Marvin Anthony Dead In Fight Held Saturday

(Special To The Journal)

POST, Feb. 14. — Marvin Anthony, 28, employe of Postex mills, was buried Sunday and three men were held in Garza county jail this morning pending a complete investigation into cause of Anthony's death a few minutes before midnight Saturday on the outskirts of Post.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Drew Story, when on a routine check of the district in South Post near the oil mill, said he heard loud words and started toward the scene to investigate. He was met at the head of a narrow trail behind a cafe by one of the men, who was described by the official as attempting to persuade him to go back and leave the men alone. He refused.

Arriving at the spot, Story said he found Anthony sprawled on the ground and two other men, who with a third man are being held, trying to revive him. Loading them into his car, he started for a physician's office, but Anthony apparently was dead when the destination was reached.

The two men were taken into custody immediately and the third man surrendered soon afterward. They range from about 26 to 35 years old, said peace officers.

Statements were taken from the men by Joe Moss, county attorney and Story, and it was indicated a charge of murder would be filed this morning after more investigation, said authorities.

According to the statement of one, the men were friends and virtually had "grown up together here." He admitted knocking down Anthony twice.

In detail, he said he and Anthony met at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the business section of Post. At 11:30 o'clock that night they met again "near Harper Walls' place."

The statement, which had been referred to Truett Smith, district attorney of Tahoka, continued:

That an argument started, the Old Man Winter Due To Move Into Plains Section Again Tonight With Rains Over Some Areas; Freezing Being Forecast

Freezing or near freezing temperatures by Tuesday morning in some sections of West Texas, including the Panhandle, were predicted this morning by Dr. J. L. Cline of the U. S. Weather bureau of Dallas.

Colder winds were due to move in today, he said, to end unseasonably warm weather.

Probable rains in the southeast portion of West Texas, freezing in North Texas, and rains in several sections of the state were forecast, said an Associated Press news release.

Rains and sustained cold weather have been needed on the South Plains, said crop and fruit authorities. The earth needs moisture to facilitate plowing and to give more sub-soil deposit. Cold weather, especially coldness of the soil, would serve to lessen hazards to fruit trees. Some trees have begun budding and, if allowed by warm weather to further put out, will be blooming soon.

Some wheat farmers in the Plainview, Tulia and Amarillo sections need rain, although conditions were not described as critical by the few

U. S. Fleet To Stage Games

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14—The United States fleet—173 ships and 547 airplanes—is making ready for six weeks of grim war games.

Four weeks from today the most powerful fighting machine America ever sent to sea moves into the trackless Pacific. It goes out under a new commander-in-chief, Admiral Claude Charles Bloch.

Be Ready To Fight

This keen-eyed Kentuckian when he took command two weeks ago told his officers and men "our only justification for being is to be ready to fight."

There are 12 battleships, 4 aircraft carriers, 16 heavy cruisers, 4 light cruisers, 55 destroyers, 27 submarines and more than two score auxiliaries in the fleet.

Problem Is Changed

Problem XIX, as this year's war games are termed, finds the security forces of the fleet sharply realigned by the newest sky weapons, the patrol squadrons of two-engined bombers. The scouting destroyers now

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14.—Japan's rising sun warriors, following the trail blazed by the Mongol hordes of Genghis Khan 700 years ago, fought one of the world's greatest battles today in the conquest of Central China.

The same battlefields in Honan province where the great Khan's horsemen struck terror into the heart of Asia reverberated with the din of modern conflict as the Japanese invaders drove desperately fighting Chinese troops southward toward the Lunghai railway.

Reach Middle Section

The Japanese already have captured the lower stretches of the Yellow river and have reached the middle section of that great waterway, the division of North and South China.

Swift drives southward put the Mikado's armies astraddle the Pinghan and Taming highway. They seriously threaten Kaifeng, present capital of Honan province and ancient seat of the Sung dynasty eight centuries ago. The Mings reigned there from 1368 to 1644.

The Japanese advance guard was reported on the north bank of the Yellow river after having shattered resistance of 15,000 Chinese troops and forced them to withdraw across

FLOODS HIT TWO STATES

Hundreds Are Driven From Their Homes

Heavy Damage In Michigan As Streams Overflow; No Relief Is In Sight For California

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Feb. 14—New Michigan floods over the week-end drove hundreds of families from their dwellings, blocked highways and caused damage far more serious than last week's inundations.

The property loss at Mt. Clemens alone was more than $100,000, Mayor Donald R. Westendorf said. The Clinton river at that point went on the worst rampage in 35 years, inundating more than 700 acres within the city.

Homes Are Surrounded

Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint, Pontiac, Utica, Rochester and Ionia were suffering from overflowing streams but their conditions were not to be compared with those prevailing at Mt. Clemens where approximately 400 houses were surrounded by water and refugee stations had to be set up.

A relentless February thaw and torrents of rain caused the latest overflow of Michigan rivers.

Much colder weather was forecast.

In the Grand Rapids area the tributaries of the swollen Grand river begain to recede early this morning but it was feared the relief would be only temporary.

No fatalities or injuries were reported from any point in the state.

More Rain, Snow And Winds Promised Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Pacific coast, wearied by a prolonged siege of rain, snow and high winds that has caused nearly a score of deaths, disrupted communications, halted rail and highway traffic and harassed shipping, looked forward today to—more rain, snow and high winds.

In northern California, where the storm entered its 19th consecutive day, floods which had already inundated several low-lying areas threatened to spread.

Heart Attack Proves Fatal For J. B. McDaniel Today

J. B. McDaniel, 64, resident of Lubbock 14 years, died at his home, 1716 Avenue D, about 6:45 o'clock this morning a few minutes after suffering a heart attack.

Completion of funeral arrangements awaited the result of efforts to get in touch with a son, a trucker who is somewhere in Colorado. Burial will be in Lubbock, directed by Sanders Funeral home.

Surviving are the widow; two sons, Buford and J. B. McDaniel, jr., both of Lubbock; and three brothers.

New Honeymoon Bridge Over Niagara Will Be Erected

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—Plans for a new $1,500,000 "honeymoon bridge" to span Niagara gorge were in preparations today.

A new single deck span will be erected to replace the one wrecked by the ice floes last month, Bernard Youngbluth, president of the International Railway company announced last night. The company owned the collapsed bridge.

Flying Fists Of American War Vets Break Up Organization Rally Of Germans In Buffalo

(By The Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 14.—An organization campaign of the German-American bund marked time today, stalemated by the flying fists of American war veterans.

A 15-minute free-for-all that grew out of disputes with speakers broke up a bund rally last night. Nearly a score of police were called into service to quell the disturbance.

G. Wilhelm Kunze, representative of the bund's national headquarters, said he had "no immediate plans" for continuing his speaking tour of New York state.

An expression of regret for last night's disturbance came from George A. Mead, Erie county American Legion commander.

"We came to listen quietly and to ask questions we thought were necessary," he said. "The outburst that broke up the meeting was deplorable."

The meeting attracted 700 listeners, and by arrangement with bund officials, representatives of Buffalo's war veterans were on hand to ask Kunze questions following his speech.

A bund spokesman, flanked by standard bearers holding an American flag and a swastika emblem, was interrupted as he prepared to introduce Kunze.

"Take down that swastika!" someone shouted.

Men in the rear of the hall crowded forward, police rushed in to close the aisles.

Kunze spoke against a steady patter of heckling remarks, explaining the bund "is organized to fight subversive influences in the United States," is not a nazi organization, and "we the German element of the United States would be the last group in the world to try to overthrow the government."

When Kunze yielded for questions, former Assemblyman Frederick Hammer, who said he was not speaking for any particular group, asserted:

"My grandfather left Germany because he couldn't stand

Fifteen Killed In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

Traffic accidents accounted for more than half of the 15 violent Texas deaths during the weekend.

Three died from blows, one was drowned, and one injured fatally in a grist mill accident. An inquest verdict was withheld in the death of another.

Ernest Eldridge Southern, charged with the burglary of a warehouse at Pilot Point, Denton county, last December, was injured fatally when an automobile plunged off the Dallas highway near Denton.

Herman Landreth, 21, a farmer, was killed near Fullbright when he fell off a tractor and was crushed under its wheels. Tom James, 34, Comanche workman, was found dead, his bruised body half submerged in water of Indian creek in south Comanche. Justice George C. Wetzel withheld a verdict.

Blow Fractures Skull

Ralph Fox, 37, brewery supply salesman found dead in a hotel room in Houston, died from a cerebral hemmorhage caused by a blow which fractured his skull. Dr. J. Herbert Page, county health officer reported officially. Roy Dancy, 47, restaurant proprietor, was charged with murder in connection with the death.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Sanders, jr., of Houston, newlyweds, were killed near Waco in an automobile collision. At Coahoma, Phillip Spears, a farmer, was injured fatally as he worked on a tractor.

William Collins, a Dallas mechanic, died after he was crushed against the column of a concrete underpass. He was riding on the

Control Plan Is Explained

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—A simple purpose, agriculture department officials said today, lies behind the complicated language of the new crop control bill: it is to assure good prices for the farmer without gouging the consumer.

Supporters of the measure, attempting to achieve that goal, have proposed to give the secretary of agriculture power to determine just how much wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and rice should be grown to meet the country's needs.

Would Divide Figure

This figure would be divided among various states, then among counties, and finally among individual farms.

If supplies are large and prices low, farmers could obtain government loans on stored products instead of selling them at the low prices. Whenever these stored supplies and indicated production climbed above totals outlined by the law, producers could vote to impose sales limits.

The secretary is directed under the legislation to protect consumers against short supplies and high prices by releasing these stored supplies when needed.

Costs of the new program are not listed in the bill itself. It merely provides that benefit payments shall

Bandit Slain In Burglary

(By The Associated Press)

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 14.—A burglar alarm and a load of buckshot enabled Police Inspector A. E. Crawford to make this report today:

Dead: W. E. Burnett, 37, Gladewater, Tex.

Jailed: Roy E. Johnson, 31, Oklahoma City.

Caught During Burglary

The inspector said the one was killed and the other captured Saturday night trying to burglarize a Clinton, Miss., garage after an escape from a Texas jail and a crime spree in three states.

While the two men were prowling through the garage of Charles and Ned Ratliff, the inspector said, the alarm summoned from their nearby home the owners who shot Burnett dead and found Johnson under a car.

Crawford said Burnett had faced cumulative prison sentences to-

Crumwiede, pulled from the building by Charles Cackledy, suffered burns on hands, feet, and body.

Noted New York Writer Reaches End Of Career

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Oscar Odd McIntyre, newspaper columnist to whom millions of Americans looked for their impressions of New York City, died today in his Park avenue apartment.

One of the most famous newspapermen of the nation, he came to New York from a small Ohio town, and always boasted he never lost the naive curiosity of the "home town boy." For a quarter of a century his daily column, "New York Day By Day," gained increasing fame, and in recent years was published in almost 500 newspapers.

McIntyre, who would have been 54 Friday, died at 2 o'clock this morning. Cause of death was not known immediately, but his health had not been good for some time.

McIntyre's friendships ran through all classes and types of people — Broadway's great, the big city's ordinary people, each alike claimed his attention.

He lived much alone in recent years, doing his work in his richly-furnished apartment, aided in great measure by his wife, the former Maybelle Hope Small, of Gallipolis, Ohio.

30th Wedding Anniversary

Friday also would have been his 30th wedding anniversary.

The first man to write a syndicated New York column, forerunner of the many present-day Broadway gossip writers, McIntyre began his newspaper career on the Gallipolis Journal in 1902.

Broadway was still far from his deft pen. He left Gallipolis to become a feature writer on the East Liverpool, O., Tribune, then became managing editor of the Dayton, O., Herald, and later assistant managing editor of the Cincinnati Post.

Lured To Big Town

The "big town" lure finally brought him to New York as associate editor of Hampton's magazine in 1912. In a few months he had started the brisk-phrased jottings which brought him fame and fortune as one of the highest-paid newspaper writers in the world.

The sledding was hard, at first. McIntyre began the column as a press agent "blurb" for a New York hotel, in return for his room and board. He gave it away free, eagerly seeking to have it circulated. Gradually it caught on until it was syndicated from coast to coast.

In later years, he was accused of portraying a New York which no longer existed but which represented the idea of "Baghdad on the subway" to the nation's hinterland mil-

United States Urged To Call Arms Parley

Legislators Claim Discussion Of Problems Would Ease The Tension For All Nations

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. — Congress received proposals today that the United States take the lead in calling an international disarmament conference, despite hints that the administration was cool toward the idea.

Senator King (D-Utah) and Rep. Maverick (D-Texas) formally advocated such a conference. They said Japan and other world powers might be willing to ease the world situation by discussing curbs on world navies.

Time Is Not Ripe

Senator Pittman (D-Nev), who is close to Secretary Hull in his capacity as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, suggested, however, the time is not ripe. "Political antagonisms" are so strong, he said, as to spoil the chances of a fruitful parley.

Maverick contended that the Japanese note of Saturday, which Hull deplored as "encouraging rather than discouraging races in armament building," did not shut the door to international agreement.

Refuse To Divulge Plans

The note, replying to a request from the United States for information, refused to divulge Japan's future naval building plans.

"Let's have a naval conference, however irritated nations may be," suggested Maverick. "It may save a war."

Senator King said he was particularly interested in keeping the taxpayers of all countries from being saddled with new expenses.

Meanwhile, a bloc of progressive-liberal house members denounced

Lubbock Gets $128,265 WPA Allotment

President Roosevelt has approved a $128,265 Works Progress allotment for paving streets and alleys at Lubbock, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington to The Evening Journal today.

The dispatch quoted Senator Tom Connally as making the announcement.

City officials said that the approval of the allotment was largely routine and that it gives the final assurance of financing for the extensive paving program outlined for Lubbock next spring, summer and autumn.

The work will involve the paving of approximately four miles of streets and approximately 25 blocks of alleys. In most cases, curb and gutter already have been put in place and on most of the streets, caliche base has been laid. Plans are to start paving about April 1.

Perhaps most important of the individual projects planned for paving this year, officials said, will be Eighth street from the downtown area to College avenue. That street, they explained, will provide a new outlet to the northwestern residential district and will tend to relieve traffic congestion on other thoroughfares.

Others of the various projects are in the southwestern edge of the city limits which has been the scene of much residential construction the past 18 months.

Miss Ruth Pendergrass Becomes Bride Of J. Floyd Dunn In Clovis Ceremony

Hunt Teacher Weds Man From Lamesa

Announcement is being made today of the marriage of Miss Ruth Pendergrass of this city to J. Floyd Dunn of Lamesa that took place in Clovis, N. M., Saturday at the Baptist parsonage with Rev. J. F. Nix officiating. Mrs. L. W. Wells of Littlefield, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Ruby Witherspoon, a former roommate of the bride, were the only attendants.

The bride wore a navy sheer alpaca frock with corresponding accessories. The daughter of Mrs. Bessie Pendergrass of Memphis, Mrs. Dunn is a teacher at the George M. Hunt school. She was graduated with a B. S. degree from West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon.

Mr. Dunn is a member of a pioneer family of Hall county. He is employed with the Soil Conservation service at Lamesa.

Italian Beauty Is Plump And Jolly

ROME—Trying to find the most beautiful woman in Italy is like trying to find a haystack under two tons of needles.

You get stuck at every point.

There has been no "Signorina Italy" since Mussolini banned beauty contests five years ago. Prizes go instead to the women who most closely fulfill the Fascist concept of beauty, which is to say Mussolini's concept.

It's the well-rounded, broad-hipped girls, designed for easy and frequent child-bearing who get the Duce's smiles.

Mussolini's Wife

His wife, Donna Rachele, comes close to embodying the Fascist ideal. Matronly and retiring, she devotes herself to home and children.

An official who has jurisdiction over movies, radio and theater embracing hundreds of beauties, asked to suggest the most beautiful girl in the kingdom, replied:

"You ask me to do the impossible and the unpermissible. There is no most beautiful girl in the kingdom. They are all beautiful."

Plump And Jolly

As for the characteristics of the Italian beauty, he said:

"They are the opposite of your American ideals. We call our ideal woman the donna prosperita, or prosperity woman. She is mature, well-developed, well-rounded out, full of curves, capable of bearing children. She pays more attention to health than to beauty."

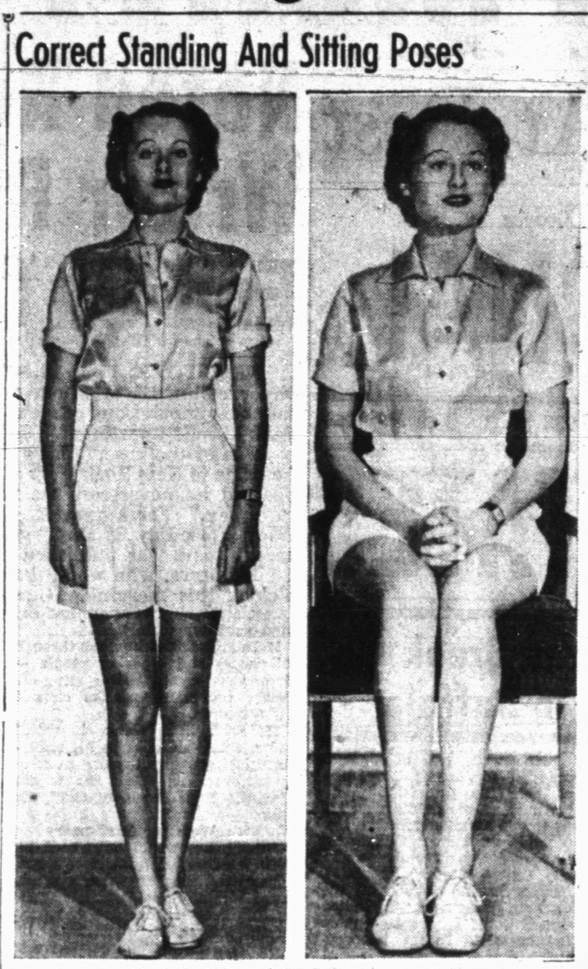

Mussolini's Daughter

Paradoxically, Mussolini's elder daughter, Countess Edda Ciano, whom he adores, meets few of the Fascist beauty tests. She is slim and modish. She likes society and gayety. She is the mother of three children, however, but interests herself in the career of her husband, the Foreign Minister.

Mussolini does not limit himself to the society of Fascist types. Photographers caught him bestowing a particularly beatific smile on the wife of General Goering.

And Rome newspaper men recall the cordiality with which he chatted with the French newspaper woman, Madelein Fontages, who later shot the French Ambassador to Rome, Count de Chambrun, because she said she suspected him of blighting the Duce's friendship for her.

Correct Standing And Sitting Poses

It's a little trouble to look like this, but how worth while! Lynn Carver, pretty Hollywood starlet, shows at left how to stand correctly. The flatness of her stomach, slim line of the hips, elevation of the chest and the position of the head show there's no exaggerated hollow in the center of her backbone. Miss Carver sits as gracefully as she stands, with base and center of spinal column flat against the back of the chair. Here's proof that one doesn't have to slump to look comfortable and at ease.

Introduction of the orchestration of a fox trot, "Shadows of Love," of which Morris Scrogin, Santa Fe employe here, is composer, will be a feature of the Valentine dance to be given as a benefit for Lubbock Safety council at the auditorium tonight.

Ned Bradley's orchestra will play. Charles McCain, pianist for the orchestra, arranged the orchestration for the composition.

The dance will be the feature of public observation of Valentine day. It is designed to assist the safety council in raising its $450 budget for 1938, according to O. B. Conley, president.

Jane Brownfield Presented In Recital In Brownfield

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 14 (Special)—Jane Brownfield, a junior in Brownfield High school, was presented in a high school credit piano recital by her teacher, Miss Gertrude Rasco, Saturday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brownfield, 1108 East Cardwell.

About 50 guests were present.

The program included Prelude in C Minor, Bach; prelude No. 7, Heller; adagio from "Moonlight Sonata", Beethoven; Tarantella, Piecyonka; Serenade, Schubert; Hungarian Dance No. 5, Brahms; March Militaire, Schubert; Hungary, Koelling; Habanera from "Carmen," Bizet; Prelude in C Sharp Minor, Rachmaninoff.

DAISIES CHANGE COLORS

PARIS (AP)—America's well-known white daisies with their golden hearts change color in Paris jewelry shops. Their petals turn to gold and their hearts to rhinestones clustered thick as bees on jam.

Wolf-Collared Tweed Coat With Suit

Colorful wools typical of the spring crop from the looms make this costume designed by Helen Cookman. The collarless suit is of rust-hued monotone wool with a soft finish and the wolf-collared coat is made of green, yellw, brown and rust tweed.

So And Such Club Husbands' Party Is Given In Cabin

So and Such club members and their husbands attended a supper party at the C. H. Hamilton cabin at Buffalo Springs Friday night. After box suppers, at which men drew names for partners, games of forty-two were played with Mrs. S. A. Hamilton and R. V. Mullenix making high scores.

Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Alton Abbott, John L. Brown, Herman Fink, George M. Garrett, Bob Gee, S. A. Hamilton, Mullenix, H. A. Padgett and Thomas E. Pirtle.

TO STEAM VELVET

To steam velvet—put the material on a needle board and press with iron covered with damp press cloth. Hold material lightly to prevent marking with fingers and allow newly-steamed material to dry thoroughly before working on it. Light brushing with a very soft brush while steaming will help to take out stubborn marks.

MILK STAINS

To get ice cream, cream or milk stains out of materials—use lukewarm water and soap on washables, but for more delicate fabrics, sponge with warm water, dry, and remove grease spot with a grease solvent.

CORRECTION

The Covered Wagon club will dance at Hotel Lubbock Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock, rather than tonight as stated in The Social Calendar in Sunday's Avalanche-Journal.

Supper And Line Party Are Given By Two Young Girls

Mary Lou Scoggin and Patricia Selby, assisted by their mothers, Mesdames A. L. Scoggin and H. E. Selby, entertained with a six o'clock dinner at Mexican Inn recently for the Mujeres and Pequenos club. Later the guests went to the Palace theater.

Attending were Jean Skinner, Carolyn Reynolds, Frances Graham, Connie McDonald, Monda Hamilton and Marion Chandler.

CORDUROY AT THE BEACH

Corduroy, one of the most versatile of materials, has gone South. Men's slacks, shirts and shorts of a new light weight type of corduroy in soft, rich halftones of tan, rust, blue and navy are most popular at southern resort beaches. Comfortable and not too warm, they stand plenty of wear and are not expensive.

Plans Of 1938 To Be Talked

First meeting this year of the executive committee of the West Texas Museum association will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the museum on the Texas Technological college campus, for a discussion of 1938 activities, Dr. William Curry Holden, head professor of history and director of anthropology at Tech, has announced. Holden is also curator of the museum.

A review of last year's work, the setting of a date for the annual membership meeting, arrangements for a program for that occasion, and the appointment of attendance and other committees, also will be discussed.

Officers who make up the executive committee are: H. L. Allen of Lubbock, president; Dr. C. J. Wagner, Lubbock, second vice president; Sam C. Arnett, Lubbock, third vice president; R. C. Hopping, Lubbock, fourth vice president; V. Z. Rodgers, Lamesa, fifth vice president; A. B. Davis, Lubbock, secretary; R. F. Hinchey, Lubbock, treasurer; and Dr. Holden.

Out-Of-Town Guests Talk At Luncheon

Two out-of-town speakers were on the program of a luncheon conducted by Alpha Sigma chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary society for women teachers, Saturday at the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway.

They were Miss Annie McDonald of Amarillo, primary supervisor in Amarillo public schools and president of that city's chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, and Dr. Hattie Anderson of the West Texas State Teachers college faculty at Canyon. Their general subject was "The Importance of Education—its Interpretation for Democracy".

Out-of-town members of the chapter who attended were Miss Irene Armes, Slaton; Miss Mamie Crump, Shallowater; Miss Carrie Shannon, Levelland; Mrs. E. N. Pickens, Slaton; Mrs. Lucille Weddington, Hale Center.

Lubbock members who made reservations were Misses Dorothy Lomax, president, Maurine Cunningham, Bonnie K. Dysart, Lucile Gill, Emma Main, Flora McGee, Thelma Merrick, Mary Belle Montgomery, Grace Fadley, Lucille Robinson, Mary McGee, and Mesdames J. T. Baisden, and Isabel Garrison.

DISHWASHING HINTS

To make dishwashing easier, scrape all your dishes first with a rubber scraper or with paper, then wash only a few at a time. Use hot water with mild, soapy suds. Wash your glasses first, silver second and china third. Washed dishes should be put in a drying rack.

Mrs. Herbert Stubbs To Be Hostess To Bridge Club

Thursday Bridge club members will be the guests of Mrs. Herbert Stubbs at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon when she entertains at the home of Mrs. W. P. Garvin, 1711-A Fourteenth street.

Court Battle Nearing End

AUSTIN, Feb. 14. (AP)—The supreme court of the United States will hear arguments March 28 in the "last ditch" fight of the Lone Star Gas company against a 20 per cent reduction in the cost of its gas at the gates of more than 275 Texas cities.

The state railroad commission ordered the cut four and one-half years ago but as yet persons using Lone Star gas in their homes have not saved a cent. The old wholesale charges were kept in effect pending a final court decision on the litigation, and the amount which will be refunded customers in the event of a victory for the commission is uncertain.

Sees End Of Fight

Alfred M. Scott, assistant attorney general representing the commission, believes he can see the end of the long and expensive controversy. The nation's highest tribunal, he says, likely will decide the case before its summer recess.

Scott, who will go to Washington next month to argue the case, estimated the Lone Star had spent about three quarters of a million dollars and the state about $150,000 in this biggest gas rate controversy in the history of the southwest.

Without doubt, the stake seemingly justifies the expense. State officials calculated a reduction of the Lone Star's charges from 40 to 32 cents per thousand cubic feet would mean a saving of around $1,400,000 a year on domestic bills of approximately 200,000 families, or a million persons.

Would Be Passed On

The Lone Star sells to the distributing companies in widely scattered Texas cities and the cut would be passed on to patrons of those distributors. Among the cities using Lone Star gas are Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Sherman, Denison, Denton, Wichita Falls, Abilene, Sweetwater, Temple, Bryan and Georgetown.

It was in October, 1932, the railroad commission instituted the investigation which was to lead to the long dispute.

The hearing before the commission was held at Fort Worth and consumed about seven months, being probably the longest one of its nature conducted in this section.

Witnesses for the company brought along five steamer trunks containing 162,000 typewritten pages which gave detailed costs of company properties. The appraisal and inventory presented by the company composed nine large volumes. Transcript of testimony and exhibits amounted to 12,000 printed pages.

Chief Point At Issue

The chief point at issue was the value of the company's properties. The commission decided it was $46,246,616 whereas the company had claimed it was more than $70,000,000.

When the commission concluded a 20 per cent cut was warranted and issued an order to that effect, the Lone Star immediately went into court. It was successful in trial court here but unsuccessful in the Austin court of civil appeals and state supreme court. Then came the appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

During the trial, the company offered as its main exhibit an appraisal and inventory of every item of its physical property. This totaled 4,361 typewritten pages and covered more than 6,300 major units. Fifty valuation engineers worked 8,000 eight-hour days to complete the exhibit.

The company's fight has been based on contentions the ordered rate is so low as to deprive it of property without due process of law and that the Lone Star's operations are interstate and the state regulatory commission therefore is powerless to fix a charge applying to Texas alone. The company also sells to distributors in Oklahoma.

Kicking Against Silkless Society

Washington saw its biggest "leg show" of the year when 300 Philadelphia hosiery workers marched up Constitution avenue swinging silk-clad ankles, as shown here, to protest a Japanese silk boycott sponsored by the capital's society strata. While the debutantes held a "Life Without Silk" fashion show, the hosiery workers took their case to the White House. They pointed out that a boycott on Japan could close 130,000 jobs, since nearly all silk stockings are made in United States.

Request For Ant Egg Oil Is Received From Missouri

TEMPLE, Feb. 14. (AP) — Acting Postmaster Nathan Robinson recently received a request from a woman in Missouri for "ant egg oil." She asked him to employ a man at her expense to dig in "those large ant hills and get the eggs out of them."

She knew there were large ant beds near Temple, she wrote, because she had once seen them. She needed the oil from the eggs to aid her mother's eyesight, she said.

IT'S IN THE FAMILY

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Good egg laying is a family trait in chickens, University of Wyoming scientists have discovered.

Out at the university's stock farm is a hen known as Q243. And every hen in the university flock that has laid more than 300 eggs in one year — considered quite a feat — is a descendant of Q243.

Baffling Phrases Continue To Be Heard On College Campus

BY JUSTINE LIMROTH

Where do all the jokes come from?

When you get the answer to that you will qualify to run to earth origin of some of the baffling lexicon of slang heard on the campuses of American universities and colleges.

Revision Is Necessary

Brought up to date (revision is necessary every two or three months), this is what you would hear at Texas Technological college:

JELLY—"playing" at a cafe or hangout.

APPLE POLISHING—working for a "suction" with the professor.

THANK GOD IT'S FRIDAY CLUB—A popular club on any campus.

COUNTRY CLUB SCHOOL—a college which overdoes social side of school life.

TABLE TOPPING — making the rounds of several hangouts.

GOING BOILER-PLATE—formal dress for men.

LONELY HEART—a boy who moons over one girl, refusing to date another.

TOO, TOO SLUSHY—is a lonely heart.

STATIC—trouble with a sweetheart or mother.

ORPHAN—one who flunks in his freshman year, but re-enters behind his class.

CANNON FODDER—athletic substitute who plays in practice but never in a game.

PLUMBER—engineer.

HOLY JOE—seminary student.

DOPE—student not in party.

DRIP—two degrees lower than a dope.

LION'S DEN—dean's office.

PISTOL PETE — campus nightwatchman.

ON THE HOUR—you're wanted on the phone.

ON THE CUFF—"He'll pay you Tuesday . . ."

SHARPY—a smart dresser.

SIGNIFICANT SENDER — "hot" musician like Benny Goodman.

SMALLER CITIES FORECAST

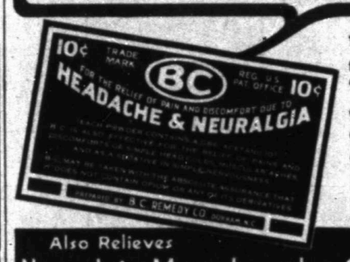

CHICAGO (AP) — Fewer people, more divorces and brighter children is the forecast Prof. William F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago makes for the United States of 25 years hence.

Children will be more intelligent but less stable emotionally, he says. Cities will not be so large as they are today and at least half the married women will work for wages.

WHAT M. C. COBEN SAID TO HAROLD SNEAD, CHIEF PILOT OF TWA

"Do you find Camels really different from other cigarettes?"

Harold Snead gives his own answer—"Camels agree with me!" he says. And millions of other smokers agree with Pilot Snead, making Camels the largest-selling cigarette in America.

ON HIS SECOND MILLION MILES! Snead knows what he's talking about when he says: "In this line of work, healthy nerves are at a premium. I smoke—all I want. Camels don't get on my nerves."

A FEW of the instruments Snead has to watch. After a trip, Hal likes a Camel. "When I feel tired, I smoke a Camel the first chance I get," he says. "Yes, I get a 'lift' with a Camel."

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS —Turkish and Domestic

AFTER THE BIG TWA SKYSLEEPER, above, was set down in Newark Airport, M. C. Coben was chatting with Hal Snead, chief pilot of the Eastern region, and Isabelle Judkins, air hostess, of Glendale, California. Hal pulled out his Camels and offered them around. And so they got to talking cigarettes!

ON DUTY, Isabelle is a perfect hostess! "I notice that most of the passengers on the TWA run prefer Camels," she says. "When conversation turns to cigarettes, the comment I often hear is, 'Camels agree with me.'"

A SWIM—then a "lift" with a Camel—and Isabelle Judkins' off-duty hours pass pleasantly. "What a difference I found in Camels!" she says. "No ragged nerves. No scratchy throat."

Baseball Stars Singing Blues As Contracts Still Unsigned

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Gather 'round, boys and girls, and get an earful of the ball-players' blues.

It's the annual spring festival of the Holdout and Howl Singing society, with a current active membership of about 40 big leaguers. Generally, the fellows are all squawking the same tune. Their contracts have too many words and not enough figures—particularly in the space reserved for salaries.

Good Clean Fun

Put it under the head of good clean fun. Take the New York Yankee situation. You remember the Yanks. That's the outfit where Joe DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig are hollering box-car numbers around $40,000. Frank Crosetti has just returned his unsigned contract, and several others, like Lefty Gomez and Bill Dickey, go to make up a total of eight individual headaches for Col. Jake Ruppert, who is a great guy for headaches.

But the Yanks are old stuff among the members in good standing of the H. and H. society. Let's meet some of the others:

There's Joe Stripp, the ex-Dodger who figures to be the Cardinals' third baseman this spring and wants $10,000 for the chore. Joe took one look at the Cards' contract offer—and saw red.

Batboy Or Ball Player?

"What," he demanded, "do you want—a batboy or a ball player for that pay?"

However, despite the Stripp problem, as well as the previously dissatisfied Dizzy Dean and Ducky Medwick, Branch Rickey is bearing up.

"Joe," he tells you, "is a born holdout. He wouldn't know what to do in a training camp on the first day."

Two of the very few experienced laborers of Connie Mack's Athletics crew are on the unsigned list. Shortstop Skeeter Newsome drew a raise, but wants a bonus of "a thousand or two, dependent on my batting average." Wally Moses explained, "I've had a couple of letters from Mr. Mack. He offered me so much; I asked for so much—and that's where it stands."

In fact, just about every club, with the exception of Detroit's satisfied and all signed Tigers, have ordered in fresh supplies of aspirin and are ready for anything.

Texan Claims Major Share Of Awards

BY RUSSELL NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14 — Jimmy Demaret, who learned his golf in Texas and still practices it there, took the lion's share of the purse and the title of San Francisco match play open champion back to the Lone Star state today.

The 27-year-old professional, born in Houston and connected with the Braeburn country club, defeated heavy hitting Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., 4 and 3 in the 36-hole finals yesterday.

Hauls Down $1,000

Demaret, topping the field after five days of play in rain and wind, hauled down $1,000 for his end. It was the most important tournament he has won, although he is the present and three times Texas P. G. A. titleholder, and he outlasted some of the finest shot-makers in the country to do it.

In the finals, Demaret played steady although not spectacular golf to take the measure of Snead, 1937 Ryder cup team member and winner of three tournaments during the current winter swing.

Demaret won the first hole with a birdie 4 and maintained his lead throughout the day. He was 3 up at the 9th, 2 up at the 18th and 3 up again at the 27th.

Snead Concedes Victory

The 33rd hole, ending the match, saw Snead concede victory after he had hooked his drive into the woods and finally reached the green in four strokes. Demaret was on in two for an easy par 4.

With rain beating down, Demaret toured the San Francisco club's tricky par 36-35—71 course in 35-40—75 for the morning round of the finals. Snead had a 38-39—77 for the same distance. The Texan finished eight strokes over par while Snead was a dozen shots over the standard requirements for that many holes.

Demaret qualified with 77-77—154. In the opening round of match play he defeated former National Open Champion Olin Dutra, 1 up. In succeeding rounds, he won from Vic Ghezzi, 3 and 2; Emil Mashie, 2 and 1; Henry Picard, 4 and 3 and from Snead by the same count.

Qualified With 155

Snead qualified with an 80-75—155 and in match play won from Stanley Kertez, 5 and 3; Neil Christian, 3 and 1; Craig Wood, 6 and 5 and Tony Penna, 2 and 1.

Demaret and his pro associates of the tournament trail were en route to New Orleans tonight for the $5,000 open event which starts there Friday. One of the exceptions, however, was Henry Picard who returned to his home in Hershey, Pa. Picard, ailing for some time, decided to forego further competition for the present.

Roy B. Henderson Taken By Death

AUSTIN, Feb. 14 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow at 10 a. m. for Roy B. Henderson, 47, athletic director of the Texas Interscholastic league, who died at the Veterans' hospital at Legion, near Kerrville, yesterday.

Henderson had held his position as athletic director since 1920. He had been connected with the University of Texas since 1914, starting as assistant director of physical education. During the World war he was basketball coach at the university.

He was a native of Winfield, Kans.

In his Interscholastic League position Henderson was called upon to make many important decisions in disputes over eligibility of players, but his work had made him widely and favorably known.

Roy Bedichek, a director of the league, lauded Henderson as an organizer and administrator, and said, "he had a keen sense of right and wrong and never flinched from his duty, no matter how hard a decision might be."

Henderson, ill since November, had been at the hospital since Feb. 1, under treatment for a liver disease.

Survivors are the widow; four children, Roy jr., 12; Lucy Ann, 17; Mary, 20, all of Austin; Mrs. R. C. Scott of Hobbs, N. M.; his mother, Mrs. Annie E. Henderson of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Will Marsh of San Francisco, and three brothers, Ralph of Fort Worth, Harry of Fort Worth, and Paul of El Paso.

Americans To Beat British

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 14. (AP)—British golfers are going to be tougher to beat this year than ever before, United States Amateur Golf Champion Johnny Goodman said today—but the stocky Omaha shotmaker favors the Americans to win the Walker cup and gives them an edge for the British amateur title.

JOHNNY GOODMAN

"I think the British are getting more of the spirit of the 'will to win'" Goodman said. "I know they will be more difficult to beat this year than ever before. They were grooming youngsters in 1936 that were really coming golfers."

Goodman, a member of the United States Walker cup teams in 1934 and 1936 and unbeaten in cup singles and doubles play, termed the British golfers "sportsmen from the ground up."

Americans Are Good

This year's American cup team is the strongest that could be assembled, the amateur champion said.

"It's a very fine team," Goodman said.

"There's John Fischer, Ray Billows, Reynolds Smith, Marvin Ward, Charley Kocsis, Freddy Haas, Charley Yates and myself, two alternates, Tommy Taylor and Don Moe, and Francis Quimet, nonplaying captain.

"We are going to be a hard bunch to stop in the British amateur. We are all good golfers, but so are many of the British and with so many 18-hole matches, anyone is liable to 'get hot' and win," he continued.

Anne Townsend Is Not Afraid Of Age And At 38 Is Seeking Place On Field Hockey Team

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14 (AP)—At an age when most women have given up strenuous sports, Anne B. Townsend plans to win a place on the United States women's field hockey team which will compete in the international tourney at London next year.

Miss Townsend

Miss Townsend, who will be 38 on March 8, starred on the American team which competed in the last international tourney held here in 1936. She will try out for the 1939 team this fall.

Prominent in social circles, Miss Townsend has participated in athletics since her schooldays, becoming nationally known as a tennis, squash, and lacrosse player and internationally famous in field hockey.

Fourteen times she has been picked an all-American in field hockey and in 1934 she was twice an all-America—in hockey and in lacrosse.

In her career she has won the Philadelphia district, Pennsylvania state and Delaware state tennis championships; she has captained the Middle States Sears cup team in the eastern intersectional women's tennis competition; she has headed the Philadelphia women's tennis association and has captured district squash singles and doubles title.

It is doubtful if any other woman has been tops in one sport for as long a period as Miss Townsend.

In between sport events, she finds time to write hockey articles for magazines and review books for newspapers.

Ben Johnson Burns Track

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Ben Johnson, who has injected new life into the indoor track season with his series of record-smashing sprint triumphs, goes to the mat with old man time twice more this week.

Johnson will be among the stars who will trek to Providence, R. I., Tuesday night for the annual meet of the Columbus club of the Knights of Columbus. Saturday night in the New York Athletic club meet, he will be back at Madison Square Garden and the track on which he twice broke the world's record for the 60-yard dash in the Millrose games.

Wins Nine Straight

Johnson has won nine straight races including heats, and is well on the way to one of the most sensational seasons ever enjoyed by an American college sprinter.

The Columbia captain won the Briggs 50-yard dash at the Boston A. A. games Saturday night over a fast field which included Perrin Walker, Lawrence Scanlon and Herbert Thompson. The time was 5.5.

Glenn Cunningham, unbeaten at the mile, heads the entry for the Bishop Keogh mile at Providence Tuesday night and then takes another shot at his favorite, the Baxter mile, Saturday night at New York.

Cunningham returned 4:10 at Boston Saturday night after running 4:15.2 Friday night over the Seventh regiment Armory's unbanked track. His best time for the Baxter mile is the 4:09.8 he turned in in 1935 and it is extremely probable that he will approach or better this figure this week, especially if Archie San Romani has recovered sufficiently from his spike wound to push the mile king.

Texas Youth Is Given Gold Medal For Heroic Deed

SHERMAN, Feb. 14. (AP)—In the twilight of a November evening a boy stood near the railroad station waiting for his bundle of papers. An aged infirm man started across the track as the fast passenger train rolled in, whistle screaming.

The boy jumped, grasped the man about the body and pulled him backward off the track just as the train rushed by.

The young hero was Dan Spalding, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Spalding of Sadler, northwest of Sherman. In connection with the dedication of a new gymnasium there recently he was awarded a gold medal in recognition of the deed from the Ralston-Purina hero commission. The man whose life he saved was J. P. Hackworth.

Toads are worth $20 each, annually, as cutworm destroyers, it is estimated.

Chicago Gets Title Bout

Arkansas And Bears Clash

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Off their home court for the first time since the opening week, Arkansas' Razorbacks risk their unsullied record and a chance at the Southwest conference title in a pair of predicted hair-raisers against Baylor at Waco on Friday and Saturday nights.

Strangely, they'll be turning fans away from the ancient chapel gymnasium at Waco, for basketball has the citizens as ga-ga as that football team did back in October. Only 1,500 can be accommodated in the Baylor gym. Three times that number probably will be turned away.

Stars To Be Feuding

Team records and titular chances have their drawing power in that two-game series, but three six-footers who go around filling up basketball nets also will pull them in. Deadpan Don Lockard of Arkansas, the league's leading looper at 118 points for eight games; Hub Kirkpatrick, Baylor's great center who has pushed through 112 points in six games and Jumpin' Jack Robbins, Arkansas' guard who is third in the scoring chase with 106 points, will be feuding.

Baylor dropped its first game last week, a 46-48 decision to Texas A. and M. in a daffy, overtime affair that caused consternation for 15 minutes because the timer's final gunshot failed to sound.

New Scoring Record

Arkansas whetted for the Baylor series on the University of Texas, setting a new conference scoring record for one game in a 74-38 triumph. On the next evening, however, Coach Jack Gray's lads pulled themselves together and it was all the Porkers could do to bring in a 42-37 victory.

Milling around in the background while playing second division teams is Southern Methodist, defending champions and a decided titular threat. The Methodists felled Texas Christian, 42-23, and stopped Rice, 43-23. The Methodists meet the Aggies at College Station Monday night.

Old Rivalry Up Again

On Friday night, S. M. U. bumps into Rice again at Dallas.

The league's old traditional rivalry—Texas Aggies vs. Texas—crops up again at Austin Saturday night. It's anybody's game. Texas was all set to shove off on a new deal with the addition of mid-term eligibles, but Rice came out of the dumps to cool them off, 42-41, at Houston last week.

The Aggies, after the Baylor victory, found Texas Christian easy pickings, putting a 43-26 pasting on the Froggies that marked the Christians' nineteenth consecutive conference defeat.

T. C. U., before playing Rice at Fort Worth on Saturday night, will pay the instituters a call on their Houston court Monday.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. — New York state's esteemed boxing commissioners have come through again in the pinch and chased another "million-dollar" gate right out of town, no doubt to the relief of Manhattan's hotel men and tavern keepers, who wouldn't want to be bothered with a lot of extra business at the start of the summer season.

If there previously had remained some slight doubt that the anticipated championship meeting between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling this coming June would be conducted at Chicago, it has been removed by the commission's masterful handling of the big Tony Galento mystery of the past week.

The commission practically relieved Promoter Mike Jacobs of the necessity of making a decision on the championship site when it socked a suspension on Joe "Yussell" Jacobs, the manager of Galento—and likewise the manager of Schmeling. It was a great break for Chicago, which estimates the value of the scrap at around $5,000,000 in fresh money.

Up to this time, Joe, to the writer's knowledge, had been neutral. He didn't care whether Schmeling fought here or in Chicago, just so the affair drew "plenty of cabbages," as Joe quaintly puts it. But now he's all for Chicago, and he has talked Julian Black, one of Louis' pilots of record, into the same frame of mind. Promoter Mike Jacobs, worried about the New York Jewish boycott of Schmeling, was eager to be swayed in Chicago's favor, anyway.

Had License Suspended

Galento, if you didn't read the breathless details, had his license suspended by the indignant commissioners because he didn't let them know he had a damaged left hand. He was to have fought Harry Thomas at the Garden Friday night, but now Jimmy Adamick, the Detroit terror, is taking Tony's place.

Everything would have been all right, probably, if the alert commissioners had let things go at suspending Galento. It turned out that he didn't have a New York boxer's license, anyhow. Tony is a forgetful fellow. But when the solons decided to take an extra smack at the Yussel for good measure, they blew the works. Possibly they forgot his ancient working agreement with Schmeling.

Record Is Remarkable

The record of the commission in its effort to keep the super-fights out of its territory is remarkable. William Muldoon, the venerated father of the body, chased the two Dempsey-Tunney bouts to foreign parts because neither Jack nor Gene would give Harry Wills a shot at the title.

It since has been pretty generally agreed that Wills wasn't anything special in the way of heavyweights, and the muscle-bound Harlem negro is on the way to being completely forgotten. But nobody could tell Muldoon that at the time.

One Accident Not Enough To Scare This Texas Girl

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14 (AP)—One accident; it takes more than that to scare a Texas girl out of the saddle.

Miss Marjorie Nichols, 18-year-old "exercise boy" from San Antonio, was back on the job today, galloping horses for the Snow White stock farm around the track at Santa Anita park.

Last Friday a riderless thoroughbred crashed into her mount, but as Marjorie tells it, the accident was distinctly minor.

Texans Always Stay On

"I didn't even fall off. We Texans always keep our seat."

For two years, at Epsom Downs and Arlington Downs in Texas, the brown-haired five-foot miss has been conditioning horses.

She's been crazy about horses since she was a baby.

And the reason she came to California, with her parents' consent, was the closing of the Texas racing season.

"I live with Jockey Eddie Yeager and his wife. My ambition is to own race horses of my own some day," she said.

Bobby Riggs Wins His Fourth Tournament In Five Starts

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—Bobby Riggs of Chicago counted the Everglades club tennis trophy among his souvenirs today after winning his fourth winter tournament in five starts.

Riggs had to go five sets to win the Everglades final yesterday from Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, 7-5, 6-3, 4-6, 4-6, 6-1.

Riggs and Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, Calif., won the doubles final from Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., and Dr. Eugene McCauliff of New York in another five-setter. The scores were 6-1, 6-2, 3-6, 3-6, 6-4.

NEW LAMESA BUSINESS

LAMESA, (Special)—J. D. Dyer, former postmaster here, announces he will open a hardware and auto parts store opposite the Dal Paso hotel, as soon as the county agent's office is moved. The county agent will move to the new federal building, where space has been reserved for him. Dyer recently bought the structure and plans to remodel the place when it is vacant.

"Willie," she ordered, "tell me how many seasons there are and what they are called."

"There are two," said Willie. "Baseball and football!"

EVERY once-in-awhile, like other people who can read, The Plainsman picks up a paper and notices where the duke and duchess of Windsor have moved from one chateau to another in their aimless search for peace and happiness.

What puzzles this column is that the chateau to which they move is always described as belonging to royalty, or to some rich American ex-patriate, and there is never any suggestion whether the Windsors have taken a lease, or not.

Being curious, we wonder if they rent those big joints, or whether soft-headed saps who want it known that they are pals of the ex-king just let 'em use their houses for the prestige—if any—involved.

While it isn't important, we'd just like to know the facts.

Incidentally, if some of the wild rumors running around about the duke are true, he has hopes of returning to England some day as the fair-haired savior of his country.

There are continental reporters who believe—or, at least, profess to believe—that in case a war between England and some other power found England being walloped, that the former Edward VIII would be brought triumphantly home to take charge, either as king or dictator.

Several recent articles have been written to that effect and whether they are true, or false, they are interesting to contemplate.

ONE of the most aggravating of violators of minor traffic ordinances is the driver who stops his automobile truck squarely within the sidewalk line while waiting on a red light. The Plainsman believes most such violations are due to misunderstanding of the ordinance rather than to deliberate thoughtlessness.

For the benefit of the driver, let it be explained he should stop his car even with the property lines and not even with the outer edge of the sidewalk lines while waiting for traffic light to change. The space between sidewalks should be kept clear for pedestrians so that they will not be forced into the path, perhaps of vehicles crossing or turning on the green.

We believe police might perform a real service by watching for such violations and when they occur, explaining to the motorist just where the vehicle should await the change in lights. The officer will find, we are convinced, that most motorists are not only willing, but anxious, to abide by the law.

Here's a good thought: (by Alice E. Allen.)

The common things of life are all so dear,
The waking in the warm half-gloom
To find again the old familiar room,
The scents and sights and sounds that never tire,
The homely work, the plans, the lilt of baby's laugh,
The crackle of an open fire.

NOBODY on this side of the pond knows exactly what is happening in Germany, although American newspaper readers doubtless are better informed than German citizens. But if smuggled reports that there is widespread "unrest" in Germany are true, do not be surprised if that nation very shortly becomes involved in an international crisis of apparent, if not real, seriousness.

Furthermore, do not be surprised if the real facts should reveal that the "unrest" in actuality should prove to be "revolution." The terms usually are used synonymously in polite diplomatic circles. If it is revolution in the real sense, the world likely will not know it until it has been crushed or has won.

But if the situation is no more than "serious unrest" as reported, we may expect Hitler to resort to the oldest of political shenanigans. That is to attempt to make the German people forget their internal problems by convincing them they are endangered by an outside foe. It is a system which works almost invariably, although sometimes it leads to war.

Thus there is a possibility—not a probability—the world stands at the edge of its most tragic event. There is the possibility that the match at last may have touched the powder keg.

Mrs. Morgan, who lives in the Petty community, 15 miles southwest of Tahoka, is distressed to death over the loss of her pet and has asked The Plainsman to help out. Here are the facts:

The missing canine is a female, weight from 10 to 12 pounds; dark yellow with white chest and a curly coat waving along the back. Not valuable or pedigreed, the dog was lost in Lubbock Friday night. Anyone having any trace of the pet will please get in touch with Mrs. Morgan's mother, Mrs. G. B. McAllister, 1709 24th street, phone 4910-J.

THERE was an interesting article in yesterday's Avalanche-Journal concerning the approaching city elections. Written by H. I. Kiefer, The Journal's city hall reporter, the article indicated that there will be plenty of political activity here before deadline for filing on March 26.

That is not surprising.

Ten years ago, and prior to that, there was little interest in city elections. But in recent years public interest has gradually but steadily mounted and likely will continue that way from here on out.

The Plainsman personally thinks it is a good thing for Lubbock—or any city—when people start taking interest in municipal politics.

It means they have the good—or, at least, what they consider to be the good—of their home town at heart. And that's something worthwhile.

SOME of our citizens doubtless read with forebodings that part of yesterday's article which said there probably would be two, or possibly three, sets of candidates for this year's three places.

A lot of our very best citizens shrink from anything that suggests cliques or organized groups, whether they be based on politics or any other public question.

The Plainsman, however, does not feel that way.

He believes political cliques are healthy as long as they do not become all-powerful.

It was never good for a country or a city to have one majority group so strongly entrenched that it did not have to brook any opposition.

The majority group in Lubbock, or anywhere else, will be a better, more careful, more serviceable group if it has at least enough opposition to keep it on its toes.

Instead of being worried over the possibility of a hotly contested election with group opposing group here this year, The Plainsman is glad to see it.

And so, quite probably, are a lot of other people.

READING an article the other day to the effect that the postoffice department has some people going over the strange names of communities over the nation with the end in view of making them more prosaic. The Plainsman recalled the village of Cut And Shoot, Texas.

Located in Montgomery county, nine miles from Conroe—which is near Houston—Cut And Shoot got its name in 1900 as the result of an incident, or, rather, as the result of a right and left-handed, plain and fancy, buck and wing brawl. And the brawl had its setting in a church background.

At the time all this happened, the folks of the hamlet were building a new church house. Disagreement arose over which end of the building the steeple should be erected on and when the smoke of battle died away Cut And Shoot had its moniker.

But to make the story even better, not since that time 38 years ago has Cut And Shoot been anything but strictly a law-abiding community. District Judge Will Browder, of Conroe, testifies that he has never known of an arrest in Cut And Shoot and insists that the village is the most peaceful spot in Texas!

A lot of time and trouble could be avoided by dropping the letter "a" from the last syllables of the names of the days of the week.

Nobody says Mon-day, or Sun-day, or Satur-day. We all say Mondy, Sundy, and Saturdy.

So why keep the "a's"?

Richest Girl In The World

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CONSTANCE CORBY — heroine; richest girl in the world.

BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.

RODNEY BRANDON — Connie's fiance.

KATIE BLYN — Connie's "double."

* * *

Yesterday: Bret finds Constance Corby is another girl now that she has become her old self again. They quarrel and Connie wins but something tells her she will not always win.

CHAPTER XVII

Connie was to win out once more in her plea for a second honeymoon, if not a trip around the world, at least part way.

"Please, darling," she coaxed Bret. "Think what fun, just the two of us visiting every odd corner on the globe, seeing things through both our eyes, enjoying them together. When we come back we can settle down to the serious business of living. You can decide what you want to do; where we want to live. But first let's have a real honeymoon, please, darling!"

It was difficult to refuse her when it seemed to mean so much to her, when he loved her so much. After all, a honeymoon was one thing that did not happen every day! He had promised not to let her money come between them. So finally Bret allowed himself to be persuaded.

They booked passage for the luxurious Prince of Wales suite, Connie's private pullman, a gift from her grandfather on her birthday, took them to New York. At the docks there was such a throng of reporters and photographers, such a huge crowd of curious spectators eager for a glimpse of the young couple, or possibly an autograph, that it was necessary to have police escort.

This was Bret's first experience as the husband of the richest girl in the world. He was not at all sure that he liked it. He said he felt as though he were some sort of freak on exhibition. He felt like a fool.

"Oh, you'll get used to it," Connie assured him. "Anyway it seems there is nothing one can do about it. I suppose people do think we are freaks of some sort. Just because of so much money. As for the newspapermen, I used to get angry with them, too, but they are just doing their jobs, you know. We are 'news,' and so they have to tell the world about us."

Bret said he supposed she was right. Nevertheless he did not think he would ever get used to being public property. He was certain he never would enjoy it. He was glad now that they were going away; they would not be "news" in other countries.

However he was to find that they still were, to the other passengers on shipboard. People stopped talking whenever the newlyweds, whose romance was so strange and thrilling, approached on their daily promenade around the deck; they stared as they made their way across the big dining room to the captain's table. When Bret and Connie played games, or swam in the big pool, or danced, there were whispered, though often audible comments, and always a group gathered as an audience. Once Bret opened the stateroom door suddenly to discover a man eavesdropping outside.

"I almost pitched him overboard," he told Connie violently. "Why on earth should people spy on us and whisper behind our backs and rubberneck? I think, honey, if you don't mind, we'll stay close to our rooms during the remainder of the voyage."

Connie said she did not mind. Poor Bret, he was getting a taste of the gilded cage in which she always had lived. She did not mind the way people behaved as much as usual; not only because she was used to it, but because it was impossible for her to mind anything as long as she had Bret.

They were very happy during this second honeymoon. Perhaps they would never be quite so happy again. It may be that each realized this, in their hearts, and so made every moment a perfect shining one.

It was fun, as Connie had predicted, seeing and enjoying everything together. In London they played at sightseeing, and the night spots. In Paris they were very gay, doing the rounds of night clubs and the Bohemian quarters; and Connie, to Bret's amazement, purchased trunkloads of gorgeous clothes of which he thought she had more than enough already. In India they obtained an audience with Gandhi, the richest girl in the world sitting at the feet of the poorest man! They ordered an exact replica, in miniature size, of the famous Taj Mahal. They stayed a month at Connie's villa on the Riviera, where the white sands were surfed by the blue Mediterranean. In Bangkok and Delhi they browsed in the street markets and bought everything from fruits to ancient hand-woven rugs. In Egypt they gazed upon the carved wonder of the Sphinx.

When they came back, after four months into which so much had been crowded that it might have been several years, they brought more than 50 trunks and boxes and barrels filled with imperial tapestries and brocades, jades and ivories, browns and jewels and furs, strange, brightly colored birds in enough cages to house the feathered inhabitants of Manhattan—and even a 10-foot alligator from Hongkong!

"What we'll do with it all is beyond my powers of imagination," said Bret.

"But, darling, we had such fun—and we had to have a souvenir of every single place and moment," Connie claimed. "Oh, Bret, I'm sorry it's ended, our lovely honeymoon. Will we always be as happy as we have been?" She clung to him, her blue eyes pleading, her sweet lips curved in a wistful smile. Almost she was afraid of such happiness as theirs; it was so complete, so perfect. Could it last forever, remain impregnable?

"We'll do our best, sweetheart," Bret promised, his dark eyes grave. "It has indeed been wonderful. I'm glad we'll have such memories to treasure and share. But happiness is something, as I've told you, that money can not buy, that is not even a gift from the gods. It is something one must strive for, work to obtain; something that lies within one's self."

"Then we'll work at it togetner," Connie vowed. "As hard as we have played and lived and loved. We will really be starting our new life together now."

How could she ever have been afraid when she had Bret? He was so strong and fine and clean. So unutterably dear.

It would be good to be back home again. To make that "home" together.

"I give up, Mister—where IS the motor?"

Today's Journal Editorial . . .

IS TODAY TO BECOME AN HISTORICAL DATE?

Today may become one of the most significant dates in history by reason of being the occasion when Great Britain will dedicate officially the fortifications at Singapore where she has attempted to create the "Gibraltar of the Far East."

More than $50,000,000 already has been spent and $50,000,000 more is yet to be spent there in the most mammoth work of its kind ever undertaken by man. It is the opinion of many military authorities that if ever there should be a war between the white and the yellow races, Singapore is more likely than any other spot on earth to be the scene of the decisive engagement. It commands practically the only water passage between the yellow orient and white Europe and is a barrier squarely in the path of Japan's confessed dream of expansion.

Whether the existence of the immense fortification has increased or lessened the possibility of eventual clash between the United States and Japan is debatable. Probabilities are, however, that the danger has been increased because the tightening of the ring on Japan's east may cause the island empire to look toward the west and toward the Americas as a market for its products and perhaps even as territory to absorb growing population.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14.—His studio believes that it really has something in this Dennis O'Keefe, the personable young fellow who was popped into the lead of "Bad Man of Brimstone." Most people believe he's a newcomer here—a Cinderella man from some vaudeville or stock company chimney corner.

The other day O'Keefe strolled into the Metro restaurant and was hailed from one of the tables by a pretty girl. "Hi, Bud!" she said. "I hear you've gone from gags to riches."

"Mary Kornman!" exclaimed O'Keefe. "Why, it seems like yesterday that I used to hold you on my lap and tell you stories."

"Know any new stories?" asked the girl. The actor blushed.

Miss Kornman, if you don't remember, was for seven years a child leading lady in "Our Gang" comedies. She came back to pictures in 1933 and now, at 19, is a fairly busy player of secondary roles.

O'Keefe, whom she hailed as "Bud," is really the Edward James Flanagan who for a year was a gagman and author for "Our Gang" pictures. He went into vaudeville, came back to Hollywood a couple of years ago, and was an extra and bit player around various studios. Clark Gable knew and liked this. So did Director Jack Conway. They called him to the attention of M-G-M executives, who changed his name and rushed him into a big picture to beat up Wallace Beery and make love to Virginia Bruce.

"The Punk" Writes It

O'Keefe (as you'll know him after this) was 18 and had just graduated from high school when he became a studio writer. The elder Flanagan was a vaudeville comic who spent his summer layoffs in Hollywood. One night at dinner, the "Gang" director, Bob McGowan, asked the senior Ed Flanagan to write some picture material. The actor said, "Why don't you hire the punk, there? He could do it."

So the punk labored mightily and brought forth a story. He knew nothing of movie requirements, and the yarn he submitted had material for about a dozen ordinary comedies.

It won him a job.

He Still Pegs Away

They gave him an office next to Hal Roach, but his and Roach's salaries were not so neighborly. For six months Flanagan got $50 a week, then a raise to $75. He turned out two original stories, which were filmed. Miss Kornman was the star, Johnny Downs and Mickey Daniels were memoers of the "Gang." Harold Lloyd had just finished his last picture at that studio, and Stan Laurel was appearing in burlesque of popular hits.

After a year Flanagan was fired, but he kept on writing for a time. Some of his stories were bought and filmed by Warner Brothers. Then the elder Flanagan died and Bud succeeded him in vaudeville. Back in Hollywood, and doing very badly, he had a turn of luck with a role in "Saratoga." There Gable and Conway noticed him. O'Keefe now is scheduled for several important leading parts. But he's still pegging away at his writing.

A Younger Discovery

There's a much younger discovery over at Warners- First National—a 5-year-old candidate for the little child mantle of Shirley Temple. This one's name is Janet Chapman. Her dimensions are 40 inches, 30 pounds.

Last spring she won a talent contest. Then came a test for a part in "Little Lady Luck." Miss Chapman sang, danced, recited and got a special call for the next day when she was tested all over again.

It turned out that, instead of the small part, she had swept through the competition of half a dozen experienced little actresses to capture the leading role.

Just to round out the story, Janet's $100-a-week contract came as a last-minute reprieve from ill fortune for the Chapman family. Her mother fell ill last fall and is still in a hospital. And on Dec. 3 her father, Burl B. Chapman, lost his job.

"Gee---Business Is Tough!"

"Sitdown Strike" Envelopes FDR, Congress And Business; Dutcher Outlines Lethargy

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 — Once again a Washington correspondent takes typewriter in hand — instead of throwing it out the window — and addresses himself to the time-worn but persistently interesting question:

"Where do we go from here?"

After a recent check on the White House, Congress and Business one is tempted to answer:

"We don't. We just sit!"

The alacrity with which Roosevelt, Congress and industry have adopted labor's sitdown strike technique is bound to impress the serious-minded as well as those who regard life as a comic strip. The plain fact is that they all have lost—or mislaid—their self-starters.

It's A Stalemate

Business, as everyone knows, blames the administration and its uncertainty as to government intentions. More or less conversely, Roosevelt — who to date has no definite "recovery" plan whatever — is waiting to see what business is going to do in the way of activity. (He is optimistic, as usual).

Rodney Dutcher

Congress is definitely conservative insofar as the New Deal is concerned, and prefers doing nothing rather than obey the President.

Anyone who wants to attempt the impossible of getting a clear picture of the situation must appreciate this fundamental fact: Roosevelt is not now strong enough to put his program through Congress (except perhaps for certain items badly tattered) and the congressional opposition, on the other hand, isn't strong enough to enact anything which is anathema to the President.

This, if one interprets both Noah Webster and current events correctly, means stalemate. It may also be said, in some cases, to mean compromise.

Tough On The Prophets

But predictions as to the details of any forthcoming rompromise are so hazardous that the Roosevelt-Congress stalemate becomes a prime causative factor in the uncertainty to which nearly all hands vehemently object.

There will certainly be a new farm aht and a new tax law and very likely some wage-hour and reorganization legislation. But Roosevelt doesn't know and Congress doesn't know and Business doesn't know what any of them will be like in final form.

Roosevelt's hops, skips and jumps between anti-monopoly crusade, cooperation with business a la Richberg and numerous other conflicting theories are gummy enough by themselves.

But when you consider that practically anything he is likely to suggest has at least a 50-50 chance of being stymied on Capitol Hill, it appears that even if he made up his mind there would be no prompt end to "uncertainty."

For instance, his highly praiseworthy, entirely innocuous and probably not very important bill to stimulate house building skinned through the Senate by only two-vote margin.

No Surrender

The President might straighten things out by capitulating completely to his conservative advisers and critics, including Southern members of Congress, or they might straighten things out by capitulating to him.

Either possibility seems remote

Sheep 5,000; sheep steady; fed lambs 6.85-7.00.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Stock market leaders pushed a little higher in languid trading today but profit taking held gains to fractions in most instances.

An early, half-hearted rally in steels sent some shares upward by a point or more, but near the fourth hour they had slipped back from the day's highs.

The ticker tape was frequently motionless. Most trading was of the cash variety, it was asserted by traders who pointed out that brokers' loans, an index of margin activity, had dropped to $572,000,000, the lowest figure since early in 1935.

Up most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, Philip Morris, Union Carbide and Boeing. In a narrower field were Chrysler, International Harvester, Western Union, Anaconda, Du Pont, Standard Oil, of New Jersey, Santa Fe and Air Reduction.

Stocks that dropped a bit included Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, and International Nickel.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 2 to 8 higher on expectations the senate will pass the farm bill, possibly today. March 8.77; May 8.89; July 8.96; Oct. 9.02; Dec. 9.00; Jan. 9.07.

Wall street commission houses and foreign interests bought actively and prices extended their advances a few points further into new high levels for the current movement.

At 8.90 for May a little more realizing and southern selling developed, causing that delivery to react to 8.87 shortly after the first hour, when the list was 6 to 8 points net higher.

January domestic consumption of 434,740 bales against 678,786 in January last year, was about as expected.

The market held close to the early highs throughout the morning on a continuation of outside buying, stimulated partly by favorable prospects of enactment of the conference farm bill report. March liquidation was readily absorbed by active trade covering.

May at midday was selling at 8.89 and the list was 7 to 9 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 1 to 2 points net higher here today.

Foreign markets were steady. Prospects for senate passage of the farm bill helped to bolster sentiment.

March contracts opened at 8.93, May at 9.02, July 9.09, Oct. 9.15, Dec. 9.17 bid and Jan. at 9.18.

Towards the end of the first half hour the general market was steady 2 to 4 points above the previous close.

Consumption figures for January of 434,740 bales were about as expected and had little effect on the price trend.

Liverpool cables said contracts were scarce there and prices advanced on higher overseas markets, continental and local buying and shorts covering in March.

Trading tapered off later in the morning but buying orders continued to dribble into the market, particularly for new crop positions.

Near mid-session prices showed net advances of 1 to 6 points over the previous close. March sold at 8.95, May 9.03, July 9.11, Oct. 9.19, and Dec. 9.19.

The volume of sales Saturday totalled 19,700 bales and open commitments were 447,150 bales, an increase of 3,800 over the previous day.

McIntyre Dies

lions.

He never faltered at his daily stint, although he frequently complained it was the most soul-trying task in the world. His regular column, written in the Samuel Pepys manner he sometimes assumed, appeared this morning.

By coincidence, the opening paragraph spoke of his beloved Gallipolis, where he had built a fine home in the oft-repeated hope of some day "going back."

Thus he wrote: "Then palavering with Ward Morehouse about his recent stop-over in Gallipolis."

Although McIntyre typified the "typical New Yorker" to his legions of readers, he never pretended to the veneer of New York sophistication. He took pride, rather, in being a "small town boy" who was forever fascinated by the passing scene of the "big city."

Friend To Celebrities

A master of both crisp and whimsical phrase-making, McIntyre delighted in one or two-word descriptions of the countless celebrities who became his friends. Among them were Irvin S. Cobb, the late Ray Long, Gene Fowler, Major Bowes and almost every shining star of the Broadway firmament.

Appropriately, his column today dealt extensively with sartorial splendor—an art he cultivated himself with almost fabulous effect. The final stanza, a contribution read:

"How neckties do accumulate!
"I buy each gorgeous one I see.
"Now I have over 98,
"But I always wear the same old three."

McIntyre himself had hundreds, and he confessed he could never resist buying vivid-hued "screamers" he saw in store windows. He had one of the largest wardrobes in New York.

He Disliked Crowds

He disliked crowds. Much of his material he gathered while being driven in his big limousine by his chauffeur, on nocturnal sorties through the narrow, twisted streets of Chinatown—a scene he loved to depict with imaginative shudders. Once he confessed wistfully he perennially hoped to hear a woman's blood-curdling scream in the darkness, but he was never quite sure whether he would rush gallantly to her defense or, as he put it, "skedaddle."

Only Mrs. McIntyre was with the columnist when he died. She said his last words were:

"Turn your face towards me so I can see you."

A shy man, frankly admitting he was "scared to death" of trying to warm up a conversation with many of the celebrities he wrote about, he remained in comparative seclusion with his wife and his beloved dogs.

Not infrequently his daily column contained a heart-moving paragraph or two on some tragic story of dogdom.

McIntyre's death marks the passing of a second famous long-time New York columnist in recent weeks. The other was Don Marquis, creator of the beloved "Old Soak," "Archie The Cockroach" and "Mehitabel The Cat." Unlike McIntyre, who amassed riches, Marquis died broke.

4 or 5. It was consigned to the First National bank of O'Donnell from the Federal Reserve bank at Dallas.

Among others arrested in connection with the disappearance of the currency were Sidney Miller and his wife of Dallas. They were arrested recently in Atlanta, Ga., and returned to Texas.

Others held in connection with the case include: Roy Cathey, about 27, who lived west of O'Donnell; Oscar Petty, about 50, also of O'Donnell, and J. T. (Buddy) Morris, 38, of Kerrville, a hide buyer.

Carl Williams was charged at Abilene with receiving and concealing stolen property taken from the U. S. mail, in connection with the case.

Scout Banquets To Be Held Tonight

Matador First Methodist church and Levelland American Legion hall will be scenes of father-and-son Boy Scout banquets at 7 o'clock tonight with an indicated attendance of approximately 125 at each, according to Earl M. McClure, council executive.

Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head professor of economics and business administration at Texas Technological college, will be principal speaker at Matador and J. Randall Whitworth will preside. The Lions club is sponsor of the dinner there. Ed Pilley will preside at the Levelland dinner, of which the Rotary club is sponsor.

McClure planned to leave today to spend the remainder of the week in the southern and southwestern portions of the council on routine business. He will attend a southwest district committee meeting at Brownfield courthouse at 5 p. m. Tuesday, preceding the court of honor to be held Tuesday night at Brownfield High school. Thursday at 5 p. m., he will attend a southern district committee meeting at Lamesa courthouse. C. C. Coleman is district chairman at Brownfield and W. K. Crawley at Lamesa.

be limited to available funds. These have averaged about $500,000,000 in recent years for the soil conservation act. Only part of this amount will go to the five major crops.

Legislators said the marketing quotas on sales limits could operate this year on cotton, tobacco, and corn, if growers of these crops voted them.

Insurance To Start

One provision of the new farm program authorizes a start in all-risk government crop insurance on wheat in 1939. For this the bill authorizes $6,000,000 administrative costs and a $20,000,000 reserve.

Legislators said that if the wheat insurance experiment is successful, this feature may be extended to other crops.

Four large government laboratories to develop new markets and uses for all farm products are authorized by the act. Each of these would receive $1,000,000 annually.

Another provision awards $1,000,000 annually to the commerce department to stimulate uses of farm products.

The bill also changes the size of some benefit checks under federal farm programs. Those which normally would be under $200 will be stepped up. A maximum of $10,000 will operate after this year.

the wide waters.

A bitter struggle was in prospect, as the Japanese must cross the river under fire.

General Chiang Kai-Shek has 400,000 troops along the north and south fronts fighting to prevent the Japanese gobbling up the huge Lunghai "corridor."

It was announced officially that Japanese victories on the Pingham front cost the Chinese 2,000 men killed. In the Hwai river sector, 1,500 Chinese were said to have been captured.

Strong Protests Made

Strong protests were made by Chinese against alleged brutality of the Japanese troops, who were accused of machine-gunning refugees, looting stores and committing atrocities against women and girls after occupying Pengpu and Hwaiyuan.

China's revitalized air force, with Russian and other foreign fliers reported among its personnel, was said to have cut the Japanese line of communication along the northern section of the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

Chinese fliers also reported destroying large quantities of Japanese military supplies and a watertower at Pengpu.

taling 175 years "for various crimes in Texas and other states." The officer quoted Johnson as saying he was "wanted from coast to coast" for robberies and forgeries and faced a 9-year sentence for forgery at the time he and his companion escaped last week from the jail at Sulphur Springs, Texas.

The inspector said Johnson told him he and Burnett, after the escape and before reaching Clinton, had robbed a motor company at Magnolia, Ark., shot a night watchman, robbed a cafe of $400 in a small town "just across the Louisiana line," and committed robberies at Shreveport, Minden, La., and a small town between Minden and Homer.

Lubbock skies late this morning were totally clouded. The barometer was unsteady at 30.4; a 12-miles-an-hour wind was blowing from the east; temperature was 46 degrees at 6:30 o'clock, and a trace of moisture had been received, said Municipal airport.

Sunday's maximum temperature was 72 degrees.

Plans For Meeting Of Texas Exes Are To Be Discussed

Plans for a meeting of Texas university exes will be discussed at a meeting tonight of the program committee, in the home of Mrs. Thord Dockray, 1508 Thirty-second St., Anderson V. Weaver, jr., chairman of the committee said.

Members of the committee are J. I. Kilpatrick, W. H. Evans, Mrs. Dockray, and Weaver.

An effort is being made to reach as many exes as possible before the meeting March 2.

Brief Bits Of News . .

Chosen For Chorus—Weldon Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bennett of Lubbock, has been selected along with nine others by Leonard Burford, Abilene Christian college fine arts faculty member, to be a member of the college's A Cappella chorus. The group is active in Abilene entertainments and participates frequently in radio programs. It will sing at 9 a. m. Saturday over WBAP station of Fort Worth.

Judge Pitts Returns—Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court here returned Sunday night from Gordon, Palo Pinto county, where he was called last week because of the serious illness of his brother, W. P. Pitts. While the brother's illness still is serious, Judge Pitts reported, he has shown such improvement that plans were abandoned to remove him to a hospital in Fort Worth.

Returns From Visit—Glen Hess, Lubbock insurance man, returned to his home Sunday night after a brief visit with his brother, Moore C. Hess, at Oklahoma City.

Meeting Is Cancelled—The usual monthly meeting of rural school superintendents scheduled to have been held today was cancelled, according to Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent. Interscholastic league activities the last few days have brought the various superintendents in touch with each other so that the regular meeting was deemed unnecessary, the county superintendent said.

Three Permits Issued — Three small building permits added $550 this morning to new construction totals here. Largest of the three was to W. S. Rogers for a partition in the building at 2201 Avenue H. New construction total for the month was increased to $72,326.90 and for the year to $190,408.

Cupid On Duty—Cupid went on duty early today in honor of Valentine day. Unusually heavy mail bags were being carried by postmen in Lubbock, said Marshall M. Brown, assistant postmaster. Both ingoing and outgoing mails were heavier due to paper lace, and cartoon greetings of lovers and jokers.

Mail Schedule Changes—Beginning tonight at 9 o'clock, a new air mail schedule for Lubbock and the South Plains will be inaugurated, Postmaster Amos Howard announced. The new service will require letters to be posted in the office before 8:30 p. m. According to present schedule, air mail leaves Lubbock shortly after noon.

Knapp To Albany — President Bradford Knapp of Texas Technological college, is to speak tonight in Albany at a banquet following a Hereford cattle sale. A show is to be held this morning and the sale in the afternoon. W. T. Magee, former county agent at Levelland, is county agent for Shackleford county at Albany.

Grass Fire On Campus—A grass fire on the campus at Texas Technological college Sunday night at 10:20 o'clock caused a run for the fire department. There was no loss.

Box To Mountainair—George F. Box, Lubbock printer, has gone to Mountainair, N. M., where he will be in charge of the Mountainair Independent. He succeeds J. D Merriman, jr., who has gone to Silver City, N. M.

Griggs At Ralls — Joseph R. Griggs, lay leader of the Lubbock district of the Methodist church, spoke before the men's Bible class of the Ralls Methodist church Sunday morning.

Dockets Are Called — Dockets for both the 99th and 72nd district courts for the week were called this morning at 10 o'clock in the district courtroom. Jury is reporting at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Judge E. L. Pitts called the 99th court docket and Judge Daniel A. Blair the 72nd court docket. Several non-jury cases were also set.

Farmers To Meet — Irrigation farmers of the county are to meet tonight in the district court room to discuss growing of vegetables under irrigation. A committee, named last week at a similar meeting, is to make its report. Robert H. Bean is chairman of the group.

Commissioners In Session—A petition of approximately 83 taxpayers asking county commissioners to reopen immediately the old Fourth street road, formerly known as the Lubbock-Emma route, was tabled this morning by the commission, which explained that the matter had been thrown earlier into litigation in district court. Action will await prosecution of that suit, which names commissioners as parties defendant. Routine business was taken up by the group, which will continue hearings this afternoon.

Minor Violations Reported In City

Police and the sheriff's department were busy over the week-end with minor violations. The police took ten persons into custody Sunday for investigation, four for matching for money and sweating game, one for fighting and two drunks.

Twelve negroes were arrested by police Saturday night and 11 charged with gaming with dice. One was charged with operating a gambling place and with carrying a pistol. Eleven made bond and will have a hearing in corporation court, probably Thursday, said Walter Wharton, desk sergeant. All pleaded not guilty.

Sheriff B. L. Parker of Lynn county reported to police the theft of a 1935 Pontiac coupe, stolen at Tahoka.

Two children were reported missing Sunday, but no further report was made as to whether they had been found or not: Four year old Jack Ormald and Kathleen Manley, daughter of J. T. Manley, 1918 Avenue P. The girl was last reported seen Saturday night in company with a boy from Brownfield.

subject of which was vague to the principal held; that they went west with two of the other men toward the railroad tracks; that they kept arguing and began fighting with their fists; that Anthony was knocked down by a blow from his assailant's left fist and, after one of the other men had joined the fight on Anthony's side, Anthony got up, only to be knocked down by his assailant's right fist.

The statement further explained that the ally of Anthony ran for a stick and that a brief battle swirled, after which hands were shaken and peace restored.

Officer Appears On Scene

Then the men went back and found Anthony apparently had no pulse. When they were working over him Story appeared, they said.

The man who said he struck Anthony explained he never had been in trouble before, having paid only a traffic fine in an Illinois town.

Anthony left his widow and two young children.

Because no x-ray examination had been resorted to, said authorities, officials were not positive what the extent of Anthony's injuries was. They said a doctor expressed belief his neck had been broken, but could not be certain.

fender of an automobile. Mrs. W. A. Turner, 51, of Madill, Okla., was injured fatally as she crossed a street in Dallas.

Clark W. Parrott, 32, was injured fatally when a fly wheel at a grist mill at Frankston flew from the shaft. The body of Ben Beach, 28, an attorney, was found beside his wrecked automobile near Hamilton. His automobile apparently struck the side of a culvert.

Youth Is Drowned

Alvin Woods, 17, attempted to swim a slough on the Trinity river 10 miles northwest of Cold Springs, Tex., and was drowned. Marvin Anthony, 28, was killed in a fight on the outskirts of Post, Tex., and three men were jailed in connection with the death.

A. W. Kessell, 55, formerly of Shreveport, was found dead at Tex-Stewart said an autopsy showed Kes-Stewart said an atopsy showed Kessell died of a fractured skull. He said a charge of first degree murder would be filed.

"Coward!" came a cry from the audience.

As Hammer challenged the speaker to "settle it outside," fist fights flared throughout the hall.

Kunze was escorted from the speaker's platform by police, although he protested at leaving.

The bluecoats broke up fight after fight, throwing participants down a stairway exit in the building, and restored order after a quarter hour of effort.

Throckmorton Man Will Take Part On Lodge Programs

John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, district deputy grand chancellor of Knights of Pythias, will take part on two Pythian programs here Tuesday.

He will speak at the weekly meeting of Pythian Luncheon club at 12:05 o'clock at Tip Top cafe, and will have charge of the initiation of a class of 25 pages at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the K-P hall.

Owner Of Six Sets Of Spoons Found In City Being Sought

Lubbock police today sought the owner of six sets of teaspoons still in their original wrappers which were found in the 1600 block on Avenue Q by Sam Roach, according to information given this morning by Bill Mabray, assistant police chief.

Mabray was of the opinion that the spoons were stolen and cached at the place where they were found. Police, however, had no report of any burglary in which property of that kind was taken, he said.

Dr. Bradford Knapp To Speak At Andrews High School

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, has accepted an invitation to address a banquet at Andrews High school building Friday night, according to information given at the chamber of commerce today.

The banquet is to be a community affair arranged in connection with the dedication of a new grammar school building. An attendance of 200 is expected, chamber officials were advised.

None Injured In Two Wrecks Reported Here On Sunday

Two wrecks Sunday, with none injured and only minor damage to cars, were reported to police.

Damage of about $40 was done to cars driven by W. D. Templeton 2413 Main and Glen Teal, which crashed at Main and Avenue M.

Cars driven by H. B. Benford, 1912 Tenth and G. C. Barrier, 1813 Avenue O, crashed at Eighteenth street and Avenue H. Damage amounted to $5.

Man Reports After Crash

LORENZO, Feb. 14 (Special)—A new version of the "hit-and-run driver" was offered in a tragedy here early Sunday morning.

A truck driver of Robertson community learned through a newspaper account Sunday morning he was being sought by officials of this area. He reported to Sheriff Jim Williams of Crosbyton immediately.

One Man Killed

When an automobile had been in collision with his truck, he stopped, only to see the car disappearing down the road, he explained. He did not know until he read the newspaper that Paul Coates, about 35, of Chickasha, Okla., had been killed in the collision.

Coates, driver of the car, apparently had been blinded by lights of the truck, said investigators. The top of the car was torn off when the car was in collision with the bed of the truck.

Drove To Lorenzo

The occupant of the car sitting next the driver had reached over and driven the car to Lorenzo to obtain medical aid. Coates was dead, however.

His brother, J. B. Coates, also of Chickasha, suffered from shock but had recovered sufficiently to return home, investigators said this morning. The body had been sent to Chickasha.

the pending bill designed to take the profits out of war.

A statement signed by Maverick, chairman of the bloc, and Rep. Izac (D-Calif), said the measure would not prevent wartime profiteering and represented "a surrender by congress, in advance of war, to a dictatorship."

The bill, recently revised, would empower the president to establish a ceiling for prices in event of war.

The house military committee will resume consideration of the bill tomorrow, and Maverick said there was a good chance it would not be reported favorably.

"It claims to prevent profiteering and equalize the burdens of war," the Maverick-Izac statement said, "and it does neither. It claims to provide for the national defense, and in no way does so. It says that it is to 'promote peace,' and does the opposite."

Train Service Halted

Train service was halted between San Francisco and Portland yesterday by what Southern Pacific officials said was the most severe blizzard in several years. The snowstorm centered in a 56-mile stretch from Dunsmuir northward to Penoyar.

The freighter Solano went aground off Marshfield, Coos bay, in southern Oregon, during a blinding rainstorm last night. No damage was reported, and coastguardsmen later refloated the vessel.

Roger C. Plaisted To Give Lectures On First Aid

Beginning a two weeks course in approved Red Cross first aid methods, Roger C. Plaisted of St. Louis, first aid representative of the National Red Cross, will lecture tonight in room 152 of the engineering building at Texas Technological college.

Sponsored by Lubbock county chapter, the course will be held five nights a week until Feb. 26. A detail of four men from each of the Amarillo, Childress, Abilene, and Lubbock highway department district offices will enroll, department heads said. Public school teachers, firemen, utilities employes, police, Boy Scout leaders, and others are expected to attend.

All persons interested, are invited, Mrs. J. E. Johnson, general chairman said. Dr. Allen T. Stewart is chairman of the first aid committee of the chapter.

Daniel J. Doherty Planning Another Trip Into Texas

Daniel J. Doherty, national commander of the American Legion, tentatively plans another trip to Texas soon with Lubbock on the schedule, according to information received today by A. C. Jackson, commander of Allen Bros. post of the Legion, regular meeting of which is scheduled at the hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Doherty was to have been to Lubbock last week but cancelled his scheduled address at the last minute. He had arranged his Texas itinerary, he explained, without realization of the immensity of the state.

Routine business is scheduled for consideration at the post meeting tonight, Jackson said. George Meiser will be in charge of the program.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. — The subject under discussion by city officials was a bill for $500 for sand used to take the skid out of icy streets.

What one official wanted to know, happened to the sand after the ice melted.

Thomas F. McGrath, of the works board, explained:

"We swept it up and used it over again."

No Gratuities

NEW YORK—Good news for those planning to see the 1939 world's fair on a budget:

The fair corporation is "favorably" considering a rigid ban against tipping.

Said Grover Whalen, president:

"Tipping is now generally regarded as unsound economically and socially."

What Does This Wink Mean?

What secret is Paulette Goddard hiding behind that merry wink? Hollywood thinks maybe the answer is that she knows she is going to get the long sought role as Scarlett O'Hara in the forthcoming movie version of "Gone With the Wind." Miss Goddard has hinted that she has been chosen, and David O. Selznick, who is casting the movie, has signed her to a contract. Selznick also has promised a "significant statement" soon. Paulette has been reported considering a divorce from Charlie Chaplin—although she hasn't admitted yet that they're married.

Tech Instructors Use Various Methods To Discourage Tardiness In Classes

A student walks into class late and an instructor makes an elaborate bow.

"Glad to have you with us today," he says and, with elaborate sarcasm, invites the student to attend "some other time."

Variety Of Methods

There is a variety of methods used by instructors of Texas Technological college to discourage the tardy.

There have been instances of professors' locking doors when about to begin lectures — and marking "cuts" for those who did not answer to roll call.

One instructor said he could not tolerate lateness of students "when they are standing just outside the door holding hands and not able to turn loose until roll has been called."

No Standard Time

Another said he could not "express my attitude toward those who deliberately walk into my classes late."

Since there is no standard time in the buildings on the campus and no warning bells, it is impossible to always have all members of the class on time, but instructors believe "the person who makes a habit of being tardy shows a lack of character, and will follow the same rule in his work after his college days are over."

Professors unanimously agree the biggest per cent of failures are caused by the cutting of classes and by regularly being late to class. They say, "The person who is guilty of one is usually guilty of the other."

Auction Sales To Continue

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Major Hereford auction sales in Texas will continue through March 17, several having been held. Among the latter were the Brown County Hereford Breeders' association, which recorded a top price of $1,001 for a heifer, and the Keith sale at Wichita Falls, which drew a top of $800, also for a heifer. The average of the Brown county sale was $261, and the Keith sale, $218.

Buyers from all cattle-raising states are attending. The animals are the pick of the leading Hereford herds in the communities in which auctions are held.

Two of the outstanding sales are held at Fort Worth in March, and are sponsored by the Texas Hereford Breeders' association, and the Southwestern National Polled Hereford association.

Sales Are Scheduled

The following sales are scheduled:

Feb. 14.—Shackelford County Hereford association, Albany.

Feb. 15.—F. W. Alexander, Albany.

Feb. 19.—Hereford breeders' sale, Hereford.

Feb. 22, 23 and 24—El Paso Hereford sale, El Paso.

Feb. 23-24—Beeville feeder-breeder sale, Beeville.

Feb. 24.—Polled Hereford sale, Brownwood, Brown County Polled Hereford Breeders' association.

Feb. 28.—Elgin O. Kothman sale, Mason.

March 3.—John B. Stribling, Rotan.

March 4.—Sweetwater Hereford Breeders' association, Sweetwater.

March 7.—Hereford sale, sponsored by San Angelo Fat Stock show.

March 7-10—Hereford sale, Amarillo.

March 16.—Texas Hereford Breeders' association sale, Fort Worth.

March 17.—Southwestern National Polled Hereford sale, Fort Worth.

Short Course To Be Held In Aggieland

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 14 (Special) — In response to numerous requests by beef cattle raisers, the animal husbandry department of Texas A. & M. college will offer a beef cattle short course which will be held for the first time at the college Feb. 21-22.

D. W. Williams, head of the animal husbandry department and director of the short course, has announced a program designed to fit the needs of the beginner and small purebred breeder as well as the large commercial breeder. Problems of feeding, breeding, care and management, beef animal diseases, preparation of stock for show purposes, and methods of wintering the herd will be discussed by staff experts of the college, including the teaching, extension and experimental divisions.

A livestock show will be held in connection with the course Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 22, when college animals to be exhibited at the Houston and Fort Worth Fat Stock shows will be on display. Among the animals to be shown is Nita Anxiety II, purebred Hereford heifer, presented to President Franklin D. Roosevelt on the occasion of his visit to the college the past Spring. The animal will be shipped to the President's prize herd at Warm Springs, Ga., within the next few weeks.

A. B. Conner To Be Honored At Dallas

DALLAS, Feb. 14 (Special)—Business and agricultural leaders of the Lubbock section are expected to attend the Dallas Agricultural club meeting, Monday, Feb. 21, at 6:30 p. m., in the Jefferson hotel, honoring Director A. B. Conner of the Texas agricultural experiment station.

Recognition of the personal contributions of Director Conner to Texas agriculture, and of those made by experiment stations under his leadership, is the purpose of the state-wide meeting.

Appreciation of the work of substation No. 8 is expected to cause a large number of leaders from the Lubbock area to attend, according to A. L. Ward of Dallas, program chairman for the dinner.

Advance reservations for the meeting, which is open to the public, are being sent to George B. Latham, 1100 South Ervay, Dallas, secretary of the Dallas Agricultural club.

Director Conner's contributions to national agriculture will be discussed by Director C. T. Dowell of the Louisiana experiment station at the meeting. Victor H. Schoffelmayer, Dallas News agricultural editor, will discuss Director Conner's contributions Texas agriculture, and R. E. Dickson, Spur station superintendent, will speak on "Conner, Our Chief."

An up-to-date Buyer's Guide

Your new telephone directory, with its Yellow Pages, is a complete, up-to-date guide to the city's stores and services. Nowhere else can you find so much information so quickly, so easily.

Want the name of that beauty parlor — Jeeves, or Jimpson, or something like that — which is over on Park Avenue? Then look under "Beauty Parlors"—and there's "Jamison, Jane, 1613 Park" just like that!

Or want to buy a Triple X Tire? Easy! Look under "Tires" in the Yellow Pages; there's the Triple X trade mark—and there's the list of dealers who sell them.

Or suppose you need wrecker service badly at 1 a. m. Look under "Garages" for one that says "Open all night" . . pick up your telephone . . and the wrecker will soon be on its way.

For your convenience, doctors, dentists, and other professional men often show office hours under their names in the Yellow Pages.

Next time you need buying help, go to the Yellow Pages and see how easy it is to find the information you want.
