J. F. BARRETT IS HELD FOR SHOOTING

ACCUSED SLAYER BEING HELD IN HEREFORD JAIL TODAY

(By Associated Press)

DIMMITT, June 9.—J. F. Barrett, whose daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nona Barrett, 20, was found shot to death Monday morning in her yard, 20 miles southwest of here, today was charged formally with the murder.

Barrett, arrested Monday night by Sheriff John Flanagin near House N. M., is being held in jail at Hereford.

Both Sheriff Flanigan and Charles Dean, county attorney of Castro county, said they would fight any effort to secure bail for Barrett.

In Jail At Hereford

In jail at Hereford, Barrett is reported to have made a statement to Dean. None of the details of the statement was made public, but Dean intimated Barrett said "it was just a fuss between myself and my daughter-in-law."

Mrs. Barrett's bullet-riddled body was found a short time before noon Monday by George Keller and members of his family, who live two miles from the Barrett place.

Child In House

Officers said Mrs. Barrett was at home with her 10-month-old baby when the shooting occurred. Two loads of shot from a 12-gauge shotgun took effect, one in her left arm and the other just below the heart. A third charge missed.

After the shooting, the alleged slayer took the woman's baby to his own residence, about two miles away, then went to the Keller home and asked Keller and his wife to accompany him. They found Mrs. Barrett's body lying in the yard. While Keller telephoned to county officers, the man disappeared.

Officers said they had been unable to obtain any details regarding the shooting, or to learn any probable cause. The husband of the slain woman said he knew of no trouble between his wife and the accused relative.

"WAVING GIRL'S" VIGIL IS ENDED

After a 41-year-old vigil of day and night on lonely Elba Island, at the mouth of Savannah, Ga., harbor, Miss Florence Martus, (below), famous "waving girl" known to mariners the world over, is ending her picturesque duties to take residence in Savannah with her brother retiring keeper of the light on Elba Isle. At the age of 19, Miss Martus began to hail passing ships, never failing to greet them, incoming or outgoing, with a wave of white cloth by day and a lantern by night. A tradition has grown up about the widely known "waving girl" which explains her long vigil. When still a young girl, her sweetheart sailed away and never returned. She never married and the sailors say she hailed each passing ship in the hope that one of them would bring her lover back.

VALUE OF NEW "SCIENTIFIC" FOODS TO BE TOLD PUBLIC BY ASSOCIATION OF MEDICAL MEN; SURVEY IS MADE

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—The American Medical association today made public details of its latest health move for informing the public about the value of the new "scientific" foods.

This work superimposes upon the already established "pure food" practices an analysis of the health effects, and an attempt to get away from any risk that what is one man's food may be another's poison.

It seeks to direct manufacturers and advertisers to give the public information which will build up health as well as sell food.

Results Reported

The results of the first year of this compaign were reported today by a committee which offers to examine all foods merchandised under a label. If it accepts them, they are permitted to display an approval seal. Of 297 foods submitted during the year 65 were accepted.

"Foods without specific 'health' or nutritional claims are no longer 'exempted' but given the full privileges of 'accepted foods.' This action was necessary as 'accepted foods' by virtue of the 'seal' have unjustified merchandising values over equally meritorious exempted foods."

Describes Examples

Describing without identification examples of its work, the committee states:

"One of the chief cereals on the market will have to be renamed because of its deceptive name. Another accepted national cereal brand must be relabeled or rejected. The labels of two other well known cereals are being wholly

BABY ALARM SYSTEM IS GROWING IN POPULARITY; UNIQUE METHODS USED

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 9 — The baby alarm system seems to be growing.

Louis M. Strauss, president of an electric company, reported today that there were at least a dozen sound amplifying systems in use by Chicago fathers and mothers to enable them to go out to play bridge or shop and keep tab on what the baby is doing at home at the same time.

One couple, he said, had a microphone and loud speaker device connected up with the home of a woman neighbor so arranged that she can hear the baby whenever the child cries.

Each time she hears the child cry she goes to see what is the matter, and is understood by Strauss to be paid on a "per cry" basis.

"Another man," said Strauss, "has attached a microphone to the baby's crib and set up a loudspeaker by the telephone. He also has an automatic receiver-lifting device on his telephone so that it goes up every time it rings.

When both he and his wife go out and the baby is alone, they call up frequently and the receiver goes up. They listen to baby for a minute and if he is all right they go on with their shopping or bridge."

CLARA'S FILM CAREER ENDS

"IT" GIRL IS FREED FROM CONTRACT TO MAKE MOVIES

(By Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 9—The career of Clara Bow as a motion picture star was ended today, temporarily at least.

Officials of the Paramount studios announced last night they had granted her request for a release from her contract extending to next October and calling for two more pictures.

Whether the girl who gave a new meaning to the word "it" will ever be seen again in the films remained problematical. An exchange of amenities accompanied the termination of her six year association with Paramount—an association punctuated with numerous tempestuous events which culminated recently in a nervous breakdown which was given as the real reason for the severance of relations.

Wishes Her Success

In a letter notifying her that the contract had been "torn up" to air her recovery of health, B. P. Schulberg, general manager for Paramount said, "I know your career on the screen is not at an end and that you will go on from this point to greater triumphs."

Miss Bow, expressing appreciation for the friendly spirit marking the dissolution of the contract and gratitude for conditions which would permit her to regain her health more quickly, said she had no plans for her future in pictures or on the stage.

CAVERN ROUTE NOW CROSSES NATION

U. S. 62 HIGHWAY NOW RUNS FROM NIAGARA FALLS TO BORDER

Lubbock is on an international highway connecting Mexico and Canada as a result of federal designation of Carlsbad Caverns highway as U. S. Highway No. 62 from Carlsbad N. M. to El Paso, and from Maysville, Ky., to Niagara Falls.

The Carlsbad Caverns route, which had assumed the name of Carlsbad Caverns U. S. No 62 highway, received additional federal designation at a meeting yesterday at Chicago of the American Association of Highway Officials.

To Grant Improvements

Federal improvement finances will be granted as a result of federal designations. The Carlsbad highway already had federal designation from Carlsbad to Maysville, from which the route traverses Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York.

The Carlsbad highway association proposes to extend the route to Mexico City via Juarez, Chihuahua, and Torreon, and from Niagara Falls to Montreal, Canada.

Constructing Highway

Construction of a 22-foot highway from Juarez to Chihuahua by the state of Chihuahua and the republic of Mexico is under way, and the strip will be graveled and asphalted, according to J. H. Hankins, president of the Caverns association, of Lubbock. Completion of the road is expected in 12 to 15 months, he said.

The Mexican government expects to promote a $25,000,000 bond issue, the bonds to be floated in America and used in building the highway from Juarez to Mexico City, Hankins said.

Seven cents of a gasoline tax of 11 cents a gallon in Mexico would be used to retire the bonds, Hankins explained.

Carlsbad Caverns U. S. No. 62 Highway association hopes to make its route international highway No. 1 from Mexico City to Montreal, he said.

The present route of about 3,000 miles probably is the longest highway having a single designation in America, Hankins opined.

Formed in 1929

Carlsbad Caverns Highway association was formed at Quanah in November of 1929, and subsequently incorporated the federal desig-

TIMES HAVE UNDERGONE A CHANGE

TRAVELING MAN OF TODAY FAR REMOVED FROM "DRUMMER" OF YESTERDAY, IT APPEARS

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9 (AP)—The traveling man who formerly was known as a drummer and who wore a brown derby and a checkered vest told risque stories, ogled the small town belles, sat up with other drummers at all night poker games in hotels and wound up by padding his expense account is a thing of the past.

This was asserted in one form or another by virtually all of the officials of the Travelers Protective association which is in its annual convention here. President W. S. Murchison of Raleigh, N. C., said the traveling salesman today is a practical psychologist, leading the nation out of depression.

Albert J. Stimpson, who has been selling drugs for 40 years, explained about the dirty stories. In the first place, he told newspapermen there are no new stories. What with the radio and certain types of magazines everybody hears the latest yarn at about the same time. Then, too, the salesmen haven't the time.

The long train rides and the long layovers in snowbound towns are things of the past. Good roads and competition mean there must be hurry and alertness and "no foolin'."

WATERS SWEEP HOUSE AWAY LAST NIGHT

BODIES OF TWO FOUND TODAY IN CREEK NEAR TURKEY

(By Associated Press)

TURKEY, June 9.—Three children of the Rass Fuston family, living nine miles north of Turkey, were drowned last night when a cloudburst amounting to nine inches of rain swept down Kemp creek and washed the children and their mother from the house.

The children drowned were two boys, Reon, 9, and Kelsay, 13, and a girl, Cleone, 11. The mother escaped by clinging to a tree. She attempted to rescue the children as she saw them being swept past her by the flood but was unable to hold them. The waters receded at 4 a. m. today and she was rescued by neighbors.

Father and Son Away

The father and another son were in Turkey and were unable to return home because of the flood.

Early today the body of Reon was found in a drift 200 yards from the home and shortly after nine a. m., the body of Cleone was was found lodged in a barbed wire fence at a bridge, two and a half miles downstream. At noon, the body of Kelsay had not been recovered.

Seeking Child's Body

Searching parties are hunting the body of the oldest Fuston child, for corpses of other persons possibly drowned, and for persons stranded. City Marshal M. A. Holloman of Quitaque said.

A cloudburst amounting to nine inches of rain began at about 5:30 p. m. Monday and continued until midnight. Light hail fell.

Transportation Paralyzed

Culverts and bridge were washed out, transportation being virtually paralyzed and communication hampered. The Fuston home was among several which swirling waters of Kemp creek demolished in the same neighborhood.

Across the stream, the home of Vesta George, farmer, was swept away by the water but the family escaped to higher ground before the flood struck.

It was impossible to detour the trains as quickly as the track could be repaired it was explained at the offices here. Hard rains are reported at Plainview and other towns in that area, but it was especially heavy at Quitaque.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

PRAISE TOTS

In these columns I have played up the importance of praise. But how shall we prevent conceit if we are generous with praise? Here are suggestions:

Make praise specific; don't give blanket praise. Exercise discrimination. Don't praise the child for the things he has not acquired by his own efforts. Don't therefore, talk about his pretty curls or attractive eyes, nor about how smart he is. Do your utmost, also, to keep other persons from doing so. But when he shares his toys with other children, makes self-denials for the satisfaction of others, or achieves something by patient effort, let him enjoy generous approval. Even then, be sure to slide the standards higher gradually so that praise will not be too easily won.

When he excels in many things see that he observes the excellence by others of his age in some things he does not do so well, and cultivate in him the habit of admiring their achievement, of expressing strong enthusiasm for the success of his fellows.

Nothing harder, perhaps. The whole principle of sportsmanship is involved. As the child grows old enough to play with others, the more children of his age he freely mingles with, the more opportunities he has to learn sportsmanship.

That child who from the time he can toddle, has played freely with all the other children of his size and age of the neighborhood, always getting into the rough and tumble, the arguments, fights and quarrels, and physical contests of the home and school playground, learning to take his own part, settling his own controversies, is hardly likely to be a conceited child. Almost always then, he will come in contact with others who can excel in something. Through such contacts he learns due humility.

If such wide contacts are cultivated from early childhood, the social adjustment by the child comes rather gradually and with a minimum of pain. Unfortunately a good many children who had not had such normal social training early must suffer very keenly in their later social discipline. Some profit from this discipline and grow very likable; others don't. Leave it to the gang, or fraternity to deal with conceit. Hazing which does not endanger health or life is very desirable, no doubt. But for the hazing Joseph of the Bible story got from his brothers he might have gone on as the conceited prig he had been. They made a man of him. But how terrible the ordeal.

Interpreting the childhood conceit of Joseph in the light of human nature and human psychology, we see a good sample of a very brilliant, pampered child, hated by his own brothers because his parents had spoiled him, given him too much attention, and had shielded him from the normal, early social education.

But Joseph must have had some other training at home which was good and which brought rich dividends once he had had the conceit taken out of him. Joseph must have been a very bright lad, too. Probably he had an I. Q. approaching 200.

Some brilliant children of today will, in some respects, be more fortunate than Joseph was, not spoiled or pampered by their parents, but given the opportunity to learn reasonable humility and sportsmanship by continuous contact with many other children. But there are also many other bright children who will grow up so conceited that they will not even have the privilege to be hazed, or, if they do, will not profit from it as did Joseph.

Good? Of course they're good. If they weren't—well, ship them all off to Greenland and see what would happen back home. Yes, these big boys are long on courage—and resourcefulness, too. Give them a "hand," everybody! They're always ready to lend you one.

Shiny silver buttons don't make a good officer. Or glittering promises a good cigarette.

Under CHESTERFIELD'S white jacket of pure French cigarette paper is a milder, better-tasting smoke—and it's what's "under the jacket" that counts.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder—smoke as many as you like. CHESTERFIELDS taste better—you know that the minute you light up!

More men and women are changing every day from other cigarettes to CHESTERFIELDS.

EAGAN IS HEAD OF ALUMNI

LUBBOCK MAN ELECTED MONDAY NIGHT IN ANNUAL MEETING

Texas Technological college Alumni association Monday night elected Ethridge Eagan of Lubbock as president at the close of the association's annual commencement dinner. Eagan was a member of the class of 1929.

Miss Sylva Wilson, B. A. '27, was chosen as vice-president. C. W. Ratliff was re-elected as athletic council representative. The dinner-meeting was at the Hilton hotel.

Selection of a secretary, voted by the association to be a paid and permanent position, will be made by the executive group.

75 In Attendance

Approximately 75 graduates and members of the 1931 class were present. Members of the administrative council of the college were also present.

J. W. Jackson, retiring president, was toastmaster.

Following introduction of every member present and a few brief remarks by the president, the members of the 1931 class were welcomed into the association by C. W. Ratliff. Response was made by Floyd Wooldridge, president of the class.

Work Is Outlined

Outlining the work of the alumni association of the college, Dr W. A. Jackson, class sponsor, declared that graduates of the institution were good will ambassadors of the college." "It is your job in the future," Dr. Jackson said, "to create good will for your college of which you will always be a part. Many an institution of the state was in existence many years before it had an alumni association the size of Tech's at the present time, and now is the time for graduates to begin working for their school."

He praised the work of the 1931 class.

President Paul W. Horn, giving his annual address to the association, pointed out a number of instances where graduates of the college have been recognized as leaders in their chosen fields. He told of receiving praise from higher institutions for work done by Tech graduates.

Citing the deaths of George F. Baker, David Belasco, Dr. A. A. Michelson and Dr. S. P. Brooks, President Horn talked on "Properly Evaluating the Right Things in Life." He declared college ideals should be reflected in ideals of success.

Dr. Horn praised the work of the athletic department and stated the board of directors was entirely in support of the present administration.

"We're just beginning." Coach Pete Cawthon declared when called on to make a talk on the athletic situation at the institution. He told of the work of the department in the last year and of plans for the future, announcing the 1931 football schedule.

Following his talk, a report was made by the secretary after which the election of officers was held.

U. S. Treasurer's Name Is Signed To Only One Check

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Walter O. Woods, treasurer of the United States, signs just one government check a month. It's President Hoover's pay check.

Although directly holding the purse strings in business involving more than three billion dollars annually, quiet Mr. Woods actually applies his pen only on this draft for $6,250 toward the $75,000 yearly salary of the president.

He does have his name on federal paper money, however. His signature is to be seen on the lower left side of the front of each bill. That of his chief, Secretary Mellon, is on the right.

Another duty of the treasurer is supervision of the daily statement on governmental finances. This shows the condition of the treasury and expenditures by the month and year to date, and gives comparisons with the same periods in the previous year.

Redemption of worn or partially destroyed currency is another matter under the treasurer's jurisdiction. The numbers and amounts of bills must be checked before new currency is issued.

U. S. IS TO LOSE ON CANADA TRADE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 9—A commerce department study of the Canadian tariff revision forecasts that the higher duties may result in American concerns losing $25,000,000 annually in exports to the dominion.

Assistant Secretary Klein, a leading authority on foreign and domestic commerce, in announcing the findings of the study last night, said exports equalling approximately four per cent of the 1930 shipments to Canada would be "imperiled" by the changes.

Last year Canada absorbed American goods valued at $639,325,000, while United States' total exports amounted to about $3,500,000,000.

Klein made this statement after Secretary Stimson announced no protest would be made to Canada over the revision because this country considered tariff as a domestic question exclusively.

Commerce officials said only time would tell just what final effect the tariff changes would have. While business in a number of lines is threatened they added conditions might arise to wipe out the danger in some of them at least.

SPYING ON SPORTS

"Hey, you, you two-bit, typewriter bug, why'dja gimme a time at bat when I smacked that sacrifice to score th' book ahead o 'me, huh?" Your pardon, Mr. Baseball Player, but that was no sacrifice—that was an out, a run and a time at bat. Read the rules, you gummy. In other words, it says that sacrifice flies have been eliminated from baseball, no matter how many runners cross the plate before the palooka in center field can peg in. Why'ntcha smack it a little harder and run in you-self?

Is there anyone present who has not heard the story of the Panhandle Professional Baseball league, or who cannot repeat it verbatim? Fine, we thought not. Now that you've had time to think it over, what do you think about it? Do you think night baseball will be successful here? Do you believe Lubbock will support baseball at all? organized baseball, we mean? Or what are your ideas and reaction to all of this chatter, this planning, this hoping? This is your column; read it and write it. If you don't want your name to appear in public print, say so in the letter, but tell us your name so we'll have a secret.

Seriously, if either of the cash customers or both have any ideas that we might incorporate into a column for you or that you would like to have aired, write us a letter—a nice letter, preferably, stating your opinions on the proposed professional league, right baseball, et cetera.

Coach Crip Golightly is gone; Coach Henry Frnka is gone, and it would seem that our golfing days are about over until a stranger comes to town or until somebody's game goes haywire. None of the really good golfers will play with us

But that's our alibi, and we're stuck on it. If you haven't got the nerve to play in the city championship tournament next week you'll have to think up another excuse, and make it public. At least 150 men of Lubbock should enter the qualifying round at the Meadowbrook course next Wednesday, June 17, for there are easily that many golfers in town who play with more or less regularity. It should be a big tournament and if you are not among those who tried to qualify your membership, if any, should be revoked and if you are not a member of any local club they should not allow you to play on the courses until you do become a member.

Everybody is eligible to compete in the city open, however, and you do not have to be a club member at all. There will be a small entrance fee which will take care of all green fees, and if you do not get your money's worth out of it and still feel like you're cheating somebody, it is only because you could not qualify.

* * *

Famous last words of about the next man to ask us: "Do you think this Panhandle League will go over?"

* * *

There's been too much talk and not enough action in connection with the business of getting Lubbock started in the Panhandle Professional Baseball league. A half day of concentrated effort (where have we written that before?) would put the thing over.

Here's what the camera saw in the game Sunday at Amarillo when Clarence Hodges, the Tech half back, basketball star and Hubber second baseman, tried to score from third after hanging a three-bagger, when Gaither attempted a sacrifice bunt to the pitcher. But the camera was a bit early, for the next quarter-second saw Hodges slide, the opposing catcher drop the ball and Hodges rise, dust himself as if to walk off with the winning run. But he slid plumb past the plate, the catcher picked up the ball and as Hodges, who will claim to his dying day that he sat on the plate, walked off said catcher tapped him lightly on the back halfway between the plate and the dugout and Umpire Dandy Lee jerked a pert thumb up and backward. And there was the old ball game.

Raymond "Eve" Marshall earned for himself a contract yesterday by handling five chances for five putouts in left field and hitting .500, including a triple in the last inning to account for Lubbock's 1-0

NINTH INNING IS FATAL TO YANKEES

TRIBE WINS 4 TO 1; ATHLETICS CONTINUE TO REGISTER WINS

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charles Rufus Ruffing of the Yankees saw enough of the Cleveland Indians in about five minutes yesterday to last him the rest of his life.

For eight innings they were docile. During that interval they obtained just one single. The Yanks, meantime, had grouped two of their three hits off Wes Ferrell to score a run in the fifth.

YESTERDAY'S HEROES

WESLEY FERRELL, Indians—pitched his ninth victory of the year, holding the Yankees to three hits. EARL AVERILL, Indians—his eighth home run of the campaign drove in the runs that sank the Yankees. JIMMY FOXX, Athletics—hit two home runs and a single, driving in four runs, to help subdue the Tigers. MARK KOENIG, Tigers—made four of his team's seven hits off Lefty Grove. CLARENCE MITCHELL, Giants—held the Cubs to five hits and knocked in two runs with a double. OSSIE BLUEGE, Senators—belted White Sox pitching for four hits in as many tries, driving in three runs.

Then The Ninth

The Indians jumped the reservation in the ninth. Dick Porter started it with a triple down the left line, whereupon Johnny Hodapp delivered a single that brought him in. Earl Averill belted a homer into the right bleachers, and then Morgan drew a walk and loped in on Myatt's triple. That was how it ended, 4 to 1. In addition to marking Ferrell's ninth victory in eleven games, the triumph gave the Tribe twelve out of its last fourteen and five out of seven for its present eastern invasion.

Lefty Grove and Jimmy Foxx divided honors as the Athletics mauled Detroit again, 7 to 3. Grove, allowing seven hits, became the first pitcher in either league to register 10 victories this year.

Foxx Leads Assault

Foxx led the champions assault with a brace of homers and a single.

Walt Stewart southpawed the Boston Red Sox into submission, 4 to 0, pulling the Browns out of the American league cellar.

An eight-run outburst in the second inning featured Washington's 18 to 4 win over the Chicago White Sox. For the eighth straight game the Senators used only one pitcher, Bob Burke limiting the Sox to eight hits.

The New York Giants won their second victory out of seven starts in the west when Crafty Clarance Mitchell set the Cubs down, 6 to 1.

Rain prevented the only other tilt in the nation, that between the Phillies and Pirates at Pittsburgh.

DALLAS AND FORT WORTH ARE FAILING IN LUCK, IT SEEMS; CATS ARE STILL SLIDING AFTER DROPPNG TO 3RD POST

(By Associated Press)

Monday was indeed blue for Dallas and Fort Worth who are not having very much luck in their ambitions to click as 1931 Texas league pennant winners.

The Cats, who slid from first place to third and are still sliding, were completely in the dark Monday night at Fort Worth where they lost to Wichita Falls, 11 to 5. The Cats rallied for four runs in the last of the ninth after going scoreless seven consecutive innings, but it was just a four run rally for the Spudders whipped McCabe and Collard for 19 hits.

Cast-off Triumphs

The old story of a cast-off getting revenge was uncovered at Dallas Monday night where Ralph Erickson, southpaw who failed to make good with Dallas, made Dallas be good by limiting the Steers to five hits as Shreveport won 4 to 2. Erickson out-pitched big Lou Garland who gave up seven hits and a bad sixth inning when the Sports chased in three runs.

Evidently there's seventeen thousand people in Houston who care not for their sleep. Anyhow, an estimated crowd of 17,600 saw the Houston Buffaloes and Beaumont Exporters play a doubleheader Monday night, the first in the Texas league this season. The Buffaloes won the first game 10 to 6.

Just before the start of the first game, Jerome "Dizzy" Dean announced he had postponed his wedding scheduled Wednesday night in the Houston park, so in order to put on some sort of ceremony the Buffaloes scored six runs in the first three innings to take a lead the Exporters could not overtake.

Dean went to the mound for the Buffaloes in the second game just one hour before mid-night, and put the Buffaloes within half a game of first place by handing the Exporters a special "Dizzy" Dean defeat, 3 to 1.

WEST BROWNSVILLE, Pa.—D. G. Paling and John Thompson ran for the office of borough tax collector last fall. Paling defeated Thompson by one vote. Recently Paling resigned the office and recommended Thompson for the job. The city council appointed Thompson, but he refused to take the office on the grounds that it would be too difficult collecting taxes during present hard times.

LEGION-LIONS IN CITY LEAGUE LEAD

Manager O. B. Conley's Legion-Lions baseball team took undisputed possession of first place in the City league standing by defeating the touted Texas Utilities aggregation, 5 to 2, in a six-inning setto at Merrill Park yesterday. The game was one which had been postponed two weeks ago.

Sam Scott and Chuck Webster gave up five bingles but the Utilities team permitted three errors. The Utilities nine scored twice in the first off Jones, who allowed four hits while going the route but was effective in the last five innings.

The Avalanche-Journal and Texas Utilities teams meet this afternoon at Merrill Park in a regular schedule game while the Rainbows and Wholesalers play at Tech Field. Both games are slated to begin at 6 o'clock.

HUBBERS TO MEET SLATON PLAYERS

The Lubbock Hubbers, winners of five victories in eight starts this season, will meet the Slaton independent baseball club at Merrill Park tomorrow afternoon. It will be the first meeting of the clubs this season.

Formerly known as the Santa Fe club of Slaton, the team does not go by that name but is said to be as strong if not stronger than the old Santa Fe club, which steam rolled nearly every team it met.

The Hubbers divided a doubleheader with the Amarillo Aviators at Amarillo last Sunday, taking the final game by a score of 1 to 0 after losing the opener, 6 to 5.

Willis Knight probably will pitch for the Hubbers tomorrow, with Gaffey or Shaw catching. The lineup will consist largely of the men who have been playing the positions all season.

ELEVEN AMATEURS TO BE INCLUDED IN FIELD SEEKING NATIONAL OPEN TITLE; SCHEIDER, CARPENTER, BUTLER IN LIST

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 9—Eleven amateurs will be in the field seeking the National Open golf championship, starting at the Inverness Club, Toledo, O., July 2.

The principal hopes among the simon-pures will be George Voigt and T. Philip Perkins of New York, the latter a former British amateur champion. The other amateurs who have gained a place in the field are George Dawson and Johnny Lehman of Chicago, Lester Bolstad of St. Paul, Tom Cooley of Tucson, Ariz., Joe Pazzullo of Wanumetonomy, R. I., Chester O'Brien and Bryan Winter of St. Louis, Sam Parks, jr., of Pittsburgh, and Johnny Fischer, Ft. Thomas, Ky.

Other Places Filled

Originally 53 professionals, given exemptions from qualifying play, automatically moved in to the Inverness starting field without swinging a club. Yesterday the other 97 places were filled with nation-wide 36-hole qualifying rounds in 20 districts.

The exempt list included all those who finished in the first 30 and ties at Interlachen last year and a host of foreign players, including ten members of the British Ryder Cup team.

Two veterans, Al Espinosa of Chicago and Wiffy Cox of Brooklyn, carried off individual honors in yesterday's qualifying round. Espinosa compiled the lowest 36-hole total in the country, 135, to lead the Chicago district. Cox broke the south course record at the Westchester club at Rye, N. Y., with a 64 in his first round and then added a 74 in the second round to lead the New York district by a wide margin.

Francis Scheider, medalist in the southwest district, played at Dallas, ranked eighth in the country's scores with 74-71—145.

THREE MEN FROM SOUTHWEST QUALIFY

DALLAS, June 9 (AP)—Three golfers prepared today to seek glory and cash as representatives of the southwest at the National Open tournament at Toledo next month, after their emergence from the qualifying rounds at Brook Hollow Country club here yesterday.

The three were Francis Scheider, professional at Brook Hollow, Dallas, Hugh Carpenter, assistant pro at Cedar Crest, Dallas, and Tony Butler, pro at the Corpus Christi Country club.

Scheider easily led the field with at 74-71—145, but the other two had to shoot their way out of a three-way tie with Jack Burke of Houston, who tied with Carpenter and Butler at 151 strokes for the 36 holes.

Allison Wins First Texas Tennis Match

FORT WORTH, June 9. (AP)—While his former Davis cup buddies are on a high sea, bound for France and another try at the Davis cup, Wilmer Allison, Texas' biggest gift to the tennis world, opened the annual Texas District tennis association tournament here yesterday with an easy victory. Allison, 1930 Davis cup member and decliner of the same honor this season, yesterday defeated H. Pickens of Fort Worth, 6-2, 6-0.

Allison's match was ranked as the feature of the opening day of the state championship grind in which 76 players announced ready to serve yesterday morning in the men's singles.

Yesterday, Allison played under wraps to beat Pickens with a short drop shot. But today, Allison meets in his second round match, Johnny Maddox of Dallas and Southern Methodist university.

Tournament officials seeded sixteen players with Allison first and Jimmy Quick of Dallas second. All these seeded players who played yesterday, proved themselves worthy of the honor by triumphing. Quick breezed through without effort yesterday, defeating H. W. Lawrence of Fort Worth, 6-2, 6-2.

J. B. Adoue Sr., of Dallas who captained the 1931 Davis cup team into Mexico for its international matches several weeks ago, proved that age can meet the competition offered by youth in his 6-3, 6-4 victory over Howard Walsh of Fort Worth.

victory in the nightcap. It was his third run of the day.

Marshall made some beautiful catches in left field, one that drew particular applause, snapped above, when he leaned over the foul line to make a horizontal catch and break up an inning that might have spelled disaster. The Amarillo White Sox will be fortunate in having him in their lineup.

What must you pay for the car you would like to own? Can you get a car that is well built, fast, easy to drive and good to look at—for the price you want to pay?

Indeed you can—for in Pontiac you get so much for your money. It is an outstanding General Motors value.

For instance, if you owned a small car in the past, you will find you can buy the fine Pontiac today for about what that small car cost you. Yet what extra value Pontiac gives you!

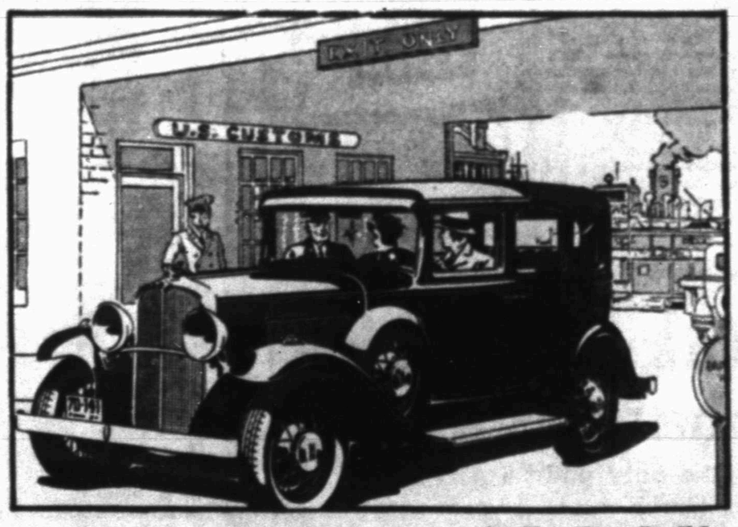

One fine thing you get is a 60 h. p. motor that is smooth and quiet at all times. It is a large motor, and so does all you ask with ease. And you can trust it to work that way as long as you have the car.

Then you will get a fine new Fisher body which is built to shut out heat, cold, rain and noise. The seat springs are deep—the cushions soft. Real mohair and whipcord give the style and long wear you want for pride and lasting value.

You will find the Pontiac very comfortable to ride in. There are rubber cushions at 43 points in the chassis—a fine-car feature which takes up most of the road shocks. Also there are four hydraulic shock absorbers to add to your comfort.

Your friends will say that Pontiac's lines and color and finish make it a car to be proud of. People will turn to watch it as you drive by. You will feel that you have bought fine-car value at a very low cost.

Of course you may say that we think more of our car than you might! Then why not drive the Pontiac and find out just how well it lives up to what we say about it? Any Oakland-Pontiac dealer will be glad to let you take a Pontiac, whenever you are ready to make the test.

OFFICIALS ARE INVITED HERE

URGENT REQUEST FOR GOOD ATTENDANCE IS BEING MADE

Officials of all Texas cities are urged to attend the nineteenth annual convention here of the League of Texas Municipalities and affiliated organizations, Mayor J. J. Clements said.

"Of course, we want an opportunity to entertain these city builders but we are interested primarily in having a large attendance on account of the splendid educational program that has been prepared for the convention June 15 and 16."

Mayor E. O. Thompson of Amarillo, who has just recently completed successfully negotiations with the gas system serving Amarillo for a material reduction in rates, will speak.

Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock and James V. Allred, attorney general, and other important Texas officials are on the two-day program.

The subject of city planning will be handled by John E. Surratt and Major E. A. Wood of Dallas.

City Manager John N. Edy of Dallas; R. E. McDonnell, Kansas City; state health officer, Dr. J. C. Anderson of Austin are on the program.

One of the most interesting features of the program will be a round table discussion by all mayors present. Each mayor will report on his individual problems and these problems will be discussed.

"The small towns of Texas can benefit particularly from this discussion," Mayor Clements said. "The small town officials have an opportunity to come here and solve some of their problems by learning how other cities have solved similar questions."

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and the City of Lubbock are cooperating to offer the convention delegates a splendid entertainment program along with the business sessions.

HARD water can't do much with greasy hands. Of course, you use lots of soap. You try to get a thick lather. But the water is too hard; it combines with the soap and forms a scum. How can you expect to clean greasy hands in that water?

There is a way. Use Mel'o. Sprinkle a little in the basin. Water softened with Mel'o makes a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. Soft water and soap and lots of lather; grease won't stay long on your hands. Get a can of Mel'o at your grocer's today.

TRANSCRIPT FOR CASE IS STUDIED

Preliminary to appeal to the state court of criminal appeals in the case of Alvis Graves, sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Horace L. Smith here January 11, transcript of testimony and bills of exception in the case yesterday were submitted to attorneys for approval.

The defense complains of improper testimony in the trial before Judge Homer L. Parr in connection with the introduction of evidence regarding the dying statement of Smith. One bill of exception challenges the testimony relating to the relationship of Mrs. Smith and the defendant, attorneys said.

Tom L. Simpson told of Smith's statement. The defense challenges the admissibility of the dying declaration.

The testimony relating to the relationship of Mrs. Smith and Graves was described as irrelevant, immaterial and prejudicial to the defendant's plea of self-defense, it was said.

Smith was killed at a dance. Robert Averett also was killed during the shooting. Three other persons were injured.

Assistant District Attorney Burton S. Burks, who directed the prosecution, was reviewing the defense attorney's pleas yesterday.

Pensions

The coming decade probably will see an enormous extention of the practice of giving money from the public treasury to people who are unable to support themselves without help. The concept of government as a paternal institution is growing. If the number of prospective wage-earners continues to be out of all proportion to the number of jobs available, state and federal pension and insurance laws will inevitably show an increase.

After the World War various states began to pay pensions to widows who were unable to support their children. Today such pensions are being paid in 44 states, two territories and the District of Columbia. Yet it all amounts to the merest drop in the bucket.

In Cincinnati, for example, the average sum received by a needy widow from the state is $30 a month. In Seattle it is $20. In many states the maximum is $20, with the average far under that figure. The Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, after surveying 61 large cities, found that on the average only about a third of the families aided under these pension laws get as much as is necessary for bare existence. In many states the number of mothers eligible to these pensions who are on the waiting list far exceeds the number of those actually being helped.

Furthermore, Department of Labor studies have shown that the married woman who works is not, usually, simply trying to earn pin money. In most cases she is either entirely or partially supporting a family. On top of that, in some parts of the country—especially in the textile regions—men's wage scales are based on the assumption that either the wife or one of the children will also be working and contributing to the support of the family.

The status of the married woman has changed vastly, and these figures make it obvious. It is also obvious that we have hardly scratched the surface with our pension laws so far. If, for example, more jobs are to be made for men by removing married women from industrial payrolls, an enormous increase in mothers' pensions will be absolutely necessary. Even to bring the existing pension payments up to respectable levels would entail a huge boost in public expenditures.

Yet these things, eventually, will probably be done. Direct payments to the needy from the public till are going to increase, not diminish. We might just as well make up our minds to it.

The Cop Speaks

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, of New York City, has passed a resolution urging motion picture producers not to make underworld films which "glorify the lives of gangsters, gunmen and racketeers."

A great deal of the protest against gangster movies is not very well founded. Here, however, is a kick with which one can sympathize. After all, it must be rather tough to be a policeman and to find that the gunman is frequently portrayed as a super-clever, brave and dashing chap who enlists the public sympathies even if he is a public enemy.

The patrolman gets less than his due in the fight on the underworld. He risks his life, and not infrequently he loses it. If he arrests a gangster he usually fails to get credit for it, and it often happens that corruption higher up enables the gangster to go scot free anyhow. Is it any wonder that the patrolman is tired of seeing the gangster glorified?

When a gangster staggers a victim with a bullet, that is also rod and reel sport.

A dentist is a paradox: though he has lots of pull, he persists in plugging.

BIG-HEARTED Borah is out with the statement that Germany's war debts should be reduced. It is hardly expected that the theory will be popular in this country—particularly in view of Secretary Mellon's plan to place a federal tax on automobiles and the wide belief that the income tax will be increased for next year.

Germany wanted to go to war—nobody pushed her into the struggle. Germany had her dance—now she can pay the well known fiddler. Where is the prudence in the theory that the citizens of this country—who had nothing to do with the beginning of the world war—should pay the bills? We can't see it that way.

ALREADY this country has been made 'the fall guy' for Europe as far as footing the bills for the late lamented conflict is concerned. A glance at the figures indicates that we have our hands full paying for the cost of our present government, with that cost increasing by leaps and bounds over the past two decades. Senator Borah is a wise and brainy man. Further than that, he looks good on the stump. But The Plainsman believes Americans have plenty to do to pay their own bills without taking on the burden of some other country's debt. Germany ran up the account—let her pay it off.

That Man on Avenue Q says many a wife doesn't believe half her husband tells her—and he doesn't tell her half what she suspects.

DOWN at Big Spring the City commission has 'cracked down' on the sale of magazines and periodicals which are 'loaded with sexy material'. After a survey of news stands made by the city attorney, the commissioners were informed that 'immoral and indecent' stories were contained in some of the magazines and immediate action followed. A committee of three women will act as a board of censors, licensing magazine stands and approving the periodicals which they sell.

Thus, reason the Big Spring commissioners, the youth of the Howard county capital will be further safeguarded from the evils of the world.

Normally, The Plainsman is opposed to local boards of censors but in the case of the risque and lewd magazines Big Spring undoubtedly has hit the nail on the head. There are magazines sold in Lubbock—and everywhere else for that matter—which cannot be sent through the mails. They have to be shipped in by express or by freight, because they cannot pass muster with Uncle Sam's ideas on decency. Those kind of magazines, in the hands of the inexperienced and the youthful, cannot but be detrimental.

No right thinking individual will oppose the theory that the rules of decency and propriety should be upheld for the benefit of the general public. Big Spring has started something that likely will be copied in many other Texas cities.

* * *

Don't worry when some fellow calls you three times while you're out of the office. Nobody who wants to give you anything will call that many times.

* * *

SOMEBODY or other has figured it out that the length of women's skirts acts in reverse ratio to the profit of the times. Pictures taken of women and girls during the Coolidge Prosperity reign, for instance, reveal the knee. Those taken in the panic of 1907 show milady's skirts sweeping the sidewalks and today's styles, as a courtesy to Mr. Hoover, are long again.

The Plainsman doesn't put much stock in the theory—even though it looks like the author has the facts on his side. But if there is anything to it, here's hoping the ladies are wearing ballet skirts within the next few months!

SPEAKING of Mr. Hoover, two paragraphs above, reminds The Plainsman that in spite of the political chatter emanating from the north and east, "The Great Engineer" still has a surprising number of friends over the South Plains. He may be in general disrepute in certain channels of his own party, as well as with the stand pat Democrats, but there are people right here in Lubbock who'll verbally knock your ears down any time you chide them with statements about 'Hoover Prosperity'.

As a matter of fact, The Plainsman voted for Mr. Hoover.

Further, he believes that no matter who happened to be president during the years of 1930-31 the same economic slump would have occurred. But it is a good opportunity to wise-crack—considering that so many of us Democrats jumped the corral in '28 and lined up with the GOP candidate.

Government's Low-Profit Contracts To Eliminate War Profiteering; Plan For Reasonable Return In Future

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, June 9—For the past several years of peacetime the War Department has been bringing to the attention of various industries their wartime responsibilities and giving them estimates of the wartime demands of the army and navy on their plants.

Approximately "15,000 large facilities" have been surveyed, according to the army's war plans as submitted to the War Policies Commission. Definite tasks for emergency have been assigned to each selected plant. In order not to upset national production more than necessary and to maintain normal commercial contacts on a reduced basis, such tasks do not involve more than 50 per cent of a plant's normal capacity.

Under the National Defense Act, the War Department points out, the government can place compulsory orders with any factory and is empowered to requisition such plants as may refuse to accept them.

Plan Advisory Council

The war plans call for an "Advisory War Council" to assist the president in carrying on the conflict. Besides the secretaries of war and navy, this council would include a Director of Selective Service, Director of War Industry, Director of Public Relations and Administrator of Labor.

This is part of a general plan which, according to General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, is based on a great improvement on our 1917 position in that besides the skeletonized framework of a citizen army capable of rapidly absorbing the nation's man power, the army now maintains intimate contact with the industrial structure under a program which will enable American industry promptly to absorb our war requirements.

Delay in procurement of necessary munitions and supplies, guesswork about the amounts of supplies needed which results in wasteful overproduction and serious shortages, improper distribution of the war production load along with congestion and transportation facilities, inefficient use of resources, uncoordinated purchases and unequal distributions of war burdens are some of the things which the War Department, profiting from lessons of the last war, will seek to avoid in any big future conflict.

The army's shopping list included about 700,000 different items in the World war, but the so-called vitally essential list now comprises about 4000 articles complete for issue.

Cut Down Competition

Instead of throwing open their procurement necessities to competitive bidding, the War and Navy Departments will base their procurement plans on allocation. Under this system plants are able to make some preparation for their tasks, prices can better be determined by negotiation and through definite assignment exact pre-arrangement for production of munitions can be obtained.

Many articles required in war are not ordinarily produced in this country, so the War Department has assembled a great collection of complete drawings and specification for delivery to manufacturers who would otherwise have no prior knowledge of applicable production methods. To develop this form of war preparation constant experimentation and actual production is in progress at government arsenals and laboratories. The War Department now seeks money from Congress for placing "educational orders" with factories, use of which would hasten production in any later emergency.

The army also has widespread plans to govern handling of raw materials in wartime, especially those not readily produced in this country.

Among its designs for reduction of wartime profiteering is an adjusted compensation contract, applicable to large construction programs and procurement of non-commercial items. Tentative cost schedules would be agreed upon which might be revised from time to time. The government would audit all accounts as they arose and pay all approved costs of performance, plus a rate of six per cent a year on the value of the plant involved in the contract.

Contractor Protected

If the company does the job at less than the revised estimate of costs the government pays him some added compensation. Hence, although the profit would be small the contractor is guaranteed against loss. If the cost exceeds the estimate the contractor's profit is reduced and there is no temptation to pad costs as there was with the old cost-plus system.

About 6800 reserve officers will be needed in a major war to carry out the army-navy procurement program and to date some 2300 have been selected from among experienced business men and commissioned.

The War Department has no definite program for wartime price control, but it is on record as opposing "price-freezing" plans such as that proposed to the War Policies Commission by Bernard M. Baruch.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE. Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1438 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Feminine Hygiene," "Indigestion and Constipation," "The Care of the Hair and Skin," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

NO NORMAL DIET

THERE IS no such thing as a normal diet, in the strict sense of the term. That is to say, there is no diet that everyone is agreed upon, which must be followed in in order to be healthy. Certain things must be present in any diet that is healthy, but the proportion of different ingredients can vary in two different diets quite widely and and still the two people eating them be healthy. How close do average families, eating whatever come along day after day, come to the ideal mathematical requirements of a normal diet? The question has been the subject of an investigation by the James Mackenzie Institute in Scotland.

Dr. Clendening

Dr. James Mackenzie, perhaps the greatest clinical physician of the last generation, founded an institution in St. Andrews, Scotland, before his death for the study of the early stages of disease, a field which he considered was much neglected.

Studying the diet of 154 families it was found that on the average they were all eating less protein and less starch than they should, and more fat. The exact figures are as follows:

	Protein	Carbohydrates	Fat
Ideal standard	17	67	16
Actual as eaten	11	54	35

There is no reason to suppose that these figures would be any different if any average group of American families were studied.

A strange finding was that the total number of calories consumed per person per day on the average was 3100 for manual laborers, and 3,300 a day for those in sedentary occupations. It is recognized that those with sedentary occupations expend much energy on outdoor games and exercising, but it hardly seems possible they would need as much as a manual laborer. Can it be that the fellow playing golf is really using up as much energy as his friend wielding a pick? Or can it be that the fellow with the pick rests more than he seems to do?

Nutrition experts say that if more food is eaten than actual requirements call for and is not stored in the form of extra body weight, it goes into luxus consumption or secondary dynamic action.

The quality of food, even more than the quantity, varies with the family's income. With a rising income there is a tendency to spend mor on foods rich in protein, such as butcher meat, and also to replace the starch in the food by fat. Miners it was found, with their higher wages, consume more fat than agricultural laborers. There was, especially in Germany, a compulsory decline in the consumption of fat during the war. And at this time there was a sharp increase in the percentage of tuberculosis. It is probable that the high incidence of tuberculosis among the poorer classes is partly related to the low amount of fat in their diet. The same thing applies to the well-to-do who deliberately starve themselves for the sake of style, or vanity.

The leading role that most actors prefer is the one they get on pay day.

An ex-motor-cycle cop won the Indianapolis speedway race. Just as any auto driver would have expected.

SWAN

In New York With Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, June 9—When Peacock Alley was the swankiest lane in all America Tom Smith was clerk of the Waldorf-Astoria. New York was young and carriages passed tally-hos on Fifth Avenue; beaux and belles waved as the traffic passed and there was no traffic cop whistles. Life must have been infinitely simpler.

The other night I met this Tom Smith, who "went west, young man" and came back as the official envoy of Pasadena, Calif., where he is an executive of the Hotel Vista del Arroyo.

And he fell to telling tales of days when old New York was old New York. And among his favorite stories seemed to be one concerning the arrival of "Death Valley" Scotty, whose Manhattan extravagances and plungings made front page copy across the land.

"It was about 1903 that Scotty arrived in his famous private train," recalled Smith. "The story went that he was celebrating the discovery of a gold mine, but the whispering was that this was a press agent stunt arranged by the Santa Fe railroad.

"He had burned out two locomotives trying to break all eastbound records. At any rate, when he arrived at the hotel the first thing he did was to order $4000 worth of scrambled eggs.

"Naturally, when the order came in everyone practically fell dead. Imagine, trying to fill an order for $4000 worth of scrambled eggs! When he was asked what he wanted with this huge order, he said: 'Just give 'em to everybody in the hotel. Send an order to all the rooms. I don't want anyone in the hotel to be hungry.'

"And what a laugh that got.

"Just a few months ago I happened to be down in the desert country where Scotty has his amazing castle—right out in the middle of nowhere. It's as strange as the adventures of Scotty when he came to New York. In this desert palace, the mules have valets and there's a $100,000 pipe organ to keep everyone in the proper frame of mind—including the mules. The music is relayed to the stables.

"Back 30 years ago, when I was a hotel clerk, the old Fifth Avenue house wouldn't put a cash register in the bar because they said it would insult the bartenders. Their bar-men, the proprietors explained, would feel this was a shadow over their integrity and would be hurt.

"Today everyone here looks at everyone else with suspicion. They trust each other to the tune of iron-clad agreements with a staff of lawyers on hand. I've heard a lot since I came back this time about the hotel depression in New York. Pardon me while I smile. The trouble has been that they've put up more hotels than anyone knows what to do with. And, it seems to me, that the old color and glamour of the city are about gone. Too many people are trying to edge into the limelight and not many of them seem to be having much fun.

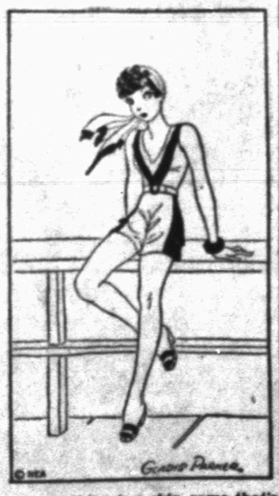

"I was a room clerk at the old Bartholdi—and what a gay spot that was! It was the center of the city's night life. Kid McCoy was living there with his third wife; William Jennings Bryan conducted his political campaign from there. Bob Fitzsimmons kept a suite there. So did Leslie Carter. And there was Chappie Moran, known as "the king of the poolrooms."

"I've seen him come in with a roll of bills that almost blinded a mere clerk. The bar ran day and night, with five bartenders at work all the time. No, things are not the same."

And yet, birds like myself have to go right on getting out columns about the town.

In trying times there is no class distinction; there are the idle poor as well as the idle rich.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The boat soon drifted to the shore to load aboard another store of tea that would be taken to another distant port. "My, what a big sail," Clowny cried. "On that boat I would like to ride. If just a bit of wind picks up, 'twill be a lot of sport."

The Travel Man then walked up to the boat crew saying 'Howdy do! These little Tinymites would like to take a pleasure trip. I'll pay you well if you'll agree to take them out and also me. I'm sure the water's calm enough so we won't rock and dip.'

"All right" replied the Japanese. "We're always very glad to please." And so the Tinies scrambled on and Scouty cried, "Let's go!" The ship was nosed out from the shore and soon was on its way once more. There wasn't very much wind so they traveled rather slow.

For half an hour they rode around and in that time the Tinies found 'twas just the same as riding in most any sort of boat. Said Coppy, "Let"s go back to shore. I do not care to ride much more. There is so little breeze that all we seem to do is float."

So that's' just what they promptly did and, when up to the shore they slid, the Travel Man paid for the ride and they walked back to town. Said Carpy, "Gee! What is the crowd? Let's go and see, if we're allowed. A man is in the middle and he's acting like a clown."

When to the gathering they ran they found a clever juggling man, whom everyone was watching. He was putting on a show. The Tinies watched him juggle knives and had the time of their young lives. Said Clowny, "How to do such tricks is what I'd like to know."

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—After a little hesitation at the opening, stocks started upward again today when a fairly active demand appeared for leading shares in most major groups.

The early heaviness brought losses of a point in many instances as profits on yesterday's advance were accepted but these declines evaporated rapidly. U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Baltimore & Ohio New York Central, Missouri Pacific, Eastman, Case, Woolworth and Borden rose 1 to 1 1-2 net. Union Pacific and McKeesport Tin Plate climbed 3 points and Allied Chemical 4. Oils were dull but firm.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 9 (AP)—Although Liverpool came in considerably lower than due, cotton here had a steady opening today, first trades showing no change to four points down. Prices eased off slightly in the early trading, October dropping to 8.74 and December to 8.97, or 2 to 4 points under yesterday's close. Later in the first hour, considerable trade buying developed as well as short covering and prices rallied 12 points from the early lows, October advancing to 8.86 and December to 9.09.

At the end of the first hour the market was steady and near the highs.

The market ruled very steady most of the morning. Prices improved in sympathy with a steadier tone in stocks and on shorts covering. July advanced to 8.55, ot. to 8.91, and December to 9.12, or 16 to 18 points up from the lows and 12 to 14 points above yesterday's close.

Near mid-season, the market turned somewhat easier owing to some recession in stocks and to profit-taking. July dropped to 8.38 October to 8.74, and December to 8.95, down 17 points from the highs and 3 to 5 points under yesterday's close.

At mid-session, the market was steady but at the lows.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Cotton opened steady today, unchanged to 3 points higher in the face of relatively easy Liverpool cables.

The steadiness was attributed to further covering, together with some trade and commission house buying which may possibly have been promoted by complaints of cool nights in the south although there was no general criticism of weather conditions. This buying became more active and the stock market steadied after an irregular opening with prices advancing to 8.47 for July and 9.09 for December, or about 9 to 12 points net higher.

Liverpool cables said scattered buying and covering had been supplied by realizing in that market and there was only a limited demand for cotton cloths owing to a lack of confidence in current prices.

The early buying continued wter ir. the morning, while offerings were comparatively light, being restricted, no doubt, by the reports of a better tone in the stock market. July sold up to 8.53 and December to 9.13, making net advances of about 14 to 15 points, but these prices attracted a little more realizing and the market was quiet with primes showing reaction of 4 or 5 points from the lowest at midday.

NEW ORLEAN SOPEN

NEW ORLEANS, June 9 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today: July 8.39; Oct. 8.76; Dec. 8.99-asked; Jan. 9.09-bid; March 9.30; May 9.47.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today; July 8.37; Oct. 8.74; Dec 8.98; Jan. 9.09; March 9.29; May 9.48.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—Lower prices for grains resulted early today from prospects of general drouth relief in Canada. There also were reports that harvesting of winter wheat had begun in Missouri. Opening 1-4-3-4 cents down, wheat afterward held near the initial limits. Corn started unchanged to 3-8 off and subsequently showed but little alteration.

Wheat closed irregular at 1 cent decline to 1-2 advance, corn unchanged to 3-4 to 7-8 down, oats 1-8 off and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

QUOTATIONS

CHICAGO, June 9. (AP)—Wheat: No. 1 hard 77.

Corn: No. 2 mixed 55 3-4; No. 1 white 57 3-4.

Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, and medical authority for The Morning Avalanche, in an address on food said:

"The best diet of man includes adequate quantities of all the well known food substances. Such a diet will provide adequate quantities of the vitamins. The use of insulin for diabetes, of liver extract for pernicious anemia, of whole liver, heart and kidneys for anemia in general indicates the folly of vegetarianism.

Discovery Exploited

"Every new discovery in medical science is promptly exploited beyond reason by commercial interests. Yeast is merely a food rich in vitamin B with some laxative effect. It is not a panacea for pimples or dyspepsia. Orange juice is simply a pleasant drink rich in vitamin C with a slightly alkaline effect eventually in the body. It is not a cure for acidosis of any severity nor will it prevent quite certainly either falling hair or falling teeth. Bran is a good food for horses but may be severely irritating to a delicate stomach and intestinal tract.

"Whole wheat bread is somewhat richer in vitamins and roughage than white bread. It has not been shown that it will prevent cancer and there is no evidence that a modern civilized diet causes cancer."

LIBEL SUIT

H. Babb, Post.

Depositions were by: Mrs. J. W. Elliott, Quay county, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. George Yates, of Alpine, Brewster county and Tom W. Storey, now of Phoenix, Ariz. All of these once lived in New Mexico.

H. C. Pierson was a cattle man in Crosby county when he knew the Spikes boys and they enjoyed a good reputation. On cross examination he was unable to give much testimony about John's business relations or when he went to New Mexico except that his father-in-law, Dr. Carter, a pioneer resident, went with the family. He knew nothing of their New Mexico activities.

Terrell On Stand

J. R. Terrell who moved to Lorenzo about 1905 after having been born near Terrell, in Kaufman county, named for his father, said he knew Jeff, Fred and Ernest Spikes and that they had good reputations around Estacado when he knew them. Fred and himself were "rather intimate" while the two lived in the Farmer school house community; Jeff was not quite as intimate a friend as Fred and Ernest not as close as Jeff. He had not kept up with Ernest after he left Crosby county.

Fred Robb, who came to Lubbock in 1903 and went to Crosby county in 1908 where he worked on a ranch, knew Fred, Jeff and Ernest, then and since. They had a good reputation, he said. He was then "just a boy" he said on cross-examination and once while in California "met Sam Spikes, who was captain of a little boat."

Others Heard

Royce Terrell gave almost similar testimony as did his father, adding that he once worked with Fred Spikes in 1905. Roy Terrell, now a city employe at Lorenzo for six years, knew all three.

R. M. Bowman of Lorenzo, was a neighbor of Fred, Ernest and Jeff and knew their reputation as good. He never knew them before 1906, he stated.

B. B. Travis, of Lubbock, who went to Crosby county in 1908 said Fred and Jeff Spikes were among the first people he met. On cross-examination he was unable to shed any light on their reputations in New Mexico.

Mrs. Lena Bonine of Ralls, who moved to the county in 1891 and who as a girl knew the brothers, said they visited frequently in her father's home She said they had a good reputation and she did not remember anything against them. She was old enough to recall their leaving for New Mexico, she testified during cross-examination, but "never did hear anything about them there."

J. F. Mathews, who is a minister of the Christian church now living in Lubbock, went to Crosby county in December, 1900 and worked as a cowboy with Fred Spikes before he went to New Mexico. He met Fred in January of 1901; Jeff the next month and Ernest in April or May. They had good reputations, he said. Since the trouble he has met Fred and said he has a high standing in his community.

Robert Brown, Lorenzo, son of the late Joe P. Brown, said he had known the Spikes boys "all my life." His father was an early settler of Lubbock county and he was born in 1891. He was aware of their good reputation before they went to New Mexico and young as he was, remembered them.

R. C. Parrack, who has lived in Lubbock county since coming to Estacado in 1899, has known Jeff and Fred best, he said. He knew about their Uncle Sam and met John and Dick. Never heard anything against John and Dick, he testified. He has met Jeff and Fred since the Mesa Redonda trouble and knows them intimately, knows Ernest but does not know Sam. "As far as I know the reputation of the Spikes family is good" he testified.

James E. Cox of Hale county, who lived near Hale Center 30 years ago, lived 50 miles from John Spikes in the Emma community but insisted that he knew him. He had known Fred since the trouble and they worked together. He had a good reputation, witness stated.

Deposition Read

Mrs. J. W. Elliott testified by depostion she knew the six boys in Texas before she went to the Mesa Redonda community in 1900. She had known the family for 35 years. Her children in New Mexico associated with the Spikes brothers there.

George Yates and his wife knew the general reputation of the brothers. Mr. Yates never saw any Spikes cattle with burned brands. The couple knew John and Dick Spikes. None of the boys had bad reputations, he said.

J. H. Babb, Post, knew Jeff intimately when he lived around Old Emma. He knew nothing of them in New Mexico.

Tom Storey, Phoenix, ranched in Guadalupe county near Endee, and knew the boys although he lived 25 miles from them. Knew John, Dick, Fred and Jeff, but not Sam and Ernest. They did not have a bad reputation, he said. There was no cattle stealing that he knew of in that community, the fight was over the range," he testified.

STEALING "FAMILY BIBLE" CHARGED; NEGRO SAYS HE "FOUND THE DRUM"

"Stealing one family Bible" was the charge in a complaint filed against Walter Neal yesterday by county Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson.

The complaint said the book had been identified as the property of Lattie Rankin of Lubbock.

The next time L. E. Ellison, negro former hotel bellboy, "finds" a musical instrument it probably will be a piccolo, or flute, and not a bass drum, police said yesterday.

A drum is too hard to carry around and keep people from seeing it, officers explained.

Ellison is in the city jail charged with stealing the drum from Z. D. Davis, 2322 Eighth street. The instrument was found in the negro's room in The Flats, Lubbock negro quarters, by officers following a tip from persons who had seen the drum in his possession.

Ellison said he found the drum. "Yeh. He probably did find the drum, but it was in, or near, Davis' yard when it was found," officers countered.

Other loot found in the negro district Sunday included two lawn mowers, police said.

Theft Monday night of a model-A two-door Ford owned by B. C. Dickinson was reported to police. License number was H8-9640.

Cotton seed has been little used after extraction of the oil except for feeding cattle. With the oil out Schmitt has found that the residue contains 50 per cent pure albumen, phosphoric acid and aluminum salts.

DETAILS OF SIX-YEAR-OLD KILLING TOLD IN EXTRADITION TEST HEARING

(By Associated Press)

GALVESTON, June 9—The details of a killing that occurred over six years ago on the Canadian-Vermont border are reviewed as representatives of the Canadian government are making their second attempt to extradite Fred H. Mertz, United States narcotic agent, for the alleged murder of a Canadian subject. Extradition was denied at a similar hearing before United States Commissioner Brantly Harris in March 1930.

Amedee Bilodeau, 39, resident of Sherbrooke, Quebec, was killed at Canaan linehouse, a resort located on the Canadian-American border, on May 29, 1925. At the time of his death he and Robert A. Price had been arrested by Mertz and another narcotic agent for alleged dope smuggling. Bilodeau made a break for liberty and was shot by Mertz, it is explained. The question of extradition hinges on whether he was shot on the Canadian or American side of the border. The narcotic agent has been absolved of the killing by an American grand jury.

Charges against Mertz were filed by F. W. Paris, British consul for Texas and New Mexico, who claims that this is a test case of the extradition treaties between the United States and Canada.

TECH DIRECTORS IN ANNUAL MEET HERE ON MONDAY

The board of directors of Texas Technological college awarded contract for medical service to the college to West Texas hospital at the annual commencement meeting of the directorate yesterday in the offices of Dr Paul W. Horn, president.

Contract for handling the medical practice of the college is now held by the Lubbock sanitarium. All students paying a required $1.50 fee are entitled to medical attentions and physical examinations under the college's agreement, according to college officials.

Luncheon Given

The business meeting of the board yesterday followed a luncheon at the Hilton hotel. Clifford B. Jones, of Spur, chairman of the board, presided at the session. Only one member of the directorate, John W. Carpenter, of Dallas, was absent. Those attending the conference were Mr. Jones, R. A. Underwood, Plainview; Mrs. P. N. Drane, Corsicana; Riley Stricklind, Amarillo; Thomas Johnson, McKinney; John A. Hulen, Houston; Houston Harte, San Angelo, and Roscoe Wilson, Lubbock.

Extended consideration was given to finances for next year. Since Gov. Ross Sterling has not signed the appropriations bill, details of the budget were referred to the finance committee, consisting of Mr. Carpenter, General Hulen and Mr. Harte, Dr. Horn said following the meeting. The committee is to meet after the governor takes action, and not later than 30 days, it was said.

Athletics at the college also came in for considerable discussion. Details of the policy of the department likewise were let to the budget committee, the president said. A report of a survey and recommendations of the Association of Texas Colleges was made to the board.

The directors authorized the college to become a member of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.

Announcement of the work accomplished during the past year was made by Dr. Horn. He told the board that the school had an enrollment of 2,319 students for the year.

Other business taken up included the adoption of amendments to the by-laws and the outlining of work of the committees; expression of appreciation to the senior class of 1931 for the presentation of the "Double T" bench; and announcement of the summer school which is to begin today.

The board extended a special welcome to General Hulen as a new member of the group. He was appointed to the finance committee and was named a special committee on military affairs. General Hulen succeeded Frank E. Clarity, of Fort Worth.

All of the regents here for the business meeting attended the college commencement exercises held yesterday morning.

Severe Sickness Left Lady In Debilitated Condition.— Tells How Cardui Helped.

"Some years ago, I was in a very weakened condition from a severe sickness," writes Mrs. S. R. Pearson, of Greer, S. C.

"I was very weak and so nervous I could not stand on my feet I would get so faint.

"I read in the newspaper that Cardui helped weak women, so decided to use it.

"After I began taking Cardui, I grew stronger. I was less nervous I kept it up until I had taken one dozen bottles. By that time, I was strong and well again.

"I have never found anything that gave me strength and stopped nervousness as Cardui did. I highly recommend it."

Many women are surprised at the recovery of strength following their use of Cardui, when in a weak, nervous condition, such as described above.

Cardui is a harmless, mild, medicinal compound of botanical drugs, and may be safely taken by women of all ages.
