REPORT GIVEN TO CONGRESS IN PROBE

UNFOLD STORY TODAY AS AN ANSWER TO BOARD CRITICS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The farm board's story—a two-year governmental adventure in assisting the American farmer—was unfolded today in its second annual report to congress.

Given out through the senate agricultural committee which summoned Chairman Stone for an accounting, the report painstakingly described the spectacular operations in wheat and cotton markets and liberal loans to cooperatives—objects of fire from sharp-shooting critics.

Wheat Still Held

In its wholesale price stabilization purchases, the grain stabilization corporation bought 328,641,052 bushels of wheat at a cost of $270,204,503. On November 1 it still had 189,656,187 bushels.

The cotton stabilization corporation took 1,319,809 bales off the market at a cost of $107,533,246. It now holds 1,310,789 bales.

Since these purchases were made, commodity values have declined sharply, but the board did not estimate its ultimate loss. This, it said, must be reckoned when final sales are made. The only determined loss set forth is $789,863 incurred by the farmers' national grain corporation, a central cooperative, in accumulating grain for drought relief.

"Many groups," the board observed, "want stabilization corporations always to buy and never to sell. That is asking the impossible. Stabilization operations cannot maintain prices continuously. So long as surpluses continue to pile up, artificial measures can only temporarily offset their effects."

Higher Prices Cited

Against possible losses, however, the board set increased returns to farmers in higher prices through stabilization and general benefits to business and banks by staving off disastrous shocks from a widespread collapse of agriculture.

But the development of cooperative marketing, the board said, is its important long-time undertaking. This program it contended, is sound and "the best approach yet offered to bring about permanent

WHITE HOUSE UNDER GUARD AGAINST REDS

COMMUNISTS PLAN TO PICKET NATIONAL CAPITOL TODAY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—White House and national capital police established an extra guard today upon receiving reports that communists intended to picket the executive mansion.

Metropolitan Park police officials went to the White House to seek instructions how the paraders should be handled, if plans to picket the executive mansion matured.

They were told that if the communist group violated any law, such as parading with banners without a license, they should be arrested after first being warned. The police commander said he sought specific instructions because, during a past communist demonstration, those arrested had been ordered released by the presidents.

Four Negroes Held For Turkey Thefts

Four negroes are in city jail as suspects in theft of eight turkeys from the Lubbock county side of a farm occupied by W. T. Carter about 16 miles east of here. The four negroes said they stole the fowls early this morning to obtain money to return to East Texas, the sheriff's department reported.

The negroes, against whom theft charges were to be filed this afternoon, took the turkeys to a local produce house, the manager of which suspected the fowls had been stolen and notified the sheriff's office. A policeman arrested three of the suspects here and the policeman and a deputy sheriff arrested the other negro at his home near the Lubbock-Crosby county line.

The turkeys were recovered, police reported.

Laredo Youth Held For Death Of Girl

LAREDO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Ollie Carter, 20-year-old Laredo drug store clerk, was held without bond today on a charge of murder in the slaying of Miss Mary Ellis, 20.

Carter was given a preliminary hearing yesterday and remanded to jail without bond to await action of the grand jury.

Miss Ellis was shot and killed on a highway four miles south of Laredo Sunday night.

Carter told officers they were sitting in the rear seat of the parked machine when an unidentified person approached, firing through a rear side window. A bullet struck the woman in the neck.

Moonlight Airplane Flight Kills Two

LATROBE, Pa., Nov. 24 (AP)—A moonlight airplane flight resulted in the death of two men and the serious injury of another here early today when the ship, being landed by Pilot Lou Strickler, 18, ran into the group at the Latrobe airport.

Robert Pescatore, 24, Latrobe, and Phillip Duffy, 23, were killed and Allen Feather, 21, also of Latrobe, suffered a broken back and a fractured skull.

The men were "taking turns" riding with Strickler, police said. The airport has only minor lighting facilities and Strickler, landing by the light of the moon and the headlights of several automobiles, failed to see the men in the path of the plane.

Hot Springs Seeks To Out-Reno Reno

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 24. (AP)—This resort now is out definitely to try to topple Reno's quick divorce supremacy.

The Arkansas supreme court's decision yesterday, ending an attempt to repeal the state's new 90-day divorce law, has again set in motion plans to develop Hot Springs into a new divorce center.

Against Reno's six-week advantage in residence requirements, Hot Springs will match its proximity to the large centers of population and the drawing power of its famed thermal waters.

MEXICAN HELD FOR ROBBERY

NEGRO WOMAN FACES CHARGES OF THEFT FROM PERSON

Facing a burglary charge as a result of theft of more than $830 worth of rings and watches from a display window at Helber's Jewelry store, 1113 Broadway, early Sunday, Antonio Martinez, 26, of Lubbock still was in city jail this morning. Bond had not been fixed by Justice Peace H. K. Porter.

Emily Hawkins, a Lubbock negro woman, was held in lieu of $1,000 bond, fixed by Justice Porter following her examining trial Monday when she was bound over to a grand jury for theft from the person. A man alleged she took $5 from him.

Hugh Jordan, a Lubbock negro, was free in bail of $350, posted late Monday following his arrest Saturday by a policeman who alleged the negro was carrying a 38 caliber pistol and a shotgun. Jordan was charged in county court with carrying a pistol.

Another Lubbock negro woman, Lola Hudson, was released from city jail Monday night on a $50 bond. She was arrested for shoplifting at a local store.

A 34-year-old negro, Charles Malone, of Port was dismissed late Monday from Lubbock sanitarium, where he was received early Sunday morning with a knife still fast in his cheek bone. It was removed. A negro woman was reported to have wielded the knife.

Lubbock police last night arrested nine men for gambling with dice.

Theft of a gladstone bag containing men's apparel, some toilet articles, and 10 pounds of candy from E. D. Royce's automobile Monday night at 1916-B Tenth street was reported to police.

Dinner Is Planned By Salvation Army

Thanksgiving dinner for all needy families of Lubbock will be served at the Salvation Army hall Thursday, Capt. W. T. Wilson announced today.

"We want to feed all those who come along and we're not going to allow anybody to go off hungry," Capt. Wilson said.

A special Thanksgiving program will be held at 7:30 Thursday night.

H. W. Moore favored the group with a vocal solo.

SUIT IS FILED FOR DAMAGES

ILLEGAL DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY CLAIMED IN PETITION HERE

Charging his property was disposed of illegally to satisfy a debt and that his credit was impaired unfairly, J. C. Eastman filed suit against B. Sherrod and P. L. Sherrod in 99th district court this morning for damages totaling $24,512.50. Ten thousand dollars of the amount is asked for exemplary damages.

In his petition, Eastman says the Sherrods brought suit for recovery of a debt in county court, July 20, and a writ of attachment was issued for merchandise valued at $2,712.50, according to Eastman.

Alleging the property would depreciate until its value would be destroyed if held till final determination of the suit, the Sherrods had the goods sold after a day's notice of sale and obtained an injunction preventing Eastman from entering his business quarters, the latter alleges. Because of the short notice of sale, not enough prospective buyers were present for the property to bring a reasonable price, according to Eastman.

Eastman asks $2,712.50 as the amount lost by being "forced out of business," $10,000 for impairment of credit and damage to feelings, and $1,800 for loss of profits on property disposed of at the sale.

Salvation Army To Continue Campaign

The campaign for funds for the Salvation Army is still being carried on in Lubbock and will be continued until enough money is raised to care for the city's needy this winter, Capt. W. T. Wilson said today.

Capt. Wilson said donations will be received at any time at the Army hall, 14th street and Texas Avenue.

VOTERS MARCH TO POLLS IN ELECTION

WURZBACH SUCCESSOR TO BE CHOSEN IN VOTING TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 24—Democrats were confident today a congressman would be elected who would vote for John N. Garner of Uvalde for speaker of the house as electors of the fourteenth congressional district went to the ballot boxes to vote for a successor to Harry M. Wurzbach, Republican, who represented this district since 1920.

Richard M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi and Carl Wright Johnson of San Antonio expected to split the Democratic vote in the 11 counties of the district, which extends from the Kerr county hills to the sea at Corpus Christi. Charles W. Anderson, Republican, hoped to retain the support accorded the late congressman and was confident he would be able to hold enough Democrats who had heretofore supported the Republican together with sufficient support from a united Republican electorate to put him across.

Democrats Confident

Bexar county seemed to be the battleground on which the Democrats depended for a decision. Should Johnson carry this county by a big enough majority, it was conceded that Kleberg who depended on the lower end of the district to carry him to victory, would have to come to Bexar county with a substantial majority. In any event, the Democrats felt they would win, it being merely a matter of Johnson or Kleberg as Democratic victors.

Kleberg, who came up from the range of the great King ranch at

RUSSIA PREPARES TODAY TO RETURN TO NATIONAL DAY OF REST DEC. 1ST

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Nov. 24.—Russia prepared today to return to a national day of rest December 1, by authority of the council of the people's commissars.

The holiday "stagger system" under which industry kept going continuously, Sunday, Monday and every other day, while the "day off" for the workers varied with the individuals' preferences, or the arrangements among trades, is to be abandoned.

Except for co-operative stores, dining halls, transportation and other agencies serving the cultural and living needs of the people, the holiday for everybody will fall every sixth day.

It will not fall on a fixed day of the week, however, and Sunday will be recognised no more than under the present regime.

The sixth, twelfth, eighteenth, twenty-fourth and thirtieth days of the month will be the holidays. Working hours will be reduced, at the same time from 6 1-2 to 6 hours a day.

A gradual change to the longer and uninterrupted week has been in progress in various sessions of the country, particularly in the large industrial centers, since Joseph Stalin's speech last June in which he said a number of faults had been found in the five-day, uninterrupted week.

NORTH PLAINS TOWNS STILL ISOLATED

COMMUNICATIONS CUT OFF AS BLIZZARD BREAKS WIRES

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Nov. 24.—Pampa, White Deer, Canadian and smaller towns to the northeast of Amarillo still were cut off from outside communication today as a result of broken telephone and telegraph wires.

Western Union reported service to Pampa restored shortly before noon, and the Santa Fe railway had repaired one line. The Southwestern Bell Telephone company said it would be unable to restore service to Pampa today, although workmen remained on duty all night.

Find 400 Breaks

Reports from Pampa estimated that more than 400 breaks were found in wires along the Clinton, Oklahoma and Western line of the Santa Fe between Pampa and the Oklahoma boundary.

The Southwest Public Service company, which serves much of the North Plains territory from its big power plant here, said that all towns were getting service today. Officials said permanent repairs would not be completed for several day. They estimated damage at "several thousand dollars."

Telephone and power company officials said the damage was the heaviest ever resulting from a Panhandle blizzard.

WINTER AND SUMMER CONTINUE IN NATION

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 24. (AP)—Some high points of weather history were in the making today as a continental conflict between the elements of winter and summer continued.

New high November temperatures in the east, abnormal rainfall in the middlewest and snow and freezing temperatures in much of the west were aspects of the approach of Thanksgiving day.

Freeze Threatens

Flowers bloomed at Cleveland and a second crop of fruit was being harvested thereabouts. Smudge pots burned in the citrus belt of California as orchardists met the hazard of freezing temperatures.

Mary Snow, 13-year-old Carter county, Mont., student, perished in a blizzard while riding her horse home from school. Children played under the rays of a warm sun at the municipal beach of Rochester, N. Y., yesterday.

The middlewest still was disput-

GRID TICKETS GOING FAST

LESS THAN HUNDRED UNSOLD TODAY AS LATE RUSH MADE

Less than a hundred tickets to the Lubbock-Amarillo High school Thanksgiving day football classic remained unsold at the Hilton hotel drug store, downtown ticket headquarters, and only a scattering of student pasteboards was believed left here.

J. O. Smith, supervisor of ticket sales at the drug store, said at least 115 tickets had been sold this morning. A total of 289 tickets remained on sale here late Monday and were the only reserved seat permits unsold, E. J. Lowrey, Lubbock High school athletics business manager, said. Tickets not sold today will be returned to Amarillo, he said.

Extra buses will be run from here to Amarillo and back Thanksgiving, operators have indicated.

Four Trains Seen

Whether four proposed trains to three football games would be provided remained uncertain at noon today, Santa Fe railway attaches indicated, although 20 cars had been ordered for a Lubbock-to-Amarillo-and-return trip. Railway agents said two trains probably would be made up for Westerner fans.

Not enough tickets had been sold to assure either a train to the Texas Technological college-Simmons university game at Abilene or a train from Floydada to Lamesa for the Whirlwind - Tornado contest. Whether the respective trains would be possible would be determined Wednesday morning and late tonight, railway attaches said.

Convict Wounded In Break For Liberty

HOUSTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—J. B. Jennings, 32-year-old convict, was wounded critically late yesterday in a break for liberty from Retrieve, a prison farm near Angleton.

Lee Simmons, prison system manager, reported Jennings was shot once with a shotgun as he broke from a work gang.

The attempted escape was made before Captain Kelly, farm manager, and C. A. Umphrey, guard. Simmons said Humphrey fired the shot.

FATAL PARTY

Found dead in a sailor's apartment in San Pedro, Cal., Lida Buniowski, beautiful 18-year-old high school girl and star swimmer, is thought by police to have been the victim of a liquor tragedy. Her mother, Mrs. John A. Buniowski, prominent clubwoman, says that Lida was regarded as "the most popular girl in town."

SENATE SUGAR LOBBY PROBE NEARS END

RECORD SHOWS PROFIT MADE BY SENATORS ON SUGAR STOCK

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The senate's sugar lobby probe moved toward conclusion today with the record containing the one definite finding that two senators once made paper profits on sugar stock deals which did not cost them a cent.

The senators were Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, and Davis of Pennsylvania, secretary of labor at the time of the transactions. The deals occurred in 1928. Both put up interest free personal notes which never were discounted. Both made paper profits which were paid off in stock approximately $8,000 each. Testimony did not show that either cashed in on these holdings in a company which subsequently went into receivership.

That point was one for possible inquiry today at the meeting with which the senate lobby committee expected to close the matter. The inquiry was the upshot of charges that an unnamed senator had received $100,000 for lobbying for the sugar interests.

Comment by the principals on yesterday's findings was that the transactions represented private deals, unconnected with lobbying, tariffs or any other legislation.

Senator Watson said:

"The score is nothing to nothing in this game. The stock is of no account, or worth nothing, and neither is my note."

Hiccoughing Days Apparently Ended

MANSFIELD, Ohio, Nov. 24 (AP)—Ira A. King's days of hiccoughing apparently were over for good today.

At Mansfield general hospital it was reported King had not hiccoughed since a few hours after an operation was performed Sunday to remove his gall bladder. His condition remained "good."

Doctors said King, who before his operation had hiccoughed 14 successive days, apparently was on the road to recovery. His only troubles will be some limitation of diet and the problem of keeping his promise to answer each of the more than 6,000 persons who sent him their suggestions for cures.

Assault Trial At Amarillo Is Begun

AMARILLO, Nov. 24. (AP)—A special venire of 100 reported today for the trial of H. R. DeLong and Jack Behr, charged jointly with criminal assault of a 17-year-old girl on a freight train coming into Amarillo November 12.

A defense motion for continuance was being argued this morning. The girl said she was returning from Arizona to her husband somewhere in Texas.

BATTLE WAGED TODAY ON A NEW FRONT

HEAVY CASUALTIES IN ENGAGEMENT; CHINA HAS NEW PROPOSAL

(By The Associated Press)

Mukden - Japanese and Chinese forces engaged in battle southwest of Mukden along the Peiping-Mukden railway. It was not known whether the Chinese were regular troops or part of a disbanded army whose members the Japanese identify as bandits.

TOKYO—Heavy casualties were reported in an engagement at Hisinmintun in which Chinese police came to the assistance of Chinese troops in a flank attack on a Japanese detachment. A bandit force west of the South Manchurian railway was routed by attack from the air.

League Deliberates

PARIS—The League of Nations council continued its deliberations with no apparent progress.

NANKING—The Chinese foreign office announced it had directed its delegate at Paris to present a new proposal demanding effective measures to end aggressive acts, evacuation of Japanese troops, and supervision of their withdrawal by neutral representatives.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 24 (AP)—Fighting began on a new Manchurian front today between Japanese and Chinese forces southwest of Mukden along the Peiping-Mukden railway.

One company of Japanese infantry and one comparly of engineers, stationed at Chuliuho, was making a practice march when they clashed with a Chinese detachment of uncertain size and identity at Kautashan four miles northwest of their encampment.

news of the beginning of the conflict was telegraphed to the Japanese headquarters here this morning but early this afternoon no further reports had come through and it was surmised hard fighting was in progress.

An official communique said it was uncertain whether the Chinese belonged to the so-called self-defense corps which is scattered throughout southwest Manchuria or were the remnants of former regular units.

Although the Japanese were not officially admitting anxiety, there were strong indications that the

AGREE TO CUT ACREAGES

SOUTHERN STATES IN MOVEMENT AGAINST OVER-PRODUCTION

(By The Associated Press)

JACKSON, Miss, Nov. 24—Southern states lined up today in a concerted movement against excessive cotton plantings in 1932 and 1933 with increased prices and additional help from the federal government as incentives to speed the work before January 20.

Ten of the eleven states represented at yesterday's southside conference called by Governors Theo G. Bilbo of Mississippi and Harvey Parnell of Arkansas adopted a resolution calling for southwide passage of uniform laws embodying a 50 per cent acreage reduction for the two years.

Of the states represented, only four have passed reduction laws, while a fifth—Louisiana—has gone on record as favoring a complete cotton holiday in 1932. The plan endorsed at the conference, while calling for a 100 per cent acreage reduction, scatters the reduction ove ra two-year period.

Those states which have not taken action through legislative channels to restrict cotton acreage were called upon by the conference to do so before January 20. The governors of the states were urged to convene their legislatures at once to take steps outlined by the conference here.

Body Of Nurse To Be Returned Here

The body of Miss Edna Williams, about 27, a former resident here who was killed in an automobile wreck in St. Paul, Minn., Sunday, will be sent to Lubbock for burial, according to word received here. No funeral arrangements have been made but it is probable that the body will arrive Tuesday.

Little is known of how Miss Williams met death. Meager messages received here stated that she and another nurse were riding in a car when the accident occurred. She had been nursing in a St. Paul hospital since the first of the year.

Miss Williams, who was an orphan, was a graduate of Scott and White sanitarium at Temple and had spent several years in Lubbock serving at Lubbock sanitarium and at the West Texas hospital.

First Woman Editor In Country Gave Us Thanksgiving

A Philadelphia Equestrienne . . . note her flying skirts

Sarah Josepha Hale . . . a New England housewife and editor.

"Will He Never Come?" . . . a Godey print in the fifties.

By NEA Service

If it had not been for years of tireless, public-spirited effort on the part of a woman, the nation today might not have a Thanksgiving Day.

The first President to issue the proclamation with which we are all now so familiar, was George Washington himself, in 1789. It was 74 years before another President proclaimed the day. The second was Lincoln. In 1863 his proclamation established the last Thursday in November for national observance.

But the link between the two was Sarah Josepha Hale, one of the most remarkable women America has ever produced, and the country's first woman editor.

Molded Nation's Feminine Opinions

Mrs. Hale was for 50 years the editor of Godey's Lady Book, now known to the younger generation for its colored fashion plates, but in its own time as an organ of public opinion and progress so effective that its achievements have never yet been eclipsed.

The reason for that was its editor. Mrs. Hale, who gave us a national day for Thanksgiving. From 1846, for seventeen years, until President Lincoln's famous Proclamation, she campaigned seriously and steadily in the magazine she edited, for a Day of Giving Thanks which should draw the people of the different states together in a unity of feeling.

The recipes and menus she suggested for Thanksgiving Day also suggest stronger digestions than modern life now permits. "Oysters Etiquette"—could anything have been more fitting for the Victorian century? "Lafayette Ducks with Snow-Balls" (the latter made from boiled rice, raisins and coffee A sugar); "Soodle" (a fish delicacy); "ham soaked in cider three weeks, stuffed with sweet potatoes and baked in maple syrup"; "Indian Pudding and Frumety Sauce"—the list went on to epicurean length. The lady editor knew good food and how to prepare it. She had been a competent New England housewife before she was an editor.

Godey Fashions Resemble Those

The dramatic details of her campaign, ending so successfully, are told in the first biography of her life and the new account of her times, written by Ruth E. Finley, titled "The Lady of Godey's—Sarah Josepha Hale."

The fashions for which Godey's was so famous in its own times and still is in ours, are almost the fashions of today. Take out the crinoline and the hoops, and almost any evening dress of that period would be a high fashion for 1931. With day dresses it is different—and with manners, of course. Ladies do not now consider it a mark of ladyhood to refuse to consult a doctor when they are ill, nor is fainting as popular as it once was. But Mrs. Hale campaigned for women doctors and for physical training for women, too, not to mention equal education for women and many of the other things we now take for granted.

Santa Suggests—

A NEW TOLE TRAY

What can you give Mrs. Bostwick for Christmas this year, that charming neighbor who stands ready to help you whenever anything goes wrong?

If she is in the habit of entertaining why not give her something decorative that would delight her guests? The new hand-painted tole trays answer this problem handsomely.

One of these is a gift de luxe, done in luxurious green and gold flower design with a touch of black and pink for contrast. They come all sizes but while you are buying, the size for six cups and saucers or eight glasses is an excellent choice.

New Plan by Makers of Vicks Cuts the High Cost of Colds

Saves Money, Time And Health By Better "Control-of-Colds"

Test of Plan Offered by Lubbock Druggists on Unlimited Guarantee of Satisfactory Results.

The high costs of colds are more than ever a problem this winter. In every family, therefore, it is news of peculiar interest that the makers of Vicks VapoRub have developed a Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home. A Plan to reduce the number, the severity and the costs of colds.

A New Vick Product

The Plan is made possible by a new preparation — Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. Based on a new idea in "preventing" colds, it is a companion to Vicks VapoRub, the modern external way of "treating" colds. The two aid and supplement each other. Together, they make possible further reduction of the burdensome family "Colds-Tax."

Trial Offer to VapoRub Users

Use of this Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in your home will mean fewer colds—less severe colds. It will mean cutting your high costs of cold troubles—a saving in money, loss of time and health. To say nothing of the discomforts of colds and the severe ills that often follow colds. Test the Plan for yourself—without risk. Get a bottle of the new Vicks Drops today. Use it with Vicks VapoRub as directed. Unless results are entirely satisfactory, your druggist will refund the price of the Nose Drops—and the test will have cost you nothing.

Here, briefly, is the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds."

1.—Before a Cold Starts

Use Vicks Nose Drops—a few drops up each nostril—whenever you have been exposed to anything which your own experience tells you is apt to give you a cold—contact with others having fresh colds, crowds, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on the Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold—inhaling smoke, dust, gasses—excesses in living, such as over-eating, smoking or drinking—after a hard day, when you are over-tired.

In short, don't wait for that stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—Natures' warning that you are actually "catching cold."

2.—After a Cold Starts

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub—now available in white "stainless" form, if you prefer. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising may be inhaled freely all night long. During the day, use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours—any time, any place. (If there is a cough, you will like the new Vick Cough Drops, actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.)

This gives you full 24-hour treatment and without the risks of too much internal "dosing" which so often upsets the digestion—especially of children—and lowers body resistance to disease at a time when it is most needed. Don't "dose" colds except on your doctor's advice.—Adv.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

LEARNING TO WALK

WALKING is a kind of gradual evolution from the first day of the child's life.

Press against the soles of the brand new infant's feet and he will push as he straightens out his legs. All mothers must have observed the child long before standing alone, when taken up, give a kind of upward spring when his soles were flat on the bed or floor, also that when put down, if his soles touched the bed, he would straighten his limbs firmly rather than relax them. So the mother learned to keep his feet from a standing position.

My oldest child, whom I carefully observed, developed from the first day until walking began on the 357th day, in the following mode and order. Rolled from side to back, rolled from back to either side, sat alone, went through all sorts of good calisthenics, such as lifting one or both feet from the hips while lying on his back, rose from reclining to sitting position without the aid of his hands while his feet were held down, roled over entirely traveling several feet in 15 minutes, got up on elbows, later on knees and elbows clearing chest and stomach (feet failing to co-ordinate with arm movements), moved on the floor about his shoulders as a pivot, feet being the propellers. Then he pulled himself to a sitting position, pulled himself to a standing position while on his back, pushed himself forward by straightening his legs when bent at the knee with soles flat on the floor, made alternate movements of knees and feet (309th day) then on hands and feet, i. e., walking on all fours (313th day). Whereupon he crept with an object in one hand, crept pushing large objects, as chairs, about the room, standing by furniture holding with both hands later so standing and holding by only one hand, manipulating the object in the other, getting down from standing position while holding with both hands. Then, by only one hand, walking by holding to furniture, walking while leaning against wall, later rounding a convex corner, getting down while employing both hands with a toy, walking three steps from a support to another support, walking from support out into the open room, rising to a standing position without support. (Care exercised that no one aided the child in his learning to walk.)

In learning to walk his arms did not swing as do adults, but this coordination came gradually. He walked at first as if on stilts, therefore he easily tripped over small objects. Slowly he learned to keep his balance while bending lifted leg at the knee, carrying objects while walking, running, jumping, kicking objects, jumping from boxes a few inches then higher and higher, walking backwards, learning to sit on a cushion or a box. This last named accomplishment is a big one which comes after many trials and failures.

Of course children differ widely in development of walking and there are all sorts of ways by which babies creep. Some virtually never creep at all. Nevertheless I think it is safe to say that all normal children pass through many of the stages I have described.

If you would help the child most to walk don't help at all. Let him alone. Most hard falls little children get incident to walking come because they have too much interference and presumed assistance by adults. The child who learn alone falls with ease and grace. He doesn't have far to fall and he learns to bend his knees on falling and to protect himself by his hands. The trouble with us parents is we are so impatient and we want to show our friends how early our child can walk, how smart he is. I suppose we are all like that unless we watch ourselves.

Take that dirty ring out of your bathtub!

After a bath, hard water leaves a dirty ring. The soap combines with the hardness and makes scum. The scum collects dirt. The dirty ring sticks to the sides of the bathtub. It has to be scrubbed off.

But soften the water with Mel'o and there isn't any dirty ring on your bathtub. Mel'o makes water delightfully soft and a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. It saves from ⅓ to ½ the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap more effective. Use Mel'o wherever you want soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

Positive Proof of FORD ECONOMY

City of Detroit purchases 137 new Ford cars
Hundreds now in use prove low cost of operation

THESE 137 new Ford cars represent one of the largest deliveries ever made to a municipality at one time.

21 radio-equipped Ford scout cars were traded in on this purchase. They had been operated day and night for two years in heavy traffic and all kinds of weather.

Their individual records ranged from 78,434 miles to 143,723 miles with a grand total of 2,283,097 miles. The operating cost of the 21 cars was 2.284 cents a mile — less than 2 1/3 cents. This cost included all fuel, oil, tires, repairs and every other item except depreciation and insurance.

Of 577 Ford cars in Detroit City service, the 300 in the Police Department traveled a total of 6,591,937 miles during the past fiscal year, at an average cost of 2.9 cents a mile.

Many claims have been made on operating costs, but here in the carefully kept motor car records of the City of Detroit is positive proof of Ford economy.

In the paragraphs above, it is seen that 21 Ford scout cars averaged less than 2 1/3 cents a mile and 300 Ford cars in all branches of Detroit police work averaged 2.9 cents a mile!

Day and night, twenty-four hours a day, these Ford cars are in operation. Few branches of transportation demand such grueling service. The records show that low fuel and oil consumption is but one of the Ford's many economies. Ford materials, simplicity of design and accuracy in manufacturing provide unusual strength, stamina and freedom from replacements and repairs.

The individual car buyer as well as the purchasing department of a city or a business cannot afford to ignore the proved economy of the Ford car.

RENO ATTORNEYS GRIEVED BY NEW ARKANSAS RULING

RENO, Nev., Nov. 24 (AP)—Action of the Arkansas supreme court Monday in declaring the state's 90-day divorce law legal came rather hard for Reno's 130 divorce lawyers, who generally admitted their lucrative business would suffer as a result. Since Nevada's six-weeks residence law went into effect last May they have taken in nearly half a million dollars in fees.

Mayor E. F. Roberts, who as a practicing attorney had led more than 3,000 couples through the divorce mill, shook his head and sighed when he heard the news.

He was a leading advocate of the movement in this state to shorten the residence requirement, and at one time said that he was even in favor of granting divorce after a residence of only one day.

Lieutenant Governor Morley Griswold, who also practices law in Reno, was another who said he feared the consequences of Arkansas' entrance into competition with Nevada.

"There's no question in my mind but what this is going to hurt us and hurt us badly," he said.

Five Light Testing Stations Are Named

County Commissioners court Monday designated five automobile service stations and garages as light-testing stations, Judge E. L. Pitts said.

The stations were Phillips Sixty-Six, at 802 Avenue H; P. T. West at 1005-09 Avenue J; Bill McCarty, 316 Broadway; T. M. Deatheridge, 1012 Thirteenth; and Scott Service, 919 Broadway.

Accounts were approved by the commissioners Monday.

RECORD RE-NAMED EDITORS' CHIEF

GALVESTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—James R. Record of Fort Worth was reelected president of the Texas Associated Press and Managing Editors association at its closing session Monday. The group voted to meet next year at Bryan. Allen Merriam of Dallas was reelected secretary.

How the Associated Press has improved its news and other services was told by Charles E. Honce of New York, executive news editor of the Associated Press. Fred Dye of Dallas, state Associated Press executive, was a speaker.

The association voted to compile a volume concerning interpretation of libel laws. Closing features were a luncheon and a boat ride over Galveston harbor. The state medical college was inspected as well as the new United States marine hospital, opened last week.

ROOSEVELT FAVORED

MANSFIELD, O., Nov. 24 (AP)—U. S. Senator C. C. Dill of Washington, predicted today that 90 per cent of the delegates to the Democratic national convention from Washington and states of the far west, will support Governor Franklin Roosevelt of New York for the nomination.

Open Twelve Miles Of Lubbock Paving

With the opening of state highway No. 9 through from Lubbock to the Lynn county line, 12 miles of paved road was added to Lubbock county's system.

Barriers were removed Saturday at 5 p. m. it was announced Monday at the state highway department. Some traffic had been using the slab to within a couple of miles of Lubbock and the detour then used.

Painting of the center stripe and the building of the shoulders remains to be finished. The contractors, Womack and Herring, will complete this work within a short time.

Paving Contract Will Be Awarded

Letting of a contract for paving of about 13 miles of highway in Crosby county with caliche and asphalt is expected to be let by the state highway department December 12 at Austin.

Owing to a heavy rush of business, plans for the paving were not checked in Austin in time for the November-December letting announced for November 30-December 2. The plans had been sent from Lubbock for final checking.

The state highway commission has decided to have a supplemental letting of bids on December 12. While no official announcement has been received here concerning the Crosby county bid it is believed that it will be included in the special letting.

The part to be paved included from the Dickens county line west to the center of Blanco canyon and then from the top of the caprock west to the west line of the road district, between Crosbyton and Ralls.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

Course we're going to do all we can in the way of preparation, and we're going to give 'em a battle, but we're countin' a whole lot on Prexy Anderson to help us hold the Simmons team to a close score or maybe beat 'em. Prexy has helped us before and we're counting on him again. If it had not been for your worthy contemporary, I doubt if we couldnv beat A. C. C. and McMurry last year and A. C. C. this year. We sure appreciate Prexy's help, and if he's in the same mood Thursday he was last Saturday we might beat Simmons."

It was Pete Cawthon talking. We were huddled around his desk—Dutchey Smith and Del Morgan were there—and we were talking about the Simmons-Tech game on Thanksgiving and Tech's chances to win. "You see," Pete continues, "Last year Prexy came out and said that Tech was the veritable doormat for Abilene's college teams. When they couldn't ship nobody else they could always beat Tech. They were certain of at least one victory. Well, it leaked out here like things like that usually leak out, and the boys on our club got hold of it. And you know what happened. We beat McMurry, 10 to 3, and Prexy hinted that it was an accident. Well, a few week's later the A. C. C. team came up and we poured it on 'em about half a hundred to 6 or something.

Three more gold footballs for the Matadors were pledged this morning, and by Texas Tech campus organizations, too. Ralph Penney, president of the Wranglers Club, called to say the club would buy a ball. The Los Camaradas club will buy one, and the Toreador, student paper, through the efforts of Editor Marshall Formby, Ed Young, Lyle Holmes and Tom Abraham, have pledged a gold ball.

"Then this year comes up. We're doped to lose to A. C. C. Prexy picks us to lose, 20 to 6. We hear of it, and maybe it didn't do anything toward our winning, but we beats A. C. C. pretty bad again. Now take last Saturday. Simmons was due to beat Howard Payne something terrible, and just before the game Prexy hinted that he would give 28 or 21 points. He was cocksure. So were the Cowboys. Well, sir, those Cowhands are wondering yet just what happened. They took a terrible beating, 20 to 0.

"Yep, we're counting on Prexy again. If he comes through this week, he's one of the best players on our team. Why, we're going to give him a letter if he helps us beat Simmons."

Yeah, and maybe he'll get a gold football, too, which brings up the subject of gold footballs. We still need a few. That is, a few pledges. About half a dozen more. Call Spencer Wells or this department, if you can catch us, and we'll put you down.

It was mighty fine to see old Debs Barnett back in uniform yesterday. His sore foot is still pretty sore and he will not be back to his normal self Thursday at Amarillo. But he looks pretty good. Has lost a little weight since he's been on a vacation but in another day or so he'll be able to pass and run right fair. He was heaving passes yesterday and it begins to look more and more like Lubbock will use an aerial game Thanksgiving. It's o. k. for us to say so, because a team that doesn't have a pass defense just doesn't have a pass defense and that's all there is to it. Amarillo has a good running attack; the Sandies' backfield is a lot faster than the Westerner backfield. We don't believe Amarillo's line is better than the Lubbock forward wall. But Amarillo has a lot of reserve strength and that may count for a lot in the Thanksgiving Day game. Tomorrow afternoon's Journal will be our last one before the game. We might even hazard a prediction.

A football game is not the only thing scheduled for Amarillo next Thursday. The annual convention of the Texas State Teachers' association will open there on Turkey Day and the outcome is to be watched with considerable interest. The school heads and teachers are going to introduce some pretty drastic measures in connection with high school athletics, and the old rule book may take on a bit of dressing. It's so full now that it's hard to manage and much more loading without some unloading will be hard to take.

Among the things to come up before the teachers' convention are several resolutions already approved by the state executive committee. In fact, a lot of cut and dried stuff will "come up for action." Modified approval is given to the resolutions to high school athletic contests, the resolution citing them "as having wholesome educational values when conducted by school authorities." Certain practices have been condemned by the state executive committee as being "contrary to the purpose for which our public free schools are maintained and other practices as "violative of high ethical ideals and moral standards."

Among the practices that drew the fire of the executive committee were the dismissal of school to permit students to witness athletic contests; charging of excessive fees by football officials; proselyting and subsidization of high school athletes and willful failure of athletes in school work to prolong their athletic participation. Recommendation probably will be made at the Amarillo meet that school boards limit the time devoted to athletics and that they order all games played on Saturdays and holidays. Adoption of the eight-semester rule probably will be advocated to "strengthen high school football standards." The eight semester rule would bar contestants from competition after four years of high school attendance.

And how about this business of the Westerners having to change jersies for the game at Amarillo? Where we were brought up the home team always changed jersies in case of color conflict. We have been told that Captain Crawford Gold and his mates will blossom forth in brightly hued blue jersies. How about that traditional Wave of

LUBBOCK TEAM TO BE CLAD IN BLUE

GRIDSTERS TO LEAVE TOMORROW FOR SITE OF TURKEY BATTLE

The Gold and Black Westerners of Lubbock High school will be blue and the Amarillo Golden Sandstorms will be white when the teams meet on Butler Field Thursday afternoon in District One's most important football clash of the season.

Both teams ordinarily use gold-colored jersies on the playing field. Each team and each coach desired not to change and after considerable wrangling they both changed. Amarillo will wear white jersies and Lubbock will wear blue.

Practice With Picadors

The Westerners put in a hard day yesterday, scrimmaging a bunch of Del Morgan's Tech Picador gridsters. The business will be repeated today and the Westerners will leave town tomorow, going all the way to Amarillo instead of stopping en route to workout.

Gene "Debs" Barnett, regular fullback who has been out for two weeks with a broken foot, was back in uniform yesterday and looking fairly good. He was slowed considerable due to the slow healing of his injury, which kept him on crutches for more than a week, but his old passing arm is apparently on the go again.

Knee Still Bad

Bill Davidson's sore knee shows improvement one day and looks worse the next. It is not likely that it will be well enough for him to play much in the Amarillo game. Gene Barnett may not play much either, and if Stovall has to be used in the backfield the club will not be up to original strength. Stovall has not the weight nor the experience to make him a dangerous threat against Amarillo.

Coaches Chapman and Huffman are fighting the demon Overconfidence this week. The Westerners are beginning to show a little strut this week and such is considered extremely dangerous by the coaches. Coach Chapman blames the overconfidence trend on the curbstone coaches, gamblers and drug store cowhands who "are so certain Lubbock will win but who have not enough judgment to find the way to the ball park."

Northwestern Puts Three On All-Conference Eleven

HERE'S SELECTION FOR FIRST AND SECOND ALL-WESTERN GRID TEAMS

CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (AP)—The first and second all-Western conference teams as selected for the Associated Press by coaches, officials and critics for 1931:

First Team	POS	Second Team
Moss, Purdue	L E	Robinson, Minnesota
Riley, Northwestern	L T	Bell, Ohio State
Munn, Minnesota	L G	Zeller, Indiana
Morrison, Michigan	C	Miller, Purdue
Kabat, Wisconsin	R G	Evans, Northwestern
Marvin, Northwestern	R T	Boland, Minnesota
Williamson, Michigan	R E	Hewitt, Michigan
Cramer, Ohio State	Q B	Newman, Michigan
Rentner, Northwestern	L H	Fay, Michigan
Hinchman, Ohio State	R H	Hecker, Purdue
Manders, Minnesota	F B	Olson, Northwestern

TWO EACH PLACED BY MINNESOTA, OHIO STATE, MICH.

BY PAUL MICKELSON,
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Northwestern, heir apparent to the Big Ten football throne, landed three of the most famous stars of its great cast on the 1931 all-western conference team as selected today for the Associated Press by coaches, officials and critics.

Michigan, Minnesota and Ohio State ranked second in quantity and class by placing two players each on the honorary eleven while the other two berths went to Purdue and Wisconsin who were represented by two of the greatest linemen in their football history.

While the balloting was close for three positions, the others were honored by clear cut majorities. "Pug" Rentner, Northwestern's great touchdown maker, who was placed at left halfback; Clarence Munn, Minnesota's great guard, and Dallas Marvil, Northwestern's thunderbolt of the line, were unanimous choices.

The team represents one of the biggest and fastest ladies in Big Ten football. The line averages 200½ pounds in weight and six feet in height while the backfield averages 182 pounds and stands 5 feet 10 inches.

Paul Moss, Purdue's celebrated pass receiver, was placed at left end by an almost unanimous vote. Michigan's unorthodox wing ace, Ivan Williamson, was awarded the right end post.

Stories of the defensive feats of Northwestern's two tackles, Marvil and Jack Riley, who were placed at the tackle posts, would almost fill a volume. Gregory Kabat of Wisconsin and Minnesota's "Big" Munn are at the guard posts. Munn, converted from a fullback to a lineman because of his blocking and charging prowess is one mighty cog in Minnesota's surprising machine.

Maynard Morrison, Michigan's 212 pound center won the center position after a close duel of ballots with Captain Charles "Ookie" Miller of Purdue.

Carl Cramer of Ohio State won the quarterback job during his first season of intercollegiate football. Nothing need be said about Rentner who gained 1,200 yards during Northwestern's great campaign. Blocking and great defensive play earned Lewis Hinchman of Ohio State the position as Rentner's running mate. Jack Manders of Minnesota won the fullback post from Ollie Olson of Northwestern by a good margin.

FRANK CARIDEO, FORMER QUARTER AT NOTRE DAME, IS MARRIED ON CAMPUS

SOUTH BEND, Nov. 24 (AP)—Frank Carideo, former University of Notre Dame football star, married Miss Vera Crawley of Columbia, Miss., in the administration building on the Notre Dame campus yesterday.

Coach Noble Kizer of Purdue university, where Carideo now is backfield coach, said the couple presumably went to Chicago but that Carideo planned to return to Lafayette, for today's football practice.

Carideo, a choice for all-American quarterback last year, gave his name as Frank Frederick Carideo and his age 23. Miss Crawley gave her age as 22.

The couple became acquainted last year when Miss Crawley was employed as mail clerk in a hotel here.

FRANK CARIDEO

WEDDING REALIZATION OF DREAM OF CO-ED

COLUMBIA, Miss., Nov. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Frank Carideo of Lafayette, Ind., formerly Miss Vera Crawley of Columbia, Miss., realized the dream of the campus co-ed in marrying Notre Dame's all-American quarterback. For it was the South Mississippi girl's admiration of her husband's gridiron abilities in the fall of 1929 which started the romance climaxed today at South Bend by a wedding ceremony.

In South Bend for a brief visit, friends here today disclosed, Miss Crawley met and immediately liked the former New York youth whose football brainwork is gridiron history. With the blossoming of a romance, the little southern girl extended her stay at South Bend indefinitely in the home of her aunt, and became a confirmed football fan.

Miss Crawley was acclaimed the "most beautiful" blonde at Mississippi Women's college, Hattiesburg, from which she graduated in 1927.

HOPE FORGER DOESN'T TURN TO FOOTBALL

CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Police were hoping today that the unidentified forger they are seeking does not take up football.

So far, he has confined himself to baseball, posing first as "Wild Bill" Hallahan, of the St. Louis Cardinals, next as Billy Herman of the Chicago Cubs, and then as somebody else.

His first appearance was made on the north side as "Wild Bill."

Hotel men, restaurant owners, haberdashers and others welcomed him with open arms, chatted with him about "his" prowess in the last world series—and cashed his checks, which bounced back after he had disappeared. He obtained more than $1,500. Police said unless he was caught they were afraid he would go down the whole list of baseball players and then take up football.

PICADORS CLASH WITH WAYLAND

Texas Tech's Picadors will wand up their 1931 playing season tomorrow when they meet the Wayland college Jackrabbits at Plainview. Coach Del Morgan will take two, possibly three, complete teams to Plainview in the morning.

After getting off to a slow start by losing a couple or three the Picadors began to pick up in percentage first by tying the Canyon Buffalo Yearlings at Canyon. Then in a later game the Picadors drubbed the same Yearlings on the local lot 44 to 0. Last Saturday saw the Tech frosh in a second victory, a 38 to 0 triumph over the Simmons university freshmen.

DARTMOUTH, YALE MAY CLASH AGAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Football fans may yet see a replay of that famous 33-33 tie to which Yale and Dartmouth battled earlier in the season.

Pairings for the charity round robin in the Yale Bowl Dec. 5 pit Yale against Holy Cross and Dartmouth against Brown in preliminary games, the winners to meet in the final.

The pairings were made arbitrarily after the original plan of drawing by lot had been abandoned by mutual consent. Yale has not played Holy Cross nor has Dartmouth met Brown during the regular season.

All games will be 24 minutes long, played in 12-minute halves.

PLAY SIMMONS THURSDAY IN LAST GAME

CAWTHON SENDS TEAM THROUGH WORKOUTS FOR CONTEST

Tech's Matadors are off tomorrow at noon for Abilene and Simmons University where they meet the Simmons Cowboys Thursday in the final game and one of the most important games of the season. But before they leave they're due to hear plenty more about the Cowboys. They should be well enough acquainted with the Cowboys and their style of play that an introduction should not be needed when the teams clash.

Coaches Cawthon and Smith have been drilling and grinding the Matadors this week in a series of tough workouts in preparation for a game in which a victory would mean much, yet which they have only the barest hopes to win.

Downed By Jackets

The Cowboys' 20 to 0 loss to the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets last Saturday will make the Simmons team work all the harder, in the belief of Coach Cawthon, and it will be tough on the Matadors just because Howard Payne beat them.

Barring numerous scratches and bruises, the Matadors are in fair physical shape for the game. There are several bruised bodies and faces which are coming in for a lot of medical attention this week but nothing serious.

The Tech coaches and squad will leave Wednesday at noon for Abilene. They will travel by bus, stopping off at Sweetwater for a brief workout in mid-afternoon and continuing to Abilene Wednesday evening.

Indications last night pointed to a special train which would carry Tech students and fans to Abilene for the game. A number of students have already declared their intentions of going and it is thought that almost a hundred townspeople will go either by train or highway. The special train, if navigated, will be student sponsored, the Tech Chamber of Commerce being behind the move. The body was to announce definitely tonight whether or no the train would run. Railroad officials last night were under the impression that enough tickets would be sold to insure the train.

Steers, Aggies To Renew Old Rivalry

TEXAS TO ENTER TILT AS UNDER DOG BUT REAL FIGHT SEEN

AUSTIN, Nov. 24 (AP)—Two football teams whose previous efforts to gain recognition have been mediocre, will engage in the classic struggle of the Southwest Thursday when the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. renew their ancient feud on Kyle field at College Station.

Texas will enter the game the under dog, Coach Clyde Littlefield admits. The Longhorn squad admits it and the student body half-way admits. But that does not mean Texas admits defeat.

Cohesion in the running attack, better tackling and blocking and greater accuracy and more delicate timing in the overhead was administered the Steers yesterday.

Texas was in good condition and all regulars will be able to start, including Captain Maurice Baumgarten, guard, and "Ox" Blanton, tackle, both of whom have been on the injured list for weeks.

Nearly the entire student body, supported by hundreds of townspeople, will follow the Steers to the scene of combat.

age of playing on the home field with age of playing on the home fild with homecoming alumni urging them to victory. They will be playing with the knowledge that only once in the football history of the two schools has Texas been able to defeat the soldiers on Kyle field.

SECRET PRACTICE HELD BY FROGS

By The Associated Press

Ordering all gates to the Texas Christian stadium locked, Coach Francis Schmidt sent his team through a long secret practice yesterday.

Most of the workout was used in perfecting defensive work in preparation for the Southern Methodist game Saturday in the Southwest conference final. If the Frogs win, it will mean a tie for the conference title. If they lose or tie, it means the title for Southern Methodist.

Returning to Dallas yesterday from Annapolis where they defeated the Navy Saturday 13 to 6, the Southern Methodist Mustangs held a three hour practice. Marion Hammon, giant tackle, suffered a broken ankle bone in the Navy game and will not play against Texas Christian. Coach Morrison spent most of the afternoon with his backfield, teaching them new plays to use against Texas Christian.

MUCH INTEREST IS BEING SHOWN IN VISIT OF SANTA CLAUS TO LUBBOCK; BIG STREET PAGEANT TO BE STAGED

All Lubbock is talking about the visit of Santa Claus which was announced in the Avalanche-Journal Sunday. The committees in charge of affairs report that they are making excellent progress with arrangements and are meeting with whole-hearted support from every source.

To Parade Principal Streets

It has been decided to arrange a street pageant for the event, as more people, big and little, will be able to see Santa Claus and his reindeer if he is paraded through the principal streets of the city than if the crowds should try to jam into some public hall.

Local Organizations Interested

Heads of various local societies have stated that they feel sure arrangements can be made to have their organizations represented in the parade.

At any rate, from the interest being expressed on all sides, Santa Claus will have to take off his furry cap to Lubbock and the South Plains when he steps out in front of the throngs which will be on hand to greet him.

Ointment For Depression

The Avalanche-Journal takes pride in having been able to arrange for his community program for Lubbock. Old Man Depression has stalked the land with his high-handed practices and left a sting in many places and one of the best ways to slay him and stop his spreading of sorrow is to arouse joy and happiness, start people to moving, create interest in the brighter things of life and persuade the people with money to spend it—keep it in circulation and not horde it. Misers never can be happy and can never spread happiness for others.

Necessary To Christmas Spirit

Some cynics scoff at the idea of identifying commercialism with the spirit of Christmas. True, Christmas and the sentiments it is expressive of are, too sacred to contaminate with vulgarities of trade and commerce, yet business, commercialism and trade are sacred in their places, and necessary to life to such an extent that Christmas festivities and commercialism have survived through many generations and will go on side by side for many more generation, gladdening the hearts of the mighty as well as the meek.

Early Shopping Beneficial

The task of buying and selling in the large and small stores of the nations stocked with wares of all descriptions which stimulate the offerings of friendships, is made light by the happiness the act of giving creates. The "weariness" can be eliminated by earlier shopping so that the buyer, the seller, the giver and the recipient may all find greater and deeper comforts in the spirit of the Holiday season. One of the seasons the Avalanche-Journal has arranged for Santa's Pre-Christmas visit is so that a longer, more pleasant and more profitable season to all concerned may be stimulated.

Santa's Workshop Running

Prince Of Love, the messenger, wants the children to know that he has visited and inspected Santa's workshop. Santa's workers are busy day and night making all kinds of toys and presents for Christmas. There are ginger-breads and chocolate drops, candy sticks and peanut crops, tiny toys and big-eyed dolls, teddy bears and fol-de-rolls, toy houses, toy boats, sailor dolls in bright blue coats, silks for sister, smiles for maw, gold for auntie, laughs for Paw, things to make the sad more bright and cheer up all on Christmas night. Yes, it must be wonderful in Santa's workshop, and as Prince Of Love says, there are not only toys and sweets to gladden the hearts of little children but there are also all manner of worth-while things for brother, mother, sister, father, auntie, grandmother and all.

Useful Articles Excellent Gifts

Clothing, furniture, radios, electric refrigerators, table silverware, dressing table vanities, automobile accessories, books, leather goods, linens, silks and an endless list of things can be mentioned which make excellent Christmas gifts and the stores of Lubbock are well prepared to suit every idea and every taste.

Oh, coming of Santa Claus on Friday, December 11 can be made something much more than a passing excitement—it can be made to be beneficial for the South Plains and its people. Tomorrow will bring more news about the event.

Slaying Trial Is Given Continuance

WACO, Nov. 24 (AP)—The murder trial of William C. Beck, 19, accused of slaying O. L. Jones, Waco automobile salesman, was continued Monday until February 1, due to absence of defense witnesses.

Defense attorneys said they wished to obtain testimony from Dr. W. G. Campbell of the University of California at Los Angeles, and other persons, relative to the defendant's sanity.

They said Dr. Campbell had examined Beck when the defendant was a student at the University of Texas. Dr. Campbell was formerly connected with that institution.

Officers claimed Beck had admitted shooting Jones to death on a highway seven miles north of Waco with robbery as his motive.

C. Rhonemus, 96, of Clinton county, Ohio, has voted for eighteen Democratic candidates for president.

Double Beauty

Not only is Carol Deis pretty, but she has a beautiful voice as well. Just how beautiful is testified to by the fact that Miss Deis, of the Philadelphia Opera company, won a trip to Europe as a prize in an operatic voice competition. She is shown upon her return at New York aboard the S. S. Paris.

Lamb County Given More Cotton Buyers

Movement of additional cotton buyers to Littlefield has resulted in considerable competition, Harry Ellis, a cotton buyer of Littlefield said Monday. More cotton buyers are at Littlefield than ever before, he said.

"Lamb county has splendid prospects and it looks like there will be more cotton ginned this year than ever before," he said. "There are more buyers there now than I have ever seen and I have made Littlefield for the past several years."

Cincinnati is planning an ordinance providing a fine of $500 for persons who listen in on the police radio and then rush to the scene of crime for a thrill.

Field Goal Proves Margin Of Victory

NACOGDOCHES, Nov. 24 (AP)—name of Joe Barham Thrash, a little fellow with big ways, was added to the Stephen F. Austin Teachers' college's list of its gridiron's greatest today.

Thrash kicked the football between the uprights to give his team a 3 to 0 victory over the Sam Houston Teachers, yesterday. In four other starts the Lumberjacks had been defeated.

ON GREENS

When the salad is served between the main course and the dessert, it should be appetizing, light and tart. It should not be too heavy. The fresh simple flavors of greens are most appropriate. Lettuce, endive, cucumbers or cold vegetables, such as asparagus, Brussels sprouts or string beans. These salads suggest a tart, stimulating dressing . . . Bachelor Club Dressing, Vinaigrette Dressing, or French Dressing.

To make French Dressing: Mix twelve tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil, one teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoon of pepper, three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, and a dash of paprika.

ON FRUITS

Fruits, fresh or canned, have a more pronounced flavor than the simple greens. They call for a dressing less sharp, with perhaps a dash of sweetness or the tang of cheese, to encourage them to give us back their sunshine and full fresh flavor.

The next time you have a fruit salad, try this Cheese Dressing: Cream two packages of cream cheese with four tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil. Blend one-half teaspoon of salt, one-quarter teaspoon of paprika, one-eighth teaspoon of white pepper, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of granulated sugar, four tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil and one of lemon juice. Beat into the cheese until it becomes light and fluffy. Then dust with paprika to give color to the dressing.

ON SEAFOOD

When salad is the main dish at a meal, as at luncheon let us say, and bonus the full flavor of lobster, crabmeat, or shrimp, the finished salad should be garnished with Lemonaise (mayonnaise made with lemon juice), or Tartar Sauce, but the fish should first have been marinated.

*To marinate: Mix twelve tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil and three tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Add one teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoon of pepper. Pour this over seafood and set aside in the refrigerator for several hours. Serve with Lemonaise.

Mustard on Ham but.. not on Grapefruit

Mustard on cold meats tastes mighty good, but don't try spreading it on your grapefruit next Sunday morning . . . for some things go together and some do not. The same thing is true of salads and salad dressings. Why make salads of orange, grapefruit, pears, cucumbers, asparagus, string beans, shrimp, crabmeat or lobster, and smother all their different flavors under a heavy dressing like mayonnaise? No! It just won't do.

mix a dressing appropriate to the salad

If you have a salad of light greens or vegetables, select a tart dressing like Bachelor Club, Vinaigrette or French Dressing. For fruit salads, try a rather sweet dressing or one to which a dash of cheese has been added. Seafood and Lemonaise seem to be meant to go together. But before the salad is made the seafood should be marinated in French Dressing.

We would like to send you with our compliments, a little book by Mary B. Murray on appropriate salad dressings . . . a book that not only suggests what dressings go with what salads, but which offers many helpful suggestions to the hostess as to correct salad service. Send your name and address to The Wesson Oil People, 210 Baronne St., New Orleans, La.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

If you remember that there are certain well established rules which govern the selection of the food you feed your family, meal planning is not difficult.

SISTER MARY

The first rule in meal planning is this: a balanced diet must be maintained. Unless one is dieting under a physician's supervision protein, carbohydrate and fat must be supplied in definite proportions. It has been estimated that the minimum calorie requirement for a day for adults is twelve calories to each pound of body weight. Children need more food in proportion to their weight than adults. Physically active persons need more fuel or calories than those of sedentary habits. Of these calories ten to fifteen per cent should be protein, twenty-five per cent fat and the remaining sixty to sixty-five per cent carbohydrates.

The second rule to keep in mind is the importance of providing organic salts or minerals in necessary amounts. Calcium, phosphorous, iron, iodine, copper and other minerals are essential factors in every meal.

Third, the "protective foods" or vitamins are imperative.

Fourth, a quart of milk a day for each adult should be used either in cooking or as beverage.

Fifth, each meal should contain something crisp which requires thorough mastication for the sake of the teeth.

Supplementing these constituents, bulky foods and water must be included.

Body-building Food

The function of each group of foods is significant. Mary Swartz Rose states that "protein food has an absolute monopoly on the nitrogen supply of the body" and that "nitrogen enters into the construction of body proteins which are essential to the life of every cell and constitute the most prominent part of muscle tissue. A child cannot grow and form strong muscles without it; a full-grown adult cannot keep in health without it."

Carbohydrates furnish heat and energy and fats give energy and reserve force.

Organic salts or ash constituents are cleaners and natural blood tonics. They affect assimilation and are indispensible to sound teeth and strong bones. The efficiency of each mineral salt is increased by the presence of the others in proper amounts.

The vitamins provide health and vigor and the power to grow. They steady nerves and have a market effect on the appetite. They are, in fact, "protective" substances, for their presence insures against the deficiency diseases.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Grape fruit, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon and liver, reheated rolls, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Creamed oysters with pimientos on toast, apple and celery salad, ginger bread, milk, tea.

DINNER: Boned and stuffed shoulder of veal, braised cabbage and carrots, tomato and green pepper salad, sweet potato pie, milk, coffee.

The black evening dress with the light top has inspired a number of convertible costumes. A frock of black velvet with lace guimpe becomes an evening frock with the removal of the guimpe.

Coats and wraps for the new season are more conservative. Raglan shoulders, large armholes, shoulder evening capes, fur collars and large rolling collars make shoulders more emphatic.

YOUR CHILDREN

A sense of humor is too rare a gift with most of us parents. We are so preoccupied with our responsibilities that fun, the life-saver, is the remotest thing in the world from our thoughts. And isn't it too bad!

Someday, I suppose, we shall forget how to laugh altogether—certainly that is bound to happen if these unsmiling times keep up. But even before hard times, when the outlook was as sunny as a May day, the laugh depression was noticeable. Why, it is difficult to say. Perhaps because we are now more highly educated as a people, and therefore more serious; we are too thoughtful to waste time on jokes. Or, perhaps, particularly among parents, it is the growing complexity of rearing a family.

There isn't any doubt that the more we know about children, the things to be done and the things not to do, our sense of responsibility increases. In one way it is regrettable because the good old easy carefree days of large families and hospitality and everything jolly seem to be gone forever. Yes, the children are healthier, live longer, have better teeth, firmer bones, stronger eyes and less illness than they used to have. But in becoming efficient (and so busy) ourselves, we have taken something out of family life that used to be there. Fun!

An Example of Fatherhood

I knew a judge who married rather late in life, had a wonderful wife and four children. He had the right idea, bought a country place and made little farmers out of the youngsters. Also he loved company and he loved fun, and there was plenty of both.

Did his children love him? Well, I don't believe that ever a father lived who was so much adored by his sons and daughters. To the casual observer he probably gave the impression sometimes that he had lost his senses.

A little tyke popped into the bathroom and slammed the door one day just as his dad was about to enter. When the little fellow came out here stood a warrior with a brass kettle inverted over his head, a brass poker in one hand and fire tongs in the other. About his tall figure was wrapped an Indian rug.

"Big Chief Townpump wants your scalp!" muttered the stranger darkly.

There were squeals and a rush resulting in Big Chief discarding his war-togs and grabbing a pillow to defend himself, for "Bonny," willing to battle, chose his own method of dueling, a pillow fight. Soon everybody was in and mad pandemonium reigned. The warrior had to retreat.

One little girl had a special antipathy to "Columbia, Gem of the Ocean." When she wouldn't go to sleep nights and chattered long after hours to her sister in bed beside her, the judge would solemnly enter, stand beside her bed and bellow every verse, chorus and all, entirely through to its patriotic end. That finished her.

He supervised their reading and they were way ahead of most children in the extent of their general knowledge. But better still they were happy and they had imagination. They are grown now and I predict a brilliant future for them all.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

©1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Study the shape of your face and your natural coloring before you choose your rouge. Pinch your cheeks slightly to find out what your natural color really is. One shade of rouge will not do for every occasion and every costume. Consider the dress you are going to wear and the light under which you will appear.

It is best to use a cream rouge under your powder and a dry rouge on top of it. Always apply cream rouge with an upward and outward motion, and blend it by using your finger tips until there are no harsh edges. Use it sparingly on the lobes of your ears.

If you have an oval face, simply intensify your natural coloring. A face that is too broad or too full should have rouge applied high on the cheeks and shaded in toward the nose.

A too thin face can be made to look broader by placing rouge on the cheek bones and shading it away from the nose toward the ears. Always remember that rouge placed in hollows accentuates them. So, if you have dimples, rouge them a little and they'll be even more noticeable and attractive.

If you wish to make a long chin appear shorter, put your rouge very high on your cheek bones and blend it upward to the temples. High cheek bones should not be rouged. Put color below them and you detract from their prominence.

Don't use rouge on your chin. It not only makes it more prominent but lends a suggestion of a clown to your appearance.

After the cream has been thoroughly blended on your skin dip a clean cotton pad in your powder and gently but firmly press it on every inch of your face and neck. Now take a soft complexion brush and brush off the surplus powder before you put on dry rouge.

Never wear rouge enough to make your complexion look "made up." The object of any cosmetic is to enhance the good points of your face and detract attention from the ones which are not so attractive. Of course, you can always use more color on your face at night. Artificial lights tend to make you look whiter. But, for street and every day wear, use only enough make-up of any kind to make your skin look healthy and naturally lovely.

Young Widow's Children Are Opposed To Mother's Beaux

BY VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a young widow in my thirties and have six children, the youngest eight. If I should ever wish to marry again, should I do so?

"My oldest, a boy of 20, has it in his head I must ask his permission and explain to him if I do this or that, and says I have a man friend I must get out.

"Now, my husband said if I ever wished to marry I should do so but I have not looked around yet as I would be so ashamed to have a man insulted by my children. They can't understand why I should want company or enjoy life. They think I should stay at home and be an old fogey.

"I always had to work hard and never had a happy childhood or even girlhood to remember. I am jolly and young looking, could pass for 25. Now, should I do as they ask, or marry again? They will leave me for homes of their own some time.

"MRS. E. C."

If you should meet a good man who wished you to marry him—one who would be good to your children and make you happy—I certainly think you should marry again, Mrs. E. C. Your children will eventually leave you as you say, and you may be left alone when you are still in the very prime of life.

Of course, children dread the thought of some stranger coming into their home to take their father's place. That is perfectly natural, and you undoubtedly would never marry unless the man of your choice made every effort to gain the affection of your children and make them willing to receive him. A marriage with a man who would not care for or would be cruel to your youngsters would certainly not make you happy.

But your young son's attitude that you should ask his consent and that you must leave your home if you find a man friend is selfish and tyrannical. It is your home primarily—the one you have made for the children, and you would not be the one to leave if there was any unpleasantness not of your making. You should kindly but firmly insist on this.

Don't, however, worry about the matter. Laugh at the children's efforts to put you in the old fogey class, and refuse absolutely to be so disposed of. Insist on your right to youth and good times. And good luck.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I was engaged to a man about three years ago. I quit him for another man. Now I go with him every once in a while. I would like to go with him steady again. What would you advise me to do about it? HAPPY."

The most direct method would be to tell him what you wish and ask him how about it. I wouldn't do it, however, unless he acts as if he wanted to go with you again.

A LITTLE PAL: Continue to be the boy friend's little pal even if he doesn't always deserve that you should be. Time will tell whether your love is "puppy love" or the real thing.

FAVORS BLACK AND BROWN

At the opening of the new Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York's elite folks gave dinners that were reminiscent of pre-war splendor in their lavish decoration and exquisitely appointed tables. The vogue for mid-Victorian motifs in style was emphasized by the costume worn by many an eminent woman. Black and brown were predominating colors. Nothing can look smarter than the brown net and chiffon gown worn by the ex-Grand Duchess Marie, who wore a handsome antique necklace and long earrings of gold with it.

Parisian children wear plain, tailored coats of wool, jerseys and shorts. Members of one family dress alike.

Knitted frocks in green, wine and rust tones are high in fashion's favor.

HOLLYWOOD — All is well at Paramount these days. Phillips Holmes has signed a new contract. He is sharing featured honors at present with Lionel Barrymore and Nancy Carroll in "The Man I Killed," directed by Ernst Lubitsch. Holmes' next picture will be "Wayward," an adaptation of Homer Miles play, "Mary Makes a Call."

RIDING IN AUTUMN MODE

New autumn riding togs are enough to encourage anybody to buy a string of Kentucky bluebloods. Out at the Piping Rock show the other day Mrs. W. T. Hazard was the epitome of sleek chic in a beautifully tailored habit of tan whip-cord, jodhpurs and brown plaid coat with fancy notched lapels and slanting pockets.

Rather tight fitting cape coats are smart for the Paris schoolgirl. Such coats may be worn with plain hats or with those of the softer, afternoon type.

The old-fashioned plaid blanket is out of date. Blankets now are being designed in gay modernistic patterns with a wide range of colors. Others are authentic copies of famous patchwork quilt patterns.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24 (AP)—The cotton market had a firm opening today with Liverpool cables better than due. First trades here showed gains of 6 to 9 points, today being first notice day for December contracts. Tenders to the amount of 23,800 bales were made in New Orleans and 12,300 bales in New York.

A good demand for December contracts developed right after the start and it was understood the notices would be promptly stopped by large spot houses.

December advanced to 6.11, January to 6.23 and March to 6.41, or 10 to 12 points above yesterday's close. Trading was quite active and near the end of the first hour prices were 1 to 3 points under the highs. The undertone was strong.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 5 to 9 points on trade buying and covering which was promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables. January sold up to 6.18.

Trading was comparatively quiet at the start but the demand became a little more active after the call and included some commission house buying. January sold up to 6.24 and May to 6.60, making net gains of about 12 to 13 points, but the advance was checked by realizing and southern selling with prices showing reactions of 3 or 4 points at the end of the first half hour.

According to early reports, notices representing about 12,300 bales were issued against December contracts here this morning. Liverpool cables reported continental and Bombay buying in that market but said the demand for cotton cloths and yarns was subdued.

According to the New York cotton exchange, world's consumption of American lint cotton for October amounted to 1,027,000 bales compared with 982,000 the previous month and 961,000 for October last year. These figures attracted very little comment but the covering movement continued and carried prices up to 6.26 for January and 6.2 for May or about 14 to 1 points net higher.

There was some further evening up of December but the market acted as if the notices were being stopped, as there was some narrowing of the differences between December and later months later in the morning. At midday trading was quiet with the market steady within a point or two of the best.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Grains showed an early trend upward today, influenced by freezing temperatures in domestic winter wheat territory and by firmness of wheat quotations at Liverpool. Price advances, however, were checked by official announcement that United States government financed wheat holdings November 1 totaled 180,056,187 bushels. Opening 1-8 to 3-4 higher, wheat afterward rose further, corn also started 1-8 to 3-4 up and continued to mount.

Smart SHOPPING

"How good is it?" That's it!

ABOUT anything and everything they buy, smart shoppers like to ask one question—"How good is it?"

Chesterfield welcomes smokers who buy their cigarettes that way.

OUR tobacco buyers are smart shoppers, too. They "shop" for the ripest, mildest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows. And they won't take anything else.

"How good" are Chesterfields? Well, consider their blending.

Blended and cross-blended... not merely mixed together. Blended first by crops and countries . . . then cross-blended again and again... to produce a flavor and aroma that are Chesterfield's alone.

That's how we get that better taste . . . that's why Chesterfields are milder. Even the paper they're rolled in is the whitest, cleanest and purest that money can buy.

And the package . . . clean, bright, fresh-looking . . . see how easily it opens, yet how tightly it's sealed. • • •

OPEN a package. Note the aroma . . . delicious foretaste of pleasure ahead.

Now—pull out a Chesterfield . . . round, firm, well-filled.

"HOW good is it?" Light up . . . then you tell us!

Milder? Right! Taste better? You bet they do! They're pure, too—and they certainly do satisfy!

Good . . . they've got to be good! There's value here. We know, because we put it in . . . and you'll smoke it out with every one you light.

"Sure I shop for cigarettes—Chesterfields satisfy me"

Thought For Today

The Lord hath heard my supplication; the Lord will receive my prayer.—Psalm 6:10.

Prayer purifies; it is a self-preached sermon.—Richter.

What Is Moral?

Notions of what is liberal in governmental supervision of community affairs differ. If you take the traffic in intoxicating liquor as a standard, the states below the Canadian border are exceedingly strict and the province of Ontario is very liberal.

But a magazine recently reported that Ontario has barred Greta Garbo's latest film, "Susan Lenox," as immoral; and that fact puts another aspect on the comparison. Few, if any, American states have turned thumbs down on the picture—although some of the state censorship boards, in the past, have certainly seemed to be strict enough for anyone. Ontario, however, takes the opposite view.

Below the border, possibly, it is believed that a man is more easily ruined by what he drinks than by what he sees. North of the border the reverse is true. Is that the answer?

New Discoveries

The way in which science can upset long-established industries by means of new inventions is strikingly illustrated in two little news dispatches which appeared in the papers recently. One told how the Du Ponts have invented a means of making synthetic rubber; the other revealed that German engineers believe they have found a way of making synthetic gasoline cheaply.

Whether either of these processes can successfully compete with the natural product is not yet clear. But a moment's thought shows how far-reaching the effects of such inventions could easily be. Suppose, just for the sake of argument, that cheap artificial rubber and gasoline should suddenly become available; would there not be a perplexing time ahead for the vast rubber plantations of Brazil and Malaya—and for the owners of the world's leading oil fields?

Mexico's Navy

A recent dispatch from Mexico City indicates that the Mexican government is considering abandoning its navy entirely. The present fleet, composed of an assortment of cruisers and old gunboats, is expensive to maintain, and its officers, in the past, have not been free from a tendency to mix in the revolutions which have disturbed the country so greatly.

But it would hardly be correct to say that abandonment of the navy would represent a step toward disarmament. After all, Mexico has very little need for a navy, and the Mexican government is simply recognizing the fact. The great grey fleets of Uncle Sam, odious as a patriotic Mexican occasionally finds them, are, in a very real sense, Mexico's ocean defense. No major power will ever be permitted to attack Mexico as long as those fleets exist. Why should Mexico bother to maintain a small and inefficient navy of her own?

Lynch Law

One of the most dismaying bits of current news is the report recently issued by the Southern Commission on the Study of Lynching. After a year's survey, the commission finds that there is a real doubt of the guilt of at least half of the victims of mob violence, and adds that the claim that lynchings are necessary because the courts fail to convict accused negroes is without foundation.

It is extremely salutary that this be brought home to us; yet the horrible truth revealed by the report is something to make the nation hang its head in shame. A real doubt as to the guilt of at least half the victims of lynch law! Could there, by any possibility, be a more completely damning indictment? Is there, conceivably, anything that the apologists for Judge Lynch can say in reply?

If the first quarrel is the key to married life, there's a catch in it somewhere.

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says the Tech professor who boasts he knows five languages should be well equipped for changing tires.

The Plainsman hasn't been informed of China's plan of attack but is willing to suggest one. Send a couple of aviators on a flight over Japan with a $2 kodak. That ought to worry Tokio silly.

IT'S just two days now until the Westerner-Sandie melee and dire rumors are being heard on every hand. One of them is that Odell Fowler, brought to Amarillo from North Ft. Worth High a year ago is going to return from A. and M. college to play again with his 'alma mater.'

Incidentally, Fowler left Amarillo after the football season was over and is enrolled in A. and M. as from Ft. Worth, Texas.

* * *

There's only one serious obstacle between the Sandie camp and bringing Fowler back to play for Amarillo again.

He'll have to cut off his beard before they'll let him play.

BUT Lubbock fans have little to worry about this year. For once the Amarillo 'system' has gone on the rocks and aside from garnering a player or two from Borger and White Deer most of the Sandies really have been raised right in Amarillo.

The Plainsman has always believed that a Lubbock team could beat an Amarillo team—but it was beating an all star aggregation, gathered from the ends of the earth, that made the going tough!

This is our year, folks. This is the year we've been patiently waiting for. Lubbock's got the best ball club. And the percentage is with us. If things don't go plumb haywire in Amarillo Thursday, the Westerners are off for a long gallop around end to the state high school champeenship.

* * *

ALL kidding to one side, though, if Lubbock thumps the Sandies Thursday Amarillo people will be pulling for the Westerners to win the title. They're pretty good sports up that way, after all is said and done, and you can count on Amarillo's support if Lubbock wins this district.

Take last year, for instance.

After the Westerners and the Sandies had played to a scoreless tie—although a Lubbock touchdown was called back—Lubbock people watched with sympathy and interest the efforts of the Sandies to garner the state crown. Here's something that really happened:

On the afternoon and evening after the Tyler-Amarillo conflict, in which the Trojans won the state title, hundreds of Lubbock people called The Journal for a report of the game.

"It's 25-13, Tyler", the telephone operators would drone and nearly every time the inquiring fan on the other end of the line would say: "Oh, that's too bad", "Shucks", or something like that.

In all the Lubbock calls there wasn't a fan who expressed pleasure in seeing the arch-enemies of the Westerners beaten.

As a matter of fact, the Westerners themselves sent messages of cheer to the Sandie players before the crucial games of the playoff.

The best high school football in Texas is being played right up here in Amarillo, Lubbock and Pampa and The Plainsman is glad of it. If the Westerners can't win the state championship, he hopes the Sandies or the Harvesters do win it.

Here's a promise: If the dope bucket is overturned Thursday and Amarillo wins; and if Amarillo or Pampa merges winner in the district playoff, The Plainsman is going to pull for the District One winner clear on down the line—and root for 'em strong.

And Pampa and Amarillo will do the same thing when the Westerners win!

That Man on Avenue Q says he's been able to follow the 'not guilty' plea up to the point where the lady got the bill of lading on the trunks containing the bodies.

BEFORE getting off'n the subject of football—(the subject has to be worked hard while it's interesting to so many people)—don't forget that Tech is not yet to be counted out of the Turkey Day clinch with Simmons at Abilene.

Although the experts have compared scores and statistics, the Tech-Simmons clash each year is something like the Aggie-Longhorn battle. Nobody can't never tell what will happen until it's all over.

You can't get away from the fact that Simmons looks better on paper—but the happy thing about it is that the Matador-Cowboy game is not to be decided on paper, but on the football field instead. That's how the Howard Payne team decided it.

There's many a slip 'twist the hip and the lip—and there's power in the Cawthon powerhouse when the valve is turned just right.

IT so happens that The Plainsman was once a sports editor. It so happens that while pursuing the gentle art of sports writing he traveled over considerable of the middlewest as a correspondent for a big newspaper, covering football games in which numerous strong elevens figured during two successive seasons. Laying that experience as a predicate, he makes bold to opine that he is not a rank novice at surveying a football team.

Down at El Paso a couple of weeks ago, The Plainsman played sports editor when the Tech played the Mines and lost, 14-13. He saw a better ball club on the losing end; saw a stronger ball club than the Muckers and, what is more important when discussing the Tech-Simmons mix, saw an eleven blessed with latent power, deception, speed and with potent possibilities.

If the Matadors hit their stride at Abilene the Simmons aggregation will be the most surprised bunch of cowhands you ever saw in your life!

THE PLAINSMAN ACCEPTS

In answer to Col. Tack's column in the Amarillo News-Globe in which he said he'd be willing to work as a printer's devil, sweep out the Avalanche-Journal, let the Plainsman write his column in the Globe or do anything else if Amarillo lost to Lubbock, the Plainsman says "right back at you Col. Tack."

Nation's Shrines Gleam In Flood Of Light Every Night; Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument In Floodlights

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 — This story is directed at the popular theory that all the really attractive night lights are in New York.

Dutcher

The night lights of Washington seem to your correspondent a much better display to brag about than a mere hodge-podge of commercial electric signs. No end of engineering talent is utilized in figuring out the best ways to illuminate such gems of local pride as the Capitol, the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial.

Take the Monument. The full 555 feet of the great shaft, for the first time, now stands white at night. Until a few days ago its tapered peak shone out in the hours of darkness under two great searchlights aimed from the Navy Building and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. In a window on each side, just below the apex, burned a red light which warned aviators and stood high above the city as the capital's heavenmost beacon.

Now, beside these, five floodlights blaze up on each of the four sides from the very base. The reflectors are of hammered glass and in each set are three 1500-watt lights and two 1000-watts. The reflectors are focusted almost vertically and the light on the monument is "spilled" rather than direct. The diameters of the largest reflectors are about two feet.

The great Capitol dome also is visible every night from all parts of Washington. Seventy-eight thousand watts from 84 floodlights and eight searchlights, located on the roof and surrounding ground, play upon it. The floodlights are all turned off at midnight, but four searchlights remain to light the statue on top and thus signal the aviators. One of our most famous lights, of course, is the one that burns atop the dome whenever Congress holds a night session and goes off when the members quit.

In direct line with the Capitol and the intervening Monument is the Lincoln Memorial, with the great reflecting pool at its feet. The structure is its own illumination outside except for street lights, but electricity shines through slanted ceiling shutters on the 20 foot statue and through cloudy ceiling glass to make the mural inscription readable.

Behind the Memorial is the new Memorial Bridge, not completed but designed to dazzle between dusk and dawn.

Drive on through Potomac Park toward Hains Point, and look across the river at the red and white beacons of the airport. Perhaps no American city sees as many red, green and white lights scooting overhead at night, for this is a center of military, naval and commercial passenger aviation.

A hundred arcs spear down on the water from the Highway bridge. Also across the river are the awesome flames of the dump, lighting up the sky with wierd effulgence, visible many miles away.

Follow a thousand arc lights along the speedway and look around you from the point. At the mouth of the Anacostia river are the army and navy flying fields, with high radio towers of red-cluster lights, code beacons, floodlights playing down from atop the seaplane hangars and blazing a half-mile of water to your feet, giant searchlights from the hill behind. And at the left are the clusters and illuminated foundry chimneys of the Navy Yard.

Then gaze at the blue lights through scores of broad windows at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the roof gardens in town, the giant searchlight which pierces the darkness for many miles from the Woodman Park Hotel, the flooded spires of the National Cathedral on Mount St. Albans, the tall lighthouse on that new apartment house at DuPont Circle—and you certainly have seen some lights.

TREATMENT OF BURNS

YESTERDAY we talked about the hazard of burns to young children. Most of these burns we found were due to scalding by water. Or by other hot liquids—such as coffee, soup, gravy and milk.

Dr. Clendening

The important thing is prevention. To place the coffee pot or kettle containing the hot liquid well back in the stove where the little fellow will not be tempted to try to get it. Or in the middle of the table where a child clutching the tablecloth will not pull the coffee pot or dish down and spill the contents over itself.

But in spite of all precautions some burns will occur. Every household should know emergency treatment.

Burns always are serious and may be fatal. Twenty-nine out of 214 children treated for burns at the Milwaukee Children's hospital died.

"It is important to know that a child with his clothing in flames should be rolled in a carpet, rug, blanket or some other object that will quench the fire. It is also important to know that while awaiting the arrival of the physician or ambulance, the child who is seriously burned should be placed in a tub of warm water with a pound of baking soda added to the water. It should be known that cold water never should be used, because one of the most important points is that of preserving the body heat," says Stanley J. Seegar in "Hygeia."

If the bath is not available or help is coming too soon to make it worth while to prepare it, preserve the body heat by wrapping the child in hot blankets and hot water bottles. If the burn is extensive on the body do not attempt to remove the clothing before the child is taken to the hospital or before the doctor arrives.

If the face or hands alone are burned, cover the area with gauze or a clean towel saturated in a solution of baking soda (heaping teaspoonful of soda to a pint of water). Or cover with a smear of vaseline.

One of the best dressings for burns is picric acid. Among its many valuable qualities is its ability to grow skin.

The most valuable recent addition to our treatment of burns is Davidson's treatment by tannic acid. A 2 1-2 per cent solution of the tannic acid is made and sprayed on the burned area with an atomizer. The Chinese have used tea in treating burns for many years, and tea is simply a form of tannic acid solution.

The prevention and cure of deformities due to scar formation is a constant source of concern in the treatment of burns. Plastic surgical operations and skin grafting after the scar has formed, do much to restore the condition to normal.

NOW BILL'S DEPRESSED

BALTIMORE, Md.—Chalk up one for William Spencer. He devised a plan all his own for beating the depression. In a two-hour parking zone, police mark tires with chalk to gauge how long cars have been parked. Spencer built up a substantial clientele by moving cars sufficiently to erase the chalk marks. After moving one car, he stepped into the arms of a policeman. He will walk the chalkline from now on.

Business experts are looking for a revival. And so, probably, is Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton.

IN NEW YORK with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—You never can tell, in this man's town, when and where you'll come upon the front-page folk of yesteryear.

They have a way in New York, of dropping out of sight. Yet their hope of a spotlight comeback seems never to die.

Just a few weeks back, I dropped in after theater at one of the late spots in Greenwich Village. And there, attracting no great amount of attention, was an attractive and capable entertainer.

Her name was Evelyn Thaw—maybe you remember it!

She had, it seemed, been appearing there for several weeks. One or two of the gossipy paragraphers had mentioned her presence in passing. And that was all. No longer could any hue and cry be raised at the mention of her name.

Someone reminded me that the child that figured so prominently in the front-page tragedy of another generation was a grown young man, and was fast becoming an aviator of some consequence.

A few nights later, Evelyn was no longer there. An attractive and capable dancer was the attraction of the evening.

Her name was Evan Burrows Fontaine! Remember the famous "love child" case?

And speaking of night spots, reminds me that the authorities have put an end to the vogue for lisping falsetto-voiced young men.

Last winter any number of them were heading the floor show program of the smart places. Jean Malin was quoted and requoted by the tabloid columnists and was "built" into the status of a town personality. Finally he opened his own night club but it didn't last.

Meanwhile, word was passed round that the officials would from on further efforts to display the cavortings of certain performers of the female impersonator type.

And so another of Manhattan's oh-so-different entertainment fads disappeared overnight.

Meanwhile, old-timers of Gotham find themselves quite upset by the continued invasion of famous old mansions by new domiciles of the idle world.

Within the season half a dozen famous palaces of fashion have found themselves turned into gay spots where the spenders gather to sing, dance and make merry.

The Clews' home, where some of the smart sets' most exclusive affairs were once staged, now is The Mansion, a very swanky resort. The old Woolworth place, one of the show-spots of the mid-Fifties, is now the Club Napoleon, quite the most popular of the current play-spots. The Surf, the Stork, Leon and Eddie's, the Park Avenue Club and half a dozen others have taken over many of the town's most elegant homes.

In the late Thirties, the palace of a countess is now a well patronized speakeasy.

Drinkers, says a headline, pay one-fifth of British taxes. Well over there it's "Aie, aie, the gang's all here."

Pennsylvania Legionnaires sent a piece of coal as a tropoy to California. They didn't mean anything.

South Carolina in 1787 passed a law classing actors as vagrants. Must have foreseen this depression.

FAN ASKS AMARILLO GAME BE DEDICATED TO MEMORY OF THOMAS McMILLAN

Dear Plainsman: Let's do something big. The Pampa-Lubbock game was dedicated to the coaches. Let's start a move through you to dedicate the Amarillo-Lubbock game to the biggest thing the high school could do— dedicate it to the memory of Thomas McMillan, who lost his life practicing stunts for the entertainment of the fans. I am sure if this was put up to Mr. Duncan and the student body it would go over in a big way.

He was such a fine young fellow and an ardent supporter of the team, member of the pep squad, senior, and all in all that would be the biggest thing we could do to honor the greatest senior in character and ability the Lubbock high has ever known and the most noble youngster it has ever been my pleasure to know. Through you we hope to put this suggestion over for our departed friend. Help us.

SUPERINTENDENT DUNCAN SEEKING TO HALT GAMBLING ON FOOTBALL GAMES IN DISTRICT; WRITES TO THOMERSON

Asking District Attorney Edward W. Thomerson of Amarillo to force "open gambling" on district 1 football games under cover, Supt. M. H. Duncan of Lubbock public schools has written a letter expressing a desire to reduce gambling on the Lubbock-Amarillo High school contest to a minimum.

"For the past several years gambling on the outcome of football games in District 1 has become more and more prevalent," Mr. Duncan said in his letter. "The gamblers are each year getting bolder and more above board in their gambling, and, if something is not done to prevent such a situation, the school authorities will have to do away with football altogether or at least limit the game so that gambling will not be so attractive."

"As you know," the letter continued, "the schools are promoting athletic sports primarily for their educational value and are only secondarily interested in them as a means of entertaining the public. If gamblers are allowed to bet on the outcomes of our games and the gambling atmosphere to saturate them they will lose their educational value and there will be no excuse for their existence. School authorities will have to do away with them entirely, for surely they can not tolerate that which builds destructive tendencies and ideas in the minds and hearts of their students. Gambling has become so prevalent at football games and the atmosphere is so saturated with the gambling idea that boys and girls are entering into the gambling spirit, their senses are becoming dulled to the evils of gambling, and the whole situation is tending to make gamblers out of them. Football has too great an educational value to be allowed to perish and it is up to the good citizenship of this district to see that the game is conducted on a salutary basis and in an atmosphere conducive to building in our boys and girls the elements of sound American citizenship."

"I am writing this to you as district attorney asking you to take the matter in hand and to do your best to see that gambling is prevented at the game next Thursday between Lubbock and Amarillo, or at least to do your best to see that it is put under cover so that the gamblers will not be so bold in their gambling. I am well aware that gambling can not be prevented entirely at this game; it can, however, be more or less put under cover and at least a beginning can be made to eliminate it altogether."

"I shall appreciate your taking an active stand in this matter and doing your best to help us put inter-school athletics in this district on an educational basis."

Yours very sincerely,
M. H. DUNCAN,
Chairman District 1."

MAN SAVED IN BALLOON HOP

BALLOONIST TELLS OF FIGHT WITH WOLVES AND BLIZZARD

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Nov. 24 (AP)—Completely recovered from the effects of a thrilling 430 mile balloon flight from Cleveland to the wilderness north of Sault Ste Marie, Ont., George Vanik, 25-year-old Cleveland balloonist, arrived here Monday with a story of having been buffeted by Lake Huron blizzards and menaced by roving timber wolves.

Vanik landed in the woods near Dean Lake, Ont., Friday morning. He left Cleveland at 8:30 p. m. Thursday, passed over Sarnia, Ont., two hours later and then lost all sight of land, driven north over Lake Huron by blizzards, he apparently passed over some of the islands which fringe Georgian bay before reaching the Canadian mainland.

Down In Tree

"I came down in a tree," Vanik told the Associated Press. "I was pretty badly shaken. I thought I was somewhere near Alpena."

Vanik described the flight as "tough." He said he tossed out all but five bags of ballast to keep altitude when ice and sleet began to weigh down the balloon. Part of the time he huddled under a blanket with his altimeter while the balloon rocketed along in the blizzard.

"I took a short nap after I landed," Vanik said, "I woke up once to see what looked like a dog nearby. I called out but the dog turned out to be a wolf. I had nothing but a case knife but I got that out in case that wolf came back."

Late Friday Vanik started to hike through the woods to a settlement. Twenty hours later he collapsed in a road near a farmer's cabin and was taken in and fed.

Weighing only four ounces, a ladder of aluminum is being shown in London.

CHILD SHOT BY GANGSTERS

LITTLE GIRL CAUGHT BETWEEN FIRE OF COPS, ROBBERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 24. (AP)—Caught in the cross fire of police and bank robbers engaged in a gun battle on a suburban main street yesterday, Jane Whitehall, 6, one of a group of kindergarten children was shot.

The children, six in all, were on a holiday shopping trip in the company of Miss Peggy Page, teacher, when a gang of seven bandits rushed to the street from the Western Springs State bank after robbing the institution of approximately $5,000. Chief of Police Clarence Burg who had been summoned to the scene, opened fire and was answered by a machine gun fusillade.

Jane was struck down with a slug through her leg and one of the robbers was dropped by Chief Burg but the robber was dragged into a car by companions and all escaped.

During the battle Miss Page shoved her other charges into a hallway and saved them from injury.

Another bystander, John Hendrickson, a grocer, received a slight scalp wound.

FARM BOARD

improvement of American agriculture."

The growth of cooperatives was detailed, disclosing that 730,000 farmers were allied with these cooperatives to which $255,866,458 in loans has been made. They have repaid $146,367,203, leaving an outstanding balance of $109,499,254.

Acknowledging opposition to its policies, the board asserted simply it was not permitting this to interfere with "the carrying out of the duties imposed on it by congress."

No Recommendations

No recommendations were made for amending the agricultural marketing act. Neither were requests made for additional funds. On July 1, the board's financial statement showed, $159,977,608 remained in the treasury of the original $500,000,000 fund. Since then, however, additional commitments have been made to cooperatives, reducing this balance to an estimated $75,000,000.

Farmers themselves were complained against for not adjusting production to consumptive levels. The board said it was attempting to do this through education, but farmers have not made sufficient response to these appeals. Their failure the board held, served to defeat stabilization attempts.

The board has ordered cotton held for another year and wheat sold for the next year at the rate of 5,000,000 bushels monthly.

The stabilization wheat was bought at the average price of 81.97 cents a bushel and cotton at 16.3 cents per pound. Loans made by the board to the grain stabilization corporation with which to buy wheat on June 30 totaled $160,148,762. Besides this the corporation borrowed from banks $83,000,000 and had other liabilities of $4,927,491, bringing the total investment on that date to $248,076,253 on 257,136,571 bushels. Since then 47,500,000 have been sold to foreign governments and 20,000,000 in domestic markets at prices ranging between 49 and 60 cents.

The cotton stabilization corporation had received loans of $74,953,881 on June 30, borrowing in addition $35,707,991 and had liabilities of $8,000,000. The amount invested in cotton therefore on June 30 was $118,700,000.

"The full cost of the cotton operations cannot be calculated at the present time," the board said.

Short crops of cotton in this country and abroad and a rapid recovery in business over the next few years are needed to bring the 1929 and 1930 operations to a close without loss to the revolving fund."

The board pointed out that its first two years of life were marred by a general widespread business unsettlement when the "burden of price depression fell on American farmers with exceptional severity." It thus answered charges that its activities have disrupted normal export markets.

Despite these handicaps, it added, cooperatives increased in numbers and the volume of products also, pointing, for instance, to grain cooperatives which handled about three times as much on terminal markets as before the marketing act was passed. Two new national sales agencies were formed last year. The national Beet Growers' association and the National Fruit and Vegetable Exchange, Inc., bringing these large central agencies to eight.

SINO-JAP

high command's attention had turned from the north to the area between Mukden and the great wall of China.

TOKYO, Nov. 24 (AP)—A military drive into the rough country southwest of Mukden in Manchuria was begun today by several battalions of Japanese railway bandits believed to be in the area and which has been estimated as high as 12,000.

Military authorities here said they considered the drive "a local affair to stamp out banditry" which has threatened the South Manchurian railway and it was emphasized the move had no bearing on the reported concentration of Chinese troops at Chinshow.

The Japanese forces had orders to drive the bandits west of the Liaoho river. Perhaps half of them, it was reported here, are gypsy soldiers who have been raiding villages and living off the country.

TOKYO, Nov. 24 (AP)—A "real war" in Manchuria was predicted in authoritative circles here today if Chiang Kai-Shek, Chinese president, goes to the north to join forces with Chiang Hsueh-Liang, former Manchurian governor and friend of General Mah Chan-Shan.

The statement was prompted by reports received here that such a plan is under way. The reports, official circles said, indicate Chiang already is moving his troops northward and has reached Honan. A belief prevailed here that the president might establish himself at Peiping if the League of Nations made a decision unsatisfactory to the Nanking government.

The Japanese reaction to such a move, it was said, would be an increase in the military force at Tientsin, such as authoritative circles claim is allowed under the Boxer protocol.

W. C. T. U. SCORES RASKOB'S POLL

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP)—Chairman John J. Raskob's announced poll on prohibition among contributors to the campaign of Alfred E. Smith in 1928 drew the censure of W. C. T. U. leaders last night.

"Chairman Raskob proposes a scheme to impose his own views on the Democratic party without giving law enforcement a chance," said Mrs. Ella Boole, national president.

She termed his plan "a new sort of referendum and a new untried way of writing a party platform," and charged his questionnaire submitted categoriacal questions to those who supported Smith on a wet platform and ignored the opinion of dry Democrats who did not contribute to the campaign.

The national W. C. T. U. headquarters here declared it has received telegrams from Democratic women leaders protesting the poll as not giving the dry wing of the Democratic party a chance to be heard and virtually assuring a wet response.

The Washington Post today asserted flatly that Mr. Curtis has abandoned any idea of making the senatorial race in Kansas. It said also the vice-president favored Herbert Hoover's renomination and was convinced the president will be reelected by an extraordinary majority.
