Four Twirlers Selected For Olton Mustang Band

Four twirlers were selected from eight candidates for positions with the 1969-70 Olton Mustang band. Auditions were held Friday afternoon and the names were held for publication in the Enterprise.

Band Director Fred Stockdale selected Susan Nicholas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Nicholas, head twirler, D'Lyle Wilks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Wilks, Cynthia Elkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Elkins, and Vicky Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ray.

The girls will report to summer music camp at West Texas State University July 13 for additional two weeks of training in twirling routines. Auditions were based on two basic areas, fundamental twirling maneuvers which are contest requirements and a routine to music composed by the twirlers.

Stockdale emphasized that there are usually only one or two girls selected each year however all four twirlers this year were seniors.

A Drum Major to lead the band next year has not been selected and results of auditions for this position will be known sometime this summer.

Dear Editor

Dear Friends:

It is so good to be back home again. Even though we have been on a mountain top spiritually a lot of the time since the 9th of March it is always so good to come home and be with loved ones and friends we miss so much. The saying, "There is no place like home" is so true.

As most of you know we were at the Lincoln Street Baptist Church at Dalhart, our last revival. We had a wonderful time with the people there and the Lord richly blessed. I am not real sure of the final results but I believe there were seven trusting Christ as their own personal Savior and five by letter or transfer.

The thing that makes any service so wonderful is the fact that you can see the spiritual infilling of the congregation each service. To me this is a good indication that the people love the Lord and are willing to let Him lead them. We saw the Lord working in the hearts of the young people and thru their concern for their friends, led two of the young men to realize a need for Christ, and they accepted Christ and their own personal Savior and Lord.

It is always a great joy to see anyone put his faith and trust in Jesus as their own personal Savior but when the older ones step out in faith and trust in Christ as their Savior, we can't help but rejoice. You know we seem to think so little about the fact that only one in several hundred thousand ever come to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ after the age of fifty, sixty or seventy. We must be careful as teachers and Christian leaders to do our best to lead them to understand, that without a personal experience with Christ, there is no hope after this life. Christ is the only hope.

I talked with a man a few weeks ago about his need for Jesus, but he could never realize his need because he had never been with or had any one to show him how important it was for him to trust in Christ. It is so hard to lay down and sleep at night when you know, by their own confession that if Jesus comes tonight they would be eternally lost.

I stood by the bedside of a friend I had many times tried to tell about Jesus, and saw him die and go out into eternity lost without any hope. His last words were, "Don't let me die."

Until you have had this experience it is hard to realize the hopelessness. We must come to the place in our lives that we feel a need of Christ and without Him we are lost. Let us face Him in this life and live.

This is the "Crusade of the Americas" and a wonderful experience it has been for us. When you know that people from all over North and South America are praying for you and all the other workers in this great crusade, it gives you a feeling of confidence and you feel a closeness of the Holy Spirit with you.

The Lord is just as great and powerful as He was in the days of old and He wants to save all who will hear and heed His call. We read in Romans 10:13 (whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved.) Will you please put your faith and trust in Jesus Christ, and call upon Him and He will save you.

We have had the joy and privilege of counseling with both young and old these last few months. Hope we can continue to be of help to those we can help with their problems. We all have problems in these times. We will try to help you find the answer to your problems.

Thanks again for your wonderful prayers. It is people like you, who care for the soul salvation of this world that makes this a wonderful place to live.

We love each and everyone of you and may God bless and keep you.

In service for the Master,
Ivin Wozencraft

Sue's Views

Strictly For The Birds

BY SUE CANNON

WELL, it's that time again! Graduation issue and all! Kids are really looking forward to the summer, but knowing mine, it won't be long before they will be wishing they "had something to do."

Say, you don't happen to need a couple of good boys to do a little work on a farm, do you?

I was talking to a fellow here about letting the boys work and I told him that I figured the oldest boy would be a good hand, but I wasn't so sure about the other one -- I might have to pay him to hire him.

No, I guess they are just like all other kids. They want to loaf around for a while now. And I don't blame them. I'd kinda like to think I had a three month vacation coming up.

I missed out on the graduation issue of the paper last year as I was gone to California to the national newspaper convention to pick up my award. But the convention didn't come this time of year so I had to stay and help put this issue out.

I'm sorta glad in a way, because I sure hated missing seeing all those kids graduate last year and am looking forward to the graduation tomorrow night as well as tomorrow morning.

I have an eighth grader who will be getting his diploma tomorrow morning. But come next year -- there's no telling what kind of paper we will come up with! There are three of us here that have children graduating from high school! The paper is liable to be just a shade tear stained.

This week, gathering up all the ads for the papers, I ran across the most fascinating creature I've seen in many a day!

I was in Hart and went into Farmers Grain Co. to see about an ad and just as I walked in the door I heard the loudest, most profound wolf whistle you've ever heard!

Well, I couldn't imagine what in the world I'd been out there many times before and nothing like this ever greeted me.

I turned to my right and to my surprise was a mynah bird! DeWayne told me to talk to him, but I felt a little foolish talking to a BIRD!

Well, I shouldn't have. That thing could carry on a conversation with you.

DeWayne asked him, "What's your name?" about a dozen times and about a dozen times, the bird answered, "What's YOUR name?"

Finally, after we had just about given up him ever telling us his name, he came out with, "My name is Roscoe."

He'd twist his head around and back and forth and take a drink of water and he'd go again.

He said several times, "What are you talking about?"

I sounded just like a person! It was absolutely unbelievable! My son told me that birds were not supposed to talk with any expression, but this one did.

He also said, "You want to go outside?" "Huh?", "Uh-Uh" and "Aww, shut up!" like he meant it.

I told the kids I'd take them up and let them see for themselves that he could talk and with expression Thursday when we take the papers up to Hart.

They didn't act like they thought I was really telling it "like it is."

55,300 MEN, WOMEN and children died on America's highways in 1968, according to an annual survey by The Travelers Insurance Companies. In addition, 4,400,000 persons were injured.

Before showing slides, Mr. Laird spoke on the importance of proper lighting for the home. He stated that 95 per cent of the homes in our country are inadequately lighted. Lights in homes should be decorative as well as functional and should be placed according to the activity centers in the home. The days of the old library table in the middle of the room are gone and along with it the single center fixture. Lighting has moved to the perimeter of the room. Poor lighting in entrance ways, halls, and stairways cause many needless accidents.

Slides were shown, picturing the many ways homes may be lighted to provide sufficient light for all activities in the home. Portable lamps should be proper height for seeing the task. Light fixtures should look well lighted or unlighted; bulbs should not be visible; and downward light should be diffused, incandescent and fluorescent lights are both good.

Texas Cattle Feeders VP Defends Beef Prices Hike

"Prices received for beef cattle during April 1969, averaged only 85 percent of parity," said Lloyd Bergsma, Executive Vice-President of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, with headquarters in Amarillo, Texas.

Recent publicity given to beef prices is unfair in that it failed to tell the complete story," Bergsma stated.

"It is true that beef prices have increased during the past year, but," Bergsma continued, "you could hardly say they are out of line when they are 15 percent below parity."

Bergsma said, "With per capita beef consumption about double that of 15 years ago, the percent of consumer disposable income spent for beef has declined during the period from 3.5 percent to 2.5 percent. Compared to fifteen years ago, the American worker today works fifteen minutes less to purchase the same amount of beef."

"The beef producing industry is composed of several producing segments. The calf producer, the range man, feed grain producer, on to the cattle feeder, the meat packer and finally the retailer are involved in supplying the consumer with the highest quality beef enjoyed by any nation in the world. Under our free enterprise system, it is essential that each of the production segments receive prices that allow them a reasonable profit for their efforts."

"The calf producer and the feed grain producer have long been carrying on their segment of this beef producing industry at below production cost prices. They have been able to exist only through very low or negative returns for their labor, management and capital investment. This cannot continue."

"All segments of the beef producing industry have made rapid strides in improving their production efficiency. Modern research and technology are utilized to a high degree throughout the industry in bringing to the consumer the high quality beef products she has available to her in the retail store. The beef producing industry is very competitive, and all segments are making every effort to carry out their phase of production in the most economical manner. The industry does, however, want to share in the growth of the Nation's economy."

Cook Of The Week

A young housewife who admits she did not know how to cook when she married, Mrs. Leo Bleeker, is our cook of the week. She shares a barbecued wiener recipe which she got from her mother.

"She wrote everything down in detail for me. Even what brands to buy," Lida laughingly confides.

As with most cooks, beginners or old-timers, Lida loves to attend luncheons where each one brings a dish. "You get to try such good things, that way," she says. "And church suppers, too," she adds.

Lida and Leo have a two-year-old daughter, Lisa.

An active two-year-old leaves little time for hobbies but Lida does find free time, she loves to read.

She is also an enthusiastic fan of football. She enjoys most televised sports but prefers football and baseball over basketball.

Lida's husband, who loves all sports, is often called on to serve as umpire for Babe Ruth or Little League baseball.

The family attends the United Methodist Church.

Everything But

The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

Aha! Maybe there's something to be said for night clouds after all!

While all you lucky people were snoozin' so peacefully Wednesday night - er, that is, Thursday morning, "Us Girls" knew there was a cloud around.

That ole thunder just kept rumbling and grumbling and our lights kept telling us the lightning was getting closer.

You know, there's not many people you feel free to call at midnight, or 1 a. m. or 2 a. m. and say, "Do you know what the weather's supposed to do?"

We didn't even have a radio to keep us informed if we were about to scatter bits of the Ladies Gazette all over no telling where.

(It is the opinion of this "editor") that if we're gonna get blown away, we'd druther it would go ahead and do it before we get all that pastin' up done. We just dare a cloud to blow us away AFTER we get thru!

But back to there being ONE thing to be said for these clouds that come in the night.

Last year's graduation issue took us all night long. And this year's wasn't going together a bit more efficiently! You know what that meant!

And then, Sir Weatherman, had his little say! I'll tell you, there's nothing quite so black as the paste up room of the Ladies Gazette when the lights go off.

And, of course, we couldn't even see by the lightning since we were in the back room.

And so, that marked "30" for the day and that's how Us Girls at the Ladies Gazette got to bed before daylight.

Now then, after much to do about nothing here's something I copied:

"THE DAILY DOZEN TO HAPPINESS"

1. Make up your mind to be happy. Learn to find pleasure in simple things.

2. Make the best of your circumstances. No one has everything, and everyone has something of sorrow intermingled with the gladness of life. The secret is to make laughter outweigh the tears.

3. Don't take yourself too seriously. Don't think that somehow you should be protected from misfortunes that befall other people.

4. You can't please everybody. Don't let criticism worry you.

5. Don't let your neighbor set your standards. Be yourself.

6. Do the things you enjoy doing, but stay current with your obligations.

7. Don't borrow trouble. Imaginary things are harder to beat than the actual ones.

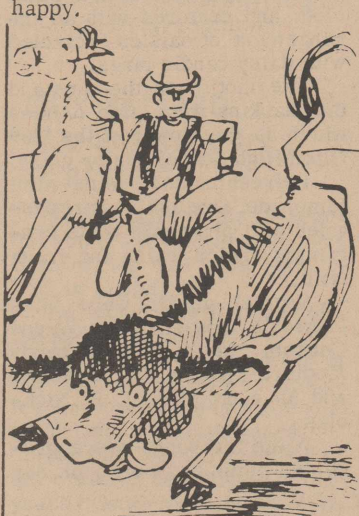

8. Since hate poisons the soul, do not cherish enmities, grudges. Avoid people who make you unhappy.

9. Have many interests; read, visit, make new friends.

10. Don't spend your life brooding over sorrows or mistakes. Don't be one who never gets over things.

11. Do what you can for those less fortunate than yourself.

12. Keep busy. A very busy person never has time to be unhappy.

HELEN SMITH

We made it! All 438 days of it! The 1968-69 school year is over - finally - at least nearly! Friday night at 8:00 guess who graduates. That's right, Seniors, you do! Boy, we're glad! Anybody who wants can come see us tip-toe down the aisle and cross the stage, and if you're lucky, you might catch a "love-me-love-me-not" daisy petal.

Oh, it's been a long year! Why, just four and one half centuries ago we were telling everybody to buy homecoming mums. (By the way, if you haven't bought your annual, forget it!) Then we got beat by good ol' D.C. and ended our football season. We bombed our semester tests before Christmas -- that was the high light of the year. We can't leave out the next few months that brought absolutely nothing except home-work. Then came Easter - wow! We had a whole week off! And now, we're nearly up to date. Seriously, it's been a pretty bad year - oops! That's good year.

Sunday night the class of 1969 (okay, we went formal there) went through Baccalaureate services. Rev. John Lewis delivered the message. We decided Baccalaureate was for practice walking down the aisle. Goodie! It was a fine sermon, we'd like to thank Brother Lewis for giving it.

Tuesday morning the First Baptist Church sponsored a Senior Breakfast at Hamill's Restaurant. Brother Lewis served as M.C. with entertainment by Bobby Strait (by the way, we never noticed the resemblance between Bobby and Mitch Miller before) and the O Boys, with original selections, heard for the first time. Speaker was Dr. Roy McClung, president of Wayland Baptist College. The program ended with the singing of the School Song and then everybody went back to school, but nobody griped - after all, there weren't but two days!!

O. H. S. will be on its own next year. The guy that runs things, Eddie Everything, like a good Aggie, is graduating. Poor OHS. Sorry, Eddie!

The Senior Class would like to thank everybody, everywhere, for the kind contributions to the needy - otherwise known as graduation gifts. Each Betty Crocker kitchen-building set, How-to-build-a-silo book, and one free tattoo ticket is so very much appreciated! You just will never know how useful your many win-a-turtle raffle tickets will be this fall, but we might try to give you a hint. Anyway, thanks, I mean really -- thanks.

Danny S.: "Does ANYBODY have any toast?"

Kerry W.: "Did you throw that piece of paper?"

But Kate, your picture looked so natural on Mr. T's bulletin board! And come off it, we know you keep "Play-boy" hidden in your car ALL the time!!

The band members received special attention this week. The seniors were awarded blankets for their contribution to the organization, while the underclassmen received beautiful plaques. All the awards are beautiful and we know they will serve as another OHS remembrance.

There is nothing like "Home" coming to you, is there Jeanie G.?

Keith, do you always wear TWO coats -- in May?

Tried any skiing tricks lately, Jason?

Kent, how are the rabbits?

Leslie H.: What's another F anyway?

Seriously, which is sometimes very hard for us, we would like to express our sincere thank you for reading this mess every week this past year. In spite of our kidding about the year, don't think for a fraction of a second that we haven't enjoyed it ingeneral. It has been a year of challenges -- challenge to do better in athletics and believe it or not, scholastically, challenge to unite a divided class, challenge to make friends with fellow students that we thought we never liked, the challenge to live up to the standards expected of us as Seniors and as responsible young adults, and most of all a challenge inside us to show the world we are a new, exciting, adventurous generation with unlimited vitality, questions, and a genuine love of life. We may outwardly appear to be rebels, but we only want to prove that we are a new generation and our physical appearance sometimes says it quicker than we ourselves can. We are tomorrow and we are running toward the future with our new ideas. Just give us a chance to show you "our thing," and you'll find we're really not so bad -- just fun loving and loving fun. Watch out for us -- we're going places! Again we'd like to thank you for being a happy party of our Senior year by sharing our gripes and laughs with us. And good luck Seniors 1970!!!

And now, our very last definition of love.
What is love? Love is a happy and sad graduation followed by a fun-filled summer vacation.

A HAPPY GOODBYE!!!

It takes about 120 years of drippings to form one cubic inch of cave onyx at the famed Caverns of Luray in Virginia, but because the natural wonder is already ten to 12 million years old, it stalactites (growing down from the ceiling) and stalagmites (growing up from the ground) are big enough to attract more than 400,000 visitors a year.

Accent on Health

While you are reading this, your problems could be multiplying.

The problems? Mosquitoes. At this time of the year they are multiplying by the score. One female may lay several batches of eggs—from 50 to 200 in a batch. She will leave her eggs only where there is water. These eggs will hatch into swarms of insect adults to vex and plague you this summer.

Mosquitoes continue to be vexing and sometimes a serious problem for everyone. In your home or yard, in public parks, they can interfere with man's chores and spoil his enjoyment of leisure time. They may reduce the efficiency of outdoor workers and cause farm animals to lose weight by driving them from lush pastures to barren hillsides.

According to the State Health Department, some species of mosquitoes transmit to man such diseases as malaria and yellow fever; encephalitis to man and horses; and heartworm to dogs.

By acting now, you may save yourself time and trouble later on. The simplest and most effective method of cutting down or controlling mosquito population is to eliminate their breeding places. You might simply say it's a matter of killing them before they multiply.

Mosquitoes cannot hatch unless they are in water. Double-check your home for standing water. You may be surprised at the number of discarded bicycle and automobile tires, tin cans or old jars you may find which can probably hold at least a small amount of water. Or, water may collect in rain gutters or even on a flat roof.

Septic tanks, cisterns and tubs provide excellent breeding places unless they are tightly covered.

If there is standing water on your premises which cannot be eliminated, examine it to see if larvae are present. To do so, dip up a cupful—preferably a white cup—of water weekly. The small, dark larvae will show up against the light background if they are present.

Should you find larvae in the water, contact your local health department and find out about the proper insecticide to use. Whatever action you need to take, take it now—save yourself a lot of problems later.

ALMOST 70,000 motor vehicles were involved in fatal highway crashes in 1968. Of these, more than 55,200 were private passenger cars.

Jimmy Dean Meat Co

Dedication Set May 24-25

A new era of West Texas agriculture begins Saturday and Sunday, May 24-25, as some of the most important Texas leaders converge on Plainview for the grand opening and dedication of the Jimmy Dean Meat Company.

Activities for the two-day event are designed to herald the arrival of the pork industry on the Texas High Plains.

Texas Governor Preston Smith will be among guests present for the dedication ceremonies at the plant located northwest of Plainview on Highway 87. Master of ceremonies will be Jimmy Dean.

With a bill like this at the top, it's an almost surefire guarantee of one of the biggest events to come to West Texas. And this is what is planned.

Dedication ceremonies will begin at 11 a. m. with Governor Smith cutting the ribbon and presenting the principal address.

Following the dedication, the Jimmy Dean Meat Company will be open for grand opening activities with tours to be conducted until 6 p. m.

Open house will continue Sunday from 1 p. m. until 6 p. m. with Jimmy Dean on hand to greet all visitors.

Participating with the meat company in arranging activities for the dedication and grand opening are members of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber's Women's Committee.

Miss Plainview, Viki Turner, and Sharyn Hemphill, Plainview's Miss Congeniality, will be among those greeting and registering the V.I.P. guests. Also in the line will be Chamber Redcoats, official Plainview greeters, and hostesses from the Women's Committee.

About the grand opening and dedication ceremonies, Jimmy Dean said, "My one dream since we began preparation for this plant almost a year ago, has been in anticipation of this day. We are proud of our new plant and the facilities that will offer the American public the best quality pork product on the market today."

"We are proud of this area and are proud to be a part of this growing agricultural empire. I am looking forward to seeing my friends and old acquaintances in this West Texas area and making new friends," he said.

The Jimmy Dean Company is the newest pork processing plant in the country and will utilize the most modern equipment to process Specific Pathogen Free hogs for Jimmy Dean Pure Pork SPF Sausage.

Primary plans call for marketing the product in the general West Texas area before spreading into other parts of the state and nation.

The meat company will process 600 head of hogs per eight-hour day. Dean said that the plant would not be limited to processing SPF hogs due to the demand for carcasses by pork processors in areas where a good supply of live hogs is not available.

Riddle of the Trunk

Writing her own will, an elderly widow made the following bequest to a neighbor:

"My clothing and the trunk in which it is stored."

But after the widow's death, her trunk was found to contain not only clothing but some valuable jewels as well. Should the jewels go to the neighbor, along with the trunk? After a legal battle, the court finally decided they should not—awarding them instead to the widow's surviving relatives.

The case illustrates how much uncertainty can be wrapped up in words that, at first glance, seem perfectly clear. Literally hundreds of homemade wills have led to lawsuits because of phrases like "the papers in my bottom desk drawer," "the contents of the large pink envelope," or "all the furniture in the basement."

Suppose the language of the will is plain enough in identifying both the container and the contents. Nevertheless, a matter of timing may still raise formidable problems.

Does "everything in my wall safe" mean what was in the safe when the person wrote the will—or what was in the safe when he died, perhaps years later? It would not be unusual for him to put in additional items during the intervening period.

Most courts have decided, in such circumstances, to include everything actually within the container when the person died. As one judge put it:

"A will speaks from the day of death."

But that doesn't apply when there are clues, in the language used, that the person meant it the other way around. For example:

A man who bequeathed the jewelry "now in my safe deposit box" was held to have given only what was there on the day he wrote the will, rather than what was there when he died. The word "now," said the court, showed he had that intention in mind. And, the court explained:

"The intention of (the deceased) is always the guiding star in the construction of wills."

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Honesty Is Still Best Policy

Justice Abe Fortas, who will go down in history as the first member of the U.S. Supreme Court to resign under fire, might find instructive a few words which are written in the Bible: "Be sure your sin will find you out."

A brilliant man, he has now discovered that brilliance is not enough.

A man who had attained an eminence which few even dare to aspire to, he has been revealed as lacking the quality of integrity which is demanded of those who hold that position.

There was another man named Abe, long ago, who also held a high position in Washington—but his policies were different. He was known as "Honest Abe" and is still remembered with honor and esteem.

What Kind of Services?
When it was revealed that Fortas had first accepted, then—11 months later—returned a fee of $20,000 received from the Wolfson Foundation, the justice explained that he had received the fee for some research and writing that he was to do for the foundation. When he came to the conclusion that he would not be able to do this work, he said, he returned the money.

But then it became known that Justice Fortas had executed a contract under which he was to receive $20,000 a year for life—and that, after his death, his widow was to continue to receive the $20,000 each year. What services could justify such payments, even to his widow for the balance of her life?

Perhaps there will again be a time when it will be lawful to have Bible reading and prayer in our public schools.

And who was to make these payments? The Wolfson Foundation, which was established by Louis Wolfson, who is now in prison for fraudulent stock dealings.

For people ever to have confidence in the integrity of the Supreme Court, it was clearly necessary for Abe Fortas to leave the bench.

Whether by calculated intent or by coincidence, the votes of Justice Fortas on cases coming before the Supreme Court were favorable to the producers and distributors of obscene films and the publishers of filthy literature.

He voted against prayer and Bible reading in the public schools.

His votes helped to protect men who had been convicted of committing crimes, thereby apparently putting the welfare of certain criminals above the welfare of their victims.

Most Important

Because one vote can make the deciding difference in a 5-to-4 decision, the man who replaces Fortas will be in a position to exert a decisive influence on the court, in many cases.

If he makes wise decisions, perhaps the confidence of the people in the Supreme Court can be restored—and perhaps, as the years come and go, the court will be able to restore to the people some of the rights which the present court has unwisely taken away.

Perhaps there will again be a time when it will be lawful to have Bible reading and prayer in our public schools.

Your Social Security

Every person 65 or older who is enrolled for the medical, or doctor's part of Medicare may be able to receive reimbursement toward the purchase or rental of durable medical equipment needed for their use at home.

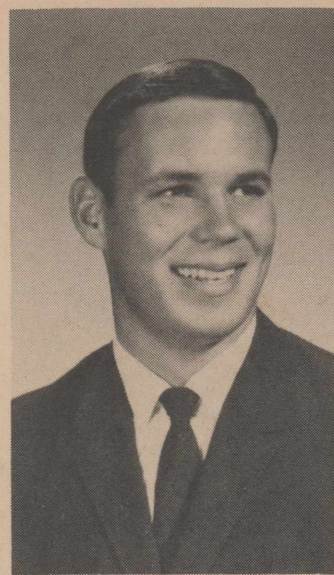

John G. Hutton, social security district manager pointed out that many patients need wheel chairs, hospital beds, special walkers, oxygen equipment, or similar items for use in their homes while they convalesce from an illness. If such appliances have been prescribed by a physician, the patient may apply for reimbursement of the rental or purchase price, just as he applies for reimbursement of the doctor bills.

In submitting the claim for reimbursement, the patient must attach an itemized bill for the rental or purchase and a statement from his doctor showing that the equipment is needed and an estimate of the length of time it will be required.

Reimbursement usually will be made to the patient in monthly installments, Hutton said. For further information about this or other Medicare matters, Hutton said, local residents should visit, call or write the Lubbock social security office at 3428 Avenue H. The telephone number is PO 58541.

Abandoned Refrigerators Might Be Death Traps

Simple precautions with a discarded or stored refrigerator or freezer CAN save a child's life.

Precautions can take several forms. The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers recommended to remove the door, to block it from closing completely, to remove the latch or to chain the door closed.

Completely remove the door of the freezer or refrigerator, put either temporarily or permanently out of use, advises Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist. And take preventive action immediately, she warns.

Rubber bumpers or wooden blocks prevent a door from closing completely to trap a child, the specialist at Texas A&M University adds. Secure with contact cement or strong adhesive glue high out of a child's reach.

Make sure the bumpers are thick enough to prevent the door from closing completely. To chain the door closed, use an ordinary chain and padlock or unbreakable self-adhesive filament tape about an inch wide. Mrs. Myers suggests wrapping tape around several times and overlapping it in back of the refrigerator.

If the appliance's design permits, slip a winged head of a toggle bolt into the latch with a wooden block or metal plate screwed flush into the inner door surface. Or, says the specialist, the latch can be removed.

Most important, she advises, is to remove the door completely when discarding a refrigerator or freezer.

Documentary Film Tells Problem Of Illegitimacy

60,000 teen-age illegitimate mothers now in the U. S. -- more than 250,000 illegitimate births in the nation annually -- over 1,000,000 illegal abortions every year.

A new film has just been released with a pointed message to parents who care about the well-being and moral stature of their unmarried children. It highlights first-person statements from the lips of girls who have become a part of the problem.

"A Problem of National Concern" is the film. Enlightenment is the purpose. Illegitimacy is the subject.

True life situations in the lives of unwed mothers -- many spawned by the "new morality" -- are likely to seize the viewer's heart in this bold yet sensitive color documentary film. It is the story of people providing compassionate care for unwed mothers, trapped by their greatest mistake.

The film, which is to be available shortly to denominational, civic, professional and other interest groups throughout the nation, tells the Smith-lawn Home story. This innovative Home in Lubbock, Texas, cares for unwed mothers regardless of race, color, or creed. It is also a licensed adoptive agency.

"A Problem of National Concern" premieres Monday, May 26, 6:30 p. m. on Channel 11 TV, Lubbock.
