Jap-Wrecked Cebu Seized

Harbor Virtually Intact But Most Of City Burned; 11 Towns Liberated

By JAMES HUTCHESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Thursday, March 29—The Japanese-wrecked city of Cebu, with its vital harbor virtually intact, fell Tuesday to Americal division Yanks who in two days of invasion operations on Cebu island already have liberated 11 other towns and have put the Nipponese to flight.

The supporting Far Eastern Air force ripped to shreds the enemy lines of communications as Maj. Gen. William H. Arnold's forces fanned out from Monday's landings at Talisay across well-prepared defenses where the Nipponese had planned to make a bloody stand, headquarters reported.

Yank Losses Light

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique today that the Yanks captured Cebu city with light loss. The Americans pierced the flank and rear of the elaborate Japanese defense system.

The city of 150,000 inhabitants was badly damaged by enemy demolition crews, reminiscent of their wanton destruction of Manila. The important area, however, was taken virtually intact.

Eleven other towns were liberated by the doughboys, and the enemy forces were being chased northward. American warplanes closely supported the ground operations.

Luzon Resistance Wanes

An American patrol-torpedo boat probably sank a Japanese midget submarine trying to escape from Cebu harbor.

MacArthur reported that Japanese resistance on Luzon had "definitely abated due to his (the enemy's) great losses which cannot be replaced."

Resistance will was strong in the north, around the summer capital at Baguio and across the valley in the Caraballo mountains, but was reported "disconnnected and sporadic" east of Manila and in areas to the south.

MacArthur said the Japanese soldier "seems unable to grasp our technique of attack."

In the air war, heavy bombers dropped 180 tons of explosives on Legaspi, big port on the southeastern "tail" of Luzon, and hit Formosa with 72 tons. Large fires and explosions resulted from hits on dock and warehouse areas.

Long-range search planes patrolling the blockaded China sea sank four freighter-transports off Saigon, French Indo-China and probably sent 12 other small cargo ships to the bottom in the same general area.

Seven other small cargo ships were sunk or seriously damaged in the China sea to the north.

Patrol bombers hit Yulin harbor at Hainan island and Ishagaki-town in the southern Ryukyus.

Ryukyu Pounded Again By Fleet

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Thursday, March 29.—Big American battleships blazed away in their fifth confirmed bombardment of the Ryukyu approaches to Japan Wednesday and sky - dominating carrier planes plastered defenses in their 11th day of fiery action since they tore into the enemy homeland March 18.

The Navy announced the developments today — still silent on continuing enemy broadcasts that American forces have been on some of the Ryukyu islands since Sunday.

Continuous Carrier Raids

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who has reported ship shellings of the Ryukyus on Friday, Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday along with continuous carrier raids, disclosed the carrier planes destroyed 38 enemy planes and damaged 9 or more enemy ships, including three warships, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

This destruction was in addition to that listed in previous reports which had included the wiping out of an eight-ship enemy convoy.

Nimitz said the planes shot down 25 Nipponese planes and burned 13 more on the ground in the three-day period. Submarine pens were among extensive enemy facilities smashed.

Part Of Story Untold

Remaining to be told are the achievements against coastal defenses by the 16-inch guns of deadly accurate battleships, including some dreadnaughts of the 45,000 ton class.

For the first time his communique mentioned Sunday—the day the Japanese said American forces succeeded in landing in the Kerama islands near Okinawa. But he touched on it only lightly, merely saying the carrier raiders in action "during the period of March 25 to March 27" dealt extensive damage.

During sweeps over 500 miles of the strategic Ryukyus chain which extends to within 80 miles of Japan, the Hellcats, Helldivers and Avengers damaged:

Three destroyers or destroyer escorts; a large cargo ship, two medium cargo ships, two small cargo ships, eight to 10 luggers, a whaler, and "many small craft." Some of the smaller types were described as "wrecked."

The submarine pens were blasted at Unten bay on the west coast of Okinawa, the 65-mile-long main island of the chain, where Tokyo radio says an invasion appears imminent.

The attacks extended from the Miyako group to Tanega island.

Warehouses, barracks and trucks were smashed at Amami, Tokuno, Okinawa and Kikai islands.

In Command Of Skies

Gun positions, landing craft and airfields were other targets.

The low total of enemy planes shot down and the length and extent of the operations indicated clearly the carrier planes of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitcher were commanding the skies over islands guarding the approaches to south Japan—itself under considerable air assault.

Nimitz said "some of our units" suffered damage under enemy air attacks but he did not elaborate.

His latest account of the continuing air and naval action was terse and general:

"Hellcat and Corsair fighters, Avenger torpedo planes and Helldiver bombers continued their attacks on enemy positions in the Ryukyus and battleships continued to shell shore installations on March 28."

He offered no confirmation of enemy reports that carrier planes had returned to the attack on Kyushu, southern island of Japan, Tuesday.

Nimitz announced raids during the past few days in the Kuriles, north of Japan; against Chichi and Haha Jima in the Bonin islands, north of conquered Iwo; and on bypassed islands in the Marshalls.

Point Values Hiked On Pork And Fats

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP) The OPA tonight increased pork ration point values to spread small supplies more evenly, after Senate investigators tossed back to OPA the packers' phase of the meat shortage problem.

The boost of one or two points a pound on most pork cuts and pork products will become effective next Sunday. Price Administrator Chester Bowles said an estimated five per cent less pork will be available for rationing in April than in March and the point increases are necessary to aid in getting a better distribution.

Increases also were ordered for lard, shortening, margarine, salad and cooking oil. Point values for all cuts of beef, lamb, veal and butter will remain unchanged.

Senate Shortage Inquiry

The Senate Agriculture committee, investigating the civilian meat shortage, a short time earlier checked back to OPA the packers demands for "a small, reasonable profit."

After hearing "Big Four" packer Thomas E. Wilson reiterate the testimony of other meat producers that OPA price ceilings are driving the industry into bankruptcy or government control, the Senate committee dropped that phase of their inquiry.

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla) told the committee that attorneys for the packers and the OPA will try to work out an agreement. The committee will resume its inquiry into the asserted "prize squeeze" next month if no agreement is reached meanwhile, he said.

Complaints of meat wholesalers will be heard when the committee resumes hearings next week.

The day produced these other highlights in the meat shortage situation:

1. Wilson, board chairman of Wilson & Company, testified that what was needed to increase the meat flow to civilian tables was price "encouragement" all the way back to the rancher on the production line. The only way to stop black markets, he said, was "to drop meat price controls—and I don't advocate that."

Miners Heavily Back Up Lewis

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP) — John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers told him in an overwhelming vote today to call them out on strike if he wishes.

The first 60 of 90 areas set up by the National Labor Relations board to poll some 400,000 miners on a wartime strike vote reported officially tonight:

121,569 for authorizing a strike, and 16,076 against.

This was a ratio of more than 6 to 1. Thousands of eligibles failed to vote either way.

Howard Knuckles, leader of a United Mine Workers' local at Beckley, W. Va., predicted the final vote "will prove to the operators and to the government as well, that the miners are still behind their president, John L. Lewis."

Contract Expires Saturday

The miners' present contract expires Saturday night. A majority for a strike, however, does not necessarily mean that a strike would be sure to follow.

Lewis could withhold the formal strike call pending new efforts to win for his unionists 10-cent royalty for every ton of coal dug and other wage and working benefits.

And to prevent the shutdown of a vitally important part of the war production program, there is always the possibility of government seizure and operation of struck mines.

Navy May Reinstate Some Shipyard Plans

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP) Secretary Forrestal said today the Navy may seek reinstatement of part of the ship construction program which was cancelled yesterday.

Forrestal said the order cancelling 72 of the 84 ships of all types projected earlier this year originated with War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, who was "so conscious of the impact of the program on manpower, that on the basiis of relative demand he felt it was not wise to start."

While the Navy "may disagree," Forrestal said, "somebody has to weigh competing demands on the national economy."

The secretary said the initial program of 84 ships was inaugurated on the basis of "insurance," because "we do not know at what point Japan can implement a damaging attack on the fleet."

FDR Renews His Manpower Plea

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP) A renewed plea today by President Roosevelt for manpower control legislation coincided with a report by Manpower Commissioner McNutt of a "positive betterment" in the employment situation.

Mr. Roosevelt's appeal for favorable Senate action on the manpower control bill, with jail and fine enforcement teeth, was made in a letter to Chariman Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Military committee. The letter failed to quell a critical attack by the bill's opponents. The measure, a compromise reached by Senate and House conferees, passed the House yesterday by a seven vote margin.

Need "Extra Push"

McNutt's report said "an extra push" still is needed in getting more workers to leave non-essential industries for jobs in war production plants if production schedules for the six month period of February 15-August 15 are to be met.

His statement, issued to the press through the Office of War Information, did not figure in the Senate discussion.

The manpower commission's conclusion of "positive bettermen" was reached through reports that levels of munitions plant employment achieved in December were maintained in January and February.

Chairman Thomas read in open session of the Senate Mr. Roosevelt's letter, which said:

"I earnestly hope the Senate will adopt the conference report on the manpower bill . . . the manpower situation is still serious. In the days ahead of us there will be great temptation for workers to leave war plants. The failure to enact this legislation will make the successful conduct of the war even more difficult."

The impact of the President's appeal did not deter Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) from predicting defeat of the legislation. He told a news conference a sur-

Japs Warned That Blows By B-29s To Be Sharply Hiked

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—Japan received blunt warning today that Superfortress blows against her empire will be doubled or tripled by summer.

It came from the best possible authority—General H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air forces and boss of the 20th (Superfortress) Air force that already has raked the land of the Rising Sun from top to bottom.

Arnold likened the 20th Air force to a young lad who will reach his full growth by summer.

"If the Japanese are unhappy now," he told a press conference, "they'll soon be twice or three times as unhappy.

While emphasizing that he was not advancing the theory that air power alone will win the war, Arnold promised on behalf of the air forces that "what we have done to Germany we are going to do to Japan."

Once Germany is defeated, he said, the work of the air force will be "only half done" and "that's why we will need all air force men to see that the war is finished."

Asked whether this means that the air forces would not be affected by the Army's V-E day demobilization plan, announced last autumn, he replied: "We are going to use every airplane we can effectively use against Japan even if it requires every plane now used in Europe."

Arnold said B-29 raids against the Japanese since the first three months of operations have been stepped up from an average of one every ten days by 50 planes to one every four days by 300 aircraft.

House Passes Bill Changing Court Setup

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 28. — With but one alteration the House today finally approved a Senate joint resolution submitting a constitutional amendment for a nine-judge elective Supreme court in Texas.

The resolution, which now goes back to the Senate, would be submitted to the voters next Aug. 25 if the Senate accepts one House change which stipulates salaries of the judges shall be those determined by the legislature. As approved in the Senate, salaries were set at $10,000 annually.

Working late into the afternoon the House passed to third reading a bill creating a state aeronautics commission to aid in the development of aviation in Texas along lines proposed by the state's post-war economic planning commission.

Stiff Opposition

The bill met stiff opposition at times but was approved 83 to 49 on second reading. It can be considered on final reading within a few days.

The issue of state's right resounded frequently in debate on the aviation measure. Opponents contended it insured federal control of intrastate aviation developments because the commission would be authorized to act as agent for municipalities in accepting and otherwise handling federal funds which might be made available for local airport developments.

Proponents scouted this idea with the assertion that the commission could not act as agent for a city without the city's consent.

Intrastate Regulation

One amendment to the bill provides that it is not the intention of the measure that the state shall not regulate intrastate aviation when it chooses to by legislative act. The bill under consideration gives no regulatory powers to the commission.

The three-member commission would be appointed by the Governo and each member would receive $10 a day not to exceed $600 yearly for his duties.

The section of the bill which produced most opposition was one declaring the commission as agent for the state and cities could receive federal moneys "upon terms and conditions as are or may be prescribed by the laws of the United States and any rules or regulations made thereunder.

After Federal Funds

Sponsors asserted the bill was an attempt to put Texas in line for federal appropriations for airport development. Rep. Jack Love of Fort Worth said states prepared to accept federal aid "will come away with the mostest." He added 37 states have set up aviation commissions.

The House vote on final passage of the Senate Supreme court amendment was 124 to 2.

Under its terms the present six commissioners of appeals who assist the three elective judges on the court would become associate judges until January 1 of the year next succeeding the expiration of their appointive terms. The three

Allies Smash On All Along Western Front

Reds In Hungary Advance As Nazi Defenses Crumble

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 29—Two rampaging Russian armies captured four main German strongholds in northwestern Hungary Wednesday, cracking the Raba river defense line guarding Vienna and driving within 10 miles of the Austrian border and 47 miles of the Austrian capital.

The disintegration of the Germans' defenses in Hungary guarding the road to Vienna and Austrian war production centers was announced by Premier-Marshal Stalin shortly after he had proclaimed the capture by other Russian units of the Germans' major Baltic naval base of Gdynia.

Advance Up To 14 Miles

Attacking on a 120-mile front, the combined Second and Third Ukraine armies under Marshal Radion Y. Malinovsky and Feodor I. Tolbukhin advanced up to 14 miles.

Malinovsky's troops, striking along the south bank of the Danube breached the Danube valley's defenses northwest of Budapest with the capture of Gyor and Komarom, while Tolbukhin's men crossed the Raba river and seized Osorna and Sarvar.

Simultaneously the Germans declared that Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army, striking out in Berlin's defensive forefield, had seized the fortress town of Lebus, on the Oder river's west bank five miles north of besieged Frankfurt and 38 miles from the threatened Reich capital.

Prepare Spring Drive

A Moscow dispatch said the Russian supply system was "working all-out to prepare a spring offensive" on this front closest to Berlin.

The Russian gains across the canal-laced Hungarian plains constituted the southern arm of a larger operation in which four massive Russian armies are smashing at the ancient gateways to Bohemia and Moravia and forging a huge pincers on Czechoslovakia and Austria.

One German commentator said central Russian forces were attacking Moravska-Ostrava, Czechoslovakia's third city guarding an ancient invasion route to Prague and already threatened Vienna, with hundreds of tanks and strong infantry and artillery units. The Russians won positions 14 miles from that city Tuesday.

Seven-Way Junction Taken

Crossing the Raba river line to the southwest, an outer natural defense barrier for the Austrian capital, tank-led columns of the Third Ukraine Army seized the seven-way road and rail junction city of Scorna, eight miles beyond the lower Raba, and swept up the important communications hub of Sarvar, 29 miles farther southwest.

At Sarvar the Russians were 20 miles from the Austrian border and 63 miles southeast of the Austrian capital. The city is 14 miles east of Szombathely, a major bastion in Vienna's defensive system. A Moscow dispatch said

Plan Drawn To Put Italy On Its Feet

ROME, March 28 (AP)—The Allied commission and the Italian government have submitted to the combined chiefs of staff a jointly planned program of economic aid to Italy designed to enable the nation to start manufacturing its own essential products and thus become less dependent on the United Nations.

The Allied commission said the plan called for supplying Italy with basic commodities needed to rehabilitate transportation, electric power, agriculture and, to a certain extent, consumer goods manufacturers.

The cost of the program would be assumed by Italy from credits in excess of $100,000,000 provided by the United States and additional sums made available through financial arrangements with Britain.

"BACKS UP" NAZI—S/Sgt. Winfield Wilson of Waco, above, had the pleasure of a series of boots on the posterior of a German general who insisted on retaining his "super-man" dignity and slowing down a line of prisoners, after he was captured by Wilson and his buddies in France. The story was told by Wilson's buddies at Fort Sam Houston, where he arrived to be processed for a furlough home.

British Loose In North; First And Third Form 'Sack'

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Thursday, March 29 — Gen. Eisenhower's Allied armies made whirlwind advances up to 27 miles through collapsing German resistance yesterday as British tanks broke through north of the Ruhr and the U. S. First and Third armies neared a link-up deep inside the Reich.

Cities and towns fell in wholesale lots to infantrymen following closely behind the armored spearheads which had broken completely through the German defensive crust and were overrunning the Reich under a veil of secrecy that prevented pinpointing their latest advances.

Junction Probable

The Fourth Armored division of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army raced 27 miles northward from Hanau to a point only six miles southeast of Giessen, through which Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army had passed earlier in the day. There was a possibility that these two armies already had made a junction in that area, approximately 225 miles from Berlin, closing a trap around Nazi forces still fighting in Frankfurt, half of which had been cleared.

Wild Flight In North

North of the Ruhr the Germans were reported in wild retreat ahead of British tanks which broke out of Field Marshal Sir Montgomery's bridgehead, now exploding in all directions. Montgomery's armor, with British and American troops riding on the backs of the tanks, broke loose on an 11-mile front and raced down broad highways toward Muenster and Berlin. Canadian troops stormed into Emmerich, on the Rhine near the Dutch border.

The American Ninth Army, still encountering the fiercest opposition faced by any of the seven Allied armies east of the Rhine, wheeled south into the industrial Ruhr and smashed through the northern suburbs of Duisburg to the wharves along the Ruhr river.

The U. S. Seventh Army cleared the northern part of the industrial city of Mannheim to the Neckar river while other units drove as much as 32 miles east of the Rhine, making contact with the Third Army along the Main river.

Indicative of the close cooperation between the First and Third armies, members of Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th Army group, was disclosure at Bradley's headquarters that "a strong armored col-

Germans Turning To Mercy Pleas

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 28 (AP)—German broadcasters virtually admitted today that Hitler's cause was lost, then shifted the propaganda line abruptly tonight and contended, "German resistance all along the Western front is stiffening."

Allied frontline dispatches reported the drives from the west continuing generally deeper into Germany although much of the front was under a security blackout.

The Germans, possibly fishing for information, claimed their defense was growing more successful.

Force Said Destroyed

The German broadcasters asserted that an American tank force had been "encircled and completely annihilated in Frankfurt on the Main, and said the British forces on the lower Rhine had been held on both sides of the Wesel forest.

In sharp contrast, an earlier German broadcast appealed directly to the Allied soldiers for sympathy, declaring "the German people can be reproached for many things, but they would be as glad as you if the war were to end soon."

"Every day it looks more and more as if final victory will be yours," said the commentator, who identified himself simply as "Hands."

He spoke over the Nazis' main frontline propaganda station at Arnhem.

Can Imagine Pleasure

"I just can imagine how pleased you are feeling now that you at last are in the country you have conquered and about whose inhabitants you have heard such dreadful things," he said.

"I can imagine what it feels like to hear day after day of the victories of one's comrades, but now is the time to ignore all you have been told about the German people and judge for yourself. Ask yourself if you have found the Germans self-satisfied, overbearing, fanatical, heartless and brutal."

Another Nazi topflight propagandist—George Schroeder, chief correspondent for the Transocean agency—acknowledged that even Heinrich Himmler's dreaded Gestapo was not enough now to make the German people want to fight on.

"Iron discipline" he said, "certainly is not enough to make the people continue the battle. Faith

Refugees Clutter Up Nazi Defense

STOCKHOLM, March 28. (AP) — More than 50,000,000 bombed-out or refugee Germans are milling around behind the German lines, impeding the defense and intensifying the confusion of defeat inside the Reich, it was reported today by sources intimately acquainted with the country's internal condition.

On the basis of information from neutral and enemy sources, they gave this up-to-the-minute picture of what is happening inside Germany:

Millions At Loose Ends

Millions of German workers are at loose ends, unemployed because their factories have been bombed or captured. There is such chaos that the authorities have found no way to utilize these people in their last stand and are herding them around like cattle.

Jews are moved from internment camps to make room for war prisoners, then war prisoners are moved to make room for refugees.

The Germans know they have lost the war, yet they continue to allow themselves to be driven on by men of desperation instead of revolting. They are living only for today, dependent on the Nazis for food and shelter and with the Gestapo always behind them.

Few Targets Left

The Allied bombing offensive has been so thorough that there are few worthwhile targets left. When the Germans hear that the Allies intend to strip them of all war potential industry, they merely gaze through their windows, if they still have windows, at twisted debris and ask, "what industry?"

Vets Find Rhine Easy, Come Home On 45-Day Furloughs

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN GERMANY—Take it from 12 of the happiest fighting men on the front, crossing the Rhine and bursting through German defenses was ten times as easy as getting through the Siegfried line last October.

These men from the 117th Infantry regiment of the 30th division suddenly were yanked out of battle east of the Rhine and told they were going home on a 45-day furloughs.

They had been in the thick of the fighting since Normandy. One sergeant was the only survivor of an original company of 150 men. Another was one of six left in a company which started out last June.

They listed in order the toughest battles fought in Europe:

(1) The original breaking of the Siegfried line north of Aachen last September and October.

(2) The bitter fighting around St. Lo last July when the division lost a large number of men in an Allied bombing.

(3) The battle of the bulge when von Rundstedt broke through last December and January in Ardennes.

(4) The Mortain battle when the 30th broke up a German attempt to cut off Patton's Army by driving to the sea at Avranches.

The Rhine, they agreed, was easy.

But the eager doughboys, and Capt. Victor Salem, 35, former cosmetic promotion man who was born in Austria but now lives in

Nazis Machine-Gun Starving Group Of Civilians To Avert Surrender

By C. R. CUNNINGHAM
United Press War Writer

WEHOFEN, Near Duisburg, Germany, March 27 (Delayed) — German machine-gunners raked the crowded entrances of an abandoned coal mine to prevent the surrender of 7,000 of their own civilians who had huddled inside without food and water for four days and nights.

These civilians, mostly old men, women and children who had been trapped in a no-man's land, still were living in the mine today.

At least 10 of their number had been killed. Some were dying. Some were pregnant women already in labor. All were weak from hunger.

Yank Company Drives In

The Germans committed the atrocity last Saturday when an American infantry company of the 79th division swung in for the kill on the heavily defended mining area.

When the Americans opened a huge bombardment preceding the Rhine crossing the mine workers, their wives and children sought shelter in the old mine, a huge slag heap under which the Germans had built three long concrete tunnels as an air raid shelter.

German troops fell back south of the town as the infantrymen, led by Capt. George Dale of Live Oak, Fla., attacked. From their new line the Germans could see both the Americans and the terrified civilians.

Surrender Plan Balked

The civilians, knowing the Americans were surrounding their slag heap, started to run out waving a white sheet. Batteries of German machine guns raked the entrances, killing at least 10.

The civilians scrambled back and Dale's company moved on, not knowing they were there.

After another day in the mine, the civilians delegated German Red Cross nurse Anna Huss to try to reach the American lines. As she started, a German patrol fired another machine gun round and shouted that the people were traitors.

The nurse, wounded in the left thigh, finally reached the American lines and reported the plight of the civilians. Military government officials returned with her.

Had Very Little Water

I visited the mine today and talked with Maj. William M. Kane of Ardmore, Pa., in charge of the military government staff. He said in the area outside there was only one pump which was furnishing water barely sufficient for the children inside.

Kane said he had five bakeries in the neighborhood ready to start turning out bread for the refugees as soon as homes could be found for them.

The stench in the mine was terrible. The smell of death and festering wounds mingled with the odors produced by lack of sanitation. There was no ventilation. A few candles provided the only light.

Many of the civilians stood silently hugging their stomachs in hunger. Others were lying on their backs too weak to help themselves.

I went through one shaft with a woman who seemed to be in charge. The people clutched at me and begged for chocolate. My guide attempted to distribute six candles. A young woman snatched one and began eating it.

Several Badly Maimed

In an angling shaft which served as a sick bay I saw sheer horror. Several men and women were badly maimed. Some were dying. The head woman said they had no medicine.

She pointed to several expectant mothers already in labor.

A soldier in our party said:

"Let's get out of here. I can't stand it any longer."

Outside in the fresh air, he added:

"If Adolf Hitler could see what he's brought on his people he might never have started this war."

WRECKAGE IDENTIFIED

SAN ANTONIO, March 28. (AP) —Kelly field authorities yesterday identified the wreckage of a C-47 A.T.G. transport plane found 35 miles southwest of George West, Tex., Saturday as a plane missing for two weeks while on a routine mission from Greenwood, Miss., to Brownsville, Tex. All six men aboard the plane were dead when the wreckage was discovered by Ben Lissen, a farmer.

Britain Apologizes For Hague Bombing

LONDON, March 28 (AP)—Royal Netherlands government officials said today they had received from the British government an apology for the accidental bombing of the Hague March 3, which Dutch spokesmen said had killed 800 civilians and left " a great number homeless."

The British apology, which called the bombing "a deplorable catastrophe," was handed to the Netherlands government here and also was broadcast to the Dutch people.

"The Netherlands government is satisfied with the British apology," a Dutch official said.

The Dutch request for an explanation of the bombing was made to the British after underground reports from the Hague had reached the Netherlands government, describing a heavy loss of life and severe damage caused by the incident, which occurred during an RAF sweep against German rocket-launching sites.

The British statement said a preliminary inquiry showed the bombs "most unfortunately" fell wide of their mark and hit a residential section.

Quintuplets Born To Negro Couple Die

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP) —Quintuplet girls were born to a 36-year-old negro woman last night but by 6 a. m. today all had died.

The mother is Ada H. Turner, whose husband, Harold, is a $1,320-a-year receiving clerk at the government bureau of standards. The woman is the mother of eight other children, the youngest 10 months old.

Two and one-half months premature, all but one of the quintuplets were born alive. The attending physician said that except for the stillborn baby, all were fully developed and weighed from one to one and one-half pounds each. The five were delivered within 17 minutes beginning at 10:40 p. m.

At Freedmen's hospital, where the babies were born, Dr. A. P. Allen said that pre-natal examination of the mother had indicated the likelihood of multiple birth, but that only twins had been expected.

Guaranty Purchase Plan Is Announced

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)— The War Food administration announced today a "guaranty purchase plan" to protect canners of fruits and vegetables against loss in a program to meet increased requirements this year.

Government requirements for 28 major canned fruits and vegetables in 1945 will total 128,700,000 cases, or nearly 5,000,000 above the 1944 total.

The plan guarantees the purchase from any packer of fruits and vegetables set aside by him under certain WFA orders in event they are not purchased by the Army Quartermaster corps, procurement representative for all government agencies.

Let's raid the icebox...Have a Coca-Cola

...a way to make a party an added success

At home, the good things of life come from the kitchen. And one of the good things is ice-cold Coca-Cola in the icebox. Have a Coke are words that make the kitchen the center of attraction for the teen-age set. For Coca-Cola never loses the freshness of its appeal, nor its unfailing refreshment. No wonder Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes from Maine to California,—has become a symbol of happy, refreshing times together everywhere.

You naturally hear Coca-Cola called by its friendly abbreviation "Coke". Both mean the quality product of The Coca-Cola Company.

Heavy Action In Italy Indicated And Early Nazi Retreat Expected

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

With the battle of inner Germany turning into a Nazi military debacle of as yet incalculable scope and effect on the duration of the war in Europe, attention shifted to the quiet front in Italy under the impact of two circumstances.

SIMPSON

The first was a call from General Mark Clark, American commander of Allied armies in Italy, to Italian patriots to stand by for an attempted Nazi retreat. It must come "sooner or later," he said, calling upon the northern Italians to "harry their retreat by interrupting communications and by killing Germans." Big scale Allied action was indicated.

Soviet Breakthrough

To match that news came a new Russian breakthrough in the Hungarian plains southeast of Vienna. The vital Raba river defense line south of the Danube and north of Lake Balaton had been punctured in the center, at Csorna and Sarvar, less than 20 miles from the Austrian frontier and less than 70 miles from Vienna.

That Russian breakthrough on the Raba has a direct bearing on the long stagnant situation in Italy. Less than 40 miles to the northwest lie the main communication routes, road and rail, linking the Nazi Army in Italy with Germany. While Alpine passes from Brenner eastward still may let supply trickles through to the Italian front, they have been under Allied air harassment for months.

The main flow of men and munitions almost certainly goes southward through the Vienna gap into the Po valley. That, too, is the most probable main escape route once the retreat from Italy begins. The Russian advance across the Raba puts it in deadly jeopardy.

Austria In Uproar

Nazi commentators admit that a mighty Russian pincer attack on Vienna via both the Danubian plains and through the Moravian corridor is in full swing. Unconfirmed reports come of panic and rising resistance to Nazi overlords in Vienna and elsewhere in southeastern Austria. There seems no doubt that German military leaders are straining every resource to meet the Russian threat, even risking dangerous thinning out of the Neisse-Oder defense system east of Berlin at the very moment when the onset of a massive White Russian spring offensive there is being forecast in Moscow advices.

It seems clear that only by a prompt withdrawal from Italy into the passes of the Alps could forces to meet the Russian threat to the Vienna gap be mustered by the foe.

Few Deferments Are Certified By WPB

DALLAS, March 28. (U.P.)—About 75 per cent of the 429 men war plant workers in the Dallas area in the 18 to 30 age group who object to reclassification in the draft will be lost to the armed forces, according to A. J. Langford, district War Production board officer.

So far, 113 small and large plants had submitted lists of names of employees seeking deferment, but the WPB was certifying only a small percentage of deferments for consideration by draft boards, Langford said.

Former Prisoners Of War Out Of Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28 (U.P.)—Three Texans were among Army personnel liberated recently from Japanese prison camps in the Philippines and discharged from Letterman General hospital here for their homes.

They were M/Sgt. Joe C. Callier, 1404 W. Walker, Breckenridge; Cpl. Melvin D. Baxter of Sweetwater; and S/Sgt. Keener B. Mersch, box 157, Annoa.

The War department also announced its 41st partial list of civilian personnel liberated in the islands, which included Marie E. Chambers whose emergency address was given as Mrs. Lizzie Chambers, Rt. 3, De Leon, Tex.

Use Of POW Labor In County Talked

The possibility of using prisoner of war labor on Lubbock county farms this year was discussed at a meeting of a special farm labor committee Wednesday afternoon in the office of the county agent.

It was decided that a wage board be set up and a wage hearing be held to determine fair wages for various types of work. The date of the hearing, which will be open to the public, was tentatively set for April 11. The wage board will be composed of male members of the regular county farm labor committee, composed of W. O. Reiger, chairman; Cacy Day, F. H. Cannon, E. R. Evans, and W. O. Perkins, with the addition of B. R. Medlin who has recently moved to Lubbock county and who used prisoner of war labor in Arizona.

Miss Evelyn Stallings of the U. S. Employment Service office here was present and explained procedure for securing such labor.

The possibility of the establishment of a reception center here for migratory labor was abandoned after County Attorney Syrian E. Marbut read an opinion handed down by the Texas attorney general to the effect that the county commissioners court could not create funds for that purpose.

Ban On Race Talk In Daily Texan Voted

AUSTIN, March 28. (U.P.)—The board of directors of the Daily Texan, University of Texas campus newspaper, announced today an order to discontinue discussions of relations.

Such discussions have been carried on in the "Firing Line," letters-to-editor section of the paper.

Board members decided that the discussions accomplished nothing and injured the university. The motion which unanimously passed reads as follows:

"The subject of race relations having been discussed at length pro and con recently and some of the articles having become inflammatory in tone, the board of directors is of the opinion that further discussion of this subject in the Daily Texan be discontinued."

Paul J. Thompson, chairman of the department of journalism, made the motion, which was seconded by Judge R. W. Stayton, professor of law. Other board members present and voting were Betsey Biggs, Anna Buchanan, and Bill Ferguson, students; Dr. O. B. Williams, and Helene Wilke, editor of the Texan.

Veterans Hospitals To Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, March 28. (U.P.)—The House Veterans committee will investigate charges of "intolerable conditions" in hospitals under the Veterans administration. It was empowered to do so by a resolution passed by the House yesterday 256 to 4.

Rep. Philip J. Philbin, D.-Mass., urged the House to reject the resolution, asserting the need for a much broader inquiry including Army and Navy hospitals as well as the entire rehabilitation program.

Philbin wanted a special house committee to do the investigating.

Veterans committee Chairman John E. Rankin, D.-Miss., said his committee would not "whitewash" the Veterans administration.

"We don't intend to leave a stone unturned to get to the bottom of these charges," he said.

2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.
This simple creed will work wonders.

LIPSTICK

WE want cosmeticians in the postwar world to manufacture lipsticks that really will stay put. Girls who "give off" with the lip pomade are menaces. There's nothing more disgusting than to visit your favorite coffee shop and set an ashtray of lipstick stained cigarette stubs to one side, unless it is to find the reddish tell-tale rim around the rim of your coffee cup.

As we explained gently to a waitress the other morning we like to see our own brand on the cup edge; not one already there.

We dare say laundry bills could be cut in half if girls didn't use lipsticks but we doubt that the result would be worth the ghostly feminine appearances.

We don't want to do away with the use of lipstick but we suggest that producing an indelible pomade is a project for cosmetic laboratories.

TEEN AGE CENTER

BOYS and girls in their 'teens who are interested in the Corral and parents who would like to see a successful recreational program planned there should find it hard to ignore invitation of A. C. Hamilton, city recreation superintendent, to attend a meeting Friday night at the Corral.

Set up on a basis of programs planned by 'teen-agers themselves, the Corral cannot fulfil its full purpose unless the majority of 'teen-agers planning to attend take part in arranging a varied recreational program.

It also follows that any recreational program of which parents disapprove or in which they are not interested cannot succeed to any great extent.

The meeting Friday night will offer 'teen-agers opportunity to plan their next three months' program and for parents either to voice any objections or merely to acquaint themselves with the purposes and activities of the center.

Neither the recreation officials, 'teen-agers, parents, teachers or civic organizations alone can assure a successful recreation center—but all working together can put into effect a program most likely to meet the needs and approval of the majority.

EASTER MOON

FOR many centuries the "Easter Moon" was an Easter symbol. When Christ was seized in Gethsemane, the moon was at its full and had not lost its brilliance three days later. Early worshippers looked on the Easter moon as a symbol of the white rose Jesus wore at the sepulcher.

The influence of this Easter moon has persisted to our day, for we still celebrate Easter on the first Sunday after the first full moon following March 21. Thus even we honor this ancient symbol more than we honor the calendar.

Pacific War 'Ahead Of Expectations'

WASHINGTON, March 28 (U.P.)—The Pacific war is ahead of expectations, Adm. Ernest J. King reported today.

But he warned the American people not to take for granted an easy victory over Japan even after the war in Europe is ended.

The commander in chief of the U. S. fleet also revealed in a report to Secretary of Navy James Forrestal that tentative plans for demobilization of naval personnel have been completed. However, he emphasized, demobilization in the Navy will not begin until the defeat of Japan is at hand.

"While we rejoice in the reoccupation of Guam and of the Philippines, from which our forces were driven three years ago," he said. "We must constantly realize that we are only now gaining a position from which we can assault the heart of the Japanese strength."

Army Nurses Told "Going Is Rough"

CAMP SWIFT, Texas, March 28 (AP)—Major General Richard Donovan, commander of the Eighth Service command, told 453 newly commissioned nurses at the Army nurse corps basic training center here yesterday that "we want women in the Army nurse corps who can stand beside our fighting men."

"If you find the going rough here," he said "it is because so many nurses have found the going rough over there."

General Donovan watched the nurses training under the hot Texas sun in coveralls, leggings and helmet liners.

The course at the training center, largest such installation in the country, was extended yesterday from three to four weeks.

Sour Gas For Carbon Black Said Assured

AUSTIN, March 28 (AP)—Railroad Commission Chairman Olin Culberson today assured a group of War Production board officials that completion of a new pipeline in the Panhandle will assure an ample supply of sour gas for carbon black production.

Culberson conferred briefly with George Noble, jr., of the WPB and other officials, who left immediately by plane for Amarillo.

Culberson told them he had been assured by the Phillips Pipeline company that the new 22-inch running from Rock Creek to the east end of the Panhandle field, where the new carbon black plants are located, was near completion.

The War Production board has repeatedly tried to obtain sweet gas for carbon black production, but its use for this purpose is prohibited by Texas statute. The Railroad commission has refused to act, because of the statute. Sour gas is the term for gas high in sulphur content.

Culberson said it was his impression that the WPB officials were satisfied that there would be sufficient sour gas for their purposes.

The Gallup Poll
Majority Of U. S. Income Taxpayers Are Satisfied

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Those who think that American civilians are reluctant to bear their share of wartime sacrifice may be interested in a piece of contrary evidence revealed in a national survey by the Institute.

With income tax day recently passed, the survey sought to find whether people regard the amount of taxes they had to pay in 1944 as fair. Although the income tax rates are higher than at any time in history, a colossal majority of Americans — more than eight out of every ten with views on the subject—say they think the amount they had to pay for 1914 was entirely fair.

GALLUP

This is shown in the response of taxpayers to the following question in the survey:

"Do you regard the amount of tax you had to pay on your 1944 income as fair?"

The results:

Yes	85%
No	15

A year ago a comparable survey was conducted, asking people about their 1943 tax, and it was found that 90 per cent considered the amount of the tax fair. In short, despite the heavier taxes, there has apparently been a drop of only 5 per cent in the number considering the tax rate just.

Little Difference By Groups

Tax experts will be especially interested in the fact that the survey found no important differences of attitude by occupation groups.

About as many people in the business and professional classifications, many of whom have to pay large taxes on personal income, consider their taxes fair, as is the case with white collar workers or factory workers.

Much evidence has been accumulated in surveys over the past few years to show that the average American is more than willing to do his share to meet the costs of the war.

As early as April, 1942, two out of every three votes in an Institute survey said they were willing to pay two weeks salary extra toward the cost of the war.

In August of the same year, 70 per cent thought that an income tax should be levied on all American families except those on relief.

The attitude all along has been "this is everybody's war, and everybody should share in paying for it."

A debate on the question of whether the Fair Employment practice committee should be made a statutory organization was held at the luncheon with Jack Randal taking the affirmative and Dr. Sam G. Dunn taking the negative. S. L. Forrest was program chairman.

New members inducted into the club were Ishmael Hill, introduced by Floyd Honey, and W. D. Hord, introduced by Nell Wright. Lt. J. H. Whiteside, USNR, was a guest. President C. A. Bestwick presided.

Prizes will be a box of candy for each division's first place winner.

IS LIGHTNING ? ZIG-ZAG
YES ■ NO

Old Jupiter's lightning was Z-shaped. Today's lightning-fast cameras prove that it really flashes beautiful curves. Shows how weather bears watching, and now in Spring, so does the car that must last you! It's time to drain unfit Winter oil, and you'll get far more than an oil change by having your engine's insides OIL-PLATED.

All you need is Conoco Nth motor oil to bond OIL-PLATING direct to working parts—really a built-on layer of lubricant. This special wear protection—a great research achievement—is surfaced to metal by Conoco Nth oil's strong "power of attraction." And Nth oil provides liquid film, too—of the toughest kind.

OIL-PLATING and oil film are both fighting wear every mile. Then after stopping, when acids want to gnaw any engine, they're curbed by OIL-PLATING—the foe of corrosive wear!

What a big lot of safety from wear!... to stretch engine life... to make oil and gasoline last... to minimize carbon and sludge... to help power! Yet Conoco Nth oil costs little more. Fast as lightning, change for Spring. Continental Oil Co.

Big Boys Feature Title Cage Battle

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP) — Two of the leading college teams in the nation, featuring the two best big boys, meet for the mythical National basketball championship at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night when De Paul of Chicago and the Oklahoma Aggies tangle in a Red Cross benefit game.

De Paul, with six-foot, nine-inch George Mikan as its chief threat, qualified for the Red Cross contest by winning the National Invitation tournament while the Aggies, built around seven-foot Bob Kurland, made the grade by taking the National Collegiate A. A. Title. For both fives it was their first major tournament championship.

Girls Volleyball Has Four-Way Deadlock

The Central Ward Spurs romped to a twin win over the Sanders Steers Wednesday afternoon in the Lubbock grade school volleyball conference, the win for the girls competing the four-way deadlock for the top, with the Central Ward girls sharing the lead with Bean, Hunt and Wilson.

Only one more game remains for each team.

The girls had little trouble in winning, 71-17, while the boys nosed out a 32-29 victory.

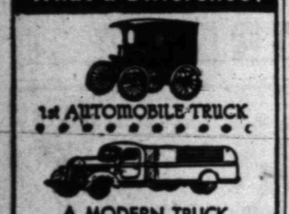

Giants Lose Batting Duel With Guardsmen

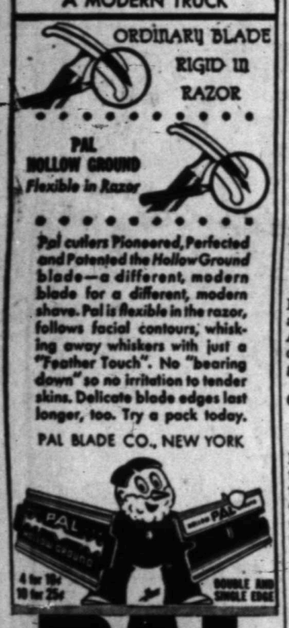

BALTIMORE, March 28. (AP) — The Curtis Bay Coast Guard Cutters pounded the New York Giants for 16 hits today, and defeated the National Leaguers 15-10 in an exhibition game here.

The Giants continued to work their pitchers, looking toward heavier league competition. The game was a free-hitting affair with the Giants banging out 15 hits.

Dodgers Combine Age With Youth

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., March 28. (AP) — They say anything can happen in Brooklyn. But who would have dared predict a year ago that a 17-year-old would be the regular shortstop and a 43-year-old would share the catching duties for the Dodgers?

Yet that is the situation today, as Manager Leo Duracher let it be known that Tommy Brown, who won't be 18 until December 6, "is the only infielder sure of his berth" while the wizened weather-beaten Clyde Sukeforth "will do plenty of catching this season."

"Brownie is my shortstop, make no mistake about that," he said. "The kid has natural ability and has improved greatly. With the added confidence of big league competition, Tommy should become one of the standouts of the game."

This is Brown's second year in organized baseball. After playing three years in the Brooklyn Kiwanis League, he was plucked by the Dodgers and sent to their Newport News (Va.) farm where he batted .297 in 91 games and led the Piedmont League in triples. He was called up in August and in 64 games batted a meager .164.

Sukeforth entered the majors in 1926, more than a year before Tommy was born, serving as second stringer to Bubbles Hargrave of the Cincinnati Reds. An eye injury received in a hunting accident in the winter of 1931 hastened the end of his career and resulted in his being traded to Brooklyn the following year.

Although he donned a pad and mitt only intermittently in the past 10 years, Sukeforth asserted he is in perfect shape at 150 pounds. He attributes his good condition to plenty of off-season hunting and fishing.

ST. LOUIS, March 28 (AP)— The St. Louis Cardinal regulars tuned up their timing with the bat today, hitting three doubles and three triples in one inning of an intra-squad game and defeating a team composed mostly of pitchers, 10 to 4. Each team made 10 hits.

WYATT STARTS TRAINING

ATLANTA, March 28 (AP) — Whitlow Wyatt, 22-game victor with the pennant winning Brooklyn Dodgers in 1941 and whose sale to the Philadelphia Phillies was announced today, will begin working out with the Atlanta Crackers tomorrow. ATLANTIC CITY, N. Junior Track To Draw Big Field

Entries for the Junior track meet, an annual sports feature of Lubbock, are expected in soon, E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey announced Wednesday night after invitations had been mailed to about 40 or 50 schools in this area.

Lowrey pointed out that any teams that care to enter, but do not receive invitations, are urged to drop him a card and will promptly have an invitation forthcoming. The date of the meet is April 7.

Response to oral feelers has indicated that the meet this year will draw one of the greatest fields in the history of the event, and a number of new records will be very likely.

One record that appears almost sure to fall will be the discus mark. Gene Ussery, a local junior high kid, heaved the big discus 107 feet, 9 inches in Tuesday's practice meet here, and should easily set a new mark.

The Juniors throw a much smaller discus than the one Ussery threw in Tuesday's meet. Last year's discus in the junior meet was won with a heave of 104 feet, and the record is 115 feet. Ussery has been throwing the small junior discus around 135 feet in recent workouts.

Schools are urged to send in their entries early.

Senators Squeeze By Boston Braves, 2-0

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP) — Two runs in the first of the ninth gave the Washington Senators a 2-0 victory over the Boston Braves on the Braves' home training field at Georgetown university, evening the clubs exhibition series at two victories each.

The Senators won the game when Case walked, Myatt sacrificed, and Chippel singled Case home, Binks walked and Chippell scored when Drews of the Braves dropped Wietelmann's throw on an attempted force play at second on Kuhel's grounder.

Porkers Draw Huge Crowds During Year

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., March 28 (AP) — Approximately 85,000 fans saw the University of Arkansas basketball team perform during the 1944-45 winter campaign, according to an estimate prepared by Coach Eugene Lambert.

The biggest crowd of the season was at Madison Square Garden in New York where some 15,000 paid to watch a double-header featuring the Razorbacks vs City college of New York. Probably the smallest crowd of the campaign was two nights later at New Albright, Pa., where less than 500 watched the Razorbacks lose to Westminister college.

Home attendance averaged better than 1,500 persons per game, despite the decrease in enrollment among students and rationing problems of fans living outside Fayetteville.

Fred Marberry Sees Place For Veterans Of Baseball

CORSICANA, Tex., March 28 (AP)—The end of the war won't be the death knell for old men of baseball now being given another chance to play because of the manpower situation, says Fred (Firpo) Marberry, former major league pitcher.

In fact, avers Merberry, who has been out of the game for four years and is a prosperous farmer who does dam and lake building on the side, there will be an even greater demand.

A Different Slant

That's a different slant on the sport offered by a veteran of almost 20 years in the game, including three World Series appearances, who wants it understood he has no desire to ballyhoo himself back into baseball.

"No," he commented as a season neared in which 40-year-olds are going to participate in major league campaigns, "I am not speaking for myself when I say there will or should be some fine opportunities after the war for the fellows who have been around and know the score."

Teachers Are Needed

Marberry said more baseball is being played in the schools and this along with the great quantity of talent funneled into the game through service teams will combine to provide a wealth of playing material when peace is restored and the present suspended minor leagues resume operation. But most of this will be young material lacking experience.

"Older fellows in the majors will have to relinquish their places to younger men. Big leaguers in the armed forces will be four to five years nearer the end of the trail, which some already had approached," Marberry observed. "A good percentage of them won't even come back as players.

"Many potentially fine ball players are ruined through complete lack of teaching or improper instruction. That's where I see the old heads coming in. In my opinion, the clubs which recognize this need for thoroughly experienced old heads to manage and coach their youngsters will have the best teams at the earliest date, and they'll strike a bonanza in player sales."

West Point Cadets Nose By Brooklyn

WEST POINT, N. Y., March 28 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers dropped a 10-inning game to the Army nine today, 5 to 4. The winning run was forced in when Ralph Branca, fourth Brooklyn pitcher, walked Dick McConnel with the bases filled after fanning two batters.

The National League was organized Feb. 2, 1876.

Hester Leads Over Hawkins In Finals

David Hester held the upper hand in the playoff for the boys tennis singles championship of Lubbock High school, after winning the first sat of the finals match with Herbert Hawkins, 6-2. The match will be completed this afternoon.

Hester breezed through his first match with Fred McDonald, 6-0, 6-0, yesterday afternoon at the Dupre court. Vernon Bradley was hard pressed to eliminate David Rowland, 6-3, 6-4, in the other first round match.

Herbert Hawkins drew a bye in the first round, then tangled with Bradley to determine who would play Hester for the school title. Hawkins was forced to stage a brilliant comeback to win the right to enter the finals, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Hawkins will be faced with staging another comeback if he is to win the school boys tennis singles crown today, after dropping the first set before darkness stopped the match.

The girls singles was postponed until today, and will be runoff along with the doubles matches.

Return Of Mullins Boosts Frog Hopes

FORT WORTH, March 28 (AP)—Texas Christian's football stock went up today with the announcement that Harry Mullins, goal-kicking end of the 1944 Southwest Conference champions, had returned to school after receiving a medical discharge from the Merchant Marine.

A head injury in 1944 spring training left Mullins with a 4-F classification for the Army. However, after many attempts, he was placed in the maritime service.

TCU is winding up spring training this week with a squad of 25. Coach Dutch Meyer said another brief training period would probably be held during the summer.

Ernie Koy To Lead Navy Baseball Nine

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 28 (AP)—Lt. Ernest Koy, former major league baseball player and football star at the University of Texas, today was named officer in charge of the Naval Training center baseball team.

Koy played with the New York Yankees, Brooklyn, St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati and Philadelphia Phils after he was graduated by the University of Texas. Before his assignment here Koy had been with the Navy at Corpus Christi, Tex., Sampson, N. Y., and New London, Conn.

Joe Buzas Looms As Yankees Prize Rookie

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 28 (AP)—Jersey Joe Buzas, signed off the Bucknell campus four years ago, is the outstanding rookie in the New York Yankee camp today and probably on the varsity although the medicos wrote finis to his baseball career a year ago when he aggravated a shoulder injury in a baseline collision.

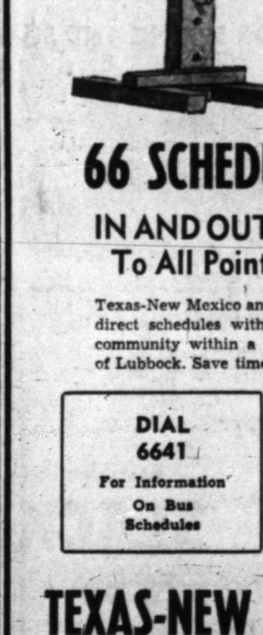

Treatment by a Brooklyn physician brought Buzas' right shoulder back into playing condition and enabled him to spark the Newark infield and hit .297 for the 1944 Bears.

"There is nothing the matter with my arm," said Buzas, whose only fault to date has been overanxiety to prove his case with Manager Joe McCarthy. "It's too early to cut loose and I've been so busy trying to remember all the helpful things Mr. McCarthy tells me."

A Serious Problem

Postwar Accident Wave Seen

ANOTHER worry concerning the postwar era has been given to the public, and it concerns a traffic peril. Carroll E. Mealey, New York regional director of the National Safety Council, points out that defective automobiles will prove outstanding hazards on the highways with the return of peacetime traffic volume. He asserts that because of the shortages of replacement parts and skilled mechanics, it is possible that a large proportion of motor units will be in poor operating condition for two or three years after the war. He also predicts a considerable time lag in the replacement of tires.

Obviously, the use of defective automobiles constitutes a hazard at the present time. It is estimated that 1,500,000 passenger automobiles will go out of service during this year. The portion of that number still on the road cannot be in very good shape. The prudent driver is aware of this menace and drives accordingly. But when the war is over and gasoline restrictions are removed, there will be much more traffic and the hazard will be increased as driving increases.

It might well be contended, too, that considerable time must elapse after victory in the Pacific before all the 'junk heaps" on the highway will disappear. It is certain that some time must pass before new automobiles can be distributed over the nation—which means many cars, old now, will be much older and in much worse shape before they give 'way to new models.

Perhaps the only hope of avoiding a high accident rate in the early postwar period is intensification of programs designed to make the motorist and pedestrian aware of the perils they face and their obligation to safeguard the lives of others. William D. Weitz, supervisor of the New York State Education department, in commenting of the need of accident prevention education, says:

"Unless we immediately consider the development of good attitudes in the minds of motorists and pedestrians, we will not be successful in the reduction of the present high rate of pedestrian and motor vehicle accidents. This change can only take place through the aid of planned training programs in the transportation industry, supplemented by driver education in the schools."

A great many Americans fail to realize their responsibilities involved in operation of an automobile and, in urban places such as Lubbock, many others forget that as pedestrians they owe some consideration to drivers.

We'll be in for high rate of accidents in the postwar period if we don't recognize the fact now, and begin to take proper steps to avoid it.

A word to the wise, of course, is sufficient—but the trouble is, a lot of us aren't very wise.

Equal To The Occasion!

GRIM as war is American fighters extract some humor from it when opportunity offers. Such a chance came the other night to Yanks who went to the opera in Naples and to one of their companions who was mistaken for an American admiral and who carried it off in style.

Chief Pharmacist's Mate Charles W. Tuttle, of Salem, Massachusetts, a Coast Guardsman with 16 years service, is a handsome man who wears his gold-decorated uniform exceedingly well. When he entered the San Carlos Opera House the attendants overheard a woman exclaim: "He must be Admiral King!" The attendants promptly conducted him to the royal box.

As the evening lengthened, the audience heard that Tuttle was the admiral, and finally they began asking him to acknowledge their applause of him. The spotlight was turned on him and the handsome American arose and bowed deeply to 3,000 applauding admirers, proving to the other Americans that, in any situation an American fighting man is equal to the occasion.

We like to think, too, that the American who got the biggest "kick" out of the whole occasion was Admiral King, himself.

While he is a very able admiral and all that sort of thing, he isn't quite what you'd call a handsome gent. Furthermore, Handsome CPM Tuttle must be at least 25—maybe 30—years younger than the admiral and what man doesn't like to be thought a quarter century younger than he really is?

An Iowa man, 103 years old, who committed suicide, left a note reading, "Life isn't worth living." It took him a long time to find this out, didn't it?

Many strange things are coming to pass these days. Yesterday we saw a woman's hat that somewhat resembled a hat.

The One Minute Sermon

Remember, I beseech thee, the word that thou commandest thy servant Moses, saying, If ye transgress, I will scatter you abroad among the nations.

But if ye turn unto me, and keep my commandments, and do them: though there were of you cast out unto the uttermost part of the heaven, yet will I gather them from thence, and will bring them unto the place that I have chosen to set my name there.—Nehemiah 1; 8 through 9.

THE STORY: Frederic Chopin's playing is applauded at Count Wodzinski's dinner party and he is asked to play an encore.

XI

THE DECISION

Frederic had bowed. Now he sat down.

The diners resumed their eating.

Frederic began his Etude in A-flat but had hardly begun when the doors swung open. Had Frederic looked up from the piano he would have seen three Russian officers, flanked by lackeys, enter the dining hall, and Count Wodzinski hurriedly rise from his chair.

"Your Excellency!"

Chairs were pushed back and the guests, taking their cue from the host, stood up.

Frederic stopped, his fingers in mid-air.

The Count bowed to his new guests, then presented his Countess who made a sweeping curtsy.

The Count in a shrill voice said: "A place for his Excellency!" and a lackey hurried to obey.

"—Ladies and gentlemen," the Count said, his voice expressing a kind of nervous pleasure; "ladies and gentlemen—"

There was silence, not even the swishing of a skirt. The flunkeys halted in their steps.

"—may I present to you His Excellency the Governor of Poland—"

The gentlemen present bowed; the ladies curtsied.

"Newly appointed by his Gracious Majesty, the Czar."

The Governor said to Count Wodzinski: "Thank you. But I don't want to interfere—"

—"If your Excellency please, we are all honored — highly honored—"

"Continue, please."

"Yes, your Excellency. Thank your Excellency. Just this way, your Excellency." Then to Frederic, he said: "Sit down, please. Go on as you were."

Frederic's eyes were fixed on the new Governor, and he seemed not to hear the words of Count Wodzinski.

"—You, young man—you will continue—"

Frederic was motionless.

"—Young man—you—go on with your music."

Frederic still didn't move.

"Do you hear what I say!"

—Had he screamed, it would have made no difference. Frederic did not hear. How could he? The inward voice was screaming, and it was louder than anything the Count was saying, or could say. "The earth, Frederic, wet with the blood of innocents. Who let this blood, Frederic? Do you know who did that? He did that, Frederic—he and the Czar to whom he bows as master."

—The inward voice; it was goading him. Then an overtone that would seem to drown it. Listen. "Frederic, hear!" Whose voice? "Papa?" "Frederic, hear!" Listen. "Frederic play. You must play, Frederic. You must please the Count. He can deside tonight, you know, to make a place for you as a teacher in the Conservatorium. Sit down, Frederic. Sit down—play."

—Stand up, Frederic. There are other responsibilities—greater responsibilities. Stand up. Bow down. One or the other. It is for you to choose. Your choice? Make it now—make it now—make it now—now—now—now—

Frederic's eyes which had been fastened on the pock-marked face of the Czar's new Governor of Poland now met the cold eyes of Count Wodzinski.

"I do not play—" His tones rang clear. "I will never play—for Czarist butchers!"

There were gasps, muffled voices, and a shifting of chairs.

But Frederic was gone.

No one had lighted a candle, and the room was in darkness.

Mamma Chopin said "Frederic—Frederic—why did you do it?"

"What did you think you would gain by it?" asked Nicolas Chopin.

Frederic didn't answer.

A candle was lighted and placed on the table.

"—What could you have hoped to gain by it?"

Mamma Chopin said: "Do you think you will ever get to teach in the Conservatorium now?"

"That's done," Nicolas Chopin said. "That's over. That much is certain."

"Tch, tch." Jozef Elsner walked back and forth, his hands behind his back.

The kitchen door flung open. It opened with such a bang that Mamma Chopin recoiled from fright, sure agents of the Czar had already come upon them. She was relieved when she saw that it was Mlle. Gladkowska and two men—Jan Bialoblocki and Tytus Wojciechowski.

Konstancja was the first to speak and she spoke sharply. "Frederic, get out of this house!"

"—Out of Poland!" said Jan Bialoblocki. "There is no time to lose!"

Nicolas Chopin said: "Are you out of your head? Where would he go?"

"Anywhere!" Tytus answered.

"There'll be an order for your arrest by morning," Jan said. "No doubt about it."

"Where would he go? There's no place for him to go."

Jozef Elsner said: "As I have sometimes said, Nicolas—there is always Paris."

"—Paris!"

"Yes."

Mlle. Gladkowska pressed a small leather bag into Frederic's hand. "Frederic."

Frederic looked at her, then at the leather bag.

"Polish earth," she said.

His hands closed tightly over it.

"—Keep it, Frederic; keep it with you wherever you go. Cherish it, Frederic."

"Polish earth?"

The girl nodded. "From under the birch trees. It will help you to remember Poland and your friends who are proud of you."

Ropes Cigarets To Go To Home Folks

ROPESVILLE, March 28.—If they don't know you, they won't sell cigarets to you in Ropesville from now on.

That was the decision among merchants after two carloads of men and women followed the cigaret truck from Lubbock to its customers here last week, descending on stores as soon as the supplies of fags were put out and sometimes getting away with practically the entire stock.

As a result, Ropes citizens, for whom the cigarets were meant, did without part of their quota of smoking material this week, and they didn't like it. Neither did the merchants, who from now on won't sell cigarets to strangers.

Moral: Don't drive 21 miles for a Camel—You won't get it.

ALINGTON DIES

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

AFTER making a careful study of more than five thousand boys and girls the Community Service Society of New York has issued a report in which many of today's juvenile problems are blamed on "emotional malnutrition."

I like that term "emotional malnutrition." It says so much in just two words.

Emotional malnutrition, according to the report, is partly due to the war and to the absence of father or mother or both from home.

The child is too much on his own—he has to find his emotional food wherever he can.

BRANDEIS

But emotional malnutrition is often to be found even where both parents are home and could give their youngsters emotional food if they had any or enough of it in the house.

I have done a bit of studying of the problem on my own.

And I have found that emotional malnutrition exists mostly where the parents themselves are lacking in what I call Vitamin S—the spiritual vitamin.

Unfortunately, here in America, most of us are so busy trying to get rich and to have automobiles and refrigerators and radios and fur coats, that we haven't much time left for the acquisition of mental and spiritual prosperity.

How many books have you in your home? What kind of books are they? How many of them have you read and what have you retained as "emotional nutrition?"

You may criticize your girl for swooning over Frank Sinatra. To her that is an emotional outlet. What have you to give her that is better than Frank?

You may be opposed to your boy reading detective stories and comic books. Have you done anything to help him develop a taste for better things than those?

You blame the kids for going out nights and for not wanting to sit at home. What have you made their home for them except four walls of restraint, of criticism, of boredom?

Children learn by example. To make them do right you must make them enjoy right.

AS WE saw in the days of Volstead, and as we see again in the days of Byrnes, laws are obeyed only if they are approved by the people.

Children will obey the laws of decency, of morality, of culture and refinement, if they approve of them. It is up to you to make them want to obey the laws.

There is as much excitement in a Shakespearean drama as there is in a crime-story. But you must show them the beauties of Shakespeare, which, however, you cannot do unless you appreciate him yourself.

I hear so many people criticize jazz music and bookie-woogie and jitterbugging.

All right then, how much do you know about Verdi and Beethoven and Bach?

Maybe you think I shouldn't say all this out loud, maybe your kids will read it and say: "See? What business have you got to censure me?"

Well, let me tell you that kids do a lot of thinking of their own. Everything that I have written here was told to me by kids.

Kids are emotional. Feed their emotions. Give them nutritious food.

Else they become scavengers. And then you call them juvenile delinquents!

Labor Proving Ground

New Bedford Experiment Eyed

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

APOSTLES of private enterprise and advocates of Federal control over the nation's working force have deliberately utilized the labor controversy in New Bedford as a proving ground for their conflicting ideologies. Had it not been for this attempt to outmaneuver one another in the New England manufacturing center, the squabble might have been settled some time ago.

New Bedford became a battleground when Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt ordered—or asked—certain employes in a fine textile goods plant to shift to a factory engaged in making tire fabrics. The Army's grave need for cords was cited as justification, and the man in Washington apparently expected immediate compliance.

TUCKER

The workers objected, however, and they had the support of the local people, fellow-employes and their bosses. The old Yankee spirit of independence asserted itself against Washington's attempt to shove folks around.

"Lacking any real authority, Mr. McNutt had to rely on voluntary action. But he behaved in rather a hard-boiled manner, and antagonized the citizenry and the authorities. He made very little effort to compose the difficulty by compromise and arbitration.

The explanation lies in that the Administration sought to capitalize on the dispute. With the work-or-fight bill pending before the Congress, Mr. McNutt wanted to stage a spectacular demonstration that he needed drastic and far-reaching controls. In short, the Massachusetts city was used as a guinea pig by the contending groups.

TEST: The labor-management factions bucked and stalled Commissioner McNutt at every meeting of their joint advisory committee in the Capital. Whenever he proposed a solution, they countered with another.

These two groups were fully as obstinate as the Federal set in their attempt to demonstrate that there was no need for the severe provisions and penalties contained in the May Bill passed by the House. The unions and the manufacturers preferred the far milder Senate version.

Mr. McNutt called the committee together early this week for what was scheduled as a showdown session on the test case in New Bedford. The powwow came at a critical moment for both sides. House-Senate conferees on the work-or-fight program were to convene that same day, and a decision in the Massachusetts case, one way or the other, might affect their action.

COUP: Night before the McNutt and the Congressional get-togethers, the manufacturers' representatives here tried a coup. They phoned a certain influential industrialist who has close association with the tire factory involved in the dispute. They asked him to urge the owners of the cord plant to declare an immediate increase of seven cents an hour for workers in the third or night shift.

An important reason why employes of the fine goods firm would not transfer to the more essential factory was that they might have to quit daylight work for the after-dark grind. They did not want their ordered living routine disrupted by Government fiat.

Thus, by making the third shift more attractive through higher hourly pay, the labor-management element hoped to facilitate an agreement by the voluntary method. Then they could submit to Mr. McNutt a settlement reached along their lines.

Union spokesmen were urged to impress this on the workers concerned, and to contribute to the scheme for outsmarting Mr. McNutt. It was a sensational case of ganging up against the Government. So far their strategy hasn't worked.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE clamor for an investigation of the new pressures on the home front has become so persistent that President Roosevelt promised to discuss the food situation at his press conference.

The WPB and WFA, their ears tingling from protests against clothing and meat shortages, have pleaded with the Army and Navy to scale down some of their demands and to quit making overlapping purchases.

LEMAN

But, according to New York industrial executives who know the extent of our commitments in waging a full-sized war against Japan and in helping to prevent the collapse of world economy, the reader should not dream of early relief. Although public indignation may check some of the most glaring bureaucratic muddles, nothing—not even a sudden V-E day—can now stave off the worst pinch of the entire war period.

The Office of Civilian Requirements is compiling a new estimate of 'bedrock" civilian needs. Back in 1943 a danger level was set which called for an annual minimum production worth fifty-six billion dollars. Current output of civilian goods and services is nearly twice that amount. Therefore, contend the satisticians, we are not yet suffering severe hardships.

LA GUARDIA: But each new cut hurts not only those in a particular field but also the customers. How strenuously they resist is illustrated by the curfew rumpus.

The latest figures show that the gross number of persons frequenting night clubs in the U.S.A. in 1944 was two hundred million, including repeats. Gross receipts are estimated at more than six hundred million dollars. And lots of other night life concerns are touched.

Mayor La Guardia is being violently attacked through the country and in his own city for his open defiance of James F. Byrnes. Fiorello is up for re-election. In Manhattan the entertainment industry is big business, employing thousands and affecting millions of patrons, so he has won votes in these circles.

On the other hand, his enemies hope that by thumbing his nose at the War Mobilizer he has offended the President whose O. K. he needs in the mayoralty campaign. But the belief here is that the administration no longer really cares about the curfew and is letting the Little Flower give it the coup de grace.

Byrnes apparently launched the midnight curb without prior consultation with restaurant, liquor and theatrical experts. The original reason given was conservation of fuel. But this week the Consolidated Edison company of New York announced that the effect of the ban would be a saving of only three-tenths of one per cent of the annual production of electricity.

TRUTH: If Washington officials can justify their restrictions and will give the people the facts in each case, all patriots will probably back them up. But many leaders think that the public is fed up with lectures on its "not knowing there's a war on" while kept in the dark by a hush-hush Government.

La Guardia's highhanded refusal to coöperate will be resented by other mayors and citizens who are acceding to the Byrnes request. But there may be less inclination everywhere to kick over the traces and to gripe about war limitations if the nation is given "the whole truth and nothing but the truth" about the necessity for curtailments.

Our impression of the average intelligence test is that if your answers are as crazy as the questions, you're nuts.

A minister who objects to golfing says there were no golf courses in the Garden of Eden. For that matter, there were no preachers there either.

"Anybody who stays in the White House a long time is bound to make enemies," declares Mrs. Roosevelt, who speaks from hearsay.

America's Might Felt In France

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

LE HAVRE, France—At this now teeming port at the mouth of the Seine and at Rouen, 30 miles up the Seine, you get the terrific impact of America's war machine, its strong young men and the products of its factories and fields.

America moves through here, the best of her. In the restoration and utilization of these two ports and in the goods of all sorts that are unloaded day after day, night after night, there is the pulse of her mighty industrial machine. You can almost feel the heart of America beat here as it pumps its blood of men and munitions to the front lines 300 miles ahead.

STOKES

It is inexorable and so is the casual young American soldier on duty at the dock who was bawled out by the officer escorting me because he wore his sweater on the outside of his blouse, which is strictly non-military.

Invincable, Yet Casual

The young American soldier is casual and yet at the front lines he is invincible, something even our own military men, particularly the West Pointers, find hard to understand. It is unfathomable to the peoples of Europe, both allies and enemies.

Yet when you see what our people are doing here, regular Army officers and troops trained in the business of supplying war and civilians who were not so trained at all before they got into the army, then you begin to understand what a free people can do, no matter how casual they seem.

They can organize to fight and they can fight, much as they dislike it.

YOU get an idea of what the Army Service Forces and all its components, its jacks of all trades were up against when they moved into these ports behind the armies by looking at the acres of blasted, hollow buildings, the piles of debris, the great vacant spaces right in the center of these two cities.

This the Allied bombers did. They uprooted two-thirds of Le Havre in two hours late one April afternoon, and all along the Seine at Rouen where the ships must come and go, a path was razed and bridges blasted. This made a hard place in which to begin work.

The Germans had been fiendishly careful, too, as they left, for they blocked the harbors in many ways. 'This probably' would have discouraged any other people, but not the Americans. Today the ships are coming and going regularly. You see them at the docks being unloaded and the landscape is thick with huge cranes. You see improvised floating docks in the big basins here to take care of still more and more ships.

They Get Things Done

They have improvised everywhere to get things done.

At Rouen they have installed a unique control system so that you can go into a sort of shanty there and read at any moment on the charts what is being done at every hatch on every ship that is being unloaded. A report comes in every hour from every hatch. This is American efficiency for you.

Into Rouen, up the Seine, come Liberty ships from the United States, British coasters, LSTs and MTs from England, bringing cargo and men. The supplies are trans-shipped to Paris and to forward areas by railroads and barge lines. The barges are running again, after a cessation due to floods in the Seine so heavy that the barges could not get under the bridges.

ROUEN is handling more cargo every month now than went out of all the United States ports to outlying possessions—the Philippines, Hawaii, Alaska, and Puerto Rico—in the year from July 1, 1940, to July 1, 1941, when our defense program was getting under way.

American soldiers are still streaming through Le Havre, the gateway. The Hills about Le Havre and beyond are dotted with camps through which they pass on the way to the front. In the staging area near here I visited one camp, Lucky Strike, it is called, with a capacity of 65,000 men, a tent city that stretches for miles and miles until you are staggered.

There are two others like it, though somewhat smaller. The three of them can handle more than 100,000 men.

They may wear their sweaters over their blouses when they shouldn't, but they are across the Rhine now, a long way from Topeka, Kans., and Lansing, Mich., and Macon, Ga., and Cheyenne, Wyo., and Dallas, Tex., and Eureka, Calif.

Legion Of Merit Is Given Col. Phinney

DALLAS, March 28. (AP)—The Legion of Merit was awarded Lt. Col. Carl L. Phinney yesterday for his work in supplying the 36th division with food and equipment during combat in North Africa and Italy where he served as quartermaster.

Col. Phinney is now attached to the 8th service command, Dallas, as a personnel officer. He was a Dallas attorney in civil life.

Those attending the ceremony, at which Maj. Gen. Richard Donovan, head of the Eighth Service command, presented the award included Colonel Phinney's father, C. D. Phinney of Brownwood.

that whatever manpower reserves the Germans were able to muster from within Austria were being deployed along the Szombathely-Sopron railway. Once the Russians reach that railway they will have cut all the north-south communications in the western part of overrun Hungary.

Far to the north, powerful assault forces of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian Army, seized Gdynia 24 hours after they broke into that pre-war Polish port and occupied the entire western part of nearby Danzig, Moscow announced. The Russians captured 9,000 Germans in Gdynia.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Cotton futures registered net gains of 45 to 60 cents a bale today on scattered mill and local buying encountered a scarcity of offerings.

The upward movement was partly influenced by expectations the government will support high cotton prices.

Covering operations in July by spot firms against the recent Belgium purchase contributed to market strength.

There was a fair amount of switching for spot May to July.

Futures closed 45 to 60 cents a bale higher.

Manpower Plea

vey of the Senate had convinced him that the conference committee's recommendations would be rejected. As soon as possible, he said, he would move to send it back to conference.

A Republican, Senator Morse of Oregon, who frequently has supported the administration programs, declared "such arbitrary power" never has been vested in one man as the bill would give James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization.

"It will be a dangerous day for our representative government in America if the Senate ever votes to vest in one man such tremendous power," the youthful black-haired Westerner declared.

The measure would authorize Byrnes to set employment ceilings for individual plants or areas, regulate or even prohibit hiring by employers, and selectively freeze workers to their jobs. Both workers and employers convicted of wilfully violating Byrnes' directives would be subject to a year's imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

The President's letter to Thomas removed any lingering doubt of the bill's signature if it clears the Senate.

Mr. Roosevelt conceded that the measure "is not all that was recommended by General Marshall and Admiral King," or by himself. However, he said, in such a controversial matter legislation can only be enacted by compromise.

Claude C. Walker Dies At Home Here

Claude C. Walker, 67, who moved to Lubbock about six months ago, died at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at his home at 3621 Washington.

He is survived by a son, N. B. Walker of Abilene; three daughters, Mrs. W. E. Williams of Lubbock, Mrs. Otis Warren and Mrs. Mervel Scarborough, both of Corpus Christi; and two grandchildren.

The body was sent to Abilene Wednesday night, and services will probably be held there today, Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home reported.

Legislature

present judges would continue in office as judges until the expiration of their elective terms. Thereafter three judges would be elected every two years for six-year terms.

Solon's Salary Bill

Although the proposal was all but passed, since the Senate is expected to concur in the one alteration, the first of many proposed constitutional amendments—one putting members of the legislature on an annual salary of $3,650—was finally submitted today.

Senate approval of the House-originated joint resolution submits the amendment to the electorate in the general election of 1946.

If approved it should become operative in January, 1950.

Both House members and Senators now receive $10 a day during the first 120 days of a general session and $5 daily thereafter. They are paid $10 a day during special sessions which are limited to 30 days. There is no interim pay.

House Bills Passed

The Senate with little debate cleared its calendar of several House bills, including:

Permitting non par insurance stock corporations to use reserves down to $100,000 the same as for par stock companies.

Setting special turkey hunting season in Kenedy county.

Setting up a new tax regulation governing private corporations for religious, charitable and religious purposes.

Establishing a training school for negro girls and appropriated $150,000 for a building and $30,000 for maintenance.

Memorializing Congress to include state employes under the provisions of the social security laws.

Requesting the federal government to issue a special centenial stamp for Texas statehood anniversary.

Residence Destroyed In Wednesday Fire

A residence was written off as almost a total loss and a garage was badly damaged as the result of fires Wednesday.

Only the walls remained after fire gutted a house at 1409 Ave. G occupied by E. R. Holloway. Practically all furnishings were destroyed, firemen said.

Heavy damage was done to a private garage and its contents at 1924 Nineteenth, it was reported.

Another alarm took firemen to Stinson's cleaning firm in 1700-block Broadway. A tumbler of clothes had burst into flame.

Planes Shuttle From Field East Of Rhine

ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, U. S. NINTH AIR FORCE, March 28. (AP)—American planes shuttled today from the Allies' first airfield east of the Rhine.

Location of the new air force anchor in the battle of central Germany remained secret but Brig. Gen. James B. Newman, jr., commander of the Ninth Engineer command, said it would enable the Army to "keep tactical aircraft operating as close as possible on the tail of the retreating enemy."

The first planes landed yesterday. Their initial assignment was to remove American wounded.

Surging Allies Are Unchecked

umn" had been sent south from the First Army sector into the Third Army area in order to speed up the Third's advance. There was no amplification of this news, however.

The Fourth Armored column did the last 25 miles of its spectacular dash in about 10 hours, meeting virtually no opposition. Another column of the Fourth drove into Altenstadt, 10 miles north of Tanau, and then pushed on to the vicinity of Nieder Florstadt, 19 miles south of Giessen. Aschaffenburg, 12 miles southeast of Hanau, was cleared of the enemy and Third Army troops crossed the Main there. Wiesbaden, famous spa west of Frankfurt, also was taken.

Trap Is Closed

A late front dispatch said Gen. Hodges had sent a First Army armored column driving southeast from Giessen to close the gap between his and Patton's armies. Patton's infantry cleared Bischofscheim, three and a half miles northeast of Frankfurt.

Fighter pilots ranging out in front of the roaring American tank columns searching for the enemy reported they could find only scattered targets. There were no signs of any German troops or tanks coming up to meet the swift and powerful thrust toward Berlin.

There were not even road blocks or mines to slow the eastern surge.

Only Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's U. S. Ninth Army, fighting grimly into the Ruhr valley, continued to meet fierce resistance. Doughboys of the 79th division captured three great war production factories as they fought into the outskirts of Duisberg, and the bridgehead as a whole was enlarged to 16 miles deep by 14 wide. The 79th held the northern area of Duisberg and some of the docks of that once great industrial metropolis.

43 Miles From Frankfurt

The German high command declared that Patton's Fourth Armored division had driven into Gemuenden, 43 miles east of Frankfurt and 218 miles from Berlin. A subsequent enemy broadcast said the column had pushed five miles farther northeast within 213 miles of the rubbled capital.

Far-ranging tank forces of the First Army raced eastward at the center of the front over roads cleared of the enemy. Giessen, 225 miles from Berlin, was overrun in an early morning dash and a tank column smashed on through Bellnhausen, eight miles farther north and 69 miles beyond the Rhine.

The full, magnificent story of the First and Third Army advances was hidden by a censorship imposed Tuesday night. The demobilized enemy did not know where the American spearheads were, and the First Army was not meeting even token resistance.

New Crossings Made

Far behind the battle's forefront, Third Army troops forced new crossings of both the Rhine and Main rivers and captured Wiesbaden, five miles west of Frankfurt, in which street fighting raged through the second day. The Allied commission sat in Wiesbaden after the last war.

Of the British Second Army breakout in the north, field correspondents were permitted to say that tank-riding infantrymen had captured Dorsten, 16 miles east of the Rhine, and that mechanized units were piling on eastward. Montgomery's troops were in the outskirts of Borken, north of Dorsten and 20 miles from the Rhine.

East of Rees there was heavy fighting in the streets of Haldern, the single point in the entire Ruhr bridgehead where there remained a determined pocket of resistance. North of Millingen the whole line moved up more than a mile and Canadian troops were approaching Anholt. The center of Montgomery's line was within a half-mile of the Bocholt-Anholt railway.

Prisoners Dirty and Hungry

German prisoners streaming to the rear were dirty, haggard and hungry. Breakdown of the enemy's supply system left them without foor or shells for their guns. Almost every forest engulfed in the First Army drive was found stacked with tons of ammunition and supplies which the Nazis never had a chance to use.

Many of Hodges' and Patton's men had been advancing three days and nights virtually without rest or sleep, and their eyes were red and dust-clogged. The rumor spread among them that the Germans might resort to poison gas in an attempt to stop the armored avalanche, but few believed the enemy would be that foolhardy.

So panicky was the German retreat that many road bridges were found intact.

Hundreds of Allied war prisoners, including French, Poles, Greeks and Russians, were being liberated by the advancing columns.

Rhine Said Easy

Kew Gardens, Queens, N. Y., wanted to talk about everything except battles.

"I thought they were kidding when they yanked me off the tank just when we were going to start the attack and said I was going home," said Salem.

"I never saw anything like it, though, when we crossed the Rhine," he said, "the boys were hot and they just wanted to keep on going until they got to Berlin—and in a hurry. Two or three of the boys would go out on their own and come back with 50 prisoners."

Not one man knew his leave was coming up. Most were notified just as they were going into battle.

Point Values Hiked

Wickard said any increase of ceiling prices would not increase meat production.

3. Leo T. Crowley, foreign economic administrator, said the effect of lend-lease on food supplies for United States armed forces and civilians has been "greatly overstated."

4. A special seven-member committee created yesterday by the House to look into food shortages, expected to start its activities tomorrow. Chairman Anderson (D-NM) said he intends to inquire into situations in several cities, with a special lookout for black markets.

Must Eat Controls

Wilson told the Senate Agriculture committee that OPA price controls must be eased or the government will have to take over the entire packing industry.

"We can't buy livestock at controlled prices and sell at controlled prices without losing money," Wilson testified.

In the past, he said, the packers had been able to 'use our own abilities" to adjust their difficulties but now are "tied to the rules and regulations of the agencies here."

"We are losing on both pork and beef—substantial amounts," he said.

"Does that mean that every hog and every steer you buy means more loss?" inquired Chairman Thomas (D-Okla).

"Absolutely."

Would Have To Get Help

Thomas asked if Wilson & Company could continue without borrowing money from the government if the war lasted "three or four years."

"The government would have to come in," Wilson replied. "We are borrowing money now. We couldn't afford to borrow from the government or anybody else and go on."

Thomas asked just what Wilson thought should be done to correct the situation he had described.

"Just put us on a basis where we can make a small, reasonable profit," Wilson replied, adding that he would leave the details up to OPA.

Thomas asked whether OPA's order yesterday raising by 25 cents to $1.50 a hundred pounds the amount the government will pay for pork purchases was not helpful."

"Yes, but it is not enough," Wilson replied. "It will just about take care of half our losses."

Wickard's Statement

Secretary Wickard's contention that meat production would not be increased by ceiling price rises was made in a brief statement read to the committee.

The secretary said that an increase in ceilings actually might have the immediate effect of cutting supplies, since growers might retain their animals for better prices.

Henry Neuhoff, jr., president of Neuhoff Brothers Packers, Inc., Dallas, testified that from last December through February of this year his firm showed a loss of $45,000. He estimated that losses this month would amount to about $35,000.

Neuhoff said OPA requires that the company wait until the end of the year for any possible relief.

"When they get around to me," he added, "I'm going to be closed up—by that time I'll be broke."

Point Value Increases

Bowles said increases for most pork cuts and pork products are one or two points a pound. Center chops are advanced from 10 to 12 points; end chops from 6 to 7; ham slices from 10 to 12; loin roasts from 7 to 8.

Sausages are advanced a point a pound, and there are increases of one to two points for most sausage products, meat in tin or glass containers and for many ready-to-eat meats.

Lard, shortening, salad and cooking oils go up from 4 to 6 points a pound and margarine from 5 to 8 points.

Bowles said it was necessary to establish higher point values for fats and oils, except butter, because of the reduced quantities that will be available in April and to make supplies more readily available.

and conviction also are needed."

Schroeder said the "most difficult task was trying to answer the people's most persistent question: When will the German counteroffensive in the east promised by Goebbels three weeks ago begin?"

"There is no hope that the German high command's silence on this question will be broken," he said.

Confusion Spreads

With confusion spreading throughout the Reich as Allied armies gobbled up more and more German soil and war planes battered the transport system, a further restriction in food rationing was reported in a Berlin dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet.

New plans for the further evacuation of bomb-battered Berlin were announced by the German radio, indicating that all women and children would be cleared from the capital while able-bodied men will remain for a last-ditch stand.
