

A MOST PLEASANT STAY FOR YOU

Rockport, Fulton & Lamar

That Is The Aim....

OF EVERY OPERATOR OF TOURIST
COTTAGES AND APARTMENTS

Your Pleasure is our business, and upon the service we render depends future visits from you, and we are always ready to do everything possible to make your stay with us the most enjoyable you have ever had on the Texas Coast. Let your wishes or needs be known. We'll do our best to please! As an added courtesy we are co-operating with the Rockport Pilot in bringing this newspaper to our guests each week. On this page, and elsewhere in the paper, you will find information that will be of assistance to you in making all your vacation hours count, including suggestions on where to go and what to do.

SPECIAL NEWS SERVICE FOR YOU

The manager of each Tourist Court, Cottages or Apartments listed on this page is an authorized news reporter for this newspaper. Tell the manager that you would like to have a news story about your stay here. He will report it to the Pilot and the news will appear in the next issue. The Pilot will in turn forward the news story on to the guests' home town newspapers. This special personalized news service also includes pictures by the Pilot photographer of unusual news events, such as big catches of fish, and other picture-worthy events.

Rockport, Fulton, Lamar and adjacent areas along the 15-mile coastline of Live Oak and Lamar Peninsulas form the most ideal "family playground" on the Texas Coast. Here stretches fifteen miles of tree-lined beaches and natural beauty that comes from blending of skies, water and trees, bathed in a semi-tropic sunshine and tempered by cooling Gulf breezes. Here one can enjoy the activity of fishing, boating and swimming, or just loaf in an Eden-like atmosphere, so different from the usual highly commercialized tourist resort.

FISHING—There is no better place to go fishing than in the waters off shore from Live Oak and Lamar Peninsulas, where Trout and Redfish are found in abundance—and where giant silvery Tarpon are ready to take the bait and give the sportsman a furious hour's battle. Aransas Bay was described in last year's official State Game, Fish & Oyster Commission report as a deep bay of uniform depth, containing unusually clear water. It is protected from inland floods to an unusual degree and as the result its salt content—so important to marine life—is unusually constant. . . . HERE is found the famous Rockport oyster, known from coast to coast.

BATHING—is unexcelled. You may either take the kiddies for a swim in the safe shallow bay right in front of your cottage, or swim at the new sand-bottomed beach outside the small craft harbor. There are no undertows and surf bathing is at its best.

NATURE STUDY—recognized naturalists know of no other place in Texas where such a variety of flora and fauna are combined for first hand study. Each year a larger number of nature students and bird lovers visit Live Oak and Lamar peninsulas.

SIGHTSEEING—visitors are always welcome at the State Game, Fish & Oyster Commission's only marine laboratory, stationed at Rockport and carrying on extensive marine experiments and study in Aransas and Copano bays and the nearby Gulf of Mexico. Beautiful state parks on Lamar peninsula, include the now famous Big Oak and the CCC improved Goose Island. The well preserved Fulton mansion is open to visitors and it takes the sightseer back to a day when Rockport and Fulton were the principal South Texas ports of call for deep sea sailing vessels. Add to all this miles of scenic drives that never fail to please the motorist's eye.

BOAT FACILITIES—have been given every attention at ROCKPORT. A new small craft harbor and channel have been completed by the Rockport Navigation District. Too, many prominent Texas sportsmen have built their own boat houses here and Rockport is becoming the home port for many palatial pleasure crafts. Boats, in which to fish or hunt, are available for rent at points all along the bay front and Fulton and Lamar. Guides are furnished for parties wishing to make one day or overnight trips to the Gulf.

Mrs. Christensen Entertains Senior BTU With Social

Mrs. Wesleyan Christensen was hostess last Friday night to members of the senior B. T. U. of the Baptist church. A round of out-fair city. All members and friends are urged to attend Sunday morning.

Those present to enjoy the affair included Misses Dixie Townsend, Natalie Smith, Lois Hall, Dorothy Hall, Margaret Schuster, Vesta Nell Morgan, and Charles Roe, H. G. Simpson, Wayne Haynes, Willie Schuster, Roy Mullinax, Gene Hunt and Leslie Sparks.

Testifies

Mary Spange, Indian school teacher in Washington, testifies that the government employees attended an American peace mobilization in New York as official delegates. She said these employees have been opposing the Communist AFR.

Iron exports to England by several of the American colonies became Indian the Revolutionary War, in spite of many difficulties experienced by early ironmakers. The industry had its first development in the more northern colonies, but was slow in reaching those farther south.

Pioneer ironworkers who started to build a blast furnace at Falling Creek, Va., were encouraged by the Indians in 1822, and for nearly a month of Pennsylvania. Finally, under the sponsorship of Governor Spotswood, Virginia's first furnace was completed 20 miles west of Fredericksburg, in 1734, with a capacity of 20 tons of iron a week.

Augustine Washington, father of George Washington, became successful in establishing a furnace on his estate in Stafford county in 1729, six years before our first President was born. A letter written shortly afterward said: "Mr. Washington values the ore and casts it thicker (about two miles from the mine to the furnace) for 20 shillings per ton of iron that it yields."

By 1750 the American colonies were exporting more than 3,000 tons of iron to England annually, and total production was more than 10,000 tons. While this seems like an insignificant amount, compared with the more than 100 million tons of iron and steel the United States will produce this year, it was quite an item in the commerce of the colonies 200 years ago.

Ferdinand Barcone of New York City, whose eyesight is poor, had Irving Lester substitute for him in his automobile driver's license test. Police became suspicious, and both were jailed.

Mouse or Man?
The young man brought his car to a stop in front of the theater. He turned to the girl seated at his side. "Well, Loney," he said, "I've got ten bucks. What shall we do: Get a marriage license and settle down—or go 'n and see this show?" The girl appeared undecided. She got out of the car and studied the attraction advertised in front of the theater. Finally she returned to her boy friend. "No Mickey Mouse," she sighed. "Let's get married!"

NEW TYPE CONVOYS

Behind all the guessing and speculation over convoys aroused by the President's reside chat is this one basic fact. The old-fashioned form of convoy already is outmoded, and, as Roosevelt indicated at a recent press conference, it will not be used. But the new-fashioned form of convoy already is in use and will be intensified.

This is convoy by airplane patrol, using airplane carriers and nearby islands for bases. The destruction of the Bismarck showed how effective this airplane convoy could be.

Airplanes flying above the water can sight the submarine below the water miles away, whereas a surface vessel cannot sight a submarine more than a mile or so away. Therefore you can expect to see a network of United States airplanes criss-crossing back and forth across the north Atlantic, assisted in part by surface warships, but extending all the way to Ireland.

The Pacific Fleet.

With this settled, the most important strategic problem being discussed in backstage navy circles is that of bringing the mighty Pacific fleet from that ocean into the Atlantic to prevent Nazi seizure of the mid-Atlantic islands and to be ready for other major eventualities.

Every detail in connection with such a shift has been discussed. And while there have been some hot behind-the-scenes arguments, the one thing upon which the admirals all agree is that the fleet must be kept together. To split it into small units and send some of them to the Atlantic, in their opinion, would be disastrous. Battleships must have their accompanying cruisers, destroyers, etc., and they cannot be divided.

Naturally, the idea of the fleet withdrawing from the Pacific is enough to raise the hair on the heads of most people on the West coast. However, the navy has worked out a plan whereby it is confident that the West coast would be in no real danger.

The plan is extremely important, because it illustrates the new type of warfare made possible by the long distance bomber. Also it gives the key to Roosevelt's convoy plan. Finally it illustrates what the Nazis could do to the United States if the plan were reversed in the Atlantic.

Key to the plan is Hawaii and the Alaskan islands. The admirals are reasonably confident that long distance patrol planes ranging out from Hawaii in the mid-Pacific and from the Aleutians in the north Pacific would be sufficient to spot any Japanese ship approaching American waters. And air superiority of the type which crippled the Bismarck could do the rest. In fact, the entire Bismarck incident has been a striking demonstration that long distance bombers plus island bases have revolutionized warfare in both oceans.

Azores and Canaries.

Now if you transpose the map at the Pacific onto the map of the Atlantic, you will also get an idea of why Roosevelt has been so heavily on the importance of the Azores, the Canaries and Cape Verde islands in his reside chat. For the Azores are the Hawaii of the mid-Atlantic, while the Canaries and Cape Verde might be compared to the Aleutians—in reverse position.

Whoever holds these stepping-stones across the Atlantic can sweep that ocean with naval patrol planes and bombers, just as the U. S. fleet can sweep the Pacific from Hawaii and the Aleutians.

If we hold these Atlantic islands, then we hold the gateway to the Atlantic. If Hitler holds them, he controls the first step toward Brazil—and the rest of the way is easy. These were some of the things Roosevelt studied on the large-scale maps of the navy department before he made his broadcast.

Another vital point he studied was not mentioned in his broadcast; because no one is talking publicly about the fact that the British may have to withdraw from Gibraltar, even from the Mediterranean altogether. But in case of such a withdrawal, a glance at the map will show that these three sets of islands—the Azores, Canaries and Cape Verde—could help to replace Gibraltar.

They sit astride the entrance to the Mediterranean, and long-range bombing planes based on those islands could make it hot for any expeditionary force heading out of the Mediterranean for the Americas. All of these are reasons why you can expect vital action regarding the Atlantic islands.

CAPITAL CHAFF

Every year Homer Cummings holds "The Attorney General's Golf Tournament" at Pinehurst, N. C., an event started when he was running the justice department. Chief rule is: "If any man brings his wife, he's never invited again."

Herr Hans Thomsen, head of the German embassy in Washington, is taking vitamin pills. He quotes Milo Perkins as saying vitamins are necessary to offset lack of nourishing elements in the depleted soil of America.

My Week
by Eleanor Roosevelt

Washington, D. C.

RESPONSIBILITY

The flags of all the Americas decorated one end of the East Room of the White House and were draped over the room's main door. It gave me a curious feeling to sit there and watch the President at his desk, faced by all the microphones.

I felt as though all the newspaper photographers in the world were grinding and clicking in front of him. The atmosphere in the room was one of suppressed and intense excitement. Diplomats are trained to observe the amenities, no matter what they feel, but everybody's face showed some emotion as the evening progressed.

I felt strangely detached, as though I were outside, a part of the general public. I represented no nation, I carried no responsibility, except the responsibility of being a citizen of the United States of America. Then I looked at the President, facing representatives of all the Central and South American countries, Mexico and Canada. Like an incoming wave, the thought rolled over me:

"What a weight of responsibility this one man at the desk facing the rest of the people, has to carry. Not just for this hemisphere alone, but for the world as a whole! Great Britain can be gallant beyond belief, China can suffer and defend herself in equally heroic fashion, but in the end, the decisive factor in this whole business may perhaps be the solidarity of the hemisphere and, of necessity, the President of the United States must give that solidarity its leadership!"

If we all preserve our freedom, it must be accomplished because we believe in each other, because we want to go forward with the democratic processes, no matter how far short we may be today of perfection. We can only do this if we work together.

Then the President began to speak. For three-quarters of an hour he told us what conditions existed, what obligations lay before us and, finally, what his present step to meet those obligations was to be. More must follow, and day by day each one of us is going to realize that his life is changing, that he has an obligation to perform.

In my capacity of objective citizen, sitting in the gathering, I felt that I wanted to accept my responsibility and do my particular job, whatever it might be, to the extent of my ability. I think that will be the answer of every individual citizen of the United States, for when all is said and done, it is our freedom to progress that makes us all want to live and to go on.

NUTRITION CONFERENCE

The closing session of the National Nutrition Conference for Defense was most interesting to me. I heard Dr. Thomas Parran, of the United States public health service, speak, and Mr. M. L. Wilson, director of extension work in the department of agriculture, present the recommendations which came as a result of the various group meetings and from the conference as a whole.

This seems to me to have been a very valuable meeting. It brought together not only the people, like the home economic experts who have studied nutrition for years, but the educators, doctors, parent-teacher groups, business and professional women, etc. All possible groups must be interested in a program of education is really to be carried on throughout the country.

I returned to the White House to see a number of people at tea, and to shake hands with the little Girl Scout, Beatrice Vlach, and another very charming young girl, Dorothy Rock, both of them winners in contests which provided as a prize a trip to Washington, D. C.

In the evening, I went to my local Newspaper guild meeting. Then I found a basket of mail awaiting me, but even with this to do, I did not have to sit up very late. It is becoming easier to get through the work, though I must say the days seem to be filled. I don't believe that the time will ever come in Washington when we can sit down and say: "There is nothing left which we ought to do."

We arrived in Hyde Park the next night just 15 minutes after my husband reached home, which shows that there are some advantages to flying, for I left Washington three hours later than he did! He insists, however, that he accomplished a great deal more work on the way, and I haven't a doubt that is true.

Miss Thompson and I motored up from LaGuardia field, and it was quite evident that a holiday crowd was wending its way up the Parkway. We passed one accident, but no one seemed to be seriously hurt.

GASLESS SUNDAYS

I see that Secretary Ickes is suggesting that we have gasless Sundays and universal daylight saving, thereby saving power. The gasless Sundays and less rapid driving might not only save gas and rubber, but a considerable number of human lives. The power, however, if it means fewer lights, will be hard on me, because I have acquired the bad habit of working late at night. When I don't do that, the temptation to read is hard to resist.

YOUR SUNDAY DINNER
(See Recipes Below)

ESPECIALLY FOR DAD

Sunday, June the fifteenth, is the day you want to especially prepare Dad's favorite foods—for it's Father's day—and don't forget it. The favorite of all men is a good tasty meat pie—so the suggestion for the main course is a delicious individual meat pie. Dad doesn't like to bother much with side dishes of salad, so place his salad right on the plate with the rest of the meal. He likes a role slaw stuffed tomato. Buttered carrots and peas are the vegetables. Because he is so fond of blueberries, it's blueberry muffins to go with the meal, and blueberry ice cream cake for dessert.

This week's menu is properly balanced for nutritional value. It supplies:

The appetizer: Carbohydrates, minerals, Vitamins A, B, C, and G. The Meat: Protein, phosphorus, Vitamins B, B-1, fats, carbohydrates in crust.

The Vegetables: Minerals, Carbohydrates, Vitamins A, B, C, and G. Muffins and butter: Vitamins A, B, C, and G, minerals, carbohydrates.

Salad: Minerals, Vitamins A, B, C, and G, carbohydrates and fats. Dessert: Carbohydrates, minerals, fats, Vitamins A, B, C, D, and G. To Serve 6 You Need:

- 1 can apricot nectar
- 1 can pineapple juice
- 2 lbs. lamb shoulder
- 2 bunches carrots
- 1 No. 1 can peas
- 6 tomatoes
- 1 small head cabbage
- 2 pints blueberries
- 1 pint ice cream

(Balance of materials among staples)

- *Individual Lamb Pies.
- 2 lbs. shoulder of lamb
- 2 small onions
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 1/4 teaspoons salt
- 2 1/4 cups milk

Butter Pastry
Trim the lamb, cut in small cubes and brown in a hot frying pan. Add the chopped onion and cook until light brown, stirring constantly. Add the flour and salt and mix well. Stir in the milk gradually. Cover and cook over low heat for about 45 minutes or until the lamb is tender. Roll out pastry and place in individual pie tins or cut in six five-inch rounds and place in large cupcake pans. Fill with the lamb mixture and brush the rims of the pastry with milk. Top each pie with another round of pastry. Crimp the edges and cut slits in the top for the steam to escape through. Brush each pie with milk or cream. Bake in a 425-degree F. oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until the crust is evenly browned. Lift gently from the pan and serve.

LYNN SAYS:

Dad's day might be the one day when Dad would really like to try his hand in the kitchen. How about some feathery light biscuits to go with dinner? They're an easy trick if you just put out the ingredients for Dad, along with one of those big bowls and a spoon. Now sift 2 cups of flour, 2 teaspoons of baking powder, and 1/2 teaspoon of salt. Cut in 4 tablespoons of shortening, and then add about 1/4 of a cup of milk gradually. Stir until a soft dough is formed, not too long, though, or the biscuits will be tough. Turn the dough on a slightly floured board, pat to a 1/2-inch thickness, and cut with a floured biscuit cutter. Pop them into a hot oven (450 degrees) on an ungreased baking sheet for 10-15 minutes. Dad will probably like the large biscuits, so better give him the large cutter. The recipe will make about 12 biscuits of that size, or 16 of the smaller ones. Can't you just see him beaming over a plate of hot, flaky biscuits he made all by himself?

FARM TOPICS

GOOD PASTURE REQUIRES 'REST'

Planned Control Increases Profits on Livestock.

By F. V. BURCALOW
(Extension Agronomist, University of Wisconsin)

Good pastures that provide an abundance of nutritious and succulent forage throughout the grazing season also help the farmer who has them to produce livestock and dairy products at a profit.

Present pasture grasses and legumes will not remain productive under continuous close grazing during the entire season. In most areas a planned series of pastures is needed to provide an abundance of succulent forage throughout the entire grazing period.

Available permanent pasture should be used as the basis of a planned pasture program. Permanent pastures need to be improved and most of them will respond to an improvement program.

Many have been taken too much for granted and are now weed infested and unproductive. Depleted soil fertility and continuous over grazing are two important factors causing this condition. Most of these pastures are hungry for nitrogen and need to be fed. Soil and climatic conditions determine whether the nitrogen should be fed in forms of commercial nitrogen fertilizers or through the use of legumes which can make atmospheric nitrogen available for use by the grasses. For pastures in which the grasses normally used are subject to periods of drought dormancy, nitrogen is most economically provided by use of drought resistant legumes.

The old adage "Take care of the legumes and the grasses will take care of themselves" could well be used as a rule for the improvement of permanent pastures, especially those which periodically suffer from drought. A good program would consist of replenishing the soil with adequate supplies of lime, phosphate, and potash for the growth of legumes, working these minerals into the soil and preparing a seed bed so that legumes could be established.

The improved area should then be fenced so that grazing can be regulated to aid in establishing and maintaining the stand of legumes.

Protein Supplement Helps Beef Cattle Gain Finish

Sam L. Williams, assistant extension animal husbandman of N. C. State college, has an answer to the question: "Can beef be produced without a protein supplement?"

This is what he has been telling beef cattle breeders and feeders who have asked the question in recent weeks: "In my opinion it can be done, but it is neither practical nor profitable."

Then he goes on to explain that the important thing to the cattle producer is how much weight and finish he can put on his cattle and how long it will require. Efficient production is essential to greatest profit in any business, and this is especially true in the cattle business.

Some of the more common protein supplements are cottonseed meal, soybean meal, linseed meal, and corn gluten meal. All of these are about equal in feeding value.

Williams explained that the economy of feeding a protein supplement lies in the fact that such feeds are responsible for more efficient utilization of feed, larger gains, higher finish, and a greater selling price.

Insurance on Wheat Reaches New High

A record number of crop insurance contracts—420,077—has been written as protection on the 1941 wheat crop in 36 states, according to Leroy K. Smith, manager of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation.

This number exceeded by 41,917 the 378,160 contracts written on both winter and spring wheat last year. The 1941 contracts guarantee growers a total production of 110,591,202 bushels of wheat from 10,946,284 insured acres.

"This is the third successive year that the federal crop insurance program has shown consistent gains in the number of contracts guaranteeing wheat growers protection from all unavoidable hazards," the manager said.

Care for Parasites

A drug called phenothiazine will aid the farmer in ridding horses, cattle, swine and other domestic animals of internal parasites, according to Carrol E. Howell, manager of the University of California's W. K. Kellogg institute of animal husbandry.

It was found that the treatment completely eliminated stomach worms in 77 of the animals and was from 38 to 95 per cent effective in the other eight.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

THE first motion picture scene to be directed by long distance phone 3,000 miles from the spot where it was shot is credited to Elliott Nugent. He stood on a Paramount sound stage in Hollywood and gave instructions to cameraman Dewey Wrigley, whose equipment was set up on Biscayne boulevard, Miami Beach, Fla.

Wrigley had shot some atmospheric film for "Nothing But the Truth," but it wasn't exactly what Nugent wanted. He'd never been in Miami Beach, but he picked the right site from some still pictures and then gave instructions over the telephone.

Marjorie Reynolds has established a record of some kind; she's played the heroine opposite more western stars than has any other young Hollywood actress. Buck Jones, Tex Ritter, Bob Baker, George O'Brien, Gene Autry—she's been the pretty girl in "ride" and "shoot" films with all of them. Her latest assignment is one more of the same—"Cyclone on Horseback," for RKO Radio, in which she will appear opposite Tim Holt.

Marjorie Reynolds

Born in the cow town of Ruid, Idaho, she's right at home in those roles.

Edmund O'Brien and his bride, Nancy Kelly, are spending their honeymoon by working in the same picture at RKO. The film is "Parachute Battalion," following her work in the Harold Lloyd comedy, "A Girl, a Guy and a Gun." O'Brien signed two long term contracts—one with RKO and the other with Warner.

Then he went to work in "Parachute Battalion." She was under contract to Twentieth Century-Fox, but studio executives were sympathetic, and she was lent to RKO, to be re-started with her husband, Preston Foster and Harry Carey.

Joan Fontaine certainly picked herself a nice vacation when she finished "Before the Fall" with Cary Grant. She was satisfied with nothing less than a three-week jaunt to Honolulu, Tahiti and Pago-Pago as an escape from Hollywood.

Spencer Tracy won his Academy award in roles that hadn't a suggestion of "boy meets girl." But in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" he meets two girls, Lana Turner and Ingrid Bergman, just by way of avenging up the score.

"Sky Over Britain" brings to the air a new series of dramatic programs under the auspices of the British War Relief society, presented over the Mutual network every Thursday evening. Each radio play will dramatize the true story of civilian bravery in Great Britain.

The officers and crew of a British destroyer will comprise the first movie audience outside the Americas to see Anna Neagle's "Sunny," if present plans go through. Miss Neagle's elder brother, Alan Robertson, is commander of a destroyer, and has not seen her or any of her pictures for more than two years. So a print of "Sunny" will be flown to England, then forwarded to him. She doesn't know where he is, but sending him the film is her reply to his recent request for a new photograph of her.

The Rudy Vallee program won't move to New York this summer after all. Moving would have meant leaving John Barrymore behind, and listeners like the Vallee-Barrymore combination so well that it's inadvisable to break it up.

ODDS AND ENDS—In "The Big Store" the Marx Brothers are private detectives who run wild in a department store. . . . The only sound track in America of a London air raid has arrived at Warner's for scenes of London's bombing in "The Flight Patrol" . . . Orson Welles wants the screen rights to "Louisiana Hayride," the story of Huey Long's life. . . . Marjorie Main will once again play a landlady—this one in "Lonely Town." . . . Midwestern mining town. . . . Irving Berlin will write fifteen new songs for "Holiday Inn," in which Bing Crosby and Fred Astaire will be starred. . . . Priscilla Lane is now the name of a street in Burbank, Calif.

NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

FIRESTONE TIRES WIN AGAIN

IN 500-MILE INDIANAPOLIS RACE

MAURI ROSE, Co-Winner With Floyd Davis in the 500-Mile Indianapolis Race May 30th. Averaged 115.117 Miles per Hour on Firestone Gum-Tipped Tires Without a Tire Change or Tire Trouble of Any Kind.

FLASHING down the straightaways at speeds as high as 160 miles an hour, Mauri Rose streaked to victory in the 1941 Indianapolis Sweepstakes without a tire change. 500 miles of grinding, pounding, torturing speed — and not one tire failed! Here's proof of safety — proof of blowout protection — proof of endurance — proof of tire superiority backed not merely by claims, but by PERFORMANCE! For 22 consecutive years all the winning drivers in this great classic of speed and endurance have driven to victory on Firestone Tires. Why? Because race drivers know that their very lives depend upon the safety of their tires. They have made it their business to know how tires are built. And they know that the patented construction features found only in Firestone Tires provide the extra strength and durability necessary to safety and victory!

Better Than One- Third of Draftees Rejected

General J. Wall Page, State Selective Service Director, said today that the number of Selective Service rejections for physical reasons in Texas constitute challenges to public and private health agencies and also to the public at large.

Referring to a statement of Brig. Lewis B. Herring, deputy director of Selective Service, that the general physical condition of the country's youth, as revealed by Selective Service tests, is something of which "we nationally should be thoroughly ashamed," General Page pointed out that the national condition is reflected to a certain extent in every State, and he emphasized the need for vigorous action by all citizens to improve the general health.

General Page, using the Nation at large as an example, pointed out that out of one million Selective Service registrants who have been given physical examination, 380,000 have been found unfit for general military service, or considerable more than one-third.

"Looking into the causes of the rejections," General Page said, "we find that nutritional deficiencies are directly or indirectly responsible for one-third of the rejections. This is a condition that is dangerous and it calls for action—concerted action, immediate action, vigorous action."

Of the total number of men rejected in the Nation because of physical disabilities, General Page said, about one-half were unfit for any military service and the remainder placed in Class I-B, or fit only for limited military service. The men in this group, he continued, present a special problem and every effort should be made to correct the physical defects among them that can be corrected so that they may be able to fulfill their military obligations.

"That means," he added, "that we are confronted with the necessity for rehabilitation in cases where it is possible to better physical condition. And we should strive to find a place in the national defense picture for those with uncorrectable disabilities."

General Page subdivided the correctable group thus: (1) Those who will attempt to correct their disabilities without urging; (2) those who will be content to remain as they are.

He declared that he believed the responsibility for rehabilitating those in the last group should be a direct responsibility of the government.

House Passes House Senate Pension Bill

AUSTIN, Tex., June 12.—The house of representatives yesterday passed a senate bill to make $1,750,000 in state funds available for old-age assistance for each of the months of June, July and August and permit full payment of estimated pension needs.

Because of an amendment adopted by the house, authorizing the public welfare department to mail checks to pensioners supplementing those already prepared, the bill must return to the senate for final legislative action.

To become effective, signature by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel also would be necessary, but that he would sign was a foregone conclusion. He has recommended the bill.

Severe Outbreak of Sleeping Sickness Reported in Territory Ranging From Mathis to Rockport

There is a very severe outbreak of Sleeping Sickness, scientifically known as Infectious Equine Encephalomyelitis, among horses in the coast section of the county at the present, according to a report from R. R. Gibb, County Agent. Cases have been reported from Mathis and ranging eastward to Rockport.

Persons owning horses or hules should observe them closely during the present epidemic and at the first signs call a veterinarian. Owners of particularly valuable animals or numbers of animals may find it profitable to vaccinate their animals.

The symptoms are more or less constant but may vary to some extent. Usually there are three distinct phases of the infection. The first stage may escape the notice of the casual observer, since it consists ordinarily of only a mild indisposition, generally accompanied with a rise in temperature. The next stage is characterized by distinct nervous symptoms, which may or may not be accompanied by fever. There may be either loss of desire for food or only impairment of ability to pick up, masticate, and swallow food. Drinking becomes difficult and water often runs from the nostrils when the animal attempts to swallow. Frequently there is a yawning, grinding of the teeth or paralysis of the lips and tongue. Various groups of body muscles may be affected by partial paralysis or twitching. During this stage the animal may become drowsy and stupid, head often hanging low. Some animals walk continuously, usually in one direction, with a swaying, staggering or stumbling gait. Some animals stand as though fastened to the ground and refuse to be led. Finally, in the last stage, the horse is unable to stand and falls to the ground in a state of collapse. When down, the animal may lie quietly or may execute running motions with the legs. When animals reach this stage a fatal termination usually follows. Generally speaking the disease runs a very rapid course, death ensuing in from several hours to a few days after onset of the symptoms.

Ducks Have Grown In Number by 5,000,000 Over Last Year

AUSTIN, Texas, June 12.—While estimates of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, as reported to the executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, show there are approximately 70,000,000 ducks on continental North America, a gain of 5,000,000 over last year, it is not likely that there will be any liberalizing of the restrictions on shooting next fall, it is believed in the Game Department office.

Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, chief of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, points out there has been a leveling off of the steady increase in ducks since the federal government placed fairly strict regulations on hunting several years ago. In 1935 there were only 35,000,000 ducks on the continent.

This leveling off, according to Dr. Gabrielson, indicates that present regulations came seriously close to resulting in a complete harvest of last year's crop of ducks. That may be a surprise to hunters in many sections of the United States which had poor shooting weather during last season, as was the case in much of Texas during most of the season.

Too, Dr. Gabrielson points out, there are nearly twice as many hunters in the field now than there were in 1934, when 635,000 federal duck stamps were sold. There were 1,200,000 sold last year.

While regulations may not be liberalized the future for ducks appears bright. Large gains were made by such species as gadwall, black duck, baldpate, green-winged and blue-winged teal, shovelers, scaups and blue and white-fronted, Canada and cackling geese. However, the Fish and Wildlife Service is concerned over the redheads and ring-necked ducks. They have decreased in number.

LOCAL BOY makes good

It happens regularly in the telephone company. Some boy who grew up in your neighborhood moves into a superintendent's or other executive's chair somewhere in the Bell System.

His big asset is his experience... his "know how"... often gained right in your home town.

Because Bell department heads and operating chiefs among them have that "know how," they tackle today's telephone emergency, or tomorrow's telephone growth, with a direct knowledge of your town and your problems. They play a big part in our effort to give you good neighborhood service at rates that almost everyone can afford—and good nation-wide service as you need it.
