OIL BOOM — The Coast Guard uses a 1,000-foot long boom, made of plastic foam strung together by ropes with plastic "teeth" extending into the water, to block oil heading out of Tampa Bay into the Gulf of Mexico after a Greek tanker ran aground, holed her bottom and dumped over 5,000 gallons of oil into the bay. The oil spread to a 20-square-mile area as wind and tide pushed it into St. Petersburg.

CAN'T RUN AGAINST SMITH IN PRIMARY

Hall Out Of Governor's Race

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court ruled today that state Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is not eligible to run against Gov. Preston Smith in the Democratic primary.

State Democratic Chairman Elmer Baum refused Feb. 2 to accept Hall's $1,000 filing fee as a candidate for governor.

Baum cited a provision in the state Constitution that legislators are ineligible during their current terms for posts which were created or whose salaries were raised during their tenure as lawmakers.

Hall, whose Senate term runs to January, 1973, was in the legislature last year when it raised the governor's salary from $40,000 to $55,000 a year.

The court held unanimously today that Hall cannot run for governor and closed its books on the case by saying it would entertain no motion for a rehearing.

Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert wrote the main opinion, and Associate Justice Clyde Smith filed a concurring opinion, agreeing that Hall should not be allowed to run but approaching the issue from a different legal standpoint.

Hall's lawyers argued that the constitutional provision cited by Baum did not apply to the governor's office because the legislature did not have the power to set the governor's salary until 1954, nearly 80 years after the provision was written.

The court said that if it accepted this argument it would so limit the constitutional prohibition "as practically to denude it of meaning."

The senator's attorneys also contended that the constitutional provision was unfair since in this case it affected only about half the Senate, leaving the rest of the senators and all 150 House members free to run for governor if they wanted, since their terms would not overlap that of the next governor.

"We are not persuaded by (Hall's) equal protection argument," the court said. "Relator (Hall) is not denied equal protection of the laws unless it can be shown that there is no reasonable basis for the classification made by the constitutional provision, and there is presumption that the classification is reasonable."

Col. Ingold Will Replace 'Mr. Draft'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today that Army Col. Dee Ingold, 65, now assistant to the director, will be acting director of Selective Service temporarily in place of the retiring director, Gen. Lewis G. Hershey.

Hershey stepped down from the post today after 28 years in office. President Nixon has been searching in vain for four months for a replacement for the 76-year-old general.

Ingold will serve until a new director is named, Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

Wrestling with an unfamiliar new lottery method and facing Senate review of the whole draft system, the administration has fallen back on the caretaking skills of the system's headquarters staff.

Hershey, draft director since 1941, was reassigned effective today as the President's Advisor on Manpower Mobilization.

And the White House has found it impossible, in the four months since his reassignment was announced, to replace the 76-year-old general.

Back on Oct. 10 when he disclosed the decision, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler added, "We will announce in coming days a deputy director of the Selective Service System who will become director when Gen. Hershey assumes his new job.

By December, Ziegler was saying the appointment would come "as soon as possible."

There were reports that Paul Dietzel, football coach at the University of South Carolina, and Woodie Hayes, Ohio State University football coach, had been offered the job.

Dietzel said he wasn't interested; Hayes denied receiving any offer.

Carswell Okayed By 12 To 4 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved by a vote of 12 to 4 today the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss. told newsmen that the committee's majority report recommending Carswell's confirmation will be filed in the Senate later today.

ALL DEMOCRATS

The senators voting against approval of Carswell's nomination were all Democrats—Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Birch Bayh of Indiana and Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland.

Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., passed without voting when the roll was called in the closed-door meeting.

Eastland also announced that the committee had agreed to vote by April 24 on a proposed constitutional amendment providing for the election of the president and vice president by direct popular vote.

Bayh, chief Senate sponsor of the direct election plan, had insisted at an earlier meeting of the committee that a time be fixed for voting on it before the committee voted on the nomination of Carswell.

HE'S APPALLED

Up to today, there had been no public, stated opposition from any committee members. However, six other senators have announced they will vote against the nomination when it reaches the floor.

The latest was Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., who said Sunday night he was "appalled by the mediocrity of Carswell's nomination."

Carswell, now a judge on the U.S. 5th Court of Appeals "was and is a white supremacist," Williams said.

President Nixon nominated Carswell Jan. 19 after his earlier selection of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., of Greenville, S.C., was rejected by a 55-45 Senate vote.

The Judiciary Committee concluded its hearings on Carswell's nomination Feb. 3, but at a closed door meeting immediately afterward Bayh objected to voting unless an agreement was reached first on acting on the proposed electoral reform amendment.

U.S. Drops Spy Charges Against Red

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The United States dropped spy charges today against a Russian United Nations employe on the condition that he leave this country by Tuesday.

U.S. Commissioner Walter A. Reseburg Jr. signed the order dropping the charges on the motion of U.S. Attorney Stan Pitkin.

In Washington, a statement issued by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the decision to drop the charges was made at the request of the State Department after consultation with the Justice Department.

The Russian, Aleksandr V. Tikhomirov, 37, has been free on $75,000 bail since Wednesday while awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of conspiracy to commit espionage. The FBI said he was arrested in Seattle Feb. 7 after an unidentified U.S. Air Force technical sergeant said Tikhomirov gave him $300 and asked for information on antiaircraft and missile defenses in the Pacific Northwest.

"It is in the best interest of the foreign policy of the U.S. government that the defendant be allowed to depart for the U.S.S.R.," Pitkin said after the order was signed by Reseburg.

FIGHTING

Oil Slick Too Big To Handle

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Pollution experts fighting to keep a 100-square-mile oil slick from spreading have thrown in the towel in their uneven battle against wind and tide.

They now are concentrating on keeping the oil bottled up in Tampa Bay and away from tourist-packed Gulf Coast beaches.

"There's nothing we can do to stop the spread of the oil," Capt. Anthony Fugaro of the Coast Guard said Sunday. "It's just gotten too big for us to handle."

The oil was released when the Greek tanker Delian Apollon ran aground Friday.

Boat owners lined up to haul their oil-coated craft away as the slick poked into public and private marinas.

By Sunday night, oil was beginning to dot the waters of Boca Ciega Bay between the mainland the hotel-spotted island of St. Petersburg Beach.

The slick was concentrated originally in a mass about five miles in diameter, but now laps stickily at 20 miles of shoreline along the eastern side of the Pinellas Peninsula.

The blanket of viscous bunker-C fuel oil ranged in thickness from a coating like grease on top of soup to ugly blotches six inches thick.

The tanker at first was believed to have lost 5,000 gallons, but Fugaro said Sunday he believed more than 10,000 gallons burst into the bay through several holes in the tanker's hull.

The Delian APollon, registered in Greece, is owned by J. C. Carris and Sons, Ltd., of London, England, and was chartered to Humble Oil Co.

The Audubon Society estimated more than 1,000 birds died along a 10-mile stretch of shore.

Larson Lloyd Top Bidder On Security State Stock

Apparent successful bidder for control stock in the Security State Bank is Larson Lloyd, president of the institution.

This announcement was made today in Fort Worth, where bids were opened by the First National Bank of Fort Worth, independent executor of the Estate of the late Raymond L. Tollett and Mrs. Iris Tollett.

Shirley R. Clark Jr., trust officer for the Fort Worth bank, said the Lloyd bid was the highest of eight submitted, and apparently is in order. He said formal acceptance of the tender should be completed within a few days, with a binder of 10 per cent of the purchase price.

The amount of money involved in the transaction was not revealed. The sale represented 11,246.5 shares out of 22,000 outstanding. "We regard it as a good price," said Clark.

No official announcement was made, but it was reported that second in line was a bid from R. J. (Dick) Ream, formerly with First National Bank here, and third was a tender of J. R. Hensley, Dallas, formerly president of First National in Big Spring.

Lloyd has been an official with Security State since its establishment in July, 1956. He was at first executive vice president, later was advanced to the presidency. He was in Fort Worth today at the bid opening, and was not immediately available for comment.

At the close of business last December 31, Security State had assets of $10,200,574, deposits of $9,417,045 and loans of $3,859,662. Capital stock is $275,000, certified surplus is $275,000, and undivided profits and reserves amounted to $233,528.

Railroad Commission Has Never Used Oil Law

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission has never used a state law providing $1,000 a day penalties against oil companies whose pipelines leak or spill into Texas waters, a Senate committee was told today.

Roy Payne, the commission's director of field operations, testing oil spills from pipelines.

The commission regulates the oil industry in Texas.

Payne said companies have reported losing 25,480 barrels of oil through spillages since 1964. He said the state has no system of checking up on the oil company reports, and the commission has never requested funds to set one up. He acknowledged the reports may be lower than they would be if made by someone other than the companies themselves.

"You've had knowledge of this situation for some time where the companies fail to report the spills?" asked Joe Bernal of San Antonio.

"Yes, we write them letters asking them to report," said Payne.

"In other words, it is a matter of honor with the companies?" Bernal asked.

Payne said there is a state rule requiring reports, but some companies do not obey it, and the commission's only recourse is a penalty suit.

"Have you ever gone to court to invoke the penalties?" Bernal asked.

"No, sir," Payne said.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas asked Payne if the commission had ever asked the attorney general to bring $1,000 a day penalty suits against companies whose pipelines or other facilities dump oil into Texas waters.

"No, sir. In most instances, the companies clean up immediately . . . If we had a break and company refused to take any action, the attorney general probably would be asked to institute a penalty suit," Payne said.

LEGION POST TO HOST 4TH DIVISION MEET

Big Spring will be the site of a major convention May 2-3, when the Local American Legion Post plays host to the Fourth Division Convention.

Between 200-300 are expected to attend the annual meeting, which represents most of West Texas, according to Dr. J. Gale Kilgore, post commander. Bill Bodin will be the convention committee chairman.

R. L. (Pete) Brodeur, division commander, El Paso, and Mrs. Wilfred (Lee) Stoerner, president of the Division Auxiliary, Plainview, visited Big Spring Sunday and confirmed the convention site, designating the local post as host.

Oops! Forecast Is A Bit Early

Faith in Beautiful and Ugly's weather forecasting abilities were badly shattered Sunday when Big Springers woke up to falling rain and sleet which gradually changed to snow in parts of the city.

Beautiful and Ugly are two 10-pound terrapins owned by Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Mays, 602 Highland. And though spring doesn't officially begin until March 20, Beautiful and Ugly tend to ignore the calendar and come out of hibernation whenever they feel weather is getting springlike.

The two poked their heads out of their den last week, and announced to Dr. and Mrs. Mays that spring is truly here. Sunday Big Spring received .01 inch of rain, sleet and snow.

Roads were slick about mid-morning, and the police were reporting hazardous driving east of here. However, the skies cleared shortly after noon and by midafternoon Beautiful and Ugly could poke their somewhat red faces out of their shells.

POSSIBILITY OF ANOTHER VETO BY NIXON

HEW Money Bill Moves Along

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise education and poverty appropriations bill—smaller than the one President Nixon vetoed but larger than he said he would accept—was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The money bill for the Departments of Health, Education and Welfare and Labor, the Office of Economic Opportunity and related agencies totals $19.3 billion—$693 million above Nixon's budget estimates. The bill he vetoed Jan. 28—a veto sustained two days later by the House—was more than $1 billion above the budget.

Nixon said in a communication to Congress after the veto that he would accept a total of $449 million increases over the budget in the HEW appropriation.

The committee's action, accordingly, left open the possibility of another veto.

The committee said in its report that, while the 226-191 House vote to override the veto fell short of the constitutionally required two-thirds, "The Committee took into consideration the fact that 35 more votes were cast to override than were cast to sustain. Therefore, it appeared to the committee that a compromise between the position of the President and the position of the Congress would be logical and fair rather than the Congress deleting all of the increases that are still objectionable to the President."

Republicans were mapping a strategy for modifying the bill more in accord with Nixon's preferences when it reaches the House floor. They especially planned to insert language specifically authorizing the President not to expend all the funds provided.

On one of the most hotly contested items in the bill, for school assistance in federally affected areas, the compromise measure provides $440 million, compared with $600 million in the vetoed bill.

Nixon To Give 'Global Report'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will propose new initiatives for bettering American-Soviet relations in his first-of-its-kind "global report" this week based on the theme of a "new strategy for peace."

Nixon, back from a four-day Florida holiday, will send the extraordinary, 25,000-word document to Congress Wednesday, outlining U.S. foreign policy—including Vietnam—from when he took office, and carrying it into the future.

White House informants who had advance knowledge indicated Nixon would set out new proposals for settling long-standing East-West disputes.

They suggested the report also would encompass areas of mutual concern such as the Israeli-Arab conflict.

Informants indicated the new proposals would center directly on relations between the United States and Soviet Union. However, the sources would provide no specifics on what the chief executive had in mind.

Nixon flew from the sunshine of Florida and the Bahamas to chilly, snowy Washington Sunday night.

His only announced appointment for today was a morning ceremony in the East Room to present the 1969 national medals of science.

The chief executive spent Saturday night and most of Sunday at the Bahamian island of New York industrialist Robert H. Abplanalp.

While away from the capital, the chief executive completed work in his global review.

On Saturday, Nixon announced that toxins have joined bacteriological weapons on the list of military items the United States will ban from its arsenal.

A high White House official, declining to be quoted by name, said omission of toxins from a Nov. 25 order banning bacteriological weaponry" was a slip-up."

Research on toxins now will be confined to defensive preparations, such as the search for improved vaccines. All stockpiled toxic weapons will be destroyed. The same policy applies to bacteriological agents.

The source said that while the new move was not directly related to strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, "It is a testimony to the spirit with which we approach these negotiations."

No Survivors Found After Airliner Dive

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — No survivors had been found early today from a Dominican airliner which crashed in the Caribbean with 102 persons aboard, rescue officials reported.

The passengers included seven U.S. citizens and 45 Puerto Ricans, officials of the airline said.

The Dominican Airlines twinjet DC9 crashed into the Caribbean about five miles off the south coast of the island of Hispaniola a few minutes after taking off for San Juan, Puerto Rico, Sunday afternoon.

The pilot had radioed that his engines were failing.

The airline said the U.S. citizens aboard, other than the Puerto Ricans, were John Payne, Chicago; Theodore Payne, Salt Lake City; Ruth Atosto, New York City; Gilbert Hays, Florida: Francis Robert Downes of Massachusetts, who lived in the Dominican Republic at Las Matas de Farfan; and two Cubans who were naturalized U.S. citizens, Emerito Perez Acevedo and Concepcion Nanson.

Also aboard were 45 Dominicans, one Spaniard, two Peruvians, an Argentinean and a Belgian priest who lived in the Dominican Republic.

Wreckage was spotted about five miles offshore, and Dominican air and naval units searched for survivors through the night. An American search plane from Puerto Rico dropped flares over the area.

If no survivors are found, it will be Latin America's second worst air crash.

Among those reported aboard was a former world lightweight boxing champion, Carlos "Teo" Cruz, his wife and two children.

Also aboard were the wife, daughter and sister of Gen. Antonio Imbert Barhera, who assassinated Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo in 1961 and headed a ruling junta after the overthrow of President Juan Bosch. His daughter, Leslie, was going to San Juan to buy her wedding dress. She was engaged to the son of the Italian consul.

Airline officials said the $5 million jetliner had been in service less than two months.

Election Cut By Marchers

CHICAGO (AP) — The New Democratic Coalition ended its long-delayed, first national convention Sunday with a march by 200 delegates a cold half mile through downtown Chicago to the federal courthouse in a protest against the riot conspiracy trial.

Those attending the NDC's first full-fledged meeting were agreed that they should remain within the Democratic party but resolved to pressure elected leaders on such issues as Vietnam, welfare and the antiballistic missile.

The march came as the jury deliberated conspiracy charges against seven men involved in protests during the 1968 Democratic National Convention. The NDC itself was formed by liberal Democrats dissatisfied with events of that convention.

The election of officers was cut short by the decision to march.

The disjointed and sometimes argumentative convention did elect two officers: Marvin Madison of St. Louis, chairman of the Missouri NDC, named president; and Joyce Harrell of Vermillion, S.D., chairman of the states NDC affiliate, secretary.

Motorists Given Tops On Licenses

AUSTIN — The Texas Highway Department today reminded motorists of some Dos and Don'ts for obtaining 1970 motor vehicle registrations.

The Motor Vehicle Registration Division of the department has initiated a new computerized registration system. In the past motorists have had to take their previous year's registration and auto title to the county tax collectors office or substation to obtain new license plates.

This year motorists were mailed a three-part computer-oriented registration form about Jan. 1. If a motorist wishes to renew his registration by mail he should mail the three-part form to his county tax collector, with his check for the registration fee plus one extra dollar to cover postage and handling. Some county tax collectors will accept only money orders or cashier's checks.

If a motorist wishes to renew his registration in person he should take the three-part registration form to his county tax collector's office or substation with his check or money order.

Mail orders will be accepted only until March 1, allowing 30 days for delivery. Registrations will be made in person through midnight April 1, deadline for obtaining new auto license plates.

The Highway Department's list of Dos and Don'ts for all motorists:

Don't throw away your three-part registration application; it may be used both for mail and in-person vehicle registration.

Don't write on, mar or otherwise mutilate the three-part form. However, do show your correct address in accord with instructions on the form if the address on the form is incorrect.

Don't separate the three parts of the form; do take to your county tax collector or mail it in one piece.

Don't send your application to the Highway Department Motor Vehicle Division in Austin; do send it to your county tax collector and do enclose the amount of your registration fee and an extra dollar if ordering by mail.

Do send your application before March 1 if ordering by mail; no mail applications will be processed after March 1.

Confucian Religion Explored

"Facts About Confucianism" was given by Mrs. R. M. Oliver and Mrs. Charles Utley for a Thursday meeting of Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, in the Oliver home, 109 Jonesboro.

The speakers said the religion was begun by Confucius, a wise man of China, who was born about 551 B.C. into a poor but respectable family of the state of Lu. His father died when Confucius was a baby, but his mother gave him the best education available. When he was 15 years old, he decided to become a scholar, and taught for 50 years. He was married at the age of 19.

Confucius taught the saying, "What you do not like done to yourself, do not unto others," several hundred years before Jesus pronounced this as his "golden rule."

Dr. W. Elbert Speaks On Education Funds

Dr. Weldon Elbert, Technical and Adult Education Administrator for the West Texas Education Center, Terminal, was guest speaker at Thursday's meeting of the College Heights Parent-Teacher Association.

He said the education act (Title III) has money to improve education. With this money, Texas set up 20 regions. Big Spring is in Region 18, which is a larger area than the state of Indiana and has the Midland office and one in Alpine. The region has five compartments, or branches, which are (1) Administration, (2) Educational Technology: They have 1,500 current films for loan as well as learning, science and reading kits and equipment repair service; (3) Curriculum and Staff Development which works mainly with teachers. They have bi-lingual education, kindergarten or early childhood education; (4) Pupil Appraisal and Special Education which tests children, and offers remedial program; (5) Occupational, Technical and Continuing Education which is Dr. Elbert's department. They have pilot programs to help Mexican-Americans learn by video-tape. Also, they evaluate, guide and secure jobs for the handicapped.

Mrs. J. E. Swindell, president, announced the next meeting will be an open house on March 5. The school will be open to parents from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and coffee and doughnuts will be served. He reminded the group that all traffic in both lanes must stop and remain stopped as long as a child is in the crosswalk. He has been observing traffic and noted that some motorists are stopping only when the child is in their lane. If the situation does not improve, Patrolman Kissinger said citations will be issued. He concluded by saying the police department is interested in the PTA's aim of having adequate laws for the protection of children and youth.

A LOVELIER YOU

Learn Good Nutrition To Diet Healthfully

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely writes: I am on a reducing diet for the first time in my life, with a list of prescribed foods. What puzzles me is why unsaturated oils are recommended. They effect no saving in calories over other oils. Their use in the treatment of specific physical ailments does not apply to me. I seem to have a lot to learn.

The Answer: Hooray for you. The more we women learn about food, the easier it is to get slim and stay slim, to keep our families and ourselves healthy. Ignorance about nutrition leads quite as much to malnutrition as lack of food.

In the matter of unsaturated oils — they are not low calorie. All fats contain around 100 calories per tablespoon, which is more by far than the measure of any other nutrient in its raw state. Plainly, the high count of fat is what makes it fattening.

For the production of energy, everyone needs some fat. But most of us need much less than we consume. There's fat in almost everything we eat — the leanest beef. Unsaturated oils are unhydrogenated vegetable oils. They are favored because they contain a fatty acid, to good skin and hair. Doubly linoleic acid, which is essential so for a reducer on low rations!

The most readily obtained oils in the unsaturated state are corn, olive, safflower, soybean and peanut. Margarines are the familiar solid forms. One tablespoon per day in cooking or in salad dressing is sufficient. Indeed, the limit!

CALORIE COUNTER

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our booklet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan — a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Garden Club Told Of Propagation

The Four O'Clock Garden Club met last week in the home of Mrs. Don Campbell 2790 Larry who announced that a program will be given by Mrs C. S. Duran of Houston today at the Women's Club in Midland. A flower show school is slated Feb. 25-27 in Midland.

Mrs. Jesse Crane Jr. spoke on propagation, telling of a visit to a North Carolina seed company. She described propagation by seed and pollenization of plants to develop high-bred varieties. She showed new varieties offered for the first time this year, including orange petunia and white ageratum.

The next meeting will be March 11 in the home of Mrs. John Edgar.

Cover With Bowl

When you are storing a cake that has a whipped-cream frosting in the refrigerator, invert a bowl over the cake.

Jaycee-Ette Installation Scheduled In March

The Jaycee-Ette installation banquet will be held March 24 at Cosden Blue Room according to plans made Thursday at First Federal Community Room with Mrs. Max Moore presiding. The nominating committee reported, and the election will be held March 12, in the Community Room.

Mrs. Ben Faulkner and Mrs. Moore told of the Outstanding Young Farmer meeting which they attended in Lubbock, and Mrs. Bob Taylor was named kitchen chairman for the Rattlesnake Roundup, March 20-22. Mrs. Ted Ferrell and Mrs. Taylor will serve refreshments Feb. 23 at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mrs. Ferrell and Mrs. Charles Butts were hostesses, and guests were Mrs. A. J. Pirkle and Mrs. Taylor, the latter becoming a member of the group.

Storing Ginger

To store fresh ginger root, scrape the skin off each piece. Place in a wide-mouth jar and add enough dry sherry to cover. Keep in the refrigerator where it will last almost indefinitely.

Approximately 4,000 out of an expected 25,000 licenses plates have been sold during the two weeks since the car tags were placed on sale, Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, tax collector, said this morning.

Last week approximately 1,600 plates were sold for receipts totaling $28,338.28, Mrs. LeFevre said.

License plates are on sale in Mrs. LeFevre's office in the courthouse, the Webb AFB Credit Union, Forsan City Hall and Newsom's. Vehicles must have new license plates by midnight April 1.

Missing Trucks Are Located

Two dump trucks reported missing this morning from Janes Construction Co., Moss Lake Road, were found less than a mile from the gravel pit from which they were missing.

Deputy Sheriff M. L. Kirby said the trucks apparently were taken by youngsters who just drove the trucks around for a while Sunday afternoon before abandoning them.

He said the only damage was to a fence which the trucks were driven through and to a window which had been broken with a rock. The keys had been left in the trucks.

Lubbock Man Held For Car Theft

Local police arrested a Lubbock man early Sunday morning who was allegedly driving a stolen car belonging to Jim J. Hanks, 1929 Avenue M, Lubbock.

Officer Joe Kropp stopped the man after being alerted by Lamesa police that he had failed to pay for gasoline at a service station in that city. A routine registration check revealed that the car belonged to Hanks and was reportedly taken from his driveway the same night.

Cases on which action is pending are Alfred Parr vs. Edgar L. Meeks et al; Merlin Clemons vs. Leroy Hollingshead; James LaBrew et ux vs. George Russell et al; and Bob Smith et ux vs. J. J. Willis Trucking Co., Inc. and Billy D. Baker. All are damage suits resulting from traffic accidents.

Yeggs Enter, Take Little

The incompetent burglars who have plagued the city's warehouse district for the past two weeks apparently added a ninth victim to their list last weekend as a patrolman noticed around 10 p.m. Sunday that the Republic Supply Co., 200 Lancaster, had been forcibly entered.

As in most of the other breakins, the would-be thieves came away empty handed after ransacking the firm's offices and going through the goods stored there. Officers said the warehouse was entered by pulling away some tin siding on the south corner of the building and the offices by forcing a door.

Sam Dennis, manager, was called to the scene shortly after the burglary was discovered and could find nothing missing at the time, but said he would have to take a full inventory before determining positively if anything was stolen.

Police are still investigating four similar incidents reported Feb. 3, and five burglaries reported last Friday morning.

Masked Men Seize Gems

DALLAS (AP) — Police in suburban University Park were investigating today the robbery of a jewelry salesman in which the men made off with $50,000 in jewelry from the man's home.

Police said M. E. Van Hemert and his wife were bound by four masked men who invaded the couple's home around 8 p.m. Sunday and left with four suitcases filled with precious stones.

Police said the robbers crashed through the front door and made off "in less than five minutes. It must have been fast and furious."

Police said the robbers' tactics were similar to those of a gang of masked men who stole $100,000 in gems in several residential robberies about a year ago.

One Man Dead, Two In Hospital

BROWNFIELD, Tex. (AP) — A Sunday shooting incident left one man dead and two men in a Lubbock hospital.

Police identified the dead man as Amando A. Garcia, shot once in the neck with a .22 caliber pistol.

In serious condition today is George Cisneros. Ernesto Garcia was listed in fair condition.

Police said two men are being held for questioning.

Rae Bourbon Trial Gets Under Way

Testimony was scheduled to begin this afternoon in Brownwood in the trial of Rae Bourbon, 77, charged as an accessory in the December, 1968, murder of A. D. Blount, Big Spring petshop owner.

Attorneys were questioning about 35 prospective jurors shortly before noon, but none had been chosen.

Wayne Burns, 118th district attorney, is in Brownwood to prosecute the case in 35th District Court with Judge Joe Dibrell presiding. William W. Bell, a Brownwood attorney, was appointed by Judge Dibrell to represent Bourbon.

Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard and Deputy Eddie Owen are in Brownwood today, scheduled to be among the first witnesses called. Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter was also to testify this afternoon.

Mrs. Evelyn Myrick, 35th district clerk, said 120 persons were called for the jury panel, and 37 qualified. She said a jury would probably be chosen soon after noon today.

Blount was shot and killed Dec. 9, 1968, in the hallway of his living quarters at the rear of the Pet-A-Zoo south of Big Spring on US 87.

A Howard County 118th District Court jury convicted Bobby Eugene Chrisco, 23, last September of murder with malice and sentenced him to life in prison. Bourbon and Bobbie Randall Crain, 23, were granted changes of venue. Crain, also charged with murder with malice, is awaiting trial in Ector County.

Bourbon is accused of hiring Crain and Chrisco to kill Blount. The three men charged in the killing are all from Kansas City.

The shooting apparently grew out of an unpaid board bill for about 70 dogs, five cats and two skunks, which Bourbon left with Blount. Blount was planning to take action on the unpaid bill.

In Chrisco's trial last September, Mrs. Ruth Apple, manager of the Big Spring Retail Merchants Association, testified Bourbon called her to complain and said Bourbon told her he was going to kill Blount.

A key piece of evidence in the Chrisco trial was a .45-caliber pistol found on the Garden City Highway south of the Pet-A-Zoo the morning after Blount's death. A Kansas City night club entertainer testified he had sold the pistol to Bourbon. Medical evidence showed Blount was shot with a .45.

Woman Caught

A 19-year-old woman was arrested Saturday afternoon in Cook's Discount Department Store, 2600 Gregg, after a security guard at the store told police she saw the woman leave the store with a dress valued at $7.88 which she had not paid for.

Commissioners Set Poll Opening Time At 8 A.M.

County commissioners this morning decided polls will open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. in all county elections this year.

The terms of eight county officials expire this year. Elections are scheduled for November with primaries in May and June.

Commissioners also received a letter from Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard this morning suggesting adjustments to the requirements made for sheriff's departmental cars. Sheriff Standard is in Brownwood today for the opening of the trial of Rae Bourbon, charged as an accessory in the December, 1968, murder of A. D. Blount, local petshop owner.

Commissioners have advertised for bids for a car with a 119-inch wheel base and 350 cubic inch motor. Bids are due Feb. 23.

"I just really don't see how we can make the adjustments with the bids due in next week," County Judge Lee Porter said.

In his letter Standard said that the automobile being replaced by the new car had a 124-inch wheel base, 350 horsepower, 425 cubic inch motor, power brakes and steering, air conditioner and radio.

"The longer wheel base has proven to be far safer on long trips, and the larger motor has proven able to withstand long, hard road work," Standard said in the letter.

"It is my recommendation . . . that the replacement of this unit should be a unit of the same wheel base (124 inches) and larger motor (300-350 horsepower)," he said.

Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor, told commissioners the county had received a $700 refund from a hospital in Brownwood where Rae Bourbon had been treated. Bourbon was transferred to Brownwood in November after being granted a change of venue here by 118th District Judge R. W. Caton. Bourbon was hospitalized there and Howard County billed for the medical services, which prompted Bourbon's return to Howard County until a few weeks ago when he was again transferred to Brownwood.

Commissioners had suggested Mrs. Black check with medicare authorities about the Brownwood bill. She said the refund is from medicare payments.

Balance Of Payments In '69 Worst Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States reported today a deficit of $6.99 billion in its balance of payments for 1969, the worst year on record.

Department of Commerce figures showed, however, a surplus of $1.1 billion, seasonally adjusted, for the fourth quarter of 1969.

The 1969 deficit, meaning that much more money flowed out of the country than came in, represents a $7.2 billion deterioration from 1968, which showed a surplus of $168 million.

All figures are adjusted for predictable seasonal changes and are for the liquidity balance, which takes account of changes in all U.S. transactions overseas.

The official balance, which covers only transactions with other governments and central banks, showed a $1.3 billion surplus in the last quarter of 1969 and a surplus of $2.78 billion for the year, a $1.1 billion improvement over 1968.

The Office of Business Economics in the Commerce Department said that "a number of unusual factors influenced our external position in 1969."

It said a reversal of special financial transactions accounted for $3.2 billion of the deterioration in the liquidity balance.

The office said also that flows of U.S. funds to the high yielding Eurodollar market and then back to the United States through the foreign branches of U.S. banks contributed to enlarging the 1969 liquidity deficit "although such flows do not essentially weaken our liquidity position."

The improvement is the official balance, it said, "primarily reflects the extreme tightness of U.S. monetary policy."

Tax Depletion Allowable Cut Spurs Oil Slowdown

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. Dewey Bartlett of Oklahoma said today that "there already has been a slowdown" in oil operations because of the reduction in the oil tax depletion allowable.

He made the statement as the Interstate Oil Compact Commission executive committee met in Dallas for a one-day session.

Barlett is chairman of the commission and is himself an oil man.

Bartlett said in advance of the meeting that the tax depletion reduction "has begun to show results quicker than first thought. Already many oil companies' budgets have begun to show this."

He charged that politicians from non-oil states feel that it is good to support the "only good tax there is—the one on somebody else."

The Oklahoma governor said the tax attacks on the oil industry and moves to remove import restrictions "is politically advantageous when it comes at the expense of another state or industry."

"This is the first time that I know of that politicians are using a protective tariff to lower the price of the product of one of the nation's major industries," Bartlett said.

Ridicule Of Public Figures Backlash?

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Liz Carpenter told Texas publishers Sunday night that the United States is undergoing "a backlash against the ridicule of public figures."

Mrs. Carpenter, White House staff director and press secretary to Lady Bird Johnson during the LBJ administration, addressed the Texas Daily Newspaper Association.

"The time has come to re-evaluate our outmoded definitions of news," she said.

"Is news indeed only the failure, the conflict? Or is it really what is happening, good and bad? Isn't it what 200 million people are seeking and achieving? Or is it what 400 people yell and scream about?"

Mrs. Carpenter said the success of her book, "Ruffles and Flourishes," about her White House experiences, demonstrates "I am the recipient of a blacklash of public resentment against the ridicule of public figures." The book just made the New York Times list of the 10-non-fiction best sellers.

"We all heard Vice President Agnew's statement (critical of news media) loud and clear. I was disappointed that most of the people in our trade—most of the press organizations — answered only with instant tantrums."

She addressed the first gathering of 195 publishers and representatives of press related industries here for a three-day convention. The banquet honored Joe M. Dealey of the Dallas Morning News, immediate past TDNA president.

"I've been on 128 TV shows from New York to Los Angeles in the past three weeks," she said, "and let me tell you, there is a big difference between many of the men with the microphones and the public who call in with questions and comment.

"In a San Francisco TV station, the commentator introduced me almost as if he were presenting a freak in a circus: 'And now, we give you someone who liked Lyndon Jonson.'

"My blood boiled until the public started calling in on a talkathon. And then my faith was restored. A woman in Eugene, Ore., called and simply said, 'I liked that man (Johnson).'"

She said when she was in a bus on a trip through Wall Street promoting her book, people in the noon hour pedestrian crowd banged on the window of what she calls her "Lizmobile" to say things like: "Tell the President and Lady Bird we like them and miss them."

"The vision I have of this country is different from the vision which seems to prevail today. Our public officials, including our presidents, have been, I believe for all their shortcomings, earnest, devoted, diligent, and determined to do their best for their fellow citizens.

"Perhaps, they deserve more of our compassion and respect—even our support. Perhaps we ourselves deserve a respite from our own pessimism, our own self-debasement, our own bad temper."

Smut Sellers Running Scared, Inspector Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Smut sellers are running scared following convictions of prominent pornography dealers, the Post Office's chief inspector says.

Faced with convictions, some of the best-known pornography dealers have given up their mailing lists and are going out of business, William J. Cotter said in an interview.

In some cities, he said, "adult" bookstores heard about a Supreme Court action upholding eight obscenity convictions and closed their doors before police arrived.

Cotter, a former FBI agent before becoming chief inspector, said there were 234,000 complaints last year about unsolicited pornographic mailings.

Nearly all the mail could be traced to about 20 operators, Cotter said, and most of these are now under indictment.

Cotter said questions remain whether any definition of "obscenity" for literature can pass court scrutiny or whether the book has a redeeming social message. But he said there's little question about the lack of redeeming qualities of the sexually explicit photographs which dominate many smut mailings.

Cotter cited three factors as significant in the fight against pornography peddlers:

—Supreme Court decisions refusing to disturb the conviction of eight Boston book dealers for selling pornography and voiding a federal court order allowing the movie "I Am Curious (Yellow)" to be shown in Boston despite a state court ban.

—Two federal convictions of dealers for sending obscene matter through the mails.

—Indictments of 17 persons on charges of sending offensive grand juries of similar cases involving five more dealers.

He said California's statewide crackdown is helping dry up a principal source of the objectionable mail. Los Angeles police alone have made 80 arrests, he said.

Cotter also suggested another law might help his division.

That would allow the Post Office to computerize a master list of individuals who object to receiving sexual advertising.

Any large advertiser dealing in such material would have to pay the Post Office to look at the list. Under penalty of prosecution, they could not use names appearing on the master list.

Four Missing At Rayburn Lake

BEAUMONT (AP) — The search for four men, two of them missing since Wednesday went on today in the Caney Creek area of Sam Rayburn Lake.

Missing are Carl McQuien, 30, and Mike Porter, 25, both of Tyler; and Wayne Townsend, 25, and Gary Brashear, 22, both of Beaumont.

Angelina County sheriff's deputies said McQuien and Porter disappeared while in a fishing tournament at the lake.

Townsend and Brashear disappeared at the lake Sunday.

School Busing Orders Pose Woes For Smith

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith told about 150 Tyler and Longview parents Sunday that there is little he can do to fight federal school busing orders.

"This seems to be a problem that could best be taken up by you with your representatives at the federal level," Smith told the group.

"My feeling on forcible busing is the same as yours but I really don't know what my role is in trying to prevent it."

The parents came to Dallas to speak with Smith about a federal court order giving Longview schools until Sept. 1 totally to integrate their school system. Tyler schools also have been ordered to integrate its school facilities.

Bob Brown, a spokesman for the Tyler Citizens Committee for Free Choice, said the order would mean forced busing of students.

About 450 of Tyler's 3,800 Negro students presently attend school with whites.

Smith said he has consulted the state attorney general's office to learn what, if anything, can be done on a state level to oppose federal intervention. He said he has received no reply.

"I have had nothing, absolutely nothing, to do with this situation," Smith said.

He told the parents he would write to other governors and senators, airing his opposition to forced busing "if you think that would help."

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has ordered the Tyler School Board to come up with a plan for compliance with federal guidelines for total integration.

The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the Longview School Board six weeks ago to prepare an integration plan by Sept. 1.

TO CALIFORNIA FOR TRIAL IN DEATH OF ACTRESS SHARON TATE

Accused Slayer Watson Fights Extradition

McKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Charles Watson's battle against extradition goes back into court today with the defense contending the young Texan cannot get a fair trial anywhere in California.

Watson, 24, in his 11th week of confinement in the Collin County jail here, is charged with several members of the unkempt, nomadic "family" in the slaying last summer of actress Sharon Tate and others.

PRINTS MATCH

Today's session was a continuance of a writ of habeas corpus hearing last Jan. 16, when defense lawyer Bill Boyd of McKinney argued he needed more time to gather evidence in the case.

Boyd has sought to invalidate a warrant signed last month by Texas Gov. Preston Smith ordering Watson's extradition to California.

California and Texas authorities specified at the January hearing that Watson's fingerprints matched a print found on the front door of the plush Tate home where the knife and pistol slayings occurred.

In filing the motion for continuance, Boyd argued among other things that "because of the extensive pre-trial publicity, Charles Watson has been tried and convicted in the press."

'STALL TACTICS'

He contended also that "there exists an atmosphere in all of the State of California at this time which would make it impossible" for Watson to receive a fair trial.

Subsequently, Boyd said he hoped only to win a change of venue from California and that he is not interested in delaying his client's standing trial.

Dist. Atty. Tom Ryan contended that the fair trial issue was "not one for this court to determine" and charged that Boyd was employing "stall tactics."

"He'd like to keep his boy here until the others go to trial in California," Ryan said on the eve of today's hearing. "He'd like to find out what kind of case the State of California has against his boy."

Watson, who grew up in nearby Copeville, was described Sunday by Sheriff Tom Montgomery as a "model prisoner," cleanshaven and with hair neatly trimmed.

"He's the best prisoner I ever saw," Montgomery said. "He never asks for nothing. There never was a nicer boy than he's been.

"I've known this boy all his life, except for maybe five or six years, when he was away and I didn't know what he was doing.

"He's a nice looking feller. He's not got that beard. He stays slick shaven and he's had a haircut since he's been here. I can't figure why he went out there and got that long hair."

DEFENSE ATTORNEYS CONFERENCE — William M. Kunstler, left, and Leonard I. Weinglass, attorneys for seven men charged with conspiring to incite rioting during the 1968 Democratic National Convention, discuss matters Sunday at a Chicago news conference. Both men have been sentenced to prison for contempt of court.

Fate Of Chicago 7 Pondered By Jury

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal jury goes into a third day of deliberations today on the fate of seven men charged with riot conspiracy but the defendants are already in jail and one of their lawyers has been sentenced to four years in prison for contempt.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court finished fixing sentences on the defendants for contempt Sunday, then turned to lawyers William M. Kunstler, and Leonard I. Weinglass.

LEGAL DUTIES

Kunstler, 50, of New York City was sentenced to 48 months and 13 days on 24 counts of contempt. Weinglass, 36, of Newark, N.J., was sentenced to 20 months and 5 days in prison on 14 counts.

The judge characterized as "reprehensible conduct," the actions of the lawyers for the seven men charged with conspiracy to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

He stayed execution of the lawyers' sentences to May 4 to allow them to perform legal duties for their clients, being held in the federal tier of Cook County Jail during the jury deliberations.

If convicted of conspiracy, each man faces a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine. The judge denied motions to free the seven on bond pending appeal of the contempt charges.

Weinglass told newsmen Sunday night that he was optimistic because the jury had not reached a quick verdict.

"I was very pessimistic at the beginning of the trial but I think now that the jury has been out some time there is a reasonable likelihood of an acquittal or a hung jury," he said.

The jury was locked up shortly after noon Saturday and the judge promptly began his contempt citations.

He sent four defendants to jail Saturday and sentenced the remaining three Sunday. Defendants' sentences ranged from 29 months and 16 days for David T. Dellinger, 54, down to 2 months and 18 days for Lee Weiner, 31. Dellinger was cited on 32 counts and Weiner on 7 counts.

Weiner's mother, Mrs. Ruth Weiner, was reported in fair condition today at a hospital where she was admitted Sunday after taking an overdose of drugs. She and Weiner's father were in the courtroom when their son was ordered to jail.

Jerry C. Rubin, 31, was sentenced to 25 months and 23 days on 15 counts; John R. Froines, 31, received 6 months and 15 days on 10 counts; Thomas E. Hayden, 30, sentenced to 11 months and 14 days on 11 counts; Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29 received 25 months and 5 days on 23 counts and Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, 31, was sentenced to 8 months on 23 counts.

Penalties for each count ranged from one day for such offenses as failing to rise when the judge entered the court, or Abbie Hoffman's blowing a kiss to the jury, to six months for direct violations of the judge's orders.

TO APPEAL

A legal team of seven lawyers announced Sunday it was preparing briefs to appeal the contempt sentences. The American Civil Liberties Union criticized the judge's action and said it would play a "very substantial role" in expected appeals.

An ACLU statement issued in New York said, in part, "We find particularly reprehensible the practice of accumulating numerous short sentences imposed after trial and long after the alleged acts of contempt have occurred, as a means of denying a jury trial and other guaranteed rights normally provided in criminal procedures."

A coalition of antiwar groups planned a march in New York late today to protest the contempt sentences. Supporters of the defendants demonstrated Sunday outside the Federal Building in Chicago.

The judge took 10 hours Saturday and Sunday to read the specifications of contempt against the nine men.

SMART FELLOW

To Hayden, who criticized the American system, the judge said, "A smart fellow like you could do all right with the system."

He told Weinglass, "An able lawyer like yourself must learn to respect the court. I don't mean bowing and scraping to the judge. I mean respect."

Weinglass said he welcomed the jail term which will enable me to rejoin the defendants and Bill Kunstler in what has been for me the warmest and richest association of my life."

Kunstler embraced and kissed Weinglass at that point.

Rubin, who often called the judge, "A Hitler . . . a tyrant," ended his presentencing remarks by saying, "This is the closese thing I've experienced to Nazi Germany."

His wife, Nancy, sobbed as Rubin was led out of the courtroom. The defendant shouted at the judge over his shoulder, "Sadist! Sadist!"

The judge took Kunstler to task severely before sentencing him.

"I have never heard a lawyer say to a judge the things you said to me during this trial. . . I am one of those who believe that the increase of crime in this country is due in a large part to lawyers waiting in the wings willing to go beyond professional duty in the defense of a client."

Heaviest Air Raids Flown In South Asia

SAIGON (AP) — More than 400 American fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnamese troops, trucks and supply lines in eastern Laos Sunday in some of the heaviest air raids ever flown in Southeast Asia.

One propeller-driven A1E Skyraider was shot down over the Plain of Jars and the American pilot was presumed killed, sources in Vientiane said.

Sources in Saigon said the raids were a two-pronged aerial offensive against North Vietnamese forces. Some were in support of Laotian government forces on the Plain of Jars, which is under North Vietnamese attack. Other raids were against the Ho Chi Minh trail farther east to slow the movement of North Vietnamese troops and supplies into South Vietnam.

The sources said the planes came from two 7th Fleet carriers in the Tonkin Gulf and half a dozen bases in Thailand and South Vietnam. Most were F4 Phantom and F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers, which carry 10,000 to 15,000 pounds of bombs.

The Strategic Air Command's B52 bombers, which carry four to six times that bomb load, also pounded North Vietnamese supply depots in eastern Laos. Several B52 missions were reported along the border.

Across the border in South Vietnam, allied forces battered a mixed North Vietnamese and Viet Cong battalion in sand dunes and rice paddies south of Da Nang, killing 182 of the enemy soldiers and capturing 16, military spokesmen claimed today. Field reports put government losses at 12 killed and 31 wounded.

Spokesmen said a total of 280 enemy soldiers had been killed and 40 captured during the five-day operation. Thirty-one South Vietnamese were reported killed and 82 wounded.

"It was really hairy for a few minutes," said Sgt. Harry B. Moats, 19, of Decatur, Ala., an adviser to the South Vietnamese 1st Armored Brigade. "We were about 20 feet apart and throwing hand grenades at each other.

"While all this was going on, the armored personnel carriers blasted them with .50-caliber fire every time they came out of their spider holes. The rest of the day we just chased them across the sand dunes into the rice paddies and trapped them in the treelines."

The enemy dead included the battalion commander, his executive officer, a company commander and an assistant company commander. Among the prisoners were a second company commander and a political officer. Nearly 50 weapons were seized.

"We are certain we destroyed that battalion," said Col. Than Hoa Hiep, commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Armored Brigade.

Hiep said the sapper-commando battalion had planned to attack Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, either before or during the Vietnamese lunar new year Feb. 6. He said the battalion instead pulled back because it was understrength.

Hiep said the battalion apparently was awaiting replacements when the 2,000-man South Vietnamese task force trapped it along the Ly Ly River. Sunday's battle was the biggest in the region this year.

Red Cross Spent Over $120 Million In '68-69

WASHINGTON — The American Red Cross spent $120,077,865 in the fiscal year 1968-69 to provide its health and welfare services for the American people, according to its annual report, which has just been released.

The largest item of expenditure was $51,747,603 for its worldwide services to members of the U.S. armed forces, veterans, and their families — greatest for this purpose since World War II. An increase of more than $3.3 million over the costs for the same activities in 1967-68 resulted from the continuing expansion of U.S. military strength in Vietnam during much of 1968-69.

Accomplishments of the organization in 1968-69 included the following:

BLOOD COLLECTED

More than 3,000,000 units of blood, an all-time high, were collected for civilian use, and a rare blood registry was established to record donors with blood types or combination of types occurring less than one in every 200 people.

Nearly 4,000,000 certificates — also an all-time high — were issued for completion of courses in first aid, water safety, and small craft safety. Another 8,676,000 persons received some informal training in these safety fields.

Nine disaster relief specialists and two consultants on blood collection were assigned to Nigeria-Biafra because of civil war there, and $393,000 material aid was sent to the west African country.

More than $1,158,000 worth of material aid was provided by and through the American Red Cross for civilian relief in South Vietnam.

DISASTER RELIEF

In 521 disaster relief operations affecting five or more families, 264,600 persons were given food, shelter, clothing and medical and nursing care, and 12,100 families received financial help in returning to normal living. This does not include Hurricane Camille relief efforts which began in August, 1969, and are expected to cost Red Cross almost $20 million.

Red Cross services to people in the inner city and other poverty areas were expanded, with health and safety training made more available to the disadvantaged. New volunteers who live in these areas were trained to help provide Red Cross services to their neighbors.

High school and college student volunteers were given greater opportunities to take part in planning chapter programs and to have a greater voice in policies.

MANY VOLUNTEERS

In presenting the report to Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, E. Roland Harriman, ARC chairman, and General James F. Collins, president, said that "individualized service continued to be the common denominator of our work with men and women of the armed forces and their families and with veterans and their families."

More than 65,500 volunteers "gave countless hours of service at military installations here and abroad . . . Local chapters and the national organization provided a network of service extending around the world to bring help to military personnel and their families through counseling in family problems, communication services, emergency financial assistance, training in safety, health, and recreation programs."

The Red Cross gave assistance to an average of 121,000 military personnel each month at military stations and medical facilities. In U.S. communities, Red Cross chapters gave a total of 2,815,200 services to military families and 469,000 to veterans and their families.

Four Airmen Hurt In Crash

MANILA (AP) — A U.S. Air Force helicopter crashed today as it was taking off from Clark Air Base to stand by a C130 transport in trouble.

The helicopter's four crewmen were injured, but the transport landed safely.

The Air Force said the injured airmen were Maj. Charles P. Nadler, Brooklyn, N.Y., the pilot; Sgt. Longino Franco, 23, Laredo, Tex.; Sgt. Randall Ross, 24, Bald Knob, Ark.; and Sgt. John A. Elli, 23, South Bend, Ind.

All were reported in fair condition at the base hospital 45 miles north of Manila.

Places Sixth

Richie Tubb, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tubb, Garden City Route, Saturday placed sixth with a lightweight Hereford steer in the San Antonio Livestock Exposition.

VOW TO HOLD IT FOR USE AS COMMUNITY CENTER

Latins Break Into Church

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A small group of Mexican-American Youth Organization (MAYO) members broke into a vacant Houston church Sunday and vowed to hold it for use as a community center.

Members of the group said they would use the church to start a free breakfast program for neighborhood children, preschool bi-lingual education, job training and community meeting rooms.

Mrs. Yolanda Garza Birdwell, a MAYO leader, said the group broke a window in the church and moved in Sunday after talking vainly with leaders of the Brazos Presbytery for months about using it.

Church leaders adopted a wait and see attitude about the interlopers.

The building, Mrs. Birdwell said had been vacant since last June when the mostly-anglo Christ Presbyterian Church congregation decided to disband because of dwindling membership.

The northeast Houston neighborhood, once a white middle-class area, is now populated chiefly by Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

The Rev. Robert Frere, spokesman for the Brazos Presbytery, said the presbytery had voted last Tuesday to give the church buildings to the Juan Marcos Presbyterian Church.

He said any decision about ousting the MAYO members would have to be made by leaders of the Juan Marcos congregation, which is composed of Mexican-Americans.

Sunday night, the Rev. R. M. Armendarez, pastor of the Juan Marcos congregation, said no decision had been made.

"Before we take any further steps, we have to meet with officers of the presbytery," he said. He said the meeting would probably be held today or Tuesday.

The 200-member congregation now meets in an old building outside the community, he said.

Officers of the congregation met with MAYO members Saturday, the Rev. Mr. Armendarez said, and decided then not to let the youth organization use the church.

dry up, lady!

Think about it. Your biggest complaint about washday is probably the clothesline routine. With a family, it gets to be a hang up. You can spend a big part of your life hanging out T-shirts, mini-skirts and Hubby's socks. And sheets, and jackets, sweaters, bedspreads . . . even curtains. Not to mention the unmentionables.

PIONEER NATURAL GAS COMPANY

You don't like lifting, lugging and wrestling loads of heavy, wet wash to the backyard. Then there's always the weather. Now's the time to do something about this bundle of problems with a GAS clothes dryer. A gas dryer does five loads of clothes for the price of one load in an electric dryer. So, dry up with gas.

Many Ways To Skin A Cat

The old saw that there are more ways than one to skin a cat illuminates an important aspect of the problem of automotive air pollution. It is becoming more evident all along that there are various possible approaches to this problem.

The greatest attention has been focused on alternatives to the conventional gasoline engine. People talk of electric cars, of steam cars. Small-scale conversion of automobiles to natural gas is getting started.

Then there are devices designed to curb the emission of noxious exhaust gases. These constitute the industry's major contribution thus far to solution of this problem. Recently something new has been publicized. One oil company already is marketing gasoline with an additive said to lessen the poisonous fumes. Another says it will produce a lead-free — and consequently much less pollutive — gasoline if the auto industry will design an engine to use it. This may be, as an executive of the oil firm optimistically says, "a most promising route to the development of an essentially pollution-free automobile."

The point here made is that automotive air pollution can be attacked in a number of different ways. It would be in the broad public interest for the federal government to encourage trying all those ways that show promise.

Good, Ample Help Needed

Applications are now being received by Dr. Akin Simpson for enumerators for the 1970 decennial census. We hope that there is a sufficient number who apply to fill the two score places with able workers.

It is to the advantage of all for us to have as complete a count for the county as is humanly possible. Many decisions are based upon the census, and thus it is important to see that none is overlooked.

As time goes on, we will have more to say about how everyone can help insure a complete count, but for now, if you can help as an enumerator, please submit your application to Dr. Simpson.

Contempt In The Courtroom

WASHINGTON — There is something to be said for the argument that a pinch of nobility lurks in every revolution, if only because revolutions protest the status quo and to this date no status quo anywhere at any time has achieved Utopian perfection.

But the jury should stay out a long time on certain judicial proceedings involving black militant "revolutionaries" and white protesters against the Vietnam War.

LET THE RECORD show that reference is made to three specific pieces of litigation, to wit: The trials of 13 New York Black Panthers on bombing conspiracy charges, the Chicago Seven on riot conspiracy charges, and the D.C. Nine on a charge of destroying property of the Dow Chemical Co. in a raid on the company's Washington office last March.

In all three cases, the defendants and their supporters have managed to disrupt the judicial process, to put it mildly, by fist fights, pushing and shoving melees and the bellowing of insults, some of them obscene. To be sure, all these defendants have declared war on the System, and so we perhaps should expect them to show contempt for it in the courtroom. But since it is the only System we have, it might be thought that the System has a right to protect itself.

NOT, IT SHOULD be added, because it IS the System, but because by protecting its orderly process in a courtroom it protects the right of the defendant to get a fair trial. Basically, that is the reason courtroom procedures were drawn up in the first place — in order to provide for the holding of trials, not circuses.

There is something paradoxically self-destructive about the antics of the D.C. Nine, including four Catholic priests, a nun, a former nun and two Jesuit seminarians. They maintain that they are opposed to violence — all varieties of violence. Well, fine. That sounds like what lawyers call "common ground."

YET THE MANNER of their defense produced one of the biggest roughhouses ever seen in a Washington courtroom. Fists were swung, cops were assaulted and denounced as "pigs," and the only lay defendant, Michael Slaski, hurdled several rows of seats to plunge into the fracas. The cause of this disruption was the judge's ruling that the Vietnam War was not an issue in the trial, after Sister Joann Malone began to tell the jury about Dow's manufacture of weapons used in Vietnam.

IT WAS THE only possible ruling. All nine defendants have admitted that they broke into Dow's office, smashed windows, scattered papers and overturned furniture. Despite the fact Dow makes weapons of war, neither Dow nor the Vietnam War was on trial.

OF COURSE, the defense was trying to make a point. They insisted that only by representing themselves could they prevail on the jury to accept their defense — that their act was justified by what they claim is Dow's "illegal" weapon-making and "economic imperialism." Perhaps unfortunately, Dow's manufacture of war weapons is not illegal, and "economic imperialism" — whatever that means — has not yet been made a crime.

Breaking and entering and destroying property, on the other hand, are crimes. They are also, in case the D.C. Nine has not given the matter sufficient thought, acts of violence.

Billy Graham

As a family, we wish to start a family altar, but we don't know where to begin. Have you any suggestions for us? My husband and I were converted in your meeting in Anaheim. We are anxious to have a Christian home.

E.Y.

Having family devotions is not an easy task, but it is a very rewarding one. First, there is the problem of time. The average family is so rushed, and they go in so many directions, that it is a chore to find time for devotions. We have found that mornings are best, and since all the children eat, we have devotions at the breakfast table after the morning meal.

Then there is the problem of the age difference of the children. We have found that the Bible is understood by all members of the family, regardless of age. The parent or parents conducting family devotions should select passages of Scripture that are brief, simple in language (which most of the Bible is), and appropriate. The main thing is sincerity. Some parents feel they don't know enough about the Bible to venture into a family program. But, if they are sincere, the children will respond appreciatively. Don't make the devotional period too long and drawn out. Children are restless. After the reading, you either pray or let all members of the family have a short prayer. The prayers can be their own, couched in their own words. Let them talk to God as they do a dear friend. If some do not feel qualified to pray individually, let the period close with the Lord's Prayer. Few things, in my estimation, are more valuable than family devotions, for real togetherness.

Discrimination Penalties Stiff

GABERONES, Botswana (AP) — Stiff penalties have been provided in this African state for racial discrimination following alleged insults to Botswana nationals on trains in their own country.

The trains, operated by Rhodesia Railways, pass through the country from Rhodesia to Botswana's other white-ruled neighbor, South Africa. A senior government spokesman said train officials are sometimes less helpful to African passengers or speak of them in derogatory terms despite warnings from the railroad management not to practice discrimination. He said train staff warn Botswana nationals to use the international coach on trains if they wish to avoid unpleasantness. Passengers of all races are allowed to stay on this car throughout the journey and do not have to switch to segregated coaches when the train crosses the border into apartheid-ruled South Africa.

An amendment to Botswana's penal code now provides fines of up to Rands 500 ($700) and imprisonment of up to six months for discrimination on grounds of race, color, nationality or creed.

Bigger Commissions Hit Small Investors

NEW YORK (AP) — It is hard to say with whom the blame rests, but the evidence cannot be ignored: The stock brokerage business is in a bad way financially, worse off than most people suspect.

In the first six months of 1969 four of every 10 members of the N.Y. Stock Exchange lost money on commission business. Thirteen firms lost more than $1 million each. And the cumulative loss totaled $58 million.

With evidence such as this, the NYSE now wishes to raise commissions on small orders, claiming that much of the red ink results from handling the 30-and 40-share orders of millions of ordinary Americans.

These are the orders, you'll remember, which were so earnestly sought 10 years ago in advertisements that even called upon one's patriotism: "Own a Share in America," and "Participate in People's Capitalism."

It is now the awesome job of the NYSE to convince the small investor that it is he, in part, who is responsible for the financial difficulties of these brokers, who just two years ago handed out huge Christmas bonuses.

On a 30-share order of a $40 stock, which is close to an average price on the Big Board, the new schedule calls for a commission of $26.20 instead of $17. The new fee would be 2.18 per cent of the order's value.

On a 100,000 share order for the same stock, worth $4 million, the commission would drop from $23,160 to $16,790, or only 0.42 per cent of the order's value, the reduction representing a volume discount.

But how is this going to help the small investor? The argument is that more and more companies have been ignoring him during the past year, even turning him down flat when he sought to do business, because his orders were profitless.

By raising the commissions, the NYSE argues, brokers will be encouraged to seek out small orders once more instead of limiting their solicitations to the mutual and pension funds, bank trust, endowments and life insurers.

Rocks In Her Basement

By JIM FARRELL
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)
Associated Press Writer

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Dorothy Hays has to get the rocks out of her basement—4030 of them.

She says she'll sell some, give some away, keep a few and start working with smaller rocks. She's reluctant to do it, but after all, how many 20-pound rocks can you keep in a house trailer?

Mrs. Hays, is one of the foremost amateur minerologists in the country.

Her neat, bright basement workroom houses the collection she has built up over nearly half a century. Its white showcases display the pyrites, jades and geodes about which Mrs. Hays speaks with knowledge acquired over the years.

She is 57, looks several years younger and is married to a successful businessman who is a ham radio bug.

Mr. and Mrs. Hays are soon to leave for Florida, retirement and a new mobile home. The move will mean that Mrs. Hays will have to scale down her hobby drastically. She won't have room for her collection as she does in her present spacious home.

"After work my husband goes to the ham equipment and I come down here to work on my minerals," she says. "We enjoy it very much."

But much more than enjoyment has come out of the hobby of the lady without a college degree.

Representatives of the Smithsonian Institution recently expressed interest in her collection.

And a rock-hunting trip to Canada a few years back gave Mrs. Hays a chance to do something that the geologists for a major mining company had tried and failed.

"We were just poking around an old dump (for "useless" rocks brought up from tunnel mines) and I found this," she said, pointing out gray rock speckled with what looked like —and was—gold. "I think the company is mining it commercially now."

But commercial aspects of her interest aren't what catches Mrs. Hays' fancy. "I started when I was 7 or 8 and I've always been more interested in the science aspect of it."

Waiting To Outgrow Asthma

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am concerned about my granddaughter, 11. She has had asthma since she was a small child. She has not been taken to a doctor for this, although the parents discussed it with the family doctor in his office. He told them she may outgrow this, but that was a number of years ago.

How long does it take to outgrow this condition? She is not getting any better. I would like your opinion.—V.J.

Saying that a child "may" outgrow asthma isn't much different from saying that she may not. When there is no improvement by age 11, I'd say it was very late in the game to rely on "waiting for her to outgrow it."

Asthma in a child almost invariably is the result of an allergy, or more likely a collection of allergies. Asthma from a food allergy is quite common, but there can be other types — dust or other particles that are breathed.

In addition to the allergy, emotional tensions well known to be a factor. It can be as obvious a thing as fear of another wheezing attack. If the child feels one coming on, the apprehension can bring the attack on faster and harder. But so can nervous tension from other causes.

Thus the management of childhood asthma is two-pronged. First, every effort should be made to find out what foods or other substances bring on attacks, and avoid them. Second, reasonable efforts should be made to avoid excessive nervous tension — for one thing, to reduce, if possible, the child's dread of further attacks.

It is better to start treating asthma when a child is quite young; at age 11 a lot of time has been wasted. But better then than never. Either a pediatrician or an allergist is suited to treat such cases.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was taking hormones and they controlled my hot flashes. I stopped taking them, but then read an article that said once you start taking hormones, they should not be stopped. I believe I need them for these hot flashes and perspiring so many times a day.—A.C.

There is no reason why a person cannot stop taking hormones, if the need for them is past. However, since your hot flashes have returned, I don't see why you don't resume the hormones. They should be taken in a cyclic fashion as 21 to 25 days of a month, omitting five to seven days. Often mild tranquilizers or a sedative also will control your symptoms.

More Dependency On Welfare

WASHINGTON — By whatever name it does not have the fragrance of a rose. The President's new welfare proposal is referred to as "Family Income Assistance," "Family Supplemental Income," and "Minimum Family Support." The description of how it is expected to work is wrapped in alluring rhetoric and tied with a bow of blue conservatism.

For the past two weeks the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Mr. Robert Finch, and his top assistants have been explaining the Administration's proposal to the Ways and Means Committee. Regardless of titles and semantics, the program is a guaranteed monthly payment for everyone below a defined annual income.

THE PLAN CENTERS around what is termed the working poor. It does not involve assistance to those unable to work — the aged, dependent children, the sick, blind and other handicapped people who can not do for themselves. Assistance to those in this category would continue directly.

Looking at the present system the first reaction is that nothing could be worse than the welfare mess. A second look might prove that these ideas now advanced could well be worse.

A CRITICISM of all welfare is that it cultivates an attitude of permanent dependency upon the welfare state. Ancient wisdom looked upon welfare payments as a means of helping poor people who are temporarily in need. Now welfare benefits are viewed as a way of life. The theory of the new proposal is that a minimum income would be guaranteed with public money starting at $1,600, graduating upward at the rate of $300 for each additional child. In the meantime, the working head of the household would be given the opportunity of training for a job and when earning an income above the poverty level of $3,400, welfare would be reduced accordingly. This is the incentive plan to work.

THE CATCH HERE is that the job offer must be acceptable to the wage earner in terms of the nature of the job and at the minimum wage or prevailing wage, whichever is greater. In other words, any offer of a job does not have to be accepted.

It is estimated that under this system, people on welfare would increase from 9.6 million at present to approximately 22 million. It is admitted that initially welfare costs would double but estimates are usually low. It is probable it would triple in the first year of operation.

THOSE OF US from small towns and cities across the country may not share the stunned attitude of New Yorkers who have just learned that they have almost a million and a half people on welfare in that glittering city and that $2 billion will be required in the coming year to support them. The fact is that it is a part of everyone's problem because it is everyone's tax money involved.

THERE IS STRONG support from the governors of the various states that the Federal Government take over the entire cost of welfare. Should this happen, a bill of at least $70 billion will be handed to Washington. In all the talk of welfare, job training, income maintenance — no one gives clear answers to the question of why is it that newspaper ads offering jobs are not answered. Some people had just rather not work for a living.

The Congressional Elections

WASHINGTON — During the present period, preceding the congressional elections to be held in November, there is a strange feeling of incertitude in both parties. The Democrats, while trying to reorganize and raise enough money to help their candidates for the Senate and House, are displaying evidence of some concern. The Republicans seem less worried about the outlook, but the fact is neither side is as yet sure of just what the issues will be.

IF PRESIDENT NIXON were running this year, conditions would be different. The criticisms by the Democrats could then be focused on certain public policies he has announced, while his supporters could "point with pride" to the fact that he has won a high popularity rating. But when it comes to individual candidates for Congress, there are few important issues thus far on which the average voter will be evaluating a candidate for either the Senate or the House.

THERE ARE several instances in the North where Republicans in Congress have deserted their party on crucial issues, yet will be seeking election on the Republican ticket. Will they be opposed in the primaries by Republicans holding a different view, and will the administration seek to have its opponents in Congress defeated? In recent years neither Republican nor Democratic administrations have intervened very much in local congressional contests.

IT HAS BEEN suggested that President Nixon will in general urge the country to elect a Republican Congress. But if he does so, he will be asking that certain Republicans be chosen who do not support the President on vital issues. If it were not for the help of many southern Democrats who reflect popular sentiment in their communities, Mr. Nixon would not be able to put through some major pieces of legislation. He cannot openly advocate the election of those Democrats.

PERHAPS THE point of greatest importance is that, if the Republicans obtain a majority in either or both houses, they will be able to appoint the chairmen of committees, thus displacing the men who have been presiding over these groups for years. Many of them have been cooperating with the administration. In theory, the President should have a majority in both houses and the chairmen of the committees should be of his own party so that the legislative machinery can operate smoothly. But in the last two decades there have been times when opposite parties have been in control of Congress and the presidency.

THE 1970 congressional elections may bring into office more Republicans and could even result in a Republican majority if times are good. But the Democrats are hoping to make an issue of the high cost of living. The Republicans, on the other hand, are bound to blame inflation on the eight years of Democratic rule in Congress and the White House.

Actually, when the votes are finally counted, it will be found that in many districts the deciding factors were local rather than national, along with the use of campaign funds furnished by the powerful lobbying organizations which control so many members of Congress today.

Congress Back In Session After A Five-Day Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress returned from a five-day holiday today to confront the politically explosive issue of public school desegregation—North and South.

The Senate votes begin Tuesday on Southern-sponsored amendments to a $35 billion education bill with some Northern senators on a political spot, and the White House position a study in ambiguity.

President Nixon is said by the White House to believe school desegregation should be applied equally throughout the nation.

That appeared to align the administration with the theory of an amendment proposed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., to require equal enforcement of federal regulations no matter what the reason for segregation in the schools.

While the White House endorsed the concept of equal school desegregation pressures, it did not publicly support specifically the Stennis amendment.

The amendment is designed to take in Northern schools where attendance reflects white or black housing patterns, as well as Southern schools which deliberately maintain racial separation.

One Northern liberal, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., has already endorsed the amendment.

Actually, the Senate will vote first on another Stennis amendment, this one upholding freedom of choice school attendance, and barring the busing of pupils for the sake of integration unless the elected school board approves.

That amendment appears to have little chance.

Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., chairman of the House Rules Committee, has asked Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch to appear before that panel Tuesday to discuss desegregation.

Colmer seeks a report on federal policies toward busing, freedom of choice plans, and other issues involved in the school desegregation situation.

The Finch testimony was requested in connection with the coming House vote on appropriations for his agency and the Department of Labor, as part of a bill to supplant the measure vetoed by President Nixon.

A new version of that bill was expected to clear the House Appropriations Committee today, with its spending level reduced by about $500 million.

Nixon vetoed the original $19.7 billion version as inflationary because it exceeded his budget for health and education spending. The House upheld the veto.

The new appropriation measure is due before the House Wednesday.

The Senate Judiciary Committee also scheduled a meeting today to resume its consideration of the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell.

If the committee approves confirmation as expected this week, the full Senate probably will begin debate early next month.

Leaders of both chambers are hoping to keep up the swift pace which has marked the session since it opened Jan. 19.

The Senate particularly has acted on a number of major bills, and promises of more of the same come from Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott.

The idea is to avoid the protracted slowdown which kept the legislators in Washington until Dec. 23 last year. Mansfield and Scott are among those particularly anxious to see a much earlier adjournment this year; each is running for re-election.

Officers Say $20,000 Reward Is 'Adequate'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Members of the Caroline Louise Harte family have issued a statement asking that no further funds be added to a reward of $20,000 for information in the 14-year-old girls' death.

Houston H. Harte, father of the child, who was fatally stabbed last July 24 while sleeping in a beach house at Port Aransas, announced the $20,000 reward Saturday for information leading to the conviction of the murderer.

Sunday, Paul Allen English, general manager of Radio Station KITE in San Antonio, said his firm had added $5,000 to the $20,000 reward.

In announcing the $20,000 reward, Harte said he hoped the money would bring forward persons with knowledge of the crime. Knowledgeable law enforcement officers said the $20,000 reward offered is adequate.

The G. Cameron Duncan family joined the Harte family in the original reward. Miss Harte was a guest in the Duncans' summer cottage at Port Aransas when she was stabbed to death.

The reward notice said that the money "will be paid to anyone for information leading to the arrest and final conviction of person or persons proven guilty of the murder of Caroline Louise Harte, age 14, at Port Aransas, Tex., on July 24, 1969.

New Wave Of Antiwar Actions Due April 15

CLEfELAND (AP) — The uneasy alliance that forged massive peace marches last November in Washington and San Francisco is joining again for a new wave of antiwar actions April 15.

The outlines for the concerted action emerged Sunday as the Student Mobilization Committee capped a raucous weekend conference by voting to make April 15 the highlight of its spring offensive.

The same day—the deadline for the filing of federal income tax returns—had already been chosen as an action day by both the New Mobilization committee to End the War in Vietnam and the Vietnam Moratorium Committee.

All three groups worked together in building the Nov. 15 demonstrations, which attracted hundreds of thousands of marchers in a demand for immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

The April 15th action, instead of being directed at one or two major cities, will be nationwide with the liberal-led Moratorium concentrating on taxpayer rallies "to focus on the issue of taxation and the disproportionate expenditures of the government on the war and the military in general."

The New Mobe is also seeking to link the war with inflation and taxes in a call for massive demonstrations on the 15th.

Both groups had observers at the conference which adopted a proposal by SMC National Secretary Carol Lipman for "massive student actions and strikes in the colleges and high schools across the country" April 15.

Miss Lipman's proposal, which carried over the strenuous opposition from an independent radical group, remained focused on the slogan, "Bring All the GI's Home Now."

It stopped short of attacks on what the unaligned radicals call U.S. imperialism, and made no special appeals to either the working class or the black community—elements the radicals say must be included if any broad-based peace movement is to be created.

The proposal also avoided an appeal for nonviolent civil disobedience—a tactic the New Mobe itself a coalition of radicals, liberals and Communists, is considering for a March campaign against the draft.

The focus for the opposition came in a debate over the slogan, "Bring All the GI's Home Now."

"We are opposed to the slogan," said radical writer Clark Kissinger of Chicago. "This has to be a manifestation of a white blind spot. What we want is a slogan that identifies with the principal enemy in the world today—U.S. imperialism—and not a sob sister appeal or a pacifist appeal to bring American boys home so they won't get shot up in the jungles of Vietnam."

Kissinger and the independent radicals called instead for the slogan, "Get the U.S. out of Vietnam Now."

Order Of Arrow Works At Ranch

Members of the Buffalo Trails Council Order of the Arrow spent the weekend working on the Boy Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains in preparation for upcoming spring activities.

Under the leadership of Austin Ferguson and Dub Day, 18 boys including 10 from Big Spring, six from Colorado City, and two from Snyder did general repair work on the ranch to make ready for a Pow Wow scheduled there the weekend of March 14.

When the Scouts returned Sunday they also announced a meeting of the Buffalo Trails Council meeting set for April 11 in White Sands, N.M.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—You open one spade, partner responds two hearts, and you hold:
♠AKQ94 ♡75 ◇AJ5 ♣QJ7
What do you bid now?

A.—You must deliberately avoid the rebid of two spades, inasmuch as such a rebid denotes a mediocre opening. It is distinctly more important to describe the strength of your hand rather than the solidity of your suit, so that your very good major suit should be suppressed in favor of a two no trump rebid.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K63 ♡A10753 ◇853 ♣Q2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♡	1 ♠

What do you bid now?

A.—Two hearts. Any desire to take drastic action could only have been induced by possession of the fifth trump, which may be good to the eye but has little practical value. If you transposed the three of hearts into the diamond section you wouldn't be at all impressed with your holding, and yet it would be virtually as good.

Q. 3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A105 ♡AKQ4 ◇Q1973 ♣Q5
The biddin has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 NT	Pass	Pass	Dble.
Pass	2 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. What do you think of your chances of going game? A moment's reflection should make it clear that they are practically nonexistent. A smattering of high card strength from partner would be required, but if he had that smattering that you are looking for he would have left in the double of one no trump. If he has nothing but length in hearts, a raise by you to three of the suit could very readily push him overboard.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AKJ32 ♡K7 ◇62 ♣8532
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ◇	Pass	1 NT	Pass
Pass	2 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner is not attempting to go places. He merely is trying to buy the hand as cheaply as possible rather than permit the opposition to play for the part score. If he had even the mildest ambitions he would have entered the auction immediately over the opening bid of one diamond, at which point it would have been very easy for him to compete.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q2 ♡AK975 ◇643 ♣AJ7
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♡	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—You should be very much alert to the possibilities of a slam. You have more than an opening bid and partner presumably has more than an opening bid, in view of the fact that he raised you to the three level. The proper procedure is to bid four clubs.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ754 ♡J2 ◇AQ43 ♣102
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. With a passing partner you must realize that game is out of the question and you might as well try for the part score in the suit partner has chosen.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KJ1042 ♡A5 ◇743 ♣952
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♡	2 ♣	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. You dare not bid two spades. If you do, partner is forced to speak again and may have to bid three hearts or two no trump, neither of which will leave you in an especially comfortable position. Great caution is indicated in making free bids in a suit higher in rank than partner's suit.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AK762 ♡AKQJ2 ◇6 ♣95
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♣	Dble.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—While this is a penalty double and you can no doubt defeat the contract, it may not be worthwhile. You have surely a game and perhaps even a slam in the other suit and you should take the double out. However, the proper call is three hearts, a jump. If you bid only two hearts partner may gain the impression that your hand is simply unsuited defensively and he will be under no obligation to proceed.

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are inclined to be entirely too emotional today and tonight. You would be wise to do nothing to break up the existing harmony of your residence. Do not encourage anything of a contentious nature. Take time out to get emotions under control.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You have to remain calm if you want to avoid something rather unfortunate happening at home. Rid yourself of whatever it is that makes for trouble at home, also. Be wise.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Much care must be exercised in motion of all kinds or you could have some serious accident. Be precise in making out reports, making oral statements of importance, etc. Get to bed early tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) First take care of business and other matters that help you to advance before you go out for pleasure. Show that you appreciate advice given you by experts in business. Be clever with everyone.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) There are apt to be tensions now so do not go seeking new opportunities or you will not be successful today. Don't be forceful with others simply because they are using such methods with you. Be wise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can get rid of certain private worries by concentrating on them and handling them in your own way. Be conscientious. Be sure to assist those who are in need.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you accept that invitation, you find that a big argument could ensue with some good friend, which is best avoided now. This person is jealous of you. Be optimistic about that desire you have.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you are not careful, you find you can downgrade your reputation or get in trouble with higher-ups. Improve your image instead. Do not get into some new outlet that you know very little about.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be sure to stick to the proven since going off on new tangents could prove disastrous. Adhere to right principles. Although a letter you receive could be worrisome, it need not be taken very seriously.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't run away from your responsibilities or they could prove to be much harder to discharge later on. Get right at them. Use that plan you have to get information from an expert you trust.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't go into some plan an associate has without first studying it well, or you might regret it later on. Be careful in reaching that agreement. Don't be resentful and be a happier person.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Scheduling your time and activities will make your duties lighter and more successful, and also keep you from worrying. You have to try a new tack with associates. Do it later in the afternoon though.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Don't think that you can run off with one who fascinates you and leave your duties to take care of themselves; they never do. Avoid trouble. Get busy ironing out bugs from that new plan that could be very successful. Be wise.

Saturday's Jumbles: PANIC GLEAM SURELY UNSEAT

Answer: How the clown in the geology class defined "bedrock"—"MUSIC TO SLEEP BY"

(AP WIREPHOTO)

HAPPY WINNER — Tucson Open Golf champion Lee Trevino wears the traditional conquistadore's helmet Sunday as his wife, Claudia, waves the $20,000 winner's check in Tucson, Ariz. Trevino won the $100,000 Tucson Open on the first hole of a sudden death playoff over Bob Murphy.

Trevino Gambles And Wins Playoff

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lee Trevino, brash and cockey as ever, had just pulled one out of the fire, and was talking about his golfing philosophy.

"You gamble when you have to," said the happy-go-lucky guy with the infectious grin following his playoff victory with Bob Murphy in the $100,000 Tucson Open golf tournament.

"I was two down at the turn and I started gambling. I drove over the water on 10 and went for the pin on 13 and 14 and 16. You do what you have to.

That's what it's all about out there—winning golf tournaments."

He made up two strokes on Murphy on the 72nd hole Sunday, tied the cigar-chomping red-head at the end of regulation play, then beat him on the first hole of a sudden death playoff with a five-foot birdie putt.

It was Trevino's first victory in a year and made him the first champion to successfully defend his title since Jack Nicklaus scored consecutive triumphs in 1967-68 Western Opens.

"It always feels good to win," he said.

"But I've been too close not to win. The only way I can keep from winning golf tournaments is to quit playing golf. I may never win another major title, but I'll win tournaments here and there. I'm too devoted to the game, love it too much, not to win."

He and Murphy, who had matched 18-hole scores throughout the course of the tournament, 66 on the first day, followed by 68 and 72, each had a final 69 on the sunny, 7,200-yard, par-72 Tucson National Golf Club course for 275.

Charles Coody came in with a 68 for 277 and Bob Lunn took fourth with a 70 for 278. John Lotz, the second round leader, followed with a 72 for a 279, with Fred Marti and Frank Beard following at 280.

Coody, Lotz and Lunn all made runs at the leaders on the final day. But it was, essentially, a battle between the chubby Murphy and swarthy Trevino, who was cheered on by thousands of fans who came in by chartered bus from Mexico.

Both reached the green in two on the first extra hole. Murphy missed a seven-foot putt and Trevino canned one from five-feet for the title.

Scrappy Owls Lead Crazy SWC Race

By The Associated Press

"It's just crazy . . ."

And those three little words by Rice coach Don Knodel pretty well sum up the Southwest Conference basketball chase.

The amazing, scrappy Owls are leading the pack with a 7-2 record after Saturday night's 61-60 upset of Baylor in Waco.

Rice has won five games by the "grand" total of eight points.

"Don't ask me how we do it," Knodel grinned. "We lost so many close ones last year, maybe it just evens out."

If Knodel is in basketball heaven, you can imagine how Baylor coach Bill Menefee feels. His Bears have lost their last three games by one point in each instance.

Texas Tech's fast-jelling Red Raiders and Texas Christian are just a step behind Rice with 6-3 records. Baylor and Texas AM are next with 5-4 marks.

And what happened to pre-season favorite Texas? Well, the Longhorns were knocked off Saturday night 90-71 by Tech and sank to a low 3-6 slate — just ahead of Southern Methodist and Arkansas each with 2-7 records.

Knodel threw a few wrinkles at the Bears, who dropped their first game at home this season.

"We went to the zone in the second half . . . and Baylor just couldn't buy a shot," Knodel soid.

Rice tries to protect its lead Tuesday night when it hosts Arkansas. On Saturday night, the Owls entertain Texas.

Texas Tech is at Texas A&M Tuesday night while TCU is at Texas and Baylor is at SMU.

The Red Raiders are sizzling. They came off their best defensive game of the season against the Longhorns. Texas scored only seven points in the first seven minutes of the second half as the Tech fast-break burned the Orange.

The Texas s rode Mike Heitmann's 2 t production to a 77-73 victory over TCU in which the fans at Fort Worth chunked paper cups and hot dogs on the floor. The Horned Frogs almost caught the Aggies in the second half with a full court press but couldn't quite close the gap.

Arkansas put the clamps on the SWC's most prolific scorer, Gene Phillips of SMU, in an 88-72 victory. Phillips hit only 4 of 19 from the field and finished the night with 17 points.

Kidd Wins 1st Gold Medal On Skis For U.S. Team

VAL GARDENA, Italy (AP) — Billy Kidd surprised even himself in winning the combined title for the United States at the World Ski Championships, in what turned out to be his farewell performance as an amateur.

"I wouldn't have bet a single cent on my gold medal before coming here," he said Sunday.

"The Stowe, Vt., skier who tied for fifth in the downhill, gave the United States its first gold medal in the history of the World Championships and capped its best showing since the 1964 Olympics at Innsbruck. Then he announced the race was his last as an amateur.

"I don't know yet whether I'll turn pro or go to work," he said after clinching the combined title with a 21.25 point total for an easy victory over Patrick Russel of France, who had 50.15.

Kidd was a favorite going into the final race because of his 15th place finish in the giant slalom and third place in the special slalom earlier in the week. It was the second medal for Kidd and the fourth for the U.S. team.

Kidd, wearing a back corset, negotiated the 26 gates in the downhill in 2 minutes, 25.52 seconds, less than one second slower than winner Bernhard Russi of Switzerland who was timed in 2:24.57. While the United States' finish here was a surprise, Kidd's announcement wasn't.

"Everyone knows I have been considering this decision for quite a while," he said. "It is only natural, as I am 26 and I have chronic back trouble. I had to race in the downhill with a corset. "It did not bother me too much, but it has edged me out of amateur racing. I just needed another medal today to quit on the winning side."

Kiki Cutter also said she plans to quit.

Kidd's teammates did not fare as well in the downhill. Rudd Pyles of Frisco, Colo., was 11th in 2:27.13; Bobby Cochran of Richmond, Vt., 26th in 2:29.90, and Mike Lafferty of Eugene, Ore., 31st in 2:30.58.

Russi, a 21-year-old industrial designer, gave Switzerland a surprising second gold medal. Unheralded Karl Cordin of Austria was second in 2:24.79 and Malcolm Milne took third in 2:25.09 for Australia's first medal ever in the world championships.

France's total of 10 medals, which included Russel's silver in the combined, was only one short of its total in the Grenoble Olympics.

Denny McLain Enshrouded In Two Deepening Mysteries

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tiger pitching ace Denny McLain remained enshrouded in two mysteries Sunday, mysteries which grow deeper with each day that passes.

There is still no explanation, of what "off the field activites" were discussed when McLain, the first pitcher ever to receive the coveted Cy Young award two years running, was questioned Friday by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

As great a mystery is what has happened to McLain since the Friday meeting. Neither he, nor his wife, nor his lawyer nor business manager can be found —not in Detroit, not in Lakeland, where the Tigers are due to open their spring training camp shortly.

Tiger officials have steadfastly declined to comment on the entire incident.

McLain is also known to have met last week with James Ritchie, head of a Detroit-based U.S. Justice Department task force handling an investigation of organized crime and gambling. The subject of that meeting is unknown and Ritchie, like McLain and the men around him has been unavailable for comment.

Ed Demetrak McLain's former business manager says the pitcher talked to federal authorities because their investigation "deals with people Denny may have known."

Demetrak said McLain has done nothing illegal.

McLain has received considerable publicity recently because of some financial difficulties.

McLain recently took out a $30,000, seven per cent interest debt consolidation loan from Detroit Bank and Trust Co.

Under the terms of his loan, McLain's Tiger paycheck of about $5,000 monthly, will be sent directly to the bank through July 15 to repay the loan.

Napoles Chimes Lopez' Head

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There were cheers today for a game fighter named Ernie "Indian Red" Lopez. And there doubtless were some bells ringing in his head.

But the victory went to Jose "Mantequilla" Napoles of Mexico City as he retained his world welterweight championship. It took 14 rounds and 2 minutes 38 seconds of the 15th to subdue Indian Red.

The main event at the Forum attracted 17,091 fans who paid $228,417 for the show. No one felt short-changed.

Lopez, 24, the No. 1 challenger in the 147-pound division, was floored in the first, ninth and 15th rounds. And he was knocked out for the first time in his career.

Girls Grab Third Place

Big Spring High School girls volleyball players took third place in the Crane A-team tournament Friday and Saturday. They beat Kermit in the first round, lost to Andrews in the second and edged Denver City for third.

Tuesday evening in the athletic gym here, the lasses will entertain Abilene High.

Patty Speir brought back all-tourney set honors and Mary Dirks was named all-tourney spike.

In the first game with Kermit, which Big Spring won 15-12 and 15-7, Judy Dyer was high point server with eight points. Judy got six points in the first game and Mary Lou Brown had four in the second.

Big Spring lost the second round to Andrews 8-15 and 5-15, and Judy Dyer again was high point server with five.

Big Spring beat Denver City 15-12 and 15-5 in the third round. Mary Lou Brown paced the servers with nine points. Cathy Dean had six points in the first game, and Judy Bair matched this in the second game.

Steers To Face Midland Team

Big Spring returns to the district 3-AAAA basketball wars Tuesday with mostly scars to show for its efforts thus far in the second round. Midland, which extended Midland Lee to overtime and should have won, took its lumps Friday also at the hands of Ector, 83-64.

The Steers, bouyed by a doubled-attendance, played San Angelo even through the first quarter at 12-12, then saw the defense go to pot in the second canto when Angelo led 35-26. Down 14 points going into the final round, the Steers rallied with 23 points but lost 66-50.

HCJC Queens Will Host H-SU This Evening

Paced by LaDonna Russell, the Howard County Junior College Queens edged Weatherford Junior College here Friday 44-43 in a co-ed basketball game.

The Queens host Hardin-Simmons University here at 7:30 p.m. today in the HCJC gym.

In Friday's contest, it was tighter than a hat band most of the way with only one point difference at the first quarter and the score tied at the half. HCJC built a four-point advantage at the three-quarter mark, then held on for victory.

Hawks To Meet New Mexico Here

Despite a tarnished record, the HCJC Hawks are still clinging to thin hopes of a piece of the Western Junior College Athletic conference crown when they face New Mexico Junior College here Tuesday evening.

Down 47-41 at the half in Amarillo Saturday night, the Hawks found a spark plug in Glenn Fletcher and blasted Amarillo 94-78. The defense held Amarillo to 31 points in the final half, while the offense caught fire with 53.

New Mexico, an in-and-out team is capable of knocking off any team in the loop when it clicks. That, plus the hope that other teams will go on knocking off the leaders, presents the Hawks with plenty of incentive.

Frazier Favored In Ellis Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Gospel singing Jimmy Ellis and Joe Frazier, whose style is hard rock, are set to do their real thing tonight—fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Frazier, champion of six states including New York, rules as heavy favorite over Ellis, the World Boxing Association king, for the scheduled 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

The Las Vegas price on Frazier is 6-1, while New York boxing circles said it's Frazier 5-1 in man-to-man betting. Little or no wagering has been reported.

"I think he's the champion, so he should be the favorite," says Yank Durham, Frazier's manager.

"I'm not betting money so it makes no difference," says Ellis.

Durham predicts Frazier will win by a knockout but has not named a particular round.

"I don't predict," says Ellis' manager, Angelo Dundee, "but I won't be amazed if Jimmy knocks him out."

The fight is set for 10:30 p.m., EST, following a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout between Gregorio Peralta of Argentina and unbeaten George Foreman, like Frazier an Olympic champion.

The fight will be seen in this country only on closed circuit television at 120 locations with more than 500,000 seats. New York and a 90-mile surrounding area will be blacked out, but New York will be included in the radio broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

It also will be seen via satellite in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Mexico, South America, parts of Europe and parts of Asia.

Frazier, who won his piece of the title by stopping Buster Mathis in 11 rounds March 4, 1968, has won all 24 of his pro fights, 21 by knockout.

Ellis, a former sparring partner of the deposed Cassius Clay, has won 27, 12 by knockout, and lost five. All of his losses came when he was a middleweight.

He won the WBA crown by outpointing Quarry April 27, 1968, and his last fight was a successful 15-round defense against Floyd Patterson Sept. 14, 1968.

Lanky Carol Beats Jitters

MIAMI (AP) — Lanky Carol Mann survived putting jitters Sunday to take the first hole of a sudden death playoff with Sandra Haynie and win the $40,000 Burdines Ladies Invitational Golf Tournament.

The victory was worth $6,000 for Miss Mann, last year's top money-winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour.

"I'd much rather have had an eight stroke lead over Sandra so I could have relaxed," she said after the playoff. "I had been tense all day."

The playoff was ordered after the two tour veterans finished the fourth round of regulation play with 75s and identical even par 216 totals.

Miss Mann set up her par on the extra hole with a 230-yard tee shot over the Country Club of Miami course. She two-putted to the hole.

Miss Haynie settled for $4,800 runner-up money when her drive thudded into a trap, her blast out wobbled only 50 feet and her third shot carried 20 feet behind the pin. She did not complete the hole.

Deadlocked third three strokes back at 219 were Sandra Palmer, Marilyn Smith and Jane Blalock. Each earned $2,433.

Pros Chalk Records, One Not So Happy

By The Associated Press

Atlanta and Boston both broke records Sunday in the National Basketball Association—but Boston's were the wrong kind.

Lou Hudson scored 36 points to lead Atlanta to a record 146-125 victory over Boston. The 146 points, which included 46-of-64 free throw tries, were the most ever scored in Atlanta's Alexander Memorial Coliseum, and the 64 free throw attempts were a Hawk record.

The contest also featured 68 foul calls. The 36th charged to Boston established another Coliseum record.

In other NBA games, Detroit beat Chicago 126-119, Jim Washington scored a career high of 34 points to lead Philadelphia to a 159-125 rout over Phoenix, Los Angeles whipped Milwaukee 98-96 in the last six seconds on a 20-foot jumper by Jerry West and San Diego crushed Cincinnati 150-123.

Hudson set career highs at the free throw line, where he was successful in 16-of-18 attempts. He also hit on 10-of-18 tries from the field, in helping Atlanta remain one game ahead of Los Angeles in the Western Division.

John Havlicek was high for Boston with 31 points.

In Detroit, Clem Haskins drilled in 11 straight baskets from the floor to equal a Cobo Arena record in lifting the Bulls to a 14-point edge before the Pistons started their rally from a 74-60 deficit in the third period.

The teams were tied 108-108 with five minutes left in the game when baskets by Bing and Bill Hewitt put Detroit ahead to stay. Bing scored 17 of his 28 points in the final quarter and also had a season high of 13 assists.

Washington collected nine field goals and 16 free throws for Philadelphia as the 76ers equaled their season high of 159 points in a game. Philadelphia scored 159 points against San Diego last Jan. 25.

Darrell Imhoff of the 76ers played his 309th consecutive game Sunday, the longest such streak at present in the NBA.

West, who finished with a game-leading 28 points, capped the Laker comeback by taking a pass deep in the right corner and shooting it over two Buck defenders guarding him. Then he blocked a similar desperation attempt by Milwaukee's Jon McGlocklin, who wound up with 21 points.

Beast And Funk Tie

Before another crowd that taxed the seating capacity of the Municipal Auditoirum, The Beast retained his Western States Heavyweight wrestling title by battling Terry Funk to a one-hour draw Friday night.

The crowd thought Funk had The Beast pinned at one time but the referee was too addled to carry out the count.

In the tag team match, Gorgeous George Jr., and Ricky Romero brought cheers from the crowd by defeating Bull Ramos and Dirty Dick Murdock.

The Lawman won over Dirty Dusty Rhodes and Gorgeous George Jr., fought Bull Ramos to a draw in the preliminary matches.

McGrady, Evans Set Track Pace

By The Associated Press

Lee Evans had a pretty good weekend but one step ahead of the Olympic champion was Martim McGrady, who had a perfect weekend.

McGrady, the 23-year-old Washington, D.C., schoolteacher, virtually unbeatable at 600 yards, climaxed a two-day snow-filled tour of the country with consecutive world shattering performances.

Saturday night at the 10th annual Mason-Dixon track and field games at Louisville, Ky., the smooth-striding McGrady lowered his own 600 record to 1 minute, 8.5 seconds for his seventh triumph this year and 25th in 27 attempts since creating his world mark of 1:09 at the 8-lap oval in Louisville in 1966.

And Friday in Los Angeles McGrady knocked off Evans by inches in the 600 as each ran a 1:08.7, which lasted as a world record less than 24 hours.

At the Houston Astrodome, in a two-day meet, several world bests were created on the five-lap board track. However, the marks are not considered for world records. the recognized standard is a minimum of eight laps to the mile.

Friday Kansas State, anchored by Ken Swenson, betterd two world records in the two-mile, (7:22.3), and sprint medley, (3:17.3), relays.

Fred Newhouse of Prairie View A&M took the 440-yard college division race in 45.6 for another world best while Villanova's Larry James took the university division in 46.9. Wildcat teammate Marty Liquori swept to the mile title in 4:05.5.

Saturday more records toppled as Houston recorded a 9:34.0 time in a distance medley and Texas A&M posted a 3:05.7 for Memphis State tied the world 100-yard dash mark of 9.4 seconds set last year by Lennox Miller.

Hensley To Angelo

SAN ANGELO — Sam Hensley, all-district offensive end for the San Angelo Bobcats, has signed a letter of intent with Angelo State University, coach Grant Teaff has announced. Hensley led San Angelo in scoring last fall.

Rambling Wreck Scores Two Major Weekend Upsets

By The Associated Press

"Oh, they're the Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech, da dum . . ."

Yes, and while Georgia Tech was making a wreck of North Carolina, unflappable UCLA continued to waltz away with another college basketball game.

Georgia Tech engineered two major upsets over the weekend, taming fifth-ranked North Carolina State 89-77 and 10th-ranked North Carolina 104-95 on successive nights Friday and Saturday.

The top-ranked Bruins, meanwhile, slammed Washington 101-85 Saturday night for their 20th victory this season and 24th straight dating back to last year.

Second-ranked South Carolina bounced back from last week's defeat by Davidson to stop Duke 82-65; No. 3 Kentucky spilled Florida 110-66; fourth-rated St. Bonaventure repulsed Providence 68-52; North Carolina State beat Clemson 102-84; No. 7 Jacksonville clouted New Orleans Loyola 96-75; No. 8 Penn topped Brown 90-75 and No. 9 Florida State squashed Tulane 112-77 in other Top Ten contests Saturday.

UCLA led by only 42-36 at halftime before Henry Bibby, who scored 21 points, and Steve Patterson, 18, started sniping from long range.

Rich Yunkus of Georgia Tech, who scored 27 Friday night, came back with 47 points Saturday to tie a Charlotte, N.C., Coliseum record set earlier this year by Louisiana State's Pete Maravich.

John Roche, South Carolina's game-breaking guard, scored 34 points as the Gamecocks hoped to start another winning streak. Their defeat by Davidson cracked a string of 17.

Irrepressible Dan Issel pitched in 37 as Kentucky kept its lead in the Southeastern Conference and bruising Bob Lanier pocketed 26 in the St. Bonaventure victory.

Jacksonville managed to take New Orleans Loyola despite a sub-par performance by 7-2 Artis Gilmore. The friendly giant only managed 16 points, about 10 below his average.

Among the Second Ten, 12th-rated Marquette bounced DePaul 79-60; No. 14 Iowa blitzed Michigan State 103-77; No. 15 Houston squashed Miami, Fla., 118-98; Notre Dame, No. 16, downed Detroit 95-93 in overtime; No. 17 Western Kentucky ripped East Tennessee State 92-83; Washington State shocked No. 18 Southern Cal 66-63; No. 19 Columbia tripped Harvard 73-72 and 20th-ranked Georgia lost to Tennessee 57-55.

Maravich, college basketball's all-time scoring king, put in 38 points to lead LSU's 99-89 victory over Vanderbilt. The performance gave him 3,282 for his career. In games Sunday, Villanova thumped Xavier, Ohio, 96-79; and Duquesne whipped Fairfield 101-62.

Dutch Skater Sets Record

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Ard Schenk of the Netherlands, a 25-year-old physiotherapy student, treated speed skating fans to a record-breaking finish for four races in winning the World Championships Sunday.

Schenk, the European title-holder, beat Magne Thomassen of Norway with a championship record of 173.478 points. Schenk finished third in Saturday's 500 and 5,000-meter races, won the 1,500 Sunday and placed fourth in the 10,000.

Multiple Listing Service

Some of the important advantages of a MULTIPLE LISTING activity are:

1. Sellers of property, while retaining the professional services of a single agent, have access to the marketing facilities of all REALTORS who participate. 2. Buyers, by contacting one REALTOR, may have access to the listings of all REALTORS who participate. 3. The needs of the buyer and seller are more readily matched, this serving their interests, and saving time in more readily acquiring or disposing of property.

Bitter Slap Of Winter Eases A Bit

By The Associated Press

The sting of a bitter slap of wintry weather eased a bit in Texas today but cold temperatures were forecast again for most of the state tonight.

Skies cleared over all but the extreme east and southeast sections of the state early today, as a blustery, sometimes turbulent cold, dry, air mass pushed further southward.

Early morning temperatures ranged from a frigid 30 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle to 50 degrees at Brownsville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Although the Weather Bureau predicted the thermometer would dip into the low 30s in most sections again tonight, the general outlook for Tuesday was warmer.

Light snow fell in the Panhandle-South Plains country early Sunday and thundershowers raked North Central and Northeast Texas sections at dawn before moving southward with the cold front.

The front also generated a thunderstorm watch as it swept through the state. The watch went up in a 10-county area of Southeast Texas. Counties included were Angelina, Hardin, Jasper, Newton, Polk, Sabine, San Augustine, Tyler, Orange and Jefferson.

The thunderstorm watch was cancelled late Sunday afternoon. Showers and thunderstorms continued from the eastern suburbs of Houston northward to Lufkin and eastward into Louisiana but the Weather Bureau said they had grown considerably weaker.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I understand that you confer with clergymen when it comes to religious matters, so here is one for you to ask a rabbi.

We recently buried my father. He and mamma had been married nearly 40 years, and daddy always wore the wedding ring mamma gave him. It was his wish to be buried wearing that ring. During his illness he lost a lot of weight, and the ring became loose on his finger, but he wanted so much to wear it until the very end that he wrapped some tape around it.

When dad died and it came time to bury him, the man at the Jewish mortuary (he was not a rabbi) told mamma that according to Jewish law, "we come into this world with nothing and we should leave with nothing," so daddy could not be buried with his ring.

Of course my mother felt terrible, but she couldn't do anything about it, so they buried daddy without his ring.

What I would like to know is, was that man at the Jewish mortuary right or wasn't he?

THE DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: It is the opinion of the rabbis with whom I have discussed your letter that although the man at the mortuary quoted Jewish "philosophy," it is not Jewish law. But even if it were, the wishes of your mother should have been respected. Too bad your mother didn't consult a rabbi.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that letter from "HANDSOME JIM IN BOSTON," who wrote, "When my wife and I were married folks said, 'How could Handsome Jim ever marry that tub of lard!' ":

Eleven years ago I married a little 105-pound brunette gal. Since that day she has helped me to raise three lovely daughters that were mine from a former marriage. That little woman has helped me build a business that has been very good to us. So good in fact that we now own five Rolls-Royces and four Mercedes, and one of the most beautiful homes in this city. We don't owe a dime to anyone either.

Right now my little brunette weighs 135 pounds and she's only five feet tall, so you can see she's put on a few pounds. But that doesn't bother me. Last time I noticed she was getting slightly plump, I said, "Honey, if you continue to gain weight I will just have to buy you a bigger mink coat next year." She's the greatest. JOHN LEWIS, LAWTON, OKLAHOMA

DEAR JOHN: No she isn't. YOU are!

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.P.S.: You are so right. Never explain. Your friends don't need it, and your critics will not believe you anyway.

Tried To Break Into Prison

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Someone tried to break into Kilby prison here.

The former maximum security institution recently was cleared of prisoners and has been taken over by a motion picture company for the filming of a movie called "The Traveling Executioner."

A spokesman for the film said someone tried to wrench open the prison's main door one night this week.

Population Shift Not As Projected

WASHINGTON (AP) — People have not moved from state to state as expected, says the Census Bureau in revising its forecast for nine state delegations to the House of Representatives.

California will gain four instead of the six seats originally estimated in the 1967 bureau forecast which was pegged to migration trends of the early 1960's.

"The migration from state to state has changed from those trends," says the bureau director, Dr. George Hay Brown. "California has not been gaining as much, and states without migration have not been losing as much."

The present bureau forecasts are based on a July 1, 1969, estimate of state populations. The actual census of April 1, 1970, will set the basis for redistributing 435 House seats for the 1972 elections.

The new estimates also indicate Florida will gain two seats, and Arizona, Texas and Colorado one each. This would make California's delegation the largest at 42. New York would be next at 39.

New York and Pennsylvania are expected to lose two seats each, and North Dakota, West Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, and Wisconsin one each.

Gains or losses forecast for Arizona, Florida, Texas, North Dakota, West Virginia, Iowa, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin are unchanged from a bureau table dated March 7, 1967.

But at that time, the bureau forecast California would gain six seats, New Jersey would gain one and Connecticut would possibly gain one. The bureau didn't mention Colorado. It predicted one-seat losses for Illinois, Michigan, New York and Oklahoma, and said Ohio would lose one and possibly two seats. Now, New Jersey, Connecticut, Illinois, Michigan and Oklahoma are expected to show no gain or loss.

Political effects of seat redistribution are significant—especially for current House members who are thrown into the same district in states losing seats.

Legislatures within each state will reapportion districts based on the new distribution and 1970 census figures. Most states, even if their number of representatives does not change, will have to reapportion because of one-man, one-vote court decisions.

Both political parties are concentrating more than usual on 1970 state legislature elections since the controlling party will have the advantage of drawing new districts in its favor.
