to divide representation more boundaries for four wards, with one or two commissioners to each ward. This would give four to eight commissioners with the major elected at large.

Possibilities of adopting this setup were to be investigated.

Seven holidays were voted on

National VFW Head Visits Post Tuesday Afternoon

Charles C. Ralls of Seattle, Wash., commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, visited Post Tuesday afternoon.

He was accompanied by J. T.
Rutherford of Odessa, state commander. Sheriff Carl Rains and City Policeman Bill Hall formed a police escort. A convoy of cars greeted the officials at the outskirts of town. They circled the town and then stopped first in front of the city hall.

Mayor John Herd welcomed the visitors. The high school band played. N. C. Outlaw introduced Ralls and Rutherford. Members of the local VFW who met them at the city hall were Bob Poole, commander, Outlaw, Henry Aten, Andy Steitzer, John Rogers, John
Shedd, Bill Carter and W. O.
Holly.

George Samson also greeted the men at the city hall and was a member of the welcoming committee from the chamber of commerce who met him at the VFW hut. Others were Pat Ryan, David Willis and Shelley Camp.

Commander Poole said some 50 local members met the national chief at the hall. Twenty-five went to Lubbock Tuesday night and heard Ralls broadcast. The same escort carried him to the edge of town when he left.

"We certainly appreciate the help we received from the mayor, the chamber of commerce and the sheriff and police departments in welcoming Commander Ralls," Poole said.

Bill Carter Is New Chairman Of Red Cross

Bill Carter has been named chairman of the Garza county Red Cross chapter and is organizing plans for the annual drive later in the spring.

Carter replaces Dick Allen who has moved to Jal. N. M. Lester Josey is secretary-treasurer.
Carter named Robert Cato head of the disaster preparedness committee.

"People misunderstand the function of the Red Cross," Carter said. "There must be at least 15 people involved before we are allowed to give aid. Our most recent task was finding beds for 16 people in a pickup. There were several sick children in the group."

Homer McCrary was Red Cross chairman for last year, being replaced by Allen. Josey's predecessor was C. R. Thaxton.

Mothers March On Polio Scheduled Next Wednesday Night at 7 O'clock

Four New Shallow Prospects Slated In Garza for Week

Four new shallow locations have been asked in Garza county.
Natural swabbing operations were underway yesterday on the
No. 2 Swenson well, prospective Canyon reef, 20 miles northeast of Post.

The Swenson well was a failure in the Ellenburger and has plugged back to test promising shows in an earlier formation.

Presen tests are at 6910-6970 feet. Previous lower perforations proved non-productive.

Perforations at 7015-7031 yielded a rainbow show of oil and a slight show of gas during three hours of natural swabbing. After being acidized with 1000 gallons, the well gave up an average of five barrels of water hourly for four hours.

Two new locations are staked in the Rocker A field. The No. 2-A Henderson, Neville G. Penrose, incorporated and P. G. and P. W.
Anderson operators, is two miles west of Justiceburg. Cable operations to 2750 are to begin at once.

The R. S. and P. W. Anderson
No. 2 Spalding - Stoker is located west of Justiceburg. Cable operations to 2750 feet are to begin at once there, too.

The other two locations are in the Garza field, Roland S. Bond et al 2 R. G. Merrell, one and one-half miles west of Post will be a rotary survey to 3150 feet.
Operations are pending granting of a permit.

Roland S. Bond 2 J. F. Storie, a 3100-foot rotary is slated one mile west of Post. It was not learned when work would begin on this project.

Two wells in Lynn county continue to hold Garza's interest.
In the O'Donnell area, Magnolia is to try for completion in the Mississippian at the No. 1 W. W.
Caswell, west offset to the Pensylvanian discovery. Humble completed a north offset to the discovery in the Mississippian.

Mid-Continent Petroleum company has lated a 10,000-foot Ellenburger project near New Lynn, six miles northeast of Ta-hoka. It is to be known as the No. 1 W. T. Cook.

Cotton Crop Is Short Of Goal

Garza county's 1951 cotton crop is still laboring to make the 14-000 bales. Sixty-four bales were ginned in five county gins this week.

Southland gin has been closed about two weeks. Season total there was 2682 bales. Graham gin has the record total for the county this year. They will gin 10 bales at least today, bringing their total to 3370. The gin there will be open one day next week.

Yesterday was the last day for ginning in Post at Planter's gin. Up to noon, they had ginned 2134 bales. Storie gin in the Garnolia community is still open.
Their total to date is 1287. Pleasant Valley gin will be open Tuesday. Up to now, they have ginned 1247 bales.

Tomorrow and one day next week will be necessary to close out ginning at Close City where 2853 bales have been processed this year.

Each House in Post To Be Contacted in Campaign

Garza county's March of Dimes will be climaxed Wednesday night from 7 until 8 o'clock by the "Mothers March on Polio," Chairman David Willis announced.

Another feature is the Coffee day being observed tomorrow by local drug stores and cafes. Coffee will be 10 cents at all these places with the extra nickel in each cup going to the March of Dimes. Firms participating are Hamilton Drug, Warren Drug, Dodd's cafe, American cafe, City cafe, Colliers' Drug, and McClellan's Drive-In.

The "Mothers March" committee has contacted one person in each block to call at each house in their block between 7 and 8 o'clock next Wednesday night, to give every resident of Post an opportunity to contribute to the March of Dimes.

This is a change from the original plans of calling only at houses where a light was on. Since a number of Postites do not have porch lights, it was decided to call at each house here, without waiting for a signal, Willis said.

Two other group captains have been named: Lorenzo Alexander and Mrs. Zada Pennie. Mrs. Pennie is in charge of the drive in the colored school and Alexander is responsible for the March of Dimes in that residential area.

Each block captain is asked to keep a record and recognition will be given the block with the largest percentage of residences contributing. Willis reminded workers of the number of houses that also contain apartments and asked that people in these apartments also be given an opportunity to contribute.

Management of the City cafe is giving a bonus to the waitress getting the largest amount in contributions from customers.

Collections will be taken at each church having a midweek service, except the Church of Christ. A box for contributions will be placed outside that church building.

TWO AND ONE-HALF YEARS OF POLIO—G. T. Mason, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Mason of the Graham community, has had polio and its aftereffects half his life. He was five Nev. 5. He was first taken to Lubbock to the hospital for three weeks. For nine months he was on crutches. Since he is to return to a Dallas hospital for another operation. G. T. is one

Funds For Research . . .

An added goal in the polio March of Dimes drive this year is for funds to back research in the isolation of the polio virus. In the past, most of the money collected has gone to pay for treatment of those stricken. This year, some of the money is being earmarked for preventing the children of the future from having serious aftereffects of the disease. It has been discovered that the polio virus can be grown in test tubes containing non-nervous tissue. This provides a method for rapidly learning the effects of various chemicals and drugs in halting the growth of the virus. Funds will also finance further research in the polio-virus-typing campaign. Human polio can be caused by each of three groups of viruses, none producing immunity to the others. The majority of children and adults can harbor the virus in their bodies without harm to themselves. Relatively few develop severe symptoms. Factors tipping the scales in favor of the virus have been determined. It is hoped to wipe out polio as smallpox and bubonic plague have been eliminated. Your contribution to the March of Dimes may not only help treat a Garza county victim. You may help prevent someone from becoming a victim.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Future for Draft-Age Youngsters Proves Not Necessarily Bad Because of War

WASHINGTON, D. C. — I am not a military expert and cannot speak with authority as to what is to happen to our 18 to 22-year-old young men during the next few years. The plans and hopes of many homes, jobs and colleges are completely upset.

Let me, however, add a little hope to frightened families. Men who know what the probabilities are assure me that the future is not as bad as it now looks. They insist that only a few more boys will be shipped to Asia. We will be willing to supply guns and munitions to enable the Japanese to protect Japan, to enable Nationalists to hold Formosa, and to give needed aid to the Philippines. But no more American boys will be sent to Korea, Indo-China, Burma, India or elsewhere in Asia.

Experts at Washington believe that World War III, if it comes, will be fought mainly by the Navy and Air Force. They say it would be suicidal to depend upon numbers of infantry to meet the Russians, even in Europe. With the large numbers of Communists who infect each European country, it may be best to limit our help to Western Europe to supplying them with A-Bombs.

Therefore I believe that mothers and boys are unnecessarily excited. Americans seem unable to strike a middle course. They either ignore danger and insist on "business, profits, wages and entertainments as usual," or else they become panic stricken and go too far in the opposite direction.

I, therefore, strongly advise that parents and their youths avoid getting unduly excited. First, the chances are three to two that Russia will not risk a "hot war" for some time to come; and second, if only the present "cold war" continues, 2,500,000 young men in training would be a nuisance and handicap to all concerned. I, moreover, speak with some authority, having founded three colleges and graduated thousands of young men.

I further advise young men between 18 and 20 to quit listening to radio commentators who know no more about the future than you, my readers, do.

Go on about your plans for schooling or work the same as if no war is now probable. Then if you are called, it will be okay; while the chances are 50-50 that you won't be called.

Texans In WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY,
Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, P.—Four Texans hold key jobs in a program aimed at helping free nations to help themselves.

They are employed by the State department in the Mutual Defense Assistance program (MDAP).

Their jobs deal with allocating funds to the various government agencies which have a hand in the program, and with determination of the military value of particular operations.

A Houston man who served on the staffs of both General Dwight D. Eisenhower and General Omar Bradley in World War II is the MDAP liaison officer who works with the armed services.

He is Eli Stevens, a graduate of West Point who was promoted to colonel before he retired because of combat injuries received in North African fighting.

Richard R. Bogardus, El Paso; Floyd B. Moye, Denison, and Dero J. Cagle, San Antonio, handle disbursement of funds to the armed services, Commerce department and other government units carrying out the defense assistance program.

Pay As You Go . . .

The brains are writing a great deal about the impossibility of a "pay as you go" program to underwrite President Truman's budget for 1951-52. One writer even has figures to prove it. We were brought up in the old-fashioned way of doing without things until we were able to pay for them. Even installment buying was frowned upon. Of course, since the main item in the budget is defense spending, an argument may be that we cannot do without. We remember that the now-obsolete B-17s were reported to cost a quarter of a million dollars each. Four years ago, we saw acres of them parked along Route 66 in Arizona. Obsolete and not even a down payment made. We are still paying for those B-17s and what we need is B-36s. Our money is growing more worthless every day. Higher taxes contribute to inflation, we believe. People are more willing to go out and be killed than they are to pay excessive taxes. More especially when tax money is used to fly Elliott Roosevelt's dog, Blaise, across the Atlantic, or enable Harry Vaughn's friends to give away home freezers. It probably is possible to pay as we go in the actual value of what we get. Let's have some government reorganization and reduce something including the budget.

Getting Out On the LIMB . . .

by EDDIE the editor

I notice that the United Nations is moving into a new permanent house with glass walls. I hope someone has told them about throwing stones.

The article I read did not say where they were putting the Russians. It is a 39 story building and I would suggest putting them up near the top. That way they would be closer to their pie in the sky. Even though the building is completely air-conditioned, I would suggest leaving their windows open. That would make it more convenient for them to walk out.

This building looks like a book. It overlooks the East River and is in midtown Manhattan. That is the island sold by the Indians to Peter Stuyvesant (or somebody) for 27 dollars.

The story said UN's new home has been one of the most complicated housing and furnishing jobs of all kind. Decor and furnishings had to suit the tastes of 60 member nations. Incidentally, I think they call it the Secretariat building.

Furnishings had to be functional and comfortable to cut down fatigue, I am informed. To cut down costs, they had to be durable and easy to maintain and keep clean. They were bought in many different countries and had to be welded into a harmonious whole.

Abel Sorensen was head of Interior Design for the project.

Many of the chairs were covered leather to resist burns. Window draperies in the bigwigs' offices are of close woven wool to last for decades. Carpets are chenille, of all things.

Best of all, offices of top moguls have television sets, so they can keep track of what goes on in a council room without actually being there. I bet they work late, too, as long as Faye Emerson is on TV.

All is done in cheerful color and modern decor. Smooth surfaces have no dust catcher curves. Both main walls are faced in a solid phlanx (I read that) of green glass walls. Just like the words of a diplomat, these walls aren't what they seem. From the inside, they look like usual window pane. But if you raise one and look out the world appears rose-colored. Let's watch that.

The walls are lined with offices, many of them small in order to spread the window space. Even so, there are not enough windows to go around and some secretaries work in inside rooms by electric light.

The secretary-general's suite is in the upper part of the building. Five rooms, it has an office, meeting room, private living room, bedroom, kitchen and bath. Panelled in Norwegian pine, the office is carpeted in American brown chenille. Draperies are soft blue Swedish wool.

One wall of the meeting room is lined with cork so that maps and charts can be pinned on it. Another slides up to reveal the sitting room. When Trygve or Mrs. Lie want to entertain at lunch or dinner, the two rooms can be thrown together. I hope the Little Women doesn't hear about this.

Suites of the eight assistants are smaller, but equally modern. When the entire UN headquarters is finished, the secretariat skyscraper will be linked to the meeting hall area and the general assembly hall. The latter two are low, widespread buildings near the base of the skyscraper.

Underground plans are for a 1500-car garage. At one side will stand the library, converted from the temporary office building. Grass, flowers, trees, fountains and parkways will fill the rest of the site that once held slaughterhouses. An improvement in name and scope, I suppose.

The world's biggest and most up-to-date committee rooms will be located in the meeting hall. The better to fill with smoke, my dear, Seventy-foot tables, horseshoe and C-shaped, are being made to order. Translating devices are to be located on them.

In case a delegate is not sufficiently confused, he can put on his headphones and get simultaneous digests of it in English, French, Spanish or Russian, as well as Chinese. I don't know just what the simultaneous refers to. My first impression was that in a cacophony of sound you would get English, French, Spanish, etc., simultaneously.

Committee rooms will be paneled in mahogany, walnut or teakwood. Furniture will be of the same wood. Carpeting will be blue, brown or green. Big picture windows will require harmonious draperies made of 500 square yards of materials. A balcony at the end will seat the public and press.

Delegates' lounges will be in this building. The main one, a huge thing, will be divided into three sections. For recreation, the center section will be furnished

The Neighbor's Kids

Let's talk about kids. Not your kids, of course, but the mean little devils who live next door. You don't allow anybody to discuss your kids critically. They have had the advantage of a good home, wise parents and cultured surroundings. These next door haven't had such "fetching up;" so like you, we'll discuss them. Some time ago the Jaycees beat their brains out to raise funds to provide a nice lawn and shrubbery for the city square. Lately your neighbor's children have added to their knowledge of horticulture by pulling up by the roots most of the shrubs and flowers set out at a cost of about $500. These are the same kids who pulled down the new street signs as a rapid rate until their enthusiasm wore off; the same ones who have shot out plate glass store windows and residential panes with air rifles brought by good old Santa just for such purpose; the same ones who prowled around during nocturnal hours shooting out street lights and testing store doors to see if the owner forgot to lock them.

In big brown, beige and ivory leather sofas from South America. Modern United States chairs, upholstered in gray and brilliant orange wool will add color. They are to be grouped around small birch tables.

Czechoslovakian chairs and Finnish desks of beech and birch will be in the writing room. A reading room in the opposite end will be furnished with mahogany tables and chairs upholstered in Danish blue wool.

On the roof will be the cafeteria for the secretariat and the restaurant for the delegates, rimmed by a wade terrace overlooking the East River.

Plans are to finish the general Assembly room building next year. A big, domed structure, it will provide seats for delegations, press and 1000 spectators. Latest electronic equipment and modern lighting will be installed. The floor will be covered with 4000 square feet of carpeting.

I am indebted to the Associated Press for all this information which I have tried to incorporate after conferring with authorities, for presentation to you.

I expect there will be a lot of friction about who has which floors and so forth. As I said before, I hope the Russians get office space where it is convenient for them to walk out—right into the river. I am not in favor of providing water wings, either.

Deplorable, isn't it, what the neighbors allow their children to do? Why don't you have a chat with the neighbor's kids to-night. Mention that these improvements are actually for their enjoyment, but that the people who labor so hard to provide them ask only that they be preserved. The lesson might be driven home with 40 lashes across their behinds, if you're not afraid it might retard their psychologically. If you're afraid of the neighbor's kids, the police will provide protection.

Texas motorists, Texas highways and Texas taxpayers should be protected against the ONE PER CENTERS.

ONE PER CENTERS are truck combinations weighing, loaded, 20,000 pounds or more. Only one of every 100 vehicles registered in Texas pays a license fee for 20,000 pounds or more. FEWER than three out of every 1,000 are registered for more than 40,000 pounds.*

Our highways should be SAFE for ALL the people—individuals, commercial users and the military alike.

Texas highway tax dollars should be conserved and used wisely. This can be done

Borger Editor Crusades Against Communism in One-Town Drive

BORGER, Tex., Jan. 24.—J. C. Phillips, quiet but determined general manager of the Borger News-Herald, has launched a one-man, one-newspaper, one-town campaign against Communism which he hopes will spread throughout the nation.

"The sooner it is impressed on the national conscience that Communism must be destroyed, that much sooner will we be united and prepared to destroy this evil," says Phillips. "Each of us knows full well that there can be no peace until we all face the fact that:

"Communism must be destroyed."

In bold-face type editorials that outline the news banners of stories on the Korean war, in his own column and even on the newspaper's letterheads, the editor is urging:

"Communism must be destroyed."

Phillips own definition of communism is:

"Communism is an alien conspiracy directed from Moscow to overrun and enslave the world. It is not religion and it is not politics."

The editor has called on all Borger citizens to write congressmen and oppose repeal of the anti-subversive bill. "We cannot compromise with Communism here at home any more than we can compromise with Moscow," he wrote. "If our congress and courts cannot pass and enforce laws and root these alien conspirators out of any phase of our national life then the sacrifices made by our young men on the battlefield will have been in vain."

By telegram, he appealed to Senators Lyndon B. Johnson and Tom Connally and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to press for enforcement of the anti-subversive act. In his column, "We Can Do Something," he printed the favorable responses of these men.

In an editorial entitled "Red Snows of Korea," Phillips wrote: "Write your movie stars and producers in Hollywood and tell them that you want more pictures showing in stark reality the evils of Communism—Communism does not retreat. It never gives up what it has gained. Our experience in Korea proves that Communism does not intend to give up anything that it can possibly hold."

"Each retreat before Communism leaves our world smaller. Too soon it could become too small to exist at all."

"The only cure for Communism is total defeat. This means that every Communist cell in this country must be destroyed and the seat of Communism in Moscow must be eliminated."

"While we are making up our minds just what to do in this country there are men in Korea who know what to do. They are doing it."

The Borger editor hopes that his all-out campaign in his home city will spread throughout the Panhandle, the state and the nation.

Water-Witching Is Upheld In Book-Length Work by Novelist

By The Associated Press

In drought-ridden Texas areas where a barrel of water is often described as being worth a barrel of crude oil, a book-length work by famed novelist Kenneth Roberts is likely to strike up more than passing interest.

In his new book, "Henry Gross and His Dowsing Rod" (Doubleday), Roberts gives page after page of evidence where underground water has been discovered by the use of forked sticks from a willow or peach tree. Roberts not only believes strongly in this unusual talent of dowsing, or water-witching if you prefer, but declares skeptics are in the same class as those of 50 years ago who scorned the idea of radio, television or jet planes.

Henry Gross, the hero of Roberts' book, Gross is a game warden in Maine and his dowsing is something of a pastime. Gross locates underground veins of clear spring-water and makes no charges for it; often pays for his own gasoline to make the trips. And in this connection, says Roberts, ingratitude is one of the crosses that the dowsers must bear.

Scores of wells in Maine have been dug after Henry used his rod and declared cool, clear water was ten feet to a hundred down. Sometimes, says the writer, there were seeming failures, but in every instance it was found out that heavy drilling tools or dynamite had crushed and sealed off the flowing veins of water. If the farmer on whose land the drilling took place only listened to Henry, said Roberts, those veins could be opened and a well of water would follow.

Roberts writes: "The explanation of modern scientists who are investigating water divining from a purely scientific standpoint, that water, minerals and oil give off electromagnetic waves and fields of force, and that water-diviners are merely human radio-sets who are tuned in to those wavelengths and can pick them up, certainly knocks the romance and mystery out of the art of divining; but it is, without doubt, the logical and correct explanation of the previously incomprehensible phenomena."

Roberts cites the discovery of three wells on the island of Bermuda as examples of the game warden's art. This island had had only rainwater for drinking for hundreds of years until only last year when Henry located three wells and all were brought in.

The writer offers the testimony of friends like Robert DuBois who say Henry used his rod and later bring the well in. DuBois wrote: "I couldn't have brought myself to believe the experiments in this book unless, before reading it, I saw Henry's rod tell him all the details of water veins."

Are You Forgetting to Oil the Machinery?

Some businessmen look upon advertising as an expense to come under the knife.

When expense must be cut, the advertising budget is first. The trouble with that method is—it just won't work. The fact overlooked is that newspaper advertising represents only a fractional part of the cost of goods sold.

Advertising is the instrument which brings the greatest returns when it is intelligently planned.

Advertising becomes expense when you don't use enough.

It's like failing to lubricate a piece of valuable machinery. You save the cost of the lubrication, but eventually you have to pay the big repair bill—and production losses while the machinery is idle.

Scripture

O give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever. Let the redeemed of the Lord say so, whom he hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy; And gathered them out of the lands, from the east, and from the west, from the north, and from the south. They wandered in the wilderness in a solitary way; they found no city to dwell in. Hungry and thirsty, their soul fainted in them. Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he delivered them out of their distresses. And he led them forth by the right way that they might go to a city of habitation. Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness and for his wonderful works to the children of men. (Psalms 107:1-8)

During the past 11 Years!

8,575 VICTIMS

IMAGINE wiping out a town of 8,575 persons with one hidden germ. That is virtually what has taken place in TEXAS during the past 11 years.

POLIO THE PARALYZER struck down 8,575 TEXAS men, women and children from January 1, 1939 to January 1, 1950. There were 232 cases in 1939. There were 2,355—or more than ten times that amount in 1949.

Our 11-year record leaves a cripple in every 210 Texas homes. Something must be done to stop this killer. Your dimes and dollars are needed to fight POLIO.

Acceage Restrictions, Insects, Bad Weather Make 1950 Poor Year for Cotton Growers

Acceage restrictions, insects and unfavorable growing season made 1950 a bad year for the cotton farmer, from the standpoint of production.

However, in one county, McLennan, early season insect control enabled growers to produce more lint cotton in 1950 than they did in 1949. According to the county agent there, 15 farmers averaged 304 pounds of lint per acre this year, compared to 287 pounds in 1949.

On six untreated check plots of 204 acres in this area, the average yield per acre was only 192 pounds of lint. Thus, loss from insect damage averaged 112 pounds of lint per acre.

An average yield of 502 pounds per acre was obtained in 1942 in the season in another community in the same county. Yield was only 289 pounds on the acre on 425 untreated acres in that section. The agent estimated that an average increase of 125 pounds per acre was obtained by practicing early season control on one half or 50,000 acres of cotton in McLennan county.

Good Early Stands
Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton work specialist at Texas A&M college, says that high yields are usually produced from fields where good, early stands have been obtained.

Replanting is expensive and can often be avoided by treating seed before they are planted. Good planting seed is scarce in many areas. Cottonseed treatment is an inexpensive form of crop insurance for treating materials costs only a few cents per bushel.

Treating seed kills germs present on the seed and protects seed and seedlings from germs which may be in the soil. Thus it gives a better stand of cotton.

Angular leaf spot and soreshin are the two worst seedling killers. In some areas, the angular leaf spot is second only to root rot as the number one hazard in cotton production. It shows up first on leaves of the seedling as a small green, water-soaked spot. It resembles a bruise.

Damp weather can cause the disease to spread and unless planting seed was treated, many plants may be killed. This disease affects the fruiting habits of the plant and appears as angular spots on the leaves and bacterial rot on the bolls.

Brown, Diseased Area
Soreshin is found as a brown diseased area on the cotton seedling. It may be either above or below the ground line. Soreshin causes a shriveling of the plant tissues, killing the plant.

Experiments at the Temple agricultural station show that cottonseed treated with Ceresan, two or five per cent, gives 25 to 30 per cent better stands than untreated seed. Plants showed less angular leaf spot and final production per acre averaged more than 50 pounds of lint.

Seedlings from treated seed are sometimes twice as large as those from untreated seed during early stages of growth.

L. C. Herron, county agent, will give details on treating seed. He will advise farmers on what chemicals to use and the proper methods of doing the job. Producers who have large quantities of seed might find it more economical to have them treated commercially, Herron says.

Cover Seed
Regardless of who does the job, it is important to see that the seed are covered with the chemical and that the right treating material has been used.

Seed rot is the reason many plants fail to come up. Disease organisms attack the seed before there is a chance for them to germinate. Rot-producing organisms attack seeds in any kind of weather. Cold, damp weather give them their worst effect. Even in fine weather, they can cut down a cotton crop before it ever starts to grow.

Several kinds of harmful bacteria or fungi live in the soil. They are microscopic. Their effects can be seen clearly with the naked eye, however. Much of this seed decay can be prevented — for as little as 10 cents per acre. Treatment before planting with an organic mercury dust will protect seed from decay — causing bacteria.

The county agent can assist with this, also.

Polio Cure Bill
Bills for polio patient care alone have consumed some $94,000,000 in March of Dimes funds since the establishment of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in 1938. Financed solely by public contributions, the National Foundation is holding its 1951 March of Dimes until next Wednesday.

Teenager Gets Appetite Back; Thanks Hadacol

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Nicotin and Iron Which Her System Lacked.

According to Sara Loraine Beck, Box 253, Coker, Alabama, when a person is only 15 years old and feels terrible, can't eat or sleep the way they should, it's mighty bad. That is the way Loraine says she used to feel, but that was, of course, before she started taking HADACOL. Loraine found that taking HADACOL helped her system overcome deficiencies in Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Nicotin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Loraine Beck's own statement: "I was run-down, sick and skinny, and weighed only 90 pounds before I used HADACOL. I would not eat because I had no appetite. Now I weigh 123 pounds and have an appetite. I feel a lot better. I have been taking HADACOL 10 months and am still taking it. I am 15 years old. HADACOL has done me lots of good."

Noah Stone and all the crew at Post Auto Supply are getting the showrooms at that place all slicked up for the new DeSoto which will go on display Saturday. The new DeSoto, according to advance publicity, is really a car to crow about.

Spices and herbs give variety to the art of cooking. Without them eating can be very dull. Books and more books have been written about spices. This we learned after we started investigating the extensive spice shelf at Paul Jones' Piggly Wiggly store. Since we are a housewife these days we are playing with pots and pans and porridge, so to speak, and a lot of the recipes we've played around with call for oregano or marjoram, cumin seed, curry powder, thyme, basil, tumeric, in addition to the familiar ones like nutmeg, allspice, bay leaves, cayenne, celery salt, cloves, ginger, mustard or paprika. All these and more we found at Piggly Wiggly.

Not knowing how to use some of the spices we called on Miss Beatie Pitts, homemaking instructor at Post High. She gave us really helpful information and also told us about a new spice "Accent." This wonder spice enhances all flavors and has a basis of amino acid. This new spice can also be found at Piggly Wiggly. Miss Pitts who strives for practical methods in her homemaking classes says thyme and marjoram are especially adapted to adding new flavor to meat, egg or cream dishes. Celery salt and garlic salt added to broiled meats give them a flavor unsurpassed by other spices.

Many homemakers, Miss Pitts explained, are timid about using spices. She suggests you buy spices you rarely use in small quantities and keep all spices well covered if you want to keep the flavor and aroma.

A relish dish homemaking students used recently in which they employed several spices is Spiced Onion Rings.

Soak onion rings overnight in beet juice to which has been added a dash of caraway seed, 1 tbs. of salt, 1 tbs. of sugar, 1 tbs. of mustard and 2 tbs. of vinegar. Drain and use as a garnish or use as a separate relish dish.

SODA—the good old Arm and Hammer brand that most of us were brought up on—is again on the market. "Dad" Greenfield of the Pure Food Market said we could tell the folks that this item wasn't new but that it is again available at his store, right next door to the new P.O.

Dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Ben Smith Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Ford Shropshire and daughter of Duke, Okla.

Mrs. W. J. Davis and daughter, Earline, and Mr. and Mrs. Buck Salsoner and children of Lamesa visited Mrs. J. R. Davis Sunday.

SECTION TWO

FROM THE... GRANDSTAND

by WILBUR MARTIN Associated Press Staff

Cleaning the cuff after the National Collegiate Athletic Association convention in Dallas:

Marty Karow, former Texas A&M baseball and basketball coach, looking fit and feeling fine as baseball coach at Ohio State now, says he'll bring his Buckeye nine to Texas this spring for a series with Texas, Baylor and Texas Christian... wouldn't guess who'd be named football coach at Ohio State.

Mose Simms, lobby-gossiping with Jess Neely of Rice and other coaches... sporting horn-rimmed glasses these days... gives him a distinguished appearance.

Jack Curtice, who used to be out at Texas Western, looking just the same before he moved to Utah... says it's really not so cold up there... Wilford Moore of McMurtry swapping yarns... bystanders wondering when he was going to move up to a bigger school... thinks he deserves a crack at big time coaching.

Buck Bailey, Washington State baseball coach, and Bibb Falk, diamond coach at the University of Texas, spinning yarns... Texas beat Washington State for the NCAA title last spring... Bailey an old Texas A&M grizzer... good guess is that Falk will be named "college baseball coach of year"... He's won two NCAA titles in a row.

W. O. Hunter, Southern California athletic director, sounding sleepy at 3 o'clock in the morning when queried for the umpteenth time on who'll be Trojan grid coach... and Gen. Bob Neyland, rumored for the job, denying same.

Football coaches wondering out loud about military draft... many expect freshmen to be playing next season... which will make the demand for high school stars much higher.

Frank Leahy of Notre Dame sporting red and white bow tie... Eddie Erdelatz of Navy saying Middle victory over Army not so much an upset... just a solid team job, that players had the ability... Army's Blaik with not much to say on the subject.

Manitoban Family Makes Pet of Elk

FRANKLIN, MAN. Jan. 24 P — The Walter MacDonald family here has adopted a young elk.

The animal gets along with everybody—even a big Labrador dog on the property. A local game warden decided that to return the elk to a national park would mean certain death at the hands of hunters, and has asked the MacDonalds to hold on to the animal until the hunting season closes.

"Rocky Mountain blizzards couldn't stop me!"

"The two winters I tested new Conoco Super Motor Oil—as one of a group picked to prove its winter wear-fighting ability—we had the worst weather in years. Blizzards came in on top of blizzards. The temperature went to the bottom and stayed there.

"BUT MY CAR ACTED LIKE IT THOUGHT IT WAS JULY! With new Conoco Super that car performed better than it ever had. At the end of the test, with proper driving and regular care, gasoline mileage was practically as good as at the beginning."

After a total of 386,422 miles, logged by Mr. Seefeld and other winter test drivers, Conoco engineers found no wear of any consequence! Analysis of drains showed this great oil actually shipped the dangerous accumulation of free water and acids, chief causes of winter wear. This test proved that new Conoco Super Motor Oil, with OIL-PLATING, fights off rust, corrosion and sludge. So, change to Conoco Super, now.

SESSIONS FOR THE DEAF — Baylor University senior Carter Bearden, 22, demonstrates the sign language he uses in preaching to the deaf. He works full time during the summers and on weekends during the school year to carry on ministry among the deaf in Texas. Bearden is one of the ministers employed by the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board. He became deaf at the age of three, but follows regular class work at Baylor by lip reading and the study of carbon notes made by his classmates.

Carter Bearden Preaches to Deaf Every Weekend

Carter Bearden, a 22-year-old senior in Baylor University, uses his hands to preach every weekend to congregations of people who cannot hear.

He understands their plight because he himself is deaf.

Working under auspices of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist convention, Bearden makes regular rounds of ten Texas cities: Houston, Tyler, Texarkana, Fort Worth, Nacogdoches, Lubbock, Austin, Corsicana, Waco and San Antonio. There's a congregation waiting for him at every stop.

He is an expert at lip-reading and has little trouble in his classes at Baylor. But as insurance just in case a professor turns his back, he usually asks a classmate to make notes in class.

Bearden's unique ministry began in October 1945, only a month after his own conversion at the Congress Avenue Baptist church in Austin. He was a student then at Texas School for the Deaf.

As an evangelist, he has held revivals in Virginia, Arkansas, Tennessee, the District of Columbia, and Texas. Following his graduation from Baylor in June, he plans to enroll in Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary at Fort Worth.

The CITY of POST

LORENE BENSON, Secretary

Dear Mr. Warren: Please publish the following article.

"Are you the thoughtless citizen who has been scattering poison for stray dogs with careless abandon. Didn't it ever occur to you that something besides a dog might get that poison. Registered dogs and much-loved pets as well as stray dogs are the victims."

"And what about our children? Are they really safe now from this poison that has been put out over most of Post? I don't think so. Last year in Dallas there was quite a disturbance when a small child ate the poison candy that was intended for a dog. Don't you think some other method of ridding Post of stray dogs would be much safer and surely as effective?"

"Did you ever watch the agony a dog suffers before dying after a dose of strychnine? Would you like to see an innocent child a victim of such carelessness? Any person responsible for such a tragedy should surely be charged with manslaughter."

How do we, the citizens of Post, know but what this thoughtless person or persons might any day now decide there are too many children on the streets of Post. Shall we just sit back and let this poisoning go on? Just one mistake and it would be too late.

"Let's make Post a safe place for our children and pets to live. Let's stop this scattering of poisoned food!"

"The child that gets it may be yours."

Signed: Mrs. Gail B. Doerge

J. W. Hall, Pioneer Freight Visits In Post

J. W. Hall, who moved the first printing equipment to Post, was a visitor here Monday.

He freighted printing equipment in from Big Spring for the late Stockton Henry of Lubbock. Hall brought in rock for Short's hardware building, a 160-foot square edifice, then the only business building in Post.

Few residences were here during the eight months in 1907 that Hall drove his mule team between Post and Big Spring. The round trip was accomplished in a week, he said. The town had not been laid out then.

Workers lived in three tents and the boss had two tents put together for his quarters and the cooking and dining room. There were no tables, Hall said, and men ate with their plates held in their laps.

His father lived for a short time on one of the farms C. W. Post cut out of his plains acreage. Hall said he passed some of the original farms and the water tanks by the famed four-family wells appeared to be the same today.

Hall now lives in Oklahoma. He was enroute from San Antonio to Hot Springs, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gill and A. G. Proctor of Roswell, N. M., spent Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hoskins. Mrs. Mandy Proctor returned home with the visitors after spending a month with the Hoskins family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Peddy and Buddy Martin visited in Big Spring with the Peddy's son-in-law and daughter, the A. A. Porters.

More than 2000 Farmers and Ranchers To Attend Convention in Oklahoma City

More than 2,000 farmers and ranchers will converge on Oklahoma City Feb. 20 for a three-day conference devoted to the one interest common to all of them—conservation of the nation's soil and water resources.

The occasion is the annual convention of the National Association of Soil Conservation districts, expected to attract the elected leaders of soil conservation districts in all parts of the nation and from its territories.

Oklahoma City's central location, increasing interest in soil conservation, and the key spot occupied by agriculture in the nation's defense picture are factors which make Walter S. Davis, Jr., association president, confident that attendance at this year's meeting will top 1949's Atlanta convention figure of 1,500 by at least 500 persons.

Davis, South Texas cattle rancher, and other association officers have arranged a varied and comprehensive program which includes speeches by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan on the convention's opening day, and Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, on February 22.

The program also includes meetings devoted to regional soil and water problems, panel discussion by nationally recognized conservationists, presentation of achievement awards, election of new officers and directors, and a full round of entertainment for delegates and their wives.

The work of soil conservation districts in developing a more dependable wartime agriculture, the speeding up of the job of protecting and improving the nation's productive land, and water conservation and river basin development—these are among the problems to be discussed by the convention delegates.

Commented President Davis, "I am counting on every delegate to roll up his sleeves and help us plan working policies. With the present international situation, these policies will help gain recognition of soil conservation districts and their program as one of the most important elements of our long range national planning."

Visitors interested in agricultural flood control may see an outstanding example of this work on the Washita River watershed in Oklahoma. Many thousands of acres of Washita River bottomland that were unprofitable are now turning in a profit as the result of the protection they are getting. And in the other aspects of soil and water conservation, Oklahoma offers the visitors a splendid chance to see the effectiveness of many other coordinated practices, which keep soil in place and provide for continuing soil improvement.

Two Post Dealers Preview Fashions

Two fashion buyers from Post Previewed the latest 1951 spring and summer fashions this week in Dallas.
 Some 5,000 dealers from 17 states and two foreign countries packed all Dallas hotels to capacity for the American Fashion Association's advance market.
 Attending from Post were Miss Maxine Durrett, Maxine's Fashions; and Mrs. Alice Parsons, Parson's Dress Shop.
 The main style show — featuring Dallas models — lasted two hours in the Crystal Ballroom of the Baker Hotel. Models paraded the latest fashions across specially built, 200 - foot runways. Merchants got up early, at 7:30 a. m. for the show, which followed a "Hollywood" breakfast honoring visiting fashion dealers.
 Besides the style show, 412 separate displays were set up in the lobbies, parlors, and show-rooms of three Dallas hotels. Henry W. Stanley, manager of the association said 1,000 new lines were presented. Merchants could see the fashions first-hand from January 21-25.

Acrobat Discovers Lineman's Job Hard

ALHAMBRA, Calif., Jan. 24 (AP)—Bill Brick, a former aerial acrobat, finds a lineman's job scary. Before the war Bill was a member of a traveling show and his specialty was a gymnastic act atop a 120 foot pole. He thought climbing telephone poles would be a cinch after that, but when he found he needed both hands for working and had to depend for safety only on a safety belt, he was terrified. His former self-confidence was based on hand to hand contact with his support.

Mrs. John Wallace visited her son, Harold, and his family in Lorenzo this weekend.

Right Under Our Nose!

Sometime back, we got word from the Governor, asking if we wanted to use the State Fire Inspection Team—a group of experts they send around to communities to inspect public buildings.

We sent a letter saying: "Okay! Give us the once-over!" They came down, all right—last week.

After the inspection, we got their report. Came out pretty well, all told. Town Hall and the School were O.K. Post Office just needed more sandbuckets. In fact, everything got a clean bill of health, except—the Fire Station!

From where I sit, we volunteer firemen had just been too blamed busy keeping everyone else on the ball—and not realizing our own firehouse was not up to snuff. Like the man who worries so much about his neighbors—about whether they work hard enough, about whether they can really afford their new car, about their enjoying a temperate glass of beer—that he forgets to take a good critical look at himself now and then.
