—the first the capital city ever acquired?

This is about the only achievement needed to make Griff's baseball record complete.

To date that record runs something like this:

'90s—Star pitcher with Pop Anson's old "White Sox." His battery mate was Malachi Kittridge.

1901—Jumped to American league and pitched and managed Comiskey's White Sox to pennant. Hung up pitching percentage of .775 in 35 games.

1903—Given management of newly formed New York team.

1904—Came within a wild pitch of winning pennant, Jack Chesbro uncorking said pitch in deciding game of Boston Red Sox, enabling them to win.

1908—Suddenly removed as manager of Yankees, to be succeeded by Kid Elberfeld.

1909—Assumed management of Cincinnati Reds. Remained there three years.

1912—Became manager Washington team. Led club to second place that season and next—highest it had ever soared until this season, perhaps.

1920—Became president of the club and relinquished actual field management of team to George McBride, veteran infielder.

Hagenback of Robbins Brothers Circus to Wrestle Daily

Young Hagenback, the wrestler, is with the Robbins Brothers circus and issues a daily challenge to the audience to wrestle any man who is willing to come into the arena and try his hand at the game. He has been wrestling all summer long and has more than 100 contests to his credit.

Hagenback challenges all local aspirants and wagers that he can throw his opponent in 15 minutes. He agrees to pay a dollar a minute for all time it takes over the fifteen. It is more than likely that he will have a number of vigorous competitors in Wichita Falls when he arrives here next Friday. Each match is wrestled off on the elevated stage in front of the entire audience.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Washington went on a batting rage in the seventh inning today, and by driving Mike Cvengros off the mound easily defeated Chicago 8 to 3 and retained their lead of two games over the Yankees, who defeated Cleveland. It was the 14th consecutive game won by Walter Johnson. He fanned five men, giving him a season's total of 154 and a life time mark of 3,220. Sam Rice ran his string of safe hitting in consecutive games to 29.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22.—New York took the first of the series from Cleveland, 10 to 4, staging a five-run rally in the ninth.

Pipp's batting was a great factor in the result. In the third inning his double placed Ruth in a position to score on an infield out. His triple in the seventh scored Dugan, while his double in the ninth drove in three runs.

Billy Whiskers

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY.

Yesterday Billy made friends with a Shetland pony and wanted to know all about him.

"I will gladly tell you. I am advertised on the circus bills as being the smallest perfectly shaped horse or Shetland pony in the world today. I measure less in height than a year-old colt or a St. Bernard dog. And if you will believe me, I am twenty-five years old. That is considered an old age for a horse as their years of usefulness range only from ten to fifteen."

"Well, you are a wonder. And I can easily understand how you would be in great demand by the circus people. Do you know any tricks?"

"I should think I do! I have been taught tricks ever since I was knee high to a grasshopper. I have been on exhibit from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans and from the Gulf of Mexico to the borders of the Arctic circle."

"I can see that we will become great friends for we have lots in common to talk over," said Billy. "I have traveled some myself and been on exhibit in circuses many, many times. But I always grow tired of traveling around with them and run away."

"I have tried running away, too," said the little pony, "but I am always caught and brought back. My legs are too short to run fast, and, besides, I am not a good fighter. All I can do is to bite and kick while you can butt and fight with your horns."

"How comes it that you are shut in this stuffy little back yard?" asked Billy.

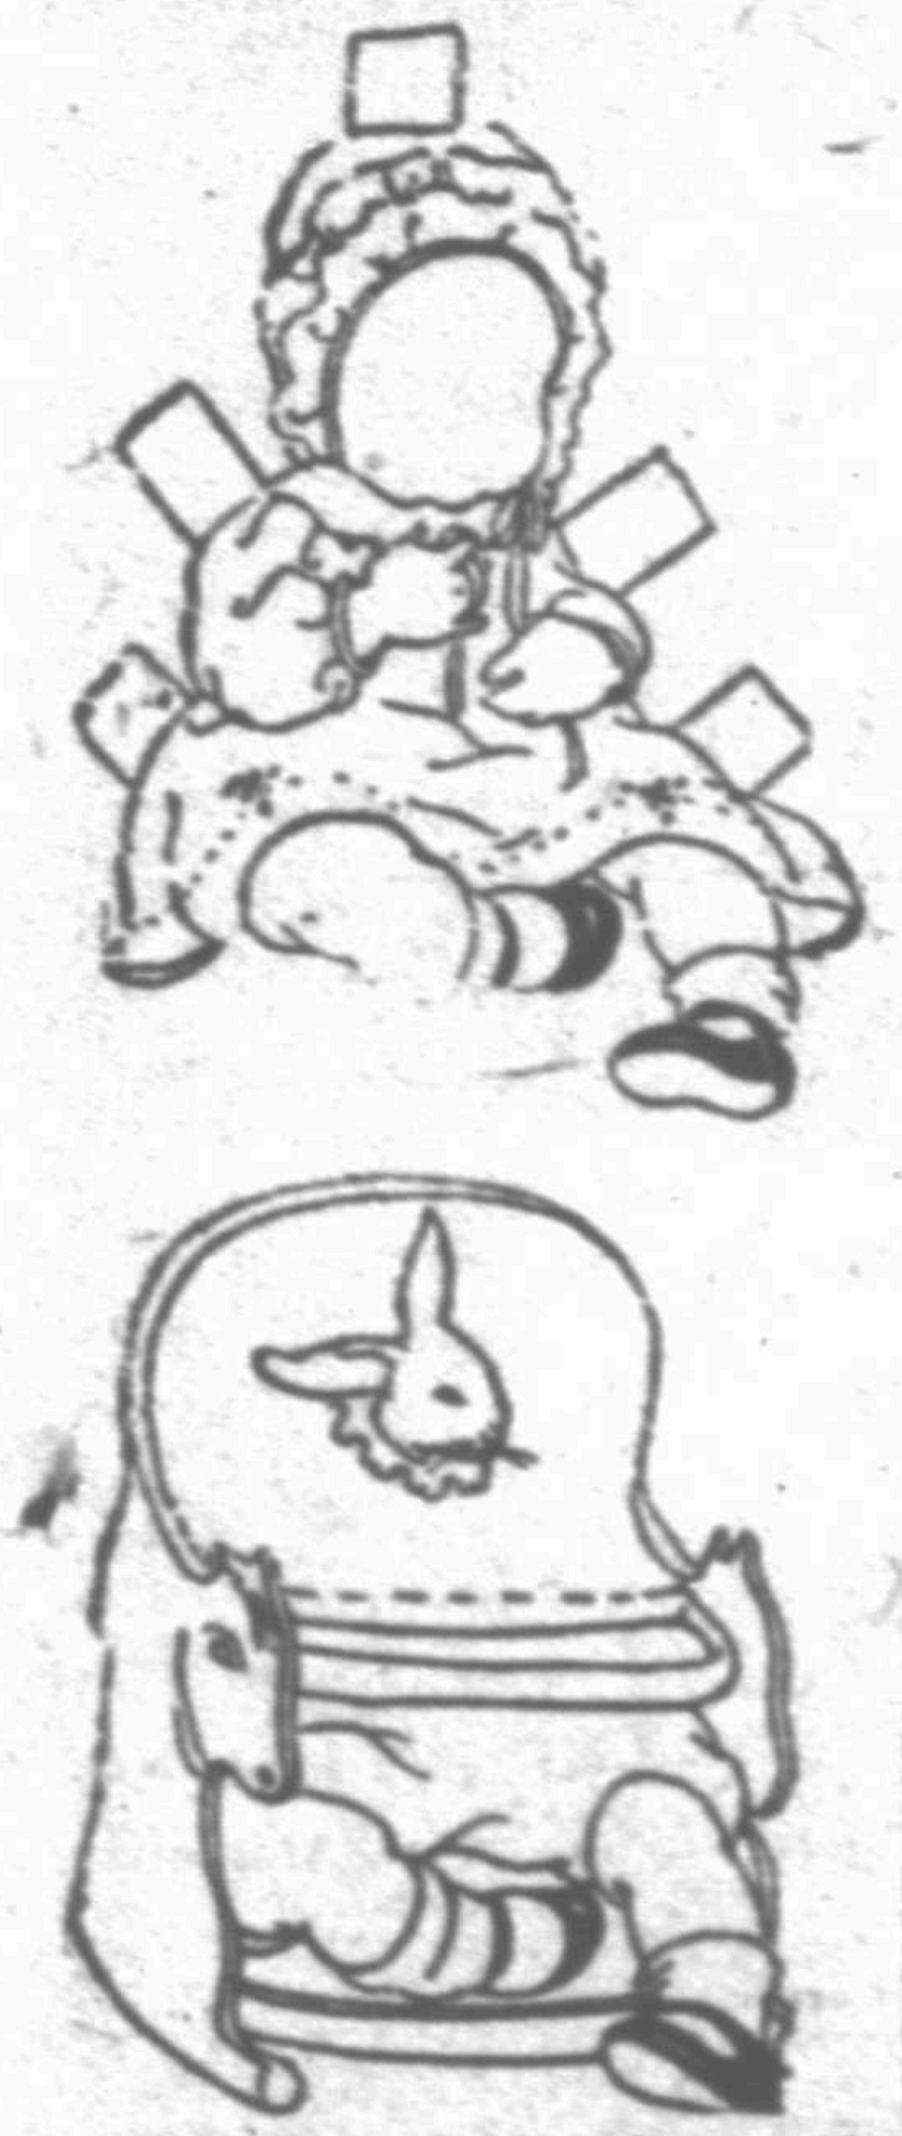
"I will tell you. I belong to a troupe of trained animals that at the present time are performing over at the big Emmanenn Moving Picture Studios, a couple of blocks from here. The animals are performing and a moving-picture is being taken of them just the same as if they were people. There is a film of two of our performances being shown now at this place. A big goat that looks enough like you to be your brother and a fierce bull-dog are being thrown on the screen right now. If you had looked you would have seen them as you came through."

"So ho! That's the way it is! Yes, I did see them as I passed through, and I did not only see them on the screen but I literally did pass through them."

"What do you mean by saying you literally did pass through them?"

(Tomorrow Billy explains what he did in the picture show.)

Color Cut-Out



"Please let me hold my little cousin, Aunt Kitty," begged Betty. "I'll hold her so very carefully."

"She's pretty big," said Aunt Kitty. "She's getting almost too heavy for me, but if you're very careful you can carry her in and put her in her little chair."

Betty carried the little visitor to her cunning chair and then ran to find a rattle for her to play with.

Color the baby's dress pale pink and make the little bonnet to match. The chair should be colored a pale blue and the dress underneath the tray is white. The sox are pink. Now cut a slit in the chair along the dotted line and you can sit the baby in its chair.

Spivey-Stanford Case To Be Tried On a Merit Basis

By The Associated Press.

WACO, Texas, Sept. 22.—The case of J. W. Spivey, associate justice of the tenth court of civil appeals, at Waco, who is contesting the declared result of the July primary election in which returns show that he was defeated by Judge J. A. Stanford, will be tried on its merits.

This was the decision of Judge J. P. Alexander this morning after having heard arguments for the past several days on demurrers.

Judge Alexander appointed J. L. McAtee of Waco as commissioner to take depositions in the 12 counties composing the district. He also issued an order instructing the clerk of each county not to destroy the ballots of the July primary.

The hearing will be held next Monday if the work of taking the depositions is completed by that time.

Totals stocks sales today 744,300 shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Price movements in today's stock market lacked uniformity, bullish demonstrations in the public utilities and specialties being counteracted by the heaviness of a number of standard industrials and rails. Business was in moderate volume, the day's sales aggregating about three quarters of a million shares.

Heavy buying of the public utilities was largely a reflection of higher earnings.

Twenty-five issues attained new peak prices for the year during the session, including Consolidated Gas, Brooklyn Union Gas, North American company, Standard Gas and Electric People's Gas, Pacific Gas and Electric, Federal Light and Traction, American and Liggett and Myers issues, National Biscuit, Cushing, Packard, preferred and common, Worthington Pump and Savage Arms.

Oil shares showed a temporary display of strength on the announcement of higher prices on the heavy Smackover crude, Houston touched 74 on the rally, but dropped back later to 72½; gains in the other oils also were materially reduced or cancelled later.

U. S. Steel, Baldwin, and Studebaker all closed fractionally lower. American Can touched 130 and then fell back to 127⅝, off 1⅝.

Most of the high grade rails lost ground, although Missouri-Pacific preferred, Southern Railway preferred and Kansas City Southern preferred broke through their previous high levels. Rock Island, Reading, Lackawanna, Nickel Plate preferred and Northern Pacific lost 1 to 2 points.

Standard Plate Glass, which broke sharply Saturday rebounded 6½ points to 26 and then slipped back to 22⅛. American Woolen closed about a point higher at 58⅝. North American, the most active feature of the entire list, was bid up to 35⅝ and then eased to 33, up 2⅝.

Call money held steady at 2 per cent. Time money rates were unchanged with business quiet. Prime commercial paper was on a flat 3¼ per cent basis with some exceptionally good names quoted as low as 3 per cent.

Foreign exchanges were reactionary. Demand sterling ruled half a cent lower around $4.45 and French francs dropped 3½ points to 5.28 cents.

Cattle Steady

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 22.—Steers, canners, cows and yearlings cleared today at rates that apparently were well in line with last week's close. Dressed beef cows averaged 10 to 15 cents down. Calves were uneven, averaging about 25 cents higher. The market was active. Receipts included 3,500 head of cattle and 3,600 calves. The best cattle cleared at 5.90 to 6.00, the bulk of steers going at 5.25 to 5.50.

The hog market averaged 10 to 15 cents higher, and the top was 9.80. Most deals were within a spread of 9.50 to 9.75. Receipts were close to 1,500 head.

Strength was noted in the sheep trade, but prices were not quotably higher. A consignment of shorn wethers sold at 7.25. Receipts amounted to about 6.00 head.

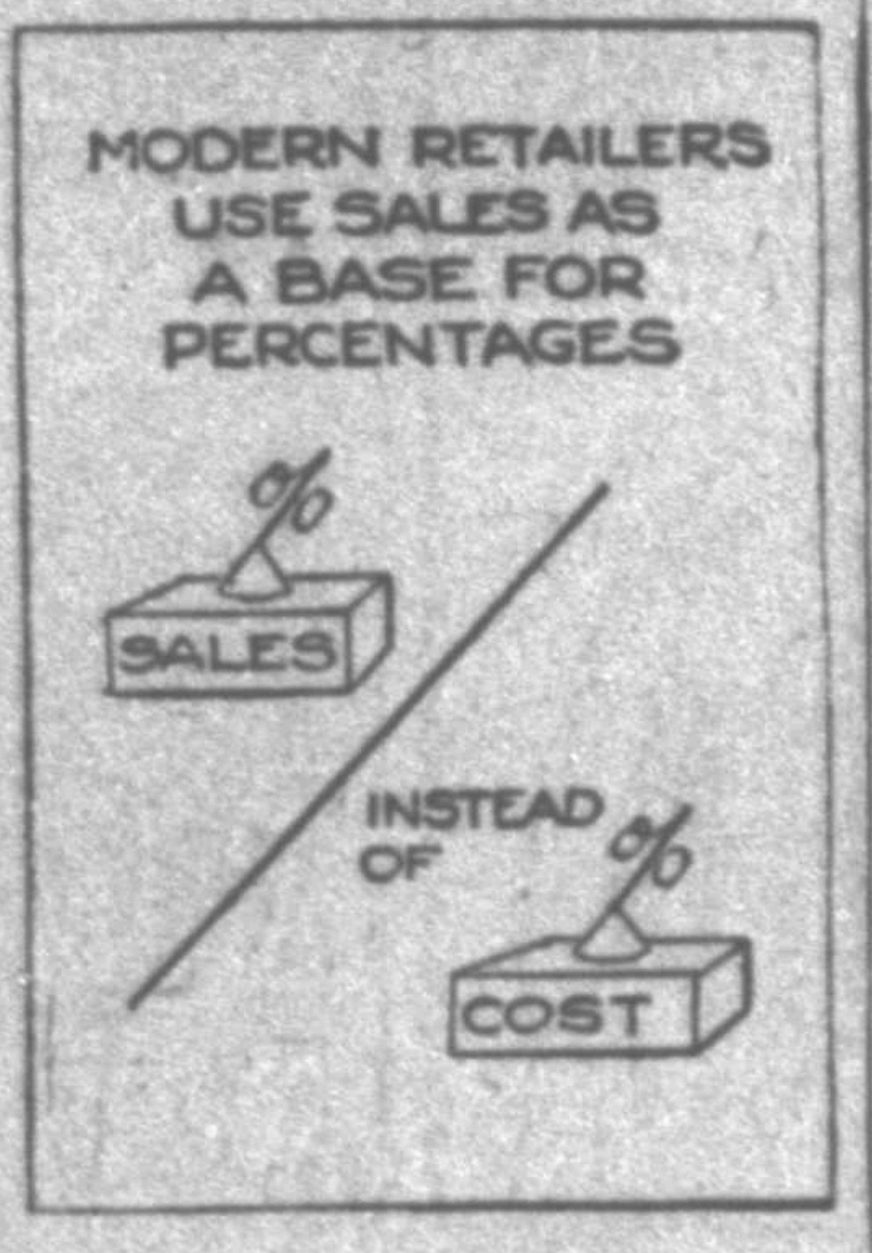
MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.



MODERN RETAILERS USE SALES AS A BASE FOR PERCENTAGES
%
SALES
INSTEAD OF
%
COST

Retail basis for inventory in place of cost has several advantages.

* * *

The time required to take inventory when value is based on cost is considerable, because the cost of each article must be decided and entered on the inventory record. If inventory is taken on the retail basis no decoding is required and the time is accordingly reduced.

Stock is automatically depreciated by the retail method, because if markdowns have been taken the inventory value is reduced by that amount and the value finally arrived at is the depreciated value. By the cost method it is necessary to apply a fixed percentage for depreciation.

The retail method provides for a running book inventory and the physical inventory is a check upon the book figure.

Cotton Uncertain

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—The cotton market was under the influence of uncertainty as to the character of the government reports due tomorrow. Trading was largely restricted to liquidation in advance of the reports and prices gradually eased off reaching the lowest levels of the day right at the close. October showing the net decline for the day of 47 points and the latter months losses of 43 to 47 points.

At the start, despite the fact that Liverpool was a shade better than due, first trades showed declines of 6 to 10 points and the losses were soon increased to 12 to 17 points compared with Saturday's close. There was a moderate rally after the weather map was posted showing more rains in the belt than anticipated and indications of a cold wave. October traded up to 21.60, December to 21.70 and January to 21.79, or 9 to 12 points up from the early lows. As the official forecast was for fair weather for the entire belt the market again turned easy and prices kept on the downgrade with occasional small rallies until October, December and January were 40 to 45 points down from the highs of the morning. The close was at the lowest, showing net losses for the day of 43 to 47 points.

The downward trend of prices was due to the fear that the government figures would show a crop indication fully as large and probably larger than that reported in the previous report when 12,787,000 bales were forecasted.

Corn Lower

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Active general selling in the corn market today led to a much lower range of prices for corn. Selling was stimulated by enlarged receipts of corn here and by continued absence of any heavy damage from frost. Corn closed weak 2⅜ to 4½ cents net lower, December 103⅝ to 103⅜. In wheat, the closing was unsettled at the same as Saturday's finish to ⅝ cent higher, December 1.32⅛ to 1.32¼ and May 1.37⅞ to 11.37⅞ with ¼ to ⅜ cent down, and provisions varying from 7 cents lower to 15 cents gain.

Wheat prices were held by export purchasers both of wheat and rye estimated at 1,000 bushels or more of each grain. Unfavorable weather for the domestic crop movement in the northwest also tended to strengthen wheat, despite corn weakness. Oats, however, eased down with corn. Provisions averaged higher owing to an upturn in hog values.

The Following Taken From THE TEXACO STAR

Published by The Texas Company, Port Arthur, "illustrating real conservation, we send a photograph showing the type of steel gun-barrel tank in use on some of our leases in the North Texas Division.

"The tank is so constructed that from one inch to three inches vacuum is maintained. Vacuum regulator is also shown. We have seven of these tanks in operation, from which we conserve 200,000 cubic feet of gas daily, not conserved previously, which is taken to our Electra gasoline plant.

"This tank and others of like construction pay us good dividends. On the present price of gasoline and residue gas sales, we figure that each three or four months these tanks have earned their investment. Also, they greatly reduce fire hazard on our producing properties."

The above tanks are manufactured by the Panhandle Refining Company's Boiler Shop department. For particulars call the following numbers: Day Phone 7125. Night, 2850 or 2225.

News of the Fields

Daniels-Rutis, Parkey

Daniels and Rutis are drilling a depth of past 1,215 feet on their No. 1, Parkey, northeast quarter of block 37, Jefferson county School lands subdivision, west Archer county.

United Production Co.

The United Production company has run casing and set on top of a sand encountered at 1,550 feet in their No. 3, Fowlkes-Jennings B-lease, just east of Electra, section 12, HT&BRR survey.

J. A. Jones, Location

J. A. Jones and associates have made a location for a test in the northeast corner of a twenty-five acre strip off the west side of block 4, J. A. Kunkel land, Thomas McCoy survey, southwest of the Carey well, south Archer county.

Throckmorton Test

James B. Douglas et al are starting up again at a depth of 1,235 feet after being shut down for more than a week on their test on the Addie B. Steele land, William Cassel survey, abstract 184, southwest of Spring Creek, Throckmorton county.

Daniels, Lester

Daniels Drilling company has made arrangements for casing and were to set yesterday on a sand at a given depth of about 1,480 feet on their test in the southeast corner of the J. Lester land, TE&LCO survey 2412, abstract 612, just west of Megargel.

Hammon-Lee, McCarty

Hammon - Hale - Bullington are equipping their No. 4, McCarty, 50 feet east of their No. 3 which is in the southwest corner of their lease, Beaver Creek district, Wichita county, for the pump, with the expectation of making a 25 barrel well from 19 feet of sand at 1,204-24 feet.

Shamrock, Goldsmith

The Shamrock Oil company has encountered the sand at 1,349 feet in their No. 12, Goldsmith, Swastika district, and are setting casing to complete the well.

Location for the No. 14, Goldsmith has been made, to be 300 feet south of the No. 12, 150 feet west of the east line of the lease.

Simms-Parrish

The Simms Oil company has made locations for their No.'s 1 and 2, Parrish, offsetting to the west Muse No. 1, Parrish, and No. 2, rigging up. Steel derricks will be erected for the two tests. The Simms has recently purchased three of these derricks and will use them on their holdings in Archer county, this being, it is believed the first that have been used in Archer county.

Consolidated-Panhandle

The Consolidate Oil company and the Panhandle Refining company have made location for two tests on the Beardon land south of their regular production on the Ragle lease, No. 1 to be in the northeast corner of the 184 1-2-acre lease recently acquired by them from the Bearden heirs and the other to be located 300 feet west of that, J. Hopkins survey, Archer county.

Dee Bros., and Jeffee

Dee Brothers and Jeffee have made a trade with the Macon Oil and Gas company for four free wells on the forty acres in block 34, White lands, known as lot 11, just north of the Carter-Phillips-Macon production in lots 15 and 15. Location for the first test has been made in the southwest corner of lot 11, and it is expected to get started immediately. This test should do much toward proving or defining the producing area to the north.

Everest et al, Parkey

Maxwell, Everest et al were drilling at a depth of about 1,764 feet yesterday morning on their No. 1, Parkey, southeast corner of section 1, SPRR survey, abstract 423, Archer county.

Magnolia-Llewellyn

The Magnolia Petroleum company is standardizing their No. 5, Llewellyn, Comac district, 300 feet south of their No. 1, and will drill in with cable tools. Five inch casing is set in the line, depth of the hole now being given as 1,448 feet.

Culp-Wharton

Charles Culp of the Waggoner Refining company of Electra has closed a deal with the South Vernon Oil Company for a test on the west half of the southeast fohty acres of the southeast quarter of section 90, just west of the Wells-Guiberson producer, Wharton land, Wilbarger county.

Muse-Robertson, McCarty

Muse and Robertson are equipping their No. 1, McCarty, east of the regular 1,600-foot production, Beaver Creek area, Wichita county, for the pump with the expectation of making a 25 or better well from about thirty feet of sand lying between 1,653 and 1,700 feet.

Benson Tests

900 Oil company is drilling in their test on the S. M. Benson land, block No. 1,397, TE&LCO survey, abstract 475, on the Young-Archer county line, Benson pool. Depth of the hole is given as 870 feet with some oil standing in the hole.

In the same block Russell and Hardy have spudded and are drilling at about 300 feet.

Robertson, White

R. R. Robertson has made a location for a test and is moving in timbers for the derrick in the northeast corner of the lot 1, Block 35, just to the west of the Carter-Phillips-Mason big producer in block 34 completed last week.

This is on a sixty acre tract obtained from the Macon Oil and Gas company by Mr. Robertson, which includes all of lot 1, and a strip off the east of lot 2.

UNUSUAL RAIL POLICY

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—An unprecedented step was taken by United States railroad labor board today in handling disputes on employes' representation when the board announced it would itself hold an election on the Pennsylvania system. The election will determine who, in the eyes of the board, may legally negotiate for employes of the road in the telegraph department.

Shamrock Gets Sand At 1,064, In No. 1, Boren

The Shamrock Oil company has encountered a sand in their No. 1, Brown, northwest corner of the south half of the R. Newman survey, south Archer county, at a depth of 1,064 feet, and are setting casing at a given depth of 1,064 feet, two feet higher than in the Consolidated-Panhandle well, D-2, Ragle, offsetting it to the north.

A core was taken and shows rich in oil. A Star machine will be moved onto the location to drill in the well.

A well here will extend the production in the Knight-Hines pool a location to the south.

PIPE ON GROUND FOR NEW LINE

Pipe will be unloaded today in south Archer county for the Wichita Pipeline company's new four-inch line from their Swastika carrier to the Knight-Hines Ragle pool, and it is expected to start actual laying of the pipe tomorrow.

MAGNOLIA LINE GETS FIRST TEST

Special to The Record News.

HOUSTON, Sept. 22.—On the Magnolia Petroleum companys' 182 miles of 8-inch welded oil line from the Luling field to Hull junction station, a test recently with water and part air revealed three pin hole leaks, a split joint of pipe and one bad weld. Although four river crossings were necessary and its path was crosswise the drainage system of south Texas, this line was completed in 100 working days and is the longest oil line in this part of the country. The joints were all welded by oxyacetylene flame. The total cost of the line along with four pump stations is estimated at $2,000,000, and it has a daily capacity ranging from 18,000 to 19,000 barrels

Mitcham-Logan, Tabor

Mitcham and Logan bailed dry Saturday night in the upper part of a sand encountered at 1,495 feet in their test on the Mrs. Etta Tabor land, lot 2, Jefferson county school lands, west Archer county, and after drilling three feet deeper to 1,503 feet bailed salt water.

Casing has been pulled and the test will be drilled to a known second sand.

Texhoma-Cullum, Burnett

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company and Cullum have drilled in their No. 2-A, Burnett, south of Fowlkes Station, G. R. Meade survey, section 6, to a depth of 1,811 1-2 feet, 9 1-2 feet in the sand encountered at 1,802 feet. The first twelve hour's swabbing showed 67 barrels.

No. 3-A, to the south, was drilling at 1,665 feet yesterday; No. 4-A at 610 feet, and No. 10-B to the north, SA&MG survey, abstract 271, had spudded and was drilling at about 100 feet.

Hammond-Stone, Wilbarger

Gay Hammond and Jerome Stone have closed a contract with the South Vernon Oil company for a test on the Bond-Hawkins-Williams fee, section 100 H&TCRR block 14, south of the north line of the section and about 550 feet west of the Winnipeg Drilling company's test on the same fee, now drilling at about 1,500 feet. Rig is to be moved in at once, it is understood.

Dallas Athletic Club and Office Building

Dallas, Texas

First Mortgage 6½% Serial Coupon Bonds

(SAFEGUARDED UNDER THE STRAUS PLAN)

SECURITY—These bonds are secured by a direct closed first mortgage on land and new office and club building being erected thereon, including equipment and club furniture and furnishings. Eight stories of the building are now practically completed, and the remaining five stories will be constructed at once. Completion of the structure, substantially in accordance with the plans and specifications, free and clear of all prior liens, is unconditionally guaranteed to the bondholders by S. W. Straus & Co.

The Dallas Athletic Club and Office Building will provide high-grade retail stores on the ground floor, with frontages on three good business streets. The upper five floors will be leased to the highest grade of office tenants, and will be fully equipped in the most modern, approved style for office buildings. The remainder of the building will be occupied by the Dallas Athletic Club, a strong organization with a large membership, including many of the best known and most successful citizens of Dallas.

EARNINGS—We estimate the net annual income of the borrowing corporation, applicable to the payment of interest and principal—after ample deductions for operating expenses, taxes, insurance and vacancies—at approximately $250,000. This is more than twice the greatest annual interest charge.

The bonds are dated August 15, 1924; callable at 102 and interest; 2% Federal Income Tax is paid by the borrower; denominations, $1,000 and $500; serial maturities, 3 to 15 years.

Circular giving full details of this attractive bond issue will be sent upon request. Ask for

KANSAS HAS BUT FEW COMPLETIONS

Special to The Record News.

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 22.—Few completions are reported in Kansas for the last week, outside of the three completions in the Russell county field, two of which were dry holes. Flush production recovered from new wells did not increase the daily average production of the state

Production figures show that Kansas is now producing approximately 86,000 barrels of crude a day. Additional production is expected to come from the new pools in the Montgomery county area. Following is a list of completed wells in Kansas:

H. W. Neiswanger, No. 1, in the northwest of the southeast of the northwest of 2-19-12w, dry hole.

Lewis Oil company No. 1, Haise, southeast of the northwest of 21-12-14w, dry hole; Valerius Oil and Gas company No. 4, northwest of the northwest of 17-12-15w, depth 3,018 feet, 240 barrels; Patton and others No. 1, Wallbridge, center of the west line of the southwest of the northeast of 4-13-15w, dry hole.

LEGAL NOTICE

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS,

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of ten days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Wichita county, a copy of the following notice:

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To all persons interested in the welfare of the estate of Jennie E. Carter deceased know ye that Charles R. Fuller was by the county court of Wichita county, Texas, on the 15th day of September, A. D., 1924, duly appointed temporary administrator of the said estate of said deceased, which appointment shall become permanent unless the same shall be successfully contested at the next term of said court, commencing on the first Monday in October, A. D., 1924, the same being the 6th day of October, A. D., 1924, at the court house thereof, in Wichita Falls, at which time all persons interested in the welfare of said estate may appear and contest such appointment if they so desire.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 15th day of September, A. D., 1924.

(Seal) ALMA Y. MILLER, Clerk,
County Court Wichita County, Texas.
By W. F. YEAGER, Deputy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.

THE STATE OF TEXAS:

To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon Henry Atkins by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichitay county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls on the first Monday in December A. D. 1924, the same being the 1st day of December A. D. 1924, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 13th day of September A. D. 1924 in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 16102-B, wherein Elizabeth Atkins is plaintiff and Henry Atkins is defendant and said petition alleging that on or about the 20th day of April, 1906, in the county of Crittenden, state of Arkansas, plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant and continued to live with defendant as his wife until about July, 1908, when defendant voluntarily left the plaintiff with the intention of abandonment, since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife. That at the time of abandonment plaintiff was the mother of two children by defendant, the youngest of which has since died, and the older one is now grown and married. Wherefore plaintiff prays the court that defendant be cited to appear and answer herein and that upon hearing she have judgment dissolving the marriage relations heretofore existing between plaintiff and defendant, for costs of suit, etc.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita

WHERE YOU SHOULD TAKE YOUR BUSINESS TRAINING

Do not make the mistake of assuming that all business schools are alike; that all business schools have equally comprehensive courses, and that they have equal standing with empoyers. Do not assume that their graduates are equally in demand. Do not assume all schools have the same conception of service. You may be disappoined if you do.

But if you want to be safe and sure of your future; if you want to get the best instruction; if you want to create the biggest market for your services, come to this great school of business training, where you will find the height standards of specialized equipment, service and instruction.

Tom R. Jackson left Monday for Amarillo on a short business trip.

Felix Payne and family spent the week-end fishing at Lake Wichita.

Sam Beattie has returned from Gainesville where he spent Saturday and Sunday.

County Superintendent of Schools Burl Bryant is in Austin for a few days on business.

Jasper H. Warren, a Dallas attorney, was in the city Monday on legal business.

Al Ellis and W. W. Gardner departed Monday for Stamford on business.

J. A. Richolt and J. W. Bradley Sr. are expected back this week from their fishing trip at Arkansas Pass.

J. R. Parker, prominent stockman of Mankins, was in Wichita Falls on business Monday.

C. H. Featherstone is spending a few days on his ranch near Floydada, in Floyd county.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Brubbs departed Monday for Brownsville to visit with friends and relatives.

C. M. Humphreys of Electra spent the week-end in Wichita Falls visiting with his mother, Mrs. R. E. Humphreys.

K. B. Klusner left Sunday night for his home in Bentonville, Ark. He is expected to return to Wichita Falls again in about a week's time.

Hersheel Hunt, formerly with the Record News, has returned to Port Arthur after spending his vacation with his parents at Henrietta.

Deputy Sheriff W. P. Belcher returned Monday from Bosque county where he was called Saturday by the serious illness of a relative.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry F. Wright of El Paso and former residents of Wichita Falls have returned to this city to live. Wright is connected with Little Sporting goods company.

Mrs. F. H. Whitney and son, John, returned to their Dallas home Monday following visit with Mr. Whitney here who is connected with Perkins-Timberlake.

R. A. Kennedy and family have returned from a two weeks' stay in Wyoming where Mr. Kennedy visited Salt creek and other of the oil fields there.

Members of the Floral Heights Baptist church are observing the week of prayer in the interest of state missions. An all-day prayer service will be held at the church Wednesday.

Ward Powell, a Fort Worth attorney, is in Wichita Falls in connection with some paving matters involving the city and a paving company he represents.

O. E. James, brought to Wichita Falls by the chamber of commerce, has established a cotton pickers' bureau in the city hall for the purpose of placing all desirous of jobs in the cotton fields.

John J. King, auditor for the Texas-Oklahoma fair association, has moved his office to the Kahn building with the regular fair officers. King will be at this location all this week, going to the fair grounds next Monday.

Assistant District Attorney Robert K. Crain and Assistant County Attorney J. Earl Kuntz left last night for Graham where they will attend the closing sessions of the Griffin trial.

Dr. S. A. Barnes, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, preached at the First Methodist church of Electra Sunday night when a home-coming service was held. Judge P. B. Cox of this city delivered an address to the assembly.

A fire truck and three men to man it will be kept at the T-O fair grounds during fair week to guard against possible fire. Ample water pressure is available on the grounds and with a fire fighting organization ready, danger of a disastrous blaze in the buildings will be held to a minimum.

Burglary charges alleging theft of property over the value of $50 were filed Monday against Estella Phillips, negress, arrested Sunday by city police on complaint of another negro woman. About $200 worth of clothing was found in the woman's possession when she was taken in custody.

Several months ago Edwards and Deutsch Lithographing company of Chicago mailed out inquiries to banks all over the United States for an expression as to the benefits from its desk calendar. This company selected the answer written by W. S. Abbott, assistant cashier of the City National bank of Wichita Falls Texas.

County Judge B. D. Sartin and Commissioners Jackson and Haynes are expected home this morning from El Paso where they have been attending the state county judge's and commissioners' convention. No court meeting was held yesterday, the regular Monday session being put off until Tuesday morning.

Paving crews are making good headway on Twelfth street, which is being improved from Broad to Marshal and which is the only major paving project now under way in the city. About one third of the four block stretch has been completed and the work is progressing rapidly on the remaining distance.

C. E. Basham, vice president of the City National bank has written friends here that he is enjoying his hunting trip with W. H. and George Peckham, also of Wichita Falls, in Wyoming. The party is after bear and moose, permission by the governor of Wyoming having been given Basham to shoot one moose although the season is closed.

The appointment of the Bobo-Heflin company with office in the Bob Waggoner building, Wichita Falls, as distributors of Straus bonds in this community was announced yesterday. "In order to render a more intimate and personal investment service to our clients and prospective clients in Wichita Falls and vicinity," said C. A. Bonniwell, director of sales of S. W. Straus & Co., "we are pleased to announce the appointment of the Bobo-Heflin company as our representatives in Wichita Falls."

Jail Delivery In Prospect; Officers Discover Scheme

Another attempt on the part of several refractory prisoners to break out of the county jail has been frustrated by the discovery of a large hole in the "bear cage" and the unearthing of a wreckage of a steel cot that was torn up. An appeture large enough to permit a man to crawl through had been broken out of the big cell.

The prisoners had managed to tear up a cot and had used the steel frame work of this to batter and pry away the metal straps forming the side of the cell. Although escape from the bear cage would not have given immediate freedom from the jail building, it would permit a prisoner to hide and knock the jailer in the head when he appeared.

The last attempted jail break was staged about six weeks ago when every prisoner in custody, some 75 in all, rioted and sought to batter their way out by main strength. All furnishings, cots, dishes and bedding in the cells were destroyed and the insurrection lasted for two hours. Bread and water rations had a salutory effect after this and no more trouble has been experienced until the last two days.

Owners Protests Block Paving And Gas Station

Protests from property owners in the neighborhoods affected blocked two propposed projects up for consideration in the city council Monday night. One knocked out a block of paving and the other stopped a filling station.

Led by Judge P. A. Martin, several property owners in the vicinity of Ninth and Kemp boulevard protested against paving of Kemp between Ninth and Tenth. It was made plain that the land holders had no objection to the improvement but that they considered the assessments too high. Judge Martin, G. G. Hendrix and W. C. Campbell, who between them own all the land on one side of the street, succeeded in having the project stopped and existing contracts for the work cancelled.

The filling station proposal was blocked by a representative of nine residents in the vicinity of north Third and Broadway. The Texhoma Oil and Refining company proposed erecting a station there but such a vigorous complaint was aroused the council suggested to Texhoma officials that their petition be withdrawn. This was done.

NO MORE BUMPS.

Repairs Are Started On Paving At Car Barn Site.

Workmen started Monday repairing the Ninth street paving in front of the old car barn site in the 1909 block. When the tracks leading into the car barns were removed after the old structure had been torn down and street was left unpatched and autoists have been heaping anathema on the heads of those responsible for the bumps.

Donkey Is A Nuisance Not Oddity

A donkey that brays from 4 o'clock in the morning for several hours is not only an oddity but a nuisance.

At least that is the contention of half a dozen residents of Lamar avenue between Seventh and Eighth street who, in a petition presented last night to the city council, asked that the animal be "removed."

"We the undersigned wish removed from 700 Lamar one burro and declare same to be a nuisance by its constant braying beginning in the morning about 4 o'clock and continuing for several hours."

The petition recited that the burro belonged to a neighbor who refused to restrain it.

The matter was refered to City Attorney George for action.

WE ARE STILL SUSPICIOUS

Whether Back Bone of Summer Broken a Question Yet.

Typical Indian summer spread over Wichita Falls and north Texas yesterday, bringing welcome relief to a territory that has been heat-ridden for the last four months.

It is not, of course, the first cool snap of the fall, but it carried a tang that bespoke real autumn. Nor was it the definite end of torrid weather locally; hot days and plenty of them will no doubt appear again before winter really sets in; but it was a kind of coolness that promised comfortable living from now until the blue northers blow in in November. It at least seemed to give assurance that the furnace-like blasts of wind have been eliminated, that 95 and above has been stowed away until 1925 and that all the attending discomforts of a broiling Texas sun are past history so far as 1924 is concerned.

A maximum of 78 degrees was recorded here Monday, with a minimum of 53. A light breeze from the east and a clear sky added to the autumn touch.

$10,000 Deal Will Transfer Public Lots to Oil Firm

An offer of $10,000 for a block of land 100 by 150 feet at Burnett and Eleventh street, former site of the old city water department stand pipe, has been made to the city council by the Camp Oil and Gas company. It is understood that if the deal is consumated a three story brick building to house apartments on the upper floors and business rooms below will be erected. Leases for a drug store and grocery have already been signed, it is said.

While the sale has not as yet been completed, the only controversy remaining to be ironed out is over a store room now used by the water department for its meters and other materials. The original offer to the city included the land with the improvements; the commissioners, however, feel that they should retain the building. Their offer will be made to the oil company officials at once.

The land involved came under city ownership when the city purchased the water department. The stand pipe which furnished pressure for the city mains was located there originally, but this was torn down by the Wichita Falls Golf and country club when that organization purchased and moved it to their new home a year or so ago.

LaFollette To Be Boosted At Meet Wednesday

Organization of a local club to support the candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette for president will probably be effected here at a meeting to be held by his backers Wednesday night. Plans will also be made for the appearance here next Saturday night of Edward T. De Vine of New York, a nationally known speaker who is to make a tour of Texas in behalf of the Wisconsin senator.

Although final arrangements have not been completed, it is expected that the Wednesday night meeting will be held in the court house. Announcements of the exact time and place will be made either today or tomorrow. No definite place for the Saturday night address by Mr. DeVine has as yet been selected but this will be made within the next few days. Mr. DeVine's campaign in Texas is to open in Wichita Falls.

All supporters of Senator La Follette are requested to attend the Wednesday night session.

NEGROES ASK FOR PARK

Delegation of Colored Women Appear Before City Council

Declaring that the colored people of the city had no public recreation spots and that a park of some kind was badly needed, a delegation representing the colored women's federated city missionary societies appeared before the city council last night asking that the city provide a park site.

In a lengthy petition that went into some detail on the excellent manner in which the city had cared for the negroes in other lines, the women asserted that a park where negroes could obtain recreation unmolested was one of the prime necessities of the negro population now.

The petition was received and turned over to Park Commissioner Patton for action.

Sometimes Ignorance Isn't Bliss

The man who wrote "ignorance is bliss" wasn't a modern business man.

Business men today know that ignorance is always dangerous; those who play the game safe go to their bankers for the information about business that he has to have for his own uses.

At the right bank, the facts and figures thus obtained are always cheerfully passed on to patrons.

Discover and Use Your Talents

NATURE has given each of us wonderful gifts—our talents—if these talents are not used, the world isn't any better for our having them.

Each one of us are able to do some one thing a little better than anyone else—sometimes we feel an urge, an ambition or desire to get into this or that, believing that a great success could be made—that's the talents trying to force themselves into use.

If men or women would sit down in some quiet place, analyze or take stock of themselves, determine what it is the inner man is coaxing them to do—and go right after it, refusing to let any stumbling block bar them from accomplishment—there would be more success and happiness in the world.

Discover your talents—put an ad in our classified columns for the exact thing you want—believe that your own will come to you—and it will.
