

FUTURE FARMERS TO EUROPE

These three Collingsworth Future Farmers left Monday for a three-weeks tour of Europe, along with approximately 30 other Future Farmers from Texas and Iowa. From the left they are Neal Lowry, Don Paul Sweat, and Joel Lowry. The Lowry brothers are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lowry of Lutie; Sweat, their cousin, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Sweat. They will visit eight countries, including two behind the Iron Curtain. In all of them they will see farming operations and visit with farm youths. Joel Lowry is a former State Vice President of FFA and Neal is a former Area I Vice President. Both belong to the Samnorwood FFA Chapter. Sweat has completed his first year as a Future Farmer in the Wellington Chapter.

People-to-People Goodwill Mission

Three Future Farmers Visit Farm Youth Through Europe

Three Collingsworth Future Farmers are members of the Texas group which Tuesday, June 4, began a tour of Europe as part of the Goodwill People to People Travel program.

They are Joel Lowry, Texas Tech student, and his brother, Neal, who just graduated from Samnorwood high school, and their cousin, Don Paul Sweat, who will be a sophomore in Wellington high school next year. The Lowrys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lowry of Lutie, and Don Paul's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Sweat.

The three weeks tour will take them through eight European countries, where they will visit farms and see actual farming operations, and meet and visit with farm boys and girls of these nations.

Two of the countries they will visit are behind the Iron curtain, Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

Near Budapest, they will visit communist cooperative farms and visit farm youths and students. This will be repeated at Prague.

By contrast, in West Berlin, they will meet students of the famous Freedom University.

This is the second year Future Farmers of America have participated in this government cultural visitation exchange program. Many adult agricultural groups have been sent to various European countries, but the success of the youth group last year resulted in its being enlarged for 1963.

The Texas and Iowa delegations make up this particular tour of about 35 boys.

Leaving Dallas by jet Monday morning, the three Collingsworth Future Farmers joined

Push Work for FM Highway

Members of the Commissioners' Court conferred with Palmer Massey, district highway engineer, on Friday concerning the proposed farm-to-market road from Quail to Memphis, according to Judge C. C. Bishop.

Massey told the group he would request that the State Highway Commission let the contract for all grade, drainage and bridge work at one time.

The contract letting date is June 25, he told the Collingsworth men.

Engineers from the State Highway Department office in Clarendon are now doing survey work along the proposed road, Judge Bishop said.

New Oil Well in North Part of County

A new oil well completion has been announced in the northeast corner of the county, the first in that particular area. Other drilling news includes one gas well completion and two intentions to drill.

The oil well pumped 77 barrels of 37 gravity oil plus 15 per cent water. It is known as the El Dorado Oil and Gas No. 2-Lee, and is located in section 15, block 13. This is on the north county line, 22 miles north and five east of Wellington.

It is a shallow well, the total depth being only 2,211 feet. It was spudded May 1 and completed May 6, with the test completed May 13. It was fractured and treated and perforated 2,150 to 2,160 feet.

The gas completion was El Paso Gas Co. 2-A Tindall, section 57, block 16, elevation 2,295, spudded 4-10-63, originally completed 4-30-63, tested 5-10-63, potential 700000 cubic feet, rock pressure 361.2, pay 2001 to 2019, total depth 2022.

The intentions to drill are: Mal-Cra Oil Corp. No. 2 Bell, 2310 feet from north and west lines of section 16, block 13, proposed depth 2,200 feet.

Mal Cra Oil Corp. No. 5 Bell, 2310 feet from north and 990 feet from the west line of section 16, block 13, proposed depth 2,200 feet.

P. J. White New President of Young Farmers

Quail Young Farmers met Monday night, May 27, to elect officers.

P. J. White was named president, succeeding Donald Langley of Wellington.

Other officers are Otis Emmert, vice president; N. E. Childers, secretary; Carl Wischkaemper, treasurer; Loyd Langley, reporter.

White also was chosen the Outstanding Farmer of 1963 and will compete in the Area I contest to choose the outstanding farmer. The winner will compete on a state level.

The June meeting will be on Monday, June 24, when a representative of the Internal Revenue Service will be present to discuss farmers social security.

This is an open meeting, and anyone interested is invited to attend.

Rev. Ward to Grand Saline Baptist Church

The Rev. John Henry Ward has resigned as pastor of the Fundamental Baptist Church here to accept the pastorate of the Bible Baptist Church in Grand Saline.

Coming here to replace him is the Rev. Charley Buford of Clayton, N.M.

The Ward family will move to Grand Saline next week.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ward were reared here. He attended Bible Baptist Seminary at Arlington and was pastor of the Grand Saline church six years before coming here two years ago.

During his pastorate, considerable improvement was done on the church building. Rev. Ward also was a leader in the youth summer baseball program and he was a member of the Kiwanis Club.

They have three children: Wesley, 15, Joy, 12, and Lynna, 6.

Rev. Ward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ward, and she is the daughter of Mrs. C. E. Roberts.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Buford grew up at Shamrock, Ark., and has been in the ministry eight years. At Clayton, he was pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, which he led in a building program.

Rev. and Mrs. Buford also have three children: Patricia, 14; Tommy, 9; and Mary, 8.

Collingsworth Drenched with Beneficial Rains During Week

The rain Collingsworth county needed so desperately came in the last days of May and the first days of June, and by Tuesday, June 4, most of the county had received from four to a confirmed nine inches of moisture. Here is a capsule report of the rain everybody called a "life saver": The heaviest rainfall was around Lutie, where 9 inches was recorded and an unconfirmed 10 inches reported; the lightest was 2 inches in the Loco and Arlie section. There was relatively little damage to wheat, and little of the cotton and feed had been planted, so there was only slight loss there.

Livestock men, still feeding their cattle as they did last January, could see prospects for pasture, and some, badly in need of stock water, had that problem taken care of for the present.

There was some damage to roads, and some to fields, but on the whole, it was far less than could be expected.

Four inches was recorded in the Weather Bureau rain gauge at the Highway Department. Of this, 1.31 inches fell Sunday night, June 2.

This was general for the immediate Wellington section.

Everette Fain measured 9 inches on his farm a mile north of Lutie, and W. L. Green, a few miles south of Lutie, had 7.5 inches. One rain measured from 5 to 6 inches in that area.

At Dozier, Cortez Barnett said a total of 5.5 to 6 inches fell at his place, but it was heavier north, south and east of him, and around 6.5 inches fell in the Dozier vicinity.

Here also, little of the cotton and feed was in the ground. Wheat in that section was not ripe and wasn't damaged.

Most of the rain soaked in, he said.

A. J. Fires reported 5.5 inches fell at the Fires Ranch on Elm Creek, in the extreme east part of the county, and 1.5 inches came Sunday night.

Elm Creek got up and all the water gaps in that part of the country went out. "But we were real happy," Fires added. "We caught a lot of stock tank water. We needed it and were fixing to move some cattle Saturday if it hadn't rained Thursday night."

Farther south, Shinnery community got 4.5 inches, Buddy Yarbrough reported. Here again no cotton was planted. "It was just a spicrain," he said.

George Sankman of Farmers Home Administration in Wellington said that because most of the rain soaked in the ground, some of the farmers in the east part of the county who were needing stock water in their ground tanks still are needing it.

"It will take two or three weeks to see what the grass is going to do," he said, "and if we get hot dry winds it will go right back to where it was."

At Dodson, Ed Crowder said 3 to 5 inches fell in that vicinity. South and west of town, the fall was lightest. North of town about 4 inches was reported and to the northeast, 5 inches.

Wheat was beginning to move Tuesday evening and Crowder said that while none was wasted in the field, the grade was off a little.

All cotton up in that area was irrigated cotton, it was of good size and didn't get hurt. Only between 10 and 15 per cent of the cotton is up around Dodson, Crowder estimated.

Southwest of town, in the Rolla area, Jack Moreman received something over 5 inches. He said a little cotton in that part of the county was up but it looks like it will have to be replanted.

"It will be anywhere from 20 to 30 days before we can see much difference in the grass, but this will really kick it off. It was a life saver," he continued.

Here again some water went in the stock tanks, but a very good amount went into the soil.

A little more than 5 inches was measured at the Pettitt Store at Marelia and Quail received 2.3 inches Sunday night alone, Lewis Morris reported.

Sportsmen, Landowners Invited

Hearing on Proposed Game Regulations Here on June 10

Sportsmen, landowners and others interested will attend a public hearing to be conducted by the Texas Game and Fish Commission Monday, June 10, at 10 a. m. The meeting will be at the court house.

This will give those interested in wildlife conservation an opportunity to hear proposed hunting and fishing recommendations for the coming year, Weinart Farr, district game warden, explained.

Technicians of the Game and Fish Commission will present their recommendations, based on actual field studies, and proposed in the interest of wildlife conservation.

This hearing, along with all others held in the state, will be recorded and a summary presented to the Commissioners prior to their final regular meeting in July, when they will issue hunting and fishing proclamations for the coming season.

Some of the specific points to be brought up at the hearing will be lengthening of the quail season, to make it from Nov. 16 to Jan. 31; an open season on antelope from Sept. 28 to Oct. 1 in the Panhandle, and declaring a season on beaver from Dec. 1 through Feb. 28.

There are other regulations under consideration but they do not apply in this area, Farr pointed out.

Injured Man to Amarillo

Sherril Rigby, 22, who was badly burned in a power line accident Tuesday, May 28, was transferred from St. Joseph's Hospital here to Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo, Saturday, June 1.

He has made a surprisingly good recovery so far, his attending physician here said.

Rigby was moved to Amarillo to undergo the amputation of part of his left foot, which was burned in the accident.

He is employed by K&K Line Construction Co., which is rebuilding lines for the West Texas Utilities Company here.

First Methodist

Pick Summer Youth Director for Church

First Methodist Church has named a youth director to work through the summer months to strengthen its youth program.

She is Miss Linda Shewbert of Plainview.

Miss Shewbert is due to arrive at mid-week, according to the Rev. Davis Edens.

Goals of the summer program will be worked out immediately and activities will begin. She will work with the pastor and the MYF Council.

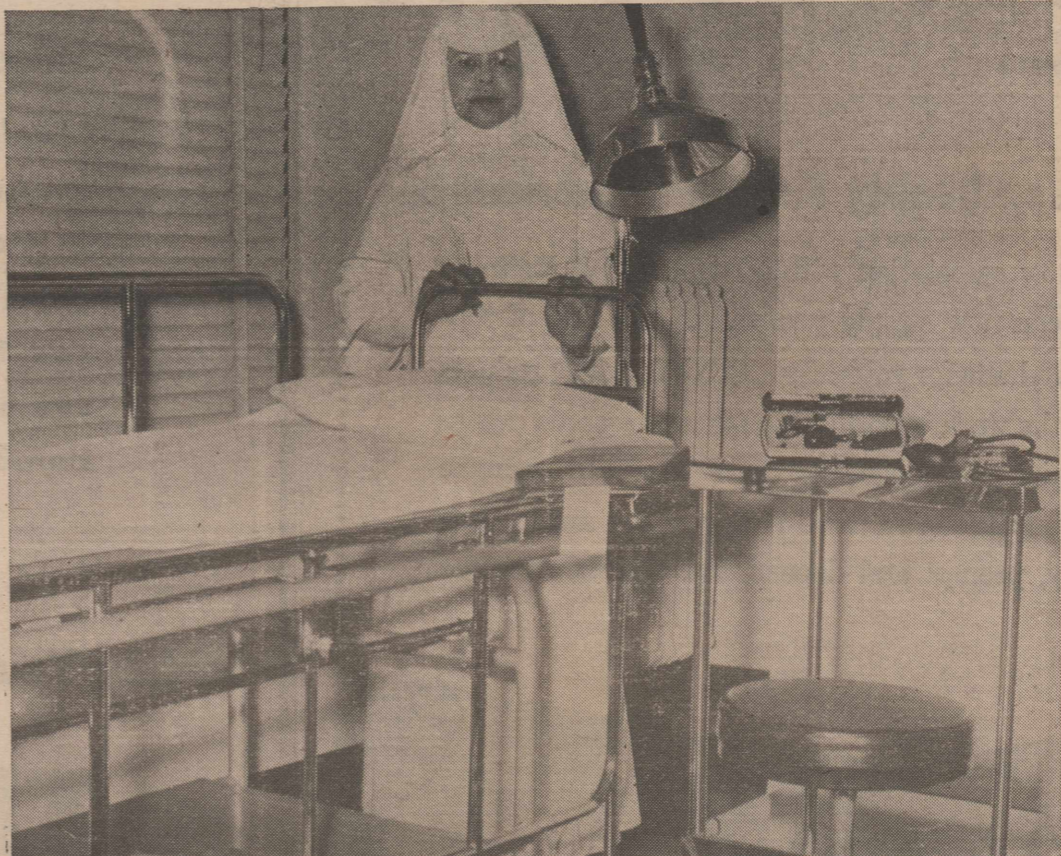

Junior high, high school and college age youth will be included in the program, Rev. Edens said.

Highlights of the summer program will be Youth Activities Week for senior high and college age boys and girls, and the Christian Adventure Week for junior high students.

Tentative plans are made for a college age Sunday school class, and a Bible study program for young people.

Miss Shewbert will be a senior in McMurry College next year. She was a member of the Youth Fellowship team which

A NEW GRASS FOR NORWOOD STOCKMEN

Stewart Roulain, who moved to Samnorwood the first of the year, here holds sprigs of Midland bermuda, a grass new to this area, which he is setting out. The sprigging machine at right belongs to the Soil Conservation Service. Midland bermuda, which must be raised under irrigation or on sub-irrigated land, can carry up to 7 to 10 head of cattle per acre through the growing season.

A Trend Reverses

Norwood Farmer Experiments with Midland Bermuda Grass

A 25-year-old trend that saw hundreds of Collingsworth farmers settle on the south plains may be reversing itself. There are indications farmers in the south plains irrigation belt are beginning to look to the east Panhandle.

High land cost and high cost of crop production forced Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Roulain of Hereford to hunt land somewhere else. Since Jan. 1, they have lived at Samnorwood, where he is already experimenting with a grass new to this area.

His story is told this week by George Sparkman supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, and Bob Crawford, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service.

"Roulain checked with real estate agents and found a listing by Charley Caldwell. Thru him, he bought Orville Cunningham's farm just west of Samnorwood," Sparkman said.

At Hereford, the Roulains raised cotton and feed.

"Another reason I picked this place was to raise stock, rather than to have all my money tied up in a cotton farm," Roulain told Sparkman and Crawford.

Stockmen around Norwood are already watching Roulain's experiments with Midland bermuda, a hybrid bermuda developed from a strain near Midland, Texas. His fields were sprigged this spring.

"It is cold tolerant and has some drought resistance," Sparkman said of the grass. "It will grow three to four feet tall under ideal conditions. It looks like regular bermuda but is more robust and a larger-growing plant."

"Being a hybrid, it doesn't make seed, but spreads only through the roots and has to be sprigged. It will adapt itself to any subirrigated land or any upland where irrigation is available," Sparkman continued.

It is not recommended for dry land farming.

To get maximum production, it should be heavily fertilized. Approximately 50 pounds of nitrogen should be applied at each watering four or five times during the year, a total of from 200 to 250 pounds of nitrogen per acre per year.

What do you get out of this?

Based on records from other areas similar to this, Roulain can expect to graze 7 to 10 head of cattle per acre from the middle of May until frost!

That will be one of his answers to the increasing cost of cotton production and the decreasing number of acres to do it on.

Midland bermuda also can be used on waterways, etc., where extra water flows across it.

Roulain worked out his program with Farmers Home Administration. The cost-share assistance for planting the bermuda was available through the ASCS program and the Great Plains Conservation program. Technical assistance on seeding rates, adapted soils and expected production was received from the Soil Conservation Service and Farmers Home Administration.

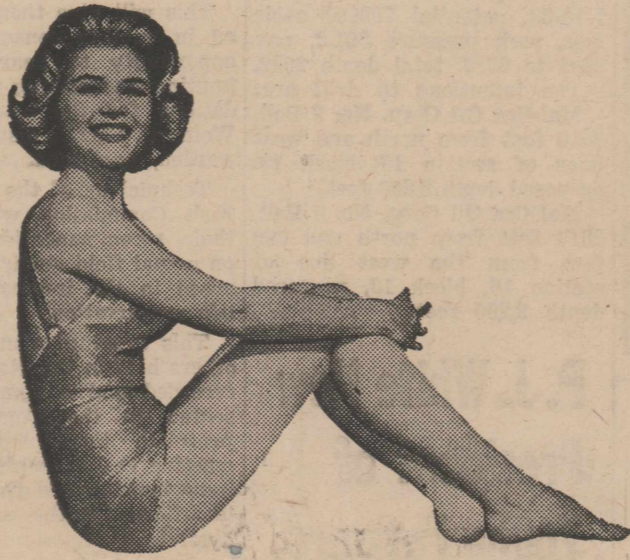

Other farmers and ranchers in the area who have included bermuda in their long-time plans are John Brim, Bill Janes, Hubert Mauldin, and Doug Coleman.

Linda Richie and Jerry Cook Marry in Rites at Lutie Baptist Church

The Lutie Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Linda Richie and Jerry Cook, Saturday, May 25 at eight o'clock in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Richie of Childress, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cook, who live in the north part of the county. The Rev. Verrell Leeper officiated.

Baskets of white chrysanthemums and pompons, with lighted tapers on either side, decorated the church.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Linda Cody, niece of the bridegroom, pianist, and Miss Carolyn Cook and Mrs. Marilyn Bradley, his sisters, vocalists.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jimmie Richie of Childress, the bride wore a white lace dress, made with a fitted bodice and round neckline, and three-quarter length sleeves. The full skirt was street length, and a chiffon cummerbund was at the waistline. Her illusion veil was held in place by a crown, and she carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations and lily of the valley, showered with puffs of maline and white satin ribbon tied in love knots.

Miss Carol Mayhan of Childress was the bride's only attendant. She wore a beige dress with matching accessories and her flowers were white carnations.

Billy Jones was best man. Lighting the candles were Jackie Tate and Nella Richie, sister of the bride, while the ring bearer was Renae Bradley of Spade, niece of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, parents of the bridegroom, were hosts at the reception. In the house party were Miss Rita Beasley, Miss Nella Richie and Miss Reita Tonguet.

The bride is a graduate of Childress high school, while the bridegroom will complete his high school work this summer in Amarillo. He is also employed by the Wertz Construction Company in that city.

America's Junior Miss and Runner Up

America's Junior Miss Gives Posing Pointers for Summer Pictures

Local beauty queens, June graduates or anyone told they "ought to be in pictures" will want to take note of the posing pointers America's Junior Miss of 1963 offers.

Pretty Diane Sawyer of Louisville, Ky., won the title this spring in Mobile, Ala., and she promptly launched her reign by posing for Carol Case's camera. Miss Case, first runner-up is from Rapid City, S.D.

Wellington's Mrs. Jennie Holcomb met Diane Sawyer when the latter appeared on a program at the selection of the American Mother of 1963, and describes the girl as charming and lovely, who made an excellent impression with the seriousness of her talk.

One of the most photographed teenagers in the United States, Miss Sawyer won a $6,000.00 college scholarship in the contest and Miss Case a $4,000 one. This summer she will tour major cities in the United States, where she will be the subject of popping flash bulbs and clicking lenses.

Her posing advice boils down to "Look pleasant and natural. Use make-up sparingly, to enhance rather than hide your attractiveness. Above all, just be yourself."

Other hints gleaned from her career thus far before television, movie and newspaper cameras include: when posing for a picture, try to remember to busy your hands. Point to something. Hold flowers or your own camera and you'll look more natural.

When standing for a full-length shot, take a tip from the models and place one foot behind the other at a slight angle. When sitting, cross legs above or below the knee. When you're part of a group shot, try concentrating on others rather than on the camera.

Give some thought and attention to clothes and make-up. For clothes, medium tones are a better choice than dark colors. The more classic your clothes, the less dated your photographs will look in years to come. Moisture your lips just before the camera clicks. A hair-do photographs best a day or two after it's freshly set. And eyes will look luminous in a closeup if they have a touch of cold cream on the lids and a bit of mascara on the upper lashes.

Wesleyan Guild Officers Named

Mrs. Bernice Welch was elected president of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church in the recent annual election of officers.

Terms of these officers are contiguous with the conference year.

Other officers are Mrs. G. L. Jones, vice president; Mrs. Jennie Holcomb, secretary; Mrs. David Baumgardner, treasurer; Mrs. Lloyd Woodbridge, secretary of promotions, and Mrs. Gorman Owens, secretary of spiritual life; Mrs. R. H. Isbell, secretary of missionary education; Mrs. G. B. Hopper, Christian social relations; Mrs. Barney Glenn, literature and publications, and Mrs. Jack Davis, supply work. Mrs. W. H. Reeves, hospitality chairman; Mrs. John Forbis, telephone chairman; and Mrs. Nannie Masten, coordinator.

Mr., Mrs. Hill Honor Seniors

Members of the senior class were entertained at an all-day outing at Lake Altus Tuesday, May 21, when Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hill were hosts.

Boating and skiing provided entertainment and at noon they were guests at a lunch at the lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill are the parents of a member of the class, Frances Hill.

Going were Anne Coleman, Gayla Courtney, Barbara Dobbs, Mary Graham, Vicki Glenn, LaQuinta Hollingsworth Frances Hill, Linda Millsap, Sylvia McQuary, Mary Anne Pierce, Elsa Romo, Alvina Roberts, Peggy Shanks, Janet West, Craig Bergvall, Herbert Duncan, Johnny Ford, Lynn McLain Nat Romo, Don Roark, Raymond Sanders, Billy Tyler, Billy Wilkerson, and Gene Sweat, also Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Tyler and Mike, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Duncan and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hill.

Bouchelle poured. Spring flowers were used to decorate the entertaining room.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Bill Harbin, Merritt Durfey, and Pat Bouchelle, of Loco; James Stavenhagen, Silas Crawford, Henry Rogers, Emmett Ware, George Patterson, Herman Belew, and Ben Ratliff of Wellington; Mmes. George Stephens, Carroll Blevins, Tom Crabtree, and Jerry Depauw of Quail, and Miss Jackson.

Guests called between the hours of seven and eight-thirty.

Girls Auxiliary Holds Annual Coronation Service Sunday Evening

The Girls Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church had their annual Coronation Service on Sunday, June 2 at 8:00 p.m. in the church auditorium.

The background setting for the coronation was a large gold crown set with jewels. Above the crown were five gold stars, representing the five Star Ideals—Abiding in Him thru prayer, Advancing in Wisdom by Bible Study, Acknowledging My Stewardship, Adorned with Good Works, and Accepting Challenges of the Great Commission. At the top of the platform were the words "The Royal Diadem" in gold.

A missionary message was brought by Mrs. Charles Cason Sr., W.M.U. president.

Special music, "We've a Story to Tell," was sung by the girls from the balcony, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Truman Estes.

The presentation of the girls was under the direction of Mrs. Dee Burba, Girls Auxiliary director. She told of a thrilling spectacle that took place in Holland in August, 1948, just one week before Princess Juliana was to be crowned as queen.

In the center of the huge stadium was a huge crown, set with brilliant jewels. When the ceremony was ended, an even more thrilling spectacle took place as this huge crown was picked up and carried along the wide avenue leading to the queen's palace by people from various trades, professions and guilds, representing every province in Holland. Out of one street would come doctors to carry the crown for a few blocks, and then it would be carried by another group, until it finally reached the palace.

This unique portrayal tells the story of the Dutch monarchy—everyone must share the weight of the government. Mrs. Burba then told how through fifty glorious years, members of Girls Auxiliary have served as crown bearers for our Lord as they one by one have joined the mighty procession of Christians of all ages who have sought to serve the risen King.

Six girls were presented as having completed the requirements for becoming Maidens. Miss Linda Karnes, assistant counselor, presented awards to Rosetta Brewer, Kathy Scott, Lee Ann Taylor, Joye Hudspey, Becky Burba and Kay Taylor.

Three girls were welcomed who had completed all of the requirements for Princess. Mrs. Jimmy Wilson, counselor, presented the green octagon bearing the white star and gold GA monogram to Patti Lacy, Carol Burba and Wanda Whitten.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of four Queens. Each queen was announced with a cornet fanfare by David Lynn Groves, and was preceded down the aisle by a crown bearer, carrying her white and gold crown.

Rhonda Cason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cason Jr., was preceded down the aisle by her sister, Candy Cason. Kathy Kiker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kiker, had as her crown bearer her sister, Paula Kiker.

Elaine Karnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karnes, was preceded by Debby Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Farris Wood. Vicki Wade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wade had as her crown bearer her brother, Brent Wade.

Each of the Queens knelt as they were crowned Queen of Girls Auxiliary by Dr. Glenn Hickey, pastor.

The service was brought to its climax as the girls turned to face the central crown, with queens removing their crowns and extending them toward the large crown, and all sang "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

The service was closed with the benediction being given by Dr. Hickey.

The reception, held in the dining hall, followed the service, and was under the direction of the GA committee members, who are Mrs. Dee Burba, chairman, Mrs. Charles Cason Sr., Mrs. Jimmy Wilson, Mrs. Norman Wilson, Linda Karnes,

Elizabeth Adkins and Paul Baker Marry in Home Ceremony Friday

Miss Elizabeth Adkins and Paul Baker were married in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Adkins Friday, May 31 at eight o'clock in the evening.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Baker. Dr. Glenn Hickey, pastor of First Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The couple recited their vows in front of a fireplace, which had a large arrangement of pink gladioli on the mantle. Lighted tapers in tall candelabra were at each side.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length sheath of white brocade, with a short sleeveless jacket that buttoned down the back. Her headpiece of roses held the bouffant elbow-length veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Cynthia Holderman of Canyon was the maid of honor and Miss Sandra Rogers was bridesmaid.

Miss Holderman wore a blue satin street length dress and Miss Rogers' was pink, both made with moulded bodices and full skirts. They wore floral headpieces and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Miss LaQuinta Hollingsworth lighted the candles. Clifford Hartman was the best man, while Wyatt Adkins, brother of the bride, was the groomsmen.

A reception followed the ceremony. Miss Patricia Bouchelle registered the guests and Miss Edith Jackson and Miss Hollingsworth served.

As the couple left on their short wedding trip to Canyon and other Panhandle points, the bride wore a blue suit and her corsage was of white carnations.

The couple is now at home in the Killingsworth Apartments.

The bride was graduated from Wellington high school, and from the Space and Form Beauty School in Amarillo. She is employed at Lavells' Beauty Shop.

The bridegroom attended school at Quail and is employed at Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc.

Wedding Plans Announced

Wedding plans of Miss Patricia Gail Bradley and Bobby Royce Steveson were announced this week by her mother, Mrs. Lillie Bradley of Samnorwood. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Steveson.

The couple will be married June 7 in the Samnorwood Baptist Church at eight o'clock in the evening.

Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

Wellington and Dodson Hostesses Honor Sandra Rogers with Shower

A shower in the home of Mrs. Shelton Nunnelley Saturday evening, May 25, honored Miss Sandra Rogers, the bride-elect of Buford Wheeler.

Guests were received by Mrs. Nunnelley and presented to Miss Rogers, her mother, Mrs. Henry Rogers, and Mrs. Ted Wheeler, mother of the prospective bridegroom. Their corsages were of tiny kitchen items, and at the end of the shower they were presented to the honoree.

Laura Wheeler registered the guests.

The serving table was laid with a white linen cutwork cloth and centered with a miniature bridal couple. Appointments were of silver and crystal.

Samnorwood Church Ceremony Unites Rose Bradley and Bill Bentley

A double ring ceremony performed at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, May 25, united Miss Rose Dell Bradley of Amarillo and Bill Bentley of Dozier.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lillie Bradley of Samnorwood and the late Odie Bradley, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bentley of Dozier.

The background for the ceremony was a foliage covered arch with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and pompoms at each side.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Ernest Tate, pianist, and her daughter, Miss Dottie Tate, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, C. J. Bradley of Samnorwood. Her white dress had a brief short-sleeved jacket that covered the fitted bodice, and the full skirt was street length. A pearl crown held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Patricia Gail Bradley was her sister's maid of honor. She wore an orchid dress, made with a molded bodice and full street length skirt. A circular veil was attached to her orchid pillbox hat and she carried a long-stemmed white rose.

Richard Bentley of Lefors was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Dean Marchant of Wellington and Bobby Steveson of Samnorwood.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Bentley was hostess at a reception in the church parlor. Members of the house party were Mrs. Anna Lou Young of Amarillo and Mrs. Glen Moody, both sisters of the bride and Miss Suzie Bentley, sister of the bridegroom.

Later the couple left on their wedding trip to Six Flags, Dallas and Fort Worth, and they are now at home at 408 South Virginia Street, Amarillo.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from Samnorwood high school in 1960. She is now employed by the health department of the City of Amarillo. The bridegroom was graduated from Clarendon College on May 24, and he will continue his studies at West Texas State University, Canyon.

Recipe Shower for Bride-Elect

Elaine Crawley was honored with a recipe shower in the home of Vicki Glenn on Monday afternoon, June 3. Sharing hostess duties with Miss Glenn was Miss Andrea Carter.

The bride's chosen colors of mint green and white were used in entertaining. As each guest arrived she clipped her favorite recipe to a mint green ribbon which was tied to a branch of a miniature tree, thus forming a recipe tree that was presented to the honoree. The hostesses presented her with a recipe and the casserole dish used for preparing their recipe.

The afternoon was spent visiting and viewing photographs of children's parties, teen age parties and numerous occasions which Miss Crawley had attended.

Refreshments were served to Misses Elaine Yarbrough, Sharon Campbell, Patricia Sullivan, Lynda Orr, Celia Anderson, Frances Hill, Mrs. A. C. Gray of Dallas, and the honoree, Miss Crawley.

Theda Martin

Miss Martin, Mr. Wright to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Martin are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Theda, to Charles Wright, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright of Quail.

The couple will be married Saturday, August 17, in the chapel of First Methodist Church, at seven o'clock in the evening.

Miss Martin graduated from West Texas State College May 24, with a bachelor of science degree in mathematics.

Her fiancé is a senior in West Texas State, majoring in business administration.

Lora Dobbs Heads Group

Lora Dobbs was named president of Unit 65 of the Texas Association of Accredited Beauty Culturalists at a meeting in Childress recently.

Others elected were Jo Lane, vice president; Joy Uselton, secretary-treasurer, and Edna McNabb, historian and reporter. These three are from Childress.

Virgie Haile, district chairman of the state association, was present to install new officers and to present the program.

Unit 65 includes Wellington, Quanah, Paducah, Memphis, Childress, Hedley, Quail and Samnorwood.

Who's New in the Wellington Area

To Wed in August

Mr. and Mrs. John William Vaughan, 403 West Texas, Sherman, formerly of Wellington, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jonathan, to Roger McKinley John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKinley John of 4613 Oleander, Bellaire. The couple will be married August 24, in First Methodist Church, Sherman. The bride will graduate in July from Southern Methodist University, while her fiancé, a graduate of Texas A&M College, will attend graduate school there. Miss Vaughan is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fires and Mrs. Ed Ward of Wellington.

WMU Hears Miss Mildred Crabtree, Missionary on Furlough from Africa

The Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church met at the church Monday, June 3 to hear Miss Mildred Crabtree, a missionary home on furlough from Africa.

Miss Crabtree told of her work and showed slides made in Africa. She said the missionaries' greatest hindrance to the progress of their work is the treatment of the colored race in the homeland. They never hear the good over there, only the bad, that happens in the States.

Miss Crabtree said her greatest need was the prayers of the Christians, and it always gives added strength to know when her name is on the Calendar of Prayer.

She did not tell things to stir up hatred but was quoting facts. In Africa they have boys and girls of intelligence equal to any white, but when they come to the States to further their education, the color of their skin makes a difference. Miss Crabtree is a native of

Hono. Incoming FHA Girls June 17

Girls of the summer home-making class and Future Home-maker members will entertain the incoming freshmen girls with a picnic Monday, June 17, according to Mrs. Dee Coleman, instructor.

Hostesses were Meses. John Holton, Jones Singley, Frank Campbell, J. M. Orr, Henry Sullivan and Wells.

The entertaining rooms were decorated with garden flowers.

Mrs. Wells received the guests and presented them to Miss Crawley, her mother, Mrs. E. D. Crawley, and Mrs. Ray Peebles, the prospective groom's mother.

Miss Nancy Crawley, sister of the bride-elect, registered the guests.

The serving table was laid with a white linen cloth and appointed with a silver service. The centerpiece was a miniature umbrella shading a bride and bridesmaid carrying out the bride's colors of blue and white.

Misses Patricia Sullivan, Lynda Orr, and Celia Anderson presided at the serving table.

The gifts were attractively displayed in the den.

Guests called between 3:00 and 6:00 p.m.

Parents Honor Quail Baseball Team with Buffet Supper Recently

Mothers and fathers of the Quail baseball team honored the boys with a buffet supper in the school homemaking cottage Friday night, May 24.

The centerpiece for the serving table was a large chocolate-iced cake with miniature baseball players arranged in playing positions. These were made by one of the mothers, Mrs. Sam Russell, mother of Robert Russell.

Following the supper, the boys presented Herman Moseley, coach, with a shirt. The remainder of the evening was spent visiting and listening to music by Paul and Jerry Boyce.

TEACHERS' SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED TO MARY GRAHAM

The Wellington Classroom Teachers Association awarded its first scholarship in the amount of $200, at the recent Wellington commencement.

Mary Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Graham was the recipient. She will attend North Texas State College at Denton.

She was chosen by a committee composed of C. A. Crawford, Louis Graham, E. W. Clement and Mrs. Bynum Hightower. The selection was based on ability, interest, need and intent to become a teacher. These basic considerations were set up by a committee on qualifications consisting of Mrs. Rufus Sweat, Mrs. Les White, and Mrs. B. C. Duncan.

Funds of the scholarship were raised by the basketball game between the Harlem Stars and the Wellington Out-siders.

"A similar money-raising project will be conducted each year and it is hoped the public will back this project solidly," Mrs. Bernice Welch, president, said.

The Child Who Drops Out of School Is of Concern Here, Too

Eighty boys and girls were graduated from junior high in Wellington this year, but only 30 were graduated from high school.

Somewhere during the next four years, part of that eighty will be lost as far as the schools are concerned, just as some of the classmates of those 30 were lost during the last four years.

These are the drop-outs . . . the teen age boys and girls who now are the big worry to educators and to all others concerned with youth.

Teachers feels they threaten the goals of "educational excellence" for all Texas. But the great tragedy is to the boys and girls themselves.

On the day they drop out of school, for whatever reason, they close the doors to many opportunities, and in all too many cases they write a limit on their income and their advancement for the rest of their lives.

Right now the jobless rate among youths is two or three times that of the rest of the population. Let's look a little further:

"The heart of the unemployment problem (of youth) is the uneducated and unskilled who are not wanted for jobs. Jobs for the skilled and educated are plentiful," says the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The drop-out problem is not the problem only of Dallas or Amarillo or somewhere else. It is also the problem of Wellington, and the other schools of this area.

There are many reasons why a child drops out of school . . . perhaps he can't keep up with the rest of his class . . . perhaps he isn't interested and his parents aren't interested either . . . maybe he or she got married . . . or maybe it is the lure of a salary check every week . . . the check that looks so big to the youngster in school, but is so little when he tries to live on it.

These reasons, as well as the aftermath that comes with a child's dropping out, is of concern to the whole community. It is concern first for what the child does to himself and his future, then what it does for the community. First to be dropped from a job, last to be hired, the person with limited education assigns himself a place on the lower rungs of the economic ladder if he stays here and still on the lower rungs if he goes to a city.

The problem of the boys and girls of Collingsworth who drop out of school calls for close coordination between the community and the schools. It calls for understanding and encouragement where it is needed. Sometimes a stiffer line may be indicated. But whatever it takes, it is vital to this community that its boys and girls stay in school at least until high school graduation.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the people-planting caste got their feelings hurt somewhat when wheat farmers voted down the opportunity to put all their Faith in Washington.

In fact, some of the supply managementers are a little vindictive about it, and are promising the insubordinate bread-raisers they will be sorry.

But it's just the nature of independent beings like farmers and mules that you can think you have got them conquered, and then all of a sudden they come unconquered.

I see where 30 beginner-nations in Africa held a big fish fry the other day and spent considerable time deploring the white man.

My cognizing neighbor notes that these great leaders were especially dissatisfied with the U.S. type of white man and his reputation for racial bias.

And in the end they resolved to make Africa a vast Jim Crow land, by throwing out the white man and all his works, except his money.

I see where a couple of rankful Senators are very sold on the super-owl set in Washington, and they want Congress abolished so the President can run the country to suit himself.

My progresseer neighbor is in favor of this move, because he says the only hope of saving the U.S. from bankruptcy is to give Mr. Kennedy a quit-claim deed to the whole works.

Says this would restore fiscal regularity, because when handling his own money, the President does not throw it about recklessly, nor pass it out to all comers, but managers it shrewdly and with respect.

I see where the Supreme Court says local police can not act as bouncers for storekeepers wishing to select their clientele.

Ruling was sort of a judicial repeal of that part of the 14th Amendment which is against involuntary servitude, and now a sales clerk has got to servitude everybody who insists on it, whether he wants to or not, unless he is big enough to throw them out personally.

Which is going to add to the expense of operating an exclusive type store, as it will now have to maintain its own high pressure water hoses.

I see where a young voter says he has counted up and finds that he belongs to 38 different minority groups which are now being seduced at by the politician class.

And it could be that such conflicts of interest among voters is what seems to be driving the politicians crazy.

It could unbalance anybody, trying to guess what pitch will get the piccolo players vote, for instance, when the people in that minority group also belong to various other minority groups, such as the feather-badders, the cat lovers, the Republicans, etc.

Beef Abundant Over Country

Beef—the most widely eaten variety of meat in this country—is abundant now. And reports indicate that beef supplies will steadily increase in the next few months, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension Service consumer marketing specialist, emphasizes.

When buying beef, look for marbling. Little flecks of fat distributed through the lean indicate juiciness and tenderness. The more marbling, the higher the quality. Lean portions should be firm and fine textured. Color should be a bright red to a slightly darker shade.

Location of cuts in beef gives some clue to the amount of lean, kind of bone, and tenderness of cut. Some muscles are more tender than others. The blade and arm chuck roast, rib roasts and steaks from the fore quarter constitute a higher proportion of the less tender meat. Fore-quarter cuts from high-grade beef will be more tender than the same cuts from a lower quality animal.

CONSERVATION CROPPING UP 56 PER CENT IN 1962

The use of conservation cropping systems in Texas increased 56 per cent in 1962, stated H. N. Smith, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service. Mr. Smith, who heads up the US Department of Agriculture's soil and water conservation work in Texas, pointed out that conservation cropping systems were used on 8 million acres in 1962. This was an increase of approximately 3 million acres over '561.

Conservation cropping systems are those in which soil-improving crops are used to counterbalance the effects of soil-depleting crops. The soil improving crops may be special crops such as cover crops of clover, winter peas, or summer peas. Cash crops, when properly fertilized and managed, may serve as soil-improving crops also. Small grain and grain sorghum are examples of cash crops which may be used for soil-improving purposes.

Smith indicated that conservation cropping systems serve as an additional tool for use in maintaining the productivity of our 41 million acres of cropland in Texas. On our nearly level lands, this conservation tool alone will adequately conserve the soil and water resources. On more sloping lands, conservation cropping systems need to be coupled with other conservation practices such as terraces, grassed waterways, contour farming and the like.

Smith expects the use of conservation cropping systems to increase during the next several years. Soil Conservation Service technicians who assist the local soil conservation districts are stressing the value of this practice. Agricultural research has shown that a crop used in a rotation with other crops produces more than the same crop grown continuously on the same land. Diseases and insect populations build up less rapidly where a good crop rotation is used.

The underlying reason for expecting a continuing increase in the use of this practice is one of production. According to the recently completed "Texas Soil and Water Conservation Needs Inventory," the acres of cropland will be less in 1975 than now. Present surpluses notwithstanding, these fewer cultivated acres will have to feed a much larger population than they do now. Conservation cropping systems fitted into a complete conservation program will help do this, says Smith.

Mrs. Monty Davis of Fort Worth, and Miss Bonnie Gray of Weatherford were guests last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Fulton. Mrs. Davis is the Fultons' daughter, and Miss Gray is Mrs. Fulton's sister.

47 Get Ready to Drive

Largest Driver Ed Class Enrolled Here

The largest driver education class ever enrolled here is now doing its "book work," preparing to get under the wheel in about a week. Harvey Millsap, instructor, said 47 are enrolled in the class. Approximately 37 of these are 14 years old or more, and the remainder are 13.

Those 14 and over will take their written tests Tuesday, June 11, under Patrolman John Martin of the Drivers License division.

Classwork started Monday, May 27, and the students attend for three hour periods daily. They have studied their handbooks, the rules of the road, and signs. A number of training films were shown.

Sgt. James McNeil, information officer for the highway patrol, Amarillo, visited the class and showed "Death on the Highway," one of the most graphic safety films shown currently. It was compiled from films of actual accidents by the Suicide Club of Chicago, a safety organization.

The students will begin driving immediately after passing their written tests. Each student will have six hours under the wheel and six hours observation, but Millsap said that any student needing more help will receive as much as he needs.

Students enrolled are Louis Watkins, David Caison, Tommy Yarbrough, Dan Hatch, Henry Wells, John R. Henard, Barbara Sherman, Charlotte Allen, Jimmy Campbell, Becky Brewer Randy West, Judy Millsap, Joe Wood, Lynn Derryberry, Tommy Lindley, Patricia Wilson, Linda Moore, Linda Winton, Gary Killian, LaJuanda Peters, Regina Ferguson, Steve Trapp Freddy Mayhugh, Rodney Cain, Ann Duncan, Nancy Holton, Melanie Williams, Davela Edens, Zeldon Jenkins, Dwayne Ford, Sidney McGill, Junior Gonzales, Rebecca Holliman, Peggy Crawford, Bryant Harris, Keith Brown, James Fulcher, Mark Owens, Mitzi Hartman, Jay Wischkaemper of Samnorwood, Mary Helen Langford, Andrew Langford, Neal Roberts, Vickie Bergvall, Gary Martin, Danny Marsh, and Susan Watkins.

Annual Tennessee Reunion June 9

The fourth annual Tennessee reunion will be held at Thompson Park, Amarillo, Sunday, June 9, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. All former residents of Tennessee and their families are invited. They are to bring basket lunches, but there will be plenty of sassafras tea, according to Mrs. R. Q. Draper, who is helping with plans.

Coaches at Dodson Named

Coaches for the three Dodson baseball teams were named last week, and practice sessions are under way.

In charge of the Peewees are Eugene Gollihare, the Rev. Howard Lester and Ross Swift. Coaching the Little League are Gary Randall and Eddie Hunt, while Lonnie Roberson and Raymond Minatrea are in charge of the Pony League.

Mrs. Ralph Gray and children, Pat and Kay, of Abilene, were here for the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. France Holley and James Holley.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Warrick of Hereford visited during the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Veiman Warrick and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Jenkins.

Elder E. J. Norman of Childress visited with friends here Monday, June 3.

A2-C Dick Sweat
Airman of the Month

MINOT AFB, N.D.—Airman Second Class Dick C. Sweat of Wellington, has been selected Outstanding Airman of the month in the 5th Fighter Interceptor Squadron here. Airman Sweat, a United States Air Force administrative specialist, was chosen for the honor in recognition of his exemplary conduct and performance of duty. He received a $25 U.S. Savings Bond and a three-day pass for his achievement.

Service Family
Here from Hawaii

M/Sgt. and Mrs. James E. Tice and two younger children, Jimmy, 12, and Nan Therese, 4, arrived recently from Hickam Field, Honolulu, Hawaii, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Killingsworth.

On June 18, M/Sgt. Tice will report for duty at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls. This is the first time in the 23 years he has been in the Air Force that the family has been stationed close to home.

Their older daughter Jeanie, now Mrs. Martin Telgenhoff, lives in San Jose, Calif.

The airman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sweat of 1611 Dahlhart St., Wellington, is a graduate of Wellington high school. He attended West Texas State College.

His wife is the former Judith A. Wilson of Quail.

Ronnie Nix has gone to Santa Fe, N.M., for the summer with his father. He will work for a cold storage company there.

Beta Club

Elects 23

Twenty-three Wellington high school students, whose scholastic records are outstanding, were accepted into the Beta Club recently.

Selections are made at the end of the year.

The group included Patsy McDanel, Nancy Crawley, Ann Orr, Gail Henard, Patti Overton, Patricia Bouchelle, Karen Childress, Bill Spillman, Raymond Sanders, Nat Romo, Alvina Roberts, Scooter Cason, LaRaine Porter, Virginia Patterson, Leslie Covey, Nancy Sanford, Jackie Barton, Marsha Elbert, Susan Sullivan, Gary Phillips, Andy Moreno, Mary Beth Aaron and Carolyn Christian.

Qualities of leadership and character and participation in school activities are considered along with the students' scholastic records.

The first postage stamps were issued in 1847.

SUCCESSOR TO THE HOE IN COLLINGSWORTH FIELDS

Above, at left, is a chemical spray machine built especially for weed control in Collingsworth county cotton, and beside it, the results it got. The tube with an outlet at the end extends from a tank holding spray or oil, and is centered behind the wheels that came off a cultivator. A similar tube and wheel attachment is on the other side of the tractor also. In the picture at right, Dwayne Scott looks over a field of 1962 cotton in which weeds were controlled by the machine. To the left is that part of the test in which weeds were left. The test was carried out in the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration Program, of which Scott is research demonstration assistant.

On the Farm Research

Chemical Weed Control Tests Show Good Results in Area

Cotton chopping, the last hand operation left in raising Collingsworth's money-maker crop, cotton, may be on the way out.

One step behind successful mechanical cotton harvesting is mechanical and chemical weed control. Dwayne Scott, research demonstration assistant of the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration program, this week made a favorable report on experiments carried out in Collingsworth county beginning in 1961.

"If your hoe bill is more than $3.00 per acre, there may be a place for chemical weed control in your cotton program," he declared.

To carry out the study, Scott had a machine built that can be used either for pre-emergence weed control or post-emergence lateral oiling. The latter works well with johnson grass in three to ten inch cotton.

Farmers who in the last few years have had staggering chopping expense, look hard when Scott quotes the cost.

"With favorable conditions, and if you hit it right, you can control weeds with Karmex at 80 cents per acre," Scott explained. He cautioned, however, that this cannot be expected in every case.

Elmer Hudspeth, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock got Scott a set of plans of machines used in East Texas. Scott adapted them to West Texas needs.

He used the gauge wheels off a four-row cultivator and to these he attached two spouts, with outlets at the end, leading from a tank rigged to hold the oil or chemical. Scott simply found a 55-gallon oil drum. A cotton grower doesn't "just decide" to use this method.

"If you don't plant for this, you're already whipped. We definitely need to talk to farmers about chemicals," Scott declared.

"Some chemical control of weeds and johnson grass has been done here for the last three years," he explained.

"Duron can be applied on heavy soils in a 10-inch band over the cotton row, pre-emergence of cotton and weeds," Scott continued. "It must be applied immediately after planting and before a rain, because germinating seedlings are killed by absorbing the herbicide through the roots."

"If the herbicide is applied after a rain, weeds may germinate and grow without being affected. To get good results, irrigation or rain is required within 10 days after the chemical application," he said.

Lateral oil can be applied to cotton when it is three to ten inches tall where johnson grass and weeds infest the row. It can be used up until the bark on the cotton stem cracks.

"Lateral and spot oiling in cotton infested with johnson grass was first used in 1961 on the Alfred Knoll farm west of Lufkin."

"There was a 98 per cent kill of seedlings obtained in the drill furrow. Ten gallons of naphtha per acre was required, and a careful and close cultivation was followed," Scott said. Two spot sprayings were required.

Scott figures it cost Knoll less than $7 per acre to clear this three-acre plot of johnson grass.

Johnson grass in a 60-acre cotton field was controlled in Hall county.

"Karmex D.L. (diuron) can be used as a post-emergence after cotton is six inches tall, until it is laid by. Weeds and grass should be less than four inches tall when treated," said Scott.

"Spray equipment should be set where only the lower two inches of the cotton will come in contact with the chemical. Timeliness of operation is most important factor in weed control. There is no way of eliminating large established weeds in the drill row except by hand," he continued.

Chemical weed control is continuing in the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration program this year on an even wider area.

Twenty experimental plots have been placed in the three-county area covered by the program, Collingsworth, Wheeler and Hall counties. "This isn't the only answer," Scott says with a last word of warning. "It is one answer, but you've got a lot of problems."

Thursday Night

NORWOOD SENIORS RETURN FROM TRIP TO NEW ORLEANS

Fourteen Samnorwood seniors and 13 parents returned Thursday night, May 30, from the senior class trip, which this year took them to Vicksburg, Biloxi, and New Orleans.

Stopping first at Vicksburg, they visited its famous battleground and National Cemetery.

In Natchez, Miss., they paused long enough to visit Rosalie, one of the south's famous ante-bellum mansions, now open to the public.

Many of New Orleans famous points of interest were covered by the Norwood group, including the French Quarter, zoo, a boat trip down the Mississippi, and swimming in Lake Ponchartrain, and others.

A high point came, however, the night they went to Dan's Pier 600 on Bourbon Street to hear Al Hirt and his orchestra. Deep sea fishing was the attraction at Biloxi.

Seniors going were Neal Lowry, Darlene Rainey, Mary Shields, LaDonna Ross, Wanda White, Peggy Colson, Polly

Clark, Bobby Colson, Mike Wischkaemper, Mack Shields, Leon Garcia, Jimmy Taylor, Louis Boyd and Carlos McLemore.

Parents and sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Selba Rainey, Mr. and Mrs. David Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wischkaemper, Mrs. Worth Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Chambers, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dwight.

Double Pot-O-Gold Stamps Every Wednesday

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Jake Tarter, former county agent, is causing me no end of mental pain. He says I must get at least a third or more of the peaches off my Sun Gold tree or the strength of the tree may be ruined for future years. I have been performing the distasteful task a little at a time like the boy who cut off his puppy's tail an inch at a time so it wouldn't hurt so much. The ground around the tree is covered with half grown peaches but you can't tell any have been picked. Some peach varieties throw off some of their fruit when they are overloaded but not this tree. It has from ten to 15 peaches growing on little limbs that are not over two feet long.

Housewives should have no trouble in securing all the peaches they want this year. Barring hail we should have a tremendous crop this summer. In fact a modest hail would not hurt too much and besides there is no pain in pulling off a peach that has been dented by hail. I know now why Charlie Bearden has such a reputation as a predictor of peach crops. Some years he refused to forecast at all and this year he wouldn't say yea or nay in February or early March.

We had a very pleasant visit from the Paul Allinghams of Atchison, Kansas Monday. They publish the Atchison Globe that was founded by the late E. W. Howe who along with another Kansan, William Allen White, made the country journalism of Kansas famous over the United States. Mrs. Allingham is the former Winnie Fain of Wellington and they live in the old home of Amelia Earhart.

They publish a most interesting daily whose reader interest is terrifically high and that is full of local news, feature stories, pictures and incisive editorials. Each one writes a column for the paper. His is more on the salt and vinegar type that is tempered with a kindly understanding. Hers is more of the folksy neighborly variety made more interesting by keen insight and a quiet humor. Many newspaper people are either dull or monotonous talkers like this writer; but the Allinghams are as good conversationalists as they are writers.

Weather: Let's let well enough alone for the time being. However Ed Crawford told me Monday that some farmers were planning a necktie party for me on the courthouse lawn—claim I have already overdone the weather business.

As I was leaving Lewis Grocery & Market this morning I happened to ask a Shamrock onion and potato salesman: "What does your watch say?" Whereupon Robert Lewis told me that he sometimes asks his wife the identical question about the clock and her standing remark in an effort to improve her husband's language has been: "The clock does not say anything."

That goes to show how "much" some of the beautiful young matrons of Wellington know about clocks. Clocks speak a diversified, harmonious, continuing language in many tones and voices sometimes comforting, sometimes irritating and sometimes terrible and tragic. Most people assume that most clocks "say" tick-tock. That is not true either. The numbers clock in our kitchen says: M-m-m—Click and the clock in the living room says: tick-uh-tick and the clock on the kitchen stove formerly said: chuck-a-luck before it stopped running two years ago.

Now add to this the stately grandfather and grandmother clocks whose chimes tell the history of families and those like Big Ben who remind you of the proud history of a nation and you know that every clock has something to say.

Even the sun dial clocks speak a language of their own reminding us to count none but the sunny hours. The Aztec Indians, who once ruled from Mexico City, had a sun dial clock that was also an exact calendar. It could tell the hour of the day, but it also told the day and the moon and the year both forward and backward and it did it without recourse to such celestial catch-up as our leap year.

In addition to all of these entrancing clocks there is the most horrible clock of all. It is the alarm clock that says "time's-a-wasting; it is time to get this column to the printers."

PENNY DAY CHARMERS

After a dip in the sparkling waters of Marian Airpark Pool, these two sunned on one of the low diving boards. At left is Nancy Sanford, and at right Ann Duncan. Both are seen frequently at the pool.

WATER FUN

The water was a little chilly but Sandra McGill, left, and Mary Nell Edens, in the tube, were in for the Penny Day event. Here they hold up what they found—but it wasn't pennies. Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGill, and Mary Nell is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Davis Edens.

Annual Trip

SENIOR CLASS TOURS POINTS IN COLORADO SPRINGS AREA

The Wellington high school seniors left Saturday morning, May 25, for Colorado Springs, Colo., for their annual senior trip.

Seniors making the trip were Anne Coleman, Barbara Dobbs, Mary Graham, Vicki Glenn, Laquita Hollingsworth, Frances Hill, Linda Millsap, Sylvia McQuary, Mary Ann Pierce, Elsa Romo, Alvina Roberts.

Peggy Shanks, Janet West, Craig Bergvall, Herbert Duncan, Charles Floyd, Johnny Ford, Douglas Mitchell, Lynn McLain, Nat Romo, Don Roark, Raymond Sanders, Billy Tyler, Billy Wilkerson, and Gene Sweat.

Sponsors for the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Don Beck, Louis Graham and Mrs. Ben Ratliff. The group stayed at the Avon Lodge in Manitou, Colo. They went ice skating at the Broadmoor Hotel on Saturday night. Sunday was spent going to church, horseback riding, and in the afternoon touring the Garden of Gods-Broadmoor district, which included the zoo. That night they went to see the Seven Falls.

Monday morning the group visited the Air Force Academy and the Cave of Winds vicinity. That night they visited several places in Colorado Springs. Tuesday morning part of the group accompanied by Mr. Graham took a bus to the top of Pikes Peak. It snowed on them while they were on top.

The remainder of the group went horseback riding and made the rounds of the amusement centers in Manitou. The seniors left Avon Lodge on their way home at noon on Tuesday. They stopped in Colorado Springs for a Mexican

Occidental Life Presents Award to Morris Wells

Morris Wells, agent for the Occidental Life Insurance Company, has received a certificate of achievement for outstanding leadership in the field of life insurance, it was announced this week by the William H. Rainey Agency.

Wells, a partner in Wells & Wells, was cited for his work from the beginning of 1960 through December 1962.

He received a $500 bonus from the company.

Wells is oldest in point of service of any insurance agent in Wellington, and one of the oldest in the Southeast Panhandle, having entered the business in 1923.

While he has had life insurance lines the entire time, he did not devote much time to it until 1958.

Looking back through the period he has been in business, Wells recalled: "People used to think you had to die in order to benefit from life insurance. Now they realize there are more essential benefits than dying." He cited the complexity of tax problems.

"The best way to protect an estate is through life insurance," Wells added.

"A lot of younger people realize an estate can be built easier and with less money than any other way," he continued.

"With the present cost of land and almost any other investment, young people just can't make the grade," he said.

Glen Warrick Joins Firm

Glen Warrick is now associated with his father, Velman Warrick, at Warrick Feed Store, the latter announced this week. He will work in the elevator office.

Warrick and his wife, Zenith, received degrees at the commencement of West Texas State College May 24. He received a BS degree with a major in economics and she received a BBA degree with a major in business education.

They have a small son, Marty. The family will live at 1405 Bowie Street.

Warrick was graduated from Wellington high school and his wife from Dodson high school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Swift.

Blevins on Kiowa Staff

Robert Blevins of Quail will work on the staff of the Boy Scout Camp Kiowa this summer.

He is assigned to the kitchen staff.

Robert is a member of the Quail Boy Scout troop and last year received his Eagle Scout rank.

Rain

(Continued on back page) Most of the farmers had not planted. Because the rain fell slowly, there was little washing.

The first rains that fell were good ones. Wednesday night alone it measured 4 inches at the Nolan Browning farm at Samnorwood. R. T. Savage, north of Wellington, got 3.7 inches that same night and Zook Thomas received 2.7 at Lillie. Commissioner Buck Breeding received 2.5 inches in the Abra community.

Sheriff John Rainey measured 4 inches in a rain gauge at his farm east of Lutie.

Orville Vaughan, north of Dodson measured 2.9 inches Wednesday night and Thursday, and Richard Fourmentin totalled 4.5 until Saturday at noon.

Judge Howard Riggs reported 2.7 inches Wednesday night on East Avenue; Charley Caldwell said 3.75 to 4.5 inches fell east of town; and Mrs. John Ingram said 5 inches was measured at the old Ingram place northeast of Wellington. But these were only the beginning, and those figures now stand as incomplete.

The only hail reported was at the Wren Hartman place 9 miles west of town on Buck Creek. He also reported an apparent tornado that did not touch the ground, however, at the Lacy farm nearby, a barn was shifted.

Youth Director

New Trinity Minister

Two Methodist Pastors Return to Churches

Three county pastors were returned to their pastorates by appointments made at Northwest Texas Conference of Methodist Churches, which ended in Abilene Friday, May 31. The Rev. Davis B. Edens will begin his third year as pastor of First Methodist Church in Wellington.

Returning also is the Rev. J. F. Michael of Wellington, who several years ago came out of retirement to serve the Methodist churches at Kelley and Dodson.

Wellington will have one new pastor, the Rev. R. H. Knight, who was assigned as pastor of Trinity Church. He comes here from McAadoo, and succeeds the Rev. J. W. Read, who was transferred to Bula.

The Rev. C. R. Hankins, Aberdeen rancher, was returned as pastor of the Lelia Lake Methodist Church.

The Wellington and Dodson churches are in the Childress District, and the Rev. John A. English was returned as district superintendent.

At other churches of this district, the Rev. L. L. Hill, former pastor of First Methodist, was returned to First Church at Childress; the Rev. John Fitzgerald was returned as pastor at Crowell; the Rev. Kenneth Wyatt, a frequent visitor here, was transferred from Chillicothe to Paducah.

The Rev. Doyle Ragle, once a summer pastor of First Methodist, is returned as pastor of First Church, Vernon, and the Rev. James J. Futch, former pastor of Trinity, is now pastor of Texas Street Methodist Church, Vernon.

Peggy Riggs Wildman

Peggy Wildman Gets Degree

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Mrs. Peggy Riggs Wildman of Dallas was among the approximately 370 graduates who received degrees from George Peabody College for Teachers here at its 182nd commencement exercises May 31.

Mrs. Wildman, the wife of E. D. Wildman of 1329 Lehigh received the specialist in education degree, a six-year program, in special education. She holds the BS from Texas Technological College in Lubbock, and the M.Ed. from Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Riggs of Wellington.

Mrs. Wildman is continuing her study toward her doctor of philosophy degree, which she will receive next year.

Morgan at Henard Bros.

Jack Morgan of Quail began work recently as manager of Henard Brothers Equipment Company, according to an announcement by the owners, Dan Henard and John Robert Henard.

Morgan has been attending Sam Houston State College at Huntsville, where he was a senior, majoring in ag education.

He is married and has a baby son, Norman Patrick.

Morgan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Morgan.

Scout Executive to New Post

The Adobe Walls Council, of the Boy Scouts of America, has announced that Scout Executive Brantley Hudson has accepted a promotion to the Scout Executive post at Beaumont. His resignation as executive of the Adobe Walls Council will become effective July 1, 1963. Hudson has served as executive of this council since August, 1959.

During Hudson's tenure as Scout Executive of the council, a development campaign has been successfully conducted for the purpose of constructing a new Council Service Center and expanding and improving Camp Kiowa. In November of 1962 the council moved into the new service center building at 815 N. Sumner in Pampa. At the present time, the council is engaged in the improvement and expansion of Camp Kiowa. This summer eleven new troop camp sites will be ready for use by some 1,000 Scouts expected to use the camp during the summer.

Bible School Enrolls 111

The Vacation Bible School for the colored children, sponsored by the First Baptist Church last week, was climaxed with a picnic on Friday, May 31.

The school had an average attendance of one hundred and eleven.

Dr. Glenn Hickey served as the superintendent and workers were Mmes. Hickey, D. C. Lacy, W. A. Morrow, Charles Cason Sr., Silas Crawford, J. A. Lowe, J. L. Burt, W. M. Horton and Alvin Horton.

Four ladies from the Faith Baptist Church who helped were Mmes. Billy Williams, Curtis Bullington, Earl Parker, and Miss Helen Hannah.

The teachers' helpers were Misses Rhonda Cason, Sandra Cason, Jackie Barton, Marsha Elbert and Pam Marchant.

FFAers Travel

The tour gets under way when they visit Auchincruive College of Agriculture. This will be followed by visits to Edinburg, the teaching farms of Edinburg University School of Agriculture.

Next comes visits in London, Paris and Brussels, to be followed by Amsterdam, then Budapest.

First stop on their return from behind the Iron Curtain will be at Frankfurt, Germany, West Berlin and Hamburg. From there they will go to Copenhagen, Denmark.

The trio will return to the United States June 24.

Gene Sweat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sweat, entered West Texas State University in Canyon for the summer session.
