Harmony Is GOP Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prime question faced the Republican high command today as it assembled for strategy sessions looking toward the November elections:

How to pick a presidential nominee without going through so many bitter donnybrooks that the party would be disunited for the November showdown?

This issue was not on the formal agenda of the Republican National Committee as it assembled for four days of talks on how to get out the vote, how to attract financing, how to cut down Democratic margins in big cities such as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia.

But the harmony issue was on the mind, for example, of Ray C. Bliss, Ohio Republican chairman and GOP powerhouse. In effect, he posted over his state's May 5 primary a "please keep out" sign addressed to major aspirants for the presidential nomination.

The Ohio plan is this: The delegation will go to the national convention pledged to Gov. James Rhodes as a favorite son. Ohioans are expected to vote for him on the first ballot—where they might jump after that Bliss was not prepared to say.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, electioneering in New Hampshire, remarked that he might find it desirable to enter Ohio's primary. Bliss expressed the hope that Goldwater and all other major candidates would abstain, in the interests of avoiding a "divisive" fight.

A similar plan is under way in Wisconsin. There Rep. John W. Byrnes has agreed to run as a favorite son.

The Democratic National Committee, convening here Saturday, has no such worries about slugging matches for the presidential nomination, since President Johnson is considered a sure bet.

The big question, not likely to be publicly decided before the convention, is: Whom will Johnson choose as his running mate?

For this spot, the stock of Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps and brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy is, at the moment, soaring.

SE Texas Due Storms

By The Associated Press

The Weather Bureau issued a severe thunderstorm forecast for a portion of the Texas and Louisiana Gulf Coast, extending inland 60 miles, Wednesday.

The bureau said the storms, containing hail and damaging surface winds, are expected until 4 p.m. in an area 60 miles on either side of a line from Houston to 30 miles north of Lafayette, La.

The area includes such other cities as Galveston, Beaumont, LaMarque, Baytown, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Orange, and Texas City.

While the eastern Gulf Coast braced for the storms, parts of North Central Texas underwent light rain.

Other portions of the state also could expect scattered showers.

The Weather Bureau also forecast much colder weather for the night, with a minimum of 10 expected in Northwest Texas, 18 in parts of North Central Texas, 24 in the Northeast section.

Late in the morning, radar reports showed rain from near Fort Worth into Oklahoma and from Dallas extending southeastward.

Lodge Not In Primary

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said today he has been asked to run in the Wisconsin Republican presidential primary but that he has declined.

Lodge's disclosure followed repeated denials by the ambassador that he is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Wisconsin Rep. John Byrnes is reported to have agreed to head an uncommitted, uncontested, delegation as his state's favorite son to the Republican National Convention, provided all major Republican candidates stay out of the Wisconsin primary April 7.

The possibility that Lodge might be a dark-horse candidate for the Republican nomination was raised last month.

Six Persons Die In Highway Crash

SINTON (AP) — Two women and four children died Tuesday in a car-truck collision at the intersection of two farm roads 5 miles south of here.

Th evictims, all from Sinton, were Mrs. Juanita Garcia Alaniz, about 55; three of her daughters, Juanita Alaniz, 6, Maria Guadalupa Alaniz, 7, and Mrs. Maria Alaniz Gonzales, 23; and two children of Mrs. Gonzales, Maria Alvina Gonzales, 3, and Raul Gonzales, 2 months old.

The driver of the truck, G. L. Moore, of Taft, Tex., was not hospitalized. The accident occurred at the intersection of Farm Roads 1944 and 2046 about 30 miles north of Corpus Christi.

John Boren Heads C-C

John Boren was elected Tuesday night to serve as president of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce for the coming year.

Other officers elected at the board of directors meeting were Felix Jones, first vice president; Herbert Feather, second vice president; and H. A. Johnson, Jr., treasurer.

The date of the annual Chamber of Commerce membership banquet was announced. The banquet will be held Jan. 28, with T. A. Spain, IBM executive from Dallas to be the speaker.

Appointments made at the board meeting included the appointment of Jones and Gene Best to the chamber's Industrial Committee. The second vice president is automatically chairman of this committee.

The committee will work with the Industrial Development Corporation in attempting to publicize Snyder and attract industrial development here. In the manager's report, it was noted that for the sake of the community, and the chamber itself, 1964 must be a year of concerted industrial promotional work.

The chamber committee discussed the possibility of monthly luncheon meetings with the Development Corporation to coordinate their activities. These meetings would also include local industrial heads, who could give the relationship of companies with the community and how the two can work together to improve the industrial phase of our economy.

Another appointment made Tuesday night was this year's co-chairman of the July 4 activities. Bentley Baize was appointed to work with Paul Sizemore, the carry-over chairman.

Doug McGlaun was appointed as the director of tourist development. He will work with the Highway 180 Association which has a number of members here. Activation of this group as the Snyder "local" was discussed, as was the fact that some type of tourist advertising program for our community will be necessary with the opening of the U. S. 84 by-pass.

Also discussed was a possible re-evaluation of the areas of work of the Merchant's Committee, with an eye perhaps to having two separate but coordinated groups to represent the downtown section of Snyder and the shopping centers.

Appointments were also made to the Finance Committee. The treasurer is automatically the chairman of the committee. Appointed to serve on the committee were Sterling Parker and Guy Sullivan. This committee will develop a budget for the chamber which will be submitted for approval at the next regular meeting of the board.

It was noted that the Snyder budget is smaller than any of the surrounding, or "sister" cities.

In regard to Snyder's application for the site of the Texas Hospitals' special school, it was reported to the board that a committment on 200 acres had been obtained from Joe York. At last report the site selection committee is planning to hold their meeting on Jan. 13.

At Tuesday night's meeting, the chamber board of directors also voted to extend the contract of Woody Forrester, chamber manager, for another year.

Maps War On Proverty

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today a surprise budget cut to $97.9 billion, even below the current level. And he told Congress he will slash output of weapon-making uranium by 25 per cent —a move he challenged the Soviets to match.

In an unusually brief yet meaty State of the Union message, prepared for personal delivery at a joint session of Congress, Johnson also declared "unconditional war on poverty in America." He ticked off his specific policy ideas for the first time since he became President seven weeks ago following the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's proposals — many requiring action by Congress—were aimed at problems ranging from the depths of poverty to the height of the moon.

For most taxpayers, the biggest surprise probably lay in the budget disclosures. At $97.9 billion, the first Johnson spending plan would be $500 million smaller than the latest estimate of spending under Kennedy's final, record - setting budget.

Johnson described his budget as "efficient, honest and frugal." And he said it will maintain "the full strength of our defenses" while providing "the most federal support in history for education, for health, for retraining the unemployed, and for helping the economically and physically handicapped."

Johnson called newsmen into the White House rose garden before he went to the Capitol to deliver his nationally televised and broadcast speech and added a few points that were not specified in the message.

For one thing, he estimated that about $1 billion will be set aside for the antipoverty program. He said $300 million of this will be spent in fiscal 1965 starting next July 1, some additional amounts will be spent from existing programs and $200 million will be requested for use in future years.

The President also disclosed that he met during the morning with Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, to discuss the message.

Asked to assess the reaction of economy-minded Byrd to the budget figures, Johnson said Byrd seemed to register "pleased surprise."

Sitting in on the sessions were the ranking Republican members of the two committees, Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware and Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin.

Johnson said the budget has been growing at the rate of $5 billion a year, and suggested that had he produced a "normal" budget it would have amounted to $103.8 billion.

He said he whittled down the total by trying to "cut away all fat and waste" and stop needless activities.

He described the defense budget, which is sharing in the cuts, as being in "lean, hard shape, with the fat eliminated."

Endorsing some two dozen propoaals in about 2,900 words, the chief executive urged Congress to bring his programs "to a fair and final vote." He called for the strongest civil rights bill in 100 years, enactment of a massive tax cut by Feb. 1, new steps toward disarmament and selective increases in overtime pay rates.

Other Johnson programs — many inherited from Kennedy — included broader minimum wage coverage, hospital insurance for the aged, an end to discriminatory immigration quotas, a bigger housing program, and a determined effort —preferably in cooperation with the Soviet Union — to put a man on the moon by 1970.

Prosperity at home and peace in the world were the broad goals cited by the President, who sought to balance conciliation and determination in discussing cold war problems.

"We intend to bury no one—and we do not intend to be buried. We can fight, if we must, as we have fought before —but we pray we will never have to fight again," the President said.

As for specific administration policies, Johnson made these major points in the election year address intended to set the tone for the 1964 congressional session:

— Federal spending in the 1965 fiscal year that begins July 1 is scheduled to total $97.9 billion — comfortably below Johnson's announced target of $100 billion. Forecast revenues of $93 billion indicate a deficit of $4.9 billion, or less than half the fiscal 1964 estimate.

—Production of enriched uranium, used in nuclear weapons and small reactors like those in nuclear submarines, will be slashed 25 per cent by June 30 — the first cutback since the first atomic bomb was dropped in 1945. Said Johnson: "We call on our adversaries to do the same." And he justified the decision by declaring: "We must not stockpile arms beyond our needs or seek an excess of military power that could be provocative as well as wasteful."

—"As far as the writ of federal law will run," said the President, "we must abolish not some but all racial discrimination." He emphasized that he wants a civil rights law that will include a ban on discrimination by private businesses serving the general public—the most controversial item in the measure now pending in the House.

—"This administration here and now declares unconditional war on poverty in America," Johnson declared. He said he will propose cooperative federal-state-local programs to promote "better schools, better health, better homes, better training and better job opportunities."

He asked Congress to set up special committees empowered to increase the time-and-a-half overtime pay rate in industries "where consistent excessive use of overtime causes increased unemployment." He did not name any industries or suggest alternative overtime pay scales.

—The United States, Johnson announced, will make "new proposals," which he did not specify, at Geneva disarmament talks later this month.

—He is determined to try to put a man on the moon by 1970 — "in cooperation with other powers if possible, alone if necessary." This echoed a September proposal by Kennedy for a joint American - Soviet moon program — an idea that got a cool reception in Moscow.

Johnson's message, the shortest State of the Union report since 1934, cited these broad goals of national policy: "A nation that is free from want and a world that is free from hate, a world of peace and justice, freedom and abundance, for our time and for all time to come."

Johnson said "our ultimate goal is a world without war." In this connection, he said the United States at Geneva will suggest new steps "toward the control and eventual abolition of arms."

But even in the absence of a disarmament agreement, he said, weapons must not be stockpiled on a wasteful and provocative scale.

"It is in this spirit," he said, "that in this fiscal year we are cutting back our production of

Britain To Proceed On Cuban Deal

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—The British government says it won't stop the sale of $11.2 million worth of British buses and spare parts to Cuba because they aren't strategic goods.

The Board of Trade, Britain's equivalent of the U.S. Commerce Department, shrugged off U.S. criticism of a deal that will help restore the Castro regime's crippled public transporation system.

"Manufacturers are at liberty to sell as and when they find the opportunity," said a Board of Trade spokesman. "There has never been a boycott on the country by Britain. That is the situation and we don't see any reason to depart from this at present. We have quite an extensive trade with Cuba."

Under a five-year credit arrangement, Leyland Motors Ltd. will sell 400 buses and $1.1 million worth of spare parts to Cuba. The company said it expects an order for 1,050 additional buses.

"You would look damned silly going to war in a bus," said Leyland's managing director, Donald Stokes, today. "Anyway, we haven't any war with Cuba and we buy sugar from them."

Stokes said the company in April will begin shipping about 100 buses a month by East German freighters. He said his company had turned to Communist shipping because of the U.S. blacklist on ships that carry cargo to Cuba.

A spokesman for Leyland indicated the manufacturer would be happy to accept further orders from Havana.

Commenting on the sale at a news conference in Washington, State Department press officer Robert McCloskey said: "It certainly does not help our efforts to isolate the Cuban regime and thereby weaken its economy."

Cuba's bus transportation system has been badly hurt because it can't import spare parts from the United States for its many U.S.-built vehicles. Cuba has been gradually replacing buses with vehicles made in Communist bloc countries.

To enforce its embargo, the United States has banned from its ports foreign ships carrying cargo to Cuba. Under 1962 legislation, the President also is empowered to withhold foreign aid from any nation trading with Cuba.

Girl-Watcher With Cause Makes Some Observations

By JAMES GALOGERO

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Harvey Peck, 26 and single, is a girl watcher with a cause. He is looking for the perfect face.

Peck has been studying girls —just their faces; other aspects of girl watching are for amateurs—for a year. He still has a year to go on his project.

Nonetheless, Peck has reached some tentative conclusions, to wit:

"American and international beauties have a tendency toward a toothy, full profile, rather than a straight profile."

A toothy, full profile is sort of a pout. Perfect examples of the type, says Peck, are Sophia Loren, Brigitte Bardot and Doris Day.

They lack the orthognathic profile, he says. On the other hand, there's nothing whatever wrong with the vertical and forward growth of their mandibles.

To put it another way, they don't have straight line profiles, but their jaw bones are lovely, just lovely.

Now Peck wants it understood that a pretty pout is not a prerequisite for beauty. For example, there are Grace Kelly, Elizabeth Taylor and Debbie Reynolds. They have straight line profiles.

So far, Peck has examined the faces of 35 women. None of the aforementioned lovelies was included, but he concentrates on recognized beauties such as models and beauty contest winners.

A few males, including actor Troy Donahue, also are participating.

Peck spends about 15 minutes with each project participant. He positions them in a device to hold one's head steady and then photographs them in repose, smiling and in profile. He also takes X rays of their heads.

This is serious work for Peck, a resident orthodonist at the Boston University Medical Center. He says results of his study, titled "A Photographic and Cephalometric Study of Facial Symmetry and Balance," may provide orthodontists with a guide to the ideal face.

Peck says it is possible to change the lower face profile of a child up to the age of 14 through orthodontic therapy.

In addition, appliances may be used to alter vertical and horizontal growth direction of a child's jaw bones—the key to facial shape.

Peck hopes his research will produce a master chart that "will tell how well balanced are the faces of these people others look up to as beautiful."

Defendant Says Downdraft Cause Of Mexican's Death

EL PASO (AP) — A sudden downdraft seized a light Border Patrol plane and caused it to strike a Mexican on horseback, Dudley Clanahan testified at his murder trial Tuesday.

He was charged after the plane hit and killed Isidoro Rodriguez Chaparro, 23, a Mexican national, while officers hunted aliens suspected of being in this country illegally on Nov. 20, 1962.

Prosecutors finished presenting their case in the afternoon and Clanahan, 28, was among the first witnesses called by the defense.

Chaparro, one of two men pursued by officers, was killed in a remote ranching area 35 miles southwest of Marfa in far west Texas and about 30 miles this side of the Mexican border.

Clanahan, testifying in a calm, deep voice, said he was summoned by radio to help two border patrolmen in a jeep hunt for wetbacks, as aliens who cross the Rio Grande illegally from Mexico are known.

In an effort to talk by loudspeaker with a companion of Chaparro, Clanahan said he descended within 40 to 50 feet of the ground. The downdraft caught his plane and the landing gear struck a horseman before he regained control only 8 to 50 feet in the air.

"The airplane felt like it was falling out from under me and to my right," he related, and it shook at the impact.

Efforts to recover pointed the craft's nose upward, Clanahan said, and he was able to see the horse but not Chaparro.

Two Border Patrol inspectors from Marfa, William Higgins and Richard Corcoran, told of calling for aerial assistance in the search after sighting dust kicked up in the distance by horses carrying two men.

Higgins said he and Corcoran gave chase in their jeep after stopping at a ranch house where foreman W. E. Holland refused to answer when they asked if the two men were wetbacks. They quoted him as saying "I don't like you fellows" and offering to bet their hunt would be unsuccessful.

Holland, his wife and a ranch visitor, Walter Holton, testified for the state earlier that they saw a plane dive three times toward Chaparro and his companion. After passing behind a hill on the third pass the craft appeared minus its left wheel, they said.

Higgins said Clanahan located a trail from the air so they could chase the two men and they drew within 10 feet of one — apparently Chaparro — before a tire blowout interrupted the jeep's pursuit through rough country. The other man escaped.

They lost radio contact with Clanahan for a time because of static, Higgins related, and when they again were able to talk, Clanahan reported "something was wrong with his aircraft."

Higgins and Corcoran said they went to the area to check a report that four wetbacks were living in a cafe on a ranch adjoining that where Holland works.

Appearing as the last prosecution witness, Albert Meyer of the Federal Aviation Agency described the spot where part of a plane's landing gear fell. He said it was close to several spots of blood at the point where Chaparro was reported to have been killed.

Austin Man To Succeed Pickle

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally appointed Sherman Birdwell Jr. of Austin today as employer representative on the Texas Employment Commission.

Birdwell succeeds J. J. Pickle, who resigned to make the successful race for U.S. representative from the 10th District.

Birdwell will serve the unexpired term which ends Nov. 21, 1966.

"Sherman Birdwell brings to the Texas Employment Commission a wealth of business experience and public service," Connally said. "The state is fortunate that a man of his ability has accepted this important responsibility."

Born in Buda, Tex., in 1908, Birdwell is a member of a pioneer Central Texas family. After graduation from the University of Texas, he worked for two years as an accountant in Chile. He later managed his father's general mercantile store in Buda, helped organize the National Youth Administration in Texas and served as the first congressional secretary to then congressman Lyndon Johnson.

For the past 17 years he has been a partner and business manager of the Cook Funeral Home in Austin.

Wellington Judge Dies

PANHANDLE, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Judge Luther Gribble of Wellington died early today after suffering an apparent heart attack in the Carson County courthouse. He was 72.

The judge had spent the night in the jury dormitory of the courthouse to finish up paper work today after court sessions Tuesday.

James Richardson, his court reporter, was with him when he was stricken about 6 a.m.

Gribble had been judge of the five-county 100th judicial district 20 years. The district is made up of Donley, Carson, Childress, Collingsworth and Hall counties.

He was a native of Wellington. He was admitted to the bar in 1918. He was county judge six years, county attorney eight years and city attorney of Wellington eight years.

He recently announced he would be a candidate for re-election as district judge.

Survivors include his wife, Helen, a son in California, and a daughter, living in Washington state.

enriched uranium by 25 per cent, shutting down four plutonium piles and closing many non-essential military installations. And it is in this spirit that we call on our adversaries to do the same."

Enriched uranium is used in a broad variety of atomic weapons and small, specialized reactors, and in the triggering devices for hydrogen bombs. The plutonium piles are reactors that manufacture plutonium — a fissionable material with much the same uses as enriched uranium.

While Johnson did not say so specifically in his message, he implied that reduced output of uranium and plutonium would lead to reduced production of nuclear weapons.

Johnson's emphasis in the domestic field was on proposals to wage "all-out war on human poverty and unemployment in these United States." Most of the ideas he endorsed were generated during the Kennedy administration.

"Let us carry forward the plans and programs of John Fitzgerald Kennedy — not because of our sorrow or sympathy — but because they are right," Johnson said.

And he followed up with a passage that took note of the November presidential and congresional elections:

"In his (Kennedy's) memory, I especially ask all members of my own political faith—in this election year — to put country ahead of party, and to debate principles, not personalities."

At least one antipoverty proposal — involving overtime pay —bore the Johnson stamp.

The President said that while he opposes the idea of a 35-hour week, he is equally opposed to the 45 or 50-hour week in those industries which consistantly schedule overtime work.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said last week that elimination of overtime would create the equivalent of 919,000 fulltime jobs. The aim of higher overtime pay would be to encourage employers to hire additional workers rather than schedule overtime work.

In the area of economics, Johnson laid greatest stress on the House-passed tax cut bill. Until the measure is enacted, he said, "its investment incentives cannot be deemed certain" and the basic rate for withholding taxes from take-home pay cannot be cut from 15 per cent to 14 per cent. The latter move would increase U.S. wage earners' after-tax income by $200 million a month — an amount that would be immediately available for spending or investment.

Because of these factors, Johnson said, "I urge the Congress to take final action on this bill by the first of February."

The lower tax rates would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

In discussing civil rights, Johnson expressed hope that this year's Congress will be the one "which did more for civil rights than the last hundred sessions combined."

Stating that all Americans "should have equal access to facilities open to the public," he said, they should have equal voting rights, equal access to good schools and equal eligibility for federal benefits, Johnson said:

"Today Americans of all races stand side by side in Berlin and Viet Nam. They died side by side in Korea. Surely they can work and eat and travel side by side in America."

The President called, too, for an end to discrimination in immigration. He recommended eliminating the country-of-origin immigration quotas that generally discriminate against those who were born in southern or eastern Europe.

As for the war on poverty, Johnson urged extension of the $1.25 hourly minimum wage to 2 million workers not covered by the program. And he endorsed these additional steps:

Expansion of the area redevelopment program, enactment of youth employment legislation, a broader surplus food stamp plan, a special effort in impoverished sections of the Appalachian region, a domestic Peace Corps, federal school aid, an expanded housing program, a mass transit program and hospital insurance for older citizens.

Johnson did not get into the touchy topic of federal aid to parochial schools. Nor did he mention the comprehensive farm legislation he hopes Congress will pass in 1964.

Steps to control and eventually abolish arms output were among 10 ways in which Johnson said progress toward peace could be achieved in 1964. Some of the others included:

Maintenace of a "margin of military safety and superiority;" increased sales, loans or gifts of food to hungry people in all nations; continued efforts to "assure our pre-eminence in the peaceful exploration of outer space;" expanion of world trade; a continued pledge to prevent devaluation of the dollar and a more rigorous administration of foreign aid with larger roles for private investors.

Mrs. Oswald Thinks He Was Guilty

DALLAS (AP)—The widow of Lee Harvey Oswald has accepted as a fact that her husband killed President John F. Kennedy, her business adviser said today.

As a result, said the adviser, James H. Martin, she has no desire to sue the City of Dallas, any government or Jack Ruby, the man charged with killing Oswald two days after Kennedy was assassinated.

Mrs. Oswald 22, has received slightly over $28,000 in contributions from over the nation.

The Secret Service continues to protect her, but "she is free to come and go as she pleases," Martin told newsmen.

Martin said some groups have suggested there is something sinister about the government protecting Mrs. Oswald.

"They seem convinced that she is being held incommunicado, but she definitely is not," Martin said.

Meat Production At Higher Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meat production started the new year off at a level 11 per cent above last year.

Production in the first week of this year was reported at 400 million pounds by the Agriculture Department. This compared with 387 million in the first week of 1963. Beef accounted for most of the increase.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an M.D., who has recently moved to a new, medium-sized town. In times past I have received gifts of liquor at Christmas from both colleagues and patients. I do not drink, nor do I serve liquor in my home. Neither do I want to give liquor to another person. I do not want to be identified with the drinking crowd, and yet to refuse such a gift may create bad feelings. How do you advise I handle this?

"TEETOTALING M. D."

DEAR "TEETOTALING": Return the liquor with the following note:

"DEAR —: Thanks for the Christmas 'spirits'. You were thoughtful and generous, but I don't use alcohol. And while I pass no judgment on those who do, I cannot bring myself to give it to them. I am just peculiar that way. I hope you understand."

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband doesn't approve of my writing to a stranger with a personal problem, so please put your answer in the paper and use a phony name. We have one child and my sister has three. Every Christmas we spend five dollars on a gift for each one of her children. She spends five dollars on a gift for our child. My husband says that either we should spend a total of FIVE dollars on all her children, or else she should spend $15 on a gift for our one. Maybe this will help you. My sister's husband makes more than mine does. What do you think?

"CHRISTMAS HANGOVER"

DEAR "C.H.": In making up your Christmas gift budget, allow "X" number of dollars for each family. Then divvy it up to provide a gift for each one. Naturally, the family with twelve children can't expect each child to be remembered as generously as the family with one child. This is the fairest system I know.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Please help me as I can't quit thinking about it and my school work is suffering. A boy called me up and asked if I remembered him. I got flustered and couldn't think, so I foolishly told him I didn't remember him. I guess he was embarrassed, because he said goodbye in rather a hurry. After he hung up, I remembered who he was. He is a doll from school and I DO remember him now. Well, when he sees me at school he just looks right through me. I want to let him know I do remember him and want him to call me again but I don't know how. Should I call him up? Help!

MADE A BOO BOO

DEAR MADE: Don't call him. Ask a friend of yours to tell a friend of his that you DO remember him, and regret the boo boo on the phone, and hope he'll call you again. Then, start hoping.

Soybean Exports Hit Record High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that exports of soybeans from the 1962 crop supply reached a record high of 180.3 million bushels. The marketing year ended last Oct. 1.

These exports were 18 per cent larger than from the 1961 crop supply.

The department predicted that exports from the 1963 crop supply will total 190 million bushels.

Judge May Hear Suit

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court ruled today that Dist. Judge J. H. Starley of Pecos is not disqualified from hearing the complex 7-year-old Rio Grande Valley water rights suit.

Several water districts in the Valley had posed the question of Starley's qualifications to the Supreme Court after Starley married a Rio Grande Valley resident who had several relatives holding irrigated land in the area involved.

The court said in its opinion that Starley will not be disqualified later if it is determined in the future that his wife's relatives are "necessary parties" to the suit.

Officers Named For Dance Club

The Country Cousin Square Dance Club met Saturday night for a business meeting and dance, with approximately 60 persons attending. Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wood, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williams of Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles White of Snyder.

New officers for the term are: Mr. and Mrs. Bill McKinney, president; Mr. and Mrs. Junior Behringer, vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Grimmett, secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Chris Sellar, treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erwin, reporter; and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dorman, refreshments.

The club voted to have Dusty Randell to call the regular third Saturday night dance beginning in February. Local callers will call the first Saturday night of each month. Local callers are: Bill McKinney, Doug Ayres, Junior Behringer, Garland Newman, and Woody Newton.

The president appointed the following committee chairmen for the Western Association Dance to be held Feb. 1. Decorations; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd House and Robert Erwin. Name Tags: Mr. and Mrs. Garland Newman. Registration: Mr. and Mrs. Chris Sellar. Refreshments: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dorman.

Woody Newton was the master of ceremonies for the dance. Tips were called by Bill and Dean Wood, Charles White, Garland and Barbara Newman, Junior Behringer, Doug Ayers and Bill McKinney.

The Junior Square Dancers and the new teenage "Shirts and Skirts" Club danced for the group during intermission.

The next dance will be Jan. 18 at 8 p.m. in the armory with Bill Wright of Andrews calling the tips.

Note to new cooks: always arrange sliced bread so that matching slices may be put together when you are making sandwiches.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains, 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation, 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

READY FOR the Finnish cuisine? Here's an interesting main dish that features liver, rice and raisins.

Different Dish From Finland

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

SOME AMERICAN families of Finnish background prepare a fascinating main dish. Grandmothers have passed along the recipe through the years.

This dish holds a combination of foods not ordinarily thought of as "going together" — liver, rice, corn syrup and raisins are baked in a casserole with cooked onion, milk and egg. When we tried this recipe in our kitchen, tasters voted it "different and interesting."

One caution in preparing the recipe. In our opinion the dish tastes best when the liver used is so exceptionally fresh that it has a bland, mild flavor.

We've found this liver pudding served on smorgasbords in Scandinavian restaurants where, traditionally, a few hot dishes are offered along with the cold. A pleasant idea any party - giver can adopt. The smorgasbord can be as simple or as elaborate as you please, depending on the number of dishes you choose to have appear on it. Here are some suggestions for cold dishes, and the liver pudding recipe follows.

Stuffed eggs — they may have their yolks mashed with butter or mayonnaise and seasonings, or this yolk mixture may be combined with liver paste or deviled ham.

Stuffed celery — any milk cheese mixture may be used for the stuffing. Cream cheese blended until smooth with Blue Cheese or Roquefort is a fine combination; cheddar cheese with port is another.

Cheese by itself — the more varieties the merrier, but if you choose only two or three, have at least one that is mild.

Cold ham — this may be the boiled or baked variety, sliced or ready to slice.

Fish — herring, sardines and anchovies.

Salads — tossed green, cole slaw, cooked vegetables mixed with mayonnaise, potato with herring and beets. And most smorgasbords include a sweet jellied mold classed as a salad.

Bread should be assorted. The orange - flavored Scandinavian rye bread called Limpa may be made at home. Crisp rye crackers and Melba toast are "musts."

Dessert might be an apple pudding, favored in all Scandinavian countries — or cake or cookies.

And be sure to serve strong hot coffee.

Finnish Liver Pudding

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 small onion, finely chopped
1 egg
1½ cups milk
¾ pound beef liver, ground
1½ cups cooked rice
1-3 cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup raisins
1½ teaspoons salt

Cook chopped onion in 2 tablespoons butter over low heat until tender and transparent. Beat egg in large bowl until foamy. Blend in milk. Mix in cooked onions, liver, rice, remaining 2 tablespoons butter, corn syrup, raisins and salt. Pour into greased 1½ quart casserole. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven about 1¼ hours. Pudding will be dark brown around the edges. Allow to stand about 10 minutes before serving. Serve with lingonberry or cranberry sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings. Recipe may be doubled and cooked in a 3-quart casserole 1½ hours. Note: If pudding gets too brown toward end of baking, cover with foil.

Fire Auxiliary MD Drive Nearly Completed

The ladies auxiliary of the Snyder Fire Department met Thursday for their regular monthly business meeting with president, Trudy Wood, presiding. Twelve members answered roll call. Reports were given by various committees.

It was reported the Musuclar Dystrophy Drive recently sponsored by the auxiliary almost completed, with good results.

The meeting was adjourned after which refreshments were served by Myna Terrell and Joan Nunley. Bunko was enjoyed by all under the direction of Jean McGlaun and Shirley McCright.

Preparing applesauce? Some good cooks say that covering the apples tightly during the cooking helps preserve good flavor.

Mrs. Rosson Speaks To Sorority

Mrs. Dorothy Rosson spoke to the members of the Iota Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha at their regular monthly business meeting Monday evening in the home of Anita Payne in the Union community.

In keeping with the Chapter's program for the year "Patterns for Living", Mrs. Rosson's topic was "How We Might Have A More Charming Personality." She was introduced by the Program Chairman, Sue Mahood, and presented a most informative and interesting program.

Preceeding the program, a short business meeting was held at which time the members were reminded of the District VIII meeting in Kermit on January 19th. Mrs. Betty Hunter was chosen the Chapter's Sweetheart to represent Iota Psi in the annual beauty pageant which is held in conjunction with the meeting at Kermit. Mrs. Mary Pitner was chosen as alternate.

Refreshments of dips, chips, pickles, olives and cokes were served by the hostess to Mrs. Rosson, Faydean Hart, Ann Matthews, Edith Barker, Anna Stephens, Mary Pitner, Virginia Johnston, Sue Mahood, Etta Wilson, Margaret Wood, Betty Hunter and Beverly Ainsworth.

The chapter's next activity will be a White Elephant Sale on January 20th at the home of Margaret Wood.

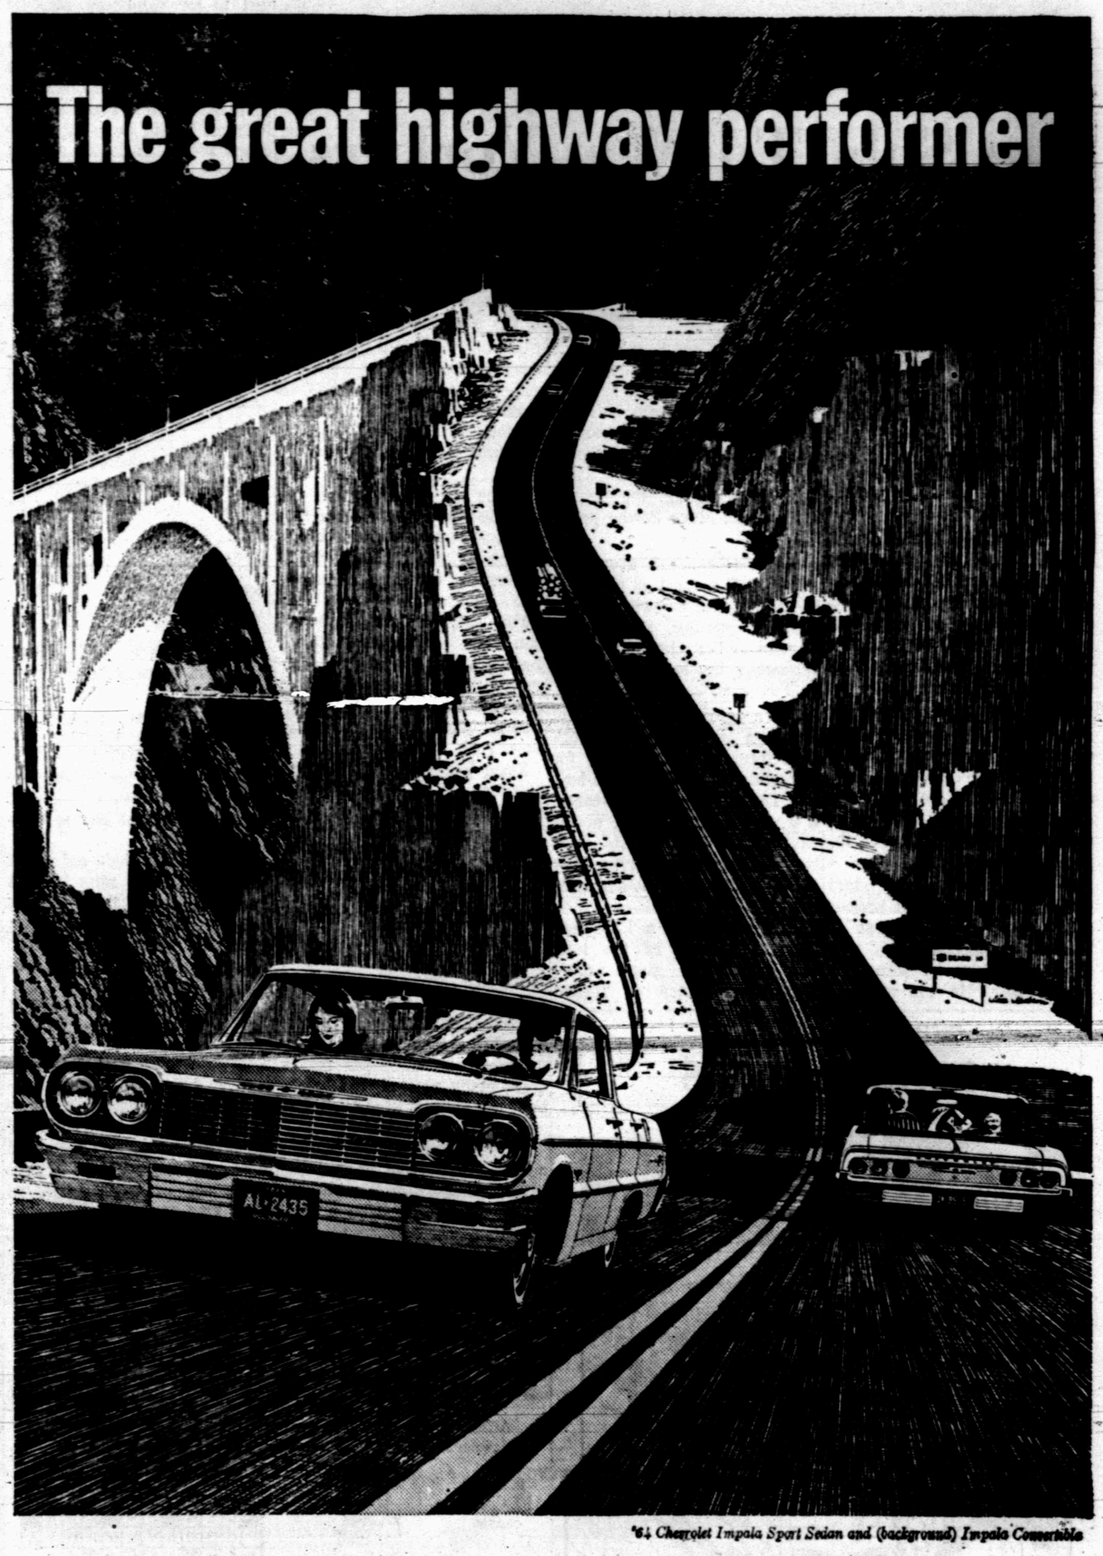
The great highway performer



'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan and (background) Impala Convertible

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?

If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8*—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.*

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them. They were built to be driven by you—on the kinds of roads you drive on.

And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Which, after all, is the kind of performance you'd expect from Chevrolet. The greater satisfaction and enjoyment built into these cars is borne out, year after year, by the higher resale they bring over other makes in their field.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet.

Lots Of 'Brooklyn Bridges' Are Sold To New Yorkers

BY INEZ ROBB

By great good luck, Brooklyn Bridge is situated in the most favorable position imaginable. And that is not merely because Brooklyn is across the East River from Manhattan, and the two must have some kind of distinguished connecting link. New Yorkers have always been inordinately proud of the bridge. They have a real affection, a sentimental attachment, not lavished upon their other great bridges.

But to get back to that fortuitous location: in no other place on earth could a lively promoter find so many suckers willing and eager to buy that bridge than in New York, the sophisticated metropolis of the Western Hemisphere.

The sale and purchase of Brooklyn Bridge is one of vaudeville's oldest gags, but it was a gag based on fact and hard evidence. Around the turn of the century there may have been more avid buyers than at the present moment.

But there isn't a city editor in New York who isn't prepared once or twice a year to handle the purchase of the Brooklyn Bridge by some ferrent sucker. He—the sucker—usually comes to light when he goes to police headquarters that the operator to whom he paid a cash down payment hasn't shown up for the rest of the bundle.

When this story makes the metropolitan front pages, as it inevitably does there is superior laughter in the penthouses and duplexes along Fifth Avenue, Park Avenue and Beekman and Sutton Places. Imagine some poor jerk buying the bridge from which Steve Brodie jumped!

On the other hand, every city editor in New York is prepared to handle once or twice a year the old, familiar story of a swindle in the name of charity supported by the duplex and penthouse suckers.

There are more kinds of Brooklyn Bridges in New York than meet the eye. All are for sale and everyone finds its buyers. During the holiday season, it was revealed that one of the city's most chic charity balls had donated to charity only $6,500 of the $47,000 it had raised.

In other words, a little less than 14 percent of the take ever reached a group called "The Renaissance of Italian Youth,". Or, in still other words, a little more than 86 percent of the money raised went to line the pockets of the shrewd organizers and administrators of the organization.

On application to the New York Supreme Court, the organization was dissolved on Christmas Eve at the request of Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz. "It is apparent," said the official statement, "that the true beneficiaries were the administrators of the defendant organization," including a handkissing Italian count who found it expedient to return to Europe some months ago.

The history of this organization designed to help Italian youth (in a nation now so prosperous that it is amply able to care for its own) is too often par for the charity course in New York and other cities.

Since World War II the proliferation of charity balls in New York alone has made it all but impossible to rent a major ballroom unless application is submitted at least a year in advance. There are two to six balls on many a night, and for every good cause under the sun.

Most such "galas" are honest, but there are still too many run only for the benefit of shrewd organizers and operators. From time to time, every metropolitan newspaper and a great many national magazines have run exposes of the "charity racket."

The exposes have named names. They have begged the givers—suckers—to investigate the organizational setup of such charities before giving them financial support or lending them the prestige of their name and social position.

But people still go on committees for questionable charities without a moment's investigation into the bona fides of the organization, and they still hand over money as if it were going out of fashion. In no other kind of financial transaction would they be so slipshod or so careless of their money of good name.

Psychology Needed For Leap Year

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Here it is Leap Year again, and millions of maidens are scheming against the peace of mind of millions of bachelors.

Many will land a man, but a lot of them won't.

What is the difference between those who will succeed and those who will fail?

The difference is between good and bad feminine psychology.

Some girls look at the crop of unmarried malesand are dismayed at the start.

"It's hopeless," say these girls. "All the best men are already married."

As a married man myself I can subscribe to the partial accuracy of this observation. But it reflects a defeatist attitude.

Certainly it is true that on the whole married men are more attractive than bachelors. But they weren't born more attractive. They were made more attractive by the civilizing influence of the women they married.

A wise girl realizes that this is the real challenge of matrimony — to take a mediocre, scrubby, forlorn bachelor and build him into the better man only she can help him become.

It is bad psychology for a girl to let a marital prospect suspect that she is looking for a walk to the altar chiefly in order to escape the long daily trek to her job in the office. No man likes to feel that his main function in life is to buy pork chops and pincurls for a Lazy Jane.

What are some examples of good feminine psychology?

Well, first of all, don't overdo that "woman mystery" act, girls. Don't be too unapproachable. Let your fellow know pretty quickly that you're fond of him.

Remember that while no man wants to be smothered, they all hanker to be mothered a bit.

As the average employer is too busy to spend his entire day patting an employe on the back, the employe looks forward to getting at home the petting he doesn't get at the office.

He wants from a potential wife the security, encouragement and approval he doesn't receive from his boss on the job.

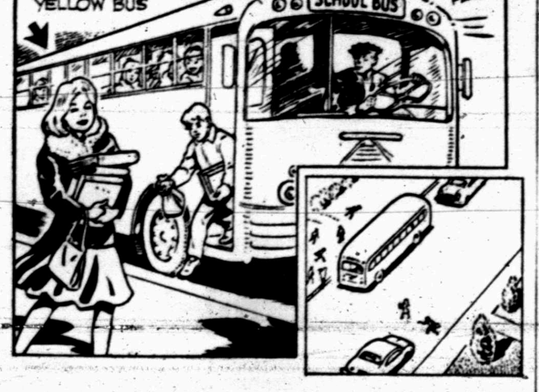
Bachelors are wild things, and must be tamed with care.

The way to win a bachelor is to wine him and dine him and treat him with kindness and give him the feeling that life with you will be better and safer and — above all — more comfortable, than life is without you.

If you do this, he'll eat out of your hand, never miss his lost freedom, let you mold him as you will. Then in some future Leap Year other single girls in his office will look at your husband and say:

"Gee, what chance have I got? All the best men are already married."

Junior Editors Quiz on SCHOOL BUSES



QUESTION: Why are school buses yellow?

• • •

ANSWER: If you look at a color wheel which shows the brightest colors in a ring, you will notice that the ones which catch your eye first are the yellows, oranges and reds. White and black also stand out and arrest the attention. In choosing colors for important roadsigns which warn drivers of dangers or situations in which they should drive cautiously, these colors are kept in mind by the authorities. Fire engines are bright red so drivers can see them quickly and pull out of the way, and white is often used where it is important for drivers to see signs at night. Yellow, a color which stands out strongly, is widely used to indicate that the driver should use caution, as in the three roadsigns at top of picture. It is used on school buses to make them visible and to warn drivers to be cautious in approaching them, for when the school bus stops and puts on its flashing red lights, cars coming both ways must by law, stop too, so that it is safe for the children to get in or out, especially because children may be crossing to the school bus from the other side of the street.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Remember that though it is against the law for cars to pass a parked school bus, some might try to do it. Make sure no cars are coming if you have to cross the street to the bus. 1-8

Tigers Rap Pied Pipers

HAMLIN — The Snyder Tigers, still warming up for district play, led all the way here Tuesday night to decision the Hamlin Pied Pipers, 59-49. It was the third victory of the season for the Tigers and their third over Hamlin.

The Bengals had decisioned Hamlin in the Canyon Reef Tournament early in December and then took another regularly scheduled non-district encounter later on in Snyder.

Jerry Vestal roped 17 points on seven field goals and three free throws to pace Snyder in scoring. Mike Shivers scored 20 points for Hamlin.

Phillip Floyd was the only other Snyder player to score in double figures. He had seven field goals for 14 points.

The Tigers led by 18-13 at the end of the first quarter and had pulled ahead, 31-22, by half-time. Hamlin shaved the lead slightly to 47-37 in the third period.

Snyder also won the B game, 39-33. Glenn Patterson, the only Snyder player to hit double figures, scored 12 points to pace Snyder B.

Snyder B also led all the way, holding leads of 11-8 at the end of the first quarter, 23-17 at half-time and 35-25 at the end of the third period.

Snyder will be host to the Stamford Bulldogs on Friday night in Tiger Gym. The Bulldogs gained a 3-point decision over the Tigers in an earlier match in Stamford.

The Tigers open their district play next week at Lake View. The district opener has been moved up to Monday night due to the approach of mid-term examinations.

Everybody At OCU Looks Up To Cagers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

At Oklahoma City University, more than at any other college in the country, everyone looks up to the basketball players.

Most of them are as high as an elephant's eye. Kneeling.

The Chiefs claim the tallest starting team in the country at an average of 6-foot-7 2-5. The previous record was 6-7 1-5, set by Oklahoma City University last year.

The 6-7 1-5 Chiefs were 19-10 last year. The 6-7 2-5 Chiefs are 10-3 this year, and apparently improving with height.

A leading independent year in and year out, the Chiefs continued their bid for a national ranking Tuesday night by overcoming a 16-point deficit and whipping Loyola of New Orleans 91-86 in overtime behind a tall, talented trio who produced 70 points.

Eddie Jackson, a 7-footer, led the Chiefs with 25 points, 6-2 Jerry Wells contributed 25 and 6-6 Bud Koper added 21, the three turning the tide in overtime after Loyola's Gene Turni sent the game into an extra period with a jump shot in the final minute.

While Oklahoma City was bidding for national honors, fifth-ranked Davidson and ninth-ranked Villanova breezed to easy victories. Undefeated Davidson downed VMI 70-58 for its 11th victory and Villanova won its sixth straight by walloping St. Francis, N.Y., 84-48.

Elsewhere, sophomore Ernie Thompson scored 25 points as Bradley crushed Centenary 91-69, Billy Foster connected for 29 points in Drake's 93-68 thumping of Purdue, Gene Elmore scored 23 points and collected 17 rebounds as SMU defeated Baylor 85-65 and Barry Rodrique's layup with 24 seconds left gave Rice a 61-60 decision over Texas Tech.

In other major games, Portland beat Oregon 61-58, Texas A&M crushed TCU 92-64, Arkansas nipped Texas 58-53, Providence defeated Massachusetts 89-73, Western Michigan edged Ohio U. 95-93, Georgetown beat Canisius 87-78 and Cornell took Florida Southern 97-87.

Davidson built a 53-38 lead midway in the second half before VMI regained the momentum and cut the deficit to 53-47 on baskets by Bobby Watson, Chuck Schmaus and Joe Kruszewski. Fred Hetzel and Dick Snyder then gave the Wildcats a 60-49 lead and put it out of reach. Hetzel led the scorers with 22 points while Snyder scored 16.

The Wildcats of Villanova brought their record to 10-1 by reacing to a 50-27 lead that was more than enough against St. Francis. Jim Washington was high for the winners with 17 points while George Leftwich had 15 and Bill Melchionni and Richie Moore 12 each.

Eleftherios Dimogenes Tsitsopoulos of Athens, Greece has 32 letters — but they're in his name. He plays soccer for Brandeis University.

Ira, Hobbs Divide Pair

IRA — Ira girls and Hobbs boys took victories in conference basketball games played Tuesday night in the Ira Gym.

The Ira girls decisioned the Hobbs girls, 56-34, while Hobbs boys took a 51-43 victory over Ira boys.

Pat Jones scored 27 points to lead Ira's girls to victory. Wanda Payne had 10 points, Carolyn Clark 8, Janice Bishop 6, Muffett Kimbrell 3 and Renoka Hooker 2.

For Hobbs, Jenny Medrano had 15 points, Karen Martin 12, Rena No Hull 6 and Melna Pearce 1.

In the boys game, Ruben Mijares hit for 25 points for the Panthers. Freddie Martinez had 10 points, Tom Lay 8, Chester Campbell and Donald Hull 4 each.

Bob Hart was top scorer for Ira boys with 17 points, Danny Crowder had 11, Don Kimbrell 8, Jack Payne 4 and Norman Turner 3.

Winning Streak Of Buna Ended

BUNA (AP) — Buna, Class AA state basketball champion for the last three years and owner of one of the longest district winning streaks among schoolboys, lost to West Orange Tuesday night 59 to 38.

Buna had won 129 district basketball games. Its last district defeat was by Cedar Bayou in 1952 when Buna was a member of Class A.

Hot Words Fly On A's Transfer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—For the next eight days, until owners of American League teams meet in New York, the question of whether Kansas City or Louisville has a baseball team named the Athletics will be subject to conjecture. And words.

Owner Charles O. Finley, who signed a two-year contract Monday to shift the A's franchise to Louisville, says he is confident the owners "will approve my move when they have had an opportunity to analyze the true facts."

A majority of owners have indicated otherwise.

"He isn't going to Louisville," Chicago White Sox Owner Arthur Allyn said Tuesday. "Mr. Finley's action is absolutely inexcusable. He has an obligation to Kansas City and I'm going to see that he lives up to it."

It was reported Finley might charge the other owners with restraint of trade if they thwart his move.

Finley called the report "another perfect example of a manufactured lie;" and added:.

"If the owners veto the move I will face that when it happens. But I am very confident nothing like that will occur."

Kansas City officials, who failed in weeks of negotiations to reach agreement on a Municipal Stadium lease, maintained what Mayor Ilus W. Davis called "discreet silence."

Davis and City Manager Carleton Sharpe had requested American League assistance before Finley announced his planned move. They'll attend the league meeting in New York Jan. 16.

Finley was asked in Louisville if he had any new offers to sell the club he bought in 1960 from the estate of Arnold Johnson.

"I haven't had any new offers," Finley said. "It would not make any difference if I did. The club is not for sale."

Davis Cup, Two Netters In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The Davis Cup and two members of the United States tennis team that won it will be in Dallas this weekend.

The large, silver cup, a symbol of world tennis supremacy, will be displayed at the tennis paladium, site of the three-day Dallas Inivitational Indoor Tennis Tournament beginning Friday.

"This is the first time the cup has come to Texas," Jack Turpin, president of the Dallas Tennis Association, said. "It's quite an honor to have both the cup and the players who won it."

The players, Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, head a list of stars who will compete for the Dallas title.

Free Substitution Rule Unlikely To Return Now

NEW YORK (AP)—Although supported by 98 per cent of the coaches, the free substitution rule is unlikely to come back to college football next year.

Most observers attending the National Collegiate Athletic Association meetings here agreed that some changes would be made but that return of the unhampered two - platoon system appeared remote.

"I think we will get a rule similar to that in 1962," said Frank Broyles of Arkansas. "It enabled players to go both ways and at the same time it permitted the use of offensive and defensive teams as a unit."

Ivy Williamson, athletic director of the University of Wisconsin and chairman of the rules committee, said his group would listen carefully to proposals of the coaches.

"We will hear from the outgoing president of the Coaches Association, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, as well as the new president, Len Casanova of Oregon," Williamson said.

"We will seek to arrive at the system that is best for all concerned. It is true, however, that the rules committee does not always go along with the sentiment of the coaches."

Meanwhile, two of the nation's leading coaches, Darrell Royal of Texas and Pete Elliott of Illinois, found themselves on opposite sides of the fence on the issue.

"I'm against unlimited substitution," said Royal, who led the Longhorns through an unbeaten season and to the national championship. "I think we coaches are beginning to look foolish changing the rules every year."

Elliott said, "I'll have to go along with the rest of the coaches. I think it would be a better game if we had unlimited substitution."

A poll conducted by the Coaches Association showed 98 per cent in favor of using substitutes without restriction, in the fashion of the pros.

Williamson's group, consisting of coaches and administrators, will meet at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 11 to study the football code.

Lincoln Cage Teams Win 2

The Lincoln Trojans walloped McCamey in both boys and girls basketball games here in conference play last night.

Lincoln boys took a 71-64 decision, while the Lincoln girls won 70-27 despite the fact that starting forwards for the local team did not play after the first quarter.

Linwood Durst roped 31 points for Lincoln boys, while Joseph Crayton, had 20, Vernon Clay had 11, Paul Barnes 7 and Billie Cobbs 2. Cobbs also had 12 rebounds.

Clarence Jones was high for McCamey with 20 points.

In the girls game, Mary Goosby had 14 points, Yvonne Sanders 12, Johnnie Goosby, Louline Brooks and Emma Garrett 8 each. Pearlie Scott and Evelyn Braziel 7 each, Roselle Barnes 4 and Katherine Williams 2.

Drenona Wright had 15 points for McCamey girls.

The Lincoln teams will go to McCamey for games Friday night.

Interscholastic League To Rule On Snyder Violation

The Texas Interscholastic League Executive Committee was to meet at 2 p.m. today in Austin to rule on an awards infraction by Snyder High School.

The rules violation reported to the committee by a roundabout method, involves letter awards given to athletes who earned letters in more than one sport last year.

Interscholastic League rules provide that a sweater or jacket costing not more than $15 may be given a letterman in one sport or activity. Therafter, if the same individual earns a letter in another activity, the school may award an emblem costing no more than $2.

Dr. Rhea Williams, TIL director, notified Supt. T. E. McCollum several days ago of the report. Invoices on awards were checked and it was learned that the local school had paid more than $2 for some basketball and track letter awards last spring. These were awards to players who had already been awarded jackets in other sports.

Local school officials said nobody here had noticed the invoices listing the prices above $2 until the query came from the Interscholastic League. The TIL executive committee may use its discretion in applying the rule. Punishment could range from a simple reprimand to suspension from the TIL for a year.

McCollum, who was to be in Austin today on another matter, received permission to appear before the committee. All of the records here involving payments for letter awards were forwarded to the TIL office as soon as the violation was called to the attention of local school officials.

Rice, Aggies In Tie For Top Spot

By The Associated Press

Rice fought from behind to a 61-60 victory over Texas Tech and Texas A&M easily defeated Texas Christian 91-64 Tuesday night to stay in a tie for first place in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

Arkansas surprised Texas 58-53 and Southern Methodist defeated Baylor 85-65 in the night's other games. Both Arkansas and SMU won their first conference games and their fourth games of the season.

Rice and Texas A&M are now 2-0 in league play. Texas and Texas Tech dropped into a four way tie with SMU and Arkansas second place with 1-1 records. Baylor and TCU are 0-2.

Barry Rodrigue was the star of Rice's come-back victory over Texas Tech. With 24 seconds left in the game and Rice trailing by one point he drove down the free throw lane and flipped in a layup shot to make the score 61-60. Tech got the ball, Tom Patty's hurried shot missed, and Rodrigue took the rebound as the game ended.

Arkansas trailed Texas until only 1:57 remained in the game. Even then the outcome was in doubt until the Razorbacks' Orval Cook sank two free throws in the final seconds. Warren Vogel of Arkansas and Joe Fisher of Texas were high scorers with 17 points each.

Benny Lenox, one of the highest scorers in the conference, led Texas A&M to the victory over TCU. Lenox played only 28 minutes and scored 27 points.

Gary Turner and Bobby McKinley were high scorers for TCU with 15 points each. A couple of Aggie sophomores, John Beasley and Tim Timmerman, had 16 and 15 points, respectively.

Big Gene Elmore scored 23 points in leading SMU to victory over Baylor. Baylor's Winston Moore led the Bears with 20 points although he accumulated four fouls well before halftime and fouled out with 9½ minutes to play.

Dallas Club Signs End From Georgia

DALLAS (AP) — Officials of the Dallas Cowboys reported today that University of Georgia end Benny Boyd has signed a contract with the National Football League club. He was a free agent

Boyd weighs 235 and stands 6 feet 3. He's tabbed as an offensive line candidate with the Cowboys.

Golfers In San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Golf's professionals hit the second stop on the new winter tournament trail Thursday as the $30,000 San Diego Open begins for a 72-hole run.

Arnold Palmer, a past winner, heads a top array of talent, but the defending champion, South Africa's Gary Player, as well as Jack Nicklaus, will be missing.

Also absent is Paul Harney, surprise winner of the $50,000 Los Angeles Open last Monday. Harney is limiting his tournament appearances for his club position near Sacramento and Nicklaus and Player are delaying the start of their 1964 campaign.

Automated Hospitals Are Predicted By Economist

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
AP Science Writer

MELNO PARK, Calif. (AP)—Automation of almost everything except nurses will mark the hospital of the future, says a health economist. And cheerful nurses, relieved of drudgery by electronic slaves, will have more time for patients.

Each patient will have a small but private room. His bed, which may not resemble a bed at all, will supply an individual climate the way an incubator does for a premature baby.

Electronic devices will monitor his condition when needed.

The sleeping pill will be replaced by a weak electric current flowing through his head at bedtime.

There'll be spray-on dressings, disposable garments and single-dose packaged medications.

The automated hospital of the future will house almost all patients under a doctor's care, further reducing home visits. The patients may be grouped in the hospital by type of illness rather than degree to receive specialized nursing care.

This broad picture, with variations, is sketched by Dr. Mark S. Blumberg, senior health economist of the Stanford Research Institute. The physician-economist began research into hospital operation about five years ago.

Many of the devices that will automate the hospital and hold down manpower requirements are presently available. Others are on the drawing board.

Already, in postoperative recovery rooms, a monitor can automatically trigger an electric device to stimulate a fibbtering heart, for example.

"The bed," says Dr. Blumberg, "will be broken down into its functions, and some won't look like a bed at all."

Dr. Blumberg envisions the patient's body encased in a box-like tent of light, opaque material. The patient would need no upper sheet and blankets because circulating air would maintain desired temperature and humidity.

Dr. Blumberg says electricity has been used in the United States to induce anesthetic sleep.

"At bedtime the nurse would just place electrodes on the insomniac patient's head, and wham — good night," he explains. A harmless amount of current shorts out the brain's wakefulness control center.

Automating the hospital is expensive. The devices probably will forestall some staff increases, Dr. Blumberg comments, but may fail to cut hospital costs.

"They will result in better quality care," he states.

"I don't think automation will minimize tender loving care at all. But with electronic help the nurse "will have confidence and be more cheerful.

"And instead of taking temperatures, she will have time to smile and say 'hello.'"

Mongolian House Is Easy To Move

EDITOR's NOTE — Mongolia, the giant land which lies between Siberia and China, is seldom visited by American reporters. For one thing, the United States does not recognize Mongolia and visas to enter the country are not easy to obtain. This dispatch is by the AP's chief of bureau in the India-Pakistan area. He went into Mongolia via the Soviet Union.

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

TSETSERLEG, Mongolia (AP)—Dashdorji lives in a yurt.

In the spring he takes the canvas and then the felt off its wooden frame, dismantles the frame and in about 30 minutes is ready to move his home. He mounts his small, rugged Mongolian horse and drives 130 cows to summer pasture.

There, Dashdorji puts up the circular yurt in about 40 minutes and moves in. When autumn comes, maybe sooner if the pasture is poor, he moves again.

Dashdorji's ancestors have been living this way in Mongolia for centuries. But Dashdorji is no primitive nomad.

He sleeps in a metal - frame bed and listens to a battery - operated radio. His wife has a sewing machine. His 20-year-old son is studying geology in Moscow. Another son, 15, is studying to be an engineer in Ulan Bator, capital of the Mongolian People's Republic.

In four years his daughter now 4, will leave home to attend school at the headquarters of a cooperative of which Dashdorji is a member.

The cooperative is about 25 miles west of Tsetserleg, a provincial capital of about 13,000 persons, and 325 miles west of Ulan Bator.

Dashdorji currently is camping in a mountain - rimmed meadow over a mile high. Ten of the cows are owned by four families, the other 120 by the cooperative—part of the cooperative's 84,000 head of livestock on 1,225 million acres. Dashdorji is paid for tending the cows.

Despite increasing industrialization and agricultural development, Mongolia is still primarily based on livestock economy. Sheep, goats, cows, horses and two - humped camels thrive on sweeping plains and broad valleys that look a lot like Montana.

The government has organized all the rural people of Mongolia's 1.02 million population into about 350 cooperatives and 25 state farms.

In addition to schools, the buildings of Dashdorji's cooperative include a hospital, veterinary station, cinemas and other facilities. This is the permanent core manned by 2,800 persons for the shifting system of pasturing the livestock by the other 2,000 cooperative members.

Dog Food Sustains Lost Pair

WATSON LAKE, Y.T. (AP)—Six pounds of dog food, scrounged from an empty trapper's cabin, helped sustain a Yukon Territory couple through 30 days of hunger, pain and exhaustion while lost in bush country east of Watson Lake.

William Alexander McDiarmid, 43, a trapper, and his wife, Maggie, 25, were reported in good condition Tuesday night after being flown here.

They left their cabin on Larsen Lake Dec. 5 to snowshoe to Smith River, 60 miles away. After a few days of blizzards and deep snow, they were lost.

"By that time my feet were frozen to the knees," McDiarmid said. "We knew our way back but weren't sure how much further we had to go.

"My nose kept bleeding; Maggie was fine.

"I was carrying 60 pounds; I had 21 marten, an axe, a hatchet, blankets and my rifle. We just couldn't keep up.

"We had macaroni on Christmas Day. I had a sardine sandwich and Maggie had some canned sardines. Our food ran out and we ate moss and snow. We found six pounds of dog food in a cabin and ate that."

Bush pilot Bob Harrison, who was supposed to meet the couple at their cabin door, notified the mounted police. The mounties sent a plane out New Year's Day without success and Harrison flew over the area the next day.

"While flying over the snow, I suddenly saw snowshoe tracks and I followed them," Harrison said. "I saw a fire and a figure waving a blanket."

A ground party arrived the next day and fed the couple hamburger and stew.

Attitudes Changed On Death Penalty

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas lawyers trying a murder concluded Wednesday the assassination of President John F. Kennedy here Nov. 22 has led Dallas County residents to re-examine their views on the death penalty.

In most previous capital punishment cases, the lawyers said, half of the prospective jurors disqualified themselves by swearing they had conscientious scruples against the death penalty.

During the trial of Webb Washington, 43, Negro yardman charged with the slaying of Mrs. Sonie Gue, however, the lawyers said the ratio has changed.

Only one prospective juror in ten disqualified himself on the death penalty clause.

Methodist Asks New Youth Plan

DALLAS (AP) — A leader in Christian education for children says the church must provide an adequate "approach to Christian nature", or lose its young people.

Dr. Mary Alice Jones, Nashville, Tenn., said the church needs to find new and imaginative ways to serve its youth.

She was honored Tuesday night at a dinner meeting of the Methodist General Board of Education. Dr. Jones retired last year as director of Christian education for the board.

Dr. John Gross of Nashville told the opening session of the board Tuesday he saw no opposition to church - related institutions accepting federal aid.

"It is not likely that there will be opposition unless there is a threat of some sort of central control," he said.

Dr. Gross is secretary of the division of higher education of the board.

Rice Alumni File Petition

HOUSTON (AP) — Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Tex., and 10 other Rice University alumni have asked in district court that trustees of the university be granted court authority to remove racial barriers and charge tuition.

The alumni's intervention plea, filed by the 11 former students Tuesday in Dist. Judge Phil Peden's court, supports the Rice trustees' petition. They asked court permission to interpret the 1891 indenture by which William Marsh Rice created a fund to endow the university.

The plea denies the claim of an earlier intervention by two other former students that the indenture must be interpreted strictly by the trustees.

A trial of the lawsuit has been set for Feb. 10.

The new intervention said the trustees seek an enlightened view of Rice's indenture to enable it to reach its place as one of the nation's leading educational institutions.

Goldwater Hits Campaign Trail

By WALTER R. MEARS

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater — saying he was encouraged and surprised by his reception in the nation's first primary state—hits the hand-shaking trail across southern New Hampshire today to press his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I'm very, very pleasantly surprised," Goldwater said Tuesday night as he completed the first day of his New Hampshire campaign.

He shook hundreds of hands, signed dozens of autographs—and urged his campaign workers not to let the battle for the nomination produce bitterness that would divide the Republican party next November.

"This is one of the most encouraging turnouts, one of the most encouraging experiences I've ever had," Goldwater told a standing-room-only crowd of campaign workers at the Concord Hotel.

The hotel also houses the headquarters of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, only other avowed candidate for the GOP nomination.

Goldwater told reporters he expects other Republicans—perhaps former Vice President Richard M Nixon; Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine — also will be on the ballot for the March 10 New Hampshire primary.

The Arizona senator said his own polls rate him a 3-1 front runner in New Hampshire, but that could change if other Republicans enter the race.

Goldwater did not mention Rockefeller Tuesday. He trained his fire on President Johnson and underscored his own positions.

Goldwater's itinerary today listed visits to Nashua, Milford, Amherst and Manchester. His first major New Hampshire speech, on foreign policy, was scheduled for tonight at St. Anselm's College in Manchester.

Concert Association To Meet

The board of directors of the Scurry Concert Association will meet Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the community room of the West Texas State Bank.

Primary business to come before the group will be a discussion of plans for the annual membership drive this spring as well as possible talent selections for the 1964-65 concert series.

Meeting with the group will be Sean O'Dowd representing United Audience Service, Inc., of New York City.

All board members of the Scurry Concert Association are urged to attend this meeting.

He Believes In Returning Favor

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Henry Brown Jr., 40, believes in returning favors, even when it involves an assault to murder charge.

He told attorneys Tuesday he won't press charges rgainst Myrtle Ross, 44, even though he said she shot him.

The reason: Brown said he shot Myrtle's sister last year. "They forgave me and now I wish to do the same for her family."

Dist. Atty. James Barlow wasn't in an equally forgiving mood. He said he will submit the case to the grand jury.

LBJ Made Impression As Teacher

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson made a big impression on Daniel Garcia of Cotulla, Tex., 36 years ago.

The impression he made was on the seat of Garcia's pants.

Garcia appeared Monday night on the CBS television show "I've got a secret." His secret was a spanking from Johnson, then Garcia's teacher in the 6th grade at Welhausen School in Cotulla.

After the program, Johnson invited his former pupil here to talk over old times.

Tuesday Garcia faced his old teacher across another desk, at the White House. When newsmen arrived at Johnson's office, the President and Garcia were deep in conversation.

"This is quite a television performer," Johnson said. "He's giving me some instructions, trying to polish me up.' '

Garcia said he was spanked for clowning while teacher Johnson was out of the room.

"I wasn't the first one to do it, but I was up there the longest," he said.

"He came tiptoeing in behind me. When the kids stopped laughing and roaring I knew something was wrong. I looked around and saw Mr. Johnson.

"He took me to a private office and spanked me, with his bare hand."

Garcia said he believed the teaching job was Johnson's first, and that the pupils all had great respect for their teacher.

Johnson became principal the next year, and was already coaching the volley ball, baseball and basketball teams, and helping out with the coaching of high school teams in Cotulla.

Johnson Faced With 'Endless Workout'

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — For President Johnson 1964, which will be the most intense year of his life, is like being condemned to a gymnasium. It is going to be an endless workout. That seems to be the way he wants it.

Johnson was 46 and President Dwight D. Eisenhower 64 when they had their heart attacks in 1955. It laid them both up for months. Thereafter Eisenhower carefully paced himself through six more years of the presidency.

Johnson did the opposite. Starting the day after he left the hospital, he invited newspaper reporters to his home. He gave the impression of a man raring to go, which is probably the exact impression he wanted to give.

At any rate, he seemed to take his heart attack as an invitation to pitch harder.

After some months of rest that year Johnson returned to his job as Democratic majority leader in the Senate and resumed his hectic pace. Then in 1960, when he had to campaign for the vice presidency, he outdid even his Senate energy.

Johnson, in his almost three years under President John F. Kennedy, continued to spread his physical effort like jam over days and nights as he whipped around making speeches and on foreign trips assigned him by Kennedy.

In all this, since Johnson was a completely secondary figure in the Kennedy administration, he was not under severe tension. Kennedy was the one who had to endure that. He was the one who had to make decisions and do the struggling.

Now Johnson gets the full load of the physical and mental activity which go with the presidency, plus its tensions. In short, 1964 will be the greatest year of strain in his life.

Just the physical part of it is a kind of physical torture: the handshaking, the reception lines the speechmaking, the banquets, maybe trips abroad, battles with Congress, the need to stay in camera focus.

On top of it all, will come the campaign for election.

In less than two months in office he has put a far heavier physical strain on himself than even the very active Kennedy.

Johnson seems unable to sit quietly and, so far as newsmen are concerned, to stop talking. He bounces in and out, up and down, consults with advisers, holds instant news conferences, meets with his Cabinet, hunts deer, gives personally conducted tours of his Texas ranch, keeps talking, has barbecues, strolls the streets, makes pronouncements, orders people around — he's noted for that — and keeps talking.

There's no reason to think this won't be his routine for the rest of the year. How does all this set with a man who had a truly bad heart attack eight years ago? So far it seems to have worked all right.

Just a month ago one of his doctors, looking back over Johnson's eight years since the attack, says, "He has done beautifully. I don't know of anyone who gets up earlier, goes to bed later, works harder, and gets more done without any trouble than the President. He tolerates stresses that most people can't."

Dallas Image Hurt In Latin America

DALLAS (AP) — "The Dallas image has suffered worse in Latin America than it has in the U.S. said William A Gaudet, editor and publisher of the magazine, Latin American Report.

In an interview Tuesday at the Dallas Press Club, Gaudet said Latin America has had its share of assassinations. "But they don't expect it from us."

Gaudet said, "Don't misunder stand. I like Dallas and I think the city has a wonderful potential. But Dallas is known down there as a 'hate' city. And Dallas is going to have to work to overcome what's happened here—even though it could have happened anywhere."

Fireworks Blast Toll Reaches 12

CUAUTLA, Mexico (AP)—The death toll from a fireworks explosion in nearby Ttelcingo has amounted to 12, and officials said they fear for the lives of several of 13 persons injured.

About 500 persons were in the plaza celebrating a religious holiday when a stray skyrocket landed among other fireworks, Mayor Rudolpho Abundez said.

Romney Is Ready To Accept Draft

By GENE SCHROEDER

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney's sudden availability for a draft for the Republican presidential nomination may be more of a strategic political move than a tactical one.

In announcing to a National Press Club audience Tuesday that he would have a duty to accept a genuine draft, Romney—in the view of some observers—could well have been making a calculated power play.

Recent statements by the governor indicate he wants to play a more important role in national politics.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Romney said:

"What happens nationally has an important bearing on what happens to Michigan, and I certainly hope to pursue a course of activities that would permit me to have some influence on what might happen nationally in 1964."

If it had not been a certainty before, Romney assuredly will be placed in nomination on the first ballot at the San Francisco convention next July — probably as Michigan's "favorite-son."

Since he can be expected to draw a number of votes from other state delegations, the governor may find himself playing an important role in deciding who gets the nomination.

He could to this by throwing his support to one candidate or another if a deadlock develops.

Or, if his strength picks up on the second ballot, Romney might go all the way to the nomination as a compromise candidate standing somewhere between New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, and Arizona Sen. Barry Coldwater.

Romney has made no secret that he has reservations about some of Goldwater's views, especially regarding civil rights, right-to-work laws and foreign affairs.

While he doesn't share all of Goldwater's views, Romney doesn't happen to share all of Rockefeller's either.

Campaign To Discourage Traffic Sparks Clashes

HOUSTON (AP) — Residents of a four - block stretch of Wycliffe Street are waging a campaign to discourage through traffic on their street.

Their efforts Tuesday brought on two clashes with the law.

The father of a small boy who was critically injured by a car Friday was arrested on a simple assault charge after flagging down a trucker.

Then, later in the day, police dispersed a group of women who were hailing cars and passing out handbills asking that motorists use West Belt Drive instead of their street.

The residents have complained to the city council and police that motorists are using their blocks of Wycliffe en route from one major street to another.

And they say three of the 127 children living in those four blocks have been struck by cars and injured in the last two years.

James E. Cornett, father of the injured boy, was charged after a truck driver he flagged down, Carl R. Clements, 25, filed a simple assault complaint against him.

Cronett said he stopped three trucks Tuesday morning and asked the drivers to use another street. He said two of them agreed.

But Corbett said Clements told him he would use any street he wanted to.

"I grabbed his shirt and got eyeball to eyeball with him," Corbett said. "I told him what I thought about him."

Cornett was arrested at home, then released under a $25 corporation court bond.

Cornett said he was looking forward to his Jan. 31 trial.

"We've tried the legislative and executive branches of the city government, now we'll try the judicial," he said. "We've waited and waited and waited—something has to be done to slow down the traffic."

Traffic inspector Otto H. Vahldiek Jr. said an ordinance prohibits impeding the flow of traffic. He said Wycliffe is a public street and open to any automobile except commerical trucks weighing more than 3,000 pounds.

First Suspect's Sister Charged

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Spanish-born Manola Gallardo, unable to speak English, may have fatally stabbed multimillionaire William A. Bartholomae after mistakenly believing he had harmed her sister Orange County Dist. Atty. Kenneth Williams said.

The district attorney's office dropped murder charges Tuesday against Bartholomae's sister-in-law, Carmen, 25, and booked her sister, Manola, 32, on suspicion of murder.

Bartholomae, 70, a yachtsman who made an estimated $11 million in ranching, oil and mining, died Sunday morning in the kitchen of his $500,000 mansion on Newport Bay.

The district attorney said Bartholomae died in a "real, choice battle" in which he was clawed and stabbed to death.

Williams said a lie detector test given Mrs. Bartholomae and further police investigation Tuesday led to her release and the arrest of her sister.

The district attorney said investigation gave this picture of the fatal stabbing:

Manola had just left the kitchen to take care of her sister's 3-month-old son. On her return, she saw her sister lying on the floor, Bartholomae leaning over her. She either thought Bartholomae had harmed her sister or was about to.

A scuffle ensued. Bartholomae was stabbed. Manola's left hand was nearly severed.

The lie detector test confirmed Mrs. Bartholomae's story that she fainted because of abdominal pains while her sister was out of the room, Williams said.

Miss Gallardo waived preliminary hearing and will be arraigned in Orange County Superior Court Jan. 16. Her attorney, Paul Caruso, said she would plead innocent.

Miss Gallardo came to the United States three months ago to help her sister care for her newborn child.

DANCER TELLS HER STORY — Mrs. Carmen Gallardo Bartholomae, 25-year-old former Spanish dancer, tells newsmen her version of the slaying of her brother-in-law, multimillionaire William A. Bartholomae. She talked to newsmen at a news conference in Newport Beach, Calif., where the slaying took place. Police said Carmen had told them after the slaying that she was alone with the victim in the kitchen of the palatial home. Now she says her sister, Manola, was with her when the 70-year-old yachtsman was stabbed twice in the abdomen. (AP Wirephoto)

Connally Had Close Shave

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. John Connally would not be alive today if it had taken five minutes longer to get him to the hospital after he and the late President Kennedy were shot Nov. 22, says Rep. Jake Pickle, D-Tex.

Pickle, the new congressman from the 10th District in Central Texas, told a Washington reporter Tuesday:

"You know, the governor lost a lot of blood when he was wounded. He undoubtedly would have died if it had taken five minutes longer to get to the hospital there in Dallas.

"He also probably would have died if he had not been hunched up, even though he probably did so involuntarily, because that helped stop the flow of blood."

Pickle said the governor is continuing to progress satisfactorily, but may have to undergo an operation on his wrist to prevent stiffness.

He said he learned of the governor's close call during a visit at Parkland Hospital in Dallas a week after the shooting.

'Mystery' Witness Is Expected

AMARILLO (AP) — A lawyer representing Russell W. McLarry is expected to arrive here Wednesday night with his client and a mystery witness.

McLarry, 21, is charged with threatening the life of President Kennedy before the President's ill-fated trip to Dallas.

Defense lawyer Arthur Lee Moore of Fort Worth would say only that his witness is an employee of the Dallas Times Herald.

Moore has asked the grand jury to hear his client Thursday.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Bill Hughes said the request would be considered after McLarry arrives.

Secret Service agents charged McLarry with threatening bodily harm to the late President before Kennedy was slain Nov. 22. McLarry, a machinist and part-time student at Arlington State College, said the remarks were made in jest.

Moore said he did not intend to put himself in a position "critical of federal law and its courts" but the statement attributed to McLarry was nothing more than "silly remarks," which would have been passed over had the president not been assassinated.

Two Groups Seeking Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been asked by two groups to pass cotton legislation that would enable domestic users to buy U.S. cotton at the same rate available overseas.

A government export subsidy is responsible for keeping the overseas price beneath the domestic price, which the government supports at a high level.

The plea for elimination of the present two-price system came Tuesday from a 30-member National Cotton Advisory Committee, called by the Agriculture Department, and from a conference of cotton growers and farm leaders.

However, the groups disagreed on whether growers, handlers or mills should receive payments that would permit reduction of cotton prices for domestic use.

A House-passed bill would authorize payments to textile mills to put the cost of cotton to them on a par with prices paid by foreign buyers.

A bill pending in the Senate —the Talmadge-Humphrey Bill —would reduce cotton price supports. The bill would make a payment to cotton growers to make up for their loss of income.

The Cotton Advisory Committee said most of its members favored some sort of domestic payment, but they disagreed on who should get it.

Ailing Nehru Is Reported Better After A Good Night

BHUBANESWAR, India (AP) Ailing Prime Minister Nehru was reported feeling better today after a restful night, and an associate said he might be back on the job in another day.

The Indian leader, 74, here for the annual meeting of his ruling Congress party, canceled all engagements Tuesday. Doctors ordered him to bed, saying he was suffering from weakness and high blood pressure.

Doctors summoned from New Delhi advised Nehru to take a complete rest and accept no engagements for two weeks, the first announcement. Later "two weeks" was changed to "for the present."

But Kumarawami Kamaraj Nadar, Congress party president, visited Nehru today and reported to the party session that the prime minister was "in excellent health and excellent spirits."

Nehru wanted to attend today's session, Kamaraj said, but the doctor advised "at least one more day's rest."

Since March, 1962, when he suffered a serious illness, Nehru has appeared to age by 10 or 20 years. Although officials insist there is nothing vitally wrong with him, outside medical men have speculated that he suffers from hardening of the arteries, common in men his age. His own doctors have declined to comment.

The prime minister appeared listless on his arrival here Monday and took little part in a committee meeting drawing up the convention agenda.

Nehru had flown to this city 800 miles southeast of New Delhi after delivering a speech more rambling than usual to the International Congress of Orientalists Saturday.

Apparently alarmed by his condition, aides called for reinforcements to the medical staff that accompanies the ailing leader.

The illness that struck Nehru in 1962 has never been officially disclosed.

Kiwanis To Install Slate

The Kiwanis Club of Snyder will install officers Thursday night.

The installation banquet, a Ladies Night event, has been set for 7 p.m. at the Village.

Installing officer will be Dell Barber of Colorado City, Lieutenant Governor of Kiwanis Division XXII.

Norman Fulks will be installed as president. He will succeed James Mathis as head of the local club.

Other new officers are Dave Harlin, first vice president; Jack Dean, second vice president, and Roy Meador, secretary treasurer.

Dallas Fire Injures Two

DALLAS (AP) — Two workers suffered injuries as fire and a series of explosions swept the sub-basement of the Dallas Federal Savings and Loan Building in downtown Dallas.

A number of persons were temporarily trapped in elevators as the blasts knocked out electric power in the 16-story building Tuesday. Other workers rushed down darkened stairways to the street, where thousands of shoppers and commuters converged.

James L. Hutson, 35, and Guy Hughes, 23, were injured. Firemen worked 20 minutes to reach Hutson, trapped near sparking power lines. He was burned critically.

Hughes, reported in serious condition, was rescued almost at once.

Space Craft Test Slated

HOUSTON (AP)—Astronauts and engineers will take a Gemini space test vehicle into Galveston Bay next month or early March.

The craft will be a full-size model of the two-man space vehicle in which the next U.S. space flights will be made.

Peter Armitage, director of the test series, said Tuesday the capsule contains all working systems needed to keep an astronaut alive 36 hours after landing.

Engineers will spend about five weeks fitting the test capsule with instruments to measure its reactions to a water landing.

Astronauts and engineers, in space suits, will test the capsule's comfort, heating and cooling systems, radios, waste disposal systems and oxygen supply and purification equipment.
