Former Perryton Man Pays $15,000 Fine

According to the Albuquerque, N. M. newspaper, Don E. Woodward, former Perryton banker and now vice president of the First National Bank of that city, was recently found guilty of "possession of $15,000 badly needed in the war effort" and assessed a "fine" of $15,000, payable by buying War Bonds for that amount. Judge Oren Strong is presiding judge for the Kangaroo Court that goes into session at most any hour and any day at the Hilton Hotel in Albuquerque. Don Dreessen, marshal of the Kangaroo Court, says that the court disposed of $20,000 in War Bonds the first two days and expect to raise this figure to $40,000 or more.

Farm Trucks Must Have War Necessity Certificate

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 6—Farm trucks and trailers will be included in the Office of Defense Transportation's drastic move to conserve equipment for war purposes.

Explaining the wide-sweeping plans to Texas farmers, B. F. Vance, chairman, Texas USDA War Board, said that all farm trucks and trailers, along with virtually all other trucks, busses, taxicabs and similar vehicles, would require Certificates of War Necessity effective November 15.

Vance added that these Certificates would govern the maximum mileage that may be operated by all vehicles to which they are issued.

"Operators subject to the order will not be able to obtain gasoline, tires, or parts without a certificate of War Necessity," the war board chairman explained.

Already, the certificates are being printed and will be mailed to all vehicle owners shortly. After the certificates are filled out, they should be returned to one of ODT's offices established in Texas.

Offices now are located in Dallas, El Paso, Houston and San Antonio with other new offices expected to be announced later.

Under terms of the new order, enforcement officers will report to ODT any instance in which a vehicle is operated without a valid Certificate of Waf Necessity or in violation of any ODT order.

"NOT A SLACKER IN THE LOT . . ."

This cartoon was first published by the Omaha World-Herald, originator of the "Nebraska Scrap Plan." In three weeks the people of Nebraska collected 136,171,012 pounds of scrap metals for war industries. That was 103.4 pounds per capita for every man, woman and child in the state. The Herald believes that the citizens of Texas are equal to Nebraska's challenge. Let's get out the scrap to bury the Axis!

Hold Victory Cooking Class Food Clinic

Community Public Service Co. Sponsors School Oct. 13

How to feed the family for bouyant health, physical stamina and morale, how to save food values and keep down the family food bills, and how to use household equipment efficiently and economically and make it last "for the duration" are among the topics which will be covered in the Victory Cooking School and Home Conservation Clinic, to be held in the Community Public Service Co. offices Tuesday, Oct. 13. This program, sponsored by Community Public Service Company, will be in charge of Miss Isabel Herndon of the company's home service department.

The educational program will tie in with the Consumers' Pledge issued by the United States Government to be signed by Consumers: "As a consumer in the total defense of democracy I will do my part to make my home, my community, my country, ready, efficient, strong. I will buy carefully. I will take good care of the things I have. I will waste nothing."

Miss Herndon will tell how to purchase foods wisely, how to store them to preserve vitamin and mineral content, how to cook them and serve them to save these perishable food elements which are vital to health, how to plan meals based on an optimum diet or daily food pattern recommended by the government for proper nutrition. She will make numerous suggestions for the care of electric appliances which will keep them in good working order and extend their usefulness indefinitely. She will also make suggestions for using these appliances so as to get a maximum of service for a minimum expenditure.

Sugar-saving suggestions and sugarless recipes will be given to visitors, and vitamin charts which show at a glance what foods contain each vitamin. The food which is prepared during the demonstration will also be given away.

The public is cordially invited to attend the school.

To People Living in Perryton

People who live in Perryton can make a worthwhile contribution to the war effort, their neighbors from the rural districts around Perryton and to Perryton business men if they will do their shopping on other days of the week except Saturday. This is not our idea. A prominent Perryton merchant asked us Tuesday what we thought about it. We think it would be mighty fine if the people of Perryton would cooperate in such a program.

Due to the rubber shortage, and it's going to be worse when gasoline is rationed, farmers are not making many trips to town and when they do come on Saturdays, we see more than one family in every car. There is not a store in town that is not shorthanded and they can't employ extra help for Saturday or any other day.

Perryton folks could shop other days in the week except Saturday with no inconvenience. By so doing, storekeepers with their curtailed forces can better serve the folks from the farms and ranches. It's worth a try, don't you think. This is one patriotic gesture that won't cost you a cent.

Jack Lamb Returning to Perryton With Another Spectacular Film

Yes, folks, you guessed it right. It is none other than Jack Lamb, the old man of the mountains, hidden behind 62 days growth of beard in Alaska.

Those of you who could get into the auditorium last August when Jack came here with his Alaskan film will remember the magnificent pictures shown by the famous sportsman.

Harry Nail heard that Lamb was coming to Canadian late in October and he immediately set to work to persuade him to come back to Perryton. Harry Nail realized that it is not often that shows of this caliber are available to such towns as Perryton, and he left no stone unturned to get Lamb to come back with some of the other pictures from his great library of films, which is said to be the largest individual collection in America.

When Lamb is not showing pictures, he is searching America for thrilling and interesting material, and he has agreed to bring a different show here Tuesday night, Oct. 27, and as was the case at the last show, free tickets will be available at Harry Nail's Gulf station.

For hunters Lamb will bring to the screen thrilling pictures of quail hunting, featuring the world famous Bill Lourcey, champion quail shot, and his $5,000 dogs, Jim Foster and Boots. The father of Jim Foster sold for $9,000 when he was 10 years old, and although Jim Foster is now ten years of age, Lourcey has refused $6,500 for him. Boots is the son of Jim Foster, and is one of the greatest pointers and retrievers of the present day.

Lamb will not leave the fishermen out, because he will bring sensational pictures of himself fishing in different rivers, and these pictures only make you mad at your own efforts after you see what the old maestro of the fishing world can do with rod and reel.

For the ladies interested in flowers, Lamb has promised a glorious surprise in the way of pictures of some of America's outstanding

More Men in Armed Forces

The name of Willie T. Symons was omitted by mistake from the list of men who left Sept. 30, for induction into the army at Ft. Sill, Okla.

W. L. Werneberg, former state highway maintenance foreman for the Perryton district, enlisted in the navy at Houston, Texas, Sept. 29.

Elsa Franklin Kutch, who has lived at Borger for several years but was born and raised in Perryton, left Amarillo Monday for service in the navy.

Robert O. Anderson signed up with the Coast Guard at Amarillo Wednesday.

Wilford H. Rehard and Glen H. McWilliams enlisted in the army at Amarillo, Monday. Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Rehard took them down to volunteer.

Fall Fatal to Henry Hill, Lipscomb Sailor

HIGGINS, Oct. 6—The body of Henry "Gruber" Hill, seaman second class, U. S. Navy, arrived in Higgins Monday night from Newport, R. I., where he died on Sept. 30. Funeral services were held at Lipscomb this afternoon at 3 o'clock with burial in a cemetery near there.

Hill, who enlisted in the navy early in August, fell down a stair well in the Naragansett Hotel at Providence, R. I., on September 29 and died the next day in the naval hospital at Newport. The body was accompanied here by a naval escort.

Survivors are two brothers, Lewis Hill, superintendent of schools at Follett, and Gilbert T. Hill, superintendent of schools at Lipscomb. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hill of Lipscomb.

General Rain Over Area October 2

Over One Inch of Moisture will Insure Winter Wheat Pasture

The slow easy downpour of 1.12 inches of rain last Friday night was a Godsend to the Perryton area. This moisture practically insures an abundance of winter wheat pasture. With thousands of cattle and sheep on farms and ranches, winter pasture means the difference between profit and loss.

Although there is plenty of subsoil moisture, the top soil was extremely dry and this inch of rain is really not enough to put the wheat crop on the safe side.

JUST HERE and THERE

The President's stand on farm parity prices against the farm bloc and with the labor bloc means that he will retain his grip on the labor vote, but how about the farm vote? Our guess is that the New Deal will gradually lose its grip over much of the farm vote. Chalk up a victory for the "city slickers" again.

Shortages of workers throughout the nation is getting tighter every day. War industries are expected to require five million more workers by end of 1943 with millions more for the armed forces. This all adds up that farmers and business will have to get along with less and less labor. Make adjustments now using more women, older people, physically handicapped and part time school boys and girls.

Here's the way the draft timetable looks right now. Single men, with or without dependents will be inducted by the first of the year with the exception of a few where drafting would work hardships on real dependents.

Men with wives only will be inducted in all states by around the first of the year. It's already started in some states.

Men with wives and children, or children only, will not be taken before the fall of 1943. Draft of 18-19 year olds expected about the first of the year.

Crack-down is expected on single men and young married men with wives only, now working in defense industries. They are now deferred but we can expect many of these deferments to be canceled and the men placed on the lists as available for the draft.

The farm-worker shortage begins to loom as a sure road to food shortage. Draft and city war-wages have already taken about one-half the draft age men from the farms, and one-third the women 18 to 30. Looks like draft deferment for farm workers will be stepped up and that later, man-power legislation will hold men on farms or at least slow up flow to war factories.

Food shortages mean that before the war is over practically all foods will be rationed. Luxury and out-of-season delicacies will go out first. Our diet will be less varied but we will have plenty of food that's good for us.

Nation-wide gasoline will start about the middle of November is the latest dope. The basic allowance will be around four gallons per week with larger allowances for essential cars. This means

Parity Checks For 1942 are Received

Payments Higher Than Last Year; $39,200 Has Been Paid

The Ochiltree County AAA office reports that the first checks for 1942 wheat parity have been received by county farmers. The total to date is $39,200.25 and they commenced arriving Sept. 25.

Checks this year are being mailed direct to farmers from Dallas, so farmers are asked to check their mail carefully in order that checks will not be lost.

Parity payments are higher this year than in 1941 or any other previous year. The 1942 payment is based on 13½ cents per bushel. The 1941 rate was 10 cents per bushel.

At the Monday meeting, Mrs. C. L. Craig, leader, reported to the Unit on Girl Scout activities. It was also decided by the Auxiliary to prepare and serve the banquet for the fifteen Scouts, who completed their work this summer, and their mothers.

Mrs. Sibley Jines, Unit president, appointed the following members on the banquet committee: Mrs. A. S. Brillhart, Mrs. C. B. Rogers, Mrs. E. W. Thomas and Mrs. H. I. Hudson. The date of the banquet will be announced later.

The Perryton Girl Scout troops have been sponsored by the Auxiliary for the past several years. The Unit pays the annual fees of the Scouts and furnishes needed supplies.

Report Successful Hunting Trip

J. A. Russell owner of Russell's Service and C. B. Barber, farmer-stockman of the west part of this county returned last Friday from a 16 day hunting trip. Mr. Russell and Mr. Barber went from Perryton on September 17 to Turpin Meadow, Wyoming. They packed back in the Teton mountain range about 30 miles where they made camp, hunting in the mountains and along the Yellow Stone River.

They report a very successful trip each killing an elk, weighing about 850 pounds, and a moose weighing about 1,200 pounds. They also have some very interesting fish stories to tell.

Junior Texas Rangers of Perryton Schools Swing Into Action on Scrap Drive Front

With every student in the Perryton school commissioned and wearing the badge of a Junior Texas Ranger, the school has launched its offensive on the Scrap front. Forces have been mobilized into three divisions, Elementary, Junior High and Senior High, with intense rivalry to see which reaches the objective first.

The drive was organized at the all-out chapel meeting in the auditorium Monday afternoon. Cecil Dodd, chairman of the Ochiltree County Salvage Committee, and Mayor W. H. Lance pledged their full cooperation to the students in the scrap offensive.

Other members of the general staff are from the Victory Club. They are Edwin Pletcher, Donald Ellis, Helen Marie Hudson and Shannon Daniel.

The three divisions are in a contest to see which will gather in the most scrap. It is weighed and placed in separate bins. Students are scouring the town and countryside and it is estimated that more than 25 tons has already been collected.

At the conclusion of the drive, the scrap will be sold and the proceeds used for the purchase of visual education films.

Present Day Challenges-Matt. 26:39

Jesus and His disciples had partaken of the first Love-Feast. He had taught them a lesson in humility and service, which challenges us to go further with Him than we yet have done. They went out to the Garden. There in its seclusion He went further in prayer than anyone had yet gone. How busy are we? Jesus never was too busy to pray! He thus challenges us to take more time for prayer. The busier He was the more He prayed. He challenges us to go a little further with Him in poverty. He was born in a borrowed stable, laid in a borrowed manger, preached from a borrowed boat, rode into Jerusalem on a borrowed beast, was buried in a borrowed tomb. How far have we gone on the road of sacrificial giving for our Master?

He challenges us to go a little further with Him in love. "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another, even as I have loved you, that ye also love one another." (John 13:34). Jesus even taught us to love our enemies, for He said, "Ye have heard it said, thou shalt love thy neighbor and hate thine enemy, but I say unto you, love your enemies and pray for them that persecute you, (why) that ye may be sons of your Father who is in heaven." Matt. 5:43). Will we accept this challenge of our Lord? Paul said, "Therefore if thine enemy hunger feed him,—for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head," Romans 12:20. This does not mean to burn the enemy up with actual fire, but to thaw him out by the means mentioned. The best way to destroy an enemy is to make him our friend. Thus said and lived Jesus. Dare we accept this challenge to go a little further with Him than we have? Jesus challenges us to go a little further with Him in this matter of forgiveness. "Father forgive them for they know not what they do," were His words on the cross. He challenges us to go new distances with Him in suffering for Him. There are decisions of duty which we must make (our Gethesmane); decisions of whether we want to carry on the work of Christ's kingdom or not; of whether we want to live eternally or not. He challenges us to look beyond our Gethesmane and see Him and His calvary. He challenges us to see that death in or of the flesh is preferable to death eternally. The many blessings we receive are a challenge to see if we love the things of this life more than those eternal things of the kingdom. His entire life was and is a challenge. How are we meeting it?

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 11.

The Golden Text is: "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord; thy blessing is upon thy people" (Psalms 3:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For thou art a God that hath pleasure in wickedness: neither shall evil dwell with thee" (Psalms 5:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we put off the false sense for the true, and see that sin and mortality have neither Principle nor permanency, we shall learn that sin and mortality are without actual origin or rightful existence" (page 281).

General evangelists of the Methodist Church are commissioned by the general Board of Missions and church extensions on recommendation of the annual conference of which the evangelist is a member.

Rev. William E. Fisher, pastor of the church says of the evangelist, "I have known Dr. Turner for years and know him to be a good speaker, free from sensationalism or abuse. He is a sincere minister who loves people and has confidence in the gospel he preaches."

In a letter to the church, Dr. Turner says, "I am looking forward to our revival and feel sure that you are praying and planning for the same. If ever there was a time when men needed to be called to repentance, it is now and I purpose to stress the fundamental truths which our fathers preached and which made Methodism a great church and a greater force for righteousness."

He has just closed a successful revival with the Highland Heights Methodist Church, Sweetwater, and will come to Perryton from Breckenridge where he is now engaged in a meeting with the First Methodist Church.

Red Cross Will Help Get Messages to Men Missing and Prisoners

WASHINGTON—Relatives and friends of prisoners of war or military men missing in action in the Far East are urged by the American Red Cross to go immediately to their local Red Cross chapter to file messages to them. The message will be carried on the exchange ship "Gripsholm," soon to sail on its second voyage.

The procedure for those wishing to send messages is:

First, the message is to be filed with the local chapter of the Red Cross on Form 1616; second, complete information as to name, number, rank, military unit and last known address must be given; and fourth, the message must be confined to 25 words.

The American Red Cross announces that these messages will be mailed on the "Gripsholm," addressed to the International Red Cross delegate in Japan, who will make every effort to see that they are delivered. The Red Cross can give no assurance of delivery, but this method has been adopted in agreement with the State, Navy, War, and Post Office departments, because the Japanese government has not yet furnished official lists of the majority of American prisoners in the Far East.

Those in this community who wish to send messages to prisoners or men reported missing in action, should see Oscar Flowers, County Attorney, who is home service chairman for the Ochiltree County Red Cross Chapter.

Treat Colds Before They Get Serious

AUSTIN, Texas—With the advent of fall, and colds becoming prevalent, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, makes the following suggestions as to ways by which these seasonal illnesses may be warded off, or at least may be gotten under control before they do any serious damage.

Keep as fit as possible. Dress according to the weather, indoors and out-of-doors. Put on a heavier suit when a cold snap comes. Use a raincoat, over-shoes and umbrella on rainy days. Change as quickly as possible, into dry clothes if you are caught in a drenching downpour.

With a shortage of fuel facing all of us, our houses are likely to be chillier than usual during the early fall months. Look up your supply of sweaters and have them ready for use on these first chilly days. Get out some other heavy clothing and warm bed coverings at the same time. Eat plenty of simple nourishing food. Have your meals at regular hours. Drink plenty of water. Take some exercise out of doors, every day. Get the necessary amount of rest.

If you are caught in the clutches of a cold, unawares, don't treat it lightly. It may turn into something very serious if neglected. The quickest way to get over a cold, or, to bring it under control, is to go to bed, keep warm, eat lightly, drink plenty of water and fruit juices, and at the slightest sign of fever, send for your doctor and stay in bed until he feels that it is safe for you to get up and get out again.

And remember, colds are very contagious. Cold-producing germs are scattered far and wide whenever the victim of a cold coughs or sneezes. They are likely to be found on anything the victim touches. If you are the victim, keep your germs to yourself. Have your own towels and wash cloths, your own drinking glass and dishes—and be sure that they are adequately sterilized with hot—very hot—water and soap after you have used them. Keep well supplied with paper handkerchiefs; dispose of them promptly after they have been used.

Hoarding Gasoline Will Void Insurance

AUSTIN.—Civic leaders in the promotion of fire prevention are facing a heavy handicap of increased hazards to overcome fire prevention, declares Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner.

"Every person in Texas who is hoarding gasoline has automatically voided fire insurance on his property," Commissioner Hall announced. "Persons foolishly trying to hoard a few gallons of gasoline have done these things:

"They have jeapordized their insurance. When gasoline come into your home, your fire insurance policy goes out. Unless you have a special permit from your company, the policy simply says that gasoline is a more powerful explosive than dynamite and that, 'I will not stand guard over a house where gasoline is stored—even a small amount.' Your policy literally says this in different words, but that is what it means.

Texas standard fire policies, the Commissioner points out, clearly state that insurance is void if gasoline is stored on the premises unless a permit is obtained from the insurance company. The company doesn't have to serve the policy holder with any kind of notice.

Speed! That's the name of the Nation's tire thief.

Speed robs the heavy-footed driver of one-third to one-half of the essential mileage remaining in his irreplaceable tires.

Speed hastens the day when cars must be laid up because rubber is lacking . . . bringing almost fantastic dislocations in our economic life and in our ability to hold war production at maximum.

Remember that tires last only half as long at 55 miles an hour as at 35!

So today . . . right now, as you read this message . . . make a solemn promise to yourself: "Until we win the war, I will never drive over 35."

Say it again, and let the words sink in: "Until we win the war, I will never drive over 35."

To help keep your car from becoming a "tire orphan", stop at the Orange and Black 66 Shield. That is where you get Phillips 66 Poly Gas, famous for pep and mileage, and Phillips 66 Motor Oil, 100% paraffin base.

And that is where the Phillips 66 Service Man is ready with a variety of services which make tires last longer and go farther. He checks inflation. Inspects and corrects cuts and bruises. Rotates tires from wheel to wheel. He helps you:

DON'T BE FOOLED BY A FULL JUNK YARD!

Don't listen to people who say—"They can't need scrap very badly. Look at that junk yard, or the auto graveyards—they've got plenty of scrap. And remember the last time we had a drive the stuff sat around for weeks." Tell such people these true facts . . .

OF course the junk yards are full. They are "factories" that turn out finished scrap—sorted, broken up, and bundled . . . ready for the mills of America. The scrap has to go through these yards, and it keeps going through fast!

The auto graveyards too, are busy. They specialize in used car parts, but produce plenty of scrap as well. In June alone, these yards moved 450,000 tons—for they are required to junk within 60 days as many cars as they buy.

As for Salvage Depots—communities all over the country are staging drives. All this scrap can't be taken away at once. The junkies can't handle it and the mills can't store it. But every pound is needed and will be used. We've got to pile it up ready for instant use at any time.

The day when all junk yards are empty, when the auto graveyards are cleaned out, when all the local scrap stockpiles are gone—that is the day to dread. It is a day to avoid at all costs.

So remember—steel is needed to fight the war, and millions of lives depend on it. This steel is made of 50% scrap—and the mills have not enough scrap to last even 30 days longer. Don't fail to do your part in this emergency.

Perryton Youths in Curtain Club

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 6—The "stage door entrance" of campus theatricals was wide open to all comers at the University of Texas this week, as students were invited to try out for admission to the Curtain Club, leading student dramatic organization.

Tryouts were held before the Club's Board of Governors, composed of student officers and faculty advisers. The Curtain Club has already announced forthcoming production of three plays, the first of which will be the popular Broadway comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace."

The new members of the club will be "on probation" for a year. If at the end of that time they are still interested in further work on theatricals, they will be elected to permanent membership.

TO DO a special kind of service takes that extra something. Coca-Cola does a special service to thirst because it has that extra something, too. More than just quenching thirst, ice-cold Coca-Cola brings energy-giving refreshment that you feel . . . and enjoy.

And Coca-Cola brings you the deliciousness of its clean, exciting taste. A finished art in its making blends special, wholesome flavor-essences to merge all the other ingredients into a unique taste all its own. No one can duplicate it.

To think of refreshment is to think of ice-cold Coca-Cola. Its quality, taste and refreshing goodness set this original drink apart from all others.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing . . . the real thing . . . "a single thing coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

While you're exchanging pictures, why not exchange your thirst for an ice-cold Coca-Cola. You'll go for the sparkling goodness of its delicious taste and you'll welcome its after-sense of refreshment.

Headlines You'll Never Read in a Free Press

Merchants Barred From Advertising

Suppose you read that headline in your newspaper today. Would you shrudge your shoulders, remark "it's tough on the paper" and go about your business.

More than likely you wouldn't. Such a headline would be the fore-runner of some unwelcome changes in your way of life.

It would mean that freedom of the press had vanished, that other freedoms were on the way out, too, because this newspaper could no longer keep you alert to still more assaults upon your liberties.

Under a dictatorship there would be no advertising as you have come to know and to accept advertising today. Gone would be your RIGHT to read what you please and your freedom of CHOICE in the things you buy.

Gone, too, would be many economies you've taken for granted because advertising has speeded distribution and lowered price. Your standard of living would suffer. Jobs would be in jeopardy as demand for goods slackened.

This week, Newspaper Week, is a good itme for some serious thinking.

Your newspaper and its readers, its advertisers and their customers, are in a sort of partnership; a partnership to keep your newspaper free.

For if the press is free you won't have to worry very much about the other freedoms.

Libraries Ordered To Burn All Books

Suppose you were commanded to buy and read certain books and were warned that it would be treasonable to read any others.

You wouldn't like it, of course.

"Going to the library" is a well-established American custom. Freedom to choose the kind of books you WANT to read is a strongly entrenched habit.

You have your favorite authors. Reading their books has been an important part of your life. Books have broadened your thinking, added to your knowledge. And they've brought you pure pleasure and entertainment.

At the book stores you select from thousands of copies. Suppose, instead, your choice was limited to a few volumes authored by a dictator. You'd lose much of the joy of life.

A freedom would be gone. Another freedom would have gone earlier—the freedom of the press, under which no dictator could operate with success.

This is Newspaper Week, a good week to reflect upon your responsibility, your partnership with your newspaper in the never-ending defenses of ALL FREEDOMS.

Because so long as the press is free, so long will you enjoy your other freedoms.

Service Clubs Ruled Illegal

Service clubs, social clubs . . . clubs of various kinds are definitely a part of your way of life. Their members have made splendid contributions to community welfare, to national progress and to their own individual development.

It would never occur to us that the state might consider them inimical to its welfare. But then we aren't living under a dictator.

A dictator might consider our clubs a threat because they have "old-fashioned" ideas about honesty, integrity and chivalry.

Dictators don't encourage personal progress, all efforts being subordinate to the good of the state.

On that basis service clubs might have to go and we would lose another freedom. But before that, another freedom would have gone—the freedom of the press.

When the pres is stifled, other rights vanish on by one.

This week, Newspaper Week, give a thought to your relationship to your newspaper.

You're in a partnership with your newspaper; a partnership to maintain the American way of life by preserving a free press and thus defending all other freedoms as well.

Children Ordered To Spy On Parents

Not a pleasant headline, is it? Certainly YOU wouldn't want to be betrayed by your own children. But it has happened under a dictator.

Vital to the American way of life, essential to the strength of this nation, is the American family. To keep out suspicion and distrust, to encourage respect for the rights of other members . . . in this way the family unit is made strong. And so it contributes its spirit of unity to the nation.

Suppose you lived under a dictator. Suppose YOUR children were so completely under his domination tha ttheir duty to him seemed in their minds, far more important than the loyalty and respect due you as a parent.

If that time comes, a freedom will have gone. And another freedom will have gone with it—the freedom of the press.

And that's why this week, Newspaper Week, is a good time to analyze your relationship to your newspaper. You and your newspaper are in a partnership.

You are in a partnership with your newspaper to preserve the freedom of the press.

Not merely because you've acquired the pleasant and incurable habit of wanting to read your newspaper regularly, but because by keeping your newspaper free you safeguard other freedoms, too.

Election Rallies Banned By State

Whether the candidate is a pound-master or a national president you want the right to "button-hole" your friends in his behalf.

You want the right to attend election rallies, to hear any and all candidates, to applaud them or heckle them, to read their statements and political advertisements in your newspaper.

But suppose, under a dictator, the political field was limited to the dictator's choice. Suppose the dictator's armed stooges stood guard at your polling place.

Just to make sure you put the "X" in the right spot.

Well, it wouldn't do you any good to talk about rights. You couldn't "write a letter to the editor" because it wouldn't be printed in a dictator-dominated press.

No, another freedom would be gone because another freedom had gone before —the freedom of the press. When that freedom goes, the others aren't far behind.

Newspaper Week ends October 8, but that doesn't mean that YOUR responsibility ends.

Nor does it mean that your newspaper will be less alert on any assualt upon your liberties.

Your responsibility makes you a partner of your newspaper in the defense of ALL freedoms.

State Confiscates Church Property

That's a headline that wouldn't make pleasant reading in this country, any more than that it has in some other nations. The right to attend church, to worship as we see fit, is a right of first importance.

Suppose, next Sunday, instead of going to church you were required to hear the voice of a dictator telling you that all your old ideas of right and wrong were based on fairy tales.

Suppose your favorite clergyman was held in a concentration camp because his views differed from those of the dictator.

You adults, brought up with the fear of God in your hearts, might see your children learning allegiance to a new god, a false god.

Freedom of worship would be gone. But before that, another freedom would have vanished—the freedom of the press.

It isn't a pretty picture. But it has happened.

To say that all freedoms are closely related to or dependent upon the freedom of the press is but the truth.

The newspaper sees this fact as a solemn responsibbility, conscious that it must always be first on the firing line against any assault upon the American way of life.

This week, Newspaper Week, we remind readers that you're in a partnership with your newpaper to protect ALL freedom.

Scrap Harvest Time is Now!

The National Scrap Harvest, which is hte official name of the War Production Board's drive for farm scrap, is now in full swing from coast to coast. The quota is "all there is on every square foot of every farm in the country."

You may ask—just what is back of all this furor about scrap? Why all the rush? Won't it be just as useful next year as it is now?

The answer is that industry is forging the largest and most powerful fighting force Uncle Sam has ever had. This force is to be the finest and best equipped on the face of the globe . . . and it must be equipped NOW. To do this an abundance of all the necessary materials used in the production of war weapons is necessary.

Rubber and metal are the two most essential materials needed, since our supply of rubber has been almost entirely cut off and steel is made of, roughly 50 per cent virgin iron ore and 50 per cent scrap.

It's going to take a tremendous amount of scrap iron to keep those hungry furnaces going this winter—cold months when many roads will be blocked and scrap more difficult to collect. So gather it NOW! If you see huge piles of scrap in the junk dealers' yards don't jump to the conclusion that there is plenty. That scrap is moving all the time'. . . flowing in a steady stream to the mills where it is needed.

Remember, those charged with the heavy responsibility of seeing that our armed forces are adequately equipped with the sinews of war are banking on the farmers of America coming through with a bumper scrap crop.

A Letter for a Soldier

The mail clerk calls out the names: Jones, Smith, Brown; they grin, make a grab for the letter, post card or package. One by one the contents of the mail sack are handed out. Faces are alight. Hearts beat a little more rapidly. These are little pieces of home—home that is thousands of miles away.

There are a few men who turn away from the eager circle around the mail clerk. Nothing for them. Out of sight; out of mind. Not that they are unloved at home. Not that they are forgotten. Just that the folks at home were careless, and they didn't realize how desperately the youth at the front, sailing the dangerous seas, storming up foreign beaches, needed a letter from home.

Mail is important in all the armed services. When a ship reaches port from a long and dangerous patrol, the first boat reaching the ship from the shore is a small mail boat. The Government risked a submarine to carry United States mail to Corregidor.

When the mail is passed out there is always at least one and usually a dozen men who do not receive any word from home. They loaf around while the other fellows read their letters. They listen avidly while the other fellows read choice bits from letters they have received.

It is worse at night for the boy who didn't get a letter from home. The homesickness tie with home is never really broken. He lies awake yearning, yearning—and a letter never comes to him. Maybe the mail clerk is playing a joke. Take him aside and tell him that fun is fun, but holding out on the mail is no joke. There have been hard-boiled old Army sergeants who have lived in garrisons all over the world who still suspect that postmasters, mail sorters, and mail clerks are in league against them.

But it isn't the Postal Service working against the young fellow who never gets a letter. It's the folks at home. Take the case of a submarine flotilla, which was kept in constant operation from December 7 to several months later, always on the move, shifting from base to base, always just ahead of the mail. When the mail finally caught up all but a few of the folks at home had stopped writing. But those few who had written regularly, week after week, had written for the whole flotilla, for the letters were passed around from hand to hand, read and reread until they were threadbare.

Uncle Sam can't do anything about the young man who doesn't get a letter: the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps can feed him, clothe him, make him physically fit, give him the weapons to make him the best fighting man in the world. But Uncle Sam can't write letters—not the kind the young fellow out there wants to get.

There's only one place and there's only one group who can do that. The folks at home. It doesn't matter if the words are misspelled. It doesn't matter if the snapshot of sis and her new baby is out of focus. Send it anyway.

Try to send good news, cheerful news. If there is misfortune at home, minimize your account of that. Out there, where death is always facing your boy, your little troubles may seem small. But even a letter full of bad news is better than no letter at all.

It is far easier for the folks at home to write a letter than it is for the boy at the fighting front. Even the simplest phrases from home are endowed by the distance separating the fighting man from home with a golden glow.

If you haven't anyone of your own out on the fighting fronts, write to that boy down the street, the one you have watched grow up, the one who used to throw your newspapers, the one who used to deliver the groceries. If there wasn't any boy down the street—ask someone around your community. They'll know of someone who needs letters.

Write to a man in the service—and send him a little piece of home.—Texas Legion News.

Our Valleys of Decision

By Louis Bromfield

"This is a new kind of war, a war for which we have as yet been unable even to find a name. It marks a turning point in world history, the most enveloping and decisive turning point there has ever been, because for the first time in the world's history the entire world is involved and because the decision involves the whole future of civilization.

"The future of civilization is a vague and tremendous and oratorical phrase. Interpreted and broken down, it means the freedom of yourself and myself, whether we shall be allowed to live in a decent fashion, enjoying liberty and prosperity and human dignity, involving the future of the very house we live in, the happiness and well-being of our children, the opportunities of young people and all the comfort and security of the old. It affects how we shall worship God, and how and whether we can live in decency with our neighbors. We can help, all of us, by fighting, by working, by keeping our courage high. We can help too, enormously, by lending to ourselves the money which is necessary to win this war, by testifying to our confidence in our own country, our own battle. War Bonds and War Stamps are weapons exactly as tanks and guns are weapons. Buy now, not tomorrow or next day, but now—to save what God gave us and what we have fought for since our country became a Nation—BUY WAR BONDS."

Food Stamps Total $2,200 in Three Months

How the Food Stamp Program helps Ochiltree County farmers as well as underprivileged families was pointed out in a report released today by Dan L. Boyd, Amarillo, Texas, Area Supervisor, Agricultural Marketing Administration.

Over $2,200 in blue food stamps which have been issued to needy families in the county from the beginning of the Program, April 1, 1942 through July 31, 1942, represent additional farm markets created by the farm program, the report showed. An average of 64 families representing some 216 persons have received increased food purchasing power in the form of blue food stamps each month since the program began.

"Farm products often come to market in season and out in such heavy supply, prices would be ruinous to the farmers if the use of the commodities by consumers was not increased," Mr. Boyd explained.

"Families using Food Stamps are first required to buy orange stamps with the money they would normally spend for food. They are then issued blue stamps which gives them an increase of 50% in food purchasing power.

"Orange stamps will buy any kind of food while blue stamps will purchase only those foods for which farmers need an additional market."

Blue Stamp Food Lists are subject to change by the Department of Agriculture each month, it was pointed out. Therefore, the commodities for which farmers need added markets can be included on the list at all times.

Gasoline Rationing Will Not Strand Farm Workers

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 6—Gasoline rationing will not hinder movement of migratory farm laborers in Texas, B. F. Vance, chairman, Texas USDA War Board, said this week.

Citing instructions from William M. Jeffers, War Production Board Rubber Director, Vance pointed out that migratory workers who move with the harvest from one section of the country to the other are entitled to supplementary gasoline rations to move about as their work requires.

Under gasoline rationing already in operation in the East and under plans being prepared for national tire conservation, workers engaged on farms rank as essential workers in the war effort, and need have no fear of being stranded away from home.

Vance added that workers away from home who continue working in the areas where they are located will be entitled to gasoline rations necessary to carry on their work and to get them back to their homes when their work has been completed.

Workers Should Have Social Security Cards

In this part of the State there are a great many men and women who spend most of their time working on farms or in domestic service, except for the summer months, when they find employment covered by the Social Security law, it was stated today by Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo field office of the Social Security Board.

Each of these workers should have a Social Security Account number card, said Mr. Reed, manager of the local office of the Social Security Board, because wages earned in such jobs are credited to an account maintained under this social security account number. Upon their death before age 65 or retirement after age 65, they or their survivors may qualify for an old-age and survivors insurance benefit.

Many of these people do not believe that this short period of employment from one to three months could affect their entitlement to an old-age insurance benefit. However, it is just this type of employment that might fulfill their requirements for entitlement at some future date.

Each wage earner should have one and only one social security account number, which he should keep at all times.

Substitute War Crops For Wheat

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 6—Full wartime production from all available cropland highlights the 1943 farm program, according to preliminary plans.

Present plans now shaping up provide that at least 90 per cent of the special allotment crops, such as wheat, cotton, rice, potatoes and peanuts, must be planted before full AAA payments may be earned, Fred Rennels, Assistant Administrative Officer of the Triple-A in Texas, announced.

In clarifying the 90 per cent provision, Rennels explained that approved war crops in excess of the acreage normally grown may be substituted acre for acre in meeting requirements for special allotment crops.

Wheat farmers also may substitute certain feed grain crops, in excess of the normal acreage, as well as war crops, the AAA official explained, but added that this provision would not apply to cotton, rice, potato and peanut allotments.

Since this year's bumper wheat crop, plus carryover, has resulted in a two-year supply which taxes storage and transportation facilities, wheat growers are being encouraged by the USDA to shift from wheat to other crops more urgently needed in the war program and accounts for the substitution of feed grains for wheat, Rennels pointed out.

Feed grain crops which may be substituted for wheat in any Texas county where wheat allotments have been established are grain sorghums, oats and barley.

War crops already designated for 1943 include soybeans for [illegible], flaxseed, dry beans, certain [illegible] cover crop seeds, sugar crops, [illegible] Island and S & P cotton, [illegible] peanuts for oil and castor [illegible] and others probably will be [illegible] later, Rennels said.

Once again a vacancy appears on e school faculty. This vacancy is used by the resignation of Glenn Truax, and it too will be a dif- ult place to fill. Mr. Truax, now member of the college faculty at T. S. T. C. Denton, will teach in e Demonstration School.

Mr. Truax, although comparative- new to the school, this being his ird year, is an old timer in this icinity. He played in a five piece chestra that helped Perryton to lebrate it's second birthday. He ayed municipal concerts under e direction of George Hyde, first usic director of Perryton.

Mr. Truax has taught 18 years, arting on the violin at the age of hirteen. He had his first band ex- erience with an organization in rance during World War I. The State Teachers College at Emporia, Kansas is Mr. Truax's Alma Mater. He worked his way through this in- stitution by playing and teaching the violin and singing in church choirs.

Mr. Truax has improved the Per- ryton Schools by organizing suc- cesfully an A Capella Choir, a String Choir, Drum and Bugle Corps and dividing the Junior Band into two bands. The Senior Band has grown into one of the best in the Panhandle.

It was a lucky day for Perryton when Mr. Truax and his family moved here from Shamrock, and it will be a sad day, October 9, when he leaves to take his place at Den- ton. Miss Dozier is 5 feet 8½ inches in height. When wearing green or brown her eyes are the same. Her brown hair adds to a very pleasing appearance.

In making a choice of literature she prefers a selection of poems. Cooking for her would not be diffi- cult at all, she has no favorite dish but she does enjoy eating. As a spectator she prefers football but as a participant she enjoys tennis. Proof that she is enjoying her stay in Perryton is evident because her favorite saying, "It's a great life" has not changed.

People do not seem to realize the importance of this drive. The men on the front cannot fight well with- out guns, tanks, planes, and the necessities of war.

Many seem to think the war is the same as won because no army has been able to penetrate Ameri- can lines for victory. Wars are not won on past reputations, one must remember.

Principals Doyle Thompson, M. L. Stevens, and Gilbert Mize form the faculty committee for the scrap drive. The Victory Club is backing this drive by campaigning and furnishing a committee consisting of Edwin Pletcher, Donald Ellis, Helen Marie Hudson, and Shannon Daniel to weigh in the metal.

Miss Elizabeth Jameson, gifted pianist who has over one hundred college hours in piano, was featured in a recital, Friday Oct. 2, at the regular chapel period. Her first two numbers were originally composed by Bach for the violin. The begin- ning rendition, "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," was arranged for the pi- ano by Hess, the second, "Prelude to the Sixth Violin Sonata," by Van Kitwijk. "Trios Eccosaisses" and "Two Waltzes," third and fourth numbers, respectively, were both composed by Chopin. The recital ended with Miss Jameson's render- ing of "Etude" and "Lachasse," both compositions of Liszt. Perryton is fortunate to have such an artist as Miss Jameson as junior high music director.

Bill Stephenson was master of ceremonies and Dorothy George read the scripture.

C. Wedgeworth, superintendent, announced that, although the de- parture of E. D. Kelley left a vac- ancy in the faculty, no replacement will be made. Mr. Kelley's work will be absorbed by present faculty members.

Peggy Thomas, speaking in behalf of the Victory Club, called attention to the scrap drive that organization is sponsoring.

El Juego

There is going to be an inter- squad game between the first and second string, Friday Oct. 9. It seems that the second string has out-maneuvered the first string about every time they play. There should be a little excitement stirred up during the game.

Friday night, Oct. 16 at 8:30 the Rangers will start their conference against the Canadian Wildcats at the Ranger Field. If the Rangers win this game, they will stand among the first in the district.

It looks as though there are sev- eral of the Jr. High football boys walking around with very little hair. It has been heard that there was an agreement between the Junior and Senior football team saying that if the Juniors lost their first game the Seniors would clip their hair. If the Rangers lost their first game, they would also have their hair clipped. It turned out that every one had their hair clipped. FLASH: The coaches have also agreed to get a short haircut.

The girls Physical Education club have been making progress in such things as exercises, lectures, out- door games, and folk dancing.

Music Department Fills 12 Program Engagements

The members of the Perryton High School Musical Department under the direction of Glenn Truax have made 12 appearances to date. The engagements were as follows: Sept. 15, a vocal solo by Mayme Nitschke at Lions Club; Sept. 21, a brass sextette at Legion Hall; Sept. 24, the Ranger Band parade; Sept. 25, the Ranger Band, chapel and football game; Drum and Bugle corps, football game; Sept. 28, Ran- ger Band special chapel; Oct. 1, grade school band chapel, mixed Quartet at Rotary Club luncheon, and the Ranger Band Pep Rally; Oct. 4, Ranger Band played at the Gray, Okla. Booster Station.

Rangers Nosed Out by Borger

Playing on a field where water stood an inch deep in many places and bothered by a steady down- pour, the Rangers lost to the class AA Borger Bulldogs, 6 to 0, at Bor- ger Friday, Oct. 2.

Fielding a team that outweighed the Rangers nearly ten pounds to the man and pushing a big exper- ience advantage, the Bulldogs made a lone tally in the second quarter to win the game.

The Bulldogs displayed a strong ground attack led by shifty running of Briggs and the power drives of Gaddis. Their touchdown came when a punt by Bray was blocked on the 25 yd. line. Then a series of line plays by Gaddis and Briggs put the ball in scoring position and Gaddis plunged over. Gaddis again tried to plunge for the conversion but was stopped short of the goal line.

The Bulldogs kicked off to the Rangers, who tried desperately to score but finally lost the ball on downs.

This is the story of play but any fan there will tell you although the Rangers were outplayed they never quit. The Bulldogs penetrated the Ranger 20 yd. line 4 times in the last quarter only to be turned back by the fighting Rangers. Twice they had the ball on the 1 yard line but they couldn't cross. This never say quit spirit should lead the Rangers to a successful season.

'Get in the Scrap'

VICTORY CLUB SAYS . . .

Attention! Everyone! Are you willing to do everything in your power to safeguard the future of America? There is an opportunity to do so today. That is the collec- tion of scrap metal, rubber, and rags. There is no other way in which an individual can be of greater help to one's country, gov- ernment, and standards. This is a nation wide drive in which every- one may participate from the youngest child to the oldest adult.

One does not need special train- ing in order to help to keep Amer- ica's War Plants rolling. The deed may be easily and completely ac- complished by bringing in scrap. One particular scrap is not desig- nated, but metal, rubber, rags, bur- lap rags, and manila rope in any condition is needed.

Students, as a Junior Army, help to form a Third Front. Not only is it the duty of this Third Front to provide the necessary tonnage of scrap for war industries, but it is absolutely essential for Victory. The drive for scrap will not be ended until the last shot is fired. Without scrap the production of guns, tanks, ships, and shells will slacken and our armies will meet defeat.

The collecting of scrap is a job for the schools, and they take it on with an enthusiasm and vigor that assures success.

Scrap is needed at once to win the war. Help, not only as your pa- triotic duty but also for the love of your country and your hope in see- ing Victory soon.

Scrap Drive Assembly Theme

The three schools met in the au- ditorium Monday, Oct. 5, at activity period. The purpose of the meeting was given by Supt. C. Wedgeworth in the following words, "We Are Here Because Uncle Sam Has Call- ed Us." Monday was the opening day of the School Scrap Metal Drive.

Wilbur Cotner was student direct- or. Donald Schuster and Glen Wag- goner were color guards.

Supt. Wedgeworth outlined the meaning of the drive and the part the school would take. Cecil Dodd, chairman of the Ochiltree County Scrap Metal Drive, spoke in behalf of the county drive and the stu- dent's responsibility. He stated that the past scrap metal drives had not accomplished what was expected and therefore the state was calling on the school children for help. Mr. Dodd in closing said, "The next time anyone sees that metal it will be a Jap or German."

Mayor Lance pledged the fullest cooperation on the part of the city. Wilbur Cotner spoke in behalf of the Victory Club and pledged all the help possible. He said, "When the need is so great it is our pa- triotic duty to help."

Each school will have a separate drive and the person bringing in the most scrap metal will receive a plaque of honor. Governor Coke Stevenson has made all school chil- dren in the state Junior Texas Ran- gers during the drive.

The money received from the sale of the metal will go into the fund for purchasing new pictures for our school theater.

Well Done!

Up and down this land, the free American presses are rolling. Rolling to preserve the free way of life that is ours to enjoy. As long as the American people are given true presentation of what's happening on the fighting front and at home, the Axis hordes will never get to first base in our country.

This community is proud of the accomplishments of its home town newspaper. It is part of the parcel of the powerful arsenal of the fighting spirit that will win the war . . . and of the Freedom that makes it worth the winning. For this we feel happy to render a vote of confidence for a job well done.

As newspapers all over the country observe the third annual NEWSPAPER WEEK, October 1 to 8, we feel it is timely to express our appreciation of the OCHILTREE COUNTY HERALD, our home town newspaper. The tireless effort it has made to promote the fundamental welfare of the people of this area — to live up to its duty as a real community servant — is something to value and esteem highly.

It is with confidence of the future service the OCHILTREE COUNTY HERALD shall render, we say of its past, "Well done."

Store Your Food Fresh

Fred LeCrone
Associate Extension Horticulturist
Oklahoma A. & M.

The war situation at present indicates that civilians will have to eat more fresh vegetables and fruit so as to make larger and larger amounts of canned, dried, and otherwise preserved foods available for our fighting forces. Every victory gardener, therefore, should not only produce as large a quantity of these foods as possible, but follow through and store as many of them in the fresh state as possible.

Storing fresh vegetables is not difficult during the winter, since cool weather provides the low temperatures necessary for successful storage. The main consideration, therefore, is adequate insulation against freezing weather plus a little ventilation and some arrangement of products and storage so that the food can be gotten out conveniently.

Everyone has heard about the trench silo for the storing of livestock feed. Much the same type of temporary storage can be used for the storing of vegetables and fruits during the winter. This type of storage is usually referred to as a mound, trench, or pit type storage. Regardless of the name or how constructed, soil is used as the insulation material. Mounds are piles of products built above ground, covered with a layer of hay or straw and a layer of soil thick enough to prevent freezing. Trenches or pits are holes dug in the ground or side of a hill where products are stored and covered with a layer of hay or straw and enough soil to keep frost away. Every farm gardener can easily build one of these storages and preserve fresh fruit and vegetables for use throughout the winter and until fresh produce can be grown in the 1943 Victory Garden.

Observe these suggestions in constructing these storages: 1. Build mound, pit, or trench type storages close to the house so they will be handy and convenient. 2. Select a location where water will drain away from the products stored. 3. Don't build these storages in too large units to avoid the difficulty of using small quantities at a time from a large cone-shaped pile or wide, deep trench, rather, build long, narrow trenches and long pyramind-shaped mounds. 4. Provide a convenient opening so that products can be taken out easily. 5. Provide ventilation at intervals in these storages by inserting a stove pipe into the products and letting it extend above the ground. Cover ventilators to keep out water.

The following vegetables and fruits can be stored successfully in mound, trench, or pit type storages: carrots, beets, turnips, parsnips, cabbage, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, apples, and pears.

More Chickens For the Table

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard has asked American poultrymen to produce 200 million extra chickens this fall and winter. The additional poultry is desired to supplement the supplies of meat in prospect for civilian use.

On the basis of an estimate of the number of chickens in Texas to the total in the nation, the quota for poultrymen in this state would be 10 million, according to George P. McCarthy, poultry husbandman for the A. and M. College Extension Service. He believes that if poultry raisers who have brooder equipment filled their brooder houses with chicks at once and sold them during the month of December Texas could readily meet its percentage of the increase. The thing could be done, he adds, in time to clear the decks for the spring crop of chickens.

It is desired to rear the additional chickens to an average weight of two to two and one-half pounds and thus increase the civilian meat supply this winter by 20 to 25 million pounds for Texas. The Secretary explains that regardless of a record production of all livestock, expected to yield 24 billion pounds of meat in 1943, the total demand adds up to 27 billion pounds. Roughly, six billion pounds or more— 25 per cent of the total meat production—will be required for the nation's armed forces and our allies during this fiscal year. This leaves about 18 billion pounds available for civilian, or about three billion pounds short of the demand in prospect.

Texas Farm Income is 74 Per Cent Greater Than in 1941

AUSTIN, Texas.—Texas farmers have already received 74 per cent more money from their 1942 crops than they did during the first two-thirds of 1941, Dr. F. A. Buechel, statistician for the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, reports.

Agricultural income for the first eight months of 1942 has been $412,000,000 as compared with $237,000,00 during the like period a year ago, he estimates.

During August, farm cash income totaled $78,000,000 compared with $30,000,000 in August a year ago and the average August income of $66,000,000 for the five-year period 1928-32.

"Cash income in the old cotton areas is noteworthy," he points out, "while the western areas are making great strikes in all phases of the livestock including dairying, and are thus building their agriculture on a solid foundation."

He estimated a 3,484,000-bale cotton crop, however, larger than any during the past four years, but considerably below the ten-year average for 1928-37 of 4,077,000 bales.

"From the standpoint of cash income, cotton and cottonseed no longer stand pre-eminent in total agricultural income," he declared, "but instead have yielded priority to livestock and livestock products. Since 1938 the income from livestock and livestock products have been well above that from cotton and cottonseed, and this margin of gain promises to widen sharply in the future."

He cited that in 1927 cotton and cottonseed accounted for $504,960,000 of the state's total farm cash income of $760,695,000, while livestock and livestock products that year amounted to only $184,214,000. In 1941, on the other hand, the state's total agricultural income was $616,237,000, of which $285,560,000 came from livestock and livestock products, while only $250,380,000 came cotton and cottonseed.

"It is extremely significant and fortunate that for the past several years emphasis in Texas agriculture has been placed upon the expansion of livestock and livestock products," he said. "Such products as meats, milk, dairy manufactured products and eggs will be required in growing amounts during coming months and years; whereas the problem of burdensome surpluses still prevails in such products as cotton, wheat and corn.

"These facts must be given more consideration than ever before by those who occupy strategic positions in the determination of the agricultural policies of the state."

Treat Sheep For Parasites

Parasites nick Texas sheepmen for millions of dollars yearly. Perhaps the heaviest loss results from lambs which fail to gain as they should because of affliction with stomach worms. According to W. R. Nisbet, sheep and goat specialist for the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, lambs heavily infested with parasites do not put on flesh they normally would and as a consequence grade low both as feeders and fat lambs.

Moreover, the fleeces of infested lambs are lighter and often have a weak spot in the fibre which wool graders call a "tender" fleece. Likewise, old sheep which are parasited don't produce as much or as good wool as healthy animals. This is a very important consideration, Nisbet says, because we need all of the good wool we can get for military purposes.

There is another shortage, too . . . one which few persons associate with sheep. It is a shortage of the material to make catgut for surgical sutures. These come from the upper part of the intestines of sheep. But intestines of animals infested with nodular worms cannot be used for catgut or sausage casings. To Texans, whose sheep production is a major industry, this represents a sizeable money loss.

Stopping these losses largely is a matter of prevention, and the best preventive is the phenothiazine treatment. You can give it in capsules, in feed, or in the form of a drench. But Nisbet suggests consulting your county agricultural agent about the availability of a veterinarian for administering the treatment.

Fall Chicks

Lawrence Morris
Associate Extension Poultryman
Oklahoma A. & M.

The poultry industry is being called upon for more and greater production for the coming year. One way this increase can be met is to hatch fall chicks.

Under normal conditions, in Oklahoma, with egg prices declining in the spring months, fall chicks have not proved popular or profitable, but under existing condition fall chicks may be used to keep the poultry houses full and at the same time increase the income.

Fall chicks should be brooded in the regular manner. Use a brooder stove that will provide plenty of heat, and do not overcrowd. Allow about one square foot of floor space for each two chicks, or 250 chicks for a 10x12 brooder house.

Present indications point to a good price for fryers and broilers this fall; so, if you have the labor and equipment the family income might be increased through this source, as well as helping to provide meat for civilian use.

Chicks hatched in October or November should start laying in five or six months, and should lay pretty well through next summer. These chicks and pullets should be handled in the regularly recommended manner.

According to tests that have been made, fall chicks grow faster and with less mortality than chicks hatched at other seasons of the year.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB NEWS

Club Members Improve Poultry

Four families of the Missouri Ave. and Twichell communities are helping produce food to win the war by better housing of their poultry.

Better housing means more egg production during the winter months. Laying hens must be kept comfortably warm if they are expected to produce profitably and yet a warm house not properly ventilated is less desirable than not enough heat.

House should be built for circulating air currents. Good examples of this type of ventilation are the poultry houses of the Fred Hustons, Earl McGarraughs, J. H. Kershaws and J. S. Slaughters.

Plans similar to the ones used for these houses may be obtained at the A. & M. Extension offices or from E. W. Thomas, county agent, or Miss Elizabeth Huffhines, home demonstrator, in the bulletin Poultry Houses for Texas.

These families mentioned are conducting their poultry raising on a business like basis; keeping records, feeding balanced rations and giving their flocks proper housing. In doing these things they are fulfilling their pledge to produce more food and are also adding to the family income.

● Black Club

A good way to help use surplus wheat is as a food, can it in either tin or glass. This was a suggestion of Miss Elizabeth Huffhine in talking to the members of the Black Home Demonstration club at the regular meeting on October 1 in the home of Mrs. W. A. Schubert.

The hostess gave a timely demonstration on whole wheat bread. During a business session new officers were elected. They are Mrs. C. U. Pope, president; Mrs. C. F. Moses, vice president; Mrs. T. A. Tatkenhorst, secretary treasurer; and Mrs. E. D. Clements, reporter.

Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Schubert to Mrs. Pope, Mrs. Tatkenhorst, Mrs. Clement, Miss Huffhines and a visitor, Mrs. Fendor Schubert.—Reporter.

● Ochiltree Club

The Ochiltree Home Demonstration club met Friday, October 2, in the home of Mrs. Oscar Blank.

During the regular business session the following officers were selected for the coming year: Mrs. Robert Thurman, president; Mrs. James Blasingame, vice president; Mrs. Leon Shrader, secretary treasurer; Mrs. A. L. Carter, reporter; Mrs. Ed Terhune, council delegate; Mrs. Dell Wilson, assistant reporter.

Mrs. Wilson presented a most interesting and valuable object lesson on "The Value and Use of Whole Wheat Flour." The comparison of beautiful white flour to genuine whole wheat was ably made out of research work and actual facts. Mrs. Wilson passed whole wheat rolls and light bread to conclude her discussion.

Miss Huffhines gave a demonstration on the use of cold storage lockers for vegetables, fruits and meats. She said frozen foods were counted as luxury foods because of the transportation costs during war time. Freezing food is one of the most simple processes of retaining food value. But, as Miss Huffhines pointed out, it is cheaper only when properly used. Green peppers and blue plums were used in her demonstrations. In a general summary, these points were stressed in freezing foods: The dry pack is recommended by the state department. Sugar must be used for frozen fruits. Leave an air space to prevent the breaking of jars. Partially cook all vegetables before putting in the locker.

Attractive and tasty refreshments were served by Mrs. Black to the following members: Mrs. Bert Shehune, Mrs. Kirt Williams, Mrs. Claude Crouch, Mrs. Leon Shrader, Mrs. Charlie McCartney, Mrs. Tupper Warren, Mrs. James Blasingame, Mrs. Dell Wilson, Mrs. A. L. Carter and Mrs. Robert Thurman. Mrs. Lackey was a visitor.—Reporter.

Why your own car's Zero Hour comes at 00 miles an hour

ON THE OFFENSIVE you've got to be on the instant. Eager fighters, frisky jeeps, and all that's going along, must get going together—exactly at Zero Hour. But on the home front these brisk mornings, will your own precious car and its engine lubrication get going together—without deadly oiling delay? You can be sure as shootin', with your engine OIL-PLATED for Winter by Conoco Nth motor oil . . . oil that OIL-PLATES!

Even while the speedometer snoozes at 00 miles an hour—and you're still snug in your "kivers"—the chilly insides of your OIL-PLATED engine will already be coated by lubricant. Protective OIL-PLATING is really sort of "magnetized" to piston rings, bearings, and straight up the cylinders, by Conoco Nth oil's strong "power of attraction"—created by an added modern synthetic. This keeps the OIL-PLATING from all draining down to the crankcase overnight—over week-ends—and longer.

No complete lack of lubrication then, at 00 miles an hour—starting up cold. No long needless risk till cold oil comes inching along through passages as slim as spaghetti.

You're off safely, because OIL-PLATING safely stays on—ready to lubricate before any oil can circulate.

This season don't merely change oil. It's fully as simple and inexpensive to change to an OIL-PLATED engine. Just change to patented Conoco Nth oil at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Co.

Our Defenders Speak!

The Herald asks that men and women from this community serving in the armed forces write letters to this department for publication. Letters to relatives that would be of interest to the public will be published under this heading.

The following letter, received by Mrs. Bernard Leslie is the first to be received from her husband, Bernard O. Leslie, Baker 2-c of the United States Navy since he reached land after sailing from the west coast two months ago.

Island in Southwest Pacific
September 5, 1942

My dear:

Here I am sitting in the bakery tent beneath the palm trees. We have just finished the day's baking and as I was thinking of you (as usual), I decided to write. My quota allows me two more letters this week.

I do hope you are well and not lonely. I am so glad you have your sister and Kathleen with you. I would worry much if you did not. Where is Jim Anderson now? Give my regards to your Dad, Mother and Jimmy.

You would enjoy so many things on the island here. There are so many beautiful and interesting shells, coral and rocks on the beach. There are cocoanut palms, tangerines, oranges, lemons, bananas, cocoa beans, etc. In the jungle the vegetation is fascinating. Some of the trees are so grotesque they frighten you. Vines grow everywhere so thick you can hardly pass. Some places you cut your way thru. I have seen bats as large or larger than our hawks, frightful looking creatures.

Write mother and my sisters for me and "carry on."

Yours very truly,
Bernard O. Leslie, Bkr. 2-C

Dear Mr. Stewart:

I thought I'd take time to write you a few lines to let you know that I have enjoyed your paper very much and look forward to the time for the next one.

It helps to cheer me up when I get to feeling blue. I get to thinking of the boys that I came out here with. They are across the pond somewhere, I don't know just where, but here I am and it doesn't seem like I am doing much to win the war.

They have me doing carpenter work now. I guess I can take the place of a man that is able to go across.

It seems as if all the people around Perryton are doing their part in buying Bonds and Stamps. Well it is time for me to go to work, so I must sign off.

My regards to all.

Dear Sir:

I wish to thank you and the U. S. O. for the gift of the Ochiltree County Herald. It sure is a lot of company to me. There is plenty of news here in the Navy but no news is like the news from back home, where you left all your friends.

The Navy is certainly a swell organization. I am a seaman second class now and am going to metalsmith school which will take sixteen weeks to complete the course.

My address is different now so it will be necessary to change on your list so that I will get the paper.

Dear Sir:

The camp here is O. K., almost as windy as there and just as cold. There's a swell buneh of boys here, and the girls aren't bad. The people are quite friendly.

The worst part of the whole deal is going to school during the night, and trying to sleep and fight flies during the day. It won't be long now though. This cold weather is slowing them down considerably—the flies, I mean.

Dear Friends:

Will take this opportunity to thank you for two issues of the paper. All the boys from different points in Texas ask me during the week when I will get another.

I regret that I did not have a picture for the paper this week but we have been on the alert since my pictures were finished and haven't had a chance to send you one. I don't know what my next move will be but there is one coming within a few days. Will write you again when that change is made.

How is the weather up there? The nights are getting cold down here but still have plenty mosquitoes. I prefer Texas winds to Louisiana rains.

For a few things we do in camp. We get up at 5:30, eat breakfast at six, go to the drill field and drill until 11:45. Eat lunch at 12 and drill from one until 4:30. Eat again at five and spend the rest of the time cleaning equipment or seeing training films which are very helpful. We have plenty to eat and good food. All of the boys are gaining weight.

Will have to close now for it is time for lights out. We will finish this job as soon as possible and look forward to coming home.

As ever,

Dear Van:

While I have a minute to spare, let me thank you for the free copies of the Ochiltree County Herald. I can see that you intend keeping the honors of publishing the best weekly paper in Texas until you get so durned old that you can't print papers. I know, what few people who receive your paper know, that the fine patriotic issue was not a money maker . . . I know what it costs to get cuts, and I know how much time you and your fine wife spent planning and working up the paper. GOSH, I guess you get a real kick out of life, just doing a little bit better that the average paper man can accomplish. I'm telling you, you old slacker, if you had a couple of kids to educate, and a passion for hunting and fishing like I have, you just couldn't spend so much time and money making the Ochiltree County Herald the outstanding paper it is . . . but I'm for you, keep the good work going, and send me a sample copy now and then.

I have command of a colored company . . . only 29 men to date—but we expect to expand to 170 men, and are taking special training for specific duties . . . and that's about all I can tell you officially. However, I can tell you that I am really enjoying my colored boys . . . and to the men in Perryton who know me, that will be a surprise. They are all Southern niggers, and they are always happy and are really making fine soldiers. I can drill 'em on a dime and give you back seven cents change. They really have rythm of motion, and take pride in most close order and extended order drills.

Eddie Faye (Mrs. Miller) is with me now, and we are really having a second honeymoon . . . the kids are in college and teaching school, and we do not have a single responsibility. We have dances regular at our officers club, and these Minnesota people are wonderful . . . when you learn to know them, and can understand their quick snappy talking.

Van, I have had some real fishing in this section, and will get a little more before long. I did not get to go for the opening of the duck season on account of having to pay $25 license . . . but if I am here in November, I plan to take out license for the deer season, as they tell me this is the finest hunting in the country . . . will get to make the pheasant and deer season if I remain here until November 25. It's terribly cold, and I am a little doubtful if we get to stay here that long.

Best regards,
Bill Miller

I want to write you and tell you how much I appreciate getting the Perryton paper. It sure makes us feel good to read what is going on back home. I am sure I speak for all the boys away from home, although some are so situated that they can't write and tell you how much it means to them, but just the same they enjoy getting it.

Again I want to say thanks for the paper which your staff and the USO has made possible for us.

Dear Van:

I have received two of your papers and sure thank you and your staff for getting out such a fine paper. You don't know how much good it does for a person to hear from home.

I sure was glad to get the issue with all of the pictures in it, and if you can get me another issue of it, I would gladly pay anything for it as I want to make a scrapbook of all the boys from home. I can't do it very easy as there are pictures on both sides of some pages, and some of the articles about the boys.

I am sending you a picture that I just had made. When you finish with it, you can give it to mother and dad.

We are doing plenty of training and hope to get in good condition in this thirteen week cycle that we have to finish first. I am a little proud of myself in my shooting for record last week. I made sharpshooter and should have made expert except for a little difficulty I should have avoided, but I guess I was a little anxious in my rapid fire. I just liked five points of making expert so I figure it was not bad. The boys that beat me told me that they knew I was a better shot than they are. But I don't claim to be better—just as good. Although I do not like army life I am doing my best to do everything I can for our country.

Hoping to receive every issue of the Herald, I remain your friend.

Do You Know Military Insignia?

"Well, if he's a Naval officer, then why is he wearing khaki?"

About one-third of the general population are still asking that question, although the Navy has been wearing khaki since before Pearl Harbor.

And the explanation is simple—khaki is simply the "work uniform" of the Navy. Because of its durability, its coolness in hot weather and its capacity for cutting down laundry bills, it was the most logical material for such uniforms.

But John R. Public is still a little confused by many khaki uniforms. The Army has been in khaki for so many years, it is perhaps justifiable for many persons to assume at first glance that a khaki uniform denotes an Army man or a Marine.

Another question ferquently raised by Mr. and Mrs. Public is how to distinguish the various branches of the service. This has been the subject of much intense publicity on the part of both the Army and the Navy, for in war-time, one of the first duties of a good patriot is to know the service branches and to be able to distinguish them at a glance.

Necktie Easiest Rule

The easiet rule of recognition is the necktie. If the man in khaki uniform wears a black necktie he's in the Navy. It's as simple as all that because the Army men all wear khaki neckties.

Other methods of distinguishing service men are by the rank insignia. The caps too are different. Navy officers always wear anchors on the cap—but nary an anchor will you find on the Army officer.

Another problem worrying the average civilian is how to distinguish the various ranks of Army and Navy officers. Well, here's the simplest explanation:

In the first place, the ranks of Army and Marine officers are the same. They are denoted by bars, leaves and stars. The ranks of Naval officers are indicated by stripes, half-stripes and broad stripes. The star on a Naval officer's uniform indicates he is of the line (a deck officer.) A gold bar on the shoulder of an Army officer indicates the rank of a Second Lieutenant which corresponds to the rank of Ensign in the Navy as designated by one stripe on the officer's sleeve. A silver bar on an Army officer indicates the rank of First Lieutenant. A half inch and a quarter-inch stripe on a Naval officer designates the corresponding rank of Lieutenant (Junior Grade.) Two bars for the Army spell Captain, but in the Navy two stripes indicate Lieutenant (Senior Grade) which is the corresponding rank. Next in seniority is the Army's Major who wears a gold leaf; the Navy's corresponding rank of Lieutenant-Commander wears two full stripes with a half-stripe or narrow one between. A Lieutenant Colonel wearing a silver leaf correspond's to the Navy's Commander who wears three full stripes. A Colonel wears a silver spread eagle and corresponds in rank and pay to the Navy's Captain who wears four full stripes. A Brigadier General wears one star. This rank formerly corresponded to the Commodore in the Navy, a rank which has been discontinued.

The Army's Major-General, Lieutenant General and Full Gneral wear two, three and four stars respectively. To match them, the Navy has its Admirals, known as "Flag Officers." They are: Rear Admiral, Vice Admiral and Admiral and they all wear a two-inch stripe plus one, two and three stripes respectively.

Builds House to Accomodate 300 To 400 Laying Hens for $100

J. H. Kershaw of Twichell community four miles northeast of Perryton has solved the problem of lumber shortage and priorities in his Poultry Production Program, so states County Farm Agent E. W. Thomas. Faced with the necessity of either disposing of a fine flock of early pullets or providing an additional laying house, Mr. Kershaw built a temporary laying house, 20 by 40 feet in size, that should last several years.

Baled straw was used for the walls and sudan bundles were used to cover the roof. Glass cloth extends all the way across the front to furnish light and sunshine with openings for ventilation. Three large flue type ventilators at the back extending above the highest part of the roof are provided to assure circulation of air in the structure.

Total cost of the material used amounted to approximately $100.00. Materials for a new building of this size, if available, would cost at least three times this amount. All lumber used can be used in a new permanent building any time the temporary structure is torn down. The house is large enough to accomodate 300 to 400 laying hens.

flower gardens. He had not named his selections yet, but you can rest assured that every picture Lamb takes of flowers is a masterpiece. He has photographed such world famous gardens as Bellingraths at Mobile; Magnolia, Middleton and Cypress at Charleston; in fact all of the leading gardens of the nation, and the ladies are due to get an eyefull when he shows here.

If you recall, when Lamb left here, he was headed for the Indian ceremonials at Gallup, N. M. and he will more than likely include these new pictures in his show. As a final feature that would be a real show within itself, he wil bring to the screen the complete rodeo from Cheyenne Frontier Days at Cheyenne, Wyoming. Of all the ripprarin', snortin' broncs that ever tossed a cowboy, Lamb has made pictures of the wildest, and he will show them here just like they came out of the chutes.

All in all, this show will be more sensational than the Alaska film, and will have a more universal appeal. It is all in beautiful technicolor from end to end, and if you liked his Alaska picture, you will be crazy about this one. This will be the only showing of these films in Texas this fall. Lamb will show the Alaskan picture at Higgins on Oct. 28 and at Canadian on the 30, but Perryton is the only town that will get to see the hunting, flowers and rodeo pictures.

that joy and pleasure riding is out for the duration. All trucks, including farm and commercial jobs, will come under the jurisdiction of the Office of Defense Transportation on Nov. 15. Their mileage will be strictly controlled with necessity to the war effort as the determining factor in rationing of gasoline, mileage, tires, etc.

On the military front, we are doing reasonably well but we are still losing the war. Actual figures show that 35% of our lend-lease materials are going to Russia, with another 35% to Britain, the remainder to other allies.

In the Pacific, we've slowed the Japs but they are not on the run by any means. In the Aleutians, we are holding our own and building up power. In North Africa, the enemy has been slowed and we are gaining strength faster than the Germans.

It looks like we've definitely checked the submarine menace with the Nazi pack now driven out of the Caribbean to the mid-Atlantic. Our ship launchings are exceeding sinkings at present.

In spite of what some so-called experts say about our fighting planes, they are good and are doing the job.

War casualties to date are 60,000, dead, wounded, missing and captured.

The space chiselers of the postal department, the civil service commission and the thousand and one governmental agencies, bureaus, commissions and departments keep up their ever increasing barrage of publicity releases to the newspapers of America.

If the smart boys in Washington and their satellites throughout the nation had their way about it, the newspapers of America would be nothing more or less than bulletin boards for the government.

And if some of you government boys want to get sore at us for this, that'll be okey. You'll probably throw the word slacker at us. All right, Big Boy, the government is paying you for what you do. The newspapers are giving their space. What are you giving?

Food available to Ochiltree County families using blue food stamps during October will be the same foods listed in September except fresh pears have been dropped from the list, Dan L. Boyd, Area Supervisor, Agricultural Marketing Administration, announced today.

Additional food outlets are created by the use of blue stamps for food produced by American farmers under the "Food For Freedom" campaign. At the same time families participating in the program are receiving nutritious food to supplement their daily diet.

The complete list of blue stamp foods for the period October 1 through October 31 is: fresh apples, all fresh vegetables including sweet and Irish potatoes, shell eggs, corn meal, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self-rising flour, and whole wheat (Graham) flour.

Navy Asked Ochiltree For Five Recruits; They Got Eight

After smashing for the third consecutive month all-time naval enlistment records, the North Texas district is in the midst of the busiest October in its history, Lieut. L. H. Ridout Jr., officer in charge, said today.

"Everything in a recruiting way is being done with the expectation of making the first World War II Navy Day, which falls on October 27, a day of real celebration," he pointed out. "By that date, we hope to have enough enlistees to make the Axis partners squirm."

Lending momentum to October plans are the glowing enlistment results achieved during September, Lieutenant Ridout said. In thirty days, 3,397 men were sworn in, 154 more than joined the Navy in Aug. The banner month boosted to an impressive 13,400 recruits the number of men who have become bluejackets since Lieutenant Ridout assumed command of the district six months ago. During the 32 months prior to his appointment, 13,500 recruits left the North Texas district.

Winner of the Navy "E" award for the third consecutive month was the San Angelo district, which far exceeded its September quota. Ochiltree County was assigned a quota of five recruits and contributed eight.
