T-H Hearing Is Delayed

By JOHN MOODY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Resumption of a federal court hearing to determine if a Taft-Hartley injunction will be used to end the 99-day steel strike was delayed today as the presiding judge pored over his law books and conferred with attorneys.

"He got up at the crack of dawn," said an aide of Judge Herbert P. Sorg.

The hearing, which began Tuesday, was to have resumed at 10 a.m. At noon, Judge Sorg was still in his chambers conferring with government attorneys and counsel for the United Steelworkers.

Even if an injunction is granted an end of the strike could be delayed by an appeal. The court could—but would not have to—stay the injunction while an appeal was acted upon.

The government argued Tuesday that lost steel production was threatening the nation's health and safety. The striking United Steelworkers Union said the strike was creating hardships but was not endangering the national economy.

U.S. District Judge Herbert P. Sorg took the case under advisement after listening to arguments by both sides for nearly three hours. President Eisenhower ordered the Justice Department to seek the injunction.

The Steelworkers Union and 96 steel companies were named defendants in the case. The steel firms represent almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel production capacity.

An injunction, if issued by Judge Sorg, would send the half million striking steelworkers back to the mills for an 80-day cooling off period.

Meanwhile, the industry and the union would be under court order to try and negotiate a permanent settlement in the long and costly dispute.

Asst. Atty. Gen. George C. Doub told Judge Sorg that 265,000 workers have been idled by the strike in addition to the half million strikers. He said unemployment would continue to mount if the strike continues.

"Such a strike is an invasion of the rights of the public. We are here by virtue of a tragic failure of collective bargaining," he added.

The strike, Doub said, has closed 310 steel plants, 118 iron ore mines and 11 transportation facilities in 32 states.

Arthur J. Goldberg, the union's general counsel, argued the government has no facts to support its contention that the strike threatens the well-being of the country.

"If an injunction is granted, the great sacrifices which the steelworkers have suffered will have been largely in vain," he told Judge Sorg. "Their strike will be broken."

Goldberg argued that the government must prove beyond doubt that a national emergency exists now before an injunction can be invoked under the Taft-Hartley law.

The section of the T-H law under which the government brought its petition is illegal, Goldberg also argued.

He said this is so because it empowers the courts to issue injunctions against an act legal in itself—the right to strike.

Goldberg said the strike is not a collective bargaining failure but a part of the collective bargaining procedure. He said the industry has been counting on Taft-Hartley action to get mills back into operation.

Goldberg said he strongly suspects the strike would be ended quickly by negotiations if the government petition for an injunction is denied.

Under terms of the Taft-Hartley law the workers could be kept in the mills for 80-days. After that if a settlement is not reached they would be free to resume the strike without government interference.

Between the 60th and 75th day of the T-H injunction the National Labor Relations Board would conduct a secret ballot in which the workers would vote on whether to accept the last offer made by the companies.

CLEAR-CUT WINNER IN WEEK'S GRID CONTEST

The percentage fell off slightly, but there was a clear-cut first place winner in last week's Snyder Daily News football contest.

Roy M. Creswell, 1903 Nineteenth Street, missed only five of 28 calls to stand alone at the top of the class.

Two other contestants, with six incorrect calls each, wound up in a tie for second place money. They were Rayburn Burgess, 2210 Forty-first Street, and Roland Davis, Route 3.

Creswell tripped on Michigan State's victory over Notre Dame, Ohio State's victory over Purdue, the SMU-Rice tie, the Tennessee-Alabama tie and Baylor's victory over Texas Tech.

The Michigan State-Notre Dame and Iowa-Wisconsin games threw more contestants than others during the week.

Burgess missed the two tie games, along with Snyder-Levelland, Ira-Blackwell, Auburn-Georgia Tech and Notre Dame-Michigan State. Davis missed the Arkansas-Texas, Hermleigh-Rule, Notre Dame-Michigan State, Ira-Blackwell and the two ties.

Another contest begins today, and the list of games may be found on the football contest page of this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

Commander Is Charged With Treason

CAMAGUEY, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro's military commander in Camaguey province took refuge in his military headquarters today after being accused of treason.

Castro himself flew here to lead an assault on the headquarters.

The bearded leader of the Cuban revolutionary government paced up and down the main street of this provincial capital while his radios appealed to workers and farmers to join him in the assault.

Two of Castro's military commanders have accused Maj. Hubert Matos of treason against the revolution.

Matos, who had been one of Castro's most respected field commanders, had resigned as provincial military commander in protest, apparently, against the appointment of Castro's brother, Raul, 29, as the new minister of the Cuban armed forces. The appointment abolished the Defense Ministry and gave the young man complete control over all the armed forces.

A number of Matos' staff members joined him in the protest.

Castro flew here with his army chief, Camillo Cienfuegos, from Havana. Soon afterward the radios began their broadcasts of appeals for popular support in the assault on the headquarters.

Matos and several of his supporters were inside the military headquarters but Camaguey friends of the provincial commander said he was unarmed and had not carried a weapon since sending his resignation to Castro two days ago.

They predicted that any assault against the military headquarters would not be opposed.

"Leave your fields, mount your horses, and ride into Camaguey to support the revolution of Fidel Castro," was the repeated appeal to farmers and machette-carrying peasants.

Factory workers in Camaguey were similarly summoned and there was a general air of confusion as they poured into the streets.

Castro himself was unarmed as he strode up and down Camaguey's main street conferring with officials.

Matos was described by residents here as "an able and honest leader who refused to go as far to the left as some of his associates."

He had been a military commander of Camaguey province after playing a major part in the Castro revolution.

Reports from other sources in the rich cattle-raising province said Matos had resigned with his entire staff in protest against the activities of one of his accusers, Capt. Jorge Enrique Mendoza, who directs the program of the Institute for Agrarian Reform in the province. The institute was set up to parcel out lands taken over by the revolutionary government.

Other sources said it was likely Matos also objected to turning over the sole responsibility for all the armed forces to Castro's younger brother.

Army Agency Fate Settled

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker hinted today that the fate of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, deeply involved in the space race with the Soviet Union, was settled at a White House conference today.

Brucker was a late—and not previously announced — participant in a meeting between President Eisenhower and his top space advisers. The session was set up to solve the problem of how to push the United States into stronger competition with the Soviets in the outer reaches.

Emerging from the talks some time after the others had left, Brucker was asked if there had been a decision on the missile agency and its crack team of space experts headed by Wernher von Braun.

He first replied that was a matter in the province of the President.

Asked if that meant there had been no decision, Brucker answered: "I didn't say that."

About the same time the White House said Eisenhower probably will make a statement about the meeting after he arrives in Augusta, Ga. The President left directly after his space conference for a five-day golfing vacation.

Specific questions before the White House conferees included the disposition of the agency and specifically what to do about the Huntsville, Ala., project for development of the Saturn booster, a huge cluster of eight rockets with 1½ million pounds of thrust.

That is half again as much thrust as anything the Soviet Union is known to have and would hurl bigger payloads farther into space.

But the Pentagon does not need that much push for military rockets, and has been pulling back on supporting the program.

There has been talk that Saturn support might be shifted to the civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and NASA at one time made a direct bid for the whole Huntsville operation.

The Saturn program has been suffering from malnutrition. Word has come down that its funds have been cut from 135 million dollars to 70 million. Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, who has headed this effort, has just resigned, although he says his resignation was not a protest action.

The problem is that Saturn has no immediate and direct military application. Its huge thrust is five times more than is needed to fling atomic warheads between continents. Its value is in the exploration of space.

Ike Leaves For 5-Day Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower left today for a five-day visit to Augusta, Ga., hoping that golfing in sunshine there would help him shake off a lingering cold.

The President flew in the Columbine II, the four-engined propeller plane he used when he first entered office.

Some rain was forecast for the Augusta area today and Thursday but it will be warmer than Washington. The temperature was 54 degrees as Eisenhower left.

Accompanying the President on the trip were two of his golfing companions, Cliff Roberts, president of the Augusta National Golf Club, and Ellis Slater, a member of the club and chairman of the board of National Distillers.

Eisenhower plans to return to Washington Sunday evening or early Monday morning.

While Eisenhower still has lingering traces of the cold he caught last month, press secretary James C. Hagerty said this was not a major factor in the decision to go to Augusta. He also said the President's general health is excellent.

UF Board In Session

The Scurry County United Fund Board of Directors is scheduled to go into a called session this afternoon at four o'clock to consider a several-item agenda.

Matters to be considered will include the election of a campaign chairman for the 1959 drive, slated to get underway Nov. 2; the consideration and possible approval of quotas submitted by the seven participating agencies and already subjected to committee consideration.

The meeting, to be held in the Snyder Chamber of Commerce office, will be presided over by board vice president H. W. Cargile in the absence of Mel Gilbert, president, who is vacationing in the east at present.

Representatives of the participating agencies are invited to attend.

U. N. Ballot On Tibet Looms

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The General Assembly headed for a vote today on Tibet, an issue that has sparked sharp East-West exchanges and caused apprehension among many Asian delegates.

The vote will come on a watered-down resolution by Ireland and Malaya to put the assembly on record reaffirming the right of the Tibetan people to choose their own way of life.

The resolution makes no mention of Communist China or the charges that the Peiping government brutally stamped out an anti-Communist uprising in the Himalayan land of the Lamas last spring. The sponsors eliminated such charges in hopes they would allay the fears of Asian neutrals.

The resolution received strong support from the United States, which accused the Communist of trying to frighten delegates away from discussing the issue.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge made the charge after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov declared consideration of Tibet by the assembly would only aggravate the cold war.

"We have been asked to believe that it is all right for the Chinese Communists to kill Tibetans but that is a provocation for us to talk about," Lodge asserted.

Delegates noted that Kuznetsov's tone was much milder than the one he used when he tried unsuccessfully to stop the U.N. Steering Committee from approving the debate on Tibet.

Diplomats speculated that Kuznetsov took the soft approach in hopes of enlisting the Asian-African bloc against the Irish-Malayan resolution. They also pointed out that the Soviet diplomat could hardly use cold war language in an argument against bringing up a cold war issue.

Johnson Talks Of Issues For 1960

BRENHAM, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson came back Tuesday night to Brenham, where 22 years ago he launched his first campaign for political office, to make a near declaration of his candidacy for president.

Obviously moved because speaker after speaker at an appreciation barbecue eulogized him and called him the next president of the United States, Johnson cast aside his prepared speech and discussed "the issues in 1960."

This was his first public address since House Speaker Sam Rayburn, his longtime friend and political mentor, urged last weekend that a Lyndon Johnson-for-President Club be organized in every Texas county.

Democratic national committeeman Byron Skelton of Temple presented him to the crowd as "the next president of the United States."

"I know I am not worthy of all the nice things said here tonight," Johnson said, but nowhere in his speech did he say a word to discourage friends from pushing him as a candidate.

He concluded his speech by declaring:

"You can just bet your bottom dollar that as long as God spares me, I am going to try to make this country better than it was when I was born—and it was a mighty good place to be in then."

Johnson got his start in national politics as a member of Congress from the Brenham district.

He said the great issue in 1960 will be the preservation of our form of government.

"I don't think we shall have to die for liberty as our forefathers did," he said, "but we shall have to do some heavy thinking.

"Are we going to be alert and awake enough to be sure we are always prepared?"

Pointing out that the Russians are ahead of this country in intercontinental missiles, he declared:

"I think we ought to be doing more in the scientific field, more in space . . ."

He said Congress has given President Eisenhower "practically every cent he asked for defense and last year we gave him a billion and a quarter more than he asked."

"If we are not in danger, we are spending too much. If we are in danger, we are not spending enough."

Greeting Johnson on his arrival was word the Washington County Johnson-for-President Club had been formed.

Chessman Is Granted Stay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today granted a stay of execution for Caryl Chessman, under sentence to die Friday in California's gas chamber.

The stay was granted to permit the convict-author to file a new appeal. The appeal must be filed by Nov. 3.

Counsel for Chessman had asked Justice Douglas to grant a stay, but Douglas referred the request to the full court.

In granting the stay, the court noted that Chief Justice Warren had disqualified himself from the case. Warren is a former governor of California.

The decision to grant a stay thus was made by eight justices.

After the filing of a new appeal on behalf of Chessman, the State of California may file a reply in opposition to further Supreme Court consideration of the case.

The eight justices then will decide in closed conference whether they will grant a hearing on the new appeal. A refusal to do so would mean that Chessman's conviction with the penalty would stand.

Announcement of the court's action was contained in an order which was distributed to newsmen by the tribunal's public relations officer, B. E. Whittington.

Storm Sewer Pipe Arrives

Five sections of 60-inch storm sewer have been delivered to near Thirty-seventh street on the Winston property, marking the first material received here for the recently-let storm sewer contract awarded to the Clyde Construction Co., of Odessa.

The sewer line will taper from a 60-inch inside diameter line at the lower end to a 15-inch I.D. line at the upper end which will terminate at Twenty-ninth and Ave E.

Actual work on the laying of the sewer line is scheduled to begin Monday, City Manager Roy Dunlap said today. The contract calls for a 60-calendary-day work completion period.

The joints of the storm sewer are being supplied by the Gifford Hill Co., of Sweetwater.

Last Of Quintuplet Girls Dies Today

By GARTH JONES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The last survivor of the toylike quintuplet girls born Tuesday to the wife of an Air Force lieutenant died today. Their parents knew even before their births that the five likely could not live long.

Baby D died at 6:40 a.m. although doctors worked constantly to save her.

Air Force physicians revealed they told the parents, 1st Lt. and Mrs. Charles G. Hannan, before the births that survival was remote.

Both the parents were in near-shock after the first four deaths yesterday within 9½ hours of birth. Baby D died less than 19 hours after birth.

"Oh, my God. They were just like baby dolls," sobbed a technician when the word spread rapidly through the hospital.

A Lackland Air Force Base spokesman said neither of the parents was physically able to be interviewed or have their pictures taken immediately, but Hannan authorized a statement.

"My wife and I were terribly sorry to learn of the death of our babies and are stricken with grief. However, we are confident that all is for the best and God has a better place for them," the statement said.

"We know the hospital and the staff here at Lackland did everything they could to save our babies. They were just too immature. The best medical facilities were available.

"We hope we can get a little peace and quiet now."

Baby D was the fourth born. She weighed 1 pound 13 ounces.

Pretty, blonde Mrs. Hannan, 27, turned to her crewcut husband, 29, shortly after the babies were born and said, "You wanted a girl. Now you have five." The Hannans are the parents of two boys.

Making a desperate effort to save the last survivor was Capt. William D. Munroe. He worked almost constantly with the one child throughout the night at Lackland AFB Hospital, called the largest and finest Air Force hospital.

Baby B, so designated to indicate order of birth, died at 5:40 p. m. Tuesday. Baby A died at 6:10 p. m. Baby E died at 9:25 p. m. and Baby C at 10 p. m.

The births, a 42-million to one medical rarity, represented the third set of quintuplets in United States medical history and only the 47th in all recorded annals. They were three months premature.

Baby A weighed 1 pound 9 ounces, B weighed 1 pound 5¾ ounces, C 1 pound 8½ ounces, D 1 pound 13 ounces, and E 1 pound 13 ounces. Baby D, the strongest, was weighed several hours after her birth. The others, because of their condition, were not weighed until after their deaths.

Spokesman at Lackland Air Force Base Hospital told newsmen that everything that medical science can do, including artificial respiration, is being done to save the remaining baby.

"I have said lots of prayers," the youthful appearing, crew-cut flying navigator told reporters after the first baby died. "My wife has, too, and it has done lots of good before and now."

Hannan interrupted a news conference to go to his wife's room on the third floor of the hospital when the death of the second baby was announced.

The mother, joyous at the first news of the quintuplet births, was reported doing well. Her husband described her to newsmen as a "pretty blue-eyed blonde with short hair." He said she was about 5-foot-3 in height and weighed about 120 pounds. The Hannans were childhood sweethearts at a Catholic school in Taylor, Tex., before their marriage there Sept. 7, 1953.

The couple has two sons, Robert, 5, Pat 4. They had spent more than two years in Japan before returning to the United States Aug. 1, 1959.

Hannan told reporters he and his wife both had hoped for a girl this time, and when he walked into his wife's hospital room after the births, she smiled at him and said, "Well, you wanted a girl and now you've got five?"

He said he kissed her for each of the newly born quints.

Physicians said the babies' color and breathing were good but that they had not had a chance to develop fully.

The world's only living quints are the Diligentis of Buenos Aires, Argentina, who celebrated their 16th birthday last July 15. The Dionne quints, probably the world's most publicized, survived for 20 years, until Emilie Dionne died at 20 in 1954.

Oliva Dionne, father of the Canadian quintuplets, was one of the first to express congratulations and best wishes to the Hannans.

"Mrs. Dionne and I," he told a Callander, Ont., newsman, "want to send along our best wishes to the parents." His comment was made before the deaths were announced.

Hannan's reaction Tuesday recalled Dionne's 25 years ago.

"I'm flabbergasted," the lieutenant said first.

Mrs. Gregory Dies Today

Clues To Crash Sought At Scene

By JOE REHAM

BUFFALO, Tex. (AP)—Government experts turned to residents of this East Texas farming community Wednesday for clues on why a Braniff Airways turbo-prop airliner exploded near here Sept. 29, killing all 34 persons aboard.

The $1½ million dollar Electra had been in service only four days when it carried 28 passengers and a crew of 6 to their deaths.

Flying at 15,000 feet, the big plane disintegrated into a tumble of bodies, cargo and wreckage that rained down over more than two square miles of timber, grazing and farm land.

Experts from the Civil Aeronautics Board, Federal Aviation Agency, Braniff, the manufacturers and the Air Line Pilots Assn. were at the scene within hours.

Aided by local and state law enforcement officers, civilian volunteers and troops and helicopters from Ft. Hood the probers have found more than 90 per cent of the plane.

The four turbine engines were shipped to Indianapolis for inspection at the factory where they were manufactured by Allison.

The rest of the aircraft was sent to Dallas, where investigators pieced together the shreds of metal, fabric and glass.

However, spokesmen have refused to give more than scattered information.

A Federal Aviation Agency official—who wouldn't be quoted—told newsmen at the crash scene explosive decompression of the pressurized cabin could have caused the disintegration.

The same official ruled out the likelihood of a bomb.

But a Chance Vought Aircraft Corp. engineer who was a passenger on the next-to-last flight of the ill-fated plane said he felt a strange bulge under his right foot when the plane took off.

Adding to the mystery was the revelation that just prior to the explosion, the pilot, W. E. Stone, 47, of Dallas, sent a message on Braniff's private radio frequency saying he was having "mechanical difficulty." About the same time, he told the FAA his flight was routine.

Wednesday's hearing was planned to question residents of the area who saw the plane explode and plunge earthward.

Six Months Best Age For Polio Shots

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Waiting until babies are about 6 months old could be the best time to give antipolio shots, a new study suggests.

Otherwise, the vaccine might fail to protect many babies.

The reason is that the vaccine curiously seems to be nullified by natural protection which many babies temporarily inherit from their mothers, the research finds. When they are 5 or 6 months old, they lose this natural protection.

The findings based on detailed blood studies were presented to the American Public Health Assn. meeting here by Drs. Gordon Brown and Pearl L. Kendrick of the University of Michigan.

Salk vaccine, containing dead polio virus, stimulates the human body to create its own protective antibodies against future invasion by living, dangerous polio viruses.

But babies are often born with antibodies against polio and other diseases. They have them because their mothers had them floating in their own bloodstreams, which are shared with the infants before birth.

Known as passive antibodies, these antibodies protect for a time, then disappear. The baby has no more unless he gets vaccines, or is invaded by specific germs.

Surplus Food Plan Urged

FRIONA, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough said Tuesday night that the United States should expand greatly its distribution of surplus foods.

"We not only need to expand this distribution," the senator said, "we need to supplement it to secure a balanced diet for all those needy persons who cannot supply a square meal for themselves."

Yarborough spoke at the South Plains Farmers Union barbecue held last night in the Friona High School auditorium.

"We need to use more surplus foods for lunches for needy school children, more surplus foods for the needy aged and physically disabled, and more surplus food for the starving millions around the world who wonder where their next meal is coming from," the senator added.

Yarborough said distribution of the food is "America's greatest opportunity to show that we are more interested in seeing people live than in seeing them die."

"We are plagued with politicians who are more concerned with a balanced budget than with a balanced diet," said Yarborough, "in a nation so rich it can have both without strain or pain."

"All we need," he concluded, "is the will and the leadership."

48 Pearls Found In Single Oyster

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — An oyster shucker at a local sea food market, Charles Wantz, found 48 pearls in an oyster Tuesday.

Prof. John S. McDermott, biologist at Franklin and Marshall College, said that "48 pearls in a single oyster are unheard of as far as I know."

Wantz gave the pearls to the school's biology department after jewelers said they were irregular and worthless except for science and curiosity.

The first talking motion picture was demonstrated in New York City in 1928.

Doctors Knew Work To Save Quintuplets Was Hopeless

By IRWIN FRANK

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Lt. Col. Thomas M. Holcomb said today of the Hannan quints: 'All the time I worked, I knew that we really could not save them.'

He was one of three Air Force doctors who worked desperately to keep alive the quintuplet daughters of Lt. and Mrs. Charles G. Hannan. Four died Tuesday, and one this morning.

"We realized that if the babies were born this week, their chances were extremely bleak," Col. Holcomb said in an interview. "But we do not think that the things we did were to no avail. We were working against tremendous odds.

"We felt that if we had to do it over again, we could do it no other way. We had no sense of failure."

The slim, soft-spoken doctor said:

"A lot of my thoughts during the 24 hours were with the parents.

"I spoke with Hannan after the birth of the girls and before any died. I told him I could give them practically no hope."

Holcomb added:

"When they were born, they were all pink, crying and kicking. The first thing that happened was a gradual duskiness of the skin and a slowing of the heart. We stimulated them gently by touching them, and then their hearts would start again.

"The periods of heart stoppage came closer and closer together. As these periods increased, we found that gentle stimulation did no good. Then oxygen was administered, and that worked for a while. And then nothing worked.

"These babies just didn't have enough physiological development to live.

"I had a feeling of deflation as each one died."

Capt. William D. Munroe, assistant pediatrician, worked all night with the last baby before she died at 6:40 a.m.

Munroe came to work at 6:45 a.m. Tuesday and 26 hours later was still working.

Munroe said of the last survivor:

"I was pulling for it. I kept studying it for changing color and about 1 a.m. the baby started turning blue. That's when I got the first hint that something was wrong.

"The chances of it living dropped to almost nothing at that time.

"Throughout the night I looked for labored breathing and the rate of breathing, the color of the skin and to see whether the baby was limp or kicking.

"I was listening to the heartbeat when it stopped for the last time.

"I listened for two more minutes and then realized the baby was dead."

Maj. Gen. O. K. Neiss of Washington, Air Force surgeon general, and Brig. Gen. James G. Moore, commander of the Lackland Air Force Base hospital where the babies were born, both extended condolences to the parents.

The hospital was tense with fear and hope, but its functions continued while the doctors fought for the lives of the infants.

WHEN THE CATS HOWL and the old gray owl comes out of his hole in the wind-tossed tree, it's time to gather the little people for a Halloween party. Magic brownies and milk for refreshments will make them happy.

WOMEN

Magic Brownies For The Little Spooks

When the littlest hobgoblins in the family clamor for a Halloween party, don't be dismayed. It's the easiest kind of party to give. Something in the way of a costume, even if it's only an old sheet with eyeholes punched in it to be thrown over the head, traditional games, such as bobbing for apples, and simple refreshments are sure to make the little people happy on this traditional day of fun and frolic.

For refreshments, cookies and milk are enough for the small fry. Magic Halloween brownies, made by the easy sweetened condensed milk recipe and ornamented with little pumpkin faces, are delicious as well as quickly made. You can buy candy ornaments for the tops of the brownies, or you can paint a grinning Jack-o'-lantern face on halved marshmallows with melted chocolate or red vegetable coloring. The cut surface of the marshmallow sticks firmly in place when you put it on the brownie. Twist the marshmallow at the top into the semblance of a pumpkin stem.

Magic brownies are really a wonderful addition to any cook's repertory for non-holiday use. They are crunchy and satisfying, and they have a rich, fudgy taste. They are good dessert accompaniments to stewed or canned fruit, to fresh fruit cup or ice cream.

QUICK BROWNIES

1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2-3 cup (½ 15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Dash of salt
1 cup coarsely chopped walnut meats

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler over hot water. Blend in sweetened condensed milk. Remove from heat; stir in remaining ingredients. Turn into square (8 x 8 x 2-inch) baking pan which has been greased, waxed paper-lined and greased again. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Remove from pan immediately; remove waxed paper. Cool. Cut into 2-inch squares.

Atheneum Club Hears Program On 'Nurse Shortage' By State Woman, Sue Alder

The Antheneum Study Club met recently at the Martha Ann Woman's Club, with Mrs. Liz Boss, hostess.

Miss Sue Alder of Austin, State Supervisor of Nurse Training of the Texas Education Agency was the guest speaker. She chose as her topic "The Need of More Nurses". She said in part:

"There is a nation wide shortage of nurses. National goals projected to 1970 to improve the balance between supply and demand are a ratio of 300 nurses per 100,000 population. For Texas to reach this goal the present nurse supply would need to be increased to 34,125 or multiplied by 3.

"In 1956 Texas ranked thirty-ninth among all States in the ratio of professional nurse personnel employed by hospital and schools of nursing to 100,000 population. It ranked third in the ratio of vocational nurses and thirty-fifth in total nursing personnel in hospitals to population.

"One of the obstacles to be dealt with is the financial inability of many nurses to secure graduate education. This difficulty has been relieved to a great extent by three national programs of traineeship or fellowship aid to help nurses to undertake full-time graduate study. These programs are as follows: Title II of Public Law 911 providing federal funds to nurses to prepare for administrative, supervisory, and teaching positions, Mental Health Act providing federal funds to nurses for preparation for advanced positions in psychiatric nursing, and the National League for Nursing Fellowship program. As a result of these sources of assistance, enrollment in graduate programs, showed a 158 per cent increase from 1955 to 1958. Regional and state programs to assist nurses to continue their education are developing also.

"Expansion of facilities is a problem that must be faced. In 1956-1957, collegiate programs in nursing estimated that they could accommodate enough additional students to account for about 500 more graduations annually. With additional faculty members, classrooms, laboratories, and housing facilities, they estimated that they could increase their capacity so as to graduate a total of about 7000 students a year. With the increase in enrollments since that time, these schools are probably reaching the limits of their current capacity and should be engaging in large-scale expansion projects.

"The Hill-Burton Act has encouraged the construction of new hospitals and the enlargement of existing facilities, with a coincidence enlargement of nursing staffs. The passage of the Gilmer-Aikin Bill in this state has made possible more comprehensive school health programs requiring the employment of hundreds of additional school nurses. The rapid industrialization of the Southwest has not only added the need for more industrial nurses, but other community services requiring professional nurse employes.

"Most of you are probably familiar with the two-year project to secure professional nursing scholarships which was adopted by the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs for 1958 through 1960. Each of the eight district federations in the Texas federation have a quota of $2,000 for the scholarship fund for the two year period.

"There are probably a good many other programs such as this one lending support and financial assistance to nurses. The recent opening of a new collegiate nursing program at Texas Womens University in Denton is a definite milestone in the progress toward increased supply. New professional nurse programs are also in the process of organization in at least two other colleges in the state.

"The full impact of the shortage of professional nurses in Texas has been greatly reduced and a real crisis averted by the available supply of qualified vocational nurses. I do not mean to imply that vocational nurses' services can be successfully substituted for that of registered nurses. But in bridging the gap between administrative duties and those performed by untrained workers, the vocational nurse has proved, and is proving invaluable.

"On August 2, 1956, President Eisenhower signed the bill which then became Public Law 911, and the sum of two million dollars was appropriated to be made available to the states for improvement and expansion of practical nurse training for a period of five years.

"In many respects Texas has been a leader in the training of vocational nurses. It was one of the first states to organize training programs through boards of education using funds made available for vocational education by a previous act of congress in 1946. The first of these programs was organized in 1947 and [illegible] had increased to 17 by 1956 when the additional funds were made available. Inasmuch as the Public Law 911 funds could be used only for new programs and expansion of exisiting ones, we were, in a sense penalized for our progress. But the number of public education sponsored programs has grown to 31 at present and there are approximately 75 accredited programs operated by hospitals, making a total of 106."

Refreshments were served 21 members and one guest, Mrs. Wiley Brice.

TEXAS GROWN—That statement's applicable to the girls, the cotton and the weeds. The girls are (left) Miss Jean Robinson, city hall bookkeeper and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Robinson, Route 2, Hermleigh, and Miss Carolyn Hall, city secretary and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hall, 4100 Ave. U. The cotton is in two patches, both grown by Elvin Thompson on land leased from Harry Winston, 1½ miles south of Snyder just west of the city disposal plant. The shorter stalks, planted April 28, and hailed out on the morning of June 4 to where they were only two to four inches high were allowed to grow and counts of 69 to 89 grown bolls were made. The taller, about 8-foot cotton was planted "row style" June 15. Thompson expressed himself as an advocate of "letting those stubs grow" and also being hopeful of developing a variety that "will bring two or three cents higher price." Here are pictured Acala Long Staple samples. The weeds are a sunflower and a careless weed which towered more than eleven feet by actual measurement. They were "products" of Thompson's cotton field. Man Identified As Slayer 2nd Time

MONTERREY, Mex. (AP)—The district attorney said Tuesday night the girl survivor of a triple shooting has for the second time identified a Fort Worth man as her assailant.

Salvador Garza Salinas also said Hilda Perez Villagomez, 18, amplified her previous story and said the killer got inside the stalled automobile where the shooting occurred the night of Oct. 12.

A brother and sister of Hilda's were killed. She is in [illegible] in serious condition but is improving.

The suspect, held on a preliminary charge of homicide, is Dykes Askew Simmons, 31, who entered Mexico the same night as the shooting on the Nuevo Laredo Highway.

Simmons, who has been treated for mental illness and served time in prison, has said that if he did the shooting he does not remember it. He also said he had no gun.

Garza Salinas said Tuesday night he had sufficient proof that the suspect did have a pistol, but did not elaborate.

Simmons was slipped into the hospital early last night wearing a doctor's white gown. Feeling has been running high about the killing.

When Hilda picked Simmons from a group of [illegible] Friday she reportedly pointed to him and said, "That's him. That's him."

Garza Salinas said she made the second identification last night while in better physical condition.

Hilda had told police that the assailant started shooting after the two girls refused to get out of their car and go with him.

The district attorney said the girl gave further details yesterday, saying she did not know why she hadn't before.

He quoted her as saying in essence: The assailant stopped his car on the roadside and asked what the trouble was. Hilda said they had engine trouble and another brother had gone for a tow truck. The man offered to try to start the car.

Marta and Hilda at first opposed, but after talking a few minutes and with the man insisting, the girls agreed. He was not successful and got out of the car.

At that point of her story, officials said, Hilda hesitated and added: "I know much more, but let me get well. I will say more interesting things."

Regarding the killer's attempt to start the car, officials said they are taking note of the fact that Simmons is a mehanic.

Mayor Jorge Sarquiz, chief of state police, said that in his opinion Simmons is the right suspect despite his systematic denials.

Attorney Garza Salinas said he plans to file formal charges with a court today. The court will decide whether to indict and hold a formal trial. The prosecutor said he believes he has sufficient evidence for the court to indict.

Youth Feels Strike Effect

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A University of California freshman, protesting compulsory ROTC Training, is feeling the effects of his hunger strike on this, his third day.

"I feel as if I were seasick or floating," said 18-year-old Frederick L. Moore Jr.

The slender son of an Arlington, Va., Air Force colonel has collected more than 1,000 student signatures on his petition protesting against compulsory military training. University of California regents make it compulsory for freshmen and sophomores. They could make it optional, but must offer it because California is a federal land grant school.

The regents, according to one of the members, will take up the question of compulsory ROTC training at a meeting in Davis Friday.

Moore said he would end his hunger strike if his father told him the act would hurt his career.

Woman Tells Of Work As FBI Agent

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A housewife says she served in the Communist party for 15 years as an undercover agent for the FBI.

"My principal job was to infiltrate the Douglas Aircraft Plant in Santa Monica," Moiselle Clinger, 42, told the House Unamerican Activities Committee Tuesday. "I was asked to supply the names of engineers and technicians whom I considered to be 'liberal.'"

She said she left the Communist party three years ago.

"I reported to the FBI at least once a week," Mrs. Clinger told the committee. "I decided to quit when, after 15 years, I became sick of it all. I thought I had done all I could do, physically. In other words, I'd had it."

Mrs. Clinger said the Communist Party's biggest headache was its difficulty in raising money.

"We were always holding parties in an effort to get money," she said. "One of our chief duties was to convince people who weren't Communists to give us money so we could keep going."

She said one of the fund-raising parties was held at the home of poet Lawrence Lipton.

"Mr. Lipton's wife at the time was the late Craig Rice, writer of detective stories," said Mrs. Clinger. "We used her name to get people to come to the party, but she had nothing to do with us."

Lipton, advised of this testimony, said he recalled no such money-raising session but remembered there were dozens of parties at his various homes in Santa Monica.

Archbishop Speaks Kindly Of Peron

By ROMAN JIMENEZ

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The Most Rev. Antonio Plaza, Roman Catholic archbishop of La Plata, has raised a political flurry in Argentina with kind words for exiled Juan D. Peron.

He says the ex-dictator, ousted four years ago, should be allowed to return to Argentina from his refuge in the Dominican Republic.

"The church cannot want any of its sons to suffer, and it is to be supposed that an Argentine exiled from his country lives in suffering," he said in a broadcast.

There is a report from a labor leader—never denied by the archbishop or his assistants — that Msgr. Plaza once described Peron as "the second son of God."

These and similar remarks in the last three weeks have made the stocky, 49-year-old archbishop a target of criticism by lay politicians and a subject of concern in Argentine hierarchy of the church.

The armed forces have declared that no attempt to whitewash "the fugitive tyrant" will be allowed.

Antonio Cardinal Caggiano, archbishop of Buenos Aires, said the problem is out of his province, that it could be dealt with only by Pope John XXIII. But the cardinal has discouraged any idea that Peron may return.

Msgr. Plaza started the argument when he launched a series of meetings with labor representatives in and around La Plata, capital of Buenos Aires province. Portraits of Peron and his late wife Eva were reported hoisted in some of these meetings.

The archbishop said he is only trying to attract a large part of the dissatisfied labor masses — once the supporters of Peron's dictatorship—into a sound knowledge of the church's social doctrine and prevent them from turning to communism.

Catholic leaders were in the forefront of the revolution that deposed Peron in September 1955. The arrests of several priests and nuns had preceded the incendiary campaign against the churches.

Msgr. Plaza was outspoken in that period against Peron. Commenting in 1956 on an Argentine polio epidemic, he said it was "God's scourge on a people that allowed the Peronist movement to survive for so many years."

Cremation Requested

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Caryl Chessman, scheduled to die in San Quentin's gas chamber Friday, wants his remains cremated, and the ashes scattered to the winds.

That's what he told one of his attorneys, Rosalie Asher, Tuesday. He gave her his will and authorized her to dispose of his personal effects.

But he won't get the wish. Miss Asher explained to Chessman the law prohibits scattering his ashes. She said the remains of the man who has spent 11½ years on death row for kidnap, robbery and attempted rape on Los Angeles lovers' lanes will be placed in a mausoleum.

Miss Asher said Chessman, 38, also authorized her to sign contracts after his death for film rights to his life story.

This is Chessman's seventh scheduled execution date.

Damage To Sub Probed

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (AP) — Damage "apparently intentional," to the nuclear submarine Nautilus is under investigation today at the Portsmouth naval shipyard where the world's first atomic-powered vessel is being overhauled.

Capt. Carl A. Johnson, acting shipyard commandant, who so described the damage, said it appeared limited to electrical cables.

The Navy in Washington said the damage "does not extend to the nuclear reactor plant."

The Nautilus came to Portsmouth July 26 for an extensive overhaul. The damage was discovered Oct. 15.

Last year the Nautilus voyaged beneath the North Polar ice cap and also set an Atlantic underwater cruising record of six days, 11 hours and 30 minutes.

Ex-Governor Leads Primary For Mayor

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) —Former Utah Gov. J. Bracken Lee received more than 50 per cent of the votes Tuesday in leading a six-man primary field in the race for mayor of Salt Lake City.

Lee will face Democratic State Sen. Bruce S. Jenkins in the runoff general election Nov. 3.

With all district reporting, Lee had 22,872 to 9,788 for Jenkins.

City elections ballots do not carry party designation.

Lee was a Republican while governor but bolted the party when it refused to nominate him for re-election in 1955. As an independent, Lee lost the race for the governorship that year and for the U.S. Senate last year.

He is president of "For America, Inc.," an organization which is trying to abolish the federal income tax.

Bourbon Is Only For Owner's Dog

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — "I don't drink bourbon," tavern owner Floyd Baker told Judge C. Clyde Myers in City Court Tuesday.

The partly-empty pint bottle of bourbon that vice squad officers found in his beer parlor was for "my French poodle," Baker said.

"Now does your poodle drink whisky regularly?" Baker was asked.

"No," he replied, "just at certain times."

Specifically, just those times when the poodle was about to become a mother.

First Gas Tax Suit Is Filed

AUSTIN (AP)—The first of an expected series of suits attacking Texas' new natural gas tax was filed in district court here Tuesday.

It brought a sharp comment from Gov. Daniel, who backed the new natural resources levy passed at the third special session of the Legislature. He said some of the gas pipeline companies are seeking to escape "scot free" from new taxation.

It was one of several new levies voted in a long, painful effort to erase the state's deficit and balance the budget.

The suit was brought by a firm which sells no gas in Texas. Its pipeline starts at a point only a quarter of a mile south of the Oklahoma line. The Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Co. paid $16,864.56 in taxes under protest, then filed suit for recovery of the $16,864.56.

The suit attacks the law on eight grounds.

It says the act is unconstitutional, that it is an unlawful attempt to invade the field of interstate commerce, it is arbitrary and discriminatory, and that it is "vague, indefinite, uncertain, ambiguous and incapable of determination."

The governor's comment quickly followed.

"The suit filed by Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Co. comes as no surprise, as we have been threatened with such lawsuits since the severance beneficiary tax on natural gas was being considered in the Legislature," Daniel said.

"The long line gas companies fought hard against accepting any of the tax load and some of their lobbyists were in the front ranks of those who worked for a general sales tax rather than even this small tax on their own dedicated reserves.

"Due to their efforts, the severance beneficiary tax is only one and a half per cent of market value per 1,000 cubic feet, and is small potatoes compared with the other new taxes, especially the three-cent per package tax increase on cigarettes. Yet some of the gas pipeline companies will try to knock out even this small share so they can escape scot free.

"I am sure that Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and his staff will be ready to meet this attack on our state law and they will have my support and cooperation in every way."

The new tax calls for collection of 1.5 per cent from the person who uses or benefits from the production of dedicated natural gas. Daniel and his forces claimed the tax would hit pipeline companies taking natural gas out of Texas.

Opponents said Texans use 44 per cent of the gas that pipeline companies transport and would share that portion of the tax. The levy is designed to bring in $15,600,000 in new tax money in 1960 and 1961.

R. Dean Moorhead, Austin attorney, filed the suit in 126th District Court.

"I shall file similar suits for several additional companies within the next 10 days," Moorhead said. "Undoubtedly, there will be dozens of similar suits filed by or on behalf of others within the next few weeks."

Two Women Die In Crash

HAWKINS, Tex. (AP) — Two women died and six persons suffered injuries when two autos collided, headon near this East Texas town Tuesday night.

Dead are Mrs. Henry Johnson, 60, of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Nora Holmes, 32, of Dallas, the mother of four.

W. H. Holmes, 34, the father, was injured. So were their four children, Joann, 13; Billie Jean, 11; Helen and Butch, twins aged 9.

Robert E. Barker, 60, driver of the car in which Mrs. Johnson was riding, also was injured.

Highway Patrolman Hall Stewart of Mineola said the crash occurred when one of the cars passed a third on a slight incline.

Girl Is Strangled By Auto Window

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Little Susan Kirk, 2½, was playing in the family station wagon. A button which sends a window glass up and down caught her interest. She leaned out the window and pushed the button. The window rose, forced her neck against the top of the door and she strangled.

That is the way police reconstructed her death Tuesday.

Two boy scouts found her wedged in the window.

Dallas School Case Appealed

DALLAS (AP)—A ruling blocking immediate integration of Dallas schools has been appealed, but no further action is expected soon.

Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson ruled Aug. 4 that although integration is inevitable, the city was not ready for it at the September school opening. He re- and the lengthy record of "the scheduled a hearing for April to determine whether the schools will be integrated in September, 1960.

The judge also asked the school board here to try to solve the conflict between the federal integration decree and a state law that requires a vote on the matter or loss of more than a million dollars in state aid.

Attorneys for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People officials filed an appeal hearing on the Negroes' motion for immediate integration was forwarded to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Rockefeller Ends Visit To Chicago

By ROBERT GRAY

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York wound up a Chicago visit today after establishing a beachhead from which he could battle Vice President Richard M. Nixon for midwestern support for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller made no sweeping inroads during a two-day stay here on the strong support Nixon commands in the Midwest.

But the New York governor gained a little ground in meetings with newspaper executives and Republican leaders. Several conceded that, while they were not sold on Rockefeller, they were impressed by him and would not rush into any final decision on a presidential candidate.

Rockefeller met Tuesday night with several prominent Midwestern businessmen at the exclusive Chicago Club. The list of guests was kept secret but it reportedly included some of the top contributors to GOP campaigns.

The Rockefeller forces hope this foot in the door will expand into a full-fledged Rockefeller for president boom in the Midwest.

The Chicago visit was the first of a series Rockefeller plans into politically-strategic areas throughout the country.

He will visit California, Oregon, New England and probably Wisconsin next month. His approach probably will be the same it was in Chicago—speeches on top national issues before large groups and emphasis on personality and charm in meetings with small ones.

While the Nixon-Rockefeller contest grows increasingly more prominent on the national political scene, Rockefeller insists "I am not now a candidate."

But Chicago treated him as a candidate.

The New York governor provided ample ground for this view. He told a meeting of the Inland Daily Press Assn. Tuesday that he plans to speak in various parts of the country on such topics as foreign affairs, national defense, the nation's economy, farm policy and education.

He met here with a group of Wisconsin Republicans interested in seeing him run for the party nomination and made tentative plans to appear next month in that state, site of a strategic presidential primary next year.

'White Rose Fights Castro

NEW YORK (AP)—A former brother-in-law of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro says he heads a movement called the "White Rose" with thousands of guerrillas fighting the Castro regime in Cuba.

Dr. Rafael Diaz-Balart, 33, said Tuesday night his movement "respects everyone that works against Castro but is working with absolute independence from every other group."

Diaz-Balart, who said he has known Castro since both were students at the University of Havana in 1945, said the White Rose movement was organized in cells with an underground in every neighborhood of Cuba. He said guerrilla fighting was going on in Oriente, Pinar del Rio and Las Villas provinces.

His sister, Mirta, was married to Castro in 1948 and is the mother of a son, Fidel Jr. They were divorced in 1955.

Diaz-Balart said his movement is independent of former Cuban President Fulgencio Batista, now living on the Portuguese island of Madeira; and the Dominican Republic regime of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo.

Quick-Thinking Burglar Escapes

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Matthew Sampieri found a stranger in his bathroom Tuesday.

"Who are you?" he asked.

"Plumber," replied the man, pressing his ear against the wall. "Is it sill leaking, Joe?" the man shouted down the bath drain.

No answer.

"Tell you what," the man said to Safpieri. "You turn on the shower and I'll check the apartment below."

Sampieri turned on the shower and listened quite a while to the running water.

When the man didn't come back, Sampieri discovered that $450 in jewelry was missing from his apartment.

Time Is Great Healer

The "unscheduled" luncheon session of Gov. Price Daniel and Mexico President Adolfo Lopez Mateos may have been something of an anti-climax to the Mexican chief's tour north of the border, but it was a fitting conclusion to his Texas visit.

As a result of President Lopez Mateos' visit to the United States, friendly relations between the two North American countries have been sealed to an even greater degree.

Texas, as a close neighbor and with more territory bordering Mexico than any other state, has a greater stake in Mexico-U. S. relations than the remainder of the United States. Mexico, which has been hampered by numerous problems through the years, now is in an unprecedented period of development. And, although there is indication from time to time that it may become a strong competitor to the Southwestern states in marketing of some products, there also is indication that Mexico will become a better customer for others. At the same time, friendly relations as they now exist pave the way for work toward more commerce of mutual benefit between the two nations.

There was a time, of course, in the distant past when there was scarcely a friendly feeling between Mexico and Texas. But time has altered the picture, and time alone can prove one's true friends.

Mexico and the United States by virtue of their proximity alone have much in common. They are bound together to an even greater extent by history, despite the unpleasantries which have been tempered by time.

Time is a great healer.

Medaris Decided To Quit Long Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE: Bem Price, AP specialist in military and space affairs, interviewed Maj. Gen. Medaris in September on the progress of the Saturn program. His story, released in October, had repercussions in high places. Here he analyzes what led up to Medaris' decision to resign.

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. John Bruce Medaris, stepping down as army missile chief after four years of rocket successes and political defeats, says he is not quitting because of dissatisfaction with the U.S. space program.

The announcement that he will retire Jan. 31 came just seven days after the White House reportedly told him to shut up.

Medaris said, however, he had submitted his resignation more than 60 days ago. "That should make it plain to you," he told a New York news conference Tuesday, "that some present-day problems were in no way connected with my decision."

The resignation, he said, was "not a matter of protest or personal dissatisfaction."

Medaris, 58, said he had been under strain for seven years and was very tired. But he conceded there was some inter-service top echelon "dickering, argument and debate" over the nation's space program.

He estimated the Soviet Union is about five years ahead of the United States in space and "we'd better just go like hell" to catch up.

Early in September Medaris received word that his big missile and space team, the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, might be transferred to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The two-star general already had received word that his funds for project Saturn, key to the U.S. big leap into space, had been cut from 135 million dollars to 70 million.

Saturn is the code name for the effort to develop a 1½ million pound thrust rocket engine.

In an interview at his headquarters in Huntsville, Ala., Sept. 16, Medaris appeared touchy and irritable. He finally admitted he was "mad enough to go through the roof." The interview was to be the basis for a story on Saturn due for October release.

Shortly after this interview the fact that the Nike-Zeus antimissile missile program was undergoing a re-evaluation became public.

On Oct. 12 the Medaris interview of Sept. 16 was published. Medaris was critical of the progress being made on the Saturn program and, indeed, the whole U.S. space program.

"The basic problem is simple," he said. "There must be a positive decision. Are we or are we not going to compete with the Russians? If we are there has to be a solid, well-financed program. Right now we are straddling the issue."

On Oct. 13 an army general, who cannot be identified, reported that "the Medaris story has certainly raised hell. The White House complained to Gates and Gates complained to Lemnitzer and Lemnitzer was told to tell Medaris to shut up."

The general was referring to Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas Gates and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff.

The general would not say who in the White House had made the complaint.

Arbitration Law Likely To Develop

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two dirtiest words—for big unions and big management—are "compulsory arbitration." But that's what they may be headed for. In time, at least. The steel strike shows why.

Under a compulsory arbitration law the government would step in when union and management failed to agree on wages and working conditions—and dicate a settlement which both sides would have to accept.

The ideal in labor-management relations in a free society is for both sides to have complete freedom from government interference in settling disputes. Freedom includes freedom to shut down a plant or strike it.

This ideal is shared by the Eisenhower administration and perhaps by most Americans. Nevertheless, it is a limited ideal: It begins to lose its appeal when a labor dispute begins to cause broad damage.

There wasn't much of a national problem when American society was more primitive and injury from a strike or shutdown was pretty much limited to the union or company or companies involved. This is no longer the case.

In this present complex society, with its various parts growing more interdependent, a prolonged strike in one vital industry can throw millions out of jobs in other industries and start an economic tailspin.

And this nation's complexities and interdependencies of today are only a shadow of what they will be in the years ahead as the population increases and industries interlock in their needs.

It is possible—and this writer strongly believes it is likely—that the time is coming when the government, for the sake of the nation, will not permit strikes in vital industries.

That, of course, raises a nice question: What is a vital industry? At this time and offhand it is easy to think of some which fit that category because a strike in any of them affects the national welfare: Railroads, Steel, Airlines, Communications. But right there an argument begins. Many industries are engaged in communications in some form, such as telephone, telegraph, newspapers, television, radio.

Would all of them be considered vital? If the time comes when Congress considers a ban on strikes in communications or any other vital industry it will have the fight of its life on its hands, and for this reason.

Each industry, like each individual, and each union would want to retain for itself the maximum amount of freedom.

But if a ban on strikes comes, then the government will have to provide a settlement and that, in the end, could only be done by imposing compulsory arbitration.

The steel strike is now in its 15th week. At the start of it President Eisenhower refused to permit direct government intervention. He wanted the union and the steel industry to have the utmost freedom to reach a settlement of their own through collective bargaining.

The union and management between them made the collective bargaining process a farce. And on Oct. 19, when Eisenhower decided to seek an injunction to stop the strike for 80 days, he said:

"In order to protect the interests of all the American people, this leaves me with no alternative. American hopes for a voluntary responsible settlement have not been fulfilled. It is a sad day for the nation."

He acted only when the effect of the strike began to spread into other industries with the danger, unless something was done to stop it, that the country might go tumbling back into recession.

Before Congress ever goes so far as to ban strikes and impose compulsory arbitration, it almost surely will seek some less drastic measure but one sterner than any now available.

That may work for a while. But in the end, in the years ahead, this writer believes a strike in an essential industry affecting the national welfare will not be permitted.

Says Inferiority Complex Valuable

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Ira Gershwin says he has enjoyed an inferiority complex all his life—and it's a wonderful thing to have.

"If you're conscientious," he remarked, "an inferiority complex will make you work hard to refute your own opinion of yourself.

At 62 Gershwin, a lyric genius assured of immortality, is painfully honest about himself and his work, has no desire to be thrust upon a pedestal of personal recognition.

"My biggest goal is not to get too upset about anything," he said. "I don't want to be a celebrity. It means too much responsibility—too much mail to answer."

It was back in 1917 that Ira, a Lower East Side kid first learning the magic of words, mailed a half-page fable to the old Smart Set magazine. Back came a check for $1.

"Sure, I cashed the check," he recalled. "I needed the money."

In the 42 years since then, Ira has written the words for some 800 musical works, including such standard songs as "The Man I Love," "Embraceable You," "Love Walked In," "They Can't Take that Away from Me."

He teamed memorably with such noted composers as his brother, George Gershwin, Jerome Kern, Kurt Weill, Harold Arlen and Arthur Schwartz. He has captured the flavor of those historic years in the American musical theater in a new book.

Although a single song has earned him more than $20,000, he insists neither fame nor fortune is the greatest reward.

"Many fine plays and novels, unfortunately, fall by the wayside after three or four years," he said. "But if you are lucky enough to turn out a good song, 30 years later you can hear it and still feel you're active.

"That's the real reward. It makes you feel young—as if you just wrote the song yesterday."

Between You And Me

By JERRY JACKSON

Pity the poor Aggies. The bug has bitten. The disease is halfback-itis of the left side, a malady of which medical science knows little or nothing.

For the Cadet camp was torn asunder, it was learned yesterday, by the "I quit" proclamations submitted by two of the halfbacks who helped to form the backfield nucleus in the Aggies' hot and cold semi-successful season, which has seen A&M win three games and drop two. The principals in question are Jon Few and Jesse McGuire, the former a letterman junior from Midlothian, while the latter, who hails from Kress, was the brightest star in the Cadet sophomore sky. Both had seen considerable action through the first half of the season, and both will no doubt be missed through the remainder of the games to play, as the Ags take on the likes of Baylor, Arkansas, SMU, Rice and Texas on consecutive weekends.

Although Coach John Conley has had more than his share of halfback woes which have plagued the Tiger lair, his have been of a somewhat more remedial nature in comparison to Aggie Coach Jim Myers', as Conley's vacancies have been by the injury route exclusively. Uncle Jim's trouble, on the other hand, have been brought on by player dissatisfaction and little bits of feuding within the camp confines, the extent of which can not be accurately determined. Shades of Bear Bryant.

Myers No Child Psychologist

THERE IS A twinge of contradiction in the news story which came down concerning the football demise of these two budding backs, which states that they "quit the Texas A&M football team." For later in the article the shoe seems to be on the foot of Myers, who seemingly used this shoe to boot them out when he made this comment: "I did not major in child psychology but anytime one of my players fails to attend a meeting of the squad, he's through." Sounds like one of his pet peeves, as he doesn't beat around the bush any in the enforcement of same.

As of yesterday, McGuire was unavailable for comment on any whys and wherefores concerning his abrupt departure. He just saddled up and rode off into the gathering twilight, destined for parts unknown.

Few wasn't quite as bashful a lad, as the college newspaper was successful in squeezing out a few comments from him per telephone. He seemed to possess a peaches-and-cream attitude, or at least one of non-belligerance. Wouldn't disclose why he had quit school, and was mum on the subject of the A&M coaching staff.

Few's Teammates Are Okay Guys

AS FAR AS the team is concerned, he was audibly laudable in its behalf, saying that, "every guy on the football squad is undoubtedly the greatest guy on earth." Quite a strong statement to issue in the light of there being so many other great guy on earth, some of which Mr. Few has probably not even met, but it nevertheless constituted an admirable swan-song to his Aggie athletics.

So we're left a mite up in the air as to these individual's motives. Maybe they couldn't stay on key during the singing of the Aggie War Hymn.

Or possibly their knee boots wouldn't take as good a shine as the rest of the boys'. Be that as it may, they're long gone, and the College Station crew may feel their loss to a great extent.

These two left halfbacks' departure, coupled with the pre-season cut-out of left half Rodger McFarland, the brilliant runner who got out of hand and didn't stop running until he hit the University of Kansas campus, make that position somewhat of a jinx spot. And since no snow is expected before December, it's going to be "tough sledding" for the Aggies.

Brown Still NFL Rushing Leader

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—For the second straight week Cleveland's Jimmy Brown leads the National Football League in rushing but J. D. Smith of San Francisco is pressing him for the top spot, statistics released today showed.

Brown has picked up 437 yards on 101 carries for a four-game average of 4.3 compared to Smith's 410 yards in 78 tries for a 5.3 average. Ollie Matson of Los Angeles is third with 403 yards on 66 carries good for a 6.1 average.

Quarterback Ralph Guglielmi of Washington leads the passers for the second week in a row with 21 completions out of 45 attempts for 439 yards and a 9.76 average gain. New York's Chuck Conerly has moved into the No. 2 spot with 656 yards on 47 completions out of 79 tries for a 8.30 average. Standings are based on average gain per pass attempted.

Woodley Lewis of the Chicago Cardinals continues to enjoy a big bulge as the best pass receiver. His 21 catches have netted him 397 yards and two touchdowns. Second is Frank Gifford of New York with 20 catches and 301 yards.

In the scoring department Tommy McDonald of Philadelphia dropped from first to third, giving way to Tom Davis of San Francisco and Bobby Layne of Pittsburgh. Davis has 34 points, Layne has 31 points and McDonald has 30.

Fate Of Few And McGuire Not Known

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Defecting halfbacks Jon Few and Jesse McGuire may or may not return to Texas A&M but if they do they won't play football.

Few, junior letterman, and and McGuire, a sophomore, quit the team Monday and offered no explanation. Few was interviewed at his Midlothian home and gave no reason. He also wouldn't say if there had been any trouble between the coaches and players.

McGuire, contacted at Plainview Tuesday night, said he was not returning to A&M now and hadn't decided if he ever would. He did say that he would finish his education somewhere. He also gave no reason for quitting the team.

Myers, who said he thought the boys planned to come back today, was asked by writers Tuesday if Few and McGuire planned to stay in school at A&M. Myers replied that "I have a lot of respect for their future and I encouraged Few and McGuire to continue their studies at A&M on their athletic scholarships."

Their scholarships will not be taken away although they will play no more football at A&M.

Meyers shook up his backfield Tuesday as the Aggies opened preparation for the game with Baylor here Saturday. He put Robert Sanders, formerly a right halfback, and Powell Berry, who used to play quarterback, at left half and Randy Sims was shifted from left half to right.

Few and McGuire are the fifth and sixth players to quit A&M this year. Previously sophomores Rodgers McFarland, James Street and Walker went to Kansas. Vincent to Lamar Tech.

Lew Served Up 38 Home Runs In '59

NEW YORK (AP)—Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves gave up 38 home runs in 1959, the most allowed by any major league pitcher. This was 20 more than he yielded in 1958.

Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers paced the American League in gopher balls the past season with 37.

Burdette's chief tormentors were the Chicago Cubs, figures released by the Associated Press showed today. The Cubs slammed 11 homers off the right-handed veteran. Ernie Banks of the Cubs and Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco tagged Burdette for four homers each.

Burdette worked 290 innings, winning 21 games and losing 15. In 1958, he pitched 275 innings, allowing only 18 homers with a 20-10 record.

Bunning, also a right-hander pitched 250 innings the past year and had a 17-13 record. The Cleveland Indians hit him for nine homers and Kansas City for seven. He had the most trouble with Harmon Killebrew of Washington and Minnie Minoso of Cleveland, giving up three home runs to each. Bunning allowed 28 homers in 1958.

Disputed Pony-Owl Play Is Hashed Out

DALLAS (AP) — Don Meredith wasn't beyond the line of scrimmage when he threw the pass that would have given Southern Methodist victory over Rice. But But an SMU lineman was illegally downfield and the touchdown would have been nullified anyway, the Southwest Conference said today.

The conference made this comment in obviously closing the incident of the misscall by referee Ralph Davis. Thus the game will remain in the records as a 13-13 tie.

The referee admitted that he erred in ruling that Meredith, the SMU quarterback, was past the line of scrimmage. Films of the game showed it. But the pictures also showed the lineman illegally downfield, Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the conference, said.

"This office has been asked whether or not films of the pass play or the Rice - SMU game reveal an SMU lineman illegally downfield. The answer is yes. We are fortunate to have a fine group of men officiating our football games. They have done and are doing an excellent job for the conference and the conference is proud of them. It is totally unreasonable to expect anyone to be as perfect as a movie camera," Grubbs said.

Dr. Henry Hardt of Texas Christian, president of the Southwest Conference, said, when informed that the films showed Meredith was not past the line of scrimmage, that only a voluntary forfeit by Rice could alter the outcome of the game. SMU could not enter a protest of a judgment play, he added.

At Houston Rice Coach Jess Neely admitted that the pass by Meredith was thrown behind the line of scrimmage but said that an ineligible receiver also was downfield, thus SMU could not have gotten credit for the touchdown anyway. So Rice declined to forfeit.

SMU Coach Bill Meet said he didn't think the lineman, tackle Gary Ferguson, was downfield. But anyway, the coach said he wanted it known that SMU did not file a complaint to the conference office, newspapers or broadcasters.

"We did not gripe about the decision to any of these people," Meek declared. "Our conference has standard procedure to investigate any questionable call such as this. The conference made a routine check in this case."

Snyder's Fish Tries Runnels

Snyder's Freshman Team will be out to get back on the win trail tomorrow night in Big Spring, as they go up against Runnels there in a 7:30 contest. Victims of a 14-34 early season pasting at the hands of the Runnels boys, the locals will have that "fuel" to add to their fire in the second meeting of the two teams.

Coaches for the frosh are J. P. Ward and Speedy Moffett.

Scatback Mooty Of All-America Stock

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Speedy halfback Jim Mooty, after twice quitting the Arkansas Razorback football team, has become a candidate for All-American honors. And his loudest booster is his coach, Frank Broyles.

"I don't know what criteria they use for judging All-American football players," Broyles said after his team's tough workout in preparation for the Mississippi game Saturday. "But Jim Mooty has done everything you could ask of any player."

Mooty, a 165-pound scatback who loses 10 pounds per game but gains it back during the week, was named All-Southwest Conference last year as a junior. That was after leaving the team for two games, then asking to return and being unanimously voted back by his teammates.

Last spring, doctors told him he would have to quit football because of recurring headaches and dizzy spells, but treatment and new examinations this fall clared him for combat.

Since then he's been the backbone of a Razorback team that has won four games and lost one —to third-ranked Texas.

Mooty ranks second in the Southwest Conference in rushing yardage. He has gained 297 yards in 54 tries, an average of 5.5 yards per carry. He ranks 50 yards behind Texas Christian's great fullback, Jack Spikes.

"But he's been vital to our entire game," Broyles said, "as a tremendous runner, a touch blocker, and a great defender. There has been absolutely nothing lacking."

Mooty averaged 5.5 yards per try last year. Among his credits were a 100-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against Hardin-Simmons.

And he wants to play professional football. "I don't think I'm too small," he said. "Maybe I could play defense or kick or something." The Calgary club in the Canadian League already has drafted him.

Point-Happy Ira To Test McCaulley

Ira's high-flying Bulldogs take to the road tomorrow night, as they travel to McCaulley for their second clash of the season against that team. This game had originally been scheduled for Friday night, but was moved up due to a conflict.

Ira can boast of a sparkling 5-2 won-lost record for the year, their only two losses being a 12-13 squeaker to Hobbs in their season opener, and a 16-25 loss at the hands of undefeated and untied Divide. The Bulldogs have scaled the scoring heights in their past two tilts against Hobbs and Blackwell, rolling up a total of 114 points in that pair of games.

In an earlier season's meeting of the two teams, Ira downed the McCaulley crew by 34-7.

Dick Norman Of Stanford Leads NCAA

NEW YORK (AP) —Competition for individual offensive honors among the nation's college football players seems to be dwindling to a battle for the runnerup spots.

Two players — Dick Norman of Stanford and Pervis Atkins of New Mexico State — took the lead in three offensive departments at the start of the season and show no signs of relinquishing it.

Norman leads in two departments. His 809 yards are tops in total offense by 80 yards, and his 65 pass completions are nine more than his nearest rivals, Joe Caldwell of Army and Pete Hall of Marquette, according to official NCAA statistics released today.

There still is a tight race for punting honors. Joe Zuger of Arizona State took over the top spot last week, with a season's average of 50.3 yards, two yards more than Darrell Harper of Michigan.

The wider goal post cross bar has been a tonic to the field goal kickers. Wake Forest has won three games via that method. The two - point - after - touchdown tries are running 19 per cent behind last year. Wendell Harris of LSU tops the field goal booters with four.

Greatest gain of the week in individual offense was made by Iowa's Olen Treadway, who jumped from 42nd to 8th in total offense and from 21st to 4th in passing by completing 26 of 41 tosses for 304 yards against Wisconsin.

QB Clubbers Hear Conley, Wolf Scouts

Highlighting the Quarterback Club meeting of last night were the reports from Junior and Senior High coaches, who submitted rundowns on the past week's games, and also reported on games coming up this week. Of particular note were the tongue - in - cheek barbs exchanged between Travis' Bill Hartsfield and Lamar's Roy Carter concerning the chances of their respective Seventh Grade teams when they go up against each other in Tiger Stadium tomorrow. Both were dubious but confident that their teams would come out on top in the long-awaited tussle.

Coach John Conley made several comments concerning the physical strength of the Tigers as they go up against Colorado City Friday, stating that, "We're in no worse shape than we've been in for the past three or four weeks". However, several injuries continue to plague the Tiger cause, as it was brought out that starting backs Eddie Watson and Jesse Crawford will definitely be out of this week's game, Watson having suffered a broken rib, while Crawford is hampered by an injured knee.

The picture is not all bad, though, for Conley also brought out that ailing backs Jim Fitzgerald and Wayne Berry should be ready for duty once again, as will tackle Charlie Gladson, who had to sit out the Levelland game due to a bad knee.

Following scouting reports from Coaches J. P. Ward and V. V. Shearburn on the offensive and defensive aspects, respectively, of the C-City Wolves, the meeting was concluded by the showing of the Snyder-Levelland game film.

Rodriguez Favored To Lick Logart

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Luis Rodriguez, the Cuban welterweight whose technique of pouring on the punches has brought him undefeated through his last 24 fights, is a 2-1 favorite to lick Isaac Logart in their 10 round bout tonight.

The 22-year-old Rodriguez, sixth among welters, beat the No. 2 contender, Rudell Stitch, and former champion Virgil Akins earlier this year. The 10th ranked Logart, defeated in his last three fights, has a 55-13-7 record.

Both men are natives of Camaguey, Cuba, but Rodriguez now lives in Havana and Logart in New York. Rodriguez, who throws an unusual number of punches per round, holds the Cuban welterweight title.

The fight at Miami Beach Auditorium will be telecast nationally over ABC starting at 9 p. m. (EST).

Steers, Frogs Picked To Win; Hogs Are Underdogs

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Why did they increase the width between the goal posts in college football?

Well, the reason is that certain wide-beamed forecasts should be booted out of the end zone because they were unable to predict that Ohio State would handle Purdue and that Pittsburgh would be handled by West Virginia last weekend.

Sailing between the posts with the greatest of squeeze, here are this week's winners, with the understanding that the forecasts are no better than a week end ago when the average was 708 on 34 winners in 48 decisions:

Louisiana State over Florida: The Bayou Bengals rarely do more than they have to, but the formula seems to work. So the pick is Billy Cannon & Co. again.

Northwestern Over Notre Dame: One of these days this Notre Dame team will jell and make everyone look silly—including the foe on the field. But not this weekend.

Texas over Rice: This is pure suicide. But one must stay with that Texas speed in the line and Rene Ramirez.

Mississippi over Arkansas: Our Memphis operator says these two teams are as good as any in the country, but that Bobby Franklin makes the Rebels the choice.

Southern California over Stanford: The Trojan blockers hit like a wooden horse.

Syracuse over West Virginia: The Mountaineers' season ended with that victory over Pittsburgh.

Auburn over Miami: With relative ease.

Penn State over Illinois: Only because the Big Ten team is concentrating on its conference problems.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: Two surprise teams. Tech surprised by being better than expected, Tulane by being below par.

Oregon over Washington: Because the Webfoots handled the Air Force with such ease.

Wisconsin over Ohio State: Dale Hackbart has the benefit of the home crowd in stopping the Buckeyes.

Purdue over Iowa: But it will be close.

Texas Christian over Pittsburgh: The only explanation seems to be that the steel strike seems to trouble the Panthers.

Clemson over the South Carolina: The last of these Thursday afternoon state fair tea-parties winds up as a Clemson triumph.

Yale over Colgate: The Bulldogs haven't been scored upon and Colage hasn't won this season.

Oklahoma over Kansas: Hardly a man is now alive who remembers that famous day and year when Oklahoma lost a Big Eight game.

Sipping over the others:

FRIDAY

Boston University over Connecticut; Air Force over UCLA.

SATURDAY

East: Boston College over Marquette, Army over Colorado State, Brown over Rhode Island, Holy Cross over Columbia, Harvard over Dartmouth, Bucknell over Lafayette, Delaware over Marshall, Navy over Penn, Princeton over Cornell, Rutgers over Lehigh, Virginia Tech over Villanova.

South: The Citadel over Furman, Florida State over Richmond, Georgia over Kentucky, Mississippi State over Memphis State, Duke over North Carolina State, Tennessee over Chattanooga, Virginia Military over Davidson, Vanderbilt over Virginia, North Carolina over Wake Forest, William & Mary over George Washington.

Midwest: Cincinnati over College of Pacific, North Texas State over Houston; Iowa State over Kansas State; Indiana over Michigan State; Minnesota over Michigan; Missouri over Nebraska; Wichita over Oklahoma State; Tulsa over Detroit.

Southwest: Southern Methodist over exas Tech; Texas A & M over Baylor, Hardin Simmons over West Texas State, New Mexico State over Texas Western.

Far West: Colorado over Arizona; Brigham Young over Denver; Oregon State over California; New Mexico over Montana; Wyoming over Utah; Montana State over Utah State; Washington State over Idaho.

Davey Moore Lambasts Game Briton

LONDON (AP)—World featherweight champion Davey Moore took just 2 minutes, 55 seconds to batter Bobby Neill, British titleholder, to a humiliating defeat Tuesday night.

With barely a bead of sweat on his body after the fight, the 26-year-old champion from Springfield Ohio, said:

"Boy, I wish they all were like that. I caught him right on the button."

It wasn't Moore's fastest victory though. He beat "Bird" Marino in 2 minutes 28 seconds.

Neill, 26, who made three comebacks after suffering crippling injuries in road accidents and a broken jaw in a fight had no time to show anything but courage.

Four times he smashed to the canvas only to hoist himself painfully back into a battle that was never more than a massacre.

Near tears in his dressing room after Referee Tommy Little mercifully stopped the fight with five seconds of the first round still to go, the plucky little Scot said he had no plans to quit the ring.

66-Year-Old Tabbed As Man To Beat

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) —Long Tom Robbins of Pinehurst loomed as the man to beat in the North and South Seniors Golf Tournament which moved into its second round today.

The 66-year-old missed by only three strokes shooting his age as he won a brilliantly played first round match Tuesday from James McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill., 3 and 1.

Robbins, 1956 winner of the tournament and the 1958 U.S. Golf Assn. senior champion, weathered a late birdie flurry to close out McAlvin with a birdie of his own on the short 17th hole. He played out the final hole for exercise and added a par to finish the round three under with a sparkling 69.

That performance and the 1-up defeat of medalist Allen Rankin of Columbus, Ohio, by Paul Dunkel of Hackensack, N. J., were the first day features.

Jerry Krecicki of Trenton, N. J., and Mal Woodstein of Irvington, N. J., are members of the North Carolina State freshman eleven. Krecicki is a quarterback and Woodstein a fullback.

North Carolina and North Carolina State first played football in 1894.

Gun Used To Nab Husband

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—An application for a marriage license at the courthouse went smoothly until the clerk, George Ellery, asked the prospective bridegroom:

"Now, will you raise your right hand and swear that the information in this license application is true?"

"I won't swear," replied Robert K. Worrell of Moorestown, N.J., "until she gets the gun out of her bag."

That touched off a commotion and Sheriff Edgar Startt wound up arresting Angeline Sailer, 47, of Burlington, N.J.

The reluctant bridegroom, a 68-year-old retired seaman, told the sheriff Mrs. Sailer had come to his house with a gun Monday and forced him to accompany her to Elkton to get married.

"You're going to marry me or I'm going to kill you," he quoted her.

This city in northeastern Maryland is famed for its quickie marriages but state law now requires a three-day waiting period.

Mrs. Sailer was held in $500 bond on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. The sheriff found a .38 revolver wrapped in a fur piece in her car.

Another man with her, Alexa Jalmar Olson, 55, of Ocean City, N.J., was held for investigation.

Worrell told Sheriff Startt he had been going with Mrs. Sailer off and on for about 10 years but had said nothing about marriage.

Hearing To Decide Who Gets Reward

HOUSTON (AP) — A hearing to determine which of the 25 claimants is entitled to $10,000 reward for solving the bomb slaying of Mrs. Helen Weaver has been transferred from Galveston to Houston.

Federal Judge Joe Ingraham will hear the case.

The petition for the hearing was filed by Mrs. Weaver's husband, Harry Weaver of San Angelo, and their two daughters, Mrs. Helen H. Willcockson, San Angelo, and Mrs. Sadie Blackburn. The three posted the $10,000 award.

The San Angelo socialite was killed when a bomb destroyed her automobile. A former son-in-law, Harry L. Washburn, was convicted and is serving a life sentence.

Test Your Skill.. Win CASH PRIZES

HERE ARE THE RULES OF THE CONTEST

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played in the country this week-end. Get an entry blank from one of the merchants who are helping sponsor this contest and whose message is on this page. Fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only . . . opposite the name of the firm on the entry blank. Then send your complete blank to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 12 o'clock noon, Friday. Games ending in a tie score must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

If there is a tie for first place the winners will divide the cash money of $12.50 and no second prize will be given. If there is a first place winner and a tie for second place, the second prize winners will divide the money for that place. If more than two persons tie for second place, no second prize money will be awarded and the cash will be added to next week's prize. Tie for perfect score will split $25.00. There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted from any one person. More than one will disqualify all of the person's entries. Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing on the choice of the winner. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number—and watch for the story on next Wednesday's front page for the winners. Hurry now, and get your entry blank from one of the merchants on this page. The contest blank must be in your own handwriting. Employes of The Snyder Daily News and their families, not eligible to enter.
